Revŏco, as; act. ἀνακαλέω, ἀνακαλέομαι. יָשַׁב. To recall, to call back, to bring back, to bring again into play: also to draw back, or to withdraw; to revoke, recant or unsay. Revocare gradum, Vir. To retreat or step back; to obsoleta, Suet. To bring up old fashions; opus cœptum, Ovid. To begin it again; promissum, Sen. To revoke or deny it. = Repeto, Cic. reprimo, Pl. jun.

Revŏcor, āris; pass. Plin.

Rĕvŏlito, as; freq. Eutrop. To fly often back.

Rĕvŏlo, as; neut. Cic. ἀναπέτομαι. To fly back again.

Revolūbilis, le; adj. Ovid. ἀναπτύξιμος. That may be rolled or tumbled back again.

Rĕvolvo, is, ĕre; vi, ūtum; act. Cic. ἀναστρέφω, ἀνελίττω, ἀναπτύσσω. חָסַב. To roll or tumble over or back again, to turn over, to revolve. Revolvere iter, Vir. To return the same way he came.

Revolvor, ĕris; pass. Cic. To be rolled or tumbled back, to return; to revolt, Ter. Ad irritum revolvi, Tac. To come to nought.

† Revŏlus, li; m. Col. idem qod Particus. A pedler.

Revolūtio, ōnis; f. verb. ἀνακύκλωσις. A revolution, or whirling round.

Revolūtor, ōris; m. verb. Sidon. He that rolleth over.

Revŏlūtus, a, um; part. Vir. ἀνελιχθείς, ἀνειλιγμένος. Tumbled, rolled or turned back again, or over and over; wound off; returning, Liv.

Revŏmens; part. Vir. Vomiting up again.

Revŏmo, is, ĕre; ui, ĭtum; act. Plin. ἐξερεύγομαι, ἀναμέω. To vomit, spew or cast up again.

Reus, a, um; adj. Rei apud Vett. dicuntur omnes de quorum re disceptatur, Alciat. Dict. Igitur à res, i. qui rem, i. dixlus, causam habet seu litem. Quid si à χρέος debitum, unde ὑπόχρεως reus. ἔνοχος, ἐνεκτὸς. חַיָּב. Guilty, arraigned, impleaded. Regit Gen. Reus injuriarum, Quint. Sued upon an action of trespass; ambitûs, Cic. Impeached for bribery; satisdandi, Ulp. Bound to find sureties. Reus de vi, Cic. Indicted for battery.

Reus, i; m. subst. ὁ φόνου, ὁ δικαζόμενος. The defendant in a process, he that is accused or sued: also a surety, one bound for another, Ulp. a criminal. ☞ Petitor, Cic.

Rĕvulsio, ōnis; f. verb. à Revello, Plin. ἀποσπασμός. A pulling up, a plucking away or back; revulsion.

Rĕvulsus, a, um; part. Cic. ἀποσπασθείς. Pulled, plucked or torn up.

Rex, rēgis; m. à regendo; βασιλεύς, ἄναξ. מֶלֶךְ. A King, a Prince; also a ruler, guide or governour; a chief; a great Don; a Patron; a rich man. Reges ærarii, Cic. The managers of the treasury. Rex pueritiæ, Hor. A governour of youth. Res sacrorum, Cic. The chief orderer of religious duties. Rex vini, Hor. The King of good fellows, the Master of the revells.

R ante H.

† Rhā; indecl. Amm. ῥᾶ, ῥίζον τι, Hes. quæ & ῥιζὸν dic. Æt. Rheon, & Rhaponta, Plin. radix Pontica, Cels. vulgò Rhabarbarum; Isid. sic dict. à Rha fluvio, juxta quem crescit supra Pontum. Rheubarb.

* Rhabdos, i; f. Apul. ῥάβδος. A meteor, like to a straight wand.

* Rhabdūchus, i; m. ῥαβδοῦχος, qui ῥάβδον ἔχει, virgam ferens; lat. Littor, שׁוֹטֵר. A Setgeant of the Mace, a Verger.

Rhācinus, ni; m. Plin. ex Ovid. à ῥαγῆναι, à colore uvæ nigræ. A fish of a brown dun colour.

† Rhăcōma, æ; f. Plin. 27. 12. A kind of herb that cometh from beyond Pontus. Ruell. takes it to be the same with Rha Ponticum.

* Rhădine, es; f. Lucr. ῥαδινὴ mollis, tenella. A nice, tender or dainty girl.

* Rhăgas, ădis; f. Aug. plur. Rhăgădes, um; f. & Rhagadia, orum; n. Plin. ῥαγάδες, à ῥαγίζω, quod ũgnif. Abrumpo. Chaps and clefts in the hands or feet, &c. chilblains: also the piles.

* Rhăgion, gii; n. Plin. dict. ab acini parvi similitudine, quod ῥᾶγιον appell. A little venemous spider, with very short feet.

* Rhăgoïdes, Cels. ῥαγοειδὴς. sc. χιτών, Lat. Uvea, dic. quod nigræ uvæ similitudinem refert. The third coat that compasseth the eye, wherein is the hole by which we see.

Rhamnus, ni; m. Plin. ῥάμνος. אֹשֶׁר. A white bramble, called Rhamn or Christsthorn; Buck-horn, the Rhein-berry-bush.

Rhăphănus, ni; m. Plin. ῥαφανὶς. A radish: also a pestilent or venemous shrub in Africa. Raphanus rusticanus vel sylvestris, Gerard. Horse-radish.

† Rhăphius, ii; m. Chaum, quem Galli Rhaphium vocabant, Plin. 8. 19. ῥαφὶς, i. lupus cervarius. A beast in shape like a Wolf, speckled like a Libbard.

* Rhapsōdia, æ; f. Corn. Nep. ῥαψῳδία, ex ῥάπτω suo & ᾠδὴ cantus, carmen; & prop. dic. de carminibus Homeri, quæ cùm antè dissipata essent disjectáque, à Pisistrato in Rhapsodias seu libros digesta sunt, Cic. A Rhapsody, or book of Homer's poems.

† Rhāragra, æ; f. Cels. A Barbers instrument to pluck out teeth: corr. pro Rhizagra.

* Rhectæ, ārum; m. pl. Apul. ῥηκταὶ, à ῥήσσω rumpo. Earth-quakes causing the ground to break open.

Rhēda, æ; f. Cic. ῥαιδὰ. vocab. Gallicum, Quint. ζεῦγος. עֲגָלָה. A chariot, a coach, a caleshe, a carvact. Capsus rhedæ, Vitruv. The coach-box.

Rhēdārius, a, um; Var. Of or serving for a chariot or coach.

Rhēdārius, ii; m. Cic. ζευγηλάτης. A charioteer or coach-man.

Rhēno, ōnis; m. Cæs. villosum humerorum & pectoris velamen: vocab. ex Græcis sumptum, qui ὄνες ῥηνᾶς appell. vel à ῥὸς pellis: vel à Rheno fl. quòd Rhenani populi his uterentur; Isid. στέγος, Cuiacius. A thick garment furred, or made of skins, and covering the shoulders and breast; which the antient Almans were wont to wear in the wars; a cassock or just de cor made of skins.

* Rhēon; n. Jun. ῥεον. Rheubarb.

* Rhētor, ōris; m. Cic. ῥήτωρ, orator, à ῥέω dico. A Rhetorician, or Rhetorick Master. ☞ Rhetor, qui in schola docet; Orator, qui in foro causas agit.

Rhētŏrica, ōrum; n. Cic. τὰ ῥητορικά. Books or precepts of Rhetorick.

Rhētŏrica, æ; Cic. vel Rhetorice, es; f. Quint. ῥητορικὴ. Rhetorick; Oratory, the art of speaking handsomely.

Rhētŏrĭcè; adv. Cic. ῥητορικῶς. Rhetorically, like an Orator.

† Rhētŏrico, as; Rhetoricasti, pro Rhetoricatus es, Non.

Rhētŏrĭcor, āris; Hier. ῥητορεύω. To play the Rhetorician, to speak like an Orator, to Rhetoricate.

* Rhētŏricōtĕros, Cic. ῥητορικώτερος, i. magis rhetor, vel magis oratorius. More

More orator-like, more eloquent.

Rhētŏrĭcus, a, um; Cic. ῥητορικός. Of or belonging to Rhetorick; Rhetorical.

Rhētŏrĭcus, i; m. Quint. Sc. liber. A book of Rhetorick.

† Rhētŏrĭsso, as; Non. ex Pompon. ῥητορίζω, i. Rhetoricè loquor.

Rhetra, æ; f. Amm. ῥήτρα, lex; à ῥεῖν, loqui. The Laws of Lycurgus, held as oracles.

* Rheuma, ătis; n. Med. ῥεῦμα, à ῥέω fluo. A rheum, a catarrh, a distillation of humours: also the ebbing and flowing of the sea, or the tide, Veget. a flood, Amm.

Rheumătĭcus, a, um; adj. Plin. ῥευματικός. Rheumatick, that is troubled with rheum.

† Rheumătĭdio, as; Theod. Prisc. ῥευματίζομαι. To run with humors.

Rheumătĭsmus, mi; m. Plin. ῥευματισμός. The disease of the rheum, a rheumatism.

* Rheumătizo, as; Theod. Prisc. ῥευματίζω. To be troubled with rheum.

† Rhexia, æ; f. Plin. 22. 21. herba proprio nomine Onochilis dicta.

† Rhibes; pl. Jun. Cuba d'uiov. Raspises.

* Rhina, æ; f. Plin. piscis, qui & squatina, vide, i. lima, ob cutis asperitatem. A skate.

* Rhinŏcĕros, ōtis; m. Plin. ῥινόκερως, i. naricornis, ex ῥὶς, ῥινός, nasus, & κέρας cornu. ראם. The Rhinoceros, a beast enemy to the Elephant, having an horn in his snout bending upwards; some take it for the Unicorn: also a vessel with a long spout, out of which oyl was dropt upon the people, as they bathed, Mart. also one who is gag-toothed, Lucil. Rhinocerotis nasus, Mart. A turning up of the nose in scoffing and mocking.

† Rhinoclīsia, æ; f. Plin. 27. 8. herba genus; ῥινῶν κλισις, narium inclinatio, V. Calla. al. leg. Rhinochisia.

* Rhinagra, æ; f. Cels. ῥινάγρα. Ægin, qui spicula Chirurgi extrahunt. A Surgeons instrument to draw out a splinter, bone or tooth.

* Rhizias, æ; m. ῥιζίας, à ῥίζα radix. The juice of the root of Laserpitium, Plin. 19. 3.

* Rhizŏtŏmus, gr. ῥιζοτόμος, qui ῥίζας τέμνει. item herba, species iridis Illyricæ fabrufæ, Plin. 21. 7. ῥιζοτόμος.

* Rhŏdĭnus, a, um; ῥόδινος, i. roseus. Of or belonging to roses, made of roses; as Rhodinum oleum, Plin. 15. 7. unguentum, Id.

* Rhŏdītes, æ; m. Plin. ult. 11. ῥοδίτης. A precious stone of rose-colour: also wine with roses infused. = Rosatum, Lampr.

* Rhŏdŏdaphne, es; f. Plin. ῥοδοδάφνη, ex ῥόδα & lauro nomen comp. ῥόδον dicimus laurum, & ῥόδον rosam. A shrub having a flower like a rose, a leaf like the laurel or bay-leaf.

* Rhŏdŏdendros, i; f. Plin. 24. 11. & Rhododendron, i; n. Id. 16. 20. q. d. arbor rosis serens vel rosa arborescens. A tree with leaves like an Almond-tree, but greater, called an Oleander; Coop. It is rather an herb that grows to a mans height in Switzerland, with purple flowers like roses; the same as Rhododaphne.

* Rhŏdŏra, æ; f. Plin. 24. 19. ῥοδόρα. à rosario floris colore dict. An herb that hath a leaf like a nettle, and a flower like a rose.

* Rhoïcus, a, um; Plin. 24. 11. ῥοϊκός. Rhoïcæ mulieres, quarum vulvæ fluxione laborant, à ῥόος, fluxus.

* Rhoïscus, i; m. Bibl. ῥοΐσκος, corymbus aureus ad ῥοιᾶς, id est, mali Punici similitudinem.

* Rhomboides; adj. Geom. ῥομβοειδής, i. rhombi formam habens. A Geometrical Diamond figure with unequal sides; as Rhombus is with equal.

Rhombŭlus, li; m. dim. Lud. Viv. A diamond in cards.

Rhombus, bi; m. ῥόμβος. figura quadrilatera. Ἀπὸ τοῦ ῥόμβου, i. volvendo: a τροπίς. A fish called a Byrt or Turbot, Juv. Also a spinning-wheel, reel, whirl or turn, Ovid. A figure of four equal, but not right-angled sides; like a quarry of glass: also a kind of rolling instrument, which witches used, to fetch the Moon out of heaven, Mart. also the points of the Mariners Compass; a Rumb.

Rhomphæa, æ; f. Liv. Rhomphĕa, Val. Fl. ῥομφαία. רֹמַח. A kind of Thracian sword: a two-handed sword, or arming sword; a tuck.

Rhomphæālis, le; adj. Prud. Belonging to a long sword.

Rhonchisōnus, a, um; Sidon. That maketh a snorting noise.

* Rhonchisso, as; Plaut. ῥογχάζω. To snort or rout in the sleep.

Rhonchus, chi; m. Mart. ῥόγχος. נַחֲרָה. A snorting or snoring: also a sneering or mocking; a scoff, a flout, a jeer.

† Rhopālĭcus vel ius, a, um; i. clavaris, à ῥόπαλον clava; M. Rhopalicus versus, Gram. is est qui à monosyllabâ voce incipiens gradatim crescit, & ῥοπαλόεις, i. Hercufis clavam imitatur, ab angusto & tenui in latitudinem desinens, Mar. Plot. ut, Ὦ μάκαρ Ἀτρεΐδη μοιρηγενὲς ὀλβιοδαῖμον. Et illud, Spes Deus æternæ stationis conciliator.

* Rhŏpălon, i; n. Plin. 35. 7. herba Nymphæa; ῥόπαλον clava; quòd radicem habeat clavæ similem. A water-lily, called Nenuphar.

* Rhus, i; m. Plin. ῥοῦς, lat. fluxus. A bushy shrub called Sumach, leather-Sumach, Curriers Sumach, with the leaves whereof skins and hides are dresst and tanned. Rhus coriarius, Jun. Rhus tergorarius, Cæl.

* Rhyas, ădis; f. Cels. ῥυὰς vel ῥυάς, oculorum fluxio, ex ῥέω, ῥύσω fluo. Est & piscis, quem Flutam vocant: item imbecilla vitis, quæ & λάας. The disease of the eyes, watering or weeping continually.

* Rhypărographus, phi; m. Plin. qui ῥυπαρὰς, i. sordida & humilia γράφει, i. pingit. A painter of trifles, or mean things.

* Rhythmicus, a, um; Cic. ῥυθμικός. Of rhyme, made in rhyme or meeter; rhythmical.

Rhythmicus, i; m. Cic. ῥυθμικὸς, i. rhythmorum concinnator. A rimer or rhiming Poet, Rime-doggrel, Poet Bayi; a Ballad maker.

* Rhythmus, mi; m. Quint. ῥυθμός. Meeter, rhyme, number or harmony in speaking.

* Rhytion, tii; n. Mart. ῥυτὸν, genus vasis. A vessel or cup like a half-Moon.

R ante I.

Ribes; Offic. Red goose-berries, bastard Corinths, common ribes.

Rica, æ; f. Plaut. à rica, quòd Romano ritu cùm sacrificium fœminæ faciunt, capita velant; Var. pot. à ῥίκος, i. cingulum, Fest. quòd sit muliebre cingulum capitis, Fest. vel id. quod Ricinium; Id. μίτρα, καλύπτρα. A womans hood; a little cloak or mantle, that women used to cover their heads withal in sacrificing: also a kerchief, Var. a coife, a handkerchief, Non.

Ricinĭātus, a, um; Clad in such a cloak or mantle.

Ricinĭāti, mimi planipedes, Fest.

Ricinium, ii; n. Cic. id. quod Ricinum, à Rica; idque fort. à ricio, i. rejicio, pro Rica dict. A short womans cloak, Non. = Mafurtium, Id.

Ricinum, i; n. & Ricinus, i; m. Serv. Ricinum est omne vestimentum quadratum, Fest. cujus partem mediam retrorsùm jaciebant, Var. dict. ab eo, quòd post tergum rejicitur, Serv. V. Recinum. ῥεγέδιον. A cloak, of which they threw part over the shoulder, Cic. any garment four square; a close hood.

Ricinus, ni; Col. qu. ex Re & Canis; quòd canum aures infestet, Iſid. κρότων, κυναρωσής. A vermine called a Tyke, that annoyeth sundry kinds of beasts, as dogs, sheep, &c. also an herb in Egypt called Palma Christi, which hath a seed like a Tyke, ♃ It. id. quod Ricinum, Serv.

Ricto, as; Spart. To make a noise, properly as Libards do.

† Rictum, i; n. Lucr. id. quod Rictus.

Rictus, ūs; m. Cic. verb. à Ringo, rinxi, rictum: vel ut Scal. ῥαγὲς τὸ ῥύγχος, rostrum: a gaping or grinning mouth when one laugheth, yawning or gaping, grinning or gnarring as dogs: also the mouth, Ovid. a jaw or chap. Rictus columbæ, Plin. A pigeons bill. Rictus ad aures dehiscens, Plin. A wide sparrow mouth. Diducere rictum, Juv. To yawn.

Rĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Rica, parvum ricinum, i. palliolum ad usum capitis, Fest.

Ridendus, a, um; part. Hor. To be laught at.

Ridens; part. Hor. Laughing, smiling.

RIDEO, es, ēre; (I) rīsi, sum; neut. vel act. cum Acc. Cic. μειδιάω, γελάω. רָנַן. à ῥᾴδιος facilis, quoniam qui ridere solent, naturâ faciles sunt; vel à רדד expandit; vel ab Æol. χειδάω, Scal. To laugh, to mock, to scorn, to scoff: also to smile, Ovid. to shine and glitter, Hor. Ridere aliquem, Cic. To laugh at one; de re aliquâ, Id. for something; alicui, Vir. To smile upon one.

Ridibundus, a, um; Plaut. ὁ γελῶν ἰουκῶς. After a laughing waggish manner.

Ridica, æ; f. Col. quòd fulciendo radicis vicem obtinet. χερσὶ. משען. The prop of a vine, &c. ✠ Pedamentum vinearum est aut fissile, ut Ridica; aut teres, ut Palus, Bud.

Ridicŭla, æ; f. dim. Sen. A little stake or fork. Al. leg. Tendicula.

Ridiculāria, æ; n. plur. Cato ap. Macrob. Jests or things to be laughed at.

Ridiculārius, a, um; μωκητικὸς, Ridiculous. Ridicularia, Plaut. Silly fooleries. Ridicularius, Gell. A make-sport.

Ridiculè; adv. Cic. γελοίως. Ridiculosè, Sueton. simply; by way of droll, pleasantly.

Ridiculissimus, a, um; superl. Plaut. Most ridiculous, or playsome; in a very pleasant merry humour.

Ridiculum, li; n. τὸ γελοῖον. A jest, a thing

bing to be laught a', a silly buſineſs. Ridiculo eſſe, Ter. In ridiculo eſſe, Plaut. o be made a laughing or mocking ſtock. Per ridiculum, Cic. In jeſt, in mockery.

Ridiculus, a, um; Cic. qui aliis riſui eſt, & qui aliis riſum movet; γελοῖος, καταγέλαστος. Ridiculous, ſilly, to be laught at; that will make one laugh, that maketh ſport, a droll, a Pleaſant.

† Rien, id. quod Ren; Feſt. ex Plaut.

Rigans; part. Ovid. Wetting, bedewing.

Rigātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. διάβρεξις. ירי. A watering, a moiſtening, a wetting.

Rigātor, ōris; m. verb. Col. He that watereth.

Rigātrix, icis; f. Aug. She that bedeweth or ſprinkleth.

Rigens; part. Pl. jun. Frozen with cold, hard, ſtiff, ſtark, ſtaring, ſtanding an end; ſtiff as a ſtake, Quint.

RIGEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. Cic. à gr. ῥιγέω. To be very cold, to be ſtiff and hard, to be frozen; to ſtand ſtiff, upright or an end, to ſtare (as hair doth,) Ovid.

Rigeſcens; part. Plin. Waxing ſtiff.

Rigeſco, is, ĕre; inc. Vir. To grow ſtark or ſtiff with cold.

Rigidior, us; comp. Cic. More rough and rugged.

Rigiditas, ātis; f. Plaut. Stiffneſs, ſeverity.

Rigidor, āris; paſſ. Sen. σκληρύνομαι. To be made ſtiff and ſtark.

Rigidus, a, um; à Rigeo: φοικώδης, πηγώδης, κρυερός. Cold, frozen, Ovid. ſtiff, hard, Vir. rigid, ſevere, rigorous, rude, rugged, ſtern, reſolute, cruel, fierce, rough, ſturdy, unmerciful. = Durus, Plin. jun. trux, Ovid.

RIGO, as; act. Cic. à ῥίγω. riger, frigus; quòd quæ rigantur, rigent & frigent; à rivus, V. ut. à mari mergo; qu. rivigo, i. rivum ago, Pap. Omn. à βρέχω, βρόχω, ἀρδεύω. רוה. To water a field, a garden or a garment; to wet, to moiſten.

Rigor, āris; paſſ. Ovid.

Rigor, ōris; m. à Rigeo. ῥίγος. קר. Σκληρότης. קשי. A great ſtiff cold; hardneſs, Vir. roughneſs, ſtiffneſs, Cels. rigour and extremity, Modeſt. the cold fit of an ague; alſo a ridge ſtraight along that bounds land; Aggen. ✠ Calor, Plin.

† Rigōrātus, a, um; Plin. Σκληρωθείς. Made ſtiff or hard.

† Rigōrōſus, a, um; Bud. Full of extream cold.

Rīguum, ui; n. Plin. An inundation.

Riguus, a, um; Col. κατάρρυτος. Moiſt, wet, watery; Vir. or is watered, Ovid. ✠ Siccaneus, Col.

RIMA, æ; f. ῥῆγμα, κλειθρίς. בקיע, חצץ. à ῥήσσω, Becm. vel à ῥαγμή, quod id. ſign. A riſt, cleft, or chap in wood or ſtone, where it is not cloſe joyned; a chink, a cranny. Invenire rimam, Plaut. To find an hole to creep out at. Agere rimas, Cic. To cleave, chap or chink.

Rimābundus, a, um; Apul. rimanti ſimilis. Curiouſly prying.

Rimātor, ōris; m. verb. Auguſt. He that ſearcheth.

Rimor, āris; dep. Cic. Rimari eſt Valde quærere, in rimis quoque, Feſt. Sunm propriè, è rimis terræ glandes eruentium; Serv. ἐρευνάω, κατερευνάω, ἀνιχνεύω. חפש. To ſearch, to pry into, to peep, to ſpy, to ſeek in every corner and hole. Rimari terram raſtris, Vir. juga canibus, Claud.

Rimōſus, a, um; Vir. κλειθρώδης, πολυῤῥαγής. Full of clefts and chinks; leany.

Rimŭla, æ; f. dim. A little or ſmall chink or cleft.

RINGO, is, ĕre; rinxi, rictum. σίνομαι. To grin like a dog.

Ringor, ĕris, ctus; Ter. à ῥὶν naris; quòd canes latraturi ringendo nares agunt, i. ſuſpendunt, vel ex ira in rugas diducunt os, Perot. σίνομαι, ῥῖνα Cynici. פה. To grin or ſhew the teeth as a dog doth, to wry the mouth as one that is angry; to fret and chaſe with himſelf; to make faces.

RIPA, æ; f. Cic. dict. quòd rivorum, i. aquarum agitatione rumpatur; vel à ῥιπὴ impetus, ictus, à ῥίπτω, quòd ibi impetus aquæ ſiſtitur, vel quòd in eam aquæ impetum faciant. ποταμῶν ὄχθη, ἀκτή. גדה, שפה. A bank of a river: alſo the ſea-ſhore or bank; the ſea-ſide, Plin. = Littus, Col. ſed propriè ✠ Littus maris, Ripa fluvii, Ovid.

† Ripārienſis, e; Riparienſes legiones, Cod. riparum caſtris deputatæ; Cujac. Souldiers that were to guard the frontiers of the Empire along the banks of ſome river. Al. ſcrib. Riparenſis.

Ripārius, a, um; ὀχθηρός, παραποτάμιος. Of or belonging to the banks. Riparia hirundo, Plin. Bank-Martin.

Ripŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. ὀχθίδιον. A little water bank.

Riſcus, ci; m. Ter. ῥίσκος. ciſta pelle contecta, nomen Phrygium, Don. à ῥύομαι cuſtodio. A coffer covered with leather, a trunk: alſo a little window or hole within a wall, Serv.

Rīſibilis, le; adj. γελαστικός, Boët. Which can laugh.

Riſio, ōnis; f. verb. à Rideo, Plaut. μειδίαμα, γέλασμα. A laughing.

Riſor, ōris; m. verb. Hor. καταγελαστής. A laugher, a mocker.

Riſus, ûs; m. verb. à Rideo, Cic. γέλως. שחק. Laughter, laughing.

Rītè; adv. Cic. quòd quæ ſecundùm ritum fiunt, recta ſunt & rata, Var. καλῶς, φρονίμως. Rightly, aright, well and truly, according to cuſtome, as it ſhould be, or as one ſhould do.

† Rites, is; m. id. quod Ritus: in Abl. Rite, ut Impete; & in eo caſu legitur tantùm, Rite neſaſto, Stat.

Rituālis, le; adj. Of or belonging to cuſtoms, rites and ceremonies, ritual. Rituales Hetruſcorum libri, Cic. in quibus ſcriptum erat, quo ritu urbes condantur, aræ ædeſque ſacrentur, curiæ, tribus & centuriæ diſtribuantur, Feſt. Θεσμοθετικὰ βιβλία.

RITUS, us, (& tuis; Non.) m. mos & approbata conſuetudo, quam omnes ratam habent; à τρίβω, i. via trita & mos tritus, Voſ. Ritus, mos eſt comprobatus in adminiſtrandis ſacrificiis, Feſt. Θεσμός, θεσμοθεσία, ἐθ. τὸ νόμιμον. חקה. A cuſtome, faſhion or uſage; a rite, a ceremony, a courſe or order. Pecudum ritu, Cic. After the manner of beaſts. Magico ritu, Ovid. As Magicians are wont to do.

Rivālis, le; Col. ποτάμιος. Of or belonging to a river. Rivales, Id. φρέατορες, qui per eundem rivum aquam ducunt, inter quos ſæpè contentio eſt de aquæ uſu, Ulp. They that dwell by running waters: alſo they that have their land and grounds parted by a brook, and bordering upon the ſame, and therefore have both intereſt in the river.

Rivālis, is; m. Rivales, qu. in unum amorem derivantes; Non. vel à beſtiis, quæ ſitientes, cùm ex eodem rivulo hauſtum petunt, prælium contra ſe invicem concitant, Donat. vel à re ruſticâ, nam Rivales dicuntur ii, quorum agros rivus aliquis determinat; qui præ incertitudine & mutatione crebrâ curſûs lites ſæpè inter eos ſuſcitat, Cæl. ἀντερασῆς, ἀντίζηλος. A rival, that loveth the ſame woman that another doth. Amare ſe ſine rivali, Cic. ◊ Eſt & Adj. ut Rivalis aries, Col.

Rivālitas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀντιζηλία. Rivalſhip.

Rivātim; adv. Macr. River by river, by particular ſtreams.

Rivinus, id. quod Rivalis, Plaut.

Rivŭlus, li; m. dim. Cic. ῥύακιον. A little brook; a rill.

RIVUS, vi; m. Cic. à ῥέω, fluo, ab Heb. רוח: ῥεῖθρον, ὀχετός. פלג. A brook, a river, a ſtream of water with a gentle or natural current. Sanguinis rivus, Plin. A vein of the body.

Rixa, æ; f. Cic. à ringo, rinxi; ut lixa à lingo: al. ab ἐρίζω, ἐρίζω pro ἐρίσσω; vel ab ἀερίσσω, ἀερίζω conſicor; vel à ῥήσσω frango, ῥήξω, Feſt. ἔρις τὸ νεῖκος, ἐρίθεια. מצה, ריב. A brabling, a brawling, a chiding or ſcolding, ſtrife, a quarrel, a bout, a diſpute.

Rixans; part. Plin. Scolding, quarrelling.

† Rixat, pro Rixatur, Non.

Rixātio, ōnis; f. verb. Tac. ἐρίθεια. A brawling, a chiding.

Rixātor, ōris; m. verb. Dig. A brawler, a wrangler.

Rixor, āris; ἐρίζω, φιλονεικέω. To brawl, to berate, to ſcold and chide; to ſtrive and quarrel: alſo to ruſtle, Var. Rixari cum aliquo, Cic. inter ſe, Plin. de lanâ caprinâ, Hor.

Rixōſus, a, um; Col. ἐριστικός, δύσερις. Quarrelſome, full of brawling or chiding.

R ante O.

† Robeus, a, um; ant. pro Rubeus.

† Robia herba; Paul. pro Rubia.

Robigalia, ium; n. dies feſtus ſeptimo Calend. Maias celebrari ſolitus, teſte Feſto, quo Robigo deo ſacra fiebant, ut robiginem ſive rubiginem à ſegetibus averteret. Gang-week, or Rogation-week.

† Robigo, inis; f. Vir. dict. quòd ſit coloris robi; robum πυῤῥὸν vocabant ſeu rutulum, Scal. ἐρυσίβη. Blaſting of corn, mildew. Vid. Rubigo.

Rōbŏrārium, ii; n. Gell. 2. 20. Roboraria antiq. appell. vivaria, quià robore ſepta eſſent; δρυφακτὸν, περίφραγμα. A park or warren, a place paled about.

Rōbŏreus, a, um; Ovid. δρύϊνος. Made of Oak, or like ſtrong timber. Pila roborea, Vindic. An Oak-apple.

Rōbŏro, as; act. Cic. καρτερόω, σθηνόω. חזק. To ſtrengthen or make ſtrong.

Rōbŏror, āris; paſſ. Plin.

Rōbŏrōſus, a, um; Veget. That grows ſtiff and hard like Oak; a diſeaſe in cattel cauſed by a Convulſion.

ROBUR, ŏris; n. materia quæ plurimas robi (i. ruſi) coloris venas habet; inde Robur, & homines valentes & boni colo is Ῥοδωπίς, Fest. al. ἀπὸ τοῦ ῥόδου, al. ab Heb. רוד. It. Robur in carcere is locus, quo præcipitatur maleficorum genus, quod antè arcis robustis includebatur, Fest. δρῦς, ἡ ἐκ δρυὸς, ἀλλαχοῦ. אלה. Oak of the hardest kind; heart of oak; timber, Vir. per metaph. strength of body, Cic. or of any thing generally, Col. courage or stoutness, Sil. ῥώμη. חיל, עז. force, ableness to endure and hold out: also a stocks or like place in a prison, Liv. Ex robore fact. ☞ Nodosum robur, Ovid. Ictus. = Firmamentum, firmitas, Cic. vires, Vir.

Rōburneus, a, um; δρύϊνος. Of an Oak.

Rōburnus, a, um; δρύϊνος. Of an Oak. Plaut.

† Rōbus, a, um; ant. pro Ruleus, Fest. Strong, or red of colour. Triticum robum, Col. Red wheat.

Rōbus, bi; m. Col. à robe, i. rubro vel rufo colore; Vett. enim robum rubeum dicebant. & bovem idcirco rustici robum, Fest. it. genus tritici, Col. ἐρυθρός. Red wheat: also a red ox.

† Rōbus; n. materia, quæ robi, i. rubei coloris venas habet, Fest. id. quod Robur.

Rōbusteus, a, um; δρύϊνος. Strong like oak, made of oak, oken. Robustea materies, Var. Timber of oak.

Rōbustior, us; comp. Cic. More sturdy.

Rōbustus, a, um; à Robur, Cic. ῥωμαλέος, ἰσχυρός, ἔωρος. אמיץ. Strong, lusty, hardy, sturdy, valiant, made of oak. Robustus in clamando, Cic. ad incursum, Plin. = Valens, Cic.

Rōdens; part. Cic. Gnawing.

RODO, is, ĕre; (ō)si, sum; act. Cic. à Rado, vel à gr. ῥόδω impetu feror, quòd qui rodunt impetuosi sunt; fortè à τρώγω, ut g in d abeat, ut ἀμέλγω quem μέλδω, κατατρώγω. אכל. To gnaw, to nibble; to eat or wear away, Lucr. also to backbite or speak ill of. Dentem dente rodere, Hor.

Rōdor, ĕris; pass. Ovid.

† Rodus, a, um; sign. rem rudem & imperfectam; ut Saxum rodum, Acc. ap. Fest. & Plumbum rodum, Lucil. Rude, unwrought.

† Rōga, æ; f. R. ex Cypr. à rogando. An alms.

Rōgālis, le; adj. à Rogus; ὁ ἐπὶ πυρᾷ. Of or belonging to a great fire. Ignis rogalis, Stat. A bonefire.

† Rōgāmentum, ti; n. Apul. A proposition to be granted.

Rōgandus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be asked. Consulibus rogandis, Cic. For the making or chooſing of Conſuls.

Rōgans; part. Ovid. Asking, deſiring, intreating.

Rōgātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. quòd cùm leges promulgarentur in vulgus, populum ita rogaret, i. interrogaret magiſtratus; Velitis, jubeatisque Quirites hoc fieri? Quòd ii respondiſſet, Uti rogas; lex erat, Fest. Nomen actionis, ἐρώτησις. שאלה. A queſtion, an interrogation, a demand, a deſire or requeſt: alſo the propounding of a Bill to paſs the Houſe. Accipere rogationem, Cic. To paſs a Bill in Parliament.

Rōgātiuncŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. Smuggery. A ſmall requeſt; a propoſal in Senate, a Parliament Bill.

Rōgātor, ōris; m. verb. αἰτητής, ἱκέτης. A demander, a deſirer, a requeſter, a begger, Plaut. Rogator comitiorum, Cic. The Speaker of Parliament, the Chair-man of a Committee.

Rōgātrix; f. verb. Sidon. She that aſketh or deſireth.

Rōgātus, a, um; part. Cic. Aſked, deſired, intreated; courted, wooed, Ovid.

Rōgātus, ūs; m. verb. δέησις, αἴτησις. A deſire, a ſuit. Rogatu meo, Cic. At my requeſt.

Rōgitans; part. Vir. Aſking.

Rōgitātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. ἀναπεύθησις. An often intreating, beſeeching, asking or demanding, craving or begging.

Rōgitātor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that aſketh often.

Rōgito, as; freq. Ter. πολλὰ δέεσθαι παρά τινος, ἐπερωτᾶν. To aſk often, to deſire or intreat, to demand.

ROGO, as; act. fort. ab ὀρέγω concupisco, per aphær. vel qu. ore ago: δέομαι, αἰτέω, ἐρωτάω. בעה, עתר. To aſk, deſire, intreat or requeſt, to command, beg or crave; to borrow. Cum duplici Acc. Rogare aliquem sententiam, Cic. argentum ab aliquo, Plaut. aliquem de re aliquâ, Cic. ☞ Rogare sacramento militem, Liv. To ſwear a ſouldier, or give him his oath to be true and faithful. Rogare legem, Cic. To propoſe a Law in Parliament, to bring in a Bill.

Rōgus, gi; m. Cic. dict. quòd cadavere lignorum strui impositò, dii manes rogentur: vel à ῥαγῆ, aut ῥώξ, ῥῆς fiſſura, quòd è fissis lignis fieret strues, M. πυρά, πυρκαϊά. מדורה. A great fire, wherein dead bodies were burned; a funeral pile, Suet. a grave, Cic. a bone-fire.

Romphæa; f. Nebriſſ. & penult. brevi, Romphĕa, Val. Fl. ῥομφαία, quæ & Framea. A two-hand ſword. Vid. Rhomphæa.

Ronchus, i; m. ῥόγχος. vid. Rhonchus.

Rōrālis, le; Ovid. à Ros; δεροειδής. Of dew, that may be ſprinkled like dew, dewy.

Rōrans, tis; part. Cic. Bedewing, dropping like dew.

Rōrārius, a, um; Wet, dewy. Rorarium vinum, quod rorariis dabatur, Fest.

Rorārius, ii; m. Lucil. Rorarii milites, Liv. ἀκροβολισταί. dict. à rore, qui bellum committebant antè, ideò quòd antè rorat quàm pluit, Var. Fest. Non. The ſouldiers light armed, that made the firſt skirmiſh, q. d. Dew-beaters.

Rōrat; impers. Col. ut Ningit, &c. The dew falleth.

Rōrātio, ōnis; f. verb. it. siderationis genus in vitibus defloreſcentibus, Plin. δέρσος, ὁ δέρσα βαπτισμός. A falling of dew; a fault in vines, when the chief grapes fall, and the reſidue are very ſmall; a blaſting of grapes, when newly knit; ῥοάς, Theoph.

Rōrātus, a, um; part. Ovid. δεροβρεχής, βαπτιδικός. Bedewed, wet with dew, that is ſprinkled like dew, dewy.

Rōresco, is, ĕre; incep. unde part. Roreſcens, Plin. δεροῦμαι. To be wet with dew, to be dewy.

† Rōridus, a, um; Lucr. δερόεις. Dewy, moiſt.

Rōrifer, a, um; Sen. δεροφόρος. That maketh or bringeth dew.

Rōrifluus, a, um; rore fluens, Poët. vet. ap. Turneb.

Rōro, as; act. à Ros, Vir. δεροῖζω, βαίνω. טפף. To bedew, to beſprinkle. Neut. To drop and fall down like dew; to mizzle or drizzle.

Rōror, āris; pass. Ovid.

Rōrŭlentus, a, um; Col. δεροειδής, πολὺ δέρος. Full of dew, dewy.

ROS, rōris; m. Cic. à δέρω, vel à ῥέω, per contr. ĭus fluxus: vel à רסס, ſtillavit roſcide, Aven. δέρος. טל. Dew. Liquidus ros, Ovid. Spring water. Ros vitalis, Vir. The nurſes milk.

ROSA, æ; f. Cic. ῥόδον. חבצלת. à gr. ῥόδον, unde fort. fuerat ῥόδη, a in o verso, ut contrà à μέσος medius. A roſe, alſo oyl of roſes, Celſ. A complement to a ſweet-heart. Rosa mea, Plaut. ☞ Rosa Damascena, The white roſe; Purpurea, Milesia, Plin. The red roſe; Prænestina, Plin. The Civet or baſtard muſk roſe. Rosa Batava sive Hollandica, Gerard. The great Province roſe.

Rōsāceum, ei; n. Plin. ſc. oleum. ῥοδινον ἔλαιον. Oyl of roſes.

Rōsāceus, a, um; Plin. ῥόδινος. Of or belonging to roſes.

Rōsārium, ii; n. Ovid. ῥοδωνιά. A roſter, a garden, or bed of roſes, a place where roſes grow: alſo a Roſary, or Maſs with prayers to the Virgin Mary.

Rōsārius, a, um; adj. Suet. Of roſes.

Rōsātum, ti; n. Lampr. Wine made of roſes infuſed.

Rōsātus, ti; m. ſc. nummus. An Engliſh coin of ſixteen ſhillings, eight pence; a Roſe-noble.

Roscidus, a, um; Vir. à Ros: ὑδρόεις, δερόεις, δερώδης. That is wet or moiſted with dew, dewy.

Rōscĕlus, a, um; dim. à Roseus, Prud.

Rōsētum, ti; n. Vir. ῥοδών, ῥοδωνιά. A garden of roſes, or a place planted with roſes.

Rōseus, a, um; Plin. ῥοδῶν, ῥόδινος. Of a roſe, or of the colour of a roſe: alſo fair, red, roſie, Vir. alſo full of roſes, Claud.

Rōsio, ōnis; f. verb. à Rodo, Plin. βρῶσις, τὸ δῆγμα. A gnawing, a nibling, a biting, a griping.

Rosmārinus, ni; m. vel Rosmarinum, n. Plin. etiam in Acc. & diviſim Ros marinus, Vir. dict. quià instar roris in marino littore tempore matutino apparet; vel fort. quià rore marino alitur. λιβανωτίς. Roſemary.

Rosmāris, is; f. Ovid. pot. diviſim Ros maris, id. quod Rosmarinus, vel Ros marinus. λιβανωτίς. A roſemary-tree.

Rostellum, li; n. dim. à Rostrum, Plin. ῥυγχάριον. A little bill, beak, or ſnout.

Rostra, ōrum; n. Cic. locus in foro Romano, ex quo conciones haberi solerent, ſuum nomen ſortitus à navium Antiatium rostris, quibus ornatum erat id suggeſtum, Liv. οἱ ἐμβολοί. The place of common pleas at Rome, wherein was a pulpit ſet, trimmed with ſtems or forefronts of the ſhips of the Antiates, Liv. out of which place they were wont to make orations to the people; a pulpit, a pleading place.

Rostrātus, a, um; ῥυγχώτης. Beaked or ſnouted, that hath a bird, beak or ſnout; that hath a ſtem. Rostratæ naves, Liv. Ships with ſtems, ſhod or pointed with iron or braſs. Rostratæ pelles, Amm. Muzzel. Rostrata corona, Plin. A garland given to a Captain for a victory at ſea.

Rostro, as; act. unde part. Rostrans, Plin. i. rostrum impingo, Bud. ῥυγχόω, ἐμβάλλω. To thruſt in its beak or point.

Rostrum, tri; n. Plin. à Rodo, rosum; ut Rastrum à rado: ῥύγχος, ῥάμφος. The beak, bill or nib of a bird; the noſe or ſnout of a beaſt or fiſh; the ſtem or beak of a ſhip, ἔμβολον. the point or end of a bar or leaver, Jun.

ROTA, æ; f. dict. quòd ruat, Iſid. vel à ῥόδω ſtrepo, cum impetu feror; τροχός.

τροχός. אופן, גלגל. A wheel: alſo a chariot; a kind of torture uſed on a wheel: alſo a kind of wild goat, Var. A kind of whale or great ſea-fiſh, Plin. ◊ Rota fortunæ, Cic. The wheel of fortune, now up, now down.

Rŏtābilis, le; adj. Amm. Which may be turned round, or wheeled about.

Rŏtālis, le; adj. Jul. Cap. Of or belonging to a wheel, or having wheels.

Rŏtans, tis; part. Hor. κυκλῶν. Wheeling, turning round.

Rŏtārius, rii; m. Hul. A wheelwright.

Rŏtātilis, le; Prud. Swift or whirling.

Rŏtātim; adv. Apul. Like a wheel.

Rŏtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Diom. A wheeling about.

Rŏtātus, a, um; part. Ovid. κυκλωθείς. Turned or ſwing'd round, whirled about. Sermo rotatus, Juv. A round quick diſcourſe.

Rŏtella, æ; f. dim. ex dim. Jun. A very little wheel, a rowell.

Rŏto, as; act. Col. γυρόω, κυκλόω, σχεδιάζω. To turn a thing round like a wheel, to ſwing or whirl about.

Rŏtŭla, æ; f. dim. Plin. τροχίσκος. A little wheel, or role: alſo a cracknel, written like a rope, Jun. a roll or bill. Rotula in genu, Med. The whirl-bone, the patel-bone.

Rŏtundātio, ōnis; f. verb. Vitr. στρογγύλωσις. A turning or making round.

Rŏtundātus, a, um; part. Vell. Made round.

Rŏtundè; adv. Cic. στρογγύλως, σχεδιαστῶς. Roundly, aptly, elegantly, compaſſly, volubly.

Rŏtundior, us; comp. Cic. Rounder.

Rŏtundiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Very round.

Rŏtunditas, ātis; f. Plin. στρογγυλότης, σχεμάτισις. Roundneſs.

Rŏtundo, as; act. Cic. στρογγύω, γυρόω, στρογγυλίζω. To make round, to round, to make full and perfect, Hor. to pile up on a round heap.

Rŏtundor, āris; paſſ. Hor.

Rŏtundus, a, um; Cic. à Rota, vel à Rotundo, quòd omnis undique retuſa ſit angulorum aſperitas: στρογγύλος, κυκλοτερής, Cheiſeneſius, σχεδιαστός. עגול. Round, circular, compleat; neat and handſome, quick, deft; nimble, voluble. = Globoſus, celer, volubilis, Cic. ✠ Quadratus, Id.

R ante U.

Rŏbĕcŭla, æ; f. Jun. à rubeo colore pectoris. ἐρυθρόκιος. A Robin red-breaſt.

Rŏbĕdo, inis; f. ἐρυθρότης. Redneſs.

Rŏbĕfăcio, is, ĕre; ēci, ctum; i. rubere facio, Sil. ἐρυθραίνω, φοινίσσω. To make red, to make one bluſh.

Rŏbĕfactus, a, um; part. Ovid. ἐρυθρωθείς. Made red.

Rŏbĕfio, is, factus; ἐρυθραίνομαι. To be made red.

†Rŭbellĭānus, a, um; Rubellianæ vites, Col. Vines of a red coloured wood.

Rŭbellio, ōnis; m. Plin. 32. 10. à rubello colore; ἐρυθρόκιος. A fiſh called a Roche, a Roach: alſo a Robin red-breaſt, Jun.

Rŭbellus, a, um; dim. à Ruber, Plin. ὑπερυθρός. אדמדם. Somewhat red.

Rubellæ vites, Plin. Vines, the wood whereof is red. Rubellum vinum, Mart. Claret-wine.

Rŭbens; part. Vir. Red, of a ruddy colour.

Rŭbentia, æ; f. Cæl. Bluſhing.

RUBEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. Vir. ἐρυθραίνομαι, ἐρυθριάω. אדם. To be red, to bluſh, to redden.

Rŭber, bra, rum; Vir. à ἐρυθρός. πυρρὸς, ξανθὸς, à corticibus punici mali, Scal. al. ab ἐρυθρός. אדום. Red, of a deep, full and ſad yellow colour, ruddy.

Rŭbeſco, is, ĕre; inc. Vir. ἐρυθριάω. To wax or begin to be red, to redden.

Rŭbĕta, æ; f. ὁ φρύνη vel ὁ φρύνος, rana venenoſa; dict. quòd in rubis, i. vepribus vivat, Plin. 32. 5. al. à rubeo colore, Propert. A toad that is ſomewhat red, a land-toad, that keeps about buſhes, a ruddock.

Rŭbĕtārius, ii; m. A kind of Hawk, called an Hen-barrier.

Rŭbĕtum, ti; n. Ovid. βατών. A buſhy cloſe full of brambles, or a place where many buſhes grow.

Rŭbeus, a, um; à Rubeo, Gell. ἐρυθρός. אדום. Red, ruddy.

Rŭbeus, a, um; à Rubus, Vir. βάτινος. Buſhy, or belonging to buſhes.

Rŭbia, æ; f. Plin. Rubia tinctorum, Jun. ἐρυθρόδανον. An herb called Goſtinweed or Clivers, Madder wherewith they uſe to colour ſkins, or dye wool. Rubia ſylveſtris, The herb called Woodroof.

Rŭbĭcilla, æ; f. Jun. The bird called a Bull-finch, or Red-tail; a Red-ſtart.

Rŭbicundior, us; comp. Var. More ruddy.

Rŭbĭcundŭlus, a, um; dim. Juv. ὑπέρυθρος. Somewhat red or ruddy.

Rŭbicundus, a, um; Ter. à Rubeo, ἐρυθρός, ἐρυθρώδης. חכלילי. Ruddy, blood-red, very red.

Rŭbĭdus, a, um; à Rubeo, Gell. ἐπιερυθρὴς, ὑπέρυθρος. Of a deep red colour, reddiſh, ſwart red, browniſh: alſo rough or rugged; pro Ruvidus, Lamb. Rubidus panis, Plaut. Bread dow-baked, Feſt. only reaked in the oven, and ſcorched; or (after others) rough bread twice baked, biſket.

Rŭbigālia, ōrum; n. Feſt. Feaſts inſtituted by Numa for the preſerving of corn from blaſting, and kept on the twenty fifth day of April.

Rŭbigĭno, as; act. unde paſſ. Rubiginor, Apul. inc. To ruſt.

Rŭbiginōſus, a, um; Mart. ἰώδης, ἐρυσιβώδης. Ruſty, foul.

Rŭbigo, inis; f. Vir. à rubeo ſeu rubido colore. ὁ ἰός, ἐρυσίβη. ירקון. Ruſt, ruſtineſs of iron or braſs, Plin. foulneſs; blaſting of corn and vines, Plin. mildew.

Rŭbīnus, i; m. gemma, quiâ rubet ut ſanguis dict. Boët. A Ruby.

Rŭbor, ōris; m. à Rubeo, Vir. τὸ ἐρυθρόν, ἐρύθημα. Redneſs, bluſhing, ſhamefulneſs, Cic.

Rŭbrica, æ; f. Col. à rubro colore. μίλτος. שישור. Vermilion, red lead, red oaker; rudale to mark ſheep, or which carpenters mark their lines or tracks with. ◊ Alſo the title or contents of a law or book ſo called, becauſe they were writ in red letters, Perſ. a Rubrick; Alſo a kind of ring-worm or red tetter. Rubrica Sinopica, Jun. Bolearmoniack.

Rŭbrĭcātus, a, um; part. μιλτωτός. Coloured with red, or marked with ruddle or red oaker. Rubricata linea, Cornut. A Carpenters line.

Rŭbrĭcēta, æ; f. à rubedine dict. Plaut. ἀπὸ ῥοδίνου, ῥοδωνία. Roſe colour, wherewith women painted their faces, Spaniſh red. = Purpuriſſum.

Rubrico, as; act. Claud. rubricâ ſigno; it. rubrum facio. To colour red: alſo to mark out with a line.

Rubricōſus, a, um; Col. μιλτώδης. Full of ruddle or red Oker.

Rubrior, us; comp. Plin. More red.

†Rubrus, a, um; Solin. id. quod Ruber.

Rŭbus, bi; m. Vir. vel f. dict. quòd virgulta ejus rubeant, Perot. vel quòd mora rubra ferat; ὁ βάτος. סנה. A bramble, a buſh, the black-berry buſh. Rubus Idæus, Jun. The Hind-berry or Raſp-berry tree. Rubus caninus, Offic. ῥοδόβατος. The wild Eglantine.

Ructāmen, ĭnis; n. Prud. idem quod Ructus. Belching.

Ructans; part. Cic. Belching.

Ructātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cels. ἐρεύγμος. A belching.

Ructātrix, ĭcis; f. verb. ἐρευκτικὴ. She that belcheth or breaketh wind, or rowteth. Ructatrix herba, Mart. Mint that cauſeth one to belch.

Ructātus, a, um; part. Sil. ἀπερεύγεσθαι. That is belched out, or caſt up.

Ructĭtātio; f. verb. Cels. An often belching or breaking of wind.

Ructĭto, as; freq. Col. To belch often.

Ructo, as; neut. Plin. ab ἐρεύγω. quidam ab Erugo vel Rugo, Perot. ἐρεύγω. To break wind upwards, to belch or belk. Crudum ructare, Cels. To belch ſowre.

Ructor, āris; dep. cum Acc. Hor. To belch out.

† Ructuātio, ōnis; f. Ructuatio eſculenta, Sidon. quæ fit ab homine ſaturo. Belching from a full ſtomach.

Ructuōſus, a, um; Quint. ἐρευγματώδης. That belcheth much, or ſmells of belch.

RUCTUS, ûs; m. Plin. ἐρεύγμα. verb. ab ἐρεύγω, ἐρεύκτης, ut Guſtus à γεύω, γευστός. A belch, belching or breaking of wind upward.

†Rŭdātum, pro Rudimentum, Apul.

Rŭdens, tis; part. Braying like an Aſs, Ovid. roaring, Vir.

Rŭdens, tis; m. Vir. vel f. Plaut. dict. quòd cùm vento agitatur, quaſi rudere exiſtimetur, Non. ὁ κάλως, σχοῖνος. חבל. A cable or great rope of a ſhip.

† Rudentiſĭbilus, li; m. Pacuv. ap. Var. i. rudentum ſibilus, Cæl. The whiſtling of the wind among the cables.

Rūderārius, a, um; Belonging to rubbiſh. Ruderarium cribrum, Apul. i. ruderibus expurgandis accommodatum. A ſkreen for rubbiſh or gravel; a ranging ſieve or bolter.

Rūdĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Vitr. ἐρείσωσις. A laying of rubbiſh; a paving with rubble and like ſtuff.

Rūdĕrātor; m. verb. Vitr. He that layeth rubbiſh, or paveth.

Rūdĕrātus, a, um; part. Plin. ἐρειπωθείς. Layed on with rubbiſh, paved with rubbiſh, as divers cauſers are.

Rūdĕro, as; rudus indico, unde paſſ. Ruderor, Vitr. ἐρείπω. To lay on old pieces of ſtone or rubble: alſo to pave or make a floor of rubble mixt with lime.

Rūdĕrtum, ti; n. Cato. ἐρεσσόδης τόπος, locus plenus rudere. A place where much rubbish or rubble lyeth.

Rūdiārius, ii; m. Suet. à rudi, i. virga; Rudiarii dicti sunt qui impetrârunt missionem artis gladiatoriæ, donati rude; ἀποστεφάνῳς. Rudiarii etiam qui rudia & nova saga poliunt, Fest. He that is discharged from sword-play: also a botcher or mender of old garments; a Calender or dresser of cloth.

Rūdĭcŭla, æ; f. Plin. dim. à Rudis: σκάφη. A spattle or slice or ladle, wherewith they use to stir things that are a boiling.

Rūdimentum, ti; n. Cic. qu. à verbo Rudio; prima disciplina, quæ rudibus committitur: παραίδωμα, στοιχείωσις. The first teaching or instruction; a rudiment, a principle, a beginning, Plin. the first tryal of skill; an apprenticeship or freshmanship.

RŪDIS, de; adj. à raudis sive raudus, i. ῥάβδος virga impolita: ἀμαθὴς, ἀπειρεῖος, ἀπαίδευτος. Rude, ignorant, unskilful, untaught, not exercised or traded in a thing; unacquainted, raw, unexperienced, that is to seek, that knows not how, fumbling, clownish, Juv. simple, dull. ✠ It. ἀγναφος, ἄξεστος, ἀυτοσχέδιος. Unfashioned, unhewn, unwrought, rough, homely, plain, untilled or unbusbanded, unkembed, not picked or curious. Argentum rude, Cic. Plate unwrought, bullion. Regit Gen. Rudis belli, Hor. ad bella, Liv. in jure civili, Cic. = Imperitus, hebes, impolitus, Cic. ignarus, Quint. inexorabilis, Ter. ∃ Eruditus, Plin.

Rŭdis, is; f. Scal. à ῥάβδος, qu. raudis. virga rudis & impolita; σκάφη. A ladle to stir any thing with, while 'tis boiling; Plin. & Cato. A foil for fencers to fight with, Cic. & Lampr. Also a rod or wand that was given to sword-players in token of liberty or discharge and release from that exercise; a discharge. Donatus rude, Hor. Discharged from further service. Rudibus pugnare, Cic. To fight with foils, Bud.

Rŭdissĭmus, a, um; superl. Amm. Most rude and unskilful.

Rŭdĭtas, ātis; f. imperitia & obtusitas ingenii, Perot. ἀμαθία, ἀπειρία. Rudeness, ignorance.

Rŭdĭtus, ûs; m. verb. Apul. The braying of an Ass.

Rŭdo, is, ĕre; di, (& divi, Apul.) neut. Ovid. verbum fictitium ex sono vocis, quam edit asinus, vel funes nautici, qui hinc rudentes dicti, Fest. βρυχάομαι, ὑγκάομαι. To bray like an Ass; to roar, Vir.

Rŭdor, ōris; m. Apul. A roaring or hollow noise.

Rūdus, ĕris; n. Liv. olim Raudus. ἐρείπιον. à Rudis, vel à Ruendo, vel à Raudus, i. æs impolitum. Rubble or rubbish of old ruinous houses fallen to the ground; shards and pieces of stone broken and shattered: also an unpolished stone. Rudus novum, Plin. New rubbish, coming of the hewing of stones, &c. Rudus redivivum, Vitr. vetus, Plin. Old rubbish coming of houses pulled down, and whereto lime being put, is new tempered and used again. ✠ It. in æstimatione censoriâ æs infectum rudus appell. Fest. Unwrought brass.

Rŭdusc̆ŭlum; Fest. dim. à Rudus, sc. æs infectum.

Ruens; part. Vir. Falling, tumbling, ready to fall; rushing or running hastily: also failing to decay, Luc.

Rūfesco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. à Rufus. πυρρίσκω. To wax or be somewhat red.

Rūfus, a, um; adj. Jun. A jad red.

Rūfior, us; comp. Plin. More red.

Rūfo, as; act. Plin. πυρρίζω, ξανθίζω. To make red.

Rufor, āris; pass. Plin.

Rūfŭli, ōrum; m. appell. tribuni militum, non à populo sed à consule (aut ab Imperatore, Liv.) facti, quòd de eorum jure Rutilius Rufus legem tulerit; hi posteà Rutili appell. Fest. Those captains so called, who were made by the Consul without the consent of the people.

Rūfŭlus, a, um; dim. Plant. ὑπέρυθρος. Reddish, somewhat red, russet. Tauri rufuli, Arnob. Brinded, of a brown or sad red colour.

Rūfus, a, um; Hor. à Rubeus, vel ex πυῤῥός. ξανθὸς. אַרְמוֹנִי. Reddish, yellow, that hath red or yellowish hair.

RUGA, æ; f. Cic. à gr. ῥυτὶς, à ῥύω, i. ἐρύω trabo, quòd ruga cutim in plicas contrahat; vel à ῥύγχος rictus, quòd in rictu rugæ sunt frequentes: ῥυτὶς, πύχνωσις. כֹּהַה. A wrinkle, a crumple, a plait, a fold, Plin. a rivle or rimple, a furrow.

Rūgātus, a, um; part. Plin. ῥυτιδωτός. Wrinkled, plaited, crumpled, rivelled or shrivelled.

Rūgio, is, īre; ivi, ītum; neut. Philom. nomen fictitium à sono rugientis; βρυχῶμαι, βρέμομαι. שְׁאָג. To roar like a Lion; to bellow, Spart.

Rūgītus, ûs; m. verb. Apul. βρυχηθμὸς, ὀκνηθμός. שְׁאָגָה. A roaring of Lions, a great crying; a rumbling or croaking of the guts.

Rūgo, as; Plaut. à Ruga: ῥυτιδῶμαι. קָמַט. To have wrinkles or plaits; Act. to crumple, to wrinkle.

† Rugo, is, xi; ĕre; Perot. unde comp. Erugo; à gr. ἐρεύγομαι. To belch, to break wind.

Rūgōsior, us; comp. Claud. More wrinkled or rivelled.

Rūgōsus, a, um; Plin. ῥυτιδώδης. Full of wrinkles, crumples or plaits; rough, rivelled, withered, furrowed.

Ruidus, a, um; à ruo, i. cado; vel ab asperitate, qu. ruvidus sive rubidus: ἄξεστος. Rough, not plained: also not well baked, rough in eating. Ruidum pilum, Plin. A pestle that is rough and not plained, and that hath no iron on the head.

Ruina, æ; f. Cic. à ruendo: πῶσις, καταπτωμα. מַפֶּלֶת. Ruine, downfall, undoing, destruction, mischief, confusion, decay, danger. Ruinam dare, Vir. facere, Hor. To fall down. Ruina cœli, Vir. A storm or tempest; thunder.

Ruīnōsus, a, um; Cic. ῥωπώδης, πῶσιμος. Ready to fall, ruinous, in decay.

Ruĭturus, a, um; part. à Ruo, Ovid. πεσούμενος. Ready to fall, like to decay.

† Rulla, æ; f. Plin. dim. à Rumа, quod est teli genus latâ cuspide; Ennal. à rure dim. rullus; ut rulla sit rustica. Rulla, γομφὶη, Gl. Phil. al. leg. Ralla, à Radendo, Turn. σαῦρις τὸ γομφὶον βολοσπάδος, ᾧ ὕνις καθαίρεται. The iron on the plow-mans staff, wherewith he cleanseth the coulter; a paddle-staff.

RUMA, æ; f. Plin. à ῥύομαι trabo, quòd sugendo trahitur; vel à ῥέω, fluo, ῥύμη, ῥῦμα, à fluere lactis; σπλὴν, μαζὸς. שַׁד, דַּד. A dug, a teat, a pap, Non. also the cud of beasts, Serv.

† Rumbotinus; Plin. A tree in Italy, whereunto, as to elms, vines grow. Vid. Rumpotinus.

Rumbus, bi; m. Navig. i. linea velificationis; à Rhombus. A Rumb or line they make in sailing by the compass.

Rūmen, ĭnis; n. id. quod Ruma; à Ruo, unde inde cibus ruit in stomachum: κηκρύφαλος. The cud of beasts, Non. The œsophagus or hollow part of the throat, Fest. the belly, Pompon. the paunch; a teat, Plin.

Rūmentum, ti; n. id est, abruptio in Auguralibus, Fest. à rumpendo. A breaking off at the Augurs observation upon some unlucky chance.

Rūmex, ĭcis; m. Plin. à rumo, i. sugo, quòd succus ejus exsugi soleret ad levandam sitim: vel qu. strumex, quòd strumis mederetur. λάπαθον. It. teli genus, simile spari Gallici, Fest. ex Lucil. The herb called Sorrel or Sour-dock: also a weapon like a spear.

Rumia vel Rumina, dea Rumarum.

† Rūmĭfĕro, as; Plaut. ap. Non. διαβουλλίω, διαφημίζω. To spread a rumour or report, to tell tales or blaze abroad reports; to report abroad.

† Rumĭfico, as; idem, Plaut.

Rūmigĕrātio; f. verb. Plaut. A spreading of reports abroad.

Rūmigĕror, āris; dep. Fest. To raise or spread reports abroad.

Rūmĭgĕrŭlus, li; Amm. A talebearer, a news-monger.

† Rumigestri, Gell. Scal. leg. Rumicestri, à rumice, i. sparo; vel Rumcastri. A kind of weapon.

† Rumigo, as; id. quod Rumino, Apul. To chaw the cud. V. mavult Rumito.

Rumina, æ; f. Tert. instrumentum non fabrile, sed sævitiæ. A torturing instrument.

Rūmĭnālis, le; Of or belonging to chewing the cud. Ruminalis ficus, quòd sub eâ inventa est lupa infantibus (Romulo ac Remo) præbens rumen, i. mammam, Plin. 15. 18. al. à ruminando, quòd sub eâ pecudes æstatis tempore frigora captantes ruminare solerent. The tree under which the Wolf gave suck to Remus and Romulus. Ruminales hostiæ, Plin. Sacrifices of those beasts that chew the cud.

Rūmĭnātio, ōnis; f. verb. μηρυκισμὸς. גֵּרָה. A chewing of the cud, Plin. a calling to remembrance, or considering and meditating of a thing, Cic.

Rūmĭnātor; m. verb. Plin. He that cheweth the cud.

Rūmĭnātrix, ĭcis; f. Col. She that cheweth the cud.

Rūmĭno, as; act. Vir. cum Acc. To chew over again.

Rūmĭnor, āris; dep. Col. à Rumine, i. cibum à rumine in os evoco: μηρυκίζω, ἀναμασσάομαι. To chew the cud as Neat do; per metaph. to meditate and think upon a thing, Var.

Rūmĭnus, a, um; ut Ficus rumina, Ovid. The fig-tree, under which the she-Wolf suckled Romulus and Remus.

† Rūmis, is; f. σπλὴν, μαζὸς. שַׁד, דַּד. Rumis mamma dicit. Inde agni lactentes subrumi ſubrumi dic. Feſt. A teat or dug.

† Rumſto, as; Næv. ap. Feſt. To ſpread a rumour.

Rūmor, ōris; m. à ruendo, quòd citò, & celeriter in omnes partes ruat: al. à ῥῦμα ſive ῥῦμα fluxus; nam & rumor ant. de aquæ fluxu; al. à ῥῆσις verbum: ὄμμα, ὄψις. שמועה. A bruit, rumour, report, common fame, talk, a ſtream, a courſe of water, Poët. vet. ap. Cic.

† Rumpia, æ; f. genus teli Thracæ nationis; Gell. ex Enn. vid. Romphæa.

RUMPO, is, ere; rūpi, ruptum; act. M. ex פרם, vel ex ῥαίω, ῥῆξω, i. frango, vi, vel à pinn projectio: ἄγνυμι, κατάγνυμι. פרץ. To break, to burſt; to tire or weary: to rend or tear; to marr or ſpoil; to ſnaggle: alſo to beat, Ulp.

Rumpor, ĕris; paſſ. Cic. To be ſore grieved or troubled.

Rumpōtinētum, ti; n. Col. locus arboribus ſeu vitibus rumpotinis conſitus.

Rumpotinus, a, um; à Rumpis, id eſt, traducibus dict. qui utrinque à matre exporrecti, & circa medium arborum duarum intervallum ſibi occurrentes connectuntur. Arbuſtum rumpotinum, ex vitibus rumpotinis; ex quibus ſc. rumpi, i. traduces ducuntur, Col. 5. 6. An arbour or yard of vines plaſhed together.

Rumpus, i; m. i. tradux, Var. quòd ab arbore rumpatur aliò traducendus. Branches whereby one vine is brought to another, and tyed together; a tranſom in building, Coop.

Rūmuſculus, li; m. dim. à Rumor, Cic. ψιθύλλιον, δόξαριον. A little bruit, rumor or report; an idle ſtory, or tittle tattle.

† Runa, æ; f. unde Runatus, Enn. teli genus, latiorem habens cuſpidem, Feſt. interpr. pilum. à ruo, i. ſterno. A kind of weapon with a broad point; a javelin.

† Runatus, a, um; Enn. i. pilatus; rundi, i. pilo armatus, Feſt.

† Runca, æ; f. ant. pro Runcina, Perot.

Runcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. βοτανισμός. A weeding.

Runcātor, ōris; m. verb. Col. βοτανιστής. A weeder.

Runcātrix; f. Aug. She that weedeth.

Runcina, æ; f. Plin. à gr. ῥυγκάνη ſive ῥυκάνη. item Dea quæ runcationi præeſt. A whip-ſaw to ſaw timber; a ſcithe or bill to cut buſhes: alſo a Plane that Joyners uſe, Bud.

Runcino, as; act. Var. Aug. ῥυγκανίζω. To ſmooth with a plane.

Runco, as; act. Perot. à Ruo, i. eruo, hinc ruico, runco: βοτανίζω. To weed. Runcare ſpinas, Cato. To weed them out; ſegetem, Plin. To cleanſe it from weeds.

RUO, is, ĕre; rui, ruitum & rutum. M. à ῥύω trabo. Canin. ab ῥοέω. πίπτω, καταφέρομαι, Onom. ἐρείπω. נפל, ירד. Neut. To fall, to fall down; to ruſh, to run on headlong, to break out with violence, to come in all haſte, to rage, Cic. alſo to come to loſs, to be cheated or miſtaken in a bargain, Cic. ◊ Act. cum Acc. Plin. To root or rout up, to throw or tumble, Ter. alſo to caſt or heap up, Vir. Ruit dies, nox, Vir. The day, night comes on amain; ſol, Id. The Sun goes down, or draws toward ſetting; cœlum imbribus, Mart. It paſhes with rain, as if heaven and earth would come together. Ruere portis, Liv. de montibus, Vir. ad urbem, Liv. in facinus, Sen. per fas neſaſque, Luc. in agendo, Cic.

Rūpes, is; f. Vir. mons præruptus; à Rumpo, rupi; πέτρα, ἀπόρρωξ. A rock or hill or bank ſo ſteep, that one may not well climb it; an high downfall.

Rūpex, ĭcis; m. Lucil. Rupices, à rupinis ſive rupibus ruſtici dicti, ut & Petrones à petris; ob aſperitatem & duritiam, Feſt. A country Clown, a Boor, a Ruſtick, a Bumkin.

Rūpicăpra, æ; f. Plin. qu. rupium capra: ἀὶξ ἀγρία. יעלה. A wild Goat or Shamois.

† Rūpicōnes; m. pl. Apul. id. quod Rupices. Boors, Bumkins.

Rūpīna, æ; f. Apul. Rupinæ abrupta montium; Gloſſ. Iſid. A craggy or ſtony ground.

† Rūpītias, pro Damnum dederis, Feſt. Scal. leg. Rupſit, damnum dederit.

† Rupſit; ant. pro Ruperit. Si membrum rupſit, 12. tabb. ap. Feſt.

Ruptio, ōnis; f. verb. Ulp. διαῤῥῆξις, ῥῆξις, κλάσις. A tearing or breaking; a breach; a battery in law: alſo a rupture, Med.

Ruptor, ōris; m. verb. à Rumpo, Liv. κλάστης, διαῤῥήκτης. A breaker.

Ruptūra, æ; f. Medic. A rupture, a burſting.

Ruptus, a, um; part. à Rumpor, Vir. διαῤῥαγείς, κλασθείς, ῥαγείς. Broken, burſt, torn, rent; made void; burſten-bellied, Plin. interrupted, Ovid. tattered and torn, Mart. ☞ Ratus, Cic.

Rūra, Vett. incultos agros dicebant, i. ſylvas & paſcua.

Rūrālis, le; ἀγρεῖος. Of or belonging to the country; ruſtical, rural.

Rūrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Apul. Country buſineſs.

† Rūreſtris, ſtre; Apul. ἀγρεῖος. Of or belonging to the country.

Rūricŏla, æ; c. g. Col. qui rus colit: ἀγρεύς, γεωργός. עבד האדמה. A labourer, tiller or manurer of the ground; an husband-man, a plow-jobber. ◊ Eſt & Adj. omn. g. ut Ruricolæ boves, & Aratrum ruricola, Ovid.

Rūrigĕna, æ; c. g. Ovid. qui ruri natus eſt; ἀγρογενής. Born in the country.

Rūro, as; Plaut. & Ruror, āris; Var. ἀγραυλέω. To dwell in the country, to do country-work.

Rurſum; adv. qu. reverſum: αὖ, πάλιν, αὖθις. שוב. Again, on the contrary part, backward; yet again. Rurſum prorſum, Ter. Backward and forward, to and fro.

Rurſus; adv. Cic. id. quod Rurſum. Again, on the other ſide. Rurſus prorſus, Enn. Forward and backward.

RUS, rūris; n. ab ἄρουρα, rura, Var. à Rurſus, quòd in eo quotannis ruſſus eadem fiant. ἀγρός, χωρίον, ἀγρεία. שדה. The country, or a place without the City; a country-houſe or farm, where husbandry is exerciſed, Plur. The fields or grounds, woods and lawns. Eſſe ruri, Cic. rure, Plaut. To be in the country. Ire rus, Ter. To go into the country.

Ruſcārius, a, um; Var. Of or belonging to the ſtrub Ruſcum.

† Ruſceus, a, um; Cato pro colore, qui è viridi rutilus eſt aut flavus.

Ruſcŭlum, li; n. Gell. A little farm in the country.

Ruſcum, ci; n. Vir. & Ruſcus, m. qu. Ruſſum, i. rutilum; quòd coloris ruſi ejus bacca. Ruſcus à Rus, quia agreſtis & ſpinoſus, Pap. Ruſcus, ſordidus, Feſt. χαμαιμυρσίνη, ὀξυμυρσίνη. A rough prickled ſhrub, whereof they made bruſhes or beeſoms; butchers broom; kneeholm, petty whin. Ruſcus ſylveſtris, Jun. The holly or holm-tree: hinc Angl. Ruſh.

Rūsīna, æ; f. dea ruris, Aug.

Ruſpans; part. Acc. ap. Non. Scraping, ſearching.

Ruſpor, āris; dep. Apul. i. ſcrutari, Non. crebrò quærere, Feſt. qu. ruendo ſipare ſeu ſupare, i. jacere, Jun. in Tert. prop. de gallinis, quum eſcam quærentes terram ſcalpunt. ἐρευνάω, μεταλλάω. To ſcrape as a Cock, or root in the ground as a Pig doth; to ſearch diligently: alſo to cut, Apul.

Ruſſātus, a, um; Clad in reddiſh coloured cloaths. Hinc Angl. Ruſſet. Ruſſati aurigæ; Plin. 7. 53. Ruſſata factio, Inſcripp. antiqu. Thoſe that wore a Red livery.

Ruſſŭlus, a, um; dim. Jul. Cap. Red or carnation, or yellowiſh.

Ruſſus, a, um; Catul. vel Ruſſeus, Cato. non à Roſa, ſed à Ruſſum vel Ruſcum, virgulti genere, quo color is conciliabatur; vel ab ἐρεύθω ex ἐρεύθω, Jun. Fleſh or carnation colour, a kind of red.

† Ruſtārius, a, um; Ruſtariæ falces, Turn. ex Var. quibus ruri ſecantur rubi. Al. & rect. leg. Ruſticariæ.

Ruſticānus, a, um; Cic. ἀγροικικός. Of the country; lowiſh, clowniſh, ruſtical.

Ruſticārius, a, um; ἐπάυρος. Of or belonging to the country, or to country folks. Ruſticariæ falces, Var.

Ruſticātim; adv. Pompon. ἀγροίκως. Country-like, ruſtically, clowniſhly, lob-like.

Ruſticātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. ἀγραυλία. A dwelling in the country, or doing of country-work.

Ruſticē; adv. Cic. ἀγροίκως, σκαιῶς. Country-like, ruſtically, rudely, clowniſhly, lob-like.

Ruſticior, us; comp. Sen. More clowniſh or rude and ſimple.

Ruſticitas, ātis; f. Ovid. σκαιότης, ἀγροικία, ἀγροικία. Ruſticity, clowneryy, rudeneſs; ſimple plainneſs, homelineſs, fooliſh baſhfulneſs, ἀυσωπία. churliſhneſs. ☞ Urbanitas.

Ruſticius; adv. comp. Hor. More rudely and ruſtically.

Ruſticor, āris; dep. Cic. ἀγραυλέω. To dwell in the country, to practiſe huſbandry; to play the country-man.

Ruſticŭla, æ; f. Mart. ſc. avis. σκαλόπαξ. A Rail; or, as others, a Woodcock. Ruſticula minor, Jun. A Snipe or Snite.

Ruſticŭlus, a, um; dim. Cic. ὑπάγροικος. Country-like, ill-bred, clowniſh, rude and homely, a little ruſtical.

Ruſticus, a, um; à Rus. ἀγροίκος. Of the country, homely, ruſtick, or ruſtical, churliſh, clowniſh, plain, rude, ſimple. = Agreſtis, Cic. indoctus, Quint. ☞ Urbanus, Cic.

Ruſticus, ci; m. Vir. ὁ ἄγροικος, γεώἀγρός. An husband-man; a yeoman; a hind; a clown, a carl, a churl; a peasant.

† Rustum, ex Rubus; Fest. al. leg. Rusicum.

† Rusus; adv. ant. pro Rursus. Again. Prosus rusus, Enn. Forward and backward.

Rūta, æ; f. ἶνη, à ῥύω libero, quòd à morbis liberet; al. qu. eruta, quòd ob usum multiplicem maximè eruatur. πήγανον. The herb Rue, herb-grace. Ruta sylvestris, Great Saint Johns-wort.

Rūta, ōrum; n. plur. apud J. C. eruta dic. ut Arena, Creta, & nondum in opus conversa. All things digged out of the ground, as stone, sand, gravel, chalk, wood, lead or coals, &c. moveable goods. Ruta cæsa, Ulp. dic. quæ venditor possessionis, usûs sui gratiâ concidit, ruendóque contraxit, Fest. Those things which he that sells a house or estate, reserves out of the bargain for his own use. Ne in rutis quidem & cæsis, Cic. i. nulla in parte, Never a whit, nothing at all.

Rūtābŭlum, li; n. Col. à ruo, rutum; instrum. quo rustici utuntur in proruendo igne, panis coquendi gratiâ, Fest. A maukin, a cole-rake to make clean an oven, an oven-swoop, a skealing-stick. § It. membrum virile, Næv.

Rūtāceus, a, um; Of rue.

† Rūtātio, ōnis; f. idem quod Rutatio.

Rūtātus, a, um; Plin. πηγανωτός. Made or pickled with rue or herb grace, Mart. or mingled with it. Mustum rutatum, New wine, tunned with rue.

Rūtellum, li; n. dim. à Rutrum, Lucil. A little mattock, a corn-scoop or shovel; a strike or strickles.

† Rūtĭcilla, æ; f. Gaz. A bird called a Red-stil, or Red-start.

Rūtilandus, a, um; part. Plin. To be made of a shining colour.

Rūtilātus, a, um; part. Liv. πυῤῥοειδής. Made bright and shining like gold.

Rūtilesco, is ĕre; inc. Plin. ξανθίζομαι. To grow somewhat ruddy.

Rūtili, tribuni militum, à Consule creati, sic à Rutilio Rufo dicti, Fest.

Rūtilo, as; neut. Vir. ξανθίζω, πυῤῥαίνω. To shine or glister, to look red, Var. § Act. Plin. To make to shine or glister like gold, to make bright yellow.

Rūtilus, a, um; Cic. qu. rufulus; Rutilum rufum sign. Fest. Bec. Rutilus & Ruber, παρὰ τὸ ῥέω fluo, al. ex ἐρυθρός, per aphær. πυῤῥός, ξανθός. יִרְקָרָן. Very red: also shining like gold, bright, ruddy: also red-haired, carrot-pated. Rutilæ mulieres dic. valdè rufæ, Var. Goldy-locks.

Rutrum, i; n. Plin. instr. quo quid erulitur, à Ruitum, rutum; quòd eo arena erultur, Fest. Ζυστήρ, Ζύσσω. An instrument wherewith sand or such like is digged out; a mattock, a spade, a shovel, a pick-ax; a hoe: also an instrument wherewith sand is mingled and beaten with lime to make mortar withall. § It. id. quod Hostorium, C. A strickle.

† Rūtŭba, æ; f. Rutubam vett. turbationem appellabat Non. ex Var. à Ruo. A tumult, trouble or disorder.

Rūtus, a, um; part. à Ruo, dejicio, Fest. Thrown down, digged up.

S, I, s, gr. Σ, σ, ς, ϲ. heb. ס. litera ſemivocalis, quòd ſicut el, em, &c. ità es dicitur: quam tamen Græci ἄφωνον καὶ μονάδικον, i. e. ſigni expertem & ſolitariam vocant, quòd non ſit, uti reliquæ, liquida & immutabilis in declinationibus nominum & verborum; vel quòd ſui quodammodò juris ſit & poteſtatis, ſub nullâ conſonantium diviſione comprehenſa: quippe quæ habeat quiddam ſibi peculiare. Hebræi סמך Samek appellant, h. e. fulcrum ſive baſin, qualis eſt columnæ; Chaldæi ſuo more סמכא Simka, Syri Semkat vocant; unde Græcis per trajectionem literarum Σίγμα σίγυας & nuncupatur. Dores inſuper alio olim nomine indigitârunt, ut Σὰν diceretur ab Hebræo שׁ Shin ſive Sin; cui in ordine Alphabetico examuſſim reſpondet ρ, ϟ, τ • ר, ſ, ת; ר, ש, ס. cujus in locum poſtmodùm Ξι, litera itidem dentata, ſucceſſit. Nimirum ש cum puncto ſiniſtro prorſus idem eſt cum ס, quod & Ephraimitarum pronunciatio in voce Shibboleth evincit. Addit D. Hieronymus tria eſſe s apud Hebræos, ס, ש & ז: & hinc factum, ut pro עין γραφὲ ſcribatur Σιών. Sanè figura τὴ Σ & ϲ ab illâ τῆ ɣ & ϒ non multùm abludit; uti nec majuſcula ≥ longè abit à ש, niſi quòd altera jaceat, altera ſtet erecta. Apud veteres aliter pingebatur ad inſtar Romani c formâ ſemicirculari, quam etiamnum refert minuſcula ϲ: quâ de causâ ſtibadium, in quo menſæ accumbi ſolitum, Sigma dici meruit, i. e. interprete ipſo rei inventore Eudoxo apud Laertium, ἡμίκυκλον καὶ κατάκλισις. Minuſcula σ planè repræſentat Hebraicam ס inverſam; ex reliquis duabus fluxêrunt tres Latinæ; S & s ex ς, & ſ ex ϲ. Porrò ſicut σ Græca in initiis & mediis, ς autem in fine vocum duntaxat conſpicitur: ità ſ Latina principium & medium quidem, non item finem occupat; s verò ubique locum habet. At perperàm illi, qui s rotundum ante longum ſ in mediâ voce collocant, v.g. pos-ſum, pes-ſimus, hac ratione ducti, quòd s terminet præcedentem ſyllabam, prout ſ inchoat ſequentem; cùm omnino rectiùs ſcribatur ordine contrario, poſſum, peſſimus, aut, ſi malint, per duas longas, poſſum, peſſimus. De ſono tandem ut dicam: erant, qui cenſerent s literam non eſſe, ſed merum ſibilum; quamobrem & Plato πνευματώδες γράμμα, i. ſpirituoſam literam vocat. Reverà utriuſque ſpiritûs Græcanici vim quandoque exprimit, cùm aſperi; ut ἡμισυ ſemi, ὑπὲρ ſuper, ἓξ ſex, ἑπτὰ ſeptem, ἕρπω ſerpo: tum lenis; ut εἰ ſi, εἰμὶ ſum, &c. Et hoc ipſum fortè in causâ erat, ut antiqui poetæ, quà Græci, quà Latini, s in fine vocum etiam ſequente conſonâ eliderent; quòd ſpiritûs inſtar, cujus nota Apoſtrophus, evaneſceret. Cognata eſt maximè τῷ r; ut qui Valeſii, Fuſii, &c. antiquitùs dicti, poſteà Valerii, Furii dicerentur; quæ nunc ara, arena, carmen, feriæ, lares, olim aſa, aſena, caſmen, feſiæ, laſes, ſcriberentur. Hùc adde, quæ modò in or terminantur Nomina, veteribus ferè in os deſiſſe, ut arbos, labos; & multa verbalia Græcis indifferenter in τηϲ vel τηρ finiri. Accedit, quòd ex ἔσω factum ſit ero, ex παῖς, Laconicè πάϊϲ, antiquè por, deinde puer. Inter flectendum variè mutatur, in r; ut flos, floris: in n; ut ſanguis, ſanguinis: in d; ut pes, pedis: in t; ut nepos, nepotis. Quæ ratio etiam in rectis Nominum aliquando obtinet, ut pulvis & pulver, pollis & pollen propemodum ex æquo dicatur. In Verbis è converſo ponitur pro b; ut jubeo, juſſi: pro c; ut parco, parſi: pro d; ut ludo, luſi: pro g; ut ſpargo, ſparſi: pro m; ut premo, preſſi: pro n; ut pono, poſui: pro q; ut torqueo, torſi: pro r; ut uro, uſi: pro t; ut verto, verſum. Sunt & aliæ mutationes, in m; ut ruriſus & ruriſum: in f; ut diffundo: in t; ut adgretus, Feſto teſte, pro adgreſſus; item merto, pulto, pro merſo, pulſo, niſi hæc contracta fuerint ex merſito, pulſito. Iſtud præſertim fit in iis, quæ è Græcià petuntur; ubi s in l vertitur; ut Ἀννίβας Annibal; in d; ut μέσον medium; (ut contrà à ῥόδον, plur. ῥόδα, roſa:) in t; ut σὺ, Doricè τύ, tu; τόσα, tot: quod Atticis erat imprimis familiare; ut τήμερον pro σήμερον • item Chaldæis; ut à שור, תור, ταῦρϕ • à שער, תער, θύρα. Duplex s in x abit nonnunquam; ut à ϕίϲϲα pix, qui vulgò ulyſſes quibuſdam ulyxes: etiam ſimplex, ut Αἴας Ajax, idque ex Doriſmo, ubi ὄϕνις dicitur pro ὄϕις, quomodo & Latinè antiqui pulvix dixêre pro pulvis. Viciſſim s poſitum invenias pro Græco τ, ut ϝαυτία nauſea, ὀϲτέα oſſa; pro ξ, ut ξυλικὰ ſiliqua, ἀλώπηξ vulpes; & geminum s pro ζ, ut μάζα maſſa, ποτίζω pitiſſo. Denique additur s aliquando initio; ut ſtritavus antiquè pro tritavus, à κάραβος ſcarabæus: interdum demitur; ut σκύτος cutis, σφάλλω fallo, σέϝω tego, & pumex pro ſpumex. Etiam in medio, ubi inſertum fuerat, obſolevit dudum: quippe quod priſcis erat caſmilla, caſna, duſmus, id florente mox linguâ Romanâ, dempto s, camilla, cœna, dumus, dicebatur. In flectendis nominibus & verbis ad multijugam ſervitutem adſciſcitur. Amplectitur plures è mutis, c, p, ph, q, t, th; ut ſcando, ſpiro, ſphæra, ſquama, ſto, Sthenelus; item v conſonam, ut ſvavis, quæ reſoluta fit vocalis: è liquidis unam tantùm, m; ut ſmaragdus. Verùm in fine admittit ante ſe liquidas omnes; ut puls, hyms, mens, ars; & duas mutas, ut gryps, trabs. Et quidem ps uno charactere ſignari debuit, quod apud Græcos fit, non minore ſuo merito quàm reliquæ duæ duplices x & ζ; (ut pſallo ψάλλω,) ſi ità Latinis hominibus viſum fuiſſet.

S ante A.

† Săbăia, æ; f. ex hordeo vel frumento in liquorem converſis paupertinus in Illyrico potus, Am. Marcell. l. 26. A ſort of poor ſmall beer, rot-gut, tiff, taplaſh.

† Sabajărius, ii; m. Amm. A ſmall beer drinker or brewer.

† Sabajum, i; n. genus potionis ex frugibus aquâque confectum, vulgò ſic dict. in Dalmatiâ, Boſniâ, Pannoniâ, Hier. A kind of drink made of corn and water, beer or ale.

† Săbănum, i; n. Vet. Schol. Juv. Rabbinis סבן, ex Arabiſmo. Căbano ſabanum, linteum, i. linteum. Cyr. A towel or like linnen cloth uſed to be warmed, and to rub and cover thoſe that came new out of the bath: alſo a napkin or handkerchief.

* Săbaoth

* Săbaoth; plur. ind. Bibl. Dominus Sabaoth. Cαβαὼθ. צְבָאוֹת. i. δυνάμεων, exercituum. The Lord of hoasts.

Sabbătārius, a, um; Sidon. Of or belonging to the Sabbath.

Sabbătārius, ii; m. Mart. qui sabbatum observat. Cαββατίζων. A Sabbatarian, that keepeth the Sabbath-day, a Jew.

Sabbăthum, i; n. Eccl. id. quod Sabbatum. The Sabbath.

Sabbătĭcus, a, um; Sabbaticus rivus in Judæâ, qui sabbatis omnibus siccatur, Plin. 3. 2. ita & Joseph. 7. 24.

Sabbătismus, i; m. Eccl. Cαββατισμός. The keeping of the Sabbath.

Sabbătizo, as; Tert. Sabbatum observo: σαββατίζω. To observe or keep the Sabbath.

Sabbătum, ti; n. vox hebræa, שַׁבָּת, i. quies, cessatio ab opere. σάββατον. non, quod Plut. voluit, à σαβάζειν, i. ἀνάζειν, βακχεύειν, Hesych. The Sabbath, the Jews Sabbath-day, the day of rest; the seventh day from the creation: also the whole week; as Prima, secunda Sabbati, Bibl. Sunday, Monday. Dies sabbati, Eccl. Saturday. Sabbata recutita, Pers. because kept by the circumcised Jews. Sabbata tricesima, Hor. the New-moons, sacred among the Jews.

Săbellĭca brassica, à Sabellis populis, ubi nascitur, Plin. Crumpled or jagged Colewort.

Săbīna, æ; f. Plin. sc. herba, à Sabinis pop. βεδύν. The herb Savin, whereof two kinds; one with leaves like the Tamarisk, the other like the Cypress-tree.

† Săbīna, æ; f. Enn. ap. Fest. A weapon of the Illyrians, like a hunting-pole or boar-spear.

Săbūcus, i; f. Seren. Sammon. idem quod Sambucus; ἀκτή. An Elder-tree. Poma Sabuci, Elder-berries.

Săbŭlētum, ti; n. Plin. ἀμμών, ψαμμών. A gravel-pit.

Săbŭlo, ōnis; m. Plin. id. quod Sabulum: ἄμμος, ψάμμος. Groſs sand or gravel: also a player upon a certain musical instrument, Scal. ex Macrob. Sabulo masculus, Vitr. Gravel mixt among flints and other stones to pave high-wayes with.

Săbŭlōsus, a, um; Col. ἀμμώδης, ψαμμώδης. Gravelly, sandy.

Săbŭlum, li; n. Plin. à ψαθύειν, vel ψαθύειν. Quidam à sero, satum, sabulum; i. arena hinc indè sparsa, & quasi seminata. à סֵבֶל pondus, M. ἢ ψάμμος, ἄμαθος. חוֹל. Gravel, groſs course sand, such as we lay walks with, Var. or ballast ships. A colore Angl. Sable. Also a kind of Viol or Guittar, or like musical instrument, Apul. ubi al. leg. Pulsabulum, al. Suscitabulum.

Săburra, æ; f. Plin. à Sabulo, Perot. ἔρμα, χῶμα. Ballast or lastage, wherewith ships are poised, to make them go upright; which was properly gravel or sand: also the High-street in Rome, like our Strand, Juv.

Săburrānus, a, um; One that lived in that street. Saburranæ, Mart. q. d. Bankside-whores, that plyed in that street.

Săburrātus, a, um; part. Plaut. ἐμπεπλησθείς. Loaded with gravel, ballasted, stuffed full, crammed in.

Săburro, as; act. Plin. ἐμπίζω. To load with gravel, to ballast a ship.

Saburror, āris; pass. Solin.

† Sācal. Ægypt. linguâ electrum sign. quod ex radiis Solis nascitur, Plin. 37. 2.

Saccāria, æ; f. Apul. à saccus: Cακκοπωλικὴ. Trafficking or selling of sacks or bags.

Saccārius, a, um; Dig. That is put or carryed in a pouch, bag or sack.

Saccārius, ii; m. Paul. ναυφόρος. A sack-bearer.

Saccātus, a, um; part. Plin. Cακκίας, Poll. That is put in a bag; strained through a bag. Saccatus corporis humor, Ser. Samm. Urine, strained through the body in its passage.

Saccellus, li; m. dim. Veget. Cακκίσκος. A little bag or satchel.

Sacchărites panis, Jun. Sugar-bread, marchpane.

Sacchărum, ri; n. Plin. vox Arab. סכר. Cάκχαρον gr. μέλι τὸ καλάμινον τὸ λεγόμενον Cακχάρι, Arrian. ab heb. שכר potus inebrians, quòd ex cannis Indicis succum dulcem ad potum exprimerent, Var. & Luc. Sugar, a kind of honey found in reeds of a gummy substance then, but now a juice of canes or reeds boiled and baked white and hard. Saccharum Thomæ, Jun. Red-sugar-candy.

Saccĭpērium, ii; n. comp. ex Sacco & Pera, Plaut. Cακκοπήρα. A satchel, a bag, a scrip, a pouch, a sack, a wallet, a clambringer.

Sacco, as; i. per saccum colo; unde pass. Saccor, Mart. al. leg. Siccor. σακκίζω, Theoph. To strain through a bag.

† Saccŏmōrum, Fest. genus arboris ex Fico (quam Græc. Cῦκον dic.) & Moro, quòd ficus ea sit, & morus; V. Sycomorum.

Saccŭlārius, ii; m. Dig. ῥαδιουργὸς, Onom. A cut-purse; a pick-pocket; an arrant cheat; a Jugler or Gipsy, who conjures peoples money out of their purses, Ulp. also a robber of the common treasure, Ascon. = Peculator. Also a treasurer for what is given to any Monastery, Hospital or the poor; an Almoner, Eccl. Præfectus sacculis.

Saccŭlus, li; m. dim. Cic. Cακκίον, βυλάκιον. A little sack, bag, pouch or purse; a satchel; also the Poors-box, Eccl. or stock of charity.

Saccus, ci; m. Sen. gr. Cάκκος. heb. שַׂק. A sack, a bag, a pouch, a strainer. Vinarius saccus, Jun. A wine-sack, through which wine is drained from the dregs, Hipocrates his sleeve. Saccus nivarius, Mart. A snow-bag to cool wine with by passing it thorough.

Săcellānus, i; m. Hier. A Chaplain.

Săcellum, li; n. dim. à Sacrum; locus diis sacratus. ναΐδιον, ἱερόν. A Chappel, a little Temple or Church: also the Church-yard, or consecrated ground walled in, Fest. περίβολος.

SACER, cra, crum; vox Thusca, Scal. sign. quicquid ad religionem pertinet. ab ἄγιος (unde ἅγιος sanctus,) qu. ἀγιαρὸς vel ἀγερὸς sacer. fort. ab ἀκρος summus. al. ex Cάκος integer seu perfectus, & κῆρ cor, ut qui corde integer & perfectus sit. al. à זָכַר mundus, סוּגַר clausus, vel זָכַר recordari: ἱερὸς, ὅσιος. קָדוֹשׁ. Sacred, dedicated to God, consecrate, devout, godly, holy, divine: also cursed, detestable, horrible, damnable. Sacer ignis, Col. S. Anthonies fire. Sacer morbus, Jun. ἱερὰ νόσος, quòd sacræ partis, i. animi sit, vel quòd omne magnum sacrum dic. vel quòd à Deo immissus, unde & Deificam luem voc. Cæl. Aurel. The falling sickness. Sacra via, Hor. Where the league was made betwixt Romulus and Tatius; or because the Priest went that way at the Ides of each month to sacrifice. Cum Gen. Cic. Dat. Hor. = Religiosus, Cic. ∃ Profanus, Id.

Săcerdos, ōtis; c. g. Cic. à Sacer, qui sacris præest & ea administrat, qu. sacrum dans, Isid. ἱερεὺς, ἱερέρτης. כֹּהֵן. A Priest or Priestess, a Minister of a Church: a Nun. Phœbi sacerdos, Ovid. A Poet.

Săcerdōtālis, le; adj. Liv. ἱερατικὸς, ἱερέρτικὸς. Of or belonging to Priests or Priesthood.

Săcerdōtālis, lis; m. subst. Amm. A Clergy-man or Prelate.

Sacerdōtissa, æ; f. Gell. ἱέρεια. A Priestess, a Vestal Virgin or Nun.

Sacerdōtium, ii; n. Liv. ἱερατία, ἱερωσύνη. כְּהֻנָּה. The state or office of Priest, Priesthood; a Prebend, a benefice, a parsonage. Sacerdotium gentile vel gentilitium, Jun. An Impropriation, an Advowson.

Sacerrĭmus, a, um; superl. Ovid. Most sacred: also most wicked and cursed, Plaut.

* Sacodĭos, ii; f. Plin. 37. 9. gemma hyacinthini coloris, quem Indi Socon vocant. A precious stone of a violet colour, a kind of Amethyst.

* Săcŏma, ătis; n. Vitr. Cάκωμα, Dor. Cάκωμα, i. æquipondium. That which is put in the scales to make even weight, Bud. counterpoise, likeness of weight, full or just weight.

† Săcŏma, æ; f. id. Aurum ad sacomam appendit, Vitr. 9. 3. ubi al. leg. ad sicoma.

* Sacon, Plin. vox Indica. A violet colour.

† Săcŏpēnium, R. ex Plin. 19. 8. A kind of medicinable herb. Fort. pro Sagapenum, Cαγάπηνον. A gum or rosin that runs from the shrub Ferula.

† Sacŏpēnum, ni; n. G. ex Plin. The same that Saga.

Sacra, ōrum; n. plur. Cic. Holy rites or mysteries of religion; solemnities; divine service. Initiari sacris, Quint. To be in holy orders.

Sacrāmentālis, le; adj. ad Sacramentum pertinens. Of or belonging to a Sacrament, sacramental.

Sacrāmentum, ti; n. quod sacratur fide interpositâ, Fest. ἀσφαλεία. quòd sacramente tractari debet, Scal. qu. secramentum, à secretis virtutibus, Isid. Sign. juramentum militare; ὅρκος θρησκευτικὸς, Gl. Phil. it. pecuniam à litigantibus depositam apud Prætorem vel Pontificem hâc conditione, ut qui causâ esset superior, pecuniam suam auferret; qui inferior, eam ærario relinqueret, Var. A priori notione translata vox in Ecclesiam, Tert. μυστήριον. A Sacrament: also any thing done by vertue of an oath, Fest. an oath given to Souldiers to be true and faithful to their General and to their country: also the Souldiers themselves thus sworn; Juv. also gage in money laid down in Court by the parties which were at law, so that he which recovered in judgement should have again his gage, and he that was cast should forfeit it to the common treasury. Contendere sacramento, Cic. To wager in an action at law. Sacramentum dicere, Cæs. To take his oath.

Sacrandus, a, um; part. Liv. To be accurſed or deteſted.

Sacrārium, rii; n. locus, in quo ſacra depoſuntur, Ulp. ἱερομνημεῖον, ἀδυτον. מקדש. The place wherein holy things are laid, a ſentry, a veſtry, Liv. alſo a Chappel; an Oratory or cloſet, to ſerve God in, Cic.

Sacrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Macrob. ἱερωσις. A conſecrating.

Sacrātior, us; comp. Plin. More ſacred, holy and venerable.

Sacrātiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Plin. Moſt ſacred and reverend.

Sacrātus, a, um; part. Vir. ἱερωθεὶς, καθιερωθεὶς. Conſecrated, hallowed or devoted to God; ſacred and inviolable. Sacratæ leges, Liv. Laws enacted and ratified.

Sacrĭcŏla, æ; c. g. Tac. qui vel quæ ſacra colit, ἱερεὺς ὁ, ἱερουργὸς. A ſacrificer, a Prieſt (of Iſis,) a Church-man, Bud. a devout worſhipper of God, Amm.

† Sacrĭfĭcio, is; R. ex Hier. To ſacrifice, or to purge by ſacrifice.

Sacrĭfer, ĕra, ĕrum; Ovid. qui ſacra fert. ἱερόφορος. That carries ſacred things.

Sacrĭfex, ĭcis; m. vett. ſcript. qui ſacra facit. A Prieſt.

Sacrĭfĭcālis, le; Tac. ἱερατικὸς. Belonging to a Prieſt or to ſacrifice.

Sacrĭfĭcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἱερούργημα. A ſacrificing.

Sacrĭfĭcātus, a, um; part. ἱερουργηθεὶς. Sacrificed: alſo that hath ſacrificed, Cypr.

Sacrĭfĭcātus, ūs; m. Apul. actio ſacrificandi. A ſacrificing.

Sacrĭfĭcālis, le; adj. R. ex Tac. ἱερουργικὸς. Of or belonging to ſacrifice.

Sacrĭfĭcium, ii; n. Cic. θυσία. זבח. A ſacrifice.

Sacrĭfĭco, as; Plaut. i. ſacra facio, θύω, ἱερουργέω. זבח. To ſacrifice.

Sacrĭfĭcor, āris; paſſ. Plin. it. dep. ant. Gell.

† Sacrĭfĭcŭla, æ; c. g. Tac. miniſter ſacrorum, vel ipſe ſacrificus. A ſacrificer. Rect. Sacricola.

Sacrĭfĭcŭlus, li; m. ἱερεύς, ἱερουργὸς. כמר. The maſter of the ſacrifices, a Maſt-Prieſt. Rex ſacrificulus, Liv. poſt exactos reges primùm creatus, quòd quædam ſacra ità inſtituta eſſent, ut neceſſe eſſet ea per Regem obiri.

Sacrĭficus, a, um; Plin. ἱερουργικὸς. That is uſed in ſacrifice, or ſerveth thereto.

Sacrĭficus, i; m. Ovid. qui ſacra facit. He that offereth ſacrifice, a Prieſt.

† Sacrilĕgĭſſimus, a, um; G. ex Plaut. A moſt impious Church-robber.

Sacrilĕgium, ii; n. Cic. ἱεροσυλία, ἱερόσυλημα. Sacrilege, theft, or taking of things out of a holy place: alſo any deteſtable or hainous offence.

Sacrilĕgus, a, um; adj. qui ſacra legit, i. furatur, Serv. ἱερόσυλος, ἱεροσυλικὸς. Sacrilegious, wicked, ungodly, profane, villanous. Subſt. A Church-robber, Juv.

† Sacrĭma; n. plur. Feſt. vid. Sacrimum.

Sacrĭmum, ſc. vinum, Feſt. quiâ ſacrum. νέος οἶνος. New wine which they ſacrificed to Bacchus at his feaſts.

† Sacris, rĕ; ant. Feſt. pro Sacer. ἁγνὸς. It. abſol. pro hoſtiâ, Feſt. ex Enn. Holy, ſacred, fit for holy uſes. Porci ſacres, Plaut. Pigs fit for ſacrifice at ten dayes old.

Sacrĭſta, æ; m. Eccl. ſacrorum cuſtos. He that keepeth holy things, a Sexton.

† Sacrium, ii; n. Plin. 37. 2. Amber in the Scythians language.

† Sacrivoces, G. ex Arnob. Thoſe that have big voices.

Sacro, as; Cic. act. i. ſacrum facio. ἱερόω, καθοσιόω, καθιερόω. חנך, קדש. To conſecrate, dedicate or devote, to hallow; to make holy and reverend; to immortalize or deifie, to canonize, Mart. to ſolemnize or ratifie, Liv. alſo to accurſe and deteſt, Liv. to excommunicate and outlaw, to damn one to the pit of hell. Vota ſacrare diis, Liv.

Sacror, āris; paſſ. Ovid.

Sacrōſanctior, us; comp. Val. M. More ſacred.

Sacrōſanctus, a, um; Cic. ex Sacer & Sanctus; παιδάγ, ἐπιθετικῶς. קדש. Sacred, inviolable, that may not be injured or violated on pain of death.

Sacrum, cri; n. Cic. τὸ ἱερὸν, ἁγιστεία. Any thing dedicated to God; a holy rite or myſterie; a feſtival, a ſacrifice; a ſolemnity or ceremony: alſo a Temple or Church; a conſecrated place, Paul. Sacrum publicum vel populare, Jun. A ſolemn feaſt or holy day. Inter ſacrum & ſaxum ſtare, Plaut. To be in great diſtreſs or jeopardy.

Sæcŭlum, i; n. αἰών. עולם. An age. Vide Seculum.

SÆPE; adv. à Sepes, in Abl. Sepe, Perot. i. densè; quòd ſepes ſpiſſa eſſet & denſa, Pont. ut Cyxvòs, Cyxvòs, id eſt, ſæpè, à Cyxvòs denſus, ii iſſus: al. à שגא abundantia; unde inuſ. Sæpus vel Sæpis; copioſus, affluens: πολλάκις, διαφόρως, πλεοναζόντως. פעמים. Often times, many times, more than once or twice.

Sæpĕnŭmĕrò; adv. Cic. Cyxvάκις. Often times, many a time, full oft.

Sæpiſcŭlè; adv. dim. à Sæpe, Apul. Sæpiùs. Ere and anon.

Sæpiſſimè; adv. ſuperl. Ter. Very often.

Sæpiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. ab inuſ. Sæpus vel Sæpis. Very oft, moſt frequent. Sæpiſſimo rogatu, Hier. Sæpiſſimam diſcordiam, Cato ap. Priſc.

Sæpiùs; adv. comp. Cic. Oftner.

Sæpiuſcŭlè; adv. dim. Plaut. Somewhat often.

Sævidĭcus, a, um; R. ex Ter. ἀγριολόγος. That ſpeaketh cruel rigorous words.

Sævio, is, ire; ivi & ii, itum; neut. ἀγριαίνω, χαλεπαίνω. To rage, to bluſter, to huff, to ſwagger, to bellow, to be fierce and cruel. Sævire in aliquem, Liv.

Sævior, us; comp. Vir. More cruel.

Sæviſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Liv. Moſt cruel.

Sævitas; f. Firm. Haſtineſs, fierceneſs.

Sævĭter; adv. Plaut. χαλεπῶς. Fiercely, boiſterouſly, furiouſly, outragiouſly. Æ Blandé.

Sævĭtia, æ; f. Cic. ἀπανθρωπία, ἀγριότης. אכזריות. Cruelty, fierceneſs, tyranny. Sævitia annonæ, Tac. Dearth of victuals. Æ Clementia, Cic.

Sævĭtĭes, ēi; f. idem, Apul.

Sævĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. Am. Marc. Outragiouſneſs.

Sævītum eſt; impers. Liv. They ſhewed cruelty.

SÆVUS, a, um; à Cxaios importunus, Per. vel ſævus; extrito c vel x. Fort. à ואב lupus. ἀπανθρωπος, ἀγριώδης, πολλὰς. אכזר. Fierce, cruel, ſtern, fell, mad, outragious, boiſterous; furious, unkind: alſo ſtrong, valiant, mighty, puiſſant; great, Enn. Cum Dat. Vir. Æ Sævus factis, Triſtis animo, Truculentus vultu, Don.

Săga, æ; f. Sagire, ſentire acutè eſt, ex quo ſagæ anus, quia multa ſcire volunt, & ſagaces dicti canes, Cic. Sagæ dic. mulier perita ſacrorum, Feſt. à Sagus, a, um; ex quo Præſagus. מכשפה. A witch, a ſorcereſs, a hag or hog, a ſubtile or wiſe woman.

Săga, æ; f. Cato & Enn. Cayὴ, ἱματίδιον. A kind of garment, a caſſock.

Săgācior, us; comp. à Sagax, Ovid. More watchful or apprehenſive, more quick-ſcented.

Săgācĭſſimè; adv. ſuperl. Cic. With very great quickneſs of ſcent.

Săgācĭſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Very quick or ſhrewd.

Săgācĭtas; f. Cic. ἀγχίνοια. ערמה. A ſharpneſs of wit, a quickneſs of ſpirit, ſagacity, ſubtlety, ſhrewdneſs: alſo quickneſs of ſcent or ſmelling, ἰνδαλατεία.

Săgācĭter; adv. Cic. ἀγχίνως. Shrewdly, ſubtlely.

Săgācĭus; adv. comp. Hor. More quickly.

† Săgăcŭculla, æ; f. R. ex Col. A Spaniſh cap.

Săgāria, æ; f. Dig. ſc. negotiatio. ἱματιοπωλικὴ τέχνη, χλαινουργικὴ, Onom. The trade of making and ſewing cloaks and jackets for ſouldiers.

Săgārius, ii; m. Var. Cxaνοπώλης. A ſeller of ſouldiers cloaks.

Săgātus, a, um; Cic. i. ſago indutus. Cxανον ἐνδεδυμένος χλανωτὸς. Apparelled in a ſouldiers cloak, Suet.

Săgax, ācis; adj. à Sagio, id eſt, acutè ſentio, Cic. ἀγχίνους, δόλιος. עירום. Sagacious, ſubtle, ſage, ſhrewd, cunning, apprehenſive, parlous, witty; quick of apprehenſion, or of ſight or ſcent, or taſte. Regit Gen. Col. vel Acc. cum præp. ad. Cic.

† Sagda, æ; f. Plin. 37. 9. A green ſtone among the Caldees that ſticketh faſt to the keels of ſhips, and there is found, Solin.

† Săgellum Hiſpanum, R. ex Liv. A Spaniſh cap.

Săgēna, æ; f. Manil. i. verriculum. Cayήνη. A boſom-net, whereout the fiſh cannot get, a drag-net, a weel, a ſein.

† Săgeſtre; n. Turneb. ex Lucil. operimentum craſſum, ut ſagorum erat craſſior pannus: al. leg. Segeſtre.

† Sagĭcta, æ; f. vett. pro Sagitta.

† Săgĭfarciārius; m. Veget. 3. 6. qui ſaga farcit, vel ſarcit; Cayοῤῥάπτης. Al. leg. Sagittarius.

Săgina, æ; f. cibus pinguefaciens, it. in genere cibus, Juv. σιτεία, σίτωσις, Gl. Cyr. παχυντήριον, Gl. Phil. ex ſat & ago; Perot. qu. ſatagina; vel à Cayμα quod à σάτιω, σάτιμι onero, fut. 2. Cayῶ. Cibus μὶς. Meat wherewith any thing is pampered or fatted: alſo ſtuffing or cramming; any kind of meat, Juv. belly-timber. Fatneſs, groſsneſs, μιλὰ. alſo a coop or place to fat things in; a frank. Sagina gladiatoria; ſoleb. gladiatores à laniſtis ſaginari ad corroborandum corpus, unde Prop. per Saginam intelligit Ludum gladiatorium.

† Săgināmentum, al. Sagimentum, ti; n. Col. Fatneſs or groſsneſs.

Săginandus, a, um; part. Col. To be fed or fatted.

Săginārium, ii ; n. Var. מרבק. A place wherein beasts are fatted, a stall, a sty, a frank, a coop.

Săginārius, a, um ; Lampr. ubi recl. Sagmarius. That is fatted or crammed.

Săginātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. A fatting, a putting up of beasts or fowls to feed.

Săginātus, a, um ; part. Propert. מבריא. Fatted, crammed.

Săgino, as ; act. Col. To frank, to make fat, to cram, to fatten.

Săginor, āris ; pass. Cic.

SAGIO, is, ire ; ivi, itum ; i. sentio acutè, Cic. à σαγὴς verriculum, ut sit à venatione translatum : al. à Persico Sag, quod apud eos canem significat ; ut sit eadem proprium, qui hinc sagaces dicti. qu. sagacio, ex sat & ago, Perot. An ab ἡγέω, Dor. ἀγέω existimo ? μηλαπία. To perceive quickly, to foresee or guess at ; to smell out.

Sāgitta, æ ; f. ἀκὶς, βέλος, ὀϊστὸς. חץ. à sagari, i. veloci ictu, Isid. unde & sagitta ap. vett. Pier. ab sagis, in Acc. sagida, Canin. ut à σαγὴς, σαγεῖδα, sporta. à σάγμα theca scuti, saga (clipeus m.) hinc sagitta, Scal. vel à σάγη, i. ὅπλον, Schol. Aristoph. An à segete, sagitta ; ut à spica spiculum ? An arrow, shaft or dart, a bolt, a twig or rod : also a sign in the firmament, Plin. A long shoot and twig of a vine or other tree, that is left on in the pruning, Col. A certain herb growing in the water, Plin. Adders tongue ; the feathers of an arrow, Jun. A launcer or fleem wherewith the blood is drawn from labouring beasts.

Sāgittālis, le ; adj. Of or belonging to an arrow ; inde Sagittalis sutura, Jun. The seam on the top of the head.

Sāgittāria, æ ; f. Gerard. An herb called the water-Archer or Arrow-head.

Sāgittārius, a, um ; Plin. τοξωτικὸς. Of or belonging to arrows ; that of which arrows are made.

Sāgittārius, ii ; m. Cic. τοξότης. קשת. An archer, a shooter, a bow-man : also one of the twelve Signs, Plin. Sagittary.

Sāgittātus, a, um ; part. Stricken with an arrow. Sagittata suavia, Plaut. Killing woundy kisses.

Sāgittifer, a, um ; Vir. ὀϊστοφόρος. That beareth or weareth arrows. Pecus sagittifera, Claud. The Porcupine.

Sāgittipŏtens, tis ; Cic. That can do much by shooting, a cunning archer ; the Sign Sagittary.

Sāgitto, as ; Veget. To shoot in a bow.

* Sagma, ātis ; n. Bibl. σάγμα, onus jumenti clitellarii ; à stratu sagorum, Isid. A pack-saddle, a jumpier : also a pack, Dic. & Sagma, æ ; f.

Sagmārius, a, um ; ad sagmata pertinens. Equus sagmarius, Lampr. σαγμαφόρος. A pack-horse or jumpier-horse, Al. leg. Saginarius.

† Sagmen, inis ; n. Liv. verbenæ, herbæ quas Legati pop. Rom. ferre solebant, ne quis eos violaret ; Marcian. dict. quia ex loco sancto secabantur (al. arcebantur) Fest. qu. segmina : vel à sanciendo, qu. sancimina. Sagmen, σαγμὸς, Gl. vett. insitio. Sagmina, The herb vervain : also graft placked up from the altar with the earth, which Embassadours of Rome were in their heads or carried in their hands, that people might not injure them.

§ A Sanction or casing God to witness. Jus sacratum Jovis jurandum sagmine, Nav. ap. Fest.

Sāgŭlātus, a, um ; Suet. χλαμυδηφόρος. That weareth a short Cassock.

Sāgŭlum, li ; n. dim. Vir. παραδρομίδιον. A little cloak or cassock, worn over armour.

SAGUM, gi ; n. Cic. vestimentum militare, Non. vox Gallica, Var. sed est à gr. τὸ Σάγος, Σάγαρον, ὁ, ὄνος ς segmentum. A souldiers cloak or cassock, as side as an horse-mans coat : also a kind of blanket, Suet. Also a cloath to cover horses withal. ☞ Sagum belli, Toga pacis indicium.

Sāgus, a, um ; Prud. quià satis agat, Acro. qu. Satagus. Knowing, presaging.

† Sāgus, i ; m. Afran. id. quod Sagum.

SAL, sălis ; m. (& n.) à gr. ὁ ἅλς. מלח. Salt : also mirth, wit, pleasant talk : also wisdom, Ter. also beauty or favour, Catull. also a fault in Crystal, and other Gems, Plin. also the salt Sea, Vir. ◊ Sales, plur. Jests, quibbles, drolleries, railleries, pretty conceits. Aspergere salem carnibus, Col. vel sale carnes. To powder or corn meat. = Lepor, facetia, venustas, Cic.

Sălācia, æ ; f. dea quam putabant salum ciere, id est, movere, Fest. Ἀμφιτρίτη, Gl. Phil. it. pro aquâ ipsâ, Pacuv. ἁλοσύνη, Hom. παρὰ τὸ τὴν ἁλὰ σώζειν. The Goddess of the Sea, or the ebbing of the Sea : also the Sea it self ; the retiring of the wave or surge from the shore into the Sea again. ☞ Venilia, accessus maris ; Salacia, recessus, quia unda redit ad salum.

† Sălācio, ōnis ; m. G. ex Lips. A lustful fellow.

Sălācĭtas, ātis ; f. Plin. λαγνεία, τὸ ἀφροδισιαστικὸν. עגבה. Lechery, wantonness.

† Sălăcon, ōnis ; m. Cic. Σαλάκων, Suid. A great boaster, who being extreamly poor would faign be thought very rich.

Sălămandra, æ ; f. Plin. Σαλαμάνδρα, qu. valincendra, quòd contra incendium valeat, Isid. A Salamander, in shape like a Lizard, full of spots, that being in the fire, is not burned nor hurt by it.

† Sălăpantium ; Catul. in vet. edit. Rect. Salaputium.

† Sălăpitta, æ ; f. Arnob. uti Scal. legi vult. palmula, Gl. A cuff or box of the ear. Al. leg. Salapicta, qu. alapæ ictus, al. Salpicta.

† Sălăpūsius, ii ; m. ut quidam leg. ap. Catul. qu. ex Sale & Pusio, i. puer plenus sale & mordaci dicacitate. Rect. Salaputium. A notable wag.

Sălăpūtium, ii ; n. Catul. & ex eo Sen. à Salaputa, quæ caudam salacem signi. Puta πόδη, Scal. A prin-cock, a wag-wanton. Al. leg. Salopygium ; al. aliter.

Sălar, āris ; m. Auson. piscis à sale, vel à saliendo dict. A young Salmon, or Salmonpeal ; a kind of Trout.

Sălārĭārius, ii ; m. Ulp. He to whom a stipend is paid, a Pensioner.

Sălāris, re ; adj. Plaut. Pleasant, merry and witty.

Sălārium, ii ; n. Plin. à Sale, stipendium militare : dict. quòd nihil victui magis necessarium quàm sal. ὀψώνιον, Commeatus, it. quævis merces, μισθὸς. שכר. A stipend, wages given to Servants ; salary, a pension or allowance.

Sălārius, a, um ; Liv. ὁ τοῦ ἁλὸς, ἁλικὸς. Of, or belonging to salt. Salaria vià, quòd per eam in Sabinos sal à mari portari consueverat, Plin. The Salters way.

Sălārius, ii ; m. Mart. ἁλμυρὸς, ταριχοπώλης. A seller of salt, or of salt meats ; a Salter.

Sălāta, ōrum ; n. Hul. Sallets.

Sălax, ācis ; adj. à Salio : quatenus est σκιρτάων, ὀχέων. vel à Sale, quòd sal reddat salaces. ἀφροδισιαστικὸς, λαγνὸς. Lecherous, lustful, wanton : also provocative or stirring to lechery.

Sāle, is ; n. unde contr. Sal ; n. Cærulеum spumat sale, conferta rate pulsum ; Enn. ap. Prisc. The Sea.

Sălebra, æ ; f. Cic. A rough rugged place.

Sălebræ, ārum ; Mart. à Saltu, Non. sc. ubi sæpiùs saliendum. ἀνώμαλα, ἀνώμαλοι τόποι. Rugged uneven places, going up and down, so that one cannot easily pass : also any difficulties.

† Sălebrātim ; adv. Sid. Roughly, ruggedly, by rough places.

† Sălebrĭtas, ātis ; f. Apul. Unevenness, roughness, ruggedness.

Sălebrōsus, a, um ; Vir. τραχὺς, ἀνώμαλος. Rough, cumbersom, uneven, hobling, rugged, Cic. up hill and down hill ; crabbed, difficult, hard to understand, Mart.

Sāles, um ; pl. à Sal, Cic. Repartees, jests, smart witty sayings.

Salgāma, ōrum ; n. Col. vel à Sale, vel à gr. ἁλμὴ, inserto g, V. Powdered meats, salleis or sawces kept in brine or pickle.

Salgamārius, ii ; m. Col. ἁλμυρὶς. He who keeps or sells powdered meats, or things pickled ; an Oil-man.

Salgāmum, mi ; n. Cod. unde in plur. Salgama.

Sāli ; m. pl. fortè à Saliendo, Plin. 10. 52. ἀγριάδες. A kind of birds, which are great breeders, Heath-cocks.

Sălĭāris, re ; adj. ad Salios pertinens. Bountiful, magnificent, like the Salian Priests. Saliaris cœna, Hor. i. lauta & opipara, qualis Saliorum, A Princely banquet. Saliarem in morem epulari, Cic. To fare like a Prince.

Sălĭātus, ūs ; m. Jul. Cap. The sacerdotal dignity of the Salii.

Sălĭcastrum, tri ; n. Plin. genus labruscæ in salicibus nascens. ἄμπελος ἀγρία. A kind of wild vine running upon willow-trees ; an osier or withy.

† Sălĭcētum, i ; n. Cic. contr. Saliētum. ἰτέων. A place planted with willows.

Sălĭctārius, a, um ; ad salictum pertinens. Lupulus salictarius, Plin. A kind of hops that grows in a willow-ground, or climbs up by the willows.

Sălĭctārius, ii ; m. est qui salictum curat, & ex eo materiam saligna viti pedandæ jugandæque parat ; M. ex Catone c. 11.

Sălĭctum, contr. pro Salicetum ; Cic. locus in quo Salices crescunt. A grove of willows.

Sălĭcus, a, um ; ad Salios, id est, Francos pertin. unde Salica lex, quæ Francorum orientalium est propria. Rebuff. dict. ait ab initio legis, Si aliqua, &c. A law by which males were only to inherit.

Sălĭens, tis ; part. Vir. πηδῶν, ἁλλόμενος. Leaping, dancing, springing, trembling, or beating.

Sălĭens, tis ; m. Vitr. ex quo aqua salit. ὁ κρουνὸς. מזרק. The Cock, pipe or spout of a conduit or fountain, out of which which the water gusheth out. = Silanus, Cels.

Sălīgneus, a, um; Col. id. quod Salignus.

Sălignus, a, um; Vir. ἰτέϊνος. Of or belonging to willow or withy.

Sălii; m. pl. Sacerdotes Martis sic dict. quòd ancilia per urbem gestantes saltare soliti essent, Var. The Priests of Mars, who went dancing along the streets in their processions.

Sălillum, li; n. dim. à Salinum, Catul. ἁλοδοχεῖον. A little salt-sellar.

† Sălimentum, idem quod Salarium, Symmach. idem quod Saliatum, Isid.

Sălina, æ; f. Plin. ὁ τόπος, ἐξ οὗ ἅλας ἐξορύττεται. A salt-pit, a place where salt is made.

† Sălināris, re; antiq. Belonging to a bit or snaffle. R. rect. Salivaris, quòd ea pars fræni equi salivâ imbui soleat.

Sălinātor, ōris; m. Arnob. qui facit salem, Pap. A Sal-maker or Salter.

Sălinum, ni; n. Pers. ἁλιεῖς, ἁλοδοχεῖον. A sal-sellar. = Concha salis, Hor.

SALIO, is, ire; ui, ii & ivi, saltum; neut. ab ἅλλομαι, ἰών, ut ab ἀλλᾶν. alius. Συρ. מדד. To leap, dance, skip or hop; to jump, to bound; to spring or shoot out; to pant and beat: also to leap or cover as a horse doth a mare, Plin. cum Acc. to tread as the cock doth the hen, or any other male bird doth his female, Var. Salire de muro, Liv. Arbusta saliunt è terrâ, Lucr.

Sălio, is, ire; ivi, itum; act. à Sale, Ovid. ἁλίζω. מלח. To season with salt.

Sălior, iris; pass. Cels. To be salted.

† Sălisātor; m. verb. qu. à Salisso. Salisatores magi quidam vocati sunt, qui, dum eis membrorum quæcunque partes salierint, aliquid sibi exinde prosperum aut triste significari prædicunt, Isid. 8. 9. ex Aug. qui tamen Saltores appell.

Sălisubsălus, i; m. Catul. qu. salius subsiliens; ludius, qui in sacris Herculis saltabat, qui & ipse Salisubjulus dicitur Pacuvio. A morris-dancer; one who danced and capered to Musick.

Sălitio, ōnis; f. verb. Salitio equorum, G. ex Veget. Mounting or leaping on horseback.

Sălitor, ōris; m. Cic. μειχωτής. He that gathereth the tribute of salt. Prop. qui salit, i. sale condit. = Murilegulus.

Sălitūra, æ; f. Col. ἅλισις, ταρίχευσις. A powdering or salting, a seasoning with salt.

Sălitus, a, um; part. à Salio, Cels. ἁλισθείς. Salted.

Sălīva, æ; f. Plin. dict. quòd ferè salis saporem habeat, Isid. vel quòd in ore saliat, vel per metath. à σιαλῶ, Canin. σίαλον, σιαλίς. רוק. Spittle: sometimes juice, moisture, or any water that droppeth: also a jelly or slime that falleth, &c. Also the taste, gust or relish that any meat giveth, Pers. Salivam movere, Sen. To make one's mouth water.

Sălivandus, a, um; part. Col. To be cured by a drench.

Sălivāria, æ; f. Jun. An oyl stone or Barbers wheelstone, besmeared with spittle.

Sălivāris, ad Salivam pertinens: idem etiam quod Pyrethrum.

Sălivārium, ii; n. A spitting-box.

Sălivārius, a, um; Plin. Clammy or thick like spittle; pertaining to spittle.

Sălivārius, ii; m. Var. He that giveth drenches to horses, or other beasts.

Sălivātio, ōnis; f. verb. Medic. A defluxion of rheum into the mouth; salivation, fluxing.

Sălivātum, ti; n. Col. A drench given to an horse, or other sick beast: al. leg. Salviatum.

Sălivātus, a, um; Col. Drenched.

Sălīunca, æ; f. Vir. à Salio: herba è terrâ statim exiliens: ἀ πήδω. καλαμή. A kind of Spike or Lavender.

Sălīuncŭla, æ; f. dim. idem.

Sălīvo, as; Plin. σιαλίζω, πτύω, πτυελίζω. To spit, to gather or make spittle or clammy foam, to slaver: also to give a drink to Horses or other beasts, to drench.

Sălīvor, āris; pass. Col. al. leg. Salvior.

Sălīvōsus, a, um; Plin. πτυελώδης. That hath a smack or taste of spittle, full of spittle. Labia salivosa, Apul. Slavering.

Sălius, a, um; Saliæ virgines, Fest. Maids who attended the Salian Priests at their sacrifices in solemn habit.

Sălīvum, vi; n. Plin. id. quod Saliva.

Sălix, īcis; f. Plin. à Saliendi, i. crescendi celeritate dicta; Serv. ut ἰτέα παρὰ τὸ ἰέναι, Etymol. ἰτέα. ערב. A willow or sallow-tree, a withy, an osier.

Sallendus, a, um; part. Col. To be salted.

† Sallio, is, īre; ivi, ītum; act. Sisen. sale condio, ἁλίζω. To salt, to powder or corn with salt.

† Sāllitus; part. pro Salitus; Corn. Sever.

† Sallo, is, ĕre; li, sum; act. Salust. ἁλίζω. To salt, to powder, to pickle.

† Salmācidus, a, um; Plin. 31. 3. ex Salius vel ἅλμη & acidus, quod & salsum est & acidum. ut ὀξάλμη, Dioscor. i. acida muria, Ruell. acetum salsum, Hermol. al. corr. pro Salinacidus. ἁλμώδης. Salt, or that hath the savour of salt. Al. accipiunt pro molli & effœminato, à Salmacis fons, cujus aquas qui bibisset, vitio impudicitiæ molleſceret, Fest. Salmacida spolia, sine sanguine & sudore, Enn. Rect. Salmaci, da spolia, V.

Salmo, ōnis; m. Plin. à Saliendo; nam agilitate saltâs etiam præruptum conscendit. al. à Sale. A Salmon.

Salnitrum, vel potiùs Salonitrum, tri; n. Plin. ἁλόνιτρον. Salipeter, whereof Gunpowder is made.

Salopygium, ii; n. vel Salopugium; Salm. ex Catul. à σάλλω unde σαλεύω moveo, & πυγή nates; ut sit id. quod Σασυπυγίς, i. motacilla; quòd illius avis instar in dicendo subsiliret. A wag-tail.

Salpa, æ; f. Ovid. gr. σάλπη, σάλπης. Stock-fish.

* Salpicta, æ; m. Firm. Σαλπιγκτής, i. tubicen, à σάλπιγξ tuba. A trumpeter.

* Salpista, æ; m. Vopisc. Σαλπιστής. A trumpeter.

Salpūga, æ; f. Lucan. formicarum genus venenatum. Solipugas Cicero app. Salpugas Bætica, Plin. 34. 4. A poisonous or venemous Ant.

† Salsāmen, ĭnis; n. plur. Salsamina, Arnob. Pickled meat.

Salsāmentārius, a, um; Plin. ταριχωτικός. Of or belonging to pickle, to salt-fish, or any other salt thing, or to a Fishmonger.

Salsāmentārius, ii; m. Erasm. πωλῶν, ταριχεμπορος. He that sells salt-fish, a Fishmonger.

Salsāmentum, ti; n. Cic. τάριχος. All salt-meat, flesh or fish.

Salsè; adv. Cic. ἁλμωδῶς, Σκωπτικῶς, χαριέντως. Wittily, merrily, pleasantly, smartly.

Salsĭcium; n. Acro. i. salsum ĭsicium sive intestinum. A Sausage or a pudding.

† Salsĭcŏpōles, læ; m. Cæl. Rhod. vox conficta ex Lat. Salsicium & Gr. πωλέω. A seller of sausages.

Salsĭcortex. A tree bearing mast, which nothing will eat but swine.

Salsĭlāgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. à salsus; ut à mucus, mucilago. ἅλμη, ἁλμώδης. A salt liquor, brine, pickle.

Sallior, us; compar. Plin. More salt: also more witty and smart, Cic.

Salsipōtens, tis; epith. Neptuni, Plaut. That hath power over the salt Sea.

Salsĭsĭmè; adv. superl. Cic. Very smartly.

Salsĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. à Salsus, Plin. Saltness.

Salsiuscŭlus, a, um; dim. Somewhat salt. Ebrioſi salsiuscula quædam comedunt, Aug. Salt meats to make them drink on.

Salsūgia, æ; f. Plaut. Pickle or brine.

Salsūgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. 31. 7. ἅλμη. A salt liquor at the bottom of salt-pits under the salt.

Salsŭlæ; f. pl. Mel. sc. aquæ. Salt springs.

Salsūra, æ; f. Col. ταρίχευσις. A salting, seasoning or powdering; brine, or pickle.

Salsus, a, um; adj. ex part. à Sallo, Plin. ἁλμώδης, ἁλικός. Salted or salt: also merry, witty, jocarp, smart. χαρίεις, ἁστεῖος.

Saltātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὀρχηθμός. A dancing or leaping.

Saltātiuncŭla, æ; f. dim. Vopisc. A little dance.

Saltātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ὀρχηστής. A dancer, vaulter or jumper.

Saltātōriè; adv. Apul. In dancing manner, dancer-like.

Saltātōrius, a, um; Cic. ὀρχηστικός. Of or belonging to dancing, vaulting, &c. Orbis saltatorius, Cic. The dancing of the rounds or the Brawls; Barley-break.

Saltātrĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. Gell. ἡ Σμικρὰ ὀρχήστρια. A little dancing girl.

Saltātrix, ĭcis; f. verb. Cic. A woman dancer.

† Saltātūra, æ; f. Plaut. A dancing.

Saltātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Danced.

Saltātus, ūs; m. Liv. ὄρχησις, πήδησις. A jumping, a dancing.

Saltem; conj. per contr. à Salutem. Saltem, τὸ ἐλάχιστον. natum est autem à captivis Saltem, qui nihil aliud præter salutem à victore petunt; Don. al. à saltu scrib. saltim; Prisc. vid. Gell. 12. 14. al. per Ellipsin, q. d. Si aliter fieri non potest. ἀλλάγε, γοῦν, τοὐλάχιστον. At least; also only.

† Salti, pro Saltus, in Gen. Non.

Salticus, a, um; Tert. saltare solens, πηδητικός. Dancing, used to dance.

Saltim; antiq. i. per saltus: πηδητικῶς. By leaps or jumps.

Saltito, as; freq. Macr. To leap, jump or dance often.

Salto, as; neut. à salio, saltum:

ὀρχέομαι רָקַד. To dance, jump, hop or skip. Cum Acc. Saltare Cyclopa, Hor. i. saltantem imitari, Vir.

Saltor, āris; pass. Ovid. To be danced over.

Saltuāris, re; Plin. ὀρχηστικός, Chirurgicus. That danceth to the stroke of an instrument, or of and belonging to dancing. Saltuares insulæ, Plin. 2. 95. quæ Varroni Choreusæ.

Saltuārius, ii; m. Pomp. δρυμοφύλαξ, ὑλωρός. A Forester, a Verderer, a Ranger, a Keeper of a Forest, Park or Wood.

Saltuātim; adv. Gell. i. per saltus. ποδηνικῶς, ὀρχηστικῶς. By leaps or skips, leaping from one thing to another, Sisen.

Saltuōsus, a, um; Liv. δρυμώδης, ὑλώδης. Full of woods or forests.

Saltūra, æ; f. Plaut. ὀρχηθμός, πήδημα. A leaping or dancing.

Saltus, ūs (& i,) Non. m. salientis actus, Ovid. πήδημα, à Salio, salium; it. locus silvosus, in quo feræ saliant, Var. vel in quo arbores in altum exsiliant, Isid. ut ἄλσ ab ἅλλομαι salto: ἄλσος, δρυμών, ὕλη. יַעַר. A leap or frisk or skip; a bound or jump: also a forest; a thick wood, a lawn in a park.

Salvatella, æ; f. Medic. A vein between the little finger and the ring-finger.

Salvātio, ōnis; f. verb. Eccl. Σωτηρία. חִשׁוּעָה. Salvation, a saving.

Salvātor, ōris; m. verb. Eccl. Σωτήρ. מוֹשִׁיעַ. A Saviour.

Sāluber, hæc Salubris, hoc Salubre: & hic & hæc Salubris, & hoc Salubre, Cic. à Salus, quod præbet sanitatem: ὑγιεινός, Σωτήριος. Healthful, wholsome: also sound, healthy; good, profitable, useful, advantagious. Regit Dat. Cic. Æ Pestilens.

Sālūberrimè; adv. superl. Plin. Very wholsomely.

Sālūberrimus, a, um; superl. Plin. Most wholsome.

Sālūbrior, us; comp. Quint. More wholsome.

Sālūbritas, ātis; f. Cic. ὑγίεια. Wholsomeness, healthiness, clearness.

Sālūbriter; adv. Plin. ὑγιεινῶς, Σωτηρίως. Healthfully, profitably, safely, Liv. wholsomely.

Salve; verb. defect. à Salvus, unde Salveo, Salve, Salveto, Plural. Salvete, Salvetote, Salvere: ex שָׁלוֹם: ὑγιαίνειν, χαίρειν. שָׁלוֹם. God save you, a form of salluting at meeting or parting, or when people sneezed, Petr. Arb. All hale, God speed you, Good morrow, Good even, Farewell: Adieu. Salvebis à Cicerone meo, Cic. My son commends or remembers him unto you. Dionysium velim salvere jubeas, Id. Commend me to him, or present my service. Salve, vale, mi Tiro, Id.

Salvè; adv. Apul. Well in health.

Salveo, es, ēre; Plaut. i. Salvus sum, χαίρω, ὑγιαίνω. To be safe and sound, to be well or in good health.

Salvia, æ; f. Plin. à vi salvifica, quòd salvos præstet. ἐλελισφακῶν. The herb Sage.

Salviātum, ti; n. Col. ἐλελισφακίνον πότον. A potion or drench made with Sage.

† Salvifico, as; Vet. Int. i. salvum facio. To save.

Salvificus, a, um; Eccl. Σωτήριος. Saving, making safe.

Salvio, as; act. Col. fort. pro Salivo. To give one a drench, or posset of Sage.

Sālum; n. Vir. à gr. Ἅλς, idem: al. à sapore salis; unde & Sal, pro sălo sum. יָם. The Sea, the salt Sea: also a tossing or wavering. Salum mentis, Apul.

Salvo, as; act. Eccl. הוֹשִׁיעַ. To save, to preserve, to keep.

Salvor, āris; pass. Cic.

Sālus, ūtis; f. à Salvus, Var. qu. contr. pro Salvitus, ut à Servus servitus. al. ab hebr. שְׁלוָה tranquillitas. ὑγίεια, Σωτηρία. יְשׁוּעָה. Health, life, safety: also greeting, saluting, commendation, salutation: also a remedy, help or shift: also a Roman Goddess. Salutem dicere alicui, Cic. To salute one, to present his respects: also to bid Adieu, to take leave of, and to meddle no more with.

† Sālus, i; m. Enn. id. quod Salum.

Sālūtans; part. Sen. Saluting.

Sālūtāris, re; adj. Σωτήρ, ὑγιεινός. Wholsome, healthful, comfortable: also in good health. Salutaris digitus, Suet. The fore-finger: quo sc. protenso vett. salutarent, Gyrald. vel quo, ori admoto, silentium imperarent, quasi nihil ad salutem sanctius oris silentio, Alex. ab Alex. Salutaris litera, Cic. The letter A, a note of Absolution. Salutaris porta, A gate in Rome near to which the Temple of Goddess Salus stood. Regit Dat. Cic. it. Acc. cum ad. = Beneficus, Cic. Æ Pestifer, Id.

Sālūtāriter; adv. Cic. Σωτηρίως. Wholsomely, healthfully, safely, without hurt or danger, medicinably: also with advantage or success.

Sālūtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀσπασμός, προσαγόρευσις. בְּרָכָה. A saluting or greeting; a bidding God speed, good morrow or good even; a salutation.

Sālūtātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ἀσπαστής. A saluter.

Sālūtātōrium, ii; n. Sen. τὸ ἀσπαστικόν. The place or office of Master of Ceremonies to a Prince.

Sālūtātōrius, a, um; προσαγορευτικός. Belonging to saluting. Cubile salutatorium, Plin. A chamber of presence.

Sālūtātrix, icis; f. verb. A she saluter.

Sālūtātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Saluted.

Sālūtifer, a, um; cum Dat. Ovid. Σωτήριος. That bringeth health or safety, wholesome, healthful.

† Sālūtificātor, ōris; m. Tert. A Saviour.

† Sālūtifico, as; Bud. To preserve or keep.

Sālūtiger, ĕra, ĕrum; Apul. One who carries commendations to and fro.

Sālūtigĕrulus, a, um; Plaut. ἀσπασμοφόρος. He who bringeth commendations from another person, a Gentleman Usher that goes upon How do you?

Sālūto, as; act. i. salutem dico; à Salus: ἀσπάζομαι, προσαγορεύω, προσφωνῶ. בָּרַךְ. To salute at meeting or parting; to greet, to bid good morrow, or God speed, to send commendations; to bid farewell, to take his leave, to reverence, to honour or worship. Salutare Deum precibus, Mart. To do his devotion to God, to pray or commend himself to God.

Sālūtor, āris; pass. Plin. To be saluted, or also to be reserved and not cut off.

Salvus, a, um; vel à Salus, vel à Σῶς, qu. Savus; vel ab heb. שָׁלֵן tranquillus. Σῶς, ὑγιής. Safe, sound, whole, well, in good health. Salvus sis, Ter. God save you. Satin' salvæ? Id. Is all well? Salvo jure, Cic. Saving the right. Salvo honore, Save your reverence, or Sir reverence. = Incolumis, sanus, Cic. Æ Perditus, Ter.

† Sam, pro Eam, R. ex Enn.

† Samara, Plin. semen ulmi. vid. Samera.

† Sambila & Sambina; Paul. Epitom. corr. pro Sambuca.

† Samardacus, i; m. Vet. Int. Hor. cum Sortilegis jungit. Chrysost. Σαμαρδάκους expon. γαλεωτοὺς. Est it. terminus bifurcus.

Sambūca, æ; f. Perl. Σαμβύκη. instrum. musicum; it. machina, quâ urbes expugnant; quòd ut in organo chordæ, sic in machinâ funes intendantur, Fest. ab heb. סַבְּכָא, quod est apud Dan. 3. 5. An instrument of musick taken for a Dulcimer, Macr. or an Harp, or a Sackbut: also an engine of war, Fest. to batter the walls of a town, or to scale them, Veget. 4. 21.

Sambūceus, a, um; Pl. jun. ἄκτη. Of or belonging to an Elder-tree.

Sambūcētum; n. Plin. A place where Elder-trees grow.

Sambūcina, æ; f. Plaut. Σαμβυκίστρια. A woman that playeth on a Dulcimer.

Sambucistria, æ; f. Liv. mulier sambucâ canens. A she-harper or sackbut player.

Sambūcus, ci; f. Plin. dict. quòd ex ejus ligno sambuca, i. instrum. musicum fieret, Isid. ἄκτη. An Elder-tree.

† Sambulus, li; m. R. ex Plaut. A jumper. Rectiùs forsan Sambuculus, qui ad sambucam tripudiat.

Sāmēra, æ; f. Col. τὸ πτελέας σπέρμα. The seed of an Elm.

Sāmia, æ; subst. Placentas & Samias, G. ex Tert. A sort of cakes: also a whetstone; because they were so good in the Isle of Samos, G. ex Non.

Sāmiārius, ii; m. Jun. qui terrâ Samiâ polit arma. A Harneis-scourer.

Sāmiātus, a, um; part. Vopisc. Sharpened, whetted.

Sāmio, as; act. i. acuo, Non. quòd in Samo hoc genus artis pollent. Est & gr. Σαμιοῦν acuere. To whet or to make sharp.

Sāmiŏlum, li; n. dim. Plaut. Σάμιον κεραμίδιον. A little earthen pot.

Sāmiŏlus, a, um; Plaut. dim. à Samius, ὀστρακώδης. Made of earth.

Sāmium, ii; n. Cic. κεραμίων. An earthen pot, such as were made in the Isle Samos or of the Samian earth.

Sāmius, a, um; Earthen: also sharp, Non. Samia vasa, Cic. Earthen vessels. Samius lapis, Plin. A stone heavy and white, good to polish gold.

Samnites, um; m. pl. gladiatores à Campanis sic vocati, Samnitum ornatu armati, Liv. A kind of fencers or sword-players, so called from their dress.

Samŏlus, li; m. R. ex Plin. The marish worts, fen-berries.

Sāmothrāces dii, iidem qui Penates Romani, Macrob. quòd Dardanus eos è Samothracâ in Phrygiam, Æneas autem è Phrygiâ in Italiam detulerit: vel à סָתַר occultavit, inserto m, qu. Samthraces, Jun. quòd eorum & numerus & nomina ignota, & sacra occulta essent. The Roman houshold God.

Sāmothrācias; R. ex Plin. A kind of precious

cious stone of Samothrace, black of colour and light.

Sampſa, æ; f. Col. Σάμψα, πυρήν. The stone or kernel of an Olive; or, as some, the flesh of it squeezed in the mill.

Sampſūchinus, a, um; Plin. Σαμψύχινος. Made of Marjoram.

Sampſūchum, i; n. id. quod Sampſūchus.

* Sampſūchus, chi; f. Col. Σάμψυχος, à Σάος ψυχήν, quòd sanet animam, i. odore suo recreet. The herb called sweet Marjoram. = Amaracus, Isid.

Sānābilis, le; adj. Cic. ἰάσιμος, θεραπευτός. To be healed.

Sanamunda, æ; f. Jun. The herb Avens, or herb Bennet.

Sānātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἴασις, ὑγίασμός. רפואה. A healing or curing.

Sānātes, um; m. pl. Idem jus esto sanatibus, quod fortibus; Leg. 12. tabb. Those who after a revolt came in and reconciled themselves again, Fest. qu. sanati, i. mente sanatâ.

SANCIO, is, ire; ivi & xi, itum & ctum; act. à Sanguis, quòd fuso sanguine hostiæ aliquid sanciretur, Serv. vel à Sacer, interpoſito ſ, sancer: Fort. per metath. ab ἁγνίζω sanctifico, fut. ἁγνῶ sancio. κυρόω, διατίθεμαι, νομοθετέω. קדש, חקים. To establiſh, to ratifie, to confirm ſomething under a certain pain or penalty, to ordain, to order; to forbid by ordinance or law: alſo to conſecrate, to dedicate. Sanxit edicto, nè quis, &c. Cic. Multa ſanxit de ætate hominum, Id. Sancire aliquem Augurem, Id. Carmina ſancire alicui, Stat. To dedicate his poems to one. Fœdus capite & ſanguine alterius cum aliquo ſancire, Liv. To conclude a League with one, on condition, that ſuch a man be put to death. Fidem dextrâ ſancire, Id. To plight his faith and troth. = Caveo, Cic.

Sancior, īris; paſſ. Tac.

Sancitur, Sancitum eſt; imperſ. Cic. It is ordained.

Sancitus, a, um; part. Cic. διατεταχθείς, νομοθείς. Ordained, eſtabliſhed, confirmed by law, ratified.

† Sancitus, ūs; m. Tert. νομοθεσία. idem quod Sanctio.

Sanctè; adv. ὁσίως, ἁγίως. Holily, religiouſly, devoutly: alſo entirely, inviolably, ſoundly, with a great oath. = Piè, anguſtè, Cic.

Sanctificātio, ōnis; f. verb. Eccl. ἁγιασμός. An hallowing or ſanctifying.

Sanctificātor; m. verb. Eccl. Sanctifier.

† Sanctificium, ii; n. Vul. Int. ἁγιαστήριον. A Sanctuary, an holy place.

Sanctifico, as; act. Eccl. ἁγιάζω. קדש. To ſanctifie, to hallow.

Sanctiloquus, a, um; Prud. Speaking divinely.

Sanctimōnia, æ; f. Cic. ὁσιότης, ἁγιωσύνη. Holineſs, devoutneſs, honeſty.

Sanctimōnialis, le; adj. Pertaining to holineſs. Subſt. f. Aug. A Nun, a holy Virgin, ἁγιάστρια.

Sanctio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. κύρωσις, νομοθεσία. A ratification or confirmation; a decree, an ordinance eſtabliſhed with a penalty, a penal Statute.

Sanctior, us; comp. Cic. More holy.

Sanctitas, ātis; f. Cic. ἁγιότης, ὁσιότης. קדש. Sanctity, ſanctitude, devoutneſs, holineſs, honeſty.

Sanctiſſimè; adv. ſuperl. Cic. Moſt inviolably.

Sanctiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt ſacred.

Sanctitūdo, ĭnis; f. Gell. idem quod Sanctitas.

Sanctor, ōris; m. verb. à Sancio, Tac. νομοθέτης. An ordainer, an eſtabliſher.

Sanctuārium, ii; n. Eccl. ἁγιαστήριον. מקדש. A holy place, a Sanctuary, a church, a Chappel: alſo a cloſet or the like room for the keeping of any rarities or things of concern, as our Exchequer, the Rolls, &c.

Sanctŭlus, a, um; dim. à Sanctus, Hieron. ἁγιαβίσιος. A little Saint.

Sanctus, a, um; part. à Sup. Sanctum, Liv. idem quod ſancitus. κεκυρωμένος. Ratified, eſtabliſhed, ordained.

Sanctus, a, um; adj. ex part. Propriè dic. ſancta, quæ neque ſacra, neque profana ſunt, ſed ſanctione quâdam confirmata, ut leges ſanctæ ſunt, Ulp. ἅγιος, ὅσιος. קדוש. Holy, ſacred, inviolable, reverend, devout. = Inviolatus, Cæl. integer, ſincerus, religioſus, auguſtus, venerabilis, ſolemnis, caſtus, firmus, Cic. innocens, Liv.

Sandāliāris vicus, vel Sandaliarium, Gell. 18. 4. A ſtreet in Rome where pantoſles were made. Apollo Sandaliarius, Suet. quòd ejus templum eſſet in hoc vico, ab Auguſto extructum.

Sandāligĕrŭlæ, Plaut. Maid-ſervants, carrying their Miſtreſſes pantoſles or patiens.

Sandāligĕrŭlus, a, um; Plaut. Σανδαλοφόρος. That weareth ſlippers or carrieth ſlippers or pantoſles.

Sandālis, idis; f. in plur. Sandalides, Plin. à ſimilitudine ſandalii dict. Σανδάλιδες. A kind of Palm or Date-tree.

Sandālium, ii; n. Ter. Σανδάλιον, Σάνδαλον, unde & Syr. סנדל, i. calceus tenuis. A ſandal, a ſhoe, a ſhoe-ſole; a ſlipper or a pantoſle: alſo a kind of wheat, Plin.

Sandālum, li; n. ſandalio ſimile, Plin. 18. 7. Red-bearded French wheat, which they call Brance, and our Norfolk-men call Brank.

Sandăpĭla, æ; f. Juv. à Sandalio, id eſt, panno quo operiebantur corpora mortuorum, Pap. al. q. d. Σανίδα τῶ νεκρῶ, i. tabula ſive aſſer arcæ ſive loculi, in quo cadavera portabantur. νεκροφορεῖον. A bier, a coffin to bear the dead bodies of the poorer ſort, or ſuch as were executed, Fulgent. = Vilis arca, Hor. orciniana ſponda, Mart.

Sandăpĭlārius, a, um; ad ſandapilam pertinens. Subſt. A Bearer or Sexton, one that carried the dead bodies of the poor to burial: νεκροδάπτης. Faber ſandapilarius, A Coffin-maker.

Sandăraca, æ; f. Σανδαράκη. genus coloris, quod Græci ſandycem voc. Feſt. A bright red colour uſed of Painters, and found in Mines of gold and ſilver: ſome call it red Arſenick: there is another kind thereof made of Ceruſe burned: alſo the ſame that Cerinthe, Plin.

Sandăracha, æ; f. Plin. Σανδαράκη. idem. Red Orpment.

Sandăracha, æ; f. Plin. Σανδαράχη. idem. Red Orpment.

Sandăracha, æ; f. Plin. Σανδαράχη. Mixed with that colour.

Sandăracinus, a, um; Feſt. quod colorem ſandaracæ refert, h. e. quod flammæ colorem imitatur: Σανδαράκινος. Of a red or yellow colour.

† Sandăréſes. A kind of gem. R. ex Plin.

Sandăsĕrion, Sandaſer, & Sandaſeron. A ſtone in India like green oyl, in no requeſt, G. ex Plin. 37. 7.

Sandaſtros, i; f. Plin. à Σάνδυξ, vel à Sandus, fluvio Indico ubi naſcitur. A kind of burning ſtone, called alſo Garamantis, with gold-drops in the body of it.

Sandix, icis; f. Vopiſc. idem quod Sandyx.

Sandyx, ĭcis; m. Var. Σάνδυξ. à שני, dibaphum, coccinum. Σάνδυξ, χρῶμα κόκκινον, Suid. it. Σάνδυξ ἐστὶ βαμμάτιον, Heſych. A kind of red or purple colour made of Ceruſe and ruddle burned together: Patiſe red or Arſenick. ♀ An herb, Plin. ex Vir. or plant, Serv. a ſhrub, that hath a flower of a ſcarlet colour, Heſych.

Sānē; adv. à Sanus, h. e. ſanâ mente aut ſenſu, ubi nihil fuci latet aut fraudis, inde ponitur pro Reſtè, Verè, Becm. ὄντως, ἀληθῶς, μάλιστα. אכן. Truly, certainly, verily, ſure enough, indeed, on Gods name, well: alſo greatly, earneſtly: alſo ſoundly, Hor. Sanè quidem, Ter. Contem. It. pro Valdè; ut Rem haud ſanè difficilem, Cic. No very hard matter.

Sānēſco, is, ĕre; inc. Col. ὑγιάζομαι. נרפא. To wax whole, to begin to be whole.

† Sangĕnos, gemma eſt ex opali generibus, Plin. 37. 6. vox Indica. = Pæderos, Plin.

Sangualis; avis, quæ in Sangi dei tutelâ eſt, Feſt. An Oſprey. Vid. Sanqualis.

† Sanguen, ĭnis; n. ex Enn. & Accio Var. pro Sanguis. Blood: alſo a kind of tree whoſe bark is red as blood, Sipont.

Sanguĭcŭlus, li; m. τὸ αἱμάτιον. A little blood: the blood of a Goat or Hog made into meat, Plin. 18. 14.

Sanguĭnālis; Col. αἱματώδης. Of or belonging to blood, or of the colour of blood, bloody. Herba ſanguinalis, quæ & ſanguinaria, Plin. 27. πολύγονον. Straight or upright Vervain: alſo male Knotgraſs or Swines-graſs, Blood-wort, or Wallwort.

Sanguĭnans, tis; part. Tac. Cruel, bloody; dropping with blood, Quint.

Sanguinārius, a, um; Cic. αἱματηρός, φονικός. Cruel, blood-thirſty, ſanguinary, delighted in ſhedding of blood. Sanguinaria herba, Plin. Blood-wort good to ſtanch blood.

Sanguĭnētum, ti; n. R. ex Plin. The place where Blood-wort groweth.

Sanguĭneus, a, um; Vir. αἱματώδης, αἱματηρός, ἀναιμ. Bloody, of blood, full of blood, cruel; red or ſanguine, or of bloody colour: alſo of or belonging to the ſhe Cornel-tree, which is called Sanguineus frutex, Plin. becauſe the bark of it is a blood-red colour.

Sanguĭno, as; neut. αἱμοῤῥέω, αἱμάσσομαι. To bleed, or run with blood, Quint. or to be as red as blood, Apul. ♀ Act. To bloody or make bloody, Bibl.

Sanguĭnŏlentus, a, um; ad Heren. Bloody.

SANGUIS, ĭnis; m. Cic. αἷμα. דם. dict. quòd ſit juvenis, unde & homines quibus dominatur ſanguis dulces & blandi ſunt, Iſid. ſc. αἱμώδεις. al. quòd ſanctus ſit, cujus ſc. in ſacrificiis foret uſus. al. ab ἅγω. al. à Σάος γύα, quòd ſalva præſtet membra corporis, utpotein quo vita ſit. al. à שנן, quòd ſit coccinei ſeu purpurei coloris. Blood; a kindred, ſtock, parentage, race, lineal deſcent: alſo life, vigour, force, ſtrength; death, murder, slaughter, bloodshed. Sanguinem detrahere, mittere, Cels. To let blood, to breath a vein; rejicere, Plin. To spit blood. ◊ Cic. The money of the Treasury.

Sanguisorba, æ; f. The herb Burnet or Pimpernel. Sanguisorba musca, Jul. Scal. A blood-sucking flye.

Sanguisūga, æ; f. Plin. hirudo, quòd sanguinem sugat. בְּלוּקָה. A Lowsebeech, a blood-sucker.

Sāni-tīla, æ; f. Ruell. à sanandis ulceribus. The herb Sanikle or Sanicle.

Sānies, ēi; f. Cels. quòd ex sanguine corrupto nascitur, Ilid. per antiphr. quia sanguis non sanus, Perot. ἰχὼρ, λύθρον, βόρ. חֲבוּרָה. Matter coming out of a putrified sore, corrupt or filthy blood; poyson; Plin. dregs or grounds; a tincture or dye, Plin. Olei sanies, Plin. The lees or mother of oyl. ✠ Sanies mortui, Tabum viventis sc. sanguinis; Serv. rect. Sanies ater sanguis, Tabum liquor putridus, Popma.

Sānior, us; comp. Cic. More sound.

Sāniōsus, a, u; n; Plin. ἀνόσιος, λυθρώδης. Full of corrupt blood or matter.

Sānitas, ātis; f. Cic. ὑγίεια, ἀκρίβεια. הַמְאוֹרוֹת. Health, soundness of body or of wit and memory, ones right wits.

Sāniter; adv. Non. Advisedly.

† Sānitūdo, inis; f. Plaut. Healthiness.

Sanna, æ; f. Juv. à gr. Σάννας, i. stultus, quod à Σαίνω quatio, Eust. à narium sonitu, Perot. pot. ab Hebr. verbo שָׁנַן acuere: unde שֵׁן dens; שְׁנִינָה aculeata oratio, cujusmodi Sanna, Casaub. χλεύη, χλευασία, μῶκος. קֶלֶס. A mocking by grimaces, mows, &c. a flout, a frump, a gibe, a scoff.

Sannio, ōnis; m. Cic. qui sannam facit, Non. χλευαστής. A mocker, a flowter, a giber: also a Fool in a play, a Jester, a Mimick, a buffoon, a dissembler.

† Sanno, as; unde comp. Subsanno; μυκτηρίζω. To flowt and jeer.

Sāno, æs; act. Cic. ὑγιαίνω, ἰάομαι. רָפָא. To heal or cure.

Sānor, āris; pass. Cic.

† Sanquālis, is; f. Plin. avis, quæ in commentariis augustalibus Ossifraga dic. quia in Sangi vel Sanci Dei tutelâ est, Fest. εἶδος. A kind of Eagle called the Osprey.

Sansa, æ; f. vide Sampsa.

Sansūcus, i; f. Plin. Marjoram. V. Sampsuchus.

Santālum, li; n. Ruel. al. scrib. Sandalum, vox Indica. A kind of a tree; Sanders.

Santerna, æ; f. Plin. 33. 5. qu. sana nitrina; M. Solder, wherewith gold is soldred, Borax. = Chrysocolla.

Santŏnĭca, æ; f. Plin. sc. herba, à Santonibus Galliæ pop. ἀψίνθιον σαντόνικον. A kind of Wormwood.

SANUS, a, um; ὑγιὴς. חָמִים. à Sanguis, quòd ex statu recto sanguinis sanitas proveniat, Ilid. al. ex Σάω, inserto n. Whole, healthful, wholsome, sound, in health, in good state of body and mind; sound of memory, well in his wits, in his right mind, well advised. Sanus ex morbo, Cato. Cured of a disease. Mentis sanus, Plaut. In his right wits. = Integer, salvus, Cic. ✠ Furiosus, Id.

Sāpa, æ; f. Plin. dict. quia sapit, l. sapida est; Perot. al. ab. ὀπὸς Succus; est enim & plantarum succus. ἕψημα, σίραιον. Wine sodden, new wine boiled away to a third part: also the sap of trees, Pallad.

Săperda, æ; m. Pers. σαπέρδης, vox Pontica, Etymol. piscis id. qui & σαπρίνος. Signif. etiam sapientiam, Fest. ex Var. qui alludit ad Σαπρὸς putidus. ✠ Sorry fish that came from Pontus or the Black Sea: also wise, critical, subtile, Var. ap. Non. a nix.

Săphĕna, æ; f. Fernel. שָׁפָן Arab. A vein running above the inner ankle towards the great toe.

Săpidissĭmus, a, um; superl. Most savoury or pleasing to the taste.

Săpidus, a, um; טָעִים. Well relished, or tasted, savoury.

Săpiens; adj. ex part. Cic. σοφὸς. חָכָם. Wise, skilful; wee advised, discreet, judicious, critical. Cum Gen. Sapiens operis, Hor. ◊ Sapiens arbor, Jun. The Mulberry-tree. ✠ Sapiens in contemplandis rebus, Prudens in agendis.

Săpienter; adv. Cic. σοφῶς, μετρίως. Wisely, discreetly, advisedly.

Săpientia, æ; f. Cic. σοφία. חָכְמָה. Wisdom, the knowledge of things, divine and humane: also a relish or gust, Poet. vet.

Săpientior, us; comp. Cic. More wise.

Săpientĭus; adv. comp. Cic. More wisely.

† Săpientĭpŏtens, tis; Enn. Mighty in wisdom, that by his wisdom is able to do much.

Săpĭna, æ; f. Plin. A kind of Pine-nut.

Săpĭnea; f. Vitr. 9. 9. The bottom or lower part of the Fir-tree.

Săpĭneus, a, um; Col. ἐλάτινος. Of or belonging to a Fir-tree.

Săpĭnius, a, um; Plin. idem.

† Săpinos, Plin. A kind of Amethyst or Jasper-stone.

Săpinus, i; f. species quædam pinûs: q. d. sativa pinus. Sapinus, ῖνος, Gl. Est abietis species apta navibus, quam sapinam vulgò vocant, Serv. à סַפִּינָה navis, Nic. Full. A kind of pine fir-tree, good for shipping: also the lower part of a Fir-tree that hath no knots, so called, Plin. 16. 39. ubi al. leg. Sapinea.

SAPIO, is, ĕre; ivi vel ui, itum; neut. de animo, ab ant. Sapus, quod à σοφὸς, qu. σοφίον. ῥεγῖον. חָכַם. de gustu, ab ὑπὸς succus, humor, qu. ὑπίω, vel ab heb. שָׂפָה labium, os, quo gustamus. χαμίζω. To savour, smell, taste or smack; to relish: also to be wise, to have wit, to understand and perceive well. Cum Acc. Mare sapit, Plin. It hath a smack or taste of the sea. Ego meam rem sapio, Plaut. I understand my business.

Sapium; Plin. vid. Sappium. A kind of pitch-tree.

Săpo, ōnis; m. Gallorum inventum, gr. Σάπων, Plin. Σμῆγμα, Σμῆλα. בֹּרִית. Soyl.

Săpōnāria, æ; f. Offic. The herb Sepewort.

Săpor, ōris; m. à Sapio: al. ab ὑπὸς Æol. pro ὑπὸς. χυλὸς, χυμὸς. טַעַם. A taste, a savour, or smack; a relish, an hoge, a gust.

Săpōrātus, a, um; part. Vit. Well-relished, seasoned; savoury, toothsome, delicious, Prud. Ossa melle saporata, Jun. A honey or sugar-sop.

Sapphĭcum carmen, quòd à Sappho vel inventum, vel præcipuè usurpatum. A Sapphick verse.

Sapphīrātus, a, um; Sidon. Sapphiris intertextis variegatus, Σαπφειρωτὸς. Bejet or adorn'd with Saphires.

Sapphirinus, a, um; Plin. Σαπφειρῖνος. Of or belonging to a Saphire.

* Sapphirus, ri; f. Plin. Σάπφειρος. סַפִּיר. A precious stone called a Saphire.

Sappinus, i; f. πεύκη. Sapinus, ῖνος, Gl. verùm utraque eadem arbor est. A kind of pitch or pine-tree.

Sappium, ii; n. Plin. 16. 12. arbor ex picearum genere. Vid. Sapinus.

* Saprŏphăgus, gi; m. Mart. Σαπροφάγος, ex Σαπρὸς putris, & φάγω comedo; qui putridis vescitur.

Saprum, pri; n. Plin. Σαπρὸν putridum. A potion made with sal, and wine, and vinegar, and old rotten cheese together, to help men of the cholick.

† Sapsa, pro Ipsa & Scipsa, Enn.

Sarabălla; n. pl. Hier. propriis ad Chald. סַרְבָּל, id. quod Sarabara.

Sarabara; n. pl. Σαραβάραι, τὰ δὲ περὶ τὰς κνήμας ἐνδύματα, Hes. apud Dan. סַרְבָּלִין fluxa & sinuosa vestimenta, Isid. A kind of vest or side-coat, which the Medes and Babylonians used, that reached down to their knees.

Saracum; vid. Sarracum.

* Sarcasmus, mi; m. Rhet. Σαρκασμὸς, à σαρκάζω, à σαρξ caro, quòd in irrisione dentes nudantur carne; vel à canibus tractum super frusto carnis hirrientibus, Vos. A bitter taunt, when, as we say, we jeer one out of his skin, or draw blood of him.

† Sarcia, æ; f. Plaut. à σαρξ caro. Grossiness, fatness, fleshiness.

Sarcimen, inis; n. à Sarcio, Apul. ῥάμμα. A seam, patch, or stitch, a selvage.

Sarcina, æ; f. Plaut. à Sarcio; al. à σαρξ, σαγμὰς, qu. σαγμίνη. ✠ Onus vehiculorum, & majus est; Sarcina hominum; Front. ὑποζύγιον, ὑποζυγιακὸν. מַשָּׂא. φορτίον ὑποζυγιακὸν, Gl. A truss, a pack or fardel; a carriage, bag and baggage, a packet: also goods or stuff packt up, Quint. also a burthen, a load, a charge. Sarcinas colligere, To march bag and baggage.

Sarcinālis, le; adj. Amm. ad sarcinam pertinens, φορτικὸς. Of or belonging to packs, serving to carry burdens.

Sarcinārius, a, um; Sarcinarii jumenta, Cæs. Beasts of burden, packe-horses.

Sarcinātor, ōris; m. Lucil. ἀκανθὴς, Κανθερὴς. A botcher, or a mender of old garments. It. qui custodit sarcinas.

Sarcinātrix, icis; f. Var. ἀκανθερὰ, ἀκανθερὶς. A she-botcher that mends old cloaths: also she that keepeth packs and fardels.

Sarcinātus, a, um; part. Plaut. φορτικὸς. Laden with packs, burthened.

Sarcino, as; ὑποζύγιόω. To load or pack: also to sow, ῥάπτω.

Sarcinōsus, a, um; Apul. Weighty.

Sarcinŭla, æ; f. dim. à Sarcina, Juv. φορτίον. A little pack or fardel, stuff.

SARCIO, is, ire; si, tum; act. ῥάπτω. חָתַר. Sarcire, integrum facere, Fest. Sarcio qu. σάω ῥάπτω, curo laceras vestes; M. al. à σαρξ, σαγμὸς, ὑποζυγιάζω, ἀκάνθομαι, κατατρίζω. To botch, to clout, to patch, to repair, to make good: also to make amends, to recompence, Cic.

* Sarcion, ii; n. Plin. 37. 5. Σάρκιον, caruncula; dict. à σάρξ. est velùti carnosa quædam vena gemmarum. A fault in precious stones, especially the Emerald, a kind of fleshiness.

* Sarcites, æ; m. Plin. σαρκίτης, à σαρξ caro. A precious stone that looks like beef.

Sarcŏcolla.

Sarcŏcolla, æ ; f. Plin. σαρκὸς κόλλα dict. à glutinandis carnibus, i. vulneribus. A gum of a tree in Persia like the powder of Incense ; a kind of balsam good for the closing of wounds.

Sarcophăgus, gi ; m. Plin. lapis Asius, Caρκοφάγος. quia σάρξ carnes edit, i. consumit. A certain stone called Eat-flesh, because that dead bodies being inclosed therein do consume and waste away bones and all within fourty dayes, the teeth excepted : also a grave, a tomb, a sepulchre.

Sarcŭlātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. Cκαλισμός. A weeding, a raking.

Sarcŭlo, as ; act. & pass. Sarculor, Col. Cκαλίζω. To rake or weed up with a rake or like instrument.

Sarcŭlum, li ; n. Plin. à sarriendo, qu. sarriculum, Var. Cκαλὶς. מעדר. A weeding-hook or rake, a hoe, or like instrument ; a spade, Hor.

Sarda, æ ; f. Plin. gemma, dict. quòd Sardibus primùm fuerit reperta, vel pot. à Sardis. it. piscis sic dict. à Sardinia insulâ, quæ gr. Σαρδὼ vè σάρδιον, à σάρδιος. A red stone of the colour of flesh, a Cornelian : also the name of a fish, a sprat or pilcher, Plin. σπλαιώτης

* Sardachates, Plin. 37. 10. Σαρδαχάτης, ex Sarda & Achates. A kind of an Agat.

Sardana glans, G. ex Plin. Σαρδιανὸν βάλανος. A Chesnut.

Sardina, æ ; f. Col. τεῦχις, θήκη. A kind of fish called a Sardelle or Sardin.

Sardius lapis ; Plin. Σάρδιος λίθος. quia in Sardiniâ laudatissimus nascitur. A kind of Onyx of black colour, called a Carneol.

† Sardo, as ; antiq. pro Intelligo. Quod bruti nec satis sardare queant, Nav. i. intelligere, Fest.

Sardoa, æ ; f. Vir. Σαρδὼα sc. πόα. An herb like Smallage, growing in Sardinia, which being bitten causeth great laughing and grinning, whereupon ensueth death : unde Sardonius risus, Cic. γέλως σαρδόνιος. A forced laughter, when in outward appearance one seems well pleased, but at his heart is discontent.

Sardŏnychātus, a, um ; Mart. Σαρδονυχίτης. Adorned or beset with Sardonyx stones.

† Sardŏnychus, i ; m. Coop. ex Juv. id. quod Sardonyx. Also a Ring with a seal of that stone, M.

* Sardonyx, ychis ; f. Plin. Σαρδόνυξ. ex Sarda & ὄνυξ unguis. Gemma est in summâ sui parte unguis humani candorem, inferiore autem dilutum Sardæ ruborem referens, Cal. A precious stone partly of the colour of a mans nail, and partly of a Cornelian colour.

Sargus, gi ; m. Lucil. σάργος vel σάργος, à carne ; qu. a carnosus piscis. Gesn. A fish in the Egyptian sea.

* Sari ; n. indecl. Plin. σάρι. A kind of herb growing about the river Nile, having a hard root, which served Smiths instead of coal.

Sario, ōnis ; m. Auson. A Salmon-trout, Al. leg. Farioni.

Sarissa, æ ; f. Liv. σάρισα. A long spear or pike, which the Macedonians used, Fest.

* Sarissophori ; m. pl. Curt. Σαρισσοφόροι. Souldiers armed with the Sarissa.

Sarmentĭtius, a, um ; Col. κλαδικὸς. Of or belonging to twigs or branches : it. qui sarmentis circumdatus crematur, Fest.

Sarmento, as ; antiqu. To lop, as they use to lop trees.

Sarmentōsus, a, um ; Plin. ὀρυγανώδης. Full of twigs or branches.

Sarmentum, ti ; n. à Sarrio. rect. à Sarpo. Sarpere antiqui pro Purgare dicebant, Fest. à Serendo, quasi Seramentum, Isid. κλῆμα, κλημάτιον, ῥύσμιον. A twig or spray of a tree, or a branch of a vine to be cut off. Sarmentum uvæ, Plin. The little bush whereon the grapes hang on clusters.

† Sarpa, æ ; f. Fest. ἄμπελος τμηθῆσα. pot. falx putatoria, ab ἄρπη. ἄρπη, ἐγχείριον, Hes. A vine when it is cut or pared. Rather a pruning hook or bill. Leg. rect. Sarpta, c. vitis.

† Sarpo, is, ĕre ; ant. psi, ptum ; Prisc. ex ἅρπη falx, ἁρπῶ falce utor. Jos. Scal. à Σάρπω purgo, verro. To prune, lop or cut off superfluous branches ; to dress vines.

Sarpor, ĕris ; pass. Sarpuntur vineæ, i. putantur, Fest.

Sarptos, a, um ; part. i. Sarpa putatus. Lopped, cut off. Sarpta vinea, putata, i. pura facta, Fest.

Sarrācum, ci ; n. Juv. à Sarra, quæ olim Tyrus dicebatur ; sed est pro Soracum, à σωρὸς, ἁμάξα. עגלה. A wagon or wain, to carry timber and the like. = Plaustrum, Vitr. vehiculum, Capit. Vid. Soracum.

Sarranus color ; Jun. i. Tyrius. Purple colour.

SARRIO, is, ire ; ivi, itum ; act. Plin. à Σάρσω vel σαίρω purgo, verro. Cκαλίζω. עדר. To weed corn, to rake, to harrow, to cut vines.

Sarritio, ōnis ; f. verb. Var. Cκαλισμός. A weeding corn with a hook.

Sarritor, ōris ; m. verb. Col. Cκαλιστὴς. A weeder, raker, harrower ; a botcher or mender of cloaths, Non.

Sarritūra, æ ; f. Col. Cκαλίσεως. Weeding.

Sartāgo, inis ; f. Plin. κρέα of σαρκὸς, i. à carne dict. patella in quâ caro frigitur. à strepitu soni, quando in eâ ardet oleum, Isid. à Sarire משרת, משרת : idem, Becm. ex σαίρω, & τήγανον. M. to τήγανον. מחבת. A frying-pan. Sartago loquendi, Prud. A farce, of bombastical discourse.

Sartè ; adv. Fest. Wholly, entirely.

Sartor, ōris ; m. verb. à Sarcio, Plaut. ῥαπτὴς. A taylor, a botcher, a mender of old garments, a cobler.

Sartor ōris ; m. verb. à Sarrio, Plaut. Cκαλιστὴς. A harrower ; a weeder of corn ; a cutter of vines.

Sartōrium, ii ; n. Vitr. A cobler's-shop.

Sartrix, icis ; f. verb. Front. A woman-tayler or botcher.

Sartūra, æ ; f. ex Sarritura, Plin. Cκαλισμὸς, Cκάλωσις. A weeding, a raking or harrowing.

Sartus, a, um ; part. à Sarcio. ἠμπεχονιδεύς. Patched up, stitched together, Hor. amended, repaired. Sartus tectus, Cic. Wind tight and water tight, kept in good repair, whole or safe and sound. Sarta tecta, Cic. ἁρμοσμένα καὶ κατεσκευασμένα, Polyb. opera publica quæ locantur ut integra præstentur ; dicimus autem, Exigere sarta tecta, locare, conducere, tradere, habere, præstare. Buildings kept in sufficient reparation.

† Sas, pro Suas, vel Ipsas ; Sam pro Suam vel Ipsam, Vet. dixere, Enn.

Sat ; adv. à Satis ; per apoc. ἀλὶς, ἱκανῶς, ἀρκούντως. רב. Enough, sufficient, right well. Cum Gen. Cic. Testium sat est ; There is witness sufficient, or there are witnesses enough. ◊ Sat habeo, Ter. I am content.

Sāta, ōrum ; n. à Sero, Vir. Corn sown, or standing ; corn-fields.

Sātāgens ; part. Gell. Being busie, or earnest, bestirring himself.

Satageus, i ; m. Istos satageos ac sibi molestos, Sen. Epist. 98. qui satagit. One that hath or makes enough to do, more busie than needs, Justice Adam Overdo.

Sātăgito, as ; freq. Nunc agitas sat tute tuarum rerum ; V. ex Plaut. per tmesin.

Sātăgo, is, ĕre ; ēgi ; Ter. ex Sat & Ago : πολυπραγμονῶ, σπουδάζομαι, διατρυπῶμαι. דאג. To be busy about a thing ; to be in great care about it ; to have enough to do ; to busie and keep a pudder, to overdo, to over-act, Quint. Satagere rerum suarum, Ter. de re aliquâ, Gell.

* Satan, & Satanas, æ ; m. Bibl. Σατᾶς. שטן, i. adversarius. An adversary, the Devil, Satan.

Sātelles, ĭtis ; m. Cic. à Syr. שטר latus, M. quòd antiq. latro, qu. latero, Var. à Jacio, Perot. al. qu. Satis tuens. ὑπηρέτης, ἀκόλουθος, ὑπασπιστής. שטר. A life-guard-man, or yeoman of the guard ; an halbardman, a Partisan ; also an officer, a Sergeant, a catch-pole, an attendant. = Minister, administer, Cic.

Sātellĭtium, ii ; n. A guard.

Sātianter ; adv. R. ex Apul. ἀκόρεστος. Fully, contemedly.

Sātias, ātis ; f. à Satietas, per syn. Ter. κόρος, πλησμονή. A glut, weariness, plentifulness.

Sātiātus, a, um ; part. Sal. κορεσθεὶς, πλησθείς. Satisfied, having enough ; glutted, cloyed, sated. Cum Abl. vel Gen. Hor.

Sātĭes, ēi ; f. Sil. Satisfaction.

Sātĭĕtas, ātis ; f. Cic. שבע. Satiety, a glut, a busy-fit ; weariness, loathsomeness. = Fastidium, Cic. ☞ Desiderium, Cic. aviditas, Plin.

Sātin, pro Satisne. Well enough. Satin salvæ, Ter. Is all well?

Sātio, as ; act. à Satis. al. à Cάττω ὀκτερεχαίνω, ἐμφορῶ. רשעיע. To satiate or satisfie, to cloy, to satt or sadd, to glut. Regit Acc. cum Abl.

Sātior, āris ; pass. Cic.

Sātio, ōnis ; f. verb. à Sero, Cic. σπορά. מזרע. A sowing of seed, a planting.

Sātior, us ; comp. à Satis, Plin. κρείττων, βελτίων. better, rather to be chosen.

† Satira, æ ; f. vett. qu. ex Sat & ira. Vid. Satyra.

Sātis ; adj. omn. gen. ant. ut potis. it. adv. nota mediocritatis, sumptum ab agricolis post sementem factam, perinde ac si dicant ; Satis frugibus, non propterea laborandum, Scal. al. ab ἄλις, vel ἀδ Ζ. ἅλις, ἀδ Ζ. ἱκανὸς. רב. Enough, as much as one needs or desires, sufficient. Adv. Sufficiently, enough, well enough. Regit Gen. ◊ Satis superque, Enough and to spare.

Sāti acceptio, ōnis ; f. Pomp. ἱκανὴ ὑποσχετικὴ λῆψις. A taking of security or sufficient sureties.

Sātiacceptor, ōris ; m. verb. Ulp.

He that taketh sufficient surety.

Sătisăccĭpio, is, ĕre; cēpi, eptum; Cic. μεσεγγύωμαι, ἐχεγγύη λαμβάνω. To take sufficient security.

Sătisdătio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἐγγυητικὸν, πιστώσεως. A putting in sufficient security for performance.

Sătisdătum, ti; n. Cic. ἐγγυητήριον. A bond with sureties for payment of money, or performance of covenants, a Recognisance.

Sătisdo, as; dĭdi, dătum; Cic. do satis: μεσεγγύωμαι, ὑφίστημι καταστάσεως. To put in sufficient sureties for performance of covenants. Satisdet damni infecti, Cic. sc. nomine; Let him put in surety to pay the damage, that he hath not satisfied for.

Sătisfăcio, is; fēci; ἐκτίνω, πλησμονῆν. יָשַׁלַּם. To satisfie, to content, to make satisfaction, to make good; to pay or discharge a debt: also to excuse. Satisfacere fidei, Pl. jun. To make good his word. Satisfacere alicui in pecuniâ, Cæl. de re aliquâ, Cæs. ◊ Donec pecuniam satisfecerit, Cato. Till he hath paid in the money.

Sătisfactĭo, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. πλησμονὴ, κόρος. A satisfaction, a contenting, an excusing ones self; an amends.

Sătisfio, is; actus; Cic. To be satisfied.

Sătispræstātio, ōnis; f. Corn. Cop. idem quod Satisdatio.

Sătispræsto, as; R. ex Corn. Cop. ὑφίστημι καθάπαξ. To be bound with surety for payment of money, or performance of covenants.

Sătĭus; adv. comp. à Satis; nam quia Bene est quod Satis est; ideò Satius id. quod Melius, Prisc. κρεῖττον, βέλτιον. better.

Sătivus, a, um; à Sero, Plin. σπειρόμενος. That is or may be sown, set or planted. Sativum tempus, Plin. A time fit to sow or plant in. ∃ Agrestis.

Sător, ōris; m. verb. à Sero, Cic. σπορεὺς, φυτευτὴς. A sower, a planter, Var. a sower, a creator, a begetter, Vir.

Sătōrius, a, um; Col. Of or belonging to a sower or to seed.

Sătrăpa, æ; m. Ter. Cæcil. vox Persica, pl. אֲחַשְׁדַּרְפְּנִים. Satraps qu. אֲחַשְׁדַּרְפָּן, Appuritor faciei, M. A great Ruler, a Peer of the Realm, a Lord Lieutenant of a Countrey, a President of a Countrey, a Governour, a Bashaw.

Sătrăpia, æ; f. Plin. Cæcil. A Province, a Countrey, a Duchy, a Lieutenancy.

† Satrapa, pis; m. Sidon. id. quod Satrapa.

† Sătullē; adv. Apul. Fully.

† Sătullo, as; Var. To fill or glut.

Sătullus, a, um; dim. à Satur, Var. ἀρκούμενος, πλήρωμα. Full fed.

Sătum, ti; n. Vir. à Sero: σπέρμα, σπόρος. ab Heb. סָאתָה. in regim. סָאתִי. Corn. A thing that is sowed or planted; the blade of corn on the ground; standing corn: also an Hebrew measure.

Sătur, ra, rum; à Satio, vel Satis, Petron. κατάπλεως, ἐμπλεως. שָׂבֵעַ. Full fed, that hath his belly full, fated, glutted, fertil or plentiful, Pers. Satur color, Plin. A full or deep colour. Regit Gen. Ter. Abl. Plaut.

Sătŭra, æ; f. à diversarum rerum saturitate, Diom. vel à Carmen, i. Carmen farcimen, Voss. it. lex aliis multis legibus referta, Fest. πάντα σπερμάτων, Gl. Phil. A dish full of divers sorts of first-fruits which they offered to Ceres, Porphyr. also a botch-potch or gally-mawfry, Var. an Olla podrida, a Bisk: also a pregnant law with other laws in its belly.

Sătŭrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. A filling of an hungry belly.

Sătŭrātior, us; comp. Plin. More full or deep (of colour.)

Sătŭrātus, a, um; part. Plin. κορεσθείς. Filled, satisfied, glutted, cloyed, fated, gorged.

Saturoia, æ; f. Plin. à Satur, quiâ saturet; al. qu. Satyrea, à Satyris, qui sunt in venerem proni & salaces; nam venerem emortuam suscitare creditur: ἡ δύμβρα. Savory. = Cunila, Col. thymbra, Plin.

Satureia; pl. n. idem. Improba nec profuni jam Satureia tibi, Mart.

† Sătŭrio, ōnis; Plaut. ἀκαπρός. A streich-gut, an over-eater.

Sătŭrior, us; comp. à Satur, Coll. More full.

Sătŭritas, ātis; f. Cic. πλησμονὴ, κόρος. שִׂבְעָן. Excess, fulness, plenteousness; also dung, ordure, Plin. ∃ Saturitas in cibo, Satietas in cæteris; Charis.

Sătŭrnālia, ium; n. pl. Κρόνια. The feasts of Saturn, kept with jollity on the eighteenth day of December.

Sătŭrnālĭtius, a, um; κρόνιος. Belonging to that feast. Saturnalitia munera, Mart. Gifts sent to and fro among friends at that feast.

Saturnus, ni; m. Κρόνος. Saturn, a star so called; one of the seven Planets. Saturni filia, Hor. A quartan ague. Saturni dens, Jun. A sickle.

Saturnius pes; Diom. id. quod Palimbacchius.

Sătŭro, as; act. Cic. i. Saturum facio. κορέννυμι, ἐμπλήθω. יָשְׂבִּיעַ. To fill, to glut, to cram, to fate or sate. Regit Acc. cum Abl. Cic. cum Gen. Plaut. ∃ Saturo ad corpus, Satio ad animum refertur.

Sătus, a, um; part. à Sero, Liv. σπαρεὶς, φυτευθεὶς. זָרוּעַ. Planted, sown, begotten, descended, sprung, cum Abl. = Creatus, Cic.

Sătus, ūs; m. verb. σπορὰ. A planting, a sowing, a setting to graff on; generation, seed, stock, Lucret. = Conceptus, Cic.

Satyra, æ; f. Hor. qu. satura, ob carminis vel rerum varietatem, Var. It. à Satyris, quòd in hoc genere carminis res ridiculæ pudendæque scribuntur, quemadmodùm proferri à Satyris solent. Σατύρου, τὸ Σατυρικὸν ποίημα. A Satyre, a kind of Poetry, rebuking vice sharply, and not regarding persons; a Lampoon.

† Satyria, æ; f. Flor. vel Satyra avis, à Satyra palude, loco sc. ubi res gesta est; vel quòd solitaria & libidinosa ut Satyrus: Σατυρεία. A Crow so called that sate on L. Valerius his head-piece, while he fought with a Gaul; for which he was named Corvinus.

* Satyriasmus, mi; m. Medic. à Satyris, vel à Satyrio herba; actus τοῦ Σατυρίζειν, quod est Prurire in venerem instar Satyri: Σατυρισμὸς.

* Satyriasis, is; f. idem. Σατυρίασις.

Satyricè; adv. Σατυρικῶς. Sharply and with reproach; satyrically.

Satyricus, a, um; Σατυρικὸς. Of or belonging to Satyrs, or Satyrists; Satyrical.

Satyrion, Jun. & Satyrium, ii; n. Ruel. Σατύριον. à Satyris dict. quos in venerem pronos fingunt. The herb Rag-wort, Priests-pintle.

Sătyrus, ri; m. Σάτυρος, Heb. שָׂעִיר, quia pilosi; aliàs dict. à virili membro, quod Vet. Gr. Σάτυρον appell. Macrob. A kind of lean like a wild man; a Satyr.

Sauciātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. καταπόνησις. A wounding, an hurting.

Sauciātus, a, um; part. Col. τετρωμένος. Wounded, hurt, maimed.

Saucio, as; act. Cic. πατάσσω, τρωματίζω. עָצַב. To wound, to hurt, to cut, to gash.

Saucius, a, um; Vir. qu. sanguine haustus; Pap. al. qu. Secius, à Secando, Per. τετυπωμένος, τετρωματίας, τετρωμασμένος. חָלָל. Wounded, hurt: also greatly grieved. Animo saucius, Cic.

Sāvillum, li; n. Cato. dim. à Savium, i. suavium. A little kiss: also a kind of cake.

† Sāvium; n. Plaut. vide Suavium.

* Saurion; n. sinapis species, Plin. 19. 8. Σαυρίον. A kind of mustard.

* Saurites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 10. Σαυρίτης, à Σαυρὸς. A stone that is found in the belly of a green Lizard, cut asunder with a reed.

Saurix, icis; f. Mart. Vict. quæ & Sarix avis, gr. Σαῦρος. A kind of a night-bird, assign'd by South-sayers to Saturn.

Saurocthonos, ni; m. Plin. 34. 8. Σαυροκτόνος, lacerti necator. One of Praxitles his pieces; a Boy shooting a Lizard.

Saxātilis, m. Ovid. The name of a fish, a Groundling, a kind of Gudgeon.

Saxātilis, le; adj. Col. πετρῶδης. That is or lives among rocks and stones.

Saxētānus, a, um; Mart. idem.

Saxētum, ti; n. Cic. πετρώδης τόπος. A place full of rocks and stones.

Saxeus, a, um; Plin. πέτρεος, λίθινος. Of stone; as hard as stone, stony.

Saxĭfĭcus, a, um; Sen. λιθοποιὸς, πετροῦσθαι. That turneth into stone.

Saxĭfrăga, æ; f. Seren. dict. quòd saxa frangit: πετροθλαῖς. The herb Saxifrage that breaks the stone in the body.

Saxĭfrăgum, i; n. Plin. 22. 21. idem.

Saxĭfrăgus, a, um; Saxifragæ undæ, Cic. λιθοθλαῖς. That breaketh stones; or is broken against them.

Saxigĕnus, a, um; Prud. Engendered of, or proceeding from a stone.

Saxōsus, a, um; Vir. πετρώδης. Full of stones or rocks; stony.

Saxŭlum, li; n. dim. Cic. λιθίον. A little rock or stone.

SAXUM, i; n. Cic. vox Tusca, Scal. fort. à Cædo, Cæsum, onero, lapis grandis. πέτρος. לוּז. אֶבֶן. A great stone, a rock, an hill, Vir. Also a kind of earth that groweth by steeping, Plin. Stare inter sacrum & saxum, Prov. To be in a present danger, as at pits brink, &c.

S ante C.

Scabellum, li; n. Cic. dim. à Scamnum; unde & Scamellum; ut Promuscis & Proboscis. Possit videri dim. à Scabrum, i. minùs dolatum, quòd pedibus subjiciatur. ὑποπόδιον, ὑποβάθρον. הֲדֹם. A footstool

footstool or low settle: also a kind of instrument, Suet.

Scăber, bra, brum; Cic. à Scabo: ab ant. Scarreo, Scal. unde Scarrosus, λεπρὸς, Scaber. vel à Scabie, Per. τραχὺς, ψωραλέος. שָׁעִיר. Rough, rugged, rude; rusty, filthy, Ovid. scabby, Col. Scabri rubigine dentes, Ovid. Furred over.

Scăber, ri; m. Vitr. A Smiths buttress wherewith he pareth horses hoofs.

Scăbĭdus, da, dum; Hier. Scabby, mangy.

Scăbies, ēi; f. Cic. à Scabo. ψώρα, ψωίασις. גָּרָב. A scab, a scall, a gall or fret; the itch, the mange: also a tickling or itching.

Scăbile, is; n. Cato. id. quod Scabellum.

Scăbillum; n. vel Scabillus, li; m. Crepitus scabillorum, Arnob. A kind of a Musical instrument, that sounds by the motion of the feet.

Scăbinus, ni; m. A Sheriff of a Town, a Clark of the Market, a Surveyor of building; a Scavenger.

Scăbiōsa, æ; f. Offic. The herb Scabious.

Scăbiōsus, a, um; Plin. ψωρώδης, ψωραλέος. Scabby, mangy, itchy, scurvy, paultry, naughty.

SCABO, is, i, ĕre; Hor. à Σκάπτω, f. 2. Σκαφῶ fodio. κνάω, κνίζω. גָּרַד. To scratch, to claw, to rub.

Scabrātus, a, um; Col. τραχυνθείς. Made rough or rugged.

Scabrè; adv. R. ex Var. τραχέως. Roughly or frowningly.

Scabrēdo, ĭnis; f. Hier. τραχύτης. Roughness, ruggedness.

† Scabreo, es; Turneb. ex Pacuv. i. Scaber sum.

† Scabres, is; vel ei; f. Apul. i. scabrities, à Scaber. Roughness, ruggedness, scurf, scurfiness, rustiness. Crystallus infestatur scabre, Plin. = Squales, illuvies, Var.

Scabrĭtia, æ; f. Plin. τραχύτης. Roughness, ruggedness, rustiness, filthiness, manginess, scabbiness, Col.

Scabrities, ei; f. Col. idem.

Scabro, ōnis; m. Ulp. à dentium scabritie. A sloven, who never washeth his mouth, nor cleanseth his teeth, but lets them be all furr'd over with filth, so that his breath stinks. Al. leg. Strabo, sed malè.

Scabrōsus, a, um; Plin. τραχώδης. Rusty, rough, filthy.

Scabrum, i; n. Plin. τὸ τραχὺ. Roughness, ruggedness.

Scaccārium, ii; n. Camd. The Court of Exchequer.

Scæna, vett. imitati Æoles, qui pro Σκαὶ Σκανὰ dicunt, Prisc. V. Scena.

Scæptrum, vett. vid. Sceptrum.

Scæva, æ; f. à Σκαιὸς, quod à Σκάζω claudico: Σκαία, ἀριστερὰ χειρ, Gl. Phil. lit. pro augurio seu bono seu malo, Plaut. The left hand: also luck good or bad, a sign or token.

Scæva, æ; m. Ulp. qui scævâ, i. sinistrâ manu utitur pro dextra; cujus dim. Scævola. A left handed man, who useth his left hand instead of his right.

Scævitas, ātis; f. Gell. Σκαιότης. Unluckiness, perverseness, Col.

Scævus, a, um; Gell. à gr. Σκαιὸς. Scævum, bonum; quòd quæ sinistra sunt, bona auspicia existimantur. Σκαιὸς. שְׂמֹאל. Left, sinister, not right: also good or lucky, Var. or unlucky, untoward, Fest. & Don. Scævi ominis mulier, G. ex Apul. An unlucky woman, who hath buried one husband already.

Scăla, æ; f. Cic. à gr. σκάλις, vel heb. סֻלָּם, Canin. à scandendo, Isid. Scala item poculi genus, Paul. Diac. vox Gothica. κλίμαξ, ἀναβαθρον. סֻלָּם. A ladder, a pair of stairs, greeses: also the Gamut or Scale in Musick: also a cup made of a skull, Diac. q. d. a shell to drink out of. Muros scalis ascendere, Vir. To scale the walls.

Scālāris, re; adj. Of a ladder. Scalaris forma, Vitr. A leaning one way in ladder-wise.

* Scălēnus, a, um; Auson. Σκαληνὸς, Hermol. scalarium vertit. A figure, the three sides whereof are unequal.

Scalmus, mi; m. Cic. Σκαλμὸς. A round piece of wood, whereat the oars hang by a loop of leather. = Struppus, Vitr.

Scalpellum; n. dim. à Scalprum, Cic. κοπίδιον, γλυπτοτόμιον, Cyrill. A pen-knife, or instrument that Surgeons use to let blood with, a launcet.

Scalpellus, i; m. dim. à Scalper, Cels. idem.

Scalper, ri; m. Cels. à Scalpo. ὀγκωτὸς, τὸ γλυφίον. A graving tool, a launcet, any kind of iron instrument to make incision, to scrape or grave with or to cut, to shave or pare with.

SCALPO, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. Cic. à σγλάφω Æol. pro γλάφω, per metath. scalpo, ut à Cγλύφω pro γλύφω sculpo. al. à Σκάλλω fodio, unde τὰ ὦτὰ Σκαλεῖον aures scalpere, Arist. κνάω, κνίζω, γλύφω. גָּרַד. To scratch, to scrape, to claw, to rake, to grave in metal or stone, &c. to ingrave, to carve. חָקַק. Scalpuntur ea, quæ eminentes habent figuras; Sculpuntur quæ depressas.

Scalprātus, a, um; Col. Wrought or cut with Scalprum, or made in fashion of a graving tool.

Scalprum, pri; n. à scalpo; κολαπτὴρ. A graving tool, an instrument wherewith a thing is scraped. Scalprum librarium, Suet. A pen-knife; sutorium, Hor. A paring-knife; fabrile, Liv. A Carpenters chipping axe; chirurgicum, Cels. A launcet.

Scalptor, ōris; m. verb. Plin. γλυπτὴς, κολαπτὴρ. A graver, a cutter in metal, a scratcher, an etcher.

Scalptūra, æ; f. Plin. γλυφὴ. פִּתּוּחַ. A graving or carving in metal or stone, a cutting, a clawing.

Scalptūrātus, a, um; Plin. ποικίλως διηχρυσωμένος. Graven, carved, wrought.

Scalptūrio, is, īvi; Plaut. To begin, or be ready to scratch or claw.

Scalptūro, as; unde Scalpturatus, Plin. γλύφω. To engrave.

Scalptus, a, um; part. à Scalpor, Cic. γλυφεὶς. Engraved, carved, wrought or graven, cut with a graving tool.

† Scalprillum, li; n. R. ex Vitr. A little chisel.

† Scalpūrigo, ĭnis; f. Solin. ἀπνισμός. A clawing, a scratching.

† Scalpūrio, is, īvi; Non. κνίζω. To scratch, to scrape.

† Scămāris; m. Latrones, quos vulgus Scamares appell. Eugipp.

† Scamarus, i; m. Jornand. idem.

Scambus, a, um; Suet. Σκαμβὸς. Bow-leg'd, that goes shambling or shawling. = Vatia, valgus, V.

Scămellum, i; n. dim. à Scamnum, Apul. id. quod Scamellum.

Scămillum, li; n. dim. à Scammum; Prisc. ex Apul. ὑποπόδιον. A foot-stool, a little bench.

† Scamillus, i; m. Vitr. idem.

* Scamma, ātis; n. Tert. Σκάμμα, i. κανὼν. locus in arenâ, ubi athletæ luctantur. The pit of the Stage, where the Wrestlers played their prizes. De scammate egredi, Hier. ἐκβαίνειν τοῦ ἀγωνίσματος.

Scammōnia, æ; f. Plin. Σκαμμωνία, à Σκάπτω, quia intestina fodit acrimoniâ suâ; unde & Acridia latinè dic. Isid. An herb of many uses in Physick; Scammony.

Scammōnium, ii; n. Plin. Σκαμμώνιον. The juice of Scammony.

Scamnātus, a, um; qu. per scamma divisus. Done with benches one by another. Scamnatus ager, Aggen. Urbic. A field running in length from West to East: as Strigatus was from North to South.

† Scamnellum, i; n. dim. à Scamnum, Prisc.

Scamnum, ni; n. Cic. à scandendo, Var. al. à gr. Σκάμνον, ap. Isocr. βάθρον, ὑπαπόδιον. בֶּבֶשׁ. A bench or form, Ovid. a step or greece to go up to a bed, Var. also a balk untilled between two furrows, Plin. boughs of trees whereby the vine climbeth, Plin. also a shelf in the sea. = Subsellium, Juv. Int.

* Scandalizo, as; Bibl. Σκανδαλίζω. To offend, to scandalize.

Scandălum, li; n. Eccl. gr. Σκάνδαλον, i. offendiculum, à Σκάζω claudico, fut. 2. Σκαδῶ, quòd claudicare euntem facit: πρόσκομμα. מִכְשׁוֹל. A scandal, a stumbling-block, an offence.

† Scandella, æ; f. Papin. A moiety divided amongst many, a scantling.

Scandendus, a, um; part. Propert. To be climbed or got up into.

Scandiāna mala. A kind of apple called Winter-goldings.

* Scandix, icis; f. Plin. 21. 15. Σκάνδιξ. Shepherds needle, wild Chervil, Storks bill, an herb.

SCANDO, is, ĕre; di, sum; Cic. à Σκάζω, fut. 2. Σκαδῶ scando, ut à κάβω cumbo, &c. à נָסַק, per metath. Becm. ἀναβαίνω, ὑπερβαίνω. עָלָה. To mount, to climb, to get up: also to scan a verse, Gram. Scandere equum, Vir. To leap on horse-back; in aggerem, Liv. To climb up the rampire.

Scandor, ĕris; pass. Plin.

Scandŭla, æ; f. Plin. σκάδιξ, à scando; quòd alia aliam scandat: al. à Scindendo, quasi scindula, Perot. A slate, a lath, a shingle of wood serving instead of tiles to cover houses withal.

Scandŭlāca, æ; f. à Scando, herba frugibus inimica, quòd eas, velut hedera, implicando scandit & necat, Fest. ἀκάνθη. A weed that windeth about corn, Cheke-weed, Kope-weed or Weed-bind. = Convolvulus.

Scandŭlāris, re; adj. Apul. Covered with shingles or wooden slates. Al. leg. Scindularis.

Scandŭlārius, ii; m. Bud. qui ædes scandulis tegit. A maker of shingles to cover houses or Chappels with; ὁ τίλεις, a slater or shingler.

Scansilis, le; Plin. σκαπτὸς. That which may be climbed or gone up.

Scansio, ōnis; f. A climbing up.

Scansōrius, a, um; scandendi vim habens: item per quod scanditur, Turneb. Scansoria machina, Vitr. An engine to scale with.

Scantiāna poma, à Scantio inventore dicta, quæ Cato tradit in doliis optimè condi, Plin. 14. 4. Scantiana uva, quæ & Amminea major, Var.

Scăpha, æ; f. gr. Σκάφη. à Σκάπτω, i. excavo; quòd primùm ex prægrandi arbore excavatâ fieret. סְפִינָה. A skiff, a cock-boat, a ship-boat made of a whole tree.

* Scăphe, es; f. Vitr. Σκάφη.

Scăphĭsterium, ii; n. Cæl. Rhod. 8. 3. Σκαφισήριον. Cerd. Σκαφίον, ex Σκαφή. A fan or riddle.

Scăphium, ii; n. Juv. Σκαφίον, à Σκάπτω, i. excavo. it. poculi genus, Plaut. à scapha similitudine. A chamber-pot or close-stool for women, Mart. also a cup, like a Boat, Plaut. a vessel to drink in; a dial, a kind of vessel hollow like a bason, in the midst whereof a pin or wyer being pricked, did shew what was a clock, G. ex Jun. ✠ Scaphium, vas muliebre; Lasanum, virile; Gif.

† Scăphus, phi; m. Cæl. Rhod. Σκάφος, cavitas; à Σκάπτω fodre. The hollow of the ear.

† Scăpĭlium, ii; n. antiq. Σκάπολον. The space between the shoulders: also the back.

† Scapillum Antiqui Scabillum appell. R. ex Tert. Scaur.

† Scapreo, per Scabreo; M. ex Enn.

Scaptensŭla, æ; f. Lucr. sive Scaptesŭla, Turn. Σκαπτησύλη. ex Σκάπτω, vel ex Σκαφὴ, & Insula: locus in Macedoniâ, ubi argentum fodi solebat: al. qu. Σκαπτὴ σύλη, quòd ibi spolia effossa. A mine wherein metal is digged.

Scăpŭla, æ; f. Plaut. qu. scapbula, ob cavitatem; M. à Σκάπτω cavo, al. à scandendo, Isid. quòd scandat palam, Pap. al. à scapus; al. qu. spathula ob similit. ὠμοπλάτη. חַפָּה. The hinder part of the shoulders, the shoulder-blade: also the shoulders, Var.

Scăpŭlāris, re; adj. ὠμικός, ad scapulas pertinens. Of or belonging to the shoulder-blades. Scapularis servus, Plaut. cujus scapulæ sæpè flagra suscipienda demandantur, quique tergum habet assiduis verberibus lividum. Scapularis vestis, quæ scapulas tantùm tegit, ἀμφίς. A mantle to throw over the shoulders.

Scăpus, i; m. Plin. gr. σκῆπος, vannus, caulis rectus in columnæ modum: à Σκάπτω fodio; al. à Σκήπτω innitor, quòd basi innitatur, Scal. al. à שְׁבָט baculus, sceptrum, Becm. The upright stalk or stem of an herb, καυλὸς ὀρθοστατούμενος. Διάστημα. The shaft or shank of a pillar between the Chapiter and the Pedestal, Vitr. The shank of a candlestick between the foot and the nose of it, Plin. The chief post of a gate, whereby it is turned into a socket above and beneath, as they use in some places, Id. A ream or quire of paper, Plin. γλῶττα ὑπερτικὴ. The tongue of a ballance, Fest. The spindle or main piece of work whereabout winding stairs do run, Vitr. the post or pillar of a stair-case. The yarn-beam which in weaving makes a noise, Lucr. καυλὸς, κάλαμος, μίτρα, σωλήν. A knap wherein seeds are contained, as a poppy hath; the green skin of a filbert, acorn, &c. a bean-stalk, Plin. the stalk of a plumb or apple: also Virile membrum, Vir.

† Scara, æ; f. Amm. 4. 36. i. e. turma vel cuneus, vox Germ. A troop or company of souldiers.

Scărăbæus, æi; m. Plin. σκάραβος, à σκέρβω, i. vermis in ligni aridi; taurum vertit Gaza; ut & Galli ob cornua cervos volantes vocant. Est & Σκαραβὸς ap. Steph. al. à scabritie. The black fly called a Beetle; a May-bug, a Chafer.

* Scaramangis, is; f. Diac. Σκαραμαγγάριον, Plin. A kind of garment to wear over a coat of male.

Scaria; arbuscula spinosa, rubrum pomum affert, gr. est; Pap. A kind of tree.

Scarĭfĭcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. σχάσμα. A cutting, a lancing, a scarifying: also the opening of the bark of a tree, where it is bigg-bound.

Scarĭfĭcātus, a, um; part. Plin. Scarified, rubbed.

Scarĭfico, as; act. Plin. rect. Scarifo, Salm. à Σκαριφάομαι vel Σκαριφάω, σκαρεύω, i. ξύω, Σκάπτω, γλύφω, Hesych. hinc Σκάριφος stylus, scalpellum; addito verbo facio fit Scarifico, Perot. κατασχίζω, κατανύζω, κατασχάζω. To lance or open a sore, to scarifie, to make incisions, that the blood or humour may easier come out.

Scarifio, Scrib. Larg. To be scarified.

† Scariobăllum, li; n. R. ex Vett. A cog in a mill-wheel.

* Scarites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 11. gemma quæ Scari piscis colorem refert: Σκαρίτης. A precious stone.

† Scarreo, ant. Jos. Scal. i. scaber sum. fort. à σκάρος vel σκάρος, à squammarum piscium similit. Fest. To be rough.

† Scarrōsus, a, um; Lucil. i. scaber, à Scarreo. Al. leg. Squarrosus. Rough, rugged.

Scārus, ri; m. Hor. Σκάρος, à Σκάρω, i. νέμομαι depascor. A fish that feeds on herbs and chews the cud like a beast. Some think it to be a Gulls-head or Golden-eye; a scare.

Scātĕbra, æ; f. Vir. locus unde scatet aqua. βλυσμὸς, πηγὴ. מַבּוּעַ. The boiling, bubling or rising up of water out of a spring, a spring, a source, a bourn.

† Scatebro, as; i. scateo. Col. πηγάζω. To abound.

Scātens; part. Hor. Abou[illegible]

SCATEO, es, ui, ēre; [illegible]t. ab heb. שׁוּט, discurrere, vel Chal. שׁוּף effundere. al. à σκάζω, ut sit [illegible]nis: à Scando, Perot. Sanè à Σκάζω subsilio, unde scando; fut. 2. σκασῶ, Ion. σκασέω. Puto pot. esse à Σκαθέω scateo, ut à πτύω pteo. al. à Σκάπτω fodio, quòd fodiendo scateant aquæ: βρύω, βλύζω, ἀναβλύζω. נָבַע. To run or burst out as water out of a narrow place, to have great plenty, or to be full, to abound or overflow. Cum Abl. Plin. vel Gen. Gell.

Scātesco, is; Oros. To begin to flow.

Scātinia lex; Juv. quæ præposteræ veneris usum coercebat, ità dict. à Scatinio latore. A law against buggery.

† Scātor, ōris; id. quod Scateo, Plaut.

Scātŭries, ei; f. Perot. Abundance.

Scātŭrigĭnōsus, a, um; Col. πολυπήγης, ὑπερβλύζων. Full of springs or sources, that bursteth out or runneth over.

Scātŭrigo, ĭnis; f. Col. à Scaturio: πήγη, πηγάζω, πηγή. מְקוֹר. A spring, the rising up of water, a source.

Scātŭrio, is, ivi, ire; à Scateo, Col. βλύζω, πηγάζω, βρύω. נָבַע. To stream or gush out, to run over or abroad, to flow abroad plentifully. Solum scaturit fontibus, Col. Is full of springs, Scrib. & Scaturrio, vett. ll.

† Scătŭrizo, as; antiq. To desire to flow out.

Scauripĕda; R. ex Var. ex Scaurus & Pes: idem quod Scaurus.

Scaurus, ri; m. Hor. cui tali extantes; Σκαῦρος, à σκαίρω salio, per antiphr. vel à Σκάω seu σκάζω claudico: Σκαμβὸς, σκελλίαυρος, Gl. Phil. He that hath great ancles bunching out, that he cannot walk fast, stump or club-footed.

* Scazon, ontis; m. Gram. Σκάζων, claudicans; unde pro versu Iambico, in quo ultimus pes est Spondæus, cujus respectu claudicare dicitur, ob tardum pedis ultimi incessum. A kind of an Iambick verse, that hath a Spondee in the last foot.

† Scedicus, a, um; adj. R. ex Apul. Not laboured.

Scĕlĕrātè; adv. Cic. παρανόμως, ἀνοσίως. Wickedly, lewdly.

Scĕlĕrātus, a, um; part. μιαιφόνος. Defiled, polluted. Adj. id. quod Scelestus, Cic. μιαρὸς, παράνομος, πανάθλιος. רָשָׁע. Ungodly, wicked, cursed, unnatural; naughty, lewd, mischievous, plaguy, desperate, cruel, hurtful, sharp and nipping, Vir. biting, Plaut. ✠ Campus sceleratus, Liv. A field wherein the Nuns of Vesta were buried alive for incontinence. Herba scelerata, Jun. Crowfoot.

† Scĕlĕritas, ātis; f. Dig. Wickedness.

Scĕlĕro, as; act. Vir. à Scelus. מִחֵל. To pollute or defile.

Scĕlĕrōsè; adv. Perot. μοχθηρῶς. Cursedly, or abominably.

Scĕlĕrōsus, a, um; Ter. μιαρὸς, μοχθηρὸς, μυσαρὸς, ἐπάρατος. עָוֹן. Full of mischief and wickedness, roguish, full of roguery.

Scĕlestè; adv. Cic. ἀνοσίως, πονηρῶς. Mischievously, wickedly.

Scĕlestus, a, um; à Scelus, Cic. μοχθηρὸς, κατάρατος. רָשָׁע. Wicked, ungracious, mischievous, naughty, roguish, unhappy, rascally. = Improbus, Plaut. nefarius, Cic. impius, Liv.

* Scĕlĕtos, i; m. Medic. σκελετὸς, à ἰσ à σκέλλω sicco. A skeleton, a carkass, an Anatomy.

* Sceloturbe, es; f. Plin. σκελοτύρβη, i. crurum turbatio, i. dissolutio. The scurvy, scorby disease or scorbute. = Scorbutus, stomacace.

SCELUS, ĕris; n. Cic. à σκολιὸς obliquus, M. i. pravus, vel à σκολὸς perversus, Hes. unde Batavis skellum: al. à סָכַל stultitia. Scelus quandoque pro Scelesto. μοχθηρία, ἀνοσιουργία. רֶשַׁע. Wickedness, lewdness, villany, mischief, a mischievous deed, a naughty act; a desperate enterprise: also a naughty and lewd fellow, Ter. a rascal, a villain, a gallows, a rogue. ✠ Facinus, vi aut malitiâ; Flagitium libidine vel nequitiâ; Scelus utroque modo committitur; Popma.

† Scema, æ; f. Apul. id. quod Schema.

Scēna, æ; f. gr. σκηνὴ, à שָׁכַן habitare. al. à σκιὰ umbra, ut sit propr. umbraculum; ità Serv. σκηνὴ. סֻכָּה. A scene, a scaffold or stage, where players are acted; a bower or arbour, a shadowing place, Vir. a pavilion: also shew or state, Suet. ✠ Servire scenæ, Cic. To serve the time.

* Scēnālis,

Scēnālis, le; Lucr. Of or belonging to a ſtage.

Scēnārius, a, um; idem. Scenarius artifex, Amm. An Actor or Stage-player.

Scēnātilis, & Scenaticus, Var. id. quod Scenicus.

Scēnicē; adv. Quint. σκηνικῶς. Like players on a ſtage.

Scēnicus, a, um; Cic. σκηνικός. Of or belonging to a ſcaffold or ſtage, or to play in Comedies.

Scēnicus, ci; m. Suet. ὑποκριτής. A player of Comedies or Interludes upon the ſcaffolds; an Actor upon a ſtage.

Scēnites, æ; m. Amm. σκηνίτης, in tentoriis habitans. One who lives in tents.

* Scēnographia, æ; f. Vitr. σκηνογραφία. The repreſentation of a ſcene; the draught of a whole houſe, front, ſides and all. Al. leg. Sciographia. ☞ Orthographia, frontis; Ichnographia, areæ; Scenographia, univerſi certi deformatio, Hermol.

Scēnŏpēgia, æ; f. σκηνοπηγία, i. feſtum tabernaculorum: à σκηνὴ ſcena & πήγνυμι figo. חַג הַסֻּכּוֹת. The feaſt of Tabernacles kept by the Jews in memory of their travels through the wilderneſs, where they lived forty years together in tents.

† Scenſa, pro Cœna, Sabini, Feſt. A ſupper.

Scepinus, ni; m. G. ex Plin. A ſea-fiſh.

* Sceptica, æ; f. σκεπτικὴ. philoſophorum quorundam ſecta. ἀπὸ τῆ σκέπτεσθαι, conſiderare, ſpeculari. The Sceptick philoſophy.

Scepticus, a, um; Gell. σκεπτικὸς, ſpeculativus. The Sceptick, a ſeeker in philoſophy.

* Sceptos, i; m. Apul. σκηπτὸς. A kind of lightning daſhed to the ground, with great force: alſo a Meteor falling out of the clouds.

Sceptrifer, a, um; Ovid. σκηπτροφόρος. That beareth a Scepter or Mace.

Sceptrum, tri; n. Cic. gr. σκῆπτρον, i. baculus, ſcipio: ἀπὸ τῆ σκήπτεσθαι. ab innitendo; & eſt regiæ dignitatis ſymbolum. שֵׁבֶט. A Princes or Kings Scepter; a Mace, a commanding ſtaff: alſo rule, government, Ovid. ♀ Sceptrum morionis, Jun. Water-torch or Cats-tail.

* Sceptuchus, chi; m. Tac. σκηπτοῦχος. One holding or bearing a Scepter.

† Schaſtēria; Turn. ex Plaut. ubi vulgò leg. Caſteria. σκαστήρια, H[illegible]. A place in the ſhip, where they lay their oars: alſo the tricker of a gun, M[illegible]p in organs, Caſaub.

Schēda, æ; f. Cic. gr. σχέδη, ἀπὸ τῆ σχίζειν. al. à σχόλιον illi[illegible]unde σχέδιον quicquid ſubitò fit; ut ſi[illegible]oppr. charta, in quâ ſcribimus, ſi quid ex tempore venerit in mentem; V. A ſheet or piece of paper or parchment in which we write ex tempore, a ſcroll; a leaf, Quint. a bill, Bud.

Schedia, æ; f. Ulp. σχεδία. ſc. ναῦς, Euſt. ratis tumultuaria, & ſubitò compacta. A ſhip made ſuddenly for a ſhift; a raft with planks and beams pinned together to carry goods on after a wrack at ſea, Feſt. a boat or little ſhip.

* Schediaſma, ătis; n. Craſ. σχεδίασμα. Waſte-paper: alſo any thing done in haſte.

* Schēdicus, a, um; Apul. σχέδιος. Done ſuddenly or in haſte, extemporary.

* Schedion, ii; n. Bud. σχέδιον. A bridge made in haſte for a time.

* Schēdium, ii; n. Auſon. σχέδιον. Poema ſubitum & inconditum, Feſt. An extemporary Poem made in haſt without any care or pains.

Schēdŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. σχεδίδιον. A little ſcroll, a leaf of paper, a bill, a ſchedule.

* Schēma, ătis; n. Plin. σχῆμα habitus, à χέω, i. ἴχω habeo; it. figura, Rhet. A ſcheme, an habit, a figure, a draught.

† Schēma, æ; f. Suet. A faſhion or poſture: alſo an habit, dreſs or garb, Plaut. a livery.

† Schēmătum, i; n. Priſc. id. quod ſchema.

* Schinădeus, Plin. A ſea-fiſh. R.

* Schiblŏleth, שִׁבֹּלֶת: i. ſpica. Dic ergo Schibboleth, & dixit Sibboleth, Jud. 12. 6. An ear of corn.

* Schidia, ōrum; n. Vitr. χίδια, à σχίζω findo. עֵלִים. Chips that Carpenters make, ſpelts of wood.

* Schidius, a, um; Tædæ ſchidiæ, Vitr. χίδιος. Cleft.

* Schiſma, ătis; n. Eccl. χίσμα, i. ſciſſura, à χίζω ſcindo. מְחִלֹקֶת. A rent, a diviſion in the Church, Schiſm.

† Schiſmătico, as; R. ex Don. To divide or ſever.

Schiſmăticus, a, um; adj. Bud. χισματικὸς. Schiſmatical.

* Schiſton, i; n. Plin. 28. 9. χισὸν ſc. γάλα, i. fiſſum lac. The curds of milk made with vinegar: wild curds, when the whey parts from the milk.

* Schiſtos, i; f. Plin. 36. 20. χιστὸς, i. fiſſilis. A ſtone of a Saffron colour eaſie to be cleft into thin plates; ſomewhat like the blood-ſtone.

Schiſtum, i; n. Concreti aluminis unum genus Schiſtum appellant Græci, in capillamenta quædam caneſcentia dehiſcens, Plin. A kind of Alum, or Plume Alum, as ſome think.

* Schiſtus, a, um; χιστὸς, i. fiſſilis. Schiſta ova, Plin. 29. 3. When they are all yolky after three dayes ſitting.

Schœnĭcŭla, æ; f. Plaut. al. Schœnicola, qu. olens ſchœnum, i. unguentum à ſchœno factum; Voſ. quod erat peſſimi generis, Feſt. quam alibi Schœno delibutam dicit. A common painted or dawbed whore. V. Scœnicula.

* Schœnŏbates, æ; m. Juv. χοινοβάτης, i. funambulus. A dancer upon ropes, a tumbler.

* Schœnŏbătica, æ; f. Cæl. ad Cic. χοινοβατικὴ τέχνη. The art of dancing upon ropes.

* Schœnŏbătĭcus, a, um; R. ex Celſ. χοινοβατικὸς. Belonging to one that danceth upon a cord.

* Schœnŏprāſum, i; n. Dod. χοινόπρασον, q. d. juncetum porrum. Porret or cives.

* Schœnos, ni; m. Col. χοῖνος juncus; Spec. juncus odoratus, Scrib. Larg. ſign. & funem. A ruſh, a bulruſh: alſo a ſpace [illegible] containing ſixty, or [illegible] alſo a cor[illegible]be ropes uſed.

Schœnu[illegible]ungu[illegible]entum, Var. [illegible] facien[illegible] eſt peſſimi generis, Feſt. A cheap ſorry ointment made of juyce rufhes, which whores uſed to dawb themſelves with, to make them leſs ſtinking.

Schŏla, æ; f. Cic. χολὴ, otium, literarum putà. σχολαστήριον, γυμνάσιον, χολὴ. A School or Colledge: alſo the ſect and opinion of any one of the Philoſophers; a diſputation or conference between learned men, Cic. Alſo a place to ſtand and look about one in the bath, Vitr. a gallery or walking place, wherein people uſed to meet for diſcourſe, Plin. = Ludus.

Schŏlarcha, æ; m. Hul. σχολάρχης, qui σχολῆς ἄρχει. A Schoolmaſter.

Schŏlāris, re; adj. Hier. σχολαστικὸς, quod ad ſcholam pertinet. Belonging to a ſchool.

Schŏlāris, is; m. A ſcholar, a ſtudent.

Schŏlaſtĭcē; adv. Scholar-like.

Schŏlaſtĭcus, a, um; Quint. σχολαστικὸς, ad ſcholam pertinens. Of or belonging to a ſcholar or ſchool, ſcholaſtical; ſcholar-like; eloquent, well-ſpoken, Aug. one who goes to ſchool, Plin. = Diſertus, Salv.

Schŏlaſtĭcus, ci; m. Plin. jun. A pleader of feigned controverſies; a true-bred or thorough-paced ſcholar, Aug. an excellent Orator, Sulp. Sev. alſo an Advocate or Proctour, a pleader, Cod. alſo a Schoolman; properly a young ſtudent that is ſtill at ſchool, Aug.

* Schŏliaſtes, æ; m. σχολιαστὴς, qui ſcholia ſcribit. A Scholiaſt or Commentator or Expoſitor.

† Schŏlĭcus, a, um; Gell. 4. 1. Scholaſtick, trifling.

* Schŏlium, ii; n. & Schŏlion, Cic. σχόλιον, gloſſema, interpretamentum; à σχολὴ, i. doctrina ſcholaſtica, vel quòd in ſchola ſoleat tradi. A gloſs, a compendious Expoſition, a ſhort Comment.

† Schytānum, ni; n. R. ex Plin. A kind of drug or ſyze that maketh Gold-ſolder take colour.

† Sciæna, æ; f. Plin. A ſea-fiſh. R.

* Sciagrăphia, æ; f. Jun. σκιαγραφία, ex σκιὰ umbra, & γράφω ſcribo; qu. adumbrata deſcriptio. Apud Vitr. leg. & Scenographia. A plat-form or a deſcription of the whole frame; the firſt rude draught of a thing, a Profile.

* Sciamăchia, æ; f. Gell. σκιαμαχία, vel Sciomachia; umbratilis pugna, ex σκιὰ umbra, & μάχη pugna. A counterfeit fighting: alſo a privy exerciſe.

* Sciātheras, æ; m. σκιαθήρας, Vitr. 1. 6. indagator umbræ, ut ipſe exp. The pin of a dyal, that which with its ſhadow ſheweth the hours.

* Sciathĕricus, a, um; unde Sciathericum horologium, Plin. 2. 76. ὡρολογεῖον σκιαθηρικόν. A Sun-dyal ſet on a wall. = Solarium, Cic.

* Sciātĭca, æ; f. Med. σκιατικὴ, ſcil. νόσος dolor ſciaticus. A diſeaſe in the hips. V. Iſchias.

† Sciāticus, a, um; Veget. corr. ex ἰσχιαδικὸς. Troubled with the Sciatica or hip-gout.

Scibilis, le; adj. Plaut. γνωστὸς, γνώσιμος. That may be known.

† Scibĭtur, Plaut. It ſhall be known.

† Scibo, pro Sciam, Ter.

Scibŏnes, telorum genus, Gell. 10. 20.

Sciens, tis; part. & adj. Cic. ἐπιστήμων, εἰδὼς. Knowing, witting, cunning, ſkilful; for the nonce. Sciens citharæ, Hor.

Scienter; adv. ἐπιστημόνως, εἰδημόνως. Knowingly, ſkilfully, wittingly; on ſet purpoſe, Plin. jun. = Peritè, Cic.

Scientia, æ; f. ידע. Scicuce, cunning, skill, knowledge. = Cognitio, disciplina, Cic. ✠ Inscientia, ignoratio, Id.

Scientior, us; comp. Cic. More knowing.

Scientissimè; adv. superl. Cic. Most skilfully.

Scientissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Very knowing or skilful.

Scientius; adv. comp. Cic. More knowingly.

Scilicet; adv. Cic. i. scire licet: δηλονότι, ἐμοὶ δοκεῖν, ἄρα. That is to say, to wit, truly, doubtless, yea marry.

Scilla, æ; f. Plin. gr. σκίλλα. A kind of herb called the Sea-Onyon, or Sea-leek, a squill: also a Shrimp, a Prawn.

Scillinus, a, um; Plin. σκιλλινός. Of or belonging to the Sea-Onion, or wherein it is steeped.

*Scillites, æ; m. Col. σκιλλίτης, ex scillâ præparatus. A kind of wine wherein Sea-onyon is steeped or soaked. Scillites acetum, Plin. Vineger of squills.

Scilliticus, a, um; Col. σκιλλιτικός. Infused with squills.

Scillitus, a, um; Aus. Made of squills.

*Scimpŏdion, ii; n. Gell. σκιμπόδιον, i. κλινίδιον μονοκόιτιον, Hesych. dim. à σκίμπους. A little couch, bench, or low bed to lye on, that held but one at table.

Scin'. pro Scisne? Do you know?

Scincus, i; m. Plin. gr. σκίγκος. corr. Stincus. A kind of land-Crocodile or Newt about the River Nile.

Scindens; part. Sil. Cutting, slashing.

SCINDO, is, ĕre; scĭdi, issum; act. à σκίζω, fut. 2. σχίσω, inserto n, scindo. διασχίζω. קרע. To cut, to rend, to split, to cleave, to tear, to divide, to pull in pieces; to till, to plow: also to refresh, to renew. Penulam scindere, Cic. To be earnest with one to stay.

Scindor, ĕris, issus; pass. Vir. To be divided or cleft.

Scindŭla, æ; f. Vitr. à Scindo, ut & gr. σχίδαξ, materia quævis assulatim secta. A shingle or scindle to cover houses with in stead of tile. Scrib. & Scandula.

Scindŭlāri, re; adj. Apul. Covered with shingles or scindles. Al. Scandularis.

Scintilla, æ; f. Vir. igniculus propriè qui è silice cum cæditur exire solet. à Scindo, qu. scindula, videtur enim qu. scindi flammula dum scintilla excutitur; al. à gr. σπινθὴρ, qu. spintilla: σπινθὴρ, λαμπηδών. שביב. A spark of fire, a sparkle.

Scintillātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. σπινθηρισμός. A sparkling up of fire, a sprinkling up of new wine leaping in the cup.

Scintillo, as; neut. Plin. σπινθηρίζω. רקק. To sparkle.

Scintillŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. σπινθηρίδιον. A little spark.

† Scinyps, yphis; m. plur. Scinyphes, Sulpit. גנים, Exod. 8. al. corruptè Cinifices, al. Ciniphes, al. Scinipes. gr. σκνῖπες. A kind of gnat.

SCIO, is, ire; ivi, tum; act. ab ἴσκω, i. ἴσημι, per metath. ab heb. שערה imaginari, videre, M. Fort. à σχέω, habeo, teneo. εἴδω, ἐπίσταμαι, γινώσκω. ידע. To know, to be acquainted with, to be perfect in, to ordain, order, decree, or appoint, Liv. Scire fidibus, Ter. To have skill or to play well upon the harpsicols.

Scior, iris; pass. Cic.

Sciographĭa, æ; f. Hermol. σκιογραφία. A description of the whole frame of a building with the conveyance of every room. Scrib. & Sciagraphia.

Sciŏlus, a, um; Plaut. dim. à Scius: One who thinks he knows more than he does, a Sciolist, a smatterer in any knowledge.

*Sciŏmantia, æ; f. Comm. Hor. σκιομαντεία. μαντεία διὰ σκιᾶς. The calling up of ghosts by Magick.

* Sciŏpŏdes, um; m. pl. Plin. σκιόποδες. People of Ethiopia, who in hot weather cover themselves with the shade of their feet.

* Sciotericon, sc. horologium, Plin. σκιοθηρικόν. A Sun-dyal.

*Sciothericus, a, um; Plin. σκιοθηρικός. Vid. Sciathericus.

Scipio, ōnis; m. Liv. i. baculus. gr. σκίπων, βακτηρία, Hes. à σκήπτω innitor (unde σκίπων, id.) quod & σκίμπτω & σκίμπω leg. σκήπτων, ράβδος. משען. A walking-staff, a cudgel; a crutch: also the stalk of a Graje, Col. corr. pro Scopio.

* Scirōma, ătis; n. Plin. σκίρωμα, rect. σκίῤῥωμα. An Escbar, a scarr; the hardness of any part, as liver, &c. Rect. Scirrhoma.

Sciron, ōnis; m. Plin. A North-west wind peculiar to the Athenians.

Scirpea, æ; f. Ovid. σφυρίς. A dung-pot or basket made with rods and rushes.

Scirpētum, ti; n. Plin. A rush-bed.

Scirpeus, a, um; Ovid. σχοινώδης, σπάρτινος. Of or belonging to bulrushes.

Scirpices; m. R. ex Col. Instruments made with teeth like a saw, which being drawn with Oxen, pluck up by the roots flags and great weeds, growing in meadows.

Scirpĭcŭla, æ; f. Var. δράπανον, σφηνίον. A little book wherewith rushes be cut: also used in pruning of vines.

Scirpĭcŭlum, li; n. Col. σπάρτινον σκευάριον. כד. A basket or hamper of rushes or twigs.

Scirpicŭlus, li; m. Var. σπάρτινον. A little Bulrush, a little weed of Bulrushes; a rack-staff in a waggon.

Scirpo, as; Var. χοίνῳ συνδέω. To bind or wind with Bulrushes, or other like things.

Scirpŭla, Plin. A kind of vine. R.

Scirpus, pi; m. Col. id. quod Sirpus, inserto c; fc. à Sirpo; ligo, vincio, colligando implico, ῥοῦλον. ἁλίκη. גומא. A rush without a knot, a bulrush used for mats, weiks of candles, &c. Plin. also a riddle, Gell. ubi rect. leg. Scrupus. ◊ Nodum in scirpo quærere, Prov. ap. Ter. To stumble upon plain ground.

* Schirrhōma, ătis; n. Plin. σκίῤῥωμα, induratus tumor, à σκιῤῥόω induro: idem quod Scirrhus. Hardness in the Liver.

* Scirrhŏphŏrion, ōnis; m. Gaza, σκιῤῥοφόριον, mensis qui Lat. dicitur Majus.

Scirrhus, rhi; m. Cels. σκίῤῥος, tumor induratus. An hard swelling in the skin.

Scisc'itor, āris; depon. qu. frequ. à Scisco. πυνθάνομαι. בקש. To enquire, demand or ask: to watch to the intent to know. Scisc'itari aliquem, Suet. aliquid ex aliquo, Cic.

Scisco, is, ĕre; ivi, itum; à Scio, Cic. ψηφίζομαι. To determine, ordain or decree; to vote, to give his voice or suffrage; to make a law, χειροτονῶ, κυρῶ. ◊ To know, Plaut. εἴδημι.

Scissa in ano, G. ex Cels. scissura. Clefts, chaps about the fundament.

Scissĭlis, le; adj. à Scindo, Cels. σχιστός. That may be cut or cleft: jagged, Apul.

Scissĭo, ōnis; f. verb. Macrob. σχίσις. A cutting, &c.

Scissor, ōris; m. verb. Petr. Arb. A cutter up of meat, a carver: also a taylor.

Scissūra, æ; f. Plin. σχάσμα, σχίσις. A cut, a cleft, a rent or chap; a notch; the parting of a stream.

Scissus, a, um; part. à Scindor, Vir. ἐσχισμένος, πεπασμένος. Cut, rent, broken, parted, chapt, torn, cleft, divided.

Scissus, ûs; m. Var. σχισμός, σχίσις. A cutting, cleaving, renting or tearing.

Scītāmentum, ti; n. Macrob. i. scitum edulium: κόμψωμα, ἁδύλωμα, ἄδυσμα. A kind of meat of a pleasant taste, a delicacy, a kickshaw, a tid-bit: also a grace in discourse.

Scitans, tis; part. Ovid. Asking.

Scitātor, ōris; m. verb. Amm. ἐξεταστής. A searcher or enquirer.

Scitè; adv. ἐπιστημόνως, κόμψως, ἀρίστως. Cunningly, trimly, wittily, daintily, bravely, prettily. = Commodè, venustè, literatè, Cic.

Scito, as; antiq. id. quod Scitor.

Scitor, āris; à Scio, scitum; Vir. ἐξετάζομαι, ἱστορῶ. שאל. To ask, enquire or demand things secret and unknown. Scitari aliquid ab aliquo, Ovid. ex aliquo, Plaut.

Scitŭlè; adv. Apul. Wittily, finely.

Scitŭlus, a, um; dim. à Scitus, Plaut. νηπίαμψ, κομψόστροφος. Pretty pretty, feat, neat, trim, track, gallant, brave.

Scītum, ti; n. Liv. à Scio. ✠ Quod Patricio interrogante, populus suis suffragiis jussit, Scitum populi dicitur: quod verò Tribunus plebis rogavit plebem, id Plebiscium est: ψήφισμα, δόγμα. חקק. An Ordinance, a Statute, a Decree, a Sentence.

Scītūrus, a, um; part. à Scio, Lucan. εἰδήσων. About to know.

Scītus, a, um; à Scio: εἰδήμων. יפה, יפעת. Knowing, skilful; cum Gen. Ovid. wise, witty; feat, pretty, trim; waggish; gay, gallant, jolly, goodly: also fair, beautiful, Ter.

Sciūrus, ri; m. Plin. gr. σκίουρος, ὁ τὰς σκιὰς τὰς ἑαυτοῦ ἀμβυνόμενος caudæ; Dic. & κραμβίουρος, ὑπερσκίουρος. A Squirrel.

Scius, a, um; Prisc. ex Apul. & Pacuv. εἰδώς. That knoweth a thing.

*Sclērōsis, is; f. Macer. σκλήρωσις. A hard tumor or swelling of the spleen.

† Sclŏdia, æ; f. humile plostellum, Turneb. χαμαιλές. A Sled.

Scloppētum, i; n. à Scloppo, sive sono, quem edit, cùm disploditur. A musket or gun, a pot-gun, Jun. αἰσπήτιον.

Scloppus, i; m. Pers. rect. Stloppus; sonus ex subitâ oris aëre distenti displosione. ψυμός. A sound made with puffing of the cheeks: also an harquebuss, an hand-gun, a pistol or snaphance: also a boyes pot-gun, Jun.

Scōbina, æ; f. Plin. à Scobe. ῥίνη. A graver that Bowyers use to shave bows withal; a file wherewith roughness is made smooth, Jun. Also scrapings or filings, Plin.

† Scōbino, as; R. ex Non. To shave off, to wound.

Scōbis, is; f. Col. id. quod Scobs.

Scobs

Scobs, ſcōbis ; f. Hor. ant. in recto Scobis, Plin. qd. Scabis, quia ſcabendo deteritur ; vel quòd ex ſcrobe ſoditur : שֵׁבֶר. Any manner of powder or duſt that cometh of ſawing, filing or boring, ſaw-duſt, pin-duſt.

† Scœlum pro Cælum, Sabini, Meurſ.

† Scœna pro Cœna, Sabini, Meurſ.

† Scœnicula, æ ; f. Plaut. uti legit Meurſ. ut ſit id. quod cænicula, i. lutulenta, ex imitatione Sabinorum, quibus ſcunum pro cænum ; unde Scœniculus, a, um ; ut ab annus, anniculus : vel à Scæno nugario unguento. A dirty drab. Vid. Schœnicula.

† Scœnum pro Cœnum, Sabini, Meurſ.

* Scolēcia, æ ; f. Plin. 34. 12. à vermiculorum ſpecie dict. à σκώληξ vermis, ἰὸς σκωληκοειδής. A kind of ruſt or canker of copper ; verdegriese.

* Scolecion, ii ; n. Plin. 24. 4. σκωλήκιον. חולע A kind of ſcarlet-worm.

Scolius, a, um ; σκολιός. tortuoſus ; pravus. Scolium carmen convivale dict. quòd à primo cœptum, nequaquàm à proximo, ſed ordine flexuoſo, ultro citroque exciperetur, Scal. Scolius pes ; à ſcolio, citharæ genere, cui habiliter comparabatur, Diom. id. qui Amphibrachys.

Scōlōpax, ācis ; Jun. σκολόπαξ. A Wood-cock, a Snite : alſo the Saw-fiſh or Sea-ſnite.

* Scōlōpendra, æ ; f. Plin. σκολοπένδρα. à σκόλοψ, i. palus præacutus, ſive χάραξ, quoniam geſtat ; qu. σκόλοπα ἐν τῇ ἰδρᾷ, i. cornuculum ſeu palum in extremo, inde etiam σκολοπία dicitur ; Multipeda ; גום. A venemous inſect of eight feet with a piked tail ; a caterpillar ; an inſect with many feet : alſo a certain fiſh that caſteth out his bowells, until the hook, wherewith he is taken, be out, which being done, he ſucketh them up again : alſo a long ear-wig, G. ex Jun.

Scōlōpendria, æ ; f. Offic. Harts-tongue.

* Scōlōpendrium, ii ; n. σκολοπένδριον, aliud dict. quòd foliorum inciſuris referat ſcolopendræ pedes, Dioſc. aliud, quòd valeat adversùs ſcolopendræ morſus, Theophr. A kind of herb called Ceterach or Stone-wort, Finger-fern, Milt-wort. = Aſplenium.

* Scolymos, mi ; m. Plin. 22. 22. σκόλυμος. dict. quòd ſpinis ſit σκολιὸς aſper. An Artichoak.

Scombrus, bri ; m. Plin. σκόμβρος. uſurpat pro Stolido, Plaut. A kind of fiſh called Mackrel, or a kind of Tunny : alſo a Dolt or Simpleton, Plaut.

* Scomma, ătis ; n. Macrob. σκῶμμα, à σκώπτω, ex cujus præt. act. ἔσκωφα, Angl. to ſcoff. שְׂנִינָה. A ſcoff, a mock, a jeer, a ſtout.

Scopa, æ ; f. Bibl. A beeſom. Scopa regia, Plin. Butchers-broom ; Milſoil.

Scōpæ, ārum ; f. Plaut. à Scobe, quòd iis ſcobem verrimus, Perot. qu. Scobæ ; vel à σκοπέω, quòd ſcopis ſolent omnes angulos perquirere : σάρον. עִיסִים. A broom or beeſom or bruſh, to ſweep houſes withal : alſo the crops of herbs or trees in handfuls, Plin. Wiſpes of ſtraw, &c. for ſouldiers to ſhoot or fling at ; G. ex Veget. Scopæ ſolutæ, Cic. Looſe reaſonings : alſo an addle-pated fellow.

Scōpārius, ii ; m. Ulp. σαροτής. He that ſweepeth the houſe.

* Scopes, um ; plur. Plin. σκῶπες, qu. habentes σκωπὸν ὄπα, i. infauſtam vocem ; vel à σκώπτω, quòd aucupi illudant geſtum ejus imitantes. A kind of night birds, Homer. or Dotterells, Ariſtot.

Scopētum, ti ; n. Alex. A broom-field, or the place where broom groweth.

† Scopia regia ; D. ex Plin. The herb Milſoil.

Scopio, ōnis ; m. Cato. racemus uvarum cum pediculis, à ſcoparum ſimilit. A cluſter or bunch of grapes with the ſtalks. Corr. leg. Scipio, Col.

Scopo, as ; act. Et ſcopabam ſpiritum meum, Pſal. 77. 7. i. purgabam, Hugo. Al. leg. Scopebam. To ſweep or make clean.

† Scopo, is, ĕre ; σκάπτω, σκάλλω. Et ſcopebam ſpiritum meum, Pſal. 77. 7. h. e. fodiebam quaſi agrum, ut ibi mitterem ſemen doctrinarum Domini, Hier. ſcrutabar, Aug. To dig, to delve ; to ſearch. à σκοπέω σκαφῶ, fodio ; vel à σκοπιὰ diſſipicio.

† Scoptula aperta, M. ex Celſ. opera, Cal. al. Scopula operta, à Scapula, vel Scopulus. ὠμοπλάται. The ſhoulder blades.

Scōpŭla, æ ; f. dim. Col. σκεφίδιον. A little beeſom ; a bruſh that Painters or Pargeters uſe.

Scōpŭlōſus, a, um ; σκοπελώδης. Full of rocks or ſhelves. = Abruptus, Plin. difficilis, Cic.

Scōpŭlus, li ; m. Cæſ. gr. σκόπελος, à σκοπιὰ, quòd inde procul proſpicere poſſumus ; Heſych. ſive ἀπὸ τῆ σκάπτειν, quòd ſit tegumentum navium, Serv. סֶלַע. A high rock, a ſhelf in the ſea, danger. ◊ Alſo a mark to ſhoot at, Suet. dim. à Scopus.

Scōpus, pi ; m. Cic. σκόπος. à σκέπτομαι diſpicio, conſidero ; meta ad quam collimant ſagittarii. מַטָּרָה. A mark, butt or prick that men ſhoot at ; the white : alſo an end or deſign or aim or purpoſe : a ſcope. Scopus uvæ, Var. The buſhy ſtalks that grapes be on in cluſters. Al. leg. Scapus.

Scorbūtus, i ; m. Medic. A diſeaſe called the Scurvy, Scorbute.

† Scordălus, a, um ; Sen. & Petr. Arb. σκόρδαλος, i. ferox, Gl. Iſid. à σκῶρ ſtercus, ut ſign. ſordidus ; unde al. Sordalus, leg. qu. à ſordibus. Al. qu. Scorodalus, à σκόροδον, allium, qui allium obloleat ut loq. Plaut. vel allio paſtus, ut ſolent galli ad pugnam ; unde per metonym. ſign. fortem, audacem, Salm. Naſty, rank, rammiſh ; ſtinking of garlick : alſo a Huff or Hector, ſwaggering.

† Scordiſcārius, ii ; m. Hier. qui ſcordiſcos facit, i. ephippia : ſcordiſcus, ἐφίππιον, Gl. Phil. A Sadler.

* Scordion, ii ; n. σκόροδον, ἀπὸ τῆ σκορόδου ab allio, cujus odorem refert & acrimoniam. An herb, water-Germander.

Scōria, æ ; f. Plin. σκωρία, à σκῶρ ſtercus, qu. ſit ferri ſtercus, ut voc. Scrib. Larg. סִיג. Droſs, the refuſe of metal tryed by the fire : alſo miſery, Vir. = Recrementum, Celſ.

† Scorio, ōnis ; m. Plaut. A fool.

† Scorodinia ; R. ex Dod. Wood-ſage.

* Scorodon, di ; n. σκόροδον, i. allium. Garlick.

Scorpæna, æ ; f. Plin. σκόρπαινα. A kind of fiſh.

Scorpidium, ii ; n. dim. Amm. A little engine to ſhoot poiſon'd arrows or darts with.

Scorpio, ōnis ; m. Vir. id. quod Scorpius. σκορπίος. עַקְרָב. animal terreſtre ; it. piſcis venenatus ; it. machina bellica, Tert. quæ & Manubaliſta, quòd parvis ſubtilibuſque ſpiculis mortem inferat ; Vitr. it. acervus lapidum, termini loco poſitus ; Aut Limit. eò quòd in metam ſive conum deſinat, Scal. ad inſtar caudæ ſcorpii. it. tutulus crinium in puero. it. herba, quæ & Uva marina dic. A Scorpion, having ſeven feet, and ſtriketh with his tail ; a certain Sea-fiſh, Plin. an herb like a Scorpions tail, good againſt the ſting of that venemous creature, Id. A whip or ſcourge, having plummets of lead at the ends of the cords. One of the twelve Signs in the Zodiack, Col. Alſo an engine, a kind of Croſs-bow to ſhoot ſmall envenomed arrows or darts, Liv. = Manubaliſta : alſo a heap of ſtones ſet up for a Meer or Boundary ; Sic. Fl.

Scorpiōnārius, ii ; m. Jun. He that ſhoots in a Croſs-bow.

Scorpionius, a, um ; Plin. σκορπιώδης. Of or belonging to a Scorpion.

* Scorpites, æ ; m. Plin. 37. 11. σκορπίτης. A precious ſtone of the colour or ſhape of a Scorpion.

* Scorpiuron, ri ; n. al. Scorpiurus, σκορπίουρον. herba ſic dict. quòd ſcorpii caudæ ſimilis, Plin. 22. 21. An herb having ſeeds or flowers or leaves like a Scorpions tail, and is good againſt their ſtingings ; Scorpion-wort.

Scorpius, ii ; m. Col. σκορπίος, παρὰ τὸ σκαῶς ἕρπειν, quòd oblique repter ; vel παρὰ τὸ σκορπίζειν τὸν ἰὸν, quòd jaculum ſive venenum ſpargat ; Etymol. עַקְרָב. A Scorpion ; a Sign in the firmament ; an herb like a Scorpions tail, Plin. alſo a boyes buſh of hair. ☏ Scorpius, cincinnus puerorum ; Corymbus, fœminarum ; Crobylus, virorum.

Scortātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. πόρνος. A whoremonger, a wencher, a hunter of harlots.

Scortātus, ûs ; m. Apul. Whoring.

Scortea ; f. Jun. δερματοκάπων, Gl. A leathern pouch : alſo a leather cloak uſed of travellers to keep off the rain, Mart. ſuch as Poſtilions now uſe.

† Scortes, i. pelles teſtium arietinorum, Feſt. The cods of a man or beaſt, or the ſkin of the cods.

Scorteum vocab. pelliceum, in quo ſagittæ reconduntur, ab eo, quòd ex pellibus factum eſt, Feſt. τοξοθήκη. A quiver, a leather-caſe for arrows. Al. leg. Scrautum.

Scorteus, a, um ; Ovid. σκύτινος. Made of hides or ſkins of leather.

† Scortĭcus, ci ; m. R. ex Vitr.

Scortillum, li ; n. Cat. πορνίδιον. A little or young whore, a punk.

Scortor, āris ; dep. Ter. πορνεύειν, ἑταιρίζεσθαι. זָנָה. To go a whoring, to haunt brothells, to wench.

Scortum, ti ; n. Cic. propr. pellis, unde ſcorteus, i. pelliceus ; quippe omnia ex pellibus facta ſcortea appell. Feſt. à σκύτος inſerto r. Hinc meretrix dict. vel quòd ſcortis, i. pellibus olim induta eſſet ; vel quòd iis uteretur pro ſtrato ; vel quòd tanquàm pellicula ſubigatur ; Amm. vel quòd, præſertim, ſi annoſa, ſtantque pelliculæ & corii rugoſa ſit ; vel quòd ſe proſtituens pellem nudam oſtentet ; V. πορνή. זוֹנָה. An harlot, a queen, a common whore, a drab, a Bona roba, a punk ; a Catamite. Properly it is the hide or ſkin of a beaſt, Feſt. τὸ σκύτος. Scorta humecta, Amm. Raw or wet hides.

Scotia, æ ; f. Vitr. σκοτία, à σκότος. tenebræ ; pars cava in ima columna, ità dict. quòd cavitas iſta adſerat obſcuritatem. The rundel in the bottom of the pillar.

* Scōtōma, ātis; n. Herm. σκότωμα, à σκὸτ☉ tenebræ. A giddiness or dizziness, dazzling the sight, that on a sudden one is as it were in the dark, and thinks every thing goes round; a swimming in the head. = Vertigo, Lat.

* Scotomaticus, a, um; Scrib. Larg. σκοτωματικός. He that is troubled with the gid or stagger, or swimming in the head; dizzie.

† Scraceo, es, ēre; Jos. Scal. vox à sono screantis; τὸ χέμπτεσθαι. To hawk, to spit.

† Scractia, æ; f. Var. meretrix, à scrateo, i. χέμπτομαι, screo, Jos. Scal. unde & Turneb. leg. Scracia, qu. screacia. A despicable baggage.

† Scrancia, æ; f. à Screando, Var. An old coughing queen. Vid. Scranctia.

† Scranctia, æ; f. meretrix, quæ Festo Scrapta; quæ & Scractia, Var. A dirty nasty drab, a hawking driveling queen.

Scrapta, æ; f. i. meretrix, Titin. ap. Fest. à screatu, Id. quam quis qu. excreet & expuat, i. contemnat & despiciat. A sorry baggage. Scrib. & Scractia, Var.

Scraptia, æ; f. Plaut. A drab or queen.

† Scrautum voc. pelliceum, in quo sagittæ reconduntur, Fest. uti leg. Salm. al. leg. Scorteum. Σκύτη δερμάτινη βελῶν, Gl. Phil. à σκύτ☉, inserto r. vel pot. à σωρὸς, quod sign. πυρδίκην, it. σάλαξ☉, i. saccus, Hesych. A leather case for arrows.

† Screa, ōrum; n. pl. ant. quæ quis excreare solet, Fest. Tough fleam, dots of spittle which we fetch up with coughing.

Screabilis, le; Plin. χεμπτὸς. That may be spitted out.

Screatio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. χέμψις. Hemming or hauking.

Screator, ōris; m. verb. Plaut. χεμπτὴρ. A hauker or hummer.

Screatus, ūs; m. Ter. χέμψις. A spitting, hauking or humming.

Screo, as; Plin. χέμπτομαι. vox ficta à sono: ab heb. יִרְק. Aven. à κρέας caro, qu. carnem ipsam spuendo emitto, Perot. To spit, to retch in spitting, to hauk.

Screor, āris; pass. Plin.

Scriba, æ; m. Cic. Scribæ, librarii, qui rationes publicas scribunt in tabulis, Fest. γεμματεύς. סוֹפֵר. A Scrivener, a Clerk, a Scribe, a Secretary, a Notary, a Writer, a Town-clerk, Fest. Scriba ærarius. A keeper of books of accounts and reckonings, a Clerk of the Exchequer.

† Scribatus, ūs; m. Cod. scribæ munus & officium. A Secretariship or Clerkship.

† Scribillo, as; act. à Scribo, Var. To scribble.

Scriblita, æ; f. Mart. à Scribo, quòd notis quibusdam signata, & quasi scripta esset, Turneb. ὅτι τρίγλυφον☉. A tart, a Portugal sort, a wafer. Al. scrib. Striblita vel Streblite.

Scriblitārius, ii; m. Non. ex Afran. A maker of tarts.

SCRIBO, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. à γράφω, præposito s, ut à γλύφω sculpo. al. à σκαλεύω☉ stylus scriptorius, σκαλεῦσι scribe. כָּתַב. To write, to make a book: also to paint, to cypher, to limn or draw, Plin. Also to pay out money, Hor. Scribere milites, To list them. Scribere aliquem hæredem, Cic. To leave one his heir. Scribere in aqua, Catul. To forget; alicui dicam, To enter an action against him; ad aliquem de re aliquâ, Cic. Scribere notis, Quint. To write shorthand; nummos, Bud. ex Plaut. To give him a Bill of Exchange.

Scribor, ēris; pass. Plaut.

Scribo, ōnis; m. Anastas. A Secretary.

Scriniārius, rii; m. Jun. A cheest or coffer-maker; a Master or Clark of the Rolls.

Scrinium, nii; n. Hor. qu. Secernium, Perot. locus in quo secernuntur pretiosa & secreta; al. à γρῦπη caverna, capsa; unde dim. γρυπίον, i præfixo, scrinium. κιβώτιον, κίστη. אֲרוֹן. A casket, a coffer, or other like, wherein jewels or other secret things are kept, as Evidences, &c. a desk or cupboard or case to put books or paper in; a skreen, a shrine. Scrinii magister, Lamprid. The Master of the Rolls.

† Scriplum, i; n. vett. codd. γράμμα. Gramma vocant scriplum nostri dixêre priores; Rhem. Palæm. id. quod Scriptulum; per syncop. Scruple.

Scriptilis, le; Diom. That may be written.

Scriptio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. συγγραφή. A writing, an inscription.

Scriptito, as; freq. Cic. πολὺ γράφω. To write often or much.

† Scriptlum, i; n. Charis. per syncop. pro scriptulum.

Scriptor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. συγγραφεύς. סוֹפֵר. A writer, a maker of a book, an Authour, a Clerk, a Scrivener, Liv. ◊ Legum scriptor, Cic. A law-maker.

Scriptōrius, a, um; Cels. γραφικὸς. Of or belonging, or serving to writing.

Scriptulum, li; n. Var. γράμμα, τριθμὸς. The third part of a dram, a scruple, the four and twentieth part of an Ounce. = Scrupulus, Medic. ◊ Dic. & Scriptlum, & Scriplum, & Scriplum.

Scriptum, ti; n. Hor. γράμμα, σύγγραμμα. מִכְתָּב. A thing written, a writing, a book, a letter, Ovid. Scriptum facere, Gell. To be a clerk, or to get his living by writing. Scripto se abdicare, Id. To quit his Clerkship.

Scriptūra, æ; f. Cic. à Scribo: it. Vectigal pastionis. γραφή. מִכְתָּב. Writing, the writing or making of a book; the style or manner of writing of any author; Scripture: also the fee that forest men take for cattel that grase and are fed in the forest, Plaut. the tribute paid to the publick for grasing of cattle in common pastures, which was set down in books of account; the revenue of publick duties let to farm. Magister scripturæ, Cic. A Farmer of customs, or Receiver of the publick revenues, or a Clerk of the Custom-house.

Scriptūrārius, a, um; Of or belonging to a writing, or Register, or Record. Scripturarius ager, Fest. A publick pasture set to farm.

Scriptūrārius, ii; m. Non. ex Lucil. διαγραφεύς. A Clerk that writeth books of accounts for Bailiffs; the chief Clerk of Auditours or Receivers, Bud. partic. he who took account of cattel that grased in common pastures, and received the rents of them for the publick use.

Scriptūrio, is, ivi; ire; To have a desire, or to begin to write.

Scriptus, a, um; part. γεγραμμένος, γεγραφὼς. Written, painted.

Scriptus, ūs; m. verb. Gell. γραφή. A writing.

† Scrīpulum; n. unde Scriplum; pro Scriptulum, omisso t. Charis. A scruple in weight.

† Scrito, as; Scritare ab eo, qui sistit ægrè, Varr. ubi Scalig. leg. Stritare; à Terendo, tritare, & S. præpos. antiquo more, Stritare. To halt, to limp.

Scrōbĭcŭlus, li; m. dim. Plin. ταφρίδιον, βοθρίον. A little ditch or furrow.

† Scrōbis, is; d. g. Col. id. quod Scrobs.

Scrobs, is; f. Vir. m. Col. à σκαλεύω, i. σκάλλω fodio: ταφρ☉, βόθρ☉. בּוֹר. A ditch, a dike, a furrow, a slough.

Scrōfa, æ; f. Var. à sono confictum volunt, ut à γεγμφὰς, γρόμφαινα, vel quòd gaudeat scrobes facere, V. An old sow that hath had pigs more than once. Scrib. & Scropha.

† Scrōfipascus, i; m. Plaut. qui pascit scrofas, χοιροβοσκός. A feeder of old swine, a swine-herd.

Scrōfŭla, æ; f. dim. γοιρὰς, i. struma, à suibus dict. qui peculiariter hoc morbo infestantur, Cels. 5. 28. The Kings-evil, a wen in the throat: also a little pig, Plin.

Scrōfŭlāria, æ; f. Jun. dict. quòd ejus esu scrofæ delectantur. The herb Blindnettle, Pilewort or Figwort.

Scrōtum, ti; n. Col. per metath. à Scortum, i. pelis. ὀσχέα, ὄσχεον. The cod wherein the stones are; the ballocks: also an old shoo, or a leather bag, Cujac.

Scrūpĕdus, a, um; Var. ex Plaut. ex scrupus & pes; quòd qui per scrupos & lapillos incedunt, difficilè ingrediuntur; vel pro Scauripedus; vel pro Crupedus, addito s. ut sit qui ligneos, i. duros pedes habet; à gr. κρυπτὸς, lignei calcei, Lat. Sculponeæ. That goeth hardly, or with pain, shambling.

Scrūpeus, a, um; Vir. à Scrupus: λίθ☉, λιθώδης. Of or belonging to little stones: also superstitious. Scrupeus vicus, Plaut. i. asper, quique nihil habet nisi terrâ natum, i. sine sanguine cæna, ut Hor.

Scrūpi, ōrum; m. Lud. Viv. Cheest-play. Scruporum duodecim lusus, Quint. Calculi. The game of draughts.

Scrūpōsus, a, um; Lucan. πολύλιθ☉. Full of little gravel stones; difficult, scrupulous.

Scrūpūlāris, re; Plin. γραμματικὸς. Of or belonging to the third part of a dram.

Scrūpūlātim; adv. Plin. κατὰ γράμματα. By retail, by piece-meal.

Scrūpūlōsè; adv. Col. ὑπερακριβῶς, ἀκριβῶς. Scrupulously, difficultly, curiously, exquisitely.

Scrūpūlōsior, us; comp. Ter. More scrupulous; more curious or exact, Plin.

Scrūpūlōsissimè; adv. superl. Col. Most scrupulously or curiously.

Scrūpūlōsissimus, a, um; superl. Col. Very difficult and hard.

Scrūpūlōsĭtas, ātis; f. Col. τὸ ὑπερακριβὲς, δυσχέρεια. Scrupulosity, anxiety, nicenes, exactnes.

Scrūpūlōsius; adv. comp. Quint. More precisely, nicely and exactly.

Scrūpūlōsus, a, um; πολύλιθ☉, μικρολίθ☉ Gloss. Full of little gravel stones, Cic. also scrupulous, curious, full of doubts, nice, precise, Pl. jun. ὑπερακριβὴς, ἀκριβ☉.

Scrūpŭlum, i; n. Ovid. γράμμα. The third part of a dram, a scruple; also a measure of land of a hundred foot square, Col.

Scrū-

Scrūpŭlus, i; m. Cic. dim. à Scrupus: λιθάδιον, λίθυδρον. חָצָץ. A litile hard ſtone falling ſometimes into a mans ſhoo, and troubling him in travelling; a doubt, difficulty, trouble, a ſcruple: παράφορα, ἀπορία. חֲרוּרָה. A ſcruple in weight, the third part of a dram, and twenty fourth of an ounce, Cic. γράμμα. alſo a meaſure of ground containing an hundred foot ſquare, that is, ten in breadth, and as much in length, Var.

Scrūpus, pi; m. ſaxum aſperum, Feſt. à σκώρ, σκωρίδιος petriceſus; vel à σκάω, i. σκάπτω, calloſa durities, it. ſcrupus, calculus; unde σκωρόεσσα, i. λιθώδεις, Suid. vel à σκέπειν, i. σκληρὸν durum, it. λαινόν cementum, Heſych. vel à κρύω pulſo & πῦς pes, qu. crupus. Varro, λίθυδρον. חָצָץ. A little ſharp ſtone, or piece of ſtone, a chack-ſtone; a cheſs-man or table-man: alſo a doubt, a doubtful, hard or dark queſtion, a riddle, Gell. a nice tickliſh point. Scruporum luſus, Quint. A game like to draughts or cheſs, the game at dammes.

Scrūta, ōrum; n. Hor. à γρύω, addito s. h. e. λατὶ σκυλα, frivola, & villa utenſilia. בְּלוֹיִם. Al. qu. Scrota vel Scorta. Old garments, frippery, lumber; old trash or trumpery, broken ſtuff that is almoſt paſt uſing: alſo little images made in paſte.

Scrūtābilis, le; adj. Bud. That may be ſearched.

Scrūtans, tis; part. Lucr. Searching.

† Scrūtantiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. G. ex Amm. Moſt curious and exquiſite.

Scrūtāria, æ; f. Apul. γρυπωλεία, ſcrutorum venditio. A ſelling old ſtuff, trash and frippery; brokage.

Scrūtārius, rii; m. Lucil. ap. Gell. γρυπώλης. A ſeller of old ſtuff, trash or trumpery; a Broker, a Long-lane man.

Scrūtārius, a, um; Of or belonging to frippery or brokage. Forum ſcrutarium, Long-lane.

Scrūtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. ἐξέτασις, ἰχνεύσις. A ſearching, an enquiry or reſearch.

Scrūtātor, ōris; m. Stat. ἐξεταστής, ἰχνευτής. A ſearcher of ſuch as come before Princes, G. ex Suet.

† Scrūtillus, (corr. Sortutillus) diceb. venter ſuillus condito farre expletus, Feſt. venter fartus, Iſid. dim. ex Scrutulus, quod à ſcrutus, id à ſcrutor; quòd in ventre iſto ſcrutandum quid ineſſet, Voſ. qu. ſcroteus, M. The belly of a ſwine ſtuffed or farced.

Scrūtinium; n. Apul. ἐξερεύνησις. חֵקֶר. A ſearch, a ſcrutiny, a reſearch.

† Scruto, as; ant. Non. id. quod Scrutor.

Scrūtor, āris; dep. Cic. à Scrutis; q. d. ſcruta eruere. Scrutatur, ψαυτύει, ἰχνεύει, Gl. Phil. ἐξερευνᾶν, ἐξετάζειν, μεταλλᾶν. חָפַשׂ. To ſeek, to ſearch diligently, to trace out, or follow by the track, Plin. to follow by ſcent, as hounds do, to pry into. = Excutio, Cic. Ignem gladio ſcrutari, Hor. To rake or poke into it.

† Scrulna, æ; m. Macrob. σκαθικτεύλαξ, Gl. qu. ſeculna; al. Sequulna; quòd utraque pars, quæ ſponſionem feciſſet, ejus fidem ſequeretur, Voſſ. = Sequeſter, Gell. A judge or arbitratour; he who keeps ſtakes or judges of a wager.

Sculpendus, a, um; part. Plin. To be engraved.

SCULPO, is, ĕre; pſi, ptum; Ovid. γλάφω. Diom. à Scalpo: γλύφω, κολάπτω, χαράσσω. חקק. To carve in ſtone, to grave in metal.

Sculpōnea, æ; f. Plaut. à Sculpo; calceus ex ſolido ligno exſculptus & excavatus. κρόπεζα, Euſt. κρεπίζιον, Heſych. A wooden patten, a ſhabot, a kind of ſhoe that ſervants wore, Cato. ϕ It. cæſtus plumbo ligatus, Fulg. Planc. A whirlbat: alſo, as ſome, a woollen or felt ſock.

Sculpōnĕātus, a, um; Var. ap. Non. That weareth wooden ſhoes, clogs or pattens.

Sculptile, is; n. Jun. ἄγαλμα. פֶּסֶל. A carved or graven image.

Sculptilis, le; adj. Ovid. γλυπτὸς. That is carved or graven.

† Sculpto, & Sculptito, as; freq. Bud. To grave often.

Sculptor, ōris; m. verb. Plin. γλύπτης, γλυφεύς. A Graver, a Carver.

Sculptūra, æ; f. Plin. γλυφή. פְּתוּחָה. A graving, a carving; ſculpture.

Sculptus, a, um; part. Lucan. Carved, graven.

† Sculptātor; m. Veget. 2. 15. i. ferentarius ſive levis armaturæ miles, ut ipſe exp. ſpeculator, Leo. al. leg. Auxiliator; al. Exculator. Turn. vult legi Exculcator: Puto factum ab Auſcultator per Aphær. A light horſe-man, or rather a Scout, a Spy, a Pickeerer, a Sentinel.

Scurra, æ; c. g. Cic. à שָׁקַר, Aven. q. d. falſiloquus vel vaniloquus. al. à ſequendo ditiores, qu. ſecurra, vel à συνωρεῖν, qu. ſucura: Verr. ap. Feſt. al. à σκῶρ ſtercus, homo ſordidus & obſcœnus, unde & Copræa dict. βωμολόχος, γελωτοποιός. A ſcoffer, a ſaucy jeſter, a Shark, a Buffoon: alſo a Wit, a Virtuoſo, Plaut. a Mimick, Jul. Cap. a Droll.

Scurrans, tis; part. Hor. Playing the ſcoffer, or jeſter.

Scurrilis, le; Cic. βωμολόχος. Scurrilous, buffoon-like.

Scurrilĭtas, ātis; f. βωμολοχία. Scurrility, pleaſantry, buffoonry, drollery, rallery.

Scurrĭliter; adv. Pl. jun. Buffoon-like.

Scurror, āris; dep. Hor. γελωτοποιῶ. To play the ſcoffer, jeſter or Buffoon.

† Scurrŭla, æ; dim. R. ex Feſt. A Waghalter.

Scūta, æ; f. Lucil. unde dim. Scutula; à ſcuti figura. A diſh.

Scūtāle, is; n. Liv. σκύτος. The ſtring or leather of a ſling or dart.

Scūtālis, e; Med. Buckler-like.

Scūtārius, a, um; Veget. ἀσπιδικός. Of or belonging or ſerving for ſhields or targets.

Scūtārius, rii; m. Plaut. ἀσπιδοποιός. A maker of bucklers, ſhields or targets: alſo a ſouldier armed with a ſhield, Suet. an horſe-man with a ſhield, attending as the Emperours guard, Amm. an Eſquire.

Scūtātus, a, um; Cic. ἀσπιστής. Armed with buckler or target, a Targettier.

Scūtella, æ; f. dim. à Scutula vel Scutra, Cic. παροψίδιον, πινάκιον. קְעָרָה. A kind of diſh or platter, a jaucer or plate-trencher.

Scūtica, æ; f. Hor. σκυτάλη à σκύτος corium; quòd ex pelle facta, Feſt. qu. σκυτίνη. vel ab heb. שׁוֹטֵר idem. A ſcourge or whip made of leather thongs, a ſwitch; alſo the print of jerks or laſhes, Juv.

Scūtiformis, me; adj. Med. Of the faſhion of a ſhield.

Scūtigĕrŭlus, li; m. Plaut. ἀσπιδοφόρος. A page or cuſtrel bearing his maſters ſhield or buckler, an Eſquire at arms.

† Scūtĭlus, a, um; tenuis & macer, Feſt. qu. σκύτος, qui nihil ſit niſi σκύτος, i. pellis. Thin, lean, ſlender, nothing but skin and bone. ϕ It. qu. Scrutilus, ἰχνευτικός. Inquiſitive.

† Scūtĭſcum, ci; n. Cato. parva ſcutra; vaſis genus. C. leg. Scutriſcum.

Scūtra, æ; f. Plaut. quià ſcutiformis. χαλκίον. A chaffern to warm water in.

Scūtŭla, æ; f. Mart. à ſcuti forma: παροψίδιον, πινακίσκος. קְעָרָה. A little diſh; a ſaucer, any thing of the ſhape of a target; as a round little piece of bark cut off trees when they are grafted, Plin. a cobweb; a ſtaff to beat flax with; a ſcuttle; the hole for ſight in a croſs-bow, or ſuch like engines, Vitr. σκείρων. alſo a little piece of ſtone or marble inlaid in pavements, Vitr. cut ſcutcheon-wiſe or like lozenges: alſo a roller uſed in the launching or drawing of ſhips, Cæſ.

Scūtŭlātus, a, um; Plin. quod quibuſdam orbibus qu. ſcutulis diſtinguitur. Wound and wrought in the form of a ſcutcheon or target; wrought in needle-work, Hier. Scutulatum rete, Plin. A cobweb. Scutulatus color, Pallad. Dapple gray or watchet colour. Scutulata veſtis, Plin. A garment of ſilk wherein are wrought round figures like cobwebs.

Scūtŭlum, li; n. dim. Cic. ὀπλάριον. A little ſhield or ſcutcheon: alſo work in damask, G. ex Prud.

SCŪTUM, i; n. Cic. σάκος, pellis, ex quâ fiebat, vel quâ ſaltem obtegebatur. ✠ Clypeus rotundus, ἀσπὶς. Scutum oblongum, θυρεός. מָגֵן. A buckler, a ſhield, a target, a ſcutcheon; alſo the form of a plaiſter ſpread upon leather, &c. cut ſcutcheon-wiſe, to be applyed to the ſtomach, Offic. Ad ſcutum, Ælian. Faces to the left.

* Scybălum, i; n. Theod. Priſc. σκύβαλον. quiſquiliæ, ſtercus, retrimentum, Gl. Dung, ordure: properly Dogs meat.

Scylla, æ; f. σκύλλα, à σκύλλω vexo, Becm. vel à σκύλλω, i. σκύλαξ, catulus; quòd undæ in concavas ejus partes illiſæ canum latratus imitentur, Jol. Scal. A gulf or dangerous place in the Sicilian Sea: alſo a kind of fiſh, like a ſhrimp, called alſo Squilla, Hor. alſo the ſea-onyon, Ruell. corr. pro Scilla.

Scyllētum, ti; n. Cic. A place where ſhrimps are taken.

* Scymnus, ni; m. Lucr. σκύμνος. גּוּר. A lyons whelp, a lioncel.

Scyphus, phi; m. Cic. ὁ σκύφος, & τὸ σκύφον, ἀπὸ τῆς σκαφίδος, vaſe excipiendo lacti idoneo; vel qu. σκύφος, quòd Scythæ eſſent bibaces, Athen. vel à κύφος vas concavum. גָּבִיעַ. A great cup or jug or bowl to drink out of. ✠ Scyphus Herculi propriè ſacer, Cantharus Liberopatri, Macrob.

Scyricum, ci; n. Plin. à Scyro inſula. Blewiſh colour, or light watchet. Al. corr. Syricum vel Siricum.

* Scytăla, æ; vel Scytale, es; f. Plin. σκυτάλη, i. baculus, it. ſerpens, à ſimilit. Lucan. A field-mouſe: after ſome an ermine: after others a ſnew: alſo a ſerpent that hath a back of a marvellous gliſtening colour, Lucan. alſo a ſtaff to beat flax with, Perot. ϕ Scytale Laconica, Gell. A little round ſtaff that the Lacedæmonians uſed used for ſending private orders to their General, wrapping the paper or parchment about it, and then writing; which none but he could read by folding it in the ſame manner about his ſtaff, which was of the ſame bigneſs.

† Scytălŏsăgittipelliger. Hercules ſic dict. Tert. de pallio; quòd σκυτάλην, i. clavam, & ſagittas, & pellem ſc. leonis geſtaret.

*Scythĭca, æ; f. & Scythice, es; f. Cell. σκυθικὴν, γλυκυρίζαν. Sweet root or liquoriſh.

Scythĭcus, a, um; Scythica muſtela, Jun. A Sable, a Marten.

*Scythis, idis; f. Martian. σκυθὶς. A kind of precious ſtone.

S ante E.

Sē: Accuſ. à Sui; ex i, Canin. Himſelf, her ſelf, it ſelf, themſelves.

Sē; præpoſ. inſep. ex ξα pro διὰ. vel fort. à pron. Se: quid enim aliud ſeducere, quàm ad ſe ducere? Seponere, quàm per ſe ponere? cui rei & quantitas ſuffragatur. Al. à Semis, quod ſeparationem facit. Al. contr. à Secus. Al. à Sine contractè, Se: ut Seu pro Sive, Feſt. v. g. Securus, i. ſine curâ. Aliq. valet dimidium, ut in ſelibra, ſemodius, contr. pro Semi. Aliq. pon. pro Sex; ut Sedecim, ſedigitus, ſemeſtris.

Sēbăceus, a, um; Col. Made of tallow.

Sēbālis, le; adj. Sebalis fax, Amm. A tallow torch.

Sēbo, as; act. Col. σταίνω. To dip in tallow, as they that make candles do.

Sēbōſus, a, um; adj. Col. σταιτώδης. Tallowiſh, or full of tallow.

Sēbum, bi; n. Plin. à Sue, quì. ſuebum vel ſuevum, quòd ſues ſebo abundant, Iſid. al. quod ſuave. τὸ στέαρ. Tallow, or ſuet.

Sĕcābĭlis, le; adj. Auſon. διαιρετὸς. That may be cut.

Sĕcāle, is; n. Plin. à Seco, Perot. Rie.

Sĕcālĭcius, a, um; Of Rie. Secalicius panis, Plin. Rie bread.

Sĕcāmen, ĭnis; n. Sid. ξύσιμμα, ἀφέσμα. A cut or chap.

Sĕcāmentum, ti; n. Plin. τὸ φριδὲν, διάτεσμα. שֵׁבֶר. A cut or chop, a ſhred, a chip, any thing that is cut off.

Sĕcārius, a, um; That wherein ſhreds are put. Sportæ ſecariæ, Cato. Baskets to put chips or ſhreds in.

Sĕcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cell. τμῆσις. A cutting.

Sĕcātor, ōris; m. verb. R. ex Aug. He that cutteth.

Sĕcātūrus, a, um; part. Col. κόψων. About, or that will or ought to cut.

Sĕcĕdo, is, ĕre; ſſi, ſſum; neut ex Se, i. ſeorſum, & Cedo: ἀναχωρέω, ὑποχωρέω. סוּר. To go apart, to withdraw or retire, to ſtep aſide, to retreat. Secedere de viâ, Plaut. à luſu, Prop. in hortos, Ovid. ad ſtylum, Quint.

Sĕcernĭcŭlum, li; n. Offic. A ſieve or ſierce, a boulter.

Sĕcerno, is, ĕre; crēvi, ētum; act. ex Se, i. ſeparatim, & Cerno: ἀφορίζω, ἐκκρίνω. הַפְרִישׁ. To ſeparate one from another, to put aſunder, or apart, to ſever, to chooſe from among others; to lay or put by it's ſelf; to ſcarce as they do ſpices. Secernere voluptatem à bono, Cic. publica privatis, Hor.

Sĕcĕſpita, æ; f. Suet. τομὶς. à Secando dict. A long knife, with an ivory handle, or (as ſome think) a hatchet of braſs, which the Prieſts uſed at their ſacrifices, Feſt.

Sĕcēſſio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀναχώρησις, ἐκχώρησις. סְרִיָה. A going aſide, a retiring or withdrawing; a revolt, a mutiny, Liv.

† Secēſſiones, narrationes, Feſt. M. leg. Sectiones, ab ant. Seco, dico.

Sĕceſſus, ûs; m. verb. Liv. ἀναχώρησις. A departure, a retirement, a retreat. § A draught, privy or jakes, Bibl. ἀφεδρών.

† Sĕcĭvium, vii; n. vel Sĕcĭvum, vel Secius, vel Secium; à ſecando: libum, à vet. dict. quòd in ſacrificio, ſeceſpita ſecabatur, Feſt.

Sĕcĭus; adv. comp. à Secus, Ter. Secius & Setius à Seco, ac Sequius à Sequor, idem; Palmer. Ergò ſectius, & eliſo t ſecius, magis ſectè. Quò aliquid magis ſecatur, eò eſt minus; M. ἧττον, ἧσσον. Leſs, later, Feſt. Nihilo ſeciùs, i. nihilo minus.

Sĕclūdo, is, ĕre; ſi, ſum; act. ex Se & Claudo: χωρίζω, ἀναχωρίζω. הַבְדִּיל. To ſhut apart from others, to ſhut out, to ſeclude, to ſeparate or part. Vitam corpore ſecludere, Plaut. To kill himſelf.

Seclum, i; n. per Synec. Poët. pro Seculum. An age.

Sĕclūſor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that ſecludeth.

Sĕclūſōrium, ii; n. Var. κοπρολήνιον. A place where any thing is ſhut up apart from other; a coop.

Sĕclūſus, a, um; part. κεκλεισμένος. Shut up apart from other.

SECO, as, ui, ctum; act. à σήκω ſcindo, vel ξύω rado, per metath. ab ἀκὴ acies, ἀκόω ἀκῶ ſeco, V. ut ab ἀκίζω Segeſta. קָצַץ, חָתַךְ. To cut, to carve; to ſaw; to mow; to cut off or aſunder: to rend or tear, to cleave; to part or divide: alſo to decide or determine, Hor. Secare æthera pennis, Vir. in fruſta, Id. = Divido, Cic.

Sĕcor, āris; paſſ. Ovid. To be cut.

† Sĕco, is, ĕre; antiq. vel Sequo, ab ἕπω dico, ut à λιπῶ liqui; unde in comp. Inſeco. To ſay, to mention, Feſt.

† Secordia, pro Socordia, Feſt.

† Secors; ex Se, i. ſine, & Corde, Feſt. vid. Socors.

Secretārium, rii; n. Bud. A Council-chamber, a Conſiſtory, Cod. a Judgement place or Judicial Court, Caſſiod. alſo a ſecret place remote from company, Apul. ὑποβρήτιον.

Secretārius, ii; m. qui à ſecretis, Jun. A Secretary.

Secrētè; adv. Hier. λάθρα. Secretly.

Secrētim; adv. Amm. idem.

Secrētio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἐκκρισις. מִפְלָגָה. A ſeparating or ſetting apart from others.

Secrētior, us; comp. Bibl. More ſecret. A ſecretioribus & ſanctioribus conſiliis, A privy Counſellor.

Secrētiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Col. Very ſecret or remote.

Secrētiùs; adv. comp. Col. More apart.

Secrēto; adv. Cic. κατ' ἰδίαν, κρύφα. Secretly, in ſecret, apart, privily, in a corner.

Secrētor, ōris; m. verb. R. ex Marcell. He that ſevereth.

Sĕcrētum, ti; n. à Secerno, Plin. κρυφαῖον. חֶדֶר. A place ſecret or apart from company; a ſecret, Quint. ὑποβρήτιον. a myſterie. A ſecretis, Caſſiod. Of the privy Council. Secretum miſſæ, Jun. Private Maſs.

Sĕcrētus, a, um; part. & adj. à Secernor: ἀφωρισμένος, ὑποχωρητὸς. מִפְרָשׁ. Separated, ſevered, ſet apart. Adj. Secret, privy, private, ſolitary, far off, myſterious. ὑπόβρητος. = Seductus, Cic. Celebris, Id.

Secta, æ; f. Cic. à Seco: ut & gr. σχίσμα. vel à Sector: αἵρεσις. A ſect, an opinion, a kind of people of a different profeſſion, a party, or faction, Suet. = Via, inſtitutum, Cic.

Sectācŭlum, li; n. Unde natalium ſectacula provenirent, Apul. à ſectando, propago, progenies. A pedegree.

Sectārius, a, um; ἀκμιαῖον. That which others follow. Vervex ſectarius, Plaut. A bell-wether.

Sectārius, ii; m. Eccl. A Sectary.

Sectātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ἀκόλουθος. A follower, one that imitates another, or does like him as he doth.

Sectātrix, icis; f. Apul. A ſhe-follower.

Sectĭlis, le; à Seco, ſectum. τριστὸς, σχιστὸς. That is or may eaſily be cut or cleaved or taken aſunder, Vitr. Sectile porrum, Juv. tonſile, Mart. σχιστὸν κρανίον, Athen. Capitatum, Plin. A leek that is often cut.

Sectio, ōnis; f. verb. à Seco, Plin. τμῆσις, διαίρεσις, κοπτομὴ. גְּזֵרָה. A cutting or dividing, a cutting out of leather for ſhoes, &c. ex Suet. the confiſcation or forfeiture of ones goods, Cic. alſo that which is forfeited and taken to the Kings uſe, Cæſ. alſo that which is taken in prey at the winning and ſacking of a town, Cic. a Section or part in books, &c.

Sectīvus, a, um; Col. τριστὸς. That is often cut. Porrum ſectivum, Plin. quod aliàs Sectile.

† Secto, as; G. ex Sil. idem quod Sector. To chaſe or hunt.

Sector, āris; freq. à Sequor, Cic. παρακολουθέω. To follow, to attend or wait upon; to imitate and do like one; to hunt or chaſe, to run after.

Sector, ōris; m. verb. à Seco vel ſequor, Cic. Sectores, & qui ſecant, & qui empta ſua perſequuntur, Feſt. τομεὺς, σχιστὴς. A cutter, a cut-purſe: alſo a ſequeſtrator, that buyes confiſcated or forfeited eſtates or goods, and ſells them again for gain; a Committe-man, an Informer, Bud. βιαστὴς, Gl. ὁ τὰ δημόσια ἀφαιρούμενος, Heſ. Sui favoris ſector, Lucr. That ſells his favour for money.

Sectrix, icis; f. verb. Plin. A ſhe-ſequeſtrator.

Sectūra, æ; f. Plin. τμῆσις, διακοπὴ, τομὴ. גְּזִיר. A cutting, a ſhredding. Secturæ ærariæ, Cæſ. Veins of braſs ore.

Sectūrus, a, um; part. Col. About to cut.

Sectus, a, um; part. Cic. τετμημένος, τμητὸς. Cut, ſawed, ſhred, pared, paried, divided, torn or rent; mangled, ſliced.

Sĕcŭbātio, ōnis; f. verb. Solin. A lying aſunder or apart.

Sĕcŭbĭtus, ûs; m. verb. Ovid. κοιτοκοίτωσις. A lying apart, a lying alone by himſelf.

Sĕcŭbo,

Sēcŭbo, as ; ui, itum ; neut. Liv. ex Se, i. seorsim vel solus, & Cubo. Χωριστὶν, χωκειμένως. To lye apart or asunder, or alone by ones self.

Sēcŭla, æ ; f. Var. falx, à Secando : סְמָר. A sythe wherewith hay is mown, a sickle or hook.

Sēcŭlāris, re ; ὁ κατ' αἰῶνα γεγινόμενος, αἰώνιος. Of or belonging to this world or life ; secular, Eccl. also of or belonging to the space of an hundred years ; that is done or renewed once every hundred year ; as the Ludi seculares were. Carmen seculare, pro imperil Rom. incolumitate, Hor. A Poem sung by boyes and girls, at the secular Plays.

Sēcŭlāritas, ātis ; f. antiq. Worldlineſs.

Sēcŭlum, li ; n. à Seco, ſectum, ſeculum : tractus enim ille certis temporum præſcriptionibus ſecabatur in partes ; al. à ſequendo, quòd ſit ſeries & ſequela temporum : à Sene, quòd ſit longiſſimum ſpatium ſeneſcendorum hominum, Var. ab ἀλλάω, Turnebo. per metath. Fort. ab ἑκατὸν centum ſc. anni, τ in λ mutato. αἰὼν, γενεά. עוֹלָם. The ſpace of an hundred years, Var. Some take it for a thouſand ; ſome for thirty, Serv. an age, a time : alſo a kind or breed of living creatures, Lucr.

Sēcum ; ex Se & Cum : μεθ' ἑαυτοῦ. With himſelf, or with themſelves.

Sēcunda ; pl. n. Pl. jun. Proſperity.

Sēcundæ, ārum ; f. Plin. ſcil. partes, dict. quiâ ſecundo loco pariuntur, vel quòd naſcentem infantem ſequantur ; τὰ ἐπίγονα, τὸ χόριον. The skin wherein the child, or other young thing is wrapped in the womb ; the after-birth or burden ; alſo the ſecond or next place. Secundas agere, Sen. To humour one and give him the better.

Sēcundāni ; Liv. ſecundæ legionis milites, ſicut Primani primæ.

Sēcundans, tis ; part. Tac. Making proſperous or with one.

Sēcundārii, ōrum ; m. Liv. Souldiers of the ſecond regiment.

Sēcundārium, ii ; n. Plin. The courſer meal wherof houſhold bread is made.

Sēcundārius, a, um ; δευτερῶδης. יָשָׁן. Of the ſecond ſort, &c. Secundarius panis, Suet. Courſe brown bread. Vinum ſecundarium, Plin. Wine of a ſecond preſſing.

Sēcundātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Aug. A making proſperous.

Sēcundātor, ōris ; m. verb. Hier. He that proſpereth.

Sēcundē ; adv. Feſt. δευτερῶς. Luckily, proſperouſly.

Sēcundicerius, ii ; m. Cod. qui Secundus ſcribitur in cerâ, ſive ceratâ tabulâ. The ſecond principal officer.

Sēcundiformis, me ; à figurâ Secundarum dict. Secundiformis tunica, Med. The skin that wrappeth the braines.

Sēcundior, us ; comp. Suet. More proſperous, more favourable.

Sēcundō ; adv. δεύτερον. The ſecond time, or in the ſecond place, ſecondly.

Sēcundo, as ; act. Vir. ſecundum facio, i. proſperum. εὐοδοῦν. הִצְלִיחַ. To make proſperous, to favour, to ſecond ; alſo to obey, Ter.

Sēcundor, āris ; paſſ. Sen.

Sēcundum ; præp. ſerviens Accuſ. à Secundo : κατὰ, παρὰ, μετὰ cum Acc. אַחֲרֵי, יָשָׁן. Nigh or near, hard by, next after or to ; according ; concerning or about ; on ones ſide, for. Secundum deos, Cic. Next to the gods. Secundum ripam, Along the bank. Secundum quietem, Suet. In his ſleep. Secundum te litem do, Id. I give judgement on your ſide.

Sēcundus, a, um ; qu. Sequundus, à Sequendo, quia ſequitur primum ; uti ab Obſequendo ſit Obſecundo, quod id. ſign. quiâ ſecus, i. juxta vel ſecundum pedes : & tractus eſt ſermo à ſequentibus ſervis pediſſequis, Iſid. al. à Seco, quia in ſecundo incipit ſectio ſeu diviſio, M. δεύτερος. יָשָׁן. Second, next, inferiour : alſo proſperous, favourable, lucky, εὐημερῶν, εὐτυχῶν. Amni ſecundo, Vir. Down ſtream. Secundis avibus, Liv. Luckily. Res ſecundæ, Cic. Proſperity. ϕ Secunda menſa, Celſ. The laſt ſervice or ſecond courſe. Nulli virtute ſecundus, Sil. Secundus à rege, Hirt. ad regium principatum, Cic. Ꝛ Adverſus, Cic.

Sēcūrè ; adv. ἀσφαλῶς. Quietly, ſafely, ſecurely.

Sēcūricla, æ ; f. Vitr. dim. à Securis per ſync. Securicla, vel à Securitate quam præſtat : ligneum retinaculum, quod ſubſcus dicitur, quo duo ligna inter ſe tenaciſſimè vinciuntur. Noſtri, inquit Bud. Hirundinum caudam appell. A ſwallows tail in Carpenters work.

Sēcuriclātus, a, um ; ut Securiclati cardines, Vitr. l. 10. Alii legunt Securidati.

Sēcūriclŭla, æ ; f. dim. Plin. πελεκύδιον. A little hatchet, a ſmall ax.

Sēcūridāca, æ ; f. Dod. quòd folia habeat ſecuriculæ ſimilia. πελεκῶδες. A kind of pulſe called ax-ſitch, hatchet-ſitch, axwort.

Sēcūrifer ; Ovid. & Sēcūriger, ra, rum ; Id. πελεκυφόρος. That beareth an ax or hatchet.

Sēcūrior, us ; comp. Ovid. More ſafe.

Sēcūris, is ; f. Cic. à Seco : dicta qu. ſemicuris, id eſt ſemiquiris : Sabinorum enim linguâ curis haſtam ſignificabat ; ex unâ enim parte acuta eſt, ex altera foſſoria : πέλεκυς, ἀξίνη. קַרְדֹּם. An ax, an hatchet. Securis Amazonia, Ovid. A Polax.

Sēcūritas, ātis ; f. ἀσφάλεια, ἀφροντιστία. שַׁלְוָה. Security, quietneſs, aſſurance, ſafety, health, Cic. an acquittance, Cod. alſo careleſneſs, want of care. = Tranquillitas, Cic.

† Sēcūro, as ; antiq. To live careleſly. R.

Sēcūrus, a, um ; Cic. qu. ſe cura, i. ſine curâ, ex Se, i. ſeorſim, & Cura : ἀπραλύπητος, ἀμέριμνος, ἀκίνδυνος. בְּטוּחַ. Secure, ſafe, quiet, without care, careleſs, fearleſs. Securus famæ, Ovid. à metu, Plin. de bello, Liv.

Sēcŭs ; adv. à Sequendo, qu. ſequus ; vel Secando, Per. ex ἐκτὸς, Valg. apud Feſt. Fort. ab ἐξῆς deinceps, Secùs, ut ab ἕξις Sexus, qui etiam Secus dic. antiq. ἄλλως, ἑτέρως. Otherwiſe, ill. Secùs interpretari, Suet. To judge amiſs.

Sēcus ; præp. ſerv. Accuſ. id. quod Secundùm. παρὰ cum Dat. by, or nigh to. Secus viam, Quint. By the way ſide, along the way.

† Sēcus ; n. ant. pro Sexus ; Virile ac muliebre ſecus, Sal. ap. Chariſ. Puerile ſecus, Auſon.

Sēcūtor ; m. verb. à Sequor, ἀκόλουθος. A follower or attendant, Vet. Inſcr. alſo one who ſucceeds a dead man, Apul. Alſo one of the ſword-players. Vid. Sequutor.

Sēcutŭleia, æ ; f. Petron. à ſequendo ; ut Locutuleia à loquendo. A woman that follows a man up and down.

Sēcūtus, a, um ; part. à Sequor : ἀκολουθήσας, ἀκόλουθος. That hath followed : alſo truſting, Cæl.

Sed ; conj. qu. ſede à Sedeo ; vel ex Se & Do. Voſſ. ex ant. Sedum, per Apoc. M. ab ant. Se pro Sine : ἀλλὰ, αὐτὰρ, ἤ. כִּי אִם. But, ſometime but alſo. Sed autem, Plaut. Yea but. Sed enim, Vir. But becauſe, but truly.

† Sed ; ant. pro Se, ante vocalem, d. addito.

Sēdātè ; adv. Cic. ἡσύχως. Quietly, ſtilly, calmly, patiently.

Sēdātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. κατάπαυσις, παράπαυσις, ἡσυχία. שַׁקְטָה. An appeaſing, aſſwaging, qualifying or quieting ; a ſtilneſs, a calm.

Sēdātior, us ; comp. Cic. More quiet or calm.

Sēdātius ; adv. comp. Gell. More quietly.

Sēdātor ; m. Stat. He that appeaſeth.

Sēdātrix ; f. Aug. She that appeaſeth.

Sēdātus, a, um ; part. Vir. ἡσυχος, παυσθείς. Appeaſed, quieted, calmed, aſſwaged. Adj. Sober, quiet, ſtill, ſedate, Hor.

† Sedda, æ ; f. antiq. pro Sella ; Ter. Scaur.

Sēdĕcŭla, æ ; f. dim. Cic. ἑδώλιον. A little ſeat.

Sēdens, entis ; part. Sitting, &c. Sedens lactuca, pro Seſſili, Mart.

Sēdentārius, a, um ; Col. ἑδρικὸς. That ſitteth ordinarily, that worketh ſitting, ſedentary.

Sēdentārius, ii ; m. Plaut. ὁ καθεζόμενος, ἐπιτήδειος. He that worketh at his trade ſitting, as Tailers, Shoomakers, &c.

SEDEO, es, ēre ; sēdi, ſſum ; neut. à gr. ἵζω, unde ἕζομαι, fut. 2. ἵσω, Ion. ἥσω. Sedeo. καθίζω, καθέζω. יָשַׁב. To ſit, to tarry, abide, ſtay, remain or continue ; to ſtick faſt ; to light and reſt upon, to ſit abroad, Plin. to ſit ſtill, to be quiet ; to be idle ; to ſit handſomely or fit one, as a garment doth. Sedere ſellâ, Liv. in equo, Cic. ad gubernacula, Id. apud hoſtes, Plaut. ſuper caput alicujus, Quint. poſt equitem, Hor. Si ſedet hoc animo, Vir. If you be reſolved.

Sēdes, is ; f. Cic. à gr. ἵδω. Sedes ; ἕδρα, ἕδος, καθέδρα. מוֹשָׁב. A ſeat or place to ſit on ; an aboad, or dwelling-place ; a manſion-houſe ; the buttocks or hinder parts, or fundament, Plin. alſo a ſepulchre, Vir. a point in the tables, the Ace point, Jun. alſo the Quarters where ſouldiers lye, Veget. = Domicilium, Cic.

† Sēdĭcŭla, æ ; f. dim. à Sedes, Var. ἑδώλιον. A little ſeat.

† Sēdĭcŭlum ; ſedile ; Paul. ap. Feſt.

Sēdĭgĭtus, ti ; m. Var. qui ſex habet digitos. He that hath ſix fingers on one hand.

Sēdile, lis ; n. Pl. jun. καθέδρα. מוֹשָׁב. A ſeat, a bench, a ſettle or ſtool, a rooſt for birds, a pearch.

Sēdimentum, ti ; m. Plin. à Sedendo : ὑπόστασις, ἴζημα. That which ſinks down to the bottom ; the grounds, lees, dregs, or ſediment.

Sēditio, ōnis ; f. ex Se, id eſt, ſeorſim, & Itio : Seditio, quando in diverſas partes abitur ; ut à re & itio, Reditio. στάσις, συστασμὸς. קֶשֶׁר. Sedition, diſcord, cord, debate, strife; a mutiny, the troublous-storming of the sea, Stat. ☞ Seditionem movere, Suet. To mutine.

Sēdĭtĭōsē; adv. Cic. στασιαστικῶς. Contentiously, seditiously.

Sēdĭtĭōsĭor, us; compar. Ascon.

Sēdĭtĭōsĭssĭmē; adv. superl. Cic. Most seditiously.

Sēdĭtĭōsus, a, um; στασιώδης, ἐριστικός. Seditious, factious, mutinous, tumultuous, troublesome. = Tumultuosus, Cic.

Sēdo, as; act. à Sedeo, sēdi, i. sedere facio. al. ex Se & Do; qu. sanum do. al. ab ὕδωρ vel ὕδειν, ut sit prop. restinguere affusâ aquâ. πανύω, ἀφαυύω, καταζέω. השקיט. To appease, mitigate, assuage, allay, qualifie, to quench, stint or quiet, to calm or still. ☞ Incendo, Cic.

Sēdor, āris; pass. Liv.

Sēdūco, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. ex Se & Duco: ἀπάγω μακρὰν ἀπ' αὐτῶν. חטר. To lead aside or apart; to seduce: to mislead; to deceive and beguile, Ter. to divide or sever, Vir. to turn aside. Castra seducere, Ovid. To divide the army into two parts. Animum corpore seducere, Cic. To separate the one from the other.

Sēdūcor, ĕris; pass. Liv.

Sēductĭo, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀπαγωγὴ, ἀπόστασις. A leading aside or apart; a deceiving.

Sēductor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. ἀπαγωγεύς. A seducer or beguiler.

Sēductrix, ĭcis; f. verb. Aug. She that deceiveth.

Sēductus, a, um; part. Liv. ἀπαχθεὶς. Led apart, aside or away; seduced, misled, deceived; separated, remote or at distance, Ovid.

Sēductus, ûs; m. verb. Sen. A void place from company, a retreat or withdrawing place.

†Sēductĭlum, genus flagelli, dict. quòd vapulantes sudantes facit, Fest. qu. Sūdaculum.

†Sēdŭlārĭa; n. pl. Dig. quæ in rhedâ sedenti subjiciebantur, Fest. Sedilia expon. Turneb. Things to sit on in a waggon; seats.

Sēdŭlĕ; adv. Col. σπουδαίως, ἀπραγμόνως. Diligently, carefully.

Sēdŭlĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. σπουδαιότης, ἀπραγμοσύνη. חרדה. Carefulness, diligence, earnestness.

Sēdŭlō; adv. Ter. Carefully, faithfully, Plaut.

Sēdŭlus, a, um; adj. Cic. qu. sine dolo, Non. vel à sedes, quia quis in opere sit assiduus: ἐπίμονος, Gl. σπουδαῖος, ἐπιμελὴς. חרוץ. Careful, diligent, painful, earnest, close.

Sēdum, di; n. Plin. à semper sedendo, Perot. vel à Serendo, satum, sedum, sedum: ἀειζωον. Houseleek or Sengreen.

†Sēdum. A sedendo appell. Sedes, sedile, sedum, sella, seliquastrum; Var. ubi Scal. leg. Sedium, i. solum vel solium.

†Sedum antiqui pro Sed, Ter. Scaur.

Sēgĕro, is, essi, ĕre; R. ex Stat. i. ferùm gero. To lay aside: leg. & Segeror. To be laid up or kept.

Sēges, ētis; f. à serendo, Fest. à Satu, id est, semine, Var. al. à Sectione: fort. ab σπεῖρω vel σπεῖρ sciei, spicarum sc. ut Segesta ab σπείρω. ἄγρωστις, λήϊον. קמח. Standing corn, a crop, a corn field; a company, a shock, Vir. Any thing sowed like corn. Sometime land tilled and ready to be sown, Adv. Seges ac materia gloriæ, Cic.

Sēgĕsta, æ; f. Dea segetum; Plin. al. Segetia; eadem quæ Messa, Tert.

Sēgestre, is; n. Plin. vel à Seges, quòd stramentis è segete lecticas involverent; vel à σήκω tego, quod à σήκω tego, Var. Straw laid in horse-litter or coach: also a sarpliar: any thing to pack up merchandise in; paper or other stuff wherein Tradesmen wrap their several wares, Jun.

Sēgestrĭa, um; pl. n. Var. Merchants palace whereon they sleep. It. pelles nauticæ, Fest. Skins or leather-beds whereon Mariners rest.

† Sēgestrum, i; n. A straw-bed, a mat, a pallet, a bassock; also a leather covering. R. ex Plaut. σήκω.

Sēgĕtālis, is; f. Jun. Swordgrass.

† Sēgĭsterĭum, ii; n. Col. Draff, hogswash, swill.

Segmen, ĭnis; n. Plin. qu. Secmen, à Seco; id quod à re quapiam resecatur. τομὴ. בתך. A little piece or paring cut off from any thing, a shred, a shive, a slice, a chop.

Segmentārius, ii; m. Prob. ποικιλτής. An Embroiderer or worker of garments with fine ornaments, or cloth of gold. = Phrygio, Plin. Limbolarius, Non. Barbaricarius, Don.

Segmentātus, a, um; Juv. ἐκ ποικίλων ἢ διαφόρων μερῶν πεποιημένος. Made up of divers pieces or colours; slashed, pinked, embroidered, flowered: also he that weareth garments so wrought, Mart.

Segmentum, ti; n. Plin. à Seco, Segmen: τόκνισμα, τόκνισμις, τόκνισμα. שבב. A paring, a shred, piece or gobbet cut off from something; a cantle, a slice: also a collar or such about a woman's neck; a neck-lace of pearl; or as others, a border, gard or purfle about a garment, Juv. ☞ Segmenta mundi, Plin. The parts of the world by lines divided; circles or parallels.

Segnior, us; comp. Cic. More sluggish.

Segnĭpes, ĕdis; Juv. βραδύπους. Going slowly, slow-footed, or slow-paced.

Segnis, ne; Cic. ex Se, i. sine & Ignis, i. vita, Serv. ex Se, i. sine vel non, & Nitor, quod non nititur ad id quod utile & honestum, Fest. al. qui nihil genit, i. gignit, quasi segenis; vel qu. segnis, quia nihil agat: ἀργός, ῥᾴθυμος, ὀκνηρός, νωθρός. עצל. Dull, slothful, sluggish, slow, lazy; barren, unfruitful, Vir. Ad credendum segnis, Liv. Hard of belief.

† Segnĭtas, ātis; f. Non. à Segnis: βαθυμία, νωθρότης, ἀργία. עצלות. Slowness, dulness, sluggishness, sloth.

Segnĭter; adv. Liv. νωθρῶς, ἀργῶς, βαθύμως. Negligently, slothfully.

Segnĭtĭes, ēi; f. Cic. Sloth, lazyness, barrenness, Plin. = Inertia, Cic.

Segnĭus; adv. comp. Ovid. More slowly.

Sēgrĕgandus, a, um; part. Cic. To be parted.

Sēgrĕgātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. διαίρεσις. A laying apart.

Sēgrĕgātor, ōris; m. verb. Tert. He that separateth.

Sēgrĕgo, as; act. Ter. à Se grex, quasi seorsum à grege ago: ἀποχίνω, ἀφορίζω. תפריד. To take out of the flock; to sever, separate and put apart. Segregare ad se culpam, Plaut. aliquem à numero civium, Cic. è senatu, Plaut. = Sejungo, Lucr.

Sēgrĕgor, āris; pass. Varr. Seque gregari, Lucr. pro Et segregari.

† Sēgrĕgus, a, um; Auson. l. Segregatus. Retired from company, or living apart.

Sēgrex, ĕgis; c. g. Segregem vitam, Sen. ex Se & Grex: ἀπομάλλων vel ἀπομαλλας. Severed from the flock or company, solitary.

Sēgullum, li; n. Aurum qui quærunt, ante omnia segullum tollunt. Ità voc. indicium, Plin. 23. 4. ab heb. סגלה, segulla, peculium. D. leg. Segulum. A kind of earth or mark on the top of ground, that discovers a vein of gold beneath.

† Sēgustrum, ri; n. R. ex Plaut. A leathern covering.

Seja; dea sationis; ab ant. Seo, sevi.

* Seirītis, is; f. Cels. σειριάσις. An inflammation in the head.

* Seirŏmastes; m. Bud. σειρομάστης. A kind of dart.

Sejūgātio, ōnis; f. Aug. A separation.

Sejūgātor, ōris; m. verb. Marc. He that separateth asunder.

Sejūgātus, a, um; part. Cic. Severed, separated.

* Sejūges, ex se & jugum, Fest. Unyoked, parted.

Sejūgi, sive Sejūges; Liv. sc. equi; ex sex & jugum: οἱ ἑξάζυγες ἢ ἑξάζυγοι. Six horses in a team or coach.

Sejūgis, ge; adj. Sejuges gentes congregare, Solin. Separate, different, distant, afar off.

Sejūgo, as; ex Se & Jugo; act. Cic. διαζεύγνυμι. To unyoke, to uncouple, to sever or separate, to put apart.

Sejunctē; adv. Plaut. χωρὶς. Severally.

Sejunctim; adv. Col. idem.

Sejunctio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. διάζευξις, χωρισμός. A separating, or putting asunder.

Sejunctor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that parteth asunder.

Sejunctus, a, um; part. Cic. διαζωχθείς. Put asunder. = Secretus, semotus, Lucr.

Sejungendus, a, um; p. Cic. To be put apart.

Sējungo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. ex Se & Jungo; junctos separo: χωρίζω, διαζεύγνυμι. הפריד. To dis-join, to separate, sever or part and put asunder.

Sējungor, ĕris; pass. Sejungi ab aliquo, Cic.

Sēlāgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. 24. 11. ex Se & Lego: dict. quòd certo ritu seligeretur. An herb like Savin, much used of the Druids for all eye-sores; hedge hyssop.

* Selah, vel Sela, i. סלה: diapsalma, Jun. & Drus. A note of Musick, used especially in the Psalms; some take it for a note of observation, some for a kind of pause, some for the lifting up of the voice.

Sēlecta, ōrum; n. Liv. ἀπολέλυμα. Things picked out of divers others.

Selecti; m. pl. G. ex Plin. Special officers in Rome so called.

Sēlectio, ōnis; f. verb. à Seligo, Cic. ἐκλογὴ, ἐκκρισις. מברור. A culling or choosing out, a laying apart by it self.

Selector, ōris; m. verb. Plin. ἀναλύτης. He that chooseth out.

Selectus, a, um; part. Cic. ἐκλελεγμένος. Chosen out from among other, and laid apart, culled, choice, ἐκλεκτὸς.

* Sēlēnīticus, a, um; Tull. σεληνιακός. Mad or lunatick.

* Sēlēnītes,

Sĕlĕnītes, æ; m. σεληνίτης. Gemma est in Arabiâ nascens, translucens melleo fulgore, imaginem lunæ continens, quam Græci σεληνην voc. Plin. 37. 10. A stone wherein is a white, which decreaseth and increaseth as the Moon doth.

Sĕlĕntium; G. ex Plin. A kind of Ivy.

Sĕlĕnium, & Selenogonum; dict. quòd lunaticis auxilietur, Dod. A kind of Piony.

Sĕlĭbra, æ; f. Plin. ex Semi, & Libra: ἡμίλιτρον. Half a pound, six ounces. = Semilis, Var.

Sĕlĭgo, is, ĕre; ēgi, ctum; act. Cic. ex Se & Lego: seorsùm colligo. ἐκλέγω, ἐκλεκτός. בָּרַר. To choose out, to pick and lay aside, to cull.

Sĕlĭgor, ĕris; pass. Tac.

† Sĕlĭmŭsia terra; G. ex Plin. A medicinable earth of milk colour.

† Sĕlio, ōnis; f. R. ex Cod. Leyland.

Sĕliquastrum, tri; n. Arnob. Seliquastro, sedilia antiq. d lit. in l conversâ, ut etiam in Sella factum est, & Subsellio & Solio, quæ non minùs à sedendo dicta sunt, Fest. A stool to sit on.

Sella, æ; f. à Sedendo, Sedda, antiq. vel qu. Sedula dim. à Sedes, inde Sella. καθέδρα, θρόνος. כִּסֵּא. A seat, a chair, a bench, a saddle. Sella plicatilis, Jun. A folding chair or stool. Sella familiarica, Var. ἑδώλιον. A close-stool. Sella curulis, Cic. A chair of State. Sella gestatoria, A Sedan.

Sellāria, æ; f. Plin. ἐξέδρα, ἐδώλιον. A place wherein were forms and stools for men to sit on, an Hall to meet in. It. sedes arcanarum libidinum, à Tiberio inventa, Suet. ✧ It. meretrix, quæ in sellâ sederet, Juv. Comment.

Sellāriŏlus, a, um; Belonging to sitting. Sellariola popina, Mart. A tipling-house where people sit and keep company together; such as our Coffee-houses are.

Sellŭla, æ; f. dim. à Sella, Tac. ὑφέδριον. A little seat.

Sellŭlārius, a, um; Sedentary. Sellularius quæstus, Gell. 3. 1. Gains got by sedentary arts.

Sellŭlārius, ii; m. Liv. à Sellula; quòd sedendo opus facit; ὁ ἐδρῶν. That works at his trade sitting.

Sēmaxius; tunicâ molestâ indutus, Tert. quòd ad Semissalı alligaretur; V.

Sembella, æ; f. libræ dimidium, qu. semilibella, Var. ἡμίλιτρον. Half a pound: also a small coin.

Sēmel; adv. à Simile; vel à Simul, qu. simel; id est, unâ, non divisim, Becm. unde simul & semel aliquid fieri dicimus. ἅπαξ, ἐφάπαξ. פַּעַם אַחַת. Once, at one time, all together, all at once; once for all. Semel atque iterum, Cic. Once or twice. Semel ac vicies, Plin. One and twenty times.

Sēmen, ĭnis; n. à Sero quasi serimen; vel pot. à sevi, pro sevimen, ut nomen pro novimen. σπέρμα. זֶרַע. σπόρος, γόνος. Seed, a corn, or grain, a kernel, Vir. a graff or set, an imp, Vir. a slip, a cyon, Col. a breed or race, Suet. an original, rise or cause, Cic. also a kind of corn called Spelt, Plin. Semen cerĕale, Jun. Bread-corn. Semen Santonicum, Gerard. Worm-seed.

Sēmentātio, ōnis; f. verb. Hier. A bringing forth seed.

Sēmentātūrus, a, um; part. Plin. That will grow to seed.

Sēmentīcus, a, um; Plin. σπερμάτικος. That may be sown.

Sēmentīnus, a, um; Ovid. Belonging or lasting to seed-time, Cato.

Sēmentis, is; f. Liv. σπόρος, ἔαρ. Seed-time: also corn sown, Gell. the act of sowing.

Sēmentīvus, a, um; adj. Sementiva sunt, Triticum, &c. Verna verbo, Milium, Panicum, Plin. 18. 7. Belonging to winter seed-time.

Sēmento, as; Plin. σπερμαίνω, σπερματίζω. זָרַע. To bring forth seed, to run up to seed.

Sēmentum, ti; n. Var. Seed sown, seed-time, the act of sowing.

Sēmestris, re; Cic. quod est sex mensium, qu. semenstris. ἑξαμηνιαῖος. it. pro Semimestris. Of six months, or half a year: also of half the month. Semestris luna, Apul. The full Moon in the middle of the month.

Sēmēsus, a, um; Hor. ex Semi & Edo: ἡμίβρωτος. Half eaten.

Sēmet, Accus. à Suimet, Liv. ex Se & Met, syllabicâ adjectione: ἑαυτόν. Himself, her self, themselves.

Sēmi; à gr. ἡμι, quod similiter usurp. in comp. ut ἡμίθεος. semideus.

Sēmiadŏpertilis, le; adj. Apul. Half-shut. Al. leg. Semiadapertulus, M. Half open.

Sēmiambustus, a, um; Suet. Half burned about, scorched or singed.

Sēmiamictus, a, um; Apul. Half cloathed.

Sēmiamputātus, a, um; Apul. Half cut off.

Sēmiănĭmis, me; Vir. & Semianimus, a, um; Liv. ex Semi & Animus: ἡμιθνής. Half dead, in a swoon.

Sēmiapertus, a, um; Liv. ἡμιάνοικτος. Half open.

Sēmiassus, a, um; Cic. ex Semi & Assus: ἡμιόπτης. Half roasted or broyled.

Sēmiaureus, i; m. R. ex Jun. ἡμιχρύσεος. The summ of eight shillings and four pence. Rather half a crown, or half a piece.

Sēmibarbārus, a, um; Jul. Cap. Half a Barbarian.

Sēmibos, vis; m. Ovid. ex Semi & Bos: ἡμίβους. That is half Ox.

Sēmicānus, a, um; Apul. Half gray.

Sēmicāper, pri; Ovid. ἡμίτραγος. That is half Goat.

Sēmicentussis, is; Bud. Half a hundred or fifty pound weight.

† Semiciculus; Pallad. corr. pro Semisicilicus.

Semicinctium; Petron. ὑποζωμα, ἡμιζώνιον. חֲגוֹר. A womans or tradesmans Apron.

Sēmicoinctōrium, ii; n. Liv. ὑποζωμα. An Apron that comes half way about one.

Sēmicingo, is, xi; Liv. To gird half. R.

Sēmicircŭlāris, re; Col. ἡμικύκλιος. Of the form of a half circle, half round.

† Sēmicircŭlātus, a, um; G. ex Cels. idem.

Sēmicirculus, li; m. Col. τὸ ἡμίκυκλον. Half a circle, a Semicircle.

Sēmiclausus, a, um; Apul. Half shut or closed.

Sēmicoctus, a, um; Plin. ἡμίεφθος, ἡμίπεπτος. Half boyled or sodden, parboyled.

Sēmicombustus, a, um; Prud. Half burned.

Sēmiconspĭcuus, a, um; Apul. Partly visible.

† Semicors, dis; adj. Plaut. μικρόψυχος. Cowardly, faint-hearted.

Sēmicremātus, a, um; Ovid. ἡμίκαυστος. Half burnt.

Sēmicrēmus, a, um; Ovid. idem.

Sēmicrūdus, a, um; Col. ἡμίωμος. Half raw.

Sēmicŭbĭtālis, le; adj. Liv. ἡμιπηχυαῖος. Half a cubit long.

Sēmicŭbĭtus, ti; m. Vitr. Half a cubit.

Sēmicyăthus, i; m. Jun. dimidium cyathi. Half a cup full.

Sēmideus, ei; m. Stat. ἡμίθεος. A demy God.

Sēmidiămĕter, tri; f. Geom. ἡμιδιάμετρος. Half the diameter, a right line drawn from the Center to the circumference. = Radius.

Sēmidies, ēi; m. Auson. dimidium diei. Half a day.

Sēmidoctus, a, um; Cic. ἡμιμαθής. A smatterer, half learned.

Sēmidŏlium, ii; n. Med. Gr. A vessel containing half a tun; a pipe.

Sēmiermis, e; ex Semi & Arma; Liv. ἡμίοπλος. Half armed.

Sēmifactus, a, um; Tac. ἡμιτελής, ἡμιτοίητος. Half made.

Sēmifer; Ovid. & Semiferus, a, um; Vir. ex Semi & Ferus: ἡμιθήρ, ἡμιάγριος. Half beast or half wild.

Sēmiformis, me; Col. ex Semi & Forma: ἡμίμορφος, ἡμίτυπος. Half formed or shaped.

Sēmifultus, a, um; ἡμιστήρικτος. Half underset or stayed up. Subsellio semifultus extremo, Mart. Sitting but upon one buttock.

Sēmigermānus, a, um; Liv. ἡμιγέρμανος. Half Dutch.

Sēmigraecus, a, um; Var. ἡμιέλλην. Half a Greek.

Sēmigrāvis, ve; Liv. ἡμιβαρής. Half heavy, drowsie, or half asleep.

Sēmigro, as; neut. Cic. seorsùm migro, χωρίζω. נָוַד. To depart and go to another place.

Sēmihians, tis; Apul. Half open, or gaping half way.

† Sēmihiulcum basium; G. ex Gell. A kiss with lips not close.

Sēmihŏmo, ĭnis; Vir. ἡμιάνθρωπος. Half man: also the root of the Mandrake, Col.

Sēmihŏra, æ; f. Cic. ἡμιώριον. Half an hour.

Sēmiinānis, ne; adj. Plin. Half empty, half full, as the Moon in the first quarter. Al. leg. Seminanis.

† Semiinteger, a, um; G. ex Marcell. Unsound, not perfectly whole.

Sēmijŭgĕrum, ri; n. Col. ἡμιπλέθριον. Half an acre of land.

Sēmilăcer, ra, rum; Ovid. ἡμιῤῥαγής. Half rent or torn.

Sēmiliber, ra, rum; Cic. ἡμιελεύθερος. Half free.

Sēmilixa, æ; m. Liv. ἡμισυναποφόρος. Half a drudge, scullion or slave.

Sēmimădĭdus, a, um; Col. ἡμιβρεχής. Half wet.

Sēmimārinus, a, um; Lucr. ἡμιάλιος. Belonging partly to the sea, and partly to the land.

Sēmimas, āris; c. g. ἡμιάρρην, ἡμιέρσην. An eunuch or gelded man, Var. An Hermaphrodite or Will-Gill, Ovid.

Sēmimedimnus, i; m. Volus. Half a bushel, &c.

Sēmiminima, æ; f. Music. A crotchet.

Sēmimitra, æ ; f. Ulp. An ornament for the head, a small coif.

Sēmimōdius, a, um ; Jun. ἡμίμετρον. Half a bushel.

Sēmimortuus, a, um ; Catul. ἡμιθνὴς. Half dead.

Sēminālis, le ; adj. Col. σπερματικὸς. That belongeth to sowing or seed.

Sēminālis, is ; f. R. ex Jun. Knot-grass or Swine-grass.

Sēminānis, e ; pro Seminanis, Plin. 2. 18. ἡμίκενος. Half void or empty.

Sēmināria, æ ; f. Inscr. Antiq. ὁ σπερμολόγος. A woman that gathers or preserves the seeds of herbs, a Seed-woman.

Sēminārium, ii ; n. Col. plantarium ; φυτώριον. A seed-plot, a seminary, a place where plants are set to be removed, a nursery or source-garden ; a tree whereof plants or graffs be taken : also the first original or chief cause of any business, Cic.

Sēminārius, a, um ; Ambros. σπέρμιος. Belonging to seed.

Sēminātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Var. σπερματισμὸς, σπόρος. The act of sowing ; also breeding.

Sēminātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. σπορεύς. A sower ; an author or procurer of something.

Sēminātus, a, um ; part. Plaut. Begotten or conceived.

Sēminex, ēcis ; pl. Semineces, Liv. Half dead, or half slain.

† Sēminiverbius ; Arnob. i. Seminator verborum. σπερμολόγος. A babler.

Sēminium, ii ; n. Col. σπέρμα. Seed : also the gain of seed : also a race, kind or stock ; a breed, Lucr.

Sēmino, as ; act. à Semen, Col. σπείρω, φυτεύω. ℣. To sow, to breed.

Sēminor, āris ; pass. Col.

Sēminūdus, a, um ; Liv. ἡμιγυμνος. Half naked.

Sēmiōbŏlus, i ; m. Jun. ἡμιοβόλιον. The twelfth part of a dram, a farthing.

Sēmiobrūtus, a, um ; Apul. Half overwhelmed.

Sēmiorbis, is ; m. Amm. Half a circle.

Sēmipāgānus, a, um ; Perf. ἡμιδιάτυπος, ἡμιάγροικος. Half a rustick or clown.

Sēmipăter ; corr. pro Semicaper, Ovid. al. leg. Semo pater.

Sēmipēdālis, le ; Plin. ἡμιποδιαῖος. Half a foot square, or in height, &c.

Sēmiperfectus, a, um ; Suet. ἡμιτελὴς. Half finished.

Sēmipes, ĕdis ; m. Col. ἡμιπόδιον. The measure of half a foot. Adj. Having but half a foot or leg, Prud.

Sēmiphălărica, æ ; f. Gell. A weapon, half a Phalarica ; q. d. A half pike.

† Sēmipictātio ; f. R. ex Fest. Painting, drawing, or first shadowing of a thing.

Sēmipĭcīna, æ ; f. Var. A half fishpond.

Sēmiplăcentinus, a, um ; Cic. Half a Placentine, or half pleasant.

Sēmiplēnus, a, um ; Cic. ἡμιπλήρης. Half full.

Sēmiplōtia ; n. pl. Turn. Solez dimidiatæ, quibus utebantur in venando, quo planiùs pedem ponerent : ἡμιβλαύτιον. nam βλαῦτα calcei genus. Shoes covered but half, such as the Romans wore in hunting, Beroald. in Suet.

† Sēmiplotus, a, um ; Semiplota crura, Catull. brevia sed obesiuscula, Scal. al. Semilauta leg.

Sēmipondus, ĕris ; n. Bud. Half a burden or weight.

Sēmipuella, æ ; f. Auson. Half a girl, a Mermaid.

Sēmipŭtātus, ta, tum ; Vir. ἡμικόδυμνος. Half cut or pruned.

Semiquinarius, a, um ; Semiquinariis divisis, πενθημιμερὴς, cæsura genus, cùm post duos pedes relinquitur syllaba partem orationis terminans ; sic dict. quòd constat ex duobus pedibus & semisse, quod est dimidium 5. pedum ; ut Arma virumque cano, Cal.

Sēmirāsus, a, um ; Catul. ἡμίξυστος. Half shaven or scraped.

Sēmirĕductus, a, um ; Ovid. ἐξ ἡμιτείας ἀνηγμένος. Half retired, turned on one side with a half face.

Sēmirĕfectus, a, um ; Ovid. καθ' ἥμισυ ἀνασκευασθέντος. Half refreshed or repaired.

Sēmirōtundum, di ; subst. pro Hemicyclo sive Hemisphærio. In ipso subterraneo semirotundo, Apul. An half round.

Sēmirōtundus, a, um ; Veget. Oval.

† Semiruinus, a, um ; Just. Half decayed.

Sēmirŭptus, a, um ; Feneſt. Half broken.

Sēmirustĭcus, a, um ; R. ex Hul. Half rustical or clownish.

Sēmirŭtus, a, um ; Liv. ex Semi & Ruo : ἡμιπίπτων. Half destroyed or cast down.

Sēmis ; indecl. Bibl. ab eo quòd Græci dicunt ἥμισυ, Fest. חֲצִי. Half.

Semis, issis ; m. ex Semi & As. Half a pound.

† Semisĕneus, a, um ; ant. Half old.

Sēmisĕnex, sĕnis ; Plaut. ἡμιγήρων. Half an old man.

Sēmisĕpultus, a, um ; Ovid. ἡμίθαπτος, ἡμιταφὴς. Half buried.

Semisĭcilicus, i ; m. Pallad. i. dimidius sicilicus sive siclus. Half a shekel, a dram or gros.

Sēmisŏmnus, a, um ; Cic. & Semisomnis, ne ; Liv. ἡμίυπνος. Half asleep and half awake.

Sēmisŏnans ; adj. Half sounding. Semisonantes literæ, Apul. i. Semivocales.

† Sēmisŏnārius ; Plaut. rect. Semizonarius.

Sēmisŏpitus, a, um ; Liv. ἡμικοίμητος. Half lulled asleep.

Sēmissālis, le ; semissem habens numero aut pondere, quod est unius semissis, ut Usura semissalis, Modest. Usury at six in the hundred.

Sēmissārius, a, um ; Hæres semissarius, qui est hæres ex semisse, Hottom.

Sēmissis, is ; ἡμίλιτρον, ἥμισυ. Semiassis, i. dimidia pars assis, h.e. unciæ 6. Half a pound weight, six ounces ; the half of any thing, Cic. ◊ Semissis patrimonii, Quint. Half the estate.

Semissis, e ; adj. Cic. Of small account. ἡμιβολαῖος.

† Sēmissus, a, um ; Cæl. Rhod. 26. 48. pro eo quod Semunsus dixit Tert.

† Semisso, as ; Veget. To let a beast blood.

Sēmisŭpinus, a, um ; Ovid. ἡμίυπτιος. Half with the face upward.

Sēmita, æ ; f. qu. semiiter ; quia angustè ibant, Var. ἀτραπός. שְׁבִיל. A narrow way, a foot-path, an alley in a City.

Sēmitāles Dii, Catalect. quòd semitas in agris custodiant ; vel pot. Lares publici, quòd in semitis statuerentur ; dicti Compitales & Viales eâdem de causâ.

Sēmitārius, a, um ; adj. Catul. ὁδοιπορικὸς. Of a path-way, or that haunteth path-ways.

† Sēmitātim ; adv. Titin. per semitas. From one path to another, by path-ways.

Sēmitectus, a, um ; Apul. Half covered, armed by the halves, Amm.

Sēmitertiāna ; Jun. sc. febris. ἡμιτεταρταῖος. A kind of ague mixt of a tertian and a quotidian.

Sēmito, as ; Plin. ὁδοποιῶ. To make paths, to divide into paths or lanes.

Sēmitŏnium, ii ; n. Boet. ἡμιτόνιον, i. dimidium toni. A half tone.

Sēmitritus, a, um ; Col. ex Semi & Tero ; ἡμιτετριμμένος, ἡμιτεθρυμμένος. Half brayed or pounded ; half bruised, threshed by halves.

Sēmivĭetus, a, um ; Col. καθ' ἥμισυ πεφυτος. Half withered.

Sēmivir, ri ; m. Vir. ἡμιάνηρ, ὁς. Half-man, an Eunuch, one of Cybeles Priests, Juv.

Sēmivīvus, a, um ; Cic. ἡμίζωος. Half alive.

† Sēmiuncia, æ ; f. V. Semuncia.

Sēmivŏcālis, le ; adj. Var. Half sounding.

Sēmivŏcālis, is ; f. Gram. ἡμίφωνον. A half vowel.

Sēmiustulandus, a, um ; Suet. ἡμιφλεκτέος. To be half burned.

Sēmiustulātus, a, um ; Cic. ἡμιφλεγὴς. Half burned, roasted, broiled or scorched.

Sēmiustus, sta, um ; Cic. ἡμίφλεκτος. Half burned.

Sēmizōnārius, ii ; m. Plaut. Qui semizonia vel semicinctia conficit. A make or seller of aprons or kertles.

* Semneum ; Cæl. Rhod. locus venerabilis ; σεμνεῖον. A Monastery or any Religious house.

† Sēmo, ōnis ; m. Var. qu. semihomo, qui & semideus : vel à Punico Samen, cœlum, ut cœlitem notet. A God of the lower rank, such as Priapus, Vertumnus, &c. were : also Janus so called, quòd seminio præsit, Aug.

Sēmodiālis, le ; Semodialis placenta, Cato. As big as half a bushel.

Sēmŏdius, dii ; m. Juv. qui semimodius : ἡμιμέδιμνος. Half a bushel.

Sēmŏtæ ; adv. Diom. χωρὶς. Aside.

Sēmŏtus, a, um ; part. Lucr. χωρισθεὶς. Put aside, removed.

Sēmŏvendus, a, um ; part. Cic. To be removed.

Sēmŏveo, es, ēre ; vi, ōtum ; act. seorsum moveo. χωρίζω, ἀφορίζω. הסיר. To remove or put aside, to withdraw, to put away. = Segrego, Cic.

Semper ; adv. temp. à sine & mper, i. sine fine : sanè ex ἀμπερὲς, unde διαμπερὲς, continuò ; al. qu. σὺν μέρει πέρας, ut sit, hodiè & ultra ; M. Semper semiopere, sicut toper toto opere, nuper novo operè. Signif. enim Toper citò & expeditè, ita ut opera absoluta sit : itaque Semper ei contrarium est, propterea quòd si quid in dimidio tantùm opere sit, id non absolvitur, sed continuatur, Scal. ἀεὶ, πάντοτε, αἰὼν לעולם. Always, continually, from time to time, for ever, for ever and ever.

Semperlēnitas, ātis ; f. Tert. Accustomed gentleness or mildness.

Sempervivum, vi; n. Plin. ἀείζωον. The herb Houseleek, Sengreen or Ay-green.

Sempiternè, Pacuv. & Sempiternò; adv. Solin. εἰς αἰῶνα. For ever, everlastingly.

Sempiternus, a, um; Ter. qu. semper eternus: αἰώνιος, ἀΐδιος, διηνεκής. חסר. Endless, perpetual, continual, everlasting.

Sēmuncia, æ; f. Cic. ἡμιούγιον. Half an ounce, half the twelfth part, the twenty fourth part. Terræ semuncia, Cato. A plat of ground thirty foot broad, and forty long.

Sēmuncĭālis, le; Plin. & Semunciarius, a, um; Liv. ἡμιουγιαῖος. Of or belonging to half an ounce.

Sēmustus, a, um; Vir. pro Semiustus. ἡμίκαυτος. Half burned.

Sēna, æ; f. Veget. Sene, an herb that purgeth melancholy.

Sēnācŭlum, li; n. Val. M. locus ubi Senatores sedebant consultandi gratiâ: βουλευτήριον, γερουσία. A council-house or chamber, the Senate or Parliament-house.

Sēnāriŏlus, li; dim. Senarioli versûs, Cic. τὰ τριμετρικὰ τρίμετρα. Trimeter verses of six feet.

Sēnārius, a, um; Cic. à Seni, i. sex; ἑξάμετρος. That containeth six, or belonging to the number of six.

Sēnātor, ōris; m. Cic. à Senectute, vel Sene, Fest. vel à Sinendo, quòd eorum permissione agere licebat. βουλευτής. יועץ, זקן. A Senatour, a Parliament-man, a Councellour, an Alderman or Burrough-master.

Sēnātōriè; adv. Alderman-like.

Sēnātōrius, a, um; Cic. βουλευτικός. Of or belonging to a Senatour.

Sēnātus, ûs; m. Cic. (& ti, Charis.) quia constat ex senibus (ut γερουσία, Græc.) βουλὴ, γερουσία. ריחים. A Senate or Council; a Parliament; a place where the Senate or Council is holden; the bench of Aldermen.

Sēnātusconsultum, ti; n. Cæs. sententia vel consultum Senatûs: βούλευμα, τὸ διαβουλευτικὸν. חק, חק. An act, ordinance or decree of the Senate, an Act of Parliament; an order of the House.

Sēnĕcio, ōnis; m. Plin. à Senex. γηράλεον. An herb growing on walls and tyles, with grey down like old mens hair, Groundsel: also a drowsie and dreaming dotard, Jun.

Sēnecta, æ; f. Vir. γῆρας. זקנה. Old age: also an Adders, Locusts or Crabfishes skin, that they cast in the spring time, Plin. a slough.

Sēnectus, ūtis; f. Cic. Old age. Senectutis exuviæ, Amm. The skin or slough of a Serpent.

† Sĕnectus, a, um; Lucr. Sal. γηραλέος. ישיש. Old, aged.

Sĕneo, es, ui, ēre; neut. Catull. senex fio, γηράσκω. To be old.

Sĕnescallus, li; m. Erasm. A Steward, a Lord Marshal.

Sĕnescens, tis; part. Hor. παυσιγηράσκων. Waxing old, wearing away, decreasing, growing to the wane.

Sĕnesco, is, ui, ĕre; incep. à Seneo, Liv. γηράσκω. זקן. To wax old, to grow in age; to decay, wear away, lessen or shrink, Cic.

Sĕnex, is; (& icis; Plaut.) c. g. qu. seminex, i. semimortuus, Perot. quòd morti propinquior; al. à זקן: Senes nonnulli dictos putant à diminutione sensûs, eò quòd delirare incipiant, Isid. γέρων, πρεσβύτης. זקן. An old man or woman.

◊ Adj. Old, withered, wrinkled.

Sēni, næ, na; Cic. à Sex. Six.

† Sĕnĭca, postèa Seneca; Pomp. apud Non. à Senex, senicis. An old man.

† Sĕnĭcŭlus, li; m. Apul. A man well stricken in years; a little old fellow.

Sĕnĭlis, le; à Sene, Cic. γεροντικός. עתיק. Of or belonging to age, or old folks.

Sĕnĭlĭter; adv. Quint. γεροντικῶς, πρεσβυτικῶς. Like an old man.

Sēnio, ōnis; m. Mart. à Sex: ἑξάς, ἑξάς. The number of six: also the six point, or the sice cast of the dice.

Sēnior, us; comp. à Senex, Vir. γεραίτερος, πρεσβύτερος. Elder, more old, seniour. ◊ Seniores, ab anno quadragesimo sexto dicebantur, Gell. 10. 28.

† Sēnior; m. subst. Feud. A Lord of a Mannour, a Stignour, a Landlord.

Sēniōres; m. pl. Liv. Senators or Parliament-men.

Sēnium, ii; n. à Sene, Fest. De senili acerbitate & vitiis dictum: Sumitur & pro tædio atque odio, Non. Etiam pro homine odioso, Lucil. τὸ πρεσβεῖον, γῆρας. זקנה. Old age: also trouble, discontent, wexiness, Cic. also a withered old churl, an old Toast, Ter. ◊ Lunæ senium, Plin. The latter part of the wain of the Moon.

† Sensātus, a, um; Firm. Prudent, intelligent.

Sensĭbĭlis, le; Gell. αἰσθητός. That may be felt or perceived, sensible.

Sensibilĭtas, ātis; f. Val. A feeling or perceiving, sensibleness.

Sensĭcŭlus, li; m. dim. à Sensu, Quint. αἰσθημάτιον, εὐαισθησίτιον. A little sense or feeling; a slight argument.

Sensĭfer, ĕra, ĕrum; Lucr. αἰσθητήριος. That causeth feeling or sense.

† Sensĭfĭco, as; G. ex Aug. To make sensible or feeling.

Sensĭfĭcus, a, um; Macr. That causeth sense or feeling.

Sensĭlis, le; adj. Lucr. Sensible, or that may be perceived by the senses.

Sensim; adv. à Sentio, sensum, Cic. qu. cum meditatione & sensu, quia ea maximè faciunt sensum, quæ morantur, Prisc. vel quòd paulatim fiat, ita tamen ut sentiatur, Voss. ἠρέμα, σχολῇ καὶ βραδέως. לאט. Leisurely, by little and little, by degrees. = Placidè, Pl. jun. modicè, Plin. moderatè, Cic. ℨ Repentè, Id.

Sensĭtīvus, a, um; Philos. sentiendi vim habens. Sensitive, having sense.

† Sensōrium, ii; n. Schol. αἰσθητήριον, i. organum sentiendi. The organ of sense, as the eye of seeing, &c.

Sensŭālis, le; adj. Apul. αἰσθητικός. Sensual, belonging to sense: also having sense, sensitive, understanding, Prud.

† Sensŭālĭtas, ātis; f. Hier. Beastlineſs, sensuality.

Sensum, si; n. Cic. id quod sentitur. αἴσθημα, ἐνθύμιον. That one conceiveth in his mind, a thought or meaning.

Sensūrus, a, um; part. Ovid. αἰσθησόμενος. That shall feel or perceive.

Sensus, a, um; part. Var. αἰσθητός. That which is known by sense.

Sensus, ûs; m. Cic. à sentiendo sensus dict. quia per eos anima subtilissimè totum corpus agitat, vigore sentiendi, Isid. αἴσθησις. טעם. Feeling, sense; judgement, reason; an intent or meaning; a sentiment, or resentment, ones thought, opinion or meaning.

Sententia, æ; f. qu. sentientia: à Sentio: γνώμη, νοῦς, δόγμα. דעה. Opinion, sentence, meaning, judgement, advice, mind, thought, purpose, a resolution; the sentence of a Judge; a witty or wise saying: also a sense or signification, Lucr. Stat sententia, Plaut. I am resolv'd on't. Ex sententiâ, Cic. According to my mind or wish.

Sententiŏla, æ; f. dim. Cic. γνωμίδιον. A little or short sentence.

Sententiōsè; adv. Cic. γνωμολογικῶς. With many good sentences or sayings, sententiously.

Sententiōsus, a, um; Cic. γνωμικὸς, γνωμολογικὸς. Full of pithy sentences, sententious.

Senticētum, ti; n. Plaut. à Sentis: ἀκανθών. A place where many brambles grow, a place full of bryers.

Senticōsus, a, um; Lucil. ἀκανθώδης. Full of bryers.

Sentīna, æ; f. Juv. à Sentio, quod ejus fœtor sentiatur, Perot. ἄντλος, ἀντλία. A sink, a jakes; the pump of a ship. Sentina urbis, Cic. The rabble or rascality.

† Sentīno, as; Seminare, satagere; dictum à sentinâ navis, quam quis ut aquâ liberet, evacuare contendit, Fest. ex Cæcil. ἀντλέω. To pump out water, to labour hard to rid himself of a mischief.

SENTIO, is, īre; si, sum; act. à Sonitu; ut primò de sensu auditûs dicatur; sic αἰσθ Græc.; unde αἰσθάνομαι, αἰσθάνομαι sensu cognosco, jud co. Rect. à Συντίζω, fut. Συντῶ, sentio, ut & σύνοιδα sensus. αἰσθάνομαι, γινώσκω. הבין. To think, to resent; to suppose or deem; to feel, to discern, perceive or understand. Sentire ab aliquo, Plaut. To be of his opinion. Haud mecum sentit, Ter. He is not of my mind. Malè sentire de aliquo, Quint. To have an ill opinion of him.

Sentior, īris; pass. Ovid.

Sentis, is; m. Vir. (vel f. Plaut.) à Sentio, quòd tangentibus quamprimùm sentiatur, Perot. al. à situ, quòd in locis situ obductis nascatur, Isid. vel ab heb. שנן acuere, vel שית spina. ἀκανθώδη, βάτος. סלון. A bryer or bramble, a thorn; a dog-bryer, a black-berry bush, Col.

Sentiſco, is, ĕre; incep. Lucr. αἰσθάνομαι. To begin to know, to perceive, to have some sense.

Sentus, a, um; Ter. i. horridus, qu. sentibus obsitus. ἀκανθώδης, αὐχμηρός. Bushy, rough, hairy, briſtly, overgrown, tattered, shabby, nasty.

Sēnus, a, um; à Sex; ἑξαδικός. Six, of six.

Seorsim; adv. id. quod Seorsum. Aside, apart, asunder.

Seorsum; adv. ex Se & Versum ut Deorsum. χωρὶς, ἰδίᾳ. Apart, asunder, one from another; otherwise: also specially, particularly, Ter. Seorsum à te sentio, Plaut. I am not of your opinion. Cum Abl. Seorsum corpore anima, Lucr.

† Seorsus; adv. ant. Plaut. idem.

† Seorsus, a, um; Ter. Maur. κατ' αὐτόν. Put apart, separated.

† Sĕpar, āris; adj. Solin. ex Se, i. seorsim, & Par; seorsim à pare. χωριστός. Divided, severed, parted, different, unlike.

Sēpărābilis, le; adj. Cic. χωριστός. Easie to be severed, separable.

Sēpărātè; adv. Cic. κεχωρισμένως, διαφεδιαφερόντως. רבד. Severally, apart, particularly, asunder.

Sēpărātim ; adv. Cæs. Separately, severally: also in particular, Cic. ⁂ Conjunctim, Id.

Sēpărātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Hier. χώρισις, χωρισμός. A separating, separation , setting apart, putting one from another.

Sēpărātius ; adv. comp. Cic. More separately.

Sēpărātor, ōris ; m. verb. Aug. He that parteth asunder.

Sēpărātrix, ĭcis ; f. verb. Hier. She that parteth.

Sēpărātus, a, um ; part. Cic. κεχωρισμένος, διαιρεθείς. Put apart one from another, separated, severed.

Sēpărātus, ūs ; m. Parili separatu, Apul. Separation or distance.

Sēpăro, as ; act. ex Se & Paro ; vel à Separ : χωρίζω, διαιρῶ. הִבְדִּיל. To sever, separate, part, divide, put asunder, or one from another, to distinguish, or put a difference. Separare vera à falsis, Cic.

Sēpăror, āris ; pass. Cic.

† Sēpātius, a, um ; Gell. à Sepum, pro Sebum. Made of tallow, or belonging to tallow.

Sēpĕlibilis, le ; Plaut. θαπτός. Buriable, that may be buried.

SEPELIO, is, īre ; ivi, pultum ; act. Cic. à Sepio, quòd cadaver terrâ, vel alio materiæ genere circumsepitur, Perot. à שָׁפַל humilem esse, M. ut sit humili loco condere. θάπτω, ἐνταφιάζω. קָבַר. To bury, to lay in the earth ; to inter : also to make to be forgotten ; to lay aside, to overwhelm.

† Sēpĕlītus, a, um ; part. Cato ap. Prisc. Buried.

SEPES, is ; f. Cic. à Sepiendo, Perot. munimenta satorum sunt, unde & appellatæ, Isid. sed contrà à Sepo, sepio. Puto à σηπός, i. ovium septum ; ut à λύκος lupus, x in p verso. φραγμός. מְסוּכָה. An hedge, fence, closure or mound. Sepes dentium, Jun. ἕρκος ὀδόντων, Hom. The row or set of teeth. Sepes viva, Col. A quick-set hedge.

Sēpes, ĕdis ; adj. Having six feet. Sepedes populi, i. formicæ, Apul.

Sēpia, æ ; f. Cic. & gt. σηπία. quòd atramento, veluti putridâ quadam sanie, quam Græc. σηπεδόνα vocant, abundat, Gesn. Piscis, qui atrum cruorem instar atramenti per aquam effundit, cùm se peti animadvertit, & piscatoribus iter præsepit, Fung. A fish called a Cuttle, whose blood is black as Ink, whereof also Sepia is taken for Ink, Perl.

Sēpicŭla, æ ; f. dim. Col. A little hedge.

Sēpimen, ĭnis ; n. Apul. φράγμα, φραγμός. An hedge, an inclosure.

Sēpimentum, ti ; n. φράγμα. גְּדֵרָה. An hedge, a pale, a mound, an inclosure. Sepimentum virgulteum sive spineum, Var. A thorn hedge, or of bushes ; ligneum, Id. A fence of stakes, posts and rails, or of pales ; militare, Id. A Rampire ; fabrile, Id. A stone or brick-wall.

Sēpio, ĭi, īre ; ivi vel psi, ītum vel ptum ; act. Cic. à Sepes, q. d. sepe circundo vel munio. al. à σήκω munio. M. à סָבַב circumdare ; vel à סוֹף terminus : φραγμὸν ἁρμόζω, φράσσω. גָּדַר. To inclose, to hedge in or mound, to fence, to guard, to befet or environ ; to block up, to hem in. Sepire domum custodiis, Tac. ⁂ Circundo, munio, Cic.

Sēplor, iris ; pass. Col.

Sēpiŏla, æ ; f. dim. à Sepia, Plaut. σηπίδιον. A little cuttle-fish.

Sēpium, ii ; n. Jun. σήπιον, testum, Col. A cuttle bone which Goldsmiths use.

† Sēplāsia, æ ; f. Auct. id. quod Seplasium. Also an Apothecaries or Perfumers shop.

Sēplāsia ; n. pl. Cic. Forum Capuæ, in quo plurimi unguentarii, Fest. à Sepum ; vel σῆτειν (σήθειν) & σηλάσειν, quòd ibi succos colent, & varia fingant ; vel quòd in seplasio est varia σῆλις, i. πῆλος. A market-place at Capua, where perfumes and sweet ointments were sold.

Seplāsiārius, rii ; m. Lampr. qui omnes species vendit : μυροπώλης. רוֹקֵם. A seller of sweet-powders, ointments, &c. also a Gallant who goes powdered and perfumed.

Sēplāsium, sii ; n. Mart. A kind of sweet ointments, perfumes, powders and paints.

Sēpŏnendus, a, um ; part. Liv. To be laid aside.

Sēpŏno, is, ĕre ; ui, ītum ; act. Cic. ex Se, i, Seorsum & Pono : χωρίζω, παραθήκην. אָצַר. To lay apart, to reserve ; to put by or aside, to distinguish or put a difference between ; to send or put away, Suet. Seponere sibi tempus ad rem aliquam, Cic. Inurbanum lepido seponere dicto, Hor. ⁂ Occulto, recondo, Cic.

Sēpŏnor, ĕris ; pass. Liv.

Sēpŏsĭtio, ōnis ; f. verb. Ulp. χωρίσεως. A putting apart.

Sēpŏsĭtor, ōris ; m. verb. Aug. He that layeth aside.

Sēpŏsĭtus, a, um ; part. Mart. χωρισθείς. Put apart, laid by : far out of the way.

Seps, sĕpis ; m. σήψ, à σήπω putreo, quòd quicquid momordit, resolvitur in putredinem ; unde tabificus Seps dic. Lucan. Dic. gr. & χελιδής. A venemous Serpent or Eft, upon whose stroke or biting the flesh and very bones rot : also an horn-fretter, an horn-worm, Jun. also a kind of worm named Millepeda, Plin. G.

Seps, sĕpis ; f. Auct. ex Cic. per sync. ex Sepes. An hedge.

Septa, ōrum ; n. plur. à Sepio. A place of exercise in Rome called Campus Martius, Mart. Also a place in Mars his field, railed about, out of which people gave their voices, Liv.

Septangŭlus, a, um ; Geom. ἑπτάγωνος. That hath seven corners.

SEPTEM ; adj. plur. indecl. Cic. ἑπτά. שִׁבְעָה. Seven.

September, bris, bre ; vel hic & hæc Septembris, & hoc Septembre, Hor. Of or belonging to September.

September, bris ; m. simpl. à Septem ; septimus mensis à Martio. μαιμακτηριών. חֶשְׁוָן. The moneth September.

Septemfluus, a, um ; ex Septem & Fluo, Ovid. ἑπτάῤῥοος. That is divided into seven branches or streams, that runs in seven channels.

Septemgĕminus, a, um ; Vir. ἑπταπλόος. Seven times double, or sevenfold.

Septempĕdālis, le ; Plaut. ἑπταπόδιος. Seven foot long, or belonging to seven feet.

Septemplex, ĭcis ; adj. Vir. ex Septem & Plico : ἑπταπλόος. Seven fold, coverea with seven hides or skins, Ovid. also running in seven channels, Id.

Septemvĭr, īri ; m. Cic. à numero virorum qui eo magistratu fungebantur. One of the seven Magistrates or Governours who ordered Plantations and the sharing of lands among the Planters. Septemviri epulones, Liv. Seven Priests who took care of ordering the feasts of their Gods.

Septemvirālis, le ; Liv. ex Septem viris : ὁ τῶν ἑπτά. Of, or belonging to such officers.

Septemvirātus, ūs ; m. Cic. ἑπταρχία. The authority of such governours.

Septēnārius, a, um ; ἑπτάδικός. Of or belonging to seven, containing seven in number. Septenarii synthesis, Mart. Seven suits of cloathes. Septenarius versus, Cic. A verse of seven feet.

Septēnārius, ii ; m. Cic. ἑπτάς. The number of seven, a verse of seven feet.

Septendĕcim ; indecl. Cic. ἑπτακαίδεκα, ἑπταδέκατος. Seventeen.

Septēni, æ, a ; ἑπτά. Vir. Seven.

Septennis, ne ; Plaut. ex Septem & Annus : ἑπταετής. Of seven years space.

Septennium, ii ; n. ἑπταετία. The space of seven years.

Septentrio, ōnis ; m. Cic. septem stellæ, quæ triones, i. boves dic. ἀπὸ τοῦ ἑπτὰ. עָשׁ. The North part of the world, the North coast, pole or wind ; the seven Stars or Charles wain.

Septentriōnālis, le ; adj. & Septentrionarius, a, um ; Gell. ἀρκτικός. Of, or belonging to the North.

Septēnus, a, um ; à Septem, Prop. ἑβδομος. Seven.

† Septiana mala, dict. à Septio libertino, eorum primo insitore, insigni rotunditate prædita. Rect. Sextiana.

Septicollis, le ; Prud. urbis Romæ epitheton, à 7 collium numero impositum, quorum nomina erant Capitolinus, Palatinus, Quirinalis, Aventinus, Cælius, Viminalis, & Esquilinus : ἑπτάλοφος. That is built or stands upon seven hills.

* Septicus, a, um ; σηπτικός. vim habens putrefaciendi, Plin. 18. 9. Putrefactive, that maketh rotten or ripe, as matter in a sore.

Septies ; adv. Cic. ἑπτάκις. Seven times.

Septifāriam ; adv. Non. ἑπτάχα. By seven divers ways ; in seven parts.

Septifārius, a, um ; Don. Of seven divers sorts or ways.

Septifluus, a, um ; Petr. Arbit. id. quod Septemfluus.

Septifŏlium, lii ; n. Offic. à septem foliis : ἑπτάφυλλον. Setfoyl, Tormentil, Astweed herb, Gerard.

Septiformis, me ; Isid. Seven fold, or of seven forms or shapes.

Septimāna, æ ; f. Eccl. quòd in eâ sint septem manæ, i. luces, Isid. simpl. à Septimanus, ut ἑβδομὰς ab ἑβδομος.

Septimānus, a, um ; Arnob. One of the seventh band or regiment : also (of a child) that comes untimely, at seven moneths end, Mart. Capell.

Septimatrus, uum ; pl. f. Var. The seventh day after the Ides of March. Vid. Quinquatrus.

Septimontiālis, le ; ad Septimontium pertinens. Septimontiale sacrum, Tert.

Septimontium ; n. Tert. dies festus appellatus mense Decembri, qui dicitur in fastis Agonalia, quòd in septem montibus urbis sacra. A feast or Wake kept upon all seven hills at Rome.

Septimum ; adv. Cic. τὸ ἑβδομον. The seventh time.

Septimus,

Sept[illegible]um ; Plin. ἑβδομος. שבעי The [illegible]

Septingentārius, a, um ; Var. quod septingentorum numerum complectitur : ἑπτακοσιοστός. Of seven hundred.

Septingentēsimus, a, um ; Liv. ἑπτακοσιοστός. The seven hundredth.

Septingenti, æ, a ; Plin. ἑπτακόσιοι. שבע מאות Seven hundred.

Septingenties ; adv. Seven hundred times.

Septuagenārius, a, um ; Of, or concerning seventy, or seventy years old.

Septuagēnus, a, um ; Plin. 26. 10. ἑβδομηκοστός. The seventieth.

Septuagēsimus, a, um ; ἑβδομηκοστός. The seventieth. Septuagesima Dominica, Eccl. The third Sunday before Lent.

Septuāgies ; adv. Col. ἑβδομηκοντάκις. Seventy times.

Septuaginta ; adj. indecl. Cic. septies decem. ἑβδομήκοντα. שבעים Seventy : also the Septuagint, that is, the seventy Interpreters of the Bible, who were in truth seventy two, to wit, six out of every tribe.

† Septuennis, e ; adj. Plaut. Seven years old.

Septum, ti ; n. à Sepio, Vir. φύλος. it. in genere φραγμός, φραγμός. גדר. A coat or fold of sheep ; any place paled in, or inclosed, a close, a park : also a lock in a river, a weare, a sluce, a floodgate or water stop, Dig. ◊ Septum transversum, Cels. the midriff.

Septunciālis, le ; Col. ἑπτουγκιαῖος. Of seven ounces, or seven parts of the whole.

Septunx, ncis ; f. Liv. i. septem unciæ. ἑπτούγκιον. A weight of seven ounces ; seven parts of any whole summ or measure : also a measure of seven drinking cups, Mart.

† Septuōsē ; adv. Non. ex Liv. Andr. ἀσαφῶς. Obscurely, darkly.

† Septuōsus, a, um ; adj. R. ex Prop. Dark, obscure.

Septūplex, icis ; adj. Bud. ἑπταπλάσιος. Seven-fold.

Septūplus, a, um ; adj. Dig. ἑπταπλάσιον. Seven times so much.

Septus, a, um ; part. à Sepio, Liv. περιφραγμένος, φραχθείς. Inclosed, invironed, guarded, beset.

Septūsis, se ; Bud. Seven pound weight.

Sepulchrālis, le ; Ovid. ταφικός. Of, or belonging to a tomb or Sepulchre.

Sepulchrētum, ti ; n. Catul. κοιμητήριον. A church-yard, a burying place.

Sepulchrum, chri ; n. à Sepelio, sepultum, Vir. al. ex Seorsum & Pulchrum, quòd propter recordationem doloris minimè pulchrum & jucundum sit, Fest. τάφος, μνῆμα. קבר A grave, a tomb, a Sepulchre : also a writing upon a tomb.

Sepulcrum, i ; n. idem.

Sepultūra, æ ; f. Prop. à Sepelio : ταφή, ἐνταφιασμός. קבורה. Burial, interment ; a laying in the ground ; a burying : also a grave, a church-yard, &c.

Sepultus, a, um ; part. à Sepelior : qui sine pulvi ; i. motu, Ilid. ἐνταφιασθείς. Buried, interred : also as it were dead : utterly undone and ruined, Ter.

† Sēpum, pi ; n. Non. à σήπω. τὸ σέβας. Tallow or Sewet al. scrib. Sebum.

Sequāciter ; adv. Arn. Consequently.

† Sequācitas, ātis ; R. ex antiq. following.

Sequax, ācis ; Plin. à Sequor : ἀκολουθητικός. That followeth easily ; flexible, pliant ; clammy, that sticketh to ones fingers like bird-lime : also climbing or spreading every way.

Sequela, æ ; f. Gell. ἀκολουθία, ἀκολούθημα. A sequel, a consequence or conclusion : also a train or retinue of followers, Amm.

Sequens, tis ; part. ἀκολουθῶν, ἑπόμενος. Following.

Sequentia, æ ; f. Fest. ἀκολουθία. A sequence or consequence : also that part of service in which the people answer the Priest.

Sequester, tris, tre ; vel hic & hæc Sequestris, & hoc Sequestre ; dicitur apud quem plures rem, de quâ controversia est, deponunt, Modest. à Sequendo, quòd ejus utraque pars judicium & fidem sequatur, Fest. μεσίτης, προστατικός, ἀφέκτικος. Indifferent to both parties ; belonging to umpirage, mediation or reconcilement. Sequestre tergum, Palm. ex Plaut. i. succidaneum.

Sequester, tra, trum ; idem. Pax sequestra, Vir. A truce.

Sequester, tri, vel tris ; m. Cic. μεσίτης. A Mediator or Umpire betwixt two parties ; a Sollicitor of a process, Quint. an Attorney, a Proctour : also a procurer of voices in the election of officers, or a corrupter of witnesses, Bud. a canvaser : also a broker, a procurer or bawd, Cic.

Sequestra, æ ; f. A procurer. Sequestra stupri, Apul. A Bawd.

Sequestrandus, a, um ; part. Tert.

Sequestrārius, a, um ; Pertaining to arbitrement. Actio sequestraria, Pompon. An action where one is used to deliver that which was put into his hands.

Sequestrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. A sequestration.

Sequestrātor, ōris ; m. Dig. He that putteth a thing into another mans hand.

Sequestrātorium ; n. Tert. A place of trust or store, to lay up things in and fetch them again.

Sequestrātus, a, um ; part. Pomp. Sequestred or put aside : also abandoned, Amm.

Sequestrō ; adv. Cato, ut Pecuniam sequestrò ponere, i. in manibus sequestris, donec sententiâ decisum fuerit, cujus esse debeat. To put it to arbitration, or depositе it in the Umpires hands.

Sequestro, as ; act. μεσιτεύομαι. it. χαραχοίζω. To sequester, to put into ones hand as indifferent ; to depositе or intrust a thing to be kept, Tert. also to prove or make good, Id. also to sever or put asunder, Cato.

Sequestror, āris ; pass. Dig.

Sequestrum, tri ; n. Lab. μεσιτεύμενος. An arbitrement. Pecuniam in sequestro ponere apud aliquem, Modest. To leave it in his hands ; as a party indifferent.

Sequior, ius ; ( Ulp. pro Deterior, us ; ) comp. à Secus vel Sequus, à Sequendo : deteriora enim sequi, meliora præcedere solent. Worse, the worser. Sequior sexus, Apul. The female sex. ∃ Melior, Stat.

Sequitur ; imperf. Cic. It followeth.

Sequiùs, pro Seciùs, Liv. item deteriùs, siniſtrè, Sen. χείρων, Gl. Otherwise : also worse, unhansomely.

† Sequo, is ; Gell. insequi facio, verbâ promo, loquor : à gr. ἔπω dico. al. à Sequor, i. verbis sequi & respondere.

SEQUOR, eris, ūtus ; dep. à Seco, as ; Scal. ex ἕπομαι, p in q verso, Var. ἀκολουθέω, ἕπομαι. דרף To follow, pursue, go after, ensue, seek for, or endeavour to attain : to hunt or chase, Ovid. also to obey ; to believe or trust to. Sequi aliquem à tergo, Vir. ex fugâ, Cæs. vestigiis, Liv.

† Sequuculcia, or Secuculcia ; Mulier quæ virum sectatur, G. ex Petron. corr. pro Secutuleia.

Sequutor, ōris ; m. verb. Suet. ἀκόλουθος. A follower : also he that fighteth against, and pursueth the Retiarius.

Sequutus, a, um ; part. vide Secutus.

† Serà ; adv. Vir. id. quod Seró.

SERA, æ ; f. Ovid. quòd foribus admota seratur, i. inseratur, sive infigatur. al. à σειρὰ catena. al. à שתר porta ; al. ex אסר, vel צדד. κλεῖθρον, ἐπίκλεισις. מנעול. A lock, a bar, a bolt. Sera pessulis, A Pad-lock.

Sērāphim ; plur. n. Hier. à שרף ussit : שרפים, qu. Igniti, flammantes, lucidi. An order of Angels, the Seraphims.

* Sērāpias, ādis ; f. Plin. 26. 10. à Serapide deo Ægypti. σεραπίας. An herb called Dog-stones or Rag-wort.

Sērārius, rii ; m. Vir. A Lock-smith.

Sērārius, a, um ; à Serum, Cato. Of whey, fed with whey.

Sērātus, a, um ; part. Vitr. Locked.

Sērēnātor, ōris ; m. Apul. epith. Jovis. Causer of fair and dry weather.

Sērēnātus, a, um ; part. Sil. αἰθερωθείς. Appeased, cleared.

Sērendus, a, um ; part. Tib. To be sown.

Sērēnissimus, a, um ; superl. βασιλικώτατος. A title given to Kings, and to some great Princes.

Sērēnitas, ātis ; f. Cic. αἰθρία, εὐδία. שהרת. Fair and clear weather, quietness, calmness : also Grace or Highness to a King.

Sēreno, as ; act. Vir. εὐδιάζω, αἰθριάζω. השביח. To make clear and light-some, to clear up.

Sērēnor, āris ; pass. Ovid.

Sēreno, Plin. sc. tempore. In fair weather.

Sērēnum, ni ; n. Var. εὐδία. Fair weather.

SERENUS, a, um ; à Serendo, quòd aptum sit id tempus sationi, Sip. vel à σηραίνω. צהר : al. à σειρὸς. à ξηραίνω siccum, unde ξηραίνω lat. Sereſco. Fort. ab εἰρήνη pax, qu. εἰρήνη. εὐδιος, αἰθριος. צח, טהור. Clear and fair, without clouds or rain, bright, Serene ; dry, Vir. Also cheerful, quiet, calm. ∃ Tranquillus, Cic.

† Sēreſco, is, ĕre ; Lucr. à Serus ; al. Serenus, i. siccus, sc. ξηρός. ξηραίνομαι. יבש. To wax fair and dry. ∃ Uveſco.

Sēreſco, is, ĕre ; Plin. à Serum. ὀρρῶδω. To turn into whey.

Sergia, æ ; f. Col. à quodam Sergio dict. A kind of olive.

Sēria, ōrum ; n. Cic. σπουδαῖα. Matters of weight, serious affairs, grave concerns.

Sēria, æ ; f. Ter. quòd serebatur ; vel à σήραιον defrutum, vel à יר olla : vel à Sero, quatenùs est Condio, M. πίθος. A wine vessel, a butt, a pipe, a jar.

Sēriātim ; adv. Med. Gram. In a row or range.

Sērica, æ ; f. Mart. sc. vestis. A silken garment.

Sēricārius, æ ; f. Suet. A Silk-woman.

Sēricārius textor, Jul. Firm. σηρικοπλόκος.

ἀφωρισμένως. לבד. Severally, apart, particularly, asunder.

Sēpărātim; adv. Cæs. Separately, severally: also in particular, Cic. ☞ Coniunctim, Id.

Sēpărātio, ōnis; f. verb. Hier. χωρισμὸς, χωρίσμος. A separating, separation, setting apart, putting one from another.

Sēpărātiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More separately.

Sēpărātor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that parteth asunder.

Sēpărātrix, ĭcis; f. verb. Hier. She that parteth.

Sēpărātus, a, um; part. Cic. κεχωρισμένος, διωρισμένος. Put apart one from another, separated, severed.

Sēpărātus, ūs; m. Parili ſeparatu, Apul. Separation or diſtance.

Sēpăro, as; act. ex Se & Paro; vel à Separ: χωρίζω, διωρίω. הִבְדִּיל. To ſever, ſeparate, part, divide, put aſunder, or one from another, to diſtinguiſh, or put a difference. Separare vera à falſis, Cic.

Sēpăror, āris; paſſ. Cic.

† Sēpătius, a, um; Gell. à Sepum, pro Sebum. Made of tallow, or belonging to tallow.

Sēpĕlibĭlis, le; Plaut. θαπτός. Buriable, that may be buried.

SEPELIO, is, ire; ivi, pultum; act. Cic. à Sepio, quòd cadaver terrâ, vel aljo materiæ genere circumſepitur, Perot. à שָׁפַל humilem eſſe, M. ut ſit humili loco condere. θάπτω, ἐνταφιάζω. קָבַר. To bury, to lay in the earth; to inter: alſo to make to be forgotten; to lay aſide, to overwhelm.

† Sēpĕlītus, a, um; part. Cato ap. Priſc. Buried.

SEPES, is; f. Cic. à Sepiendo, Perot. munimenta ſatorum ſunt, unde & appellatæ, Iſid. ſed contrà à Sepe, ſepio. Puto à σπὸς, i. ovium ſeptum; ut à λύκος lupus; κ in p verſo. φραγμὸς. מְסוּכָה. An hedge, fence, cloſure or mound. Sepes dentium, Jun. ἕρκος ὀδόντων, Hom. The row or ſet of teeth. Sepes viva, Col. A quick-ſet hedge.

Sēpes, ĕdis; adj. Having ſix feet. Sepedes populi, i. formicæ, Apul.

Sēpĭa, æ; f. Cic. à gr. σηπία. quòd atramento, veluti putridâ quadam ſanie, quam Græc. σηπεδόνα vocant, abundat, Geſn. Piſcis, qui atram cruorem inſtar atramenti per aquam effundit, cùm ſe peti animadvertit, & piſcatoribus iter præſepit, Fung. A fiſh called a Cuttle, whoſe blood is black as Ink, whereof alſo Sepia is taken for Ink, Perſ.

Sēpĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. Col. A little hedge.

Sēpimen, ĭnis; n. Apul. φραγμὸς, φραγμός. An hedge, an incloſure.

Sēpimentum, ti; n. φραγμὸς. גָּדֵר. An hedge, a pale, a mound, an incloſure. Sepimentum virgulteum ſive ſpineum, Var. A thorn hedge, or of buſhes; ligneum, Id. A fence of ſtakes, poſts and railes, or of pales; militare, Id. A Rampire; fabrile, Id. A ſtove or brick-wall.

Sēpĭo, is, ire; ivi vel pſi, itum vel ptum; act. Cic. à Sepes, q. d. ſepe circundo vel munio. al. à σπίω munio. M. à סוּב circumdare; vel à סוּף terminus: φραγμὸν ποιῶ, φράσσω. גָּדַר. To incloſe, to hedge in or round, to fence, to ſecure, to beſet or environ; to block up, to hem in. Sepire domum cuſtodiis, Tac. ☞ Circundo, munio, Cic.

Sēplor, iris; paſſ. Col.

Sēpiŏla, æ; f. dim. à Sepia, Plaut. σηπιάριον. A little cuttle-fiſh.

Sēpium, ii; n. Jun. σήπιον, teſtum, Col. A cuttle bone which Goldſmiths uſe.

† Seplāsĭa, æ; f. Auſ. id. quod Seplaſium. Alſo an Apothecaries or Perfumers ſhop.

Sēplāsia; n. pl. Cic. Forum Capuæ, in quo plurimi unguentarii, Feſt. à Sepum; vel σήπειν (σηθειν) & σπλάσσειν, quòd ibi ſuccos colent, & varia fingant; vel quòd in ſeplaſio eſt varia σῆψις, i. σήπεδὼν. A market-place at Capua, where perfumes and ſweet ointments were ſold.

Seplāsiārius, rii; m. Lampr. qui omnes ſpecies vendit: μυροπώλης. רוֹקֵחַ. A ſeller of ſweet-powders, ointments, &c. alſo a Gallant who goes powdered and perfumed.

Sēplāsium, ſii; n. Mart. A kind of ſweet ointments, perfumes, powders and paints.

Sēpōnendus, a, um; part. Liv. To be laid aſide.

Sēpōno, is, ĕre; ui, ĭtum; act. Cic. ex Se, i, Seorſum & Pono: κατατίθημι, παραιρέω. אָצַר. To lay apart, to reſerve; to put by or aſide, to diſtinguiſh or put a difference between; to ſend or put away, Suet. Seponere ſibi tempus ad rem aliquam, Cic. Inurbanum lepido ſeponere dicto, Hor. ☞ Occulto, recondo, Cic.

Sēpōnor, ĕris; paſſ. Liv.

Sēpōsĭtio, ōnis; f. verb. Ulp. κατάθεσις. A putting apart.

Sēpōsĭtor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that layeth aſide.

Sēpōsĭtus, a, um; part. Mart. κατατεθειμένος. Put apart, laid by: far out of the way.

Seps, sĕpis; m. σὴψ, à σήπω putreo, quòd quicquid momordit, reſolvitur in putredinem; unde tabificus Seps dic. Lucan. Dic. gr. & χελυδὼν. A venemous Serpent or Eft, upon whoſe ſtroke or biting the fleſh and very bones rot: alſo an horn-fretter, an horn-worm, Jun. alſo a kind of worm named Millepeda, Plin. G.

Seps, sĕpis; f. Auſ. ex Cic. per ſync. ex Sepes. An hedge.

Septa, ōrum; n. plur. à Sepio. A place of exerciſe in Rome called Campus Martius, Mart. Alſo a place in Mars his field, railed about, out of which people gave their voices, Liv.

Septangŭlus, a, um; Geom. ἑπτάγωνος. That hath ſeven corners.

SEPTEM; adj. plur. indecl. Cic. ἑπτά. שֶׁבַע. Seven.

September, bris, bre; vel hic & hæc Septembris, & hoc Septembre, Hor. Of or belonging to September.

September, bris; m. ſimpl. à Septem; ſeptimus menſis à Martio. μεμμακτηριών. חֶשְׁוָן. The moneth September.

Septemfluus, a, um; ex Septem & Fluo, Ovid. ἑπτάῤῥοος. That is divided into ſeven branches or ſtreams, that runs in ſeven channels.

Septemgĕminus, a, um; Vir. ἑπταπλοῦς. Seven times double, or ſevenfold.

Septempĕdālis, le; Plaut. ἑπταπόδαιος. Seven foot long, or belonging to ſeven feet.

Septemplex, ĭcis; adj. Vir. ex Septem & Plico: ἑπτάπλοος. Seven fold, covered with ſeven hides or skins, Ovid. alſo running in ſeven channels, Id.

Septemvir, ĭri; m. Cic. à numero virorum qui eo magiſtratu fungebantur. One of the ſeven Magiſtrates or Governours who ordered Plantations and the ſharing of lands among the Planters. Septemviri epulones, Liv. Seven Prieſts who took care of ordering the feaſts of their Gods.

Septemvirālis, le; Liv. ex Septem viris: ὁ τῶν ἑπτὰ. Of, or belonging to ſuch officers.

Septemvirātus, ūs; m. Cic. ἑπταρχία. The authority of ſuch Governours.

Septēnārius, a, um; ἑπτάδικος. Of or belonging to ſeven, containing ſeven in number. Septenaria ſynthеſis, Mart. Seven ſuits of clothes. Septenarius verſus, Cic. A verſe of ſeven feet.

Septēnārius, ii; m. Cic. ἑπτάς. The number of ſeven, a verſe of ſeven feet.

Septendĕcim; indecl. Cic. ἑπτακαίδεκα. Seventeen.

Septēni, æ, a; ἑπτά. Vir. Seven.

Septennis, ne; Plaut. ex Septem & Annus: ἑπταετής. Of ſeven years ſpace.

Septennium, ii; n. ἑπταετία. The ſpace of ſeven years.

Septentrio, ōnis; m. Cic. ſeptem ſtellæ, quæ triones, i. boves dic. ἄρκτος. עָשׁ. The North part of the world, the North coaſt, pole or wind; the ſeven Stars or Charles wain.

Septentriōnālis, le; adj. & Septentrionarius, a, um; Gell. ἀρκτικὸς. Of, or belonging to the North.

Septēnus, a, um; à Septem, Prop. ἑβδομος. Seven.

† Septiana mala, dict. à Septio libertino, eorum primo inſitore, inſigni rotunditate prædita. Rect. Sextiana.

Septicollis, le; Prud. urbis Romæ epitheton, à 7 collium numero impoſitum, quorum nomina erant Capitolinus, Palatinus, Quirinalis, Aventinus, Cælius, Viminalis, & Eſquilinus: ἑπτάλοφος. That is built or ſtands upon ſeven hills.

* Septicus, a, um; σηπτικὸς. vim habens putrefaciendi, Plin. 18. 9. Putrefactive, that maketh rotten or ripe, as matter in a ſore.

Septies; adv. Cic. ἑπτάκις. Seven times.

Septifāriam; adv. Non. ἑπταχῇ. By ſeven divers wayes; in ſeven parts.

Septifārius, a, um; Don. Of ſeven divers ſorts or wayes.

Septifluus, a, um; Petr. Arbit. id. quod Septemfluus.

Septifŏlium, lii; n. Offic. à ſeptem foliis: ἑπτάφυλλον. Sertoyl, Tormentil, Aſh-weed herb, Gerard.

Septiformis, me; Iſid. Seven fold, or of ſeven forms or ſhapes.

Septimāna, æ; f. Eccl. quòd in eâ ſint ſeptem manæ, i. luces, Iſid. ſimpl. à Septimanus, ut ἑβδομὰς ab ἑβδομος.

Septimānus, a, um; Arnob. One of the ſeventh band or regiment: alſo (of a child) that comes untimely, at ſeven months end, Mart. Capell.

Septimatrus, uum; pl. f. Var. The ſeventh day after the Ides of March. Vid. Quinquatrus.

Septimontiālis, le; ad Septimontium pertinens. Septimontiale ſacrum, Tert.

Septimontium; n. Tert. dies feſtus appellatus menſe Decembri, qui dicitur in faſtis Agonalia, quòd in ſeptem montibus unùm ſacra. A feaſt or Wake kept upon all ſeven hills at Rome.

Septimum; adv. Cic. τὸ ἑβδομον. The ſeventh time.

Septimus,

Sept[illegible] um; Plin. ἑβδομος. שִׁבְעִי The ſeventh.

Septingentārius, a, um; Var. quod ſeptingentorum numerum complectitur: ἑπτακοσιοστός. Of ſeven hundred.

Septingentēſimus, a, um; Liv. ἑπτακοσιοστός. The ſeven hundredth.

Septingenti, æ, a; Plin. ἑπτακόσιοι. שִׁבְעֵי מֵאוֹת. Seven hundred.

Septingenties; adv. Seven hundred times.

Septuagenārius, a, um; Of, or concerning ſeventy, or ſeventy years old.

Septuagēnus, a, um; Plin. 26. 10. ἑβδομηκοστός. The ſeventieth.

Septuagēſimus, a, um; ἑβδομηκοστός. The ſeventieth. Septuageſima Dominica, Eccl. The third Sunday before Lent.

Septuāgies; adv. Col. ἑβδομηκοντάκις. Seventy times.

Septuaginta; adj. indecl. Cic. ſepties decem. ἑβδομήκοντα. שִׁבְעִים. Seventy: alſo the Septuagint, that is, the ſeventy Interpreters of the Bible, who were in truth ſeventy two, to wit, ſix out of every tribe.

† Septuennis, e; adj. Plaut. Seven years old.

Septum, ti; n. à Sepio, Vir. σηκος. it. in genere φραγμα, φραγμος. גָּדֵר. A coat or fold of ſheep; any place paled in, or incloſed, a cloſe, a park: alſo a lock in a river, a weare, a ſluce, a floodgate or water ſtop, Dig. ♁ Septum tranſverſum, Celſ. the midriff.

Septunciālis, le; Col. ἑπτουγκιαῖος. Of ſeven ounces, or ſeven parts of the whole.

Septunx, ncis; f. Liv. i. ſeptem unciæ. ἑπτούγκιον. A weight of ſeven ounces; ſeven parts of any whole ſumm or meaſure: alſo a meaſure of ſeven drinking cups, Mart.

† Septuōsè; adv. Non. ex Liv. Andr. ἀσαφῶς. Obſcurely, darkly.

† Septuōſus, a, um; adj. R. ex Prop. Dark, obſcure.

Septūplex, icis; adj. Bud. ἑπταπλάσιος. Seven-fold.

Septūplus, a, um; adj. Dig. ἑπταπλάσιον. Seven times ſo much.

Septus, a, um; part. à Sepio, Liv. πεφραγμένος, φραχθείς. Incloſed, invironed, guarded, beſet.

Septūſſis, ſe; Bud. Seven pound weight.

Sepulchrālis, le; Dig. ταφικός. Of, or belonging to a tomb or ſepulchre.

Sepulchrētum, ti; n. Catul. τὸ μνημεῖον. A church-yard, a burying place.

Sepulchrum, chri; n. à Sepelio, ſepultum, Vir. al. ex Seorſum & Pulchrum, quòd propter recordationem doloris minimè pulchrum & jucundum ſit, Feſt. τάφος, τύμβος. קֶבֶר. A grave, a tomb, a ſepulchre: alſo a writing upon a tomb.

Sepulcrum, i; n. idem.

Sepultūra, æ; f. Prop. à Sepelio: ταφή, ἐνταφιασμός. קְבוּרָה. Burial, interment; a laying in the ground; a burying: alſo a grave, a church-yard, &c.

Sepultus, a, um; part. à Sepelior: quaſi pulſus; i. motu, Iſid. ἐνταφιασθείς. Buried, interred: alſo as it were dead: utterly undone and ruined, Ter.

† Sēpum, pi; n. Non. à σήπω. τὸ στέαρ. Tallow or Sewet, al. ſcrib. Sebum.

Sequāciter; adv. Arn. Conſequently.

† Sequācitas, ātis; R. ex antiq. Following.

Sequax, ācis; Plin. à Sequor: ἀκολουθητικός. That followeth eaſily; flexible, pliant; clammy, that ſticketh to one fingers like bird-lime: alſo climbing or ſpreading every way.

Sequela, æ; f. Gell. ἀκολουθία, ἀκολούθημα. A ſequel, a conſequence or concluſion: alſo a train or retinue of followers, Amm.

Sequens, tis; part. ἀκόλουθος, ἑπόμενος. Following.

Sequentia, æ; f. Feſt. ἀκολουθία. A ſequence or conſequence: alſo that part of ſervice in which the people anſwer the Prieſt.

Sequeſter, tris, tre; vel hic & hæc Sequeſtris, & hoc Sequeſtre; dicitur apud quem plures rem, de quâ controverſia eſt, deponunt, Modeſt. à Sequendo, quòd ejus utraque pars judicium & fidem ſequatur, Feſt. μεσίτης, περισπούδαστος, μεσέγγυος. Indifferent to both parties; belonging to umpirage, mediation or reconcilement. Sequeſtre tergum, Palm. ex Plaut. i. ſuccidaneum.

Sequeſter, tra, trum; idem. Pax ſequeſtra, Vir. A truce.

Sequeſter, tri, vel tris; m. Cic. μεσίτης. A Mediator or Umpire betwixt two parties; a Solicitor of a proceſs, Quint. an Attorney, a Proctour: alſo a procurer of voices in the election of officers, or a corrupter of witneſſes, Bud. a canvaſer: alſo a broker, a procurer or bawd, Cic.

Sequeſtra, æ; f. A procurer. Sequeſtra ſtupri, Apul. A Bawd.

Sequeſtrandus, a, um; part. Tert.

Sequeſtrārius, a, um; Pertaining to arbitrement. Actio ſequeſtraria, Pompon. An action where one is uſed to deliver that which was put into his hands.

Sequeſtrātio, ōnis; f. verb. A ſequeſtration.

Sequeſtrātor, ōris; m. Dig. He that putteth a thing into another mans hand.

Sequeſtrātorium; n. Tert. A place of truſt or ſtore, to lay up things in and fetch them again.

Sequeſtrātus, a, um; part. Pomp. Sequeſtred or put aſide: alſo abandoned, Amm.

Sequeſtrò; adv. Cato, ut Pecuniam ſequeſtrò ponere, i. in manibus ſequeſtris, donec ſententiâ deciſum fuerit, cujus eſſe debeat. To put it to arbitration, or depoſite it in the Umpires hands.

Sequeſtro, as; act. μεσεγγυάομαι. it. ὑποχωρίζω. To ſequeſter, to put into ones hand as indifferent; to depoſite or intruſt a thing to be kept, Tert. alſo to prove or make good, Id. alſo to ſever or put aſunder, Cato.

Sequeſtror, āris; paſſ. Dig.

Sequeſtrum, tri; n. Lab. μεσεγγύημα. An arbitrement. Pecuniam in ſequeſtro ponere apud aliquem, Modeſt. To leave it in his hands; as a party indifferent.

Sequior, ius; (Ulp. pro Deterior, us;) comp. à Secus vel Sequus, à Sequendo: deteriora enim ſequi, meliora præcedere ſolent. Worſe, the worſer. Sequior ſexus, Apul. The female ſex. ☞ Melior, Stat.

Sequitur; imperſ. Cic. It followeth.

Sequiùs, pro Seciùs, Liv. item deteriùs, ſiniſtrè, Sen. χείρων, Gl. Otherwiſe: alſo worſe, unhanſomely.

† Sequo, is; Gell. inſequi facio, verbâ promo, loquor: à gr. ἔπω dico. al. à Sequor, i. verbis ſequi & reſpondere.

SEQUOR, ĕris, ŭtus; dep. à Seco, as; Scal. ex ἕπομαι, p in q verſo, Var. ἀκολουθέω, ἕπομαι. דָּרַף. To follow, purſue, go after, enſue, ſeek for, or endeavour to attain: to hunt or chaſe, Ovid. alſo to obey: to believe or truſt to. Sequi aliquem à tergo, Vir. ex fugâ, Cæſ. veſtigiis, Liv.

† Sequuculcia, or Secuculcia; Mulier quæ virum ſectatur, G. ex Petron. corr. pro Secutulcia.

Sequutor, ōris; m. verb. Suet. ἀκόλουθος. A follower: alſo he that fighteth againſt, and purſueth the Retiarius.

Sequutus, a, um; part. vide Secutus.

† Serà; adv. Vir. id. quod Seró.

SERA, æ; f. Ovid. quòd foribus admota ſeratur, i. inſeratur, ſive inſigatur. al. à σειρὰ catena. al. à שׁוֹר porta; al. ex אסר, vel עֵצֶר. κλεῖθρον, ἔμφραγμα. מַנְעוּל. A lock, a bar, a bolt. Sera penſilis, a Pad-lock.

Sĕrăphim; plur. n. Hier. à שָׂרַף uſſit: שְׂרָפִים, qu. Igniti, flammantes, lucidi. An order of Angels, the Seraphims.

* Sĕrāpias, ădis; f. Plin. 26. 10. à Serapide deo Ægypti. σεραπιάς. An herb called Dog-ſtones or Rag-wort.

Sĕrārius, rii; m. Vir. A Lock-ſmith.

Sĕrārius, a, um; à Serum, Cato. Of whey, fed with whey.

Sĕrātus, a, um; part. Vitr. Locked.

Sĕrēnātor, ōris; m. Apul. epith. Jovis. Cauſer of fair and dry weather.

Sĕrēnātus, a, um; part. Sil. αἰθριαζόμενος. Appeaſed, cleared.

Sĕrendus, a, um; part. Tib. To be ſown.

Sĕrēnissĭmus, a, um; ſuperl. ὑπέρτατος. A title given to Kings, and to ſome great Princes.

Sĕrēnitas, ātis; f. Cic. αἰθρία, ἀνάπαυσις. טְהֹרָה. Fair and clear weather, quietneſs, calmneſs: alſo Grace or Highneſs to a King.

Sĕrēno, as; act. Vir. ἀνθηράζω, αἰθριάζω. הַשְׁבִּיחַ. To make clear and lightſome, to clear up.

Sĕrēnor, āris; paſſ. Ovid.

Sĕrēno; Plin. ſc. tempore. In fair weather.

Sĕrēnum, ni; n. Var. ὑπέρτατος. Fair weather.

SERENUS, a, um; à Serendo, quòd aptum ſit id tempus ſationi, Sip. vel à σειρᾶνος. à צָהַר: al. à σειρὰς. à ξηρὸν ſiccum, unde ξηραίνω lat. Sereſco. Fort. ab εἰρήνη pax, qu. εἰρήνιος. ἱλαρὸς. αἴθριος. טָהוֹר, צַח. Clear and fair, without clouds or rain, bright, ſerene; dry, Vir. Alſo cheerful, quiet, calm. = Tranquillus, Cic.

† Sĕreſco, is, ĕre; Lucr. à Serus; al. Serenus, i. ſiccus, ſc. ξηρὸς. ξηραίνομαι. יָשַׁב. To wax fair and dry. ☞ Uveſco.

Sĕreſco, is, ĕre; Plin. à Serum. ὀρρῶμαι. To turn into whey.

Sergia, æ; f. Col. à quodam Sergio dict. A kind of olive.

Sĕria, ōrum; n. Cic. σπουδαῖα. Matters of weight, ſerious affairs, grave concerns.

Sĕria, æ; f. Ter. quòd ſerebatur; vel à σείραιον defrutum, vel à סִיר olla: vel à Sero, quatenùs eſt Condio, M. מוֹג. A wine veſſel, a butt, a pipe, a jar.

Sĕriātim; adv. Med. Gram. In a row or range.

Sĕrica, æ; f. Mart. ſc. veſtis. A ſilken garment.

Sĕricāria, æ; f. Suet. A Silk-woman.

Sĕricārius textor, Jul. Firm. σηρικοπλόκος.

πλίνθος. A Silk-weaver, a worker in silk.

Sēricātus, a, um; Suet. σηρικοφόρος. Clothed in silk.

† Serichatum; R. ex Plin. A ſpice in Arabia growing with Cinamon and Caſſia.

Sēricum, ci; n. Plin. à σηρικὸν, lana, quam Seres mittunt, Iſid. Silk. ☞ Sericum (propriè) eſt ex arborum lanâ. Byſſus, ex lino; Bombycina, ex verme.

Sēricus, a, um; Plin. σηρικὸς. That is made of ſilk, ſilken, like ſilk.

Sēries, ēi; f. Cic. à Sero, i. necto. à שׁוֹרָה Bec. שׁוֹרָה, שׁוּרָה, συναφὴ, συμπλοκὴ. שׁוֹרָה. An order, a courſe, a proceeding, a train, a continuance, a row: an iſſue or deſcent of kindred. = Ordo, connexio, continuatio, Cic.

Sēriētas, ātis; f. Auſon. Seriouſneſs.

Serilla, ōrum; n. al. legunt Serillia, al. Serilia, Feſt. ex Pacuv. à ſero, i. necto & contexo: funiculi ſpartei. Cords of baſt or tow, to calk the ſides of ſhips with.

Sēriò; adv. à Serius, Cic. σπουδαίως, μετὰ σπουδῆς. In earneſt, ſeriouſly.

Sēriola, æ; f. Plin. dim. à Seria, æ; πιθάριον, καλπίδιον. A little pipe or butt.

Serior, us; comp. à Serus, Tib. Later.

† Serior, āris; To be laid in order or a row. Nec tenerè collocatur argentum, ſed peritè ſeriatur, Sen. i. ſerie eleganti diſponitur: al. leg. ſervatur: al. ſervitur, Lipſ. ſtruitur.

Seriphium, ii; n. Plin. σηρίφιον. abſinthium, à Seriphо inſulâ nomen habens. A kind of Sea-wormwood.

* Sēris, is; f. Var. σηρὶς. al. à Serendo. Chicory or Endive.

Sērissimè; adv. ſuperl. à Serò, Plin. Very ſlowly or late.

Sērissimus, a, um; ſuperl. à Serus, Plin. Very late.

Sērius; adv. comp. à Serò, Cic. ὀψιαίτερον. More or ſomewhat late or ſlow.

Sērius, a, um; à Serendo, i. aſſerendo, Perot. al. ex ſe i. ſine riſu, Non. σπουδαῖος. Serious, grave, earneſt, of importance or weight. ☞ Jocoſus, Cic.

Sermo, ōnis; m. Cic. à Serendo, quòd inter duos ſeritur, Var. vel quòd ſit ex verbis ſerie compoſitis; quòd eſt conſertio orationis, vel ſerta oratio, Serv. al. ab ἑρμὸς: al. ab ἔρω necto: λόγος, ὁμιλία. אֹמֶר, דָּבָר. A ſpeech, diſcourſe, talk, rumour, report, a bruit. Sermo eſt, Plin. The report goes. Sermo numeroſius, ligatus, aſtrictus, Id. Poetry; ſolutus, Id. Proſe.

Sermōcinans; part. Cic. Diſcourſing.

Sermōcinātio, ōnis; f. verb. Macr. διάλογος. Talk, communication; a figure in Rhetorick, Heren.

Sermōcinātor, ōris; m. verb. Tac. A diſcourſer.

Sermōcinātrix, icis; f. verb. Quint. διαλεκτικὴ. She that diſcourſeth or inſtructeth to diſcourſe.

Sermōcinātūrus, a, um; part. Cic. About to talk or diſcourſe.

Sermōcinor, āris; dep. ὁμιλέω. To talk, to commune, to diſcourſe, to parl. Sermocinari cum aliquo, Cic.

† Sermōnor, āris. ☞ Sermonari ruſticius videtur, ſed rectius; Sermocinari crebrius eſt, ſed corruptius, Gell. 17. 2. To talk, to confer.

Sermunculus, li; m. dim. à Sermo, Cic. λογίδιον. A little diſcourſe or talk; trifle tantle.

Sĕro, as; act. & Seror, paſſ. Col. à Sera; κατακλείω. To lock or ſhut.

Sērò; adv. à Serus, Cic. ὀψὲ. Late, in the evening; too late, Cæſ.

SERO, is, ĕre; sēvi, sătum; act. i. ſemino, à σπείρω. al. à זָרַע, vel זָרַע, שָׁתַל. σπείρω, φυτεύω. To ſow, to plant: alſo to beget; to ſpread abroad, to raiſe, to give occaſion of. Serere hordea campis, Vir. colloquia cum aliquo, Liv. crimina in Senatum apud plebem, Id.

Sĕror, ĕris; paſſ. Col.

SĔRO, is, ĕre; sĕrui, sertum; act. i. necto, jungo; ab εἴρω, ἔρω necto. vel à Sero, i. ſemino, quòd id ordine fiat. ἄπτω, ἀπτόμαι. To lay in order, to knit or plait or wreath.

Sērōſus, a, um; Full of whey. Lac ſeroſum, Jun. Butter-milk.

Sērōtinus, a, um; adj. Col. à Sero; ὀψιμος. That is in the evening, lateward.

Serpens, tis; part. Cic. ἑρπύων, ἑρπύζων. Creeping, going forward, ſpreading abroad by little and little.

Serpens, tis; m. & f. Hor. à Serpendo: ὄφις, ἑρπετὸν. נָחָשׁ. A Serpent, any creeping vermines that creep upon the belly, as a ſnake, an adder, &c. a dragon, Suet. alſo the ſhingles, Lucr. Serpens regulus, Jun. A Cockatrice; a Baſilisk. Serpens cæcus, Plin. A Blind-worm. = Cæcilia. ◊ Serpentes, i. Pediculi, Apul.

Serpentāria, æ; f. Jun. quòd ſerpentes fugat. The herb Dragon-wort.

Serpentigĕna, æ; c. g. Ovid. ὀφιογενὴς. Engendered or bred of a Serpent.

Serpentiger, ra, rum; Ovid. ὀφιοχόος. That beareth a Serpent.

Serpentinus, a, um; Juſt. ὀφικὸς. Of or belonging to a Serpent. Serpentinum oris ulcus, Cels. A tetter or ring-worm.

† Serpĕraſter, stri; m. De ſerperaſtris cohortis meæ, Cic. Al. leg. Cerberaſtris. A banger on; one who creeps about and rakes the countrey: qui ſerpit & raſtri inſtar radit, Turneb.

Serpĕraſtra, ōrum; n. Var. à Serpendo; Serpunt enim magis pueri, quàm gradiuntur. Bands, ſwathes or ſplents to bind childrens knees when they learn to go, to keep their legs ſtraight.

Serphus, i; m. R. ex Grat. σίφων. A kind of vermine like an Ant.

Serpigo, inis; f. ἕρπης. A tetter.

SERPO, is, ĕre; pſi, tum; neut. Hor. à gr. ἕρπω, ἑρπύζω. רָמַשׂ. To creep, to run along; to ſlide on the belly as Serpents do; to ſpread abroad by little and little; to augment or increaſe, Cic. Serpere humi, Hor. per humum, Plin. ad humum, Ovid. in immenſum, Cic.

† Serpulla; antiq. quam nos Serpentem dicimus, Feſt.

Serpyllum, li; n. Vir. ἕρπυλλον, παρὰ τὸ ἕρπειν à ſerpendo. A kind of wild or running Betony; wild Thyme.

SERRA, æ; f. Vir. à Secando, qu. ſecerra; à ſono, i. ſtridore, quem facit, Iſid. fort. à σειρὰ catena. ◊ Serra Vegetio dicitur, quæ à ſtrenuis directa ante frontem opponitur hoſtibus, ut turbata acies reparetur; acies exercitûs in modum ſerræ inſtructa, Gell. 10. 9. σφέλιον. מַגֵּרָה. A ſaw, an inſtrument of torture, by drawing of oxen: alſo a certain fiſh, Plin. alſo the Van of an army ſet ſaw-wiſe, Gell. Serram ducere vel reciprocare, Tert. To quatrel or wrangle.

Serrācŭlum, li; n. dim. à Serra, Dig. The part of a ſhip which [illegible] it, the ſtern; or, as ſome, a pole [illegible] it. Al. leg. Seraculum, al. Servaculum, &c.

Serrāgo, inis; f. Jun. σφέλιμα. quod ſerrâ deteritur, Cæl. Aurel. Saw-duſt.

Serrandus, a, um; part. Hier. To be ſawed in two.

Serrantia roſtra, Iſa. 41. 15. abſol. pro Serrata, vel quæ ſerrare poſſint, M.

Serrārius, ii; m. Jun. σφελεύς. A Sawyer of wood or timber.

Serrāta, æ; f. Plin. à ſerratâ foliorum texturâ ſic dicta; chamædrys, κάσσιφ, χαμαίδρυον. An herb called Germander, or Engliſh treacle.

Serrātŭla, æ; f. dim. Plin. Saw-wort.

Serrātūra, æ; f. Vitr. A ſawing.

Serrātus, a, um; part. Plin. σφελωτὸς. Sawed, made after the faſhion of a ſaw, ſnagged.

Serro, as; act. Sil. σφέλλω. נוֹרַר To ſaw.

Serror, āris; paſſ. Veget.

Serrŭla, æ; f. dim. à Serra, Col. σφελόνιον. A little ſaw, a hand-ſaw.

Serta, æ; f. idem quod Sertum. A chaplet, Prop. A line, a rope, Pallad. Sertam ducere, Scal. ex Var. id. quod Reſtim ductitare, Ter.

† Sertārius vervex; R. ex Plaut. corr. pro Sectarius.

† Sertor, ōris; m. verb. à Serendo, Feſt. qui ſerit quid, vel adſerit aliquem in libertatem; Adſertor.

Sertŭla Campana; dict. quod circa Nolam Campaniæ urbem laudatiſſima proveniat, Plin. 21. 9. μελίλωτος. The herb Melilot, or Claver.

Sertum, ti; n. Vir. corolla ex floribus conſerta, i. contexta; à Sero necto. στεφάνωμα, στεφανία. שׁוֹשַׁנִּים. A garland of flowers, a wreath, a chaplet, a poſie, a noſegay.

Sertus, a, um; part. Lucan. πεπλεγμένος. Set with flowers as in a garland; plaited, twiſted, wreathed, interwoven. ☞ Solutus, Apul.

Serva, æ; f. Ulp. παιδίσκη, δούλη. שִׁפְחָה. A woman ſervant.

Servābilis, le; Ovid. σωστὸς. That may be kept.

Servācŭlum, li; n. Ulp. dict. à Servandâ nave. ὁρμητήριον. A little haven for ſhips to ride in: alſo the ſtern of a ſhip or helm. πηδάλιον. or, as ſome, the anchor. Al. leg. Serraculum.

Servandus, a, um; part. σωτέος. That is to be ſaved, delivered or preſerved.

Servans, tis; part. Stat. σώζων, τηρῶν. Keeping, preſerving, ſaving, marking, obſerving.

Servantiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. cum Gen. Vir. Moſt obſervant.

† Servaſſo; antiq. pro Servavero.

Servātio, ōnis; f. verb. Eraſm. τήρησις. A ſaving.

Servātor, ōris; m. verb. Ovid. σωτὴρ. מוֹשִׁיעַ. A preſerver, a deliverer, a ſaviour. = Liberator, Liv.

Servatrix, icis; f. verb. Cic. σώτειρα. She that ſaveth, &c.

Servātūrus, a, um; Cæſ. σώσων. About, or that ought to keep.

Servātus, a, um; part. Ovid. σωθεὶς, τηρηθεὶς, πεφυλαγμένος. Kept, preſerved, ſaved, obſerved.

† Servi, ant. pro Servi. Servit ubi hordeum, Cato.

Servia, æ; f. Plin. 21. 2. Cum è ſoribus ſierent ſerta, à ſerendo Serviæ appel- al.

al. leg. Serivæ. Turneb. Serta : στέφανοι, a garland of flowers, a posie, a nosegay.

† Servibo, Plaut. in fut. pro Serviam.

Servientia, æ ; f. pro Servitus, Plaut.

† Servilicŏl æ ; plur. c. g. Plaut. Servile and base folk.

Servilis, le ; Cic. δουλικός, δουλοπρεπής. Of or belonging to a servant or bondage, slavish, servile.

Serviliter ; adv. Cic. δουλικῶς, ἀνδραποδωδῶς. Slavishly, bondman-like.

† Servilla, ōrum ; n. R. ex Liv. A multitude or company of bondmen.

Servio, is, ire ; ivi, itum ; neut. cum Dat. Cic. à Servus : δουλεύω, ὑπηρετέω. עָבַד. To serve, to do service or homage ; to give or pay attendance ; to be a slave ; to apply himself, to take care or provide for : also to be held in base tenure, not as free-hold.

Servior, īris ; pass. Sen. To be served.

Servītium, tii ; n. Ter. δουλεία, τὸ ἀνδραποδῶδες. עֲבוֹדָה. Bondage, service ; in plur. Cic. A retinue of bondmen or servants.

† Servitritius, a, um ; G. ex Plaut. i. servitio tritus.

Servitūdo, inis ; f. Liv. Servitude, bondage, slavery.

Servitūrus, a, um ; part. Ovid. That shall serve or do homage to.

Servītur ; impers. Cic. All is done to the furtherance of.

Servītus, ūtis ; f. Cic. à Servus : δουλεία, δουλοσύνη. עֲבוֹדָה. Bondage, slavery, thraldome.

Sērum, ri ; n. Plin. aqua lactis ; dict. quia serum, i. extremum est quod relinquitur post butyrum & caseum à lacte separatum. Ita possit duci ex שְׁאָר residuum. Rect. à gr. ὀρὸς vel ὄρρος. Whey, butter-milk, Plin.

Sērum, i ; n. Suet. δείλη, ὀψία. עֶרֶב. The evening, late of the day. In serum rem trahere, Liv. To put it off till it be too late.

SERVO, as ; act. Cic. à Sero, i. aſſero, libero, Perot. al. ab ῥύω, servo, custodio : σώζω, φυλάττω, τηρέω. שָׁמַר. To keep, preserve or save ; to store and hoard ; to reserve, to take heed, to observe, mark and weigh. Servaveris, Plaut. Take heed, & have a care what ye do. Servare aliquid ad reditum, Cic. in vetustatem, Col. = Retineo, Hor.

Servor, āris ; pass. Liv.

SERVUS, a, um ; Vir. à clausis seris, quando nox venit, Iſid. omn. ab ὑφηρός serus, per Apoc. quod ab ὀψὲ sero. ὀψαίτερος, χρόνιος. Late, lateward, late in the evening, nigh to night ; that is long a coming, or coming long after ; long a growing : also dry, ξηρός. also sad, doleful, Sal. Sera crepuscula, Ovid. Twilight.

Servŭla, æ ; f. Cic. δουλάριον, δούλη. A band-maid, a little maid-servant.

Servŭlus, li ; m. dim. Ter. δουλάριον. A little man-servant, a valet.

Servus, a, um ; cum Dat. Ovid. δουλικός. That is in bondage, that is bound to certain service ; of base tenure, Cic.

Servus, vi ; m. Cic. à Servando ; dict. quòd hi, qui jure belli possent occidi, à victoribus conservabantur, & Servi fiebant ; vel act. quòd servet, i. custodiat. ab ἄω, Scal. unde eriudo servitudo apud Fest. ϝερ, addito sibilo Ser Fo, ut scrib. olim, nunc Servus : δοῦλος, θεράπων. עֶבֶד. A servant, a bond-man, a slave, a drudge.

Sēsăma, æ ; f. Plin. σησάμη. A white grain or corn growing in India, whereof oyl is made ; Sesame.

Sēsămĭnus, a, um ; Plin. σησάμινος. Of or belonging to that grain. Sesamina ossicula, Jun. Little round bones under the joynts of the fingers and toes.

* Sēsămoides, is ; f. Plin. σησαμοειδής. quòd sesamæ sit similis. An herb that purgeth melancholy ; Catch-fly.

Sēsămum, i ; n. Col. id. quod Sesama. σήσαμον.

† Sescēnaris bovis jecur, quid sit vide Liv. 1. d. 8.

† Sescu, in compos. aliq. pro Sesqui.

Sescuncia, æ ; f. Col. ex Sesqui & Uncia : τρεμιμύγγιον. An ounce and half.

Sescunciālis, le ; Plin. δωδεκάδραχμος. Of or belonging to an ounce and an half, or an inch and half.

Sescunx, cis ; m. Col. id. quod Sescuncia.

Sescŭplum, pli ; n. ἡμόλιον, aliàs Sesquialterum. The whole and half as much more. Al. Sesquiplum.

Sēsē, Accus. à Sui ; ἑαυτόν. Himself, her self, or themselves.

* Sēsēlis, is ; f. Cic. σισέλις. An herb called Hart-wort. Leg. & Seseli, n.

Sesqui, indecl. τρεμμι, Gl. i. tria dimidia, i. tantundem & semi : qu. Semisque, h. e. & semis ; quæ respectum habet ad totum, cui semis superadditur, Voſſ. al. Sesqui, qu. semis æquum, idem enim est quod ἡμόλιον, i. semis & totum, Scal. So much and half so much, the whole of a thing, and half more.

Sesquialter, ra, rum ; Cic. ἡμόλιος. Containing one and an half.

Sesquiannōna, æ ; f. G. ex Veget. A souldiers pay and an half.

Sesquiannus, ni ; m. Bud. A year and an half.

Sesquicŭlĕāris, re ; Dolium sesquiculeare, Col. quod culei mensuram continet, & dimidii. Containing the full measure of a sack, and half as much more.

Sesquicyăthus, i ; m. Cels. A Cyathus and an half.

Sesquihōra, æ ; f. Plin. jun. τρεμιμόριον. An hour and an half.

Sesquijŭgĕrum, ri ; n. Plin. τρεμιπλέθριον. An acre and an half.

Sesquilibra, æ ; f. Col. τρεμιλίτριον. A pound and an half.

Sesquimensis ; m. Var. ἡμόλιος μήν. A moneth and an half.

Sesquimŏdius, ii ; m. Cic. τρεμιμόδιμνος. A bushel and an half.

Sesquiŏbŏlus, li ; m. Plin. τρεμιωβόλιον. Three farthings.

Sesquioctāvus, a, um ; Cic. ἐπόγδοος. Eight and an half. Rather one and an eighth part.

Sesquiŏpĕra, æ ; f. Col. τὸ ἔργον ἡμόλιον. A dayes work and an half.

Sesquiŏpus, ĕris ; n. Plaut. A task or work and an half.

Sesquĭpæan, ānis ; m. Cic. A measure consisting of one Pæan and an half.

Sesquipĕdālis, le ; ὁ τῶν τροχαίων ἡμόλιος. A foot and an half long. Sesquipedalia verba, Hor. Great, big, vaunting words.

Sesquipĕdāneus, a, um ; Plin. idem.

Sesquipes, ĕdis ; m. Var. τρεμιπόδιον. A foot and an half, a cubit, Col.

Sesquiplāga, æ ; f. Tac. A stroke and an half, more than a blow.

Sesquiplāris, e ; Duplares duas, sesquiplares unam semis consequebantur antonam ; Veget. 2. 7. vulgò Simplares unam, M. Souldiers that have allowance more than ordinary by half.

Sesquiplex, icis ; Cic. ἡμόλιος. Half so much again.

Sesquiplum ; Plin. id. quod Sesquplum.

Sesquiplus, a, um ; Quod ad alterum est sesqui, illud plus est imitatione Græcorum, quibus πλέος similis appendix, M. ἡμόλιος. As much and half as much, as six to four.

Sesquisĕnex, is ; c. g. Var. Over old, very old.

Sesquitertius, a, um ; Cic. ἐπίτριτος. Which containeth as much as another, and a third part more.

Sesquiūlysses ; m. Var. qu. Ulysses unus & dimidius, Turn. A very crafty and subtile fellow.

Sesquiuncia, æ ; f. Bud. τρεμιμόγγιον. An ounce and an half.

Sequiunciālis, le ; adj. Bud. Belonging to that weight.

Sessĭbŭlum, li ; n. Plaut. à Sedeo, sessum : ἑδώλιον, καθέδρα. A bench to sit on, a couch, a settle ; a close-stool.

Sessilis, le ; Plin. ἑδραῖος, καθεδητός. That sitteth ; easie to sit on : also dwarfish or of small stature. Sessiles lactucæ, Mart. h. e. χαμαίζηλοι, i. latæ magis quàm altæ, qu. quas sedere cogat natura, Voſſ.

Sessimōnium, ii ; n. ἑδώλιον. Deorum sessimonia, Vitruv. i. ubi simulacra reponuntur & qu. sedent. A shrine or place where the images of the Gods were set ; a Rood-loft.

Sessio, ōnis ; f. verb. à Sedeo, Cic. ἕδρα, ἐφεδρισμός, καθέδησις. שִׁבֶת. A sitting, session or assises.

Sessitātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cell. καθήλωσις. An often sitting.

Sessitātor, ōris ; m. verb. Sen. He that sitteth often.

Sessĭto, as ; freq. à Sedeo, Cic. πολὺς καθίζομαι. To sit often.

Sessor, ōris ; m. verb. Hor. ἑδραστής, ἐφεδρευτής. A sitter.

Sessum ; sup. Poll. ad Cic. εἰς τὸ καθῆσθαι. To sit.

Sessūrus, a, um ; part. à Sedeo, Hor. That is to sit.

Sestans, tis ; m. Plin. id. quod Sextans.

Sestantarius, a, um ; Plin. 33. 3. vid. Sextantarius.

Sestertiŏlum, li ; n. vel Sestertiolus ; dim. Mart. A little Sesterce.

Sestertium, ii ; n. unde plur. Sestertia, Hor. valet mille nummos sestertios, habétq; eandem proportionem ad libram argenti, quam nummus sestertius ad assem, h. e. ad libram æris : continent enim in se singula sestertia duas libras Romanas & semissem ; singulæ autem libræ drachmas vel denarios centum, h. e. sestertios quadringentos, duæ autem libræ & dimidia valebant sestertios nummos mille. It. Bipalium, quod vocant rustici Sestertium, Col. quòd esset latum duos pedes & semi, i. dimidium. It. locus servilibus pœnis sepositus, Tac. quòd ab urbe semitertio milliari abesset, Lipſ. A thousand sestertes, Poët. al. Sestertiùm in Gen. plur. a kind of mattock or pick-ax, Col. a place, where the gallows or gibbet stood, Tac. also a kind of veil or mantle, Suet.

Sestertius, ii ; m. ex Semis & Tertius ; qu. semitertius vel semistertius. Duponidius n. & semis antiquus sestertius est, Var.

quippe quòd tum duos asses & semissem valeret, uti Denarius decussim, i. decem asses: prout gr. dic. ἥμισυ τριτον pro δύο καὶ ἥμισυ, Prisc. Dupondius autem nummus cùm sit bilibris per duas LL. perscriptus; Sestertius nummus igitur per duas LL. & S. i. duas libras & semissem, nunc HS. perscriptus. Al. volunt Sestertium dici, quòd de tribus assibus semis deficiat. A sesterce, a coin among the Romans, in value the fourth part of a Denier, or two Asses, i. two pounds of brass coin and an half; marked thus LLS. the two LL. standing for Libræ pounds, and the S for Semi, half a pound; which afterwards by turning the two LL into an H. was thus marked HS. Sestertii ducenti, trecenti, mille, Gell. Septem millibus, Macr. Trecenta millia nummûm, Plin. i. sestertiûm. ◊ Centena, sexcenta, HS. Plin. subint. millia. Decies centena, Juv. sc. millia sestertiûm. Decies sestertium, i. Decies centena millia sestertiorum. Duodecies HS. Suet. subint. centena millia. = Nummus.

Sestiana mala; Col. A kind of apple so called of Sestius. Al. Sextiana, & Septiana.

† Sesum pro Sessum, sup. à Sedeo, Var.

† Set; conj. ap. vett. pro Sed: ex se, i. seorsum, & e, Scal.

Sēta, æ; f. Cic. à Sue, quasi suita, Isid. à gr. χαίτη, atque id ab heb. רושׁ filum. al. à sentis, quòd ejus instar pungat. שׁער. A brissle or big rough hair; a fishing-line, Mart.

Setaba sudaria, Catul. ab urbe Setabi Hisp. ubi optimum linum, Plin. Handkerchiefs of fine Lawn or Cambrick.

Sētāceus, a, um; Of brissles. Setaceum eribrum, Jun. A sieve made of hair, to range course meal.

Setacium, ii; n. Med. Gram. A Sieve or Tempse.

† Setamium; n. Non enim possunt militares pueri setamio educier, Plaut. Se, i. sine, & tamio, i. penu, à gr. ταμεῖον. ut antiq. sefrude, i. sine fraude. Al. leg. Setanio.

* Setanion, ii; n. Plin. 19. 5. A kind of Bulbus or Onion.

Sētānium; n. Muret. ex Plaut. genus Mespili. Al. leg. Setamium. A kind of Medlar: also March or summer-wheat, of three moneths growth, Col.

Sētānius, a, um; ὀνεῖον, id. propriè quod Hornotinus, à ὄνιτε Ionico, quod Doricè ὥρτες, Atticè ὥρτες. Of this year, of this spring, of three moneths growing. Setanius panis, Plin. Bread made of such corn. Setania cepa, Id. An onyon of this years growth. Setanium mespilum, Id.

Sētiger, a, um; Mart. σειραίχιος. That beareth or hath brissles on his back. ◊ Subst. A boar, Ovid.

* Setim; Bibl. ξύλα ἀσηπτα. שׁטים. A tree like a white thorn which never rotteth, of which the wooden work of the Ark and Tabernacle was made.

Setinum vinum, Plaut. A wine much commended by Augustus Cæsar.

Sētōsus, a, um; Vir. λαχνιστὴς. שׁעיר. Full of brissles, rough, hairy.

Sētŭla, æ; f. dim. Mart. A little brissle.

† Sētuōsus; ant. obscurus, Perot. rect. Sepruosus.

Seu, conj. disjunctiva, Cic. contr. ex Sive, ut Neu ex Neve: i. אוֹ. Either, or.

Sēvectus, a, um; Prop. Carried away apart or aside.

Sēvĕho, is, exi; Ovid. To carry aside.

Sēvĕhor, ĕris; pass. Stat.

Sēvērè; adv. Cic. αὐστηρῶς. Sharply, rigorously, severely, constantly, gravely.

Severiana pyra; à Severo insitore dict. Plin. 15. 15. al. Scauriana.

Sēvērior, us; comp. Catul. More severe.

Sēvērissimè; adv. superl. Cic. Most severely.

Sēvērissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most severe.

Sēvēritas, ātis; f. Cic. στυγνότης, χαυνοτομία. קשׁי. Severity, gravity, sharpness, sowrenes, Plin.

Sēvēriter; adv. Titin. id. quod Severè.

Sēvēritūdo, inis; f. Plaut. idem quod Severitas.

Sēvērus, a, um; Cic. αὐστηρὸς, χαυνότομος, στυγνός. קשׁי. à Sævus, Fronto. al. qu. Secus, i. juxta Verus; vel qu. Satis verus; Isid. qu. Semper verus, Perot. à σεβίζεσθαι veneror i. ut sit id. quod gr. σεμνὸς, Nunn. Rough, rigorous, stern, severe, hard, harsh, crabbed, Hor. sharp, sowre; demure. Severus in filium, Cic. ad judicandum, Id.

Sevir, īri; m. Inscr. Antiq. præfectus decuriæ Equitum Rom. qui omnino Sex erant. One of the chief Knights of Rome, six in all, one to each Ten: also a Captain of a Regiment of horse, Jul. Capitol.

Sēvo, as; σταίνω. To grease or dip in tallow. Sevare candelas, Col.

Sēvor, āris; pass. Col.

Sēvŏcātio, ōnis; f. verb. August. A calling aside.

Sēvŏcātor, ōris; m. verb. Hier. He that calleth aside.

Sēvŏco, as; act. Seorsum seu in alteram partem voco. κατακαλέω, χωρίζω. To call apart or aside from another, to withdraw, to sever, to put apart, Cic.

Sēvŏcor, āris; pass. Cic.

Sēvōsus, a, um; Plin. σταιτώδης. Full of tallow or sewet; greasie.

* Seutlomalache, es; f. Ruell. σεύλομαλάχη. The herb Spinage.

Sēvum, vi; n. Plin. quod & Sebum & Sepum dic. τὸ σέαρ. à Sue dict. qu. Sevum, quòd plus pinguedinis hoc animal habet, Isid. Tallow, sewet.

SEX; adj. indecl. Cic. à gr. ἕξ. שׁש. Six in number.

Sexāgēnārius, a, um; Of or concerning sixty; sixty years of age.

Sexāgēni, æ, a; Cic. οἱ ἑξηκοντα. Sixty, threescore.

Sexāgēsimus, a, um; The sixtieth.

Sexāgies; adv. Cic. ἑξηκοντάκις. Threescore times.

Sexāginta; pl. indecl. Cic. à gr. ἑξήκοντα. ששׁים. Sixty or threescore.

Sexangŭlārus, a, um; Solin. ἑξαγωνίαῖος. Six cornered.

Sexangŭlus, la, lum; Plin. ἑξάγωνος. Six cornered.

Sexatrus, uum; pl. Var. The sixth day after the Ides of March. vid. Quinquatrus.

Sexcēnārius, a, um; Bud. Of or concerning six hundred.

Sexcēni, æ, a; Cic. ex Sex & Centum: ἑξακόσιοι. Six hundred.

Sexcentēni, æ, a; Col. idem.

Sexcentēsimus, a, um; Plin. ἑξακοσιοστός. The six hundredth.

Sexcenti, æ, a; Cic. ex sex & centum: ἑξακόσιοι. שׁש מאות. Six hundred.

Sexcenties; adv. Cic. ἑξακοσιάκις. Six hundred times.

† Sexcentoplāgus; Plaut. qui sexcentas plagas accepit. He that receiveth six hundred stripes.

Sexdĕcies; adv. Plin. ἑκκαιδεκάκις. Sixteen times.

Sexdecim; indecl. ἑκκαίδεκα. Sixteen.

Sexennālis, le; adj. Plin. That is done every sixth year.

Saxennis, ne; Plin. ἑξαετὴς. That is six years old.

Sexennium, ii; n. Cic. ex Sex & Annus: ἑξαετία. The space or age of six years.

Sexies; adv. Liv. ἑξάκις. Six times.

Sexlignāni; m. pl. Plin. Souldiers of the sixth Legion, or of six Ensigns.

Sextans, tis; m. Plin. sextæ pars assis, i. unciæ duæ: ἑκτημόριον. The weight of two ounces, the sixth part of As or a pound weight: also a measure of two Cups or Cyathi, Mart. also two parts of twelve, a sixth part of any thing, Var. also two inches, Jun.

Sextantārius, a, um; Plin. ἑκτημοριαῖος. Of the weight of two ounces, &c.

Sextārius, ii; m. Liv. mensura liquidorum & aridorum; dict. quòd sexta pars congii, Isid. ξέστης. לוג. A Roman measure, about our Pint and a half, to wit twenty four ounces; though some account it but eighteen or twenty ounces. According to the former reckoning it is two pound Troy weight, or a pound and half Averdupois: with us commonly it passeth for a Quart.

Sextiana pyra vel mala, Col. à Sextio quodam sic dict. A certain kind of pears or apples of marvellous roundnesi. V. Sestiana.

Sextilis; m. Hor. dict. quòd Sextus sit à Martio mensis. The moneth of Auguſt.

Sextŭla, æ; f. Cic. The sixth part of an ounce, that is, a drachm and a scruple: also a measure of land, Col. ℨ Sextula, sexta pars unciæ; Sextans, sexta pars assis.

Sextum; adv. Cic. ἕκτως. The sixth time.

Sextŭplex, icis; adj. ἑξαπλοῦς. Fest. Sixfold.

Sextŭplus, a, um; adj. Hul. Six times so much.

Sextus, a, um; Plin. ἕκτος. ששׁי. The sixth. Sextus casus, The ablative case.

Sextussis, Bud. Six pound weight.

Sexus, ūs; m. Col. à Sexum, pro Secum, sup. inusitato à Seco. Est sexûs nota, quâ mas & fœmina disjungitur aut distinguitur, Scal. pot. à gr. ἕξις habitus, natura, Fest. Alii à Sessum, quòd sexus iis partibus distinguitur, quæ in sedendo occluuntur, Pap. vel à secus, i. aliter; quòd aliter se habeant mas & fœmina; unde & Secus ant. pro Sexus. τὸ ἦθος, φύσις. A sex. † Antiqui Sexus neutro genere efferebant, Non. Sexus virile, Plaut. The male sex.

S ante I.

Si; conj. à gr. εἰ, ἐάν, εἰπερ. ם. If, although, Ter. wheither, Vir. also for or seeing that, Cato. as soon as, Catul. O that, or would to God, Vir. after that, Vir. Si tamen, Ter. Provided that.

Sibi, Dativ. à Sui, à gr. οἱ, addito ι, σῖ, sibi, vel simpl. à σοῦ vel σφίσι. To σ for himself, her self, it self or themselves.

Sibilātor, ōris ; m. verb. Apul. He that hisseth or whistleth.

Sībilo, as ; Cic. à σιβιλίω, i. ignominiâ afficio, Sip. συρίττω, ποππύζω. שרק. To whistle, to hiss ; to hiss at one : cum Acc. Hor.

Sibilor, āris ; pass. Sen.

Sibilum, i ; n. Ovid. id. quod Sibilus.

Sibilus, a, um ; adj. Vir. συρίττων. That hisseth, hissing.

SIBILUS, i ; m. Cic. sonus exilis, qui fit ore compressis dentibus, & parùm diductis labris. à gr. σίβω, σύρω, ποιβάω. שרקה. A whistling, a hissing with the mouth by keeping the teeth close together ; a hiss : also the blowing of winds, Vir. also piping : also a kind of Serpent ; id. qui Regulus, Isid. Plausus.

Sibimet ; Liv. id. quod Sibi.

† Sibo, ōnis ; Gell. A kind of weapon.

† Sibus, a, um ; i. callidus vel acutus, Fest. à Sciendo ; vel à Chald. סכן jenex : vel pot. à gr. σοφός. uti Sispes dic. pro Sospes.

Sibylla, æ ; f. σίβυλλα. virgo fatidica, ab enunciandis deorum consiliis dict. qu. σὺ i. Διὸς βυλὰ, Dei consilium. נביאה. A Prophetess, a Sibyll. Vid. Propr.

Sibyllinus, a, um ; adj. Cic. σιβύλλινος. Of a Sibyl, or a Prophetess.

† Sibynam, voc. Illyrici telum venabulo simile, Fest. ex Enn. σίβυλα, ὅπλον λόγχην παραπλήσιον, Hesych. Scrib. & Sibina.

Sic ; adv. οὕτως. כן qu. sice, per Apoc. Sic. vel à gr. αὖως, αὖεν, pro εἶναι. vel ab Hebr. אכן quod idem, Scal. Likewise, so, thus, according or after this fashion. Sic satis, Ter. So, so.

Sica, æ ; f. Cic. à Secando, qu. seca ; vel à siccando sanguine ; vel ab ἀκὴ Dor. ἀκίς, ξιφίδιον. רצח. A short sword, a pocket-dagger, a ponyard, a stiletto, a skean.

† Sicāria, æ ; f. R. ex Plaut. A Wallet to put in victuals.

Sicārius, ii ; m. Cic. φονεύς, μιαιφόνος. An Assassin or private murtherer, a Russian, a Brawe, a Cut-throat.

Siccāneus, a, um ; Col. κατάξηρος. Dry of nature, that hath no springs to water it. Irriguus.

Siccānus, a, um ; Plin. idem.

Siccātio, ōnis ; f. verb. ξήανσις. A drying.

Siccātus, a, um ; part. Hor. αὐανθείς, ξηρανθείς. Dryed up, dryed.

Sicce ; adv. Cic. ξηρῶς. Drily.

Sicceſco, is ; incep. Plin. ξηραίνομαι, ἀναξαίνομαι. יבש. To dry, to grow dry.

Siccificus, a, um ; Macrob. ξηραντικός. Drying, or that hath power to dry.

Siccinē ; adv. interrog. Vir. ex Sic & Ne. ἆρα οὕτως ; οὐκοῦν ; Is it so, even so, or so indeed.

Siccissimus, a, um ; superl. Plin. Very dry.

Siccitas, ātis ; f. Cic. ξηρότης, αὐχμός. יבשת. Drineſs, drought, barrenness : also firmness or fastness, Non. toughness.

Siccitūdo, inis ; f. Col. idem.

Sicco, as ; act. Hor. ξηραίνω. החריב. To dry or make dry ; to wipe off : also to exercise, Non. to drink off, Hor.

Siccor, āris ; pass. Plin.

Siccŏcŭlus, li ; m. Plaut. ξηρόφθαλμος. That hath dry eyes.

Siccŭlus, a, um ; dim. Var. Somewhat dry, dryish.

SICCUS, a, um ; Vir. ξηρός, αὖος. יבש. à Succus ; quasi Exuccus ; vel à σικχός, Scal. à צחה aridus, M. vel à σικκὸς, ξηρός, Syracusiis, Hesych. Dry, withered, without moisture or juice : also sober, Plaut. and cold, Auson. ϕ In ficco, Plin. On dry land.

Sicĕlica, æ ; f. Plin. σικελικὴ, à Σικελοὶ, i. Siculi. ϕύλλον. An herb growing much in vineyards.

* Sicelion, ii ; n. Plin. σικέλιον. idem.

Sicĕra, æ ; f. Hier. σίκερα, à שכר שנרא. potus inebrians. All manner of strong drink except wine ; such as they call Stout, Stingo, Pharaoh, or Nippitate ; Mum, Sider, &c.

Sicĭleo, es, ui ; id. quod Sicilio.

† Sicĭlia, æ ; f. & Sicilum, li ; n. quod habet vim secandi, R. ex Fest. A knife, a rasor, &c.

† Sicĭlĭcet, hastarum spicula lata, Fest. ex Enn. αἰχμαὶ. à siciliendo, i. secando. The broad heads of javelins.

Sicĭlĭcŭla, æ ; f. dim. Plaut. à Sicilio ; ut seculæ, à secando. A kind of little knife, a play-thing for children.

Sicĭlĭcum, ci ; n. vel Sicilicus, Plin. à Siciliendo, i. secando dict. quòd semunciam secet, Fest. sive siciliat ; fortè à שקל siclus. The fourth part of an ounce ; two drams : also a measure of ground twenty foot broad, and thirty long, that is, a plat containing six hundred foot.

Sicĭliendus, a, um ; part. Var. To be cut or mowed again.

† Sicĭlĭmentum, ti ; n. Cato. à Sicilio. ὑπολειφθὲν χόρτου σπάσθεισμα. An After-math or grass that is cut or mown again after it was cut before.

Sicĭlio, is, īre ; ivi, itum ; Plin. qu. Seculio ; à Seco : χόρτον ὑπολελειμμένον κόπτω. To mow again that was not well cut before.

* Sicĭlisso, as ; Sicilissat, Plaut. Menæch. Siculè loquitur : al. leg. Sicilissitat. σικελίζει. To speak the language of Sicily, or like a Sicilian.

† Sicimina, um ; pl. n. Hier. שקמים. A kind of tree in Palestine, but after Hierom a kind of briar bearing berries.

† Sicinĭsta, æ ; m. Cæl. 5. 3. ex Se & cano ; qui seorsim canit. He who sings alone.

† Sicinnĭsta, æ ; m. Gell. 20. 3. à gr. σίκιννις. He that singeth and danceth together.

Sicinnium, ii ; n. Gell. ex Accio. σίκιννις, ἀπὸ τοῦ σείεσθαι καὶ κινεῖσθαι, Hesych. A kind of old fashioned dance, when they sung and danced together.

Siclus, cli ; m. Bibl. σίκλος, שקל id. quod gr. στατὴρ. A kind of Jewish coin, a Sicle ; in silver, two shillings and six pence ; in gold, about fifteen shillings.

Sicŭbi ; adv. Ter. à siquis & ubi, ut ab aliquis alicubi. εἴπου. Whersoever, if in any place, if at any time.

Sicŭla, æ ; f. dim. à Sica, Plaut. μαχαιρίδιον. A little pocket-dagger ; a dag : also the white Beet called also Sicelica. ϕ It. membrum virile, Catul.

Sicunde ; adv. Liv. i. si alicunde : εἴπου. If from any place.

Sicut ; adv. Cic. i. Sic ut ; ὥσπερ, καθάπερ, ὡς. כאשר. As, like as, so as.

Sicuti ; adv. Plin. ὡσεί. כמו. idem.

Sicyōnius, a, um ; ad Sicyonem (urbem Peloponnesi) pertinens. Sicyonia, Fest. ex Lucil. σικυώνια, sc. ὑποδήματα, Hesych. A kind of neat fine womens shoos. Calceus Sicyonius, Lucr.

* Side, es ; f. Mart. σίδη. רמון. A pomgranat-tree : also a pomgranat.

Sidens, tis ; part. Plin. Falling down, sinking, couching.

Sīdĕrālis, le ; Plin. ἀστρικός. Of or belonging to the Stars or Planets.

Sīdĕrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. ἀστροβολισμὸς, ἀστροβολία, σφακελισμός. Blasting in trees with an Eastern wind or with great heat and drought, as in the Dog-dayes : also a taking or benumming, when one is suddenly deprived of the use of his limbs, and of all sense ; a being planet-struck : also a sign of weather from the Stars, Firm. ὡροσκοπία. or rather the horoscope of ones nativity, the position of the Stars at ones birth.

Sīdĕrātus, a, um ; part. Plin. ἀστροβολισθείς. Blasted, planet-struck, taken, benummed.

Sīdĕreus, a, um ; Vir. ἀστρώεις. Of or like Stars, starry, shining bright ; high, Mart. heavenly.

* Sīdĕrion, ii ; n. Plin. σιδήριον, dict. quòd omnia vulnera ferro illata sanat. A kind of herb, that healeth all cuts and gashes. = Heraclium.

Sīdĕrites, æ ; m. Plin. 37. 4. σιδηρίτης, gemma ex genere adamantum ; à ferri splendore. A precious stone like iron, a kind of Diamond : also a Load-stone that draws iron.

* Sīdĕritis, ĭdis ; f. σιδηρῖτις. dict. à similitudine ferri. An herb called Wall-sage, or Stone-sage, growing on tyles and old walls ; Iron-wort : also a Load-stone that draws iron.

Sīdĕro, as ; act. Plin. i. sidere affloo, ἀστροβολίζω. To blast.

Sīdĕror ; pass. Plin. To be blasted with lightning or wind, &c. to be mildewed ; to be Planet-struck.

* Sīdĕropœcĭlos ; Plin. à σίδηρος ϕ ferrum, & ποικίλος ϕ varius. A precious stone like iron, with many and sundry spots.

Sīdo, is, ĕre ; sēdi (sīdi, Col.) sessum ; Vir. à Sedeo. ut gr. ἵζομαι ab ἵζομαι, ἵζάνω, καταφέρομαι, καταδύομαι. ירד. To sit down, to light as birds do ; to settle, sink or go to the bottom. Sidere ad ima vasis, Plin.

Sīdus, ĕris ; n Hor. à Sido, quòd sidera occidentia in mare subsidere videntur ; vel ab εἶδος ϕ forma, species ; quòd sit figura cœlestis : vel à סדר ordo : significat n. ordines stellarum : ἀστρον. כוכב. A Star, (partic. the Sun and Moon, Plin.) a constellation ; a sign in heaven consisting of many Stars ; a climate : also a taking, or blasting, Mart. also a time of the year. Sydus hyemis, Winter-season, Fest. per metaph. an honour, glory, renown, Ovid. Stella, ἀστὴρ. A single Star. Sidus, ἄστρον. A company of Stars.

† Siem, sies, siet ; pro Sim, sis, sit ; Plaut.

† Sifilātōres à Vet. dicebantur Sibilatores, Non.

† Sifilo, as ; antiq. Non. pro Sibilo.

† Sigala, æ ; f. Hier. fort. id. quod Secale. A kind of corn ; Rye.

Sigillāria, um; n. pl. Suet. erant festa Saturnalibus annexa, Macrob. festa servorum, Lucil. dict. quòd in his sigilla, i. parva signa missitabantur amicis. Festa sigillorum nomine dicta, Auson. A kind of Fair after the feasts of Saturn, lasting seven dayes, whereon little images, puppets, babies, and such like were given for Fairings; a time like our Bartholomew-Fair: also the name of a Street in Rome where those toyes were made and sold, Arnob.

Sigillāris, re; adj. Gell. σφραγιστηρι☉. Of or belonging to a seal or mark, or to the images before named. Sigillaris cera, Jun. Sealing-wax. Sigillaria opera, Suet. Puppets, Bartholomew babies for children to play with. ἀγαλμάτια, παιγνιώδη.

† Sigillāritia; G. ex Sen. Little images sent as tokens.

† Sigillāritius annulus, pro Signatorius, R. ex Cæl. 6. 12. A seal-ring with an image upon it; G. ex Vopisc.

Sigillātim; adv. Cic. qu. Singillatim, à Singulus; vel à Sigillum, h. e. per signum, additâ quasi notâ, Becm. καθ' ἕκαστα, ἰδία. Severally, particularly, one after another, or one by one. ☡ Cunctim, Apul.

Sigillātio, ōnis; f. verb. σφράγισμα. A sealing.

Sigillātor, ōris; m. verb. Dig. σφραγιστής. He that seales.

Sigillātus, a, um; part. Cic. ἐσφραγισμένος☉. Marked, sealed: also that hath little images set or wrought on it, Treb. Poll. ◊ Sigillata terra, Cels. A kind of earth digged in Lemnos.

† Sigilliŏlum, i; n. dim. Arnob. A little image.

Sigillo, as; act. Var. σφραγίζω. חתם. To seal, close or shut, to set a little image on a thing, to imboss, Cic.

Sigillum, li; n. dim. à Signum, Cic. σφραγίς, σημαντρον. חותם. A little image graven or molten: a seal or print, a signet; a medal.

Sigla, ōrum; n. pl. contr. pro Sigilla, gr. σημεῖα. al. qu. singla sive singula, quod singularia literæ voces totas notarent. Notes, breviatures; letters set for words, characters, short-hand.

* Sigma, ătis; n. Mart. σίγμα. dict. à similit. literæ Græcæ Σ, quæ olim eam figuram habuit, quam C Latina. A table, in fashion like a half Moon, that held commonly seven people. ⚌ Stibadium.

Signācŭlum, li; n. Ulp. σφραγίς. A seal; the print of a seal.

Signandus, a, um; part. Prop. σφραγιστέος☉. To be noted, marked, signed.

Signanter; adv. Remarkably, emphatically, significantly.

† Signārius, ii; m. G. ex Veget. idem qui Signifer. An Ensign or Ancient.

Signātè; adv. Macrob. Expressly, significantly, distinctly.

Signātio, ōnis; f. verb. Tac. σημείωσις, σφράγισις. A sealing, marking or noting.

Signātor, ōris; m. verb. Sal. σημάντωρ, σφραγιστής. A sealer or signer of wills, &c. a witness, that sets to his mark.

Signatōrius, a, um; Val. Max. σημαντήριος, σφραγιστικός. That is used, and serveth to seal with. Annulus signatorius, Alcīat. A seal-ring, a Signet.

Signatūra, æ; f. Suet. σημασία, σημαντρον. An ensealing; a Signature.

Signātus, a, um; part. σεσημασμένος☉. Marked, sealed, signed, printed, coin'd. Signati dicuntur Tirones, punctis inscripti, Vèget. Marked for war-service in the hand. Signata virgo, i. viro intacta, Non. vel gravida, Scip. Gent.

† Significācio, is, ĕre; Dig. id. quod Significo. Also to make an image.

Significer, ra, rum; Val. Fl. σημειοφόρος. Embossed, wrought or carved with figures or images on it. Signifer orbis, Plin. The Zodiack or Circle wherein the twelve Signs are, Plin. also that brings or gives the signal at publick games, Amm.

Signifer, ĕri; m. Cic. An Ancient, Ensign or Cornet, a Standard-bearer, one who carries the colours.

Signifex, ĭcis; m. Arnob. ἀγαλματοποιός. A maker of images.

Significandus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be signified.

Significans, tis; part. vel adj. Quint. σημαῖνον. Signifying, significant.

Significanter; adv. Quint. ἐμφατικῶς. Plainly, significantly, evidently, expresly, intelligibly, clearly.

Significantia, æ; f. Tert. ἔμφασις, σημασία. Signification, or significancy.

Significantior, us; comp. Quint. More significant.

Significantiùs; adv. Quint. ἐμφατικώτερον. More plainly and evidently.

Significātio, ōnis; f. verb. σημασία. אות. A signification, Heren. an advertisement, a sign or token, Cæs.

Significātivus, a, um; Cajus. σημαντικός. That doth signifie.

Significātor, ōris; m. verb. Marcel. He that signifieth.

Significātus, ûs; m. Plin. σημείωσις, σημασία. A declaring or betokening.

Significo, as; Plaut. Signum, i. notam facio: σημαίνω, δηλόω, μηνύω. הודיע. To signifie, to give a sign; to advertise, give notice, or make one acquainted, to give warning.

Significor, āris; pass. Cels.

Significus, i; m. Apul. id. quod Signifex.

Signīnus, a, um; à Signinis Italiæ pop. quorum opp. Signium. Opus Signinum, Plin. 35. 12. A kind of plaistering made with shreads and tiles beaten to powder, and tempered together with mortar; Plaster of Paris or terrace. Signinus rivus, i. ex testis signinis factus, Ulp. Signinum vinum, Cels. Signina pyra, Juv. Wine, pears of that countrey.

Signitĕnens, tis; adj. id. quod Signifer, Var.

Signo, as; act. σφραγίζω, σημειῶμαι. חתם. To mark, to sign, to seal, to grave, Vir. to coin, to stamp: also to signifie or shew by sign or token, Plaut. to write or declare, Col. to set on an inscription, Vir. to institute or appoint, Ovid. to design or pourtray, Var.

Signor, āris; pass. Ovid.

Signum, ni; n. σῆμα, Scal. qu. Stigmum, excīso t. pot. à Seco, unde & Segmen, ut à lego, legmen, à tego, tegmen. à σῆμα, vel δεῖγμα, M. qu. dignum. σημεῖον, χαρακτήρ. אות. A sign, a token, a mark, a seal, σφραγίς. חותם. a signet or sign manual, Cic. a badge or cognizance, a graven or molten image or figure of a thing, Vir. ἄγαλμα, a Standard, an-ensign, Cic. a banner, streamer or flag, σύμβολον. דגל. a sign in the Zodiack, a Signal, Vir. a watch-word, a prodigy or monstrous token of things to come, Cic. a Star, Poët. a point or prick, Geom. ◊ Signa Epicuri, Lucr. His writings, sentiments or remarques.

Sil, silis; n. Plin. 34. 12. vox peregrina. A kind of earth, yellow in colour, which being burnt maketh vermilion or red for painters use; a kind of Oker. Sil Atticum, Vitr. Beyond-sea azure. ◊ Also an herb, the same as Siler aquaticum, gr. σίσηλι, quod & σίλι.

† Sila, æ; f. ant. galea à similitudine dict. Fest. An helmet. Vid. Silus.

Silāceus, a, um; Plin. à Sile. Of yellow colour.

Silānus, i; m. Cels. tubus, fistula: ἀνάβρυσις☉. Silvanus, χρυσὸς, Gl. ab Arab. סילאן fluxus aquæ, M. A Conduit-pipe; a wild figure, or stone image at fountains, through which the water ran, Lucr. a Bos. ⚌ Saliens, tullius.

† Silātum, ti; n. sc. vinum. id. quod jentaculum, quòd jejuni vinum sili (i. herbâ seseli) conditum ante meridiem absorbebant, Fest.

† Silāus; Plin. 26. 8. A kind of herb.

Sile; n. id. quod Seseli, Fest.

Silēna, puella quæ est simis naribus; ab amatoribus ita dicta, Lucr. A snub-nosed girl.

Silens, tis; part. sive nomen, Vir. σιγάων. Keeping silence, still, silent, without noise or trouble; quiet, calm. Silens furculus, Plin. Not full spread, that doth not yet burgeon. Luna silens, Vir. The new Moon not yet shining. Silentes, Vir. Dead men; ghosts, ghosts.

Silentiārius, ii; m. Cod. A gentleman-usher, who seeth good rule and silence kept in Court: also a Secretary, Accurs.

Silentiò; adv. Cic. Patiently, quietly, without noise.

† Silentiōsus, a, um; Apul. Full of silence.

Silentium, ii; n. σιγή, σιωπή, ἡσυχία. דממה. à Sileo. Silence, quietness, stilness, solitariness. Silentium noctis, The dead time of night; Iunæ, Plin. id. quod Interlunium.

Silēnus, i. Simus, qualis Rusticorum Deus describitur, G. ex Plaut.

SILEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. Cic. ab S literâ factum, quæ silentii nota, cùm n. Silentium indicere volumus, S. pronunciamus; fort. à gr. σιγάω id. inverso γ, vel ab heb. שקה quietum esse. σιγάω, σιωπάω, ἡσυχάζω. חשה. To speak nothing, to keep silence, to be quiet, still or calm; to hold his peace; to be husht. ☡ Silet, qui desinit loqui; Tacet, qui nondum cœpit.

Sileor, ēris; pass. Plin. jun.

Siler, ĕris; n. Vir. à celeritate crescendi; à Salio, ut Salix; est enim pumila salix. A small Withy or Osier.

Silesco, is, ui, ĕre; incep. Ter. σιγᾶν γίνομαι. חרש. To begin to hold his peace, to wax still or quiet; to be husht.

Silētur; impers. Ter. They are silent or hold their peace; all is husht.

Silex, ĭcis; m. vel f. Vir. quòd silentem in se ignem habet; vel quòd de eo ignis salit, Perot. vel qu. secilex, quia sectus & lectus est lapis, Scal. rect. à gr. σκίλιξ, Gl. Cyr. πυρίτης. חלמיש. A flint-stone.

Silĭceo, ōnis; m. Cæl. One as hard as flint.

Silicerna, æ; f. Arnob. A kind of pudding or Bologna sausage.

Silicernium, ii; n. Var. σεσίκερνον, Gl. epulum funebre, sive cœna mortualis, qu. Silicenium, super silicem posita cœna, Serv. nam vett. pro cœna, cesna dixêre; unde unde s in r mutato Silicernium, pro Silicesnium, ut quod casmen antiq. nunc carmen. Al. qu. selucernium, i. ἀλυχγία, quòd natali die lucernæ accendebantur; mortuali id non faciebant, Scal. Silicernium, cœna, quæ infertur diis manibus, quòd eam silentes cernant, i. umbræ possideant, Donat. Est & farciminis genus, quo fletum (leg. cujus esu) familia purgare (leg. purgari) solet; dictum quia cujus nomine ea res instituebatur, is jam silentes (i. umbras) cerneret, Fest. It. sign. senem, Ter. qui silentibus umbrisque cernendus sit; Don. vel pot. qui silices cernat incurvus, ut gr. γέρων qu. γῆν ὁρῶν. Al. à Siliceâ, i. durâ hernâ, quâ infestantur ferè senes. A funeral supper or banket, offered to the infernal Gods, Don. and set upon a flint, Serv. or upon a tile-shard, Ovid. also a feast at funerals made for old folks, who were never like to see one another again, Non. ex Var. also a kind of pudding eaten for the cleansing of the family at any old bodies death; also an old man who stoops to the ground as he goes, Ter.

Silicernius, ii; m. Var. qui incurvus in terram silices cernit. A stooping old man.

† Silicesnium; antiqu. pro Silicernium, Var.

Silicĕus, & Silicius, a, um; Cat. πυρῶν. Flinty, of flint.

Silĭcia, æ; f. Plin. dicta, quòd inter Silices crescat: πλὴς. A kind of herb, Fenegreek.

Silicius; m. Plin. 16. 16. de molluſco; Nunc inter pugillares, lectoriumque silicios aut laminas varò spectatur. Del. leg. silaceas laminas; i. luteas: al. legunt sicilia aut laminas, i. secamenta, à Siciliendo; alii leg. sicilicos, i. segmenta & testellas; M. A piece of a carved bed.

Silĭcŭla, & Silĭcla, dim. à Siliqua, Plin. 24. 19. A little cod or husk.

Siliginarius, ii; m. Dig. σιλιγνοπώλης. A seller of fine wheat flower.

Siligineus, a, um; σιλιγνίτης. Of or belonging to, or made of the fineſt flower. Siligineus panis, Sen. White bread, or fine manchet. D. leg. Siligneus.

Silignarius; D. ex Ulp.

Sĭlĭgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. à gr. σίλιγνος. à Seligo dictum, quòd sit tritici selecta species, Ifid. fort. ab heb. שלג, nix, unde panis è siligine factus tener & niveus dic. Juv. A kind of corn with an upright ſtalk, and the grain very white: fine wheat, whereof they make manchet.

Sĭlĭqua, æ; f. pro involucro leguminum, Plin. λοβός. קוץ. à κάλυξ, id. Nunn. al. qu. ξυλικύη, i. lignea ſive dura vagina. It. ob ſimilit. ſum: pro fructu arboris Ceratoniæ, κεράτιον. Est & menſura, ſeptima pars unciæ, quantum granum ſive ſemen Siliquæ arboris valebat. The husk or cod or ſhale of a bean, peaſe or any ſuch thing: alſo the fruit of the Carob-tree, Carobs or Carob bean cods: alſo a weight called a Carat, uſed of finers of gold and ſilver, Plin. alſo the herb Fenegreek, Col.

Siliquæ, ārum; f. Jun. Capers.

Siliquāstrum, ſtri; n. Plin. quòd Siliquæ ſimile ſit: πτισσάνης, καρπεία, καλάμη. An herb with a leaf much like Alecoſt, but having a ſharp biting taſte; Pepperwort, or S. Mary herb.

Siliquor, āris; paſſ. Siliquas facio; i. e. Siliquis tegor: ἐλοβίζω. To grow in an huſk or cod. Al. To be unſhelled.

Siliquōsus, a, um; adj. Col. λοβώδης. Huſky, full of huſks or ſhales.

* Sillographus, i; m. σιλλογράφος. ſillorum ſcriptor, qualis fuit Timon ille Phliaſius, qui librum quendam convitiorum & irriſionis plenum, quem in Philoſophos edidit, Sillos inſcripſit, quo nomine Græci maledicta & irriſiones intelligunt. A writer of Lampoons or Libells.

Sillus, i; m. Gell. σίλλος. i. ἴαμβειον σκώμμα, κακολογία, χλευασμός, Heſych. A Satyrical verſe, a Lampoon, a Paſquil, a jeer, a taunt, a ſcoff.

Silo, ōnis; m. à Silus; ut à naſus naſo, Plin. σιμός. qui prominentia habet ſupercilia, à Sileno, quem hirſutis ſuperciliis fuiſſe tradunt; vel qui eſt naſo ſurſum verſus repando, unde galeæ quoque à ſimilitudine ſilæ dicebantur, Feſt. ἴξοφος, ὀπίγων. חרום. He that hath a noſe crooked upward, a camoiſe or ſnut-noſed fellow: alſo he that hath hanging eye-brows: alſo a ſtratagem or device of falſe ground with ſharp ſtakes underneath; a kind of Pit-fall; G. ex Sil.

* Silphium, ii; n. Plin. 18. 19. σίλφιον. An herb whereof the Benzoin comes.

Silva, æ; f. ὕλη. qu. à ſileo, ſilui, unde & per Dialyſin Silua dic. A wood. Vid. Sylva.

Silvātĭcus, a, um; Var. Of or belonging to the wood.

Siluncŭlus, i; dim. à Silo, Arnob. A little ſnut-noſe. Al. leg. Ciluncŭlus. Somewhat high-foreheaded.

Silūrus, ri; m. Plin. dict. quia crebrò σεῖεσθαι ἀγεῖν agitat caudam: σίλυρος, γλανίς. A fiſh much like a Sturgeon, a ſheath-fiſh or ſhad-fiſh.

Silus; naſus ſurſum verſus & repandus, Non. à gr. σιμός. A camoiſe noſe, crooked upward.

Sima, æ; f. Vitr. à σιμός. gr. ὄπαυδις. The blunt part of a pillar in the very top like a ſnut-noſe.

† Simbella, Sipon. id. quod Sembella, qu. Semibella. Half a pound: alſo a kind of gold ballance or weight.

Simeōnis herba, Jun. Wild mallows.

Simia, æ; f. dict. quòd Sima ſit, preſſis naribus, Serv. al. qu. mima, imitatrix; unde & gr. μιμὼ dic. Al. à ſimilit. humanæ rationis. πίθηκος. קוף. An Ape or Jackanapes: alſo he that endeavoureth to be like another, Plin. an imitator.

Simila, æ; f. Plin. medulla farinæ triticeæ, Dod. contr. pro Semidala, à gr. σεμίδαλις. סלת. Flower, fine meal of corn.

Simĭlāceus panis, Jun. σεμιδαλίτης ἄρτος. Simnel bread.

Simĭlāgineus, a, um; Sen. σεμιδαλίτης. Made of fine flower.

Simĭlāgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. id. quod Similæ; σεμίδαλις. Fine flower.

Simĭlāmen, ĭnis; n. Ovid. id. quod Simulamen. A reſemblance.

Similāris, re; Medic. ὁμοιομερής. in ſimiles partes diviſibilis; ut Caro, Os, Vena, Arteria, Nervus, &c. Of like nature or parts.

Simĭlior, us; comp. Liv. More like.

SIMILIS, le; à סמל ſimulacrum; al. ab ὁμαλός. al. ſimpl. à ſimul, M. ut ὅμοιος ab ὁμοῦ. ὅμοιος, ὁμοιότης. דומה. Like. Regit Dat. vel Gen.

† Similĭtas, ātis; Cæcil. ap. Non. Likeneſs, reſemblance.

Similiter; adv. Cic. ὁμοίως, παραπλησίως. In like manner, likewiſe; reſemblably, or agreeably.

Similitūdo, ĭnis; f. Cic. ὁμοιότης, ἀπεικασία. דמיון. Likeneſs, reſemblance, a ſimilitude, a compariſon.

Simillimē; adv. ſuperl. Cic. In moſt like manner.

Simillĭmus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt or very like.

Simĭlo, as; act. Mart. ὁμοιόω. דמה. To be like, to reſemble.

Simĭŏlus, li; m. dim. à Simius, Cic. πιθηκίδιον. A little ape.

† Simitu, pro Simul, Plaut. Together.

Simius, ii; m. Hor. πίθηκος. An ape, a counterfeit.

Simo, ōnis; m. Plin. à Simus. σίμων. That is born without noſtrils, that hath a flat noſe upward; a name they uſe to give to Dolphins.

Simo, as; Lucil. Simavit, i. depreſſit, Non. To make flat or ſnut.

Simōnia, æ; f. Eccl. à Simone Mago, quam Lat. muneralem ambitum voc. cùm quis Eccleſiaſticas functiones, quæ Dei dona ſunt, nundinatur. Simony.

Simōniăcus, a, um; Eccl. ad ſimoniam pertinens. Simoniacal.

Simplāris, re; vel Simplariŭs, a, um; à Simplus. ἁπλοῦς. Belonging to that which is but one, ſimple, ſingle. Simplariæ venditiones, Ulp. pro quibus venditor neceſſe non habet de dupla emptori repromittere. ◊ Simplares vel Simplariæ armaturæ, Veg. quas qui geſtabant, ſingulas conſequebantur annonas. Hoſting harneſs, ſo called, becauſe they that wear it, have but ſingle allowance.

† Simplātor, ōris; m. Fulg. ſponſi amicus, qui cum eo per convivia ambulabat: al. leg. Simpulator.

Simplex, ĭcis; adj. Cic. ἁπλοῦς. qu. ſine plica. Simple, ſingle, of one ſort, without any thing in it, uncompounded, unmixt, plain, downright, honeſt, without deceit; homely or home-ſpun. Simplex mors, Suet. An eaſie death, without pang or torment. = Verus, directus, Cic.

Simplicĭssĭmē; adv. ſuperl. Tac. Moſt plainly or ſimply.

Simplicissĭmus, a, um; ſuperl. Sen. ἁπλούστατος. Moſt plain or ſimple.

Simplĭcĭtas, ātis; f. Mart. ἁπλότης. פתיות. Plainneſs, ſimplicity, ſingleneſs, plain dealing, downright honeſty.

Simplĭcĭter; adv. Cic. ἁπλῶς, ἁπλοῦς. Plainly, ſimply, ſincerely, without any ill meaning; unwittingly.

† Simplĭcĭtus, pro Simpliciter, Plaut.

Simplĭcĭus; adv. comp. Quint. More ſimply or plainly.

Simplò; adv. Feſt. Simply, by one ſort.

† Simplōna, æ; f. Plaut. A drinking goſſip.

† Simplōnes, um; pl. m. Fulgent. They which eat and drink together.

† Simpludiaria funera ſunt, in quibus ſimpli ludi adhibentur, Feſt. Single ſports of dancers or tumblers.

Simplus, a, um; Plaut. à gr. ἁπλοῦς. ex Sine & Plus, M. Single in number, one only.

Simpulatrices, à Simpulo, mulieres rebus divinis deditæ, Feſt.

Simpŭlo, ōnis; m. Succ. A good-fellow, a Pot-companion. ◊ An attendant upon the Bridegroom, at the table, Feſt.

Simpulum, i; n. Cic. à Sumendo, qu. ſumpulum, quòd eo vinum ſumpſerunt mi-nutatim, Var. pot. ab heb. סָפַר, inserto m. Jos. Scal. à Simpo dim. quod gr. σίμπον vasculum quo gustatur vinum. κύαθος, Gl. An earthen chalice or cup or pitcher used in sacrifice before gold and silver were in esteem. Varro taketh it for a cruet with a pipe to drop out wine, or a tap or spigot.

Simpuviatrix, quæ porrigit Simpuvium, Int. Juv.

Simpuvium, ii; n. Juv. id. quod Simpulum. qu. Simbuvium, à bu, potus; vas in quo omnes sacerdotes simul bibebant; Vet. Int. Jun. leg. Sympinium.

Simul; adv. Cic. ἅμα, ὁμοῦ. יָחַד, à Similis; ut facul à facile: quòd similes simul congregantur. Together, all under one, at once; withal, moreover, both: also assoon as, Liv. that, partly also.

Simul ac, Simul atque; Cic. ὡς τάχιστα. As soon as.

Simulăchrum, chri; n. Cæs. à Simulo; εἴδωλον, εἰκών, ὁμοίωμα, ἐνδειγμα. צֶלֶם. An image of a man or woman, the proportion of any thing, a resemblance, a representation, a figure, semblance, counterfeit, picture or pattern of a thing, a phantom, a ghost, Ovid. = Effigies, Cic.

Simulacrum, i; n. idem.

Simulāmen, inis; n. Ovid. ἀπεικασμα. דְּמוּת. An image or resemblance, or representation.

Simulans, tis; part. That feigneth or counterfeiteth.

Simulantior, us; comp. cum Gen. Ovid. That better counterfeiteth or imitateth.

Simulātè; adv. Cic. ἐξομοιωτικῶς, προσποιητικῶς. Counterfeitly, feignedly, with a pretence only, dissemblingly, hypocritically. ℨ Ex animo.

Simulātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὑπόκρισις, προσποίησις, πλάσμα. חֲנֻפָּה. A counterfeiting, a dissembling, a colour, pretence or disguise.

Simulātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ὑποκριτὴς, πλάστης, ἐξαπατῶν. חָנֵף. A feigner or counterfeiter, a dissembler, a hypocrite.

Simulātrix, icis; f. A she-dissembler; a witch, a bug, Stat.

Simulātus, a, um; part. Tac. πεπλασμένος. בָּרַח. To be like to one, to resemble, Hor. also to feign, counterfeit, set a countenance or face on a thing; to pretend and make as if a thing were not, to dissemble or play the hypocrite, Ter.

Simultas, ātis; f. Cic. quòd minimè sint simul; vel quòd simultate loquuntur ad invicem, Fest. vel à Similis, ut à facilis facultas; quòd ex similitudine studiorum nasci soleat odium. ἔχθος, διαφόρησις, μησικακία, ἔχθρα. אֵבָה. Privy grudge, displeasure, secret hatred, dissembled malice.

† Simulter; adv. pro Similiter; Plaut.

Simulus, a, um; à Simus, Lucr. Somewhat flat-nosed.

Simus, a, um; Plin. σιμός. qui pressis est naribus, Serv. חָרוּם. Flat-nosed.

Sin, conj. Ter. ex κἂν, Sip. ex Si & Ne abjecto e. & signific. Si verò; vel à gr. εἰ, ἰὰν, Si, sin; εἰδὲ μὴ. But if, otherwise, if not.

Sīnăpe, is; n. Col. id. quod Sinapi.

Sinăpi; n. indecl. Plin. σίναπι, παρὰ τὸ σίνεσθαι τοὺς ὄπτας, quòd lædit oculos. Seeny seed, whereof mustard is made, mustard.

Sināpinus, a, um; adj. Belonging to mustard. Mola sinapina, A mustard-quern.

Sināpis, is; f. Plin. id. quod Sinapi.

Sinapismus; m. Jun. A salve made of mustard, to raise blisters or wheals upon the skin.

† Sināpizo, as; Veget. To do over with mustard.

Sincērè; adv. εἰλικρινῶς, ἀκραιφνῶς. Purely, entirely, Plaut. sincerely, plainly, without disguise, Cæs.

Sincēritas, ātis; f. Plin. καθαρότης, εἰλικρίνεια. Clearness, integrity, uprightness, neatness, sincerity.

Sincērĭter; adv. Gell. Sincerely.

Sincērus, a, um; Cic. ex Sine & Cera; ut Mel purum dr. quod cerâ non est permixtum. al. Syncerus, συνηρὸς, i. cum corde. εἰλικρινὴς, ἀκήρατος, ἀκίβδηλος, ἀκέραιος. Sincere, without mixture, open, free, ingenuous, plain, downright; whole or entire, pure and neat, Ovid. ℌ Porci sinceri, Plaut. That never went to brim.

† Sincinia, ex Sine & Cano: cantio solitaria, Fest. When one singeth alone.

Sinciput, ĭtis; n. Juv. al. Synciput; ex σὺν & Caput, vel qu. Semiciput, Phoc. ἡμικεφάλιον, Gl. Prisc. al. qu. semimum caput. ῥέγμα, βραχμός. The fore-part of the head: also a bog, cheek, sowsed.

* Sindon, ōnis; f. Mart. σινδών. ab heb. סָדִין. unde Angl. Sattin. quidam quòd primùm in Sidone urbe fuerit inventa. Very fine linnen, as cambrick, lawn, tiffany, &c.

Sine; præp. cum Abl. ἄνευ, ἐκτὸς, χωρὶς. בְּלִי. ex Si & Ne, Perot. à Se sine tactum est, ut ab iter, itiner, Scal. vel à Sino, ut à pono, pone, Id. Without, against or beside, Sen.

† Singilio, ōnis; m. Treb. Poll. à singulo panno. ἀκλείς. A kind of single garment without lining.

Singillātim; adv. dim. à Singulatim, Cic. Particularly, one by one.

† Singillārĭè; Cic. pro Singulariter.

Singulāris, re; Diom. ἀκόρεως, ἐξαίρετος. Singular, peculiar, extraordinary, matchless, unparalleled, choice: also single, one alone, one and no more, Plin. ἴδιος, μονοειδὴς. יָחִיד. also apart, or by it self, Suet.

Singulāritas, ātis; f. Scal. ἑνότης. Singularity, excellency.

Singulāriter; adv. Cic. ἰδιαζόντως, ἐξαιρέτως. Singularly, particularly, passingly, above all other, only.

Singulārius, a, um; Plaut. Single or solitary, one by one. Literæ singulariæ, Gell. Single letters.

Singulārius, ii; m. Cujac. A short-hand writer, that writes by Cyphers a single letter or character for a word.

Singulātim; adv. Cic. καθ' ἕκαστον. Every thing by it self, particularly, one by one.

† Singulātor, ōris; m. Scal. in Manil. κάλως. eques solitarius, qui uno equo servit. ℨ Desultor.

Singultans; part. Vir. Sobbing.

Singultātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Delivered with sobs.

Singultiens; part. Plin. Yeaning, bicketing, sobbing; clucking.

Singultim; adv. Hor. μετὰ λυγμοῦ. With sobs or sobbingly.

Singultio, is, īre; ivi, ultum; neut. Plin. λύζω. אָנַק. To yex, to sob, to bicker, to cluck as a broody hen doth.

Singulto, as; freq. πολυὸς λύζω. To yex or sob often: also to gasp, Stat. cum Acc.

Singultus, ūs; m. Vir. ex σὺν cum & Gula, quòd ferè gulâ fiat; vel. qu. sonus gulæ, vel pot. qu. Singultatus, ad singula verba vocis interruptio. λυγμὸς, λύζα. אֲנָקָה. The yexing or bicker; a sobbing, a clucking of hens with chickens, Col.

Singŭlus, a, um; Cic. qu. Sine angulo, quòd ea quæ unica sunt, nequeunt constituere angulum, Pap. qu. Semel unus, Var. al. ab heb. סְגֻלָּה peculium, i. quicquid peculiare est & singulare. ἴκας ℌ. כָּל אֶחָד. Every, each one, every several or by it self, one by one.

Sinister, ra, rum; Liv. qu. Sine astris, bonis scil. vel à Sino, quòd aves ad lævam sinant rem fieri, Fest. rect. à gr. ἀριστερὸς, λαιὸς, σκαιὸς, ἀδύνατος ℌ. שְׂמֹאל. That is on the left hand; untoward, awkward, unlucky, unfortunate, Tac. also lucky and prosperous, in soothsaying, Fest. ℌ Cum Gen. Fidei sinister, Sil. Perfidious or faithless.

Sinisterior, us; comp. Cic. More on the left hand.

Sinistĕritas, ātis; f. Plin. jun. σκαιότης. שְׂמֹאל. Untowardness, awkwardness, unluckiness.

Sinistĭmus, a, um; Sinistimum antiqu. pro Sinistro; ut Sinistimum auspicium, cùm aves à sinistrâ conspiciuntur; id autem dextro felicius habebatur, Fest. cujus rei hæc ratio, quòd vett. deorum sedem ad Septentrionem esse voluerint, atque inde eos in Meridiem spectare. Quò fit ut Ortum ad sinistram, Occasum habeant ad dextram. Indè sinistra auspicia fausta dici; quòd ea quæ oriuntur, quæque ortûs causam tribuunt, meliora sunt iis quæ occidunt, quæque interitum rei demonstrant.

Sinistrà; adv. Cic. i. à parte sinistrâ. On the left hand.

Sinistra, æ; f. Cic. sc. manus. σκαιὰ, ἀριστερὰ. שְׂמֹאל. The left hand, the part toward the left hand.

Sinistrè; adv. Hor. σκαιῶς. Unluckily, unfortunately, awkwardly.

† Sinistro, as; i. Per sinistram ducere vel dimittere; vel Sinistrâ uti, Plaut.

Sinistrorsum; adv. Hor. ἐπ' ἀριστερὰ. Toward, or on the left hand or side.

Sinistrorsùs; adv. Cæs. idem.

Sinistrum, i; n. W. ex Ovid. A rape.

† Sinistis; Plin. A kind of stone, R.

SINO, is, ĕre; sīvi, tum; act. Plaut. à Sine præp. qu. sine illo facere, Perot. vel à הֵנִיחַ, M. vel ab ἀνὰ ἀνῶ sino; ut ab ἄνευ sine: vel à σίνω noceo, sensu penè contrario. ἐάω, ἀφίημι, συγχωρῶ. To suffer, to permit, to give one leave to do a thing, or let one do it.

Sinōpĭcus, a, um; Vitr. σινωπικός. Of or belonging to Sinoper or ruddle.

* Sinōpis, idis; f. σινωπὶς. שֹׁשָׁן. rubricæ genus præstantissimum, quod circa Sinopen Ponti urbem effodiebatur, unde & nomen, Plin. 33. 6. A red stone commonly called Sinoper or ruddle. = Terra Pontica.

† Sinōris biga; currûs genus; R. ex Alex. ab Alex.

Sinuāmen, inis; n. An hollowness or bending. Riparum sinuamina, Prud.

Sinuo

turnings or reaches in rivers.

Sinuātio, ōnis; f. verb. A bending or bowing.

Sinuātus, a, um; part. Ovid. καλαμώδης. Crooked, bent, gathered round.

Sinum, ni; n. à Sinus, ob concavitatis similitud. Var. à σὺν & ὀθέω vortex, Turn. vel quòd in eo lac circumagitur. A tub to put under the tap to receive the droppings, a churn to churn butter, a bowl to drink wine or milk in; a milk-pail.

Sinuo, as; act. Vir. à Sinus: κυρτόω, καμπύλω, καλαμῶ. כפף. To turn or wind in the form of a Serpent, to bend or bow, to wind round: also to make hollow, as in a Fistula, or such like sore, Cels.

Sinuor, āris; pass. Ovid.

Sinuōsē; adv. Gell. σκολιῶς. Intricately.

Sinuōsiùs; adv. comp. Gell. More intricately.

Sinuōsus, a, um; Vir. καλαμώδης. That ha h many turnings, windings or bendings, crooked, full of crinkles crankles, bowed round.

Sinus, ūs; m. Vir. id. quod Sinum.

SINUS, ûs; à Cingo; vel à κατὰ σὺν, quòd inanis sit ac desidat: al. à σὺν & ὀθέω gyrus: al. ex חוּן: κόλπος, ὀγκώδης, κοῖλος. חוּן. A bosome, the running or hollowness of water-banks, the hole or hollow of the eyes, Serv. a bosom or gulf of the sea, Plin. a Bay; a lap, plait or fold in garments, Vir. properly the large lappet of a gown, which they used to cast over the shoulder, Sen. also the sail of a ship, Vir. the bow of a net; a Sinet; a cod-piece or placket, Juv. an apron, Jum. a round ring of hair, Ovid. the middle of a Saluſt. the hole or hollow or bottom of an impoſthume or ſore, Cels. In tacito gaudere ſinu, Tibul. To laugh in ones ſleeve.

*Sion; n. Plin. 22. 22. τὸ σῖον. dict. à concuſſu, quod Græc. σείειν. dic. nam excutiendi vim nactum eſt, utpote quòd renibus calculos emolliat, urinam & menſes exigat, Ruell. An herb, called Water-parſley.

Sipārium, ii; n. Juv. à Separatione, Iſid. al. à Sipo, as; dict. quòd velandi causâ obſiparetur, i. objiceretur: τὸ ἀφετήριον. סכך. A curtain or veil drawn when the Players come upon the ſtage: vide Supparum. ℨ Aulæum tragicum, Siparium ſcenicum vel comicum, Apul.

Sipho, ōnis; Jun. An inſtrument of braſs ſerving to caſt up water to quench fire; a water-ſquirt.

† Sipho, as; id. quod Sipo; G. ex Feſt. σωδίζω. To ſprinkle or ſcatter abroad.

* Siphon, ōnis; m. Juv. σῖφων. צנור. A cock or pipe in a conduit, the tap or faucet whereout liquor runneth: alſo a funnel or tunnel, a quill or pipe to ſuck wine; a ſyringe, a ſquirt. Incendiarii ſiphones, Jun. Fire-buckets.

Siphra, æ; f. Arithm. à סָפַר numerui, chald. סַפְרָא. quòd ſuppleat locum numeri, cùm per ſe nihil ſit; vel à סַפְרָה Arab. defectus; ὐδὲν, nihil, Schindl. A cypher, a nought.

Siphuncŭlus, i; m. dim. Pl. jun. σιφώνιον. A gimblet, a little cock or tap: alſo a pot-gun made of Elder, or ſuch like, Plaut.

* Siphylis; f. Jun. σιφυλὶς. The French-pox.

† Sipo, as; antiqu. in uſu erat pro Spargere, unde in compoſ. diſſipo, inſipo, obſipo. à σίπειν, unde σίφων Sipho vel fiſtula, quæ aquam Sipat, i. iacit & ſpargit. Sipare eſt farinam ad faciendam pultem immittere. סולת. To ſprinkle, to ſcatter abroad.

Siquando; adv. Ter. εἴποτε. If at any time.

Siquidem; conj. ex Si & quidem; εἴπερ, ἐπειδή. כי. If ſo be, for as much as.

Siquis, qua, quod & quid: εἴτις, ἐάν τις. If any one.

† Sirăpa, æ; f. Jun. ex Col. συρόπιον. A ſyrup or pickle of Olives.

† Sireмps, antiq. pro Eadem, vel proinde qu. Similis res ipſa. The ſame, all alike, of the ſame nature. Sireмps lex, vett. Inſcr. & in Abl. Sirempse legem juſſit eſſe Jupiter, Plaut. fort. Sirempſe lege.

* Siren, ēnis; f. σειρὴν, ἀπὸ τῦ σείρειν (vel σύρειν) h. e. trahendo; vel παρὰ τὸ σείρειν, i. à decipiendo; vel ἀπὸ τ᾽ σειρᾶς, quod ſignif. catenam & vinculum; propterea quòd advenas incautos amore ſui, veluti vinculo quodam injecto, retinebant: Omn. à שִׁיר cecinit; nam ſuavitate cantûs ſui trahebant prætervigantes. A Mermaid: alſo a young Drone-bee.

* Siriăſis, is; f. Plin. σειρίασις, ἀπὸ τῦ σειρᾶν, i. capitis inflammatione laborare. A fault in trees, when by exceſſive heat they are ſcorcht and burnt: alſo a diſeaſe in children, proceeding of the inflammation of the brain.

† Sirĭcum, ci; n. corr. pro Sericum.

† Siris, pro Siveris, à Sino, Plaut.

Sirius; m. Vir. σείριος, ἀπὸ τῦ σειραίνειν, h. e. à ſiccando, propterea quòd & fluvios & fontes nimio calore exiccet; vel ἀπὸ τῦ σειρᾶν h. e. ab evacuando, quòd corpora noſtra ſudoribus evacuet. The Dog-ſtar: alſo the Sun, Vir.

Sirpātus, a, um; part. i. alligatus, Var. Bound, hooped.

Sirpe, is; n. Plaut. à gr. σίλφιον, planta, cujus ſuccus Laſerpitium, qu. lac ſirpitium dic. A plant growing in Cyrene, yielding out of the ſtem an odoriferous liquor, Solin.

Sirpea, æ; f. Ovid. vehes quæ virgis ſirpatur, i. colligando implicatur, Var. ῥοφεῖς. A matt or other thing of ruſhes; a kipers weel or bow-net of ruſhes, Plaut. alſo a basket, Arnob. alſo a tumbrel ſided with hurdles, mats, &c. Salm.

Sirpĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Sirpus, caniſtri genus, ſive copbinus è vimine contextus. A twig-basket, a weel, Plaut. ℌ It. falcis genus; dim. à Sarpa, ἄρπη, vel à Sarpex, quod ab ἕρπειν. A kind of pruning-hook.

Sirpĭcŭlum, i; n. Col. A twig-basket.

Sirpĭcŭlus, i; m. dim. Var. A little twig in a dray or ſled.

Sirpo, as; act. i. ligo; à Sirpus, Var. To bind, to pleat with ruſhes or twigs.

Sirpus, i; m. Var. à gr. σίτ᾽ θ᾽, per metath. i. σπλῆμα. A twig or ruſh or the like, of which mats are made: alſo a mats it ſelf; a weel to catch fiſh, Plaut. alſo a riddle or puzling queſtion, Gell. Vid. Scirpus.

Sirūpus, i; m. συρόπιον. à שרב bibere. Sirup. leg. Syrupus.

Sirus, ſive Sirrhus, ri; m. Col. σειρὸς & σιρρὸς. A cave in the ground to keep corn in, Var.

Sis, ſync. pro Si vis; particula uſurpata ad imperium leniendum, Don. εἰ βούλει. If thou wilt.

Sisăra, æ; f. Plin. 11. 16. ἰρύσιμον. Heath.

Siſer, ĕris; n. & in m. g. Nemo tres ſiſeres edendo continuaret, Plin. 20. 5. σίσαρον. The ſkirwick, or ſkirret root, the white carrot or yellow Parſnip.

† Siſpes, pro Soſpes, antiqu. Feſt.

† Siſtartia, æ; f. Bibl. Panis deficit in Siſtartiis noſtris, 1 Sam. 9. 7. vaſculum in quo portatur cibus, Pap. ſaeculus, pera, Hug. al. leg. Ciſtartia, qu. κίστη ἄρτων. al. Ciſtarcia, ex ciſta & arca. Fort. pro Sitarcia, σιταρκία, annona; per meton. ſaccus in quo ponitur. A knapſack, &c.

† Siſtento; Tac. pro Suſtento, vel pro Oſtento, Lipſ.

Siſto, is, ĕre; ſtĭti, ſtātum; neut. & act. Sto & facio ſtare, ex ἵστω. ἱστάνω, ἵστημι. הֶעֱמִיד. To make to tarry or ſtand ſtill, to retain or keep back, to ſtop, Plin. to ſtay, to ſettle, Suet. to preſent or bring before, παριστάνω. Neut. To appear in perſon, Cic. to make his appearance, to pitch or light down, Plaut. to ſtrengthen or ſupport. στηρίζειν. Siſtere judicio, in judicio, in judicium, Ulp.

Siſtor, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Siſtrātus, ûs; m. Mart. The playing on a timbrel.

Siſtrātus, a, um; Mart. Armed with a timbrel.

Siſtrum, tri; n. Ovid. σεῖστρον, ἀπὸ τῦ σείειν, à quatiendo, eò quòd concuſſum argutum ſonorámque ederet tinnitum. An inſtrument uſed in battel inſtead of a trumpet: alſo a brazen or iron timbrel, much like to the kettle-drum, Jun. ℨ Siſtrum, Iſiacorum inſigne; Cymbalum, ſacerdotum matris Deæ.

† Siſurna, æ; f. Amm. σισύρνα, Schol. Ariſtoph. al. σισύρα, veſtis è pellibus ovium lanatis facta. A garment made of ſheeps skins with the wool on.

* Siſymbrium, ii; n. Ovid. σισύμβριον. Water-mint, Spear-mint, Balſamint. Aquaticum ſiſymbrium, Jun. Water-creſſes.

* Siſyrinchion, ii; n. Plin. 19. 6. σισυρίγχιον, bulboſa herba, dict. quòd ex diversis pelliculis gr. σισύραις, conſtet. A kind of great onion.

Sitānius, a, um; σιτανίθ᾽, i. σιτώδης. qu. σῖτ᾽ θ᾽ νὶ θ᾽. Of or belonging to a kind of wheat that groweth in the ſpace of three moneths. Sitanius panis, Plin. Bread made of ſuch wheat.

* Sitarchia, æ; f. Apul. σιταρχία, ἀπὸ τῦ σίτου ἄρχειν. annonæ præfectura. The office to provide corn and victual ſufficient. An allowance of proviſion for ſouldiers. σιτηρέσιον.

Sitarcia, æ; f. Apul. σιταρκία, i. annonæ ſufficientia.

Sitella, æ; f. dim. à Situla, Cic. ὑδρία, κρᾶδιον θ᾽, καλπίδιον. A little pot wherein lots are kept, a Ballot-box.

Sitīcen, inis; c. g. Cato; qui apud ſitos, i. vitâ functos & ſepultos, canere ſolitus eſſet, Gell. κιχαύλης. He that did blow the trumpet, or ſing to a pipe when men were buried.

Sitĭcŭlōſus, a, um; Plin. δι᾽ψῶθ᾽ & δι᾽ψαλέος. That which cauſeth thirſt: alſo thirſty, barren, dry.

Sitiens, tis; part. & adj. cum Gen. δι᾽ψῶν. Thirſting, dry; covetous, deſirous. Luna ſitiens, Plin. The Moon in conjunction.

Sitienter; adv. Cic. δι᾽ψαλέως. Deſirouſly, greedily, earneſtly.

Sitio,

Sitio, is, ire; Ivi, itum; act. Cic. διψάω. צָמָא. à σῖτος cibum cupio, quia è cibo oritur sitis, Scal. à שְׁתִיָּה bibi. To be thirsty: also to desire and covet earnestly.

Sitior, iris; pass. Ovid. To be thirsted after or desired.

SITIS, is; f. δίψα, τὸ διψῆν. ab heb. שְׁתִיָּה potus, potio. צָמָא Thirst, drowth or drinks: also an eager desire of any thing, Cic.

Sititor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. One that thirsteth.

* Sitōnes, æ; m. Cod. σιτῶνες, i. frumentarius. An officer to provide corn, a Purveyer.

Sittybus, bi; m. Cic. Epist. σίττυβος. al. Sittyba, æ; f. σιττύβαι ἁρμάτιαι σχολαί, à μικρᾷ ἱμαντείᾳ, Hesych. The cover of a book, or leather strings to a book.

Situla, æ; f. Plaut. à Sitiendo dict. quòd aquam sitiat; al. quia eâ hauritur aqua ad restinguendam sitim. κάδος, κάλπη, ὑδρία. בַּר, דְּלִי. A bucket to draw water in: also a little box wherein lots were put at the choosing of Officers.

Situlus, li; m. idem. κάδιον. Situlus aquarius, Cato. A water-pot, a pail or bucket to carry water in: also a chamber-pot, Cujac. ex Paul. a Jordan.

Sitūrus, a, um; part. Cic. That will suffer.

Situs, a, um; part. à Sino. Suffered, permitted. § It. qu. positus, vel ab heb. שׁוּת vel à Sero, qu. satus: vel ab heb. שָׁרַשׁ id. κείμενος. מָנוּחַ. Situate, set, placed, founded, builded, consisting: also buried, interred, Cic.

Situs, ûs; m. à Sino, situm. διάθεσις, τοποθεσία. The setting or standing of any place, a site or situation, Cæs. a territory or quarter of a country, Plin. also filthiness gathered of moisture for lack of cleansing; bowrinesse, mouldinesse, vinewednesse, nastinesse, slovenlinesse or sluttishnesse: also moss or mossinesse, rust, filthiness for lack of husbanding. αὐχμὸς, ῥυπός.

Sive; conj. ex Si & Ve, Ter. אִם. Either, whether, or if.

† Sivis, pro Siveris, Plaut. al. Siris.

Sium; n. Jun. dict. quia ab aquis seritur, id est, quæritur. Water-parsly, yellow water-cresses, beirags.

S ante M.

Smăragdinus, a, um; Bibl. Made of, or pertaining to an Emerald.

* Smăragdites, æ; m. Bibl. σμαραγδίτης. genus marmoris smaragdum referens; item montis nomen ubi legebantur Smaragdi, Plin. 37. 5.

* Smăragdus, di; m. Plin. σμάραγδος, à σμερδνὸν, λάμπω luceo. A precious stone called an Emerald: also a green stone, which very much comforts the eyes.

* Smaris, idis; f. Plin. 33. 2. σμαρίς. A kind of small sea-fish; a Pilchard or Anchove. = Mæna candida.

* Smĕcticus, a, um; Plin. σμηκτικός. That is good to scowre with.

* Smegma, ătis; n. Plin. 22. 15. σμῆγμα, ὅτου τὸ σμήχειν, id est, abstergere. בּוֹרִית. Soap, or any thing that scowres; a wash-ball.

Smegmătĭcus, a, um; Plin. σμηγματικός. ad Smegma pertinens. Soapy, or that is good for scowring.

* Smilax, ăcis; f. Plin. σμίλαξ. A yew-tree: also an herb having leaves like ivy, with berries, and a white flower, it smells like a lily, and runneth upon trees, of which be divers kinds. Lævis smilax, Jun. Rope-weed, or Withy-weed. Smilax hortensis, Id. French beans.

Smilium, ii; n. Jun. à σμίλη, vel σμιλεύω. A shoo-makers shaving, paring or cutting-knife: also a Chirurgeons knife to cut wounds.

* Smiris, vel Smyris, ĭdis; f. Plin. σμιρὶς. A stone that Glaziers cut their glass, and Jewellers polish their Jewels with.

* Smyrna, æ; f. Lucr. σμύρνη. Myrrh.

* Smyrnium, ii; n. σμύρνιον, dict. quòd myrrhæ odorem referat, Plin. Lovage or Parsly of Macedon: Alexander.

* Smyrus, i; m. Plin. 32. 11. A kind of fish.

S ante O.

Söbŏles, is; f. ex Sub & Oleo, id est, cresco; antiq. Suboles. γονὴ, ἔκγονον. יֶצֶאצָאִים Issue, progeny, off-spring: also shoots or young branches, Gell. πεφυκότες. the young of any thing.

Söbŏlesco, is, ĕre; incep. Liv. γονὴν ποιοῦμαι. רָבָה. To encrease and multiply, to grow up, to increase stock or lineage.

Söbrĭè; adv. νηφαλίως, σωφρόνως, ἐγκρατῶς. Soberly, wisely, advisedly, temperately. = Parcè, continenter, severè, Cic.

† Sobriefactus, a, um; Apul. Made sober, pacified.

Sobrietas, ātis; f. Hier. σωφροσύνη. Sobiitty, soberness.

Sobrina, æ; f. Cic. A she Cousin-german.

Sobrinus, ni; m. Sobrini duarum pluriúmve sororum filii, qu. sororini; ἀνεψιὸς. A cousin-german, a mothers sisters child, any kinsman, Ter.

Söbrius, a, um; Cic. qu. sebrius; ex Se & Bria, i. vas vinarium; vel à gr. σώφρων. νηφάλιος, σώφρων. Sober, temperate, well advised: also where little wine is drunk, or where no wine is made, Stat. = Frugalis, Plaut.

† Soccăgium, ii; n. Just. Soccage, a kind of service of tenants.

Soccātus, a, um; Sen. That weareth socks, startups, or bagging shoes.

Soccŭlus, li; m. dim. Suet. ὑπόδημα. A little sock or startup.

SOCCUS, ci; m. Ter. à Sacco, ob simil. vel quòd Siccos servet pedes; vel ab heb. סוֹךְ tegumentum pedum sc. ὑπόδημα. A kind of shoes, sandals or soles worn by the Comedians; a linnen or woollen sock. ✠ Soccus Comicorum, Cothurnus Tragicorum.

Söcer, ĕri; m. Cic. ἑκυρὸς, πενθερός. חֹתֵן. dict. à societate generis. rect. à gr. ἑκυρὸς. A wives father, a father-in-law. Socer magnus, A wives Grandfather.

† Söcerus, ri; m. Plaut. idem.

Söcia, æ; f. Ovid. ἑταίρα. חֶבְרָת. A mate, a fellow, a she-companion or partner.

Söciābilis, le; Liv. κοινωνικὸς. That may be easily joyned in fellowship, society or alliance, sociable; reconcileable, apt to be coupled.

Söcĭālis, le; Cic. συμμαχικὸς, ἑταιρικὸς. Of or belonging to allies, fellows, confederates or friends: also nupsial or pertaining to marriage, Ovid.

Söcĭālitas, ātis; f. Plin. jun. ἑταιρία. Fellowship, company.

Söcĭāliter; adv. Hor. ἑταιρικῶς. Like fellows, fellow-like, or in way of society.

Söciandus, a, um; part. Hor. To be joyned or applyed to.

Söcians; part. Ovid. συνάπτων. Joyning, coupling, fellowing.

Söciātor, ōris; m. verb. Stat. He that joyneth together.

Söciātrix, ĭcis; f. verb. Val. Flac. She that coupleth or joyneth.

Söciātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Parted or shared among several companions; also joyned or coupled.

† Sociennus, alii Sociemus; ant. pro Socius, Plaut. A fellow or companion.

Söcĭĕtas, ātis; f. Cic. κοινωνία, ἑταιρία. חֶבְרָה. Fellowship, alliance, Society, company, partnership.

Söcio, as; act. συμμίγνυμι, συναγελάζω. חָבַר. To associate, joyn or confederate, to couple, match or fit: also to entertain, or make partaker of, Vir. to confer and talk with one of, or communicate, Val. Flac. Sociare aliquem domo, Vir. cubilia cum aliquo, Ovid. diligentiam cum scientiâ, Col.

Söcior, āris; pass. Stat.

Sociofraudus; adj. Plaut. A faithless fellow, a deceiver of his friend.

SOCIUS, a, um; Vir. dict. quòd secet, id est, dividat portionem, Scal. vel à Sequor, qui alium sequitur. μέτοχος, κοινωνικὸς. That helpeth or taketh part, that is a companion: also of or belonging to allies: also that which is in common betwixt two or more partners, Ovid. parents or kinsfolk. ✠ Particeps, qui certam habet partem; Socius qui indivisè agit, Ascon.

Söcius, ii; m. Cic. ἑταῖρος, κοινωνὸς. חָבֵר. A companion, a mate, a fellow, an abie or confederate, a complice, a partaker, partner or sharer.

Söcordia, æ; f. Tac. ῥᾳθυμία, ἀβουλευσία. עַצְלָה. Sluggishness, idleness, sloth, dulness, sottishness. ✠ Industria, Tac. ✠ Socordia, ad considerandum; Segnitia, ad agendum.

Söcorditer; adv. Liv. ῥᾳθύμως. Slothfully, sluggishly, carelesly.

Söcors, dis; adj. Ter. qu. Secors, id est, sine corde. ῥᾳθυμος. עַצֵל. Sluggish, slothful, careless, regardless, heartless, without understanding. Cum Gen. Futuri socors, Tac.

Socrus, ûs; fœm. à Socer, Cic. πενθερὰ, ἑκυρὰ. חֲמוֹת. The wives or husbands mother, a mother-in-law. Magna socrus, Fest. The wives Grandmother. § Ap. antiq. c. g. Prisc.

Sŏdālis, lis; c. g. Cic. Sodales dicti qu. Sedales, quòd unâ sederent & essent: al. quòd inter se invicem suaderent quod utile esset, Fest. σύνεδρος, ἑταῖρος. רֵעַ. A companion, a fellow at meals or pastimes; of one company, colledge, society or fraternity; a Crony, a Camrade.

Sŏdālitas, ātis; f. Cic. συσσιτία, ἑταιρία. חֶבְרָה. A fellowship, society, fraternity or brotherhood, a company of men in any trade or profession.

† Sŏdālĭter; adv. Digest. In fellowship or fellow-like.

Sŏdālĭtium, ii; n. Cic. idem quod Sodalitas.

Sŏdālĭtius, a, um; adj. Amm. ἑταιρικὸς. Belonging to a fellowship or society.

Sŏdes; interj. Ter. pro si audes: ἄγε. I pray thee now, I beseech thee.

SOL, sōlis; m. ἥλιος. שמש: quòd solus appareat, Cic. cæteris sideribus suo fulgore obscuratis; vel à σέλας fulgor. Sabinum esse vocab. alt Var. The sun, the sun-shine: also the heat of the Sun; per Metonym. a day. Oculus solis, Jun. Motherwort, Featherfew. Dies solis, Sunday. A primo sole, Juv. From Sun-rising.

Sōlābilis, le; Apoll. Which may be comforted.

Sōlāmen, ĭnis; n. Vir. παραμύθιον, παρηγορία. נחמה. Comfort, solace, relief, ease.

Sōlandus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be comforted.

Sōlānum, ni; n. Plin. à Sole; al. qu. Sulanum, à suibus, qu. suillum, quòd suibus adversàs venenosos morbos exhiberi solet: σφύχνος. An herb called Night-shade or Banewort. Vesicarium solanum, Jun. Winter-cherry, or Alkakengi.

Sōlāris, re; Ovid. à Sol. ἡλιακός. Of or belonging to the Sun. Herba solaris, Cels. The Turnsole or Marigold.

Sōlārium, ii; n. Cic. à Sole, quòd horæ ad solem conspiciantur; Var. ἡλιακὸν ὡρολογεῖον. עץ המטרות It. locus ubi homines solebant apricari; ἡλιοτήριον, ἔξωσις. A Sun-dial: also the solar in the house or terrace or gallery, where they walke to sun themselves, Cic. a sunny walk, Macrob.

Sōlārium; n. Ulp. à Solo; vectigal, quod pro solo penditur. Ground-rent, a pension or tribute paid for the soil, or for a house that stands upon publick land.

Sōlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. παραμύθιον. Comforting, consolation.

Sōlātiŏlum, li; n. dim. Catul. παραμυθιάριον, παραμυθίδιον. A little comfort or ease.

Sōlātium, ii; n. παρηγορία, παραμύθιον. חמה. Comfort, consolation, solace; help, succour or relief. = Oblectamentum, fomentum, Cic. ☞ Solatium in re, Consolatio in verbis.

Sōlātor, ōris; m. verb. Stat. ὁ παράκλητος, παρακλήτωρ. A comforter.

Sōlātrix, icis; f. verb. Boët. She that comforteth.

† Sōlātum; genus morbi, Fest. dict. à Sole, ut Aurigo ab Auro. A rising of pushes or freckles in the skin by the heat of the Sun.

Sōlātus, a, um; Plin. Solati, sole correpti, sicut Siderati qui sidere. ἡλιαζόμενος. Sun-burnt, tawned in the Sun; freckled or pimpled with the heat of the Sun: also sunned, or that hath got the head-ach with the heat of the Sun.

Soldanella, æ; f. Jun. Bind-weed.

† Soldārii (qui & Soldurii) Feud. milites alienigenæ mercede conducti. Souldiers.

† Soldum, per Sync. pro Solidum; Mart. The whole.

Soldurius, ii; m. Cum sexcentis devotis, quos illi Soldurios appellant, Cæs. ἀνηλιαμένος, Athen. A man sworn and devoted to his friend to partake of his good and ill fortunes; a Retainer to a great Person or one of his clan. ◊ It. Soldurius qui salario conducitur. A souldier in pay.

Sōlea, æ; f. Cic. dicta à solo, i. planta pedum, quam duntaxat tegit; al. quòd solum premat, Becm. it. piscis, ob similit. fic. dict. quæ & Lingulaca. κρηπὶς, ὑπόδεσις. עפש. A shoe of a shoo, a shoo called a galoch or patten, which hath nothing on the feet but laichets: some take it for a pantofle or pantable or slipper: also an instrument used in making of oyl, Col. a kind of fish called a Sole, Plin. ◊ It. Solea dic. materia roborea, super quam paries cratitius exstruitur, Fest. A Groundsill. Solea lignea, Plin. A patten or shabot, such as the French peasants wear; ferrea, Catul. A horse-shoo. = Crepida, Gallica, Gell.

Sōleārius, re; adj. Thermarum cella solearis, M. ex Spart. fort. rect. Soliaris.

Sōleārius, ii; m. Plaut. ὑποδηματοποιός. A Patten-maker, a maker of horse-shoos; a Shoo-maker, or Cord-wainer.

Sōleātus, a, um; Cic. κρωπεδωτός. That weareth sandals or soles at the bottoms of his feet, the rest of his feet bare, Schod.

† Sōlemnis, ne; ex Solus & Annus, pro Annus. V. Solennis.

† Sōlemnizo, as; antiq. To imitate custom, to solemnize.

* Sōlen, ēnis; m. Plin. σωλὴν, i. canalis, à canalitiâ longitudine. A kind of sea-fish, a muscle.

* Solenistæ, Rhod. 13. 5. σωληνισταί. They that fish for such fishes.

Sōlenne, is; n. Liv. quod solum in anno, id est, quotannis fieri consuevit: al. ex Soleo & Anno: Rect. scrib. Sollenne, quod sollis, i. omnibus singulisque annis fit. ἑόρτιον, Gl. καιρὸς ἑορτῆς ἐτήσιος. A solemnity, a feast yearly kept; an anniversary.

Sōlennia, um; n. pl. Vir. ἑόρτια. Solemnities; ordinary tributes, customs, duties or payments, Amm.

Sōlennis, ne; Cic. ex solus & annus, ut triennis, &c. ἑόρτιος, ἑορτάσιμος, ἑορταστικός. Annual, yearly, used or done every year at a certain time, ordinary, solemn, accustomed. = Statutus, Cic. Scrib. & Sollennis, & Sollemnis & Solemnis. V. Voss.

† Sōlennissĭmus, a, um; superl. Apul. Most solemn.

Sōlennĭtas, ātis; f. Gell. חוקה. A solemnity.

Sōlenniter; adv. Liv. πανηγυρικῶς, δημοσίως. Ordinarily, solemnly.

† Sōlennĭtus, idem. Lucil. ap. Non.

Sōlens, tis; part. Plaut. εἰωθώς. εἰωθώς. Accustomed, used, wonted, according to ones custom.

SOLEO, es, ēre; ĭtus; Cic. (& Solui, Fest.) qu. Solui, id est, totus eo, Perot. à Sole, qui antiquum cursum & operationes à principio retinuit; al. ab ὅλος totus, quia totus in eo. Fort. à Solum, ut à calium calleo. εἰθίζομαι, συνήθης εἰμι. To be accustomed or wont, to use.

† Solero, as; & Soleror, Prisc. i. solarium ædificio, Pap. it. soleas facere vel soleis aptare, Carbol. it. Solum vel solidum facere, Id.

Sōlers; adj. Cic. ex Solus & Ars, qu. totus ars; vel pot. Sollers, qui sollam, i. totam & integram artem novit. ἐμπειρος, δεξιὸς, πανοῦργος. ערום. Crafty, subtil, cunning, wise, quick, shrewd, close, diligent. Cunctandi solers, Sil. Solers ambagibus, Plin. = Ingeniosus, subtilis, providus, Cic.

Sōlerter; adv. Cic. φιλοτέχνως, ἐμπείρως, δεξιῶς. Craftily, wittily, diligently, shrewdly.

Sōlertia, æ; f. Cic. ἐμπειρία, δεξιότης. ערמה Craftiness, subtilty, policy, shrewdness, quickness of wit, a reach, industry.

Sōlertior, us; comp. Cic. More shrewd or quick.

Sōlertissĭmè; adv. superl. Cic. Most shrewdly.

Sōlertissĭmus, a, um; superl. Sen. Most subtle or ingenious.

Sōlertĭus; adv. comp. Ovid. More cunningly.

Sōles, in plur. Vir. Dayes: also the shining beams and great heat of the Sun.

Sōlet, ĭtum est; imp. Cic. εἴωθε, φιλεῖ. The custom is, it is wont.

† Soliar, quo Solium tegitur; ut Aular quo aula, M. Stratum solii, Fest.

Soliaris, e; adj. Cella soliaris, locus in Thermis, Spart. The room in a Bain, where the bathing-tubs stand.

Sōlĭcĭtandus, a, um; part. Vir. To be troubled or stirred up.

Sōlĭcĭtans; part. Ovid. Troubling.

Sōlĭcĭtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Ter. παρακλησις, ἐνέτευξις. A soliciting, enticing, or moving to do a thing.

Sōlĭcĭtātor, ōris; m. verb. Paul. παράκλητος, ἐνεύστης. A Solicitor, an egger on, an enticer or mover to a thing.

Sōlĭcĭtātrix, icis; f. verb. Sidon. She that eggeth or enticeth one.

Solicitè; adv. Quint. περιεργως, μετὰ μελῶν. Carefully, diligently, heavily, pensively.

Sōlĭcĭtior, us; comp. à Solicitus, Sen. More careful or pensive.

Solicitissĭmè; adv. superl. Sen. Most solicitously.

Solicitĭus; adv. comp. Aurel. More carefully.

Sōlĭcĭto, as; act. qu. solo cito, id est, loco vel sententiâ moveo, Fest. vel qu. solum citare, id est, trebrò exercere; vel solum cito, id est, totum commoveo; vel ex Sub & lacio, sullicio, sullicito, & u in o mutato, sollicito. μερμηρίζω, ἀπάω. חסיות, עצב. To disquiet, to trouble, to disturb, to make solicitous; to solicite; to provoke or be earnest with one, to importune, to press, to dun one; to entice one to do a thing, πειράω. to attempt. Solicitare pacem, Liv. To sue for it; forem, Ovid. To go about to open it. ◊ Solicitare remis aquas, Claud. To row on the water with oars; ferro humum, Tibul. To till the ground; stamina pollice, Ovid. To play upon, or run over the strings of the Lute; arcu feras, Id. To shoot at them or chase them; votis numina, Tibul. To pray to them. ◊ Solicitare ad se aves, Plin. To allure birds unto him. = Excrucio, ango, Cic.

Sōlĭcĭtor, āris; pass. Tac.

Sōlĭcĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. Cic. μέριμνα, ἀσχολία. חרדה. Carking care, pensiveness, trouble, anguish of mind, solicitude, disquiet, chagrin.

Sōlĭcĭtus, a, um; Cic. πολυμέριμνος. חרד. Solicitous, careful, pensive, that never resteth, full of care and fear, troubled, busie: also which doth vex and disquiet: also which is done with care, Quint. earnest, hearty, Plaut. ◊ Solicitus de provinciis, Cic. pro animâ, Gell. vicem imperatoris, Liv. = Suspensus, suspectus, anxius, Cic. accuratus, Quint.

† Solicŭlāria, æ; ex Fest. Curious in every thing.

Sōlĭdāgo, ĭnis; f. Jun. The herb Comfrey or Consound or Wall-wort.

Sōlĭdāmen, ĭnis; n. Sidon. A souldring or fastning.

Sōlidārius, a, um; ut Solidarius venditor, Bud. A whole-sale-man.

Sōlidārius, ii; m. R. ex Jun. He that selleth by whole-sale.

Sōlidātio, ōnis; f. verb. Gell. A making whole, a souldring or fastning.

Sōlidātor; m. verb. Sidon. He that strengthneth.

Sōlidātrix, icis; f. verb. id. Solidatrix ossium infantium, Ossilago Dea, Arnob.

Solidātus, a, um; part. Lucret. Strengthned, &c.

Sōlidātus, ūs; m. Veget. A souldier in pay; whence the French Souldat; à Solido quem meretur, M.

Solidè; adv. Ter. στερεῶς, βεβαίως. Soundly, wholly, entirely.

Solidesco, is, ĕre; incept. Plin. συγκολλᾶσθαι, στερεοῦσθαι. רבק. To close as a wound doth, to wax sound and whole.

Sōlidīpēs, ĕdis; adj. Plin. στερεόπους. Whole-footed, as a horse is.

Sōlidissĭmus, a, um; superl. Ovid. Very firm and solid.

Sōlidĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. στερεότης, στερεότης. חזקה. Solidity, firmness, soundness, massiness.

Sōlido, as; act. Vir. στερεόω, στερεοῖν. קים. To make firm, hard and solid; to make whole and strong, to close a wound, Cels. to plaister walls, Vitr. to souder or solder.

Sōlidor, āris; pass. Plin. jun. To be made whole and firm.

Sōlĭdum, di; n. The whole, the full and whole. Solidum suum cuique solvere, Cic.

Sōlĭdus, a, um; ex Osco Sollus vel Solus, id est, totus, Var. vel à Solum, ut sit quod gr. ὑμπόδιον, solo firmiter fixum; ut ab humo humidum. Fort. à Soleo, nam quod solet fieri, solidum fit, & qui facere solet, fit solidus. στερεός, στερρός. חזק. πυκνός. Solid, sound, firm, steady, substantial, real; massie, whole, entire, all of a piece, hard, stiff, strong, not hollow, not broken or cut, full and perfect, ὁλόκληρος. Solidus paries, Vitr. An upright wall raised from the ground. Solida proprietas dicitur, in qua usus fructus inest, Ulp. Æ Fragilis, Hor.

Sōlĭdus, di; m. Lamprid. sc. nummus. νόμισμα. An entire or whole piece of gold coin, near the value of our old Nobles, or Spur-royal: now it is taken for a shilling.

Sōlĭfer, ra, rum; ἡλιοφόρος. That carrieth the Sun, as the Zodiack doth. Solifera plaga, Sen. The torrid Zone, &c. as others, the Ecliptick line.

Sōliferreum, i; n. Liv. id est, qu. totum ferreum, Fest. quòd sit ex solo ferro. A weapon or dart of massie iron.

† Sōlĭfŭga, æ; f. C. ex Plin. 22. 25. genus formicæ venenatæ, à fugiendo sole dictæ. Solin. μυρμηκοφάγος, Onom. A venemous ant in Sardinia; a poisonous creature, like to a spider, Solin. an horse-fly, Wa. Rect. Solipuga.

Sōlĭgĕna, æ; c. g. Val. Flac. ἡλιογενής. Begotten of the Sun.

Sōlĭlŏquium, ii; n. Aug. μονολογία. A Soliloquy, or meditating with ones self.

† Sōlĭno, prò Consŭlo; M. ex Fest.

† Sōlĭnum, i; n. Medull. Gram. A solein, or meat that one maketh alone without company.

† Sōlĭpĕdes, um; pl. R. ex Hug. μονοπόδες. Birds whole-footed, as all water-fowl are for the most part.

Sōlĭpŏga, æ; f. Plin. ex Cic. dict. quòd in Sole acrius pungit; ἡλιοκαυτὴς, μυρμήκιον. A venomous Pismire or Flie, that in the heat of the Sun stingeth most vehemently. Scrib. & Solifuga, & Sălpuga.

† Solipanga, æ; f. Lucan. idem.

Sōlistĭmum tripudium dicebatur, cùm in auspicando ex ea ex ore pulli decidens solum, i. terram paviebat, Fest. à solo ergò dict. Solistimum, ut à medio Medistimum. A kind of Augury, when the chickens eating greedily, the corn which was given them fell to the ground out of their bills and rebounded again.

† Sōlĭtānæ cochleæ ab Africæ loco dictæ, quibus Plinius 30. 6. principatum tribuit. Rect. Solitariæ.

†. Sōlĭtāneus; id. quod Solitarius, Amm.

Sōlĭtārius, a, um; Cic. à Solus. μονάζων, φιλέρημος, μοναχικός. גלמוד. Alone, solitary, without company, lonely, dearn, unked.

† Sōlĭtas, ātis; f. Acc. & Apul. Lonelineſs.

Sōlĭtaurĭlia, um; n. ab Osco sollus, i. totus & solidus, Fest. quòd iis integræ offerrentur hostiæ, i. non castratæ, è quibus præcipui tauri: sic dict. quòd Solli, i. solidi & integri tauri essent. Al. putant in hâc voce suis, ovis & tauri vocabula esse confusa. Solitaurilia, συοῦσία ἐκ συὸς, κριοῦ καὶ ταύρου, Gl. vett. Sacrifices of three things of sundry kinds, as a bull, a ram, a boar. Al. leg. Suovetaurilia.

Sōlĭto; abl. Liv. qui nisi adverbiis aut nominibus comparativis non jungitur. Than is wont or accustomed.

† Sōlĭto, as; freq. à Soleo, Gell. πολὺς ἐθίζομαι. To be wont often.

Sōlĭtūdo, inis; f. à Solus, Cæs. ἐρημία, ἐρημότης. שממון. A solitude, a desert or wilderness where no man dwelleth, or where no body is stirring, Ter. solitariness, a living alone, an hermitage, a helpless estate without friends or means, Ter.

Sōlĭtus, a, um; à Soleo, Gell. εἰωθὼς, συνήθης. Wont, accustomed, usual, ordinary: also alone, pro Solus, C. ex Plaut.

Sōlĭvăgus, a, um; Cic. qui solus vagatur: μοναδικὸς, μονάζων, μονήρης. That wandereth up and down alone, and flyeth company, solitary.

Sōlium, ii; n. Quidam quòd sallum, i. solidum erat, Fest. al. quòd solum unum capit; vel qu. Sedium, à Sedendo, Serv. à Solum, id est, θρόνος, Scal. θρόνος. כסא. A seat of state, a throne, a seat royal made of whole stuff, without any piece, Serv. also a vessel or tub in a Bath, to wash or bathe in, Cels. ἰμβάτιον, id est, alveus in quem descenderent lavaturi: also a bier or coffin wherein the dead body lyes, Curt. σπλάγχνον. Æ Solium erat solidum de uno ligno factum; Sella è pluribus compacta.

Sollemnis, vel Sollennis; vid. Solennis.

Sollers; vid. Solers.

Sollicito; vid. Solicito.

† Sollum Osce totum & solidum Sign. Fest. id. quod gr. ὅλον.

† Sōlo, as; act. Stat. locum aliquem desertum & solum reddo; ἐρημόω. שדד. To make desolate; to lay waste and destroy: also to dry in the Sun.

* Sōlœcismus, mi; m. Quint. σολοικισμός, imperitia, stribligo, Gell. dict. à colonis quibusdam Athen. quos Solon Salaminius in Solos Ciliciæ urbem transtulit: qui cùm patrii ser. nonis nitorem corrupissent, & parùm convenienti structurâ partium uti cœpissent; factum ut qui in eâ parte peccarent, σολοικίζειν dicerentur, Laert. A solecism, incongruity of speech against Grammar rule: also any error or mistake, Juv.

* Sōlœcisso, as; Desp. σολοικίζω. To speak false Latine.

* Sōlœcum; n. Gell. σόλοικον. Idem quod Solœcismus.

Sōlor, āris; dep. propriè ei, qui solus ac derelictus est, bonam spem facio: al. à Sole, qui omnium creaturarum nobis maximum adfert solamen. παραμυθοῦμαι, παραμυθέομαι. נחם. To comfort, to solace, to ease, to relieve, to cheer up. Dictis amicis solari aliquem, Vir.

† Sōlox, ōcis; adj. Pecus solox, Lucil. i. lanâ tecta, quam ad sacrificium sollam, sive solam, i. integram, non tonsam habebant, Scal.

† Solox, ōcis; f. Tert. lana crassa, Fest. ἔριον παχύ, Gl. vett. Course wool of flocks.

Sōlpūga, æ; f. Lucan. genus venenatæ formicæ, quæ sole lucente vehementer pungit. A venomous Pismire. Scrib. & Solipuga.

Solsĕquium, ii; n. Jun. à sequendo solem. ἡλιοτρόπιον. The Marigold or Turnsol; a flower of the Sun.

Solstĭtiālis, le; adj. τροπικὸς, θερινός. Of or belonging to the Solstice or time when the Sun is at the furthest; also that which continueth but a little time. Solstitialis morbus, Plaut. A sickneſs that dispatches one in short time; a Calenture. Solstitialis herba, Plin. A plant that lives but one day. Solstitiales plagæ, Solin. ἀ. ortus æstivus, non (quod vult Turneb.) meridies.

Solstĭtium, ii; n. id est, Solis status, cùm sistere vel stare videtur, & non ultra progreditur, sed retrocedere incipit: τροπαὶ ἡλίου. The Solstice of Summer or Winter, this the shortest day in the year, about the twelfth of December, that the longest day about the twelfth of June. It was by the antients commonly taken for Midsommer, Hor. τροπαὶ θερειναί, Gl. Æ Bruma, Var.

Sōlŭbĭlis, le; adj. Boët. λυσιμος, ἀνάλυτος. Which may be unloosed.

Sōlum, li; n. Cic. à Solidatis: al. ab ὅλον. Est ipsum totum, atque totius facies & superficies, Ifid. à סלה, calcare; M. Solum, unicuique rei quod subjacet, unde navium solum est mare, avium aër, astrorum cœlum, Serv. Astra tenent cœleste solum, Ovid. πάτος, πάτημα, ὑπόβασις. קרקע. A thing that sustains or bears any thing on it, Serv. the earth, ground, floor, land or soyl; a bottom, a floor or pavement; the sole of a foot, Lucr. the sole of a shoe, Plaut. Cereale solum, Vir. A trencher of bread. Solum natale, Ovid. Ones native country. Solum aquæ, Vir. The surface or top of the water, whereon ships ride. ϕ Vertere solum, Cic. To run ones country. Æquare solo, Liv. To pull down or level.

Sōlùm; adv. Cic. μόνον. רבד. Only, alone.

Sōlummŏdò; adv. idem.

SOLVO, is, ĕre; vi, ūtum; act. ex σὺν simul & λύω, qu. συλλύω. vel à so (pro se ut in socors) & luo, solvo. λύω, λύω, ἐκτείνω, ὀξύνω. הֵשִׁיל. To loose or unloose, to unlye; to release, to discharge or acquit, to deliver or free, and set at liberty; to melt. Esse solvendo, Cic. To have wherewith, or to be well able to pay his debts. ◊ Solvere fidem, Ter. To break his word; ergastula, Brut. To break them open; oblidionem, Liv. To raise it; nives, Ovid. To thaw or melt them; nummum, Cic. To pay it; argumentum, Quint. To resolve or answer it; zonam, Catul. To get ones maidenhead. ◊ Solvere aliquem crimine, Stat. To acquit him; vitâ, Plaut. To rid or dispatch him; metu, Ter. To free him from it; legibus, Liv. To dispense with him. ◊ Solvere, ab. sol. vel Solvere è portu. Cæs. To weigh anchor, to set o sail. ◊ Solvere linguam ad jurgia, Ovid. lumina in lacrymas, Lucan.

Solvor, ĕris; pass. Vir.

SOLUS, a, um; Cic. Gen. Solius, (& olim Soli, æ, li; &c. Ter.) à gr. ὅλος totus, unde Oscè sollus idem; quòd totum, dum individuum, solum & unum sit, quomodo Angl. Alone, id est, All one: vel ex Se, i. sine, & alis ant. pro aliis; q. d. Sine aliis. μόνος. Alone, onely, solitary. ἐρημος. Solus ex omnibus, Cic. piscium, Plin.

Sōlūtè; adv. Cic. λελυμένως, ἐκλύτως. Freely, wantonly, loosely.

Sōlūtilis, le; Suet. ἐκλυτὸς, λύσιμος. That is easily loosed or undone.

Sōlūtio, ōnis; f. verb. à Solvo, Cic. λύσις. חֶמְס, שָׁלוֹם. A loosing, releasing, dissolving, &c. liberty, leisure, spare time, Plin. a paying of money; exemtion.

Sōlūtior, us; comp. Liv. More free, more dissolute or licentious.

Sōlūtissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most or very free.

Sōlūtor, ōris; m. verb. Digest. He that payeth or dischargeth.

Sōlūtūrus, a, um; part. Cic. About to pay.

Sōlūtus, a, um; part. & adj. à Solvo: λελυμένος, λυθεὶς, ἀμέλητος. שָׁפוּי. Loosed, untyed, freed, dismissed, discharged; payed; melted, &c. free, calm, quiet, dissolute. Solutus risus, Vir. Excessive loud laughter. Oratio soluta, Quint. Prose. Solutum æquor, Stat. A calm sea. Soluti agri, Sic. Fl. Fields at large, whose limits and bounds cannot be found out. ◊ Regit Abl. Solutus legibus, Cic. Released from them or dispensed with; à cupiditatibus, Id. Freed from them. Somno solutus, Id. Fast asleep, or broad awake. Cum Gen. Soluti operum, Hor. = Expeditus, liberatus; quietus, vacuus, Cic.

Somnians, tis; part. Cic. Dreaming.

Somniātor, ōris; m. verb. Hier. A Dreamer.

Somniātur; impers. Plin. They dream.

Somnicŭlōsè; adv. Plaut. ὑπνωτικῶς, ἀμελῶς. Dreamingly, sleepily, sluggishly.

Somnicŭlōsus, a, um; Cic. ὑπνώδης, ὑπναλέος. Sleepy, drowsie, sluggish, slothful, lither, careless, Col. also that maketh drowsie or desirous of sleep, Sisen.

Somnĭfer, ra, rum; Ovid. ὑπνωτικός. That bringeth or causeth sleep.

Somnĭficus, a, um; Plin. ὑπνωτικός. That maketh or causeth sleep, sleepy.

Somnio, as; Cic. ὀνειρόπλω. חָלַם. To dream, to fancy or imagine.

Somniōsus, a, um; Plin. ὀνειρώδης. Full of dreams, troubled with dreams.

Somnium, ii; n. à Somnus: quia fit in somno; ἐνύπνιον, ὄνειρος, ὄναρ. חֲלוֹם. A Vision in ones sleep, a dream: also an idle story, a fidy fancy, a whim, Ter.

Somnŏlentus, a, um; Coop. ὑπνώδης, ὑπναλέος. Sleepy, drowsie.

† Somnōrinus, a, um; Var. ap. Non. That which is seen in the sleep, belonging to sleep or dreams. Rect. Somnurnus.

SOMNUS, ni; m. Cic. à gr. ὕπνος sopnus, Gell. deinde Sompnus, somnus; ut à dampnum damnum pro dampnum. ὕπνος. שְׁנָה. Sleep, rest, quietness, Stat.

* Somphos, i; m. Plin. 20. 3. σομφὸς, i. inanis, unde ei nomen. A kind of wild gourd.

Sŏnābĭlis, le; Ovid. φωνεὶς. That soundeth aloud, loud.

Sŏnandus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be celebrated, or spoken of.

Sŏnans, tis; part. Vir. φωνῶν, ἠχῶν. Ringing, sounding, speaking, roaring.

Sŏnantior, us; Plin. jun. comp. Of a fuller sound.

† Sŏnātio, ōnis; non sonitio; verb. Vall.

Sŏnax, ācis; Apul. Sounding loud.

* Sonchos, chi; m. Plin. & Sonchus. σόγχος. An herb called Sowthistle: also wild or jagged Lettice.

Sŏnĭpes, ĕdis; m. Vir. ἱππος. A courier, a horse or steed, a palfrey.

† Sŏnĭti, pro Sonitûs, Non.

Sŏnĭtus, ûs; m. Vir. à Sono: ἦχος, κτύπος, δοῦπος. הֶמְיָה. A sound, a noise, a crack or clap.

Sŏnivius, a, um; adj. Cic. à Sono, Serv. Making a noise, sounding. Sonivium tripudium dic. quòd sonet, cùm pullo excidit puls, quadrupedive aliquid ex ore; fort. rect. Sonivus, ut à cado cadivus.

Sŏno, as, ui, ĭtum; neut. à Sonus: ἠχέω, κτυπέω, ῥοιζέω. הָמָה. To make a noise, to sound, to ring, to rustle: also to signifie or mean, Cic. To praise, Ovid. Cum Acc. Vox hominem sonat, Vir.

† Sŏno, is, ĕre; Lucr. idem.

Sŏnor, ōris; m. Vir. βρόμος, κτύπος. הֶמְיָה. A great sound or rattling, rustling, crackling, rumbling noise.

Sŏnōre; adv. Gell. ἠχητικῶς. Aloud.

Sŏnōritas, ātis; f. Var. ἦχος. Loudness.

Sŏnōrus, a, um; Vir. ἠχώδης, βρεμώδης. הוֹמֶה. Loud, shrill, ringing, making a great noise, rustling or bustling.

Sons, tis; adj. Cic. à Sonando, qu. sonans, i. cujus culpa jam sonat, cùm est convictus erroris, Rerot. al. qu. satis nocens; vel fort. à Sontes, gr. σάντης, à σίνω noceo. prop. βλαβερός. Sons, nocens, ut contr. insons, innocens, Fest. ἐπάνδρος. אָשֵׁם. Guilty, criminal, faulty. Subst. An offender.

Sonticus, a, um; à Sons: κακοποιὸς, βλαπτικός. קִשֶּׁה. Noisome, hurtful. Sonticus morbus, Plin. ἱερὰ νόσος, i. Comitialis. The falling-sickness, or any disease which proves an hindrance, and gives a just excuse to business. Sontica causa, Tibul. A just excuse from appearance or other duty by reason of sickness. Hinc Sonticum, justum, Fest.

SONUS, ni; m. Cic. ab. heb. שָׁאוֹן id. vel à tonus; nam idem ferè dic. tonus & sonus, Mart. Capell. ἦχος, ῥόθος, ὀξύγγος, κτύπος. A sound, a noise, a tune, a word. Sonus sum nus, medius, imus, Plin. The treble, the mean, the base.

* Sŏphia, æ; f. Mart. σοφία. חָכְמָה. Wisdom: also the herb Flixwort, Laskwort, Jun.

* Sŏphisma, ătis; n. Cic. σόφισμα. A crafty or deceitful argument; a piece of sophistry.

* Sŏphista, vel Sophistes, æ; m. Cic. σοφιστὴς, à σοφίζω. A Sophister, a practiser, caviller.

* Sŏphistĭca, & Sophistice, es; f. σοφιστικὴ. Sophistry.

* Sŏphistĭcus, a, um; Boët. σοφιστικὸς. Sophistical, deceitful.

* Sŏphos; adv. Mart. σοφῶς, i. scitè. Wisely, excellent well! ho brave! a word used in acclamations to Orators or Poets, when they did their publick exercises. Sum. & pro nomine indecl. ut Grande Sophos; Mart. quomodo & Cras istud dixit. A great thumm.

* Sŏphos, i; m. Te sophos omnis amat, Mart. σοφὸς. A wise man, a scholar.

* Sophronistĕrium, rii; n. σωφρονιστήριον. A place to keep frantick people in; a Bedlam, a Bridewell.

* Sŏphus, i; m. Cic. σοφὸς. חָכָם. A wise man.

SOPIO, is, ire; ivi, itum; act. Liv. ὀκναίζω, κατακοιμίζω. יָשֵׁן. To bring asleep, to set at rest. Somno sopire aliquem, Ovid. To lull one asleep.

Sŏpior, iris; pass. Ovid.

Sŏpītus, a, um; part. κατακοιμισθεὶς. Brought or laid to sleep: also sound or fast asleep, Col. stounded or astonied, Liv. ◊ Sopitus ignis, Vir. Fire raked up in the ashes.

Sŏpor, ōris; m. à Sopio, Vir. ab ὕπαρ, Scal. κῶμα, ὕπνος, κοίμησις. תַּרְדֵּמָה. A sound, deep or dead sleep: also a drowsie sickness, Ovid.

Sŏpōrātus, a, um; part. Plin. κατακοιμισθεὶς. נִרְדָּם. Fast asleep, brought asleep, appeased; soked in, Vir.

Sŏpōrĭfer, a, um; Vir. ὑπνωτικὸς. That bringeth asleep, that causeth sleep.

Sŏpōro, as; act. Plin. κατακοιμίζω. יָשֵׁן. To cast into a deep sleep.

Sŏpōror, āris; pass. Stat.

Sŏpōrus, a, um; Vir. ὑπνωτικὸς. Sleepy, drowsie, husbed.

Sōrācum, i; n. Plaut. vas in quo ornamenta portantur scenicorum, Fest. σώρακος, quod id. ap. Poll. A basket or such like thing to carry players cloathes in: also to put books in, Plaut. perhaps the same as Sarracum.

SORBEO, es, ère; ui vel psi, ptum; act. Plin. ῥοφέω, ῥοφάω. בָּלַע. verbum fictitium à sono, quem edunt qui sorbent, Var. rect. à ῥοφέω per metath. vel ab Arab. שׁרב bibit. To sup as one doth pottage, to drink or receive in; to swallow up: also to waste or make clean, Stat. Sorbere odia alicujus, Cic. To swallow or pocket up unkindnesses.

Sorbeor, ēris; pass. Plin.

Sorbilis, le; ῥοφητὸς. Which may be supped up. Ovum sorbile, Cels. A poached or rath roasted egg.

Sorbillans; part. Suavia sorbillantia, Apul.

Sorbillo, as; Ter. χυλὸν μικρὸν καταῤῥοφέω. To sip of, en.

Sorbillum, li; n. Plaut. ῥοφημάτιον. Pottage or other liquid meat made to sup up; spoon-meat, pottage.

Sorbitio, ōnis; f. verb. Perf. ῥόφησις.

בְּלַע. A potion, a broth, any supping stuff, Celſ.

Sorbĭtiuncŭla, æ; f. dim. Bibl.

Sorbum, bi; n. Plin. ἔαρ, Theoph. dict. quòd ejus ſuccum ſorbere ſolent. The Sorb-apple, or the fruit of the Service-tree; a Service-berry.

Sorbus, bi; f. Col. ὄρν, ὀλα. The Service-tree.

† Sordĕcŭla, æ; f. dim. Plaut. A little filth or filthineſs.

Sordeo, es, ŭi, ēre; Cic. neut. ῥυπαίνομαι, αὐτιλόμαι. To be filthy or baſe and naſty; to be nothing eſteemed, or ſet by. = Sordere ſuis & contemni ab eis, Liv.

SORDES, is; f. Cic. ῥύπος, αὐτιλος, ἄσημ, ῥυπαρία. שֹׁמְאָה, צֹאר, à σωρός, acervus, Scal. vel à Caiego vel Caeſo verro. Filth, naſtineſs, ſlovenlineſs, ſluttery; the ſweepings of houſes and channels: alſo niggardlineſs, ſnottineſs, baſeneſs, penuriouſneſs. Cimmeriolexia. alſo the ſad and ruſul ſtate and garb of thoſe that were accuſed, and in danger of the law, who went in a naſty dreſs on purpoſe to move pity. Sordes urbis, Cic. The rabble, raſcality or riff-raff of the people.

Sordeſco, is, ĕre; incept. Plin. To grow filthy or naſty.

Sordidātus, a, um; part. Cic. i. Sordidè Indutus. ῥυπόδης, ῥυπῶν. Naſtily arrayed, clad in ſorry dirty cloaths with their hair untrim'd, as thoſe who were arraign'd were wont to go.

Sordidè; adv. Cic. Cimmeriolexei, ῥυπαρῶς, αὐχμηρῶς. Filthily, baſely, dirtily, niggardly.

Sordĭdior, us; comp. Cic. More filthy, baſe and naſty.

Sordĭdo, as; Cic. ῥυπαίνω, αὐτιλόω. To make filthy, to put one in naſty cloaths.

Sordĭdŭlus, a, um; dim. Plaut. ῥυπαρόττρος. Somewhat ſlovenly or ſluttiſh, and filthy or naſty.

Sordĭdus, a, um; Cic. à Sordeo: ῥυπαρός, αὐχμηρός. שֹׁמֵא. Filthy, naſty, ſlovenly, ſluttiſh, ſoul, ſordid, baſe, vile, of no eſteem; niggardly, mean, paltry. αἰσχρικός. Sordidus panis, Plaut. Brown bread with the bran in it. Veſtis ſordida, Liv. A mourning weed. ℭ Nitidus, Quint.

† Sordĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. Plaut. ῥύπος. Filthineſs, ſluttiſhneſs, naſtineſs.

Sōrex, ĭcis; m. Plin. dict. qu. Serrax, quòd rodat, & in modum ſerræ præcidat, Iſid. à ſono quem rodendo facit, Perot. Imò à gr. ἔραξ, id. κερκοπίθηκος μῦς. עַכְבָּר. A rat, a field-mouſe.

Soricētum, ti; n. R. ex Plin. A place where rats uſe.

Soricīnus, a, um; μύϊνος. Pertaining to a rat. Soricina nænia, Plaut. The cry the rat makes in the trap, or a rats ſkin pricke full of holes by the trap when it takes him.

Soricŭlāta veſtis, Plin. 8. 48. Leg. & Sororiculata, & Sororeclata; quæ perpetuis quibuſdam ſuris & latioribus virgis regulata erat, & ex eo texendi genere confecta, ut ſit tanquam ſuriculata vel ſurculata, à Sura, & Rica five Ricula, Turneb. al. à σώρακα, σωρός, acervus, propter copiam colorum & plicarum, Becm. al. vel à Sexico, vel à conſerendo, qu. Sericulata. Tandem à Soricum figurâ poterat dici Soriculata, ut à vermibus Vermiculata, Voſſ. ἑκατόνλος. A garment of changeable ſilk, or of branched ſtuff.

* Sōrites, æ; m. Cic. Græc. σωρείτης, ὁ τῦ σωρῦ, quod ſign. acervum, uti appell. Perſ. A kind of argument or imperfect Syllogiſm made by heaping up many propoſitions together one upon another.

Sorix, icis; f. Plin. avis tributa ab auguribus Saturno, quia tarditati & vetuſtati & ſenectuti convenit; nam in veteranis maximè verſatur locis, & noctis maximè primæ eſt & tempeſtatis nuntius, atque index parvi laris; C. ex Mar. Vict. à gr. Caiex, quæ & πίραλις, πτὼ, χαλκὶς. A kind of bird. Scrib. & Saurix.

SOROR, ōris; f. Cic. dict. quòd qu. ſeorſim à ſuâ ſtirpe naſcatur, ſeparetúrque ab eâ domo, in quâ oritur, Gell. vel quòd diverſâ ſorte orta; vel quòd ſola cum fratribus in agnationis ſorte habeatur, Iſid. al. à Sero, ſemino, qu. ex eodem ſemine ducta, vel necto, qu. familiæ adnexa; hinc Seror, & (ut ab ant. hemo homo) Soror; V. ab heb. שְׁאֵר, quod & carnem & propinquos quoſvis ſign. M. Fort. ab ὄαρ uxor; quod dixit D. Paulus ἀδελφὸν γυναῖκα ſpiritu in s mutato & r interjecto, quod utrumque amat fieri. ἀδελφή. אָחוֹת. A Siſter: alſo very like unto, or of the ſame kindred, Plin.

Sŏrorcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Soror. A little ſiſter.

Sŏrōrians; part. Sororians virgo, Plaut. A young maid, whoſe breaſts begin to ſhew.

Sororiantes mammæ, Plin. μαζοὶ ἀναγώντες, Dioſc. Breaſts over-ſwelled.

Sŏrōricīda, æ; c. g. Cic. ἀδελφοκτόνος. A murderer of his own ſiſter.

† Sororiculata & Sororeclata; vid. Soriculata.

Sŏrōrio, as; Plaut. & Sororior, āris; Jun. Sororiare puellarum mammæ dicuntur, cùm primùm tumeſcunt, ut Fraterculare puerorum, Feſt. To be round and plump as maidens breaſts are.

Sŏrōrius, a, um; Plaut. ἀδελφικός. Of or belonging to a ſiſter. ◊ Sororium tigillum, appell. locus ſacer in honorem Junonis, quem Horatius ſtatuerat causâ ſororis à ſe interfectæ, ob ſuam expiationem, Feſt.

† Sorracus, ci; m. R. ex Feſt. vel Sorracum, & Sorraca; σώρακον. V. Soracum.

SORS, tis; f. Cic. ab ἔρω, quòd res dubias definiat. al. à Sero necto, à σωρὸς acervus, vel à σώρα trabs. κλῆρος, μοῖρα. גּוֹרָל. Lot, chance, fortune, hazard, deſtiny, luck; a portion in an inheritance; a common bank or ſtock wherein many have a ſhare; a principal of money borrowed or laid out to uſury, Ter. ἀρχεῖον, καράλογον. a charge or office, ſtate, condition or manner of life, Hor. Sortĭt. Sortem trahere, Suet. legere, Vir. To draw lots. Pari ſorte, Amm. In like ſort.

Sortē; adv. Plaut. εὖ κλήρου. Happily, or by hap, or lot.

Sortes; f. pl. Val. Max. χρησμοί. Oracles, or the rolls wherein the anſwers of idol Gods were written.

Sorti; adv. Vir. By chance or lot.

Sortiālis, le; Eraſm. Of or pertaining to lots or lottery.

Sortiārius, ĭi; m. Eccl. χρησμῳδός. A diviner by lots, a ſoothſayer.

Sorticŭla, æ; f. dim. Suet. μικρὸς κλῆρος. A little lot; a ſcrowl wherein the lot or Valentine is written.

Sortilĕgium, gii; n. Plin. χρησμῳδία. Lottery: alſo a divination by lots, ſorcery, Med. Gr.

Sortilĕgus, gi; m. Cic. à legendâ ſorte. χρησμῳδὸς, θεομόλος. A teller of mens fortunes by lots, a ſorcerer.

Sortior, īris, ītus; dep. cum Acc. Cic. κληρῶ. To caſt or draw lots, to take or have any thing given by lots or chance; to obtain by lots, to divide or chooſe by lot: alſo to order or appoint another in the place, Vir.

† Sortis, pro Sors, Plaut.

Sortītio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. κλήρωσις. A chooſing by lots, a caſting of lots.

Sortītō; adv. Cic. κληρωτῶς. By lot or chance, or deſtiny, Hor.

Sortītor, ōris; m. verb. Sen. κληρωτής. A caſter of lots.

Sortītus, a, um; part. Vir. λαχών, κληρωθείς. Which caſteth lots, or wooch hath gotten by lot. Paſſ. given or appointed by lot.

Sortītus, ūs; m. verb. Cic. κλήρωσις. A caſting of lots.

† Sortutillus, (rect. Scrutillus) venter ſuillus farre condito expletus; Paul. ap. Feſt.

† Sos, pro Eos vel Suos, Feſt. uti Sis pro Suis; ergò Sus, a, um; pro Suus.

Sospes, ĭtis; c. g. Cic. à σώζω ſalvo, Feſt. ex σῶς ſalvus, & ſpes, Verr. qu. σωτὴρ, ut ὑγιὴς ὑγιεινός, qui σῶς πάντη, i. ſalvus vadit. An unde Hoſpes? σῶς, ἀβλαβὴς, σὺ. שָׁלֵם. Safe and ſound, whole, proſperous, Hor. alſo that giveth health, Enn.

Sospīta, æ; f. Cic. σώτειρα. She that giveth health, or preſerveth; a title of Juno.

Sospītālis, le; Plaut. σωτήριος. That is cauſe of health, that preſerveth or delivereth from danger; medicinable, wholeſome, Amm.

† Sospĭtas, ātis; f. Amm. ἀσφάλεια, Safeneſs, ſafety, health.

Sospĭtātor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. σωτὴρ. A preſerver or keeper in ſafety; a Saviour, Arnob.

Sospĭtātrix Dea, Iſis; Apul.

Sospĭto, as; act. i. ſoſpitem facio, Plaut. σώζω. יְשׁוּעָה. To keep in health, to preſerve out of danger; to bleſs, proſper and ſave. Item ſpe afficere, Feſt.

* Soſtrum, stri; n. Jun. σῶστρον, ἰατρεῖον. A Phyſicians fee for curing of a patient.

† Sotadei, i. Cinædi; Cæl. Rhod.

Sotadeum, vel Sotadicum carmen, σωτάδειον μέτρον, à Sotade, Cretenſi Maronita, qui primus cœpit παιδολογεῖν. Sotades impura pueris amovenda, Quint.

* Sōter, ēris; m. Cic. σωτὴρ, i. ſalvator. מוֹשִׁיעַ. He that giveth health or ſafety; a Saviour, preſerver or deliverer.

* Sōtēria, ōrum; n. Mart. σωτήρια, munera quæ convaleſcentibus ab amicis mittebantur. Preſents ſent by friends to thoſe who had eſcaped ſickneſs or danger to gratulate their recovery.

* Sōtēria, æ; f. Jun. σωτήρια. Salvation: alſo Good Friday.

S ante P.

† Spāco, canis Perſis, Juſt. lib. 1. σπάκα κύνα, Heſych. A Bitch in the Perſian language.

Spādiceus color, Jun. κασταναῦς. A light red, a luſty gallant colour; an hor, e, a bright bay or cheſtnut brown.

* Spādix,

*Spādix, icis; m. σπάδιξ, i. ῥάβδος φοίνικος. Poll. i. avulsus palmæ termes cum fructu, qui quoniam puniceum refert colorem, h. e. rubrum, cum exuberantiâ quadam splendoris, factum est ut Spadicem pro Puniceo colore accipiamus. Properly the branch of a Palm or Date-tree, Gell. which because of a red colour, hence it is taken for a skarlet or light red colour, Vir. also an instrument of musick, used among the Phenicians.

Spadix; adj. Var. Of a bay-colour or light red. = Phœniceus, Gell. badius, Ilid.

Spādo, ōnis; m. Hor. à gr. σπάδων, παρὰ τὸ σπασθῆναί τι μέρος τοῦ αὐτοῦ, quòd ab eo aliqua pars sit avulsa. סָרִיס. A gelding, be it man or beast: also a branch of a tree which beareth no fruit, Col.

Spādonātus, ûs; m. Tert. ἀνηχεμία.

Spādonius, a, um; Gelded, barren. Spadonia laurus, Plin. 15. 30. A kind of barren bay-tree.

†Spāgas, adis; f. Plin. picis genus; al. Spargas, Epargos, Piegas, Stalactis, Stagonias, M. Rosin of the pitch-tree.

Spagiricus, a, um; Medic. Chymical.

Spagirus, ri; m. Medic. ex σπάω & ἀγείρω. An Alchymist.

Spānus, a, um; fort. per aphær. pro Hispanus. καφύκιος. Spanus color, Jun. Brown, swart, like a Spaniard or Moor.

Sparagus, i; m. Var. id. quod Asparagus; uti gr. ἀσπάραγος & σπάρεγος, &c.

*Sparganion, ii; n. σπαργάνιον. Lat. fasciola. Sedge or Sword-grass, Jun. Burweed, Gerard.

Spargendus, a, um; part. Sen. To be scattered.

Spargens, is; part. Plin. Scattering, sprinkling.

SPARGO, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. à זָרַק: vel à σπείρω σπαργῶ. al. qu. per spatium agere, Perot. Fort. à σπαρέσσω, fut. 2. σπαρέσχω discerpo. Σπαράζω, πάσσω, Σκορπίζω. זָרַק. To scatter, sow, spread or cast abroad, to throw here and there, to strew, to sprinkle. Spargere humum foliis, Vir.

Spargor, ĕris; pass. Ovid.

Sparim; adv. Plin. σπαράδην, χύδην. Here and there, pell-mell, up and down, higgledy pigledy.

Sparsio, ōnis; f. verb. ῥαντισμός. A sprinkling, especially of Saffron-water upon the Theatre out of some spouts or pipes, Scal. κεχυσέχυσις, Gl. = Nimbus, Mart. Also a flinging of money or other things among the people in publick joy, Papin.

Sparsior, us; comp. Plin. Wider and broader.

Sparsor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. διασπορεύς. He that scattereth.

Sparsūrus, a, um; part. Cic. ἐσπαρμένος, διασπαρήσ. Scattered, sowed or spread abroad; sprinkled, speckled, Vir. ◊ Sparsi capilli, Prop. Dishevelled hair. Sparsio ore mulier, Ter. Wide or sparrow-mouthed.

Spartārium, rii; n. Plin. σπαρτεών. A broom-field or close.

Spartārius, a, um; Spartaria dicitur Carthago, à Sparti proventu, Plin.

Sparteŏli; m. pl. Suet. à funibus, quorum multus usus in restinguendis incendiis; vel à Spartheis tunicis, quibus erant amicti; vel à genere calceamentorum, quorum solea è Sparto, Calaub. Certain souldiers that watched the City for fear of fire.

Sparteus, a, um; Col. ὁ ἐκ σπαρτίου γινόμενος. Of broom.

*Spartopolios, Plin. 37. 11. σπαρτοπώλιος, i. μίλας καὶ ἀγρὸς, Poll. A kind of grisled precious stone.

† Spartor, ōris; m. vett. Inscr. minister in Circensibus ludis, qui spargeret vestes certantium aurigarum. Al. leg. Strator.

Spartum, ti; n. σπάρτον ἢ σπαρτίον. חֶבֶל. A kind of Spanish broom, whereof they used to make bands to tye vines, or cables and ropes for ships, Liv.

Spārŭlus, i; m. Et super aurata sparulus cervice refulgens, Ovid. A kind of sea-fish.

Spārum, ri; n. Vir. Spara minimi generis jacula, à Spargendo dict. Fest. Sparum missile, à piscibus ductâ similitudine, qui spari vocantur, Serv. ex Var. πολὺν ἢ εἰδὸς ἀκοντίου βραχέος, ἀγχεμαχίας, ἢ πολεμικόν. A kind of small darts used in war, or a country-tool bowed or crooked like a sheep-hook; a brown bill, Jun. Hinc Angl. a spear.

Spārus, i; m. Plin. σπάρος, à σπείρω palpito. A kind of sea-fish: also a small dart, Vir. id. quod Sparum.

Spasmus, mi; m. Plin. σπασμὸς, i. convulsio, à σπάω, traho. A disease called the Cramp, which is the shrinking or plucking of the sinews. = Distentio, nervorum rigor, Cels.

Spasmĭcus, a, um; adj. R. ex Plin. Belonging to the cramp.

Spastĭcus, a, um; Plin. σπαστικὸς. That hath the cramp or convulsion of the sinews: also jointed or moved with wires, as puppets are.

Spatalium, ii; n. ornamentum muliebre circa manus, Tert. dict. quòd sit inter luxûs instrumenta, à σπαταλᾶν, lascivia, deliciæ, Gl. Cyr. A womans bracelet.

Spătălocinædus, i; m. Petron. à σπαταλᾶν, i. τρυφᾶν & κίναιδος. A wanton Burdash.

Spătălor, āris; dep. Bibl. σπαταλᾶν, luxurior, delicias ago. To wantonize, or play the wanton.

Spatha, æ; f. σπάθη, ἀπὸ τοῦ σπαθίζειν, i. stringendo: vel à σπάω traho. A two-handed or bastard sword; Apul. ex Veget. an instrument to turn fryed meat, a scummer, a ladle, Plin. also a tool that Apothecaries use; or a slice that Chirurgeons use to stir or spread their salves, Cels. also the branch of a Palm-tree, on which the Dates hang, Plin. 16. 26. Hinc Hispan. Spada, gladius; Angl. a Spade, ligo.

* Spăthălion, lii; n. σπαθάλιον, à σπάθη. A little two-handed-sword: also a branch of the Palm, or Date-tree with dates on it, Mart. also a kind of ornament for women, Plin. 13. 25. a bracelet, a Pendant, Wa.

Spăthārius, a, um; adj. Spatharia fabrica, Not. Imp. A Cutlers shop or forge, where swords are made.

* Spathe, es; f. Plin. σπάθη. A kind of tree resembling the Palm-tree.

Spătĭŭla, æ; f. dim. Cels. σπάθιον. A broad slice to spread salve or such like; or a little two-handed or bastard sword.

Spătiābundus, a, um; Capell. Which wandereth about.

Spătians, tis; part. Ovid. ἀδειάσιον. Spreading abroad, stretching out, straying, wandring.

Spatiātor, ōris; m. verb. Cato. πλανήτης. A wanderer, a strayer abroad, a stragler.

Spătiātus, a, um; part. Ovid. πεπλανημένος, ἀδειασμένος. That hath walked or strayed abroad.

Spătior, āris; dep. Cic. πεπλανῆσθαι, ἀδειάζειν. הִתְהַלֵּךְ. To walk abroad, to travel, to wander, to go up and down, to fetch a compass; to discourse largely.

Spătiōsè; adv. Plin. jun. ἀφειδέστερον, πλατέως, ἀφθόνως. Largely, at large, widely.

Spătiōsior, us; comp. Ovid. More big or large or wady.

Spătiōsĭtas, ātis; f. Plaut. Breadth.

Spătiōsius; adv. comp. Plin. jun. More largely, more at large.

Spătiōsus, a, um; Col. ἀφειδέστερος, ἀφθόνος, πλατύς. רָחָב. Wide, large, spacious, broad, ample; great, huge, Ovid. wady: also long or of long continuance.

SPATIUM, ii; n. Cic. στάδιον, Æol. σπάδιον spatium, ut contra σπουδὴ, σπεῦδ studium: ἀνάσπασις, ἀπόσπασις, χώρησις. מֶרְחָק. A space, or distance of time or place; leisure, time, delay; a voyage or journey; a walk; the length of a place, Vir. a place of running, a race, Cic. the measure or quantity in a foot or metre: also age, life, continuance: also a room or lodge: also the bigness of any thing. Spatium hominis, Plin. The height or stature or length of a man from the sole of the foot to the crown of the head.

Spātŭla, æ; f. Spatulas palmarum, Hier. A branch of a palm-tree. Spatula fœtida, Jun. Stinking Gladwin. = Xiphion.

Spātŭlæ, ārum; f. Cels. à Patendo, quòd patulæ; vel à Spathula. The shoulder-blades; V. Scapulæ.

† Speca, æ; f. antiq. pro Spica, Var.

Spĕcĭālis, le; Jul. Capit. εἰδικὸς, ἰδιος. Proper, particular, special.

Spĕcĭāliter; adv. Col. εἰδικῶς, κατ' εἶδος. Particularly, specially.

Spĕcĭālius; adv. comp. Amm. More specially, or with greater respect.

Spĕcĭātim; adv. Cic. εἰδικῶς. Especially, particularly.

Spĕciendus, a, um; part. Ulp. To be considered.

Spĕcies, ēi; f. Cic. à Specio: εἶδος, ὄψις. מַרְאֶה. An outward form, figure, shew or shape; a semblance, likeness, representation or pourtraiture; an appearance, colour or pretence; physiognomy, favour, beauty, garb and meen; a vision or sight in the night, Liv. φάσμα. a phantom: also a particular sort or kind of things under a general head; the quality or nature of a thing, Liv. an image, picture or state, Propert. all kind of spice, Mart. a drugg, Amm. corn or fruit, Arcad. a piece of money, Macrob. a garment or apparel, Capit. any sort of meat, Lampr. a controversie, Dig. sight or view, Lucr. ◊ Species annonariæ, Cod. Victuals in kind. In hujusmodi specie, Ulp. In such a case. Non tulit hanc speciem, Vir. He could not abide to see this sight. = Figura, forma, Cic.

Spĕcĭfĭcè; adv. Philos. εἰδικῶς. Particularly, especially, specifically.

Spĕcĭfĭco, as; Philos. ex Species & Facio: εἰδοποιῶ. To specifie.

Spĕcĭfĭcus, a, um; Philos. εἰδικός. Particular, special, specifical.

Spĕcillum, li; n. dim. à Specillum, μικρὸν λωτὸς, μικροτεχὲς, μίλη. A little looking-glass, Var. also an instrument wherewith Chirurgions do search wounds and ulcers, a probe: also an instrument for eye-salve to anoint the eyes with, Var. Ocularium ſpecillum, Jun. A pair of ſpectacles. Auricularium ſpecillum, Celſ. An ear-picker.

Spĕcimen, ĭnis ; n. Cic. Specimen, proprie in quavis merce dic. exiguum quoddam, quod à venditore ſpectandum profertur, ut ex eo emptor rem totam æſtimet : σπίδειγμα, γνώσισμα. חִבְנִית. A proof, tryal, eſſay, token, inſtance, model, pattern or ſhew.

SPECIO, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. Enn. ap. Var. à Σκέπτω, σκοπῶ, per Metath. à שָׁקַף : Σκέπτω, ὁράω. רָאָה. I ſee, to behold, to regard, to view.

Spĕciōsè ; adv. Col. ἀγαθῶς, κάλλιστα. Beautifully, gaily, ſightly, gallantly.

Spĕciōſior, us ; comp. Celſ. Better favoured.

Spĕciōſiſſimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Sen. Very gay or goodly.

Spĕciōſius ; adv. Col. More handſomely or ſightly.

Spĕciōſus, a, um ; Liv. ἀγαθὸς, ἀκτραπὸς. יָפֶה. Goodly to ſee, beautiful, ſightly, fair in appearance ; ſpecious : also honourable, Ulp.

† Spĕcis pro Speciebus, Plaut.

† Spĕcito, as ; freq. à Specio, Plaut. πολλὰ βλέπω. To view or behold often.

† Spĕcium, cii ; n. Pacuv. idem quod Speculum, à Specio : inſtrumentum quo fiſtula aut vulnerum altitudo pertentatur. A probe.

Spĕciuncŭla, æ ; f. i. parva ſpecies, R. ex Plaut. A little image, ſhape, likeneſs, beauty, colour.

Spectābĭlis, le ; Cic. θεατὸς, ἀξιοθέατος. נִבְחָר. That may be ſeen or beheld, viſible : alſo conſiderable, notable, remarkable, worthy to be taken notice of and regarded, Tac. goodly, graceful.

Spectābundus, a, um ; adj. R. ex Plaut. περιβλέπων. Looking about.

Spectăcŭlum, li ; n. Cic. id quod ſpectandum exhibetur, Cic. θέαμα, θέατρον. A thing to be ſeen and looked on ; a ſpectacle, a publick ſight, or ſhew ; a pageant, a ſcaffold or place from whence men do behold : alſo a beholder, G. ex Ovid.

Spectāmen, ĭnis ; n. Plaut. θέαμα, ἔλεγχος. A proof, or eſſay, or tryal.

Spectandus, a, um ; part. θεατέος. To be looked upon.

Spectans ; part. Cic. Looking, tending.

Spectātè ; adv. Plin. περιβλέπτως, ἀξιοθέατως. Notedly, remarkably, bravely, in the ſight of the world.

Spectātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. θεωρία. A viewing or beholding ; a tryal, a proof.

Spectātiſſimè ; adv. ſuperl. Plin. Moſt fair to ſee to.

Spectātiſſimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt excellent or goodly.

Spectātivus, a, um ; Quint. θεωρητικὸς. That belongeth to ſpeculation, ſpeculative, contemplative.

Spectātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. θεατὴς, ἐποπτὴς, θεωρὸς. רוֹאֶה. A beholder, a looker on, a gazer, a ſpectator, a viewer, a conſiderer, a tryer or prover, Ter. a Critick, a Judge. Spectator auri, Jun. χρυσοβαφεὺς. A Gold-finer.

Spectātrix, ĭcis ; f. Ovid. θεάτρια. She that beholdeth.

Spectārur ; imp. Plin. It is ſeen.

S ectātus, a, um ; part. & adj. Cic. δόκιμος, δοκιμασθεὶς. נִבְחָן. Well tryed, approved, looked on ; fair and goodly : alſo openly ſeen, beheld and played, Hor. of a Comedy. = Cognitus, probatus, nobilitatus, Cic.

† Spectile ; n. quod in ſue ſit obviàm ſpectui, Feſt. τὸ ὑποκείλιον, vel τὸ ἄτεγον, Scal. The fleſhy parts of a jow beneath her middle without bones. Corr. leg. Specile. Dalec. leg. ut adj. Sumen ſpectile.

Spectio, ōnis ; f. Var. αἰετοσκοπία. Verbum eſt proprium ad Augurum diſciplinam pertinens, in quâ officia ità diſtributa erant, ut qui Spectionem habebant, Nuntiationem non haberent : ἐφεδρεία. A looking into the entrails of beaſts, or the feeding or flying of fowls, to divine thereby : alſo an inſpection, proof or tryal of a thing, Gell.

Specto, as ; act. à Specio, ſpectum, Cic. ὁράω, θεάομαι. חָבִיט. To behold, look upon, view or eye a thing : alſo to conſider, to regard, to prove or try, to judge or eſteem and prize ; to approve, to take care or have regard, to mind, to concern, belong or appertain to ; to tend or drive to ſome end : alſo to lye towards. Spectat ad orientem, Plin. & In orientem ſpectat, Celſ. It lyeth towards the Eaſt. = Æſtimo, Cic.

Spector, āris ; paſſ. Ovid. To be tryed, &c.

† Spector, ōris ; m. Liv. A prover.

Spectrum, tri ; n. à Specio, ſpectum, Cic. φάσμα, εἴδωλον. חִזָּיוֹן. A Phantom, a Ghoſt, a Spirit, a Viſion.

† Spectus, ūs ; m. idem quod Aſpectus, Pacuv. & Apul. Sight.

Spĕcŭla, æ ; f. Cic. à Specio ; de quâ ſc. proſpicimus, Var. Σκοπιὰ, φρυκτωρία. מִצְפֶּה. An high hill or watch-tower, wherein things be eſpied afar off and every way, a tower, hill, or beacon, Liv. alſo the ſight of a thing.

Spĕcŭla, æ ; f. dim. à Spes, Cic. ἐλπίδιον. Little or ſmall hope.

Spĕculābundus, a, um ; Suet. κατάσκοπος. Looking about, eſpying : alſo a diligently beholding ; contemplating, Tac.

Spĕculāmen, ĭnis ; n. Prud. Sight.

Spĕculāre, & per Apoc. Specular, āris ; Digeſt. ἐσοπτρεῖον, κάτοπτρον. A looking-glaſs, ſpectacles ; a glaſs-window or caſement : alſo the covering of a wall in a garden, Bud.

Spĕculāria, ōrum ; n. Sen. & ium ; Plin. pl. Glaſs-windows made of fine tranſparent ſtone, like iſinglaſs.

Spĕculāris, re ; Plin. adj. à Speculum. κατοπτρικὸς, διοπτρικὸς. Any thing whereby one may ſee the better, belonging to glaſs-windows or ſpectacles. Specularis lapis, lapidis pellucidi genus in tenuiſſimas cruſtulas ſectile, ex quo olim Specularia conficere ſolebant, hoc eſt, feneſtras admittendæ luci & excludendo vento. Dict. ſive quòd ſpecularia ex eo fierent ; ſive quòd ſpeculi modo luceret, Plin. 21. 13. λίθος διαφανὴς. A ſtone clear like glaſs, cut into ſmall thin panes, and in old time uſed for glaſs ; a kind of Talc ; Iſinglaſs.

Spĕculāris, re ; adj. à Specula. Belonging to a watch-tower. Specularis ſignificatio, Plin. A ſignal given from a beacon or watch-tower : alſo the intelligence or information of a Spy.

Spĕculārium, rii ; n. Sen. id. quod Speculare. Alſo a Beacon.

Spĕcŭlārius, rii ; m. Ulp. à Speculum. κατοπτροποιὸς. He that maketh ſpectacles, looking-glaſſes or glaſs-windows, a Glaſier.

Spĕcŭlārius, a, um ; à Specula. Excubitor ſpecularius, Jun. A Centinell.

Spĕcŭlātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Amm. θεωρία, κατασκοπὴ. A ſpying or watching on a high tower, or other place ; a diſcovery, ſpeculation.

Spĕcŭlātivus, a, um ; adj. Philoſ. θεωρητικὸς. Contemplative.

Spĕcŭlātor, ōris ; m. verb. κατάσκοπος, ἔποπτης. רַד. A ſpy in wars, a ſcout-watch ; a centinel, Cæſ. a beholder, a viewer : a conſiderer and obſerver, Cic.

Spĕcŭlātōrius, a, um ; Cæſ. θεωρητικὸς, κατασκοπικὸς. Belonging to eſpying. Navis ſpeculatoria, Liv. A brigantine, a ſkiff, a bark for eſpial, a Ketch.

Spĕcŭlātrix, ĭcis ; f. verb. Cic. ἡ κατάσκοπος. She that watcheth or ſpyeth.

Speculatus, a, um ; à Speculum ; Vita Hor. Done over with looking-glaſſes.

Spĕcŭlātus, ūs ; m. Plin. θεώρησις, κατασκοπὴ. An eſpying, a watch.

Spĕcŭlor, āris ; dep. Cæſ. à Specula, θεάομαι, κατασκοπῶ. צָפָה. To watch in an high tower, to eſpy, to conſider diligently, to ſee far, to ſcout, to ſearch, to behold and gaze upon, to contemplate ; θεωρῶ. = Perſcrutor, inſidior, Cic.

Spĕcŭlum, li ; n. Cic. à Specio ; quòd in eo ſpecimus imaginem, Var. ἔσοπτρον, κάτοπτρον. גִּלָּיוֹן. A looking-glaſs, a mirrour.

Spĕcus, ūs ; vel i ; m. vel f. Ovid. à Specio, quomodo ab heb. אוֹר lux, מְאוּרָה ſpecus per Antiphr. vel à σπήλαιον, locus ex quo deſpicitur : σπήλαιον, σπήλυγξ, ἄντρον. מְעָרָה. A den, cave or lurking-place.

* Spēlæum, læi ; n. Vir. σπήλαιον. Spelæum ferarum, Jun. A den of wild beaſts, a cave, a retreat.

Spelta, æ ; f. Offic. ζεία. A kind of wheat in Italy and Flanders called Spelt.

Spēlunca, cæ ; f. Cic. à gr. σπήλυγξ. in Acc. σπήλυγγα. A cave, an hole in a rock, a grot, a den.

Spērābilis, le ; Plaut. ἐλπιζὸς. That may be hoped for.

Spērans, tis ; part. Vir. Hoping.

Spērātus, a, um ; part. ἐλπιδεὶς. Hoped or looked for. ◊ Speratum veteres dicebant eum, qui uxorem petit ; & Speratam, virginem, quam quis petit uxorem ; Promiſſam autem Pactam vel Sponſam voc. Non.

† Speres, is ; f. pro Spes, Non. unde Aspere, qu. ſine ſpere ; & Proſpere, pro ſpere, Feſt. Hope. Speres, antiq. pluraliter dic. Hopes.

Spergŭla, æ ; f. Dodon. πολύγαλον. An herb called Frank or Spurry, Wood-roſe, a kind of Liver-wort.

Sperma, ătis ; n. Jun. σπέρμα, ſemen ; à σπείρω ſemino. Natural ſeed whereof things be ingendered, ſperm ; the ſpawn or milt in fiſhes. Sperma ceti, Offic. The flower of the ſea, parmacity, whitiſh amber.

Spernax, ācis ; adj. à Sperno, Sil. cum ſen. ὀλίγωρος. That ſlighteth or undervalueth.

Spernendus, a, um ; part. Ovid. To be deſpiſed.

SPERNO, is, ĕre ; ſprēvi, tum ; act. Cic. à Spero & Non ; qu. nullam de eo ſpem habeo, Perot. al. à σπείρω, ſperno : Sperni enim videtur, quod per viam ſpargitur : antiq. pro Separo, unde ſeparino

(ut

(ut à nato, natino) hinc Sperno, ξεύω, ἀπαρνέομαι. נאץ. To disdain or despise, to make no account of, to slight, to scorn; to separate. Se à malis spernere proco, Enn. ap. Non. = Repudio, repello, Cic. parvi puto, Catul.

Spernor, ĕris; pass. Ter.

†Spernor, āris; unde Aspernor.

SPERO, as; act. Cic. ab heb. שבר, sibber, idem. vel à gr. σπάω, σπάομαι palpito, unde & Spiro. ἐλπίζω, προσδοκάω. To hope, to suppose, to trust; to look for; to rejoice, Ter. also to fear, Vir. § Sperare Deos, To fear them, Vir. To hope in them, Plaut. = Expecto, Cic.

Spes, ēi; f. Cic. antiq. Speres, à Spero. ἐλπίς, ἐλπισμός, προσδοκία. תקוה. Hope, trust, assurance, looking for any thing, expectation: also fear, Stat. joy, Ovid.

†Spetile, corruptè pro Spectile, Fest.

*Speusticus, a, um; σπευστικός, ex σπεύδω festino. Panis speusticus, Plin. Bread baked in haste, upon the hearth.

*Sphācĕlus, li; m. Med. σφάκελος. A disease when any part is mortified, a rottenness of the bones.

*Sphācelismus, i; m. Med. σφακελισμός. The gangrening of any part: also the blasting of trees.

Sphæra, æ; f. Cic. gr. σφαῖρα. כדור. A sphere, a globe, a circle, a bowl, a round, any thing that is round.

†Sphærābilis, le; adj. R. ex Fest. That may be rounded.

Sphærālis, le; Macrob. σφαιρικός, σφαιροειδής. Of, or like a Sphere.

†Sphærica, æ; f. Cic. ex Cato. A kind of cake made of divers round pieces.

Sphærĭcus, a, um; Isid. σφαιρικός. Round as a Sphere.

*Sphæristā, æ; m. Sidon. σφαιριστής. A Tennis player.

*Sphæristērium, rii, n. Plin. jun. σφαιριστήριον, à σφαῖρα, unde σφαιρίζω pilâ ludo. A round place in a bain where people exercised at ball; a Tennis-court: also a bowling-alley, or bowling-green, or a place where men bowl through the ring; a Pall-Mall: the game Trolmadam, Jun.

†Sphærita, æ; f. Cato. σφαιρίτης, scil. ὀλακὸς. placenta genus, quæ spheras seu globulos habet, qui in solo ejus componebantur, Turneb.

*Sphæroides; adj. Boët. σφαιροειδής. Round like a sphere.

*Sphæromachia, æ; f. Sen. σφαιρομαχία. Playing at tennis, hand-ball or bowls.

Sphærŭla, æ; f. dim. à Sphæra: σφαιρίδιον. A little globe or ball, a bowling-stone; a head. Sphærulæ precatoriæ, Eraſm. Beads to pray upon.

*Sphagitides, um; f. pl. R. ex Plin. 24. 6. σφαγίτιδες, i. jugulares, sc. venæ, à σφαγὴ jugulum. Two great veins appearing on each side of the throat, and nourishing all the parts of the neck and the head.

†Sphenida; pilæ genus, majus paganici, Perot. sed rect. in Acc. panida dic. Cæl. Rhod. 20. 44.

*Sphincter, ēris; m. Medic. σφιγκτήρ. strictor, à σφίγγω stringo. The round compassing muscle of the straight gut serving to keep in the excrements.

Sphingium, gii; n. Plin. A Monkey.

*Sphinx, gis & gos; f. Plin. σφίγξ, ἀπὸ τῦ σφίγγειν, quòd loquebatur ἁρπάζουσα ἅπερ ἤκουεν, quibus homines ita stringebat, ut expedire se non possent. A beast like an Ape, a Monkey, a Marmoset: also a monstrous Witch or Hag at Thebes, that put forth Riddles and killed those passengers who could not unriddle them. Vid. Prop.

*Sphondylion; n. Jun. σφονδύλιον. Angelica, Panacea, Branca ursina, &c. The holy Ghosts root, Cow-parsnip, Wa.

*Sphondylus, li; m. Macrob. σφόνδυλος. Gal. id. quod Spondylus.

*Sphragis, idis; f. Plin. σφραγίς. Lat. Sigillum. Terra Lemnia signata. A kind of the best rudale or Vermilion: also a precious stone green, and not shining through, which is good for sealing.

†Sphragitides; G. ex Prud. A drying or cicatrizing plaster of this vermilion.

*Sphygmos, i; m. Med. σφυγμός, Lat. pulsus; motus arteriæ celeriùs tardiùsve, salientis, pro ratione dilatationis & contractionis ipsius cordis, ἀπὸ τῦ σφύζειν, quod inter cætera signif. Salire.

*Sphyræna, æ; f. Sphyræna rostro similis, Plin. σφύραινα, Arist. à σφύρα malleus: unde Gazæ Malleolus, Lat. Sudis dic.

SPICA, æ; f. Cic. à Spe, qu. speca, quòd spem præbet hominibus, Var. Omn. à στάχυς, Æolicè σπάχυς spica: στάχυς, ἀσταχυς. שבלת. The ear of corn, a clove of Garlick, Col. a Sign in heaven, to wit, a bright Star in the left hand of Virgo. Spica mutica, Jun. An ear of corn without the beard. Spica Cilissa, Ovid. The saffron-flower. Spica Celtica, Offic. A kind of moss called Wolves-claw. Spica nardi, Jun. Lavender spike, Spikenard. Hinc Angl. a Spike.

Spicāta, æ; f. Offic. Fontalis, Fontinalis, herba ex spicâ dicta. Water-spike.

Spicātum, ti; n. Marc. à Spica. An excellent ointment called Spikenard, or oyl of spike.

Spicātus, a, um; Plin. στάχυώδης, στάχυος. In the ear, or eared as corn is: also picked, spiked or made sharp at point. Pavimentum spicatum, Vitr. A paving or laying of bricks or tyles edge-long.

Spiceus, a, um; Vir. στάχυϊνος, στάχυος. Of or belonging to ears of corn.

Spicifer, a, um; Mart. στάχυοφόρος. That beareth ears of corn.

Spicilĕgium, gii; n. Var. στάχυολογία. Gleaning or leasing of corn, or gathering of ears of corn.

Spicilĕgus, gi; m. Col. qui spicas legit. A gleaner of corn, a leaser.

†Spicio, is; ant. id. quod Specio, Plaut.

Spico, as; Plin. spicas facio, spicis instruo: acuo. στάχυομαι. To shoot out as an ear of corn doth. Act. To make picked like an ear of corn, to spike or point and make sharp at the end.

Spicor, āris; pass. Plin.

Spicŭla, æ; f. dim. Col. A dart: also a pudding wrought in wreaths, G. ex Arnob.

Spicŭlātor, ōris; m. Tac. δορυφόρος. An Archer or Spear-man of the guard; a Partizan or Halbardier: also a Marshal, a Serjeant, an Executioner.

Spicŭlo, as; Plin. ἀκονάω. To make any thing sharp at the point.

Spiculum, li; n. Vir. dict. à similitudine Spicæ; vel quòd sit spicatum. ἀκαντίον, λόγχη, ἀκωκή. חנית. A dart, a javelin, an arrow, a shaft; an arrow-head; the head of a dart or Javelin; the point of a spear, Curt. the sting of a bee, Vir. the barb in an arrow head, Cels. a sting, Ovid. the spade in cards, Jun.

†Spicum, i; n. Serv. ex Cic. An ear of corn.

†Spicus, i; m. à στάχυς, Æol. σπάχυς. id. quod Spica, Serv.

SPINA, æ; f. Col. ἄκανθα. חוח. à Spica, qu. Spicina; vel quòd ad spiculi similitudinem acuta sit, Perot. M. à σπάω, aut à σπίζω, i. ἐκτείνω, Hesych. Fort. à σχίνος cuneus, in Acc. σχῖνα. A thorn, a prickle; a prickle or bristle of an Hedge-hog, the quill of a Porcupin, Plin. the chine-bone of the back, Id. the sting of a bee; a pin, Tac. also a quiddity or subtilty, a nice or difficult point, Cic. Spina acida, The Barberry-bush. Spina acuta, The white thorn or Hawthorn. Spina alba vel regia, Jun. The wild Artichoak or Ladies thistle. Spina appendix, Plin. The Goose-berry-bush. Spina fullonia, Plin. The Teasil. Spina peregrina, Globe-thistle, or Cotton-thistle. Spina infectoria, Buck-thorn. Spina sacra, Isid. The Rump.

Spinācia, æ; f. Jun. The herb Spinage.

Spinālis, le; vertebralis. Pertaining to the back-bone. Spinalis medulla, Macrob. The marrow or pith of the back-bone.

Spineola, æ; & Spinea; f. R. ex Plin. A kind of Rose.

Spinētum, ti; n. Vir. ἀκανθών. A place where thorns and bryers grow, a bush of thorns.

Spineus, a, um; Catull. ἀκάνθινος. Of or belonging to thorns, bushes or brambles, thorny, bushy.

Spinifer, ra, rum; Cic. ἀκανθοφόρος. That beareth thorns or prickles, prickly or thorny.

Spinigĕna, æ; c. g. Col. Sprung up of a thorn.

Spinĭger, a, um; Prud. id. quod Spinifer.

Spinōsus, a, um; Cic. ἀκανθώδης. Full of thorns or prickles, thorny, prickly; difficult, crabbed, obscure.

*Spinther, ēris; n. vel Spinter, Plaut. à σπινθὴρ scintilla, quòd scintillabat auro: βραχιόνιον. אצעדה. A buckle, a clasp, a bracelet, Fest. ἀκρωχείριον. Also the badge of a messenger, Herald, or Pursevant.

†Spinthērŭlum, & Spinterŭlum, li; n. dim. Eraſm. A little clasp.

†Spintriæ, repertores monstrosi concubitûs, Suet. à σφίγγειν, quod quasi συσφιγγόμενοι se incestarent; vel à σπινθὴρ stricturæ ignis, M.

†Spinturnicium; Plaut. An ill favoured creature in the same sense that Pithecium; Monkey-faced.

Spinturnix, icis; f. Plin. ex σπινθὴρ scintilla, & ὄρνις avis, i. avis incendiaria, (ut ipse vocat) σπινθηρίς. dict. quòd carbonem ex rogo aut ex altari in ædes inferret; Fest. πυρκλής. A bird wont to come to the altar, and carry away a burning coal, as a token for ill luck, or burning to the house where it lighted; or a four-footed beast with wings like the Sphinx, Salm. ex Amm.

Spinu; indecl. Var. id. quod Spinus.

Spinŭla, æ; f. dim. à Spina, Jun. A little thorn; a pin that fasteneth the hat or cap under the chin, G.

Spinŭlārium, rii; n. R. ex Plaut. A pin-case.

†Spinŭlārius, rii; m. R. ex Vir.

A

A Pinner, a maker of pins.

Spinōlentus, a, um; adj. Var. i. Spinosus. Full of thorns.

Spinus, ni; f. Vir. dict. quòd spinis referta. ἄκανθος. קוץ. ἀγεία πρώτη, κακαμυλέα ἀγεία. A sloe-tree, a bullace-tree; a black-horn; a snag-tree.

Spinus, i; m. Jun. à gr. σπίνος. à σπίζειν, unde & σπίζα vel σπίζα. vel quia cantat inter spinas. A Nightingale, the bird Figury, a Sisken, a Finch. = Fringilla, Avien.

* Spionia, æ; f. Plin. σπονία, vel quæ Spinea. A certain kind of vine.

Spiōnicus, a, um; Col. Of that vine.

Spira, æ; f. Vir. σπεῖρα, i. σφαῖρα, ἕλιξ. A roundel or circle, a turning, a winding compass; a fold of a Serpent, a coil of a cable; a wreath, a chain, band or twisted lace, Juv. a half-band; a stay to tye under the chin, and keep ones hat on: a cracknel or cake made like a trendle, or wriben like a rope, Cato. Also a band or multitude of people, Fest. ex Enn. Also a womans attire for the head tyed and fastned behind, called a Chapile, Lucil. the square of a pillar below, that may serve to sit upon, Vitr. also a round knob or knur in a tree, Plin. also a curl of frizled hair.

Spirābilis, le; Cic. πνευστικός, ἐμπνευστικός. That whereby we breathe and live, lively, that which breathes or is breathed.

Spirāculum, li; n. Vir. διαπνοή, ἐμπνοή. נפח. A breathing hole, a vent, a cave or hole, which breathes out a pestilent air.

* Spirea, æ; f. Plin. σπειραία. frutex quidem Theophr.

* Spiræon; n. Plin. σπειραῖον. dict. quòd sit flexile, à σπεῖρα. A kind of herb for garlands.

Spiræus, a, um; Palmer. ex Var. σπειραῖος. Plyant, flexible.

Spirāmen, inis; n. Lucan. φύσημα. נפח. A breathing-hole, or passage of breath; a vent: also a chimney or tunnel of a chimney. Humoris spiramina, Amm. Moist vapours.

Spirāmentum, i; n. idem. A vent, a pore, Plin. a breathing time, Tac. ◊ Spiramentum animæ, Vir. The lungs or lights, or the wind-pipe; follis, Jun. The pipe or nose of the bellows.

Spirans, tis; part. Vir. πνέων, ἐμπνέων. Breathing, or casting out a breath or savour, blowing, living, done to the life (of pictures).

Spirātor, ōris; m. verb. R. ex Quint. He that breatheth.

Spirillum, li; n. Fest. dict. quòd sit tanquam spira sub mento capræ. A Goats beard. Al. leg. Stirillum.

† Spiritāle, lis; n. Vitr. machina quædam, cùm spiritûs impressionibus impulsus, & plagæ vocésque organicæ exprimuntur. A kind of engine; a kind of venting or breathing.

Spiritālis, le; Solin. πνευματικός. Lively, that breathes, spiritual.

Spiritūalis, le; Eccl. πνευματικός. Spiritual, or belonging to the spirit and soul.

† Spiritualitas, ātis; f. Cyrill. Devotion, devoutness.

Spiritualiter; adv. Hier. πνευματικῶς. Spiritually.

Spiritus, ūs; m. Cic. à Spirando: πνεῦμα. רוח. A spirit, the soul, the life, breath; air; sense. also a savour or smell, a vapour, a steam, Hor. also courage or greatness of spirit, Cæs. a sound or noise, Quint. a blast; a wind, Solin. also the Holy Ghost, Bibl. ◊ Spiritûs radix, Jun. The Holy Ghosts root. = Animus, Quint. fiducia, Cæs.

SPIRO, as; act. Cic. πνέω, φυσάω. נפח. qu. σπῶ ἀέρα, vel pot. à σπαίρω, ἰμασάω, spiro, respiro, palpito, Gloss. To blow or breathe; to cast a smell, to exhale or steam, Vir. to endeavour to obtain, Liv. to aspire to; to live, to fetch or draw breath, to pant.

Spīrula, æ; f. dim. à Spira, Serv. The base of a pillar, a little round compass.

Spissāmentum, ti; n. Plin. σύμμεα, πύκασμα. A thing put into ointments or medicines to make them thick: also any thing used to stuff holes withal; a bung, Col.

Spissātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sidon. πύκνωσις. A thickning.

Spissātus, a, um; part. Ovid. πυκνωθείς. Made thick, stiffned.

Spissè; adv. Plin. πυκνῶς, συχνῶς, συστελικῶς. Thickly, grosily, closely; slowly and with much ado, Cic.

Spissescens; part. Cels. Growing thick.

Spissesco, is, ĕre; incep. Lucr. πυκνόομαι. To wax thick.

† Spissigrādissimus, a, um; superl. Plaut. Very slow paced.

Spissigrādus, a, um; Plin. qui spisse, i. tardo motu gradiens, i. passuum ambulando utitur; βραδύπους, βραδυπόρος. One that goeth slowly and treadeth thick.

Spissior, us; comp. Plin. More thick.

Spississimus, a, um; superl. Plin. Most thick, solid and hard.

Spissitas, ātis; f. Plin. πυκνότης. עבי. Thickness, clamminess, closeness.

Spissitūdo, inis; f. Sen. idem.

Spissiùs; adv. compar. Plin. More slowly.

Spisso, as; act. Plin. πυκνόω, πήγνυμι. עבה. To make thick, to thicken: also to strengthen. Spissat corpus aquilo, Cels. It stops the pores.

Spissor, āris; pass. Plin.

SPISSUS, a, um; Cic. πυκνός, συχνός. עב. Pap. Spissum, qu. sine passo. Spissum, à sepium densitate, Per. qu. Sepissum. M. à Σπίζω, unde Σπιδνός, πυκνός. Thick, clammy, grosi, massive, firm, hard and solid, Vir. standing thick and close together, full thwack, crowded, Vir. cum Abl. also slow or long, Plaut. & Solutus, Col.

Spithāma, æ; f. Plin. gr. Σπιθαμή. שפח. mensura quæ sit à pollice ad minimum digitum manu extensâ. A span from the thumbs end to the end of the little finger.

Spithāmæus, a, um; Plin. Σπιθαμαῖος. Of, or belonging to the measure of a span length.

* Splanchnoptes, æ; m. Plin. Σπλαγχνόπτης. An image resembling a youth roasting the inwards of a beast sacrificed.

* Splen, splēnis; m. Plin. Σπλήν. à supplendo, ex contrariâ parte jecoris, ne vacua existerent, qu. supplen, Isid. The mile, the spleen.

Splendens, tis; part. & adj. Plin. λαμπρός, λάμπων. Glittering, shining: also famous, renowned.

Splendentior, us; comp. Claud. More shining or glittering, brighter.

SPLENDEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. Hor. à Σπινθὶς scintilla; à σπίλβω id. M. à σπίλβω ὑδὶ ◊, vel à Σπλήν, i. φλὴν, à Σπλὼς cinis ignitus, qui splendet & torret. σπλάμπω, λαμπρίζω. נהר. To shine or glister; to be beautiful and gay. = Luceo, Cic.

Splendesco, is, ĕre; incep. Cic. λαμπρύνομαι, ἀγλαΐζομαι. נהר. To begin to glister and shine, to wax fair and bright: also to have a good grace, or look passing well.

† Splendĭco, as, āre; id. quod Splendeo, Apul. To glisten or glister.

Splendidè; adv. Cic. λαμπρῶς, ἀγλαῶς. Clearly, brightly, gaily, gallantly, bravely, trickly, nobly, royally. = Ornatè, magnificè, Cic.

Splendidior, us; comp. Hor. More clear or bright and transparent.

Splendidissimè; adv. Suet. Most gallantly.

Splendidissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Very gallant and brave.

Splendĭdo, as; act. Apul. φωσφόρω. To brighten or make bright.

Splendĭdŭlus, a, um; dim. Plaut. ὑπολαμπής. Somewhat brave and fine.

Splendidus, a, um; Cic. à Splendeo. λαμπρός, ἀγλαός, σφριγῶν, παμφαής. Bright, clear, shining, glittering, famous, noble, gorgeous, gay; gallant, brave, stately, splendid. Bilis splendida, Hor. i. flava. Choler. = Magnificus, ornatus, Cic.

Splendor, ōris; m. à Splendeo, Cic. αὐγή, λαμπρότης. נעם. Brightness, light, splendour, shine, beauty, bravery, gallantry, honour, renown, glory; the gloss, varnish, or shining of a colour, Plin. = Gloria, dignitas, amplitudo, Cic.

Splēnĕticus, a, um; Plin. Σπληνητικός. That is sick of the spleen, or hath a great spleen; splenetick.

Splēniātus, a, um; Mart. Σπληνιωτός. That hath a plaster or patch upon it.

Splēnicus, a, um; Jul. Firm. Σπληνικός. Pertaining to the spleen.

Splēnium, ii; n. Plin. Σπλήνιον à Splen: linteolum sectum ad emplastra, quod spleni applicandum, vel splenis figurâ factum. A long plaster or cloth to lay to the body of him that is sick of the spleen: also a sore-head-cloth: also a black patch upon the face, Mart. also the herb called large Spleen-wort, Mili-waste, quòd splenem auferat, Isid. rect. Asplenon.

Splēnōsus, a, um; Vitr. Σπληνώδης. Full of spleen, or having a great spleen.

Spodium, dii; n. Plin. Σπόδιον, dim. à Σπὼς cinis. The cinders after the melting of iron or brass, &c. also the soot rising of the trying of it.

Spōliandus, a, um; part. Lucan. To be spoiled or robbed.

† Spōliānus, ni; m. R. ex Liv. He that receiveth the spoil taken in robbery. Rect. sort. Spoliarius.

Spōliārium, rii; n. Plin. locus ubi loturi se spoliant vestibus, i. exuunt; vel locus ubi spolia reponuntur; ἀποδυτήριον. The undressing-room, where people put off their cloaths, before they go into the bath: also a place where people are spoiled or robbed, Plin. jun. Also a place next the Stage, where Sword-fencers, either slain or grievously wounded, were bestowed, Lampr.

Spōliātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. Σκύλευσις. בזה. A robbing, a spoiling, pillaging or plundering.

Spoliātior, us; comp. Cic. More spoiled or pillaged.

Spoliātor,

Spoliātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. Σκυλευτήρ, λῃστής, λαφυραγωγός. A spoiler, piller, robber, pillager or plunderer.

Spoliātrix, ĭcis; f. Cic. Σκυλευτικόν. She that spoileth or pilleth.

Spoliātus, a, um; part. Cic. Σκυλευθείς, συλληθείς. Bereft, robbed, disarmed.

Spŏlio, as; act. Ter. συλάω, Σκυλάω, Σκυλεύω, ἀποδύομαι. בזז. To spoil, pill, rob, to strip, bereave or disarm; to pillage or plunder. Omni argento aliquem spoliare, Cic. To rob him of all his money. = Detraho, orbo.

Spŏlior, āris; pass. Cic.

SPOLIUM, ii; n. Cic. Σκῦλον, λάφυρον, λεία. שלל. à Σκῦλον spolium, (κ in π mutato,) ut à φύλον folium. Spoil taken from the enemy; a booty, a prey, a pillage; the skin of a beast, Lucr. Spolium serpentis, Vir. The cast skin or slough of a snake or adder.

Sponda, æ; f. Vir. lectus pro sponsis, à Spondeo; vel à Σπονδή, propter fœdus conjugale. κλίνη. ערש. A bedstead, or the side of a bed, τὸ τῆ κλίνης πλευρόν. Orciniana sponda, Mart. A bier to carry the dead in. Æ Sponda, The outer bedside where the man lay. Pluteus, The inner side next the wall, where the wife lay, Mart.

Spondæus pes; Gram. Σπονδεῖος, libamen, quòd in sacrificiis & libationibus eo maximè uterentur. A foot consisting of two long syllables.

Spondālium, ii; n. Cic. vel, ut leg. Salm. Spondaulium; genus cantûs, à Spondeo pede appellat. An Hymn consisting of Spondees; sung to procure and settle the favour of the gods, whiles the incense was a burning.

Spondaulæ; m. pl. Jun. Organ-players; Waits.

Spondens, tis; part. Ovid. Promising, signifying.

SPONDEO, es, ēre; di, sum; act. Cic. ὑπισχνέομαι, ἐπαγγέλλω. ערב. à Sponte, Fest. quòd qui spondet suâ sponte promittat, Var. vel à Σπονδὴ libatio, it. fœdus; quòd in spondendo sive fœdere faciendo libarent. To promise freely, to undertake, or be surety for another; to engage, to assure; to betroath, to espouse. Spondere puellam alicui, Plaut.

* Spondēon, sive Spondeum, ei; n. Σπονδεῖον, i. ἀγγεῖον, ἐν ᾧ Σπένδεται, Suid. id. quod Capeao vel Libatorium, Turneb. A chalice or vessel wherein they offered drink-offerings; a sacrificing-dish. Sacerdos de fonte petitum spondeo libat, Apul.

† Spondiāles; m. pl. Isid. vel Spondiaulæ, Turneb. qui thure incensûs altaribus canebant Spondæis. Those who sung hymns at the time of offering incense.

† Spondĭli; m. pl. Mar. Vict. à Spondæis dict. qui tibias inflant supplicantes. Vid. Spondiales.

* Spondylis, is; f. Plin. 27. 13. Σπονδύλη. A kind of Serpent.

* Spondylion, ii; n. Plin. 12. 26. Σπονδύλιον. An herb of the Ferula kind; Cow-parsnip.

Spondylus, i; m. Cels. Σπόνδυλος, i. vertebra spinæ dorsi. A knuckle or turning joint of the chine or back-bone; any small bone of beast, bird or fish, Mart. also the head of the artichoak thistle; a whirl of a spindle, Plin. Also the hard white in an oyster, Col. a kind of shell-fish, Plin. also a brass counter, used in giving of votes at Athens, Poll.

Spongia, æ; f. Mart. σφόγγος, Σπόγγος, Σπογγία. A sponge, or that wherewith any thing is wiped: also the root of Sparage, cluttered, growing close together, Col. also a stone found in sponges, called Tecolithus, Plin. it. membrum virile, G. ex Beroald. in Suet. it. corporis tegumentum, R. ex Liv.

† Spongiātor, ōris; m. Cæl. Rhod. Σπογγοθήρας. He that getteth or useth sponges, that fisheth for them; a sponger.

† Spongio, as; Apic. Σπογγίζω. To wipe clean with a sponge.

Spongiŏla, æ; f. Plin. Σπογγίον. A little sponge; a little root of the herb Sparage, a Mushrome, Col. Also the spongy ball that grows on sweet bryar.

Spongiōsus, a, um; Plin. Σπογγώδης, πολύτρητος. Spongy, like to a sponge, full of small holes or eyes, light or puffy.

* Spongites, æ; m. Plin. 36. 11. Σπογγίτης. gemma à similitudine spongiæ dicta. A stone found in sponges. V. Tecolithus.

† Spons, tis; f. Sponte ablativi casûs, cui rectus erit Spons, Auson. à spondeo, sponsum. Accord. Vid. Spontis.

Sponsa, æ; f. Plaut. quæ spondetur sponso: νύμφη, μνηστή. כלה. A woman espoused, a bride, or new married woman; à spouse.

Sponsālia, um; n. pl. Suet. μνηστεῖα, τὰ γαμήλια. Espousals: the contract or betrothing of a man or woman before full marriage: also the gift which the suiter gives as a pledge of his love.

Sponsālĭtius, a, um; μνηστικός. Sponsalitia arrha, Jun. Belonging to marriage.

Sponsio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἐγγύη, ἐγγύησις. ערבה. A promise, an engagement or obligation, a bargain or wager, an agreement or covenant? also a wager at law, when both parties by consent laid down each a summ of money to engage their standing to tryal, the issue whereof was, that he who was cast in the suit lost his money too: also the stock in cards, Lud. Viv.

Sponsor, sus; Paul. μνηστεύω. יעד. To affiance, espouse or betroath, to promise in marriage, to contract.

Sponsor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ἐγγυητής. A surety or undertaker; a promiser or engager; an affiancer or betroather; he who in law binds himself to stand tryal.

Sponsum, si; n. Cic. ἐγγύη. A promise, &c. V. Sponsio.

Sponsus, a, um; part. Ter. μνηστευθείς. Affianced, promised, betroathed, made sure, engaged.

Sponsus, si; m. Cic. μνηστήρ, νυμφίος. חתן. à Spondeo, cui spondetur sponsa, qui & ipse sponsus est, i. promissus, qui fidem matrimonii dedit. A bridegroom or new married man, a wooer or suiter, Hor.

Sponsus, ûs; m. Gell. id. quod Sponsio. A promise or obligation. Agere ex sponsu, Sever. Sulp. To sue one upon a wager in law.

† Spontālis, le; Apul. quod sponte fit. αὐτοκίνητος, ἑκούσιος, αὐτομάτως. Voluntary, without compulsion or force, free, of its own accord.

Spontāneus, a, um; idem.

Sponte; Ablat. sine Nom. ἑκουσίως, αὐτομάτως, ἑκουσίᾳ, προαιρέσει. Of himself, or of his own free will. Sponte suâ, Cic. Of his own accord, freely, willingly, of himself.

Sponte; adv. Plin. jun. Naturally, willingly, of his own accord, for its own sake.

Spontis, genit. sine recto, unde ablativ. Sponte, Var. Free-will, liberty and choice. Arbor suæ spontis, Col. A tree that grows of it self without planting.

† Spŏron; G. ex Seren. Sammon. A kind of drug.

Sporta, æ; f. Col. à σπυρίς, Acc. σπυρίδα, sporta; al. ab asportando sporta; vel quia ex sparto fit, Ilid. סלה. A basket, a pannier.

Sportella, æ; f. dim. ex dim. Cic. σπυρίδιον, φορμίον. A little basket or pannier: also the same as Sportula.

Sportŭla, æ; f. dim. Plaut. σπυρίδιον. it. munus quod Romani clientibus suis dabant, velut obsonium. Æ Liberaliores divites salutatoribus suis rectam cœnam exhibebant, sordidi in rectæ cœnæ loco sportulam tantùm, Bud. A little pannier or basket: also money or meat distributed by Lords to their clans, that waited on them, instead of a supper; an Alms or Dole: also a gift or gratuity in money bestowed upon Captains, Cod. also a Counsellours or Sergeants fee.

Sprētio, ōnis; f. verb. Liv. καταφρόνησις. A slighting, scorning or disdaining.

Sprētor, ōris; m. verb. à Sperno, Ovid. ὀλιγωρητής, καταφρονητής. A despiser, a scorner, a disdainer, a slighter.

Sprētus, a, um; part. Cic. ὀλιγωρηθείς. Set naught by, despised, slighted.

* Spudarchæ; m. pl. Cæl. Rhod. Σπουδάρχαι. qui anxiè dignitates affectant & imperia.

SPUMA, æ; f. Vir. ἀφρός. קצף. à Spuo. Scum, foam, froth: also soap, Mart. Argenti spuma, Plin. Litharge. Agere spumas, Cic. To foam.

Spūmābundus, a, um; G. ex Apul. Frothing or foaming.

Spūmans, tis; part. Vir. ἀφρίζων. Foaming, being in a foam, frothing.

Spūmātorium, rii; n. Vitruv. A scummer to take off the scum.

Spūmātus, a, um; part. Cic. Covered with foam or froth.

Spūmātus, ûs; m. verb. Stat. ἀφρισμός. A foaming, being of a scum or froth.

Spūmesco, is, ĕre; incep. Ovid. ἀφρίζω. To begin to foam, to froth.

Spūmeus, a, um; Vir. ἀφρώδης, ἀφρώδεις. Frothy, foamy; that hath the colour of, or resembleth foam, Plin.

Spūmĭdus, a, um; Apul. Idem.

Spūmĭfer, ra, rum; Stat. ἀφρίζων. That beareth foam, froth or scum.

Spūmĭger, a, um; Ovid. That foameth or casteth out froth and foam.

Spūmo, as; Vir. ἀφρίζω. To foam, to gather into foam, froth or scum: also to work as Ale doth with yest, to ferment and fret as wine doth.

Spūmōsus, a, um; Vir. ἀφρώδης. Full of foam, froth or scum; foamy, frothy.

SPUO, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; Vir. à πύω, in comp. ἐκπτύω spuo. à pus, Perot. πύον. ירק. To spit, to spawl; to spue or spew.

† Spurcāmen, ĭnis; n. R. ex Prud. Filthiness.

Spurcātus, a, um; part. Catul. Defiled.

Spurcè; adv. Cic. αἰσχρῶς, βωμολοχῶς. Dirtily, filthily, villanously.

Spurcidicus, a, um ; Plaut. αἰσχρολόγος. That speaketh bawdy and filthy talk, ribaldrous.

Spurcificus, a, um ; Plaut. αἰσχρουργός, αἰσχυντικός. That maketh unclean or filthy, or doth any filthy thing.

Spurciſsimè ; adv. ſuperl. Cic. Moſt filthily.

Spurciſſimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt filthy, moſt cruel.

Spurcitia, æ ; f. Lucr. ἀκαθαρσία, ῥυπαρία. טֻמְאָה. Filthineſs, uncleanneſs, villany ; dung, filth, Plin.

Spurcities, ēi ; f. Col. idem.

Spurco, as ; act. Celſ. ῥυπαίνω, μιαίνω. טָמֵא. To defile, bedirty or beray.

† Spurcor, āris ; dep. Plaut. idem.

Spurcus, a, um ; Cic. ῥυπαρός. à Spuo, Perot. ut ſit dignus in quem deſpuas. Spurcum qu. ſpurium, i. immundum, Iſid. μιαρός, αἰσχρός, ῥυπαρός. טָמֵא. Filthy, dirty, ſtinking, cruel, bloody, diſhoneſt. Spurcum vinum, Feſt. Wine not neat, brewed or ſophiſticated wine.

† Spurium, ii ; n. Apul. pudendum muliebre ; τὸ τῆς αἰσχρᾶς. τὸ αἰδοῖον.

Spurius, a, um ; Auſon. à σπόρος, qu. ἀπορρέων conceptus ; qu. ἀπυρὸς υἱός, Plut. quòd Vett. muliebrem naturam Spurium vocarent ; quippe qui patre incerto eſſet ; unde & in ipſo Prænomine pro Spurius, diviſis literis S. P. ſcripſerunt ; q. d. ſine patre, Sigon. νόθος, ὑπόβλητος. Born of a common woman, that knoweth not who is his father, baſtardly, baſe born ; counterfeit, ſpurious, ſuppoſititious.

Spurius, ii ; m. νόθος. מַמְזֵר. A baſtard ; the ſon of an whore.

Spūtāmen, inis ; n. Amm. Spittle, frothy ſpittle.

† Spūtātilicus, a, um ; Cic. conſputatione dignus. καταπτύστος. vox ridiculi gratiâ conficta. Worthy to be ſpit at.

Spūtātor, ōris ; m. verb. Plaut. πτυσπύστης. A ſpitter or ſpawler.

Spūto, as ; à Spuo, Plaut. πτυπτίω. To ſpit often, to beray with ſpittle, to ſputter, to ſpawl.

Spūtor, āris ; paſſ. Plaut.

Spūtum, i ; n. Mart. πτύελον. רֹק. Spittle : alſo a thin paint or varniſh, like gold-leaf.

Spūtus, ūs ; m. Lactan. A ſpitting.

S ante Q.

† Squaldus, pro Squalidus, Non.

Squālens, tis ; part. Squalens auro, Vir. Bedawbed with gold ; venenis, Ovid. Impoiſoned.

Squālentia, æ ; f. Tert. μιασμός. Filthineſs, uncleaneſs.

SQUALEO, es, ui, ēre ; neut. Vir. αὐχμέω, ῥυπάω. à ſquama, Feſt. al. ab ἀχαλλω vel ἀχαλάω doleo ; quod mœſti ſqualeant. To be filthy or airy, naſty and ſluttiſh, to be foul, ill-favoured, or out of faſhion, to be in mourning, Cic. to be full of weeds, and foul for lack of huſbandry, Col.

Squālidè ; adv. Cic. ῥυπαρῶς, αὐχμερῶς. Ill-favouredly, dirtily, naſtily, ſluttiſhly.

Squālidior, us ; comp. Cic. More naſty or filthy.

Squāliditas, ātis ; f. id. quod Squalor, Amm. Naſtineſs.

Squālidiùs ; adv. comp. Cic. More naſtily.

Squalidus, a, um ; à Squaleo, Cic. Squalidum, incultum & ſordidum, ſic appell. quòd proximè ad ſquamas piſcium accedit, utique eorum, qui in profundita ibus abditi paludum ſqualent maximè, Feſt. αὐχμηρός, ῥυπαρός. טָמֵא. Filthy, naſty, ſlovenly, greaſie, ſluttiſh, foul, ill-favoured, loathſome : alſo unpleaſant, wayward, rough, Lucr.

† Squālis, is ; f. Var. id. quod Squalor.

† Squālitas, ātis ; f. Non. ex Accio. idem.

Squalleo, &c. vid. Squaleo.

Squālor, ōris ; m. Cic. αὐχμός, πτῶ vel πτός, ῥύπη. טֻמְאָה. Filthineſs, ſluttiſhneſs, naſtineſs, greaſineſs : alſo the ſorrowful and mourning eſtate of thoſe that be arraigned or accuſed, or otherwiſe in heavineſs for themſelves, or their friends. = Mœror, luctus, ſordes, Cic.

Squālus, li ; m. Plin. γαλεός, quìa ſqualidus & aſper, Geſn. A certain fiſh ſo called ; the ſkate or ray.

† Squālus, a, um ; id. quod Squalidus, Non. à Σκύλλω, vel à Σκυλῶ, vel Σκυλὸς aridus, aſper. Lavare lachrymis veſtem ſqualam & ſordidam, Enn.

Squāma, æ ; f. Vir. λεπὶς, φολίς. קַשְׂקֶשֶׂת. Scabers ; vel à Scabo, quìà ſcabitur ; vel à Σκάπτω, ἐσκαμμένω, hinc Σκάμμα ſquamma. The ſcale of a fiſh, ſerpent or other beaſt : alſo the nails or little plates in a coat of mail, Vir. ◊ Æris ſquama, Jun. The flower, ſcales and offal of braſs blown from it in melting. Squama in oculis, Plin. The Cataract.

† Squāmāſa, æ ; f. R. ex Digeſt. The ſharp part of a bill, writhen like the ſcales of a fiſh.

Squāmātim ; adv. Plin. λεπιδοειδῶς. Scaly, or in the faſhion of ſcales.

Squamatus, a, um ; part. Plin. λεπιδωτός. Scaly, or covered with ſcales.

Squameæ, ārum ; quæ ſquamarum modo utrinque ad aures objacent, Jun. The ſeams or joyning together of the ſkull, which lye about the ears on both ſides like ſcales.

Squāmeus, a, um ; adj. Vir. φολιδωτός. Scaly, full of ſcales.

Squāmiger, ra, rum ; Lucr. λεπιδηφόρος. That hath or beareth ſcales, ſcaly.

† Squāmo, as ; Cæl. Rhod. id. quod Deſquamo. To ſcale a fiſh ; to bark, to burl.

Squāmōſus, a, um ; Cic. λεπιδώδης, λεπιδωτός. Rough and full of ſcales, ſcaly.

† Squarra, æ ; f. Nunn. gr. ἐχάραι. Roughneſs of ſkin, ſkurfineſs ; an eſcarr or cruſt of a ſore.

Squarrōſus, a, um ; à Squarra, vel Scarra ; à gr. ἐχάραι, i. cruſta ulceribus cavis accreſcens. Rough, ſcabby, ſcurfie, naſty. Squarroſus panis, Lucil. id. quod Acerroſus. Brown bread with bran and gurgeons in it ; horſe-bread.

Squātīna, æ ; f. à Squamis acutis, vel Squalore, i. aſperitate cutis, quâ ligna & ebora poliuntur, Plin. 9. 12. ſinn. A skatt, a ſole-fiſh with a rough ſkin.

Squatus, i ; m. Rhina, quem Squatum vocamus, Plin. 32. 11. idem. A skate.

Squilla, æ ; f. Var. σκίλλα. A ſea-onyon, or ſea-leek : alſo a Shrimp or Sprawn. Vid. Scilla.

Squinanthus, i ; m. Pall. σχοίνανθος, i. juncus odoratus. The ſweet ruſh, which is very medicinable : ſquinant, Camels meat.

S ante T.

St, interj. Ter. nota ſilentii : ab Imper. Sta ; vel quod ſign. Hebr. שְׁתֹק ſilere, incipit ab ſt. Hiſt, huſh, hold your peace, be quiet.

Stābilimen, inis ; n. Cic. βεβαίωμα, στήριγμα, ἱδρύμα. מָסָד. A ſettlement, an aſſurance, an eſtabliſhment, a ſtay, a ſupport, a prop, an uppuy.

Stabilimentum, i ; n. Plaut. idem.

Stābilio, is, īre ; īvi, ītum ; Cic. i. ſtabilem facio. βεβαιῶ, ἀσφαλίζομαι. הָקִים. To make ſtedfaſt, ſtable or ſure ; to eſtabliſh, to ſettle : alſo to repair and make ſtrong again. ☡ Everto, Cic.

Stabilior, us ; comp. Ter. More ſtedd, firm and ſure.

Stābilis, le ; adj. Cic. à Stando : στάσιμος, ἀσφαλής, ἱδρυτός. אָמוֹן. Firm, ſtedfaſt, ſtable, conſtant, durable, ſure, ſtedd ; that continueth or laſteth long, durable. = Firmus, fixus, immutabilis, certus, robuſtus, planus, Cic. ☡ Incertus, Id.

Stābilitas, ātis ; f. Cæl. βεβαιότης, τὸ στάσιμον, στερέωμα. Firmneſs, ſtableneſs, ſtability, ſtedfaſtneſs ; ſtedfineſs, conſtancy, continuance, faſtneſs. = Firmitas, Cic. ☡ Motus, Id.

Stābilitus, a, um ; part. Cic. Eſtabliſhed.

† Stăblīle, is ; n. vel Stablilis, is ; f. idem quod Stabulum ; G. ex Var.

Stabulans, ntis ; part. Gel. 6. 3. Reſting, abiding.

Stabulariæ mulieres, Aug. καπηλίδες. Women which keep victualling-houſes.

Stăbŭlārius, ii ; m. Sen. qui curam gerit ſtabuli, caupo, hoſpes. πανδοκεύς. An Inn-holder, an hoſt, an harbourer : alſo an hoſtler, an horſe-keeper, a keeper of houſed beaſts, Col. a groom or quirry.

Stăbŭlātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Col. ὑπηρεσία. Stabling or houſing of beaſts ; harbouring or lodging of gueſts.

Stăbŭlo, as ; act. Var. ὑπηρετέω. To put cattel in a ſtable or ſtall, to houſe beaſts.

Stăbŭlor, āris, ātus ; paſſ. Vir. To ſtand, or be ſet up in a ſtable.

Stăbŭlum, li ; n. Vir. à Stando : σταθμός, ἱππῶνες, σπηλαῖον. אֻרְוָה. it. πανδοχεῖον. מָלוֹן. An Inn wherein men hire or lodge by the way ; a ſtable, an ox-ſtall, a den, a ſheep-houſe or fold ; an hoſtelry : alſo a place of refuge, a ſhelter, a reſting-place, a retreat, Plaut. a bee-hive, Vir. a birds neſt, Ovid. a coop or place where fowl is kept, Col. a brothel-houſe or ſtews, Plaut. ◊ Exercere ſtabulum, Ulp. To keep an Inn.

* Stachys, yos ; f. Plin. στάχυς, qu. ſpicata, ob caulem quem ex ſe mittit, floribus & ſemine ſpicatum. Baſe horc-hound, wild ſage, ſage of the mountain or ſticksſage.

Stacta, æ ; f. Plaut. id. quod Stacte.

* Stacte, es ; f. Plin. στακτή, à diſtillando, quod Græci στάζειν dicunt. מֹר דְּרוֹר. The oyl that ſweats out of Cinnamon or Myrrh, being cut or lanced ; an ointment made of liquid mirrh.

* Stacteus, a, um ; στακτός. Stactea myrrha, Plin. That bringeth forth the gum Stacte ; or of or belonging thereto.

Stădiālis, le ; Auth. Limit. ad ſtadium pertinens, vel habens menſuram ſtadii. Of or belonging to a furlong. Stadialis ager, Iſid.

lſid. A piece of ground conſiſting of one hundred twenty five paces, that is ſix hundred twenty five foo.

Stadiata porticus, M. ex Vitr. ubi tanquam in ſtadiis athletæ exercebantur.

* Stadiodrŏmus, mi ; m. σταδιοδρόμος, ex στάδιον & δρόμος curſus. He that runneth races, Firm. alſo the running-place, Plin. a paddock-courſe.

Stădium, ii ; n. Cic. gr. στάδιον, quod ἀπὸ τῆ ἑστάναι, quòd Hercules, cùm uno ſpiritu id decurriſſet, ſubſtiterit. A place for running as well of men as of horſes, a race : alſo a plot of ground for champions or wreſtlers to perform their exerciſes in, Suet. alſo a meaſure of ground containing ſix hundred twenty five feet, that is, one hundred twenty five paces, Plin. of which eight make an Italian mile ; a furlong.

Stagnans, tis ; part. Vir. Standing ſtill, ſtagnant, reſty. Aqua ſtagnans, Plin. Pond, pool, mote or ditch-water.

Stagnantior, us ; comp. Claud. More ſtagnant.

Stagnātus, a, um ; part. λιμνασθείς. Overflowed, drenched, Veget. Stagnata terra, Col. Mariſh ground wherein water ſtandeth, a Moraſs.

Stagno, as ; neut. Vir. λιμνάζω, λιμνέομαι. To ſtand as water doth in ponds, and not flow. ◊ Act. cum Acc. Tac. To overflow ; to drench cattel, Veget.

STAGNUM, ni ; n. Cic. λίμνη. אגם quòd in eo aqua perpetuò ſtet, Feſt. pot. à gr. στεγνὸν ( Siculis στεγνὸν ) quòd benè contineat aquam, Var. A pool, a ſtanding water ; the deepeſt part of the ſea, Vir.

* Stagonias, æ ; m. R. ex Plin. στεγονίας. A kind of Frankincenſe.

* Stalagmias, æ ; m. Plin. 34. 12. στελάγμιας, chalcanthi puriſſimi genus, ſtiris diſtillantibus ſimile. à στελαγμὸς gutta. The beſt ſort of Shoo-makers black.

* Stalagmium, ii ; n. Plaut. genus inauri, Feſt. à στελαγμὸς gutta, à στελάζω ſtillo. A gem or ornament, ſuch as the Egyptians hang at their ears ; a pendant, a drop.

* Stalagmus, mi ; m. C. ex Plin. στελαγμὸς, à στελάζειν ſtillare. id. quod Stalagmia & Stalagmium.

† Stallus, & Stallum ; Arn. A ſtall.

Stămen, ĭnis ; n. Plin. à gr. στήμων idem : vel à ſto ſtatum, quod eo ſtat omne in telâ velamentum, Var. סרב. Hemp or flax ſet on a diſtaff to ſpin, cloth in the loom or frame ; thread, yarn, ſtuff in the loom to be woven into cloth ; a thread ſpun, the warp in weaving : alſo a chieve or little thing that ſtands out like threads in flowers, Plin. the vein or grain of wood, Id. a ſtring of an inſtrument, Ovid.

Stămineus, a, um ; Plin. στημόνιος. Made of threads, or full of threads, thready.

Stannārius, a, um ; Of or belonging to tin. Stannarium opus, Camd. Work in Tin-mines of two ſorts ; Lode-work and Stream-work.

Stannārius, ii ; m. Jun. A Pewterer or dealer in Tin.

Stanneus, a, um ; Plin. κασσιτέρινος. Of or belonging to Tin or Pewter. Stanneus lapis, Arn. A workmans plumb.

STANNUM, ni ; n. Plin. à Stando, quòd in fornacibus primùm fluat ac per ſe ſtet, Perot. Al. à στέμμι, propter naturæ ſimilitudinem ; al. à στάζω ſtillo. al. à στηνὸν durum. κασσίτερος. ברזל. Tin, Pewter.

Stans ; part. à Sto, Ovid. ἑστώς. Standing, ſtanding ſtill.

Stăpes, ĕdis ; m. Jun. à Sto & Pes ; in quo pedes ſtant : ἀναβολεύς. A ſtirrop.

* Staphis, ĭdis ; f. Plin. σταφὶς & σταφὶς, uva paſſa. A kind of wild vines, which have a fruit more like a bladder than a grape, which is green, within which is a kernel three cornered. Staphis agria, Scribon. σταφὶς ἀγρία. Lice-bane ; Staves-acre.

* Staphyle, es ; f. Jun. σταφυλὴ. i. uva. A grape that raiſons are made of : alſo a liſeaſe in the roof of the mouth, when the Uvula grows black and blew, as a grape at the utmoſt end.

* Stăphylinus, ni ; m. Col. σταφυλῖνος. lat. Paſtinaca. A Parſnip or Carot.

* Staphylodendros, i ; f. Plin. σταφυλόδενδρος, à δένδρον arbor, & σταφυλὴ uva. A wild and buſhy tree, bearing cods like round bladders, in which are found little nuts with ſweet kernels ; Anthonies nut-tree, Bladder nut-tree.

* Staphylōma, ătis ; n. Celſ. σταφύλωμα. A fault in the eye, when the uppermoſt coat bears up, and ſhews a riſing like a grape ſtone.

† Stapia, æ ; f. vett. Inſcr. id. quod Stapes.

Stat ; imperſ. cum Dat. Vir. He is reſolved upon it.

Stata mater, Feſt. A Goddeſs that preſerved from fire.

Statanus, deus, cui ſacrificabant, cùm pueri inciperent ſtare.

Statārius, a, um ; à Sto, ſtatum : στατικὸς, στάσιμος, ἑδραῖος. That keepeth in his ſtanding, and doth not move from one place to another ; quiet, ſtable. Stataria pugna, Amm. μάχη σταδιαία. A pitcht battel where no one gives ground, but every one ſtands to it. Stataria comœdia, Ter. A play that has been acted with applauſe ; or a quiet Play without any paſſionate part in it. ℭ Motoria. Statarii actores, Cic. Quiet actors. Statarium prandium, Mamert. That the ſouldiers eat ſtanding. Statarii excubitores, Liv. A ſtanding watch. Statarii milites, Liv. Garriſon-ſouldiers.

Stāter, ēris ; m. Bud. στατὴρ. Siclus, i. ſtater habet drachmas quatuor ; Hier. ab ἵστημι pondero. שקל. A kind of coin worth two ſhilling, four pence. Stater aureus, Jun. A piece of coin of ſixteen ſhillings four pence.

Stătēra, æ ; f. Cic. ab Acc. ἡ στατῆρα. ζυγὸς, σταθμὸς. מאזנים. trutina Campana, Iſid. ἅμαξα. A Gold-ſmiths or Roman ballance ; Troy weight : alſo a kind of ſilver veſſel, or broad platter, Plin. id. quod Tympanum & Magis, idis.

* Stătice, es ; f. Plin. 26. 8. στατικὴ, herba utilis alvo ſiſtendæ. A certain herb, Sea-thrift. ◊ It. Scientia ponderum, ab ἵστημι pondero. The art of ballancing or weighing in ſcales.

Stătĭcŭlum, li ; n. Plin. à Stando ; quòd nunc curreret nunc ſubſiſteret. ὀχημάτιον. A kind of little cart or chariot ; an horſe-litter : alſo an image or ſtatue ; a pillar, Hier.

Stătĭcŭlus, li ; m. Plaut. ὑπόρχημα. A kind of dancing, figure dance ; the Brawls. Dare ſtaticulos, Cato ap. Macr. To dance.

Stătim ; adv. primâ longâ, Plaut. à Stando, qu. ἑστῶμαι. Statim, στάδην, Gl. Still, continuauy, conſtantly. Statim ſtant ſigna, Plaut. The ſtars ſtand ſtock ſtill without moving.

Stătim ; adv. primâ brevi ; à ſtando itidem, cùm quid ita fit, ut qui facit, ſtet, non moveat è loco, quo modo & Illico, i. in loco dic. αὐτίκα, ἀθρόως, παραχρῆμα. מיד. Incontinently, forthwith, by and by, preſently, ſtraightway, before I ſtir from this place. Statim atque, vel Statim quàm, As ſoon as.

† Statinæ, ſc. aquæ ; Plin. corr. pro Stativæ.

Stătio, ōnis ; f. verb. à Sto, Vir. στάσις, σταθμός. מעמד. A ſtation or ſtanding place ; a bay, harbour or road for ſhips to ride in : alſo a common place, whither people reſort to hear matters decided : alſo a place where idle perſons uſe to meet and talk together, Gell. a centry or guard : alſo the place where Chriſtians met and worſhipt God ſtanding, Tert. in memory of Chriſts reſurrection : alſo a point in the tables, Jun. ◊ Statio militum, Cæſ. A ward or watch in a Camp or City in time of war ; a corps de guard, a Centry.

Stătiōnālis, le ; Plin. στάσιμος, ἑδραῖος. That ſtandeth as it were in a ſtation, without ſtirring.

Stătiōnārius, a, um ; Dig. φρουρὸς, φύλαξ. Stationary ; appointed to keep ward in any place, that is in a garriſon, Cæl. Miles ſtationarius, Ulp. That hath his appointed ſtanding, one of the watch or ward : alſo belonging to a ſtation or circuit.

Stătiōnārius, ii ; m. Ulp. A Garriſon ſouldier, a ſentinel : alſo a Stationer or Bookſeller.

Stătīva, ōrum ; n. Liv. ſc. caſtra, Cic. στρατόπεδα. מחנה. ἰσχυρὰ. A ſtanding Camp abiding ſtill in one place ; a place fortified, where an army lyes encamped ; Quarters ; a Leaguer.

Stătivus, a, um ; Plin. στάσιμος. Pitched or ſet, as a pitched camp ; belonging to a camp or leaguer : alſo ſtanding. Stativæ aquæ, Var. Standing waters, as Pools, Meers.

Stător, ōris ; m. verb. à Sto, ſtatum ; quia ſtans miniſtrabat : ædium carcerúmque cuſtos ; it. ſervus vel libertus, qui domino ſive patrono adſtat, ejúſque latus tegit, Petron. παρασάτης, στάτωρ, κλητὴς. A Serjeant, purſevant, meſſenger, alway ready attending about an Officer to be at command, a Summer, that cites people to appear ; a Gaoler or Keeper of a priſon ; a Turn-key ; one of the ſtanding watch, Liv. a Sentinel.

Stător, ōris ; m. Liv. verb. à Siſto ; Jovis Epitheton ; Ζεὺς ὁπλίτης. Plut. dict. quòd fugam Romanorum ſtitiſſet.

Stătua, æ ; f. Cic. à Statu, vel à Statuo. ℭ Statua non modò ſuperficiem, ſed ſolidum corpus atque perfectum reddit ; Imago verò ſuperficiem tantùm refert ejus rei, cujus eſt imago, Per. ἀνδριὰς, ἀγάλμα, εἰδωλον. מצבה. An image of metal, ivory or ſtone, a ſtatue or ſtanding image. Parilis ſtatua, Jun. An image of the juſt proportion of the perſon it repreſents.

Stătuāria, æ ; f. Plin. ſc. ars. ἀνδριαντοποιικὴ. The art of graving images.

Stătuārium, ii ; n. Eccl. A rood-loft.

Stătuārius, a, um ; Plin. Of or belonging to images.

Statuārius, ii; m. Quint. ſtatuarum artifex & ſculptor. ἀνδριαντοποιός. A carver or maker of images, a Statuary, or Stone-cutter.

Stătŭliber eſt, qui teſtamento, certâ conditione propoſitâ, jubetur eſſe liber; etſi per hæredem eſt, quò minùs ſtatuliber præſtare poſſit, quod præſtare debet, nihilominùs liber eſſe videtur, Feſt.

Statulinus, idem deus, qui Statanus.

Stătum eſt; impers. Si ſtatum non eſſet, Ulp. If they appeared not.

Stătūmen, ĭnis; n. à ſtatuo: στήριγμα. מסעד. it. palus ſive pedamentum vinearum, Col. κάμαξ, κάφαξ. יתד. A buttreſs or ſupport, &c. a ſtake, fork or prop to ſtay up a thing. Statumina navium, Cæſ. The foot-ſtocks or foot-ſokes of ſhips. = Coſtæ, Plin. i. ligna arrectaria.

Stătūmĭnātus, a, um; part. Plin. Underpropped.

Stătūmĭno, as; act. Plin. ἐρείδω, στηρίζω. הטעין. To prop up, to underſet, to make ſure, to ſtake or ſhore up any thing.

Stătuo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. Cic. à Sto, ſtatum. = Delibero, decerno, judico. τάττω, τίθημι, ἱστημι. הציב. To ſet or place; to ſet up or erect; to appoint or aſſign; to ordain, determine or decree; to reſolve or conclude; to give ſentence, or paſs judgement; to offer or preſent, Vir. ◊ Statuere pretium arti, Ter. To ſet a price upon it; aliquem capite in terram, Id. To pitch him upon his head; exemplum in aliquo vel in aliquem, Cic. To make an example of him. ◊ Statuere apud animum, Liv. To reſolve with himſelf; de aliquâ re, Cic. To take order about it.

Stătur; impers. Ter. I ſtand here.

Stătūra, æ; f. Cic. à Sto, ſtatum: ἡλικία, σύστασις. גורל. Bigneſs or height of body, ſtature, proportion, ſize, pitch.

† Stătūrōſus, a, um; G. ex Aug. Tall, of high ſtature.

† Stătūrus; Vell. About to appoint. R.

Stătus, a, um; part. & adj. Cic. à Siſto, ſtatum; vel id. quod Statutus. τεταγμένος, ἀφωρισμένος. Firm, ſet and appointed, ſetled, fixt, certain, ordinary, never failing. Stata forma, Enn. A well proportioned form. Statæ feriæ, quibus oppon. Mobiles.

Stătus, ûs; m. Cic. à Sto: κατάστασις, σῶμα. מעמד. A ſtate or condition, the form, faſhion or geſture of the body, a poſture, a meen; the ſize of body, Col. the temper or conſtitution; among Orators, the principal point, ſtate or iſſue of the caſe: alſo the full age of man, that is twenty five years, Dig. q. d. Stata ætas. ◊ Morbi ſtatus, Jun. The extremity and height of a diſeaſe.

Stătūtum, ti; n. Cic. à Statuo: διαταγή, δόγμα. A Decree, Statute, Ordinance, an Arreſt of Parliament.

Stătūtus, a, um; part. à Statuor, Liv. τεταγμένος, διωρισμένος. מוקם. Ordained, appointed, eſtabliſhed, placed, ſet up.

* Steătites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 11. στεατίτης. gemma ſimilitudinem jebi referens, quod Græci στέαρ voc. A precious ſtone like tallow.

* Steatōma, ătis; n. Celſ. στέατωμα, à στέαρ ſebum. שאר. A kind of impoſthume, wherein matter like fat or tallow is contained.

* Stĕga, æ; f. Plaut. στέγη, ὄνος τὸ στέγειν, quod eſt tegere. A deck of a ſhip; the hatches. = Conſtratum puppis, Cæſ. alſo a ſtory or floor of a building.

† Stĕgānōmus; dominus domûs, R. ex Cæl. 15. 17.

† Steghus, a, um; στεγνός, aſtrictus. Febres conſtrictæ, quas Stegnas vocant, Plin. Sound, firm, bound: alſo lean and lank.

* Stēla, æ; f. Plin. στήλη, i. columna. מצבה. A ſquare or flat ſided pillar, ſet up for a memorial, with an inſcription: alſo any monument ſet up in the high-way; a Tomb-ſtone. Æ Stela quadrata, Columna rotunda, Non.

* Stĕlis; f. Plin. 16. 44. viſci genus, στελίς. A kind of Miſſelto upon the Fir-tree.

STELLA, æ; f. Cic. à Stando; quòd ſtellæ in cœlo ſtare videantur; Cæl. à στέλλω orno, quòd ſtellæ ſunt cœli ornamenta; vel à σίλβω ſplendeo, luceo. Al. σίλας, σέλας, ſtella; al. à τίλλω, ἀνατέλλω orior: pot. à gr. ἀστὴρ, qu. aſterula, hinc contr. per Aphær. Stella, pro Aſtella. ἀστήρ. כוכב. A Star; an aſterisk: alſo a Star-fiſh, Plin. Stella erratica, A Planet; crinita, A Comet, a blazing-ſtar.

Stellans; part. Vir. Shining or ſtudded with Stars; twinkling or glittering as Stars do, Plin.

Stellāria, æ; f. Dodon. Star-wort.

Stellāris, re; Macrob. ἀστρώεις. Of or belonging to Stars, ſtarry. Stellaris herba, G. The herb Woodrow or Woodrowel.

Stellātio; f. verb. Plin. A blaſting.

Stellātūra, æ; f. g. Lamprid. annona militaris, Bud. ſic dict. quòd loco pecuniæ teſſeræ ſtellatæ militi datæ eſſent. Verùm aliud erat, nim. lucellum tribunorum detractum ex annonâ militari; ſic dict. qu. Stellionatura; al. à στέλλειν dimittere, quòd honeſtiſſima ratio, cur id facerent tribuni, fuerit ea nomine vacationis ſive dimiſſionis temporariæ, Voſſ. A certain gain, which the Captains made out of the ſouldiers victuals and allowances: or, (as ſome others) the allowance it ſelf, or the price thereof appointed to ſouldiers or Captains for ſeven dayes, Veget.

Stellātus, a, um; part. Ovid. ἀστερόεις. Full of Stars; ſtarriſied or ſeeded with Stars: alſo full of eyes like Stars; marked with ſpots like Stars.

Stellifer, ra, rum; Cic. ἀστεροφόρος. That beareth or hath Stars in it, ſtarry.

Stelliger, ra, rum; Var. idem.

† Stellimicans; adj. Stat. Shining with Stars, as the Signs of the Zodiack do.

Stellio, ōnis; m. Plin. ἀσπαλαβώτης, Gl. Phil. κολοτης, Suid. χαλεώτης, Don. à Stella, quòd ſit variis ſtellatus corpora guttis, Ovid. al. quòd virus ſtillet cibo, Varr. ap. Feſt. An Evet, Eft, or Newt; a creature ſomewhat like a Lizzard, having ſpots on his back like Stars. Per metaph. A knave, a raſcal, a wag, Apul. Stellio, κακοῦργος, κακόηθες, Gl. vet.

Stelliōnātus, ûs; m. Ulp. crimen dic. quando quis alterum callidâ quâpiam verſutiâ defraudat; dict. à Stellionis naturâ, quo nullum animal fraudulentiùs homini invidet, Plin. 30. 10. κακουργία, πανουργία, συκοφαντία. All kind of conſenage or knaviſh practice in bargaining, as the mortgaging or ſelling of a thing twice, paying braſs money, receiving a debt when it has been payed, &c.

Stello, as; Plin. ἀστερίζω, ποικίλλω. הופיע. To gliſter or ſhine like Stars.

Stellor, āris; paſſ. Plin. To be marked as it were with Stars.

Stellŭla, æ; f. dim. à Stella, Vir. A little Star.

* Stemma, ătis; n. στέμμα, prop. corona. עטרת. à στέφειν coronare. A garland of flowers, a crown, wreath or chaplet, Firm. a ſtemm or pedigree, the linage of ones Anceſtors, Juv. alſo a noble act or atchievement, Mart. alſo an inſcription upon a ſtone, Id.

* Stenocoriaſis, is; f. cùm conſtringitur viſus & vires amittit, Veget. στενοκοριάσις, ex στενὸς anguſtus & κόρη pupilla. A diſeaſe of the eye, when the apple or ſight is contracted and weakned.

Stĕphānītæ vites; Col. h. e. coronariæ, nempe quæ per ſtatumina calamorum materiis ligatis, in orbiculos gyróſque flectuntur. Vines tyed to their ſtakes made round like garlands.

* Stephanitis, ĭdis; f. Plin. 14. 3. στεφανῖτις, i. coronaria. A kind of vine, whoſe leaves running among the grapes make wreaths or garlands.

* Stĕphānōmĕlis; Plin. 26. 13. ſic dict. quòd melino colore in coronis placeat; aliter Argentina.

* Stephanopōlis; f. Plin. στεφανόπωλις. ex στέφανος & πωλέω vendo. A woman that ſelleth garlands.

* Stephanōplŏcos, i; c. g. Plin. στεφανοπλόκος. ex στέφανος & πλέκω texo. A garland-maker.

* Stĕra, æ; f. Æmil. Macer. gr. ὑστέρα, vulg. στέρα, matrix. The womb.

Stercŏrārium, rii; n. Col. A dunghill.

Stercŏrārius, a, um; Var. ὁ τῆ κόπρῳ. Of or belonging to dung.

Stercŏrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. κοπρισμός, κόπρωσις. A dunging.

Stercŏrātiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Col. Very well dunged.

Stercŏrātus, a, um; part. Plin. κακοπρισμένος. Dunged, mucked, compoſted.

Stercŏreus, a, um; Plaut. κόπρινος. Of dung, ſtinking of dung, dungy.

Stercŏro, as; act. à Stercus, Col. κοπρίζω. To dung or lay compoſt.

Stercŏror, āris; paſſ. Plin.

Stercŏrōſiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cato. Very full of dung.

Stercŏrōſus, a, um; Col. κοπρώδης. Full of dung, growing in dunghils.

† Stercŭlinum, i; n. Grut. ex Plaut. pro Sterquilinium. κοπρεδόχειον. A dunghill.

Stercŭlius, vel Stercutius; Saturnus ſic dict. quòd ſtercorandorum agrorum artem docuerit, Macrob. & Plin.

STERCUS, ŏris; n. Hor. ab extergendo, quòd extergi ſoleat, Perot. vel ab ἀστεργής, quòd eſt naturâ odioſum, & vilis penditur; vel quòd ſternitur in agris, Iſid. An. ab hebr. צרך neceſſitas? κόπρος, Σκῶρ, Σκωρία, Σκύβαλον, σπίνθηρ. זבל. Ordure, dung, muck, ſoil; compoſt, a ſirreverence. Stercus ferri, Gorrh. The droſs or ſcum, &c.

† Stĕrelitis, ĭdis; al. leg. Stercoritis, Plin. 33. 6. A kind of Spuma argenti. G.

* Stĕreŏbătes, æ; m. vel Stereobata, Vitr. στεροβάτης. The paten of a pillar, whereon the baſe is ſet; the ground-work on which the foot of the pillar ſtands.

* Stĕreometria, æ; f. cæl. στερεομετρία. ſolidorum dimenſio. στερὸς ſolidus, μετρῶ metior. The meaſure of ſolid bodies.

† Steriĉula,

†Stĕrĭcilla, æ; f. dim. à Stera, gr. στέρα, corr. pro hysterica, vulva porcæ virginis, Mart. i. sterilis, qu. Sterilicula. Al. leg. Sericula, Ficedula, Rusticola.

Stĕrĭcus, a, um; Macer. Of or belonging to the womb.

Stĕrĭlesco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. sterilis fio: ἀτεκνόω, στειρόομαι. To grow or become barren.

STERILIS, le; Vir. dim. à στέρομαι, ant. Sterilus. vel à στερέω privo, orbo, Sterilis, ut ab Habeo habilis. στέρος, ἄτεκνος, ἄγονος, ἄκαρπος. עָקָר. Barren, fruitless, that cannot get or bear children; yielding or bringing nothing: also rotting or making barren, Hor. Sterilis manus, Plaut. An empty hand. Sterilis pecunia, C. Money not put to use. Cum Gen. Sterilis veri, Pers. cum Abl. Nullum tempus sterile beneficio, Plin. jun.

Stĕrĭlĭtas, ātis; f. C. ἀγονία, ἀκαρπία. שַׁכּוֹל. Unfruitfulness, barrenness: also dearth or scarcity, Col.

Steriliter; adv. Col. ἀκάρπως. Barrenly.

† Stĕrĭlus, a, um; adj. antiqu. pro Sterilis, Lucr. Sterilam mulierem appellab. quam Græci στέρεον voc. Fest.

Sternax, ācis; adj. qui sternit sessorem. ἱππόλαξ, Gloss. ὑποκρυστικός. That casteth or flungeth. Equus sternax, Vir. A plunging horse that casts his rider. ◊ It. Sternax, supplex, & humi se sternens; Sidon. Sternaces, pavidi, Gl. Isid. Trembling and ready to fall for fear.

† Sternĭtātio, ōnis; f. Plaut. The brightness of the Sun, or any shining thing. R.

STERNO, is, ĕre; strāvi, ātum; act. Cic. à gr. στορνύω id. Sterno pro quo sterno, ut à στρώννυμι, στόρνυμι· καταβάλλω. הָצִיעַ. To throw or strike down, to lay flat along, to strew; to spread, to cover, to level: also to abate or make calm, Vir. to pave, Liv. to slay, Vir. Sternere lectos, Ter. To make them: also to make ready supper; mensam, To cover it, to lay the cloth; equum, Ter. To saddle him, or put his bousing on him; hostem, Liv. To give him an overthrow or defeat; viam, Lucr. To pave or level it; æquor, Vir. To calm it. ◊ Sternere flores humi, vel humum floribus, Cic.

Sternor, ĕris; pass. Vir.

Sternuens; part. Plin. Sneesing.

† Sternumentum, i; n. à Sternuo, Plin. vett. ll. id. quod Sternutamentum.

Sternuo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; neut. Plin. à gr. πταίειν, πταίνω, ex quo πτάρνυμαι, Sternuo, vel à Sterno. זוֹרֵר. To sneese.

Sternūtāmentāria, æ; f. Jun. sc. herba. πταρμική. Sneesing-wort.

Sternūtāmentum, ti; n. Cic. πταρμός. Neesing or sneesing: also something to make one sneese, Plin. Snuff or snush.

Sternūtātio, ōnis; f. Scrib. Larg. πταρμός. עֲטִישָׁה. Sneesing.

Sternūtātorius, a, um; Of sneesing. Sternutatorium medicamentum, Jun. A medicine or powder that will cause sneesing, sneesing powder, snuff.

† Sternūtātus, ûs; m. Jun. idem quod Sternutatio.

Sternūto, as; Plin. freq. à Sternuo: πτάρνυμαι. זוֹרֵר. To sneese often.

Sterquilinium, ii; n. Col. qu. sterculinium: stercoris receptaculum. κοπροδόχειον, Gl. καπρών, κοπρία, κοπρίδιον. אַשְׁפּוֹת. A dunghil; a lay-stall; a mixen: also a stinking knave, Plaut.

Stertens; part. Cic. Snoring.

Sterto, is, ui, ĕre; neut. Ter. à πτάγω, à strepitu stertentis confictum. Quid si ob terrorem, qu. Exterrito, sterrito, sterto. To snort or snore, or rout in sleeping.

*Stibadium, ii; n. Plin. στιβάδιον, à στιβάδες, torulus ex herbis, seu gramine, vel frondibus. A bed of herbs, rushes, leaves, &c. a half round couch, which they used to set about their round tables, whereas before they had three beds; a green bank to sit upon; an Arbour or Summer-Parlour; a Banketting-house in a garden. = Sigma, Mart.

Stibinus, a, um; Lapides onychinos & quasi Stibinos, 1 Chron. 2. i. Stibio similes.

Stibium; n. Plin. στίβη, στίβι, & τὸ στίμμι. פּוּךְ. A stone found in Silvermines, good for the eyes; Antimony: also Black lead, a kind of colouring stuff which women covet to make them black browed.

† Stica, æ; f. Cato; & Col. φύσιγξ, i. κεφαλὶς τῆς ζωφύδης, Hesych. vel τὸ ἐκτὸς λέπισμα, Schol. Aristoph. i. tunica allii: unde Stica, tunica; Gl. Isid. qu. στικτή, V. i. punctis distincta: fort. à στίξ, in Acc. στίχα ordo: quippe quod hæ Sticæ plures cohæreant, ut ait Col. A coat or peel of an onyon; or a head or clove of garlick. Vulgò leg. Spica.

*Sticte, es; f. Ovid. canis nomen. στικτή, à στίζω pungo. Pied coat or patch.

*Stigma, ātis; n. Plin. στίγμα, à στίζω. nota sive signum quod inuritur. קַעֲקַע. A mark with a hot iron, such as thieves have being burnt in the hand; a braud; a print or mark, reproach, infamy, Suet.

*Stigmatias, æ; m. Cic. ap. Non. στιγματίας, cui stigma inustum est. A slave, a branded Rogue.

Stigmătĭcus, a, um; à Stigma, Cic. στιγματικός. That is marked with an hot iron, burnt in the hand or shoulder.

† Stigmo, as; Prud. στιγματίζω. To set a mark on, or to brand.

Stigmōsus, a, um; Plin. jun. à Stigma: στιγματικός. That is full of such marks or brands, infamous.

† STIGO, as; unde comp. Instigo: à στίζω pungo; Per. in fut. 2. στιγῶ. To prick, to stir forward.

* Stilbon, ontis; m. Apul. Mercurii stella. στίλβων, à στίλβω splendeo. The Planet Mercury.

STILLA, æ; f. Mart. σταλαγμός, σταγών. דֶּלֶף. dim. à Stiria, Fest. vel à σταλάζω quod idem ac στίζω. A drop. ☌ Stilla stat; Gutta cadit, Corn. Front.

Stillans, tis; part. Cic. στάζων, ψεκάζων. Dropping, distilling.

Stillārium, ii; n. locus, unde stillat aqua, Vitr. A pent-house. ◊ It. ad litamentum vel auctarium, quod suprà legitimam mensuram in liquidis velut stillando datur, M. An over-measure or vantage, Sen.

Stillātim; adv. Charis. By drops.

Stillātio, ōnis; f. verb. σταλαγμός. A dropping.

Stillātĭtius, a, um; Plin. σταλακτικός. That dropperh.

Stillātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Dropped, or coming out by drop-meal.

Stillātus, ûs; m. Ovid. A dropping.

Stillĭcĭdium, ii; n. Cic. ex Stillo & Cado, Per. quod stillatim cadit. Var. στάλαγμα, σταγών, καταφορά. דֶּלֶף. The dropping of the eaves of an house, a little gutter or sink. Stillicidium urinæ, Gorrh. The Strangury.

Stillo, as; Lucan. neut. cum Abl. guttatim fluo, per stillas cado; à σταλάζω, Canin. דָּלַף. To drop, to trickle down. ◊ Stillare aliquid in aurem, Juv. To whisper a thing in his ear.

Stillŭla, æ; f. dim. Tert. A little drop.

† Stĭlus, li; m. qu. à στίζω pungo. corr. pro Stylus.

Stimula, dea, quæ stimulat ad libidinem; Schol. Juv.

Stĭmŭlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. παρόξυσμός, κέντησις. A pricking or putting forward.

Stĭmŭlātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. κέντωρ. A putter forward.

Stimŭlātrix, īcis; f. Plaut. She that inceneth or setteth forward.

Stĭmŭlātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Provoked, set on, incensed, enraged, Cat.

Stimulātus, ûs; m. Plin. A moving or stirring up.

Stĭmŭleus, a, um; Plaut. Pricking, smarting, stinging, done with pricking rods.

Stĭmŭlo, as; act. Ter. κεντέω. הַפְרִישׁ. παροξύνω, παροξύνω. הִסְעִיר. To prick, to goad, to incense, to enrage, to stir up, to egg one on: also to torment or vex, to gnaw, Cic. = Pungo, Cic. incito, accendo, Liv.

† Stimulum, i; n. Plaut. idem quod Stimulus.

STIMULUS, li; m. κέντρον, σίγμα. דַּרְבָּן. Propriè dicitur fustis acutæ cuspidis, quo rustici boves suppungunt, & per translationem, omne illud à quo vexamur, Cæl. à στίζω pungo: hinc στιγμός, Stigmus, Stigmulus, per Syncop. Stimulus. A prick, a goad, a sting, a spur; any thing that moveth forward, as sorrow, rage or fury; a motive or incitement, an incentive.

Stingo vel Stinguo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. unde Extinguo, Restinguo. σβέννυμι, στίζω, fut. 2. στιγῶ stingo; unde Distinguo, διαστίζω. כָּבָה. To put out light, to extinguish, Lucr.

† Stingor, ĕris; Cic. & Stinguor, ĕris; pass. Lucr.

† Stipa, æ; f. Stipam, quâ amphoræ, cùm extruuntur, firmari solent, Fest. à stipando, i. firmando. Tow or hurds to stop chinks with, in ships, Serv. vid. Stupa.

Stipans, tis; part. Vir. Surrounding in a ring, guarding.

Stipātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. σφενδόνη, σφενδονισμός. An inuironing or guarding, a crowding or thwacking of things together, Quint.

Stipātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. à Stipando. δορυφόρος, σωματοφύλαξ. dict. à Stipe, quam mercedis nomine accipiunt, Fest. An attendant or one of the Squires of the body; the guard: also one that layes in such fardels as are to be carried in a Ship; a Stower of goods.

Stipātus, a, um; part. Cic. δορυφορούμενος, σφενδονιζόμενος. Guarded or attended, as Princes are with a guard: also stamped, stopped, ballaced, crammed, thwacked, crowded.

Stipendĭālis, le; adj. Sidon. ὑποτελής. Tributary: also of or belonging to wages.

Stipendiārium, ii; n. Cic. à Stipendium; certum vectigal, χηροφορά. An ordinary kind of tax or tribute.

Stipendiārius, a, um; Cæl. ὑποτελὴς. Tributary, that payeth tribute: also he that takes wages, an hireling; μισθωτός.

† Stipendio, as; Antiq. Inscr. To take into pay, to entertain into service for pay.

Stipendior, āris; dep. Plin. Stipendia facio vel mereo, μισθοφορέω. To be hired, or to take pay or wages; to be in pay or in service.

Stipendiōsus, a, um; Veget. μισθοφόρος. That serves for wages, or that hath been long a souldier in many Campagnes.

Stipendium, ii; n. Cic. qu. Stipistendium; æs militare, Fest. à stipe pendendâ, Isid. Stipendium à stipe dictum, quòd æs quoque stipem dicunt, Var. vel quòd per stipes, i. modica æra colligatur, Ulp. μισθὸς στρατιώτου, τὸ τῶν θητευόντων ὀψώνιον. שָׂכָר. Wages or pay for souldiers, a stipend or salary, hire, pay: also tribute, Pompon. a Subsidy to a Prince. Stipendio obligare militem, Jun. To presse souldiers, or to give them their presse-money. Stipendia mereri, Cic. To be a souldier, to bear arms; facere pedibus, Liv. To serve on foot, to be a foot souldier.

† Stipeo, es, ēre; Pier. ex vett. ll. pro Stupeo.

STIPES, ĭtis; m. fustis terrâ defixus, Fest. à stipando, i. firmando, Id. rect. à στὺφ θ idem. κορμὸς, σίλιχνος. עֵץ. A log set fast in the ground; a stock of a tree; a stake for a mear or landmark, Tibull. a stick, a batoon, or cudgel, Cæs. a truncheon; a club; a stalk of an herb; a firebrand; a clift, billet or brand in the fire, Ovid. also a fool, a blockhead, Ter.

STIPO, as; act. à gr. στύφω spisso, condenso: à Stupa (Perot.) quâ rimas obturare solent; al. à stipes; al. à στείβω calco, densum facio, Scal. Stipant, densant, Serv. στύφω, πυκνόω, πυκνία. חָבַשׁ. To stop chinks or clefts, to fill up, to thicken, Vir. to stuff, thwack or cram, Col. to attend upon, to guard, Cic. to compass or environ.

Stipor, āris; pass. Col.

† Stipis, is; ant. idem quod Stips.

Stips, is; f. Cic. κέρμα, ἀργυρίου, ἀργύριον. pecuniæ genus, quod per capita colligi solet. Aliis dicitur merces, quæ stipatoribus & militibus dabatur. Saltem à stipando. Nam quòd asses libræ pondo erant, qui acceperant majorem numerum, non in arcâ ponebant, sed in aliquâ cellâ stipabant, i. componebant, quo minus loci occuparet; à stipando Stipem dicere coperunt, Var. Hirelings wages or reward, stipend, pay or hire; gain, Col. an alms; money given to beggers, or laid up in the common treasury; revenew.

* Stipticus, a, um; Plin. στυπτικὸς. That stoppeth or bindeth, stiptick, restrictive.

Stipŭla, æ; f. Plin. à Stipa; sive quòd et quoque Stipari tectorum rimæ consueverunt; fort. à gr. στυφλὸν. καλάμη, τὸ ἐρύσανον. שֵׁבֶל. Holm, straw to thatch, the husk that closeth in the straw: also stubble or straw left in the field after corn is reaped, Ter. also a shepherds pipe made of such straws, Vir.

Stipŭlāris, re; adj. Quint. Belonging to stubble. Stipularis anser, A Stubble-goose.

Stipŭlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὁμολόγησις, ὑπεσχέσις. Stipulatio, juxta Pompon. verborum conceptio, quibus is qui interrogatur, dicturum, facturúmque se quod interrogatus est, respondet. Videtur à Treb. dict. quòd Stipulum appellabant Veteres firmum, à Stipite in terrâ defixo, viz. διὰ τὸ στιλίχνου. Var. à Stipe, i. pecuniâ trahit. Alciat. διὰ τὸ στυφὸς, quòd astringat. A covenanting or demanding of terms, in order to agreement; a stipulation, a bargain, promise, covenant or obligation to pay money, or perform a thing that is required.

Stipŭlātiuncŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. A small bargain.

Stipulātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ὑπεσχέτης, ὁμολογητής. He that bindeth another.

Stipulātus, ûs; m. Plin. id. quod Stipulatio. A demanding or proposing of covenant-articles, to pay or do according to articles of agreement.

Stipŭlor, āris; dep. Cic. συσχέω, ὁμολογέομαι, ἐρωτάω. à Stipe, Var. & Fest. quòd stipem, i. pecuniam (sic enim vett. appell.) poscèret creditor, debitor spoponderet; quod erat stipulari & restipulari. Ergo à Stipi dim. Stipula; hinc Stipulor. Al. (uti Isid.) à Stipula; Veteres n. quando sibi aliquid promittebant, stipulam tenentes frangebant; quam iterum jungentes & metientes, sponsionem agnoscebant; vel quòd Stipula porrecta, tanquàm signo ad pollicendum adducerent, quam stipulam accipere erat argumentum assentientis: Scil. quòd in contractibus agrariis stipula ista agrum integrum repræsentaret; Voss. al. ab ant. stipulum, i. firmum, Paul. quòd hoc pacto firmarent obligationes. Denique à στυλὸς, Alc. quòd adstringat, à στύφω. To require and demand money to be given, or a thing to be done, with ordinary words of the law; to demand terms or conditions, to stipulate, covenant or bargain. ◊ It. pass. Cic. To be required or demanded by another to make a contract with him. Stipulor abs te, Prisc. i. rogo te vel rogor à te. Est ergo verbum commune.

† Stipulum, ant. firmum; à Stipite, Paul. al. qu. Stipulum, à στυλὸς, πυκνὸς, στερεὸς, Hesych. i. densus, firmus.

STIRIA, æ; f. Vir. κρυσταλλίτις, κρυὸν. קֶרַח. Aliq. à στεῖρος sterilis; al. à stando, al. à στερεός, id. A drop of Ice, or Ice hanging at the eaves of houses, an Iceikle; a dot of snivel hanging at ones nose, Mart.

† Stiricīdium, ii; n. Fest. ex Stiria, & Cado. The dropping of an house with Iceikles.

† Stirillum, barba capræ, quòd pendet ad modum Stiriæ, Cathol. Vide Spirillum. A goats beard.

Stirpātus, a, um; Plin. Rooted.

Stirpesco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. à Stirpi: ὑποφύομαι. To spring up, to grow to a stem or stock.

† Stirpis, is; f. ant. pro Stirps, Serv.

Stirpitŭs; adv. à Stirps, Cic. ῥιζόθεν. By the roots, utterly, root and branch.

STIRPS, pis; pro Progenie; f. γέννα, γένος. יָרֵךְ. pro trunco arboris d. g. παρεκφυάς. עֵקֶר. à Stipes, quòd Stirps, cùm de solidioribus tantùm dicatur, primo suo significatu stipitem notaret, Scal. vel q. d. στέρ θ ρος firmus per, στερρὸς, Id. vel στέφανος. hinc stirpes, (ut à τρίανας tripes) contr. stirps, ut à trabes, trabs, &c. The root, stem, stock or stalk of a tree, plant or herb: also a stock or kindred, race, linage, extraction, Vir. Stirps quæstionis, Cic. The ground, bottom or rise of it.

Stiva, æ; f. Vir. ἐχέλυη. aratri manica; à Stando dict. Var. qu. Stativa. vel à στείβω calco, tero; quòd ci innixus arator arbitrio suo facit ut aratrum terram premat, calcet, terat; al. à στεῖχε via, vestigium; quòd sit aratro viæ dux, quâ cursus ejus dirigitur. The plow-tail or handle.

Stivārius, ii; m. Bud. He that holdeth the plow, a plow-jobber.

Stlăta, æ; f. Gell. navis piratica; πειρατικὸν σκάφος ἢ θ. Gl. Phil. navigii genus, latum magis quàm altum; à latitudine dict. Fest. sc. ut ap. vett. Stlocus pro locus, Stlis pro lis; sic Stlata pro lata, sc. navis. A broad ship or boat, a hulk, a Frate-ship; a float, a koy, a flat-boat.

† Stlātārius, re; Caper. Belonging to such a ship.

Stlātārius, a, um; à Stlata. Of, or belonging to, or carryed in a flat-boat. Stlataria purpura, Juv. i. illecebrosa, Schol. qui navis stlataria, ap. Enn. exp. multijonalis, quæ vulgò barolaria dic. Stlataria, vestis piratica, Gl. Isid. Sed ap. Juv. est vestis Laticlavia.

† Stlembus, gravis, tardus, Fest. ex Lucil. pro Lembus; tardus ut lembus, qui est brevis navicula piscatoria; vel à lumbus, qu. lumbosus, lumbagine laborans; per metaph. pro tardo. Slow and heavy.

† Stlites, pro Lites; antiq. Stlitibus judicandis, Fest.

† Stlocus, pro Locus; ant. Fest.

Stlŏpus, pi; m. Pers. vel Stloppus, à sono. παραγμὸς. The sound that one makes when he blows up his cheeks, &c. Al. leg. Scloppus vel sclopus.

STO, stas, stĕti, stātum; neut. à στάω, στῶ. ἱστάνω, ἱδρύω. עָמַד. To stand, to stay, to endure or abide, to continue, to hold on; to be determined, fixed or resolved; to rest or agree upon, to be at a stay, Plin. also to please or be well liked, Ter. to staunch, Pl. jun. to stand out, Lucil. to strut or be stiff: also to cast or stand in, cum Abl. Liv. to be full, Vir. ◊ Stare pacto, Liv. conventis, Cic. To stand or hold to his bargain; promissis, Cic. To keep his word. ◊ Stare ab aliquo, Cic. cum aliquo, Liv. pro aliquo, Quint. To be on his side, to take his part; contra aliquem, Cic. To be against him. Per me stetit, Ter. It was long of me. ◊ Stetit fabula, Ter. The Play was liked, or came off well. ◊ Stare animo, Hor. To be in his right wits. Ɜ Fugio, Cic.

Stöa, æ; f. Gell. στοὰ, porticus, à στάω, quòd ibi starent. A Gallery, a porch or Portico to walk or stand in out of the weather.

* Stœbe, es; f. Plin. στοιβὴ. herba idonea ad culcitras & tomenta, à στείβειν stipare. An herb that grows in watery grounds; Knap-weed.

* Stœchas, ădos; f. Plin. στοιχὰς. dict. à Stœchadibus insulis. A flower called Sticados, or Cotten-weed; French Lavender.

Stoïcus, a, um; στοϊκὸς. Of or belonging to a Stoick; Stoical.

Stoïcè; adv. στοϊκῶς. Like a Stoick.

Stŏla, æ; f. Cic. στολὴ amictus; ἀπὸ τοῦ στέλλεσθαι ab induendo. בֶּגֶד. Any loose garment, a stole, a robe, a robe of state; properly among the Romans a womans gown, a kimar or just de cote; amongst other people worn also by men, Hor. a long vest down to the heels gathered and plaited thick.

Stŏlātus,

Stŏlātus, a, um; Mart. à Stola: στολιδωτός. That wears the a long robe with a train: matron-like. Stolata mulier, Hor. A Lady of quality.

Stŏlidè; adv. Liv. ἀνοήτως, ἠλιθίως. Foolishly, simply, sottishly.

Stolidior, us; comp. Plaut. More blockish, or dull and senseless.

Stoliditas, ātis; f. Jun. Duncery, blockishness.

Stŏlĭdus, a, um; Ter. ἀνόητος, ἠλίθιος. נבל. dict. à στολίς, στολιδός, quòd stolâ indutus, ut sunt ferè stolidi; vel ex eo quòd Stoloni similis, inutilis est. Foolish, dull, doltish, silly, blockish, sottish, dunstical.

Stŏlo, ōnis; m. Var. παραφυάς. fruticatio inutilis, Plin. à שחור Stolo: al. ἀπὸ τοῦ στόλλειν, στέλλω, hinc στόλων, ονος. An unprofitable branch, Plin. a shoot, twig or scyon springing out of the root or side of the stock, and proving not, Var. a water-shoot: also a fool, a block-head, Auson.

† Stŏlo, as; antiq. Stolâ induo. στόλλω. To clothe, apparel, array or attire, R.

* Stomacace, es; f. Plin. στοματικία, i. oris vitium; Oscedo, Marc. Empir. A soreness of the mouth, rankness of the gums, so that the teeth fall out: the Scorby.

Stŏmăchābundus, a, um; Tac. Angry, fretting, surly, sullen, dogged.

Stŏmăchans; part. Cic. Fretting, fuming.

Stŏmăchĭcum, ci; n. Cels. quod vim habet aperiendi stomachum. A Medicine good to open the stomach.

Stŏmăchĭcus, a, um; Plin. στομαχικός. That is sick in the stomach, that cannot keep the meat, that he hath taken; that hath lost his stomach, Stup.

Stŏmăchor, āris; dep. Cic. ἀγανακτέω, δυσχεραίνω, διάκνομαι. יעף. To be angry, vexed, displeased or moved, to be in a great fume; to fret, vex or chafe. Cum Acc. vel Dat. Id mecum stomachabar, Ter. Tuis literis stomachatus sum, Cic.

Stŏmăchōsè; adv. δυσχερῶς. Angerly, peevishly, in a fret.

Stŏmăchōsior, us; comp. Cic. Somewhat angry and peevish.

† Stomachōsĭtas, ātis; f. antiq. Anger or indignation.

Stomachōsus, a, um; Cic. ἀκρόχολος, ὀργίλος. Fretful, peevish, stomachful; or that makes one fret, cholerick, angry.

STOMACHUS, chi; m. Cic. στόμαχος. à στόμα os & ἄχω, quòd cibum ab inferiore orificio ad intestina transfundat; q. d. os fundens. vel στόμαχος, ὅτι δέχεται τὴν στόμωσιν εἰς αὐτὸν χέῖται, quòd ab ore in ipsum fundatur; qu. συνὸν μάχος, Aristot. i. angusta longitudo. The meat-pipe, whereby the meat goeth down into the ventricle; the stomach: also indignation, choler, passion; ὀργιλότης. also the gust, pleasure, mind, fancy, will, lust or appetite. Stomacho suo vivere, Plin. To live as he list, after his own humour.

* Stŏmălgia; f. Plin. oris dolor: τὸ τῦ στόματος ἄλγος. A pain or soreness in the mouth.

* Stŏmătĭcum, ci; n. Cels. στοματικόν. That which healeth sores in the mouth: also that is of an opening vertue.

* Stŏmătĭcus, a, um; Plin. στοματικός. That hath a sore or swelling or canker in the mouth: also that which heals such sores.

* Stŏmōma, ātis; n. Plin. στόμωμα, à στόμα os. Steel, or the finest iron: also a kind of scales or powder coming from brass in beating, Jun.

* Stŏrax, ăcis; m. Vir. f. Ifid. στύραξ. A sweet incense or gum so called.

Stŏrea, ea; f. Plin. teges vilior. ἀπὸ τῦ στορεῖν, à sternendo, quià humi sternitur, unde Terratorium voc. Gl. Cyr. χάμαδος. στῆμα, σπύρις. Any thing spread on the ground, a mat.

† Stŏreo, as; Plaut. στορέω. To make mats.

† Stŏria; Cæs. in MS. pro Storea.

Străba, æ; f. Prisc. She that is squint-eyed, or hath a cast with her eye.

Străbo, ōnis; m. Cic. στραβών. qui est oculis distortis, à στρέφω torqueo. dic. & στραβός. Goggle-eyed, one who looks asquint.

Strāges, is; f. Cic. ὀλόθρωσις, κατασφαγή, φόνος. מגפה. à Sterno, stravi, cùm sternitur humus arboribus vel cadaveribus. στρῶσις νεκρῶν ἐν πολέμῳ, Gl. Cyr. Clades dr. surculorum detritio; Calamitas, calamorum; Strages, stratarum arborum, Scal. A slaughter, a discomfiture, a multitude of men slain, a carnage, a defeat or overthrow, a rout of an army; havock: also a beating, felling or cutting down to the ground, properly of trees, Vir. a great ruine and fall as of houses, Liv.

Strāgŭla, æ; f. Cic. sc. vestis à Sterno, stravi. στρωμνή, στρῶμα. Any outmost garment, any kind of furniture spread on the ground, bed, table or walls, as carpets, hangings, &c. a counterpane, a coverlet, a horse-cloth.

Strāgŭlo, as; R. ex antiqu. To deck with divers colours.

Strāgŭlum, li; n. à sternendo, Var. στρῶμα, Gl. מרבד. Any covering, a blanket, &c. a housing for a horse: the upper garment, Ulp.

Strāmen, ĭnis; n. Vir. χόρτος. חבן. à Sterno, stravi, stratum; quod sternitur; al. à στρῶμα. Straw, litter; the straw, stubble or stumps remaining in the ground after the corn is cut.

Strāmentum, i; n. Liv. idem.

Strāmĭneus, a, um; Ovid. χόρτου. Of or belonging to straw, thatched or made with straw.

Strāmōnia, æ; f. Gerard. The apple of Peru, or Thorn-apple.

Strangŭlans, tis; part. Plin. Choking.

Strangŭlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. στραγγαλή, στρίξ. Choking, strangling, throttling, stifling, stopping.

Strangŭlātus, ûs; m. idem. Vulvæ strangulatus, Plin. A disease in women called the Mother.

Strangŭlo, as; act. Cic. qu. stringo gulam, Per. al. rect. à στραγγαλάω. ἄγχω, πνίγω. חנק. To choke, to throttle, to stifle, to strangle.

Strangŭlor, āris; pass. Plin.

* Strangŭria, æ; f. Cic. στραγγουρία, h. e. κατὰ στραγγὰς τῆς ὕρας ἔκκρισις, i. urinæ per guttas excretio; urinæ difficultas, Cels. lotium subtillum, Cato. The Strangury or making of water in great pain, and very hardly, the strangullion.

* Strătăgēma, ătis; n. Cic. στρατήγημα, à στρατηγέω exercitum duco. A witty shift, or policy in war, a stratagem.

† Strătæ, & Strativolæ dictæ meretrices à Plauto, quià se sternant, Gell.

* Strătēgia, æ; f. Plin. στρατηγία. A Captainship, a Generalship, a governing of souldiers: also a Lieutenancy or shire of a country. = Præfectura.

* Strătēgus, gi; m. Plaut. στρατηγός, ex στρατὸς exercitus, & ἄγω duco, qui στρατὸν ἡγεῖται exercitum ducit. A Captain-incense or gum so called. Strobilus, living without a root, and swimming above the water, good for healing of all wounds made with iron.

* Strătiōtes, æ; m. στρατιώτης, i. miles. A man of war, a souldier. ◊ It. herba, Plin. quæ & Folium militare, Id. Milfoil, the Chieftain or Lieutenant, per metaph. the Master or Ruler of a feast. = Prætor, Corn. Nep.

* Strătiōtes, æ; m. στρατιώτης, i. miles. A man of war, a souldier. ◊ It. herba, Plin. quæ & Folium militare, Id. Milfoil, living without a root, and swimming above the water, good for healing of all wounds made with iron.

* Strătiōtĭcon; n. Apul. στρατιωτικόν, i. militare, sc. folium, idem. Milfoil. = Achillea.

* Strătiōtĭcus, a, um; adj. Plaut. στρατιωτικός, militaris. Pertaining to souldiers, souldier-like.

Strātor, ōris; m. verb. qui sternit, στρώσας, ἀναβολεύς. מצוץ. He that saddles, bridles and holds the horse for his master to get up; a yeoman of the stirrup to a Prince, Amm. a Quirry or Groom of the stable: also an Under-gaoler, a Turn-key, Ulp. rect. Stator.

Strātum, ti; n. Vir. à Sterno. στρωμνή. יצוע. A couch or bed to lye on: any thing that is strawed; all that is laid on a bed, as rug, coverlet, counterpane: also an horse-cloth, housing, harness or saddle, Plin. מרבד. also a paved street. Viarum strata, Vir. Causeys.

Strātūra, æ; f. Suet. à Sterno: στρωμνή, στρῶσις. Paving of causeys or high-wayes. Stratura equorum, Horse furniture, Paul. Diac.

Strātus, a, um; part. à Sternor, Cic. ἐστρωμένος. Strawed, spread abroad, covered, paved, Liv. laid along flat; calmed, quieted, Vir. overthrown.

Strātus, ûs; m. Curt. id quod sternitur equo. The saddle and housing or foot-cloth.

† Strebligo, ĭnis; f. à στρεβλὸς tortus. A Solecism. Vid. Stribligo.

Streblĭta, æ; f. Jun. dict. à formâ seu inversione à στρεβλίτης, à στρεβλὸς tortus; unde & Angl. A tart. V. Scriblita.

Streblĭtārius, ii; m. Hül. A maker of tarts.

† Strĕbŭlus, a, um; à στρεβλὸς curvus. Crooked, writhed. ◊ Caro strebola, circum coxendices, Var. scil. quæ taurorum è coxendicibus demitur, Arnob. ab earum curvaturâ sic dict. Strebula Umbrico nomine Plautus appell. coxendices hostiarum, gr. μηρία, Fest.

Strēna, æ; f. Suet. ξένιον, ἀναχάρμης, Gl. à τρυφᾶν luxus, delicia, Eust. Strenam vocamus, quæ datur die religioso, ominis boni gratiâ; à numero, quo significatur alterum tertiúmque venturum similis commodi, veluti teneam, vel trenam, præpositâ S. ut in loco, & Ite solent antiqu. Fest. al. qu. Strenua; Non. quòd viris strenuis conveniret ob virtutem; Symm. quibus ideò Kal. Jan. ex deæ Strenuæ luco mitti solerent verbenæ felicis arboris, Id. A new-years gift or present, a gift given to an aduocate.

† Strēno, as; antiqu. To give a new-years gift. R.

† Strēnōsus, a, um; adj. R. ex Liv. Full of gifts.

Strēnuè; adv. Cic. ἀνδρικῶς, γενναίως. Valiantly, stoutly, readily, nimbly, quickly, Plaut.

Strēnuior, us; comp. Plaut. More valiant, nimble and active.

Strēnuissimus,

Strēnuissimus, a, um; superl. Plin. Very valiant and stout.

Strēnuĭtas, ātis: f. Ovid. ἀνδρεία, ἀνδραγαθία. גבורה. Valiantness, stoutness, nimbleness, activity, manhood.

Strēnuus, a, um; Cic. ἀνδρεῖος, ἰσχυρὸς, ἀνδραγαθος. גבור. à στρέφω, στρεφὼ, στρῶ, M. στρεπὸς strenuus; à Sternenae; Pap. i. profligandos; rect. à στρωνὸς, i. ἰσχυρὸς, Hesych. Valiant, stout, doughty, hardy, active, ready, quick, nimble, strenuous.

Strĕpĕrus, a, um; Jarring. R.

Strĕpĭtans; part. Tibul. Rustling, raising, clattering, clashing.

† Strepiti; Enn. in Gen. pro Strepitās.

Strĕpĭto, as; Vlr. frequ. à Strepo; κερταλίζω. To make a great noise, to make a great stir, to bustle.

Strepĭtus, ūs; m. Cic. κτύπος, δοῦπος. A noise, a buzz, a din; a creaking, a cracking, rustling, rattling, a bustle or hurly burley: also a tune or sound; also the train or company that follows a great man, Quint.

STREPO, is, ĕre; ui, ĭtum; neut. Vir. à στρέφω verto: al. à sono. ἠχέω, κτυπέω. המה. To make a noise, to bustle, to rustle; to mutter or murmur, Liv. to ring. Strepunt aures, Liv. Their ears ring. Cum Acc. Hæc cùm streperent, Liv.

* Strepsĭcĕros, ōtis; m. Plin. στρεψίκερως. A kind of Buck or Goat with writhed horn.

Stria, æ; f. Vitr. à Stringendo, Per. ut sit id. quod Striga. גדוד. A chamfering, channelling, or making hollow; a groove, or furrow or gutter in Carpenters or Masons work, or rather a rabate; a crease: also the crease of an herb, Ruell. ἐχενὶς. Æ Stria, pars eminula & extuberans; Strix, pars depressior & intra strias subsidens.

Striātūra, æ; f. Vitr. Chamfering, channelling, rabats or small furrows or creases made in stone or timber.

Striātus, a, um; Plin. ῥαβδωτὸς. Chamfered, channelled, wrought inward with a winding. Striatæ conchæ, Plaut. Scollops. Striata cortina, Jun. A plaited or folded curtain. Striata frons, Apul. i. caperata.

Striblīgo, ĭnis; f. Arnob. à στρεβλὸς curvus; à tortuosæ orationis pravitate & versura, Gell. σολοικισμὸς. A fault in speaking or writing called Solecism or incongruity.

* Striblīta, æ; f. Mart. στρεβλίτης, à στρεβλὸς. quòd in circuitu restis in modum torqueretur. A tart or kind of cake twisted about like a rope, Jumbols. Vid. Scriblita.

Striblītārius, ii; m. Afran. A maker or seller of such cakes.

Strĭcta, æ; f. antiqu. it. sc. tunica. A strait-bodied or close coat.

† Strictābillæ; f. pl. Plaut. Such harlots as have an ill gate with them, as though they were afraid to tread on the ground, that walk gingerly. Al. al. scrib.

Strictē; adv. à Stringo, Cic. βραχέως, δι' ὀλίγων, ἐν βραχεῖ. Rigidly, strictly, severely: also briefly, shortly, lightly, by the by, glancingly.

Strictim; adv. Cic. idem. Briefly, slightly, en passant, by the by. Strictim attondere, Plaut. To shave close to the quick.

Strictĭor, us; comp. Quint. More concise.

† Strictipellæ; Plaut. quæ stringunt pellem i. cutem & rugas in facie extendunt. Painted whores. Al. leg. Stritabillæ, &c.

Strictīvus, a, um; Cato. Gathered or cropped with the hand.

† Strictivellæ, Var. ap. Non. pro Strictipellæ; quæ strictim evellunt pilos.

† Strictō, & Strictĭto, as; dim. à Stringo. Turneb.

Strictor, ōris; m. verb. Cato. στρυκτὴς, δρεπτὴς. A cropper, a gatherer of fruit.

Strictūra, æ; f. Vir. à Stringo, strictum: sign. & scintillam, vel quòd strictè emittatur, id est, celeriter; vel quòd oculos suo fulgore perstringat, Non. στρίξις. it. στιλπνὸς, λαμπηδὼν. שביב. A rubbing or currying; a strickure, a glance: also a spark that flyeth from a piece of iron, when being red hot it is wrought and beaten; iron ore: also a plate, pig or bar of iron, Var.

Strictus, a, um; part. & adj. à Stringo: στρυκθεὶς, ἰσοχειμὼν, στρεπτὸς. Gathered, strait, severe, quick and sharp, rigorous, exact, Stat. strict. Strictæ mamillæ, Juv. i. E sinu exertæ, The breasts bared, and laid out. Stricti nervi, Luc. Sinews cut in sunder.

† Strictŭlus, i; m. Arnob. grandiusculus puer: à strictâ quadam corporis solidate & duritie. Ex hystriculus, i. parvus hystrix, Grotius, ob asperitatem pilorum in corpore. Hustriculus, ὑστρικωνὸς, Gl. vert. A youth grown to his strength, a stripling.

Strīdens, tis; part. Vir. τρίζων. Making a noise, gnashing, creaking, roaring.

STRIDEO, es, ēre; neut. Vir. à στρίζω, fut. 2. στρίδω, Ion. στρίδεω. ex sono fict. Perot. τρίζω, ῥοιζέω. חרק. To crash, to creak, to skreek, to make a whizzing, to hizz, to gnash or grind the teeth.

Strīdo, is, ĕre; di; neut. Vir. idem. à τρίζω, f. 2. τρίδω, strideo, τρίζει, Gl. Phil. Sed est & στρίζω, unde στρισμὸς pro τρισμὸς, Arist. To rustle.

Strīdor, ōris; m. Cic. à Strideo. ῥοῖζος, βρυγμὸς, ψιθυρισμός. המהמה. A noise, a crashing, a gnashing, the creaking of a door, Ovid. the whistling of wind, Cic. the hissing of a Serpent, Ovid. the grunting of a boar, Id. ◊ Stridor rotarum, Jun. The rattling of wheels; dentium, Id. Gnashing of teeth; ferræ, Cic. The skreaking of a saw; patellæ, Jun. The hizzing of pot or hot pan.

Strīdŭlè; adv. Sidon. λιγέως. After a shrill voice.

Strīdŭlus, a, um; Ovid. λιγυρὸς, ψιθυρὸς. That makes a noise, crashing, creaking, crackling.

Striga, æ; f. Col. à Strigo, pro Stringo. ordo rerum inter se continuatè collocatarum, Fest. στῖφ. χορτολίθημα. Est & Striga κειμηλία, creta; Gloss. quia eâ stringuntur vestes apud fullonem, Jos. Scal. A ridge land, or single furrow drawn at length in plowing; a row or rank of things laid on length, Fest. a team or train of horses, Hygin. also such a place or distance of the troops where the horses stops and were rubbed down; Charis. μιταίχμιον. also a piece of ground more long than broad, Agrim. Æ Striga, sulcus in longitudinem ductus; Scamnum in latitudinem.

Strigātus, a, um; Front. More long than broad by half. Æ Strigatus ager, Aggen. A field that ran in length from North to South. Scamnatus, from West to East.

Strigil, is; m. & Strigilis; f. Hor. à Stringo; quòd eo equi, & in balneis homines stringuntur; vel à στλεγγὶς. Strigiles Hispani vocant auri parvas massas, Prisc. item aluminis genus, apud Vitruv. it. Strigiles pro Strigæ, ob cavitates strigilum. Strigiles etiam sunt velaria, quibus athletæ post laborem stringuntur. Strigiles etiam pisciculi dicuntur: ξύστρα, ψέστρα. An horse-comb, a curry-comb: also a scraper or fleshbrush, an instrument that they use in bathing, to rub filth and sweat from their bodies, Pers. also clothes or napkins wherewith wrestlers bound or wiped themselves after their exercise, Plin. also a little piece of fine gold found in mines, Plin. also little fishes commonly taken in winter: also the same that Aurituforium specillum, Cels. also a crease in chamfer'd work: also a kind of Alum, Vitr. also a kind of long vessel, Plaut.

Strigilecŭla, æ; f. dim. Apul. στλεγγίδιον. A little curry-comb.

† Strigillo, as; unde in comp. Obstrigillo à Strigo, i. stringo; ut à Signo, sigillo. To strain, to wring or press.

Strigium, ii; n. Plaut. vestis Hispanica, fortè à Stringendo: στλεγγίδιον. A kind of Spanish garment.

Strigmentum, ti; n. Cels. à Stringendo, Perot. quod distringitur. ξύσμα, ξύσεμμα, ἀπόξυσμα, γλοιὸς. Filth or dirt scraped or rubbed from ones body; off-scouring; lees or dregs of oyl, Plin. scraped from wrestlers bodies: also a trussing point; a string to tye with; as a shoo-string, a cuff-string, &c. also the paring of fruit.

† Strigo, as; interquiesco, Fest.

Strigo, as; Propert. à Striga. Strigare dicuntur equi, quoties interquiescunt, Scal. dict. à Striga, quod erat ματαίχμιον. Et Striga, spatium turmarum in quo equi stringebantur, à quo & nomen habet, inquit Charis. To breathe or rest in work, to stop or stand still, as oxen sometimes do at plow in the middle of a furrow; to stop as horses do in march or travel, to halt and to be rubbed down, when they come in strigam.

† Strigo, ōnis; vel Strigor, ōris; m סקשר. Strigones densarum virium homines, quòd inter se constricti atque arctati sunt, Fest. A strong and well compact man, one that is well exercised,

Strigōsior, us; comp. Cic. More thin, slender and lank.

Strigōsissimus, a, um; superl. Col. Very lank.

Strigōsus, a, um; Cic. à Strigando, V. quippe bos, qui in arando strigat, præ macie, i. interquiescit; al. Strigosum, quod est exhaustum & macilentum, qu. stringosum: al. qu. à Strige exhaustum: λαγαρὸς, λιποσαρκὴς, σφακώδης. רזה. Lean, scraggy, thin, lank; shotten, gaunt; nothing but skin and bone, hide-bound, as cattel sometimes are, Non. per metaph. slow, shifting, beglug, dodging, Lucil. restly: also barren, empty.

Stringendus, a, um; part. Cic. To be bound or tyed up.

STRINGO, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Vir. à στρέγω. à στλεγγίζειν, idem quod detergere, quoniam strigilibus de tergo demebant in balneis sordes, quæ adstrigmenta dicta sunt, Scal. al. à στρέφω, unde στρεγγίζω idem. στρίγω, πιέζω, σύρω. דחק. To strain, wring, bind or truss, to tye hard or close, to shred, to lop, to thin the boughs boughs of trees; to pare, to shave, to strike, to raze, to glance; to wound; to brush, to scrape, rub, or curry; to touch lightly, to declare plainly or in few words; to tax, or blame; to crop, to strip, to garber; to beat or hammer so that the sparks fly out, Perf. ◊ Stringere ensem, Liv. חָשַׂף. To draw his sword; oleam, Plin. To strip the leaves, or beat down the fruit with poles.

Stringor, ōris; pass. Ovid.

Stringor, ōris; m. σφιγμὸς, θλῖψις. A slight touching. Stringor aquæ, Lucr. quòd dentes perstringat, Gif. The chilness of it.

Strio, as; Vitr. à Stringo. To chamfer or make rabats or chanels in timber, or stone. Striare dicuntur boves, Plin. To breathe and stand still, before they come to lands end.

† Stritabillæ; f. pl. id. quod Attæ, Var. à Stritando, i. ægrè sistendo. Sic dicuntur mulieres, quæ & Scrupedæ, Var. al. leg. Strictipellæ.

† Stritavus, ant. pro Tritavus, Fest.

† Strito, as; ant. pro Trito. Scal. ex Fest. vel à στρίζω strideo, Ovid. Stritat qui ægrè sistit; ut Attæ, Var.

Strix, igis; f. Sen. à στρίγξ. Striges, aves nocturnas, ut ait Verrius, Græci στρίγας appell. à quo maleficis mulieribus nomen inditum est, quas Velatricas etiam vocant, Fest. γοὴς φαρμακὶς. Striges etiam dicuntur olera villia, Plaut. Strixi it. canaliculus in columnâ striatâ; à Strige, strixi pro stringo; quòd sit strigilium ritu sulcata; verùm apud Vitr. Cúeιγξ pot. quàm στρίγξ legendum. A Scritch-owl, an unlucky kind of bird; a Witch that changeth the favour of children, an Hag or Fairy, a Goblin: also a chanel, furrow, hollow gutter or strake in rabating of pillars, Vitr. also a sort of gross herbs or worts, Plaut.

Strōbilus, li; m. Plin. στρόβιλος, à στρέφω verto, torqueo. The Artichoke: also a wild Pine-tree, a Pine-apple; a kind of dancing: also a whirlwind, R.

Strōbus, bi; f. Plin. 12. 27. στρόβος, à στρέφω, quia rami ejus tortiles. A tree whereof perfumes were made, mixt with the wine of Dates.

* Strōma, ătis; neut. Fest. à στρωννύω, στρῶμα. Any thing spread on the ground, or under a thing; a coverlet, or counterpane laid on a bed, Jul. Cap. a footcloth.

Strombus, bi; m. Concha est tortilis in mari, nomen habens à figurâ, Plin. 32. 11. στρόμβος. A shell-fish of the Sea, that hath a leader whom they follow as their King.

* Strongyle, es; f. στρογγύλη, scil. στυπτηρία. rotundum alumen, Plin. 32. 15. A kind of Alum in round lumps.

Strōpha, æ; f. Mart. στροφὴ, à στρέφω verto; quomodò & Lat. versutia dic. עִוָּרוֹן. Subtilty in arguing, a wily deceit, a wile, a trick, a shift, a quirk, a fetch. Strophæ, ārum; f. Jun. Songs to the harp. ◊ Item στροφὴ versio, in fabulis, est ἀπὸ κάλλιστα σύστημα, atque ii versus quos chorus ad populum spectatoréſque converſus decantabat in altera parte theatri; huic opponitur ἀντιστροφὴ. vide M.

Strōphārius, ii; m. Plaut. strophiorum opifex, στροφιοποιὸς. He that makes or ſelleth womens neckerchiefs or garlandi.

Strōphĭŏlum, li; n. dim. Plin. στροφίδιον. A little garland, a chaplet; a little neckerchief or gorget.

Strōphium, ii; n. Var. στρόφιον, à στρέφω, στρογγύλη ζώνη, Heſ. teres zona, Ovid. fascia brevis, quæ virginalem tumorem cohibet papillarum; Non. ex Catull. cingulum aureum cum gemmis, Iſid. A garland of flowers that Prieſts were wont to wear, Vir. and women too; a ſhash for the head; a neckerchief, a womans partlet, gorget, or ſtomacher, a whisk; a twiſted girdle.

* Strophos, i; m. Celſ. στρόφος, à στρέφω, quòd intestina torquentur. A freting in the bowels, the griping of the guts, the belly-ach.

† Strophōsus, a, um; Veget. Troubled with the belly-ach.

† Strophulus, i; m. Hul. Red-gown, a ſickneſs of young children.

Strophus, i; m. Remi circa ſcalmos ſtrophis religati, Vitr. reſtè ex gr. στρόφος. id. quod Struppus.

Stroppus, i; m. ut Atteius philologus exiſtimat, eſt quod Græcè στρόφιον (vel Cυβρίον) vocatur, & quod ſacerdotes habent in capite pro inſigni, Feſt. à στρόφος, Cυστροφαμβὸς & λῶρος, Heſ. i. vitta ſive tænia contorta. An ornament that Prieſts wear on their heads like a Crown, a Mitre: alſo the ſtring that tyeth the oar, Liv. vid. Struppus: alſo a waſte belt, or thong whereby a ſword and buckler hangeth, ſword-bangers.

Stropus, i; m. Tenuioribus (coronis) utebantur antiqui, Stropos appellantes, unde nata Strophiola, Plin. 21. 2. A ſlight chaplet or garland, a wreath.

Structilis, le; Col. κατασκευαστὸς. Made or built up of divers things or pieces.

Structio, ōnis; f. verb. Tertul. The ſame that Inſtructio. Building.

Structior, us; comp. Ter. Set in better order, more compact or tight.

Structor, ōris; m. verb. à Struo, Cic. τέκτων. it. ferculorum compoſitor, Serv. τραπεζοποιὸς, Athen. A builder, maſon or carpenter, &c. vide Cementarius. A gentleman-uſher: alſo a ſewer, who ſets the meat upon the table, Petron. a carver that cuts it up, Mart. κατακόπτης. Structor annonæ, Cic. A purveyor or provider of victuals, a cater; capillaturæ, Jun. A maker of perukes.

Structūra, æ; f. Cic. οἰκοδομία, κατασκευὴ. בִּנְיָן. A building, a ſtructure, a ſetting of things in good order, diſpoſal, management.

Structus, a, um; part. Cic. διατεταγμένος. Set in good array, built, made, wrought, compacted.

Strues, is; f. à Struo, Liv. Cωρὸς, σωμὸς, ὄγκος. A pile, or heap, a mow of corn, a cock or rick of hey, a wood-ſtack: alſo a certain cake which the Paynims offered to their gods; R. ex Ovid. rather a diſh of ſeveral things heaped up at their offerings.

† Struſertārii; m. pl. qui ſtruunt fertum. Struſertarii dict. qui fertum, cibi genus, cum ſtrue, altero cibi genere, ad ſacra ferebant, Perot. Struſertarios appellab. antiqui homines conductos mercede, qui ad arbores fulguritas, aut piaculariorum commiſſarum causâ, ſtrue & ferto ſacrificia quædam ſolennibus verbis faciunt; Precor te Jupiter, ut mihi valens propitius ſies, Feſt. They that brought Fertum and Strues to be offered: alſo they that did certain ſacrifices at the trees that were burnt with lightning.

† Struix, icis; f. Plaut. cujuſvis rei extructio, à Struo: κατασκευὴ. An heap or pile of many things together. Struices patinariæ, Plaut. Oleos or Biſks.

Strūma, æ; f. Celſ. à Ruma; Struma, ut à Locus ſtlocus. al. à ſtruo, quòd ſtructim aſſurgit. χοιράς, χοιράδα. Omn. à gr. στρῦμα, quòd gutturi ſubſtrata ſit. A wen or ſwelling in the neck or arm-holes, a botch; ſome take it to be the Kings-Evil, Celſ. alſo a bunch on the back, Cic. the wattle of a pig. Struma civitatis, Cic. The botch or peſt of the State.

† Strūmāticus, a, um; Firm. χοιραδώδης. That hath that diſeaſe or ſickneſs.

Strūmea, ſc. herba; quòd medeatur ſtrumis, Plin. 25. 13. vel quòd ſtrumoſam radicem habeat, Ruel. An herb wherewith beggers make their fleſh raw, Crow-foot. Al. leg. Strumia.

† Strūmentum, ti; n. pro Inſtrumentum, Apul. Tert. An implement: alſo all manner of furniture: alſo a Pack-ſaddle, R.

Strūmōſus, a, um; Plin. βραγχώδης. That hath a wen or ſwelling in his throat; that is troubled with the Kings-Evil; that hath wattles: alſo that hath a great throat, Jun.

STRUO, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. à gr. στρώω vel στρώνω ſterno; al. à στρώω firmum ſolidúmque reddo; V. ſtruere eſt ordinare, componere, Serv. συντίθημι, συντάττω, κατασκευάζω. עָרַךְ, בָּנָה. To ſet in order, or array; to build, to frame, to work, to contrive, invent or deviſe; to forge; to lay one upon another, to pile or heap up. Struere aciem, Cic. To draw it up, or put it in battle array; mendacium, Liv. To forge or deviſe it; conſilia, Id. To lay their heads together; comam, Petron. To dreſs it up in a high peak or like our womens bulltowers; calamitatem alicui, odium in aliquem, Cic. To work him miſchief, diſpleaſure.

† Strupearia; n. pl. dies feſtus apud Phaliſcos, ſic dict. quia coronati ambulent, Feſt. Vid. Stroppus. Al. leg. Struppearea.

Struppus, i; m. i. corona, à Tuſculanis, quòd in pulvinari imponatur, Caſtoris Struppum vocari, Feſt. vid. Stroppus. it. lorum, quo remi ad ſcalmos alligantur. Remos juſſit religare ſtruppis, Liv. τορπῆσι, τορνοῖς, Hom. unde Stropus, ut à μιτρηφόρος Cμιτρηφόρος. A crown, garland or wreath put on the heads of Images in Temples: alſo a ſtring or thong to tye the oar to. Hinc Angl. A ſtrap, a ſtirrup.

Strupus, pi; m. idem. Remos juſſit alligari ſtrupis, Liv.

† Strutheum, in mimis præcipuè vocant obſcœnam partem virilem, à ſalacitate vic. paſſeris, Feſt. στρουθὸς.

Struthia mala, Plaut. mala cydonia minora, Plin. 15. 11. στρουθομηλα, & στρούθια paſſerina; ſort. ob parvitatem. Quince-pears, or Pear-quinces.

Struthio, ōnis; m. Capit. à στρουθὸς paſſer, qu. στρουθίων paſſerculus per ironiam, uti cùm nanum Atlantà vocamus, Cardan. vel quòd olim στρουθὸς quamvis avem ſign. Scal. An Oſtrich or Eſtrich.

Struthocamelus, i; m. Plin. 10. 1. στρουθοκάμηλος. à στρουθὸς paſſer (ex ioco) vel quævis avis, & κάμηλος. A camelus, Scal. quòd colli & crurum longi-dine similis sit camelo, Gesn. An Ostrich.

* Struthiomēla; n. pl. C. ex Plin. στρουθίομηλα. A little sort of Quinces. Vid. Struthea.

* Struthion, ii; n. Plin. στρούθιον, à στρουθὸς passer. Fullers herb. = Saponaria.

* Strychnus, στρύχνος, vel Strychnis, στρυχνὶς, Jun. An herb which maketh men mad that eat of it. = Solanum.

STUDEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. σπουδάζω festino, fut. 2. σπουδῶ, Ion. σπουδέω, Dor. σπουδίω. al. à στάδιος stabilis, ut Studere sit stabilem esse in re aliquâ tractandâ. σπουδάζω, φροντίω. עָנַן. To study, to apply the mind, to care for a thing, to mind it, to give ones self to it, to desire it, to endeavour and labour, affect or covet to get it; to favour or like; to favour or bear good will and affection to one. Studere aliquid, Cic. To desire it greatly; in aliquid, Quint. in re aliquâ, Gell. To labour about it. ◊ Cum Dat. Studere alicui, Cic. To favour him; laudi, Id. To affect or seek it; pecuniæ, Id. To love it, and make it his business; novis rebus, Id. To plot or contrive change of government. ◊ Cum Gen. Qui te nec amet, nec studeat tui, Cic.

Studētur; impers. Plin. They study or endeavour it.

Studiōsè; adv. Ter. σπουδαίως, σπουδαϊκῶς. Diligently, carefully, earnestly, studiously, affectionately.

Studiōsior us; comp. Ovid. More desirous.

Studiōsissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most studious, desirous or affectionate.

Studiōsius; adv. comp. Ovid. More studiously.

Studiōsus, a, um; σπουδαῖος, σπουδαστικὸς. שָׁקַד. Studious, regardful, earnest, eager, desirous, affectionate, diligent, careful; learned, Quint. Regit Gen. Cic. = Diligens, amans, cupidus, Cic.

Studium, ii; n. Cic. à Studeo. σπουδὴ. עֲלִילוּת. Study, affection, inclination, desire, love, will or appetite, fancy, care, diligence, earnestness, eagerness; favour, good will, respect, regard; opinion, delight or pleasure; also exercise, practice, employ; σπουδομάθεια. = Opera, Cic. alacritas, Cæs.

Stuferus, ri; m. Erasm. A Dutch Stiver, a coin about the value of our penny.

Stultè; adv. Cic. ἀφρόνως, ἀλιτόκως, ἀνοήτως. Foolishly, unwisely, unadvisedly, like a cox-comb.

Stultilŏquentia, æ; f. Plaut. μωρολογία. Foolish discourse, talk or babbling.

Stultilŏquium, ii; n. Plaut. idem.

Stultilŏquus, a, um; μωρολόγος. One that speaketh or talks foolishly.

Stultissimè; adv. superl. Cic. Most foolishly.

Stultissimus, a, um; superl. Hor. Very foolish.

Stultitia, æ; f. Cic. μωρία, ἀνοησία, ἀφροσύνη. אִוֶּלֶת. Folly, foolishness, simplicity, sillines.

† Stultividus, a, um; Plaut. One that foolishly desireth to see that which is not to be seen.

Stultillus, a, um; dim. Apul. Silly or sottish, somewhat simple, a Foolatus.

Stultus, a, um; Cic. μωρὸς, ἀλιτόκος. ἀσύνετος. כְּסִיל. Foolish à Stolo (quod & Stulo.) i. inepta & inficta fructificatio; & talis Stulta mens, cogitatio, actio, sermo, M. à Stolidus, per syncopen Stolidus, stoltus, stultus, Voss. & sanè stolidus à stolo. Foolish, unwise, simple, silly, sottish, unadvised. ◊ Subst. A Fool, a Tony, a Simpleton, a Coxcomb, a dolt, a sot. = Credulus, Cic. improbus, Hor. & Callidus, Mart.

Stūpa, æ; f. Liv. quod cortici lini proximum; linum impolitum, Fest. à στύφω Stipo, quòd rimas et stipare soleant: al. à Stipando: omn. à gr. στύπη, στύππη, στυππεῖον. עֲטִרָה. The course part of flax, tow, hards, ockam to calk ships with, Serv.

Stūpārius, a, um; Plin. στυππευτικός. Of or belonging, or serving to dress or beat tow or hards with al.

Stūpĕfăcio, is, ĕre; ēci, actum; Liv. i. Stupere facio. ἐκπλήττω. To astonish, to surprize, to stupifie, to stound or stun one.

Stupefactio; f. verb. Aug. ἔκπληξις. An astonishment.

Stūpĕfactor, ōris; m. verb. Sidon. ὁ ἐκπλακτικός. One that astoniseth.

Stūpĕfactus, a, um; part. Vir. ἐκπλαγείς. Astonished.

Stūpĕfio, is, ĕri; Cic. ἐκπλήττομαι, ἐκπλήσσομαι. תִּשְׁתָּאֵר. To be abashed or astonied, to be set on edge (of the teeth.)

Stupens, tis; part. Astonied, &c. Vinum stupens, Plin. Palled wine, that hath lost its strength.

STUPEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. ἐξίσταμαι, θαμβέω, ἐκπλήττομαι, ἀναισθητῶ ἔχω. שָׁמֵם. à Stupa vel stipo, quòd sensus stipentur, qu. stupâ, Perot. vel Stupere (ant. stipere) est instar stipitis aut trunci esse, id est, sine sensu; Nim. à στύφω stipes; hinc στυπὶς stipeo vel stupeo. To be astonished, amazed, or dismayed, to be abashed, to be in a dump, to stand still like a stock; to be senseless, to be dull or blunt or dim, Hor. to be nummed, to be set on edge (as the teeth are.) Stupere ad aliquid, Ovid. To be surprized at it; in aliquo, Val. Flac. To stare and gape at him; re aliqua, Hor. To wonder at it. Cum Acc. aliquem, Cic. To have him in admiration.

Stupefco, is, ĕre; incep. Cic. idem.

Stūpeus, a, um; στυππεῖος. Of hards or tow. Stupea vincula, Virg. Ropes. Stupea retinacula puppis, Ovid. Cables.

Stupiditas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀναισθησία, ἐκπληξις. A benumming, stupidity, dulness, blockishness.

Stupidus, a, um; à Stupeo, Cic. ἀναίσθητος, ἀμβλὺς. Dismayed, astonished, amazed, in a brown study, stupid, insensible, dull, senseless, blockish: also num or benummed. = Bardus, Cic.

† Stuplæ, & Stuplæ, pro Stipulæ in antiq. Inscripp. G.

Stupor, ōris; m. à Stupeo, Cic. ἀναισθησία, ἔκστασις, πάνωσις. תִּמָּהוֹן. Astonishment, amazement, senselessness, dullness; rumness: also wonder, surprize. Stupor dentium, Cels. The setting them on edge.

Stupratio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. A ravishing.

Stuprator, ōris; m. verb. Quint. μιαιφόνος, φθορεύς. A ravisher, a whoremaster.

Stuprātus, a, um; part. Cic. μιαιφονηθείς. Ravished.

† Stuprè; adv. Fest. αἰσχρῶς. Basely, shamefully.

† Stuprisĕqueſtra, æ; f. Plaut. A steward, or procurer.

Stupro, as; à Stuprum; act. Cic. μοιχεύω, παραφθείρω, παραφθορὰν ποιῶ. עָנָה. To commit adultery, to destour or ravish a woman.

Stupror, āris; pass. Cic.

Stuprōsus, a, um; Val. Max. μοιχευτικὸς, παραφθορικός. Given to whoring, whorish, naughty, lewd.

STUPRUM, i; n. Cic. μοιχεία, παραφθορὰ. גִּבְרָה. à stupeo stuprum, ut à prohibeo, probrum, protrum; vel qu. turpis stupor, quia Venus dementat, & facit homines stupidos; vel à στύω, στύομαι, quod è classe obscœnitatis, ut vult Bec. Fit Stuprum cum virgine vel vidua; Adulterium cum nupta, Pap. Whoredome, ravishment, deflowring a Virgin; a rape, a prank: also reproach, shame, disgrace, Fest. ex Næv. ◊ Stupri arbiter, Jun. A Bawd, Pimp or Pander.

Stūrio, ōnis; m. Jun. piscis qui & Stirio, à similitudine stiriæ, quià is similiter rostrum tendit in acutum, Pomp. Sab. fort. vox Gothica est, Rondel. A Sturgeon. = Silurus, Auson. Turſio, Plin. Acipenſer, Rondelet.

† Stūriōnārium, ii; n. R. A kegg of Sturgeon.

Sturninus, a, um; Hier. Like a Stare.

Sturnus, ni; m. Plin. ψάρ. à ψάρ ὁ, M. qu. ψάρων ὁ. vel à στρέφω vel sternere, quòd propter multitudinem humum quasi sternere aliqu. videantur; al. qu. Turmus (i præfixo) quòd turmatim volitent. A bird called a Starling or Stare.

Stygius, a, um; Vir. στύγιος, à Styx: στυγὸς, κατὰ τὴν στυγνὸν, quod non solùm odisse, sed metuere & contristari significat. Belonging to hell, infernal, hellish, devilish.

* Stylŏbăta, æ; f. vel Stylobates, æ; m. Vitr. στυλοβάτης. ex στύλος & βάσις, columnæ pes. אֶזֶן. The footstool of a pillar, or that whereon it standeth, a pedestal: also a trough of timber, to convey water into a cistern, Var.

Stylus, li; m. Cic. à gr. στύλος. prop. columna. חֶרֶט. A style or pin to write with upon wax-tables: also a character or manner of writing; a pillar, Plin. a bodkin: also a peg, or pin (as of a dyal,) Col. also a stem that puts up from the root of a tree, Id. V. Stilus.

* Stymma, ătis; n. Plin. στύμμα, κατὰ τὴν στύψιν, quod est stringere vel condensare. The grosse or thick matter of any ointment, the grosse or thick substance or dregs remaining after squeesing or straining.

* Styptēria, æ; f. Ulp. στυπτηρία, à στύφειν, quia valdè astringit. Alum.

* Stypticus, a, um; Plin. στυπτικὸς, κατὰ τὴν στύψιν, à stringendo. Astringent, binding; styptick, costive.

* Styrax, ăcis; f. Plin. (al. m.) Vir. στύραξ. A sweet gum called Storax, whereof be two kinds, one called Storax calamites, because it was wont to be brought out of Syria in reeds, and that is the right Storax: the other mixed with moist rosin and oyl, Coop. called also Stillatitia or liquid Storax.

S ante U.

Suāda, æ; f. à Suadeo: ut ἡ πειθὼ, à πείθω. The Goddess of eloquence or persuasion.

Suādēla, æ; f. Plaut. πειθὼ. Fair speech, persuasion. ◊ It. id. quod Suada, Hor.

Suādens, tis; part. Stat. Persuading.

SUADEO, es, ēre; si, sum; act. πείθω, ἀείω, εἴην, ἄμαι, παρασκ. חתם. qu. suave do, id est, dico, Perot. ab ἁδω, id est, celebro, αἰνῶ, ut παραινῶ ex αἰνῶ. Fort. ab ἥδω, deleth. fut. 2. ἄδω, Ion. ἀδέω suadeo. To perswade one by fair means, to advise or counsel, to put one in mind. Suadere aliquid alicui per aliquem, Cic. = Hortor, rogo, Cic.

Suādētur ; impers. Plaut. It is advised.

† Suadted, sic te ; Fest. ubi Scal. leg. Sedted, i. sine te, addito d ad se, (i. sine) & te ; ut med ant. pro me.

† Sualternicum, ci ; n. Plin. 37. 2. vox Scythica. A kind of yellow Amber.

Suāmet ; Ablat. cum syllabicâ adjectione met. Suāmet vi, Plin. ἐξ ἰδίου δυνάμει. By its own force.

Suapte sponte, Cic. abl. à Suus cum adject. pte : αὐτομάτως. Of his own accord or motion.

Suārius, rii ; m. Plin. ὑφορβός. A Swine-herd.

Suāsio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. παράινησις, πεισμονή, παρακέλευσις. Perswasion, counselling, motion, advice.

Suāsor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. εἰσηγητής, παραινέτης. A counsellour, an adviser.

Suāsōria, æ ; f. sc. Oratio. Qui Agamemnonis suasoriam excerpsit, Petron. Arb. A perswasive.

Suāsōrius, a, um ; Quint. προτρεπτικός, παραινετικός. Of or belonging to exhortation or perswasion.

† Suāsum, color appell. qui fit ex stillicidio fumoso in vestimento albo, Fest. A smoaky colour.

Suāsus color, Var. φαιός. qu. sevasus, quòd sine valis, h. e. tinctorum cortinis, suapte naturâ talis sit, Jun. Dicunt quidem omnem colorem, qui fiat inficiendo, suasum vocari, quòd quasi persuadetur in alium ex alio transire, Fest. Every colour that may take or be turned into another colour, Fest. or as Scal. a natural brown dusk colour of black woall undied ; dun, or tawny or russet.

Suāsus, ûs ; m. Ulp. id. quod Suasio.

Suātim ; adv. Non. ex Nigid. ὑικῶς. Like a swine.

Suāve ; adv. Vir. Sweetly.

Suāviātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Gell. καταφίλησις. A kissing or bussing, Al. leg. Suavitatio.

Suāviātor, ōris ; m. verb. καταφιλητής. A kisser, he that kisseth sweetly.

Suāvidicus, a, um ; Lucr. ἡδύλογος. Pleasant, merry, pretty-conceited.

Suāvilŏquens, tis ; adj. Cic. Pleasant in speech.

Suāvilŏquentia, æ ; f. Cic. ἡδυλογία. Sweet or pleasant language.

Suāvilŏquium, i ; n. Aug. idem.

Suāvilŏquus, a, um ; Lucr. ἡδύλογος. Fair spoken, courteous.

Suāvillŭdius, ii ; m. Tert. à suavi ludo. A pleasant gamester.

Suāvio, as ; Non. καταφιλῶ. To kiss sweetly.

Suāvior, āris ; dep. Cic. φιλέω. נשק. To kiss or buss.

Suāvio, ōnis ; m. Cat. A wanton among wenches, a kisser or sweet-heart.

Suāviŏlum, li ; n. dim. à Suavium, Catull. φιλημάτιον. A little kiss : also a sweet-heart, a sweet love.

Suārior, ius ; comp. Hor. More sweet or delightful.

SUAVIS, ve ; (ā) Cic. ἡδύς, γλυκύς. ab suco. מתוק. al. qu. sua vis, quod cuique suum dulce. Sweet in smell or taste ; pleasant, courteous, delightful.

Suāvitas, ātis ; f. ἡδύτης. מתק. Pleasantness, sweetness.

† Suāvitātio, Gell. corr. pro Suaviatio.

Suāviter ; adv. Cic. ἡδέως. Pleasantly, sweetly.

Suāvitūdo, ĭnis ; f. Plaut. id. quod Suavitas.

Suāvium, ii ; n. à suavitate, Non. est enim voluptatis osculum. φίλημα. נשיקה. A wanton kiss, a buss, a sweet-heart ; a dear Miss, Ter. also the lip it self, Plaut. the pouching of the lip out in a kissing posture, Turneb.

Suavius ; adv. Hor. More sweetly.

SUB, præp. ex ὑπό, ut ab ἀπό, ab. ὑπό. חחת. Under, about, toward, at the point of, next after, a little before, in, at, even at. Sub quando signif. Ad locum, Accus. jungitur. Quando In loco, Ablativo, Prisc. ◊ In compos. modò localem vim retinet, ut Subjecto, modò diminutivam, ut Subrideo, subtristis. aliq. sign. Sensim ; ut Subrepo. aliq. Sursum ; ut Surrigo. Mutat b in sequentem consonam, quando à c vel f. vel g. vel m. vel p. vel r. incipiunt ea, quibus compon. ◊ Propriè Sub est Loco inferiore ; deinde Tempore inferiore ; post, circa, paulò ante, vel paulò post. ◊ Sub noctem, vel Sub vesperam, Cæs. In the twilight. Sub adventum, Liv. At the coming. Sub lucem, Vir. At or toward break of day. ◊ Sub Alexandro, Quint. In Alexander's time. Sub conditione, Upon condition. Sub manu tabellarios habere, Suet. Ready at hand. Sub exitu vitæ, Suet. A little before he dyed.

Subabsurdè ; adv. Cic. ὑπανόητος. Somewhat absurdly.

Subabsurdus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπάτοπος. Somewhat absurd or awkward.

Subaccūso, as ; Cic. καταμεμφῶ (μικρόν) τι. Somewhat to blame or find fault with.

Subacerbus, a, um ; adj. Fest. ὑπαξύς. Somewhat bitter.

Subācidè, & Subācidulè ; adv. Ter. Somewhat sharply.

Subācidŭlus, a, um ; Cato. A little sowrish.

Subācĭdus, a, um ; Plin. ὑπαξύς. Somewhat sowre or sharp.

Subācriter ; adv. Lamprid. Sharply.

Subactārius, Jun. coriarius, à Subigendo. A Currier or Corier.

Subactio, ōnis ; f. verb. à Subigo, Cic. κατεργασία, χείρωσις. A kneading, working or exercising.

Subactor, ōris ; m. verb. Lampr. A buggerer.

Subactus, a, um ; part. Cic. ὑπηθεὶς, κατεργασθείς. Conquered, subdued, brought under, constrained, forced ; kneaded, wrought with hands, exercised, practised, εὐεργασμένος. well tilled, cultivated, improved.

Subactus, ûs ; m. Plin. κατεργασία. A constraining, a subduing, a working or kneading.

Subadjŭva, æ ; m. Not. Imp. An under-helper or assistant.

Subæger, ra, rum ; Cels. Somewhat sick.

Subægrè ; adv. Lucr. Hardly, sickly.

Subærātus, a, um ; Pers. ὑποχάλκινος. Tied in bridswritin, and gold or other metal wirkens, as brass money.

Subāgitātio, ōnis ; f. verb. παρόρμησις. A soliciting or troubling, a vexing.

Subāgitātrix ; f. Petron. She that greateth or grieveth. ◊ It. Plaut. eadem quæ gr. τριβάς. Fricatrix, Tert.

Subāgito, as ; Plaut. παραινῶ, ὀχλῶ. To grope, to be busie with one, to have to do with a woman.

Subagrestis, te ; Cic. ὑπάγριος. Somewhat rude, a little clownish or countrey-like.

Subālāris, re ; ὑπομασχάλιος. That is under the wings or arm-pits. Subalaris culcitra, Lampr. A leaning pillow, to hold under the arm-holes. Plumæ subalares, Id. Pillows or cushions to lean upon.

Subalbĭcans ; part. Var. A little whitish.

Subalbĭco, as ; Var. ὑπόλευκός εἰμι. To be somewhat white.

Subalbĭdus, a, um ; adj. Plin. ὑπόλευκος. Somewhat white.

Subalbus, a, um ; Lucr. idem.

Subalpīnus, a, um ; Plin. ὑπάλπειος. Under the Alpes.

Subalternātim ; adv. ἐναλλαξ. Successively, by turns.

Subalternātio, ōnis ; f. verb. ἐναλλαγή. Succession by turn.

Subalternātor ; m. verb. Boët. He that succeedeth in course.

Subalterno, as ; Philos. ὑπαλλάττω. To succeed by turn.

Subāmārè ; adv. Sidon. Somewhat bitterly.

Subāmāro, as ; Seren. To make somewhat bitterish.

Subāmārus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπόπικρος. Somewhat bitterish.

† Subannŭlātus, a, um ; Arnob. Put as it were in rings.

Subāquāneus, a, um ; Tert. ὑπυδρος. That lyeth under water.

Subāquĭlus, a, um ; Plaut. ex Sub & Aquila, à colore aquilæ : ὑπόφαιος. Somewhat brown of colour.

Subārātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. An earing or plowing.

Subārātor, ōris ; m. verb. Plin. ὑπαγρεύς. A plower under or below.

Subargūto, as ; Macrob. To plead subtilly ; to be somewhat shrill.

Subargūtŭlus, a, um ; Gell. λεπτολογώτερος. Somewhat shrill, somewhat subtil.

Subāridè ; adv. Gell. Somewhat drily.

Subāridus, a, um ; Tert. Somewhat dry.

Subarmālia, um ; n. Spart. Cloathes worn under armour.

Subāro, as ; act. & pass. Subăror ; Plin. ὑπαγράφω. To ear or plow up.

Subarrōgans, tis ; adj. ἀλάζων. High minded, somewhat proud and stately.

Subarrōganter ; adv. Cic. τερπνῶς ἀλαζονικῶς. Somewhat proudly.

† Subasperātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Aug. A making somewhat angry.

Subassentiens ; part. Yielding or agreeing unto. Subassentientibus humeris, Quint. With some help of the shoulders.

Subăter, ra, rum ; Plaut. ὑπόμελας. Somewhat black.

Subātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. χοιρεσμός. A sows going to the boar.

Subātus, ûs ; m. verb. Plin. id. quod Subatio.

Subaudio, is, īvi, īre ; act. Gram. ὑπακούω. To understand a word that is left out.

Subauſcultātio, ōnis; f. verb. Boët. An hearkening, or liſtening.

Subauſcultātor; m. verb. Quint. A liſtner or hearkner.

Subauſculto, as; Cic. ὑπακροάομαι, ὑποκρύπτω. To liſten, to hearken, to eavesdrop.

Subbalbē; adv. Spart. Somewhat moſtlingly, ſtammeringly or ſtutteringly.

Subballio; fictum nomen. Tune es Ballio? imo Subballio ſum, Plaut. An under he hand.

Subbāsilicānus, i; m. Plaut. qui frequenter ſub baſilicis ſpatiatur. τὸ ὑπ' ἀγορᾶς περιπατητικόν. One who walks in Piazzaes and Courts to enquire news; an Exchange-walker. = Subroſtranus, Cæl.

Subbibo, is, ĕre; Suet. ὑπομεθύσκομαι, ὑπονίνω. To drink a little, to bub, to tipple, to get a cup.

Subblandior, īris, itus; cum Dat. Plaut. ὑπαρυσκάνομαι, ὑποκολάζομαι. To flatter a little, to fawn upon.

Subcærūleus, a, um; Cato. aliquantulum cæruleus. Bleeviſh.

Subcærūlus, a, um; Celſ. in cæruleum colorem declinans. ὑπολιόχρους. Somewhat blew, or azure.

Subcandeſco, is, ĕre; incep. Sidon. To be ſomewhat angry.

Subcandĭdus, a, um; Plin. ὑπόλευκος. Somewhat white.

† Subcartilāgia, Cæl. 4. 21. i. Hypochondria. The hollow under the ſhort ribs.

Subcartilāgineus, a, um; Cæl. Under the griſtles, or under the ſhort ribs.

Subcāvus, a, um; Lucr. Hollow underneath.

Subcentŭrio, ōnis; m. Liv. qui centurionis vices gerit. ὑποκατώνταρχος. A petty Captain, a Lieutenant.

Subcernĭcŭlum, li; n. Plin. κόσκινον. A ranging ſieve, a fine boulter.

Subcerno, is, ĕre; Plin. To raunge meal, or dreſs it in a boulter.

† Subcilles, Feſt. rect. Subliles.

Subcinĕritius, a, um; ἐγκρυφίας ἄρτος. עוּגָה. Baked under the aſhes. Panis ſubcineritius, Jun. Bread ſo baked.

Subcingo, is, ĕre; act. Liv. ὑποζώννυμι. To fortifie or fence, to undergird.

Subcingŭlum, li; n. Plat. ζωστήρ. אַזוֹר. A bracing girdle, a belt.

Subcoactus, a, um; Cæl. Made into felt, or wrought like felt; of which kind of ſtuff the ſouldiers had their coats made to eſcape ſhot or darts.

Subcœno, as; Quint. ὑποδειπνέω. To make a ſhort ſupper, to under ſup.

Subcontŭmĕliōsē; adv. Cic. ὑποβριστικῶς. Somewhat reproachfully, or ſpitefully.

Subcontŭmĕliōſus, a, um; ὑποβριστικός. Somewhat reproachful, ſpighful, or affrontive.

Subcrĭſpus, a, um; Cic. ὑπόλοφος. Somewhat curled or frizled.

Subcrūdeſco, is, ĕre; incep. Celſ. To wax raw.

Subcrūdus, a, um; Cato. ὑπώμιος, ἡμίεφθος. נֵא. Half raw, parboiled, not full ripe, Celſ.

Subcruentus, a, um; Celſ. ὑπαιμος. Somewhat bloody.

† Subcuborĭcum, pro Succuba, Non. ex Titinnio.

† Subcūrātio, ōnis; ſub. verb. Sidon. The charge of a thing under another.

Subcūrātor, ōris; m. verb. Julian. ὁ ὑπέρτερον μοίρας ἔχων. He that hath the charge of a thing under another, a Sidesman, a Maſters mate.

Subcurvus, a, um; Amm. καμπυλόπους. Somewhat crooked, or ſtooping.

† Subcus, ūdis; f. Bud. corr. pro Subſcus.

Subcuſtos, ōdis; n. Plaut. ὑποφύλαξ. An under-keeper.

Subdĕbilĭtātus, a, um; Cic. ὑπεκλυθείς. Somewhat weakned.

Subdĕcānus, i; m. Eccl. A Sub-deam.

Subdiăcŏnātus, ūs; m. Eccl. ὑποδιακονία. A Sub-deaconſhip.

Subdiăcŏnus, ni; m. Eccl. ὑποδιάκονος. A Sub-deacon.

Subdiāle, is; n. Jun. A place or open gallery to walk in without any covering.

Subdialis, le; quod ſub dio eſt, Plin. ὑπαίθριος. Abroad in the air, without the houſe, open. Subdiale pavimentum, Vitr. A terrace-walk.

Subdifficilis, le; Cic. ὑποδύσκολος, χαλεπώτερος. Somewhat hard or difficult.

Subdiffīdo, is, ĕre; Cic. To diſtruſt, or miſtruſt a little.

Subdistinctio, ōnis; f. Diom. ὑπόστιγμή. A ſubdiſtinction.

Subditīcius, a, um; à Subdo, Cic. ὑποβολιμαῖος. That is not properly ones, whoſe it is feigned to be; that is not that it pretends to be; that is put or laid in the place or room of another, a changeling, counterfeit, foiſted, forged. Subditicius pannus, Jun. Lining for a garment, as Cotton, Bayes, &c. Libri ſubditicii, Quint. Books falſly fathered upon an Author.

Subditīvus, a, um; Plaut. idem. ◊ Subditiva ſecreta; Arnob. Hidden under Allegorical myſteries.

† Subdĭto, as; frequ. Lucr. To miniſter or give.

Subdĭtus, a, um; part. à Subdo: ὑποπεπλασμένος, ὑποπεπλασμένος, ὑποβεβλημένος. Lying under, ſubject, ſet in the place of another, counterfeit, ſuborned, Amm.

Subdiū; adv. interdiù, Plaut. καθ' ἡμέραν. יוֹמָם. In the day time.

Subdival, is; n. Bibl. ὑπαίθριον. pars ædium, quæ ſub divo eſt. An open Court, or place of a houſe uncovered.

Subdivālis, le; adj. Subdivalis ſentina, Tert. ὑπαίθριος. In the open air.

Subdivum, i; n. Tert. ὕπαιθρον, Gl. quòd ſub divo, vel ſub dio ſit. Clearneſs, brightneſs. ☌ Nubilum.

Subdo, is, ĕre; idi, itum; act. ex Sub & Do: ὑποτίθεμι, ὑποτίθημι, ὑποβάλλω. יִתֵּן תַּחַת. To put under, to ſubdue, to put in the place of another, to ſubſtitute, Cic. to indanger or hazard; to ſet before, Lucr. to hide, Plaut. to put or thruſt in. Subdere puerum, Plin. To change a child, or to father him upon one; reum, Tac. To accuſe one falſly. ◊ Regit Acc. cum Dat. Subdere calcar equo, Ovid. To ſpur him; boves jugo, Plin. To yoke them.

Subdor, ĕris; paſſ. Tac.

Subdŏceo, es, ēre; ui, ctum; act. Cic. ὑποδιδάσκω. To teach ſomewhat, or now and then; to teach under another.

Subdoctor, ōris; m. verb. Auſ. ὑποδιδάσκαλος. An under-teacher, an uſher.

Subdoctus, a, um; Quint. Somewhat learned, an indifferent ſcholar.

Subdŏlē; adv. Cic. ἐπιτηδείως. Cautelouſly, deceitfully, craftily.

Subdŏlus, a, um; Ovid. ex Sub & Dolus: ἐπιτήδειος, πανοῦργος, δόλιος. עָקֹב. Full of deceit and wiles, deceitful, craftie, ſly, cunning.

Subdŏmo, as; Plaut. To tame.

Subdŏmor, āris; paſſ. Plaut.

† Subdōrium & Subphrygium modum Socratem admiſiſſe ſcribit Cæl. 10. 3.

Subdŭbĭtātor; m. verb. Aug. He that ſeemeth to doubt.

Subdŭbĭto, as; neut. Cic. ὑπαπορῶ. To be half in doubt, to be at a little ſtand.

Subdūco, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. ὑπεξάγω, ὑφαιρῶ. יִסּוֹר. To take or draw away, to withdraw, to remove, to ſteal, κλέπτω. To convey away privily; to hold or draw back; to withhold; to reckon or number, to count, to caſt an account. λογίζομαι. יָשַׁב. Subducere navim, Cæſ. To hale it on ſhore; rationem, Cic. To caſt it up. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Subducere colla oneri, Ovid. ☌ Produco, Cic.

Subdūcor, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Subductārius, a, um; ὑπαγωγικός. That wherewith any thing is drawn or lifted up. Funis ſubductarius, Cato. The rope of a crane.

Subductio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ratio & quod vulgus Computum vocat: ἀναβίβασις, λογισμός. חֶשְׁבּוֹן. An account or reckoning; a drawing or bringing up, Cæſ. ὑπεξαγωγή. a deduction or alloweance, a rebatement.

Subductor, ōris; m. verb. Dig. He that withdraweth.

Subductus, a, um; part. Liv. Taken away, conveyed out, withdrawn. Vultus ſubductus, Prop. A frowning or lowring countenance.

Subdulceſco, is; incep. Celſ. ὑπογλυκαίνομαι. To wax ſweetiſh.

Subdulcis, ce; Plin. ὑπόγλυκυς. Sweetiſh, ſomewhat ſweet.

Subdūrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. A little hardning.

Subdūrātor, ōris; m. verb. Veget. He that hardneth.

Subĕdo, is vel go, ĕre; ēdi, ēſum; act. Ovid. ὑποτρώγω. To eat or wear away underneath, as water doth the foot of a ſtone wall.

Subeo, is, ire; ivi vel ii, itum; ὑπέρχομαι, ὑποδύομαι. בּוֹא. To undergo, to go under or in, to abide or ſuſtain; to hazard or adventure; to come in place of another: alſo to mount, climb or go up, Plin. to ariſe, to ſpring or grow up, Vir. ὑπορύομαι. to come in ones mind: alſo to aſſail one, Val. Flac. To put under, Vir. To anſwer, Claud. To ariſe, as the Planets do. Cum Acc. Subire portum, Plin. jun. To enter into it; negotium, Id. To undertake it; dolorem, Cic. To ſuſtain or ſuffer it; animum, Liv. To come in thoughts; aliquem humeris, Vir. To take him up on's back. ◊ Cum Dat. Subire muro, Vir. To come up to it. ◊ Subire in cœlum, Plin. ad montes, Liv. ◊ Subit mirari, Plin. I cannot but wonder.

Subeor, īris; paſſ. Cic.

Sŭber, ĕris; n. φελλός, Plin. à Suo, propterea quòd inſuitur ſolo calceamenti, aut quia mergi nequit, ſed ſubit, Scal. vel à gr. Σῦφαρ pellis extima. The cork-tree, cork.

Suberĕus, a, um; Col. φελλώδης. Of cork.

† Suberies, ēi; f. Feſt. ex Lucil. à Suber. A kind of tree whereon is taken the ſtrongeſt and beſt ſwimming cork.

Subērigo, is, ĕre; Sil. To raiſe up.

Subĕro,

Suberrātio, ōnis ; f. Hier. A wandring about.

Suberro, as ; unde part. Suberrans, Claud. ὑπεπλανόμενος. To wander or run under.

Subeundus, a, um ; part. Quint. To be undermin'd.

Subex, icis ; f. Dehm subices humidas, Enn. i. subjectas, quæ diis subjiciuntur, Fest. ut sit à subjicio, Subex, ut ab objicio, obex. al. quòd subeant, i. ascendant cœlestia, Scal. quomodò & gr. μετέωρα voc. ◊ Est & m. Subex pedaneus, Bud. A stirrup. Subex focarius, Jun. An iron dog or andiron.

† Subfarraneus, Plin. qui sub servo est ; servi enim ab heris far pro dimenso accipiebant, à quibus qui acciperent, rursus Subfarranei dicti, Scal. One who is maintain'd by a servant.

Subfervefactus, a, um ; part. Plin. ὑπόθερμος. Made somewhat hot.

Subfervefio, is, factus, ĕri ; Plin. ὑποθερμαίνομαι. To be made somewhat hot.

Subfervidus, a, um ; Cels. ὑπόθερμος, ὑπέζεσε. Somewhat hot.

Subfibŭlātus, a, um ; part. Veget. Buttoned underneath.

Subfibŭlo, as ; Stat. To button or tye.

† Subfibŭlum, li ; n. Fest. à Fibula. A white vest four square and long, which the Vestal Virgins wore on their heads, and was buttoned on.

Subfrigidè ; adv. Gell. ὑποψύχρως. Somewhat coldly.

Subfrigidus, a, um ; ὑποψυχρός. Somewhat cold.

Subfundo, is, ĕre ; act. Ter. To make ashamed or blush.

Subfuscātus, a, um ; dim. Amm. ὑπόφαιος. Somewhat brownish.

Subfuscus, a, um ; Var. Somewhat brown.

Subgrandis, e ; Cic. ὑπομήκης. Somewhat large, pretty big.

Subgrāvis, ve ; Plin. βαρύτερος, ὑπόβαρυς. Somewhat grievous or unpleasant.

Subgrunda, æ ; f. Var. ὑπαὶ στέγεσι. ex Sub & Gero, quasi Subgerunda. The eaves of an house, keeping the walls from rain. Vid. Suggrunda.

Subgrundātio, ōnis ; f. Vitr. γειωσιόδυμα. The making of house eaves.

Subgrundia, ōrum ; n. Plin. γείσα. The eaves of an house.

† Subgutto, as ; Plin. To drop often.

Subhastor, āris ; pass. Solin. To be sold in port-sale, under a pike or pole that was set up for that purpose.

Subhorrĭdè ; adv. Gell. Somewhat roughly and hideously.

Subhorridus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπόφριμος, ὑπαυχμηρός. Somewhat hideous to see, a little rough and overgrown with hair.

Subhūmidus, a, um ; Col. ὑφυγρός. Somewhat moist, moistish.

Subjăcens, tis ; part. Plin. Underlying.

Subjăcĕo, es, ui, ēre ; neut. Col. ὑπόκειμαι, ὑποτίθεμαι. To be subject, to be beneath, to be situate at the foot. Cum Dat. Pl. jun. Acc. & ad, Quint.

Subjacto, as ; frequ. à Subjicio, Var. ὑποβάλλω. To cast up aloft, as corn it when it is fanned.

Subjactor, āris ; pass. Var.

† Subices ; f. pl. Enn. The clouds. vid. Subex.

† Subici aries dr. quem quis agit, ut pro se pugnet ; quod fit exemplo Athen. apud quos, expiandi gratiâ, aries inigitur ab eo, qui scelus admiserit, pœnæ pendendæ loco, Fest.

† Subicio, is, ere ; unde Subex, pro Subjicio ; Subicere arietem est dare arietem, qui pro se agatur, cædatur, Fest. Upon any high offence, as murder, to bring a ram, and sacrifice it for expiation: as it was also appointed by Numa in his laws.

† Subicito, & Subigito, as ; Plaut. vide Subagito. ὑποβιβάζω. To company or have to do often with a woman.

† Subĭcŭlum, li ; n. Subiculum flagri, Plaut. dict. quòd semper flagris subjicitur, μαστιγίας. A whipping-stock.

† Subidus, a, um ; Gell. 19. 9. unde Insubidus in comp. à subus vel à subando. Swinish, nasty, filthy. Al. leg. Sabidus, qu. sapidus, i. prudens & sciens, à Sapio.

Subjecta, æ ; f. Vitr. 10. 15. pars illa basis machinæ, quæ hæret solo, & machinam totam sustinet. ὑπόθημα. The basis or bottom that holdeth the whole engine ; the carriage of an ordinance.

Subjectè ; adv. Liv. Submissively.

† Subjecticus, a, um ; Apul. quod subjicitur. ἐκεῖ ἐρμ.

Subjectio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ὑπόταξις, ὑπόβολή. A casting or putting under, a setting of a thing before or in sight ; subjection, obedience ; a bringing in of forged writings, Liv.

Subjectior, us ; comp. Hor. More subject and in danger to.

Subjectissĭmè ; adv. superl. Cæs. Most submissively and lowly.

Subjectivus, a, um ; Apul. Belonging to the subject of a proposition.

Subjecto, as ; frequ. Vir. To throw up, to put under. Subjectare stimulos lasso, Hor.

Subjector, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. ὑποβολεύς. A bringer forth in sight, a putter under, a counterfeiter or forger.

Subjectum, i ; n. Log. quod subjicitur. ὑποκείμενον. Subjectum aliud Inhæsionis, aliud Prædicationis. A subject.

Subjectus, a, um ; part. ὑποκείμενος, ὑπεξέτης. Put or lying under ; in subjection, subject ; in danger to ; also obedient, Pl. jun. ◊ Subjectus miseriis, sub metum, Cic.

Subjectus, ûs ; m. Plin. ὑποβολή. A bringing or putting under.

Subiens, euntis ; part. Sil. Coming on.

† Subigātrix, icis ; f. Coop. ex Plaut. pro Subactrix. τειβάς.

† Subigĭto, as ; pro Subagito, Plaut.

Subĭgo, is, ĕre ; ēgi, ĕtum ; act. ex Sub & Ago : ὑπάγω, ὑποχειρίου, ὑπάζομαι. כבש. To constrain, to bring under, to subdue, to conquer ; to beat or stamp : κατατράζομαι, to break, ear or till ; ὀχεύω, to meddle with a woman : also to heave or lift up, to rub, Col. Subigere terram, Cic. To till or break it up ; farinam, Cato. To knead or work it ; hostem, Liv. To subdue or conquer him ; scrobem, Vir. To dig or cast it up ; tergum equi, Col. To rub it ; ratem conto, Vir. To shove it ; securim in cote, Id. To whet it.

Subigor, eris ; pass. Liv.

† Subjices ; Enn. vid. Subices.

Subjicio, is, ĕre ; ēci, ĕtum ; act. ὑποβάλλω, ὑποτάττω, ὑποτίθημι. הכניע. To put, lay, set or bring under ; to make subject ; to prompt or bring in mind or remembrance ; to alledge, to propose or set before ones eyes ; to bring or put in ; to forge or suborn ; to answer, or reply, Vir. also to inspire, Propert. To set or list up, Liv. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Subjicere brachia collo, Ovid. To clip one about the neck ; uvas prelo, Col. To press them ; aliquid oculis, Pl. jun. sub oculos, Quint. To make it plainly appear. cum Abl. terram ferro, Cic. To till or plow it. ◊ Subjicere rationem, Cic. To alledge it ; testes, Quint. To suborn them ; testamentum, Cic. To forge it ; regem in equum, Liv. To set him on horse-back.

Subjĭcior, ĕris ; pass. Cic.

† Subjĭcito, as ; frequ. C. ex Plaut. ὑποβιβάζω. Often to cast under.

Subimpĕtro, as ; unde part. Subimpetrandus, Tac. To be obtained by intreaty.

Subimpŭdens, tis ; adj. Cic. ὑπανδρικῶς τῶ. Somewhat impudent or over-bold.

Subimpŭdenter ; adv. Aug. ὑπαναισχύντως. Somewhat impudently.

Subin ; adv. Liv. ἔπειτα. Forthwith or anon, ever now and then, afterward.

Subinānio, is ; Hier. To make a little empty.

Subinānis, e ; adj. Cic. ὑπόκενος ῶ. Somewhat empty or vain, of no great weight.

Subindè ; adv. ex Sub & inde. ὑπότε, ἐπειτα. Oftentimes, now and then, every while stitch, ever and anon, Petron. also after that, afterward, thereupon, then, Hor. presently, forthwith.

Subinfĕro, ers ; Bibl. To bring in under-hand.

Subinfluo, is, xi, ĕre ; cum Acc. Sen. To flow in or under.

† Subingerere arietem ; alii leg. Subicere ; alii Subigere ; id est, dare arietem, qui pro se agatur cædaturque, Fest.

Subinsulsè ; adv. Capell. Somewhat unsavourily.

Subinsulsus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπαναισχυντικός ῶ. Somewhat foolish, a little unsavory that hath no great grace.

Subintelligo, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; Sen. ὑπονοέω. To understand somewhat or a little.

Subintro, as ; Plaut. To enter or go into.

Subintroeo, is, īre ; Bibl. παρεισέρχομαι. To come in privily.

Sŭbinvideo, es, ēre ; vidi, sum ; Cic. ὑποφθονέω. To envy one a little. Cum Dat.

Sŭbinvidiōsus, a, um ; Plin. Somewhat envious, or to be envyed.

Sŭbinvisus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπεμφθονος ῶ. Somewhat hated, or spighted.

Subinvito, as ; Cic. ὑπεκχωρέω, παρεκκαλέω. To invite one in a manner.

Subinvītus, a, um ; Plaut. Somewhat unwilling, or against his will.

Sŭbīrascor, ĕris, ātus ; dep. Cic. ὑποροργίζομαι. To be half angry or displeased.

Sŭbīrātè ; adv. Gell. ὀργίλως. Somewhat angrily.

Subīrātus, a, um ; part. Cic. Somewhat angry.

† Sŭbis, is ; f. Plin. avis quæ aquilarum ova frangit. rect. Subris, à gr. ὑβρις, ab illâ contumeliosâ injuriâ dict. A bird which breaketh the Eagles eggs, a Spigh.

Subĭtāneus, a, um ; Col. αἰφνίδιος. Hasty, sudden.

Subĭtārius, a, um ; Liv. Speedy, done upon a sudden.

† Subĭtātio, ōnis ; f. Apocr. τὸ παραχρῆμα λέγειν.

ὀξέως. The hastening, or speeding, or surprize.

† Subitillus, i; m. Casaub. ὑγρότατον. Gl. à subitâ paratura. A kind of cake. Fort. corr. pro Subucula.

Subitò; adv. ἐξαίφνης, αἰφνιδίως. פִּתְאֹם Hastily, suddenly, upon a sudden. = Improvisò, Cic. properanter, Plaut.

Subjĭtūrus, a, um; part. Ovid. About to undergo.

Subitus, a, um; Cic. à Subeo: quòd subit, i. ingreditur clam antequàm animadvertas; inde signif. repentinum. αἰφνίδιος, ὁ ἐξάφνης. מְהִיר Hasty, unlooked for, sudden.

Subjŭgāle; n. Bibl. sc. jumentum. ὑποζύγιον. חֲמוֹר An Ass.

Subjŭgātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. ὑπόταγη. A subduing or taming.

Subjŭgātor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. ὑποτάκτης. A tamer or subduer.

Subjugātus, a, um; part. Veget. Put or passed under the yoke or gallows.

Subjŭgis, ge; ὑπόζυξ. Accustomed to the yoke, or to draw. Equa subjugis, Plin. A Cart or Coach-mare.

Subjŭgium, gii; n. Cato. ζυγόδεσμον. A thong or band wherewith a yoke is fastned to a beasts neck.

Subjŭgo, as; act. Claud. ὑποτάσσω, ὑποχειρόω. בבש To subdue, to bring under yoke.

Subjunctio, ōnis; f. verb. Digest. An under-setting, or joyning underneath.

Subjunctivus, a, um; Gram. ὑποτακτικός. Subjunctive, that joyneth under. Modus subjunctivus, qui alteri verbo subjungitur.

Subjunctus, a, um; part. Ovid. ὑποτεθείς. Set to or under.

Subjungo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. ὑποζευγνύω, ὑποτάσσω. דָּבַק To joyn or add, to bring under or subdue, Vir. to subjoyn. Regit Acc. cum Dat. vel Acc. & ad, Cic.

Sublābor, ĕris; psus, Vir. ὑπολισθαίνω. To slip away privily, to fall or slide under, to fall down and decay by little and little, to ebb.

† Sublābro, as; Nav. i. cibum intra labra mitto, Non. ὑποχειλίζω. To put meat into ones mouth.

Sublapsus, a, um; part. Vir. Slipt or fallen down.

Sublātē; adv. Cic. ὑπερηφάνως, ὑψηλῶς, ὑπερόγκως. Haughtily, proudly, loftily, in a lofty strain.

Sublāteo, es, ui, ēre; Var. ὑπολανθάνω. To lye hid underneath.

Sublātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀφαίρεσις. A lifting up; a taking away.

Sublātus, a, um; part. à Suffero: ἀπαρθείς, ἀφαιρεθείς. Lifted, up, mounted, advanced: also stolen or taken away.

Sublecto, as; ex Sub & Lacio, Plaut. To decoy or stroke, to chouse or fool one.

Sublectus, a, um; part. Var. Chosen.

Sublĕgo, as; Justin. ὑποκαθίημι. To substitute or appoint in ones room, to depute.

Sublĕgo, is, ĕre; ēgi, ctum; act. Vir. ὑφαρπάζω. אסף. נגב. ὑφαιρεῖσθαι. To touch a thing lightly in passing by, to pick up, Hor. to steal and privily convey away: also to choose, Liv. to over-hear, Plaut. to read slightly, or by the by, Gell.

Sublestĭor, us; comp. Plaut. More faint or weak.

Sublestissĭmus, a, um; superl. Plaut. Very faint or weak; or that maketh so, Fest.

Sublestus, a, um; Plaut. & Sever. חלש. Subleste, infirmè & tenuiâ, Fest. Sublestum est leve, frivolum; Non. ex sub & lestus, gr. λίαν, i. ἰσχνός, Eust. gracilis; sive ταπεμιβῷ, Schol. Aristoph. attritus. Faint, feeble, weak, decayed; thin, small, slender, of no esteem or account; of no force or value. Subleſta fides, Plaut. i. levis. A credit cracht.

Sublĕvans; part. Suet. Lifting or holding up.

Sublĕvātio, ōnis; f. verb. Dig. ὑπαγορα. A helping or assisting.

Sublĕvātor, ōris; m. verb. Arnob. βοηθός. He that helpeth.

Sublĕvātus, a, um; part. Cic. Relieved, eased.

Sublĕvo, as; act. ὑπαίρω, ἀναπαύω, ἀνίημι. נטל To lift or hold up: also to help, aid or succour, to ease, lighten or lessen. = Erigo, defendo. ⅋ Everto, lædo.

Sublĕvor, āris; pass. Cic.

Sublica, æ; f. Cæl. trabs longa, quæ sub ponte ponitur ad eum sustinendum. Sublicium pontem quidam putant esse appellatum à sublicibus, peculiari vocabulo Volscorum, quæ sunt tigna in latitudinem extensa, quòd non aliter Formiani tigna, quibus eorum pons surrectus erat, appellabant, Fest. sic dict. quòd sub iis aqua liquens laberetur, Id. al. ab eliciendâ aquâ; al. ex Sub & Liquus vel Liquis. Subliquus, (ut Obliquus) unde Sublicæ; & Sübliquis, unde Sublices. δοκός. A prop, a shore or post, or other like thing, to bear or keep up; a pile driven into the ground for building. It is specially meant of piles driven into the water for the making or mending of bridges.

Sublices, um; f. pl. idem. καταπήγες. Gl.

Sublĭcium, ii; n. Liv. id. quod Sublica. A prop or shore set against a wall.

Sublicius, a, um; ex sublicis vel sublicibus factus. Made of piles or posts. Sublicius pons, Liv. γέφυρα ξυλίνη. A great strong timber-bridge.

Sublĭdo, is, ĕre; act. Prud. To bit softly or underneath.

Subligācŭlum, li; n. Cic. à Subligo, Non. Subligaculum est quo pudendæ partes corporis teguntur, dict. quòd subtus ligetur: ejus in histrionicâ duntaxat usus erat, non item in campo Martio, ubi juventus campestri succingebatur, Voss. ἀσκέπαζμα, περισκελίς. מִכְנָסַיִם A mans breeches or long hose, drawers, galligaskins, trowses: also a rib of a ship, Jun.

Subligar, āris; n. Mart. à Subligo, ἀσκέπαζμα. A slop or breeches without cannions or nether stocks; a truss.

Subligatūra, æ; f. Theod. Prisc. A binding or trussing; the wearing of a truss.

Subligātus, a, um; part. Mart. In a truss.

Subligo, as; act. Plin. ὑποδέω. To under-bind, to under-tye, to tye or hang at. Subligare ensem lateri, Vir.

Subligor, āris; pass. Col.

Sublimātio, ōnis; f. verb. Digest. A lifting up.

Sublimātus, a, um; part. Sext. Aurel. Lifted up, advanced.

Sublimè; adv. Cic. ὑψηλῶς, μετεώρως. Up aloft, on high.

Sublimen, inis; n. Scal. ex Propert. limen superius. ὑπέρθυρον. The hanse or limel; the upper door-post.

Sublīmis, mè; à Limus, qu. supra limum; vel à Sublimen, Fest. ut sit elevatus ad instar sublimini: fort. cujus altitudinem non nisi limis oculis contueris. μετέωρος, ὕψηλος. גבוּהַ. Lofty, haughty, that is above us. In sublime, Plin. On high, aloft. Sublimem aliquem rapere, Ter. To hoist him up.

Sublīmitas, ātis; f. Plin. ὑψηλότης, ὑψηλοφροσύνη. גֹבַהּ Height, highness, loftiness.

Sublimĭter; adv. Col. ὑψηλῶς. Highly, on high, aloft.

Sublimo, as; act. Sidon. μετεωρίζω. הֲרִים. To set on high, to extoll, to sublimate, Med. ⚳ Sublimare se, Apul. To mount up.

Sublĭmor, āris; pass. Lucr.

† Sublĭmus, a, um; pro Sublimis, Non.

† Sublingio, ōnis; m. à Sublingendo deducitur. Fimbria quoque scelestus est qui sublingio, Plaut. An under-scullion or lick-dish.

Sublĭno, is, ĕre; ēvi, ĭni & ĭvi, ĭtum; act. Cels. ὑποχρίω, ὑπαλείφω. To anoint or besmear somewhat or begrease: also to deceive and mock one, Plaut. To lay a ground colour, Plin. Sublevit mihi os, Plaut. i. illusit & pro ridiculo habuit; tractum à genere ludi, quo dormientibus ora pinguntur, Non.

Sublĭnor, ēris; pass. Gell.

Sublĭtus, a, um; part. à Sublinor, Cels. Smeared or anointed.

Sublĭvens, tis; part. Stat. Somewhat black and blew.

Sublĭvesco, is; incep. Cels. ὑποχλόω. To wax black and blew.

Sublĭvidus, a, um; Cels. ὑποχλόος. Somewhat black and blew.

Sublūcānus, a, um; Plin. quod lucem antecedit, ἀμφίλυκος. About day-spring, that is a little before day-light.

Sublūceo, es, uxi, ēre; neut. Vir. ὑπαυγάζομαι. To give a little light, to shine somewhat, to glimmer.

Sublūcidus, a, um; adj. Amm. ὑπαυγαστικός, ὑπολαμπής. Somewhat bright.

Sublūco, as; i. e. ramos arborum suputo, & veluti subtus lucem mitto, Fest. ὑποκλαδίζω. סָעַף To understrad bought, that the light may come in under the tree.

Sublūcor, āris; pass. Col.

Sublūcror, āris; Dig. To gain closely, R.

Sublūnis nox, Hor. ex Sub & Luna. A clear moon-shiny night.

Subluo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. Mart. καταλούω. רָחַץ To wash or rinse, to bathe.

Subluor, ĕris; pass. Col.

Sublūridus, a, um; Plaut. ὑποχλόος. Somewhat wan and pale.

Sublustris, stre; Liv. ex Sub & Lustro: ut Illustris, Perot. ὑπολαμπής. That hath some light, glimmering.

Sublūtus, a, um; part. Mart. Somewhat washed, souſed, soaked.

Sublŭvies, ēi; f. Col. αὐχμός, ῥύπος. צוֹאָה Filth, ordure; also a disease in sheeps feet, between the cleas; the Foul.

† Submejulus, i; m. Marc. Empir. One who pisses abed.

Submĕreo, es; R. ex Plaut. To deserve a little.

Submergo, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. Vir. καταποντίζω. יִשְׁקַע To drown or sink in the water, to overwhelm, to dip or plunge.

Submergor, ĕris; pass. Liv.

Submĕridiānum, ni; n. Med. Gran. An under-meal, an afternoons Luncheon.

Submeridiānus, a, um; Liv. A little before or about noon.

Submersio,

Submersio, ōnis; f. verb. Firm. ὑπόβρυξις. Drowning, sinking.

Submersor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. He that drowneth.

Submersus, a, um; part. Vir. καταπονθείς. Drowned, sunk, bulged, swimming in the deep, or under water, Cic.

Submĕrus, a, um; ὑπέκκαυτος. Almost pure and without mixture. Submerum vinum, Plaut. Wine almost neat.

Subminia, æ; f. Plaut. sc. tunica; ex Sub & Minio: vestis genus colore subrubro, ἔδος μιλτοειδὲς. A red vermilion coat, a pennistone petticoat.

Subministrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Dig. ὑπηρεσία. Under-service.

Subministrātor, ōris; m. verb. Sen. ὑπηρέτης, ὑπουργός. He that furnisheth or supplyeth.

Subministrātus, ûs; m. Macr. An allowance or supply.

Subministro, as; act. ὑπηρετέω, ὑπουργέω. [רזן]. To do service to one, to furnish or supply one with. Subministrare pecuniam alicui, Cic. tela ad manum, Quint.

Subministror, āris; pass. Aug.

Submissè; adv. Cic. ταπεινῶς, μετρίως. Lowly, humbly, softly, with a low voice.

Submissim; adv. Suet. idem. Softly.

† Submissimè; idem; R. ex Suet.

Submissio, ōnis; f. verb. ταπείνωσις, ὑποχώλη. An humbling, or putting under; submission; also softness of speech. ☞ Elevatio, contentio, Cic.

† Submissitius, a, um; R. ex Pelag. A bastard, or base born child.

Submissiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More lowly.

Submissor, ōris; m. verb. Dig. He that setteth on or under.

Submissus, a, um; part. & adj. Liv. ὑφειμένος, ταπεινός. Put under, brought in subjection. Adj. Low, submiss, base, mild, gentle. = Abjectus, mollis, Cic. lenis, Quint. ☞ Concitatus, Quint.

Submitto, is, ĕre; isi, issum; act. ὑφίημι, ὑπεκπέμπω, ὑποτίθημι. דכנית. To send privily or under-hand; to suborn; to put in place of another; to plant or set in the ground; to put, set or bring under; to bow down, to bumble, to submit, to lay down, Sen. also to let grow in length, Plin. jun. ◊ Submittere fœtum matribus, Col. To put them to their dams; prata in fœnum, Id. To keep them for hay. ◊ Submittere se, Cic. To bumble himself; oculos, Ovid. To cast them down; genua, Plin. To bow them; barbam, Sen. To let it grow; pretium, Plin. To lower, abate, or let it fall. ☞ Extollo, Cic.

Submittor, ēris; pass. Suet.

Submŏlestè; adv. Cic. ὑποδυσχερῶς. Somewhat grievously.

Submŏlestus, a, um; Cic. ὑποδυσχερής. Somewhat troublesome or grievous.

Submollis, le; adj. R. ex Hor. Somewhat soft or tender.

Submŏneo, es, ēre; ui, itum; act. Ter. ὑπομιμνήσκω. To warn one underhand, to put in mind, to give a watchword; to give a privy check: also to prompt.

Submŏneor, ēris; pass. Plin. jun.

Submordeo, es, ēre; act. Apul. To bite softly, or a little.

Submordeor, ēris; pass. Stat.

Submōrosè; adv. Aug. Somewhat crabbedly or frowardly.

Submōrōsus, a, um; Cic. ὑποδύσκολος. Somewhat froward, peevish or crabbed.

Submōtor, ōris; m. verb. ὑποστρωτής. One that putteth aside, or maketh room. Submotor aditûs, Liv. A porter or usher of the hall.

Submōtus, a, um; part. Cic. ἀπολελυθείς, ἀποθεὶς. Removed out of the way, taken away, laid apart.

Submŏveo, es, ēre; ōvi, ōtum; act. Col. ὑπωθέω, ἀπελαύνω. הרחיק. To remove or carry far off, to drive out of a place, to put aside or away; to cause to make way or room; to put back, to keep from; to part one from another; to discharge one of his office, to depose. Submovere aliquem à negotiatione, proconsulatu, Cic. ◊ Submovere turbam, Cic. To make way; instantes, Ovid. To keep them back. = Arceo, Pl. jun.

Submŏveor, ēris; pass. Cic.

Submŏvētur; impers. Sen. They make way or room.

Subnascens, tis; part. Plin. Growing under or after.

Subnascor, ēris; nātus; dep. Plin. ὑποφύομαι, ὑπογίνομαι. To grow or spring up under or after.

Subnăto, as; Sil. To swim under.

Subnectĭlis, le; adj. Sidon. Which is tyed or knit under.

Subnecto, is, ĕre; xui, xum; act. Vir. ὑπεμπλέκω. To bind, to fasten, to join to, to subscribe. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Subnector, ēris; pass. Suet.

Subnĕgātor, ōris; m. verb. Hier. A faint denyer.

Subnĕgo, as; act. Cic. ὑπαρνοῦμαι. Half to deny, or to deny in a manner.

Subnervo, as; Apul. ὑπονεύρίζω, νωχεπῶ. To cut sinews, to hamstring one.

Subnexus, a, um; part. à Subnecto, Stat. Knit or tyed underneath.

Subnĭger, a, um; Var. ὑπομέλας. שחרחר. Somewhat black, blackish.

Subnītor, ēris; nixus; dep. Cic. ὑπερηρέμομαι, ὑποπείθομαι. שען. To labour or stay against a thing, to lean or rely upon, to trust to.

Subnixus, a, um; part. Vir. cum Abl. ὑποπεποιθώς. Under-propped, born up, trusting to, relying upon. Subnixus alis, Plaut. With arms a kembow.

Subnŏdo, as; act. & Subnodor; pass. Var. To make a knot underneath.

Subnōtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Dig. ὑπογραφή. A subscribing.

Subnŏto, as; act. Mart. ὑπογράφω, ὑποσημαίνω. To note or mark, to take notice of to ones self.

Subnōtor, āris; pass. Marcell.

Subnūbĭlus, a, um; Cæs. ὑπομικρὸν νεφελώδης. Somewhat cloudy.

Sŭbo, as; Hor. à Suibus dict. cùm libidinem appetunt, vel exercent; à Συάν, Æol. Σύβαν, unde & σύβας, λάγνος, Hesych. ὀργᾶν, καπρίζειν. To grunt, as the Sow doth, to go to bore; to be a brimming. ☞ Subare est suis fœminæ, appetere marem, ut Surire suis maris.

Sŭbobscœnè; adv. Apul. ὑπαισχρῶς. Somewhat filthily.

Sŭbobscœnus, a, um; Cic. ὑπαισχρός, αἰσχρίτης. Somewhat smutty.

Sŭbobscūrè; adv. Aug. ὑπολαθραίως, ὑπομικρὸν ἀδήλως. Somewhat obscurely.

Sŭbobscūrus, a, um; adj. Cic. ὑποσκοτεινός. Somewhat obscure, dark, or hard to be understood.

Sŭbŏdiōsè; adv. Aug. Somewhat spitefully

Subŏdiōsus, a, um; Cic. ὑπομισήμενος. Somewhat odious, scarce to be endured.

Subŏdōror, āris; dep. Cajus. ὑπόζω, ὑπαισθάνομαι. To perceive somewhat, to smell out or scent a thing; to have an inkling of it; Amm.

Subolfendo, is, ĕre; di, sum; act. Cic. ὑποβλάπτω, βραχέα τι βλάπτω. To offend or displease a little.

Subolfendor, ēris; pass. Vopisc.

Sŭbŏleo, es, ui, itum; neut. Plaut. αἰσθάνομαι, ὑπόζω. To savour or smell a little, to have somewhat the savour of a thing. Nunquid patri subolet? Ter. Doth he mistrust or know of any thing?

† Subŏles, is; f. ex Sub & oleo, i. cresco, quòd parentibus suis liberi succrescant; ὄλπωνι, Gl. An off-spring; properly young shoots which grow out of the roots or the stocks of trees: also the hair that grows on the head, Var. Al. ex consuetudine scrib. Soboles.

† Subolesco; succresco, Fest.

Subŏriens; part. Plin. Arising, new springing up.

Subŏrior, iris & ĕris, ortus; Lucr. ὑποφύομαι. To arise or grow up.

Subornātio, ōnis; f. verb. Digest. παρασκευή. Suborning.

Subornātor, ōris; m. verb. Lamprid. A suborner, a private instructer.

Subornātus, a, um; part. Cic. Suborned, &c.

Suborno, as; act. Cic. ὑποτιμάω. To set forth and honour one: also to suborn and bring in a false witness, to send one privily, and instruct him under-hand what to do or say.

Subortus, ûs; m. Lucr. The rising as of Sun, Moon and Stars.

Subpallesco, is; incep. Cels. ὑποχλόαζω. To wax pale.

Subpallĭdè; adv. Enn. Somewhat palely.

Subpallĭdus, a, um; Cels. ὑποχρῶς. Somewhat pale.

† Subpar, āris; Vell. sub pari ætate. ὁμήλιξ. Of equal age.

Subpătens; part. Apul. Lying open underneath.

Subpăteo, es, ēre; neut. Apul. To lye open beneath.

Subpernātus, a, um; part. Catull. That is cut in the hough, or underneath.

Subperno, as; suffragino, Scal. ἀγκυλοκοπεῖν. To hough or hamstring one.

Subpinguis, e; adj. Cels. ὑποπίων, ὑπολίπαρος. Somewhat fat, fattish.

Subpœnĭtet; impers. Baret. It somewhat repenteth or grieveth.

Subpræceptor, ōris; m. Eraſm. ὑποδιδάσκαλος. An Usher in a school.

Subpræfectus, ĕti; m. Liv. ὑπάρχων. An Under-officer, Governour or Magistrate.

Subpădenter; adv. Symm. Somewhat bashfully.

Subrādens, tis; part. Amm. Incroaching or getting ground.

Subrancĭdus, a, um; Cic. ὑποστυφός, καπρίζων. Somewhat stale or stinking; over-kept, that hath a Hogo, rammish.

Subraucus, a, um; Cic. βραγχάζων. A little hoarse.

Subrectus, a, um; part. à Subrigor, Liv. ὑπαρθείς. Set upright by degrees, half upright.

Subrēmigans; part. Plin. Sailing or rowing, swimming.

Subrēmigo, as; n. Vir. ὑπέρω. To row

rem under, to help with rowing, Quint.

Subrēnālis, le; Subrenalis morbus, Veget. Behind the reins of the back.

Subrēpens; part. Catul. Creeping or stealing along. Cum Dat. Plin.

Subrēpo, is; ĕre; psi, ptum; neut. Cic. ὑφέρπω. זָחַל. To steal privily, to creep in or enter unawares, or by little and little.

Subreptio, ōnis; f. verb. à Subrepo, Plin. κλοπή. A stealing away.

Subreptītius, a, um; Plaut. Stoln, taken away by stealth.

Subreptīto, as; freq. à Subrepo, Cato ap. Gell. ὑφερπύζω. To creep or crawl along.

Subreptus, a, um; part. Cic. Stoln secretly.

Subridens; part. cum Dat. Vir. Smiling upon.

Subrīdeo, es, ēre; isi, sum; neut. Vir. ὑπομειδιάω. To smile, to snicker, to simper, to smirk.

Subridĭcŭlē; adv. Cic. ὑπεργελοίως. Somewhat ridiculously, with some pleasantry.

Subridĭcŭlus, a, um; Aug. ὑπογέλως. Somewhat scorning.

Subrigens; part. Sen. Lifting up.

Subrigo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Vir. Subrus, i. infernè rego, i. erigo. ἐξανίσημι. הָקִים. To lift or raise up, to prick up (his ears.)

Subrigo, as; act. Col. καταβρέχω. To water or bedew.

Subrĭguus, a, um; Plin. ὑροβρεχής. Somewhat wet, wettish, moist.

Subringor, ĕris; Cic. To fret a little.

Subripio, is, ĕre; ui, ptum; act. Cic. ὑφαρπάζω. גָּנַב. To steal privily, or take away by stealth.

* Subris, is; f. Nigid. ὕφοψ. avis, quæ Plinio Subis. The bird which breaketh the Eagles eggs.

Subrŏgo, as; act. Cic. To substitute, to put in place of.

Subrostrātus, i; m. Cæs. ad Cic. qui otiosus sub rostris sedet vel obambulat. One used to sit or walk about the pleading place to enquire news, as people do in Westminster-Hall. Al. scrib. Subrostrarius.

Subrŭbeo, es, ui, ēre; neut. Ovid. ὑπερυθραίνομαι. To look of a blushing red.

Subrŭbĭcundus, a, um; Cels. ὑπέρυθρος. Somewhat ruddy.

Subrūfus, a, um; Plin. ὑπόπυρρος. אַרְמוֹן. Somewhat red, reddish.

Subrūgio, is; Arnob. To roar or bray somewhat.

Subrŭmo, as; act. Col. θηλάζω, μαζοῖς προσάγω. Subrumari dicuntur hœdi, cùm ad mammam admoventur; vel quia ea rumis vocatur; vel quia rumine i. gutture trahunt lac sugentes, Fest. To put to the dug, to put a lamb or calf to another dam, when his own has not milk enough for him.

Subrumor, āris; pass. Col.

Subrūmus, a, um; Var. qui sub rumâ, i. sub mammâ adhuc est. ὑπομάστιος. A sucking lamb.

Subruncinator; Deus qui subruncationi præerat.

Subruncivi limites, in agris facti, octo pedes lati, per quos aditus patebat vicinis ad subruncandum, V.

Subrŭo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. Cæs. καταβάλλω, καταβίπτω. To cast or tumble down, to overthrow, to undermine, to dig up, Sen. also to undo and destroy, Hor.

Subrŭor, ĕris; pass. Lucr.

Subruptus, a, um; part. Hirt. Broken underneath, hollowed, worn away.

Subrusticus, a, um; Cic. ὑπαγροικος, ἰδιωτικός. Somewhat rustical, clownish.

Subrŭtĭlus, a, um; Plin. ὑπωχρόπυρος, ὑπέξανθος. Yellowish, ruddy, bright, golden-colour.

Subrŭtus, a, um; part. καταβεβλημένος. Undermined, overthrown.

Subsălsus, a, um; Plin. ὑπάλμυρος, ὑφάλμυρος. Somewhat salt, saltish.

Subsălto, as; Dig. To jump or leap.

Subsannātio, ōnis; f. verb. χλευασμός. A mocking or jeering.

Subsanno, as; act. χλευάζω. לָעַג. To laugh to scorn.

Subsarcinātus, a, um; part. Lamb. ex Plaut. Carrying a burden or load in ones lap or under ones arms. Al. leg. Suffarcinatus.

Subscindo, is, ĕre; act. Col. To cut a little or underneath.

Subscribo, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. Cic. ὑπογράφω, ὑπομιμνήσκομαι. To write under, to subscribe; to write, note or register: also to agree with one, and be of his mind; to joyn or take part with another in suit at law; to aid or help, to favour. Cum Dat. Col.

Subscribor, ĕris; pass. Cic.

Subscriptio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὑπογραφή, ὑπομνήματος. A subscription, a writing underneath, a partaking with one in an accusation against another.

Subscriptor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ὑπογραφεύς. A subscriber, a favourer, Gell. a prompter, Alex. ab Alex.

Subscus, ūdis; f. Vitr. Subscudes appellĕ. cuneatæ taleolæ, quibus tabulæ inter se configuntur, quia quò ea immittuntur, succiditur, Fest. ubi Turn. legit succuditur; à cudendo. A fastening of boards or timber together, called by the Joyners a Swallow or Dove-tail. Subscus ferrea, Vitr. A crampiron.

Subsecivus, a, um; à Subseco, quod sub secatur. ὑπορτιμήδης. Cut off from the principal, stoln, spared or borrowed from other affairs or business: done at leisure times. Horæ subcesivæ, Spare hours. Al. scrib. Subficivus; al. Succisivus.

Subsĕco, as, ui, ctum; act. Col. ὑποκόπτω, ὑποτέμνω. גָּזַז. To cut under or a little, to pare, to cut down, to mow, Var.

Subsĕcor, āris; pass. Cels.

Subsectus, a, um; part. Col. ὑποκεκομμένος. A little cut, or under-cut.

Subsecundārius, a, um; ὑστερεύσιος. That is done next after necessary business is over, at leisure hours. Subsecundaria tempora, Gell. Spare-times, times of leisure.

† Subsĕdeo, es, sēdi; act. Plin. To sink down.

Subsellium, ii; n. Cic. ex sub & sella. Ut Subsipere, quod non planè sapit, sic quod non planè erat sella, subsellium dictum, Var. ἀναβαθρον, ἐφέδρα. מוֹשָׁב. A Bench or seat whereon they sate in the Theatre to behold, or where Judges sate in Courts; sometime the Judges themselves upon the Bench, Mart. Imi subsellii viri, Plaut. Men of the lowest degree.

Subsentio, is, ire; si, sum; act. Ter. ὑπαισθάνομαι, ὑπολαμβάνω. To perceive somewhat, to have some inkling of a matter, to surmise.

Subsĕquens; part. Plin. Next following.

Subsĕquor, ĕris; ūtus; dep. Cic. ἐφέπομαι. דָּרַךְ. To follow forthwith or hard by, to come after; to second a thing, Cic.

Subsĕricus, a, um; Lampr. cujus subtegmen solùm esset sericum. Of half-silk, the other half (that is, the warp) of some other meaner stuff.

Subsĕro, is, ĕre; sēvi, sĭtum; act. Col. priori sătâ stirpe intermortuâ, aliam in locum ejus sero; ὑποφυτεύω, ὑποτιθέω. To sow or set under or after: also privately to report, Amm.

Subsertus, a, um; part. Amm. Thrust under.

Subservio, is, ire; ivi, itum; neut. cum Dat. Ter. ὑπηρετέω. To serve, to help forward; to abet or back one.

Subsessa, æ; f. Veget. ex Sub & Sedeo: ἐφέδρα, ἐνέδρα. מַאְרָב. An Ambuscado, or ambush.

Subsessor, ōris; m. verb. Val. Max. ὑπολοχαγός, ἐφέδρος. אוֹרֵב. A lyer in wait, one in ambush; a padder or high-way-man.

Subsĭcīvum, i; n. à Subsĭcando, i. subsecando, quod à subsecante lineâ mensuræ quadratum excedit, Sic. Flac. it. quod in mediis centuriis relinquitur; quod utrumque nulli assignatum. Ground which in measuring either exceeded the square, or else as barren and waste was left out; and for either reason not assigned or apportion'd to the souldiers shares.

Subsĭcivus, a, um; Apul. Cut off, separated, parted.

Subsīdens; part. Col. Sinking or bowing down.

Subsīdentia, æ; Gorrh. The setling, or sediment at the bottom.

Subsīdeo, es, ēre; sēdi, ssum; neut. ὑποκαθίζω, ὑφίσταμαι. אָרַב. To rest or settle in the bottom, Col. to sit under; to rest, stay or remain, Pl. jun. to tarry behind, Cæs. to lye in wast for one, Cic. to lye in ambush.

Subsīdiārius, a, um; Liv. βοηθητικός, ὑπηρετικός. That is given or sent to the aid of another, auxiliary. Subsidiarius palmes, Col. A branch left to supply the stock.

Subsīdior, āris; Hirt. ὑπαγωγέω, βοηθέω. עָזַר. To stand by ready to help, if need be; to relieve.

Subsīdium, ii; n. Cic. βοήθεια, ὑπηρεσία, Συμμαχία. עֶזְרָה. Aid, help, succour, refuge, rescue: also an harbour for ships, Tac. ◊ Subsidium dicebatur, quando milites subsidebant in extremâ aciĕ, labentique aciei succurrebant: quod genus militum constabat ex iis, qui emeruerant stipendia, locum tamen retinebant in exercitu, quæ erat tertia acies Triariorum, Fest. ex Plaut. A Reserve of Horse or Foot.

Subsīdo, is, ĕre; sēdi, essum; neut. Vir. ὑποκαθίζω, ὑφίσταμαι. יָרַד. To settle or sink down; to descend to the bottom; to sit, stay or rest in a place; to stint or slake, Quint. to stay or stop; not to come so abundantly as they were wont, Plin. also to invade, Lucan. to cower down, cum Dat. Hor. ∃ Consurgo, Liv. proficiscor, Cic.

Subsignāni milites; Amm. Souldiers serving under their colours.

Subsignātio, ōnis; f. verb. Paul. ὑποσημείωσις. A signing or setting ones hand and seal.

Subsignātor,

Subsignātor, ōris; m. verb. Digest. He that signeth or setteth his hand.

Subsignātus, a, um; part. Calist ὑποσημειωθείς. Taken in an inventory: also signed and sealed.

Subsigno, as; act. Pl. jun. ὑποσημειόω, ὑπογράφω. To write under; to confirm with his sign manual; to sign and seal.

Subsilio, is, ire; ui & ivi, ultum; neut. Plaut. ὑποπηδάω, ὑφάλλομαι. רקד. To hop, skip or leap a little; to start up.

†Subsilles, quas aliter ipsiles vocant, lamellæ necessariæ sacris, quæ ad rem divinam dicuntur conferre, maximè specie virorum & mulierum, Fest. Little plates that were used at their sacrifices. V. Ipsullices.

Subsimilis, le; Cels. παρόμοιος. Somewhat like or resembling.

Subsimiliter; adv. Gell. Somewhat likely.

Subsimus, a, um; Var. ὑπόσιμος. Somewhat snut or flat-nosed.

Subsipio, is, ĕre; neut. Subsipere dic. quod non planè sapit. ὑπανοηταίνω. Not to be very wise, not to have a perfect taste.

Subsistentia, æ; f. Cels. ὑπόστασις. Subsistence, the bottom or settlement.

Subsisto, is, ĕre; stĭti, stĭtum; neut. Cic. ὑφίσταμαι. עמד. To stand still; to subsist; to abide or stay; to stop; to resist, to withstand: also to doubt, Ulp. Subsistere sumptui, Cic. To bear or maintain the cost and charges. Cum Acc. Subsistere feras, Liv. To stand and oppose them. Subsistere apud aliquem, Plaut. in aliquo loco, Vir. circa ima, Quint.

†Subsōlāneus, a, um; ex sub & solum. ◊ Subsolanea quæ sunt solo res appellantur (Mart. legit, quæ sub solo) Subsolanei enim dicuntur, qui infimum solum colunt, ut qui in terram superfolanei, Fest. Mart. legit, ut qui supremum.

Subsōlānus, ni; m. Plin. dict. quòd sub sole nasci videatur. ἀπηλιώτης. קדים. An East-wind.

Subsortior, iris, ītus; dep. Cic. ἀπολαγχάνω, ἀποκλήρωμαι. To choose by lot after others have chosen; or to choose by lot one who is to succeed.

Subsortitio, ōnis; f. verb. Suet. ἀπολήρωσις. A choosing by lot to fill up the place of those that were dead or laid aside.

Subsortitor, ōris; m. verb. Digest. He that draweth lots in the second place.

Subsortitus, a, um; part. ἀπολαχών, ἀντικατασταθείς. Chosen or substituted in place of another.

Substantia, æ; f. Quint. à Substando; sc. quæ per se subsistat. οὐσία, ὑπόστασις, ὕπαρξις. item τὰ ὑπάρχοντα. Substance, matter, goods, estate, wealth.

Substantiālis, le; Amm. οὐσιώδης. Substantial, pertaining to substance.

Substantivus, a, um; Gram. ὑπαρκτικός. That may stand by it self, Substantive: also substantial, essential, Ruffin.

† Substanto, as; Vitruv. To amend, to repair.

Substernens, tis; part. Catull. Laying under.

Substerno, is, ĕre; strāvi, ātum; act. Cic. ὑποστρώννυμι. חציע. To strew, or put under in the bottom: also to subdue. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Substernere alicui suam pudicitiam, Suet. To prostitute.

Substernor, ĕris; pass. Var.

Substes, ĭtis; m. G. ex Ælian. A follower or hinder-man, in a File of souldiers, a Bringer up.

Substillum, li; n. à Stillo: tempus ante pluviam, jam penè uvidum, & post pluviam non persiccum, quòd jam stillaret, aut nondum desiisset, Fest. The dropping of rain from Penthouses, a drizzling dripping rain, a falling mist: also when one pisseth by drops, the strangury, Cato. στραγγουρία, δυσουρία.

Substituendus, a, um; part. Plin. To be put in place of another.

Substituo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. ὑποκαθίστημι. To substitute or appoint, and put in place of another. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Liv. = Suppono, Cic. permuto, Plin.

Substitūtio, ōnis; f. verb. Paul. ὑποκατάστασις. A putting into the place of another.

Substitūtivus, a, um; Propositio substitutiva, G. ex Apul. A conditional proposition.

Substitūtor, ōris; m. verb. Digest. He that puts another in ones place.

Substitūtus, a, um; part. Cic. Put into anothers place.

Substitūtus, ti; m. Eccl. ὑποκαθιστάμενος. An Official, or Arch-deacons deputy.

Substo, as; stĭti, ĭtum; neut. Ter. ὑφίσταμαι, ὑπάρχω. עמד. To stand still, to bear up, to stand his ground.

Substŏmăchor, āris; dep. Aug. ὑποργίζομαι. To be somewhat angry.

Substrăho, is; &c. V. Subtraho.

Substrāmen, ĭnis; n. Var. ὑπόστρωμα. Straw, litter or any thing laid at bottom.

Substrātus, a, um; part. à Substernor, Cic. ὑποστρωμνύω. Laid under, or strawed.

Substrātus, ûs; m. Plin. ὑπόστρωσις. A spreading or laying under.

Substrĕpo, is, ĕre; unde part. Substrepens, Apul. To make a little noise.

Substrictus, a, um; part. Col. Συσταλμένος, ὑποστραγχθείς. Bound hard under, girt in close, tucked up, Plin. ◊ Adj. Slender, lank: also trussed, tight, well fashioned. Crura substricta, Ovid. Small spindle-shanks.

Substringens; part. Luc. Tying or trussing up.

Substringo, is; ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Col. Συσταλόω, ὑποστρέφω. רכס. To bind strait underneath, to gird, tye or truss up, to hale in: also to repress or restrain, Quint. Substringere carbasa, Mart. To hale in the sheet, to furl the sails; bilem, Juv. To restrain or keep in his passion.

Substringor, ĕris; pass. Veget.

Substructio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὑποικοδόμησις, ὑπόπηξις. בנין. An under-pinning or groundsilling of an house, or making of a foundation under; a pile of building, Plin.

Substructor, ōris; m. verb. Vitruv. He that under-setteth.

Substructus, a, um; part. Liv. Built or founded.

Substruo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Plaut. ὑποκαινάζω, καταβάλλομαι. יסד. To under-pin, to make a foundation underneath, to build.

Substŭpĭdè; adv. Hier. Somewhat dottishly.

Subsultātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. ὑποπήδησις. A leaping or hopping about.

Subsultim; adv. Suet. ὑποπηδητικῶς. By jumps or leaps.

Subsulto, as; neut. Plaut. ὑφάλλομαι. To hop, to jump, to caper, to curvet.

Subsultus, ûs; m. Liv. A jump, an hop, a caper.

Subsum, es; est, fui, esse; Plin. ὑπάρχω. To be under, to joyn to: also to help, Plaut. simply to be, Cic.

Subsuo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. Hor. ὑποῤῥάπτω. To sew or stitch under.

Subsurdus, a, um; Quint. ὑπήκοος. Half deaf: also that is scant heard, or maketh almost no noise at all.

Subsūtus, a, um; part. Hor. ὑποῤῥαμμένος. Under-sewed, or under-wrought, stitched about, welted.

Subtābĭdus, a, um; Amm. Inclining to a consumption; half spent or wasted.

Subtal, lis; n. Sipont. ex sub & talo, quòd sit sub talo. The hollow of the foot, the palm of the hand. Vid. Subtel.

Subtardus, a, um; adj. Var. βραδύτερος. Somewhat slow or late.

Subtĕgĭmen, ĭnis; n. Aug. id. quod Subtegmen. The lining of a garment.

Subtegmen, ĭnis; n. Ter. à subtegendo. ☞ Aliud est Subtegmen, aliud Subtemen; nam Subtegmen, est interior pannus, quo vestis suffulta est, commoditatis & ornatûs ergo; Subtemen verò pars est interior panni, quæ stamini subest. ערב. ὕφασμα. The lining or facing of a garment: also (for Subtemen*) the thread in weaving called the woof.*

Subtĕgo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Col. To cover a little or secretly.

Subtĕgŭlāneus, a, um; Pavimentum subtegulaneum, Plin. A tile-pavement, laid with tiles.

† Subtel; n. In el correpta neutri generis sunt, ut mel, fel, subtel, Prisc. τὸ κοῖλον τῦ ποδός. id. in pede, quod Vola in manu; dict. quòd sub talo sit; unde & Subtal dic. Perot. vel à Subtilis, qualis ibi caro est. The hollow under the foot.

Subtĕla, æ; f. Hermol. A crupper of an horse.

Subtĕmen, ĭnis; n. Hor. quòd subsit staminì, Var. al. qu. Subtegmen, quod eo sensu usurp. The woof. ☞ Stamen, στήμων. The warp. Subtemen, κρόκη. The woof.

Subtendo, is, ĕre; di, tum & sum; act. Cato. ὑποστρώννυμι, ὑποτείνω. To stretch under.

Subtendor, ĕris; pass. Var.

Subtensa, sc. chorda, Geom. ὑποτείνουσα. The line drawn under the Arch of a Circle.

Subtento, as; Plaut. ὑποπειράομαι. To assay or try under-hand, to under-grope.

Subtentus, a, um; part. Lectos loris subtentos, Cato. Corded.

Subtĕnuis, e; Var. ὑπόλεπτος. Somewhat slender, thin or small.

Subtĕpĭdè; adv. Plin. Somewhat warmly, luke-warmly.

Subter; præp. serv. Acc. & Abl. Vir. à Sub; ut ab In, Inter. ὑπό. תחת. Under. ☞ Super, Prisc.

Subtèr; adv. Plin. κάτω, ὑποκάτω. In the neather part; underneath. ☞ Subter est, quod re aliquâ superiore deprimitur; Subtus verò, quod demissum altiùs contingitur, Pap.

Subtercludo, is, ĕre; & Subtercludor, ĕris; pass. Capell. To shut under.

Subtercutāneus, a, um; That which is under the skin. Morbus subtercutaneus, Aur. Vict. The dropsie: also when any in humour it get betwixt the skin and the flesh, Veget.

Subterdiu ; adv. Eraſm. In the day time.

Subterdūco, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. Plaut. ὑποξάγω. To ſteal away privily, to withdraw. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Subterductio, ōnis ; f. verb. Dig. A privy ſtealing away.

Subterductor, ōris ; m. verb. Dig. He that ſtealeth privily.

Subterfluo, is, ĕre ; xi, xum ; neut. unde part. Subterfluens, Plin. ὑποῤῥέω. To run or flow under.

Subterfluus, a, um ; Sidon. Which floweth under.

Subterfŭgio, is, ĕre ; fūgi, ĭtum ; act. ὑποφεύγω, ὑποκλέπτω. To eſcape or get away privily ; to give one the ſlip ; to eſchew, ſhun or avoid. = Devito, Cic.

Subterfŭgium, ii ; n. Macrob. διαφυγή, ὑποφύγιον. An eſcape, a ſubterfuge or ſhift.

Subterhăbĭtus, a, um ; part. Apul. Deſpiſed, ſet at nought.

Subterlābens ; part. Manil. Sliding under.

Subterlăbor, ĕris ; pſus ; dep. Liv. ὑπολισθάνω. To ſlip, run or flow underneath.

Subterlĭno, is, ĕre ; act. Plin. ὑπαλείφω. To anoint or beſmear underneath.

Subterlĭnor, ĕris ; paſſ. Celſ.

Subtermeo, as ; cum Acc. Claud. ὑποβαίνω. To run or paſs under.

Subternus, a, um ; adj. Prud. Underneath.

Subtĕro, is, ĕre ; trivi, ĭtum ; act. Col. ὑποτρίβω, κατατρίβω. תחת. To bruiſe or beat out, to break in pieces, to fret or gall.

Subtĕror, ĕris ; paſſ. Lucret.

Subterpĕdāneum, ei ; n. Pallad. A footſtool.

Subterrāneus, a, um ; Juv. ὑπόγειος. That is under ground.

Subterrātōrium, rii ; n. Varr. A dibble to ſet herbs with in a garden.

Subterrēnus, a, um ; Apul. Beneath or under the ground.

Subterreo, es, ĕre ; act. Plaut. Somewhat to affright, or cauſe to fear.

Subterreus, a, um ; Under ground. Divi ſubterrei, Arnob. i. Inferi ; κατα χθόνιοι δαίμονες, Pythag.

Subtertĕnuo, as ; paſſ. Subtertenuor, Lucr. ὑπολεπύνω. To wear thin below.

Subtervolvor, ĕris ; paſſ. Amm. To roll or run under.

Subtexo, is, ĕre ; ui, tum ; act. cum Acc. & Dat. Plin. καδυφαίνω, ὑπεμπλέκω. הרבין. To weave or joyn to after, to ſubjoyn or apply : alſo to cover or hide. Cœlum ſubtexere fumo, Vir.

Subtexor, ĕris ; paſſ. Stat.

Subtilior, us ; comp. Col. More quaint, curious and critical.

Subtilis, le ; adj. Cic. λεπτὸς, λεπτομερής. דק. ἰσχνὸς, ex Sub & Tela, quæ ſic dicta quia τῆλε ; i. longiùs extenditur. Nempe à filis tenuioribus originem traxiſſe videtur, quæ in telâ benè textâ, oculorum penè aciem fallunt, unde ſignificationis proportio ad alia quoque ſumpta fuit. Subtile, ſmall, thin ; witty, ingenious, delicate and fine, quick, briſk, quaint, nice, ſhrewd.

Subtiliſſimè ; adv. ſuperl. Cic. Very finely.

Subtiliſſimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt ſubtile ; very thin, Plin.

Subtilitas, ātis ; f. Cic. λεπτότης, ἰσχνότης, δεξιότης. Subtilty, sharpneſs of wit, niceneſs.

Subtiliter ; adv. Cic. λεπτῶς, δεξιῶς, ἀκριβῶς. Subtilly, finely, curiouſly, nicely, exactly : alſo ſlenderly, meanly, Quint. = Verſutè, Cic. magnificè, Quint.

Subtĭmeo, es, ui, ēre ; Cic. To be half afraid.

Subtondeo, es, ēre ; & Subtondeor, paſſ. Col. To clip or ſhear underneath.

Subtractio, ōnis ; f. verb. Apoll. ὑφαίρεσις. A withdrawing, ſubtracting or abating in accounts ; ſubtraction.

Subtractus, a, um ; part. Plin. Withdrawn, taken away.

Subtrăho, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. ὑφαιρέω, ὑποξάγω. לקח. To take away, to withdraw, to ſubtract ; to diminiſh, to pilfer : alſo to keep from, Plin. jun. ◊ Subtrahere ſe labori, Col. à curiâ, Cic. aſpectu alicujus, Vir. = Adimo, Cic.

Subtrăhor, ĕris ; paſſ. Plin.

† Subtranſversum, Linac. quod paulùm abs tranſverſo in utramque partem declinat. Somewhat overthwart.

Subtrīſtis, te ; Ter. ὑπολυπηρός. Somewhat heavy, ſad or melancholy.

Subtrītus, a, um ; part. à Subtero, Plaut. ὑποτετριμμένος. Worn underneath, ſomewhat broken.

Subtundo, is, ĕre, tŭdi, tūſum ; act. Tibull. ὑποπτίω, ῥαπίζω. To beat or ſmite underneath.

Subtundor, ĕris ; paſſ. Stat.

Subturpĭcŭlus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπαυχέτης. A little poor and baſe.

Subturpis, pe ; Cic. ὑπαυχής. Somewhat filthy or baſe.

Subtŭs ; adv. Lucr. à Sub, ut ab in, intŭs. κάτω, ὑποκάτω. Under, underneath.

Subtūſus, a, um ; part. à Subtundo, Tibull. Beaten, mawl'd, punned.

† Subvādes ; Gell. 16. 10. Underſureties.

Sŭbūcŭla, æ ; f. Var. quæ tunicæ ſubeſt, Perſ. ut tunica pallio. ὑποχίτων, χιτωνίσκος. תחת. ὑποδύτης. forma dim. qu. à Subus, quod à Subuo, pro Subduo, ut Exuo pro Exduo. It. genus libi, quod Diis dabatur ex alica, & oleo, & melle, Feſt. dict. quòd ſub alio ferto velut induceretur. ἐγχιτών. A ſhirt or ſmock, a ſhift ; a waſtcoat : alſo a kind of cake offered to the gods, Feſt. = Interula.

Sŭbūcŭlātus, a, um ; adj. Quint. ex Cic. χιτωνίσκον ἔχων. That weareth a ſhirt, &c.

Subvectio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cæſ. ἀναχομιδή. A conveying or carrying.

Subvecto, as ; freq. Vir. ἀναχομίζω. To carry or convey often.

Subvector, ōris ; m. verb. Dig. A conveyer or carryer.

Subvectus, a, um ; part. Ovid. Carried aloft, conveyed.

Subvectus, ûs ; m. verb. Tac. id. quod Subvectio. Conveying or carrying.

Subvĕho, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. Plin. ἀναβιβάζω, ἀνάγω, ἀναφέρω. הביא. To carry up, to exile ; to convey in a ſhip or wain, to bring up.

Subvĕhor, ĕris ; paſſ. Liv.

Subvĕnio, is, īre ; ēni, entum ; neut. cum Dat. Cic. βοηθέω, ὀπιτουρέω. עזר. To help, to relieve, to ſuccour.

Subvenior, īris ; paſſ. Saluſt.

Subvĕnitur ; impers. & Subventum eſt, Cic. There is help or reliefe.

Subventāneus, a, um ; adj. Plin. ex Sub & Ventus. Windy, full of the wind : alſo addle.

Subventio, ōnis ; f. verb. Feſt. Aid or help.

Subvento, as ; freq. à Subvenio ; cum Dat. Plaut. πολὺς ὑπηρετῶ. To come and aſſiſt one.

Subventūrus, a, um ; part. Ovid. βοηθήσων. That ſhall help.

Subventus, ûs ; m. Plaut. A coming upon ſuddenly.

Subverbuſtus, a, um ; Plaut. & Tert. qu. ſub veru uſtus ; Feſt. pot. ſimpl. à verber verbuſtus, ut ab arbor arbuſtum ; ut ſit id. quod Verbero. στιγματίας. A rogue or ſlave, that is often cudgelled, beaten or bang'd.

Subvĕrēcundus, a, um ; adj. Bæret. Somewhat ſhamefaced or baſhful.

Subvĕreor, ēris, ĭtus ; dep. Cic. ὑποδείδω. To fear ſomewhat : alſo to reverence, ἀλλαβοῦμαι.

Subversio, ōnis ; f. verb. Liv. κατασφαγή. An overthrowing, ruine, deſtruction.

Subverſo, as ; freq. à Subverto ; unde part. Subverſandus, Plaut. ἀνατρέπω. To ſubvert or overthrow often, to turn upſide down.

Subversor, ōris ; m. verb. Sen. He that overturneth.

Subversus, a, um ; part. Luc. κατασφαμμένος. Overthrown, turned upſide down.

Subverto, is, ĕre ; ti, ſum ; act. Col. καταστρέφω, καταβάλλω. חשׁ. To turn upſide down, to undo, to overthrow, to ſubvert : alſo to caſt one away by falſe accuſation, Tac.

Subvertor, ĕris ; paſſ. Liv.

Subvexus, a, um ; Liv. ἀναφορὶς. Bowed upward like an arched roof.

Subvĭcĕcŏmes, ĭtis ; m. Bar. An Under-Sheriff.

Subvĭctus, a, um ; Digeſt. Somewhat limber.

Subvĭrĭdis ; de ; Plin. ὑπόχλωος. ירקרק. Somewhat green of colour, greeniſh.

Sŭbŭla, æ ; f. Mart. à Suendo, quaſi ſubula, Perot. ὀπήτιον, βαφίον. מרצע. A bodkin that Cordwainers uſe, a Coblers awl. It. inſtrumentum ferreum, quo lapides excavantur ac poliuntur, V. Alſo the horn of a young Deer or Pricket without tines or knags, Jun.

Sŭbŭlāris, e ; Belonging to a Cordwainer, Cobler or Shoo-maker. Subulare ſilum, Vitruv.

Subulcus, ci ; m. Vir. χοιροβόσκος, ὑοβότης, ὑοφορβός. dict. à Subus, i. ſuibus, ut à bubus bubulcus. A ſwine-herd.

Sŭbŭlo, ōnis ; m. Plin. ὄρυξ. cervus, cujus cornu ſubulam refert. it. radico, Lucil. It. Subulo Tuſcè tibicen dicitur, Feſt. ex Enn. vox Hetruſca, Var. qu. Sibilo, Turn. qu. Surbulo, à σύρβη, αὐλοδόκη, Voſ. rect. ab heb. שבר ſpica, & meton. calamus, ſiſtula ; ſicut ex אביב ſpica dicta Ambubaiæ, αὐλητρίδες. Al. leg. Sabulo. Eſt a. Sabulum, apud Apul. genus organi muſici : αὐλητὴς, αὐλωδὸς. An hart called a Spitter, having young horns without knags or tines : alſo a piper, one who playes on a fife, flute or flageuet.

Sŭbūnio, ōnis ; f. Donat. ὑφὲν. A note of union, or of accent.

Subvŏ-

Subvŏlĭto, as; freq. Ovid. To flye a little upward.

Subvŏlo, as; neut. Cic. ἀναπέτομαι. To flye away a little, to fly upward or aloft.

Subvolvo, is, ĕre; vi, ūtum; act. Vir. ὑποκυλίω, ὑποκυλινδέω. To tumble or roll up.

Subvolvor, ĕris; pass. Plin.

Suburbāna, ōrum; n. Cic. The suburbs, houses or villages near the City.

Suburbānē; adv. Aug. Somewhat courteously.

Suburbānĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. ἡ ἐν περιοικίῳ παρουσία. The neighbourhood of the suburbs to the City, nearness to the City.

Suburbānum, ni; n. Suet. περαύλιον, ὑπαυλίς. An house without the walls of the City, a summer-house a little way out of town.

Suburbānus, a, um; Cic. qui est urbi vicinus: ὁ ἄσσω παροικέσιμος. Near or about the City, in the suburbs.

Suburbia, ōrum; n. Cic. sunt frequentes extra urbem domus, instar vici urbani, qu. sub urbe; τὰ προάστεια. חוּרוֹת The out-streets, and out-parishes of a Town or City, the suburbs.

Suburbium, ii; n. Bibl. προάστιον. סְבָרַיִם The suburbs of a City.

Suburgeo, es, si; act. Vir. Somewhat or close to thrust or put forward.

Subūro, is, ĕre; ssi, stum; act. Suet. ὑποκαίω. To burn somewhat or a little, to scorch.

Suburra, vicus Romæ; vide Propr.

Subūvĭdus, a, um; adj. R. ex Plin. Somewhat moist.

Subvulsus, a, um; part. à Subvello; Gell. Plucked, pulled.

Subvultŭrinus, a, um; Plaut. à Vultur: γυπώδης. Somewhat resembling a Vulture, of the colour or nature of a Vulture; blackish, or ravenous like a Vulture. Al. leg. Subvultureus.

† Succauda, æ; f. Hull. A crupper of an horse.

Succēdāneus, a, um; Plaut. ὑποβολιμαῖος, διάδοχος, quod alteri succedit, seu quod pro altero subjicitur, secundarius. That comes in place of another. Succedaneus damni, solutionis, Cod. culpæ, periculi, Ulp. That is to answer another mans loss, payment, fault, peril.

Succēdit; imp. Cic. It succeeds.

Succēdo, is, ĕre; ssi, ssum; neut. cum Dat. Cic. ὑποδύομαι, ὑποδέχομαι. To approach or come to; to succeed, to come in the place of another; to follow or come after; to go well forward, to have good success, to prosper or come to pass and effect: περαίνειν. הִצְלִיחַ. to thrive, to speed well, to hit right: to enter, to come up, to go under: also to be like or resemble, Quint. to change, Plin. ◊ Succedere muris, Cæs. murum, Tac. in locum alterius, Cic. sub primam aciem, Cæs. ad summum honorem, Lucr.

Succendo, is, ĕre; di, sum; act. Liv. ex Sub & Candeo: ὑποκαίω, ἀναπίμπλημι. דָּבַר. To burn, to inflame, to set on fire, to kindle.

Succendor, ĕris; pass. Liv.

Succenseo, es, ui, ēre; neut. cum Dat. Cic. ex Sub & Censeo; i. censuram ago cum irâ; vel à Succendo, succensum, i. irâ succensum esse; V. ἀγανακτέω, ὑποχόλομαι. קָצַף. To be angry with one.

Succensio, ōnis; f. verb. Amm. A burning.

Succensus, a, um; part. Cic. ἀναπιμπλάμενος, διάπυρος. Set on fire, kindled, burned, inflamed with any passion.

Succentivus, a, um; à Succino, Var. Belonging to the base tune.

Succentor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. ὑπᾴδων. He that singeth after others.

Succenturiātus, a, um; part. Ter. ἀντικατεστώς, ὑποκαθείς. That is set in the place of one who is dead or absent; or fails in his business; kept for a reserve.

Succentŭrio, as; Succenturiare est explendæ centuriæ gratiâ supplere, Fest. ἀντικαθίστημι, ἐπιλαγχάνω. To fill up the number of the band for them that be dead or absent, to recruit.

Succentus, ûs; m. Music. The base in a song.

Succerda, æ; f. Titin. i. stercus suillum, Fest. sc. quod à sue cernitur, i. excernitur. ὑπόλυσθος, ἀδύνη, ζύκοπρος. Swines dung, a Pig-turd. Al. scrib. Sucerda.

Succerno, is, ĕre; crēvi, crētum; act. Plin. ἐκκρίνω. הִבְרִיל. To range meal with a sieve, to sift, to take from other, to sever or separate, Cato.

Successa, ōrum; n. pl. Ovid. Successes, good fortunes.

Successio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. διαδοχή. Coming in place of another; succession.

Successit; imp. præt. Plin. It hath happened.

Successivè; adv. Spart. κατὰ διαδοχήν. Successively.

Successor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. διάδοχος. He that followeth or cometh in anothers place; a successour.

Successōrius, a, um; Jurisc. Pertaining to succession.

Successum est; impers. Neque ei successum est, Cic. And no man succeeded him.

Successus, a, um; part. κατορθώμενος. Succeeded, prospered, blest with success. Cum omnia meâ causâ velles mihi successa, Cic.

Successus, ûs; m. à Succedo. τύχη, δόσις, κατόρθωμα. מַקְרֶה. Issue or success, good or ill; prosperity, good luck: also a little place, room, cabin or cave, Arnob. a retirement or withdrawing-room. ☰ Eventus, Plin.

Succida, æ; f. Plin. sc. lana: à Succus: οἰσύπη, ἔριον ἄπλυτον. New shorn wool, unwashed and greasie.

Succidāneus, a, um; quod succiditur, i. pòst cæditur. Succidanea hostia dicebatur, quæ secundo loco cædebatur, quòd quasi succideretur dicta. Quidam à Succedendo, non à Succidendo dictum putant, Fest. ἀντιμβαλλόμενον. Slain in the second place, when the former sacrifice did not appease the gods: also that succeeds or comes after another, or in its stead. Tergum succidaneum, Plaut. quod pro alius culpâ cæditur.

Succidia, æ; f. παχεῖα, Onom. dict. quòd quoties opus est succidatur. al. à suibus cædendis vel concidendis, nam id pecus primùm occidere cœperunt, & ut servarent salire, Var. A side or flitch of bacon, a collop or rasher.

Succido, dis, ĕre; di, sum; act. Plin. ex Sub & Cædo: ὑποκόπτω, ὑποτέμνω. גָּדַע. To cut down, to fell (trees) to mow (corn,) Vir.

Succidor, ĕris; pass. Vir.

Succīdo, is, ĕre; di, cāsum; neut. Plaut. ex Sub & Cado: ὑποπίπτω. To fall under, to fall down, to fail, to faulter.

Succĭdus, a, um; Mart à Succus; πολύχυλος, ὀγκώμενος. Moist or full of juice, juicy. Mulier succida, Plaut. A plump girl, a crummy dame. Lana succida, à sudore recens tonsa, Var. Greasie wool, that was not scowred, since shorn.

Succĭduus, a, um; Ovid. πλάσιμος. Ready to fall, faltering, bowing under one.

Succinctè; adv. Plin. Curtius. Briefly, compendiously.

Succinctim; adv. Donat. idem.

Succinctior, us; comp. Plin. Shorter, closer.

Succinctŏrium, ii; n. Jun. A short jasket, a jerkin, a justdecore.

Succinctŭlus, a, um; dim. Apul. Trussed, girt or laced featly.

Succinctus, a, um; part. ἐζωσμένος. Girt, trussed up, tucked, compassed, invironed. Adj. Compendious, short, succinct. Succinctus gladio, Cic. Having a sword by his side.

Succĭneus, a, um; Plin. ἠλέκτρειος. Of or belonging to amber.

Succingens membrana, Jun. ὑπεζωκὼς ὑμήν. The skin that covereth the guts within.

Succingo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. ex Sub & Cingo: ὑποζώννυμι, ἐκβαλλαντεύω. אזר. To inviron, to beset, to gird, to truss up, to tuck.

Succingor, ĕris; pass. Ovid.

Succingŭlum, li; n. i. balteum, Fest. ζωστήρ. A sword-girdle; a truss.

Succino, is, ĕre; ui, entum; Hor. ex Sub & Cano: ὑπᾴδω, ὑπᾴδω. To sing after another, to follow another in singing: also to sing low.

Succĭnum, ni; n. Plin. ἠλεκτρον. dict. quòd succus arboris esse creditur, profluens ex arboribus pinei generis. Amber, yellow or white: also the gum of sweet trees, of the Pine kind.

Succĭnus, a, um; Mart. ἠλέκτρειος. Of or belonging to amber.

† Succio; R. ex Macrob. A Peach.

† Succĭpio, is, ĕre; cēpi, ptum; antiq. Pier. pro Suscipio. ὑπολαμβάνω. To take or receive.

Succĭplēnus, a, um; adj. R. ex Plin. χυλώδης. Full of juice.

Succĭsa, æ; f. sc. herba; Offic. The herb called Devils bit.

Succisivum, i; n. Agrim. A slip or odd nook of land, a pindle.

Succisivus, a, um; quòd tanquàm supervacaneum succiditur, & detrahitur. ἐκ τοῦ παρέργου γινόμενος. That is cut off, drawn or severed from. Succisivum tempus, Cic. Svare or leisure time. Succisivæ operæ, Id. Things done at spare times.

Succīsus, a, um; part. Liv. ὑπολυμβεῖς. Cut down, sewed: also guelt, Amm. ἐκτομίας.

Succlāmātio, ōnis; f. verb. Liv. ὑπορύησις. A humming or shouting.

Succlāmātum est à militibus, Brut. impers. They gave a shout or hum.

Succlāmātus, a, um; part. ut Succlamatus maledictis, Quint. Cryed out against, or ill spoken of.

Succlāmo, as; act. Liv. ὑπορύω. To cry out in token of liking or disliking, to give a shout, to shout, to hum. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Succollans; part. Suet.

Succollātio, ōnis; f. verb. Suet. A carrying on the shoulders.

Succollātus, a, um; part. Suet. Born upon the shoulders of men.

Succollo, as; act. unde part. Succollans, Suet. ex Sub & Collum, in collum attollo. κατωμαδὸν αἴρομαι, ἐπ' ὤμων βαστάζω. To bear up a thing with neck and shoulders, to take one up on their shoulders, and carry him on pickepack.

† Succortrillus, a, um; ant. Feminina fabulare succortrilla vocula, Titin. i. voce tenui ac clarâ, Fest. Al. leg. Súccrotilla, al. Succotrilla, al. Succotilla. fort. rect. Succrotilus.

Succōsior, us; comp. Col. More juicy or sappy.

Succōsus, a, um; Plin. χυλώδης. Full of juice and moisture, juicy, sappy.

Succrescō, is, ĕre; crēvi, ētum; neut. cum Dat. Cic. ὑπαυξάνομαι, παραφύομαι. גדל. To grow under, to spring and grow up, to grow onwards.

Succrētus, a, um; part. à Succerno, Plaut. ἐκκεκριθείς. Ranged or bolted.

† Succrotillus, a, um; Succretila vox, Titin. ap. Fest. tenuis & alta; ex Sub & Crotillus, qu. curtulus, à Curtus, M. A small and shrill voice. Al. aliter leg.

† Succrotillus, a, um; unde vox succrotila, Titin. ap. Fest. comp. ex Sub & Crotilus, i. exilis, tenuis.

Succūba, æ; f. Ovid. dict. quòd alieno succubet viro: μοιχαλὶς, μοιχεύτρια. An harlot lying with another woman's husband, a Punk, a truckle-bed whore. ◊ It. m. g. Florulentus succuba, Prud. de Adonide.

Succūbitānus, a, um; Treb. Poll. Fit or made to lye under ones elbow to lean upon. Succubitana purpura; à Succubi, Africæ oppido, Cæl. Rhod.

† Succūbōneus, a, um; id. quod Succubus, Non. ex Titin. ὑπόκοιτος.

Succūbus, i; m. The Devil that in womans shape lies with men; as Incubus that in mans shape lies with women.

Succŭlentus, a, um; Apul. χυλώδης. Full of juice, well liking, or in good plight; plump.

Succumbo, is, ĕre; ui, ĭtum; neut. ex Sub & Cumbo. ὑπόκειμαι, ὑποπίπτω. נפל. To lie or fall down under, to fail, to faint, to yield, to succumb, to couch or crouch. Succumbere oneri, Liv. doloribus, Cic.

Succurro, ĭs, ĕre; ri, sum; neut. cum Dat. Cic. ex Sub & Curro: βοηθέω, ἀλέξω, ὑπαντιάω. עזר. To help, aid, or succour, to relieve; to come into ones mind or remembrance; to follow or ensue upon.

Succursum est, impers. Plin. They helped or relieved.

Succus, ci; m. χυμὸς, χυλὸς, ὀπὸς. qu. Sugus, à Jugo; Donat. al. quòd Jacco exprimatur, Isid. Juice or moisture, sap: also generally all manner of juice, syrup, broth: also vigour or strength, Cic. ◊ Succus lactis, Plin. Whey; civitatis, Cic. The strength, the life-blood of the State.

† Succus, ūs; m. id. Apul.

Succussārius, ii; s. m. à Succusso: ὑποσείων. A trotter or jolter, a trotting horse.

Succussātio, ōnis; f. verb. ὑποσεισμὸς. The trotting or jogging of an horse.

Succussātor, ōris; m. verb. Lucil. A trotter.

Succussio, ōnis; f. verb. à Succutio. ὑποπαγμὸς. The trotting or jogging of an horse.

Succusso, as; frequ. à Succutio; Accius. σοβῶ ὑποσείω. To shake or jogg as a trotting horse doth, to trot, to shogg or joggle, to jolt.

Succussor, ōris; m. verb. Lucil. ap. Gell. A trotter.

Succussus, ūs; m. Cic. רעש. Trotting, jogging, shaking, jolting.

Succūtāneus, a, um; i. sub cute, Aur. Vict. Under the skin. Al. leg. Subtercutaneus.

Succutio, is, ĕre; ssi, ssum; act. Ovid. ὑποσείω. דרעש. To shake, to jogg as a hard trotting horse doth.

Succutior, ĕris; pass. Ovid. To be jogged.

Sūcerda, æ; f. Lucil. primâ brevi; qu. Suis merda. Cynosarges. Swines dung. Al. scrib. Succerda.

Suctus, ūs; m. verb. Plin. à Sugo. A sucking or licking.

Sūcula, æ; f. dim. à Sus, Plaut. χοιρίον. It. machina in torculari; Cato. sic dict. quòd sicut sus multa habet ubera, ita machina illa multa foramina; vel quòd in medià suculâ figatur paxillus, nomine porculus, cui funis annectitur, Turneb. A little sow: also a part of the engine called a crane, serving to lift up or let down any thing of weight; a windlace, or the overthwart bar turned with leavers, full of holes like sows bigs, Scal. a kind of under garment, Plaut.

Sūcŭlæ, ārum; f. pl. Plin. ex imperitiâ sic dictæ, Cic. nam cùm gr. ὑάδες appellārint ὑπὸ τῦ ὕειν, à pluendo; Lat. tanquam ὑπὸ τῶν ὑῶν à suibus dixēre suculas. al. à Suco, i. succo, ob pluviam, Nigid. The seven stars called Hyades.

Suculus, i; m. dim. à Sus, Justin. χοιρίδιον. A little bore-pig, a jacky-pig.

† Sucus, i; m. antiq. pro Succus.

Sūdābundus, a, um; Ovid. ἱδρώων. Sweating, all in a sweat.

Sūdāmīna, um; n. Jun. à Sudo. Red and angry weals.

Sūdans; part. Lucr. Sweating.

Sudāriŏlum, li; n. dim. Apul. A little handkerchief, a muckender.

Sūdārium, ii; n. Suet. linteum quo sudor detergitur: χειρὶς ἐφ' ἵδρωτος, μάκτρον, Σουδάριον. A napkin or handkerchief.

Sūdātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. ἱδρώσεως. A sweating.

Sūdātor, ōris; m. verb. Plin. ἱδρῶν. One that sweateth, a great sweater.

Sūdātōrium, ii; n. Sen. ὑπόκαυστον, πνευματήριον. A hot-house to sweat in.

Sūdātōrius, a, um; Plaut. ἱδρωτικὸς. That bringeth or belongeth to sweating.

Sūdātrix, icis; f. Mart. ἡ ἱδρῶσα. She that sweateth, that is apt to sweat or to cause sweat.

Sūdātus, a, um; part. Ovid. ἱδρῶτι ἐκθερεῖς. Besweated, sweating out: also taken much pains about in working it, Claud.

Sūdes, is; f. Vir. dict. quòd sudare faciunt. Sudes, pertica, seu genus teli rustici, hoc est, paxillus igni torridus: al. à Ζεὺς, vel σύω. al. quasi tudes; M. qu. Cudes dicas suis formido; al. à Suo, quia sepes qu. consuta sudibus videtur; Cathol. al. à Chald. שורא hasta, quòd eâ etiam pugnarent. Sudes, piscis, quia, ut sudes, rostro acuto; Σάυρινα, Σαυρίσκος. A spear burned at the end, an hedge-stake: κάμαξ. חתר. a wooden sword, wherewith souldiers practised at a post, Veget. a Quintin pole. = Vallus, Serv.

Sūdĭcŭlum, li; n. genus flagelli, quòd vapulantes sudantes facit, Fest. al. parva sudes. A kind of whip.

Sudis, is; f. Plin. Σάυρινα. piscis, dict. à similitudine sudis. A kind of fish: also a vine-prop or stav, Jun.

SUDO, as; act. & neut. ἱδρόω. ex ὕδ Ͻ. al. ex ἰδίω, vel ex ὕδωρ. To sweat, to drop with, to labour, to toil, to take pains, to have enough to do, Ter. to be moist or wet. Sudare mella, Vir. humore, Lucr. pro communibus commodis, Cic.

Sūdor, ōris; m. Cic. à Sudo; al. ex ὕδωρ aqua: vel ὕδ Ͻ. al. ex ἰδρώς. ἱδρὼς. עזרה. Sweat: also labour, pain, travel, toil; moisture or wet.

† Sūdōrus, a, um; Apul. Sweaty, full of sweat.

Sūdum, dĭ; n. Cic. non ut Varro, quasi subudum, sed quasi sudum, i. sine udo, Fest. αἰθρία. עצחרה. The clear firmament without clouds, fair weather.

Sudus, a, um; adj. Vir. qu. se udus; ex Se, i. sine, & Udus, Fest. ut Cœlum sudum. al. ab. ἰδ Ͻ, i. ἀφ Ͻ, Suid. αὐθρία Ͻ. Fair, without clouds, clear.

† Sueo, es, ēre; sŭēvi, sŭētum; Lucr. qu. usueo, ab Usu, & Eo, Prisc. M. à Suus, qu. suum facere; vel à Cúω, cum impetu feror; al. qu. suor, atque alligor ad aliquid agendum & consuetudinem capio, Perot. ἐθίζομαι, εἴωθα, ἴθω. למד. To accustom, to be wont.

† Suera, æ; f. R. ex Var. Swines flesh.

Sueres; pl. f. Plaut. quòd olim sus fueris, ut Bos boveris. The parts of a sow. Suillæ quædam partes.

Suesco, is, ĕre; incep. à Sueo; Cic. ἐθίζομαι, εἴωθα. To be wont or accustomed.

Suētus, a, um; part. à Suesco; cum Dat. Cic. εἰωθὼς, εἰθισμὸν Ͻ. Accustomed, wont.

Sūfes, ētis; m. Sen. ὕσπλ Ͻ. Consul linguâ Pœnorum, Fest. Scal. à שפט Ͻ, à שפר, inspicere; sed est ab hebr. שופט, judex. A Consul or a Dictator, a chief Magistrate.

† Suffarcināmĭctus, a, um; R. ex Stat. Stuffed with apparel.

Suffarcinātus, a, um; Plaut. part. Lamb. leg. Subfarcinatus; Συσκευασμὸν Ͻ. Stuffed up, having ones lap full.

Suffarcino, as; act. Ter. ex Sub & Farcio, inserto n. To burden, to stuff up or truss, to thwack or cram, Apul.

Suffarrāneus, a, um; Plin. 7.43. Σιτοφόρ Ͻ. That carrieth meal or flower to any place to sell. Suffarraneus mulio, Scal. A badger of corn.

Suffectūra, æ; f. à Sufficio, Tertul. A putting in the place of another.

Suffectūrus, a, um; part. à Sufficio, Stat. ἀντικαταστήσων. About to put in the place of another.

Suffectus, a, um; part. à Sufficio, Liv. ἀντικαταστὰς θείς. Put or chosen in the place of another.

Suffercio, is, īre; act. ἐμφορέω, ἐμπλήθω. To stuff, to fill.

† Sufferentia, æ; f. Tert. Sufferance, a bearing with.

Sufferō, ers, sustŭli, sublātum; act. ex Sub & Fero, Cic. ὑποφέρω, ὑπομένω. סבל. To bear, to abide, to suffer, to carry, to take upon him, to undertake.

Sufferor, ferris; pass. Suet.

Suffertim; adv. Suet. Thick as one can cram.

Suffertus, a, um; part. à Suffercio, Sen. ἐμφορηθείς, πλεονασθείς. סתיא. Stuffed.

Stuffed, filled, repleniſhed; full and ſtrong, Suet.

Suffervĕfăcio, is, ĕre; fēci, ctum; Plin. ὑποζωννύω. To make to ſeeth or to be ſomewhat hot.

Suffervĕfactōrium, ii; n. Bud. A chafer or chafing-diſh.

Suffervĕfactus, a, um; part. Plin. Heated a little.

Suffervĕfio, is, factus ſum, ĕri; Plin. ὑποζώννυμαι. To be made ſomewhat hot.

Sufferveo, es, vi, ēre; Plin. ὑποζέω. To be ſomewhat hot, to ſimper.

Suffes, ētis; m. Liv. linguâ Punicâ Conſul. ſc. à שפט judex. The chief Magiſtrate amongſt the Carthaginians, as the Conſul was amongſt the Romans. Vid. Sufes.

Suffibŭlātor, ōris; m. verb. Plaut. An under-binder.

Suffibŭlo, as; act. Digeſt. To button or buckle.

Suffibŭlum, li; n. veſtimentum quod fibulâ comprehendebatur, Feſt. A garment which the Veſtal Virgins wore upon their head at ſacrifice.

Sufficiens, tis; part. vel adj. Liv. ἱκανός. Sufficient, able.

Sufficienter; adv. Ulp. ἱκανῶς, ἀρκούντως. Sufficiently.

Sufficientia, æ; f. Salvian. αὐτάρκεια, ἱκανότης. Sufficiency.

Sufficio, is, ĕre; ēci, ctum; neut. & act. Cic. ex Sub & Facio, i. conſtituo ſub alio, i. in locum alienum: ἀρκέω, αὐταρκέω, ἐξαρκέω. סגף. To ſuffice, to be ſufficient or enough, to ſatisfie, to content; to be ſufficiently or abundantly able. Act. cum Acc. & Da. To ſubſtitute, chooſe or put in the place of another, ἀντικαθίστημι. alſo to ſupply or furniſh with: alſo to dye or ſtain, to infect.

Sufficior, ĕris; paſſ. Cic.

Sufficit; impers. It ſufficeth.

Suffiendus, a, um; part. Col. To be perfumed.

Suffigo, is, ĕre; xi, xum; act. περονάω, καταπήγνυμι. To ſtick or prick in, Sen. to faſten or nail up, Plin. Suffigere aliquem cruci, in cruce, Cic. To hang him on a gibbet.

Suffimen, ĭnis; n. Ovid. θυμίαμα. קטרת. A perfume, a fumigation, any thing that being laid upon hot coals, makes a ſweet ſmell.

† Suffimento, as; act. Veget. To perfume.

Suffimentum, ti; n. Plin. idem. ὑποθυμίασις, θυμίαμα. A perfuming, a perfume offered to the gods at vintage time, Feſt.

Suffindo, is, ĕre; act. ex Sub & Findo, Plin. To cleave under.

Suffio, is, ire; ivi, itum; act. Vir. i. Suffumigo; ex Sub & Fio, i. θυμιάζω, ὑποθυμιάζω. קטר. To perfume.

Suffior, īris; paſſ. Sen.

Suffiſcus, ci; m. à Fiſci ſimilitudine dict. Feſt. The cod of a Ram of which was made a purſe to keep money in.

Suffitio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. ὑποθυμίασις. A perfuming, a fumigation.

Suffitor, ōris; m. verb. θυμιατής. A perfumer, he that maketh perfume.

Suffitus, a, um; part. Plin. θυμιαθείς. Perfumed, burned and ſmoked.

Suffitus, ūs; m. verb. Plin. ὑποθυμίασις. קטורת. A perfuming.

Suffixus, a, um; part. à Suffigor, Cic. περοπλαθείς, κατακρεμής. Faſtned, ſet or ſtuck up, hanged.

Sufflāmen, ĭnis; n. Juv. à Suffio: machinæ genus, quo in deſcenſu vel procurſu nimio rota ſolet ſufflari, i. retineri; τροχῶν ἀγκύλωσις, Gloſſ. ὑποχλεύς. That which is put into the wheel, to ſtop or ſtay it, leſt the cart be overthrown, the trigger.

Sufflāmĭnandus, a, um; part. Sen. To be ſtopt with a trigger.

Sufflāmino, as; act. Sen. à Sufflamine; ſufflamine comprimo & retineo, ὑποχλεύω. To ſtay or hold wheels back with that inſtrument, to ſkatch the wheel.

Sufflans; part. Plin. Puffing, blowing.

Sufflātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. ὑποφύσησις, ἐμφύσημα. A blowing or puffing up.

Sufflātus, a, um; part. Plin. ἐμφυσηθείς. Puffed up, proud, haughty.

Sufflātus, ūs; m. Plin. id. quod Sufflatio.

Sufflāvus, a, um; Suet. ὑπέξανθος. Somewhat yellow, yellowiſh.

Sufflo, as; act. ex Sub & Flo, Plin. φυσάω. נפח. To blow, to blow under, to puff up: alſo to whiſper in ones ears, Plaut.

Suffŏcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. συναγμός, ἀπνιξις, ἀγχόνη. A choaking, ſtifling, ſtrangling, ſuffocation.

Suffŏcātus, a, um; part. Quint. Almoſt choaked or throtled.

Suffŏco, as; act. Cic. ἀπάγχω, ἄγχω. חנק. ex Sub & Faux: fauces conſtringo. To ſtop the breath, to ſtrangle, to choak, to ſtifle, to ſuffocate, to throttle.

Suffŏco, as; act. à Foco, Scal. ex Prapert. πυρόω. To perfume, to burn frankincenſe.

Suffŏcor, āris; paſſ. Celſ.

Suffŏdio, is, ĕre; ōdi, ſum; act. Col. ὑποσκάπτω. חפר. To dig under, to undermine, to thruſt through, Cæſ.

Suffŏdior, ĕris; paſſ. Stat.

Suffoſſio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. ὑπορυχή. A digging under, an undermining.

Suffoſſus, a, um; part. Cic. ὑπορυχείς. Digged under, deſtroyed, caſt down. Equus ſuffoſſus, Vir. A ſtumbling jade.

Suffrænātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. ex Sub & Fræno, as; colligatio, & arcta ſtructura, quæ lapides velut fræno retinet. ἡ χαλίνωσις τῶν λίθων ἢ ἄλλων τινῶν ἰσχυρὰ σύνδεσις. A joyning or binding hard together, the faſtning or cloſing of ſtones in a wall.

Suffrāgāneus, ei; m. Eccl. à Suffragor; auxiliarius, & propriè in verbis; unde Epiſcopi dicuntur Suffraganei aliorum Epiſcoporum, quia debent eos juvare. A Suffragane, a Biſhop under another Biſhop.

Suffrāgans; part. Cic. Voting or giving his voice; alſo favouring, aſſiſting.

Suffrāgātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ψηφοφορία, ὑποχειροτονία. A giving of ones voice at election, a voting for one.

Suffrāgātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ψηφοφόρος, ψῆφος. One that helpeth with his vote or good word, a favourer or abetter that gives his voice or vote for one; an advocate or attorney, Amm.

Suffrāgātōrius, a, um; Cic. ψηφοφορικός. Of or belonging to him that helpeth with his good word at the time of election.

Suffrāginātio, ōnis; f. verb. Bud. Making of courteſie.

Suffrāgĭno, as; act. Cato. ſuffraginem lædo vel incido. To hew the boughs, to hough or hock one.

Suffrāginor, āris; dep. R. ex Grill. To bow the knee.

Suffrāginōſus, a, um; Equus ſuffraginoſus, Col. τὰ μασχάλια διακώλων. That is diſeaſed in the boughs or paſterns, that hath the ſcratches or ſpaven.

Suffrāgium, ii; n. à Suffragor: ψῆφος, ψηφοφορία, χειροτονία. A voice or ſuffrage, a vote at an election: alſo conſent, favour, aſſiſtance. Ferre ſuffragium, Cic. To give his vote.

Suffrāgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. à Suffringo, quia Subtus frangitur, i. flectitur, non ſupra, ut in brachiis, Iſid. vel quòd ibi cruris continuitas diviſa, & quadammodo fracta appareat: ἰγνύς, μασχάλιον, καμπή. The joynt of the hinder leg of a beaſt called the bough: ſometime the paſtern: alſo the young ſprig at the root of a vine, Col. a ſucker.

Suffrāgor, āris; cum Dat. Cic. à Suffraginibus, quæ imprimis animal ſuſtinent, quibus ſe colligit, ſe ſuſtinet, ſe tuetur, Perot. al. ex Sub & φέρω fari. vid. Refragor. ψηφίζομαι, χειροτονέω. To ſpeak in ones favour, to give his voice or good word, to vote for one; to favour and help. Æ Adverſor, Cic.

† Suffrēnātio, ōnis; f. Plin. corr. pro Suffrænatio.

Suffrendeo, unde part. Suffrendens, Amm. To gnaſh the teeth a little.

Suffrico, as; ui & āvi, ctum & ātum; act. Col. ὑποτρίβω, ἀπαλείφω. מרק. To rub off; to rub, Celſ.

Suffricor, āris; paſſ. Col.

Suffringo, is, ĕre; ēgi, ctum; act. ὑπάγνυμι, ὑπορήγνυμι. שבר. To break in the middle, to break underneath.

Suffringor, ĕris; paſſ. Cic.

Suffrio, as; act. Col. ὑποθραύω. הרק. To crumble a thing ſomewhat ſmall; to break in ſmall pieces.

Suffrior, āris; paſſ. Col.

Suffrūtex, ĭcis; m. A little ſhrub.

† Suffuerat, pro Sub eodem tecto fuerat, Feſt. antiqu.

Suffugio, is, ĕre; gi, gĭtum; act. & neut. Liv. ὑποφεύγω, ἀποφεύγω. נוס. To fly away privily, to ſhun, not to away with, to be ſhy of.

Suffŭgium, ii; n. Quint. καταφυγή. מחסה. A place of refuge or ſhelter.

Suffulcio, is, ire; ſi, tum; act. Plaut. ὑποστηρίζω, ὑποστηρίζω. סער. To hold or bear up, to underprop.

Suffulcior, īris; paſſ. Tac.

Suffulcrum, cri; n. Vitr. A prop or under-prop.

Suffultus, a, um; part. Var. ὑποστηθείς. Under-propped, ſtayed up.

Suffŭmigātio, ōnis; f. verb. Celſ. ὑποθυμίασις. A Suffumigation.

Suffŭmigo, as; act. Celſ. ὑποθυμιάζω, ὑποκαπνίζω. קטר. To make ſmoke underneath, or a ſuffumigation.

Suffŭmigor, āris; paſſ. Celſ.

Suffundātus, a, um; Var. ap. Non. κάτωθεν θεμελιωθείς. Laid under, as the foundation is at the bot om of a thing.

Suffundo, as; act. Var. To lay a foundation under.

Suffundo, is; ĕre; ūdi, ſum; act. Col. ὑπογέω. נוח. To pour down liquor on a thing, to ſpread over and over, Vir. to bewet; to ſprinkle, ſtain or dye: alſo to trouble and confound, Sen. to ſupply, Var.

Suffundor, ĕris ; pass. Ter. To be poured ; to be overspread, Stat. to be blood-shot, Sen.

Suffūror, āris ; dep. Plaut. ὑποκλέπτω. גנב. To steal privily, to pilfer.

Suffuscŭlus, a, um ; dim. Apul. Somewhat dusky, duskish.

Suffūsio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. ὑπόχυσις. A spreading abroad, or pouring upon : also a pin and web in the eye, Cels.

Suffūsor, ōris ; m. verb. Fragm. Poët. He that pourith.

Suffūsus, a, um ; part. à Suffundor : ὑπερυθρός. Sprinkled, bedewed or wetted, Vir. over-spread, Cic. interlaced and mixed with, Ovid. blood-shot, Plin.

† Sūgeo, es ; (unde in comp. Exugeo, Plaut.) antiq. pro Sugo.

Suggĕro, is, ĕre ; ssi, stum ; act. Cic. ex Sub & Gero : ὑποβάλλω, διαρρίπτω, ὑποτίθημι. יתן. To find, allow or supply one, to yield, or afford, to put in mind, to suggest, to prompt or tell, ἀναμιμνήσκω. also to choose in ones place, Liv. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Suggestio, ōnis ; f. verb. Dig. ὑποβολή. A prompting, a putting in mind, an inciting, a suggestion.

Suggestum, ti ; n. Cic. à Suggerendo, vel quòd indè populo suggeratur quod in rem ejus esse possit, vel quòd constat ex suggesta, i. congesta materia : βῆμα, ἀνάβαθρον. סגול. A chair, a pulpit where Orations or Sermons were made, a reading-desk.

Suggestus, ūs ; m. Ulp. A suggestion or putting in mind : also id. quod Suggestum, Liv. a pulpit or pew or bank of earth : also a kind of habit, Tert. Suggestus comæ, Stat. A womans Bul-tower, or a Roll of hair. Suggestus montium, Amm. A pile or heap of hils.

Suggestus, a, um ; part. Sil. Born up, raised up.

Suggillo, as, &c. Vide Sugillo.

Suggrĕdior, ĕris, ssus ; dep. Tac. ὑποβαίνω. To come by stealth or privily to one, to surprise him.

Suggressus, a, um ; part. Tac. Creeping along, stealing upon ; cum Acc.

† Suggruenda & Suggruendæ, pro Suggrunda, Feud.

Suggrunda, æ ; f. Var. qu. Suggerunda, quia suggeritur, i. subtus geritur. V. Subgrunda. The eaves of an house.

Suggrundārium, ĭi ; n. Fulgent. locus subterraneus, in quo sepeliebantur infantes. The place where infants were buryed, that had not lived fourty daves.

Suggrundātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Vitr. The eavesing of an house.

Suggrundia, ōrum ; n. Var. γείσα. & γείσια. A pent-house, the eaves of an house.

Sugillātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. ὑπωπισμός. חבורת. A mark in the face black or blue, made with a stroke ; a black or blood-shot eye : also a slander, a taunt, a jeer, a flout.

Sugillātor, ōris ; m. verb. Macr. ὁ ὑπωπίζων, λοιδορῶν. He that taunteth or jeereth.

Sugillātum, i ; n. Plin. id. quod Sugillatio & Hypopia, Cic. A black eye.

Sugillātus, a, um ; part. Plin. ὑπωπισθείς. Beaten black and blue : also defamed, slandered, mocked.

Sūgillo, as ; act. Plin. vel Subsillo. Subsillatum dici existimant ex Græco, quòd ea pars quæ est sub collo κῦλον (Scal. γύλον. Paul. κεῖλον al. κρύλον) ab iis dicitur, ut sit quasi subgulare, ex Sub & Gula, Fest. Cinnus est cilium aut palpebra, ὑπογλαυκίον εἶδος, unde sulcinum & subcilare, quod posteà sulgillum & subgillare ὑπομνήσεως, c. ing, Scal. Al. Suggillo dicitur quasi Συγχίλω, i. simul videor, irrideo ; al. à Sugo, Supillo, ut à Scribo, scribillo ; cùm ex percussione saccus vel sanguis ad cutem deducitur : al. qu. succillo, à succilus (quod ex Sub & cilium) cùm se sanguis cilio suffundit, Caper. ut sit id quod gr. ὑπώπιον. ὑπωπιάζω. To make black or blue spots in the skin with beating ; to give one a black eye, to buffet one, to deforme, κακοσχεδιάζω, λοιδορέω. To flout or jeer, to taunt, to reprove, Liv. to stop or shut up, Non. ex Var.

Sūgillor, āris ; pass. Gell.

SUGO, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. Cic. μυζίω, σπλάζω. יניק. à Succus. To suck.

Sūgor, ĕris ; pass. Cels.

Sui, Gen. Pronom. à gr. ὗ, Ion. ἑ. ὗ, ἑαυτοῦ. Of himself, of her self, of it self, of themselves.

Suile, is ; n. Col. Συβίε. A swine-sty, a pig-sty, a hog-sty.

Suillus, a, um ; dim. à Suinus, Plin. ὗειος. Of or belonging to swine. Caro suilla, Jun. Pork.

† Suilus, i ; m. Plin. A kind of Mushroom about the roots of Oaks.

Suinus, a, um ; Var. ὗειος. Of or belonging to swine.

† Suipte, pro Sui, Plaut.

Sulcāmen, ĭnis ; n. Apul. A furrow.

Sulcātim ; adv. Pomp. κατ' αὔλακας. In furrows, furrow by furrow.

Sulcātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Var. A plowing, earing or tilling, a furrowing.

Sulcātor, ōris ; m. verb. Stat. αὐλακιστής, ἀροτής. One that maketh furrows, one that roweth in a vessel on the water.

Sulcātus, a, um ; part. Luc. αὐλακιδεὶς. Made in furrows, plowed.

Sulco, as ; act. Vir. αὐλακίζω. To cast up in furrows, to furrow or make furrows : also to till, to plow, Tibull. to row, to cleave, divide and cut, to make wrinkled and full of furrows, Ovid.

Sulcor, āris ; pass. Stat.

Sulcŭlus, li ; m. dim. Col. αὐλάκιον. A little furrow.

SULCUS, ci ; m. Cic. αὖλαξ, ἀροσία. חלם. à gr. ὀλκὸς, Fest. a tractus. Aven. ex hebr. זלג sulcatus est. Var. à Sustolet. Isid. à Solo, quòd Soli sit scissura ; vel à Sole, quòd proscissus solem capit. A furrow, a trench, Vir. tilth or ploaring of the ground, Id. a ditch : also the privy part of a woman, Lucr. Sulci siderum, Amm. Shooting of Stars.

Sulfur, ŭris ; n. vid. Sulphur.

† Sullāturio, is, īre ; To imitate Sulla, to do as he did. Al. Syllaturio.

Sullus, i ; m. Dracont. ap. Isid. ut leg. Salm. al. leg. Suillus. vel à gr. ὗλλος, vel dim. à Sus, ut ab ὗς ὕλλος, porcus marinus. A kind of large fish, a sea-hog.

Sulphur, ŭris ; n. Vir. Θεῖον. גפרית. Isid. quòd igne accenditur, ex Sal vel Sul, & πῦρ ignis. Quidam qu. sil urens, al. qu. ὅλον πῦρ, qu. solphur. Cath. quasi soli πῦρ, id est, ignis terræ. Brimstone, sulphur : also a thunder-bolt, Pers. Sulphur sacrum, Jun. Lightning.

Sulphŭrāria, æ ; f. Plin. Θεῖα. A place where brimstone is made or boiled.

Sulphŭrārius, ii ; m. Plin. A maker or worker of brimstone.

Sulphŭrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Sen. Θείωσις. A dressing with brimstone.

Sulphŭrātum, ti ; n. Mart. A match made with brimstone.

Sulphŭrātus, a, um ; part. Plin. Dressed or smoaked with brimstone. Merx sulphurata, Mart. Matches.

Sulphŭreus, a, um ; Vir. Θειώδης. Of or belonging to, mixed with, or of the colour of brimstone ; Sulphureous.

Sultānus, i ; m. ab heb. שלט, dominari : שלטון, dominatio, dominium. A ruler, a Sultan, the grand Seignior or the great Turk so called.

Sultis, pro Si vultis, Plaut. εἰ βούλεσθε, εἰ θέλετε. If you will.

SUM, es, est ; fui, esse ; εἰμὶ, ὑπάρχω, πάλαι. היה. a gr. εἰμὶ, Prisc. ἴσμι, Dor. fort. ab ἐσμὲν. fut. nam ant. fum pro fum dicebo. Vos. Verbum substantivum. To be ; cum Nom. post se. to serve or tarry ; to be the part or fashion of : cum Gen. it. to be esteemed, reputed, worth in value, or at the price of : cum Gen. to have, cum Dat. it. to be good for, to serve, to prove or turn ; to be reputed ; to be in possession of. Cum Gen. Magni esse apud aliquem, Cic. To be highly esteemed by him. Cum Dat. Desiderio esse, Sen. To be longed for. Esui potuique esse, Ulp. To serve for meat and drink. Esse oneri ferendo, Liv. sc. parem. To be able to bear it. Cum duplici Dat. Esse derisui omnibus, Plin. To be jeered by every body. Fraudi esse alicui, Cic. To prove to ones disadvantage. Cum Infin. De nostris moribus bene sperare est, Plin. We may hope well. Regit & Abl. ut Mirâ sum alacritate, Cic. ◊ Esse ab aliquo, Cic. On his side ; ad urbem, Id. In the city ; apud aliquem, Ter. At his house ; cum imperio, Cic. In command or office ; in ditione, Id. Under ones jurisdiction ; in rem communem, Plaut. For the profit of all.

† Sum pro Cum, Fest. ex Enn.

Sūmen, ĭnis ; n. Plin. à Sugendo dict. qu. sugimen, quòd mulieris mammam Sumen veteres dicebant. Non. rect. à Sus, sumen, quòd sit suis abdomen. Alii qu. rumen, a mammis, quas antiq. rumas appellabant. al. ex Hebr. שמן, pinguis. ὗαρ, ὑπερα, ὑπογάστριον. The paps or dug or udder of a sow ; a meat made of the hinder teats of a sow, cut from her the day after she hath farrowed, and powdered with salt, a tid or choice bit ; also a womans teats, Lucil. = Abdomen, antiq.

Sūmendus, a, um ; part. Col. To be taken.

† Sūminālia, um ; n. pl. Cæl. tanquam è Summine facta : corr. pro Summanalia ; gr. ἄτρεια.

Sūminātus, a, um ; ut Sus suminata, Lampr. A sow that hath newly farrowed.

Summa, æ ; f. Cic. sc. res. κεφάλαιον, τὸ σύνολον, σύμπαν. ראש subst. ex adj. Summus. A summ of money, the summ or conclusion of a whole discourse or business ; the principal and chief point of a matter ; the main, the whole, the main business, the streyt, the upshot ; consummation, perfection, accomplishment, height or pitch, Quint. Belli summam alicui credere, Vir. To trust him with the whole charge of it. Summa summarum, Sen. The summ total. In summâ, Ad summam, Cic. To be short, in fine, to come to a point.

Summānalia, liba farinacea in modum rotæ facta, Fest. in honorem Summani purè & ad ejus sacra. Great cakes, such as are used at Bridals and Churchings, &c.

Summāno, as; Plaut. i. avidè rapio & furor, Summani more, qui omnes avarissimè rapit in suum thesaurum, Turn. vel ex sub & manus, ut sit ὑποχείριον ποιεῖν, Meurs. To snatch or bale away greedily, to take what is another mans; to steal.

Summānus; Cic. Pluto, qu. Summus manium, Mart. Capell. id est, infernalium, cui & noctu ni fulmina attribuebant, ut diurna Jovi, Plin. ἅδης.

Summānus, a, um; Fulgur summanum, Gloss. κεραυνοβόλιον νυκτερινόν.

Summāriè; adv. Eras. Συντόμως, Συλλήβδην. Briefly, summarily.

Summārium, ii; n. Sen. ἐπιτομή, σύνοψις. An abridgement, an Epitome, a summary. = Breviarium.

Summārius, a, um; Cic. ἀκρῶν. Chief or principal above another.

Summas, ātis; m. & f. Apul. summo loco existens; indè plur. Summates, um; c. g. Plaut. cum de viris, tum de fœminis. ἄρχοντες, μεγιστᾶνες, πρωτεύοντες. גְּדוֹלִים. The chief persons of a City, the Peers in a Realm, Grandees, Lords and Ladies.

Summātim; adv. Συνηθέστερον, κεφαλαιωδῶς. Compendiously, summarily, briefly, all to mawl: also by the tops or highest parts, Col. = Breviter, Cic. ℨ Particulatim, ad Heren.

Summātus, ûs; m. Lucr. ἀρχιτία, πρωτεῖον. מַמְשָׁלָה. Chief rule, soveraignty, supr macy.

Summè; adv. Cic. εἰς τὸ μάλιστα. Highly, mightily, very greatly, as much as is possible to be, to the uttermost.

Summergo, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. Ovid. To duck, to plunge. Vid. Submergo.

† Summicit, pro Subjicit, G. ex Lucil.

Summissè; adv. Cic. ὑποπεπτώκως. Softly, lowly, humbly.

Summissim; adv. Suet. idem.

Summissio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὕφεσις. הָפַיִן. A letting down, a lowering. ℨ Elatio.

Summissus, a, um; part. Cic. ὑφειμένος. Put under, sent under-hand, laid low, lower'd. Adj. ταπεινός. שְׁפַל. Humble, low, soft.

Summitas, ātis; f. ἄκρον. גֹּב. Height or highness, the top; the outer end of a thing, beneath or above, Amm.

Summitto, is, ĕre; si, ssum; act. Cic. ex Sub & Mitto: ὑποπέμπω, καταπέμπω, ὑπάγω. הִשְׁפִּיל. To send under-hand, to substitute or put another in ones place; to let down; to lower, to let grow at length, Suet. to yoke, Vir. to abate. Regit Acc. cum Da.

Summittor, ĕris; pass. Sil.

† Summo, as; unde comp. Consummo. κεφαλαιόω. To summ up.

Summœniānus, a, um; Under the walls. Summœnianæ uxores, Mart. Whores that lived in the suburbs, whores of the stews, Park-does.

Summœnium; n. Mart. χαμαιτυπεῖον. A place under the walls, where the whores plyed in sheds, such as the Bank-side once was.

Summŏneo, es, ēre; ui, ĭtum; act. To summon. vid. Submoneo.

Summŏpĕrè; adv. Cic. id est, summo opere. μάλιστα, ἐξοχῶς. Very much, mightily, mainly.

Summŏtus locus, G. ex Amm. A by place, or out of the way.

Summŏveo, es, ēre; vi, tum; act. To remove or put out of the way. Vid. Submoveo.

Summŭla, æ; f. dim. à Summa, Sen. A little summ, &c.

Summum, mi; n. τὸ ἄκρον, τὸ σύνολον. The top, the whole, the sum, the pick or height. Ad summum, Cic. In sum; at most.

Summus, a, um; contr. ex Supremus, ut Imus ab Infimus; ὕψιστος, ἄκρος, κεφαλή, ὑπέρτατος. עֶלְיוֹן. highest, chief, chiefest, main, supream, utmost, extream, greatest, principal, exceeding great, passing commendable, very excellent, soveraign; very deep, the last, the top. Summa quæstio, Quint. The principal point; aqua, Cic. The top of it; æstas, Id. The later end or middle of it; forma, Ter. The greatest beauty; contumelia, Cic. The highest affront; senectus, Id. Extream old age; vox, Id. A very loud voice. Summus puteus, Plaut. The bottom of the well. Summum jus, Cic. The rigour of the law. = Perfectus, Cic. ℨ Profundus, infimus, Cic. imus, Luc.

† Summussus, murmurator, Fest. vel ex Sub & Musso, vel pro Submissus. A mutterer, murmurer or whisperer.

Summūto, as; act. Cic. ὑπαλλάττω. הָמִיר. To change one for another, to chop, to scourse.

Summūtor, āris; pass. Cic.

SUMO, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. quod propriè est Multum & quasi nimium mihi tribuo, & quasi sum mihi, ex Sum, Sipont. ab ἀσπμόω impendo, Becm. Al. ex Sub & Emo, ant. tollo; ut adimo, demo, eximo. λαμβάνω. לָקַח. To take, to receive, to take upon him, to claim or challenge; to attribute to himself, ἀπονέμω. to usurp; to adventure, to undertake; to hire; to borrow; to consume, spend or bestow on one; to choose, αἱρέομαι. בָּחַר. to draw: also to enterprise or begin, Plin. to conclude or infer: to drink, Cic. ◊ Sumere sibi aliquid, Cic. To take it upon him. ◊ Sumere arbitrum, Cic. To choose an umpire; bellum, Plin. To begin it; beneficium, Plaut. To receive it; cibum, Plin. To eat it; diem hilarem, Ter. To spend it merrily; pecunias mutuas, Plaut. To borrow money; operam in re aliquâ, Ter. To bestow pains about it; supplicium de aliquo, Cic. To punish him; aquam è puteo, Plaut. To draw it out of the well.

Sūmor, ĕris; pass. Cic.

† Sumpti, in Gen. pro Sumptûs, Cato.

Sumptifăcio, is, ēci, ctum; ere; Plaut. δαπανάω. To spend or be at cost.

Sumptio, ōnis; f. verb. à Sumo, Cic. λῆμμα, λῆψις. A taking, an assumption.

Sumptitātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. An often taking.

Sumptito, as; freq. à Sumo, Plin. πολὺς λαμβάνω. To take often.

Sumptuārius, a, um; Cic. δαπανημάτικος. Of, or belonging to expences. Sumptuaria lex, Suet. A sumptuary law, to restrain excess of charge in diet or habit.

Sumptuōsè; adv. Catul. δαπανηρῶς, πολυτελῶς. Costly, sumptuously, prodigally, wastefully.

Sumptuōsior, us; comp. Cic. More costly.

Sumptuōsiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More sumptuously.

Sumptuōsus, a, um; Cic. qui immoderatum sumptum facit, δαπανηρός, πολυτελής. Sumptuous, costly, prodigal, wasteful, chargeful &c. = Magnificus, Ter.

Sumptūrus, a, um; part. Ovid. That will take.

Sumptus, a, um; part. à Sumo, Cic. ληφθείς, ἐλημμένος. Taken.

Sumptus, ûs; (à ti, Cato.) m. quicquid insumitur; item actio sumentis: δαπάνη, ἀναλωσις, χρημάτα. Charge, expence, cost, costliness. Sumptus esse, Veget. The taking of food.

† Suno, as; Lucil. Sunat, deprimit; Non. à Sino, vel ab heb. שָׁנַן. M.

SUO, is, ĕre; sui, sutum; act. Cic. ῥάπτω, ἀκίσσω. חָפַר. à Sue, quia hujus animalis pilis in suendo sutores utuntur, Isid. à σύω, unde in comp. κασσύω, pro κατασύω, Att. καπύω, i. ῥάπτω, Hes. To sow, to stitch, to joyn or tack together: also to work or procure. Suere aliquid capiti suo, Ter. To work himself some mischief.

Suor, ĕris; pass. Cels.

Suopte more, Cic. after his own fashion. Suopte ingenio. Of his own proper inclination.

Suovetaurilia, um; n. Liv. ex Sue, ove & taure. Suvia in Cods, κριῶ καὶ ταύρῳ. A sacrifice of a swine, a sheep and a bull toge.her. Al. leg. Solitaurilia.

Supellectĭcārius, ii; m. Ulp. A slave or bondman which is accountable for cattel or houshold-stuff.

Supellectĭlis, le; adj. unde in plur. Supellectilia.

† Supellectilis, is; f. Ulp.

Supellex, ectilis; f. Cic. dict. quòd olim his qui in legationem proficiscerentur, locari solebant quæ sub pedibus usui forent, Dig. al. à supplendo, quod sit omne instrumentum & ornamentum domûs, Cathol. rect. ex super & lecus, ut initio censerentur ea, quæ super lectos vel cubiculares vel discubitorios posi solerent; posteà latiùs significatione propagatâ, Turneb. al. ex Super & Legi, h. e. colligi: ea quæ legebant supra ordinarium usum; τὰ ἐπιπλα, καταπανὰ σαλῶν. כְּלִי. Houshold-stuff, implements, furniture, all things moveable within the house. = Instrumentum, Cic.

SUPER; præp. cum Acc. & Abl. ex Græc. ὑπέρ. עַל. Upon, above, beyond, beside, over and above, after, about, Cic. cum Abl. Of or concerning. Super cœnam, Plin. jun. At supper-time. Super somnum servus, Curt. A chamberlain, or a Gentleman of the Bed-chamber. ℨ Super est, quod eminet; Supra, quod substratum aliquid habet, Agræt.

Săper; adv. Vir. ὕπερθεν, ὑπερῴα. Above, from on high.

Super quàm quòd, Liv. Over and beside that.

† Supĕra, pro Supra; adv. & præp. Lucret.

Supĕra, ōrum; n. Vir. τὰ ἄνω. Heaven, the skie, places above.

Supĕrābilis, le; Liv. ὑπικὸς. That may be overcome, passed or climbed over.

Supĕrabundantia, æ; f. Aug. περισσότης. A superabundance.

Superabundo, as; neut. Ulp. ὑπερπλεονάζω. עָדַף. To be superfluous, to be over and above, to superabound.

Superadditio; f. verb. Aug. προσθήκη. Advantage or adding.

Superadditum, ti; n. Dig. A surplusage or vantage.

Superadditus, a, um; part. Propert. Set or put over.

Superaddo, is, ĕre: didi, ditum; act. Vir. προσίστημι. יוֹסִיף. To add moreover, to give vantage, to superadd; to set or inscribe upon. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Superaddor, ĕris; pass. Stat.

Superadnexus, a, um; part. Jul. Cap. Tyed alef or above.

Superadultus, a, um; Bibl. ὑπέρακμος. That hath past the flower of his age, superannated, overgrown.

Superaggĕro, as; act. Col. To heap over and above.

Superagnata tunica, Medic. The outmost coat of the eyes.

Superalligātio; f. verb. Digest. A binding over.

Superalligo, as; act. Plin. ἐπιδέω. To bind over or upon.

Superalligor, āris; pass. Col.

Sŭpĕramentum, ti; n. Ulp. ὑπερόχωμα. יֶתֶר. A surplusage or remainder, the other lus.

Sŭpĕrans, tis; part. Vir. ὑπερβάλλων, ὑπερέχων. Surpassing, surmounting, overcoming; remaining, Liv.

Superanteacta ætas, G. ex Lucr. The age past.

Supĕrantior, us; comp. Lucr. More surpassing, upper, former.

Supĕrātio; f. verb. Firm. A conquest.

Supĕrātor, ōris; m. verb. Ovid. ὁ ὑπερβάλλων. A vanquisher, an overcomer.

Superatrix, icis; f. Ovid. She that overcometh.

Superattollo, is; act. Plaut. To lift up, or over.

Supĕrātus, a, um; part. Ovid. νικηθείς. Vanquished, surmounted: also performed, fulfilled.

Superbe; adv. Liv. ὑπερηφάνως, ἀλαζονικῶς. Proudly, lofily, stately.

Superbia, æ; f. Cic. à Superbus; al. qu. superhabia, Front. ἀλαζονεία, τὸ ὑπερήφανον. יוֹן. Pride, arrogance, haughtiness, stateliness, high-mind-dness; in apples and pears, harshness or sowreness, able to dull the edge of a knife, Plin. = Insolentia, contumacia, Cic. ✠ Superbia nonnisi in divitiis; Arrogantia etiam in paupertate esse potest, Corn. Front.

Superbĭbo, is, ĕre; bi, ĭtum; Plin. ἐπίνω. To drink after, or upon another thing: also to drink on. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Superbĭficus, a, um; Sen. γαυρωπός. That doth a thing proudly, or that maketh one proud.

Superbĭlŏquentia, æ; f. Cic. ὑψηγορία, κομψολογία. Arrogant and proud speaking.

Superbĭloquium, ii; n. Plin. idem.

Superbio, is, īre; īvi, ītum; neut. cum Abl. Ovid. à Superbus: al. ex Super & Eo; vel ex ὑπερβαίνω supergredior: ἀλαζονεύομαι, γαυρόω, ὑψόομαι. גָּאָה. To be proud or high-minded, to go stately, to swagger; to brag, glory or vaunt: also to excel, or surpass, Plin. ὑπερέχω.

Superbior, us; comp. Ovid. More proud.

Superbissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cic. Very proud.

† Superbĭter; adv. Næv. ap. Non. Proudly.

Superbĭus; adv. comp. Cic. More proudly or disdainfully.

† Superbŏlus, a, um; adj. Fest. Disdainful, or full of disdain.

SUPERBUS, a, um; cum Abl. Vir. ὑπερήφανος, ὑπέρογκος. גַּאֶה, גַּאוּתִי, גַּאוּתָן, à gr. ὑπέρβολος, quomodo usus Nonnus, ex ὑπὲρ & βίος vis. Proud, scornful, disdainful, high-minded, stately, lofty; brave, rich, costly: also harsh, hard, rigorous, Cic. noble, excellent, ἀγάθος. ✠ Superbus pro Mortuus dixit Plaut. propter pompam funebrem.

Supercalco, as; act. Col. ἐπιτρίβω. רָמַס. To lay over with lime: also to tread or stamp upon.

Supercalcor, āris; pass. Stat.

Supercerno, is, ĕre; crēvi, tum; Plin. ἐπινέω, ἐπικείνω. To sift or range upon.

Supercernor, ĕris; pass. Col.

Supercĭdo, is, ĕre; di, cāsum; neut. Col. ἐπιπίπτω. To fall upon.

Supercĭlĭōsus, a, um; Jun. ὑπερόφρυς. Sowr in countenance; supercilious, censorious.

Supercĭlium, ii; n. Cic. Supercilium dicitur, quod supra cilium sit, id est, integumentum oculi superius, Fest. ὀφρύς, ἐπιπόνιον. גַּבָּה. A brow or eye-brow; the ridge of the hair above the eye-lids; the top, height or highest part, the ridge or edge of an hill, Vir. also the countenance; severity, gravity, pride, haughtiness, a stately look. Supercilia conjuncta, Suet. Beetle browes. Supercilium ostii, Vitruv. The hanse of a door.

Superclaudo, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. Liv. ἐπικλείω. To shut or close in.

Supercœlestis, e; Iren. ὑπερουράνιος. Above the heavens.

Supercontĕgo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cels. ἐπικαλύπτω. To cover over.

Supercontĕgor, ĕris; pass. Cels.

Supercorruo, is, ui, ĕre; neut. Val. Max. ἐπιπίπτω. To fall down upon.

Supercrĕsco, is, ĕre; neut. unde Supercrescens, part. Cels. ὑπεραυξάνομαι. To overgrow.

Supercŭbātio, ōnis; f. verb. Var. A lying upon.

Supercŭbo, as; neut. Col. ἐπικοιμάομαι. To lye or sleep upon.

Supercurro, is, ĕre; cum Dat. Pl. jun. ὑπερτρέχω, ὑπερβαίνω. To over-run, to surpass, to be better or more worth.

Superdico, is, xi, ctum; act. Cic. ἐπιλέγω. To say moreover, to add in speaking of words.

Superdicor, ĕris; pass. Cic.

Sŭperdo, as; dĕdi, ātum; act. unde Superdandus, part. Cels. ἐπιτίθημι. הִשִּׁים. To lay or put upon.

Superdūco, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Plaut. ἐπιστέφω. To bring beside them that he hath brought already; to cover over, or lay upon.

Superĕdĭtus, a, um; Lucr. valdè editus. Very high above.

Superĕdo, is, ĕdi, sum; act. Plin. ἐπιδέω, ἐπεσθίω. To eat any thing after another, or upon it.

Sŭperĕgĕro, is, ssi; act. To send up, or make to appear. Quippe ubi non unquam Titan superegerit ortus, Tib. Where the Sun never riseth. Potest esse à Superago.

Superĕmico, as; neut. Dig. ὑπερβάλλω. To excel, passe or surmount.

Superĕminentia, æ; f. Dig. ἐξοχή. A prerogative or excellency.

Superĕmineo, es, ui, ĕre; cum Acc. Vir. ὑπερέχω. To be higher or above other, to appear above.

Superĕnato, as; Luc. To swim clear ove.

† Sŭpereo, is, ire; Lucr. To go over.

Superĕrectus, a, um; Amm. Erected or raised above or over-head.

Superĕrŏgātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. A giving more than is required.

Superĕrŏgātor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that giveth more than he needeth.

Superĕrŏgo, as; act. Bibl. προσδαπανῶ. To spend over and above.

Superĕrŏgor, āris; pass. Hier.

† Superescit, sign. Supererit, Fest.

Sŭpĕrest, impers. cum Dat. Quint. ἐπίλοιπον. It remaineth.

Superevŏlo, as; Luc. To fly clear over.

Sŭperexcurro, is; neut. Ulp. ὑπερτρέχω, ὑπερτρέχω. To run out at large, to spread or grow out of the compass of ones own ground.

Supĕrexcūtio, is, ĕre; act. Digest. To shake out a thing at large.

Superfĕro, fers, tŭli; act. Plin. ὑπερφέρω. To bear or lift over.

Superficiārius, a, um; ἐπιπόλαιος. Superficial, belonging to the outside of a thing. Superficiariæ ædes, Cajus. An house built upon another mans ground, for which a quit-rent or ground-rent is paid. Tuberculum superficiarium, Jun. A wheal, a pimple.

Superficiārius, ii; m. Sen. He who hath built an house on another mans ground, and payes a quit-rent for it.

Superfĭcies, ēi; f. Cic. ex Super, i. Supra, & Facies: ἐπιπολὴ ἐπιφάνεια. פְּנִים. The outside, the overmost part of any thing; a surface; also a plot of ground to build upon. ἐπίπεδον.

Superfio, is, ĕri; Col. περίειμι. שָׁאַר. To remain, to be over and above, to be left or to spare.

Superflŏreo, es, ēre; neut. Col. ἐπανθέω. To flower after.

Superflŏresco, is, ui, ĕre; incept. unde Superfloréscens, part. cum Dat. Plin. ἐπαρθέω. To bud or spring over again, to bring forth other fresh flowers after the fading of the first.

Superfluè; adv. περιττῶς. Superfluously.

Superfluens; part. Sen. Overflowing, over and above, enough and to spare.

Superfluĭtas, ātis; f. Plin. περιττότης, περισσεία. מוֹתָר. More than needs, superfluity, overplus.

Superfluo, is, ĕre; xi, xum; neut. cum Dat. Plin. περισσεύω, πλεονάζω, ὑπερέχω. עָרַף. To run over, to overflow, to abound, to be overplus.

Sŭperfluum, ui; n. Plin. Surplusage, the overplus.

Superfluus, a, um; cum Dat. Plin. jun. περισσὸς, πλεονάζων, ὑπέρπλεως. עָרַף. superfluous, running over, overflowing, that is over and above.

Superfœtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. ἐπικύημα. A conceiving after the first young.

Superfœto, as; Plin. ἐπικυέω, ἐπικυίσκω. After the first young to conceive another.

Superforaneus, a, um; Sidon. i. pertinens ad eum, qui super foro otiosè stat; quales & Subrostrani dicti. Superfluous, idle, as one standeth in foro, and hath nothing to do; needless, impertinent, unnecessary.

Superfŏre; infin. Scæv. περιεῖναι. To remain.

Super-

Superfulgeo, es, ĕre; neut. unde part. Superfulgens cum Acc. vi præp. Stat. ὑπερλάμπω, ὑπερλάβω. To ſhine or glitter over or above.

Superfundens, tis; part. Liv. Pouring or ſpreading out or all over.

Superfundo, is, ĕre; ūdi, ſum; act. Col. ὑπερχέω. To pour or caſt upon or over.

Superfundor, ĕris; paſſ. Plin.

Superfūſus, a, um; part. Liv. ὑπερχυθείς. Overflowing, poured upon, ſpread abroad. Superfuſa gens montibus, Plin. A people dwelling ſcattering on the mountains.

Superfŭturus, a, um; part. à Superſum, Plin. That ſhall remain.

† Supergaudeo, es, ēre; cum Dat. Vulg. Int. ὑπερχαίρω. To rejoyce over one.

Supergĕro, is, ĕre; ſſi, ſtum; act. Col. ὑπερχόω, ὑπεσωρεύω. To caſt or heap upon.

Supergeſtus, a, um; part. Col. Heaped or caſt upon.

† Supergrĕdio vel Supergradio, is, ſſi; Supergreſſerat, Apul. idem quod Supergradior vel Supergredior.

Supergrĕdior, ĕris; ſſus; dep. cum Acc. Plin. ὑπερβαδίζω. To go upon or over: alſo to ſurpaſs or excel, Quint.

Supergreſſus, a, um; part. Stat. Going over or upon.

† Superhăbeo, es, ēre; act. Gell. καταφρονέω. To ſlight, ſcorn or deſpiſe.

Superhūmĕrale, lis; n. Vulg. Int. ἐπωμίς. An hood or ſuch like thing worn on the ſhoulder.

Superi, ōrum; m. plur. Vir. οἱ ἄνω, οἱ ὑπερκόσμιοι, οἱ ἐφεστῶτες. The gods above, Angels, Saints: alſo they that be living upon earth, Sil. Rex ſuperâm, Ovid. Jupiter.

Superjăcio, is, ĕre; ēci, ĕctum; act. Col. ὑπερβάλλω, ἐπιρρίπτω. To caſt or lay upon: alſo to add or ſay moreover, Liv.

Superjăcior, ĕris; paſſ. Col.

Superjacto, as; Plin. ὑπερπηδάω, ὑπερβάω. To caſt or fling over or beyond, to leap over; to over-ſhoot.

Superjectio, ōnis; f. verb. Quint. ὑπέρβασις, ὑπερβολή. A caſting upon: alſo an hyperbole or hyperbolical expreſſion, an overſhooting.

Superjectus, a, um; part. Col. Caſt upon.

Superjectus, ūs; m. Col. ὑπέρβασις. A caſting upon; a leaping or covering, as an horſe doth a mare.

Superjĭcio, is, ĕre; jēci, jectum; act. To caſt or lay upon; alſo to add or ſay moreover, Liv.

Superjĭcior, ĕris; paſſ. Varr.

Süperilligātus, a, um; part. Plin. Tyed or bound upon.

Superilligo, as; act. Celſ. ὑπερδέω. To tye or bind upon or over.

Superilligor, āris; paſſ. Cato.

Superillino, is; act. Plin. ἐπιχρίω, ἐπαλείφω. To ſmear or anoint all over or upon.

Superillĭtus, a, um; part. Celſ. ἐπιχεισθείς. Anointed over.

Superimpendens, tis; part. Catul. ἐπιμιμβλῶν. Hanging over.

Superimpōno, is, ĕre; ui, sĭtum; act. Plin. ὑπερτίθημι. To put or lay upon, to charge moreover, or overlay.

Superimpōsĭtus, a, um; part. Liv. Set upon.

Superincĭdens; part. Col. Falling upon.

Superincĭdo, is, cĭdi, ĕre; neut. Liv. ὑπερπίπτω. To fall upon.

Superincreſco, is, ĕre; neut. Celſ. To grow over or upon.

Superincurvātus, a, um; Apul. ὑπεκκαμπής. Bowing, or lying down upon.

Superindico, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Ulp. προσαπαγγέλλω. To denounce and ſignifie moreover.

Superindĭcor, ĕris; paſſ. Ulp.

Superindictio, ōnis; f. verb. Cod. A denouncing over.

Superinduco, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Plin. ἐπισύρω. To cover or lay upon: alſo to put on, ἐπενδύω, Suet.

Superinductio, ōnis; f. verb. Ulp. An interlining, a blotting out and putting in anew.

Superinductor, ōris; m. verb. Cod. He that bringeth moreover.

Superinductus, a, um; part. Plin. Drawn over, laid upon.

Superinduo, is, ui, ūtum; act. Suet. ἐπενδύω. עטה To put upon as one doth a garment.

Superindūtus, a, um; part. Stat. That weareth over any thing.

Superingĕro, is, ĕre; ſſi, ſtum; act. Plin. ἐπεισφέρω. To caſt or heap upon.

Superingeſtus, a, um; Sil. Caſt upon.

Superinjectus, a, um; part. Ovid. Caſt over, or upon.

Superinjĭcio, is, ĕre; ēci, ctum; act. Vir. περιβάλλω. To caſt or lay over or upon; to add moreover.

Superinjĭcior, ĕris; paſſ. Plin.

Superintĕgo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Plin. ὑπεσκεπάζω, ἐπιγκαλύπτω. To cover over.

Superintĕgor, ĕris; paſſ. Plin.

Supĕrintōno, as, ui; neut. Vir. ἐπιμεβροντάω. To thunder from above.

Süperinunctus, a, um; part. Celſ. ἐπαλειφθείς. Bejmeared over.

Süpĕrinundātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. An overflowing.

Süpĕrinundor, āris; paſſ. Marc. To be overflown.

Superinungo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Celſ. ἐπιγχρίω, ἐπαλείφω. To anoint over.

Superinungor, ĕris; paſſ. Celſ.

Süpĕrior, us; comp. à Superus, Cic. ἀνωτερός, ὑπέρτερος, κρείττων. Higher, elder, former, upper, better, paſt. Inferior.

Süpĕriōres; m. pl. Cic. οἱ πρότεροι, οἱ πρόγονοι. Anceſtours, predeceſſours, ſeniours, elders, ſuperiours, betters, they that are above us, or that lived before our times.

Süperjūmentārius, rii; m. Suet. præfectus jumentariis. ἱππότερος, ἱπποφορβός. A chief Quirry, the Maſter of the Horſe, who is over the Grooms of the Stable.

Süpĕriùs; adv. πρότερον, πρὸ τοῦ. Before, firſt, above.

Superlăchrymātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. A weeping over.

Süperlăchrymo, as; neut. Col. ὑπολυκρύω. To weep or drop upon.

Superlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. oratio fidem ſuperans; ὑπερβολή. A preference: alſo the figure Hyperbole, exceſs, amplifying, over-ſhooting: alſo a name given to one by excellency, as, The Poet, Val. Max.

Superlātivus, a, um; Gram. ὑπερθετικός. Superlative.

Superlātus, a, um; part. à Superfero, Cic. ὑπηχθείς, ὑπερβάς. Advanced, preferred, greatly amplified: alſo born or lifted over, Plin.

Süperlimināre, is; n. Plin. limen oſtii ſuperius, τὸ ὑπέρθυρον. The tranſom or lintle over a door.

Süperlĭno, is, ĕre; ĭvi, ĭtum; act. Plin. ἐπαλείφω. To anoint or beſmear upon.

Superlĭnor, ĕris; paſſ. Plin.

Süperlĭtus, a, um; part. Plin. ὑπηχρεωθείς. Smeared upon or over.

Süpermando, is; act. & Supermandor, ĕris; paſſ. Plin. ὑπομασάομαι. To eat or chew upon or after another thing.

Süpermeo, as; neut. cum Acc. Plin. ὑπερβαίνω, ὑπερροφύομαι. To run, flow or ſlip over.

Süpermergo, is, ſi; act. Digeſt. καταπονπτίζω. To overwhelm.

Supermĭco, as; neut. Sen. ὑπερλάμπω, περίχω. To excel, ſurpaſs or jurmount, to ouſhine.

Supernas, ātis; adj. Abies ſupernas, Plin. quæ ad mare ſuperum, i. Adriaticum nata eſt. ὁ ἄνω, ἀνώγαιος. That is above.

Süpernātans; part. Plin. Floating or ſwimming at top.

Süpernāto, as; neut. Col. ὑπονηλάζω. עוּם To ſwim upon or aloft; to float.

Süpernātus, a, um; Plin. ex Super & Natus: ὑπερφυής, ὑπερφυιὼς. Grown after or upon another.

Superne; adv. Vir. ἄνωθεν. From above, from on high; aloft, on the top, Plin.

Süperno, as; unde Supernans, part. Gell. To ſwim above or aloft.

Süpernŭmĕrārius, a, um; Veget. ὑπεράριθμος. Supernumerary, above the number.

Süpernus, a, um; adj. Plin. à Super: ἀνωτερικός, μετέωρος, Gl. ὑπέρτερος. עליון. High, above, aloft, upper, on high.

Süpĕro, as; act. ſuperior ſum, ex Super; vel quaſi ſuper ero; nam ſignif. etiam Supereſſe: ὑπερβαίνω, ὑπερβάλλω. To go over, to outgo, to ſurpaſs, to ſurmount; to exceed or be greater; to vanquiſh, to overcome, ὑπερισχύω. עצר. to outreach or overpaſs: Neut. to be left, to remain, περιεῖναι. יתר. to be overplus or over and above; alſo to overlive, to be alive, Vir. περιγίνομαι. = Vinco, Cic.

Süpĕror, āris; paſſ. Ovid.

Süpĕrobruo, is, ĕre; act. Prop. καταβάλλω, ὑπερχώννυω. To overwhelm and caſt upon, to cover quite and clean.

Süperobrŭtus, a, um; part. Ovid. ζυγκαλυμμένος. Overwhelmed.

Süperonĕro, as; act. Bud. To ſurcharge, to overburthen.

Süperpartĭcŭlāris, vel Superpartiens ratio, Arithm. That proportion where one number containeth another, and there is ſome one part over, as between two and three, four and five.

Superpellĭcium, cii; n. Eccl. A Surplis.

Superpendeo, es, ēre; neut. unde Superpendens, part. Liv. ὑπακρέμαμαι. To hang over.

Superpingo, is, xi, ĕre; act. cum Acc. & Dat. Plin. ὑπαγράφω. To paint over, or upon that which is painted.

Superpingor, ĕris; paſſ. Vitruv.

Superpondĕro, as; act. Col. To weigh exactly.

Süperpondium, dii; n. Apul. auctarium ponderis, ὑπερβολή, ὑπέρογκον. More than measure, over-weight, the vantage.

Süperpōno, is, ĕre; ui, tum; act. ἐπιτίθημι, ἐπιτίθημι. To put over, to set or put upon. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Col.

Süperpōnor, ĕris; pass. Plin.

Süperpŏsĭtus, a, um; part. Ovid. ἐπιτεθείς. Put or laid upon.

Superquàm; adv. Liv. ut Præterquam. Over and above that.

Süperrādo, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. Plin. ὑπερξέω. To shave upon, to scrape the upper part.

Süperrāsus, a, um; part. Plin. Scraped over.

Superruo, is; Apul. To rush upon.

Superrŭtĭlo, as; Prud. To shine above.

Supersando, is, ĕre, di, sum; cum Acc. Col. ὑπερβαίνω. To climb upon, to clamber over.

Supersĕandor, ĕris; pass. Saluſt.

Supersĕribo, is, ĕre; act. Modeſt. ἐπιγράφω. To write upon or over, to superſcribe.

Supersĕriptus, a, um; part. Suet. ἐπιγεγραμμένος. Written upon, interlined.

Süpersĕdendus, a, um; part. ad Heren. To be superſeded or let paſs.

Supersĕdens; part. Amm. Sitting upon.

Süpersĕdeo, es, ēre; ēdi, ſſum; neut. ὑπεραποδύομαι, ἀνάπαυσιν ἄγω, ἀναπαύομαι. שָׁבַת. To omit to do a thing, to let paſs, to ſuperſede, to ſurceaſe, to give over, to leave off, to forbear. Superſedere labore, Cic. pugna, Hirt. operam, Gell. ſcribere, Pl. jun.

Süpersĕſſum eſt; imperſ. cum Abl. Liv. They forbore, or medled not with.

Superſeſſus, a, um; part. Omitted, let paſs, forborn.

Supersĭdo, is, ĕre; Amm. To ſit upon.

Supersĭliens; part. Col. Leaping upon.

Supersĭlio, is, ire; Col. ex Super & Salio: ὑπερπηδάω. To leap or hop upon.

Superſĭſto, is, ĕre; cum Acc. Apoll. To ſtand over.

Superſpargo, is, ĕre; ſi, ſum; act. Cato: ὑπιπάσσω. זָרַק. To beſprinkle or caſt upon, to corn.

Superſpergo, is, ĕre; idem.

Superſpergor, ĕris; pass. Stat. To be ſpread over.

Superſtagno, as; neut. Tac. ὑπερλιμνάζω. To overflow.

Superſtans; part. Vir. Standing upon or over.

Superſterno, is, ĕre; strāvi, strātum; act. Col. ὑπερστρώννυμι. רִשְׁתֵּן. To ſtraw or cover over.

Superſternor, ĕris; pass. Cap.

Superſtes, ĭtis; adj. Cic. περιλοιπός, περιών, περίλοιπος. qui ſuperſtat, i. ſupereſt: hic igitur Stare eſt Eſſe, quaſi mortuis ſuis ſuperſtant. ◊ Superſtites, teſtes præſentes ſignif. Feſt. He that remaineth alive after others be dead, he that tarryeth after others be gone; that outliveth or ſurviveth; alive, ſafe: alſo preſent, Plaut. a preſent witneſs, Feſt. ◊ Superſtes toti convivio, Sen. That riſeth laſt from the table. Bello ſuperſtes, Tac. That eſcapeth after a battel.

Superſtĭtio, ōnis; f. Cic. δεισιδαιμονία, δεισιδαιμονική. à Superſtare, quatenus ſignif. Nimium eſſe. Superſtitio error inſanus, amandos timet, quos colit violat, Sen. aut ab aniculis dicta, quæ multis ſuperſtites per ætatem delirant ac ſtultæ ſunt, aut, ſec. Lucr. Superſtitio eſt ſuperſtantium rerum, i. cœleſtium & divinarum, quæ ſupra nos ſtant, inanis & ſuperfluus timor, Serv. Superſtitioſi, qui ſuperſtitem memoriam defunctorum colunt, vel qui parentibus ſuis ſuperſtites, celebrant imaginem eorum domi tanquàm deos penates, Lact. non qui filios ſuos ſuperſtites optant; ut Cic. Superſtition, fooliſh religion, vain fear, idolatrous worſhip, idle ſcrupuloſity.

Superſtĭtiōſa, æ; f. Plaut. A wiſe woman or wizzard.

Süperſtĭtiōsē; adv. Cic. δεισιδαιμόνως. Superſtitiouſly, ſcrupulouſly, curiouſly, nicely.

Superſtĭtiōſus, a, um; δεισιδαίμων. Superſtitious, vainly timorous in religion without cauſe; nice, ſcrupulous, fond: alſo inſpired, Plaut. one who can tell things paſt or to come.

Superſtĭto, as; neut. Plaut. à Superſtes. ἐπιζάω. To live after others, to ſurvive or out-live. Act. To preſerve, to keep ſafe. הִשְׁאִיר.

Superſto, as; neut. cum Dat. Liv. ἐφίστημι. To ſtand upon, to remain.

Superſtrātus, a, um; part. Liv. Strewed over.

Superſtruo, is, ĕre; act. cum Acc. & Dat. Lact. ἐποικοδομέω. To build upon.

Superſum, es, fui, eſſe; περίειμι, περίεμι, περίνοσμαι, περίλοιπος, περίημαι. שָׁאַר. Supereſſe, i. Reliquum eſſe; aliqu. Superſtitem eſſe; aliqu. Superſtitem eſſe; Gell. 1, 22. To remain, to be left, to be behind, to endure, to ſurvive or to be alive after others, Plaut. to abound, to be ſuperfluous, or over and above, Gell. to overcome or get the better of, Vir. Regit Dat. Quod ſupereſt, Vir. For the reſt, as touching that is behind; to conclude. Si quid ſuper illi fuerit, Plaut. ☧ Deſum, Cic.

Supervăcāneus, a, um; idem quod Supervacuus: περίεργος, περιττός. עִוֵּר. Needleſs: alſo that which is ſet aſide above ordinary uſe againſt ſome occaſion to be uſed. = Inanis, Cic. inutilis, Liv.

Supervăco, as; neut. Digeſt. To be at leiſure.

Supervăcuò; adv. Ulp. περιεργῶς. In vain, ſuperfluouſly.

Supervăcuus, a, um; Ovid. περίεργος, περιττός. Superfluous, unprofitable, that ſerveth to no uſe; unneceſſary, needleſs, ſilly, vain, to no purpoſe; over and above, or to ſpare, Cato.

Supervādens; part. Liv. Climbing or going over.

Supervādo, is, ĕre; si, sum; neut. cum Acc. Sal. ὑπερβαίνω. To climb or go upon, to paſs over, to ſurpaſs or ſurmount.

Supervādo, as; Digeſt. To be ſurety for.

Supervăgāneus, a, um; Supervaganea avis vocatur ab auguribus quæ ex ſummo cacumine vocem emiſiſſet, dict. ita, quia quaſi ſuper omnia vagatur, Feſt.

Supervăgor, āris; Col. ὑπερπλανάομαι. To wander abroad more than needeth. In trees to ſpread or grow abroad ſuperfluouſly.

Supervĕho, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Catull. ὑπερφέρω. To carry up upon.

Supervĕhor, ĕris; pass. cum Acc. Catul.

Supervĕnio, is, ire; ēni, entum; neut. ὑπεξέρχομαι, ὑπεκφεύγω. To come unlooked for, to ſurprize; to come upon or aſſail another thing, Celſ. to come upon ſuddenly, Liv. to riſe or grow up above, Col. to leap upon, as the male doth the female, Id. Cum Dat. Liv. cum Acc. Col.

Superventor, ōris; m. verb. Amm. A ſurprizer, that cometh upon one unawares.

Superventus, ūs; m. verb. Plin. ἐπέλευσις. A coming upon one ſuddenly, a ſurpriſal, or unexpected arrival.

Superveſtio, is, ire; ivi, itum; act. Plin. περιβάλλω, ἐπενδύω. To cover or cloath over.

Superveſtior, iris; pass. Bibl. To be cloathed upon.

Superveſtītus, a, um; part. Apul. περιβεβλημένος. Covered over.

Supervīvens; part. Apul. Overliving, ſurviving.

Supervīvo, is, xi, ĕre; cum Dat. Juſt. ἀνάκτησις. To recover from peril of death, to outlive, to ſurvive.

Superungo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Celſ. ἐπαλείφω, ἐπιχρίω. To anoint over.

Superungor, ĕris; pass. Plin.

Supervŏlans; part. Plin. Flying over.

Supervŏlito, as; freq. cum Acc. Vir. To fly over often.

Supervŏlo, as; neut. cum Acc. Ovid. ἐπίπταμαι. To fly over.

Supervolvo, is, ĕre; act. Col. ἐπιτυλίσσω. To roll or tumble upon.

Supervolvor, ĕris; pass. Col.

Supervŏlūtus, a, um; part. Col. Rolled over.

Süpĕrus, a, um; à Super: ὁ ἄνω, ὑπέρος. עֶלְיוֹן. Above, the upper, heavenly, high, aloft. Mare ſuperum, Plaut. The gulf of Venice. = Cœleſtis, Cic. ☧ Inferus, Id.

Supinātus, a, um; part. Vir. ὑπτιασμένος. Laid upright, turned up, holden up in the air, unbent, and ſomewhat bowing backward, Stat.

Süpinè; adv. Sen. ὑπτίως, ῥᾳθύμως. Negligently, retchleſly.

Supinior, us; comp. Mart. More idle.

Supinĭtas, ātis; f. Quint. ὑπτίωσις. Negligence, ſupineneſs, carelefneſs.

Supino, as; act. Stat. ὑπτιάζω. To lay upright or the belly upward; to go ſtately, holding the noſe up into the wind: alſo to make proud and ſtately, Sen.

Supinor, āris; pass. To be laid with the face upward. Naſum nidore ſupinor, Hor. To hold up the noſe and ſnuff in the ſteam.

Süpinum, ni; n. Gram. Dicuntur Supina quaſi ſupinata; i. derivata & inflexa à ſuis verbis, Pap. Supina dict. quòd reſupinatis vultibus participia aſpiciunt, vel ab iis aſpiciuntur; vel quia à verbo tranſeunt in participium, iterum à participio reſupinantur in verbum. Aliis dict. quòd ante ſe caſum non habeant, Priſc. A Supine of a Verb.

Süpinus, a, um; à gr. ὕπτιος. Gell. ab ant. Supus, Feſt. al. à Sub: ὕπτιος. Upright, upward, with the face upward, flat along, lying on the back: alſo idle and retchleſs, negligent, ſupine; ῥᾴθυμος, ἄπονος, ſteep, or ſituate on a hill-ſide, Hor. proud, ſtately, Perſ. ◊ Palmes ſupinus, Mart. A branch laid upon the frame. Curſus ſupinus, Ovid. A courſe of a river backward, running toward the head again. Manus ſupina, Liv. With the palms upward. Tibur ſupinum, Hor. That ſtands on a hills ſide. Signa ſupina, Spart. Banners

ners rolled up, and born on ſhoulders in token of diſcomfiture. Supinæ in delicias cathedræ, Plin. Eaſie chairs leaning backward. = Negligens, Sen. Æ Pronus, Cic.

† Supo, as; Supat, jacit, Feſt. ergo id. quod Sipo, unde Diſſipo.

Suppactus, a, um; part. à Suppingor, Plaut. Stuck or faſtned under, clouted or ſparabled, as ſhoes are.

Suppagmentum, ti; n. Bud. A patch or clout or tap of a ſhoo.

Suppalpor, āris; dep. Plaut. To underfeel, to grope, gently to ſtroke.

Suppar, āris; adj. Cic. cum Dat. ex Sub & Par, i. ferè par: πάρεγγυς. Almoſt equal or even.

Suppărāsitor, āris; dep. cum Dat. Plaut. ὑποπαρασιτεύομαι. To ſhark or hang on, to ſponge in company, to flatter and fawn for a meals meat.

Suppărum, i; n. Lucan. σκεπάσμιον, velum omne quod ex lino eſt, Feſt. Olim non tam velum quàm ſupplementum veli ſignif. partéſque ſummas, ideóque ſupra velum & antennam expanſum, dict. quòd ſurſum pararetur, Turneb. qu. ſeparatum, Feſt. à Suppar, i. majus, ut quantitas indicetur primò veſtis, deinde veli, Scal. A ſhift, a veil; the fail of a ſhip, a ſhrowd, Lucan. the uppermoſt part of the ſail, Sen. a top-ſail.

Suppărus, ri; m. Plaut. σκεπάσμιον. Lineum puellarum veſtimentum, id quod Subucula: it. omne velum, quod ex lino eſt, Feſt. al. à Suppar, ut ſit par ſive æquale; al. quòd ſupra nos induatur, Var. quòd Subtus appareat, Non. Alii ab ὑπὸ ſub, & φάρος pallium, velum: al. ſimpl. à gr. Ὑφαρός, quod velum navis ſign. unde & Siparium ſcribit Scal. A ſmock, or ſhirt, Var. a ſhift: alſo a coap or Prieſts veſt: alſo a flag, a ſtreamer, a jack.

Suppēdāneum; n. Jun. dict. quod ſimulachrorum pedibus ſubſternitur: ὑπόδημα, ὑποπόδιον. A footſtool, a prop.

Suppēditātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. προμήθεια, χορηγία. A giving or finding of things that one lacketh, a ſupplying or furniſhing of one.

Suppēditātor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. He that ſupplyeth or furniſheth.

Suppēdito, as; act. & neut. i. abundanter præbeo, ita ut ſub pedibus ponere videar, Perot. Propriè verbum militare, Submitto pedites, peditibus miſſis ſuppleo exercitum. ὑπουργέω, ὑποχείριον, ὑπηρετέω. עזר. Properly it ſignifies to relieve the ſkirmiſhers with foot-men; to ſupply or ſecond with foot-forces: per Metaph. To find and to furniſh with; to ſupply, to aſford: alſo to ſubdue, to overcome and vanquiſh, to tread under, Cic. to ſupplant. Regit Acc. cum Dat. ϕ Neut. To be ſufficient, to ſuffice or ſerve turn; to laſt or hold out. ὑπαρκέω. id. quod Suppeto, cum Dat. Cic.

Suppēditor, āris; paſſ. Cic. it. dep. Id. cum Acc.

Suppēdo, is, ĕre; Cic. i. nonnihil vel latenter pedo. ὑποβδέω. To foiſt, to ſmotter a fart, to fizzle.

† Suppellectĭcārius, a, um; Dig. Belonging to houſhold-ſtaff.

Suppello, is, ĕre; puli, ſum; Cic. i. ſubtus pellere: verbum modò honeſtum, modò turpe, Cic. To drive under. Reſt. Suppedo.

Suppernātus, a, um; part. Catul. Hocked or ham-ſtrung.

Supperno, as; act. Suppernari dicuntur, quibus femora ſunt ſuccisa in modum ſuillarum pernarum, Feſt. ὑκκωλίζω, ὑκκωλοτομέω. To cut ones houghs, to hamſtring one.

Suppĕtiæ; f. pl. Acc. Suppetias; diptoton, Plaut. ὑπουργία, βοήθεια. עזרה. à Suppeto, quas ſcil. petimus dari nobis, Becm. ex Val. Æ Auxilium eſt quod augendarum virium causâ mittitur; Suppetiæ, quæ jam laboranti & periclitanti feruntur. Aid, help, ſuccour, ſupplies, relief. Suppetias venire alicui, Cæſ. i. opitulari.

Suppĕtiātus, ûs; m. Help, aid or ſuccour. Proclamare ſuppetiatum, Apul. To cry out for help.

Suppĕtior, āris; dep. cum Dat. Apul. ἀμύνω. To aid or help.

Suppĕtit; impers. Pl. jun. πάρειμι, ὑπαρχεῖ. It is ready at hand, it ſufficeth.

Suppĕto, is; act. Ulp. Sub, i. latenter & per fraudem peto, Digeſt. παραιτέομαι, ὑπαιτίαν. To aſk privily and craftily. Neut. To be ſufficient, to ſerve turn, to help out, to be in readineſs, to outlive, Plaut. Regit Dat. Dictis facta ſuppetunt, Plaut. When one's as good as his word, and does as he ſayes. Æ Deſum, Cic.

Suppilātio; f. verb. Digeſt. A ſtealing or pilfering.

Suppilātor, ōris; m. verb. Digeſt. ὁ κλεπτόλαιον. A pilferer, a paltry thief.

Suppilātus, a, um; part. Cæcil. ap. Non. Robbed.

Suppilo, as; act. Plaut. ὑποκλέπτω, ὑποκλίπτω. גנב. To ſteal craftily or underhand, to pilfer, to purloin. Regit Acc. cum Dat.

Suppingor, ĕris; paſſ. ex Sub & Pango, Plaut. To be ſowed faſt under.

Supplantātor; m. verb. Iren. A ſupplanter.

Supplanto, as; act. Cic. ὑποσκελίζω, πλησίον. עקב. à planta pedis; pede ſuppoſito in terram dejicio, vel everto plantâ ſubtus emotâ, in quâ inſiſtitur. To ſupplant or undermine, to trip up ones heels; to give one a fall: alſo to deceive in preventing one to his damage, to overthrow.

Supplantor, āris; paſſ. Veget.

Supplanto, as; ex Sub & Planto, Col. ὑποφυτεύω. To plant underneath, to underplant.

Supplantor, āris; paſſ. Cato.

† Supplasiārius, ii; m. Veget. corr. pro Seplaſiarius.

Supplĕmentum, ti; n. Cic. à Suppleo: πλήρωμα, ἀναπλήρωμα. That maketh up, or ſupplyeth that lacketh; a ſupply, a filling up, a ſupplement, a recruit.

Suppleo, es, ēre; ēvi, ētum; act. Cic. ex Sub & Pleo: πληρόω, ἀναπλήρω. מלא. To make up that which lacketh; to ſupply, to fill the place of him that lacketh, to furniſh, to fill up or cloſe up, to recruit, Liv. alſo to help one to ſpeak when he cannot anſwer.

Suppleor, ēris; paſſ. Veget.

Supplex, ĭcis; adj. ἱκέτης, ἱκετήριος, λιτικός. ex Sub & Plico; qui manibus genibúſve plicatis orat. Humbly intreating, ſuppliant, that deſireth any thing kneeling or proſtrate, a petitioner. Libelli ſupplices, Mart. Petitions, requeſts. Regit Dat. Cic.

Supplicāmentum, i; n. Apul. That wherewith one maketh ſupplication; ſupplication or intreaty.

Supplicans, tis; part. Ter. ἱκετεύων. Humbly intreating, ſuppliant.

† Supplicassis, pro Supplicaveris, Plaut.

Supplicātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἱκεσία, λιτανεία. תחנון. Supplication, prayer, requeſt, intreaty: alſo a ſolemn proceſſion, a ſacrifice or publick feaſt. λιτανεία.

Supplicātur; impers. Plin. Prayer is made.

Supplĭciter; adv. ἱκετικῶς. Humbly, with bended knees, in manner of ſupplication. = Demiſsè, Cic.

Supplicĭtus; adv. Wa. ex Juſtin. After the manner of a Petitioner.

Supplĭcium, ii; n. τιμή, τιμωρία, δίκη, πούνη. ענש. à Supplicando, i. precando, quòd ſupplices eſſe ſolent homines in deprecandis pœnis; aut quia priſca paupertas noxiorum bonis ſacra facere conſuevit in ſupplicationibus deorum, delatis non in ærarium mulctis, ſed in aras deorum, tanquàm anathematibus; vel quòd pœna capitis ingeniculantibus, tanquàm ſupplices eſſent, infligeretur, M. Eſt it. id. quod Supplicatio, actus ſupplicis. ἱκεσία, ἱκετεία. Puniſhment, torment, pain: alſo ſupplication, prayer, Sal. ſacrifice, a general proceſſion: alſo that which was offered in ſacrifice, Apul. alſo a Mace carried by officers of juſtice, Scal. Supplicium de aliquo ſumere, Cic. To puniſh him; alicui dare, Ter. To be puniſhed.

Supplico, as; neut. à Supplex. ex Sub & Plico; i. deorſum plico, in genua procidens oro. ἱκετεύω, λιτανεύω. תחנן. To intreat humbly, to make humble requeſt, to ſupplicate, to beg and beſeech, to pray; cum Dat. alſo to make a ſolemn proceſſion, Sal. = Imploro, Cic.

† Supplĭcuè; adv. G. ex Apul. idem quod Suppliciter.

Supplōdo, is, ĕre; ſi, ſum; ὑποκρούω. To ſtamp on the ground, to make a noiſe with the foot. Pedem ſupplodere, Cic.

Supplōdor, ēris; paſſ. Sen.

Supplōſio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὑποκρότησις. A ſtamping or noiſe made with the feet.

† Suppodio, as; Col. To under-prop.

Suppœnĭtet, uit; impers. Cic. ὑπομεταμέλει. It ſomewhat or half repenteth.

Suppōno, is, ĕre; ſui, ĭtum; act. ὑποτίθημι, ὑποβάλλω. To put, ſet or lay under; to ſubſtitute or put into the place of another; to ſuborn, counterfeit or forge; to add or write under; to ſubmit; to ſuppoſe. Supponere teſtamentum, Cic. To foiſt or forge a Will. Collum oneri ſupponere, Ovid. = Subjicio, ſubſtituo, Cic.

Suppōnor, ĕris; paſſ. Cic.

Supportātio, ōnis; f. verb. Aug. κατακομιδή. A ſupporting.

Supportātor, ōris; m. verb. Auguſt. He that ſupporteth.

Supporto, as; act. Cæſ. ὑποφέρω. To convey, bring or carry privily; to ſupport.

Supportor, āris; paſſ. Cæſ.

Suppŏsĭtio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. ὑπόθεσις. A putting of a thing under another or in place of another; a ſuborning or forging; a ſuppoſition or ſuppoſal.

Suppŏsititius, a, um; adj. Var. quod ſuppoſitum eſt & alterius loco pro vero & nativo poſitum: ὑπόβλητος, ὑποβολι-λμπτὸν Ϙ. Counterfeit or set in place of another, ſuppoſititious.

Suppŏsĭtīvus, a, um; Priſc. ὑποθετικὸς. That maketh a ſuppoſition, conditional.

Suppŏsĭtōrium, ii; n. Medic. A ſuppoſitory.

Suppŏsĭtōrius, a, um; Cellæ ſuppoſitoriæ, G. ex Vopiſc. Made beneath.

Suppŏsĭturus, a, um; part. Ovid. About to put under, &c.

Suppŏsĭtus, a, um; part. Cic. ὑποτεθεὶς, ὑπαντιχθεὶς. Put or ſet under, put in place of another, ſuborned; ſuppoſed, granted.

Suppoſtor, & Suppoſtrix, verb. Plaut. pro Suppoſitor, & Suppoſtrix, qui falſum aliquid & adulterinum pro vero ſupponit: ὑποβολεύς. He or ſhe that privily conveyeth another mans child to one as his own.

Suppoſtus, a, um; contr. pro Suppoſitus, Vir.

Suppreſſio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἔλεγχος, κατακράτησις. A ſuppreſſing, a keeping down; a ſtopping or ſtaying. Suppreſſio nocturna, Plin. The Night-Mare.

Suppreſſior, us; comp. Cic. More low or flat.

Suppreſſĭus; adv. comp. Gell. 12. 11. More ſecretly or cloſe.

Suppreſſor, ōris; m. verb. Amm. He that keeperh down.

Suppreſſus, a, um; part. & adj. Cic. κατατεθειὶς, ἔσω τεθειὶς. Kept under or down, ſuppreſſed, ſtayed, ſtopped; hid, concealed, ſunk, drowned, bouged, Juſt. ϕ Adj. Short, ſoft, low.

Supprĭmo, is, ĕre; eſſi, eſſum; act. ex Sub & Premo: ὑποπιέζω, κατέχω, κατέχω. חָשַׂךְ. To keep under or down, to ſtay or ſtop; to ſtint, to check; to retain and not reſtore a thing, Cic. alſo to ſurcharge or over-burden, Plin. to defer, put off or ſtay, Cæſ. to ſuppreſs; to conceal, to ſmother. Supprimere lora, Ovid. To hold in the reins.

Supprĭmor, ĕris; paſſ. Supprimi ergaſtulo, Suet. To be kept in Bridewell to work.

Supprōmo, is, ĕre; pſi, ptum; act. Plaut. ἐκφέρω, ἀποτείνω. To draw out.

Supprōmor, ĕris; paſſ. Plin.

Supprōmus, i; m. Plaut. ὁ ἀποτεμνόμενον, ταμίας. An under-butler, a taſter, a ſhanker.

Suppūdet, uit, ēre; imperſ. cum Acc. perſ. & Gen. rei, Cic. ὑπαισχύνομαι. To be ſomewhat or half aſhamed.

Suppullŭlāſco, is, ĕre; incept. Pallad. To ſend forth new branches from trees, to ſprout anew.

Suppullŭlo, as; idem.

Suppūrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Celſ. ἰκμάτωσις, διαπύησις. Veget. An impoſtumation or gathering to matter.

Suppūrātōrius, a, um; Plin. ἰκματωτικὸς, διαπυητικὸς. That maketh a ſore to matter, that bringeth it to a head.

Suppūrātum, ti; n. Plin. ἰκμάτωμα. A thing that is grown to matter, an impoſtume.

Suppūrātus, a, um; Sen. ἰκματῶδης, ὑπαλγὴς. That matereth.

Suppūro, as; neut. Col. in pus converto, ex Sub & Pus: ἰκμυόομαι, φλεγμαίνω, Onom. To breed filth as a ſore doth, to matter, to ſuppurate, to rankle or feſter.

Suppūror, āris; paſſ. Celſ.

† Suppus, a, um; Suppuan antiqui quem nunc Supinum dicimus, dicebant, à gr. ὑπὸ, Feſt.

Suppus, i; m. ſubſt. pars luſorii tali, Græc. ὕπτη Ϙ. Cùm talus ita caderet, ut ſupina pars quæ voc. ſuperior eſſet, erat fœlix jactus, Scal. Si verò das quod rogas, & ſi ſuggerit ſuppus, Lucil. ap. Feſt. A lucky throw at dice. Scrib. & Supus.

Supputātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. κλάδωσις. A pruning; a counting.

Supputātor, ōris; m. verb. Aug. κλαδωτὴς. He that pruneth or reckoneth.

Supputātōrius, a, um; adj. Plin. That cuteth or pruneth.

Supputo, as; act. Plin. ὑποκλαδεύω. זָמַר. To prune, cut or lop trees: alſo λογίζομαι. To reckon, to count, Plaut. to ſurmiſe, to ſuppoſe.

Supra; præp. cum Acc. Cic. à Super; Supera antiq. ὑπὲρ. עַל. Above, before, more than, over, beyond, upon. Æ Super, contiguitatem; Supra, ſpatium quoddam importat. Æ Infra, ſubter, Cic.

Suprà; adv. ἄνω. à ſuperus; pro ſuperâ. Above, aloft, an high, before, beyond. Nihil ſuprà, Ter. Nothing better.

Suprādictus, a, um; Plin. προειρημένος. Spoken of or ſaid before, foreſaid.

Suprāpoſĭtus, a, um; Cic. προτεθειὶς. Set or put before.

Suprāſcriptus, a, um; Cic. προγεγραμμένος Ϙ. Above written, or written before.

Suprēma, ōrum; n. pl. Ones later dayes, Plin. ones death, Tac. alſo funeral obſequies, Id. alſo ones laſt Will and Teſtament, Modeſt. alſo the reliques or remains of one that's dead, as corps, bones, aſhes, &c. Amm. λείψανα.

Suprēmĭtas, ātis; f. Amm. A mans death or laſt end.

Suprēmō; adv. Plin. ὑπέρτατα, ἐσχάτως. Higheſt, or laſt of all.

Suprēmum; adv. Vir. Laſt of all.

Suprēmus, a, um; ſuperl. à ſuperus, contr. pro Superrimus. ἔσχατος Ϙ, ὑπέρτατος Ϙ. Higheſt of all, laſt, lateſt, uttermoſt, or utmoſt. Sole ſupremo, Hor. At the Suns going down.

† Supus, i; m. à ſupare, i. jacere, Feſt. vid. Suppus.

Sūra, æ; f. ἐγγαστρομία. à Surus, i. palus, Scal. ob ſimilit. al. à Suo, quòd quaſi conſtit femori tibiam; Pap. al. à σύρειν, Sluid. τὸ πρόγειν, currere. al. ab heb. שׁוּר caro, quòd ſit pars tibiæ carnoſa. Fort. à Σουρὲξ malleolus pedis. The calf of the leg, Cic. alſo the whole leg from the knee to the ankle, Vir. alſo a boot, Juv. a buſkin.

† Surctus vel Sorctus, qu. Surrectus, part. à Surgo, G. ex Feſt.

Surcŭlācĕus, a, um; Plin. φυτογενὴς. Like a ſet, graff or young ſprig.

Surcŭlāris, re; Col. φυτογενὴς Ϙ. That bringeth forth young ſhoots or ſprigs.

Surcŭlārius, a, um; Var. φυτογενὴς. Of, or belonging to, or ſet with ſprigs or graffs. Surcularia cicada, Plin. A Graſſhopper that feeds upon ſhoots or ſprigs, or that appears upon their firſt ſpringing.

Surcŭlo, as; act. Col. φυτογενίζω. To cut off ſhoots or ſprigs from trees, to prune trees. Al. leg. Sarculo.

Surcŭlor, āris; paſſ. Col.

Surcŭlōſe; adv. Plin. φυτογενικῶς, φυτογενῶδες. From ſhoot to ſhoot, one ſprig or ſhoot after another.

Surcŭlōſus, a, um; Plin. φυτογενὴς. Full of ſhoots, ſlips or ſprigs.

Surcŭlus, li; m. Col. dim. à Surus, i. palus, Scal. al. à Surgo, qu. Surgulus, quòd ſurgat ex arbore. Al. dim. à Surculi, inuſ. quod ab heb. שׂרק ramus ſive palmes vitis. φυτόκαυσον, κλαδίσκος Ϙ. שׂרִיג. A ſhoot, a ſet or ſlip, a ſcion, a graff, a young twig or branch, a ſprig.

Surdaſter, a, um; adj. Cic. ὑπήκοος Ϙ, ἀνήκοος Ϙ. Half or ſomewhat deaf, thick of hearing, deafiſh.

Surdè; adv. Afran. Deafly.

Surdeſco, is, ĕre; incept. ἐκκωφόομαι. To be or wax deaf.

Surdior, us; comp. Ovid. More deaf.

SURDUS, a, um; qu. Sordus, ab aurium Sordibus, quæ auditum impediunt, M. al. qu. ſeorĭdus, i. Sine ore, i. aure, i. auditu, ut oricula, pro auricula: κωφὸς. חֵרֵשׁ. Deaf, dumny, thick of hearing, that heareth not, or that is not heard; that will not hear, inexorable, inſenſible, dull, liveleſs, ſenſeleſs: alſo dark, duskiſh or ſad, Plin. ϕ Ad munera ſurdus, Ovid. Cum Gen. Surdus veritatis, Col.

† Sūrēna; Amm. A title of dignity among the Perſians, next the King.

Surgens; part. Vir. Ariſing, ſpringing, Quint.

Surgĭtur; imperſ. Juv. They riſe.

Surgo, is, ĕre; exi, ectum; neut. ſurſum rego, erigo. ἀνίσταμαι, ἐγείρομαι. קוּם. To ariſe, to get up; to grow or ſpring; to appear: alſo to grow or increaſe in height, Col. to be built higher and higher; to begin to be troublous. Surgere è lecto, à menſâ, Ter. de cœnâ, Hor. cubitu, Cato. ſellâ, Sal. ϕ Act. To raiſe or lift up. Lumbos ſurgite atque extollite, Plaut. vid. Surrigo.

Surio, is, ire; Apul. de ſue mare; it. de fœminâ, Feſt. χαυνᾶν illud, ut volunt, hoc ὀρχεῖν à Sus, antiq. in Gen. Sueris. To grunt like a boar, after the ſow. Æ Surit ſus mas; Subat fœmina, Scal.

† Suriſcŭla, æ; f. i. vas aquarium, Hieron. A little bucket.

Surpĭcŭlus, li; m. Propert. corr. pro Sirpiculus, dim. à Sirpus vel Scirpus. φορμίσκος Ϙ, καλαθίσκος Ϙ. A baſket, a pannier, a hamper.

† Surpĭte, pro Surripite; & Surpurat, pro Surripuerat, Hor.

Surrectio, ōnis; f. verb. Eraſm. ἀνάστασις. An ariſing.

Surrectus, a, um; part. Col. ἐγηγερθὶς, ἀναβεβὶς. Lifted up, raiſed up, jet upright.

† Surrĕgo, is; ant. pro Surgo, Feſt.

† Surremit, ſumpſit, Feſt. ab antiq. Surrimo.

† Surrempſit, ſuſtulerit, Feſt. à Surrimo.

Surrĕpĭtur; imperſ. Quint. They creep in privily.

Surrĕpo, is, ĕre; pſi; neut. ὑπερπέτω. To creep in unawares or by little and little, to ſteal or run away privily. Vid. Subrepo.

Surreptio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. κλοπὴ. A ſtealing.

Surreptĭtius, a, um; Plaut. κλοπαῖος Ϙ. Done by ſtealth, that no man knoweth of, ſurreptitious.

Surreptus, a, um; part. Cic. ὑφαρπασθὶς. Stolen or taken away.

† Surrexe, pro Surrexiſſe, Hor.

Surrigo, is, ĕre; exi, ctum; act. Vir. ſurſum rego vel erigo, i. levo; vel ex Sub & Rego. ἐξανίσταμι, ἀναίρω. הֵקִים. To raiſe up, to prick up, to lift on high.

Surrigor,

Surrigor, ĕris ; pass. Vir.

† Surrimo, is, ēmi ; ant. ex Su, i. sursum, & Emo, i. capio, inserto rr, ut ex Di & Emo, Dirimo. To take up, Enn. to take away, Plaut.

Surripiendus, a, um ; part. Ovid. To be withdrawn.

Surripio, is, ĕre ; ŭi, eptum ; act. Cic. ex Sub & Rapio ; latenter rapio ; ὑφαρπάζω, ὑποκλέπτω, ὑφαιρέω. גנב. To steal or take away privily, to filch or pilfer ; to withdraw, to prevent ; to lift up hastily, or in height. Regit Acc. cum Dat. Plaut.

Surripior, ĕris ; pass. Liv.

Surrŏgātio, ōnis ; f. verb. ἀντικατάστασις. An appointing in ones room, a putting in place or room of another.

Surrŏgātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cod. He that substituteth one in his place.

Surrŏgātus, i ; m. Eccl. A Surrogate.

Surrŏgo, as ; act. Vid. Subrogo. ἀντικαθίστημι. To put in place of another, to substitute or surrogate.

Sursum ; adv. ex Supra versum, i. versùs partem superiorem ; qu. suprorsum ; vel pot. ex Su sive Sus, & versum. Sursum versùm, Cic. Sursum vorsum, Cato. i. versùs superiorem locum vel partem. Sursus versùs, Lucr. ἄνω, ἀνωθεν. למעלה. Upward, up. ℨ Deorsum, Cic.

Sūrus, ri ; m. Enn. i. palus, à gr. ὅρος. limen, terminus, qui palis solet notari, M. Cato. A stake, a bough, a sprig, a palisade.

S U S, suis ; m. & f. Vir. à gr. ὗς, οὗς. חזיר. A swine, a hog, a boar or sow, a pig. Olim Sueris, in Gen.

† Sus, a, sum ; antiq. pro Suus, sua, suum ; etiam pro Is, unde So pro Suo ; Sa pro Sua ; Sos pro Suos.

Sus ; adv. in comp. sign. Sursum. vel contr. à Susum, pro Sursum ; vel à Sub, subs, sus ; ut ab Ab, abs, asporto ; ab Ob, obs, ostendo. ἄνω. Upward, above. Susque deque habere, Cic. Not to care or regard.

Susceptio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ὑποδοχή, ἀπόληψις, ἐγχείρησις. A taking of a thing in hand, an undertaking.

Susceptor, ōris ; m. Jun. ὑποδεχτής, ἐμπολάβων. An undertaker ; a god-father, Bud. also he that hireth others, Ulp. also a receiver of tribute in the Roman Provinces, Cod.

Susceptum, ti ; n. Ovid. ἐγχείρημα. An enterprise or undertaking.

Susceptus, a, um ; part. Cic. ἀναλημφθείς, προσειλημμένος. Enterprised, undertaken : also begotten, born.

† Suscio, is, ire ; Plaut. ex Sub vel Sus & Scio. ἴσαμαι. To know, to surmise.

Suscipiendus, a, um ; part. Lucr. To be undertaken.

Suscipio, is, ĕre ; ēpi, ptum ; act. ex Sub vel Sus & Capio : ἐγχειρίζομαι, ὑποδέχομαι. לקח. To take up, to undertake ; to take upon him, to ensure ; to admit, to receive ; to enterprise, to hazard or adventure ; to counterfeit ; to beget ; to commit ; to conceive : also to reply, Vir. to have, make or take, Ovid. ◊ Suscipere Deo vota pro aliquo, Plin. jun. To pray or make some vow to God for one. Suscipere voluntatem erga aliquem, Cic. liberos ex aliquâ, Id. facinus in se, Ter.

Suscĭpior, ĕris ; pass. Cic.

Suscitābŭlum, li ; n. Var. ap. Non. ἐρεθισμός. A stirring up, or provocation, an incitement ; an alarm ; also tinder or touchwood, Jun. ἀμαδου.

Suscĭtātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Aug. διέγερσις, ζωπύρωσις. A stirring up.

Suscĭto, as ; act. Cic. ex Sus, i. sursum, & Cito : διεγείρω, ἐξανίστημι. קום. To call one from sleep, to awake ; to kindle or quicken, to provoke, to exhort ; to stir up, to raise. Suscitare ignem, Vir. To blow or stir it up.

† Suscus ; Bud. corr. pro Subscus.

Susĭnum ; pen. cor. Cæsar. oleum seu unguentum ex liliis confectum, quæ Phrygum linguâ Susa Cæsar appellantur, Plin. 13. 1. sc. ab heb. שושן lilium. Oyl or ointment made of lilies.

† Suspectātus, a, um ; Apul. Suspected.

Suspectio, ōnis ; f. verb. Ter. Suspicion or suspecting, mistrusting.

Suspectior, us ; comp. Cic. More suspected or mistrusted : also more suspicious or mistrustful, Amm.

Suspecto, as ; Mart. frequ. à Suspicio : ὑποφέω, πολὺς ἀναβλέπω. To behold, or look up often : also to look down or see beneath, Plin. to suspect or mistrust, Ter.

Suspectus, a, um ; part. & adj. ὕποπτος. Suspected, mistrusted : also seen aloft, Jun. Suspectus criminis, Tac. incestu, Plin. jun. super aliquo scelere, Sal. in aliquâ virgine, Suet.

Suspectus, ûs ; m. Plin. ὑπόβλεψις. מבט. A looking or beholding upward, a looking betwixt us and the light : also height, Vir. admiration, esteem, Ovid.

Suspendens, tis ; part. Suet. Holding in suspence and doubt.

Suspendeo, es, ēre ; neut. Col. supra pendeo : ὑπεκφεύγω μαι, ἐξαρτῶμαι. To be hanged over, or on high. Al. leg. Suppendeo.

Suspendeor, ēris ; pass. Var.

Suspendiōsus, a, um ; Plin. κρεμαδεὶς. That is hanged on a gallows.

Suspendium, ii ; n. Cic. ἀπόφημα, ἀγχόνη. A hanging.

Suspendo, is, ĕre ; di, sum ; act. sursum pendeo : ἀποκρεμάω, ἐφάπλω, ὑπακρεμάζω. תלה. To hang up or upon : also to delay, to defer or put off ; ἀναβάλλω. to keep one in suspense and doubt. Suspendere ædificium, Cic. To build it upon arches or pillars or vaults ; spiritum, Quint. To stop or hold his breath, to pause ; fluxiones oculorum, Plin. To stay the rheum ; aliquem naso adunco, Hor. To mock and flout him ; tellurem sulco, Vir. To plow it up lightly. ◊ Suspendere de vel in arbore, Cic. è ficu, Quint. in furcas, Ulp. nidum tignis, Vir.

* Suspendor, ĕris ; pass. Lucan. To be underpropped, Plin.

Suspensio, ōnis ; f. verb. Hirt. αἰώρησις, κρέμασις. An hanging up : also a doubt, uncertainty of mind, Suspense.

Suspensissimus, a, um ; superl. Suspensissimum pastinatum, Col. A place after it is delved, not trodden or rammed down, but left very light and hollow.

Suspensūra, æ ; f. Sen. αἰώρημα. An hanging up.

Suspensus, a, um ; part. & adj. ἐκκρεμὴς. חלוי. Pro Incerto ac dubio ; ἀπορ ℨ. κρεμάμενος ℨ. Hanged up : also uncertain, doubtful, fearful, unresolved, careful, hanging in doubt or suspense, that cannot tell what to do ; hollow and light, Col. Suspensus somnus, Cic. A slumber, an unquiet sleep. Gradu suspenso ire, Ter. To go softly, or on tip-toes. = Sollicitus, occupatus, Cic. obscurus, Tac.

Suspicans, tis ; part. Ter. ὑποπτεύων. Suspecting, mistrusting.

Suspĭcax, ācis ; adj. Tac. ὑπόπτης. Suspicious, jealous, mistrustful.

Suspĭciens ; part. Vir. Looking up.

Suspĭcio, is, ĕre ; exi, ctum ; act. ex Sub vel Sus & Specio. ἀναβλέπω. הביט. To look up : also to honour, to have in admiration, θαυμάζειν, to be in love with : also to suspect, ὑποπτεύειν, Salust.

Suspĭcior, ĕris ; pass. Curt.

Suspĭcio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ὑποψία, ὑπόνοια, ὑπόληψις. Mistrust, suspicion, jealousie.

Suspĭciōsè ; adv. Cic. ὑποπτως. Suspiciously, mistrustfully.

Suspĭciōsissĭmus, a, um ; superl. Cic. Very suspicious or dangerous.

Suspĭciōsius ; adv. comp. Cic. More dangerously.

Suspĭciōsus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπολητικός. Full of suspicion, suspicious, mistrustful, jealous ; dangerous and much to be feared : also skittish and apt to start, Col.

Suspĭciunculă, æ ; f. dim. à Suspicio, Erasm. A little suspicion.

† Suspĭco, as ; idem quod Suspicor, Plaut.

Suspĭcor, āris ; dep. Ter. à Suspicio ; ut à conspicio conspicor. ὑποπτεύω, ὑποφέρω. To suspect or mistrust, to guess or imagine, to surmise.

Suspirandus, a, um ; part. Stat. To be sighed or panted after.

Suspīrans ; part. Cic. Sighing.

Suspirātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Sen. στεναγμὸς, ἄσθμα. A sighing or breathing.

Suspirātus, ûs ; m. Ovid. στεναγμὸς. אנחה. A sighing.

Suspiriōsus, a, um ; Plin. ἀσθματικὸς. That fetcheth the breath painfully, that bloweth much, short or broken-winded, pursie, phthisical.

† Suspīritus, ûs ; m. Shortness of breath, Plaut. also a sigh, Apul. G.

Suspīrium, ii ; n. Cic. ipsa suspiratio, i. ab imo pectore spiratio ; στεναγμὸς, στόμα, ἄσθμα, στεναγμὸς. אנחה. A sigh ; a short breathing, the pothsick, Plin.

Suspiro, as ; neut. spiritum ab imo pectore traho : στένω, στενάζω. נאנח. To sigh, to pant, to desire fervently. ◊ Act. To cast up or breath out, Lucan. ◊ Suspirare matrem, Juv. in aliquam, Ovid. ad honores, Val. Fl.

Susque deque habeo, Plaut. ἀδιαφόρως ἔχω. Not to pass, or care which end goes foremost, to slight.

Sustĭlio, is ; neut. Plaut. sursum salio. To leap up. Vid. Subsilio.

† Sustĭnus, a, um ; Plin. Cæsar. ℨ à Cæsar lilium. Made of lilies. V. Sutinum.

Sustendo, is, di, ĕre ; act. ὑποτείνω. To stretch or lay under. Sustendere insidias alicui, Salust. To lay snares for one.

Sustentācŭlum, li ; n. ἔρεισμα, ὑποστήριγμα. That which beareth up or sustaineth ; an appuy, a prop, a stay or supper.

Sustentātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ὑπομονὴ, ἀνοχὴ. A sustaining, a bearing, or a staying up, a forbearance.

Sustentātor, ōris ; m. verb. Quint. He that helpeth.

Sustentātum est ; Imperf. Cæs. They withstood, or stood out.

Sustentātus, a, um ; part. Lucr. ἀνεχόμενος. Born up, upheld.

Sustentātus, ûs ; m. Apul. A sustaining staining, a bearing or holding up.

Sustento, as; frequ. à Sustineo: ὑποστηρίζω, βαστάζω. סמך. To sustain or bear up, to uphold, to aid, defend, help, nourish, comfort, feed, find or maintain, τρέφειν. כלכל. to endure, suffer or abide patiently, Liv. to bear with, ὑπομένειν, ἀνέχειν. Also to defer, to delay, Cic. ◊ Intransf. To hold out or rub on, Plaut. = Alo, tueor, recreo, Cic.

Sustentor, āris; pass. Cic.

Sustinentia, æ; f. Vulg. Int. ὑπομονή. Patience, sufferance, patient abiding.

Sustineo, es, ēre; ui, entum; act. ex Sub vel Sus, & Teneo, i. sulcio: ὑποστηρίζω, βαστάζω. סמך. 2. Patior, tolero, ὑπομένω. נשא. 3. Compesco, sive retineo, ἀνέχω. רשך. 4. Differo, ἀναβάλλομαι. שמט. To hold or stay up, to sustain, maintain or support; to suffer, brook, endure, bear, or abide, to undergo; to forbear, to refrain; to find in's heart, Ovid. to stop, stay or hold back; to defer, to delay or put off, Liv. to feed and nourish, Col. τρέφειν. כלכל. to withstand, Cic. to defend, help and succour; to bear or represent, to dare, Quint. = Fulcio, tueor, fubeo, fero, Cic.

Sustineor, ēris; pass. Cic.

Sustollens; part. Catul. Lifting up.

Sustollo, is, ĕre; tŭli, sublātum; act. Cic. ex Sus antiqu. vel Susum, i. sursum, & Tollo: ἀναίρω. נשא. To lift up, to take away, or make away with, Suet. to ravish, Plaut. to nourish, to educate or bring up.

Sustollor, ĕris; pass. Sidon.

Sustŭli; præt. à Suffero, Sustollo, Tollo.

† Susum, pro Sursum, Cato.

† Susurna, æ; f. Amm. A cowse covering for a bed, the same that Sisyra.

Sūsurrāmen, ĭnis; n. Apul. A whispering or muttering.

Sūsurrans; part. Vir. Whispering.

Susurrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cæl. ad Cic. ψιθυρισμός. רחש. A whispering, a muttering.

Sūsurrātor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. ψιθυριστής. A whisperer.

Sūsurrātur; imperf. Ter. It is whispered or privately talked.

Sūsurro, as; neut. Ter. ψιθυρίζω. רגן. ex sono vocis. To whisper, to speak softly, to mutter.

Sūsurro, ōnis; m. Sidon. ψιθυριστὴς κρυπτός. רגן. A whisperer, a murmurer behind ones back, a carry-tale, or make-bate.

Susurrum, i; n. Ovid. id. quod Susurrus.

SUSURRUS, ri; m. Vir. ψιθυρισμός. רחש. à gr. ψίθυρος. A whisper, a soft still noise.

† Sūsurrus, ûs; m. idem. Fistula susurru jucundior, Apul.

Susurrus, a, um; Ovid. ψίθυρος. That whispereth or maketh a soft noise.

† Susus, pro Sursus, Fest.

Susymbrium, ii; n. V. ex Var. σισύμβριον. A kind of herb. Vid. Sisymbrium.

† Sūtātes; m. pl. sedentarii, sutates, Plaut. al. leg. Sutores, ῥάπται. al. Suantes, al. Sutates, al. Sutelates, qui sutelas texunt. Stitchers, coblers.

Sūtēla, æ; f. Plaut. à Suo; doloſæ astutiæ Sutelæ, à similitudine suentium dict. Fest. ψευδολογία, ἀλλοτριοπραγία. עמר. Guile, craft, subtilty, a crafty deceit, a covil, a cunning fetch.

† Sutelocaptriotrica, æ; m. Sen. ex sutela, captio, trica. A wrangling Sophister.

Suterina, vel Suterna, æ; f. Apul. à suo sutum; quomodò & Textorina dix. ὑφαντεῖον. It. ipsa sutura, sive opus sutorium, Var. ῥαφή. A shoo-makers shop, a coblers stall: also a seam, a sewing or sowing.

Sūtilis, le; Vir. à Suo. ῥαπτός. That is sewed or stitched. Sutile capillamentum, Jun. A cap or border of hair; a peruke. Corona sutilis, Plin. A garland of flowers stitched together with thread. Ɔ Pactilis, Id.

Sūtor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. à Suo; ῥάπτης, ὑποδηματοῤῥάφος. A sewer, a shoo-maker, a stitcher, a cobler.

Sūtōrius, a, um; Cic. ὁ τῦ ῥάπτου. Of or belonging to a sower or shoo-maker. Culter sutorius, Jun. A cutting, shaving or paring-knife.

† Sutriballus, i; m. Int. Juv. παλαιοῤῥάφος, i. sutor veteramentarius. A botcher, a cobler.

Sutrina, æ; f. Liv. sc. taberna, Tac. ῥαπτεῖον, Σκυτεῖον. A coblers or shoo-makers shop; a taylors shop, or the trade of such.

Sutrinum, ni; n. Sen. The shoo-makers trade.

Sutrinus, a, um; Tac. Belonging to a shoo-maker.

Sutrium ire; Proverb. To be ready with all his provision; V. Fest.

Sutrix, icis; f. verb. A seamster, a woman that liveth by sowing.

Sūtum, ti; n. A quilt.

Sūtūra, æ; f. Liv. à Suo: ῥαφή, ῥάμμα. A seam, a stitch, a joyning together: the line under a mans yard: also a suture, or joyning together of the bones in the head, Cels.

Sūtus, a, um; partic. à Suo, Vir. ἐῤῥαμμένος. Sowed, seamed, stitched, fastned together.

Suus, a, um; pronom. possess. à Gen. Sui, vel ab ἰός, ut à τοῦ τυός. Ἑαυτοῦ, ἰός. His, hers, his or her own; theirs or their own. Suum esse, Ulp. To be well in his wits. Sua mors, Sen. Natural death. Suum, Cic. What a man hath.

Suusmet; Tac. His or their own.

S ante Y.

* Syagros, i; m. σύαγρος, i. σῦς ἄγριος. aper ferus. Hinc Syagri, Certain Date-trees: à ferino sapore, quem fermè in apris novimus, evidentissiméque est causa nominis, Plin.

* Sybaris, is; f. Tibul. σύβαρις. à Sybaritis pop. A delicate or wanton living.

Sybariticus, a, um; Sid. à Sybaritis populis; συβαριτικός. Delicate, effeminate, wanton, costly.

* Sybaritis, idis; f. opus Hemitheonis de generibus voluptatum, Ovid.

* Sybărizo, as; G. ex Aug. Cubazeiz, deliciis, & genio indulgere, ut Sybarita.

* Sybōtes, æ; m. Manil. Συβώτης, qui τὺς Σῦας βόσκει. A swine-herd.

† Sycaminon, ōnis; f. R. ex Ulp. A kind of Mulberry-tree in Ægypt. Rather a Mulberry ground or orchard. συκάμινον. ut Ἀκρόπολις, &c. Et est m. g. also a kind of wine made of figs, Plin. 14. 16.

* Sycaminum, i; n. Συκάμινον. morum. Συκόμορα, qu. σύκων ἄμεινα, nempe ob saporis præstantiam, quòd ficubus sapiant meliùs. A mulberry.

Sycaminus, i; f. Græci morum sycaminum appell. Cels. A mulberry fig-tree.

* Sycites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 1. Συκίτης, gemma à fici colore dicta. A precious stone in colour like a fig. ◊ It. Bacchus sic dict. Lacedæmoniis, quòd ficum ab eo inventam putarent, Cæl. Rhod.

Sycomorum, ri; n. Συκόμορον. The fruit of the Sycomore-tree.

Sycomōrus, ri; f. arbor foliis mori; Συκόμορος, שקמה. ex Συκῆ ficus, & μορέα morus: qu. fatuam ficum dixeris, Ulp. A sycomore, a great tree like a fig-tree. It may be called the mulberry fig-tree. = Morosycos, Cels.

* Sycon, i; n. Mart. gr. σῦκον. A fig.

* Sycophanta, æ; m. Plaut. Συκοφάντης. תולד רכיל. Sycophantas hac de causâ quidam dictos putant. Atticos quondam juvenes solitos aiunt in hortos quorundam irrumpere, ficúsque deligere, quam ob causam legem factam, qui id fecisset, capitale esset ei, quam pœnam qui persequerentur ob parvula detrimenta sycophantas appellatos. Hæc Fest. Sycophantæ ex cupiditate aliis faccssendi negotii nomen factum aiunt: nam cùm Athenis vetitum esset efferre ficus, qui eos deferebant accusábantque sunt appellati Sycophantæ, Plut. Sycophanta igitur παρὰ τὸ τὰ Σῦκα φαίνειν, i. à ficuum delatione. A false accuser, a sycophant, a bearer of tales, an informer, a tell-tale, a pick-thank, a trepan.

* Sycophantia, æ; f. Plaut. συκοφαντία. False dealing, deceit, a false accusation, a slanderous information. = Dolus, astutia.

Sycophantice; adv. Plaut. Συκοφαντικῶς. Like a sycophant.

† Sycophantiose; adv. Plaut. idem. Knavishly, slanderously.

* Sycophantisso, as; Plaut. Συκοφαντίζω. To accuse or slander falsly, to deal deceitfully.

Sycophantor, āris; Plaut. Συκοφαντέω. To play the sycophant.

* Sycōsis; f. Plin. à similitudine ficûs: σύκωσις. A disease in the fundament, making a wart like a fig: also a disease in the eye: also a fault in corn.

Syderālis, le; Of or belonging to the Stars. Syderalis scientia, Plin. Astrology or Astronomy.

Syderātio; f. verb. Plin. Blasting of trees with great heat: also a taking or numming when one looses the use of his limbs: also a mans horoscope, or ascent of ones nativity, Jul. Firm.

Syderātus, a, um; part. Plin. ἀστροπλήξ. Blasted, planet-struck, taken, benummed.

Syděreus, a, um; Vir. ἀστερεύς. Of or belonging to the Stars or Planets; starry, decked with Stars; heavenly, lofty, high.

Syderor, āris; pass. Plin. ἀστροβολεῖσθαι. To be blasted or planet-struck.

Sydus, ĕris; n. ἄστρον. A Star; a Sign or Constellation of Stars; a Planet; particularly the Sun or Moon, Plin. also blasting, when one is planet-struck; Mart. also honour or glory, Ovid. Vid. Sidus.

Syllāba, bæ; f. Cic. Συλλαβή, à Συλλαμβάνειν, i. comprehendere. וך, Rabb. A syllable.

Syllābatim; a lv. Cic. Συλλαβάς.

By ſyllables, ſyllable by ſyllable.

Syllăbĭcus, a, um; Gram. Συλλαβικός. Pertaining to ſyllables.

Syllăbus, i; m. Jun. Σύλλαβος, ὑλαγχος. An Index of the words, or chief heads of a book, a Table.

Syllaceus color, Vitruv. Purple colour.

† Syllaterium; Niceteria ſyllateria ſunt, Schol. in Juv. rect. ſyllateria, pro phylacteria.

Syllatūrio, is, ivi, ire; à Sylla dictatore. To have a deſire to do as Sylla did, i. to baniſh and murder men.

* Syllepſis, is; f. Gram. σύλληψις, i. conceptio, comprehenſio; cùm pluralis dictio ſingulari verbo copulatur, aut ſingularis plurali; aut cùm pro multis unus ponitur, & pro uno multi. Vide Cal.

Syllŏgĭſmus, mi; m. Quint. Συλλογισμός, lat. collectio, Sen. ἀπὸ τῦ Συλλογίζεσθαι, i. ratiocinari: rationum collectio. A ſyllogiſm, a kind of argument or reaſoning.

Syllogiſtĭcus, a, um; Logic. Συλλογιστικός. Belonging to diſputation, ſyllogiſtical.

Sylva, æ; f. à gr. ὕλη idem. ὕλη, ὁ ξυλώδης. ΥΛΗ. Sylva, Iſid. qu. xylina, à ξύλον lignum. A wood or foreſt; ſometimes it is ſpoken of vines, ſometimes of herbs, Vir. a buſh: a ſtore, ſtock or plenty, Cic. of matter digeſted together: alſo a work or writing made or ruſſled up in haſte, Quint. a Miſcellany. Mater ſylvæ, G. ex Scribon. Wood-bine or honey-ſuckle.

Sylvānus, i; m. Vir. Θεὸς ὑλικὸς vel ὑλαῖος. The God of the woods. Vid. Prop.

Sylvātĭcus, a, um; Plin. ὑλικός. Of or belonging to a wood. Falx ſylvatica, Cato. A hedging-bill or bill to lop trees.

Sylveſco, ĭs, ĕre; incept. Cic. ob nimiam ramorum ſarmentorúmque ubertatem luxuriare. ὑλομανῶ. To wax wild, to grow into woods or buſhes.

Sylveſter, hæc ſtris, hoc ſtre; & Hic & hæc Sylveſtris, & hoc Sylveſtre; à Sylva, Cic. ὑλικὸς, ὑλαῖος, ὑλώδης. Of a wood or foreſt, full of trees or wood, woody: alſo wild, ſavage, uplandiſh, rude, homely, of the field or counirey, ἀγρεύς, ἀγρικός.

Sylveſtrior, us; comp. Plin. More wild.

Sylvĭcŏla, æ; c. g. Propert. qui incolit ſylvas; ὑλαῖος, ὑλικοίτης. A dweller in a wood, a wood-man, a foreſter.

Sylvĭcultrix, icis; f. Cerva ſylvicultrix, Catul. ex Sylva & Colo: ὑλαῖος. Abiding in the woods.

Sylvĭfrăgus, a, um; Lucr. ὑλορρᾶγής. That breaketh woods.

Sylvĭger, a, um; Plin. ὑλοφόρος. That beareth woods.

Sylvōſus, a, um; Liv. ὑλώδης, ὑλαῖος. Full of trees or woods, woody.

Sylvŭla, æ; f. dim. Col. ὑλάριον. A little foreſt or wood, a Copſ.

† Symballōta, Hermol. à Συμβάλλω, quæ coacta per ſe velleris implexu, potiùs quàm textu confecta.

Symbŏla, æ; f. Plaut. συμβολή, i. collatio. A ſhot or club, ones ſhare in a reckoning.

† Symbŏlæus, a, um; Apul. συμβόλαιος. Pertaining to covenants or bargains.

Symbŏlĭcus, a, um; Theol. ad ſymbolum pertinens, figuratus. Symbolical, myſterious, figurative.

Symbŏlum, li; n. Plin. σύμβολον, à συμβάλλειν. ſimul jacere, conferre. אות. A ſign or badge to know one by, a cogniſance; a token given to one, a private note, a watch-word; a ſhort and intricate ſentence or riddle, a Motto, a Device, a poſie in a ring; a bill, bond or ſpecialty, Plaut. alſo a paſs-port, Bud. a ſhot or club at a meeting, Ter. a ſymbol, or ſign in the Sacrament: alſo a Creed, Eccl.

Symbŏlus, i; m. Plaut. A mark or token, a note or ſign, a character, a ticket.

* Symmĕtria, æ; f. Plin. Συμμετρία. Due proportion of each thing to other in reſpect of the whole, ſymmetry.

* Symmĕtros, σύμμετρος, id eſt, commenſurativus, moderativus, Bud. Proportionable.

Symmĕtrum, tri; n. σύμμετρον. A proportion. Symmetra diſſona, Prud. Diſproportions.

* Symmyſta, æ; m. συμμύστης, qui ſimul eſt myſta. A Secretary or one of the Privy Council; a fellow-Prieſt.

Symōniānum, vel Symoniacum, trifolium; Col. 6.7. mendosè pro Siler montanum, Jun. ξυτρίφυλλον, ἀσφάλιον. A kind of three leaved graſs.

* Sympăthia, æ; f. Cic. Συμπάθεια, ex Σύν, i. ſimul, & πάσχω πάθον, patior: compaſſio. Sympathy, the natural agreement of things; a fellow-feeling, compaſſion.

* Symphōnēſis; f. Gram. Συμφώνησις. A collision of vowels, when two ſyllables are pronounced as one.

* Symphōnia, æ; f. Cic. Συμφωνία, i. conſonantia; ex Σὺν & φωνὴ vox, ſonus: Συμφωνεῖν, eſt conſonare vel concinere. Concent in tune, harmony, a conſort of Muſick; a tunable ſinging without jarring: alſo an herb of divers colours, Plin. Henbane, Apul. = Gumphena, Plin.

Symphōniăca, æ; f. Pallad. ſc. herba. à ſymphoniacæ fiſtulæ ſimilitudine. The herb called Henbane.

Symphōniăcus, a, um; Συμφωνιακός. Of or belonging to concent and harmony. Symphoniaci pueri, Cic. Singing-boyes, choriſters.

Symphōniăcus, ci; m. Jun. A trumpetir in ſhips of war.

† Symphōnicus, a, um; idem quod Symphoniacus, G. ex Arnob.

† Symphrădes, Cic. l. 2. de leg. alii legunt, Symphratores, i. contribules, ſimul φράτορες. al. Symphreatides, qu. ſocii unius φρέατος, i. putei: alii Symphradmones, Συμφράδμων qui Συμφράζεται, ſimul conſilia agitat, M.

* Symphyton, i; n. Plin. Σύμφυτον. lat. Soldago. à Συμφύειν conglutinare. The herb Wallwort or Comfrey, or Bugle.

Sympinium, ii; n. uti Jun. legit pro Simpuvium. Συμπίνιον, à Συμπίνειν ſimul potare: al. leg. Simpuſium; al. Simpivium. A kind of wooden wine-veſſel, uſed of old in their Holy rites and Divine ſervices; a ſtone-jug or pitcher; a drinking-cup, Arnob.

† Symplātor, vel Sympulator, ōris; m. amicus ſponſi, qui cum eo per convivia ambulat, Beroald. in Suet. V. Simplator.

* Symplegma, ătis; n. Mart. σύμπλεγμα, lat. Complexus: à Συμπλέκειν connectere. An imbracing or clipping: alſo a famed piece of marble work, lively reſembling two boyes, clipping and kiſſing one another, Plin. 36. 5.

* Symplŏce, es; f. Rhet. Συμπλοκὴ, Lat. complexus; Figura cùm repetitio fit in principiis & clauſulis.

† Symplŏnes; Arn. The bridegrooms gueſts.

† Sympōdium, dii; n. Bud. A little bed. Rect. Scimpodium.

* Sympŏſium, ii; n. Cic. Συμπόσιον, compotatio; lat. Convivium: à Συμπίνειν à compotando. A drinking together, a feaſt, a banquet.

* Symptōma, ătis; n. Medic. σύμπτωμα. quod accidit, ex Συμπίπτω ſimul cado. A ſymptom, ſign or token diſcovering what the patients diſtemper is.

* Symptōmăticus, a, um; Συμπτωματικός, ad Symptoma pertinens.

† Sympulla, æ; f. ut quidam leg. pro Simpuvium.

Sympullum, i; n. Plin. à ſumendo, Var. κύαθος. A kind of earthen cup uſed in ſacrifice.

* Synæresis; f. Gram. Συναίρεσις, ex Συναιρεῖν contrahere. A contraction of two ſyllables or vowels into one.

Synăgōga, æ; f. Bibl. Συναγωγὴ, ἀπὸ τῦ Συνάγειν congregare. A congregation or an aſſembly, a Synagogue.

* Synălœpha, æ; f. Gram. Συναλοιφὴ, à Συναλείφειν conglutinare, propterea quòd per eam duæ in unam coaleſcant ſyllabæ. A collision of a vowel left out in ſcanning.

* Synanche, es; f. Celſ. Συνάγχη, lat. Angina, à Συνάγχω coango. The diſeaſe called the Squincy.

† Synanchicus, a, um; Theod. Priſc. Pertaining to, or troubled with the Squincy.

* Synathrœſmus; m. Rhet. Συναθροισμὸς, à Συναθροίζειν. Figura eſt quam nos congeriem vertere poſſumus, cùm plura diverſa congeruntur.

* Synaxis, is; f. Eccl. σύναξις. A congregation, a gathering together, an aſſembly: alſo the Sacrament of the Lords Supper, the Holy Communion.

Syncătēgŏrēma, ătis; n. Logic. Συγκατηγόρημα, qu. conſignificativum, cujuſmodi ſunt quæ à Dialecticis vocantur Signa univerſalia & particularia, ut omnis, nullus, quidam; quæ per ſe ipſa nihil quidem ſignificant, ſed orationem ingreſſa aliarum vocum compoſitioni non-nihil addunt.

* Syncătēgŏrēmătĭcus, a, um; Log. Συγκατηγορηματικὸς, i. conſignificativus.

† Syncellus, i; m. σύγκελλος. qui proximus erat Patriarchæ, cellam cum eo communem habens. A Biſhops Suffragan.

† Syncĕraſtum; Var. ex Pacuv. Συγκέρασον, omne edulium; à Συγκεράννυμι commiſceo. All kind of meat.

Syncērē; adv. Cic. Sincerely.

Syncerĭſſĭmus, a, um; ſuperl. Gell. Moſt ſincere.

Syncērĭtas, ātis; f. Plin. ἀκεραιότης. Sincerity, integrity: alſo ſoundneſs or healthineſs, Val. Max.

† Syncērĭter; adv. Gell. Sincerely.

Syncērus, a, um; qui Σὺν κηρὶ cum corde: εἰλικρινὴς, καθαρὸς. טהור. Sincerus, pure, neat, without mixture, entire, tire, whole, ſound, upright, untouchi. = Simplex, ſanctus, verus, ſubtilis, integer, Cic. ☞ Simulatus, fucatus, Id.

* Synchrōnos ; c. g. on ; n. Hieron. σύγχρονον. Of one time or ſtanding, contemporary.

* Synchyſis, is ; f. Rhet. σύγχυσις, Lat. confuſio reddi poteſt, unde accipitur pro Figura ſeu vitio orationis, cùm ordo perturbatus eſt, quod & hyperbaton dicitur. Confuſion, diſorder.

Synciput, itis ; n. Plin. βρίγμα. The forepart or the head: alſo an hogs cheek ſowſed, Perſ.

* Syncŏpa, æ ; f. Veget. Συγκοπή, conciſio, Priſc. à Συγκόπτω concido. Figuræ nomen, cùm litera vel ſyllaba è medio dictionis abſciditur.

* Syncope, es ; f. Veget. Συγκοπή, i. defectio. A fainting or ſwooning, when the body is ſtiff, and the limbs cannot move.

† Syncŏpo, as ; neut. Veget. To faint or ſwoon.

* Syncriſis, is ; f. Rhet. σύγκρισις. A compariſon of things or perſons contrary.

Syndĭcus, ci ; m. Bud. σύνδικος, qui Reipublicæ vel Univerſitatis alicujus defenſor eſt. An Advocate or an Attorney for the commonalty of a City ; a Burgeſs, a Recorder of a Town.

* Synecdŏche, es ; f. Gram. Συνεκδοχή, à Συνεκδέχομαι, unà accipio vel recipio. A Figure when a part is underſtood by the whole ; or the whole by the part ; the general for the ſpecial, and contra.

Synecdŏchĭcus, a, um ; f. Gram. Of the figure Synecdoche.

* Synecphōnēſis, is ; f. Gram. Συνεκφώνησις. id. quod Symphoneſis.

* Synedrion vel Synedrium, συνέδριον. Rabb. סנהדרין, locus ubi Synedri conveniunt. A Council-houſe, an Aſſembly, as the Jewiſh Sanhedrin ; a Council or Colledge in Cities and Boroughs, to hear and determine cauſes, Pancirol.

* Synedrus, i ; m. Liv. Συνέδρος. conſeſſor, conſiliarius ; qui unà hab. ישב. Of the ſame aſſembly or council, a counſellor, a Senator, one who ſits on the Bench.

* Synemmĕnon rite, B. Fa, B. Mi. Synemmenon paranete, Boët. C. Sol, Fa. Nete Synemmenon, Boët. D. La, Sol.

* Synephēbi ; Cic. Συνέφηβοι. Striplings of one age ; the Title of an old Play of Statius Cæcilius.

Syngrăpha, æ ; f. Cic. Συγγραφή, à Συγγράφειν, quòd utriuſque manu ſignata, utrique parti ſervanda traderetur, Aſcon. A writing or deed under the hand and ſeal of both parties ; an obligation, bill or bond between two or more ; a quittance ; a ſpecialty ; a Paſs or Paſs-port.

Syngrăphum, i ; n. Suet. A bill or bond under ones hand.

Syngrăphus, i ; m. Plaut. A bill or bond.

* Synizēſis, is ; f. Gram. Συνίζησις. qu. conſiſtentia ; cùm duæ vocales, aut vocalis & diphthongus in unam ſyllabam quaſi conſidunt, M.

* Synnephites, æ ; m. Plin. 37. 10. Συννεφίτης, ex Σὺν & νέφος, gemma conſimilis nubibus. A ſtone of the colour and taſte of milk.

* Synochitis, idis ; f. Synochitide umbras inferorum evocatas teneri dicunt, Plin. 37. 11. Συνοχίτις ſc. λίθος, à Συνέχω continco. A ſtone whereby ( as Magicians ſay ) ghoſts are raiſed up.

* Synŏchus, chi ; m. Medic. σύνοχος, à Συνέχω continuo. A continual fever.

Synŏdālis, le ; Eccl. Belonging to a Synod.

Synŏdĭcus, a, um ; adj. Hier. Συνοδικός. Pertaining or ſerving to an aſſembly. Synodica luna, Firm. The Moon in conjunction. Apud Aſtronomos motus Synodicus eſt, quando ſtella ad idem punctum vel ſtellam revertit, licèt illud punctum vel ſtella aliquantiſper moveatur.

* Synŏdites, æ ; m. Monachos etiam, quos Synoditas vocant, Cod. Συνοδίτης, qui in Synodio ſive cœnobio cum aliis vivit. A Monk or Fryer in a cloiſter : as ſome, one of the Synod ; as others, an inferiour Monk, who attends upon the Superiours when they go abroad.

* Synŏdium, ii ; n. Cic. Συνόδιον, ex σὺν & ὁδὸς, comitatus in vià, converſatio hominum qui ſimul eunt, locus ubi ſimul vivunt. In phyſicis, coitus lunæ cum ſole. A meeting, a conference, a congreſs ; a convent ; the New Moon or conjunction of Sun and Moon.

* Synŏdontes ; m. pl. Plin. piſces, à Σύνοδους ſimul dentatus. Συνόδους ὁ ἰχθὺς, dentiti, dentex, Gl. A kind of ſea-fiſh.

* Synŏdontites, æ ; m. Plin. Συνοδοντίτης. dict. quia ex cerebro piſcium, qui ſynodontes voc. A ſtone taken out of the brain of that fiſh.

* Synŏdus, di ; f. Amm. Σύνοδος, i. conventus. An aſſembly of men, a general Counſil, a Synod.

* Synœcēſis ; f. Rutil. Συνοικείωσις. Figura eſt, quæ docet diverſas res conjungere, & communi opinioni cum ratione adverſari.

* Synœcium ; n. Συνοίκιον. i. Contubernium. Qui in eodem Synœcio potat, Petron. A lodging, an Inn, or houſe of entertainment.

* Synōnyma, ōrum ; n. pl. Gram. Συνώνυμα. Words of one ſignification ; ut Enſis, gladius.

* Synōnymia, æ ; f. Priſc. Συνωνυμία. Figura quæ communio nominis interpretatur. Utimur eo genere elocutionis, quoties uno verbo non ſatis videmur dignitatem rei aut magnitudinem demonſtrare ; ut Proſtravit, perculit, afflixit. A Figure, when divers words are uſed of the ſame ſignification.

* Synōnymus, a, um ; Gram. Συνώνυμος, lat. Univocus : ex Σὺν ſimul, & ὄνομα nomen : cognominis, idem habens nomen cum alio. Synonymous, of the ſame name ; of the ſame ſignification.

* Synopſis, is ; f. Ulp. σύνοψις, ex σὺν ſimul, & ὄπτομαι video : quòd quæ latè patent in unum contracta ſimul omnia conſpici poſſunt. An inventory, a brief.

* Syntagma, ătis ; n. σύνταγμα, ἀπὸ τοῦ Συντάττειν, i. à componendo & ordinando. A Treatiſe or large diſcourſe upon a ſubject.

* Syntaxis, eos ; f. Gram. σύνταξις, i. ordinatio ſive conſtructio dictionum ; Priſc. à Συντάττειν, i. componere & ordinare. Conſtruction, or order of conſtruction ; Syntax.

* Syntectĭcus, a, um ; Plin. Συντηκτικὸς, à Syntexis. Deep in a conſumption.

* Syntērēſis, is ; f. Συντήρησις conſervatio, à Συντηρέω conſervo ; ea pars animæ, quæ vitiis adverſatur, & ſeſe ſemper immaculatam cupit à peccatis ſervare, Hier. Al. ſcrib. Synderesis.

* Syntexis, is ; f. Plin. σύντηξις colliquatio & tabes corporis ex diuturno morbo, à Συντήκεσθαι, i. liquefieri. A deep conſumption, a lingring ſickneſs that waſtes the body.

* Synthēma, ătis ; n. Digeſt. σύνθημα, à Συντίθεσθαι, componi, paciſci. A token given to ſouldiers when they are ready to fight ; a watch-word : alſo a paſs-port for thoſe who rode poſt : alſo furniture for a poſt-horſe, Pancirol.

Synthesĭna, æ ; f. Suet. ſc. veſtis ; una ex Syntheſi. Συνθήσιον ἔνδυμα, Dio. A rich garment, or piece of a rich holyday ſuit.

* Synthĕſis, is ; f. Gram. σύνθεσις, compoſitio, ἀπὸ τοῦ Συντίθεναι, quod eſt componere. A figure when a Noun collective ſingular is joyned with a Verb plural : alſo a garment uſed of the Romans in their Saturnal Feaſts, Mart. alſo a ſuit of cloaths ; a whole wardrobe with all the apparel and wearing furniture therein preſerved and kept, Scævol. alſo a ſet or neſt or garniſh of veſſels one within another, Stat. alſo a compoſition in phyſick, Qu. Sereb. ☞ Item eſt figura contraria Analyſi.

* Syntŏnum, i ; n. Syntonorum modis ſaltitantes, Quint. σύντονον, ſc. Scabellum, quod pede pulſatum inter ſymphoniacos modum daret tono ſive voci ; quod qui fecit, is Syntonarius dict. Salm.

† Syntyros ; R. ex Plin. A kind of Serpent.

† Syphărium, rii ; n. Prob. A curtain hanging before the minſtrels when they ſing. rect. Siparium.

† Sypho, ōnis ; m. id eſt, fiſtula, Cornut. A pipe. Rect. Sipho, σίφων.

† Syrapa, pæ ; f. Jun. A ſyrup : alſo a kind of pickling of olives, Col.

Syriăcus, a, um ; Of Syria. Syriacus ros, Col. An honey dew, airy dew, Manna. Syriacus raphanus, Id. A ſweet kind of radiſh. Syriaca radix, Id. The root of the herb Angelica. Syriacus lapis, Solin. A ſtone found in Paleſtine, the powder whereof cures the ſtone in the bladder.

† Syricum, ci ; n. Plin. Συρικόν. à Syria. A colour mixt of ſinoper and ruddle. Vid. Scyricum.

* Syringites ; m. gemma quæ ſtipula internodio ſimilis eſt, ac perpetuâ fiſtulâ cavatur, Plin. 37. 10. Συριγγίτης.

Syringium, ii ; n. Macer. Συρίγγιον. An ulcer or ſore like a Fiſtula.

Syringius ; Plin. utiliſſimus fiſtulis. A kind of cane or reed, all hollow.

Syrinx, gis ; f. σύριγξ. חליל, שרק, Συρίζειν Sibilare. A flute, a pipe or recorder, a reed, a ſquirt, a ſyringe ; alſo a ſore called a Fiſtula. It. idem quod Strix, Vitr. A chamfer or fret in maſonry : alſo a hole or mine under ground, Amm.

Syriſcus, ci ; m. Cæl. Rhod. Συρίσκος. דוד. A wicker veſſel wherein they were wont to keep figs.

* Syrites, æ ; m. Plin. Συρίτης, in veſicâ lupi lapillus, à σύρειν, quòd eam purget.

purget. A ſtone found in the bladder of a Wolf.

* Syrma, ătis; n. Mart. σύρμα. quòd trahatur, Donat. à σύρω traho. A train or trail of a womans gown: a long garment that tragick players uſed, Juv. A long train of words.

Syrmæa, æ; f. Cæl. Rhod. Συρμαία. A meat made of fat and honey, the prize of ſome exerciſe among the Spartans: alſo a kind of radiſh.

Syrmaticus, a, um; Syrmaticum jumentum, Veget. A foundred Jade, that can ſcarce draw his legs after him.

† Syropicon; R. ex Plin. A kind of earth from Samos.

Syrpe, is; n. Solin. A ſhrub in Cyrene, called the Benzoin. Rect. ſcrib. Sirpe.

Syrpicus, a, um; Lac Syrpicum, Solin. A fat dewy ſubſtance that iſſueth out of the ſhrub Syrpe.

* Syrtis, is; f. Sal. σύρτις. ἀπὸ τῦ σύρειν, qu. σύρσις, i. trahens. A quick-ſand or ſhelf made by the drift of ſand and gravel.

* Syrtites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 10. Συρτίτης, dict. quòd in litore Syrtium reperiatur. A precious ſtone found in the ſands on the African ſhore; a kind of Saphir, Marbod.

Syrūpus, pi; m. Jun. Σιρόπιον. à σύρω traho; vel qu. Συρίας ὑπὸς, i. quo Syri, populus delicatiſſimus impensè delectabantur. rect. ab Arab. שראב potio. A Syrup. Vide Sirupus.

Syrus, i; m. σύρ. Syros vocant barbari circa Caucaſum, quos ita ſolerter abſcondunt, ut niſi qui defoderint invenire non poſſint: in iis conditæ fruges erant, Curt. λάκκ. In ſcrobibus, quos Syros vocant, Plin. Syrus item Scopas ſignif. à Græco σύρειν, Non. ex Var. A cave or vault under ground where wheat or other corn was laid up and kept.

† Syſimbrium; Var. Water-creſſes.

* Syſſitia, ōrum; n. συσσίτια, convivium commune, Laconum inſtitutum. The feaſts of Companies in their Halls.

* Syſſitieteris, idis; f. G. ex Plin. ex σύσσιτος conviva & ἑταῖρος ſocius. An herb of good fellowſhip, cauſing mirth or merriment.

* Syſtēma, ătis; n. Jun. σύστημα, ex Συνίστημι. The compaſs of a Song; a ſyſtem, the body of a Science.

* Syſtole, es; f. Gram. συστολὴ, contractio. A Figure of proſodia, whereby a long ſyllable is made ſhort; the contraction of the heart and pulſe, after every gulp of blood, Med.

* Syzeugmenon, Muſic. συνεζευγμένον. ex σὺν & ζευγνύω jungo. B. Fa. B. Mi. Jun.

* Syzygia, æ; f. Med. συζυγία. conjugatio: ex ζυγὸς jugum. The pairs of nerves that convey ſenſe from the brain to the reſt of the body ſo called: alſo the conjunction of the Moon with the Sun, Aſtron. Alſo the coupling or clapping of different feet together in verſe, Gram.

T, t. gr. Τ, τ, ת. heb. ת. Ang. T, t. litera muta in tertio ordine; τ, δ, θ. t, d, th. Figuram ſumpſit Latina à Græcâ, niſi quòd minuſcula t lineam tranſverſam in medium ferè erectæ demittat. Uſurpant & aliam Græci, reſectâ verticis parte dextrâ, non tam compendii, quàm ornatûs gratiâ, cùm duo τ concurrant; ut ἄτλα. Itidem Græci & ſuum Ταῦ ab Hebræis mutuati, quibus ſimiliter תּו Tau vocatur, mutatâ paullùm figurâ; quippe qui altero pede ſublato alterum in medio reliquerint. Imò, ſi qua Origeni fides, quem ſecutus eſt & D. Hieronymus, Tau Samariticum antiquitùs ipſiſſimum erat T Latinum ſive Græcum. Quod & comprobatum eunt ex Ezechielis capite nono; ubi LXX Seniores habent Δὸς σημεῖον ἐπὶ τὰ μέτωπα, Aquila verò & Theodotion reddunt, Σημειώσεις τὸ Ταῦ, id eſt, uti exponit Tertullianus, Scribe ſignum Tau in frontibus. Quid illud? nempe ſignum crucis, (non meis verbis utor, ſed Hieronymianis,) quæ in Chriſtianorum frontibus pingitur; quòd hæc litera apud antiquos, quod ipſe ait, crucis haberet ſimilitudinem; quæ ſcil. duplici ligno conſtaret, arrectario & tranſverſario. Porrò Æthiopes, quos Abyſſinos vocant, veram etiamnum retinent crucis figuram, quòd verticem etiam habeat, in quo ſcribatur titulus, qui noſtris deeſt. Neque nomen ipſum hanc rationem abnuit; quum תו & terminum ſignificet, putà quòd extrema ſit in Alphabeto litera, & ſignum, nimirùm (ſi magnos illos quos laudavi viros audies) crucis. Græci habent & aliam figuram, quâ carent Latini, ad exprimendam hujus elementi aſpirationem, viz. Θ, ϑ, θ. quam Θῆτα nuncupant ex heb. טית, chald. טיתא Tetha, trajectâ literali poteſtate Theta. Nam ipſi Hebræi pro th ת Raphatum adhibent; pro ſimplici t ט vel etiam ת Dageſch lene notatum: at cum aliquo, ni fallor, diſcrimine; cui rei vel hoc argumento eſt, quòd in conjugatione reciprocâ ת poſt aliquam ſibilantium tranſpoſitum, poſt ש & ס quidem maneat; ut השתמר: at poſt צ mutetur in ט; ut הצטוק, poſt ז (quod fortioris eſt ſoni) in ד, ut הזדמן. Proinde uti ד duriùs ſonat quàm ז, ità ט ipſo ת indurato magis durum eſt. Neque Arabes hanc rationem ignotam habuêre; qui non modò ſpiritum ſed & blæſitatem ſuo t tribuerunt. Feſtino ad reliqua. Magna eſt cognatio inter t & d: ut ex δάς, in Acc. τὴν δᾶδα, tæda; ex σπυρὶς, τὴν σπυρίδα diceretur ſporta: & olim Alexanter, Caſſantra, Fabio teſte, ſcriberetur etiam in publicis Urbis operibus. Hinc & Patavium dictum, quòd Pado vicinum eſſet. Vice versâ t in d ſæpè migravit, ut κίταρις cidaris; τυρόεις, τυρῆς, τὸν τυρῆντα, turunda: idque in Græcis vocibus obtinuit, ubi τ poſt ν reperiebatur; unde ea lis orta priſco philoſophorum ævo, ὁντελέχεια ne an ἐνδελέχεια ſcribi deberet. Nec Latinis hæc mutatio inſolens; ut à mentior mendax, à quatuor quadra. Multa ſunt, quæ hùc congeri poſſent; niſi quòd opportunior detur locus adeò in ipſo operis aditu. Enimverò quum apud Atticos τ vicinum ς frequenter ſedibus ſuis expellat, quamobrem injuriarum cum eo agitur apud Lucianum; in latifundio Latino contrà eſt ubi non recuſet t cedere τῷ s, ut ναυτία nauſea, ῥητίνη reſina; ità tamen ut in conjugandis verbis ſimplex t mutetur in duplex s, ut quatio quaſſi, meto meſſui; duplex autem t in ſimplex s commigret; ut mitto miſi. Simili ratione à flecto fit flexi pro flecſi. Admittit poſt ſe in initio ρ, ut trabo; item l apud veteres, ut ſllites, pro quo nunc lites; & ulatum (quaſi à τλάω, τλῶ) pro quo pòſt latum à fero. Sed hoc ſolenne eſt Græcis, ut l, etiam m ſequatur t; ut Ilepolemus, Tmolus. Ante ſe initiis vocum Græcarum aſſumit c & p, ut Cteſipho, Ptolomæus: & in Latinarum mediis, ut aptus, doctus: ubi non erit ita diſtinguendum uti vulgus Grammaticorum dictitat, a-ptus, do-ctus, ſed ap-tus, doc-tus; ſicut non ipſa duntaxat pronunciatio evincit, ſed & natura rei expoſcit; cùm ap & doc ſint de eſſentiâ (uti loquuntur) vocis, tus autem aſcititia terminatio. Quòd t ante vocalem i ſequente aliâ vocali ſonet ut s. c. (vel, quod aliis placet, ut τζ) v. g. ratio, ſcientia; id à Gothis factum, qui ſibilum iſtum veteribus ignotum & inauditum in Latium invexêre. Mirum ni & hæc barbaries etiam materiam arti præberet. Præbuit; ea eſt Grammaticorum diligentia. Τι ante vocalem ſonat ſi. Excipiuntur hinc, quæ habent s ante t; ut juſtior, quæſtio, &c. propria nomina, peregrina quæ ſint; ut Clitius, Lampetia; & pauca quædam alia; ut tiara; mittier pro mitti; vitium in Gen. plur. à vitis, nè vitium facere videatur.

T ante A.

TAbācum, i; n. herba ab inſulâ Tabaco, ubi copiosè provenit, ita dicta: vocatur & Nicotiana, à Nicotio inventore, qui primus eam ex Indiâ ad nos adduxit. Indi ſuâ linguâ Piciel vocant. Tobacco, an herb that grows in the Weſt Indies, and is now almoſt all the world over ſmoaked in pipes. Raphael Torius a Doctor of Phyſick hath writ an ingenious Poem in commendation of it.

Tābānus, ni; m. Var. dict. à Tabe, quod corpore tabeat, i. gracilis ſit. οἶστρος, μύωψ. An ox-fly, a gad-bee, a breeze; a dun-fly.

Tābĕfăcio, is, ĕre; unde paſſ. Tabefio, is; Celſ. ἐκτήκομαι. To be rotted or waſted away.

Tăbella, æ; f. Cic. dim. à Tabula: πινάκιον, πινακίσκος, Ξανθίον. A table to write on, a tablet or little table: alſo a letter or epiſtle, Ovid.

Tăbellāria, ium, ibus; n. plur. Sen. An inſtrument of torture, made of ſeveral little boards.

Tăbellārius, a, um; Cic. πινακικός. Belonging to tables: alſo to carriers, or auditours. Navis tabellaria, Sen. An advice-frigat; a packet-boat.

Tăbellārius, rii; m. Cic. qui portat tabellas, i. literas: γραμματοφόρος ℌ. סלאן. A letter-carrier: alſo an auditour, a keeper of a regiſter, λογιστής. A Scrivener or common Notary, Sidon.

Tabellio, ōnis; m. Juſtin. ἀγορῖος, νομικός. qui ſcribit tabellas, & in ſpecie publicas, eaſdémque cuſtodit, Pap. Scrivener

Scrivener or Notary, a publick Regiſter: alſo a carrier of letters.

Tābeus, tis; part. Vir. Pining.

Tābeo, ēs, ui, ēre; neut. Vir. τήκομαι, φθίνω, μαραίνομαι. נמק. To conſume or pine away, to weare or waſte away; to corrupt, rot, periſh and decay; to melt.

Tāberna, æ; f. Cic. à tabulis quibus clauditur aut contegitur, Ulp.. plenè Taberna, Scal. aut à trabibus validioribus, quibus ſuperiora ſuſpenduntur, qu. trabena, Donat. καπηλεῖον, οἴκημα. A tavern or victualling-houſe, an hoſtelry or houſe of entertainment; any houſe made of boards; any tradeſmans ſhop, work-houſe or ware-houſe. ἐργαστήριον. Taberna libraria, Jun. A Book-ſellers or Stationers ſhop.

Tabernāculum, li; n. Cic. quòd taberne in modum ſit tabulis contectum: Σκηνὴ, κλισία, Σκήνωμα. אהל. A ſhed, ſhelter, or little ſhop made of boards, a tent, a pavilion, a tabernacle.

Tābernārius, a, um; Of or belonging to ſhops or taverns.

Tābernārius, rii; m. Cic. κάπηλος, οἰνοπώλης. A taverner, a vintner, a ſhop-keper; a tavern-haunter, Tert.

TABES, is; f. Ovid. à τήκω, Dor. τάκω, Scal. qu. ταπόσις, liquefaciens vitam vel vires. à τείνω extendo, M. an à θάπτω ſepelio, quòd ſit vivi hominis ταφὴ ſepultura quædam, cùm ita quis tabeat, ut cadaver εἰς τάφον φθίσις, πῆξις, σύντηξις, μάρανσις, τακεδών. A Conſumption, a waſting of the body, as in a hectick fever, a pining away, a conſtick; corruption, rottenneſs, gore-blood, the matter that comes from a wound, Vir. poiſon, infection, Lucr. the rotting and mouldering of trees, Plin.

Tābeſco, is, ĕre; incep. Cic. To melt or diſſolve; to conſume, or pine, rot, and waſte away.

Tābĭdus, a, um; à Tabeo, Vir. μαραντικός, φθιτικός. Corrupting, conſuming, pining away, waſting; rotten, periſhed, melted, Liv.

† Tābĭfĭcābĭlis, le; Non. ex Accio. That may be corrupted, or brought into a conſumption.

Tābĭfĭcus, a, um; Cic. φθορητικὸς, μαραντικός. That bringeth into a conſumption, pining or rotting away, apt to corrupt, contagious, poiſonous.

Tābĭfluus, a, um; Prud. ἀκμητικός. Flowing with corrupt matter.

Tābĭtūdo, inis; f. Plin. Cùrtæ, idem quod Tabes.

Tablinum, ni; n. Plin. qu. tabulinum, quòd ibi tabulas rationum habebant; vel quòd ex tabulis erat fabricatum: πινακοθήκη, χαρτοφυλάκιον. Any office of records, a Regiſter; a place in the court-yard to ſit in: alſo a ſummer parlour made of boards.

TABULA, æ; f. Cic. πίναξ, πλάξ. לוח. dim. à Taba inuſit. παρὰ τὸ τείνω, quoniam Tabulata in ædibus planitiem extendunt, Scal. imò ſi ab extenſione dicerit ἁμάρτοι à τείνω (unde τείνω extendo) Tabula, ut à φάω For, faris, Fabula. An pot. à Trabs, dim. Trabula, & r extrito Tabula. A Table, Var. a board, a plank; a writing-table; a writing; a letter, a book of accounts; a regiſter or record; an inſtrument or deed in law; a bill or bond; a plait in a garment, G. ex Tert. a pair of tables, Juv.

Tābŭlæ, ārum; f. Cic. literæ, quòd in tabulis ceratis olim ſcribebant; διαθῆκαι, γράμματα. Inſtruments, obligations, letters, writings, evidences, records, a will or teſtament. Publicæ tabulæ, Jun. Statute books. Tabulæ matrimoniales, Id. A contract of marriage. ◊ Tabulæ accepti & expenſi, Cic. Books of account.

Tābŭlāris, re; Plin. πλακώδης, Caudicis. Whereof boards, planks or tables may be made.

Tābŭlārium, rii; n. Cic. locus in quo tabulæ, i. inſtrumenta & literæ, & acta publica reponuntur, Serv. γραμματοφυλάκιον, πινακοθήκη. A place wherein regiſters or evidences are kept, the Chancery or Exchequer Office, the Rolls.

Tābŭlārius, a, um; Cod. πινακικός. Pertaining to writings or accounts.

Tābŭlārius, rii; m. Tacit. qui fide publicâ, ea quæ geſta ſunt in tabulas retert, & inſtrumenta publica conficit: γραμματεύς. A Scrivener, a publick Notary, a caſter of accounts, λογιστής. Ulp.

Tābŭlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cæſ. σανίδωσις. מקרה. A joyning or cloſing of boards, a boarding, flooring or making with boards: alſo a boarded floor, a building made of boards; a ſieling.

Tābŭlātor; m. Verb. Vitruv. He that ſieleth, a joyner.

Tābŭlātum, ti; n. Liv. σανίδωμα. A boarded floor, a loft, a ſcaffold, a ſtage, a ſtory or room of a houſe.

Tabulātus, a, um; Pl. jun. σανιδωτός. Boarded, planked, made of boards.

Tābŭlo, as; act. σανίδωσι. קרה. To board a floor or other place, to make a thing of boards.

Tābum, bi; n. Vir. λύθεγγ. Corrupt, filthy, black gore, ſoul blood.

Tăcendus, a, um; part. Mart. σιγητέος, σιγᾶσθαι. Not to be ſpoken of.

Tăcens, tis; part. Sen. Silent, ſtill, quiet, without noiſe.

TACEO, ēs, ēre; ui, ĭtum; neut. & act. Cic. ab heb. שתק, idem, qu. ſtacco. σιγάω, σιωπάω, ἡσυχάζω. דמה. To hold his peace, to keep ſilence, to ſay nothing, not to ſpeak a word, to be quiet, hush and ſtill, to make no ſign, ſhew or token. Act. Not to ſpeak of, to ſay nothing of, to conceal or keep cloſe. Tacere aliquid, Ter. de re aliquâ, Cic.

Tăceor, ēris; paſſ. Mart. Not to be mentioned or ſpoken of.

Tăcĭtè; adv. Cic. ἡσύχως, σιγᾷ, ἀκλαυ. Without ſpeaking a word, without noiſe, ſilently, tacitly.

Tăcĭtò; adv. Cic. idem.

Tăcĭtum, ti; n. Sen. ἀπόῤῥητον. A ſecret.

Tăcitum eſt; impers. Ter. Never a word was ſpoken.

Tăcĭtūrio, is, īre; Sidon. 8. 16. To be about to hold his peace.

Tăciturnior, us; comp. Hor. More ſilent.

Tăciturniſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Plaut. That maketh no noiſe at all, very quiet.

Tăciturnĭtas, ātis; f. Ter. σιγὴ, σιωπὴ, ἡσυχία. דממה. Taciturnity, ſilence, keeping of counſel.

† Taciturnŭlus, a, um; Apul. σιωπηλός. Somewhat ſilent.

Tăcĭturnus, a, um; Plaut. σιγηρὸς, ἡσύχιος, σιωπηρός. Silent, quiet, ſtill, of few words: cloſe, reſerved, that maketh no noiſe.

Tăcĭtūrus, a, um; part. Cic. About to hold his peace.

Tăcĭtus, a, um; part. & adj. à Taceo, Cic. σιωπῶν, ἡσύχιος, ἀκλαυ. דומם. Act. Silent, quiet, ſtill, tacit, without noiſe, that ſayes nothing. Paſſ. Not ſpoken of, not mention'd, kept ſecret, ſecret, cloſe. Luna tacita, Vir. The new Moon.

Tăctĭci, ōrum; m. Veget. τακτικοί. They whoſe office is to ſet an army in array; the leaders of the Artillery-ground.

*Tăctĭcus, a, um; τακτικός. à τάσσω ordino, τάξις ordo. Tactical, or belonging to martial array.

Tactio, ōnis; f. verb. à Tango, Cic. ἁφὴ, ἄψις. A touching, or meddling with.

Tactūrus, a, um; part. Cic. About to touch.

Tactus, a, um; part. à Tangor, Cic. ἡμμένος, τεθιγμένος. Touched: alſo ſmitten, ſtricken, blaſted, Vir. inſpired, Liv.

Tactus, ūs; m. Cic. ἁφὴ. The ſenſe of touching or feeling, a touch.

TÆDA, dæ; f. Plin. à gr. δᾷς idem, in Acc. δᾶδα. לפיד. A torch, uſed ſpecially at weddings, whence it is taken alſo for marriage, Vir.

TÆDET, ĕbat, uit vel tæſum eſt; impers. Cic. à Tæda, quoniam lucubrationes & opera, quæ ad lumen tædæ fiunt, tædium plerumque pariunt. Fort. qu. à δηδεῖται Tædet, ut ab αἰδεῖται, Pudet. ἄχθομαι, βαρύνομαι, λυπᾶμαι. קוץ. It irketh, it wearieth, I am weary. Regit Acc. perſ. cum Gen. rei.

† Tædio, as; G. ex Lampr. To be weary, to give over, to think tedious.

Tædium, ii; n. Plin. κόπος, ἀηδία. געל. Wearineſs, irkſomneſs, loathſomneſs, tedouſneſs, a tædium, a chagrin. In plur. Vermin that breed about us and trouble us.

† Tædŭlus, a, um; Tædulum antiq. pro faſtidioſo; interdum quod omnibus tædio eſſet, ponere ſoliti ſunt, Feſt. προσκορὴς. Weariſome, tedious, loathſome: alſo queaſie-ſtomached, that will not eat.

† Tæna, æ; f. Apul. id. quod Tænia.

Tænia, æ; f. Vir. ταινία, φασκία. חוט. i. faſcia extenſa, à τείνω tendo; al. ab Hebr. אטון. A ribband or ruban; a head-band, fillet or hair-lace to tye up the hair with; a wreath at the top of a pillar, a roſe or border, Vitr. a long vein as of white cliffs along the ſea-ſide, Plin. alſo a kind of long narrow ſea-fiſh, Id. alſo a belly-worm, Med. or grave-worm, Ser. Sam. Alſo a pair of Traces to draw by, G. ex Apul.

† Tænia, ōrum; n. G. ex Plin. A ſort of long worms.

† Tæniacæ, ſunt oblongæ offæ, à figurâ dictæ, eo modo quo porculaca, paſtinaca, Var.

Tæniŏla, æ; f. dim. Col. ταινίδιον. A little ruban or fillet.

† Tæpocon appellârunt Græci genus ſcribendi deorſum verſùs, ut nunc dextrorſum ſcribimus, Feſt. Al. aliter & miſerrimè legunt.

† Tæſus, a, um; unde Pertæſus.

† Tăgax; adj. Lucil. à Tago, ant. Apt to touch, touchy; thieviſh, light-fingered.

† Tăgēnia; Feſt. ſunt piſces, ut & ταγανίαι Scal.

† Tăges, is; Feſt. à Tago, i. Tango. A fellon on a mans finger.

† Tăgo, is, ĕre; ant. Feſt. unde Tange, tigi, tactum ; à gr. Θίγω. To touch.

Tālāria, um ; n. Cic. à Talus : τὰ πτέρνα. Shoes that Mercury, as Poets feign, did wear with wings : also gouty swellings in the ankles, Sen.

Tālāris, re ; Cic. ad talos pertinens : ποδήρης, ποδηνεκής. That cometh down to the ankles : also of or belonging to the ankles.

Tālārius, a, um ; Cic. κυβευτικός. Of or belonging to dice or huckle-bones.

Tālassio, ōnis ; præs. nuptiarum ; it. Hymenæus cantus ; in novis nuptis signum lanificii, Var. τάλαρον enim, i. quasillum, solitum appellari talassionem, Scal. A song containing certain verses used to be sung at marriages : also a basket. Al. scrib. per Th. à Thalasio quodam, Fest. V. Prop.

Tālea, æ ; f. Plin. surculus præcisus ab utraque parte, ut in terram inseratur, à Θάλεια ( quod & Θαλλὸς & Θαλὸς & Θαλία. ) à Tali similitudine, Perot. Θαλία, φυτὸν, ξυλάριον. שׁתִיל. A stock set in the ground to graff on, a graff or slip : also a truncheon, a staff, a bill, a stake ; an ale or beer stand ; a tally, Plaut. à Talus. Also a block or rowler, to tumble off from the wall down upon scalers, Veget.

Tālentum, ti ; n. Hor. gr. τάλαντον. כִּכָּר. A talent, a summ of money among the Greeks to the value of above one hundred pounds sterling.

† Tāleo, as ; pro Incido, Non. Marc. à Talea.

Tāleŏla, æ ; f. dim. Col. ξυλάριον. A little truncheon or stake, a short stock to graff on.

† Tālia, æ ; f. Fest. ( Scal. legit Talla ) à Θάλλω. The blade of an Onion or Chibbol.

Tālio, ōnis ; f. Plin. à Talis ; cùm patimur tale, quale fecimus. Lex talionis, est lex paris vindictæ. τὸ ἀντιπαθὲς δίκης, ἢ δὶ ἴσου ἀμοιβὴ, ταυτανάθεια. שְׁלוֹם. Like for like, or a requital of an injury or hurt in the same kind.

† Tālior, āris ; pass. Perot. To be cut or hewed.

† Tālipēdo, as ; Fest. πεζοπεριβατεῖν. To go on the pasterner, to go as one drawing his feet after him for sickness or weakness.

Tālis, le ; Cic. à τηλικοῦτος, Æol. τήλικος, Canin. τοῖ Θ', τοιοῦτ Θ'. זֹה. Such, like.

Tālĭter ; adv. Var. τοιοῦτως, ὥτως. כֵּן אַחֵר. After such wise, in such sort, in like manner.

Tālitrum, tri ; n. Suet. à Talo, quòd talo fiat : κονδυλισμός. A filip with ones finger or nail.

† Tallĭgium, ii ; n. R. ex Dig. Custom or fashion.

* Talmud ; n. תַּלְמוּד : disciplina, doctrina, à לָמַד, discere. Pandectæ rerum Judaicarum, & imprimis Juris Civilis & Canonici, M. Hinc Talmudicus, a, um ; & Talmudista, m.

Talpa, æ ; m. vel f. Vir. ἀσπάλαξ. חֲנשְׁמֶרֶת. à τυφλὸς, τυφλὴ, & Dor. τυφλᾶ, per metath. τυλφά. à cæcitate. A Mole or Want, a Moldwarp.

Talpāna, æ ; f. Plin. sc. vitis. A kind of vine.

Tālus, li ; m. Cæsar, ὀστράγαλος. dim. à Taxillus, ut à paxillus, palus. al. à Tholo, qui propriè est umbilicus sive eminens rotunditas in templis, unde donaria suspendi solebant, Fung. al. à τηλᾶν tolerare, ferre, quòd ad lationem animalis conferat. The ankle-bone of the foot, the pastern of a beast ; an huckle-bone, a dye, πεσσὸς, κύβος, a bone to play with like a dy. Talorum jactus, Ovid. A play called Cockal : also dice-play.

Tam ; adv. Cic. τόσον, τοσοῦτον. contr. à tantum ; sed è conversio, à tam tantus, ut à quam quantus : Fort. à τλῶ Dor. τᾶν in Acc. articuli præpos. ut Quàm ab Acc. articuli subj. cujus locum præstat Latinis Qui, quæ, quod. Hinc factum, ut Tam habeat sign. præpositivam, cui subjungimus Quàm. So, as, so much, as much, as well.

† Tāma, tumor pedum ex sanguine, Fest. ex Lucil. à Tumeo, vel à τημεῖν. A swelling of the feet by overmuch walking.

Tămărice, es ; f. vel Tamarix, icis ; f. Plin. μυρίκη. à תַּמְרִיק, abstersio, quòd vim abstergendi habet, M. A shrub called Tamarisk.

† Tămărindus, i ; m. Jun. A fruit of India like green Damasens good against choler.

Tămăris ; idem quod Tamarix, Cels.

† Tame pro Tam, ant. Fest.

Tămen ; conjunct. ἀλλάγε, ἀλλ' ἦν, ὅμως. אַךְ. ex μήτοι, vel ex Tam ; fort. ex τε μὲν. Notwithstanding, nevertheless, for all that, yet, however.

Tămetsi ; conj. Cic. ex tamen etsi : καίτοι, καίτοιγε, εἰκὰν Albeit, although ; yet, notwithstanding, Ter.

† Tāminius, a, um ; unde Taminia uva, Plin. sylvestris dicta, quòd tam mira sit quàm minium, Fest. ubi M. leg. tam rubra. Quidam legunt Aminea vites, in Georgicis. A kind of red grape.

† Tāmĭno, as ; antiq. polluo, ab Hebr. טָמֵא, polutum esse.

† Tamnăcum ; Plin. 23. 30. parthenion.

† Tāmus ; Jun. idem quod Ampelos agria ; apud Plin. 25. 15. corruptè legitur Tanum ; βρυωνία, ἄμπελος, λευκή.

† Tāmūsĭa, Amm. Donat. ex Tamus cruor, & ἰσία. Vide Mart.

Tănăcētum, i ; n. Jun. à gr. ἀθανασία. Tansey, an herb.

Tandem ; adv. ex Tam & Dem ; à tamtundem, Perot. al. qu. tamen demum. ποτὲ, τέως, ὕστερον, πέρας. באחרונה. At length, at the last, when all is done, when all comes to all, I pray you.

Tandiù ; adv. Cic. ex Tam & Diu. ἐπὶ τοσοῦτον. So long, so long time.

Tangĭbilis, le ; adj. Lucr. ἁπτὸς. Which may be touched.

TANGO, is, ĕre ; tetĭgi, tactum ; act. ab antiq. Tago, à Θίγω, τίθημι. ἅπτομαι, ψαύω, θίγω. נגע. To touch, to join near to ; to hit ; to feel, to meddle with, to rub ; to arrive or come to ; to move or trouble, to quip, nip, or take one up ; to speak of or mention a thing : also to chouse or beguile one, Plaut. to strike with lightning or blast, Vir.

Tangor, ĕris ; pass. Ovid.

† Tānos, vel Tanus ; gemma inter Smaragdos ingratè viridis, & intùs sordida, Plin. 37. 5. à τανὸς extensus, longus, acutus, quòd in longitud. extend. item herba, Plin. 21. 15. An ill sort of Emeraud : also Bryony or wild vine.

Tanquàm ; adv. tam quam, ὥσει, καθάπερ, οἷονεὶ. כְּמוֹ. As it were, as if, as.

Tantillŭlus, a, um ; Tantillulum animalis, Apul. So little and silly a creature.

Tantillum ; adv. Plaut. τηλίκον. So little, never so little.

Tantillus, a, um ; Ter. dim. à Tantulus : Cupiens τοσοῦτος. So little and small, very little, little tiny.

Tantĭsper ; adv. Cic. i. per tantum spatium, ἔως ἄν, μίχρις, ἄχρις. So long, in the mean time.

Tantò ; adv. cum Comp. Cic. τόσῳ μᾶλλον. So much, by so much.

Tantŏpĕrè ; adv. Ter. i. tanto opere, τηλικοῦτον, τοσοῦτον. So much, so greatly or earnestly.

Tantŭlum ; adv. Cic. τηλικόνδε. A little, never so little.

Tantŭlus, a, um ; Cic. dimin. à Tantus : τηλικόνδε. So little, so small, never so little.

Tantùm ; adv. quantitatis, τοσοῦτον. it. id quod Solùm, μόνον. לבד. So much : also only, alone. Tantum abest ut agat, Cic. τοσοῦτον δέουσι. So far is he from doing it. Tantum non, Liv. μονονχί. Well near, almost, in a manner, within a very little.

Tantummŏdò ; adv. Ter. μόνος. Only.

Tanrundem, hujus Tantidem ; ex Tantum & Dem : τοσοῦτον. Even so much, all one, the same thing.

Tantus, a, um ; à Tam ; ut à quam, quantus. τηλικοῦτος, τοσοῦτος, τόσος. So much, so great, so many, such, so worthy, noble, or skilful. Est tanti, Cic. It is worth the while. Tantus natu, Plaut. So old. Tribus tantis minus, Id. Three times less.

*Taos ; Plin. 37. 11. ταὼς, i. pavo. A stone like a peacock.

*Tăpes, ētis ; m. Vir. πάπης. סָמָךְ. Tapestry or clothes which are wrought with pictures of divers colours.

Tăpēte, is ; n. idem, Plaut.

† Tăpetiarius, rii ; m. Fest. An Upholster.

Tăpētum, i ; n. Vir. id. quod Tapes.

Taphiusius, Plin. A kind of Eagle-stone.

*Tapinosis, is ; f. Rhet. ταπείνωσις. Figura est, seu potiùs vitium orationis, cùm rei dignitas verborum humilitate deprimitur, ταπεινὸν enim humile signif.

Tapsos, i ; f. Erycinâque Tapsos, Lucan. A kind of herb. = Verbascum, Solin. Lucumbra.

† Tăpula, Fest. al. Tapulla vel Tappula ; lex convivalis est, à tapula, i. tabula, dict. A law made for feasts.

† Tārandus, Gesn. Scythicus cervus, Plin. A beast called a Buff.

† Tārantŭla ; G. ex Ovid. A kind of venemous spider. Tarantulâ ictî Tarantati dicuntur, & fidibus, tibiis aut tympanis curantur ; Alex. ab Alex.

Tărătantăra ; Enn. חֲרוּעָה. vox fict. à sono tubæ. A sound of the trumpet.

Tăraxăcon, Serap. The herb Sowthistle.

* Tarchon, Jun. τάρχων. draco hortensis. Taracon, or garden-dragon.

Tarda, æ ; f. Nemes. sc. avis, dict. à tardo volatu. A Bustard.

Tardans, tis ; part. Vir. Lingring, tarrying.

Tardātio ; f. χρονισμός. A loytering.

Tardātus, a, um ; part. Vir. βεβραδυσμένος. Hindred, stayed.

Tardè ; adv. βραδέως, χαλεπῶς. Slowly, late. Æ Ocyùs, Cic.

Tardesco, is, ĕre ; Lucr. βραδύνω, νωθρύνω. To grow slow or lither.

Tar-

Tardigrădus, a, um; Cic. βραδύπους. Slow-paced.

Tardilŏquentia, æ; f. Baret. βραδυλογία. Slowneſs of ſpeech.

Tardilŏquus, a, um; Sen. βραδύγλωσσος. Slow-ſpoken, drawling.

Tardior, us; comp. Cic. More ſlow.

Tardĭpes, ĕdis; adj. Catul. βραδύπους. Slow-footed, limping, halting.

Tardiſsĭmè; adv. Very ſlowly. Cùm tardiſſimè, Plin. At the ſlowbeſt.

Tarditas, ātis; f. βραδύτης, νωθρεία. עַצְלוּת. Slowneſs, dulneſs. = Cunctatio, procraſtinatio; ſtupor, ſtultitia; gravitas, taciturnitas, Cic.

† Tardities, ēi; f. Non. idem.

† Tarditūdo, ĭnis; f. Plaut. idem.

Tardiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More ſlowly, or lately, later.

Tardiuſculè; adv. Plaut. βραδύτερον. Somewhat ſlowly.

Tardiuſcŭlus, a, um; Ter. βραδύτερος. Somewhat ſlow or dull.

Tardo, as; act. Cic. βραδύνω, ἀναβάλλω, ἐπίσχω. עָקַב. To ſtop, hinder or ſtay, to make long a coming, to delay.

Tardor, āris; paſſ. Cic.

TARDUS, a, um; à Tero diu, nam τείρειν διὰ & διατρίβειν eſt morari, tempus conterere; vel à βραδὺς, per metath. & β in t mutato. Fort. ab heb. טָרַד aſſiduam eſſe. νωθρὸς, χρόνιος, βραδύς. עָצֵל. Slow, dull, ſlack, long a coming, lingring, tardy; thick, groſs: alſo that laſteth a long time, Vir. ◊ Tardum eſt dictu, verum, &c. Plin. It is hard to ſay, it requires ſome time to reſolve. Tardus ad injuriam, Cic. in cogitando, Id. inceſſu, Plin. ☞ Velox, Cic.

*Targum, תַּרְגּוּם: interpretatio, paraphraſis. The Chaldee Paraphraſe of the Old Teſtament.

Tarmes, itis; m. Feſt. à Tero: Gr. τείρων conſumo; M.ſc. in præt. paſſ. τέτρωμαι θρίψ. A worm that eateth fleſh, a magot; a worm in timber.

Tartăreus, a, um; Poët. ταρτάριος. Of hell, helliſh, terrible, ſtrong.

† Tartărinus, a, um; Var. ταρταρώδης. Fearful, terrible, helliſh.

† Tartărum, ri; n. Jun. fæx vini uſta; Cobalt. Tartar, the hard cruſt or gravelly ſtuff, that ſticks to the inſide of wine-veſſels.

Tartărus, ri; m. plur. Tartara, n. Vir. τάρταρος. A deep place in Hell, or Hell it ſelf.

† Tarum; Plin. lignum Aloes.

Taſconium, nii; n. Plin. à loco Taſco dict. A white clay or marle, wherewith Goldſmiths pots, wherein they melt their metal, were made.

Tăta, æ; m. Mart. à τάτα. A Dad or Daddy, as young children uſed to call their father.

Tătæ; interj. admirantis, ut Babæ, Papæ, Plaut.

Taura, æ; f. Col. à Taurus; βοῦς στεῖρα, dict. quòd nihilo magis pariat quàm taurus. A barren cow.

Taurea, æ; f. Juv. à Taurus: ſcutica ex taurino corio facta, ῥάβδος. A lea her whip or ſcourge: alſo a buckler or target made of a bulls hide.

Taureus, a, um; ταύρειος. Of or belonging to a Bull. Terga taurea, Ovid. Drums or Tabrets made of Bulls hides.

Tauricornis, ne; Prud. With horns like a Bull.

Taurifer, a, um; Lucan. ταυροφόρος. Which breedeth bulls.

Tauriformis, me; Hor. ταυροειδὴς. Like a bull, in faſhion of a bull.

Taurile, is; n. Liv. A Bull-ſtall.

Taurinus, a, um; Vir. ταύρειος. Of or belonging to a Bull.

Taurius, a, um; ut, Taurii ludi, Feſt. Playes conſecrated to the infernal gods. Taurium æs, quod in ludos taurios conſumitur.

TAURUS, ri; m. ταῦρος, ab hebr. שׁוֹר. Chald. תּוֹר. A Bull, a ſtrong Ox, Vir. one of the twelve Signs, Plin. a bird having a voice much like a Bull; a Bullfinch, or (as ſome) a Bittern, Id. the root of a tree, Quint. a Bull-fly or Hornet, Jun.

* Tautŏlŏgia, æ; f. Gram. ταυτολογία. A repeating of one and the ſelf ſame thing over and over, tautology.

Tax; n. Plaut. ab ant. Tago. τάξ. A clap, a yerk, the ſound of a ſtroke with a whip. It. id. quod Pax, Næv.

Taxa, æ; f. Plin. A kind of Bay-tree.

Taxātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. τίμησις. עֶרֶךְ. A ſetting of a tax or ſubſidie, a aſſeſſing, taxing or rating.

Taxātor, ōris; m. verb. Feſt. ὀλιτιμητὴς. A taxer, a rebuker, a finder of faults: alſo an aſſeſſer, a rater, a praiſer of goods.

† Taxea, lardum eſt Gallicè dictum, ex Afranio; à Taxo, pingui animali; M. Fat bacon.

Taxeus, a, um; Stat. Of, or belonging to Yew, or to the Yew-tree.

Taxillāris, re; adj. Bud. Of or belonging to dice.

Taxillus, i; m. Cic. dim. à Talus; vel pot. ab inuſ. tago, taxi, taxillus, hinc talus; ut à pago inuſ. paxillus, & inde palus. κύβος, πτῶσις, ἀστραγαλίσκος. A ſmall dy: alſo a pile in building, Vitr.

Taxim; adv. Non. ex Pomp. ſenſim, qu. ſubindè tagendo, i. tangendo. Softly, leiſurely, gently, by little and little.

Taxo, as; Var. freq. ab ant. Tago, i. tango. κροτάπτομαι. it. æſtimo, τιμάω, à τάττω, τάξω, ut ſit τάττειν τὸν ἀξίαν, ſtatuere pretium. To touch often or gently, to tax or rate: alſo to reprove, rebuke or twit, Plin. ; ὀνειδίζω. הוֹכִיחַ.

Taxor, āris; paſſ. Plin. To be valued or prized at.

Taxus, xi; f. Vir. Cubitus. ſortè à τόξον, quòd ex eâ arcus & ſagittas faciebant. The Yew or Yew-tree: alſo a Badger, Grey or Brock.

T ante E.

† Te, ſyllabica adjectio, ut apud Gr. τε. tute, tete, &c.

Techna, æ; f. Plaut. τέχνη, i. ars. עָרְמָה. A craf, a wile, a ſubtilty, a trick, a ſhift, a reach, a fetch.

* Technĭcus, a, um; τεχνικὸς. Artificial, cunning.

* Technopægnion; n. τεχνοπαίγνιον, i. luſus artificialis. A book of Auſonius ſo called.

* Technophyon; n. Suet. τεχνόφυον. A ſetting forth of arts or tricks.

Technoſus, a, um; Plaut. σοφιστικός. Crafty, wily, cunning, full of tricks.

Tecolithus, i; f. Plin. τεκόλιθος, quòd lapidem velicæ τίκτει, i. ſolvit. A ſtone like an Olive-ſtone, called the ſtone of India; good againſt the colick and the ſtone.

Tectè; adv. Cic. λάθρα, κρυβδὴν, κρυπτῶς. בַּסֵּתֶר. Covertly, cloſely.

Tectior, us; comp. Cic. More cloſe.

Tectiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Very cloſe and reſerved.

Tectiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More covertly.

* Tectŏnicus, a, um; Auſon. τεκτονικός. Belonging to a builder.

Tector, ōris; m. verb. à Tego, Var. κονιάτης. A pargetter, a plaiſterer.

Tectōriŏlum, li; n. dim. Cic. κονιαμάτιον. A little plaiſter, pargett or rough-caſt.

Tectōrium, ii; n. Cic. κονίαμα. טִיחַ. The plaiſter, pargett, or rough-caſt of a wall: alſo dawbing, diſſembling, flattery, glozing, Perſ.

Tectōrius, a, um; Plin. κονιατικός. Of or belonging to pargetting, waſhing or white-liming or plaiſterers work. Tectorius peniculus, Plaut. A pargetters bruſh.

Tectum, ti; n. à Tego, Vir. quia tegit vel tegitur: τὸ στέγος, ὄροφος, στέγασμα. JJ. The roof, ridge or covering of a houſe; an houſe. Cæca tecta, Ovid. A labyrinth. Pinea tecta, Id. Ships.

Tectum, genus ovium ſic dict. quòd operimentis tegeretur, Plin. 8. 47. A ſort of ſheep, that were covered with skins to preſerve their wooll from ſoiling and tearing by reaſon of its fineneſs.

Tectūrus, a, um; part. Pont. Virg. That will cover.

Tectus, a, um; part. & adj. à Tegor, κατακεκαλυμμένος. Covered, hid, cloaked, kept cloſe. Adj. Cloſe, covert, ſecret, reſerved, ſafe out of harms way. Navis tecta, Jun. A ſhip with a deck.

Tēcum, pro Cum te. With thee.

Tēda, æ; f. Plin. The middle or heart of the Fine-tree, which when it is grown fat and ſappy, burns like a torch; a torch, Vir. a wedding, Ovid. a ſong at a wedding, Sen. Vid. Tæda.

Tēgendus, a, um; part. Tib. To be kept ſecret.

Tĕges, ĕtis; f. Varr. à tegendo: ψωμὶς, ψιάθος. A mat made of ruſhes, a courſe coverlet.

Tĕgĕticŭla, æ; f. dim. Var. ψωμίδιον. A little mat.

† Tĕgil, lis; m. R. ex Apul. A covering, or an apron.

Tĕgillum, li; n. dim. à Tegulum, Plaut. Σκεπασμάτιον, καλυμμάτιον. A little covering, a hood.

Tĕgimen, ĭnis; n. Ovid. Σκέπασμα, κάλυμμα, στέγος, προβολή. נְסוֹךְ. Any covering, a cover, a garment, a cloathing, a coverlet.

Tegmen, ĭnis; n. Cic. idem. Any ſort of covering; a covert, a ſhelter, Vir. נְסוֹךְ.

Tegmentum, ti; n. Plaut. idem.

TEGO, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. à gr. στέγω, idem. καλύπτω, Σκεπάζω. חָפָה. To cover, hide, ecke, keep cloſe or ſecret; to diſſemble; to defend, to preſerve. Tegere latus alicui, Hor. To go on the leſt or lower hand of one.

Tĕgor, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Tĕgŭla, æ; f. Plin. dict. quòd tegat ædes. στέγη, κέραμος. ◊ τύλη: alſo the roof of an houſe.

Tĕgŭlāneus, a, um; ut Tegulaneum tectum, Jun. A tyled roof.

Tĕgŭlārius, rii; m. qui domos tegulis tegit. A tyler, a tyle-maker.

Tĕgŭlum, li; n. Plin. quo aliquid tegitur, καλυμμάτιον. A covering, thatch.

Tĕgumen, ĭnis; n. Liv. A covering, &c. idem quod Tegmen.

Tĕgumentum, i; n. Cic. idem.

† Tĕgus, ŏris; n. ant. pro Tergus, Turneb. ex Plaut. corium quo latus animalis tegitur. A skin or hide.

Tēla, æ; f. Cic. à Texo, contr. ex texela. ἱστὸς, ὑφάσμα. מסך. A web of cloth: also the loom to which the web is fastned, Lucr. Also any enterprise, business or undertaking.

Tēlămo, ōnis; m. Vitr. ἄτλας, à τλάω sustineo. A prop or supporter, an image of a man in wood or stone, that seems to bear up a building.

Tēlephion, & Telephium; Jun. à Telepho inventore. Wild Purslain,

* Tēlĕta, æ; f. Apul. gr. τελετή, ritus quo quis initiatur. A religious ceremony.

† Tēlia, æ; f. Jun. τηλία. The compass or brim of a sieve.

Tēliambus, versus hexameter, in cujus ultimâ sede pro Spondeo Iambus ponitur, Mar. Vict.

* Tēlicardios, Plin. A precious stone like or of the colour of a heart.

Tēlifer, ra, rum; Sen. βελοφόρ-ος, τοξεύτ-ης. Carrying darts, arrows or missions.

Telinus, a, um; ut Telinum unguentum, Plin. A kind of ointment, made amongst other things of Fenugreek. Vid. Telis.

* Tēlios, numerus perfectus, Auson.

* Tēlis, is; f. τῆλις. fœnum Græcum; à Telo insulâ, Plin. 13. 1.

* Tellina, æ; f. Jun. τελλὶν, dict. quòd τέλεται γίνονται τίνες, i. ocyssimè perficiuntur, Gesn. A kind of shell-fish called a Limpin.

Tellus, ūris; f. Cic. dim. à Terra; al. quòd fructus tollat, i. ferat: γῆ, γαῖα, χθών. The earth: also the Goddess of the earth.

† Tēlo, as; inus. unde Protelo: à τῆλε procul.

† Telo, ōnis; m. Perot. A long pole to fetch up water out of a pit or well, a Crane, a Swipe. Vid. Tollo.

Tēlōnium, nii; n. Vulg. Int. τελώνιον, à τέλ-ος, quod inter cætera vectigal signif. The custom-house, a toll-booth.

* Tēlos; n. Cal. ex Cic. τέλ-ος. An end. Exitum ac telos habent proprium, Petr. Arb.

TELUM, li; n. Cic. à τῆλε, procul; Fest. quòd longè mittatur. fort. à gr. κῶλον, idem. βέλ-ος, ἀκόντιον. חץ. Any thing that may be thrown with the hand, a dart, an arrow, a quarry, a weapon to fight with; a sword, Vir. a tradesmans tool, Mart. a ray of the Sun, Lucr. also a grievous pain or stitch in the side, Ser. Sam.

Tĕmĕrāmen; n. Capell. A violating.

Tĕmĕrandus, a, um; part. Lucil. To be violated, &c.

Tĕmĕrārius, a, um; Cic. à Temerè; al. à τολμηρὸς. ἄβουλ-ος, ἀσύνετος, θρασὺς, προπετὴς. Fool-hardy, rash, unadvised, unadvised, hare-brained.

Tĕmĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Bud. βεβήλωσις. A breaking or violating.

Tĕmĕrātor, ōris; m. verb. Modest. βεβηλωτὴς. He that violateth, a defiler, a ravisher.

Tĕmĕrātus, a, um; part. Ovid. βεβηλωθεὶς. Violated, broken, &c.

Tĕmĕrè; adv. Cic. à Temeto, i. vino, quòd temulenti sine timore omnia aggrediantur; al. à Temno, M. quòd temerarii contemnant pericula. An à τήμεσον hodie, quòd qui temere agit, non ante deliberet, sed præsenti impetu feratur. σφετέρως, εἰκῆ, παραβόλως, ἀπροόπτως. Rashly, unadvisedly, giddily, at random, at all adventure: also easily, Quint. likely or lightly, Suet. = Inconsultè, fortuitò, Cic. imprudenter, Cæs.

Tĕmĕritas, ātis; f. προπέτεια. Rashness, unadvisedness, hastiness, temerity. = Inconstantia, Cic. ✠ Sapientia, Id.

† Tĕmĕrĭter; adv. Acc. Rashly.

† Tĕmĕrĭtūdo; f. Acc. Rashness.

TEMERO, as; act. Liv. à טמא polluere; unde & Tamino. à Σέμις, unde Σεμνὸς, venerabilis, sacer; M. q. d. Σεμίζω, & sensu contrario Temero. βεβηλόω, μιαίνω, μολύνω. טמא. To violate or defile, to unhallow or profane, to ravish, to spoil.

Tēmētum, ti; n. Hor. à gr. τὸ μέθυ. al. quòd teneat, i. liget mentem. ἀκρατον. יין. Strong wine which intoxicateth the brain.

† Tēmĭnāre, pro Violare, Fest.

Temnendus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be despised.

TEMNO, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. Vir. à τέμνω, quoniam quæ contemnimus, amputamus, Perot. vel à Tamino: al. à טמא abscondere. Quid si à Σεμνὸς frequens, quòd frequentia pariat contemptum. καταφρονέω, ὑπερόπτω. בוז. To set little by, to contemn, to despise, to slight.

Tēmo, ōnis; m. Vir. ἰυμὸς, à Tenendo, Var. quòd plaustrum teneat ac gubernet. à τείνω tendo, qu. teno, M. The beam of the wain, or the draught-tree whereon the yoke hangeth: also a stake or pole laid overthwart, Col. the helm of a ship, Suet. also the North-Star called Charles-wain, Stat. also government, Juv. Hence Angl. a team.

Tempe; n. pl. Vir. τέμπεα. Fields of pleasure; properly valleys in Thessaly. Vid. Prop.

† Tempĕrācŭlum, i; n. Apul. The tempering of metal.

Tempĕrāmen, ĭnis; n. Capell. Temper.

Tempĕrāmentum, ti; n. Cic. à Tempero: κρᾶσις, μετρίωσις. מדה. A moderation, a mean, a temperate measure, a restraint; a temper or constitution, a temperament.

Tempĕrans, tis; part. & adj. cum Gen. Ter. σώφρων, ἐγκρατὴς. Moderate, temperate, sober; forbearing, sparing.

Temperanter; adv. Cic. σωφρόνως, ἐγκρατῶς. Moderately, temperately.

Tēmperantia, æ; f. σωφροσύνη, μετριότης. Moderation, temperance, sobriety, &c. = Moderatio, modestia, Cic.

Tempĕrātè; adv. Cic. Moderately, temperately.

Tempĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. κρᾶσις. מזג. A tempering or mixing; temper or temperature; ordering or managing.

Tempĕrātior, us; comp. Cic. More moderate.

Tempĕrātissimus, a, um; superl. Most temperate or moderate.

Tempĕrātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ἁρμοστὴς. A temperer, orderer, or mingler; a ruler or governour.

Tempĕrātrix; f. Aug. She that moderateth or ordereth.

Tempĕrātum est, impers. Liv. They did refrain or forbear.

Tempĕrātūra, æ; f. Plin. κρᾶσις, ἁρμογὴ. מזג. Temperature, mixture of thing, an ayd; a temper or disposition.

Tempĕrātus, a, um; part. & adj. ἐγκρατὴς, μέτριος. Moderated, ordered, tempered, mixed. Adj. Moderate, temperate, without excess; keeping a mean. = Modĕratus, æquabilis, sanctus; permistus, Cic.

Tempĕries, ēi; f. Plin. temporis commoditas, status rei temperatus. ἀκρασία. Temperateness in cold and heat, a temper, a good moderation or mean.

Tempĕro, as; act. à Tempore: signif. temporis rationem habere, rem suo tempore facere; qu. tenorem pario; M. κεράννυμι, ἁρμόζω. מסך, cum Dar. חתאפק. To temper, mix or mingle, govern, to govern, to order; to forbear, to spare, to abstain; to refrain, σωφρονίζω. also to supple and make soft, Vir. ✠ Neut. To be temperate, or use moderation, Plaut. ✠ Temperare civitates, Cic. sibi, Id. linguæ, Plaut. vino, Liv. ab injuriâ, Cæs.

Temperor, āris; pass. Plin. To be anointed or besmeared.

Tempestas, ātis; f. à Tempus; al. qu. temporis æstus: καιρὸς, ὥρα, χειμών. עת. Time or season; weather; a fair or good season; a tempest or storm, χειμών. סער. boisterous weather, be it wind, hail or rain: also a great trouble or bustle, adversity, danger or peril; a commotion in State. Macelli tempestas, Cic. A great Epicure. = Procella, turbo, Cic.

Tempestivè; adv. Cic. ἀκαίρως. In season, in due and convenient time, seasonably, timely.

Tempestivitas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀκαιρία. Season or time convenient, seasonableness.

Tempestivus, a, um; Cic. ἔγκαιρ-ος, ὥρα-ος, ἐγκαίρ-ως. Done in due and convenient time and season, seasonable, timely, ripe for, Hor. cum Dat.

Tempestuōsè; adv. Apul. Tempestuously.

Tempestuōsus, a, um; Gell. ἐπιλαίδν, ἀνεμώδ-ης. Tempestuous, stormy, boisterous.

† Tempestus, a, um; antiq. pro Tempestivus, Fest.

TEMPLUM, i; n. ναὸς, ἱερὸν, νεὼς, σηκὸς. הֵיכָל. à τέμνω. Scal. à Tuendo, i. conspiciendo; Var. al. à Contemplando; al. à τέμενος, i. ἀφορίζω. aut à Σέμις, jus, justitia. Puto à Σεμνὸν, i. fundamentum, dici templum, i. ædem fundatam. Templum signif. ædificium Deo sacratum, Paul. A Temple, a Church, a place consecrated to divine service, which was anciently an open place without a roof. Vide Gell. 14. 7. ✠ A tomb or vault, Vir. a part or place, Lucr. ✠ Heaven, Var. Item tignum, quod in sacro ædificio transversum supra canterios ponitur, Fest. A cross timber or beam, a spar or rafter, Vitr. Templa cœli, Ter. The quarters of heaven, the welkin.

Tempŏra, um; n. Vir. κεφαλὴ. Tempora sunt quæ calvariæ dextrâ lævâque subjacent, quæ ideo sic nuncupantur, quia moventur, ipsâque mobilitate, quæ tempora, quibusdam intervallis mutantur, Isid. al. quòd sint temporum, i. ætatis indicia, nam canitie & macie senectutem ostendunt, Var. The temples or sides

ſides of the head: alſo the head, Cato.

Tempŏrālis, le; Quint. περίκαιρος, ὡρόνικος. That laſteth or is made for a certain time, temporal; inconſtant, Curt, alſo of the temples.

† Tempŏrāneus, a, um; unde in comp. Extemporaneus. πρόσκαιρος. Done for a time, belonging to time.

Tempŏrārius, a, um; Plin. jun. πρόσκαιρος. Temporary, that laſteth but for a ſeaſon, that comes at a certain ſeaſon, inconſtant, ſhuffling and complying with the times, Curt.

Tempŏrē; adv. Cic. ἐν καιρῷ, ἀκαίρως. In time, at the time appointed, in ſeaſon.

Tempŏrī; adv. Plaut. ἀκαίρως. In good time, ſeaſonably.

Tempŏriùs; adv. comp. Col. ἀκαιρότερον. Before time, ſooner than needs, more timely. Æ Seriùs, Ovid.

Temptor, ōris; m. verb. Sen. κακοφρονητής. A deſpiſer or contemner.

TEMPUS, ŏris; (& olim ĕris;) n. Cic. Tempus eſt intervallum mundi & motûs, id diviſum in partes aliquot, maximè ſolis & lunæ curſu; ab eorum tenore temperato Tempus dict. Hæc Varr. Tempus à τέμνω, i. diviſione; eſt enim quantitas diſcreta, Becm. ex Scal. χρόνος, καιρός, זמן, עת. Time; the ſtate of time, convenience or neceſſity of the time preſent; opportunity, ſeaſon, leiſure; an occaſion, caſe or affair; the power and authority that one hath at any time, when one is in greateſt eſteem; temperament, Manil. the temples of the head, or the head it ſelf, Vir.

Tempuſcŭlum, li; n. Bud. A little time, a ſhort time.

Temŭlenter; adv. Col. μεθύσως. Drunkenly, ſottiſhly.

Temŭlentia, æ; f. Plin. παροινία, οἰνοφλυγία. שכרון. Drunkenneſs.

Temŭlentus, a, um; Cic. à Temeto, i. vino. μέθυσος, οἰνόλυξ. שכור. Drunken, cupſhot.

† Tenācia, æ; f. id. quod Tenacitas, Perſeverantia, duritia, Non. ex Enn. item Parſimonia, Idem ex Afran.

Tenācĭſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Quint. Moſt tenacious.

Tenācitas, ātis; f. Cic. Συνεκτικὴ ἕξις, ἀγχιστεία, it. Συνεκτικότης, φειδωλία. בצע. Holding faſt, retaining, keeping, preſerving, niggardlineſs, cloſeneſs as to expence.

Tenācitĕr; adv. Liv. ἰσχνῶς. Faſtly, ſtiffly, conſtantly.

† Tenācitūdo, ĭnis; f. Plaut. idem quod Tenacitas.

Tenamus, mi; m. Plin. τεναμὸς, M. à τείνω tendo. A great liſt to go to ſtool, and yet can do nothing, coſtiveneſs.

Tĕnax, ācis; adj. à Tenendo: γλισχρὸς, κράτος. That holdeth faſt, tenacious, ſtiff, and ſelf-willed, ἰσχυρογνώμων. hard to be moved, head-ſtrong, ſtiff-necked, tough and hard, ſtedfaſt, ſure, Quint. laſting, Ovid. alſo niggardly, ſparing, Ter. covetous and hold-faſt, φειδωλὸς, alſo clammy, clingy, Vir. γλοιώδης. Tenax juris ſui dominus, Col. That will yield from no part of his right. = Reſtrictus, parcus, Cic.

† Tendax; adj. Plaut. qui tentigine venereâ vel Priapiſmo afficitur.

Tendeus, tis; part. Vir. Stretching out, caſting up.

Tendĭcŭla, æ; f. παγὶς, πλοκὴ, δόλος. מוקש. à Tendo laqueus qui tenditur ad capiendum. A ginn or ſnare or net to take birds or beaſts in, a ſpringe, a nooz, a pit-fall: alſo a tenter-hook for the ſtretching of cloth, Sen. ◊ Tendiculæ literarum, Cic. Captious wreſtings of words.

Tendines, vel Tendones; m. pl. Med. à Tendo: τένοντες, ὑποτενοῦσαι. The tendons or tops of the muſcles that faſten them to the bones.

TENDO, is, ĕre; tĕtendi, ſum & tum; act. à τείνω, Æolicè τίννω, τέννω, Συντείνω. נטה. To ſtretch out, to ſpread, to lay (a ſnare) to pitch; to bend, to go, to go forward, to march or advance, to wend, to bend his courſe; to tend; to make toward, to endeavour, to reach at, to deſign for; to preſent, offer, or hold out; to bend (a bow:) alſo to pitch his tent, to incamp, Vir. ◊ Tendere dolos alicui, Hor. Neut. Tendere ad aliquem, Liv. in diverſum, Quint.

Tendor, ōris; paſſ. Ter.

Tendor, ōris; m. Apul. A ſtretching or painful labouring.

† Tĕnĕbra, æ; f. Lampr. Darkneſs.

Tĕnĕbræ, ārum; f. plur. Σκότος, ζόφος. חשך. dict. quòd teneant umbras vel oculos, vel etiam animalium inceſſum, ad quem regendum luce opus eſt. à στένω, unde δυσηγεῖς, qu. deneſtræ, Canin. Darkneſs, the dark; night, a dimneſs, obſcurity or meanneſs of condition: alſo difficulties or things hard to underſtand, Cic. alſo death, Plaut. = Caligo, Cic. Æ Lux, Id.

Tĕnĕbrans; part. Amm. Growing dark.

Tĕnĕbrārius, a, um; Vopiſc. Obſcure, mean, ſorry.

Tĕnĕbrĭcōsè; adv. Aug. Darkly, obſcurely.

Tĕnĕbrĭcōſus, a, um; Cic. Σκοτεινὸς, ζοφώδης, ἀχλυώδης. אפל. That is dark or maketh dark.

† Tenebricus, a, um; Vet. Poët. ap. Cic. Σκοτώδης. Dark, obſcure.

Tenebrio, ōnis; m. Var. à Tenebræ; ὁ Σκοτίας, ἀπατεών. He that will not be ſeen abroad by day, a lurker, a crafty knave, a night thief; one who loves or walks in the dark.

Tenebro, as; act. Apul. Ζοφόω, Σκοτίζω. To darken or to make dark.

Tenĕbrōsè; adv. Macrob. Darkly.

Tenĕbrōſĭſsimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Very dark.

Tenĕbrōſus, a, um; Vir. Σκοτεινὸς. אפל. Dark or cloſe.

Tenellŭlus, a, um; dim. Catul. πάνυ τρυφερός. Very tender and dainty.

Tenellus, a, um; dim. à Tener, Var. ἁπαλὸς, τέρην. Somewhat tender, young and dainty.

Tĕnendus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be held.

Tĕnens; part. Ovid. Holding.

TENEO, es, ēre; ui, ntum; act. κρατῶ, αἴρω, κατέχω. אחז. à τείνω tendo, fut. 2. τενῶ, Ion. τενέω. quòd quæ arctè tenemus, quodammodo tendimus; vel quòd tenendo nervos tendamus; vel à κτάω poſſideo, qu. κτενέω. To hold, to detain, keep, keit, hinder or ſtop; to keep, preſerve or maintain; to govern; to keep in, to forbear; to have, poſſeſs or enjoy; to get, win or obtain; to underſtand, know or perceive; to remember, to oblige or engage. Neut. To hold, laſt or continue, Liv. ◊ Tenere famam, Cic. To keep it up; iram, Id. To keep it in; riſum, Hor. To forbear laughing; cauſam, Cic. To gain it; propoſitum, Ovid. To hold it on; oculos, Plin. To pleaſe or delight them; alicujus veſtigia, Liv. To follow his ſteps; ſe loco, Id. To ſtay there, not to ſtir thence. Tenet me ſpes, Cic. cupiditas, Liv. I am in hope, I have a deſire.

Tĕneor, ēris; paſſ. Cic. To be held or kept in, to be compriſed, to be bound or obliged, to be delighted in; to be guilty or convinced of. Teneri obſidione, Vir. To be beſieged, beleaguered or block up.

Tĕner, ra, rum; à τίλλω, idem. ἁπαλὸς, τρυφερὸς, ἁβρὸς. רך. Tender, young, gentle, ſoft; merciful; pliant, nice, dainty, delicate, effeminate. A teneris unguiculis, Cic. From ones childhood. = Mollis, flexibilis, tractabilis, Cic. Æ Durus, ferreus, Id.

† Tĕnĕraſco, is; Lucr. ἁπαλύνομαι, θρύπτομαι. To grow tender, ſoft and gentle.

Tĕnĕrè; adv. Plin. ἁβρῶς, ἁπαλῶς, τρυφερῶς. Tenderly, gently, nicely.

Tĕnĕreſco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. To grow tender.

Tĕnĕrior, us; comp. Plin. More tender.

Tĕnĕritas, ātis; f. Cic. ἁπαλότης, ἁβρότης. מרך. Softneſs, tenderneſs, daintineſs.

Tenĕriter; adv. Plin. Tenderly.

Tenerĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. Var. idem.

Tenerĭùs; adv. comp. Petr. Arb. More tenderly.

Tenerrĭmè; adv. ſuperl. Plin. Moſt tenderly.

Tĕnerrĭmus, a, um; ſuperl. Ovid. Moſt or very tender.

† Tenitæ, credeb. ſortium deæ, dict. quòd tenendi habent poteſtatem, Feſt. al. Teniræ.

Tĕnor, ōris; m. à Tenco, Liv. olim Tonor, Quint. qu. à τὸν Θ. Συνέχεια, Gloſſ. πάπιας. A tenour, order, continuance, or conſtant courſe: alſo the tone or accent of a word, Quint. τόν Θ. προσῳδία. טעם.

Tenſa, æ; f. à Tendo. veniculum in quo exuviæ deorum ludicris Circenſibus in circum ad pulvinar vehuntur, Feſt. dict. quòd ante eas lintea tendantur, Aſcon. θρόνος Θ. ἅρμα θεῶν, Gl. A kind of wagon.

Tenſĭbilis, le; & Tenſilis, le; adj. Alciat. That may be ſtretched.

Tenſim; adv. Bud. Largely or amply.

Tenſus, a, um; part. à Tendo, Stat. τεταμένος Θ. πεπαιδευμένος. Stretched out, bent, ſtretching outward.

Tentabundus, a, um; Liv. Χαρακτηριζόμενος Θ. Aſſaying, proving, trying.

Tentāmen, ĭnis; n. Vir. πεῖρα, πεῖσις, ἔκπειρα. A proof, a tryal, an eſſay, an attempt, or enterpriſe.

Tentāmentum, ti; n. Liv. idem.

Tentandus, a, um; part. Vir. To be tryed.

Tentans, tis; part. Ovid. Aſſaying, holding back, &c.

Tentātio, ōnis; f. verb. πειρασμὸς. מסה. A proof, an aſſaying, Liv. a temptation; an attack or aſſault. Morbi tentatio, Cic. The grudging of a diſeaſe.

Tentātor, ōris; m. verb. Hor. πειρατὴς. A tempter, a prover, a tryer, an aſſayer.

Tentātrix; f. Aug. A tempreſs, &c.

Tentāturus, a, um; part. Virg.

Tentātus, a, um; part. Ovid. πειρασθεὶς. Tryed, tempted.

Tentigo, inis; f. Juv. à Tendo, tentum. A ſtiffneſs or ſtretching.

Tentipellium, lii; n. à tendendâ pelle. Genus calceamenti ferratum, quo pelles extenduntur; al. putant medicamentum esse, quo rugæ abiguntur, cutisque extenditur, Fest. τετανόδερμα. A kind of iron shoo, whereon leather is stretched: also a thing to stretch and smooth the skin.

Tento, ās; freq. à Teneo vel Tendo, tentum: πειράζω, πειράομαι. נסה. To assay, prove or try; to attack, to set upon, to attempt; to trouble, Plin. to feel, Suet. to lay hold of, Amm. = Experior, Cic.

Tentor, āris; pass. Hor.

Tentōriānus, a, um; G. ex Treb. Poll. Belonging to a tent.

Tentōriŏlum, li; n. dim. Hirt. Σκηνιδιον. A little tent or pavilion.

Tentōrium, rii; n. Ovid. à Tendendo. κλισία, σκηνώμα. סכה. A tent, a pavilion.

Tentōrius, a, um; Treb. Poll. Belonging to a tent.

Tentum, ti; n. Jul. Capit. veretrum, sc. extentum.

Tentus a, um; part. à Tendo; Hor. Stretched, bent.

Tenuātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cels. ἀφαίρεσις. A making thin or slender.

Tĕnuātus, a, um; part. Hor. λεπτυνθείς, ἀφαιρεθείς. Made thin, slender or lean, diminished, grown less.

Tenuicŭlus, a, um; dim. à Tenuis, Cic. λεπτότερος, λεπτός, ἀτελής. Very little, or simple, somewhat slend.r, thin or small.

Tĕnuior, us; comp. Cic. Meaner.

Tĕnuis, e; adj. à Teneo, quiâ quæ tenuia facilè teneantur; vel à tendo, quòd quæ extenduntur tenuia fiunt, Perot. an à τείνω, unde τηλε in comp. ut ἐκτεινὼς. ἀφαιρὸς, λεπτὸς, ψιλὸς, ἰσχνὸς. דק. Slender, thin, lean, poor, mean, sorry, small, little, simple, fine. Tenuis victus, Cic. A spare diet. Vinum tenue, Ovid. Small wine. = Exiguus, mediocris, purus, acutus, subtilis, obscurus, Cic. ☞ Crassus, copiosus, locuples, Id.

Tĕnuissĭmè; adv. Cic. More meanly.

Tĕnuissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cic. Very thin, spare and mean.

Tĕnuĭtas, ātis; f. λεπτότης, λεπτομέρεια, ἰσχνότης. דלת. Thinness, leanness, slenderness, fineness, littleness, poverty, want. ☞ Ubertas, Cic.

Tĕnuĭter; adv. Cæs. ψιλῶς, λεπτομερῶς, λεπτῶς. Thinly, finely, daintily: also poorly, slenderly.

Tĕnuiùs; adv. comp. Cic. More finely and slightly.

† Tĕnŭlus, a, um; dim. Petr. Arb. nisi fortè culpa sit Librarii.

Tĕnuo, as; act. Vir. λεπτύνω, ψιλόω, ἰσχναίνω. הרק. To make small, thin or slender, to make lean, to wear and waste away.

Tenuor, āris; pass. Ovid.

Tĕnus, ūs; m. Plaut. i. laqueus, à Tenendo; quo aliquid tenetur: al. à τείνω tendo. πυγὴ. A snare; the neck or notch of the horn at the end of a bow, νοσσὸς.

Tĕnus, præp. cum Abl. sing. & Gen. plur. μέχρι, ἄχρις, ἕως. עד. à Teneo: nam quod propinquum est, quasi tenere videtur: al. à τείνω tendo, quod extensionem quandam sign. videtur. Up to, as far as. Verbo tenus, Cic. In word only. Ore tenus, By word of mouth.

Tĕpĕfăcio, is, ēre; ēci, ctum; Cic. θερμαίνω. To warm, or make warm.

Tĕpĕfactus, a, um; part. Vir. Made warm.

Tĕpĕfĭo, is, ĭeri; Cels. χλιαίνομαι. To be luke-warm.

Tĕpens, tis; part. Vir. Warm, temperate.

TEPEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. Plin. à τύφω fumigo, vel ex אפה coquere, Chald. חפיא focus; M. χλιαίνεσθαι. To be warm, or a little hot.

Tĕpĕsco, is, ĕre; incep. Cic. χλιαίνομαι. To grow warm: also to relent, to wax cold, Lucan.

* Tephrias, æ; m. Plin. 36. 7. τεφρίας, à τέφρα cinis, à colore cineritio. A kind of marble of ash colour.

* Tephritis; f. Plin. ult. 20. à colore cineritio. A stone having the figure of a new moon.

Tĕpidārium, rii; n. Cels. quòd tepidum: χλιαρὸν λοῦτρον, θερμαντήριον. A hot bath or bain, where they wash themselves in warm water; a vessel or caldron wherein water is made hot, Vitr.

Tepidior, us; comp. Var. Warmer.

Tĕpĭdo, as; act. Plin. χλιαίνω. To warm or make warm.

Tĕpĭdŭlè; adv. Gell. Somewhat warmly or coolly.

Tĕpĭdŭlus, a, um; Plin. ὑποχλιαρὸς. Somewhat warm, or cool.

Tĕpĭdus, a, um; Plin. à Tepeo. χλιαρὸς, ἀλεεινὸς. Luke-warm, neither hot nor cold, between hot and cold; hot, cold and slack in business, Plaut.

Tĕpor, ōris; m. Cic. χλιαρότης. Warmth, warmness or heat.

Tĕpōrātus, a, um; part. Plin. χλιαρωθείς. Made somewhat warm.

Tĕpōro, as; act. Sidon. χλιαίνω. To make warm.

† Tĕpōsus, a, um; Teposum Veris æquinoctium, Auson. Fortasse pro Tepidum aut Teporosum. Warm.

Ter; adv. τρὶς. à Tres, ut τρὶς à τρεῖς. Three times, thrice.

† Tĕrăgus, gi; m. Plin. A little sea-fish.

† Tĕramnos; Plin. A kind of weed.

* Teraphim; Bibl. תרפים, imagines, similitudines, idola.

Tercentēni, æ, a; Mart. Three hundred.

Tercenti, æ, a; Cic. τριακόσιοι. Three hundred.

Tercenties; adv. Catull. τριακοσιάκις. Three hundred times.

Tercentum; indecl. Vir. τριακόσιοι. Three hundred.

Terdēni, æ, a; Mart. τριάκοντα. Thirty, or thrice ten.

Tĕrĕbellum, li; n. dim. à Terebrum; Jun. τύρτηρ, τρύπανον. A little auger, wimble or piercer, a trepan.

Tĕrĕbinthina, æ; f. Offic. sc. resina. Turpentine.

Tĕrĕbinthinus, a, um; Col. τερεβίνθινος. Of or belonging to Turpentine.

† Tĕrĕbinthizūsa; Plin. A kind of Jasper.

Tĕrĕbinthus, thi; f. Virg. τέρμινθος, τερέβινθος. The turpentine-tree.

Tĕrĕbra, æ; f. Col. τρύπανον, τόρτηρ. à terendo. al. à τρῆσις. An auger, a wimble, a piercer: also an instrument to grave in stones: also a Chirurgeons Trepan.

Tĕrĕbrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. τρύπησις. A boring with a wimble, auger or piercer, a piercing.

Tĕrĕbrātus, a, um; part. Ovid. διατρηθείς. Pierced, bored, &c.

Tĕrĕbro, as; act. Col. τρυπᾶν, διατρῆσαι. נקב. To bore or make an hole, to pierce.

Tĕrĕbrum, i; n. Col. id. quod Terebra.

Tĕrĕdo, ĭnis; f. Plin. à gr. τερηδών. ψῆν. A little worm that eateth wood: also a moth that fretteth garments: also a worm in ones hand.

Tĕrendus, a, um; part. Propert. To be worn out, or be often used.

Tĕres, ĕtis; adj. Cic. à Terendo, quod quasi terendo rotundum sit; fort. à τρῆσις, unde in comp. κυκλοτερὴς. al. à τρῆσις, i. terebrando, unde τόρτηρ, tornus: στρογγύλος, κυκλοτερὴς. עגל. Long and round like a tree or pillar, smooth, even, fine, curious, quaint, clever.

Tergĕmĭnus, a, um; Cic. τρίτοκος, τρίπλαξ. משלש. Triple, three, threefold. Jus tergeminæ prolis, Stat. i. trium liberorum. Tergemini dicuntur, qui tres eodem partu editi sunt, Plin. 7. 3. τρίδυμοι. Three born at one time of one mother.

† Tergĕnus; indecl. Tergenus artes, G. ex Auson. Three kinds of arts.

TERGEO, es, ēre; si, sum; act. Juv. à τέρσω, Æol. pro τείρω, Becm. à Tero, Scal. fort. à σίγω, ut à σίγω tego. ἐκμάσσω, ἀπομάσσω. מרק. To wipe, to make clean, to scour.

† Tergibus, Lucr. pro Tergis, à Tergum.

Tergiductor, ōris; m. G. ex Ælian. ἀγωγός. The bringer up of a File of Souldiers.

Terginus, a, um; Plaut. à Tergus: Σώτινος, ταυρεῖος. Made of a beasts hide; of or belonging to leather or an hide.

Tergiversans; part. Cic. Bogling.

Tergiversanter; adv. Paterc. Overthwartingly.

Tergiversātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἡ πάντα ἔφοδος, ἀναζολή. Bogling: also a nonsuit in law, when the plaintiff letteth his matter fall.

Tergiversor, āris; dep. i. tergum verto: στρέφεσθαι, ἐκτρεπτολιζόμενος. To turn back, to boggle, to baffle, to shuffle and cut; to overthwart; to run away and fight still: also to leave off his action, to fall to a non-suit, Martian. ϕ Tergiversari contra aliquem, in re aliqua, Cic.

Tergo, is, ĕre; si, sum; act. Juv. Σμήχω, ὁμόργνυμι. To wipe, to make clean, to scour. V. Tergeo.

Tergōrans, tis; part. Plin.

Tergōro, as; act. à Tergus. ταυρίζω. To put on or pluck off a skin, hide or covering. Tergorare se luto, Plin. To cover himself all over with dirt.

TERGUM, gi; n. τὸ νῶτον. גב. à Terendo, quoniam vehendis oneribus teritur, Perot. à Tegendo, Var. an à θοὶξ τεχὸς, quod sit τεχὸν, i. pilosum? The back of a man, beast or any other thing, the ridge of an hill, Lucr. also an hide, a skin, Vir. Σώτινον. also a targt or buckler, Id. πάνδος, ἀσπὶς. Exercitûs tergum, Jun. The rere-guard. ϕ A tergo, Cic. Behind, at his back, on the back side. Terga tauri cava, G. ex Catul. Tabers or drums.

Tergus, ŏris; n. Vir. quòd tergum contegat. Σώτινον, βύρσα. עור. An hide of a beast; the back, Plin.

Tĕriōnes; m. pl. omnes bestiæ quæ arant terram, Teriones à Terrâ, vel à Terendo terram, Var. Oxen that plow the ground. Vid. Triones.

†. Tĕrĭstrum, tri; n. Bud. θέρισμον. A mantle or Irish rug.

Terjūgus

Terjugus, a, um; Terjugo mille, G. ex Auſon. Three thouſand.

† Termen, inis; n. à Termo, ōnis; m. idem quod Terminus, R. ex Feſt.

Tormentārium, ii; n. linteum quod teritur corpore, Var. Ita vocārunt linteum ποδανικὸν, nam veſtem ποδανικὴν & talarem Graci vocant ποδήρη, Scal. A linnen cloth, wherewith the body was covered.

† Tormentum, ti; n. vel Trimentum, idem quod Detrimentum, Feſt. ex Plaut.

Termes, itis; m. Hor. à τέρμα finis, ut trames à τέρμα. quod à fine ſeu extremitate arboris avellatur; vel quòd in terminis viarum terræ inſixus conſtituebatur, τέρμων. vel à תמר palma: κλὰδ ἐγκεκομμ. A bough plucked off the tree with the fruit on it; ſome take it for an olive branch: alſo a little worm that feedeth on fleſh, or wood; a maggot, a gentle, Feſt.

Terminābilis, le; adj. Ulp. That may be ended.

Terminālia, um; n. Feſta dei Termini. Terminalia; quod dies anni extremus conſtitutus, Var. Feaſts inſtituted to the god Terminus, and kept on the two and twentieth day of February, or (as Varro ſaith) on the laſt day of the year.

Terminālis, le; adj. Apul. Of or belonging, or ſerving to bounds and limits. Lapis terminalis, Jun. A meer-ſtone or land-mark. Terminalis tuba, G. ex Apul. A trumpet ſounding at the beginning and end of games of price.

Terminātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ὅρισμα, ὁρισμός. גבלות. A bounding or ending, a termination; the end or concluſion of a diſcourſe.

Terminātor, ōris; m. Aut. Lim. ὁριστής. He that ſets bounds or limits.

Terminātus, a, um; part. Cic. ὡρισμένος. Ended, bordered.

Termino, as; act. Cic. ὁρίζω, διορίζω, περαίνω. חנביל. To end, to finiſh; to bound, to ſet bounds or marches, to limit; to define.

Terminor, āris; paſſ. Cic.

TERMINUS, ni; m. à τέρμων, τέρμων, Scal. quòd termitibus terræ deixis conſtituebantur termini, Var. al. à terendo. à τρίβω tero, M. quòd hæ partes propter limitare iter maximè teruntur. Certè à τέρμα finis, inuſ. termen; hinc fortè terminus. πέρας, ὅρος. גבול. A bound, a limit, a meer parting one mans land from anothers; a gole, a border, a term; the end of a thing. = Finis, Cic.

† Termo, ōnis; Enn. idem quod Terminus, à gr. τέρμων, or ὅρος, Feſt.

Ternārius, a, um; Col. τεμαδικὸς. Of or belonging to three.

Terni, æ, a; Cic. τρεῖς. Three.

Ternio, ōnis; m. Gell. τριὰς. The number three.

† Ternitrātōres diaboli, quoniam triplici calle ad animæ properant interitum; verbo, cogitatione, opere, Cæl. 2. 13.

Ternus, a, um; Ter. Σύντρεις, τρίτος. Three, or three and three.

TERO, is, ĕre; trivi, tritum; act. Cic. à gr. τρίβω, τρῖψω, τρῖφω, indè τρίβελον. דנאה. To rub or break, to bray, ſtamp, bruiſe or weare, to threſh, to cram in pieces, to waſte, to ſpend, to uſe often, to go along, Vir. ὁ Moli terere, Plin. To grind.

Teror, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Terquini, æ, a; Terquini viri, Auſon. i. Quindecimviri. Fifteen.

TERRA, æ; f. γῆ, γαῖα, χθών. אֶרֶץ. dicta ab eo, quòd teratur pedibus, Var. itáque terra in Augurum libris ſcripta cum r. uno. Tera à διαίειν, Scal. al. à τρίφω ſicco, quia arida; vel ex Iæa terra, qu. à τῇ Ἰέᾳ. The earth: alſo a province, land or countrey, a ground: alſo the world. Terram video, Cic. I ſee land; when one is towards the end of a troubleſome buſineſs.

Terrāceus, a, um; Col. γήϊνος. Of or belonging to the earth. Hinc Angl. A terrace walk, q. d. Ambulacrum terraceum.

† Terrāi, in Gen. ant. pro Terræ.

Terræmōtus, ûs; m. Cic. Σεισμὸς. רעש. An earth-quake.

† Terrānĕola, æ; dict. quòd non in arboribus ſed in terrâ verſetur, Perot. χρυσοῦς κορυδαλὶς. The bird called a Bunting.

† Terras, in Gen. pro Terræ, ant.

Terrĕfācio, is, ēci, ĕre; Vir. πλῆσσω, ἐκπλήσσω. להחריד. To put in fear, to fray, to affraight or fright.

† Terrēnĭficus; T. ex Plaut. A moſt miſchievous perſon. Lege Terveneficus.

Terrēnum, ni; n. Col. terra cultui idonea: πεδίον. A field, land, or ground.

Terrēnus, a, um; Cic. γήϊνος, γήινος, χθόνιος. Earthly or earthy; that is done on the earth, living on the earth, by land. Via terrena, Ulp. A way that is not paved.

TERREO, es, ĕre; ui, ĭtum; act. Cic. à Terra, quaſi in terram proſterno: al. à Tero, quia terror animum terit; al. à τρέω, timeo: fort. à πτόησις idem. ἐκφοβῶ, πτοῶ, ἐκπλήττω. להבהיל. To affright or make afraid, to put one in fear, to amaze.

Terreor, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Terreſtris, tre; Cic. χερσαῖος, χθόνιος, γήϊος. Of or belonging to the earth or land, that liveth on the earth, earthly. Cœna terreſtris, Plaut. A ſupper of herbs, roots, &c. Terreſtris regio, Cic. An Inland countrey.

Terreus, a, um; Plin. χοϊκὸς, γήϊνος. Of or belonging to the earth, earthen.

Terribilis, le; Cic. φοβερὸς, φοβητὸς, τρομώδης. נורא. Dreadful, terrible, to be feared.

Terribiliter; adv. Aug. φοβερῶς. Terribly.

Terricŏla, læ; c. g. Poët. ἐπιχθόνιος. A dweller on the land.

Terricŭla, æ; f. Sen. A bug-bear.

Terricŭlāmentum, i; n. Apul. A ſpirit or ghoſt, a bug-bear, an apparition.

Terricŭlum, li; n. Liv. φάσμα, μορμολύκειον. A thing that putteth one into a fright, a ſcare-crow, a bug-bear.

Terrĭfico, as; Vir. ἐκπλήττω. To affrighten, to terrifie.

Terrĭficus, a, um; Vir. φοβερὸς. Dreadful, frightful, that maketh afraid.

Terrĭgĕna, æ; c. g. Lucr. γηγενὴς. Born or bred of the earth.

Terrĭgĕnus, a, um; Cic. idem.

Terrilŏquus, a, um; Lucr. That ſpeaketh terrible and frightful words.

Terrisŏnus, a, um; Claud. That ſoundeth terribly.

† Terrītio, ōnis; f. verb. Ulp. An affrighting or putting in fear.

Territo, as; freq. Liv. ἐκπλήττω, ἐκφοβῶ. To put in fear or dread.

Territor, āris; paſſ. Plaut.

Territōrium, ii; n. Cic. à Terra. χώρα, ἐπαρχία, γεώριον. מדינה. A territory, the Countrey lying within the bounds of a City; a diſtrict.

Territus, a, um; part. Liv. ἐκπλαγείς, ἐξεπλάγη. Affrighted, frightned.

Terror, ōris; m. à Terreo. φόβος, τρόμος, δέος, δείμα. מחיתה. φόβημα. Fear, terrour, dread. = Metus, Cic. ∴ Terror eſt qui aliis infertur, Metus quem habent timentes, Serv.

† Terrŭlens, tis; adj. Prud. Earthly.

† Terrŭlentè, & Terrulenter; adv. Prud. After an earthly manner.

Terrŭlentus, a, um; Plaut. Earthly.

Terſus, a, um; part. Ovid. à Tergeo. Wiped. Adj. Clean, neat.

Terſus, ûs; m. Apul. κάθαρσις. A ſcouring, wiping or cleanſing.

Tertia disjunctorum, Jun. C, Sol, Fa, Ut.

Tertia excellentium, Id. F, Fa, Ut.

Tertiāna, æ; f. Plin. ſc. febris. τεταρταῖος. A tertian ague.

Tertiāni, ōrum; m. Tac. οἱ ἐκ τρίτης τάξεως στρατιῶται. Souldiers of the third regiment or company.

Tertiānus, a, um; τεταρταῖος. Of or belonging to the third day, &c.

Tertiārium, ii; n. Cato: triens, id eſt, unciæ quatuor. τετραμόριον. A tirle, four ounces, a third deal.

Tertiārius, a, um; Plin. τεταρταῖος. Of the third ſort, thrice refined.

Tertiātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. τέτριωσις, τέτριωσις. The doing of a thing the third time.

Tertiātò, quartātò præ metu dicere verba, G. ex Serv. To bring out every third or fourth word imperfectly for fear.

Tertiatum, ti; n. Bud. A mixt metal, whereof two parts are lead, and the other tin.

Tertiātus, a, um; Done the third time, or in three parts. Tertiata verba, Apul. tanquàm ter facta antequam abſolvantur; vel quando tertia ſolùm pars exauditur; ut faciunt hæſitantes & pavidi; ἰσχναμμένα ῥήματα. Words not perfectly pronounced for fear.

† Terticeps; Var. Three-headed.

Tertio, as; act. Col. à Tertius; τριτόω. שלש. τριπολῶ, tertiò aro. To lat our or till the ground the third time, to give it the third tilth; to do any thing the third time.

Tertiò; adv. Ter. τὸ τρίτον. שלישתים. The third time, thrice.

Tertiùm; adv. Liv. The third time, thrice.

Tertius, a, um; Cic. à Ter; ut à τρεῖς, τρίτος. שלישי. The third.

Tertiuſdecimus, a, um; Cic. τρισκαιδέκατος. The thirteenth.

† Tertus, a, um; Var. pro Terſus.

Terveneficus; Plaut. Moſt miſchievous.

Teruncius; m. Cic. à tribus unciis, id eſt, quarta libellæ parte dictus. τεταρτημόριον, τεταρτίον. אטורית. A ſmall coyn of three ounces, a farthing. Teruncii non facere, Plaut.

Teſcum; i; n. Var. A rough place.

Teſcus; a; um; Acc. Rugged, craggy, deſert, loneſome.

Teſqua, ōrum; n. Hor. qu. τοεσca, à tuendis ſacris, Var. à δάσκια σκιόεντα, Scal. אשורים. Rough places that lye untilled, wood-grounds, places hard to come up to: alſo ſhady places, whither the Augurs reſorted to make their obſervations. τὰ ἄλση.

Tessella, æ ; f. dim. à Tessera, Plin. Ψηφὶς. A small square stone or piece of wood, &c. that men make checquer work with in tables or boards. Hinc Angl. a taffell.

Tessellārium, ii ; n. Bud. Checquer-work.

Tessellātus, a, um ; Suet. Ψηφοδέτητος. Wrought in checquer-work.

Tessello, as ; unde Tessellor, pass. Sidon. To make checquer-work.

TESSERA, æ ; f. à τέσσερα Ion. pro τέσσαρα quatuor, quod ex omni parte quadrata est. πύξος. A square piece of any thing, Gell. a four square tile, Vitr. a die to play with, Cic. also a watch-word or signal in war, Liv. any private sign or token ; a note or mark, a Ticket. Σύμβολον, Σύνθημα. a tally or score, Plaut. Tessera frumentaria, Suet. A ticket for the receiving of corn ; nummaria, Id. A Bill of Exchange ; hospitalis, Plaut. A token by which one is admitted and entertained.

* Tesseracoste, es ; f. Cæl. 26. 21. τεσσαρακοστὴ, quadragesima ; intervallum inter Pascham & Ascensionem : solenne autem Tesseracostes est ipsa Ascensio, Scal. The forty dayes betwixt Easter and Holy Thursday ; it may be taken also for Lent : also the time of a womans lying in before she be Churched : also a Churching feast.

* Tesseradecatitæ ; Eccl. dicti hæretici, qui 14. lunâ Paschа cum Judæis observandum contendunt ; Quartadecimani.

Tesserārius, a, um ; Amm. κυβικὸς. Of or belonging to dice or gaming.

Tesserārius, ii ; m. Veget. qui tesseras tribuit. ὁ τὸ Σύνθημα σημαίνων. He that bringeth or gives a watch-word : also a Dice-player, Amm.

Tesserātus, a, um ; Suet. Checquer'd, made in squares.

Tesserŭla, æ ; f. dim. Cic. ἀβάκιον, ἀβακίσκος, Συνθημάτιον. A little small tyle or square stone to pave with : a little mark or token, a little score or tally.

Testa, æ ; f. quasi tosta ; quòd vasa testacea coquantur sive torreantur : an à gr. τὸ ὀστέον, quòd sit ossea naturæ. καμάρα, κάλυφ, ὄστρακον. חֶרֶשׂ. A shell ; a shell-fish, Hor. also an earthen pot or jar for wine or any other liquor, Ovid. a cask, Hor. a gally-pot ; a burnt tyle or brick ; Suet. a potsherd, Plin. a brick-bat ; a splint or piece of broken bone, Cels.

Testābilis, le ; Gell. That by the law may bear witness in Court.

Testāceus, a, um ; ὀστράκινος, καμάρινος. Made of tyle, brick or earth baked, that hath a shell. Testacei pisces, Plin. Shell-fishes. Testaceum vas, Pl. jun. An earthen or stone vessel.

Testāmentārius, a, um ; Plin. διαθηκικός. Of or belonging to a testament or will.

Testāmentārius, ii ; m. ῥαδιουργὸς γραφεὺς. A forger or falsifier of dead mens last Wills, Cic. also a Scrivener, a Notary, a writer of Testaments and last Wills, Calist.

Testāmentor, āris ; Bud. διατίθεμαι. To make a Testament or Will.

Testāmentum, ti ; n. Cic. à Testando, quo quis testatur, i. ostendit, quid post mortem suam fieri velit. διαθήκη. A Testament or last Will.

Testans ; part. Ovid. Witnessing.

† Testātim ; adv. Non. ex Pomp. By pieces, or shards or shreds.

Testātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Liv. μαρτύρησις. חֲשׂוּרָה. A witnessing or acquainting.

Testātor, us ; comp. Cæl. More remarkable or taken notice of.

Testātò ; adv. Dig. ἐπὶ μάρτυσι. In presence, or before witness : also with his will being made, Paul.

Testātor, ōris ; m. διαθέμενος. A testator, or he that maketh a Will.

Testatrix ; f. Scæv. She that maketh a Will.

Testātus, a, um ; part. & adj. Cic. μαρτυρημένος. Pass. Witnessed, attested, publickly known, averred, avowed, approved, allowed, Act. Calling to witness, having made his will ; Adj. Sure, certain, manifest, evident. = Clarus, notus, Cic.

Testeus, a, um ; Macrob. Earthen, made of earth baked : also sherdy.

† Testĭcŭlor, āris ; Fest. To put the male to the female : also to call for or produce witnesses, Plaut.

Testĭcŭlus, li ; m. dim. à Testis ; ad Heren. Testiculi dicti, quòd testes sunt virilitatis : ὀρχίδιον, ὄρχις. אֶשֶׁל. The stone of a man or beast, the testicle : also an herb, the same that Satyrion, quòd radices hab. similes testiculis.

Testificātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. διαμαρτύρησις. חֲשׂוּרָה. A witness bearing, a testifying.

Testificātus, a, um ; part. Cic. μεμαρτυρημένος. Witnessed, testified : also that caveth to witness, Ovid.

Testĭficor, āris ; dep. μαρτυρέω. חִשַּׂר. To bear witness, to averr, to testifie. Testificari Deum, Cic. To take God to witness or record.

Testimoniālis, le ; adj. Testimoniales literæ, Veget. Letters testimonial ; souldiers Passes.

Testimōnium, ii ; n. vid. Gell. 20. 1. μαρτυρία. עֵדוּת. Witness, a testimony, an evidence, a deposition, a commendation.

TESTIS, is ; c. g. μάρτυρ, μάρτυς. עֵד. dict. quòd tuetur statum causæ ; vel quòd ante stet, qu. antestes, i. ante stans, Isid. al. à gr. θέτωρ, unde & μάρτυρες θέσθαι dicebantur, nempe testes suas sententias deponere. Quid si ab ἴστωρ verus, ἱστέω exquiro, ἵστωρ, hinc testis, indagator veritatis ? A witness, a giver of evidence, one that is privy to a thing : also a mans or beasts stones, Plin. ὄρχις. Testis Synodalis, Eccl. A Side-man to a Church-warden. G.

† Testivilicium, ii ; n. Plaut. res minimi pretii : sumptum à filorum fragmentis, quæ propriè Testivilitia vocari solent ; Vide Textivillitium.

Testor, āris ; dep. testem ago, testem imploro ; μαρτύρια. חֵעִיד. To bear witness, to attest, to averr, to avouch and affirm, to declare openly. Cum Acc. to call or take to witness, μαρτύρομαι. to conjure or beseech, Plaut. also to make his last Will and Testament, Liv. ◊ Id testor Deos, Ter.

Testu ; n. indecl. Var. à Testa. κλίβανος. A pan under which things are baked ; an oven ; also a cuttle-bone.

Testuāceus, a, um ; Var. κλιβανικὸς. Of or belonging to an earthen pot : also boiled in an earthen pot, or baked on an earthen pan.

Testūdĭnātum, ti ; n. Fest. A roof casting water, or bending down side-ways, like a tortois-shell.

Testūdĭnātus, a, um ; Col. καμαρωτὸς. Hollow or bowing like a vault, or like a tortoise shell ; vaulted, arched.

Testūdĭneus, a, um ; Mart. χελώνειος. Of or belonging or like to a tortoise ; vaulted, low paced.

Testūdo, ĭnis ; f. Plin. quòd testâ tegitur : χελώνη, καρκίνος. A Tortoise, or shell-crab ; a tortoise-shell, Ovid. a snail ; the roof or vault of an house, Cic. καμάρα. the belly of a Lute ; a Lute, because like or made of a tortoise his shell, Hor. χέλυς. a warlike engine or fence made of boards, covered over with raw hides, under which, as a pent-house, the besiegers of a town got up close to the walls, Cæl. also a target fence, when the foot held their shields over their heads close together to keep off the enemies arrows, &c. Liv. Συνασπισμός.

Testŭla, æ ; f. dim. Col. ὀστράκιον. A little tyle, pot, shell or shard.

Testum, ti ; n. Plin. An earthen pan to fetch fire with : also a cuttle-bone, Col. Cumon. V. Testu.

Testus, ûs, ui ; m. Cato. κλίβανος. An earthen pot or kettle, an oven : also a pot or pan of other metal, Plin.

† Tesum, antiqu. pro Tensum.

Teta, æ ; f. palumbes, Servio, & Tetus, ti ; Isid. idem. A Ring-dove or Queist.

Tĕtănĭcus, a, um ; Plin. τετανικὸς. That is apt to have the crick or a kind of cramp in the neck.

* Tĕtănŏthrum, thri ; n. Plin. τετανόθρον, medicamentum ad erugandam extendendamque in facie cutim. A medicine to take away wrinkles, and to smooth the skin.

Tĕtănus, ni ; m. Cels. τέτανος. extensio, à τείνω tendo. A kind of cramp, a stiffness or stretching of the sinews, a crick in the neck.

* Tetartæus, a, um ; Col. τεταρταῖος, quartanus. Of the fourth.

* Tetartēmorion, ii ; n. τεταρτημόριον. lat. Quadrans, Plin. A fourth part.

Tĕter, tra, trum ; quòd tædeat. Tetrum est cujus tædeat. Tetrum, atrum, Perot. βλοσυρὸς, μιαρὸς, δυσώδης. שָׁחוֹר. Foul, stinking, nasty, cruel, horrible, naught, mischievous, hideous, black and dark, Lucr. also very sharp and cold, Cæl. Ulcus tetrum, Jun. A scurvy sore, a tetter. = Immanis, Cic.

Tĕterrimè ; adv. superl. Cic. Most hideously.

Tĕterrimus, a, um ; superl. Cic. Most hideous and cruel.

* Tĕthălassōmĕnus, a, um ; Plin. Gr. τεθαλασσωμένος. ex θάλασσα mare. Watered or mixed with sea-water.

† Tethya, æ ; f. Plin. τήθυον, vel τήθυα inter purgamenta maris, fungorum veriùs generis quàm piscium, M. A sea-fish like an Oyster.

† Tetini, pro Tenui, Fest. Tetinisse, pro Tenuisse ; Tetinerit, pro Tenuerit, Pacuv.

† Tetra ; in comp. vocum, à τέτρας, numerus quaternarius.

* Tetrachordum, i ; n. Music. τετράχορδον. An instrument of four strings.

* Tetrachordus, a, um ; τετράχορδος. Having four strings.

* Tetracōlon, i ; n. Gram. τετράκωλον. A kind of Lyrick Stanza, consisting of four verses or lines : also id. quod Quaternio, τετρὰς vel τετράδιον, Sen.

* Tetracōlus, a, um ; τετράκωλος. Of four members or parts.

* Tetradōron, i ; n. Plin. τετράδωρον. à δῶρον.

à δέκα palmus. Four hand-breadths long or wide.

* Tetradrachmon, i ; n. Liv. τετρά-δραχμον, ex τέτρα & δραχμὴ drachma. A coin of the value of four groats, eight to an ounce.

* Tetradrachmum, i ; n. Liv. idem.

* Tetraëteris, idis ; f. Chronol. τετραετηρίς. τετραέτης ἐτῶν. Four years space.

* Tetragnāthius ; m. τετραγνάθιος. Aranei seu phalangii genus, quòd quatuor habet γνάθους seu maxillas ; Plin. 29. 4.

* Tetragonismus, mi ; m. Geom. τετραγωνισμὸς, i. quadratura. A bringing of a figure to a quadrangle or square.

* Tetragonus, a, um ; Geom. τετράγωνος, à γωνία angulus. Quadrangular, square.

* Tetragrammus, a, um ; Geom. τετράγραμμος, à γράμμα linea. Consisting of four lines.

* Tetragrammăton, i ; n. τετραγράμματον, quatuor literis constans ; à γράμμα litera. A name of God in Hebrew, consisting of four letters ; יהוה.

† Tetrālis ; Plin. id. quod Tetralix.

* Tetrālix ; f. Plin. 11. 16. τετράλιξ. A kind of herb, Ling or Heath.

* Tetrămetrum, i ; n. Gram. τετράμετρον. dimensio constans 4. metris, i. 8. pedibus, unde Octonarium voc. Latini.

* Tetrāo, ōnis ; m. Plin. τέτραων. A bustard or bistard.

* Tetrăpharmăcum, ci ; n. Cels. τετραφάρμακον. A plaster made up of four ingredients, wax, pitch, rosin and bulls tallow : also a dish of meat or Oleo of four kind of things, Spart.

* Tetraptōton, i ; n. Gram. τετράπτωτον. nomen quod per quatuor casûs variatur. A Noun with four cases.

* Tetrarcha, æ ; m. Cic. τετράρχης. The governour of the fourth part of a countrey, a Tetrarch.

* Tetrarchia, æ ; f. Cic. τετραρχία. Such a Lordship or Government.

* Tetras, ădis ; f. Arithm. τετράς. The number of four, the Cater-point in dice.

* Tetrastichæ, es ; f. Treb. Poll. A gallery with four ranks of pillars.

* Tetrastichon, chi ; n. Gram. τετράστιχον, ex τέτρασις quatuor, & στίχος versus. A tetrastick or Epigram of four verses.

* Tetrăsyllăbus, a, um ; Gram. τετρασύλλαβος. Of four syllables.

* Tetrax, Nemes. τέτραξ, genus avis : Vide Tetrao.

Tetrè ; adv. Cic. βλοσυρῶς, ἀγρίως. Cruelly, hideously.

Tetricè ; adv. Baret. ὑπόφρα, ὑποβλέπων. Doggedly, sullenly.

† Tetrices, um ; f. Cato. Devises of water to water gardens.

Tetricitas, ātis ; f. Ovid. Σκυθρωπασία. קשי. Crabbedness of look.

Tetricus, a, um ; Mart. à Teter. Σκυθρωπὸς, χαλεπὸς, Σκληρὸς. קשה. Rude, rough, rugged, sowre, crabbed, dogged, sullen, surly.

Tetrior, us ; comp. à Teter, Plaut. More hideous.

† Tetrītūdo, ĭnis ; f. Accius : id. quod Tetricitas.

* Tetrix, ĭcis ; f. Jun. τέτριξ. A kind of pheasant, bustard or bistard : vide Tetrax & Tetrao.

† Tetro, as ; Pacuv. à Teter. ἀμαυρόω. To defile, pollute or make bitter.

* Tetróbŏlum, i ; n. Jun. τετράβολον. A coin of four Oboli, about four pence half penny of our money.

* Tettigŏmĕtra, æ ; f. Plin. τεττιγομήτρα, ut Orygometra : à τέττιξ cicada, & μήτηρ mater. The mother or matrice of the grashoppers, out of which they breed.

Tettigŏna, æ ; f. Plin. 11. 26. τεττιγόνια. A kind of small grashopper or cricket.

† Tĕtŭlit, pro Tulit, Accius.

* Teuchites ; m. Plin. A kind of sweet rush, τευχίτης.

* Teucrion, vel Teucrium, ii ; n. τεύκριον. à Teucro, qui eam invenisse dicitur. An herb like Germander, great or wild Germander ; some take it for Pimpernel.

* Teuthălis, ĭdos ; f. Plin. 27. 12. τευθαλὶς. Knot-grass, &c. = Polygonaton, polygonon.

* Teuthis, idis ; f. Gaz. τευθὶς vel τεῦθος. piscis de sepiarum genere, loligo. A fish fenced with a long bone standing out, but wanting a beard.

* Teuthrion ; n. Plin. 21. 7. τεύθριον, τεύθριον. An herb called also Polion.

Texendus, a, um ; part. Vir. To be plaited.

TEXO, is, ĕre ; ui vel xi, xtum ; act. à τάττω τάξω ordine ; al. à Tego, quòd quæ texuntur, magnâ ex parte teguntur, Perot. vel à τίκω, τίξω, quòd pariat telam : ὑφαίνω, ἱστρίω, φλίκω. ארג. To weave, to knit ; to wind thread, to make, to build, to write or, compose, Cic. to plait.

Texta, æ ; f. Var. An hair-lace, a fillet.

Textile, is ; n. Liv. ὑφὴ. A thing woven, woven work.

Textilis, le ; Cic. ὑφαντὸς. That is weaved or wounden, imbroidered, tissue, plaited, Mart. ◊ Ventus textilis, Petron. Tiffany, Lawn.

Textivilitium ; n. Plaut. ex Texti vilitate : vile quod de texto cadit. A thrum, a loose thread or end in weaving of cloth.

Textor, ōris ; m. verb. Jun. ὑφάντης, ἱστρὸς. ארג. A weaver, a plaiter : also an imbroiderer.

Textōrius, a, um ; Sen. ὑφαντικὸς. Of or belonging to a weaver, or to weaving.

Textricŭla ; dim. à Textrix, Arnob.

Textrina, æ ; f. Cic. ὑφαντὶον, ἱστρῶνα, ἱστρεῖον. A weavers shop or work-house where his looms stand : also the craft or trade of weaving, Plin.

Textrinum, ni ; n. Plin. ἱστρεῖον. A weavers shop : also a company of weavers, Amm. also a dock where ships are built, Enn. ναυπήγιον.

Textrix, ĭcis ; f. Tibull. ὑφάντειρα. A woman-weaver, a spinster. Textrices, Apul. The three Ladies of Destiny.

Textum, ti ; n. Vir. ὕφασμα, ὑφὴ, πλέγμα. A web, a woof, a composure ; the ordering or framing of a discourse, Quint. ◊ Vimineum textum, Mart. A twig-basket.

Textūra, æ ; f. Lucret. ὑφὴ, πλοκὴ. A weaving, a texture.

Textus, a, um ; part. Vir. ὑφασμένος. Woven, plaited, interwoven.

Textus, ûs ; m. verb. Plin. ὕφασμα, πλοκὴ. A weaving : also a text or subject of a discourse.

T ante H.

* Thălămēgos ; Suet. dict. quòd θάλαμον ἄγει. i. vehat cubile. A Pinnace of pleasure, a Yacht, with a fair cabbin for any great Person to lodge in. = Cubiculata navis, Sen.

Thălămus, mi ; m. Vir. θάλαμος. חדר. A Bride-chamber or bed-chamber where the husband and wife lye ; also marriage, Sen. also a Bee-hive, Vir. or rather the holes of the combs where the Bees lye.

† Thălassegle ; R. ex Plin. 4. 17. A kind of herb.

* Thălassiarcha, æ ; m. θαλασσιάρχης. An Admiral.

* Thălassiarchia, æ ; f. θαλασσιαρχία. The Admiralship, or the office of the Admiral.

* Thălassĭcus, a, um ; Plaut. θαλάσσιος, marinus, à θάλασσα mare. Of or belonging to the Sea ; a blew colour like the Sea-waves, Sea-water colour.

* Thalassĭnus, a, um ; Lucr. idem.

Thălassio, ōnis ; m. Mart. ὑμέναιος. A nuptial song, or a song at a bridal.

* Thălassites, æ ; m. Plin. 14. 8. θαλασσίτης. vinum cum vasis suis in mare dejectum, ut præcocior sit vetustas.

Thalassius ; m. Liv. θαλάσσιος. A marriage-song.

* Thălassŏmĕli, itos ; n. Plin. 13. 6. θαλασσόμελι, ex θάλασσα & μέλι mel. A certain medly made of honey, rain-water and sea-water.

Thălassus, i ; m. Mart. id. quod Thalassio.

Thălērus, i ; m. A Dollar, a Dutch coin. Thalerus imperialis. A Rix dollar.

Thălictrum, tri ; n. Plin. θαλικτρον, à θάλλω floreo. A kind of herb, Flux-wort or Lask-wort.

* Thallus, i ; m. Col. θαλλὸς ramus, à θάλλω vireo. Lat. Scapus dic. The middle stalk of an onyon ; a green bough of an Olive or Bay-tree ; a strowing herb, Apul.

* Thapsia, æ ; f. Plin. θαψία. planta ferulacea ex Thapso insula, in quâ primùm creditur inventa. A kind of herb.

Thăsia nux, Jun. θασία ἀμυγδάλη. à loco sic dicta. An almond.

* Theämēdes, æ ; m. Plin. θεαμήδης. A stone of a contrary nature to the Loadstone.

* Theangĕlis, ĭdis ; f. Plin. à θεὸς & ἄγγελος nuncius, quòd pota divinare faciat. An herb that Magicians make use of.

Theātrālis, le ; Cic. θεατρικὸς. Of or belonging to a Theatre.

Theātricus, a, um ; θεατρικὸς. Theatrical, of or like the Stage.

Theātrĭdium, ii ; n. dim. Var. θεατρίδιον. A little theatre.

Theātrum, tri ; n. Cic. θέατρον, κατὰ τὸ θᾶσθαι à spectando dictum. A Theatre ; a place where people assembled to behold playes, a stage or scaffold : also the spectators or company of beholders.

Thēca, æ ; f. Cic. θήκη vagina. נרתק. A sheath, a case, a box, a bag ; the hose or pill of corn.

† Thēdo, piscis quidam apud Auson. A Lamprey.

* Thēlygŏnum, ni ; n. Plin. θηλύγονον, ex θῆλυ fœmina, & γόνος gigno. An herb having berries like an Olive, and is cauled the Grace of God, infused in drink it makes a woman conceive a girl.

* Thēlyphŏnon, i ; n. Plin. 25. 10. θηλυφόνον, quia τὸ θῆλυ φονεῖ, fœminei sexûs animalia interficit. An herb the root whereof doth kill Scorpions.

† Thēlyptĕris, is ; f. Plin. 27. 9. θηλύπτερις, ex θῆλυ fœmina, & πτερὸν pi.e.

silix. Sea-fern, female-fern.

* Thēma, ătis; n. Quint. Θέμα ἀπὸ τοῦ τίθημι. A theam, an argument, a subject proposed to be written or spoken of: also an Horoscope, or nativity. Suet. also a Primitive Verb in Greek; Gram.

* Thēnar; n. Jun. θέναρ, carnosa pars manûs inter pollicem & medium digitum.

Thensa, æ; f. Cic. Χαρὰ τοῦ θείνειν, i. à re divinâ; al. Tensa à Tendo: ἱερὸν ζεῦγος. A chariot or waggon wherein the images and statues of their Gods were carried.

† Thensaurus pro Thesaurus, Feud.

* Theogŏnia; f. Cic. Θεογονία, i. origo deorum, Id. The generation of the Gods, a Book of Hesiods so called.

Theologia, æ; f. Θεολογία, sermo de Deo rebúsque divinis. Divinity.

Theologicus, a, um; Tert. Θεολογικὸς. Pertaining to divinity.

Theŏlŏgus, gi; m. Cic. Θεολόγος, qui de Deo rebúsque divinis loquitur vel disserit. A Divine.

* Theŏmăchus, i; m. Bud. Θεομάχος. Deo repugnans.

* Thecombrōtios; f. quæ & Semnion, herba magica, quâ Persarum Reges adversùs omnia tum animi, tum corporis incommoda utebantur, Plin. 24. 17. An herb which the Kings of Persia used to take as a preservative.

* Theorēma, ătis; n. Geom. Θεώρημα. A speculation, a Theorem, a Geometrical proposition.

Theorēmăticus, a, um; Θεωρηματικὸς. Belonging to a Theorem.

Theorēmătium, ii; n. dim. Gell. A little Theorem.

* Theorētice, es; f. Quint. Θεωρητικὴ. The art of Theory or Speculation.

* Theorētĭcus, a, um; Θεωρητικὸς. Belonging to contemplation.

* Theoria, æ; f. Θεωρία, à Θεωρῶ contemplor. Contemplation, theory.

* Theōrĭcus, a, um; Belonging to contemplation or theory.

* Therapeutice, es; f. Medic. Θεραπευτικὴ, i. medendi methodus. That part of Physick which prescribes the curing of diseases.

* Theriaca, sive Theriace, es; f. Plin. Θηριακὴ, Χαρὰ τοῦ Θηρίου à venenatis bestiis, sive quòd earum veneno adversetur, sive ex earum carnibus conficiatur. תריאק. Treacle; any remedy against poison.

* Theriacus, a, um; Jun. Θηριακὸς. Good against the biting of Vipers or other venemous beasts.

* Therioma, ătis; n. Cels. Θήριωμα, ulceris genus teterrimum; à Θηρίον, in ferinam naturam muto. A raging ulcer or sore, the gravel I ow, a blanker.

* Therionarca; f. Plin. Θηριόναρκα, dict. quòd torporem afferat serpentibus, qu. Θηρίον νάρκην. A shrub somewhat hairy, having a flower like a rose: it maketh Serpents heavy, dull and drowsie.

* Theriotrophium, ii; n. Var. Θηριοτροφεῖον. vivarium in quo Θηρία τιθάσσεται, i. feræ aluntur. A park or warren.

* Theristrum; n. Vulg. Int. Θέρεστρον, dict. sive quòd eo Θερίζεται, i. messores utcrentur, sive quòd εἰ Θέρει, h. e. in æstate maximè usui esset. תדון. A fine thin veil or garment for summer.

* Thermæ, ārum; f. Mart. ai Θέρμαι. Hot baths.

† Thermĕfăcio, is, ĕre; Plaut. ex Θερμὸς calidus & Facio. To heat or make hot.

Thermoclinium; n. Baret. Θερμοκλίνιον. A warming-pan.

* Thermŏpŏla, æ; m. Θερμοπώλιον. One who sells hot water, Coffee, strong water or brandy.

* Thermŏpōlium, ii; n. Plaut. Θερμοπώλιον. A place where hot drinks were sold, a Coffee-house, a Strong-water or Brandy-shop.

* Thermŏpōta; m. Θερμοπότης, qui calidam bibit. One who drinks hot drink, Coffee, &c.

† Thermŏpōto, as; Plaut. Θερμὸν, i. calidum poto. To drink hot or warm drink.

Thermŭlæ, ārum; f. dim. Mart. Θερμικαὶ Θέρμαι. Little hot baths.

Thēron; m. nomen canis, Ovid. Θὴρ fera, Θήρα venatio. Kill-buck or fierce-look.

Thēsaurārium, ii; n. Bud. A treasury.

Thesaurārius, a, um; Plaut. Θησαυρισμός. Of or belonging to treasure.

Thesaurārius, ii; m. Bud. A Treasurer.

† Thesaurensis, is; m. Cod. An undertreasurer, or officer to the Lord Treasurer.

* Thesaurīzo, as; act. Vul. Int. Θησαυρίζω. To treasure up.

Thesaurŏphylăcium, Θησαυροφυλακεῖον. Ærarium. The Treasury.

Thesaurus, ri; m. Cic. Θησαυρὸς. אוצר. Treasure, abundance, riches, wealth: also a treasury, an inward and secret place.

* Thĕsis, eos, vel is; f. Quint. Θέσις, positio. A general and indefinite question or argument, a position.

Thessa; f. Plin. A sea-fish.

* Thēta; n. indecl. Mart. Θῆτα. Theta est signum condemnationis in judiciis, quòd esset prima litera in voce Θανάτου, i. mors. The name of one of the Greek letters: also a mark of condemnation to death, a sentence, a censure, Pers.

† Thiasĭtæ, sodalitas, Paul. ap. Fest. Θιασῶται sodales, qui unà choreas exercent & epulantur.

Thiăsus, i; m. Vir. A dance at the sacrifices of Bacchus. Vid. Thyasus.

* Thlaspas, æ; m. Jurisc. Χαρὰ τοῦ θλᾶσθαι, cui testiculi fracti sunt. Dic. & Thladias.

* Thlaspi; n. Plin. Θλάσπι, dict. Χαρὰ τοῦ θλᾶν, i. confringere, ob quòd semen lenticulæ sit simile, sed fractum; Col. An herb called Connrey-mustard, wild Seene.

* Thlaspidion, ii; n. Plin. idem.

* Thlibias, æ; m. Institut. Θλιβίας, cui testiculi attriti sunt & contusi.

Thōlus; m. Vir. Θόλος. Propriè est umbilicus testudinis in templis, ex quo donaria suspendi solebant. à תלה suspendere, M. The center or midst of an arched or vaulted roof, called a Scutcheon; the roof it self of a Temple or Church; the Lantern or Cupolo of a large publick Hall.

* Thōmix, icis; f. Fest. Θώμιγξ. A wreath of hemp to make ropes with: also a cushion or bolster to lay on the neck to keep it from hurt in carrying burthens; a Porters knot or stay: also a rope or cord.

† Thomus, i; m. Plin. vid. Tomus.

† Thōrăca, æ; f. Plin. id. quod Thorax.

Thōrācātus, a, um; Plin. thorace indutus. Θωρακοφόρος Θεός, Θωρακοδύτης. That wears th a breast-plate.

Thōrācium; n. Jun. Θωράκιον. velum in summo mali fastigio. The top-sail or the top-mast sail.

* Thōrax, ācis; m. Plin. Θώραξ pectus. חזה. Est & armatura quæ eam partem munit, unde Θωρήσσειν armare. Est & imago thoracc tenus expressa. The breast or bulk of a man: also a breast-plate or a corslet, Vir. a stomacher, Jun.

* Thos, ōos; m. Plin. Θὼς, lupus cervarius. A kind of Wolf rough in winter, bare in summer.

† Thous; Ovid. Θοῦς Θεός, celer. Swift.

* Thrascias, æ; m. Cic. ventus qui ex Coro Ipsirat: Θρασκίας qu. Θρᾳκίας, ex Thracia. The North-west wind.

Thraso, ōnis; m. Ter. Θρασύων, ὀνὸς ἀπὸ θρασύτητος Θεός, ab audacia dict. A Braggadocio, a Huff, a Hector, a Captain stuft with straw.

* Thrauston, i; n. Plin. θραυστὸν. One kind of the gumm Ammoniacum.

Thrax, cis; m. Suet. A sword-fencer.

† Threcidica, ōrum; & Thracidica, Cic. Philip. 2. pro Armatura gladiatorum, i. parma Thracum, & harpe sive sica, M. The sword-players tackle.

* Threnōdia, æ; f. Bibl. Θρηνῳδία. קינות. A mourning song; the book of Lamentation.

Thrēnus; m. Jun. θρῆνος Θεός, lamentum. Lamentation: also a lamentable verse or song, a funeral song.

* Thridax, acis; f. Θρίδαξ, lactuca. The herb Lettice. Thridax agria, Apul. Sparhawks herb; hawk-weed.

* Thrips; m. Plin. θρὶψ, à τρίβω tero. עש. A little worm breeding in timber, a moth.

† Throcum; n. Plaut. an à Θῶκος sedes, vel à Θρόνος, corr. pro Thronum. A kind of seat.

† Thrŏnum, i; n. Plin. id. quod Thronus.

Thrŏnus, i; m. Bibl. Θρόνος. כסא. A Throne, a Royal Seat, a Chair of State.

* Thryallis; f. Mart. Θρυαλλὶς. The herb called Rose-campion.

Thunnus; m. Hor. Θύννος. The fish called a Tunny. Vid. Thynnus.

Thūrārius, ii; m. Corn. He that prepareth or selleth frankincense or incense.

Thūreus, a, um; Col. λιβανωτὸς. Of or belonging to frankincense.

Thūrĭānus, a, um; Tomus thurianus, Plin. 32. 11. A certain fish called also Xiphias, the sword-fish; or rather a Rand of fish.

Thurianus, ni; Hor. à Thuria. The fish called Tunny.

Thūrĭbŭlum, li; n. Cic. à Thure & βάλλω jacio, mitto: Θυμιατήριον, ἐκφόριον. A censer to burn incense in.

Thūrĭcrēmātum, ti; n. Cypr. Θυμίαμα. The place where incense was offered.

Thūrĭcrēmus, a, um; Vir. That burneth frankincense.

Thūrĭfer, ra, rum; Plin. λιβανοφόρος Θεός. That beareth or bringeth forth frankincense.

Thūrĭfĕgus, a, um; Ovid. λιβανοτρόγος Θεός. That gathereth frankincense.

THUS, ūris; n. λίβανος. à gr. Θύω, Χαρὰ τοῦ θύειν, i. odorem faciendo. לבונה. al. Tus scrib. Frankincense, incense. Thus terræ, Plin. Ground-pine.

Thuscŭlum, li; n. dim. Plaut. λιβανωτὸς μικρὸς.

μίεγον. A little piece of frankincense.
† Thuscŭlus, i; m. G. ex Plaut. idem.
Thya, æ; f. Plin. θύα arbor, quæ & θύον, & θυία, & θύον. à θύω sacrificio, quia sacrificiis apta; à θύος odor, odoramentum, M. A kind of wild Cypress-tree, whose wood is very sweet and lasting, the Life-tree.
Thyăsus, si; m. Vir. θύασος. ex verbo θυάζειν, quod est Orgia celebrare. A dance in honour of Bacchus.
† Thyeum, sive Thleum; idem quod Succinum, G. ex Plin. 37. 2.
Thylnus, a, um; ex thya factus. Ligna thyina, 1 Reg. 10. 11, 12.
* Thyitis; f. Plin. θυῖτις, à θύω, mortarium. A kind of very hard stone whereof mortars were made.
Thymallus, Ambr. à flore (i. thymo) nomen habens. A dainty sweet fish.
Thymbra, æ; f. Plin. θύμβρα. herba odorata; à θύμος, cujus saporem refert, Col. The herb Savory.
* Thymelæa, æ; f. Plin. A kind of wild olive, or treen growerh Granum Gnidium.
* Thymele, es; f. θυμέλη. A pulpit or stand on the stage, where mimicks upon the withdrawing of the Actors entertained the spectators with tricks.
Thymĕlici; Vitr. Mimicks and Jesters that acted such ridiculous parts.
Thymĕlicus, a, um; Thymelicum choragium, Apul. The players furniture.
* Thymiama, ătis; n. Bibl. θυμίαμα. à θυμᾶν suffire. qu. θυμοῦ ἴαμα animi medela; Etym. קְטֹרֶת. A perfume, incense; a sweet gum, Celf.
Thyminus, a, um; Col. θύμινος. Of or belonging to Thyme.
* Thymion, vel Thymum, ii; n. Celf. θύμιον. A kind of wart ragged at top like a thyme leaf; or as some say, coloured like thyme flower.
* Thymītes; m. Col. θυμίτης, vinum Thymo conditum. Wine made with thyme.
Thymōsus, a, um; Plin. θυμώδης. Full of thyme.
Thymum; n. Vir. θύμον dict. παρὰ τὸ θυμᾶν, quia adhibetur iis qui patiuntur animi deliquium; al. à θύω, ob fragrantiam. The herb thyme or time.
Thymus, mi; m. Plin. idem.
Thynnēum; n. Cæl. Rhod. θυννεῖον. A sacrifice to Neptune, for good success in fishing for Tunny.
Thynnus, i; m. Plin. θύννος, ex θύω, i. cum impetu ruere, quod tum facit præcipuè cùm æstro agitatur, adeò ut etiam in navigia exiliat, Gesn. à תָּנִין, Aven. A tunny-fish.
Thynus, i; m. Catull. i. annulus, Cic. quòd in Thyâ, i. Bithyniâ fiebant, Salmas. A ring.
Thyrsis, is; m. θύρσος. The stalk or stem of an herb, Plin. also a spear wrapt about with ivy or bay-leaves which they carryed in their hands a Bacchus his feasts, Hor. a furious or mad humour, Lucr. such as Bacchus his company gadded with at those ceremonies.

T

Tiāra, æ; f. Ovid. τιάρα, ab heb. עֲטָרָה, corona. κυρίως. מִגְבָּעָה. An ornament for the head, which Kings of Persia and Priests elsewhere wore in old time; a Turban, a Shash.
Tiāras, æ; m. Vir. ide n.
Tiberĭum; n. Plin. A kind of spotted gray marble.
Tibi; dat. à Tu: σοὶ, Dor. τοὶ, additò ῐ, tibi. To thee.
TIBIA, æ; f. os cruris, Celf. an qu. τὸ βία, quòd sua vi sustineat partes corporis superiores; unde & tibicen pro fulcro: תְּמוּךְ. it. fistula, Cic. qu. tubia, Isid. ob similit. vel quòd è cervorum aut gruum tibiis fieret: αὐλὸς, חָלִיל. Fort. hæc erat primaria sign. à חָלַל Chald. תְּוָפָה tympanum, inde translata ad os. An à tubus, quòd cava sit? The shank or shin-bone; the leg: also a flute, a pipe, a flagellet.
† Tibia, æ; m. Quere mensi lubidines, & tibias oblongos, bilingos, Var. ap. Non.
Tibiāle, lis; n. Suet. κνημὶς, περισκελὶς. מִכְנָסַיִם. The neither stock or knee-hose, a stocking: also a leg-harness, a greave.
Tibiālis, le; Plin. αὐλητικὸς. Of or belonging to legs, or to pipes, meet to make pipes of.
Tibiātim; adv. Titin. Up to the shins.
Tibicen, ĭnis; m. Cic. qui tibiâ canit. αὐλητὴς, ὁ αὐλῳδὸς, it. pro fulcro, Jun. ἀντηρὶς. à similitudine tibiis canentium, qui ut canentes sustineant ita illi ædificia, Fest. A piper, a player on a flute, a fidler, a minstrel: also a prop, shore, stay, pillar, antick prop; any thing that supporteth or beareth up. Tibicines plagarii, Jun. Net-shores or stakes.
Tibicina, æ; f. Mart. quæ tibiâ canit, αὐλητρὶς. A woman playing on a flute or shalm, a she-piper.
Tibicinium, ii; Apul. The art of playing on the flute or of piping.
Tibilustria; Fest. V. Tubilustria.
† Tibin; Fest. fort. in Acc. à Nom. Tibis, Gl. ab heb. חֵבָה arca. A kind of basket, or casket made of wickers, bulrushes or rinds of trees.
† Tibinus; Tibinos à tibiis modos, Non. cap. 1. num. 246. A tune or note made with the pipe.
† Tibŭlus; G. ex Plin. V. Pinaster.
Tigillum, li; n. dim. à Tignum, Plaut. ξυλίδιον. A little rafter.
Tignārius, a, um; ad tignum pertinens, ξυλικὸς. Of or belonging to rafters. Tignarius faber, Cic. A Carpenter.
Tignārius, ii; m. Cic. A Carpenter.
Tigno, as; act. unde pass. Tignor, āris, Vitr. κανονίζω. To roof or cover with rafters.
Tignum, ni; n. Vitr. à tegendo, est enim trabs, cui tectum imponitur, Perot. Al. tignum ad ædificium adhiberi solitum, ut indè contignatus oriatur, Bec. ξύλον, ἰκρίον. קוֹרָה. A rafter of an house, a beam: also any timber or stuff used in building; 1a. Tabb. also a rail, prop or stake to set up a vine; a groundsel.
Tignus, ni; m. Cæl. idem.
Tigrīnus, a, um; Plin. τιγρῶδης. Of or like a Tyger, spotted or grained as a Tyger is.
Tigris, idis; f. Plin. vel is; f. Hor. τίγρις. dict. à velocitate; Armeniorum linguâ; חִדֶּקֶל Sagitta Chald. indè cum t hebraïco חִדֶּקֶל, M. A Tygre, a beast of strange swiftness: also the name of a swift river in Asia. Vid. Prop.
Tilia, æ; f. Plin. εἴλυφος, quòd utilis sit ad usum telorum, Isid. qu. telia, Pap. à πίλον penna, ob foliola albicantia, pennas referentia, M. Omn. à σπιλὰς ulmus. A Linden or Tile-tree: also little knots in the thinnest skin that is between the bark and the wood of that tree: also pillings of the bark.
Tiliāceus, a, um; Col. φιλύρεος. Of or belonging to the Linden-tree.
† Tilica, jocularis dictio. Sputa tilica, quid est hoc? Sputa quid sit scio, Tilica nescio, Cal. ex Cic. de clar. Orat.
† Tilos; R. ex Plin. A hair-worm.
Timĕfactus, a, um; part. G. ex Cic. Scared or affrighted.
Timendus, a, um; part. Hor. φοβερὸς. To be feared.
Timens, tis; part. Ovid. Fearing. Cum Gen. Lucr.
TIMEO, es, ui, ēre; neut. & act. φοβέομαι, δείδω. יָרֵא. à metu, quòd quos timemus, honore prosequimur. al. à δείμα, quod à δείδω. al. à חָמַר, θυμαίνω. al. à μὴ pœna, unde Æ Timere prop. est servorum, qui formidine pœnæ contineantur; Vereri liberorum, qui honesti amore ducuntur; Popma. To fear, to dread, to apprehend, to be afraid: also to doubt or mistrust, Quint. Timeo de aliquo, Cic. pro aliquo, Pl. jun. ϕ Timeo te, Ovid. Lest thou do me hurt; tibi, Ter. Lest thou come to some hurt.
Timeor, ēris; pass. Mart.
Timesco, is, ĕre; incep. unde Timescens part. Amm. To grow fearful.
Timidè; adv. κατὰ δέος. Timorously, fearfully, cowardly. Æ Fidenter, Cic.
Timidĭcŭlè; Apul. Somewhat fearfully.
Timĭdior, us; comp. Cic. More fearfull.
Timidissimè; adv. superl. Marcel. Most fearfully.
Timidissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most fearful.
Timĭditas, ātis; f. Cic. δειλία. יִרְאָה. Fearfulness, bashfulness, timidity. = Ignavia, cautio.
Timidŭlus, a, um; dim. Plaut. κατὰ δέος. Somewhat fearful.
Timidus, a, um; à Timeo. δειλὸς, φοβερὸς, αἰσχρὸς. יָרֵא. Fearful, timorous, bashful, cowardly, faint-hearted: also to be feared. Cum Gen. Timidus deorum, Ovid. ad mortem, Cic. = Imbellis, ignavus, tremens, Cic.
Timor, ōris; m. Cic. à Timeo. φόβος, δέος. יִרְאָה. Fear, apprehension, jealousie, mistrust.
† Tin pro Eum, antiq. Cal.
Tina, æ; f. Var. vas vinarium, ab heb. טִנָּא corbis, vel טִיט mulctrale. A great bowl whereof each may drink a little.
Tinca, æ; f. Auf. qu. tincta, quòd propter colorem, quasi tingi videatur, Gell. κύλλον. A fish called a Tench.
Tinctĭlis, le; Ovid. βαπτὸς. That which serves for dying, or to dy with.
Tinctor, ōris; m. verb. Jun. βαπτεύς. A dyer.
Tinctōrius, a, um; βαπτικὸς. Of or belonging to dyers.
Tinctūra, æ; f. Plin. βαφὴ. A dying, or staining, a colour or dy, a tincture.
Tinctūrus, a, um; part. Ovid.
Tinctus, a, um; part. Cic. βεβαμμένος. Dyed, stained, dipped, tinged, baptized, Eccl. Tinctus veneno, Suet. Empoisoned.
Tinctus, ūs; m. Plin. βάπτισμα, βαφὴ. A dying, dipping or imbruing.
Tinea, æ; f. Hor. dicta quòd teneo,

& eò usque insideat, quoad erodat, Isid. à τινέω, lumbricorum genus. תֹּלַע. A moth-worm that eateth books or cloaths: also worms in the belly, Plin. worms breeding in hives, Col.

Tĭnĕārĭa, æ; f. Dodon. Mothwort, gold flower. = Aurelia.

Tinĕōlus, a, um; Col. σητώδης, ἰλυσπώδης. Full of moths or worms.

Tingendus, a, um; part. Prop. To be dipped.

Tingens, tis; part. Plin. Dying, colouring, dipping; a dyer.

TINGO, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Vir. à gr. τίγω. βάπτω, χρωματίζω, צָבַע. To dy, colour or stain; to dip, to paint, Mart. to sprinkle, to embrue, to wash, Ovid. to swill, Hor.

Tingor, ĕris; pass. Mart.

† Tinguo, pro Tingo, Feud.

† Tinia, vasa vinaria apud antiq. Fest. Vid. Tina. Wine-pots.

Tinnimentum, ti; n. Plaut. κωδωνισμὸς, συριγμὸς. A ringing or tinkling, a glowing, or tingling of the ears.

TINNIO, is, īre; ivi, ītum; neut. Var. βομβέω, ἠχέω, κωδωνίζω. צְלַל. verbum confictum ex sono. To ring and make a clear sound, as metal doth; to tingle.

Tinnītūrus, a, um; part. Suet.

Tinnītus, ûs; m. Vir. ἦχος, κλαγγὴ, μόλιβος, Gl. A ringing or tinkling.

Tinnŭlus, a, um; Sen. λιγυρὸς, ἠχώ. That ringeth or maketh a clear sound, shrill, tinkling, of a clear delivery, Quint.

Tinnunculus, i; m. species accipitris à vocis tinnitu, Plin. 10. 37. al. leg. Tristunculus, à tribus testiculis. A kestrel or kastrel, a kind of hawk. Scrib. & Tintinnunculus.

Tintinnābŭlum, li; n. Juv. κώδων, κρέπαλον. עֶשֶׂת. A little bell: also a dung-cart or such like, Col. so called for the creaking noise it made. Tintinnabulum terræ, Plin. Medow beets or winter green.

Tintinnācŭlus, li; m. Plaut. κρεμαλίζω, κωδωνοφορῶ. He that maketh a ringing, he who beat slaves till they tingled again, or from the noise of the jerks: also a hang-man or beadle, who used bells, when they went to execution.

Tintinnio, īre; Non. à Tinnio, per reduplicationem. κωδωνίζω. To ring like a bell, to ting.

Tintinno, as; vel Tintino, as; Catul. idem.

Tintinnuncŭlus, li; m. Col. κιγχρὶς. A kind of hawk called a kestrel, or kastrel, a wind-sucker.

† Tinus, Plin. A kind of Bay-tree.

Tipŭla, æ; f. Plaut. πυρὸς τὸ πῦρ, πίμπλα, τὰ ἕλη, id est, paludes, ubi tipulæ versari solent. A water-spider with six feet, that runneth on the top of the water without sinking.

Tipulla, æ; f. Plaut. idem.

Tīro, ōnis; m. Cic. dict. quia se primùm terit: Vide Tyro. A fresh water-souldier, an apprentice.

† Tis; antiq. Gen. à Tu, Plaut.

Titan, is; m. Vir. πτάν. The Sun. Vid. Prop.

Tithymallus, li; m. Col. πόμμαλον. An herb cased sea-lettice, wolfs-milk, or milk-thistle.

Tithymălus, i; m. Plin. idem.

† Titi vel Titoi; πίτοι. Corn. Wild pigeons, which the South-sayers were wont to observe. Vid. Teta.

Titillans; part. Cic. Tickling.

Titillātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. γαργαλισμός. A tickling, a provoking.

Titillātus, ûs; m. Plin. idem.

Titillātium; Vid. Titivillitium.

Titillo, as; act. Cic. verb. fictitium, ex risu cùm titillamur; al. à πίλλω, geminatâ priori syllabâ, id est, vellico, attrecto leviter, Scal. γαργαλίζω, ὑποκνίζω. To tickle, to provoke, to move pleasantly.

Titillor, āris; pass. Cic.

Titio, ōnis; m. Cels. δαλὸς, συμφλεγὲν. אוּר. quod ignis extinctus in eo sit; qu. titicio: al. tritidis titiones, & tritidia. fort. ut à dada tæda, ità à dadi titio, pro tædio vel tidio. A fire-brand quenched.

Titivilitium, ii; n. Titivilitium, nullius significationis est, ut apud Græcos βλιτυρὲ & Cinnam. Fest. Inter ea censendum quæ Græci Critici voc. ὀνηδιγραφικὰ, Latini vett. effutilia, Scal. Titivilitium, qu. Totivilitium, id est, totum inane ac vile, Bec. aut meliùs, qu. totivilitium, à Villus, & Totum, id est, Totum nè villi aut pili æstimandum: Vide Textivilitium. σφενδαμίνιον, τὸ λεπτὸν μίτιον ὀνόπραμμα. A rotten thread, a thing of no value.

Titŭbans, tis; part. Ovid. Stumbling, staggering, stammering, faltering.

Titŭbanter; adv. παραφόρως, αἰσχυδῶς. Stuttingly, staggeringly, waveringly, doubtingly, with uncertainty.

Titŭbantia, æ; f. Suet. Συγκλόνησις, τεχνικὸς μῦς, παραφορά. A stuttering, stammering or missing in ones words.

Titŭbātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. Staggering, humming and hawing, being at no certainty.

Titŭbātus, a, um; part. Vir. Συγκλονηθεὶς. Stumbled, tripped.

Titŭbo, as; neut. qu. τυπτὸς βάδην, parum eo, M. pot. à τύπτω πύπτω. titubo, impingo pedem. Sed & qui linguâ offenfat, titubi dict. παραφέρομαι, Συγκλώμαι, ὑπολισθαίνω. עָוַת. To stagger in speaking or going, to stumble, to stammer, to trip, to stutter, τεχνικὸς ἐστι, to faulter, to be at a stand, to reel as a drunken man. = Pecco, offendo, Cic.

† Titŭlo, as; Don. To entitle.

Titŭlus, li; m. ἐπιγραφὴ, ὄνομα, πτλῶν. כֹּתֶרֶת. qu. dim. à Titus, i. pitis, quod à titubando, quòd titulus sit nota honoris; it. defendo, quòd inscriptio tueatur factum authoris, & ostendat verum opificem, Scal. A tittle, the inscription of a work or act, Plin. also a mark of dignity and honour, Cic. a monument or remembrance; a pretence or colour, Paul. a bill set upon a door, a mark set upon a vessel, Juv. also a tittle. ◊ Titulī, milites appell. qu. Tutuli, à tuendâ patriâ, Fest.

Tityrus, i; m. Serv. τίτυρος, vervex sectarius Siculis, pro Cirus, unde σύες, ovis, μῶλος. al. Satyrus, Casaub. A bell-wether, Serv. or (as Casaub.) a Satyr or wild man; as others, a beast ingendred of an Ew and an He-Goat: also a kind of Ape with a tail like a sheep.

T ante M.

* Tmēsis, is; f. Gram. τμῆσις. Est unius verbi compositi vel simplicis sectio, unâ dictione vel pluribus interjectis; ut Septem subjecta trioni, Vir. Saxo cere diminuit brum, Lucr.

T ante O.

† Tŏcha, calculus; Ant. lim. quo limites signarunt, Gl. Isid.

† Tŏcullio, ōnis; m. Cic. qu. τοκυλλίων fœneratorculus, à τόκος fœnus. A little usurer. Al. leg. Locullio.

† Tŏdeo, es; R. ex antiq. To jet up and down like a wagtail.

† Tŏdi; Fest. sunt aves parvæ; à τυτθὸς, id est, parvus, M. Little birds, Titmouses.

† Tŏdillus, a, um; dim. à Todus, i. τυτθὸς parvus. Little tiny. Todilla crura, Plaut. Spindle-shanks.

* Tœchŏbătes & Tœchobata, æ; m. Vopisc. τειχοβάτης. A runner upon walls.

Tŏga, æ; f. τήβεννα, ἱμάτιον. תַּחְרָא. à tego, ut pondus à pendo. A gown, a garment the Romans always wore in peace; whence it is also taken for the time of peace: also the attendance of a retainer upon his Lord in livery.

Tŏgātārius, ii; m. actor togatarum fabularum, Plin. & Suet. An actor of Comedies.

Tŏgātŭlus, a, um; dim. Mart. A little gown-man.

Tŏgātus, a, um; Cic. togâ indutus. τριβωνοφόρος. Gowned, that weareth a gown. ✠ Fabula togata, i. Comœdia: Prætextata, i. Tragœdia.

Tŏgātus, i; m. Mart. A Roman, or a Client performing a visit to his Patron, or attending in a gown, a Livery-man: also a Lawyer. Togati Cæsaris, Salm. The Emperours Serjeants.

Tŏgŭla, æ; & dim. Mart. A little gown.

Tŏlĕrābilior, us; comp. Cic. More tolerable.

Tŏlĕrābĭlis, le; Cic. ἀνεκτὸς, διαφορητὸς. Tolerable, indifferent, that may be endured or born with. Act. Ter. That can bear or endure.

Tŏlĕrābĭliter; adv. Col. ἀνεκτῶς. Tolerably, so as may be endured.

Tolerābilius; adv. comp. Cic. More easily.

Tŏlĕrandus, a, um; part. Stat. To be endured.

Tŏlĕrans; part. & adj. Col. Enduring, suffering; patient.

Tŏlĕranter; adv. Cic. καρτερικῶς. Patiently, constantly, with sufferance.

Tolĕrantia, æ; f. verb. Cic. ὑπομονὴ, ἀνοχὴ, καρτερία. Patience, sufferance.

Tŏlĕrantior, us; comp. Tacit.

Tŏlerantissimus, a, um; cum Gen. Very patient, or that can very well bear.

Tolerantiùs; adv. comp. Plin. More patiently.

Tolerātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. An enduring or suffering, toleration.

Tŏlĕro, as; act. Cic. à τολάω, Per. vel à Tollo sive Tulo, unde Tuli: ὑπομένω, φέρω, ἀνέχομαι, καρτερῶ. סָבַר. To suffer, abide, endure or bear, to tolerate, to carry, Apul. to sustain, maintain, keep and find one.

† Tŏles vel Tolles, Tolæ vel Tolla; tumor in faucibus, quæ per dim. voc. Tonsillæ, Fest. à Tollo, quòd tollantur & tumeant, Perot. παρίδημα. Waxing kernels, swellings of the Almonds about the root of the tongue, Ser. Sam.

Tollēno, ōnis; m. Liv. à Tollendo dict. Fest. αἰωλητήριον, κηλώνειον. An engine to draw up water, that hath a great poise at the end, a swipe.

† Tolles,

† Tolles, tumor faucium, quas & tonsillas voc. Fest. παρισθμια.

† Tollisse, pro Tulisse, Ulp.

TOLLO, is, ĕre; sustŭli, sublātum; act. hinc Tetuli; ut à pello, pepuli; & sublatā reduplicatione Tuli, quod vid. in Fero: in sup. Latum, pro Tlatum, qu. à τλάω, ἄειρω, ὑλῶ, ἰγλέω. נשא. à τίλλω, aut potiùs ταλάω, ταλῶ, quod ab Heb. חלה suspendit, vel à שור, vel à נשל, in altum tulit. To lift up, to raise; to take away, ἀφαιρεῖν. to make one away, ἀναιρεῖν. also to nourish, keep or bring up, Ter. τρέφειν. to defer, prolong or put off, Plaut. ἀναβάλλεσθαι. Tollere æs alienum, Pl. jun. To pay off his debts; anchoras, Cæs. To weigh anchor; animos, Liv. To pluck up a good spirit; animos alicui, Sal. To make him proud; diem, Cic. To spend it; infantem, Ter. To bring it up; memoriam, Cic. To abolish it; se, Luc. To stoot up, as a plant doth; se humo, Vir. To advance himself; urbem, Cic. To raze or destroy it. ◊ Tollere aliquem veneno, Cic. To poison him; de medio, Id. To dispatch or rid him out of the way, to kill him; clamore de foro, Id. To hoot him out of court; filium ex aliquâ, Suet. To get or have a child by her. = Detracto, aufero, eripio, Cic.

Tollor, ĕris; pass. Vir.

Tollo, ōnis; m. & Tollonus, i; m. Plaut. id. quod Tolleno.

Tōlūtāris, re; adj. Tolutaris equus, Sen. ὠμφρμ, ταχύπους. That ambleth or paceth, that goeth easie.

Tolutārius, a, um; Idem.

† Tolutilŏquentia, æ; f. Næv. i. volubilis sermo, Non. ταττολογία λόγ. Voluble speaking.

Tōlūtim; adv. Var. ὀλόρμως. à tollendis pedibus, Bec. qu. volutim. With an ambling pace, roundly, fast.

* Toma vel Tome, es; f. G. ex Auson. τομή. A section or division.

Tōmācĭnæ, ārum; f. Var. κόμματα, ἀλλαντες. ἀπὸ τῆ τομεῖν, id est, τέμνειν, quòd carnes & herbæ incisæ induntur. τομία & τόμυς Græci vocant, Scal. Puddings made of hogs flesh, liverings, sausages.

Tomaclum, i; n. Juv. per Sync. pro Tomācŭlum, i; n. Juv. τόμ, τόμακος. A kind of pudding or sausage.

Tōmentitia, sc. herba, Dodon. γναφάλιον. Cudweed, chaffweed, petty cotten.

Tōmentitius, a, um; Made of flocks or locks of wooll, tuffy, downy.

Tōmentum, ti; n. Suet. γναφαλόν. à τομῶ, id est, confectione eorum quæ inculcabant culcitis, Scal. Al. ut ex moveo, motum, momentum; sic ex tondeo, tonsum, tomentum. Fort. à πόωμα casus, hinc tomen, tomentum; quod cadit è lanâ inter pectendum. Locks clipped of wooll: brokenwoll, fluxes, such as cloth-workers make in shearing, and is used in stuffing of beds, cushions, &c.

* Tomex, vel Tomix, icis; f. Plin. σπάγξ. A cord; a bempen cord or rope: also a cover put on horses necks stuffed with wooll or hair, to keep it from hurting them, Jun.

* Tōmĭcus, a, um; τομικός. Cutting.

Tomici dentes, Gell. id est incisores. The fore teeth.

Tōmus, mi; m. Mart. τόμ, à τέμνω, pars vel sectio libri. מגרה. A volume containing part of the works of one author; a Tome; also a rand of salt-fish: also a stack of wood, a heap of wheat, Cæl.

Tŏnans; part. Ovid. Thundering. It. subst. The Thunderer, God.

Tŏnātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. βρόντησις. A thundering.

Tŏnātor; m. verb. Sid. A thunderer.

Tondens; part. Vir. Grazing.

TONDEO, es, ĕre; tŏtondi, tonsum; act. Cic. κείρω. גזז. qu. τομίω δῶ. An à tendo, ut à pendo pondus? To clip or shear; to poll, nott or shave; to mow or cut (corn) Vir. to browze or bite off (as cattle do,) Id. Tondere aliquem auro, Plaut. To dry-shave him.

Tondeor, ēris; pass.

† Tŏnescit, Var. ap. Non. It thundreth.

† Tongere; Fest. à Tango. To know. Nam Prænestini tongitionem notionem dicunt.

† Tonimus; Vet. pro Sonamus usurpârunt, Var.

Tŏnitrālis, le; adj. Lucr. Thundering, or wherein is thunder, Var.

Tŏnitruālis; Apul. Epitheton Jovis.

Tŏnitru; n. indecl. Ovid. plur. Tonitrua. à Tono. βρόντη. רעם. Thunder, a rumbling sound, Sen. a crack or peal of thunder.

Tonitrus, ûs; m. Cic. idem.

Tonitruum, i; n. Plin. idem.

TONO, as; ui, ĭtum; neut. Cic. tonum edo. βροντάω. הרעים. à τόνος τονῶ sono. To thunder, to make a great or terrible noise; to roar, Sen. to rebound, Mart. Cum Acc. Plin. To roar out.

Tonsa, æ; f. Vir. quòd quasi tondeatur ferro; vel quòd fluctus tondeat, i. decutiat, Fest. al. qu. tunsa, à Tundo, quòd aquam tundat. κώπη, ἐρετμός. An oar, the blade of an oar.

Tonsæ, ārum; f. Vir. Woods cut down.

Tonsĭlis, le; adj. Mart. κερτός. That is or may be shorn, clipped, rounded, lopped, shread or cropped.

Tonsilla, æ; f. dim. à Tonsa. A little oar, Enn. also a post sharpned at one end and shod with iron, and pitched into the ground, that ships or boats may be tyed thereto: also an anchor, rope or cable, Fest.

Tonsillæ, ārum; f. Plin. Cic. παρειδίδια, ἀμυγδάλη. An inflammation about the jaws, the Mumps; the Glanders.

Tonsĭto, as; freq. à Tonso, Plaut. πολλάκις κείρω. To clip often.

Tonsitor, āris; pass. Plaut.

† Tonso, as; freq. unde Detonso, Gell.

Tonsor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. κουρεύς. גלב. A barber, a clipper or shearer; a shaver.

Tonsōrium, ii; n. Vitr. κουρεῖον. A barbers shop.

Tonsōrius, a, um; κουρικός. Of or belonging to a barber. Culter tonsorius, Cic. A rasor.

Tonstrĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. Cic. κουρεύτριδιον. A woman-barber, a she-shaver.

Tonstrīna, æ; f. Ter. κουρεῖον, κουρευτήριον. A barbers shop.

Tonstrix, ĭcis; f. Plaut. κουρεύτρια. A woman-barber, a she-barber.

Tonsūra, æ; f. Col. κάρσις, κουρά. Clipping, polling, shearing or shaving.

Tonsus, a, um; part. Cic. κουρεμένος. Shorn, clipped, poled, rounded, lopped, shred.

Tonsus, ûs; m. pro Tonsūra; Non. ex Plaut.

Tŏnus, ni; m. Plin. τόνος. à τείνω intendo; qu. φωνῆς τάσις, vocis extensio. A tone, a note, tune or accent: also the space between the earth and the Moon, Mart. the gloss or varnish of colour, Plin.

* Tŏparcha, æ; m. Jun. τοπάρχης. lat. loci præses. A Lord of a Mannour, a Lord Lieutenant of a County.

Tŏparchia, æ; f. τοπαρχία, regionis præfectura. A Lordship, a Lieutenancy.

Tŏpāzium, ii; n. Plin. id. quod

Tŏpāzius, ii; m. τοπάζιος. à Topazio insulâ, (quæ & Paz & Opaz & Topaz dic.) in quâ hic lapis mirè pellucidus inven. Plin. 37. 8. πάζιον, Hes. inde τὸ πάζιον. ab hebr. פז, aurum solidum. A precious stone of the colour of gold called a Topaz.

† Tŏpazon; m. Fulchérque Topazon, Prud. idem.

Tŏphāceus, a, um; Plin. τοφώδης. Of or belonging to a sand-stone.

Tophinus, a, um; Suet. idem.

Tophus, i; m. Plin. τόφος. τραχὺς λίθος, Opp. qu. τόπος i. locis & πυκνὸς i. poris plenus. A sand or gravelstone that may easily be rubbed to crums. ◊ A drum, Scal. ex Vir. qu. à תף tympanum.

Tŏpiāria, æ; f. Cic. ἡ ἐν τοῖς κήποις χλωρὰ τοποιητική. The art of making arbours or pictures with trees or twiggs and herbs cut and plaited.

Tŏpiārium, ii; n. Cic. à τόπος, quomodo Græci appellant funiculos: quòd in opere topiario frutices & arbusculæ tonsiles, quæ variè torquentur, ac flectuntur, usque dum animalium & aliarum rerum similitudinem repræsentent, topiis sive funiculis soleant religari, Voss. A work made of trees, bushes or herbs, pictures made of herbs and twiggs, an arbour, a bower, a knot.

Tŏpiārius, a, um; adj. Arbusculæ topiaria, Col. A tree writhed archwise overhead.

Tŏpiārius, ii; m. Plin. ὁ τῆς χλωρᾶς ὕλης ποικιλτής. A gardener that maketh divers kinds of knots and devices in herbs as they grow, in the likeness of men, birds or beasts: also that maketh arbours or bowers.

* Tŏpica, ōrum; n. Cic. τὰ τοπικά. Topicks, books that treat of places of invention in Logick.

* Tŏpice, es; f. Cic. τοπική, scil. δύναμις vel τέχνη. The art of invention or finding out places and arguments.

* Tŏpicus, a, um; Cic. τοπικός, id est, localis. Topical, or belonging to invention.

Tŏpium, ii; n. Vitr. τόπιον, τοπίον & τοπεῖον. prop. Funis. à τόπος locus, sc. ut res alligata sit loco, quo esse volumus. An arbour, or bower, &c. a knot in a garden.

* Tŏpographia, æ; f. Cic. τοπογραφία, Lat. loci descriptio. The description of a place, Topography.

Tŏpographus, i; m. τοπογράφος. A describer of places, a Topographer.

† Topper, Fest. ex Næv. id est, citò, celeriter; qu. toto opere. τάχα, αὐτίκα. Immediately, quickly, in all haste.

Tŏral, is; n. Hor. à Torus. πρόκλινον, στρῶμα. מטוי. The furniture of a bed, as sheets, blankets, coverlets, a counterpane: also a thing made of sweet flowers; flowers, and hanged before the place where people lodge, Coop.

Torcŭlar, vel Torculare, āris; n. Plin. à torquendo: λινὸς πιεστήριον. A press for wine, oil, cyder, or verjuice: also the grain tunnel, Jun.

Torcŭlārium, ii; n. Cato. idem.

Torcŭlārius, a, um; Cato. ληνοῦ ὢν. Of or belonging to a press.

Torcŭlārius, ii; m. Col. ληνοβάτης. A presser or press-man.

Torcŭlum, li; n. Col. à Torqueo; λίνος. An instrument to writhe, to squeeze grapes, a press.

Torculus, i; m. Plin. idem.

Torculus, a, um; Var. ληνίτης ὢν. Of or belonging to a press.

Tordile, is; n. Plin. Tortile Ruellio. The seed of the herb Setcells.

Tordilon, i; n. Plin. & Tordylium, Dalec. ex Plin. idem.

† Tŏres, pro Torques antiq. Solin.

* Toreuma, ătis; n. Cic. τορεύμα. מִקְרָעָה. Plate chased or engraven, any imbrica or imbossed work.

Toreumătum, i; n. Cic. idem.

* Toreuta, æ; m. Jun. τορευτὴς, tornator. A turner, a graver or chaser of metal.

* Toreutice, es; f. Plin. τορευτικὴ. The art of graving or embossing.

Tormen, ĭnis; n. plur. Tormina, um; Oelf. à torquendo; quòd dolore torquentur intestina. διαστροφία, σφίγξ. חֶבֶל. The griping of the guts, the wringing of the belly as in the wind colick.

Tormentilla, æ; f. Offic. The herb Tormentil or Setfoil. Septifolium.

Tormentum, ti; n. Cic. à Tormen. ἐλατὴρ, σφενδόνη. רִאמָה. Torment, orum; pain, grief; an engin of war, to cast stones or darts; Cæs. μαγγανικὸν λιθοβόλον. מָתוֹ. the rope of a crane or such like instrument to lift up timber, any rope, Scal. also the griping or wringing of the belly: also any piece of Ordnance, a Canon or great Gun.

Tormina, um; n. vid. Tormen.

Torminālis, le; Plin. διαστροφικὸς. That causeth or breedeth the gripes.

Torminōsus, a, um; Cic. σφιγκτῆρδης, ὁ σφίγγων πυελέαν. That is subject to the gripes or to the fretting of the guts.

† Tornāmentum, i; n. Munst. A running at tilt, justing or barriers, justs and tornaments.

Tornātilis, le; adj. τορευτὸς. quod tornatur. That is turned or made with a turners wheel.

Tornātor; m. verb. Vitr. A turner.

Tornātus, a, um; part. Hor. τορευτὸς. Turned or made with a turners wheel.

Torno, as; act. Plin. τορεύω, τορνεύω, τορνῶ. To turn or work with the wheel, as Turners do, to polish and fashion, Cic.

Tornor, āris; pass. Plin. To be turned round.

Tornus, ni; m. Plin. τόρνος, à τείρω, τόρνος, indè τόρνος. A wheel, a turn, or lath that Turners use to work things with: also a graving tool, Vir. Angusto torno versus includere, Propert. To make verses in a low strain.

Tōrōsulus, a, um; dim. Plaut. Somewhat brawny.

Tōrōsus, a, um; Col. à Torus. μυώδης, ἰσχυρὸς. Brawny, fleshy, well-fleshed, strong and lusty: also full of stems and branches.

Torpēdo, ĭnis; f. Plin. νάρκη, νάρκωμα. A cramp-fish, that numbeth the hands of those that touch it: also, id. quod Torpor, Sil. Numanesi.

Torpens, tis; part. Cic. Num and faint; dull.

TORPEO, ēs, ui, ēre; neut. Cic. à τέρπω oblecto, vel τρυφάω, à τρυφάλεος frango luxu, à רָפָה mollem esse, רָתַם abjecto ת torpeo: ναρκάω, ἀναισθητῶ ὑπνῳ. To be num or benummed, to be asleep as parts of the body are; to be slow, dull or heavy and drowsie; to faint or languish, Liv.

Torpesco, is, ĕre; incep. Sen. ναρκόω γίνομαι. רָגַר. To grow num, heavy, sleepy, dull; to grow faint and sluggish, Sal. to tarnish and decay in colour, Plin.

Torpidè; adv. Gell. νωθρῶς. Dully, slowly, drowsily.

Torpidus, a, um; Liv. ναρκώδης, νωθρὸς. עָצֵל. Slow, dull, sleepy, drowsie, &c.

Torpor, ōris; m. Cic. à Torpeo. νάρκη, ἀναισθησία. רִגָּיוֹן. Numness, stiffness, sleepiness, drowsiness, heaviness, dulness, lazines, listlesness.

† Torpōro, as; Turpil. ναρκόω. To make senseless, drowsie, sleepy, to benum.

† Torpōror, āris; pass. Pacuv.

Torquātus, a, um; Cic. στρεπτοφόρος. That weareth a collar or chain. Torquatus palumbus, Mart. A ring-dove.

TORQUEO, ēs, ĕre; si, tum, & sum; act. à στρέφω. ἀλ. à τέρπω, τορεύω, τόρνος. πλέκω τὴν πλόκην, non recti, sed inflexi & curvi, ὅτι πλέκεται λύτο τ' ὀρθὸν ἴσον. Jos. Scal. fort. à τροπὴ conversio, per metath. τορπὴ torpeo, & π in q, ut solet, conversio, torquere. στρέφω, στρεβλόω, κάμπτω, λυγίζω. עוּת. To wrest, to writhe or wreath, to twist, to wrap, wind or whirl about; to bend, or bow, to turn about; ἀκαλήφην. to crisp and curl; to rack or torture, βασανίζειν. to vex or grieve; to spin; to fling, hurl or throw, to govern, Vir.

Torqueor, ēris; pass. Cic.

Torques, is; m. vel f. Var. torta fascia, à Torqueo. στρεπτὸς, σφενδόνη, κόσμος, στεφάνη. A collar or chain, be it of gold or silver, to wear about ones neck: also a garland or chaplet of flowers, a wreath, Vir.

Torquilla, æ; f. Gaza. ἰυγξ, ἀνὶς, dict. qu. collum crebrò torqueat; vel à gr. τερτιλλία. A wry neck, a bird.

Torquis, is; f. Prop. id. quod Torques.

Torrefăcio, is, ĕre; ēci, actum; Col. ὀπτάω, καταφρύγω. To roast, to parch, to scorch.

Torrefactus, a, um; part. αὐανθὴς. Parched, scorched, sun-burnt.

Torrens; part. & adj. Cic. ὀπτάων, καταφλέγων. Toasting, roasting, parching. Adj. Hasty, violent, head-long, running in full stream like a land-flood, rapid. Σεσηρὸς, βιαίως ῥέων. אֵיתָן.

Torrens, tis; m. Vir. subaud. amnis. à Torreo, quia ciùs siccatur; vel quòd unda rapido impetu æstuet. χείμαῤῥος. נַחַל. A stream coming down an hill, caused by water or snow; a land-flood, a torrent. ◊ The scorching heat in summer, Solin.

Torrentior, us; comp. Juv. More violent, fierce or eager.

Torrentissimus, a, um; superl. Stat. Very hot.

Torrentiùs; adv. comp. Claud. More violently.

TORREO, ēs, ĕre; ui, stum; act. Cic. à Torrus, i. aridus; Torrus autem à πίῤῥω arefacio, sicco, M. à θερέω quod à θέρ θ-. estus, Bec. Necessariò autem Torreo finxère propter verba illa Tero & Torres, quæ jam inventa aliud exprimebant: ἁπλῶ, φρύγω, ἐγκαίνω. קָלָה. To roast, broil, bake, burn, parch, scorch, to dry: also to boil, Plin.

Torreor, ēris; pass. Cic.

Torresco, is, ĕre; incep. Lucr. ἀναφρύγομαι, ἐφύγομαι. חָרַךְ. To be broiled, roasted, dryed, either with the Sun or with fire.

† Torrĭdo, as; Non. ex Acc. To burn.

Torridor, āris; pass. Accius.

Torridus, a, um; Cic. αὐαλέος. יָבֵשׁ. Dry, parched, burned, scorched, torrid.

Torridus frigore, Vir. Shrunk up with cold.

Torris, is; m. Ovid. à Torreo: δαλὸς. אוֹר. A burning firebrand.

Torsio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. à Torqueo: στρόφος. עֻוָּה. A whirling, turning, writhing or wrestling, a griping and wringing, a torturing or racking.

Tortè; adv. Lucret. διεστραμμένως, στρεβλῶς. Crookedly, awry.

Tortilis, le; Plin. στρεβλὸς. מְעֻוָּר. Wrested, wreathed, winding, crumpled, writhen, wrinkled.

Tortivus, a, um; καταλαβήσιμος, ἐπιτηδειότης. That is squeezed or wrung out. Vinum tortivum, Col. διυπτὸς οἶνος. Pressed wine, wine of the last pressing.

† Torto, as; freq. à Torqueo, Non. πολλὰς στρεβλῶ. To writhe or wrest often.

† Tortor, āris; pass. pro Torqueor, Non.

Tortor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. à Torqueo; βασανιστὴς, κολαστὴς. An executioner, a torturer, a tormenter: also a slinger or thrower of stones, &c. Amm. Equus tortor, Non. A trotting or uneasie horse.

† Tortum, ti; n. vox antiqua, qui olim utebantur pro tormento, Non. An engine to throw stones with, Pacuv.

Tortuōsè; adv. Marcell. Crookedly, with turnings and windings.

Tortuōsitas, ātis; f. Tert. Crookedness, wrinkledness.

Tortuōsus, a, um; Cic. στρεβλὸς, καμπύλος. עִקֵּשׁ. That windeth or turneth many ways, crooked, full of crinkle cranklets: also full of torture and pain, Plin.

Tortus, a, um; part. à Torqueo. διεστραμμένος. Writhed, wrested; twisted, tortured; βασανισθὲις. crisped, curled, frizled, Ovid. crooked, Id.

Tortus, ūs; m. Cic. διαστροφὴ, καμπυλότης. עִוָּרוֹן. Crookedness, wrimst; a bending or bowing, Vir.

† Torvè; adv. ab Adj. n. plur. pro Torvè, Vir. Grimly, sternly.

Torvè; adv. Plaut. τραχυδίκως, ὠμῶς. Sourly, sternly, crabbedly.

† Torvidus, a, um; Arnob. idem quod Torvus.

Torvinus, a, um; Var. id. quod Torvus.

Torvitas, ātis; f. Plin. γοργότης. Sourness of look, lowring, frowning, fierceness.

Torviter; adv. Non. ex Pomp. Frowningly, lowringly.

Torŭlus, li; m. dim. à Torus: στρῶμα. A little bed; a little rope or band wreathed; a hat-band, G. ex Plaut. a wreath mans cavæ, Var. the wood of a tree next to the bark, Vitr.

TORUS, ri ; m. τύφος. מטה ; à τείνω, τεῖνος, τέτονος, τόρος Gr. Scal. al. à Torqueo, quippe Torus eſt quivis funis ex loris retortis : inde pro lecto, quòd toris tenderetur : vel ab intortis herbis, Var. Torus à torno, quòd artificialiter elaboretur & tornetur ; J. Scal. A bed ; particularly of graſs upon the bank of a river, Vir. a bed in a garden, Plin. a Bride-bed, Vir. alſo marriage or wedlock, Id. a bed-ſtead, Stat. alſo a rope or cord for a bed, Antiq. the thick and round circle of a pillar, Vitr. the tuft in a garland, Cic. a taſſel upon the creſt of an helmet, Amm. a wreath, Plaut. an ornament of a womans head, Var. a bunch or knot in the ſtem or body of a tree, Vir. ◊ Tori, m. pl. ci μυῶνες. The brawn of the arms and thighs, any muſculous or fleſhy parts ; thick ſwellings, Celſ.

Torvùm ; adv. Vir. Grimly and ſternly.

Torvus, a, um ; Cic. à Taurus, ut à ταῦρος Gr. Parvus ; unde & Torvinus, qu. Taurinus, à torto vultu, M. qu. tortivus. Torvum, λοξὸν, Gl. i. tortum. Grim, ſtern, like bull-beef ; ſowr, crabbed, dogged.

Toſtus, a, um ; part. à Torreor, Col. ἀπτομαὶ Gr., ὀρυγείς. קלוי. Roaſted, toaſted, broiled, baked, parched, ſcorched.

Tot ; adj. plur. indecl. Cic. τόσοι, τοσοῦτοι. מכם. à gr. τοσ pro τόσα, & ex dialecto τοτ. So many, juſt ſo much, Quint.

Tōtālis, le ; adj. Bud. ὁλικός. Total, whole.

Tōtāliter ; adv. Lact. ὁλικῶς. Wholly, totally, entirely.

Tōtidem ; adj. plur. indecl. Cic. ex Tot & Dem. τοσοῦτοι. Even, or juſt ſo many.

† Totiens ; adv. Vett. id. quod

Tōties ; adv. Cic. τοσάκις. So many times, ſo often.

Totjŭgus, a, um ; Apul. So many as it were yoked together.

Tōtus, a, um ; à Tot : vox redditiva ad Quotus, i. tot habens, tantus, ποσ Gr., tam magnus, Manil. item tam multus, in ordine temporis, πόσ Gr., ποσὸς Gr. So great, ſo many, ſuch an one, Tert.

Tōtus, a, um ; à tot, qu. ἅπας, ὁλόκληρος Gr. כל. ὅλ Gr., tot partes habens, quot jungi oportet, hoc eſt, ὅλον. All ; the whole, every whit : alſo wholly, altogether, utterly. = Univerſus, Cic.

Toxicum, ci ; n. Mart. τοξικόν. ראש. qu. taxicum ; à Taxo arbore ; vel à τόξον arcus, quòd ſagittas ſoliti ſunt veneno perungere. Poyſon, venome.

T ante R.

Trābālis, le ; δοκώδης. Of or belonging or like to a beam. Clavus trabalis, Cic. A ſhip-nail.

Trabārium, ii ; n. Vitr. A ſiſhers boat.

Trăbea, æ ; f. Cic. quòd majori gloriâ hominem transvehere, Iſid. omninò, quòd qu. trabes ex auro vel purpurâ intextas habuit. τριβώνιον, ἁλουργίς. A Robe of State worn by Kings, Conſuls and Augurs : alſo the Conſulſhip, Marc.

Trăbeātus, a, um ; Ovid. ὁ ἁλουργίδα ἀμπεχόμενος Gr. Clad in a Robe of State.

† Trăbes, is ; f. ant. pro Trabs.

† Trabica, navis dicitur, quòd ſit trabibus conſixa, Feſt. ex Pacuv.

TRABS, bis ; f. δοκὸς, δοκός. יב. qu. travis, quòd tranſviet ab altero latere ad alterum, M. ſed eſt à gr. τρόπις trabis, ut ab ἀλώπηξ vulpes. A beam of an houſe, any great piece of timber, an obelisk, Plin. alſo a great tree, Ovid. A ſhip, Hor. alſo a Meteor or Impreſſion in the air, like a beam, Plin.

* Trăchāli ; m. pl. Feſt. τραχῆλοι, Dor. τραχᾶλοι, colla. The upper part of the ſcarlet-fiſh.

* Trāchēa, vel Trachia ; f. Gell. τραχεῖα ſc. ἀρτηρία, aſpera arteria. The weaſand or wind-pipe.

* Trāchēlium ; n. Dod. τραχήλιον. Cervicaria. Throat-wort.

† Trachida, Trachina, & Trachurus, Coop. ex Cæl. A bandſtickle, a fiſh.

† Traclēpo, is, pſi, ĕre ; pro Tranſclepo, Var. To get out of the way.

Tracta, æ ; f. Feſt. à Trabo, tractum ; particula trahendo avulſa. A line, a thread, a piece, a lock (of wooll.) Tracta panis, Cato. A ſhive or piece of bread.

Tracta, ōrum ; n. Tibull. κτενίσματα ἰερία, Scal. Locks of wooll ready to be picked, toſſed or carded.

Tractābilior, us ; comp. Cic. More tractable.

Tractābilis, le ; Cic. ἁπτὸς, ψηλαφητός. Tractable, that may be handled, treated or ordered ; gentle, quiet, pliant, calm, navigable, Ovid.

Tractātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. μεταχείρησις, ψηλάφησις, διοίκησις. A handling, an uſing or treating, treatment, a management.

Tractātor, ōris ; m. verb. Sen. A handler, a treater, a manager, a groper.

Tractātōrius, a, um ; Tractatorium Diploma, Cujac. A Patent for allowance of victuals, as well as of poſt-horſes, by the Emperour.

Tractātrix, icis ; f. verb. Mart. She that with a light and nimble hand did rub ones body all over, to diſcuſs humours.

Tractātus, a, um ; part. μεταχειρισθεὶς, ψηλαφηθείς. Handled, treated of, uſed ; drawn or drag'd, Vir.

Tractātus, ûs ; m. verb. Plin. ἐγχείρησις, πραγματεία. An handling, an intreating of any thing in diſcourſe ; the management or ordering of a thing : alſo a Tractate, Tract or Treatiſe.

Tractim ; adv. Vir. trahendo in locum ; ἐκ παραπλοκῆς, συνεχῶς. Continually, without ceaſing, as it were by drawing along.

Tractitius, a, um ; à Trahe, Lampr. That is or may be drawn.

Tracto, as ; freq. à Trabo, Cic. ψηλαφάω, ἐγχειρίζομαι, μεταχειρίζω. משש. To handle, to feel or grope ; to treat, diſcourſe or write of ; to treat or entertain one ; to uſe or exerciſe, πραγματεύομαι. to order, manage or govern, διοικεῖν. to meddle with. Tractare vitam, Lucr. To lead it ; lanam, Juſt. To teaze or dreſs it ; aliquem liberaliter, Cic. To entertain him handſomly ; ſe rectè, Id. To carry or behave himſelf well.

Tractor, āris ; paſſ. Cic.

Tractōrium, rii ; n. Vitruv. ἑλκυστικὴ μηχανή. A windleſs to draw up.

Tractōrius, a, um ; Serving to draw up. Tractoria organa, Vitr. Pullies or cranes to pull up ſtones and timber with.

Tractus, a, um ; part. Cic. ἑλκυσθεὶς, διασυρθείς. Drawn, ſluted, dragged, teazed, ſpun ; drawn out in length.

Tractus, ûs ; m. verb. Cic. ἕλκυσμὸς, συρμός. A drawing in length ; a tract or ſpace of ground, a Country, a Region, χώρα, κλίμα, a coaſt ; a race or reach ; a track ; a deriving, Quint. a draught of fiſh, Val. M.

Trāditio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. παράδοσις, ἐκδίδαγμα. מסרת. A tradition, a delivering ; a doctrine, a teaching, διδαγμα, a yielding or giving up, a ſurrendry, Plin.

Trāditor, ōris ; m. verb. Apul. παραδότης. A teacher ; a traitour ; προδότης, Tac. alſo one who in time of perſecution gave up his Bible, Eccl.

Trāditur ; impers. It is reported or written, &c. Traditum eſt, Plin.

Trāditus, a, um ; part. Sen. ἐκδοθεὶς, διαδοθείς. Delivered up, put into the hands, ſurrendred.

Trādo, is, ĕre ; dĭdi, ĭtum ; act. ex Trans & Do, i. Do ut à me tranſeat ; παραδίδωμι. מסר. To deliver, to give, to yield, to deliver up, to ſurrender, to put into ones hands ; to give from hand to hand, to tranſmit it ; to report, to write, to teach, or ſet down ; to betray. Tradere cauſam adverſariis, Ter. aliquid in manum, Plaut. per manus, Cæſ. aliquem in cuſtodiam, Cic. ad ſupplicium, Liv.

Trādor, ĕris ; paſſ. Liv.

Trādūco, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. ex Trans & Duco : διάγω, μεθίκω, ἀναβιβάζω. נחת. To carry, lead, bring or convey from one place to another ; to turn, convert or change ; to bring over ; to tranſlate ; μεταφράζομαι. התחיק. to ſlander, defame or diſparage, διαβάλλω. to traduce ; to paſs over, as one doth the time, to ſtretch out at length, παρεκτείνω. to tranſplant, Plin. or take imps or graffs off a tree. Traducere copias flumen, Cæſ. i. deducere trans flumen. To ferry them over. Traducere tempus, Cic. To paſs it ; equum, Val. M. To ſhew him at a muſter ; Cum duplici Acc.

Trāducor, ĕris ; paſſ. Cic.

Trāductio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. διαγωγὴ. A paſſing over, a defaming, Sen. διαβολὴ, a bringing to open ſhame : alſo a ſetting of a bone in his place ; a conveying or bringing over : alſo a Metaphor or borrowed way of ſpeech.

Trāductor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. μεταγωγεύς. He that bringeth from one place to another : alſo a ſlanderer or defamer. διάβολος Gr.

Trāductus, a, um ; part. διαγόμενος Gr. Brought over, tranſlated ; defamed publickly, paſſed over, turned, converted.

Trādux, ŭcis ; m. Var. à Traducendo : eſt ex alio ducta propago. ὑπόφυς Gr. An Imp or Graff cut off from one tree, and removed to another ; a branch or twig of a vine carried along from tree to tree, &c. An anima ſit ex traduce ? Theol. Whether it be by propagation ?

* Trafax ; f. Enn. à gr. τράπεξ, trabs. A beam ; a kind of dart. Vid. Trifax.

† Trāfigo pro Tranſfigo, Cic. de Divinat. To thruſt or drive thorough.

* Tragacantha ; f. Plin. τράγου ἄκανθα, i. hirci ſpina. A tree of a kind of gum Dragant.

* Trāgēlăphus, i ; m. Plin. 8. 32. τραγέλαφος Gr., hircocervus, ex τράγος Gr. hircus, & ἔλαφος Gr. cervus. A beaſt with a beard and ſhaggy hair like a Goat, but otherwiſe like a Stag ; a Stone-buck or Goat-heart.

*Trăgēmăta, tum ; n. pl. Macrob. τραγήματα, τραγάλια. à τρώγω comedo. Banqueting dishes, Junkets, sweet-meats, the dessert at a feast.

*Trăgēmātōpōla, æ ; m. Jun. τραγηματοπώλης. A Confectioner, one who sells sweet-meats.

Trăgicè ; adv. Cic. τραγικῶς. Tragically.

Tragĭco-comœdia ; f. Plaut. A Tragi-comedy, that begins Tragically and ends Comically.

Trăgĭcus, a, um ; Cic. τραγικός. Tragical, belonging to Tragedies.

*Trăgĭcus, ci ; m. Hor. τραγικός. A maker or writer of Tragedies : also the Actor, Liv.

*Tragion, ii ; n. Plin. 27. 13. τράγιον. A shrub like a juniper, whose leaves in Autumn stink like a Goat.

*Trăgœdia, æ ; f. τραγῳδία, ἀπὸ τῦ τράγου, καὶ τ ᾠδῆς. quòd primùm ejus poematis præmium hircus esset, Hor. vel uter hircinus vino plenus. Al. quòd ora sua fœcibus perlinebant Scenici ante usum personarum ; à τρύγες fæces ; al. qu. τραχεῖα ᾠδή, quòd res asperas tractet, Fung. A Tragedy, or Play, wherein great Persons are brought upon the stage, and the subject is full of trouble, and ends likely in murders, &c. It was first acted in honour of Bacchus, to whom they sacrificed a Goat. Plur. Bustles, ranting big words. Tragœdias agere, Cic. To huff, vapour and bellow. τραγῳδιᾶν.

Trăgœdus, a, um ; Epitheton Jovis, Suet. τραγῳδός. Tragical, bussing, blustering : also lamentable, who comes to an ill end, Ser. Sam. Tragœdus vicus, Sen. A street in Rome so called.

Trăgœdus, di ; m. Cic. ὁ τραγῳδός. A Tragedian or actor of tragedies.

† Trăgŏnātum ; n. Dod. The herb wild campion.

*Trăgŏnia, æ ; f. Plin. τραγωνία. ab odore hirci. The herb Tarragon.

† Tragopa ; Solin. qu. τράγου ὤπα hirci vultum referens ; id. quod

† Tragopan, nis ; m. Turn. ex Plin, τραγόπαν, i. hirci-pan, dict. quòd cornuta sit hirci instar aut Panos, quem cornutum antiquitas credidit ; id. quod

† Tragopānas, ădis ; f. unde in Acc. legimus tragopanadem, Plin. 10. 49. A bird in Æthiopia greater than the Eagle, having horns like a Goat.

*Tragopogŏn, ōnis ; m. Ruell. τραγοπώγων, ex τράγος & πώγων barba. The herb called Goats-beard.

*Tragopyron, i ; n. Offic. τραγόπυρον. A kind of buck-wheat or Bulimong. = Tagopyrum, Dod.

*Tragos, i ; m. Plin. τράγος, Lat. hircus. An herb like sea-rush ; a shell-fish of a rank smell ; a kind of corn hard of digestion : also a kind of thick, hard and rough spung.

Trăgŭla, æ ; f. Cæl. à trahendo, quòd scuto infixa trahatur, Fest. dim. à Traha, Scal. ex Var. ἀκόντιμα, ἀκόντιον. A javelin with a barbed head : also a trammel or drag-net, Plin. ἀμφίβληστρον. a sted, Perot.

Trăgŭlārii, ōrum ; m. Veget. qui tragulam telum gerunt ac jaciunt. Souldiers that shot arrows out of cross-bows.

Trăgum, gi ; n. Plin. retis genus, ab eo quòd trahitur nuncupatum, Isid. τράγος. A kind of corn : also a net called a Drag.

Trăgus, i ; m. Plin. τράγος, hircus. A bushy herb ; a kind of sponge, &c. Vid. Tragos.

Träha, æ ; f. Vir. à Trahendo : ἕλκηθρον. A Dray or sled drawn without wheels.

† Trăhāle, is ; n. Medul. Gram. The trace of an horse.

Trăhārius, a, um ; Of or belonging to a Dray.

Trăhārius, ii ; m. Sidon. A Dray-man.

Trăhax, ācis ; adj. Plaut. à Trahere : ἑλκτικός. A covetous person, that draws all things to him.

Trahea, æ ; f. Vir. per Epenth. pro Traha.

Trăhendus, a, um ; part. Plin. To be drawn.

Trahens ; part. Vir. Drawing.

TRAHO, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. ἕλκω, ἑλκύω, Cæs. מָשַׁךְ. à τρυχῶ curvus, M. ex Trans & Veho, Bec. q. d. Transvehere, Trahere. Puto à θέσσομαι prehendo, fut. 2. θράξω, fut. 1. θέξω, trahere, traxi, unde & Angl. to Drag. To Draw, to pull, to bring, to lead, antiq. to defer, to delay, prolong, put or drive off ; to draw or stretch out ; to entice or allure, to stay or attract ; to extract. Trahere animam, Plin. To live ; aquam, Sen. To take in water, to leak as a ship doth ; bellum, Cic. To prolong it ; calorem, Ovid. To grow warm ; candorem, Plin. To turn white ; cariem, Id. To wax rotten ; tempus, Vir. To pass it away or employ it ; vitam, Id. To make hard shift, to rub on ; vultum, Ovid. To frown. ◊ Trahere aliquid animo vel cum animo suo, Sal. To think upon it ; in religionem, Liv. To scruple it ; in voluntatem suam, P.in. jun. To put his own meaning upon it ; aliquem in diversum, Liv. To distract him. = Allicio, duco, Cic. Ↄ Suffollo, Plaut.

Trăhor, ĕris ; pass. Plin.

Trăhŭla, æ ; f. Var. dim. à Traha. A little dray or sled.

Trăjectio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. πόρθμευσις, διάβασις. מַעֲבָר. A passing or ferrying over, a conveying or carrying over : also displacing or setting out of order : also the shooting ( of a Star.)

Trăjectĭtius, a, um ; Dig. Belonging to passage ; carried over sea, transported. Sors trajectitia, Modest. A Ferry-mans fare.

Trăjecto, as ; freq. Col. διαβιβάζω. To thrust through ; to convey through or over.

Trăjector, āris ; pass. Cels.

Trăjectus, a, um ; part. Vir. διαπορεύς. Carried or conveyed over, thrust through.

Trăjectus, ûs ; m. verb. Liv. διαπόθμευσις. A passage over, a ferry.

Trăjĭcio, is, ĕre ; ēci, ctum ; act. ex Trans & Jacio : πορθμεύω, διαπείρω. עָבַר. To carry, convey, bring, lead, sail or pass over, to strike or cast through, διελαύνω also to cast, to transfer, put off or reject ; to transport ; to pour out of one vessel into ano ther, Var. Trajicere Cyprum ; Plin. To sail over to it ; Alpes, Brut. To pass over them ; murum jaculo, Cic. To fling a dart over it ; tergum sagittâ, Ovid. To shoot through him ; culpam in alterum, Cic. To lay the fault on him. Cum duplici Acc. Trajicere exercitum Rhodanum, Planc. To ferry it over.

Trăjicior, ĕris ; pass. Liv.

Trălātio, ōnis ; f. verb. A translation. Vide Translatio.

Trălātĭtius, a, um ; Cic. pro Translatius, aliunde acquisitus. Borrowed, taken up from others : also ordinary, common, mean, not worth the talking of.

† Trălŏquor, ĕris ; Plaut. i. Transloquor. To speak through, to utter.

Trălūceo, es ; Lucr. ex Trans & Luceo. To shine through.

Trălūcĭdus, a, um ; Plin. διαφανής. Clear, that may be seen thorough.

Trāma, æ ; f. Pers. κρόκη, ῥοδίνη. עֵרֶב. licium quod ex transverso stamini intexitur : dict. à Trameando, quòd transat frigus id genus vestimenti, Var. fort. à δρέμω opus, textoris sc. cujus est tramam stamini intexere. The woof in weaving ; a garment made of course cloth, Var. yarn, Plaut.

Trāmeo, as ; neut. Lucr. To pass over or thorough. V. Transmeo.

Trāmes, ĭtis ; m. Cic. τραμμίς, à τρέβω tero. à trameando, quòd scil. transversi scindant vias rectas, Scal. à Transmitto, quòd transmittat usque ad aliam partem agri, Isid. τρίβ Ⅎ. נְתִיב. A cross-way, an overthwart or cross path : also a lawn or little dale in a forest, Serv. a wood, Propert.

Trāmitto, is, ĕre ; Cic. To send or pass over. V. Transmitto.

Trāmōsĕricus, a, um ; Tramoserica vestis, Jun. A kind of Drugget, the woof silk, and the warp of some other thread.

Trānans ; part. Lucr. Gliding thro.

† Trānāto, as ; antiq. i. Transnato.

Trāno, as ; act. Vir. ex Trans & No. διανήχομαι, διαπερᾶω. To swim over, to pass over or through : also to fly over ; to pierce thorough, Sil.

Trānor, āris ; pass. Ovid.

Tranquillè ; adv. γαλήνως, ἀσφαλῶς. Quietly, calmly, without trouble. = Leniter, placidè, Cic.

Tranquillĭor, us ; comp. Lucan.

Tranquillissĭmus, a, um ; superl. Ter.

Tranquillĭtas, ātis ; f. γαλήνη, ἀθόλωσις. שַׁלְוָה. Tranquillity, quietness, calmness, stillness, a calm. = Quies, Cic.

Tranquillo, absolutè, pro Tranquillo tempore, Plin. γαλήνης ὄντος. At a quiet time, in a calm season.

Tranquillo, as ; act. γαληνιάω, καταπραΰνω. הִשְׁקִיט. To make quiet, still or calm. Ↄ Perturbo, Cic.

Tranquillor, āris ; pass. Plin.

Tranquillum, li ; n. Plaut. γαλήνη, γλυκυτὴς. Fair and calm weather.

Tranquillus, a, um ; Cic. ex Trans, & γαλήνη. vel ex Trans & Quietus. al. quòd tranare queat, vel ad tranandum quietum : γαληνός, γαλήνη Ⅎ, ἠσύχ Ⅎ. יָרֵן. Quiet, still, calm. = Quietus, pacatus, serenus, Cic. Ↄ Tranquillum mare ; Serenum cœlum.

Trans ; præp. cum Acc. πέραν. עֵבֶר. à gr. πέρα, π in τ mutato & aspirato v. al. à τρέω perforare. Composita διὰ Græcè, vel πρὸ vel ὑπὲρ loco fungitur, ut Transveho διαφορεύω, Trado παραδίδωμι, Transgredior ὑπερβαίνω. Contrahitur ferè in tra ante d, i, n. ut Traduco, Trajicio, Trano, & aliq. ante l & m, ut Tralatio, Trameo. Over ; from one place to another, beyond, on the other side.

Transăbeo, is, ire ; Stat. διαβαίνω. עָבַר. To go away beyond or through.

Transactio, ōnis ; f. verb. διάφορξις. An agreement, a finishing, a dispatching of a thing, a transaction.

Transactor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. à Transigo:

Transigo: ἀφεκτικὸς, διαλλακτὴς. A maker of agreements, a bargain-maker, a broker, a huckster, a manager, a dispatcher.

Transactum est; impers. Cic. The matter is dispatched, concluded and ended.

Transactus, a, um; part. Cic. διαπεραγμένος, διαπεπραγμένος. Agreed upon, ended, dispatched, brought to a point.

Transădigo, is, ĕre; ēgi, actum; act. διαπείρω. דָּקַר. To thrust or strike through, to pierce. Juvenem transadigit costas, Vir.

Transalpinus, a, um; Cic. quod est trans Alpes situm: ὑπεράλπιος. Over or beyond the Alpes.

Transcendo, is, ĕre; di, sum; act. Cic. ex Scando: ὑπερίχω, ὑπερβαίνω. עָדָה. To go or climb over, to exceed, to transcend, to surmount. Neut. Tac. To pass or go along.

Transcido, is, ĕre; Plaut. à Cædo. To taw or tear with beating.

Transcindo, is, ĕre; īdi, ssum; act. Plaut. διαχόπτω, διατέμνω. קָרַע. To cut asunder or through.

Transcribo, is, ĕre; psi, ptum; act. Cic. μεταγράφω, ὑπογράφω. דְּעְתִיק. To write or copy out, to transcribe: also to transfer, pass away, or give up his right to another. Transcribere fundum alicui, Procul. To pass it over to him; fœminam in viros, Sen. To reckon her among them.

Transcriptio, ōnis; f. verb. Quint. μεταγραφὴ, ὑπογραφὴ. A writing or copying out: also an excuse or colour, a pretence; παράστασις.

Transcriptus, a, um; part. Gell. Transcribed. Hinc Angl. a transcript.

Transcurro, is, ĕre; ri, sum; act. Quint. διατρέχω. רוּץ. To run over, to pass over quickly, to touch a thing by the by. Neut. Ter. To run cross the way, to run in all haste.

Transcursum est; impers. Liv. They ran over quickly. In arcem transcurso opus est, Ter. They had need run quickly.

Transcursus, a, um; part. Apul. Cursorily run over.

Transcursus, ūs; m. verb. παραδρομὴ. מְרוּצָה. A running over quickly, a passing by. In transcursu, Plin. By the by, en passant.

Transdo, is, ĕre; pro Trado: μεταδίδωμι. נָתַן. To give or deliver up. Transdere aliquem in otium, Ter.

Transdūco, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. pro Traduco: μεταγω, μεταφέρω. הֶעְבִּיר. To lead over, to displace and remove from one place to another; to traduce and slander, to transplant, Col. Traducere ad se, Cic. To attribute to himself.

Transdūcor, ĕris; pass. Transduci in melius, Sen. To mend, to be made better.

Transenna, æ; f. à Transeo; per quam aspectus transire potest; vel quia perticæ, ex quibus constat, se transeant mutuò. Transenna qu. transtenna, aut tenta, transenna est extentus funis, Bec. שְׁבָכָה. A long window or casement, Cic. any grate work; a lattice before a window; a cord stretched out to take birds or beasts, a snare, a gin, a net; a pit-fal, Plaut. a trap-cage: also a racket to play withal, Bud.

Transeo, is, īre; ivi, ĭtum; act. vel neut. Cic. μεταβαίνω, παρέρχομαι. עָבַר. To go, run, slip or pass over; to run through one, as a spear doth, Stat. to go or pass beyond one, to overgo, Plaut. ◊ Neut. To pass along or away, to traverse his ground, to go on the other side, to go through, Plin. Transire in mores, Quint. To come into fashion, to grow customary.

Transeor, iris; pass. Plaut.

Transĕro, is, ĕre; act. unde Transertus, part. Stat. μεταφυτεύω. To transplant, to ingraff.

† Transeuns, tis; part. Plin. Passing over or by. Corr. pro Transiens.

† Transeunter; adv. Amm. Slightly, in the passing by, by the by.

Transfĕro, fers, tŭli, lātum; act. Cic. μεταφέρω, μεταχομίζω. הַעְתִּיק. To carry or bring from one place to another; to transfer; to transplant, Plin. to transport or carry beyond sea, Quint. to refer or defer; to translate or turn out of one language into another, Quint. to turn, to remove. Transferre authorem Græcum, Quint. To translate him or turn him into Latin; verbum aliquod, Cic. To use it in a figurative sense; arborem, Plin. To transplant it; exercitum in Africam, Quint. To waft or pass it thither; culpam in aliquem, Ter. To lay the blame on one; animum ad aliquid, Cic. To apply or set his mind to it. Cum duplici Acc. Transfer limen pedes, Catull. i. e. Fer pedes trans limen. Step over the door-sill.

Transfĕror, ferris; pass. Cic.

Transfigo, is, ĕre; xi, xum; act. Cic. διαπείρω. דָּקַר. To thrust or strike through.

Transfigor, ĕris; pass. Lucan.

Transfigūrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. μεταχηματισμὸς. Change from one shape to another; transfiguration.

Transfigūrātor, ōris; m. verb. Sidon. He that transformeth.

Transfigūro, as; act. Suet. μεταμορφόω, μεταχηματίζω. To transform or transfigure, to turn out of one shape into another.

Transfigūror, āris; pass. Plin.

Transfixus, a, um; part. Vir. διαπεπαρμένος. Sticked or thrusted through.

Transfluo, is, ĕre; xi, xum; neut. Plin. μεταῤῥέω, παραῤῥέω. To leak or run out, to flow over or through.

Transfŏdio, is, ĕre; ōdi, ssum; act. Liv. διορύττω, διατειχίζω. To dig through, to strike or thrust through.

Transfŏdior, ĕris; pass. Veget.

Transformātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. μεταμόρφωσις. A transformation.

Transformātor, ōris; m. verb. Sidon. He that transformeth.

Transformātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Transformed.

Transformis, me; Ovid. μεταμορφωθείς. That is transformed or changed.

Transformo, as; act. Vir. μεταμορφῶ. To transform, to change from one shape to another.

Transformor, āris; pass. Quint.

Transfŏro, as; Sen. διείρω, διατρύω. נָקַב. To bore or make an hole through.

Transfrĕtātio, ōnis; f. Gell. διαπόντισις. A passing over the Sea.

Transfrĕto, as; Plin. jun. ex Fretum: διαπερῶ. עָבַר. To pass over the Sea.

Transfŭga, gæ; c. g. Liv. φυγόμολος, αὐτόμολος, δραπέτης. A turn-coat, a deserter.

Transfŭgio, is, ĕre; ūgi, ĭtum; neut. Cic. αὐτομολῶ. To fly to the other side, to run away, to quit his own party and go to the enemy, Liv.

Transfŭgium, gii; n. Liv. αὐτομολία, δραπέτευσις. A running away from his own side to the contrary part; a revolt.

Transfulgĭdus, a, um; Sidon. Which shineth through.

Transfŭmo, as; Stat. διακαπνίζω. To smoak through.

† Transfunctōrius, a, um; Tert. idem quod Perfunctorius.

Transfundo, is, ĕre; ūdi, ūsum; act. Cic. μεταχέω, μεταγγίζω. נָקַר. To pour out of one vessel into another, Col. to translate, to transpose; to transfer.

Transfūsio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. μετάχυσις, μετάγγισις. A pouring out of one vessel into another.

Transfūsor, ōris; m. R. ex Cap. He that poureth through.

Transgrĕdior, ĕris, essus; dep. Cic. ὑπερβαίνω, ὑπερίχω. עָבַר. To pass or go over and beyond; to transgress a Law: also to pass, surmount or exceed, Plin. to out-go.

Transgressio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. παρέκβασις. A passing or going over or beyond, a transgression.

Transgressor, ōris; m. verb. Hier. παραβάτης. An offender, a transgressor.

Transgressus, a, um; part. Salust. That hath passed over, &c.

Transgressus, ūs; m. Gell. idem quod Transgressio.

Transjăceo, Solin. To lye over, or on the other or farther side.

† Transjăcio, is, ĕre; & Transjacior, pass. Solin. To fling or shoot over a place.

Transjectio, ōnis; f. Ad Heren. ὑπερβολὴ, ὑπέρβασις. A casting over or through, a transposing.

Transjectus, a, um; part. Cic. à Transjicio, pro Trajicio; διαπεπαρμένος. Laid cross or overthwart.

Transigo, is, ĕre; ēgi, actum; act. Cic. à Trans & Ago: διαπερατόω, διαπεράω. הִשְׁלִים. To pass or thrust through, to pierce; to transact (business,) to dispatch; to pass (time,) to conclude, agree and make an end of a controversie. = Expedio, absolvo, Cic.

Transigor, ĕris; pass. Ter.

Transilio, is, īre; ivi vel ui, ultum; neut. cum Acc. Cic. Liv. à Trans & Salio: ὑπερπηδάω, ὑπεράλλομαι. פָּסַח. To leap over or beyond, to skip, to pass over, not to speak of.

Transilis, le; Col. ὑπερβατικὸς. Transilis palmes, qui inter alios traduces transilit, Plin. 17. 13. That passeth or goeth over, more high than other.

Transitio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. à Transeo: διαβασις, μετάστασις, διέξοδος. A passing over, a going from one to another; a passage, a transition.

Transitōrius, a, um; Suet. That which shortly passeth away; transitory, or that one may pass thorough, Serv.

Transitur, ĭtum est; impers. Cic. We, they pass.

Transĭtus, a, um; part. Liv. That hath been passed over.

Transĭtus, ūs; m. verb. Cic. μετάβασις, παρόδος. עֲבָר. A passing or going over from one place to another; a passage, a change, a transit. In transitu, Quint. By the by.

Transjungo, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Ulp. μεταζεύγνυμι. To remove an Ox or a Horse from one part of the team to another.

Transjungor, ĕris; pass. Col.

Translăbor, ĕris ; pfus ; Claud. μετολισθαίνω. To slide or run over.

† Translătim ; adv. Bud. Slightly or negligently.

Translătio, ōnis ; f. verb. à Transfero, Cic. μεταφορὰ, μετάληψις. A transporting or carrying over ; a transferring, a translation, a removing from one to another ; the using of a word in a less proper signification : also the transplanting of trees.

Translătitiè ; adv. Ulp. μεταβατικῶς, ἐκ παρέδου. Negligently, slightly, lightly.

Translătitius, a, um ; Cic. μεταληπτικὸς, μεταφορικός. Transferred or transposed, taken from others, taken out of others ; ordinary, common, slight, mean.

Translătivus, a, um ; Plin. jun. idem. unde Translativè ; adv. Martian.

Translător, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. μεταπομπὸς. He that doth transport, or convey from one place to another.

Translātus, a, um ; part. Cic. μεταφερθεὶς. Translated, transported, conveyed : also far fetched, turned, changed.

Translĕgo, is, ĕgi, ĕre ; act. Plaut. διαναγινώσκω. To read over.

Translūcens ; part. Plin. Shining thorough.

Translūceo, es, xi, ēre ; neut. Ovid. διαφαίνω, διαλάμπω. To shine thorough.

Translūcidus, a, um ; Quint. διαφανὴς. That shineth thorough, transparent.

Transmărinus, a, um ; Cic. ὑπερθαλάττιος. That cometh from, or is of the parts beyond Sea.

Transmeābilis, le ; adj. Auson. That may be passed over.

Transmeans ; part. Plin. Passing thorough.

Transmeātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Celf. διάβασις. A passing through.

Transmeo, as ; Tac. διαφοιτάω, μεταβαίνω. עָבַר. To pass or go beyond.

Transmigrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Bibl. μετοίκησις, μετανάστασις. A departing from one place to dwell in another.

Transmigrātor ; m. verb. Aug. He that changeth his place.

Transmigro, as ; neut. Liv. μετοικίω. נָדַר. To remove his dwelling.

Transmissio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. διαπόρευσις, παραπομπή. A passing or sending over, a passage.

Transmissus, ûs ; m. Cæl. idem.

Transmissus, a, um ; part. Vir. μεταπεμφθεὶς. Sent or passed over.

Transmitto, is, ĕre ; isi, issum ; act. Cic. μεταπέμπω, παραπέμπω. הֶעְבִּיר. To send from one place to another, Plaut. to transmit ; to pass over, to give passage or let go through, Liv. to pass or go over ( the Sea. ) περαιῶν. Transmittere tempus, Pl. jun. To pass or spend it ; discrimen, Id. To scape it ; cibos, Plin. To digest them ; alicui bellum, Cic. To commit it to his conduct ; hæreditatem, Plin. jun. To pass an estate away to one ; fossam saltu, Veget. To leap over it ; pectus cuspide, Sil. To run one thorough.

Transmittor, ĕris ; pass. Cic.

Transmontānus, a, um ; Liv. ὑπερόριος. That dwelleth beyond the mountains.

Transmōtus, a, um ; part. Tac. Removed from one place to another.

Transmŏveo, es, ēre ; ōvi, ōtum ; act. Ter. μεταπαίω, μεθίστημι. To remove from one place to another.

Transmūtātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Capell. μεταβολὴ. A transmutation or change.

Transmūtātor, ōris ; m. verb. Apul. He that changeth.

Transmūto, as ; act. Hor. μεταβάλλω, μεταλλάττω. הַחֲלִיף. To chop and change.

Transmūtor, āris ; pass. Aug.

Transnāto, as ; cum Acc. Liv. ὑπερνήχομαι. To swim over or beyond.

Transno, as : Cic. idem.

Transnōmĭnātio, ōnis ; f. Rhet. μετωνυμία. A changing of names.

Transnōmĭno, as ; act. Suet. μετονομάζω. To change one's name, to give one name for another.

Transnūmĕro, as ; unde Transnumeror ; pass. ad Heren. ὑπαριθμέω. To overnumber, or over-reckon.

Transpădānus, a, um ; Cic. ὁ πέραν ἐκδανὺν. Beyond the river Po in Italy.

Transpāreo, es ; neut. Bud. διαφαίνω. To appear through, to be transparent.

Transpectus, ûs ; m. Lucr. διόψασις. A looking thorough or beyond.

Transpĭcio, is, ĕre ; act. Lact. διοράω. To look thorough or beyond.

Transpĭcior, ĕris ; pass. Lucr.

Transpīrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Med. Transpiration or breathing of vapours through the pores.

Transpōno, is, ĕre ; sui, sĭtum ; act. Gell. μετατίθημι. To transpose or remove from one place to another.

Transportātio ; f. verb. Sen. διακομιδὴ. A carrying over, transportation.

Transportātus, a, um ; part. Macr. Carryed over, transported.

Transporto, as ; act. Cic. μεταπομπάζω, διαβιβάζω. הֶעְבִּיר. To carry or convey from one place to another, to transport : also to banish, to send away into another countrey.

Transportor, āris ; pass. Mart.

Transpōsitio, ōnis ; f. verb. Gram. μετάθεσις. A transposition.

Transpōsitus, a, um ; part. Gell. Transposed, removed.

† Transquiētus, a, um ; Plaut. ὑπήσυχος. Very quiet, and well at rest.

Transrhēnānus, a, um ; Cæs. Beyond the Rhine.

Transūtus, a, um ; part. G. ex Ovid. Sowed or stitched thorough.

Transtillum, li ; n. Vitruv. dim. à Transtrum. A little transom.

† Transtĭneo, es, ēre ; act. Plaut. i. transversum teneo. To pass thorough, or to have a way thorough : also to hold together.

Transtrum, i ; n. Perſ. plur. Transtra ; tranſverſæ trabes in ædificio ; remigum ſedilia in navi ; dict. quòd in transverſo ſint qu. transversum stantia, Bec. ſimpl. à transeo, transitum, unde Transtrum qu. transitrum ; vel Transtra, qu. transtrata ; ex Trans & Sterno : ζυγὰ, καταξυσμάλια. Seats where the rowers sit in the ships, boat or gallies, Cæſ. also transoms or beams going overthwart an house ; girders that bold the house-sides together, Vitr.

† Transvăso, as ; Jun. To pour out of one vessel into another, to decant.

Transvectio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. διακομιδὴ. A conveying or carrying over : also a muster of horse, Suet.

Transvector, ōris ; m. verb. Solin. διακομιστὴς. He that carrieth over.

Transvectus, a, um ; part. Plin. Carried or conveyed over, gone or past.

Transvĕho, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. Sal. μεταπομπάζω, διαπορθμεύω. הֶעְבִּיר. To carry, convey or pass over.

Transvĕhor, ĕris ; pass. Liv. To ride by, and shew himself, as at a muster.

Transvĕna, æ ; c. g. Tert. A stranger, that came from beyond sea, &c.

Transverbĕro, as ; act. Cic. διαπαίω. דָּקַר. To strike through.

Transversa ; n. pl. Juv. id. quod Adversaria. Notes or accounts writ on the back-side of the paper.

Transversà ; adv. pro Transversè. Transversa tuentibus hircis, Vir. Askew, asquint.

Transversārium, ii ; n. Aſtron. The shorter and overthwart piece of a Jacobs staff : also an overthwart plank or board, a quarter or rafter, a transom, Vitr.

Transversārius, a, um ; Cæſ. πλάγιος. That is set overthwart.

Transversio ; f. verb. Veget. A turning awry or across, a traversing.

Tranversum, i ; n. Feſt. The midriff.

Transversus, a, um ; adj. ex part. à Transverto : ἐπίκαρσος, πλάγιος. עִקֵּשׁ קִקֵּשׁ. Overthwart, a-cross, cross-ways. ; traverse, Liv. contrary, opposite, cross, Cic. ill-placed, out of order, Sen. him-kam. Transversos incursare, Veget. To charge them on the flank. Transversum agi, Cic. To be transported with passion. Transversum digitum, Id. A fingers breadth. Transversus cedit, Var. He goes sideling or backward, like a crab-fish.

Transverto, is, ĕre ; act. unde pass. Transvertor, Apul. διαστρέφω. To turn awry, aside, cross or overthwart.

Transulto, as ; Liv. freq. à Transilio : ὑπερπηδάω. עָסַח. To leap over, to overleap, to jump over, to vault.

Transultus, ûs ; m. Baret. A dancing or over-skipping.

Transūmo, is, ĕre ; psi, ptum ; act. Stat. μεταλαμβάνω. To take from one to another.

Transumptio, ōnis ; f. Rhet. μετάληψις. A taking from one to another.

Transŭo, is, ĕre ; ui, ūtum ; act. Col. ex Suo : διαράπτω. To sow through.

Transŭor, ĕris ; pass. Celſ.

Transvŏlans ; part. Plin. Flying over.

Transvŏlito, as ; freq. Lucr. To fly over often.

Transvŏlo, as ; cum Acc. Plin. ὑπερίπταμαι, διαπέτομαι. To fly over or beyond, or to the other side.

Tranvolvor, ĕris ; pass. Prud. To roll or tumble, or to be rolled over.

† Transvŏro, as ; act. Apul. To swallow or devour up all.

* Trăpes, ētis ; m. Cato. τραπὴς ἀπὸ τραπεῖν calcare ; vel ἀπὸ τρέπω, fut. 2. τραπῶ vertr. ἐλαιοπιεστήριον, ἐλαιουργεῖον. An oyl-mill for the breaking of the olives.

Trapetum, i ; n. Vir. idem.

Trapetus, i ; m. Cato. idem.

* Trăpeza ; f. τράπεζα mensa ; qu. τετράπεζα, à quatuor pedibus. A Bankers or money-changers table.

* Trapezita ; m. Plaut. τραπεζίτης, mensarius. An Exchanger, a banker.

* Trapezium ; n. Geom. τραπέζιον, mensula ; figura Geometrica quadrilatera.

* Trapezophoron, i ; n. Cic. τραπεζοφόρον. A cupboard, a dresser ; properly the foot of a table, which likely was some Statue.

† Trastineo, es ; Plaut. V. Transtineo.

Travĕho, is, ĕre ; Var. Vide Transvĕho.

† Tra-

†Travio, as; Lucr. ex Trans & Via: διαπεράω. To pass over, to traverse.

* Traulizo, as; τραυλίζω balbutio. To speak with much difficulty, to lisp, to stammer, to stutter, to buft.

Traulotes, Latinè Blæsitas. A stammering in speech; so that a man cannot pronounce some letters, Stup.

Traulus, li; m. Lucr. τραυλὸς; balbus, blæsus. A stutterer, bufter or stammerer: also a lisper. Hinc Angl. to ✠✠✠✠.

†Trebaciter; adv. Sidon. Like one well versed, cunningly, shrewdly. Æ Simpliciter.

†Trebax; adj. Trebacissimus senex; Sidon. ibi Wower; Trebax, pervicax: indè C. Trebacii & Triboniani nomen: est Samniticum vocab. M. ducit à τρίβω tero, qu. versatus in re. Cunning, shrewd, experienced. A gr. τρίβαξ, ὁ εἰλεγμένος ἀφήγμασι, Hesych.

Trebanicum vinum, Plin. à Trebanis, Italiæ populis.

Trecēni, æ, a; Liv. τριακόσιοι. Three hundred.

Trecentēsimus, a, um; Amm. τριακοστὸς. The three hundredth.

Trecenti, æ, a; Cic. τριακόσιοι. Three hundred.

Trecenties; adv. Catull. Three hundred times.

* Trēchēdipna; n. pl. Juv. τρεχέδειπνα. vestimenta paralitica currentium ad cœnam, Cornut. & Vet. Schol. A kind of garment that sharks wore to run to other folks suppers in.

* Trēchēdipnus, i; m. τρεχέδειπνος. qui ad cœnam festinanter accurrit, qui τρέχει εἰς δεῖπνον. it. ironicè sic dict. qui tardius venit, Czl. Rhod. One who makes haste: also one who comes late to supper.

†Trecto, as; pro Tracto, Plaut.

Trēdĕcies; adv. Cic. τρισκαιδεκάκις. Thirteen times. Pro Ter decies, Cal. Thirty times.

Trēdĕcim; pl. indecl. τρισκαίδεκα. Thirteen.

Trēmĕbundior, us; comp. Col. More trembling.

Tremebundus, a, um; Cic. φοβούμενος. Fearful, that much trembleth.

Trēmĕfăcio, is, ĕre; -ēci, ctum; Vir. πόνῳ ἐκπλήττω. חרון. To make one tremble or quake, to put in fear.

Trēmĕfactus, a, um; part. Cic. φοβηθείς. Frighted, made to quake for fear.

Trēmendus, a, um; part. Vir. φοβερός. Dreadful, to be feared, tremendous.

Trēmens; part. Cic. Trembling.

Tremiscens, tis; part. Ovid. Quaking.

Tremisco, is; incep. Vir. τρεμίω. To begin to tremble, to quake.

TREMO, is, ui, ĕre; neut. Cic. τρέμω. רעד. To tremble, to shake or quake for fear. = Horreo, Ter.

Trĕmor, ōris; m. Vir. τρόμος. רעדה. A trembling, quaking or shaking, great fear: also an earthquake.

Trēmŭlus, a, um; Ter. ὑλερὸς, παφοβερός. ✠✠✠✠✠✠✠✠✠✠. Trembling, quaking or shaking, shivering, wavering, warbling: also that maketh one tremble or quake, Cic. a Quaker.

Trēpidans; part. Vir. Trembling, quivering, panting.

Trepidanter; adv. Czl. καταπλήξ. Fearfully, with quaking and trembling.

Trēpidārius equus, Veget. A galloping horse.

Trēpidātio, ōnis; f. verb. τρόμος, ἔκπληξις. חרדה. Fear, trembling.

Trepidātur; imp. Stat. They tremble.

Trepidè; adv. Liv. ὑπτιόβιως, εἰλεμένως. Hastily, fearfully, tremblingly.

Trĕpido, as; neut. Cic. à Trepidus; al. à Pedo, as; unde repedo, indè trepido: vel qu. tremo pede; vel à τρέπω, verto. τρέμω, φρίττω, σαλεύω. רעד. To tremble, to quake for fear, to be astonied or amazed: also to make haste for fear, to bustle, Vir. to pant, Ovid.

Trĕpidŭlus, a, um; dim. Plaut. ὑπολελεμένος. Somewhat afraid.

Trĕpidus, a, um; Liv. ab inus. Trepeo, quod à τρέπω. ἀβέβαιος, τρέμων. Fearful, trembling for fear, alarmed, astonied; in great fear or pain, Vir. cum Gen.

† Trĕpo, verto: τρέπω. Trepit, vertit, (al. trapit, Ulp. tropit.) Unde trepido & trepidatio: quia turbatione & trepidatione mens vertitur, Fest.

† Trĕpondo; R. ex Quint. τρίλιτρον. The weight of three pounds.

TRES, & hæc Tria; plur. Vir. τρεῖς. שלוש. Three.

Tressis, is; m. id est, trium assium; τριώβολον, ἡμιδράχμιον. Tce weight & value of three asses or farthings. ✠ Adj. Pers. Vile, pitiful, shabby, beggerly.

Trefviri, ōrum; Plaut. Triumviri.

† Triambi, qui terni ex proscenio loquebantur; Iambi, qui singuli, Fest.

Triangŭlāris, re; Col. τρίγωνος. Three corner'd, triangular.

Triangŭlum, li; n. Geom. τρίγωνον. A triangle, a figure that hath three corners: also wild Galingale, Jun.

Triangŭlus, a, um; Col. ὁ ἢ τρίγωνος. Three cornered.

Triārii, ōrum; m. Liv. dict. quòd tertio loco prælium inibant; οἱ ὑπολειπόμενοι, οἱ ἐφεδρεύοντες. Old souldiers that were set in the rear, and were to assist in case of hazard. Ad Triarios res rediit, Prov. The business is come to the last push.

* Trias, ădis; f. Viv. ternarius. τριάς. The tray or three.

Tribacca, margarita, Petron.

* Tribon, ōnis; m. Auson. τρίβων, à τρίβω tero. A threadbare cloak, the habit of a Cynick.

* Tribrachus; m. Gram. τρίβραχυς. A foot of three short syllables.

Tribuārius, a, um; Cic. φυλικός. Of or belonging to a tribe or ward.

Tribŭla, æ; f. Vir. à gr. τρίβολος, quod vel à tribus lateribus appell. vel à τρίβω. genus vehiculi, quo frumenta in aream teruntur: al. à Tero, tribui, indè tribula. מורג. A little cart or drey made of rough boards, which they used before flails for the threshing of corn.

Tribŭlārium, ii; n. Col. A place where such instruments are kept.

Tribŭlātio, ōnis; f. Hier. θλῖψις. צרה. Anguish or grief; tribulation.

Tribŭlis; m. Cic. ex eadem tribu; Συμφυλέτης, Συμφράτωρ. One of the same tribe or ward, one of the same stock or kindred.

Tribŭlo, as; Cat. θλίβω. לחץ. Tribula. To thresh or beat out the corn with a flail or cart, &c. also to afflict, vex, oppress, &c.

Tribŭlor, āris; pass. Hier.

Tribulum, li; n. Vir. V. Tribula.

Tribŭlus, li; m. Plin. ἀκανθολόβος, τρίβολος. דרדר. quasi τριβίλινος, ex τρεῖς & βίλος, quòd tres cuspides habet; vel quòd trifariàm feriat; vel à triangulari forma; vel à τρίβω. A thistle, a bramble: also a caltrop or iron spike with four pricks thrown where the enemies horse is to come, Veget. = Murex.

Tribūnal, lis; n. Cic. sedes Tribuni; vel locus in quo, qui jus tribubus redderet, considebat: βῆμα, δικαστήριον. נסא. A judgement-seat, a tribunal.

Tribūnālia, um; n. Plin. High banks made of green turfs, raised one above another, to keep out the water from overflowing.

Tribūnātus, ûs; m. Cic. δημαρχία. The office and dignity of the Tribune, the Protectorship of the Commons.

Tribūnĭtius, a, um; Cic. quod ad tribunos pert. δημαρχικός. Belonging to the Tribunes or Sheriffs.

Tribūnĭtius; m. subst. Cic. That hath been Tribune.

Tribūnus, ni; m. dict. à ternario numero: quia tres tunc tantàm partes populi, & ex singulis singuli crearentur ad exercitum mittendi; sive à tribubus, quòd earum suffragiis crearentur; vel quòd iis præessent; Lipsi. Tribuni dict. eò quòd Plebi jura & opem tribuunt, Isid. δήμαρχος, φύλαρχος. שלש. A Tribune, an officer among the Romans, having chief jurisdiction among the Commons, a Protectour of the Commons; they were two (like our London Sheriffs) and were called Tribuni plebis. Tribunus militum sive militaris, Cic. A Colonel. χιλίαρχος. Tribunus ærarius, Fest. A Receiver-general. Tribunus armamentarius, Jun. Master of the Ordinance or Artillery.

Tribuo, is, ĕre; ui, ūtum; act. à Tribus; qu. tributim. ✠✠✠✠, ✠✠✠✠✠✠✠✠. חלק, נתן. To give, grant or bestow; to attribute, to ascribe or impute, to divide, μερίζω. = Concedo, Cic.

Tribus, ûs; f. à tribus sc. partibus, in quas ager Romanus primò divisus erat, Ascon. vel quòd Tribus principio tres fuerunt, Var. φυλὴ, φρατρία. שבט. A tribe or ward, of which they had in Rome thirty five in all, though they were but three at first; an hundred or band of men. Tribu moveri, Liv. To be turned out of his ward.

Tribūtārius, a, um; Cic. ὑποτελὴς. Tributary, that payeth tribute.

Tribūtim; adv. Cic. κατὰ φυλάς. From tribe to tribe, ward by ward.

Tribūtio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. διανομή. A giving, a distributing, a dealing.

Tribūtor, ōris; m. verb. Apul. νομεύς. A giver or distributer.

Tribūtōrius, a, um; Dig. νομαστικὸς. Of or belonging to distribution or dealing.

Tribūtum, ti; n. φόρος, φίλος. ✠✠✠. quià ex privato in publicum tribuitur, Fest. al. à Tribubus, quòd ea pecunia, quæ à populo imperata erat, tributim à singulis, pro portione censûs, exigebatur. Tribute, custome, impost, money levied upon the people, a tax or assessment; a subsidy or Royal Aid. = Vectigal, Cic.

Tribūtus, a, um; part. Ovid. That will give.

Tribūtus, a, um; part. Given, &c. Tributa Comitia, Liv. A meeting or assembly of the tribes.

Tricæ, ārum; f. plur. τριχώματα. Tricæ sunt impedimenta & implicationes; & Intricare, impedire, morari; Non. à θρίξ, τῆν τρίχα, Trica. Hairs or feathers wrapped about the feet of Chickens or Pigeons, which hinder their going: also trifles, gugaws, fooleries, toys, Cic. Hinc. Angl. a trick.

Tricātor, ōris; m. verb. R. ex Mart. A toyer, a dallier.

† Tricēnāle, is; n. G. ex Med. Gram. A Trental, or months mind.

Tricēnārius, a, um; τριακονταῖος. Of or belonging to thirty. Vitis tricenaria, Var. A vine yielding thirty measures of wine.

Tricēni, æ, a; Plin. τριάκοντα. Thirty.

Tricennālis, le; Of thirty. Festa tricennalia, Pomp. Læt. Feasts solemnized in every thirty years end.

Tricentēni, æ, a; Col. τριακόσιοι. Three hundred.

Tricenties; adv. Mart. τριακοσιάκις. Three hundred times.

Tricceps, cipĭtis; adj. Cic. trium capitum; τριπρόσωπος. Having three heads, or three-headed.

Tricēsĭmus, a, um; Cic. τριακοστός. The thirtieth.

Tricessis, m. Var. triceni asses. The weight of thirty pound.

† Trichias, æ; m. Plin. τριχίας, ἀπὸ τῆς τριχῶν dict. A kind of fish like a Sarsine or Sprot.

† Trichila, f. Vir. in Copa. Trichile nomine Scal. intelligit pergulas, quæ & umbelæ, & umbracula vocab. σκιάδες dict. i densitate foliorum, quasi trichina, n. in ', ut nympha lympha. τρίχινον Tarentini pro spisso dicebant. à pilis. A covered walk made of Vines or the like, an Arbour.

† Trichilon, n. Cæl. vel Trichinion; vestis ex pilis confecta.

† Trichilum, n. Col. τρίχειλον, vas habens tria labra; al. pro vestis stragulæ genere accipiunt, & ἀπὸ τῆς τριχῶν deducunt. S. al. leg. Trochilum apud Col. A vessel with three spouts to pour water out of.

* Trichīnus, a, um; τρίχινος, pilosus, spissus, ex pilis factus. τίλινος, made of hair. ◊ Trichinum, tardum & qu. impeditum, vel siccum & sine succo, ut sunt capilli, qui Græcis τρίχες dicuntur, Non.

* Trichītis, ĭdis; f. Plin. τριχῖτις, scil. συκηλρία, aluminis genus in capillamenta quædam tenuia dehiscens, à θρὶξ pilus. A sort of Alume.

* Trichŏmānes, æ; m. Plin. τριχομανὲς ἀπὸ θρὶξ pilus, & μαίνομαι furo: herba à luxuriæ capillitii appel. An herb by some called Maiden-hair, goldylocks.

* Trichōrum, n. Stat. ex τρεῖς & χῶρος locus: τρίχωρον οἴκημα. A building with three lodgings or stories.

* Trichrus, i; m. Plin 37. 10. τρίχρως gemmæ nomen, à tribus coloribus. A precious stone of three several colours; black at bottom, blood-red in the middle, and white at top.

Tricies, adv. Liv. qu. trigesies: τριακοντάκις. Thirty times.

Tricĭnus, a, um; à Tricis. Tricinus quæstus, Var. Small, poor, inconsiderable. ℨ Uber. Vid. Trichinus.

Tricliniāria, ōrum vel ium; n. aulæa, sive vestes stragulæ, quibus triclinia ornantur, Var. τὰ τῦ τρικλινίου περιστρώματα. The hangings of a dining room.

Triclinĭāris, re; Plin. τρικλινικός. Of or belonging to a dining room.

† Triclinĭārium, ii; n. Var. A dining room.

Triclinĭārius, a, um; Labeo. idem.

Triclinium, ii; n. Cic. τρικλίνιον, ex τρεῖς tres, & κλίνη lectus. לִשְׁכָּה. A dining room with three beds in it for the Guests to sit or lean along upon, three on a bed.

Trico, ōnis; m. Jul. Cap. à Tricis; qui de tricis contendit. A quarrelsome fellow, that will let no body alone; also a trifler, a toyer, a bauffler, a fiddle-faddle.

* Tricoccus, ci; m. Plin. τρίκοκκος, qu. trigania, vel triosfea: κόκκος granum. A kind of medlar with three kernels; also a kind of Marygold or Sun-flower.

* Tricōlon, i; n. Gram. τρίκωλον carmen. ex τρεῖς ter & κῶλον membrum. A stanza of three verses.

Tricŏlor, ōris; adj. Of three colours.

Tricor, āris; dep. Cic. à Trico: λήθω, φλυαρῶ. To trifle and dawne, to jest and toy, to baffle and shew tricks, to fiddle-faddle.

Tricornĭger, a, um; Auson. With three horns or tops, as the Greek ψ.

Tricornis, ne; Plin. quod tria habet cornua, τρίκερως. Three horned.

Tricorpor, ōris; adj. Vir. habens tria corpora. τρίσωμος. That hath three bodies.

Tricŏsus, a, um; unde Prætricosus, Mart. Full of tricks, sils, tawdry.

† Trĭcus, G. ex Plin. corr. pro Trichus.

Tricuspis, ĭdis; adj. Ovid. quod tres habet cuspides, τρίοδους. That hath three points.

* Tridacna, n. pl. Plin. τρίδακνα, ostrea tantæ magnitudinis ut ter mordenda essent, à τρὶς ter & δάκνω mordeo.

* Trĭdacnus, a, um; τρίδακνος, unde Tridacna, Plin. 32. 7. To be eaten at three bits.

Trĭdens, tis; m. Plin. ferramentum tres habens dentes vel cuspides, τρίαινα, τρίοδους. קֶלְשׁוֹן. Any tool or instrument that hath three teeth; also Neptunes Mace.

Trĭdentĭfer, & Trĭdentĭger, ra, rum; Ovid. τριαινοφόρος. An Epithet of Neptune for his three forked mace.

Trĭdentĭpŏtens, tis; Sil. tridente potens: Neptuni epitheton.

Trĭduānus, a, um; τριήμερος. Of three days continuance.

Trĭduum, ui; n. Cic. trium dierum spatium, τριημερία, τρίημερον. The space of three days.

Triennis, ne; & Triennalis, le; τριετὴς. Of three years.

Triennium, ii; n. Cic. tres anni. τριετία. Three years space.

Triens, tis; m. à Tria, ut Quadrans à quatuor; tertia pars assis, i. unciæ quatuor: τριτημόριον. A small coin, the third part of As, Juv. four ounces or inches, the third part of any thing, Cic. also a kind of vessel, Pers.

Triental, ālis; n. Pers. idem quod Trieps: vas tertiam partem Sextarii capiens. A little vessel holding about our Half-pint, a Jill.

Trientālis, le; Plin. τριτημορίαιος. Four inches thick or broad, &c. Materia trientalis, Vitr. A quarter, a rafter; a piece of timber four inches about.

Trientārius, a, um; ut, Fœnus trientarium, Jul. Cap. Usury of four in the hundred.

* Trierarchus, m. Cic. τριήραρχος, præfectus triremis. The master or captain of a gally or ship with three oars or three banks of oars.

* Trietērĭca, ōrum; n. Vir. τριετηρικά. Feasts of Bacchus kept every third year.

* Trietērĭcus, a, um; Vir. τριετηρικὸς triennalis. That is kept every third year.

* Trietēris, ĭdis; f. Stat. τριετηρὶς, spatium τριῶν ἐτῶν trium annorum. The space of three years.

Trĭfariàm; adv. Suet. τριχῶς, τριχῇ. Three manners of wayes.

† Trĭfārie; adv. Diom. idem.

Trifārius, a, um; Liv. τριπλάσιος. quod tribus modis fari possis. Threefold, of three sorts.

Trifātidicus, a, um; Auson. Very Prophetick.

Trifaux, cis; adj. Vir. tres fauces habens, τρίστομος, τρίγναθος. That hath three mouths, or throats.

Trifax, Fest. ut & Bifax; ex Facie, quòd tres habet facies, i. acies. it. pro trabe, sude vel conto, à gr. τρίφηξ trabs. A dart or quarry three cubits long; also a beam, a stake, a pole.

Trĭfer, vel Trĭfĕrus, a, um; Plin. τριφόρος. That beareth fruit thrice a year.

Trĭfĭdus, a, um; Claud. in tres partes fissus. τρίχα, τριχῇ. Cleft or cloven into three parts.

Trifĭlĭlis, le; Auson. id. quod Trifidus.

Trifŏlium, ii; n. Plin. à tribus foliis dict. τρίφυλλον. An herb called Trefoil or three leaved grass: also the club in cards, Lud. Viv.

Triformis, me; Hor. tres habens formas, τριμορφὸς, τριφυὴς. That hath three forms, shapes or fashions.

Trĭfur, ūris; c. g. Plaut. ex τρὶς & fur, nam τρὶς in comp. augendi vim habet. τρίχωρ, κλεπτίστατος. A notable thief.

Trifurcatus, a, um; Col. Three-forked.

Trifurcĭfer, ra, rum; Plaut. παμμιαρὸς. An arrant rogue.

Trifurcus, a, um; Col. τρίφυλλος, τριφυὴς. Three-forked or three-folded.

Triga, gæ; f. Dig. vehiculi genus, quod tribus equis agitur, i. trahitur, qu. triaga: τέθριππον, τέτρηρον. A cart drawn with three horses.

Trigārium, ii; n. Plin. à Triga. The place where such chariots with three horses run.

Trigārius, ii; m. Plin. à Triga; τριππηλάτης. A carter that drives a cart with three horses.

Trigĕmĭni, æ, a; Plur. Col. τρίδυμοι. Three children at a birth.

Trigĕmĭnus, a, um; Amm. Threefold.

Trigemmis, me; adj. Col. quod tres habet gemmas: τριφυόκλαδος. A plant having three buds upon it.

Trigēsĭmus, a, um; Cic. τριακοστός. The thirtieth.

Triginta, adj. plur. indecl. Cic. τριάκοντα. שְׁלֹשִׁים. Thirty.

* Trigla, f. Jov. τρίγλα. The mullet-fish.

* Triglites, æ; m. Plin. 37. 11. τριγλίτης. gemma mulli piscis colore. A stone of the colour of the Mullet-fish.

* Triglyphus, a, um; τρίγλυφος. tres habens γλυφὰς, i. sculpturas; inde

* Triglyphus, m. subst. Vitr. An hollow graving like three furrows or gutters.

* Trigon, ōnis; m. τρίγων. locus erat in thermis pilæ ludo destinatus, à trigona, i. triquetra figura nomen habens; hinc Trigonalis pila, quâ in trigone lusitabant. A ball-court in the Bath, three-square, Alex.

lex. ab Alex. also the ball it ſelf, with which they played, Mart. Alſo a poiſonous fiſh, Auſon.

Trigōnālis, le ; τριγώνιος. Three cornered. Trigonalis pila, Mart. A little Ball, that they exerciſed themſelves with at bathing.

* Trigōnon, i ; n. Plin. τρίγωνον. An herb uſed in garlands.

* Trigōnum, i ; n. Aſtron. τρίγωνον. ut Trigonum igneum. When the upper Planets meet in a fiery ſign.

Trigōnus, a, um ; Manil. τρίγωνος. That hath three corners.

Trigōnus, i ; m. ſubſt. Manil. τρίγωνος. A triangle.

Tribōrium, rii ; n. Auſon. τριβώριον. The ſpace of three hours.

Trijŭgus, a, um ; Apul. τρίζυξ. Triple or three-fold.

Trilibris, bre ; Hor. τρίλιτρος. Of three pound weight.

Trilinguis, gue ; Hor. τρίγλωσσος. Skilled in three tongues ; or that hath three tongues, as Serpents ſeem to have.

Trilix, icis ; adj. Vir. quod ex tribus conſtat liciis ; τρίμιτος. Tiſſue made of three threads of divers colours.

Trilōris, re ; Voſſ. τρεῖς λώρους, i. tria lora habens. Trebble waled or twiſted.

Trima dies, i. triennium, Pompon.

* Trimacrus, vel Trimacer, cri ; m. Gram. τρίμακρος. A foot in verſe of three long ſyllables.

Trimātus, ûs ; m. Col. à Trimus : τρίμηνος. Three years of age.

Trimembris, bre ; adj. τριμερής. Of three members or parts.

Trimeſtris, ſtre ; adj. Plin. τρίμηνος. Of three months time, of three moneths growth. Col.

Trimetrius, a, um ; Auſon. Conſiſting of Trimeter Iambicks.

* Trimetrum, tri ; n. Hor. τρίμετρον. A Trimeter verſe of three meaſures ; an Iambick of ſix feet.

Trimŏdia, æ ; f. Col. A meaſure of three buſhels.

Trimŏdium, ii ; n. Plin. idem.

Trimŏdius, a, um ; Plin. τριμέδιμνος. Containing three buſh. Is the meaſure of three buſhels.

Trimŭlus, a, um ; dim. à Trimus, Suet. Three years old.

Trimus, a, um ; Plin. τρίμηνος, tres annos habens, ut Bimus binos. Three years old.

Trinĕpos, ōtis ; m. Paul. abnepotis filius, tertius à nepote : τριτόγονος. A great great grandchild, my great grandchilds ſon.

Trinĭtas, ātis ; f. Eccl. τριάς. The Trinity : alſo the number of three, Pomp. Lat.

Trinoctiālis, le ; Mart. τριονύκτιος. Of or belonging to three nights ſpace.

Trinoctium, ii ; n. Gell. τριονύκτιον. Three nights ſpace.

Trinōdis, de ; Ovid. tres nodos habens, τρίκομβος. That hath three knots or joints ; or ſyllables, Auſon.

† Trinōdo, as ; antiqu. Plin. To make three knots.

† Trinōdus ; m. Nig. Three knots.

† Trinōmius, a, um ; Feſt. τρίωνυμος. That hath three names.

Trinundinum, ni ; n. Cic. dict. quòd ternas nundinas complecteretur. The day of the third market or fair : the ſpace of ſeven and twenty dayes, which contain three fairs or markets, there being a fair every ninth day.

Trinus, a, um ; Cic. à Tres ; τρεῖς, τρία τρίων. Of three, the third, three by three, three together, συλφεῖς.

† Trio, ōnis ; m. qu. terio, quòd terram terat, Var. al. qu. Strio, à Striâ quam facit arans, Scal. βοῦς ἀρότης. A plow Oxe. vid. Triones.

Triōbŏlāris, re ; τριοβολιμαῖος. Worth three half-pence, vile, pitiful.

Triōbŏlum, li ; n. Plaut. τριώβολον. Three half-pence.

Triōbŏlus, m. R. ex Plaut. tres obolos valens, τριώβολος. A ſorry companion, a ſhab, a poor ſcrub.

Triŏnes, um ; Mart. V. Trio ; βόες ἀροτῆρες. it. ſidus ſic dict. à ſimilit. ἅμαξα. vel quòd ità ſitæ ſint ſtellæ, ut tria trigona faciant ; Gell. 2. 21. Plowing oxen ; alſo a conſtellation of ſeven ſtars called Charles wain near the North pole.

* Trionymus, a, um ; Sulpit. τριώνυμος. trinominis. That hath three names.

* Triophthalmus, mi ; m. Plin. τριόφθαλμος. lapillus in Sicyonia trium oculorum effigiem præ ſe ferens. A precious ſtone, that hath the figure of three eyes.

* Triorches, æ ; m. Plin. τριόρχης. ita dict. quòd τρεῖς ὄρχεις, i. tres teſtes habeat ; lat. Buteo dic. A kind of hawk having three ſtones, a buzzard ; alſo a kind of herb, the ſame that Satyrion.

Tripalis, le ; Tripales vites diceb. quæ tribus palis ſuſtinebantur ; Var.

Triparcus, a, um ; Plaut. τριαφιδωλός. Very ſparing, niggardly.

Tripartior, iris ; dep. i. in tres partes partior. τριχῶς μείζω. To divide into three parts.

Tripartitò ; adv. Cic. τριμερῶς, τριχῶς. In three parts.

Tripartītus, a, um ; part. Cic. τριμερής. Divided into three parts.

† Tripătinum, ni ; n. Pan. 32. 12. trium patinarum apparatus. The laſt ſervice of three ſeveral diſhes, Feſt.

† Tripectŏrus, a, um ; Lucr. τρίστερνος. Thrice breaſted, or that hath three breaſts.

Tripĕdālis, le ; Liv. τριποδιαῖος. Three foot long.

Tripĕdāneus, a, um ; Plin. idem.

Tripertītus, &c. vide Tripartitus.

Tripes, ĕdis ; c. g. Liv. τρίπους, τρισκαλής. That hath three feet, three-legged.

† Triphallus, Priapus ; Vir. in Priap. à φαλλὸς verendum, i. valdè vaſatus.

† Tripictus, a, um ; G. ex Prud. terpictus. Thrice written, or in three languages.

Triplex, icis ; adj. Cic. τριπλοῦς, τριπλάσιος. שלש. quod eſt trium plicarum. Triple, threefold.

Triplicātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Caius. τριπλασιασμός. A folding or doing of a thing thrice, tripling, trebling.

Triplĭcātus, a, um ; part. Plin. τριπλασιαθείς. Tripled, or trebled.

Triplices, um ; m. Mart. ſc. libelli vel codicilli. τὰ τρίπτυχα. Little ſcrowls or tables having three leaves, wherein matters of ſmall importance were written.

Triplĭcĭtas, ātis ; f. Aſtron. τὸ τριπλοῦν. Threefoldneſs, triplicity.

Triplĭciter, adv. ad Heren. τριχῶς. Trebly in three manner of wayes.

Triplĭco, as, act. Plin. τριπλασιάζω, τριπλόω. שלש. To triple or treble, to do or fold a thing three times.

Triplò, adv. By thrice.

Triplus, a, um ; Cic. τριπλοῦς, τριπλάσιος. Triple, threefold, treble.

* Tripōlium ; n. Plin. τριπόλιον. An herb called Turbit, or ( as ſome ) blew Daiſie.

† Tripondiārius, a, um ; Bud. Of or weighing three pound weight.

* Triptōton, i ; n. Gram. τρίπτωτον. A noun having but three caſes, a triptot.

Tripūdiātor, ōris ; m. verb. Aug. A dancer or tripper.

Tripūdio, as ; neut. Cic. ὀρχέομαι, χορεύω. חורך. To dance, to go tripping on the toe dancer-like, to caper, to curvet.

Tripūdium, ii ; n. χορεία, χορεύσασα. מחולה. Aves quia cùm paſcuntur, neceſſe eſt aliquid ex ore cadere, & terram pavire, terripavium primò, poſt tripudium dictum eſt ; Cic. qu. terripudium : forſan qu. tripedium, ut ſit numeroſus pedum modus, in ternarium cadens, M. A dancing or tripping on the toe dancer-like ; a caper or curvet, a skip, a trip : alſo the rebounding of corn, &c. being thrown to the chickens, by which the ſoothſayers made their divinations.

* Trīpus, ŏdis ; m. Plin. τρίπους. tribus conſtans pedibus. A three-footed ſtool or pot, a treſtle, a trivet, any thing that hath three feet.

Triquadrus, a, um ; That is three ſquare, Cerd.

Triquetra, æ : f. Plin. A triangle, or three cornered figure ; alſo the name of Sicily, Hor.

Triquĕtrum ; n. Plin. τρίγωνον. idem.

Triquĕtrus, a, um ; Cæſ. qu. triquadrus ; i. quadratus in tres angulos. τριγώνιος. Having three corners, triangular.

Trirēmis, is ; f. Hor. ſc. navis. τριήρης. tres habens remorum ordines. A galley with three oars on each ſide or bank ; or rather with three banks of oars, one above another.

Tris, Gr. τρεῖς. Lat. Ter.

† Tris, pro Tres, in Acc. ant.

* Trisăgium ; n. Eccl. τὸ τρίσαγιον, hymnus in Græcis eccleſiis, ἅγιος ὁ Θεός, ἅγιος ἰσχυρός, ἅγιος ἀθάνατος, ἐλέησον ἡμᾶς.

Trisāgo, ĭnis ; f. Plin. 24. 15. χαμαίδρυς. fortè ex Tris & Ago ; propter multiplices ejus virtutes ; al. ex δρῦς, ut ago ſit terminatio, ſimilitudinis index. The herb Germander : after ſome the ſtraight and upright Vervain.

Triſcurria, ōrum ; n. Juv. ex Tris valdè, & Scurra, Pap. à tribus curribus, Vet. Int. Great ſcurrilities or buffoonries. Al. leg. Traſcurria ; à Tranſcurrendo.

† Triſeclisĕnex, Næv. τριγήρων, qu. trium ſeculorum ſenex. That hath lived three ages, an Epithet of Neſtor.

* Trĭſĭppium, ii ; n. Col. τρισίππιον A vowel, with which being ho', they uſed to mark horſes on the jaw-bone.

* Triſpastus, a, um ; Vitr. 10. 3. τρίσπαστος, ex τρεῖς & σπάω trahe, quod tribus orbiculis trahitur. Drawn or pulled with three pulleys.

Triſsāgo ; f. Plin. vid. Triſago.

* Triſtĭta, æ ; m. Hieron. τριστάτης. ex τρεῖς & ἵστημι. qui tertio loco ſtat, tertius à rege. The myter of the horſe and foot, and tribune.

Triste; adv. Cic. λυπηρῶς. Sorrowfully, sadly.

Tristegus, a, um; ſyn. τρίστεγος. tria habens tecta. ex τρεῖς & στέγη, id eſt, tectum. Built with three ſtories or lofts one over another.

Tristiculus, a, um; dim. Cic. ὑποπικρὸς. Somewhat ſad, ſaddiſh.

Tristificus, a, um; Cic. κακοποιός. That maketh ſad, that grieves.

†Tristimōnia, æ; f. Perot. Sadneſs.

Tristior, us; comp. Ovid. Sadder.

TRISTIS, ſtis; λυπηρός, ἀνιαρός, δύσθυμος. אָנַח. vel à τρίζω, ſtrideo, τίτρωσις, à gr. τιτρώσκω, portentum, uti Vir. τρίστις exta, voc. quæ portendunt malum; vel qu. θεσπέσια fratres præfore. al. à Τέτρα, qu. tristra, M. † τρύπη, i. perunna, dolor, à τρύω. Bec. à θέρσος, θάρσος. Al. à τρίω timeo, hinc τρίσις timidus. Sad, heavy, penſive, ſorrowful, woful: ſevere, grave, joulen, melancholy; demure; bitter, hard, rough: angry, peeviſh, envious, cruel: alſo that maketh ſad, unpleaſant, painful: alſo with an ill will, againſt his will, Ter. Triſtis arbor, Vitruv. The Indian mourner, a tree that hangs down its head all day. = Conturbatus, ſeverus, atrox, Cic impexus. Tac.

Triſtiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic. Moſt ſad, moſt difficult, and painful, Ovid.

Triſtitia, æ; f. λύπη, κακοπάθεια. אֲנוּת. Sadneſs, heavineſs, penſiveneſs, &c. = Severitas, Cic. ☜ Lætitia, Id.

†Triſtities, ēi; f. Apul. idem.

†Triſtĭtūdo, inis; f. Apul. idem.

Triſtius, adv. comp. Cic. λυπηρότερον, δυσχερέστερον. More ſadly, more harſhly, or with more ado.

†Triſto, as; act. unde Contriſto. λυπέω. עָצַב. To ſadden or make ſad.

Triſtor, āris; dep. λυπέομαι, συνάζω. To be ſorrowful or ſad.

Triſulcus, a, um; Vir. τριγλώχιν. tres habens ſulcos, i. acies. Three-pointed or three-forked.

Triſyllăbus, a, um; Gram. τρισύλλαβος. Of three ſyllables, triſyllable.

†Trit; vox fictitia, quâ uſus eſt Non. & Plaut. pro βλίττει, id eſt, crepitu ventris; dict. à trito, M. fort. corr. pro Frit.

Trităvia, æ; f. τριμάμμη. My great grandmother's great grandmother.

Tritāvus, vi; m. Paul. τριπάππος. qu. tertavus, i. tertius avus; vel ex τρὶς & avus. My grandfathers grandfathers grandfather; that is, my great grandfathers great grandfather.

*Trite, es; f. Muſic. τρίτη, tertia ſcil. chorda. Trite Diezeugmenon, C, ſol, fa, ut. Hyperbolæon, F, fa, ut. Synnemmenon, B, fa, b, mi.

*Trithălis, is; n. Plin. τριθαλὲς. quòd ter floreat in anno, à θάλλω floreo. An herb in flower thrice a year.

*Tritheïtæ; m. pl. Eccl. τριθεῖται. Certain hereticks that held there were three diſtinct Godheads in the Trinity of perſons.

Tritiānus, a, um; Tritiana braſſica; quòd triplo major aliis, Plin. 19. 8. A kind of large Colewort.

Tritĭcĕus, a, um; Vir. πύρεος. Wheaten, of wheat.

Tritĭcum, ci; n. Plin. πυρὸς, σῖτος. חִטָּה. dict. quòd tritum eſt ex ſpicis, Var. Wheat.

Tritior, us; comp. Cic. More common.

*Triton, ōnis; m. Vitr. τρίτων. A weather-cock: alſo a ſea-fiſh, a kind of Tunney, cut into rands, Plin. 32. 11. alſo a fiſh in the ſhape of a man, Geſn.

Tritor, ōris; m. Plin. τριπτὴρ. A grinder of colours for painters; a threſher of corn: alſo he that uſes and wears out a thing, Plaut.

Tritūra, æ; f. Col. דִּישׁ. A threſhing, crumming or grinding.

Tritūrātor; m. Col. A threſher.

Tritūro, as; Col. ἀλοάω. To threſh.

Tritūror, āris; paſſ. Col.

Tritus, a, um; part. à Tero; Cic. τετριμμένος, τριβεὶς. Worn, ever-worn, threadbare, broken, waſted, common, much uſed, rubbed, ground. = Illsitatus, Cic.

Tritus, ûs; m. verb. Plin. τρῖμα. Breaking, threſhing, rubbing, grinding.

Trivĕnĕfica, æ; f. Plaut. τριπαραμαλύτρια. A great witch, the Devils dam.

Triviālis, le; Suet. ad trivium pert. ἰκὸς. Common, trivial, ordinary, homely.

Triviritim; adv. Col. By every three men.

Trivium, ii; n. Cic. ex tribus viis dict. τρίοδος. פָּרָץ. A place where three wayes meet: alſo where a common reſort of people is.

Trivius, a, um; Mart. τριόδιτις. That hath three wayes.

Triumphālia, ium; n. Tac. The ſolemnities of a triumph.

Triumphālis, le; Cic. θριαμβικός. Of or belonging to a triumph. Triumphalis (ſcil. vir.) Liv. One who hath triumphed.

Triumphans, tis; part. Cic.

Triumphātor, ōris; m. verb. Bibl. θριαμβευτής. A triumpher.

Triumphātus, a, um; Vir. θριαμβευθείς. Triumphed over, inled or repreſented in triumph.

Triumphātus, ûs; m. verb. Plin. θρίαμβος. A triumphing.

Triumpho, as; neut. θριαμβεύω. רָנַן. To triumph, to get the conqueſt: alſo to rejoyce greatly. Triumphare aliquem, de aliquo, Pl. jun. = Exulto, gaudeo, lætor, Cic.

TRIUMPHUS, phi; m. Cic. à gr. θρίαμβος. רִנָּה. A triumph, a ſolemn pomp or ſhew at the return of a General from the wars for the victory he hath gotten: alſo a play at cards, ſo called, Trump, Lud. Viv. Joy.

Triumvir, iri; m. Cic. τῶν τριῶν ἀρχόντων. One of the three Officers that are in the like authority. Triumviri capitales, Pomp. Three Lord chief Juſtices; menſarii, Liv. The three chief bankers, that took care of the publick money.

Triumvirālis, le; Hor. Of or belonging to ſuch an office or officer.

Triumvirātus, ûs; m. Liv. ἡ τῶν τριῶν ἀρχή. The office of three in like authority.

Triumvirĭtim; adv. Col. Three by three.

Triuncis, ce; adj. Plin. τριγγιαῖος. Of the weight of three ounces.

Triuncius, ii; m. Cic. ſc. nummus, qui poſtea Quadrans. A braſs coin of three ounces weight.

Triuncius, a, um; Bud. idem.

† Trivŏlum, li; n. Var. corr. pro tribulum. A threſhing ſtail.

† Trixālis; Plin. A kind of worm.

† Trixis; Plin. ricinus, à τριχὸς, ſ. τριανὸς triplex, triſidus. A kind of grape.

* Tröchæus, i; m. Cic. τροχαῖος. dict. quòd celeritate ſua imitatur volubilitatem rotæ, quam Gr. τροχὸν appellant. A foot in verſe conſiſting of two ſyllables, the firſt long, and the laſt ſhort. ☞ It. id. qui Tribrachus, Quint.

Trŏchăcus, a, um; Gram. ad trochleum pert. τροχακὸς. Made of, or like to a wheel.

* Trŏchĭlus, vel Trochlus; m. Plin. τροχὸς, à τρέχω curro: regulus avicula. A little bird called a Wren: alſo a round ring in the juttings of pillars, Scal.

Trŏchĭſcŭlus, i; m. dim. Apul.

* Trŏchiſcus, i; m. Cel. τροχίσκος. parvus trochus, potius. ☞ trochiſk or round ball for phyſick. = Paſtillus.

† Trŏchlea, æ; f. Vitr. à gr. τροχλία, Gl. Phil. vel τροχαλία, Poll. A pully wherein a cord or rope vanneth to draw any thing; ſome call it a windleſs. = Rechamus.

Trochŭlus, li; m. dim. Plaut. τροχίλος. A little top.

† Trŏchum, i; n. Vitr. A kind of chair made with looſe joynts.

Trŏchus, chi; m. Hor. τροχὸς ἀπὸ τῆ τρέχειν, Lat. rota. A top wherewith children play: alſo a little round lump of any thing, Cic.

Trocta, æ; f. Geſn. τρόκτης, à τρώγω edo, piſcis, qui & Tructa & Tructa, Iſid. A Trout.

† Trōgĕte, es; G. ex Plin. idem quod Thya.

* Troglŏdyta, vel Troglodytes; Jun. τρωγλοδύτης, qui & τρώγλας δύνει, i. cavernas ſubit. A hedge-ſparrow.

Troja; f. ludus in quem vulgò pyrrhidham appellant, Troja vocatur, Serv. A kind of ſport or exerciſe like our Tilts and Tournaments. Trojam ludere, Suet. To ride at Tilt.

Trojānus porcus, qui aliis animalibus gravidus, ut Trojanus equus militibus.

Tropæum, i; n. uti Voſſius poſtulat ſcribi. Vid. Trophæum.

* Tropæus, a, um; τροπαῖος, ὁ τροπῆς, à converſione. Tropæi venti, Plin. Winds that return again from ſea to land; or rather winds that blow conſtantly after the ſolſtice at the Suns return from the Tropick.

Tropæus, pæi; m. ſubſt. Suet. He that doth a ſhrewd turn, and runs away when he hath done.

Trŏphæum, æi; n. Cic. τρόπαιον, à τροπὴ, quo ſignif. fuga hoſtium. מַצֵּבָה. A token or mark of timber or ſtone ſet up in a place where enemies were vanquiſhed, with their harneſs, and other ſpoil hanged on it, a ſign or token of victory, a trophy.

† Trŏphĕātus, a, um; Amm. Set up as a tropky in token of victory.

Tropicè, adv. Rhet. τροπικῶς. Figuratively, by a trope or figure.

* Trŏpicus, a, um; Gell. τροπικὸς. pertinens ad τρέπω, id eſt, vertionem. Tropical, figurative. Tropici circuli Aſtronom. ad quos cùm ſol pervenit, τρέπεται, id eſt, convertitur. Tropicus Cancri ubi ſit ſolſtitium æſtivum. Tropicus Capricorni ubi ſolſtitium hyemale.

* Trŏpis, is; f. τρῖμις carina: ſit ex lignis verſis, unde Incurva carina, Vir. à τρέπω verto. The bottom or keel of a ſhip: alſo a ſort of wine they uſed in their [illegible] either to bathe them with or to produce vomit.

thrs

Trŏpŏlŏgĭa, æ ; f. Rhet. τροπολογία. sermo allegoricus : item sermo ad morum emendationem pertinens.

Trŏpŏlŏgĭcè ; adv. τροπολογικῶς. Figuratively spoken.

* Trŏpŏlŏgĭcus, a, um ; τροπολογικός. Speaking by Tropes or Figures.

Trŏpus, pi ; m. τρόπος, à τρέπω converto, quòd sit verbi vel sermonis à propriâ significatione ad aliam cum virtute mutatio, Quint. A Trope, or Rhetorical way of speech.

Trossŭla, æ ; f. Plaut. A delicate lass.

Trossŭlus, i ; m. Perf. Trossuli equites dicti, quòd oppidum Tuscorum Trossulum ceperint sine operâ peditum, Fest. Trossuli dicti sunt quasi torosuli, quòd habitiores, à torosâ pinguedine ; Non. Trossula trabea dic. apud Vet. hæc cocco purpuráque prætexta erat, quam etiam Auzuratam voc. A well-fed fellow, Non. a dapper or delicate person, a spruce gallant, a Carpet-Knight. Vide Propr.

* Trox ; f. Jun. τρώξ. à τρώγω edo. A worm breeding in, and fretting all kind of pulse, as beans, peafe, &c.

* Troxălis, ĭdis ; f. Plin. τροξαλὶς. Ælian. à τρώγω edo. A cricket. vid. Tryxalis.

TRŬA, æ ; f. Var. à tero trivi, qu. triva. al. à τρύω tero. τρύη τὸ ναυτικὸν ἢ χύτρειον. A kind of veffel to receive homely things in, a trey ; a ladle of a pot, Scal. ex Titinn.

Trūcidārius, a, um ; Pomp. Lat. Murderous minded, blood-thirsty.

Trūcidātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ἀνδροφονία. הֲרִגָה. A cruel killing or murdering.

Trucidātor, ōris ; m. Inft. A slayer.

Trūcido, as ; act. Cic. trux, morti do ; trucitèr cædo ; ζωάγρω, ἀνοσιουργῶ, κτανίσκω. שׁוֹחַט. Cruelly to slay, to murder, to kill, to assassin, to massacre ; utterly to undo.

Trŭcidor, āris ; paff. Cic.

Tructa, æ ; f. Ambr. τρῶκτα. A trout.

Trūculenter ; adv. Quint. ἀπηνῶς, ὠμῶς. Cruelly, barbarously.

Trūculentia, æ ; f. Plaut. ὠμότης. Cruelty, Savageneſs.

Trūculentior, us ; comp. Claud. More rough and boisterous.

Trūculentissĭmè ; adv. ſuperl. Quint. More fiercely.

Truculentissĭmus, a, um ; Superl. ad Heren. Moſt cruel.

Trucŭlentus, a, um ; Cic. à Trux : ἀπηνὴς, ζωοκτόνος. אַכְזָר. Cruel, fierce, ſavage, barbarous. = Teter, terribilis, Cic. agrestis, ſævus, Ter.

Trūdes, is ; f. Tac. à Trudendo : ὄχλον. An inſtrument to thruſt down things with ; alſo a watermans pole to ſhove his boat off, when ſhe ſticks.

TRŪDO, is, ĕre ; ſi, ſum ; act. Cic. quaſi terre do. Scal. Trudi, terrâ edi ; al. à τρύω. דָּחָה. To thruſt, to puſh, to drive away, to puſh on or forward.

Trūdor, ĕris ; paſſ. Hor.

† Truellum, i ; n. Var. id. quod Trullium.

† Trufa vel Trupha, G. ex Arnob. Scurrility, baſe words or deeds.

Trulla, æ ; f. Cic. dim. à Trua. al. à Trudo, ut à Rado Ralla ; quòd trudit ac detrudit, id eſt, includit calce vel luto lapides, Iſid. qu. torulla, per ſync. quod à τορύνη, Scal. ἀμίς. A veſſel of divers uſes, Cic. a maſons or plaiſterers trowel to dawb withall, Vitr. a deep broad cup, like a mazer, to drink wine in, Hor. a pan to put fire in, Liv. a tray to ſet under a veſſel, or to put meat in, Var. a piſs-pot, Mart. λάσανον.

Trulleum, n. Var. χειρόπλεγν. A bowl or baſon to waſhones hands in.

Trullisātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Vitr. κονίαμα. A laying on morter with a trowel.

Trullisso, as ; Vitr. trullâ gypſum induco. κονιάω. To lay on plaſter or morter with a trowel.

Truncātus, a, um ; part. cum Abl. Pl. jun. Maimed, mangled.

Trunco, as ; act. Val. Flac. à Truncus. κλοβῶ, ἀκρωτηριάζω. גָּרַע. τρύχω, M. To cut ſhorter, to cut in pieces, to ſpread off, to maim, to chop off.

Trūncŭlātus, a, um ; Plaut. Clogged, or that weareth a clog.

Trunculus, li ; m. dim. στελεχάριον. A little ſtock or ſtem. Anſeris trunculi, Celſ. ἀκρωτήλια. Goſe-giblets. Trunculi ſuum, Id. Hogs haſtlets, or rather Pigs petty-toes.

Truncus, a, um ; κολοβὸς, ἀτελὴς. גָּרוּם. Cut ſhort, maimed, mangled, imperfect. Trunca pedum, Vir. That hath no feet.

Truncus, ci ; m. Cic. qu. truncatus ; vel à gr. τρύχω idem, Heſych. κορμὸς, στέλεχος. גֵּזַע. A ſtump, a ſtem, ſtock, trunk or body of a tree without the boughs ; a body without a head : alſo a block-headed fellow, a dunce.

Truo, as ; act. unde in comp. Amtruo. à Trua. To ſtir or keel the pot.

† Truo, ōnis ; m. Feſt. avis onocratulus, dict. quòd ei inſtar truæ ingluvies ſub roſtro propendet. A Bittern ; a long-ſnouted fellow, Cæcil.

Trūsātilis, le ; à trudo trusum, vel à freq. Truſo, as. ὠστὸς. That may be turned or driven about with a mans hand. Mola truſatilis, Gell. χειρόμυλον. An hand-mill.

Trūso, as ; freq. à Trudo, Catull.

Trutannitus, ūs ; m. Bud. Trewantry.

Trūtina, æ ; f. Vir. à gr. τρυτάνη. πλαστὸς, σταθμὸς, πλάστιγξ. מֹאזְנַיִם. quòd in ea examen digito trudatur ; Perot. A pair of ſcales, or a great pair of ballances or weights, Vitr. alſo a diligent examining or conſidering, a good advice or judgement, Hor. alſo a rule among Aſtrologers, to find out the hour and minute of a nativity. Campana trutina, Iſid. A Roman ballance, Troy-weight.

Trūtinātus, a, um ; part. Apud. Well-weighed, examined.

Trūtino, as ; act. Hier. σταθμίζω, σταθμοῦμαι, ζυγοστατῶ. שָׁקַל. To weigh or examine, to conſider well and throughly of a thing.

Trūtinor, āris, dep. Perſ. idem.

TRUX, cis ; adj. Cic. ἀπηνὴς, βλοσυρὸς, σκληρὸς. אַכְזָר. qu. taurax, à taurorum ferocitate : à τραχὺς aſper, vel τρύχω vexo, M. fortè à Θρᾷξ Thrax, quòd ii tales eſſent. Cruel, fierce, grim, ſavage, rough. Trux tractu herba, Plin.

Truxālis, Plin. vid. Tryxalis.

* Tryblium, vel Tryblion, ii ; n. Plaut. τρύβλιον trublium, Gl. A kind of veſſel, a ſaucer.

* Trychnos, i ; f. Plin. τρύχνος. Lat. Solanum. Night-ſhade.

* Tryga, antiq. vinum appellab. τρύξ.

* Tryginon, n. Plin. 35. 6. τρύγινον, à τρύξ fex. A kind of ink made of the lees of wine.

† Trygœdus, vel Trygōdus, di ; m. τρυγῳδὸς. qui facibus obſitus canit : à τρύξ fex, & ᾠδὸς cantor. V. Tragœdus. Alſo one who cries and buys the dregs and lees of wine up and down the city ; Bud.

Trygon, ōnis ; m. Auſon. τρυγὼν turtur, & avis & piſcis ex genere venenatorum, quam Lat. Paſtinacam voc. A kind of poiſonous ſea-fiſh.

* Tryphera, vel Truphera, n. pl. Scrib. Larg. à τρυφερὸς delicatus : genus medicamenti cauſtici, dict. quòd molliter & ſine dolore urit & exedit. Gentle eaſie cauſtick.

* Trytodoce, es ; f. Jun. τρυτοδόκη, theca bilancis, quæ δίχαλα ἢ τρυτάνην. A box wherein the weights and ballance are kept.

* Tryxalis, is ; f. Plin. 30. 6. τριξαλὶς. à τρύχω attero, abſumo ; animal ſine pennis, locuſtæ ſimile, quod nonnulli idem putant cum eo, quod alio nomine Grylum app. Al. ſcrib. Troxalis. A cricket.

T ante U.

TU, tui, tibi ; pronom. σὺ, Dor. τύ. אַתָּה. Thou.

Tu tu, vox noctuæ ; quæ (ſcil. noctua) tu tu uſque dicat tibi, Plaut. unde τυτὼ νοκτυα.

Tuapte ſponte. Of thine own accord.

Tuātim ; adv. Non. ex Plaut. After thine own faſhion or cuſtom.

Tūba, æ ; f. Cic. qu. tofa, i. cava ; vel qu. tibia, Iſid. al. à concavitate tubi ; à tubis, quos etiam nunc ita appell. tubicines ſacrorum ; Var. σάλπιγξ. שׁוֹפָר. A trumpet. Ɛ Tuba, directa : Buccina, recurva.

Tūbārius, ii ; m. Calliſtr. qui tubas efficit ; σαλπιγξοποιός. A trumpet maker.

Tūber, ĕris ; n. Ter. & m. Suet. à tumeo. Tubera tumor terræ prodit, eáque cauſa nomen dedit illis ; Iſid. à טַבּוּר. umbilicus, locus editus, Aven. ὄδνος, it. ὄγκος, ὀδυμὸς. שֶׁאֵת. A puff growing in the ground like a muſhroom or toad-ſtool, Plin. alſo a ſwelling in a mans body, a bunch, Ter. a bump ; a knob or knot in a tree.

Tūber, ĕris ; f. Col. A kind of tree bearing fruit of the ſame name : alſo the herb Sow-bread.

Tuber, ĕris ; m. Suet. pro fructu arboris.

Tūbercŭlum, li ; n. dim. à Tuber, Plin. ἀδυμάτιον, ἐμφύτιον. A little ſwelling or puſh, a pimple or wheal.

Tūbĭcen, ĭnis ; Vir. ex Tuba & Cano : σαλπιγκτὴς, σαλπιστὴς. A trumpeter uſed not only in war, but at funerals ; whence Ad tubicines mittere, Petr. Arb. i. cogitare de exequiis. Ɛ Tubicines ad prælium vocant milites, & rurſus receptui canunt. Cornicines quoties movenda ſunt ſigna, canunt, Modeſt.

Tūbilustrium, ii ; n. Ovid. ex Tuba & Luſtro. Tubiluſtria dies, quibus diebu adſcriptum in faſtis eſt, in atrio ſutorio agnâ tubæ ut luſtrentur : ab iis tubis ap-pillant ; &c. Fest. A solemn time, when they went with trumpets as it were in procession about the country, say some.

Tŭbŭlārius, ii ; m. Amm. qui tubulos facit. A tobacco-pipe maker, &c.

Tăbŭlātio ; f. verb. Arnob. A making hollow like a pipe ; a swelling.

Tŭbŭlātus, a, um ; Plin. σωληνοειδὴς. Made hollow like a pipe.

Tŭbŭlus, li ; m. dim. à Tubus, Var. ὑδραγώγιον, στενὸν, σωληνίδιον. A little conduit-pipe or hollow reed : also the pipe or funnel of a stove or chimney, Paul.

Tuburcinor, vel Tubuccinor, aris ; Plaut. i. raptim comedo, Non. à Tumeo ; hoc enim facit ut tumeat venter, Perot. à Tuber : ventrem tubere instio ; M. al. à τύβασις. Χαμύνεται. Greedily to eat, or as a child doth, to gobble, to cram, and stuff out the cheeks, quod facit tubicen ; qu. Tubicinor. ◊. It. tubicen sacrorum, Var.

Tŭbus, bi ; m. à Tumore ; Scal. à τύπτω, quòd cavus : σῶλην, σίφων. צנור. A conduit-pipe : also the hole in the middle of the back-bone, where the marrow lies, Jun. any hole or hollow place, Mart.

Tūcētārius ; m. Hul. A Haggis maker.

Tūcētum, ti ; n. Pers. ζωμὸς παχὺς. bubula caro, condimentis quibusdam crassis oblita & macerata ; & ponitur pro ipsis condimentis, Cornut. fortè à Cædo & Tundo ; Primò secabant offas, postmodùm tundebant. al. à τύκω. vel est aliquid exquisitè τυκᾶσθαι, id est, præparatum. Est & Persis τυκτὸ splendidum convivium ; M. A kind of meat made of porkes flesh chopped or other stuff, a gigot, a haggas, minced meat, mingled with sewet, such as Collar-beef, &c. Int. Pers. = Ilicium, tomaculum.

† Tŭdernis, Plin. A kind of wine.

Tūdes, ĭtis ; Tudites malleos appell. antiqui, à Tundendo, Fest. ζύσιγξ. משוש. A wooden mallet or hammer, a beetle, a Printers Ink-Ball ; also a printing iron.

Tŭdĭcŭla, æ ; f. dim. à Tudes, Col. τορύνη, κίνητρον. A little beetle to bruise the olives at the press ; a ladle, a printing iron to mark with, Characters. also a tool which Diers use in drawing their clothes that are to be dyed, and turning them in the water, Jun. also a graving tool.

Tŭdĭcŭlo, as ; Var. à Tudicula : ὀπθαλίβω. To pound, to bruise, to engrave ; to thump, beat or hammer out.

Tūdĭto, as ; freq. à Tundo, vel pot. à Tudes, itis ; Lucr. ὀπτρείβω, ὀπθαλίβω. To labour, work or stir, to thump or beat with a hammer, &c.

Tuendus, a, um ; part. Cic. τηρητέος, διαφυλακτέος. That is to be kept, defended or maintained.

Tuens, tis ; part. Cic. Defending, keeping, maintaining, preserving : also looking, beholding, viewing, tooting, Lucr.

TUEOR, ēris, eri ; tuitus, & tutus ; dep. à θεῦ. θεῦμαι, θεωρῶ, Canin. ἐμύνω. נצר. To defend, keep, maintain or preserve ; to continue still in doing, to keep in repair, Var. also to see or behold, Catul. = Conservo, defendo, rego, orno.

Tŭeor, ēris ; pass. Dig. To be defended.

Tūgŭriŏlum, li ; n. dim. καλύβιον. A little cottage, a cabbin.

Tūgŭrium, ii ; n. Vir. qu. tegurium, à Tegendo ; Prisc. καλύβα. סכה. A cottage, a house in the country ; a shepheards cott or shed, a lodge.

Tuitio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. φυλακὴ, διαλήψεως. Defending, safe-keeping ; defence, tuition.

Tŭli, præt. à Tollo ; Vide Fero.

Tulipa, æ ; f. quæ & Tulpia, Tulpiana, Gerard. vox Turcica, M. A Tulip, a kind of Lilly of various colours.

Tulliānum ; n. Sal. A place in the common prison built by King Tullius.

Tullii ; m. pl. Plin. à Tollendo, id est, sublimè afferendâ aquâ. Tullios alii dixère esse silanos ; alii rivos ; alii vehementes projectiones sanguinis arcuatim fluentis : alii leg. Tulles, Fest. ex Enn. Spouts, running pipes or cocks, Bosses or Conduits, or, as some, streams of water ; as others, violent issues of blood out of the veins in several parts of the body.

Tum ; adv. Cic. ut Cùm à quum, i. quom pro quem, i. ὃν χρόνον, ita Tum ab artic. præpos. τὸν. vid. Tam. τότε. Then ; moreover, afterward, in fine, Liv.

Tum ; conj. Cic. post Cùm ; עם. Both, also.

Tumba, æ ; f. τύμβος. קבר. A tomb, a grave, a monument.

Tūmĕfăcio, is, ĕre ; ēci, ĕtum ; Ovid. ὀγκόω. To make to swell, to puff up.

Tūmĕfactus, a, um ; part. Sen. Made to swell or swollen ; puffed up.

Tūmens ; part. Cic. Swelling.

TUMEO, es, ui, ēre ; neut. Cic. à θυμὸς, quòd à θυμὸς tumor, M. οἰδαίνω, ὀγκόομαι. צבה. To swell, to rise, to be puffed up : to wax proud, stately and lofty : to increase or burst out.

Tūmesco, is, ĕre ; inc. Vir. idem.

Tūmex, ĭcis ; f. Col. id. quod Tomex. θώμιγξ. A rope or cord : also a swelling, Gl.

Tumicla, æ ; f. dim. Apul. A little cord of hemp or baste.

Tūmĭdè ; adv. Apul. Swellingly.

Tūmĭdŭlus, a, um ; dim. Catull. Somewhat swoln.

Tūmĭdus, a, um ; à Tumeo ; Cic. ὀγκώδης, οἰδαλέος. צבור. Swollen, puffed up : also proud, lofty, haughty, stately.

Tūmor, ōris ; m. à Tumeo ; Cic. ὄδυνμα. שאר. A swelling, rising or puffing up ; a tumour, a bump or bunch : also loftiness, pride, haughtiness, height of spirit.

Tūmŭlandus, a, um ; part. Ovid. To be intombed.

Tūmŭlātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Var. ἐνταφιασμός. An entombing.

Tūmŭlātus, a, um ; part. Ovid. ἐνταφιασθείς. Entombed, buried.

Tūmŭlo, as ; act. Mart. τυμβεύω, ἐνταφιάζω, ὀνδαπτέω. קבר. To bury, to entomb, to interr.

Tūmŭlor, āris ; pass. Ovid.

Tumulōsus, a, um ; Salust. βουνώδης, λοφώδης. Full of hillocks or knaps.

Tūmultuārie ; adv. Liv. ἐν τῷ παραυτοχόλῳ, θορυβωδῶς. Tumultuously, rustlingly, hastily, in a pudder or hurry ; all on a sudden.

Tūmultuārio ; adv. Apul. idem.

Tūmultuārius, a, um ; Liv. αὐτοσχέδιος. Done in haste or in a hurry, hasty, disorderly, extempore.

Tūmultuātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Liv. ταραχὴ. A bustling or hurrying.

Tūmultuo, as ; Plaut. id. quod

Tūmultuor, āris ; dep. Cic. θορυβέω, ταράσσω. המר. To make a tumult, stir or great noise, to be in an uproar, to hurry and bustle, to mutiny, Suet. to storm or trouble ones self, Cic.

Tūmultuōsè ; adv. Liv. θορυβωδῶς. Tumultuously.

Tūmultuosissimè ; adv. superl. Cic.

Tumultuosissimus, a, um ; Sen.

Tūmultuōsius ; adv. comp. Cæl. With more bustle.

Tūmultuōsus, a, um ; Cic. θορυβώδης, ταραχώδης. Full of trouble, tumultuous, seditious, mutinous, Liv. stormy, rough and boisterous. = Seditiosus, Cic. & Quietus, Id.

Tūmultus, ūs (& ti, Non.) m. Cic. qu. tumor multus, Fest. qu. timor multus, Isid. an, unde Tumultus, à Tumeo ? θόρυβος, ταραχὴ. מהומה. Tumult, trouble, broil, burly burly ; sedition, insurrection, uproar or mutiny, bustle, stir.

Tūmŭlus, li ; m. à Tumore terræ. βοῦνος, χαλοφος. חל. A hillock, a knap, a tump, Cæl. an heap of earth : also a tomb, a grave, a sepulchre, Vir.

Tunc ; adv. temp. Cic. τότε, τηνικαῦτα. ex quo Tunc, Can. אז. Then, at that time. Tunc temporis, Just. At that time.

Tundens, part. Cic. Knocking, beating.

TUNDO, is, ĕre ; tŭtŭdi, tūsum ; act. Cic. à τύπτω, Canin. vel Tundo, qu. tonundo. à τονῶ tudo, Vos. κόπτω, ἀφίστημι, κολάπτω. בחש. To knock, to smite, to thump, to bang, to bray or beat in a mortar : to play on : also to weary or dull, Plaut. to repeat often, Ter.

Tundor, ĕris ; pass. Vir.

Tunētānus flos ; Jun. Tunis flower.

TUNICA, æ ; f. χλαῖνα, ἐσθὴς. à tuendo corpore, Var. à χιτὼν, acc. χιτῶνα tunica, per metath. & hoc ab hebr. כתנת idem. A coat, jerkin or jacket, a tunick : also a shirt, smock or petticoat, Ovid. A womans gown or kirtle, Plin. jun. A piel or skin, a rind, Plin. Also a kind of gillow-flower. Also the big of an impostume, Cels. Tunica, Juv. A pitch coat, to burn people in at the stake.

Tūnĭcātus, a, um ; Cic. χιτωνοφόρος. Coated, clad in a coat, &c. with only his shirt on, Suet. in cuerpo.

Tūnĭcellā, æ ; f. dim. Plaut. A very little coat.

Tūnĭco, as ; Var. χιτωνίζω. To cover with a coat, &c. to coat, to cloath.

Tūnĭcor, āris ; pass. Mart.

Tūnĭcŭla, æ ; f. dim. Plin. χιτώνιον. A little coat, a petticoat, a smicket, a tunicle, as of the eye.

Tunsim ; adv. Bud. Bruised in pieces.

Tunsus, a, um ; part. Vir. Beaten, threshed.

Tuopte ingenio, Plaut. pro syllabica adjectio. Of your own head.

Tuor, ēris, tūtus vel tuitus ; dep. Vir. ἀπτίζομαι, βλέπω. To look, to behold or view. Vid. Tueor.

† Tuor, ōris ; m. Apul. Sight, beholding, looking.

Tūrārius, ii ; m. Cornut. A sewer of frankincense. vid. Thus.

TURBA, æ ; Cic. à gr. τυρβὴ, vel à θόρυβος. ὄχλος, πλῆθος. המון. A multitude, a throng, a swarm, a rabble or rout : also trouble, ταραχὴ, bustle, debate, businesses, &c. Also divers kinds, Plin. & Turba, sing. multitudo ; Turbæ, plur. perturbatio, strepitus. = Rixa, confusio, colluvies, Cic.

Tur-

Turbāmentum, ti; n. Tac. ταραχμὸς, ταραχμάτιον. Trouble, mutiny.

† Turbassit; ant. pro Turbaverit, Cic.

Turbātè; adv. Cæs. ταραχμένως, θορυβωδῶς. With trouble and disorder.

Turbātor, ōris; m. verb. Liv. ταραχτὴς. A troubler or disturber, a disquieter, a mutineer.

† Turbātum; n, subst. G. ex. Tac. A trouble or commotion.

Turbātur; imperf. Vir. turbatum est, Ter. There is a bustle or hurly burly.

Turbātus, a, um; part. ταραχθεὶς. Troubled, disturbed, disordered, ruffled.

Turbēla, æ; f. Plaut. Trouble.

Turbella, æ; f. dim. Apul. ταραχίδιον. A little trouble, a bustle or stir, as in a market or fair.

† Turben, antiqu. pro Turbo, ĭnis.

Turbidè; adv. Cic. θορυβωδῶς. With trouble.

Turbĭdior, us; comp. Ovid. More troublous.

Turbĭdissĭmus, a, um; superl. Quint.

Turbĭdŭlus, a, um; dim. Prud. Somewhat troublous.

Turbĭdus, a, um; Cic. θορυβώδης, ὀχληρὸς, ταραχώδης. נִעְכָּר Troublous, troublesome; troubled, muddy, thick, foggy. = Inquinatus, Cic. ☞ Tranquillus, Id.

Turbinātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. γύμβωσις. The fashioning of a thing broad above, and small beneath like a top.

Turbĭnātior, us; comp. Plin. More like a top.

Turbinātus, a, um; part. Plin. δινωτὸς, σφαιροειδὴς, κωνοειδὴς. Copped, made like a top, broad above, and small beneath.

Turbĭneus, a, um; Ovid. σφαιροειδὴς. Of or belonging to a storm and blustering wind; whirling round.

Turbĭno, as; act. δινηλατέω. To make round and sharp like a top.

Turbo, as; act. Liv. à Turba; vel à ταράσσω teneo. ταράττω, συγχέω. בְּהַל To trouble, disturb, disorder, imbroil or confound.

Turbor, āris; pass. Cic.

Turbo, ĭnis; m. Ventus omnia deturbans & involvens; fort. à τύφω, inserto r. it. Trochus, quòd in modum turbinis vertitur. A whirl-wind, ταυρὼν. a storm or boisterous wind; סַעַר. trouble and danger, Catull. fury, rage or giddiness of spirit, Ovid. a whirl-pool, Stat. the roundle or winding of a Serpent, Sil. A top, gigg or nun that boys play with, Vir. βέμβιξ. a whirl-gigg; Tibul. τροχίλος, a wheel that Magicians use, Hor. βόμβος. the rundle or ball upon the top or chapter of a pillar, Plin. a bird called a wrineck, Hermol. a wood-pecker, a specht, Jun. A fish called a welk or wrinkle, Id. a stil or stillitory, a limbeck, Id. Also any thing that is broad above, and sharp beneath, like a top, κῶν.

Turbŭla, æ; f. dim. Apul. A little press or throng of people.

Turbŭlentè; adv. Cic. θορυβωδῶς. Troublously, with trouble.

Turbŭlenter; adv. Cic. idem.

Turbŭlentior, us; comp. Liv.

Turbulentissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cic.

† Turbulento, as; Apul. διαθορυβέω. To trouble, to disturb.

Turbŭlentus, a, um; Cic. θορυβώδης, ταραχώδης, ὀχληρὸς. הֹמָה Troublesome, seditious, mutinous, turbulent: also muddy, Phæd. = Seditiosus, Cic. ☞ Placatus, Id.

† Turbystum; Plin. A kind of drug, that makes wool in dying take the colour.

Turcĭcus, a, um. Turkish, of Turky.

Turda, æ; f. Solers turdarum nosse salivam, Pers. uti Casaub. leg. A thrush.

† Turdālium; n. Var. id. quod

Turdārium, ii; n. Var. κιχλοτροφεῖον. A place where thrushes are kept to be fatted.

† Turdēlix; f. Var. A little thrush.

† Turdētānus, i; m. Plaut. A Cater or Cook for Blackbirds or Thrushes.

Turdillus, li; m. dim. Sen. à

Turdŭlus, li; m. Plin. dim. à Turdus, κιχλάριον. A little black-bird or thrush.

Turdus, di; m. Her. avis, à tarditate; hyemis enim confinio se refert; vel quòd tardè volat: vel quià surdam; κωφότερον κίχλης, Prov. Piscis, dict. à colore turdi avis. κίχλη, κίχλα. A thrush, a Throssel or Mavis, an Ouzel or Black-bird: also a fish living among stones and rocks like a Tench, Plin.

Turĕus, a, um; Vid. Thureus.

Turgens; part. Ovid. Swelling.

TURGEO, es, si, ēre; neut. Vir. à ταραχὴ. M. an per metath. à τρυχὼ, f. 2. τρυχῶ Ion. τρυγάω. To swell, to puff up. Cum Dat. Plaut. To be angry at one.

Turgesco, is, ĕre; inc. Plin. διϊδίσκω, ὀγκόομαι. צָבָה To swell up, to burgeon and wax big, to swell for anger.

Turgĭdè; adv. Apul. After a swelling manner.

Turgĭdŭlus, a, um; dim. Cat. ὀγκωδέστερος. Somewhat swoln, or blown up.

Turgĭdus, a, um; Cic. ὀγκώδης, ἐξογκος. Swollen, puffed up, strouting, bumping, Hor. blubber'd, Plaut.

Turibulum, Turicremus, Turifer, Turilegus. vid. Thus.

† Turĭo, ōnis; m. Col. à Tyro, onis; vel à Tener, qu. tenerio. The tendrel or young branch of a tree.

Turma, æ; f. Cic. ἴλη, ἴλαμος, τὸ εἶδος. גְּדוֹד quasi terima, Fest. qu. terma, e in u abit; quòd terdeni equites ex tribus tribubus, Tatiensium, Ramnium, & Lucerum fiebant, Var. Turma, τύρμος. rotunditas, ut cohors, quia cohortes villaticæ rotundæ: à Turbo, vel à Θορυβέω i tumultuor, Cath. A troup, a company of horse-men thirty or more. ☞ Turma, equitum; Centuria, peditum, Veg.

Turmālè; adv. Bellicùm; Turmalè fremit, Stat. Warlike.

Turmāles, ium; m. pl. Liv. Those of the same troup.

Turmālis, le; Claud. Of or belonging to a troup, or troupers and horse-men, Cic.

Turmātim; adv. Cæs. κατὰ ἴλας, ἰλαδὸν. By troups or bands.

Turpè; adv. Plaut. αἰσχρῶς. Filthily.

† Turpeo, es; antiq. To be foul. R.

Turpesco, is, ĕre; To wax foul.

Turpicŭlus, a, um; dim. à Turpis; Cic. ὑπαισχρός. Somewhat filthy.

† Turpifĭco, as; unde part. Turpificatus, a, um; Cic. μολυνθεὶς. Made filthy, soiled.

† Turpilŏquor; Plaut. To speak filthily.

† Turpilūcrĭcŭpĭdus, a, um; Plaut. αἰσχροκερδὴς. Covetous of dishoneſt gain.

Turpior, us; comp. Ovid. More filthy and base.

TURPIS, pe; adj. Cic. αἰσχρὸς, δυσειδὴς. טָמֵא רַע: dict. quòd sicut informis to pcæ; Pap. à τρέπω verto; vel à τύρβη, M. an ab heb. טָנַף inquinavit, n in r mutato. Filthy, dishoneſt, uncleân, foul, shameful, base, ugly, nasty. = Fœdus, sordidus, inhonestus, infamis, Cic.

Turpissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most base.

Turpĭter; adv. Cæs. αἰσχρῶς, δυσειδῶς. Shamefully, dishoneſtly, filthily, basely, dishonourably. = Flagitiosè, nequiter, Cic.

Turpĭtūdo, ĭnis; f. Cic. αἰσχύνη, τὸ αἰσχρόν. Dishoneſty, baseneſs, ugliness, shamefulneſs. = Deformitas, Cic.

Turpĭus; adv. comp. Ovid. More shamefully.

Turpo, as; act. Cic. αἰσχύνω, βωπαίσσω. טָמֵא. To defile, to beray, to disfigure or deface, to disgrace or disparage.

Turpor, āris; pass. Vir.

Turrĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Turris; Mart. πυργίον, πυργίσκος. A little tower: also a box to throw dice out of.

Turrĭfer, a, um; Ovid. πυργοφόρος. That beareth a tower.

Turriger, ĕra, ĕrum; Vir. idem.

TURRIS, is; f. πύργος. מִגְדָּל. à gr. τύρσις, idque à Syr. Tur, ab heb. צוּר. à Chald. טוּרָא palatium: al. à terendis hostibus. A tower, or any thing like it; a turret. Turris ambulatoria, Veget. A wooden turret, to go upon wheels, used in besieging towns.

Turritus, a, um; Vir. ἐπύργος. Towred, turreted, or full of Towers: also high as a tower; that carrieth turrets on his back.

Tursio, ōnis; m. Plin. φώκαινα. quid si à turgeo, tursi, ob turgidam molem? al. Tirsio, Tyrsio, Thursio, Thyrsio, θύρσιον. A fish like a dolphin; some take it for a Sturgeon, others for a Porpoise.

Turtur, ŭris; m. Cic. τρυγὼν, Heb. תּוֹר, quo geminato fit tur-tur. A bird called a Turtle: also a fish, as some think a Trout.

† Turturilla, æ, vel ut al. leg. Turturillus, i; m. Sen. Ep. 96. A coward, a hen-hearted fellow.

Tŭrunda, æ; f. Var. μάζα, ψωμὸς. dict. quia rotunda; rect. à terendo, ofta trita, & subacta manibus: al. à τυρὸς caseus, in Acc. τυρῶντα, quòd fieret primùm fortean ex caseo. A pellet of bread, dough or paste, wherewith capons are crammed: also a tent which Surgeons put into wounds, Cato.

† Turundi; pl. Marc. Emp. Suppositories.

† Tus, turis; n. qu. à tusis glebis dict. sed est à θύω. vid. Thus.

† Tuscānicum; n. Var. locus in ædibus cavatus, quem morem à Tuscis Romani acceperunt, unde nomen.

Tuscŭlum, i; n. vid. Thusculum.

† Tussēdo, ĭnis; f. Apul. A burst in breasts.

Tussĭcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Tussis; Plin. jun. βήχιον. A little cough.

Tussĭcus, a, um; Firm. Subject to cough.

Tussĭcŭlāris, re; Tussicularis herba, Cæl. Aur. Colts-foot.

Tussĭlāgo, ĭnis; f. Plin. dict. quod fumus ejus per arundinem haustus tussim, quantumvis veterem sanare dicitur. βήχιον. An herb good for the cough, called tole-foot, or colts-foot.

Tussio, is, ivi, ire; Hor. βήττω. To cough.

Tussis, is; f. Ter. βῆξ. ab heb. צְטוּשׁל sternutatio; al. à Tundo tusum, quia tun-

Tutus, a, um; pars. à Tueor. Cic. Safe, secure, defended, safeguarded, protected.

† Tūtēlārium, ii; n. Prud. A place of refuge or safety.

Tūtāmen, ĭnis; v. Virg. Protection, defence, safeguard or protection.

Tūtāmentum, i; n. Liv. Idem.

Tutandus, a, um; part. To be defended.

Tutanus, Deus, Roma tutor contra Hannibalem. Non.

Tūtē; adv. ad Heren. Safely.

Tūtē, pron. comp. ov. Amor. Thou by thy self, thou thine own self.

Tūtēla, æ; f. Cic. à Tueor. Defence, protection, patronage; also, the office, charge. Wardship, Guardianship; custody of a child in nonage: also a fence or hedge about a ground, Var. the keeping (of houses) in repair, Plin. also a spout in the prow or stem of a ship, from which she hath her name, Sen.

Tūtēlāris, re; Ulp. Tutelar, tutelary. Of or belonging to a guardian, or to the custody of a ward. Tutelare dii, Macr. Tutelar Gods, Guardian Angels.

Tūtēlārius, ii; m. Plin. Tutelar. He that hath the custody or keeping of goods in temples or publick houses, a warden.

† Tūtēlātor, ōris; m. Dii tutelatores, Arnob. A Protector or Guardian.

† Tūtēlīna, vel Tutilina, æ; f. Non. The goddess that hath the tuition of corn.

† Tūtēmet; Lucret. Thou thy self.

Tutia, æ; Offic. Tutty.

Tūtior, us; comp. Ovid. More safe or sure.

Tūtissĭmē; adv. superl. Pomp. Most safely.

Tūtissĭmus, a, um; superl. Cæs. Very safe.

† Tūto, as; act. freq. Plaut. ἀσφαλίζω. To defend.

Tūtor, āris; dep. à Tueor; Cic. ἀμύνω, φρούρημι. To defend and keep safe.

Tūtor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. Βάτηγ-Θ, φρουρός, καλιάς. A tutor, a defender, he that hath the tuition of a ward, a Guardian.

Tūtōrius, a, um; φρουρικός. Of or belonging to a guardian, or tutor.

Tūtŭlātus; Var. indutus tutulo.

Tūtŭlus, li; m. Fest. à tuendo capite: κόμμβ Θ. Suggestum come, Stat. The top of the hair, wound with a purple lace, on the crown of the head, used only by the high Priests wife, to distinguish her from other women: also a womans Roll, Var. the peak or tuft of a priests cap, Id. also a tower, Id. ἀκροτόλιε. à turella, dict.

Tūtus, a, um; Cic. à Tueor: ἀσφαλής, εἰσόδων Θ. Safe, out of danger, secure.

Tutus à calore, Cic. ad omnes ictus, Liv. adversus pericula, Cæs.

Tuus, a, um; à Tu, τύ Θ, tuus: σός. Thine, thine own.

Tympănum; i; n. Plin. τύμπανον, à τύπτω. A tymbrel, taber or drum, Hor. Also a water-mill wheel, Vitr. The compass of a cart-wheel, that keeps all the spokes fast, Vir. or the covering of a wagon or cart, Serv. A pearl that is round bore, and plain or flat there, a bell-pearl, Plin. A certain fashion of platters or broad vessels, Id. the pannel of a pillar or gate, Jun. also an engin to bear up buildings. Tympanum versatile, Vitr. The great wheel of a crane, wherewith they lift up any weight, Lucr.

† Typanum, id. quod Tympanum, Cat.

* Typha; f. Jun. τύφη. Typh-wheat, a corn much like our Rie. Typha aquatica, Offic. Water-torch, cats-tail, reed-mace.

* Typhon, ōnis; m. Amm. τυφών, à τύφω fumum excito, turbo. ΤΥΦ. A violent whirl-wind, a Hurricane: also a fiery impression in the air.

* Typhos, i; m. Ser. Sam. τύφ Θ. A windy puffing up or swelling.

* Typhus, i; m. Arn. τύφ Θ, fumus, Arrogance and pride.

Typicè; adv. τυπικῶς. Typically.

* Typicus, a, um; τυπικός. Typical, mystical, figurative.

* Typographia, æ; f. τυπογραφία. Printing, a printing-house, the printers trade.

Typographus, phi; m. τυπογράφ Θ, ὁ τύπος γράφων, qui typis pingit. A Printer.

Typus, pi; m. τύπ Θ, à τύπτω, nota quilibet impressa. ΤΥΠ. Egypt or figure, an example, form, or likeness, a shadow of a thing, a pattern, mould, sample, scheme, platter.

Tyrannicè; Cic. Cruelly, tyrannically, like a tyrant.

Tyrannicida, æ; c. g. Plin. qui tyrannum occidit; τυραννοκτόν Θ. The killer of a Tyrant.

Tyrannicidium, ii; n. Quint. τυραννοκτονία. The murther of a tyrant.

Tyrannĭcus, a, um; τυραννικός. Tyrannous, cruel, tyrannical. = Crudelis, nefarius, Cic.

* Tyrannis, ĭdis; f. Cic. τυραννίς. Tyranny, usurpation.

* Tyrannocthŏnus, i; m. Cic. τυραννοκτόν Θ. The killer or murtherer of a tyrant.

Tyrannus, ni; m. τύραν Θ. A tyrant or cruel governour: also an Usurper: in old time it was used in good part for a King: also a bird called of some a Murderer, for its cruelty to other birds.

Tyrianthĭnus, a, um; Mart. τυριάνθ Θ. color qui resultat ex ianthino, h. e. violaceo, rursus Tyrio purpurâ inebriato. Of a bright violet purple colour.

Tyrius, a, um; Of the citie Tyre, where the best purple was dyed. Tyrius color, Perot. Purple colour. Tyrius torus, Catul. Purpurâ Tyriâ instratus.

Tyro, ōnis; m. Cic. πρωτόστρατος, φρούτηρ Θ. A fresh-water-souldier, a young beginner, a novice, an Apprentice. vid. Tiro.

Tyrōcinium, ii; n. Cic. φρουτηρεία. The first exercise in any thing, an apprentiship: a first beginning, a Lawyers first calling to the bar, Suet. Also rawness, want of experience: the first proof or trial, Plin.

* Tyrocnestis; f. Jun. τυρόκνηστις, ex τυρὸς & κνάω. lat. Radula. A grater for cheese, bread, spice, &c.

* Tyrographus, a, um; Catul. Embroidered with purple.

* Tyrotarichus; m. Cic. τυρόταριχ Θ. ex τυρὸς caseus, & τάριχ Θ salsamentum. A kind of meat made of powdred flesh and cheese; an old cheese full of mites.

Tyrrhēna vincula, Vir. i. e. Fasciæ crurales. Garters.

Tyrrhenicum sandalium, Jun. A kind of slipper or pantofle peculiar to the Italians and Spaniards.

Tyrsio, ōnis; m. Plin. θύρσιον. A porpoise: Vide Tursio.

Tyruncŭla canis, Col. A young bitch not used to whelps, or not yet well trained.

Tyruncŭlus, li; m. dim. à Tyro, Juv. φρουτηρίσκος, φρουτηρ Θ. A very young souldier, scholar or beginner.

V, υ. U, u. gr. Υ, υ. heb. ו. Ang. W, w, u. geminam habet cùm potestatem tum figuram Latinè, sicut & I, cùm sit aliàs vocalis, aliàs consonans: quâ in re prævivere nobis viam Hebræi, qui consonas istas ו & ו identidem adigant ad servile punctorum vocalium obsequium; ut ו sonet i vel ו autem u vel o, pro ratione puncti appressi vel impressi. Etiam diphthongos efformant, quod & Latini faciunt, ai, au, ei, eu; oi & quæ Latinè desideratur u græcè. Sanè Græci hæc duo elementa ademptо consonantium jure meras esse vocales voluerunt. De V consonâ primùm dicam, quam distinctionis gratiâ Hebraico nomine Vau indigitârunt veteres, Fabio teste. Quidni? cùm & Græci, quanquam non admiserint in literarum numerum, tamen inter ἀτίσημα retentam appellitârint Βαῦ. Tria sunt istiusmodi σήσημα, quæ dixi, in Alphabetum Græcorum numerale recepta, utut Alphabeto literario exclusa, in singulis ordinibus singula. In monadibus βαῦ, ς heb. ו 6. in denariis κόππα, 90. heb. ק, 100. quòd Græci omissum hoc ϝ in centenarios inseruerint, nimirum σάμπι, heb. ץ 900. Hebræis ו, quæ unica est dictio à ו incipiens, Vau, i. e. uncinus capitatus dicitur. Græci mirificè inverso capite dextrorsum & incurvato corpore, quod erat rectilineum, cum compendio τῦ σ & τ confuderunt. V consoni est in primo ordine mutarum, & uti f aspirat tenuem p, sic v aspiratio est mediæ b, ut idem sit quod b raphatum, v. g. אבות avus, &c. quamvis Priscianus f digamma & u olim eandem vim habuisse affirmet. Concedo idem nonnunquam officium præstitisse, sive præpositum vocibus à vocali incipientibus, ut ἓς vis, ἦρ contractè ex ἔαρ ver, ἑσπέρα vespera; sive interpositum mediis, ut ὠϝὸν ovum, ὄϝις ovis, δῖος divus, ἀργεῖος Argivus, ubi omninò pro digammâ ponitur. Censeo tamen magnis rationibus adductus, priscos Romanos v consonam non aliter ferè proferre solitos, quàm nos hodie pronunciamus w. Unam atque alteram rationem adfero; quòd græcè scribentes sæpe per u expresserint; ut Virgilius Οὐεργίλιος, Valens Οὐάλης, &c. quòd & Latina provincialis constanter penè pro v reponat w; ut vastо, waſt; vena, ween; vinum, wine; vidua, widow; & sexcenta istiusce modi alia. Dicunt v post g, q & s literæ vim amittere; ut quis, sanguis, suadeo: sed dicunt tantùm. Liquescit, fateor, ut ita dicam, in amplexu, sed ita ut etiam firmet pronunciationem; ut à lingo lingua. Quòd positionem non faciat, nihil est, cùm & duæ mutæ gd in Smaragdus apud Martialem non faciant. At quod Scioppius voluit esse vocalem & novas constituere diphthongos, ua, ue, ui, uo, uu, & triphthongos etiam, id nullius, quod sciam, Grammatici hactenus meruit assensum. Ipsa refolutio ostendit non esse ex sese vocalem, ut cùm Lucretius acuam pro aquam dicat, & ex communi poëtarum usu suâda suêsco pro svada svesco dicatur. V præcedit quasvis vocales; ut vado, venio, video, votum, vultus. In diversis syllabis lubens sequitur l & r; ut alvus, arvum; ita ut, ubi Græcè deest, Latinè addatur; ut à καλὲς calvus, à παῦρον parvum, nam & inde parum dicebatur. Rursum sæpè abjicitur v in præteritis verborum, in derivatis nonnullis, ut labrum pro lavabrum à lavo, ut flabrum à flo: & in compositis plerisque à versum. Mutatur v in mutas sui ordinis, b putà & p; (nam de f superiùs diximus:) v. g. Betonica à Vettonibus Hispaniæ populo, dubius qu. divius, דיוך Δαβὶδ, & opilio, qu. ovilio. Vicissim hæ in illam; ut βάδω (unde βαδίζω) vado, ὄροβον ervum, taberna tavern: à πατρικὸς vitricus, præpositus provoſt, sapor savour; φάτις vates, φαῦλος vilis: a wife, to wive. Illud rarius, χ in ipsum mutari; ut βραχὺς brevis, μαλάχη malva, ubi v omninò pro spiritu ponitur; item ipsum mutari in m, ut in promulgo, Festo judice; nec id injuriâ, cùm sit utraque labialis. u vocalis figuram sumpsit à Græcorum minusculâ υ, fundo in angulos depresso; sicuti V consona formata est ex majusculâ Y, scapo furcæ reciso. Est autem figura ista ipsius soni index; quippe qui productus coëuntibus labellis, uti canit Terentianus Scaurus, vel, ut eum explicat Martianus Capella, ore constricto labiisque prominulis exhibeatur. Porrò ut βῆς βῆν ovium, ità tu tu noctuarum vox est; quod observat Plautus. Cum cæteris vocalibus varia agitat commercia; ut & hæc in illas, illæ pariter in hanc transeant: u in a; κύλιξ calix, μυδάω madeo, cura care. u in e; ἶβυξ ibex, ῥωμυλὸς remulcus, augur antiquis auger, à juro dejero, ulmus elm. u in i; φύω fio, φρύγω frigo, caput capitis, famulus familia, exul exilium, à cornu cornicen, puteus pit. u in o; νὺξ nox, μύλη mola, soboles pro suboles, volgus pro vulgus, ebur eboris, guberno govern. Olim quidem u multis Italiæ populis in usu non fuisse, sed o monet Priscianus. Econtrà, a in u; Ἑκάβη Hecuba, κάλαμος culmus, à calco conculco, à falsus insulsus, à taberna contubernium, centum asses centussis. e in u; νεφέλη nebula, σκοπελὸς scopulus, Βρεντήσιον Brundusium, idque maximè in gerundivis, ut repetundæ. i in u; διπλοῦς duplus, libens lubens, à recipio recupero, à dies biduum, præsertim in superlativis, ut optumus, maxumus. o in u; βολβὸς bulbus, φῶς fur, ὠλένη ulna, ab amoliendo amuletum, à colo occulo. Item diphthongi huc commigrant; ai in u; φαιὸς diminutivè φαίσκος fuscus, à cædo cudo, au in u; rudis subst. ab antiquo raudus, à claudo occludo, à fraudo defrudo. oi in u; φοινικοῦς puniceus. oi in u; à mœri muri, à pœna punio, à Pœni Punicus, olim œtor pòst utor. u in u; μοῦσα musa, εὐνοῦχος eunuchus. Quid quod b etiam in u mutetur? ut ῥάβδος raudus priscis pòst rudis pro virgâ, ex ab & fero auſero, ex ab & fugio aufugio. Illud saltem non erat tacendum, v consonam & u vocalem sibi mutuò operam præstare; nam ut favi fautum, solvi solutum, auceps pro aviceps, ita gaudeo gavisus, ναύτης nauta navita. Quòd Horatius sylvæ, & Catullus solvit τεισυλλάβως dixerit, eam Dieresin vocant Grammatici. u aliquando inseritur per Epenthesin, ut Ἀσκληπιὸς Æsculapius, Ἀλκμήνη Alcumena; frequentiùs ejicitur, ut vinclum, seclum, hercle, tablinum. v̄ in numeris notat quinque, quòd esset quinta vocalis, prout conjicit Quintilianus: verùm non vocalis u sed consona V est quinarii nota. Puto potiùs hinc factum, quòd esset dimidia pars τῦ χ, i. denarii; vel quòd ea esset figura quincuncis, in hunc modum ⸬, & conjunctis mox punctis V.

V ante A.

VAcans, tis; part. Cic. κολάζων, κολάζων. Vacant, free, that is at leisure, that hath nothing to do; void, Vir.

Văcanter; adv. Gell. κολαίως. At leisure, with leisure enough, leisurely, idly, vainly, to no purpose.

Văcat, imperf. cum Dat. ἰσχολᾶς ἔχω. I am at leisure.

Văcātim; adv. Plaut. Leisurely.

Văcātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. χαλή. רפיון. Vacation, leisure, exemption, immunity, dispensation, a discharge.

Vacca, æ ; f. Cic. ab heb. בקר : quasi bovacca, ex bove. Ilid. ἀπὸ τοῦ βοὸς βουκλάκκα. פרה. A Cow : also a little horse, Czl. a tit.

Vaccāria, æ ; f. The herb Cow-basil.

Vaccārius, rii ; m. Col. A Cow-herd.

Vaccinium, nii ; n. Vir. à Vacca : al. à Bacca, qu. baccinia, quòd sit baccatus flos vel fructus. al. à gr. βάκκα & βάκτρα dicunt ; i. rubi vel sentis humilis mora : ex μαύρου Serv. A black-berry, a bil-berry, hurtle-berryes ; a violent flowers Serv. a shrub, wherewith they dyed purple in France, Plin.

Vaccinus, a, um ; Plin. βόειος & βοϊκός. Of or belonging to a Cow. Vaccina fames, Czl. βουλιμία. Extreme hunger.

Vaccula, æ ; f. dim. Vir. βόϊδιον, δάμαλις. A little cow, an heifer.

†Văcĕfăcio, is, ĕre ; Lucr. To make empty.

†Văcĕfio, is ; Lucr. To be made empty.

Văcerra, æ ; f. Col. à distortione labrorum pè vocantur ligna ; Vacerra, Varrus. Nam utrumque à distortione crurum hominis. Notum quid sit Vacia, notum quid sit Vari : hæc Scal. al. quasi vacans unci id est, corde : κλεῖθρον, ζύλον, πάσσαλος. מוט. A rail of timber : also a post or teader, whereunto Horses are tyed in a stable : also a cross fool, a mad coxcomb, Fest.

Văcerrōsus, a, um ; Suet. Doltish, simple, coxcombly : also lazy, shackle-hamm'd.

† Văcesco, is, ĕre ; Lucr. To grow empty.

Văcillans, tis ; part. Wagling, waving, unsteady. Vacillantes literæ, Cic. Written with a hand that shakes.

Văcillātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Quint. παραφορά. A wagging or wavering ; loosenesse, inconstancy, staggering, jogging.

Văcillo, as ; neut. Cic. παραφέρομαι. שטר. à Vaco ; Perot. qu. bacillo ; dictum à fembus se baculo allevantibus, & sustinentibus scipione, Non. To stagger or reel, to shake, to waver, to be loose or unsteady ; to joggle, to waggle, to be at see-saw.

Văcinia, æ ; f. Plin. A kind of tree that grows in watery places.

Văcinium, ii ; n. Vir. ὑακίνθος. The flower of the herb Hyachinthus or Crowtoes. Vid. Vaccinium.

Văcivitas, ātis ; f. Vacivitas cibi, Plaut. Emptinesse or being without meat.

Văcivus, a, um ; Empty, void, idle, at leisure, ἄνεσις & Gl. Plaut. Houses that stand empty without a tenant. Vacivæ manicæ, Salm. Hanging sleeves.

VĂCO as ; neut. ex Cavo, per Metathesin ; nam quæ cava vacua dicta : à בקק vacavit, Aven. To be empty or void, to be free or clear from a thing ; Cum Abl. & præp. à vel ab ; vel sine præp. ut Vacare culpâ, Cic. à culpâ, Sen. To be without fault. ◊ To be at leasure, to be idle and have nothing to do. σχολάζω. שקר. Cum Dat. ἐνδιατείβω. To mind or study a thing, to apply himself and take pains about it. Vacare philosophiæ, Cic. in aliquod opus, Ovid.

Văcŭĕfăcio, is ; Val. M. κενόω. To empty, to make clear.

Văcŭĕfactus, a, um ; part. Emptied, Apul. freed, Val. M.

Văcuissimus, a, um ; superl. Ovid. That is very much at leisure.

Văcuĭtas, ātis ; f. Cic. בוקה. κένωσις. ריק. Emptinesse, cleanness or freedom from a thing.

Văcŭna, vacantium dea, Turneb.

Văcuo, as ; act. Col. הֵרִיק. To empty, to make void or empty.

Văcuum, i ; n. τὸ κενόν. Emptinesse, a void place.

Văcuus, a, um ; à Vaco : κενός, ἐρημος. רק. Void, empty ; without a thing ; quiet and free ; at leisure, having nothing to do. Vacuus periculo, Tac. vitium, Plaut. à curâ, Cic. ◊ Vacuus aër, Vir. A free open air ; equus, Liv. A leer horse ; nummus, Scæv. Money that lies idle and brings in no interest. Vacuum tempus, Luc. Spare-time, leisure ; prædium, Cic. An estate without an owner. = Expers, solutus, liber, Cic.

Vădātus, a, um ; obstrictus, & sub fide aut fidejussione ambulans ; Fulg. ex Fest. Going under suretie.

Vădens ; part. Liv. Going.

Vădimōnium ; ii ; n. à vadibus, i, sponsoribus. ὑποδοχή, ὑπόσπονδος, ἀναδοχή. חטרובה. A promise or bond of appearance before a Judge at the day appointed, a Recognisance ; a day of appearance. Vadimonium deferre, Cic. To make a default, not to appear in court, to forfeit his recognisance ; facere, Lucr. To run in debt.

†Vădis, is ; m. ant. per Sync. Vas, Var.

VADO, is, ĕre ; si, sum ; neut. Cic. à βαίνω, unde βαδίζω. Al. qu. viæ me do : βάσις, βαδίζω, φοιτάω, ἐρέμω. הלך. To go, to return as a river doth, Plin. ◊ Hinc Angl. To wade or fade.

Vădo, as ; Solin. per vadum tranco ; διαπορεύω. To wade, to wade over, to ford over.

Vădor, āris ; dep. To put in sureties for appearance ; to give bail, to pass his word. Vadari aliquem, Cic. To assign one a day of appearance personal.

Vădōsus, a, um ; Czl. πολύβαθος. Full of foords or shallow places.

Vădum, di ; n. dict. quòd per id tutò vadere licet ; Perot. מעבר. Vada ; τὰ βεκτία. A foord or shallow place, where one may go over on foot ; the Sea, Poët. also a bottom, Plin. ◊ Res est in vado, Ter. The business is safe, out of danger.

Væ ; interj. Vir. cum Dat. οὐαί vel הוי. Woe to, or Fy upon. Al. scrib. Væ.

Văneo, is, ire ; Cic. à Venio ; nam quæ væneunt, in alterius possessionem veniunt. Rect. ab ano. To be sold. vid. Veneo.

VĂFER, ra, rum ; qu. ve, i. valde Afer ; à calliditate Afrorum ; al. à Berecynthia, vel βαφὴ color fucatus : hinc dict. vafer, quòd fucum faciat, & alienum colorem rebus inducat : πανοῦργος, πανοῦργος. ערום. Crafty, wily, cunning, sly. = Versutus, astutus, callidus, Cic. ☞ Apertus, simplex, ingenuus, Id.

Văfrāmentum, ti ; n. Val. M. πανοῦργημα. A subtile device or craft, a wile, a cunning fetch, a quirk.

Văfrē ; adv. Cic. πανούργως. Craftily.

Văfrĭtia, æ ; & ēs, ēi ; f. πανουργία. Craftiness, slyness.

Văgābundus, a, um ; Sen. ἀλήτης, ἀδεκλατόρευτος. That wandreth about, a vagabond.

Vāgans, tis ; part. Hor. ἀδεσμεύτως. Wandring, vagrant.

Vāgātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Liv. πλάνη. A straying, a wandering, straggling, strolling or roving about.

Văgē ; adv. Liv. παρεκβάλλω, πλανητικῶς. Wandringly, scatteringly, vagrantly, at random.

Vāgina, æ ; f. Vir. dict. quasi bivagina, quòd in eo gladius bajuletur, Isid. qu. vacina, à vacuitate, M. fort. à vagiendo, quòd quasi vagitum edat, dum stringitur gladius. κολεὸς sive κωλεός, ξιφοθήκη. נדן. A scabbard, a sheath, a case : the hose or rod of corn, Cic. Item pudendum muliebre, Plaut.

Văginārius, & Vaginator ; m. Vitr. A sheath-maker.

†Văginianus, deus infantium.

Văginipennis, e ; Jun. That hath its wings closed, as it were in sheaths or cases, as the beetle hath.

†Văgino, as ; antiq. To sheath.

Văgĭtŭla, æ ; f. dim. Plin. κωλεάριον, κωλεάριον. A little sheath or scabbard, a little hose or rod of corn.

VĂGIO, is, ire ; ivi, itum ; neut. Cic. à βαβάζω. נבח. vel ex sono vocis. An ab ἀχὼ sono, Dor. ἀγὼ. To cry as a child or infant, to squeak as a Hair doth.

Vāgito, as ; freq. Stat. To cry often or squawl, as children do.

Vāgitus, ûs ; m. verb. Vir. βαβαξμός. נבו. The crying of young children, or of a patient under the Chirurgions hand, Cels.

†Vāgo, as ; Plaut. id. quod Vagor.

Vāgor, āris ; dep. Cic. qu. ve, i. valdè vagor, i. agitor, Bec. πλανᾶσθαι, ἀδεσμεύομαι, ἀλάομαι. נדד. To wander, to stray or straggle ; to go from side to side, to gad or rove up and down. Terras vagari, Propert. &, Vagari foro, in foro, per agros, Cic. ◊ Vagatur animus, Id. His mind's a meal-gathering.

†Vāgor, ōris ; m. Lucr. The cry or squawling of children.

†Vāgŭlæ precatoriæ, Med. Gr. Beads.

†Vāgŭlātio, ōnis ; f. inf. rr. Tabb. signif. quæstionem cum convicio. Fest. à Vagio. A complaining or railing upon. Vid. Valgulatio.

VĂGUS, a, um ; (ă) dict. quòd vacuus & sine negotio agatur, Perot. vel quòd vivagatur. πλανώμενος, ἀδεσμεύτως. נע ונד. Wandring, unconstant, fluttering, moving up and down, never standing still, running at random. = Volubilis, errans, Cic. ☞ Certus, stabilis, Id.

Vah, interj. admir. Ter. ex Hebr. הואה : ita scribi Basil. Hoida I marry must.

Vāha, interj. exultantis ; Plaut. Ha ha ! ho brave Boys !

Valde ; adv. Cic. contr. ex validè. Ἰσόδυναμον ἐστὶ τῷ λίαν, πολλά. מאד. Very much, greatly, earnestly.

Valdius, adv. comp. Hor. μᾶλλον ὀρθῶς. Far more.

Vāle, imper. à Valeo, Cic. ἔρρωσο. Farewel, God be with you, Adieu.

Vălĕdico, is, ĕre ; cum Dat. ἔρρωσθαι κελεύω, χαίρειν φράζω. To bid farewel or Adieu, to take his leave of one.

Vălens, tis ; part. & adj. ἰσχυρός, ἰσχυρότατος, ὑγιής. Puissant, mighty, strong, valiant, in good health, of great force. = Robustus, firmus, sanus, Cic. ☞ Infirmus, imbecillis, Id.

Vălenter ; adv. Col. ἰσχυρῶς, ἰσχυρῶς. Strongly, valiantly, puissantly.

Valentia, æ ; f. Solin. ἰσχύς. חזקה. Puissance, might, power, strength.

Valentior, us ; comp. Cic. More strong and powerful, of great force.

Valentissimus, a, um ; superl. Plin. Very powerful and prevalent ; very strong, Cic.

Valentius ; adv. comp. Ovid. More strongly.

† Valentŭlus, a, um ; dim. à Valens, Plaut. Somewhat strong, of some small force.

VALEO, es, ēre ; ŭi, ĭtum ; neut. ἰσχύω, δύναμαι, ὑγιαίνω. עצם. עלה, עלא, Beem. inde Valeo. To be able, to avail, to be of authority, force and power : to may or can, to prevail, to do much : to profit, to serve or be good for ; to be strong, to be in health, ὑγιάζω, ὑγιαίνω. to be worth, to signifie, mean or be as much as ; to be of value. Valere augendæ rei, Gell. alicui ad gloriam ; Cic. pro antidoto Plin. adversùs morbum, Celf. in vulgus, Cic. ◊ Valere apud aliquem gratiâ, Liv. To be in his favour ; plurimùm, Ter. To have a great interest in him. Valere à pecuniâ, Plaut. To have money enough. Ne valeam si non, &c. Mart. May I not live, if &c. ◊ Cùm sign. pretium, regit Abl. Plin. Acc. Var.

Valeria, æ ; f. Jun. à virium valentia. A Saker, a kind of hawk.

Valeriana, æ ; f. Jun. Valerian or great Setwall, an herb.

Valesco, is, ĕre ; incept. Lucr. ὑγιαίνω. To wax strong, to grow well.

Valetudinārium, ii ; n. Col. locus in quo valetudo ægra curatur : νοσοκομεῖον, μαιρεῖον. An Infirmary or hospital for sick folks.

Valetudinārius, a, um ; Cels. qui sæpè adversâ valetudine laborat ; ἀσθενικός, νοσηρός. Sickly ; subject to sickness, often sick. Medicus valetudinarius, Callist. A Physician who attends the sick, a Physician of an Hospital.

Valetūdo, inis ; f. Cic. νόσος, ἀσθένεια, status valentis benè aut malè. מחלה. Health or sickness, ἀρρωστία. Weakness, crazines, distemper, malady, illness. Valetudo novissima, Pl. jun. The sickness one dies of.

† Valētur, impers. Plaut. They are well.

† Valgia, æ ; f. Plaut. The writing of the mouth in mockery.

† Valgio, is, ire ; Plaut. To write the mouth in mockery.

Valgiter, adv. Petron. i, obtortis labris. With a wry mouth.

Valgium, ii ; n. Fulg. A wry mouth : also an instrument to make floors smooth.

† Valgilātio, ōnis ; f. Fest. A question in rebuke of one. V. Vagulatio.

Valgus, a, um ; βλαισός, qui varas suras habet ; ex βάλη, & ἀγκών, vel Valgus qu. falcus, M. Bow-legged, that hath his legs bowed outward, bandy-leg'd, bambling. Valgum suavium, Plaut. A kiss with a wry or poucht-mouth.

Vălidè ; adv. Plaut. ἰσχυρῶς, σφοδρῶς, κραταιῶς. Lustily, stoutly, strongly, much.

Validissimè ; adv. superl. Plin. jun. Very heartily.

Validissimus, a, um ; superl. Tac. Very strong.

Validitas, ātis ; f. Plaut. δύναμις, κράτος. Might, power, lustiness.

Validiùs ; adv. comp. Quint. With more force.

Vălidus, a, um ; à Valeo : ἰσχυρός, κραταιός, ὠφελής. חזק. Strong, valiant, puissant, sturdy, lusty, stout, able, well, in health, Cic. valid. Validus copiis, Tac. virium, Id. ex morbo, Liv. sustinere pondus, Plin.

Valitūrus, a, um ; part. Ovid. That will be of force and strength.

Vallāris, re ; ἐρκεῖος. Of or belonging to a trench or bulwark. Corona vallaris, Liv. That was given to him who first entred the enemies works.

Vallātus, a, um ; part. Cic. Fenced, walled, intrenched, incompassed.

Vallĕcŭla, æ, vel Vallĭcula ; f. dim. Fest. μικρὰ ἄυλαξ. A little valley.

† Vallĕsco, is ; Vallesceit, perierit ; à vallo militari, quod sit circa castra, quòd qui eò ejiciuntur, pro perditis habentur, Fest.

Vallis, is ; f. Vir. à Vallum ; qu. vulsa ; Isid. à βάλλω jacio, dejectus locus, M. an qu. vacuus, quòd sit vacuum spatium inter montes. φάραγξ, κοίλας, αὐλών. עמק. A valley or dale. Alarum vallis, Catul. The armhole, or arm-pit.

Vallo, as ; act. Cic. vallum facio, ἀχόω, χαρακόω, ἀσφαλίζω, περιτειχίζω. בצר. To enclose, to trench about, or intrench ; to fence or fortifie. = Munio, stipo, Cic.

† Vallōnia, Perot. dea, quæ vallibus præest. The Goddess of the valleys.

Vallum, li ; n. ἔρυμα, χάραξ, σκέπασμα. חיל. dim. à Varus, vel à Vanno ; Scal. à Valli, Isid. al. quod ex valli vel varis fieret, quippe Valli fustes sunt, quibus Vallum munitur. A trench, a fence, a wall ; a bulwark or rampire with palisadoes ; sometimes a van, Var. ◊ Vallum pectinis, Ovid. The row of the comb-teeth ; aristatum, Cic. The beard in the ears of corn.

Vallus, i ; m. Vir. dim. à Varus, i, baculus furcillatus & informis ; Scal. al. quòd figatur, & evellatur. κάμαξ, σκέλος. יחד. A palisado ; a long spar of timber, a stake whereunto Vines are bound. Also a stake or post sharpned at one end to be driven into the ground, Jun. ◊ It. dim. à Vannus, Var. A little fan to winnow corn with. λικμός. ◊ It. idem quod Vallum, Cæs. A trench or rampart.

Vălor, ōris ; m. Plin. à Valeo : μισθὸς, τίμημα. Value or price. Hinc Angl. valour.

Valvæ, ārum ; f. plur. Cic. dict. à volvendo, qu. valvæ, Isid. θυρίδες, θύραι ἢ σανίδες, ἀμφίθυρα. דלתים. Doors or gates which shut and open on both sides, folding doors. ✠ Valvæ introrsùm revolvuntur, Foreî foras ; M.

Valvŭlus, li ; m. Col. Valvoli, folliculi fabæ appellati sunt, qu. vallivoli, quia vallo facto ( al. leg. fustibus vel fratti ) excutiantur ; Fest. vel quòd quasi valvis includantur ; λοβὸς. The shell or husk of a bean or pease, or the hollow place in the shell, where the bean lies.

Valvŭlus, i ; m. idem, dim.

Valvus, vi ; m. Col. idem.

Vānè ; adv. εἰκῆ, μάτην. Vainly.

Vānellus, li ; m. Jun. πυγαργός. dict. quòd alis instar vanni aut ventilabri commotis strepitum excitet, qu. Vanellus. A Lap-wing.

Vānesco, is, ĕre ; incep. Cic. ἀφανίζομαι, ματαιοῦμαι, ἐξουθενίζομαι. הבל. To vanish or come to nought.

Vānĭdicus, a, um ; Plaut. ματαιολόγος. בדאי. A vain talker, a liar.

Vānĭlŏquentia, æ ; f. Liv. ματαιολογία. Vain talking, prittle prattle.

† Vānĭlŏquĭtŏrus, ri ; m. Plaut. jocosa dictio. A vain speaker. Al. leg. Vaniloquidorus.

Vānĭlŏquus, a, um ; Plaut. That talketh vainly.

Vānĭtas, ātis ; f. Cic. ματαιότης, κενότης, ψεῦδος. הבל. Vanity, lying, inconstancy, folly, falshood.

† Vanities, ēi ; f. Apul. idem.

† Vānĭtūdo, inis ; f. Plaut. idem.

Vanno, as ; act. Non. λικμάω. זרה. To fan or winnow corn. It. obscœno sensu, Lucil.

Vannus, ni ; Col. λικμός, λικμητήριον, dict. quòd eò vanet, i. levia volant ; al. παρὰ τὸ βάλλειν, à jactatione : idcirco acus à Vasconibus appellatur bâlla, quia succutitur & ventilatur ; Scal. à Volatu, Var. quòd levia, dum jactantur, inde volent. A van or fan to winnow corn with.

† Vāno, as ; Non. ex Lucil. antiq. pro Fallo : ψεύδω. To beguile or deceive.

VANUS, a, um ; ex Ve & Anus unde Inanis ; qu. vehementer anus, i. vacuus ; al. à κενὸς. al. à Vaco, Perot. qu. vacanus ; vel à Vado, ut Vanum sit quod non manet ; vel à φαῦλος, quia apparet id quod non est. μάταιος, κενὸς, ἠλίθιος. רק. Vain, empty, foolish, light, silly, useless, forceless ; false, Vir. = Mendax, Id. perfidiosus, Cic.

Vāpidè, adv. Suet. ἀπαισίως. With an ill smack or savour ; dully.

Vapiditas, ātis ; f. Plaut. Ill-tastedness, mustiness.

Vāpidus, a, um ; ἀπαίσιος. Ill-tasted, musty, rotten ; flat, dull, stinking. Pectus vapidum, Perf.

Vāpor, ōris ; m. Cic. ἀτμὸς, ἀτμὶς. איד. ex Vas i. valdè, & Porus, πῶρος. vel ex Hebr. קטר. omn. ab inus. Vappeo, à Vappa. A vapour, hot breath, reaking or steam : also heat, Col.

Vāpōrārium, rii ; n. Cic. ἀτμηρὸν, καπνοδόχη. A stew or stove, a dry bath to sweat in ; also the funnel of a chimney that lets out the smoak.

Vāpōrātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Plin. ἀτμὶς, ἐξάτμισις. A reaking, steaming or casting of vapours : also a sweating, a perfuming.

Vāpōrātus, a, um ; part. Col. ἐξατμισθείς. Exhaled, dried up with heat : also hot, sultry, Amm.

† Vāpŏreus, a, um ; Arnob. Warm, or that yieldeth warmth.

Vāpōriter, vel Vaporiterus, era, erum ; Stat. ἀτμώδης. That maketh or stirreth up vapours or steams.

Vāpōro, as ; act. & neut. Plin. ἐξατμίζω, ἀναθυμιῶμαι. עשן. To send out vapours, to evaporate, to steam, to be over hot or blasted, Lucr. ◊ Act. To heat or make warm with steam, Plin. to dry up, Col. to perfume, Vir.

Vāpŏror, āris ; pass. Plin.

† Vāpōrōsus, a, um ; Col. Full of vapours.

† Vapōrus, a, um ; ad vaporem pertinens. Vaporus ardor, Prudent. Sultry heat.

Vapos, ōris ; m. Non. V. Vapor.

VAPPA, æ ; f. Hor. ἀκρατίας ; ἐξάτμισις ἀνθρώπου. à Vapore ; quòd ejus vis omnis evaporavit ; vinum fugiens : al. à βάμμα, βάπτω : signif. quicquid non merum

vinum, sed dilutum aliis ; Plaut. Pallet wine that hath lost its strength ; and drink, it is, ye get : also a senseless fellow, a dreamer, Bud. a sponge-head, an idle companion.

† Vārio, m. Lucr. A flying fowl.

Vāriōlæ, ārum ; adj. Plaut. pustules. Thin blisters, a beating, shaking.

VARIOLO, as ; neutr. Cic. ab Hier. Lucan. al. ab eodem scriptore. forte. ab Ovidio petito. vaporando מְרַקְּדִים. To be beaten, scourged or whipped.

Varr. f. pl. Lucan. ab adj. Varus ; al. quæ varicæ simul ; vel locis variantur : calones, agasones, gregales. Net stages : little forts where the scots are set up : also the small posts to measure, Hirt. red vineyard stakes, a bearing-stock.

† Vārgus, i ; m. Isidor. lib. 5. epist. 4. latrunculus exsulis ; vox barb.

Vāri ; m. plur. Plin. idem quod Vara.

Variabilis, le ; Lucret. Changeable, inconstant, variable.

Vāria, æ ; f. plur. Plin. pantheres, à varietate vario colore, vel maculârum varietate. Gesner. Gl. A kind of thievish panther : also a kind of dog.

Vāriāle uva, Col. Vitr. Grapes that are of many colour. Se Rielvoiz, Id.

Variāns, tis ; part. Plin. changing, changeable, inconstant, variable ; of divers colours or fashions.

Variantia, æ ; f. Lucr. Variety, changeableness, inconstancy.

Variātē ; adv. Gell. Lucret. Variously, in divers fashions.

Variātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. A changing, varying or altering. A varying or changing ; alteration.

Variātur, impers. Liv. They differ.

Varicātor, ōris ; m. Plin. Cic. *straddler, straddling, straddler, straddler, straddler

ΝΔΒ. To prophesie, divine or foresee, to guess: also to talk idly or frantickly.

Vāticinus & Vaticinātus, a, um; Liv. i. vates canens, vel qu. faticinatus. μαντικός, μαντεῖα ϑεσπιῳδός. Of or belonging to prophesying, or to such as prophesie; prophetical.

† Vātidicus, a, um; Plin. pro Patidicus. χρησμολόγος ϑεσπιῳδός. A Prophet.

Vātius, a, um; Var. Whereof cui crura introrsum sunt contorta. Vatius, vitiosus ambulando; βλαισός, Tarentinè, Mart. That hath legs bowed inward, bow-leg'd.

† Vatrachium, Apul. idem quod Batrachium, βατραχεῖον.

† Vatrax, ācis; & Vatricosus, a, um; Non. pedibus vitiosis, Lucil. à Varus, Vātius; vel cui inversi pedes, ut ranæ, quam Græci βατραχοκνήμους dic.

U ante B.

UBER, ĕris; n. à gr. ὕδωρ, M. al. ab humeo uber, ut à tumeo tuber; al. ab uva, qu. uver, quòd sit uvidum, humore sc. lacteo, & more uvarum plenum; Hisid. μαζὸς, ὕδωρ. מַשְׁדִּי. A breast or teat, a pap or UDDER; also the bosom, Jun. the spout or cock of a conduit, Cassiodor. ϑ Uber terræ, pro Ubertas, Vir. Fatness or fruitfulness of the ground. Uber apum, Pall. A swarm of Bees hanging in a cluster on a tree.

Uber, adj. Cic. à subst. Uber, vel ab ὑπερφυὴς, ὑπερβολὴ, ὑπερφυῶς. פְּרִי. Fruitful, plentiful, abundant, full of.

Ubĕrior, ius; comp. Ovid. More plentiful.

Ubĕrius, adv. comp. More plentifully, largely or copiously.

Ubĕro, as; Plin. ab Uber. πίνω, γεωπονῶμαι. To make plentiful and fruitful; to fatten: Neut. Col. To be fruitful and plentiful, to be in good plight and liking, to be abundant.

Ubĕrōsus, a, um; Gell. Plentiful.

Uberrimus, a, um; superl. Vir. Most fruitful or plentiful.

Ubertas, ātis; f. Cic. εὐφορία, ἐυφορία, ἐυδαίμων. שֹׁבַע. Fertility, fruitfulness, abundance, plenty, store.

Ubertim; adv. Col. πιότερον, ἀφθόνως. Plentifully, abundantly.

Ubertus, a, um; Gell. ἄφθων ϑεὸς, ἐυδαίμων. Abundant.

UBI, adv. אֵיפֹה. ab ὅπου. אֵיזֶה. Where, in what place; with what place; after that, when. Ubi primùm, Cæs. As soon as. Ubi gentium, Plaut. & ubi-terrarum, Cic. Where, or in what place.

Ubicunque; adv. Cic. ὅπου ἄν, ὁπουδήποτε, ὅπου τοῦ ἄν. Wheresoever, in what place soever.

Ubilibet; adv. ὁπουδή. Wheresoever you please.

Ubinam; adv. Cic. Where or in what place.

Ubique; adv. Vir. πανταχοῦ, πανταχῆ. In every place, every where.

Ubiubi, pro Ubicunque; adv. Plaut. ὁπουδήποτε, ὅπου ἄν. Wheresoever, so soon as ever.

Ubivis; adv. Cic. ὁπουοῦν ἄν. Any where.

U ante D.

Udandus, a, um; part. Macrob. To be moystned or wet.

Udo, ōnis; m. Mart. genus calceamenti ex hircinis pilis: dict. ab Udus, a, um; ex ὑδ ϑεὸς. A linnen or woollen sock; a garment to keep away cold.

Udus, a, um; Vir. contr. ex Uvidus; al. ab ὑδ ϑεὸς, i. ὕδωρ aqua: al. ab ὗω pluo, al. qu. Sudus à Sudo. ὑγρὸς, ὑδαρὴς ϑεὸς, ὑγρὸς ϑεὸς. רָוֶה. Moist, wet, juicy: also drunken, tipsie, fuddled; Mart. ☒ Udum, quod ex se dat humorem; Pap. contrà Siccum.

V ante E.

Ve, enclitica particula, & conj. disjunctiva, idem signif. quod aut: Ut ab ὗε ver, sic ab ἤ ve, vel ex Heb. וְ Ve, ve, i, Gl. Phil. Or, either.

Ve loquelaris prap. quæ in comp. præit, & longa est, ducitur à Vi vel à Væ, à Vi habet vim augendi; à Væ, minuendi. Vide Gell. 5. 12.

Vēcordia, æ; f. Ter. ἄνοια, παραφροσύνη, ἀνοησία. דְּלוֹת רוּחַ. Madness, dotage, folly, rage, frenzy, senselessness.

Vēcordissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Stark mad.

Vēcorditer, adv. Plaut. παραφρόνως. Madly, frantickly.

Vēcors, dis; adj. ἄνους ϑεὸς, παράφρων, ὄνος. זוֹר לֵב. ex Ve particulâ privitivâ, i. sine, & Cor, i. sine corde. Mad, foolish, doting, out of his wits, frantick. = Amens, Cic.

Vectābŭlum, li; n. Gell. à Vecto, as. A wagon, or chariot; that wherein any thing is carried.

Vectārius, a, um; à Vebo: ὀχημάτιος, ἁμαξοπὸς ϑεὸς. Of or belonging to a chariot, coach, waggon or carriage: that carrieth. Navis vectaria, ῥοφικὸν πλοῖον. A barge, a ferry, a passage-boat. Equus vectarius, Var. A saddle-nag, a pad-nag; a pack-horse, Coop.

Vectātio, ōnis; f. verb. A being born or carried; a riding or going in a coach to take the air, going by water in a boat or ship.

Vectiārius, rii; m. Vitruv. à Vectis: μοχλοπλάστης. He that turneth a Wine-press, or the like instrument with leavers.

Vectibilis, le; adj. Sen. ῥοφητὸς, κομιστός. That is or may be carried.

† Vectĭcārius, a, um; Col. Vide Vecturarius.

Vectĭcŭlārius, a, um; Paul. μοχλικὸς. Vecticularia vita, Cato. τοιχωρυχικὸς βίος ϑεὸς eorum, qui vectibus alienos parietes perfodiunt furandi gratiâ. That breaketh down a place to rob. Subst. Cato. A breaker open of houses, a night-thief, a burglar.

Vectigal, ālis; n. Cic. τέλος ϑεὸς, τόκος ϑεὸς, πρόσοδος ϑεὸς. מֶכֶס. quod pro vectura penditur. A tribute, custome, toll or subsidy, freight-money, a tax or gabel: also a revenue, an income; rent.

Vectigālārius, rii; m. Firm. A customer, one that receiveth custom, toll or tribute; a Farmer of Customes or Impositions.

† Vectigālĭorum; pro Vectigalium, Sect.

Vectigālis, le; adj. Cic. φορολὸς, τελεσφόρος ϑεὸς. That payeth tribute or custom, tributary. ☒ Immunis.

Vectio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. κομιδὴ, ἀγωγὴ, ἔφεσις. A carrying or portage, riding on horse-back; going in a ship.

Vectis, is; m. Cæs. μοχλὸς, πλαδὸν, ζυγβλὶς. בְּרִיחַ. à Vehendo; quòd super eos merces vehantur. Under did. quòd manibus vehantur, undè ossa frangique eveniuntur, Isid. A bar or pair of wood; a leaver to lift or bear with: a Betty or engine to force open a door, an iron crow to dig through a wall, Apul. the latch of a door, which being drawn, the door openeth, Juv. a rammer, Veget.

Vectĭtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Digest. An often carriage.

Vectito, as; freq. à Vecto, πολλάκις κομίζω. To carry often.

Vectiva, æ; f. Plin. sc. pecunia. Money paid for carriage.

Vecto, as; freq. à Vebo; Hor. ὀχέω, κομίζω. To carry often.

Vector, ōris; part. Ovid. it. dep. Plaut. Also to be lifted, strong, &c.

Vector, ōris; m. verb. à Vebo; Cic. ὀχεύτης. A Passenger in a ship: also a ship-man or carrier, Ovid. also an husbandman, Salm.

Vectōrius, a, um; Cæs. φορτικὸς, ὀχηδρόμος ϑεὸς, κομιστικὸς. Fit to carry, or serving for carriage.

Vectūra, æ; f. Cæs. ὄχησις, κομιδὴ, φορὰ. Carriage, portage, money paid for carriage, Quint. ἀγώγιον, horse-hire, freight-money.

Vectus, a, um; part. Vir. κομισθεὶς, ἐνεχθεὶς ϑεὸς. Conveyed, carried.

VEGEO, es; neut. Lucr. ex Ve & Vegeo, vel ex Vi ago. To be lusty and strong, or sound and whole; to grow. Act. To make lusty, Non. to move or stir up, Enn.

Vĕges, ētis; adj. Liv. idem quod Vegetus.

Vĕgētābilis, le; Philos. φυτικὸς, quod vegetari potest, ut plantæ. That which hath life and growth, as herbs, and plants and trees; vegetable: also comfortable, wholesome, Amm.

Vĕgētāmen, inis; n. Prud. Comfort or cherishment, inlivening.

Vĕgētandus, a, um; part. Gell. To be quickned.

Vĕgētātio, ōnis; f. verb. Apul. ἐνδυνάλωσις. A refreshing or quickning, a making strong and lively, a vegetation.

Vĕgētātivus, a, um; Philos. φυτικὸς. Vegetattive, that quickneth.

Vegetātor, ōris; m. verb. Auson. A quickner or inlivener.

Vegētior, us; comp. Col. More lively.

Vegetissimus, a, um; superl. Plin. Most quick and lively.

Vĕgĕto, as; act. Gell. vegetum facio. ζωπυρῶ, ἀναιμῶ. To quicken or inliven, to make lively, lusty, quick and strong, to make sound; to refresh.

Vegetor, āris; pass. Lucret.

Vĕgētus, a, um; Cic. à Vegeo: ἐνδυναλὴς. חַי. Quick, fresh, lively, lusty, sound, gallant, brave.

Vegrandis, de; adj. Fest. ex Ve & Grandis; ἀναύξητος ϑεὸς, δυσαυξὴς. Great and ill-proportion'd, big, lubberly: also lean, little, small, lank, spiny, Var.

Vĕha, æ; f. Var. ἡ ὁδὸς λαμεύρ ϑεὸς. An high-way for common carriage.

Vĕhĕmens, tis; adj. Cic. βίαιος ϑεὸς, ἀστὸς, Ἐσθρὸς. קְשׁוֹת. ex Ve particulâ intensivâ, & Mens, à mentis vi, i. impetu: vel quòd vehat mentem; vel quòd vehatur eminentiùs. Vehement, earnest, fierce, urgent, violent, unruly. = Acer pugnax, ferox, atrox, Cic. ☒ Lenis mansuetus, Id.

Vĕhĕmenter; adv. Cic. ἐσθρῶς, λίαν ἐχυρῶς. Vehemently, greatly, eagerly, earnestly, with force, forcibly.

Vehementia, æ ; f. Plin. Cæod ἐγκυς, desiring. חוקה. Vehemency, earnestness, strongness or rankness.

Vehementissimè ; adv. superl. Cic. Most grievously.

Vehens ; part. Cic. Riding or carried along.

Vehes, vel Vehis, is ; f. Col. plaustrum Oscorum linguâ ; vel à Vehendo : ὄχημα. A cart or strain load of any thing, as of hay, dung, &c.

† Vehia, æ ; f. Plin. idem.

† Vehiare, Vet. pro Vehere ; Osce.

Vehicularis, a, um ; Hermog. ὀχηματικός. Of or pertaining to a cart, &c.

Vehicularius, a, um ; A nm. idem.

Vehicularius, ii ; m. Spart. ἡνιοχεύς, ἁμαξηλάτης. A waggoner or carter.

Vehiculatio, onis ; f. Novel. Justin. A finding of carts, coaches, or waggons to carry the Emperours stuff ; cart-taking.

Vehiculum, li ; n. Cic. instrumentum vehendi ; ὄχημα, ἅμαξα, φορεῖον. עגלה. A cart, waggon, a waggon, a coach, a chariot : a general name of all things serving to carry ; vehicle. Vehiculum cameratum. Ulp. An horse-litter ; trussatile, Jun. A wherry-barge.

† Vehinaftrum, n. Jun. The herb pinknel, it expelleth bedlam, or sturbe hill.

† Vehio, as ; Perot. id. quod Veho.

Vehis, is ; f. idem quod Veheo.

VEHO, is, ĕre ; xi, ctum ; act. ἁμάξαν ἐλαύνειν, ἁμαξεύειν. נהג. To carry by waggon or carriage, &c. To carry any manner of ways, to convey by land, or by water : also to journey or travel, Gell. to ride. Hinc. Angl. To weigh.

Vehor, eris ; pass. Cic.

† Veia, (al. Veha ;) apud Oscos dicebatur plaustrum, unde Veiarii stipites in plaustro, & Vectura Veitura (al. leg. Veiatura.) Fest.

Veientana, f. Plin. A precious stone found near Veii in Italy.

Vel, conj. Ter. ἤ, ἤτοι, εἴτε. או. à Velle ; ex Ve, aut, vel à & ἄλλο aut aliud ; M. Or, either, even, at the least.

Velabrensis, se ; adj. Mart. à Velabrum. Belonging to a place in Rome that had booths in it.

Velabrum, bri ; n. Hor. à Velum. βιλάβρον, Onom. A Booth or Tent in a Fair, a place in Rome, where they had shops and booths to sell cheese and other things, as Smithfield is with us.

Velamen, inis ; n. Vir. περικάλυμμα, σκέπασμα. A covering, veil, carpet, coverlet, garment : also the bag, skin or bladder of any swelling or imposture. Cels.

Velamentum, i ; n. Liv. idem.

Velandus, a, um ; part. Sen. κεκαλυμμένος. To be hidden or covered. Velanda corporis, Plin. jun. The privy parts of the body.

Velans, tis ; part. Ovid. Covering.

Velaria, n. Mart. Booth-clothes.

Velaris, re ; adj. Plin. ἱστιοπετικός. Pertaining to a veil, sail or curtain.

Velarium, ii ; n. Stat. ἱστίον, ὀθόνιον. A veil or cloth to cover, a curtain : also a place covered with clothes ; a Tobb, a tent, Juv.

Velatura, æ ; f. vid. Vellatura.

Velatus, a, um ; part. Vir. ἱστιοπετηθείς, κεκαλυμμένος. Covered, cloathed, veiled, hid.

Veles, itis ; m. Liv. Velites expediti milites, à volando, qu. volites, i. volantes, quia levissimæ omnium armantur. γυμνῆτες, ἀκοντοβολισταί. A souldier wearing light harness, a skirmisher, a dragoon. Veles scurra, Cic. A buffoon or common jester.

Velifer, ra, rum ; Ovid. ἱστιοφόρος. That beareth or carrieth sails.

Velificatio, onis ; f. verb. Cic. τοῦ ἱστία πετάσαι. A hoising up or making of sail : also a voyage or course.

Velificatus, a, um ; part. Prop. Sailed.

† Velifico, as ; act. Prop. id. quod

Velificor, aris ; dep. Plin. Vela facio : ἱστία ἐγείρω. To hoise up or spread sails, to sail forth : to pass along by water. Velificari honori suo, Cic. To seek or endeavour after honour and preferment.

Velificus, a, um ; Plin. vela faciens, ἱστία ἐγείρων. Performed with sails full spread or displayed.

† Velifox, ocis ; f. Prisc. minimum velum ad proram, quia tanquam in sauce navis, M. The fore-sail of a ship.

Velitaris, re ; adj. à Velites : γυμνητικός. Belonging to light harness-men. Pugna velitaris, Sal. A skirmish between souldiers light harnessed. Hasta velitaris, Liv. ῥίψαξ, Polyb. A javelin used in skirmish, that one might fling from him like a dart.

Velitatim, adv. Sisenn. By way of skirmish.

Velitatio, onis ; f. verb. Plaut. ἀκροβολισμός, ἀψιμαχία, λογομαχία. A skirmishing, a quarrelling or bickering in words, Gell.

Velitor, aris ; dep. Plaut. levi pugnâ congredior, more velitum : ἀκροβολίζομαι, ψιλομαχῶ. עצה. To skirmish, brawl or bicker in words, Gell.

Velivolans, tis ; Cic. ex Poët. ἱστιοδρομῶν, ἱστιοπτὴς. Running, and as it were flying with full sail.

Velivolus, a, um ; Ovid. volans velis, ἱστιοδρόμων, ἱστιοπτής. That goes or is gone upon (Virg.) with sails.

† Vella, æ ; antiq. pro Villa ; Var.

† Vellatura, æ ; f. quæstus ex vecturâ, Var. πορθμεῖον. Vellaturam facere, Cic. To be master of a ship, and carry merchandise to and fro. Rect. scrib. Velatura.

† Vellea, æ ; f. Polit. Abag.

Vellendus, a, um ; part. Col. To be pluckt up.

Vellicatim, adv. Sisenn. ἀποσπάδην, μελικῶς. By plucks or twitches, by girds.

Vellicatio, onis ; f. verb. Sen. πλυσμός, ὑπόκνισις. A plucking or twitching ; a carping or depraving, κατηλαλιά.

Vellicatus, ûs ; m. Plin. idem.

Vellico, as ; act. Cic. à Vello ; παρατίλλω, διακνίζω. חמאיר. To pluck, lug, twitch or pinch ; to pull off hair or feathers ; to peck as a bird doth ; to gird one, to carp, taunt or rail at one, to deprave or detract ; κατηλαλῶ, διαβάλλω.

VELLO, is, ĕre ; li, & si, sum ; act. Cic. τίλλω, σπάω. נמל. à τίλω. ab ἴλλω, εἴλλω, ἰλλω, ἐξείλλω ejicio, Bec. ab ἴλλω, ἀφίλλω, M. To pull, to pluck, to lug ; to gather or take up ; to pinch or gnaw ; to pluck or tear up.

Vellor, eris ; pass. Vir.

† Vellumina, Vellemina, vel Vellimina, um ; n. Var. Fleece-wool wound.

Vellus, eris ; n. Vir. πόκος, μαλὸς, κώδιον. Ll. dictum quòd ante tonsuram inventam vellerentur lanæ ; Var. al. à Velando, quòd vellere velatur ovis, Scal. A fleece of wool, a fell ; the leaves of a tree, Ovid. fell-wool.

Vělo, as ; act. Vir. à Velum. Καπτίζω, πελλύτω. נסח. à פלא. φαλύω, Aven. ab φιλῶ involvo ; vel à βάλλω, M. To cover or veil, to hide, cloath, adorn or put on ; to conceal, Plin. to bind or tye, Plaut. to muffle.

Velor, aris ; pass. Vir.

Vēlōcior, us ; comp. Ovid. Swifter.

Vēlōcitas, ātis ; f. Cic. τάχος, ὠκύτης. Swiftness, nimbleness.

Vēlōciter ; adv. Mart. ὠκέως, ταχέως, ὀπτερυγιδὸν. Swiftly, speedily.

Velocius ; adv. comp. Ovid. More swiftly.

Vēlox, ōcis ; adj. Hor. à Volatu, quasi volox ; ταχὺς, ὠκὺς, δρόσος. מהיר. Swift, quick, nimble, speedy, hasty, ready. = Pernix, Cic.

Vēlum, li ; n. contr. à Vexillum : à Volatu, Isid. à Velicrihus, quòd ex lanâ fiat, Var. πετασμάτιον, εἱλυμα. מעטה. A veil, Curtain or Sail : ἱστίον. Dare vela, Vir. To hoise sails. Velis equisque, Remis velisque, Cic. With might and main ; in all haste.

† Vēlūmen, inis ; n. Var. Fleece-wool wound. V. Vellumina.

Vēlut ; adv. Cic. vel ut, i. ut si : ὥσπερ, καθάπερ, ὡσεί. כאשר. Like, like as.

Vēlūti ; adv. Col. idem. Even as.

VENA, æ ; f. ἀγγεῖον. ab ἵημι, in Acc. Ira. al. à Venio venæ ; quòd per eam sanguis veniat. Isid. à Via & No, quòd via sit natantis sanguinis. M. à Vaino. A vein ; the natural disposition or humour of a man, Cic. a pulse or artery, Cels. a vein of the earth, Plin. the grain of wood, Id. a vein or style of writing, Juv. also membrum virile, Mart. ℣ Vena fontis, Col. The bubbling or rising up of water out of a spring.

Vēnābulum, li ; n. Juv. à Venando : ἀκοντόβολον, ὑσσός. A hunting-pole, a hunters-staff, a bore-spear.

Vēnālis, le ; adj. Cic. ὠνητός, πρατήριος. To be sold, set to sale, venal ; that will do what one would have him for money : also a slave, Quint.

Vēnālitèr, adv. Sen. ὠνίως. Saleably, vendibly, in a venal manner.

Vēnālitiārius, ii ; m. Ulp. qui servos venalitios habet. A seller of slaves : also a huckster, that sells by retail ; a milener, Alciat.

Vēnālitium, ii ; n. locus ubi mancipia venalia prostant ; vel ipse grex venalium : πωλητήριον. A place where servants and slaves are sold : also the company of slaves that are to be sold.

Vēnālitius, a, um ; Plin. ὠνητός, πρατήριος. Pertaining to sale, or that which is bought and sold, set to sale.

Vēnālitius, ii ; m. Cic. ἀνὴρ πωλικὸς. A merchant of slaves.

Vēnans, tis ; part. Lucr. Hunting.

Vēnāticus, a, um ; à Venor : θηρευτικὸς, κυνηγετικός. Pertaining to hunting. Canis venaticus, Cic. A hound to hunt with.

Vēnātio, onis ; f. verb. Cic. θήρα, κυνηγέσια, ἀγρευτής. ציד. An hunting, a chasing : also Venison, or beasts hunted, Lampr.

† Vēnātitius, a, um ; & per c, Venaticia præda ; Amm. Taken in hunting.

Vēnātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. θηρευτὴς, κυνηγός. An hunter, a huntsman.

Vēnātōrius, a, um ; Mart. θηρεύσιμος. Of or belonging to hunting, or to a huntsman.

Vēnātrix, icis ; f. verb. Vir. θηρεύτρια. An huntress.

Vēnātus,

Vēnātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Having hunted.

Vēnātus, ūs; m. Plin. θήρευμα, ἄγρευσις. Hunting or chasing.

Vendax, ācis; adj. Cato. φιλοκερδής. A great seller, or that gladly selleth.

Vendibilis, le; Cic. πραθήσιος. Vendible, saleable, easie and ready to be sold; plausible or taking; passable, that will go off: also that may do any thing for money, Amm.

Vendibiliter, adv. Eraſm. Saleably.

Vendicātio, ōnis; f. verb. Ulp. A claiming or challenging.

Vendicātor, ōris; m. verb. Tac. προσποιητής. A challenger or claimer,

Vendico, as; act. ἐκποιοῦμαι, προσποιοῦμαι. לקח. qu. convenienda mihi dico, Perot. vel attribuo tanquam venditum, M. fort. unde Vindico, it. cedmio cedmio. To claim, to challenge a thing. Vendicāre aliquid sibi, Quint. pro quo, Curt.

Venditarius, a, um; Plaut. That is saleable, or which we desire to sell.

Venditātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀπόδοσις, ἐπίδειξις, ἀλαζονεία. A bragging, vaunting, boasting or making ostour.

Venditātor, ōris; m. Gell. 18. 4. A bragger or boaster.

Venditio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. πρᾶσις, πρᾶσις. A selling or sale, a vent.

Vendito, as; frequ. à Vendo; Cic. πωλέομαι, ἐπιπολάζω. To sell often, to set to sale; to brag or boast, Plaut.

Venditor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. πρατής, πωλητής. A seller.

Venditrix, icis; f. Scav. She that selleth.

Vendo, is, ĕre; didi, ditum; act. Cic. contract. à Venumdo, ex Venum & Do: venundare, πωλεῖν. מכר. To sell or set to sale. Regit Acc. cum Abl. pretii.

† Venefex, m. Bud. A witch.

Venēfica, æ; f. Ovid. φαρμακίς, φαρμακεύτρια. A sorceress, she that poisoneth, a witch.

Venēficium, ii; n. Cic. φαρμακεία, γοητεία. Sorcery, poisoning, witchcraft.

† Venēfico, as; Plaut. To bewitch.

Venēficus, a, um; Plin. φαρμακώδης, ἰοβόλος. Venomous, poisonous.

Venēficus, ci; m. Cic. φαρμακεύς, γόης. כשף. A sorcerer, inchanter, necromancer, magician, witch, &c. a poisoner, Suet.

† Venēla, æ; Med. Gram. A hone.

Venēnārius, ii; m. Suet. φαρμακοπώλης. A poisoner, that makes or sells poison.

Venēnātus, a, um; Cic. φαρμακευθείς, ἰοβόλος. Invenomed, poisoned: also venomous, poisonous, Ovid.

Venēnifer, ĕra, ĕrum; Ovid. φαρμακώδης. Bearing poison, venomous.

Venēno, as; Lucr. φαρμακεύω. To invenom, to poison.

VENENUM, ni; n. Cic. dict. quòd cito per venas eat; qu. belenum, ex βέλος vel βελόνη telum, quòd tela veneno inficere solebant; Scal. ἰός, φαλτικὸν φάρμακον. חמת. Poison, venom; witchcraft, sorcery; ointment or paint, Ovid. a drug: also a medicine or ointment to embalm a body for preserving it, Luc. ◊ Assyrium venenum, Vir. Purple colour. Venenum rerum omnium, Plin. Quick-silver.

VENEO, is, ire; ivi & ii, vēnum; neut. Cic. ex Venum & Eo, h. e. conventione in alium transeo; ab vēnum pretium, M. πωλοῦμαι, πραθήσομαι. מכר. To be sold, to be set to sale.

† Vēneor, iris; Plaut. id. quod Venior.

Vēnĕrābilior, us; comp. Hor.

Vēnĕrābilis, le; adj. Plin. σεβάσιος, σεβαστός. Worshipful, venerable.

Vēnĕrābundus, a, um; Liv. αἰδήμων. In a reverent posture of worship.

Vēnĕrandus, a, um; part. Cic. σεβαστός. נכבד. To be reverenced or worshipped.

Vēnĕrans, tis; part. Vir. σεβάζων. Worshipping.

Veneranter; adv. Apul. Cùm αἰδοῖ. Reverently, with worship.

Vēnĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. προσκύνησις, σεβασμός. Veneration, worship, honour, reverence.

Vēnĕrātor, ōris; m. verb. Ovid. σεβαστής, προσκυνητής. A worshipper or reverencer.

Vēnĕrātus, a, um; part. pass. Hor. σεβασθείς, αἰδεσθείς. Worshipped, reverenced, Act. Vir. αἰδοσάμενος. Having worshipped.

Vēnĕreus, a, um; à Venere, Cic. ἀφροδίσιος. Lecherous, venereal: also fair and lovely. Veneream luem, Fernel. The French pox.

Vēnĕria, æ; f. jun. Fearn. Veneriæ, plur. Plin. Shell-fishes; gratæ Veneri.

Vēnĕris gemma, Plin. 37. 9. A kind of the Amethyst.

† Vēnĕro, as; Plaut. id. quod

Vēnĕror, āris; dep. Cic. σέβομαι, αἰδέομαι. נכבד. Venerari à Venere; observantiâ prosequor ob Venerem, i. venustatem; Scal. etiam Venerem exerceo. Vel pro Verinor, a Vereor. To honour or worship, to reverence, to pray unto.

Vēnĕtus, a, um; Of Venice. Venetus color, Veget. κυάνεος. A light or Venice blew, a Turky-colour.

Vēnia, æ; f. Cic. quòd optanti adveniat, Perot. pot. licentia veniendi. συγγνώμη, συγχώρησις. סליחה. Pardon, leave or licence, favour.

† Vēniābilis, le; Prud. id. quod

Vēniālis, le; adj. Macrob. συγγνώστος. Venial, pardonable.

† Venibo, pro Veniam; Non. ex Lucil.

† Venicŭla, æ; f. Plin. 14. 2. uva ollis aptissima.

Vēnĭens; part. Ovid. A coming.

Vēnĭlia, æ; f. Var. maris agnatio, quæ ad littus venit. The flow of the Sea, the wash or rushing of the surge or wave against the shore.

VENIO, is, ire; vēni, ventum; neut. ἔρχομαι, ἥκω, παραγίνομαι. בוא. à Faino, vel Infin. Fanire, Scal. Venire, qu. veninire nos ire, Perot. To come, to arrive; to spring or grow, Vir. to chance, to happen, to come to pass. Venire alicui subsidio, Cic. suppetias, Hirt. To come to his relief. Venit illi in religionem hæc res, Cic. He made a matter of conscience of it. Si usus veniat, Ter. If there be occasion. ◊ Cum Acc. Venire viam, Cic.

Vēnītur, impers. Ovid. They come. Ad me ventum est, Cic. They came to me.

Vēnor, āris; dep. à Venio, indagare feras, & qu. circumvenire, Perot. Venor circumvenio, Non. Venari qu. venias scrutari; Scal. ἀγρεύω, θηρεύω, κυνηγέω. ציד. To hunt: also to get or go about to get a thing craftily, to seek or prosecute after a thing. Venari pisces, Plin. To fish or catch fishes. ◊ It. pass. Non. To be caught.

Vēnōsus, a, um; Plin. φλεβώδης. Full of veins or strings; big-veined: also gowty, swoln, blasted, sinewy, Pers.

VENTER, tris; m. γαστήρ, κοιλία, κοιλίη. בטן. à Venio vel Vento, quòd ventet in eum cibus, Perot. rect. ab ἴντερον intestinum, quia venter est intestinorum locus, M. The belly or paunch, the stomach: also the child that a woman goes with, Ulp. Belly-cheer, Hor. ◊ Ventrem ferre, de vacca, Col. To be with calf. Ventrem facit paries, Alph. The wall bunches out.

† Ventĭdus, a, um; Gell. 4. 15.

Ventĭgĕnus, a, um; Lucr. Ingendring winds and breathing them forth.

Ventĭlābrum, bri; n. Col. à Ventilo; al. qu. labrum venti: vel qu. venti flabrum: πτύον, ῥιπίς, πτυός. A van to winnow, windil.

Ventĭlātio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. πτισις, πτισμός. A vanning or winnowing.

Ventĭlātor, ōris; m. verb. Col. λικμήτης, πτιστής. A vanner or winnower of corn: also a juggler, a Hocus Pocus, Quint.

Ventĭlo, as; act. Plin. ventum excito. λικμάω, πτίσσω. זרה. To van or winnow; to give vent: also to toss and shift from the one hand to the other, Juv. To flourish before fight, Sen. to canvass or sift a point. Ventilare conciones, Cic. To move or stir it up.

† Ventĭlŏgium, ii; n. Med. Gram. A vane or weather-cock.

Ventio, ōnis; f. verb. Plaut. ἄφιξις, ἀφικόμενος. A coming, an arrival.

† Ventĭsŏpĭla, n. pl. Cæl. Trifles.

Ventĭto, as; frequ. Cic. φοιτάω. To come often.

† Vento, as; frequ. à Venio, Fest.

Ventōsissimus, a, um; superl. Apul. Most full of wind, or most variable.

Ventōsus, a, um; Plin. ἀνεμώδης, ἀνεμώεις. Windy; full of wind, exposed to the wind; light or swift as the wind, Vir. inconstant, Hor.

Ventrāle, lis; n. Liv. ἀφρόδεσμον. An apron, or other garment for the belly.

Ventrĭcōsus, a, um; Plaut. Big-bellied.

Ventrĭcŭlus, li; m. dim. à Venter; Cic. γαστέρων. A ventricle, a stomach; a little belly, the core in a bosch or byle that is broken, Cels.

Ventrĭfluus, a, um; ex Venter & Fluo. Laxative, purging the belly. Ventrifluum medicamentum, Aurel. A purging medicine.

Ventrĭlŏquus, a, um; Bibl. qui loquitur è ventre; obsessus malo spiritu, qui in hominis ventre residens loquitur; ἐγγαστρίμυθος & -ων. One possest with a spirit, that speaks out of his belly.

Ventrĭōsus vel Ventrosus, a, um; Plaut. προγάστωρ, γαστρώδης. Gor-bellied.

Ventŭlus, li; m. dim. Ter. ἀνεμάριον. A little wind.

Ventūrus, a, um; à Venio; Vir. Ready to come.

VENTUS, ti; m. ἄνεμος, πνεῦμα. רוח. ex ἄημι, ἄντης, ex quo ventus: vel ab ἀεὶς ἄιντ. Perot. à Venio, quia propriè est cum impetu aer ventans; vel quòd veniat & nescimus unde. Wind, a blast or puff, a storm or tempest. Ventus ferens & secundus, Cic. A forward or prosperous gale; adversus, Id. Ice wind in ones teeth. Ventus popularis, Id. Applause of the people; Popularis. Ventus textilis, Petron. Tiffany. Vento teneri, Cæs. To be wind-bound.

Vĕnŭcŭla, æ; f. Col. al. Venicula, Venuncula, & Vennuncula; à Venus oppido. Ruddim. 2. 232. adds Serv. [illegible] Virgil, Aeneid 8 [illegible]

Vēnābulum, li ? n. Col. A kind of weapon.

Vēnābulus, i, and ? Vēnābula, ōrum, pl. n. & Vēnābulum, li, sing. Liv.

? Vēnŭi, Perf. from Venio.

Vēnĭa, æ ? f. Cic. Favour, kindness, good will, grace, pardon, forgiveness, mercy, leave, permission, privilege, liberty, freedom, indulgence, allowance, excuse, apology, plea, submission, entreaty, petition, request, suit, prayer, supplication, humble address, humble behaviour, humility, modesty, submissiveness, humble carriage, humble gesture, humble posture, humble look, humble speech, humble words, humble manner, humble way, humble fashion, humble custom, humble habit, humble dress, humble clothing, humble garb, humble attire, humble appearance, humble countenance, humble face, humble eyes, humble head, humble hair, humble beard, humble nose, humble mouth, humble lips, humble teeth, humble tongue, humble throat, humble neck, humble shoulders, humble arms, humble hands, humble fingers, humble nails, humble breast, humble belly, humble back, humble sides, humble thighs, humble legs, humble feet, humble toes, humble heels, humble ankles, humble knees, humble calves, humble shins, humble ankles quod ea quæ timemus, multúsque ante cogitare solemus. Perot. ✠ Veteri est filiorum & bonorum amore; Vitium est parentum, si horum pectus. Cal. To reverence, to fear, to be in fear of, to dread, to stand in awe of; to doubt, suspect or distrust; to take offence at, to be displeased with, to be ill affected. Veteri illegantia, illicui, &c. aliquem, Cic. ab aliquo, Ter. ✠ Veteri se facere, to make it, Ter. I fear me, by thine, Verbo dicere, Ter. I fear not you.

Vēterilla, æ; f. Apul. à Veteri. A kind of sea-fish.

Vēternum, i; n. Sect. à Veteri; i. pars corporis, The privy parts. Cf. Mentula, privy part.

Vetĕrus, tis; part. Cato. ab Vetus. Decrepit, worn out, old. Veteres annos. The Growing in years.

Vetĭlia, æ; f. Plin. Gell. inde quod eorum arva vel agmen facile; vel quod vitulos nutriunt. Scheffer. The fetters that bind. Virgilius.

Vĕrĭto, ĕre; Plin. To feed, graze upon.

✠ VĔRTEX, ĭcis; m. (aliquando neut. à Vertendo, quod vertatur circa axem) ✠ Vertex dicitur & ipse axis, ✠ & cacumen montis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gurges, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse turbo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cursus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse circulus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse motus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ventus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tempestas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse procella, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nubes, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nimbus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pluvia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ros, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gelu, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nix, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse grando, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fulmen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tonitrus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fulgur, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ignis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse flamma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fumus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nebula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse caligo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tenebræ, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse umbra, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lux, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse dies, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nox, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse hora, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse momentum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tempus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æternitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse infinitum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse finis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse principium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse medium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse centrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse punctum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nihil, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse omnia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse universum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mundus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cælum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse terra, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mare, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aqua, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aër, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ignis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse spiritus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse anima, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mens, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ratio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse sapientia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scientia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ars, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse virtus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse bonum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse malum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse peccatum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse vitium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse crimen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scelus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nefas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse jus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse regula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse norma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse exemplum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse imago, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse similitudo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æquitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse justitia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pietas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse religio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fides, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse veritas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gloria, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse honor, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse dignitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse potestas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse imperium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse regnum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse divitiæ, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse opes, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pecunia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aurum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse argentum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gemma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lapis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ferrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æs, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse plumbum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse stannum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse vitrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lignum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse arbor, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse herba, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse flos, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fructus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse semen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse radix, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse folium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cortex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse truncus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ramus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse virga, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse baculum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse hasta, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gladius, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ensis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pugio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse sica, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cultellus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scalpellum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse novacula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse forfex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pecten, Cal. To reverence, to fear, to be in fear of, to dread, to stand in awe of; to doubt, suspect or distrust; to take offence at, to be displeased with, to be ill affected. Veteri illegantia, illicui, &c. aliquem, Cic. ab aliquo, Ter. ✠ Veteri se facere, to make it, Ter. I fear me, by thine, Veteri dicere, Ter. I fear not you.

Vēterilla, æ; f. Apul. à Veteri. A kind of sea-fish.

Vēternum, i; n. Sect. à Veteri; i. pars corporis, The privy parts. Cf. Mentula, privy part.

Vetĕrus, tis; part. Cato. ab Vetus. Decrepit, worn out, old. Veteres annos. The Growing in years.

Vetĭlia, æ; f. Plin. Gell. inde quod eorum arva vel agmen facile; vel quod vitulos nutriunt. Scheffer. The fetters that bind. Virgilius.

Vĕrĭto, ĕre; Plin. To feed, graze upon.

✠ VĔRTEX, ĭcis; m. (aliquando neut. à Vertendo, quod vertatur circa axem) ✠ Vertex dicitur & ipse axis, ✠ & cacumen montis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gurges, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse turbo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cursus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse circulus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse motus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ventus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tempestas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse procella, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nubes, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nimbus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pluvia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ros, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gelu, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nix, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse grando, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fulmen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tonitrus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fulgur, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ignis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse flamma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fumus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nebula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse caligo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tenebræ, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse umbra, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lux, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse dies, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nox, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse hora, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse momentum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse tempus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æternitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse infinitum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse finis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse principium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse medium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse centrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse punctum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nihil, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse omnia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse universum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mundus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cælum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse terra, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mare, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aqua, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aër, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ignis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse spiritus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse anima, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse mens, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ratio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse sapientia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scientia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ars, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse virtus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse bonum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse malum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse peccatum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse vitium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse crimen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scelus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse nefas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse jus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse regula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse norma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse exemplum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse imago, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse similitudo, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æquitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse justitia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pietas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse religio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fides, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse veritas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gloria, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse honor, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse dignitas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse potestas, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse imperium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse regnum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse divitiæ, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse opes, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pecunia, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse aurum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse argentum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gemma, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lapis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ferrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse æs, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse plumbum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse stannum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse vitrum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse lignum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse arbor, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse herba, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse flos, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse fructus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse semen, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse radix, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse folium, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cortex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse truncus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ramus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse virga, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse baculum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse hasta, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse gladius, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse ensis, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pugio, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse sica, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse cultellus, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse scalpellum, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse novacula, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse forfex, ✠ & Vertex dicitur & ipse pecten,

...nus, or little ...ke, ...geon.

Verticilla, æ; f. dim. Col. ἀκροστόλιον. A little weather-cock.

Verrunco, as; à Verro, vel ab ἀπορύω. Vid. Averrunco. Σπλαγχνεύομαι, σφίζω. Benè verruncate, Cic. To change a thing to the better.

Versābilis, le; adj. Sen. σφαιρικός, ὑποφερόμενος. That may be turned and wended.

Versātilis, le; Liv. ἀναστρεπτικός, ἀναστρεπτός, πολυτρόπος. That turneth easily, or may be turned. Versātilis pons, Jun. A draw-bridge; mola, Plin. A hand-mill.

Versātio, ōnis; f. verb Plin. στροφή, σφῖγξ. A turning or winding.

Versātus, a, um; part. Ovid. ἐστραμμένος. Turned, whirled about. ♀ It. Cic. διατριβόμενος, περιδεδιηλαγμένος. Experienced, practised, versed in a business.

† Versi, pro Versâs, Non.

Versicŏlor, ōris; m. adj. Cic. colorem vertens, πολύχρως, ποικίλος. Changing colour, of sundry and changeable colours.

Versicŏlorus, a, um; Mart. Idem.

Versiculus, li; m. dim. Cic. στιχίδιον. A little verse, a versicle, a clause of a sentence.

Versificātio, ōnis; f. verb. Quint. ποίησις. A making of verses, versifying.

Versificātor; m. verb. Quint. ποιητής. A Versifier or maker of verses.

Versifico, as; Quint. versus facio. ποιέω. To versifie.

Versĭcus, a, um; Solin. ὑπτιώδης. That makes verses, verse-like.

Versiformis, me; Tert. quod vertit formam. That changeth its shape.

Versio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. στροφή, σφῖγξ. A turning, a translating.

Versipellis, le; Plaut. à Vertendo pellem: ποικιλοδέρμων, πανοῦργος, ἀλλοτρίοις ἀλίσκεται. That often changeth his skin, wily, crafty.

Verso, as; frequ. à Verto, Cic. ἀναστρέφω, ἀναπτύσσω, ἀνελίσσω. To turn and wind; to tumble up and down, or over and over. Versare animum, Vir. To apply it; aliquem, Plaut. To vex or mumble him; testes, Quint. verba, Cic. To examine them thoroughly; tergum, Vir. To break it up; librum, Hor. To peruse it and read it over often; aliquid secum in animo, Liv. To roll it in his thoughts.

Versor, āris; dep. διαλείβω, ἀναστρέφομαι. To be conversant, to be employed or exercised in a thing. Versari cum aliquo, Cic. To converse with him, to be often in his company: also to stay with him: circa res omnes, Quint. To meddle with them; in quæstione, Cic. To handle or treat of it; in errore, Plin. To be in an error; alicui ante oculos, Cic. To be in his sight; in labiis primoribus, Plaut. To be at his tongues end.

Versōria, æ; f. Plaut. funis quo vertitur velum, pes veli: al. instrumentum nauticum, quo secundùm ansam navis vertitur; ex eo item cognoscunt unde flet ventus. A cord to turn the sail to the wind-side; or a stern to turn the ship: now it may be used for the compass that guides the ship, or the needle of the compass.

Versōrius, a, um; Plaut. qui vim habet vertendi; παλίνδρομος, ἀναλύσιος. That turneth it self, or runneth back.

Versūra, æ; f. à Vertendo: στροφή, καμπή. תְּפִנָה. A turning: also the turning of horses in the plough at the lands end, Col. The corner of an house or wall where two ways meet, Vir. ♀ Versuram facere, Cic. To take up money of one at a greater interest, to pay a debt to another: dicit. quia hic verterent creditorem, Fest.

Versus, a, um; part. à Verro, Vir. Swept, brushed, drawn.

Versus, a, um; part. à Verto, Cic. στραφείς, ἐστραμμένος. Turned, inclined, changed. Versus animi, Tac. Disturbed in mind.

Versus, us; m. à Verto. στροφή, ἐπωδή, μέτρον. A turning again at lands end, Plin. a verse, Cic. a line, Pl. jun. even in Prose, Quint. a song, Plin. a rank or row (of vines). Vir. a bank (of oars). Id. also a square plat of ground an hundred foot every way, Var. a turning of the body round on the toe in dancing, Plaut. a file of soldiers, Veget.

Versus; prep. cum Acc. Cic. à Verto: πρός, εἰς. Towards.

Versus; adv. Towards. Sursum versus, Cic. Upward. Undique versus, Gell. On every side.

Versūtē; adv. Cic. πανούργως, δόλιον, Craftily, cunningly.

Versūtia, æ; f. πανουργία, ἀπάτηγμα. עָרְמָה. Wiliness, subtilness.

Versūtĭlŏquus, a, um; Cic. ὁ εἰς πολλὰ πανοῦργος. That talketh craftily.

Versūtissimus, a, um; sup. Vell. Paterc.

Versūtus, a, um; qui se in omnes species vertit: πανοῦργος, δολίφρων. עָרוּם. Crafty, wily, cunning, shifting, quick-witted, ready. = Callidus, fallax, subtilis, Cic.

Vertāgus, gi; m. Mart. ex Verto & Ago; Canis acer, qui in venatione sponte vertit; vel qu. vertrahus, i. ferarbus, à ferâ trahendâ. κύων ἰχνευτικός. An hound that will hunt by himself, and bring home his game; a tumbler.

Vertĕbra, æ; f. Plin. à Verto. σπόνδυλος, σπονδύλιον. חֶסְחֹס. Any turning joint in the body; a joint in the back-bone.

Vertĕbrātus, a, um; Plin. i. in vertebræ morem fornatus. σπονδυλοειδής. Made in form of such joints.

Vertendus, a, um; part. Ovid. To be turned up.

Vertens; part. Cic. Turning about.

Vertex, icis; m. à Verto, is; κορυφή, ἄκρον, στρόβιλος. קֻדְקֹד. The top or crown of the head, Cic. the head it self, Poet. the top of any thing: also a whirlpool, or turning round of the water, Qu. nt. a whirlwind, Hor. ♀ Vertices dolorum, The pain of the bowels or guts, as in the Colick. Mundi vertices, Plin. The North and South-poles. Vertices discriminum, Amm. Extremities of dangers. Scrib. & Vortex.

Vertĭbŭlum, li; n. Lactant. A joint of the back-bone. Vid. Vertebra. Also the cock in a brazen top.

† Verticilla, Bud. insecti species.

Verticillātus, a, um; Cels. σπονδυλωτός. Jointed together, apt to turn.

Verticillum; n. & Verticillus, li; m. Plin. σπονδύλιον. A little wheel or whirl; an Henge or Gemeau, Med. Gr. also a joint in the back-bone; a pin or peg of a musical instrument to set the strings high or low, Plin.

† Verticordius, a, um; Val. Max. à vertendo cor: Verticordia Venus dicta. That turneth the heart.

Verticōsus, a, um; Liv. ἑλικοειδής. That whirleth or turneth round, full of whirl-pits, Amm.

Verticŭla, æ; f. & Verticulum, li; n. à Vertendo, Fest. στρόβιλος, ἀποστολεῖον, σφονδύλιον. תְּחוּשָׁה. A whirl for a spindle: also a joint in the back-bone, Lucil.

Vertigo, ĭnis; f. à Vertendo; ἴλιγξ, δῖνος, στροφὴ δινοῦ. A whirling or turning round, Plin. a rowling, a change, Lucan. the turning-about sickness, or a disease of the head, when all things seem to turn round; giddiness, dizziness, swimming of the head, Cælius.

Vertitur; impers. Liv. It is in controversie, or is debated.

† Vertius; Pomp. One of great strength.

VERTO, is, ĕre; ti, sum; act. στρέφω, τρέπω, δινέω, πολιτεύω. הָפַךְ. à Vere, quia vere annus incipit verti, Perot. fort. ab ἀναστρέφω excito, vel ab ἀναστρέφω. To turn, to change, to overthrow, to cast down, to turn upside down; to tilt or cast up, Vir. also to translate, μεταφράζω. also to borrow of one to pay another, Plaut. ♀ Absol. To change or alter, Liv. to happen, fall out or prove, Gell. ♀ Vertere stylum, Cic. To cross or strike out what he had written; aliquid alicui vitio, Plaut. To blame him for it.

Vertor, ĕris; pass. In seipsum vertitur, Cic. He is all for himself. Salus mea in eo vertitur, Liv. My safety depends upon it.

† Vertrāha, æ; Grat. A kind of Hound for Deer and Hare. V. Vertagus.

Vĕru; n. indecl. plur. Verua, uum, ubus; Vir. à Versando, Var. à σκέψις transfodio, M. ἐβελία. A spit or brooch: also a kind of dart used in war.

Vervactum, ti; n. Plin. i. vere actum, i. verno tempore aratum. γέα. נִיר. Land that hath been fallow, and is turned in the spring to be sown next year.

Vĕrŭcŭlum, li; n. dim. à Veru, Plin. ὀβελίσκος. A little broach or spit.

Vervēceus, a, um; Plaut. Like a wether.

Vervēcinus, a, um; Plin. Of or pertaining to a wether.

Vervex, ēcis; m. Cic. κριός. dict. ab inversis testiculis, i. demptis, Perot. vel quòd sit naturâ versa, Var. à Verpus, cui verpa exsecta, M. A wether sheep.

Vervillāgo; f. Dodon. The black Chameleon thistle.

Veruina, æ; f. Plaut. à Veru. A long javelin, a spit or broach.

† Vērum, ri; n. Plaut. id. quod Veru. A spit.

Vērum, ri; n. Cic. τὸ ἀληθές, ἀλήθεια. A thing that is true, the truth, reason.

Vērum; conj. Cic. ἀλλά, πλὴν ἀλλά. אֲבָל. But, but yet.

† Vērumvēro; Gell. idem.

† Vērunco, pro Verto, Non. ex Accio.

Vēruntămen; conj. Cic. ἀλλ' ὅμως, πλὴν ἀλλά. Nevertheless, notwithstanding, but yet, however, for all that.

VERUS, a, um; ἀληθής, ἀληθινός. אֱמֶת. ex Ve particulâ intensivâ, & Res, Perot. qu. verborum non inanis sonitus, sed solida res: vel ex Vi & Res: à רַב, M. True, right, just, עֵצֶת; meet, fit, Hor. also natural, Ter. Germanus, sincerus, Cic. Fallus, simulatus, fucatus, Id.

Vērūtum, ti; n. Cæs. telum, dict. quod veru habet præfixum, Fest. σαύνιον, unde Samnites dicti: ὀβελίσκοι, Polyb. Telum breve & angustum, Non. A weapon or dart, short and narrow, headed with iron iron, like a narrow spit: some call it a casting-dart with a string.

Vĕrūtus, a, um; Vir. βελοφόρος. Armed with such a dart.

Vĕsānia, æ; f. Plin. παραφροσύνη, μανία. שִׁגָּעוֹן. Madness, fury, rage.

Vĕsānio, is, ivi, ire; unde Vesaniens, part. Catul. μαίνομαι, παραφρονῶ. To be mad to rage, to bluster.

Vĕsānus, a, um; Cic. ex Ve particulâ privativâ, & Sanus; μανιώδης, παράφρων, παράπληξ. מְשֻׁגָּע. Furious, cruel, mad, outrageous.

† Vesca, æ; f. Serv. A cobweb.

Vescendus, a, um; part. Plin. To be eaten.

VESCOR, ĕris; sci; dep. Cic. ex Ve & Esca. βόσκω, Camin. ἐδίω, σιτίζομαι. אָכַל. To eat, to feed or live upon: also to jee, Accius. ✠ Vesci ex manu, Plin. To take meat at ones hand. Vesci aurâ æthereâ, Vir. To live. ✠ It. cum Acc. Vesci cibos, Plin.

Vesculus, a, um; dim. Vesculi, homines graciles dicuntur, & malè curati, Fest. μονόγλωσσοι, λεπτοί, ἰσχνοί, Fest. Lean, or ill kept.

Vesculus, a, um; Vir. ex Ve intensivâ particulâ, & Esca: quòd edimus; item edax, Lucr. item gracilis, macilentus, exsuccus; ubi ve minuit, Plin. ἰδιότροφος, ἀσιτίμενος. Any thing that may be eaten, good to eat: also little, small or lean, Ovid. λεπτός, ἀσιτούμενος. also that doth eat, Lucr. also that hath no stomach, Lucil. or gets one a good stomach.

Vesica, æ; f. Ovid. κύστις, οὖρον. מְרִיאָה. qu. vas aquæ, quia sicut vas aquâ, ita de renibus urina colligit completur & humore distenditur, Isid. ab Uter, M. Al. à φυσιῶ, φύσις, φύσιγξ, in Acc. φύσιγγα, indè vesica, quæ turget aëre plena, & distenta. A bladder; a Rodomontade or a swelling style, Mart. also the privy part of a woman, Juv.

Vesicāria, æ; f. Plin. quòd vesicæ & calculis medeatur; vel quòd habeat folliculos humanis vesicis similes: σφύγνις, φυσαλὶς, ἀλικακάβη. The herb called Alkakengie, or winter-cherries. Vesicaria nux, A bladder nut.

Vesicātorium, i; n. Medic. sc. medicamentum. A medicine which applyed to the skin causeth a blister; a cupping-glass.

Vesicŭla, læ; f. dim. Cic. κυσίδιον. A little bladder.

† Vesidia; Fest. à Vesco, qui malè sedet, nullâ re honestâ occupatus. Sloth, idleness. Al. leg. Residia.

Vespa, æ; f. Cic. à Cano. al. quòd vesperi putatur venari muscas in cibum; al. à Vis & Peto; Σφὴξ, ἀνδρίνη. אַשָּׁפָה. A wasp.

Vesper, ĕris; m. ἕωσφορος. עֶרֶב. The evening Star; the evening: also a supper, Fest. Primo vespere, Cæl. At the beginning of night.

Vesper, a, um; Plin. ἑσπερινός. Of or pertaining to the evening.

Vespĕra, æ; f. Tac. ἑσπέρα. The evening.

Vespĕrālis, le; Solin. ἑσπερινός. Of or belonging to the west part or evening.

Vesperascens, tis; part. Tac. Crepusculum. Drawing toward night.

Vesperascit; impers. Ter. ἑσπερίζει. It draws towards evening.

† Vesperat, ābat, āvit; Gell. Crepusculum. It is evening or night.

† Vesperātus, a, um; Vesperatus dies, Solin. Drawn toward evening, the aundre.

Vespĕrè, vel Vesperi; adv. Cic. ἑσπέρας, εἰς ἑσπέραν. Late, at the end of the day, in the evening.

Vesperna, æ; f. Fest. contr. ex Vespertina. δεῖπνον. A supper or evening meal.

Vespertīlio, ōnis; m. Plin. dict. quòd vesperi volet. νυκτερὶς. עַטַלֵּף. A bat or rere-mouse; a night-walker, who dares not appear by day-light for fear of arrests.

Vespertinus, a, um; Cic. ἑσπερινός. Of, or that is done in the evening. Regio vespertina, Hor. The West-country.

Vespĕrūgo, ĭnis; f. Plaut. à Vesper. ἑωσφόρος. The evening-star: also a Bat, Tert.

Vespĕrus, i; m. Stat. ἕωσφορος. The evening-star.

† Vespices; Paul. apud Fest. fruteta densa. A place thick with bushes.

Vespillo, ōnis; m. Mart. Vespillones, dicti qui funerandis corporibus officium gerunt, quia vespertino tempore eos efferunt, qui funebri pompâ duci propter inopiam nequeunt. νεκροφόρος, σκευαγωγός. He that carrieth out dead bodies in the night to be buried; a Bearer.

Vesta, æ; f. Suet. ἑστία, focus. An Altar. V. Propr.

Vester, tra, um; Cic. à Vos. ὑμέτερος. Yours.

Vestiārium, ii; n. Plin. ἱματοφυλάκιον, ἱματοθήκη. A wardrobe; a chest or press for apparel: also apparel it self, Sen. also a Tailor.

Vestiārius, a, um; ἱματικός. Of or belonging to garments. Vestiaria arca, Cato. A press to keep cloaths in.

Vestiārius, ii; m. Ulp. ἱματιοπώλης, ἱματοφύλαξ. The Yeoman of the robes, or he that keeps the wardrobe: also he that makes or selleth garments, ἐσθητοπώλης. a Broker that selleth old cloaths, Jun.

Vestibŭlum, li; n. Vestibulum dict. eò quòd vestiat, Isid. vel à Vesta, it ara; quòd in domuum ingressibus & spatiis æræ solerent locari, τὸ πρόθυρον, προπύλαιον, προαύλιον. אוּלָם. A porch or entry to a house.

Vesticeps, ipis; c. g. Gell. ex Vestis & Capio; puer, qui jam vestitus est pubertate, ἡβητής, γνώριμος. A stripling, who begins to have hair on his face.

† Vesticontŭbernium; de iis qui sub eadem veste cubant, Petron. Arb.

† Vestifluus, a, um; Lydius vestifluus, Petron. Arb. Wearing loose and wide garments, or abounding in garments, Auson.

Vestigātio, ōnis; f. verb. Apul. ἐξιχνιασμός. A seeking or hunting after.

Vestigātor, ōris; m. verb. Col. ἰχνευτής. A tracer or hunter.

VESTIGIUM, ii; n. Cic. τὸ ἴχνος. עֲקֵבָה. à Vestis: quòd veluti indumentum sit pedis, Perot. ex Ve & Stigo, à στίζω pungo: signum pede factum, Becm. Vestigium, signum relictum quâ vestis agitur, quam longam & viri & fœminæ primitùs ferebant. The print of a mans foot, a footstep, a trace or track; a token, sign or mark of any thing; the sole of the foot, Vir. Equi vestigium, Plin. An horse-shoo. Vestigium temporis, Cæs. The very minute or point of time. Vestigiis consequi, Cic. To follow one by the track.

Vestigo, as; act. Cic. vestigia indago: ἐξιχνεύω, ἰχνεύω. תָּר. To trace or follow by the track, to search diligently, to hunt after or seek out.

Vestimentum, ti; n. Cic. à Vestio: ἱμάτιον, ἱδνὶς, ἱμάτισμα. A garment, vesture or vestment, apparel, cloathing, attire.

Vestio, is, ire; ivi, itum; act. Cic. ἐνδύω, ἱματίζω, περιβάλλω. לָבַשׁ. To clothe, apparel, array, to cover, to garnish or deck.

Vestior, iris; pass. Cic.

Vestiplica, æ; f. Quint. quæ plicat vestes. A maiden that foldeth or layeth up garments, a Chamber-maid.

VESTIS, is; f. Cic. à gr. ἕσθης, ἐσθήμα. בֶּגֶד. A garment, a vest; all manner of cloaths; the skin of a snake, Lucr. a beard or hair on the face, Id. a night-cap, Bud. ex Celf.

Vestispĭcus, ci; m. & Vestispĭca, æ; f. Plaut. dict. quòd vestes inspiciat: ἱματοφύλαξ. He or she that keeps the apparel of their master or mistress.

Vestītior, us; comp. Apul. More clad, or better apparelled.

Vestitillimus, a, um; superl. Col. Best clothed or clad.

Vestītor, ōris; m. verb. Lampr. ἀμφίστης. A Taylor, a fashioner; an apparel ler, Firm. a groom of the Stole.

Vestītrix, icis; f. verb. She that clothes. Pennæ vestitrices, Jun. The coat feathers of a bird, the lesser feathers which cover, and as it were clothe a bird.

Vestītus, a, um; part. Cic. Clad, apparelled, clothed, covered, bedeck'.

Vestītus, ûs; m. Cic. ἀμφίασμα, ἱματισμός. Apparelling, garnishing, apparel, cloathing, raiment.

Vestras, ātis; pron. à Vester; Cic. ὑμέτερος. Of your country, kindred or party.

Vĕtans; part. Cic. Forbidding.

† Vĕtātio, ōnis; f. verb. Val. ἀπαγόρευσις. A forbidding.

† Vĕtātūrus, a, um; part. Val. That will forbid.

† Veter, pro Vetus, Enn. Old, ancient.

Vĕtĕrāmenta; n. plur. Jun. יְשָׁנִים. Old cast cloaths.

Vĕtĕrāmentārius sutor; Suet. qui veteres calceos reficit. καλιγοποιός ῥάπτης. A cobler, a botcher.

Vĕtĕrāmentārius, ii; m. A broker, a Long-lane-man.

Vĕtĕrānus, a, um; Cic. παλαιός. Ancient, old, one that hath served long in a place or office, an old souldier, a veteran.

† Vĕtĕrāria, Sen. Epist. 115. apotheca frugum, vel vinorum veterum.

Vĕtĕrasco, is; incep. Col. παλαιοῦμαι. בָּלָה. To grow old.

Vetĕrātor, ōris; m. Ter. dict. à multâ rerum gerendarum vetustate; qu. vetus in astutiâ. παλαιοπρεπῶν μηχανημάτων, πανουργικός. A crafty knave that hath long practised falshood, an old fox.

Vĕtĕrātōrie; adv. Cic. πανούργως. Craftily, knavishly, like an old fox.

Veterātorius, a, um; Cic. πανοῦργος. Crafty, deceitful, full of tricks.

† Vĕtĕrētum, ti; n. Col. Old fallow ground.

Vĕtĕrīnārius, a, um; Col. ad veterinas animalia pertinens: κτηνιατρικός. Of or belonging to beasts, or to an horse-leech.

Vĕtĕrīnārius, ii; m. Col. κτηνίατρος, ἱππιατρός. An horse-leech or farrier, a horse-doctor; also he who lets horses to hire, a hackney-man, a horse-courser.

Vĕtĕrinus, a, um; Col. κτηνώδης, ἀγεληδόν. Veterinum bestiam jumentum Cato appellavit, à vehendo (qu. veherinum, vel veterinum.) Opifus veterinum dici drift paſſes, qui veterrimum vel maximum quod ad veterinarium adſignatum patet. Feſt. That where it the beaſts, uſed in carriage.

Vēterior, ius ; comp. Plaut. More ancient, older.

Vēterrimē ; adv. Plaut. Formerly.

Vēterrimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Sen. Very old.

Vēternōsus, a, um ; Plaut. Sick of the lethargy or ſleepy diſeaſe, Plin. drowſie, heavy, ſluggiſh, Ter. ſurfeited, Cato. Vēternōſa aqua, Arnob. The drowſie, which makes people ſluggiſh.

Vēternum, i ; n. Plaut. The lethargy.

Vēternus, a, um ; Apul. Drowſie.

Vēternus, i ; m. Vir. λήθαργος ☉, quaſi quaſi à Veternus, quod ſenibus potiſſimum contingit, & quia ſenectus ad negotia lautiora facit. A drowſie diſeaſe, called the Lethargy ; a continual deſire of ſleeping : alſo ſo bluntneſs, ſluggiſhneſs, drowſineſs, &c.

Vĕtĕro, as ; Ceſſ. i. vetus fio. γηράσκω, παλαιόομαι. To grow old and ancient.

Vĕterrimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Vir. παλαιότατος ☉. Very old, the eldeſt.

Vĕtĭtum, i ; n. Hor. τὸ ἀπαγορευθέν. A thing forbidden.

Vĕtĭtus, a, um ; part. Cic. ἀπαγορευθείς. Forbidden, forbidding.

VĔTO, as ; ui, itum (& āvi, ātum ; Perf.) act. Cic. κωλύω, ἀπαγορεύω. מָנַע. à Vi, qu. vim ne quid fiat adhibeo ; vel ab i, non & vio meſſum, id eſt, permiſſum. ☞ Prohibere eſt factis, Vetare eſt dictis reſiſtere, Paquv. To forbid, to prohibit, to command a thing to be not done : alſo to let or hinder.

Vĕtonĭca, æ ; f. Plin. à Vetonibus Hiſpaniæ populis dicta. The herb Betony ; = Serratula.

Vĕtŭla, æ ; f. Mart. γραΐδιον. An old woman or wife.

Vĕtŭlus, a, um ; Vir. dim. à Vetus, παλαιός. שָׁוְיָה. Somewhat old, ſtale, Petr. Arb.

VETUS, ĕris ; n. adj. Cic. à βέτος, βῦ ſignificationem intendit, Scal. ab ætatis magnitudine, ex Ve, id eſt, valde, & Ætas ; Gell. qu. vietus, id eſt, fine vi ; Perot. παλαιός, ἀρχαῖος ☉, παλαιτερός. יָשָׁן. Old, ancient, ſtale.

Vĕtŭlus, ĕris ; f. Cic. à Vetus : παλαιότης, ἀρχαιότης. יְשָׁנָה. Antiquity, ancientneſs, oldneſs, long continuance, old time.

Vĕtŭlē ; adv. Plin. παλαιῶς. Anciently, oldly, of a long time.

Vĕtŭſcĭo, is, ĕre ; Col. παλαιόομαι. To grow old, ancient or ſtale.

Vĕtŭſtior, us ; comp. Cic. More ancient.

Vĕtuſtiſſimē ; adv. ſuperl. Plin. Very anciently, of a very old or long time.

Vĕtuſtiſſimus, a, um ; ſuperl. Tac. Very ancient, or the eldeſt.

Vĕtuſtus, a, um ; Vir. παλαιός, παλαιγενής. יָשָׁן. Old, ancient.

Vexāmen, ĭnis ; n. Lucr. A vexation.

Vexātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. ὀδύνη, πόνος. עֻנּוּי. Grief, trouble, torment, vexation.

Vexātor, ōris ; m. verb. Cic. λυμεών. He that troubles & vexeth.

Vexātus, a, um ; part. παρενοχληθείς, ταραχθείς. Troubled, grieved, vexed, chaſed, ruffled, Mart.

Vexillārius, ii ; m. Liv. ☉. עֹמֶס. A ſtandard-bearer, an Enſign or Ancient.

Vexillātio, ōnis ; f. Suet. λόχος ☉, στρατιὰ A company of ſtout ſhoters under one Enſign, also Horſe or Cavalry, Veget.

Vexillum, i ; n. Cæſ. ☉. דֶּגֶל. à velo, velas, velum, velatum, velillum, & κῶς σημαία Velum. A banner, ſtandard, enſign or flag. Vexillum navale, A ſprit-ſail, Claud. the top gallant. Vexilla ſubmittere, Stat. To ſtrike ſail.

Vexo, as ; frequ. à Veho ; Cic. ταράσσω, κακόω, ἀνάγω. עָנָה. To vex, trouble, cumber, diſturb, or diſquiet ; to toſs and hurry up and down ; to chaſe, to afflict, to miſchief, to torment. Vexare annonam, Plin. To inhance the price.

Vexor, āris ; paſſ. Cic.

V ante I.

VIA, æ ; f. Cic. ab Ire, Scal. al. ab eundo, qu. ia ; vel à Vehendo, primum veha, inde via, Var. per quam venitur ; quid ſi à βίαν, βία via? ὁδός, πορεία. דֶּרֶךְ. A way, a paſſage, a broad ſtreet in a city, Mart. a cauſey : a journey or voyage : alſo a manner, mean or faſhion : a rule, method or courſe. Exigere viam, Aſcon. To order every man to pave before his door. Via militaris, Cic. regis, conſularis, Dig. prætoria, Ulp. The rode or high way. Via ſtrata, Liv. A ſtreet or pav'd high-way.

Viālis, e ; Plaut. ad viam pertinens. Of or belonging to the high-ways.

Vians, tis ; part. Solin. ὁδεύων. Going, walking by the way, travelling, marching, wayfaring.

Viārius, a, um ; ὁ ἀφ' ὁδῶν. Of or belonging to wayes. Viaria lex, Cæl. A ſtatute for repairing of high-wayes.

† Vĭbs, in Gen. pro Vir, Enn.

† Vĭātĭcātus, a, um ; Plaut. ἐφοδιασμένος ☉. Furniſhed with things neceſſary for a journey.

Vĭātĭcor, āris ; dep. Plaut. ἐφοδιάζομαι. To provide neceſſaries for a journey. ◊ Paſſ. To be provided.

Vĭātĭcŭlum, li ; n. dim. Dig. A ſmall proviſion for a journey : alſo a little eſtate or mean livelyhood.

Vĭātĭcum, ci ; n. Cic. quod pro viâ, i. itinere paratur ; ἐφόδιον. צֵדָה. All things neceſſary for a journey, as victuals, money, &c. voyage proviſion.

Vĭātĭcus, a, um ; ὁδοιπορικός. Pertaining to journey or travelling by the way. Viatica cœna, Plaut. A welcome home.

Vĭātor, ōris ; m. Vir. ὁδοιπόρος ☉. רַגְלָן. A traveller, a wayfaring man : alſo a jergeon, a bandle, a purſevant, an apparitor ; Cic.

Vĭātōrius, a, um ; Plin. ὁδοιπορικός. Of or belonging to the way, to travelling or to travellers. Viatoria cubicula, Plin. Hammocks.

Vĭbex, ĭcis ; f. Plin. pregnans plaga, Plaut. ἰοῦλαι Græc. vocant σπυρίδα, indè Vibices : al. quòd vi fiat, Feſt. eſt & ipſius clamo, μώλωψ, πέλιτνα, Cyrillo. חַבּוּרָה. A mark or print of a ſtripe or blow, block and blew, a wale on the fleſh after whipping : alſo a blot or ſtain, a diſparagement, Plaut.

Vĭbia, æ ; f. Pertica tranſverſa, alteri arrectariæ (quæ Vara dicitur) impoſita ; Scal. A pale or ſtick laid acroſs on forks, like the Cricks-bar at bowling. Vara vibiam ſequitur, Prov.

† Vĭbium, ii ; n. Stat. à Vibo ; al. ex ἀμφίβιον, amphibium, qu. phibium. Any creature living on water and land both.

Vĭbo, ōnis ; m. à Vibro, extrito r, vel ab ibis, quod velocè natet, Adminis ictum, Plin. 25. 3. The flower of the herb Britannica, good againſt being thunder-ſtruck.

Vĭbrābĭlis, le ; adj. Auſon. That may be ſhaken or brandiſhed.

Vĭbrāmen, ĭnis ; n. Apul. A brandiſhing or ſhaking.

Vĭbrans, tis ; part. Cic. κλάων, κραδαίνων, brandiſhing, ſhaking, wagging, quivering, playing or turning.

Vĭbrātĭus, us ; comp. Auſon. More forcible, or piercing.

Vĭbrātus, a, um ; part. κεκλασμένος ☉, κραδασθείς ☉. Brandiſhed, darted, caſted, curled, frizled, Vir. quavered, Plin.

Vĭbriſſa, f. plur. Feſt. vel Vibriſſæ, Jugilli in naſo, dict. quod his mulis caput vibratur, Pelt. vel quia ob ſpiritum, qui per nares ducitur, perpetuò vibrentur, i. criſpentur. σφυρὸς ἵππου. Hairs growing in the noſtrils.

Vibriſſo, as ; Feſt. μικρὸν ᾄδω. To warble in ſinging, to ſtrain the voice, to quaver, to trille.

VIBRO, as ; act. Cic. à Vi, Perot. ab ἰβύω, quod lentibus eſt Verto ; M. κλάω, κραδαίνω, πάλλω. רָעַד. To ſhake a thing, to make a thing ſhake or quaver, to brandiſh, to dart or throw : alſo to gliſter and ſhine with a trembling light : alſo to frizle, curle, raſſle. ◊ Item Neut. To tremble, to quiver.

Vibror, āris ; paſſ. Ovid.

Viburnum, ni ; n. Vir. à Viendo, id eſt, ligando : βρυωνία μέλαινα. The wild vine, or bend-wood : alſo a twig, ſhoot or ſprig of a tree.

† Vica Pota ; Sen. Apocolocynth. & Cic. 2. de leg. Dea vincendi potens, à vincendo & potiendo.

Vīcānus, i ; m. Cic. A village, a peaſant, a country-man, one who lives in ſome village.

Vicārĭa, æ ; f. Vopiſc. A deputyſhip alſo a Vicaridge.

Vicārĭātus, ūs ; m. A Vicars office that ſupplyeth a place for another.

Vicārius, a, um ; Liv. qui vicem alicujus gerit ſive obtinet, & in ejus locum ſuccedit. ἀντίστοιχος. That is in ſtead or place of another, that ſupplyeth another room. Vicarium verbum, Plaut. One word or ſaying in lieu of another. Amor vicarius, Hier. Mutual love.

Vicārius, ii ; m. Cic. A deputy, a lieutenant, Veget. an under-ſervant ; a Vicar.

Vicātim ; adv. Cic. κατὰ κώμας, κωμηδόν. In villages or ſtreets, ſtreet by ſtreet, village by village.

Vicecancellārius, ii ; m. qui vicem gerit Cancellarii. A Vicechancellour.

Vicecŏmes, ĭtis ; m. A ſheriff, a Viſcount.

Vicedŏmĭnus, qui domini vice res ipſius adminiſtrat, eique vicariam operam præſtat. A Steward, a Surrogate, who manages the affairs of the Biſhoprick under or inſtead of the Biſhop-Canoniſt.

Vicēnālia, um ; n. pl. Pomp. Læt. Solemn games and vows, for twenty years.

Vicēnārius, a, um ; Plaut. εἰκοστός, εἰκοστὸν ☉. The twentieth.

Vicēni, æ, a ; Liv. εἴκοσι. עֶשְׂרִים. Twenty.

Vicennium, ii ; n. Modeſt. i. Vicēni anni. εἰκοσαετία. The ſpace of twenty years.

Vices, f. pl. דַּרְ עֲוֹנוֹת. Turns, courſes, changes. Vid. Vicis.

Vicēſima, æ ; f. Cic. ἡ εἰκοστή. The twentieth part.

Vi-

Vicesimáni, ì m. pl. Tacit. Souldiers of the twentieth regiment or legion.

Vicesimárius, a, um ; Plin. Of or belonging to the twentieth part.

Vicesímo, as ; Vicesímare milítes, Jul. Cæs. To take or exact every twentieth man.

Vicesímus, a, um ; Cic. The twentieth.

Vicésis, is ; m. Vic. & Vicíssis, & Assis. The weight of twenty pounds, the number of twenty.

Vicis, is ; f. Plin. quòd vim ad triplicem perveniat fructum ; Ifid. al. à Vincio, vel quòd ad modum vitis hæreat ; vel qu. vitiosa ; vel ab ἴσος, ut ab æquo vitium : vel ab ἐκεῖσε εἰκάς, ut ab innoxius pisces, ob æqualem rotunditatem ; vel à gr. ἴσχειν, habere. The pulse called a Fitch or Tare : also continence, rest.

Vicíssim, ìì ; n. Col. A place sowed with Fitches.

Vicíssim, adv. Cic. Of or belonging to Fitches.

Vicies ; adv. Cic. viginti vicibus. eixoσίκις. Twenty times.

Vicina, æ ; f. Cic. ἡ πλησία. A she-neighbour.

Vicinális, le ; Paul. γειτόνιος. Of, or belonging to neighbours or the neighbourhood.

Vicínia, æ ; f. Cic. γειτνία, γειτνίασις, Cornific. Nearness of dwelling, neighbourhood, the vnitnage : also a street, Jun. also nearness, Ovid. likeness, Quint.

Vicínior, us ; comp. Ovid. Nearer.

Vicínitas, ātis ; f. Cic. γειτνίασις. קִרְבָה. The company of neighbours dwelling nigh us, neighbourhood, nearness, likeness.

Vicínium, ìì ; n. Sen. Neighbourhood.

Vicínus, a, um ; Cic. ὁ πλησίον. קָרוֹב. Near, near to, hard by, not far off : also very like, Plin. cum Dat. Ad partendum vicina, Near her time of lying in.

Vicinus, ni ; m. Cic. qui eundem vicum habitat. γείτων, ὁ πλησίον, γείτονος. קָרֵב. A neighbour.

Vicis, in Gen. Liv. Vici, in Dat. Diom. Victim Vicem ; Cic. ab inus. Nom. Vix : à Vi, quod negat facilitatem, nam quod per vices fit, videtur difficile esse, & vix fieri. In plur. Vices, Ovid. vicibus, Plin. ἀμοιβαί, συμπλοκαί. עֵסֶק. Course, stead, place, turn, behalf, change : also office or duty : also misfortune, mischance. Alterná vice, Plin. By turns, one after another. Gratâ vice, Hor. By a kind change. Vice versâ, Ulp. On the contrary. Vice annuâ, Cic. Every year. Vicibus annorum, Col. Every other year. Ad vicem præmii, Amm. By way of reward. Numinis vice, Plin. Like a God. Fungi alienâ vice, Liv. To supply his place, and do his duty for him. Vicem alicujus dolere, Cic. To pity his case, to be sorry for him. Vicem reddere, Plin. jun. referre, Ovid. To do as much for him, to pay him in his own coin, to quit scores.

† Vicisátim, adv. Plaut. idem quod

Vicíssim, adv. Ter. per vices, vice mutuâ ; ἐναλλάξ. By turns, one after another, interchangeably, back again ; in like manner.

† Vicisítas, ātis ; f. Accius ; id. quod

Vicissitúdo, inis ; f. Cic. ἀμοιβή, συναλλαγή. חִלּוּפוֹת. A vicissitude or change ; the interchanging or succeeding of one thing after another.

Vicimágister, ri ; m. Pancirol. A kind of Constable or Master of the watch, that guarded the City by night.

† Victi, pro Victis, Plaut.

Victima, æ ; f. Cic. ἱερεῖον, θῦμα. זֶבַח. à Vincio, quod sacrificatur victus hostibus, Fest. Victima, quæ dextrâ occidit victrice vocatur, Ovid. The beast killed in sacrifice for victory ; a sacrifice, a victim. ✠ Victima pro victis, datur Hostia pro superandis, Cathol.

Victimárius, rii ; m. Plin. ἱερεῖον. ἱερεύς. The that killeth beasts for sacrifice : also he that attends upon the Priest at sacrifice, Val. M. that binds the beast and gets all things ready : also the butcher-priest that kill'd the sacrifice, Lampr.

† Victimo, as ; Apul. To sacrifice.

Victito, as ; frequ. à Vivo, victum. Ter. σιτοῦμαι, τρέφομαι. To live, to maintain himself.

Victor, ōris ; m. verb. à Vinco ; Cic. νικητής. נִצָּחוֹן. A conquerour, a vanquisher : also he that hath his desire and wish, Vir. ✠ Currus victor, Ovid. A triumphant chariot.

Victória, æ ; f. Cic. νίκη. נֶצַח. Victory, conquest, the upper-hand.

Victóriális, le ; Jul. Cap. νικητήριος. Of or belonging to victory.

Victóriátus, i ; m. Plin. sc. nummus. A coin having the image of the Goddess Victory upon it ; a half-groat.

Victóriola, æ ; f. dim. quia ob victoriam laureâ coronab. Laurel of Alexandria, tongue-Laurel. Victoriola, Cic. Little images representing victory.

† Victóriósus, a, um ; Cato. νικηφόρος. Coat hath gotten many victories, victorious.

Victrix, icis ; f. à Victor ; Cic. νικητρίς. She that vanquisheth.

Victrix ; adj. omn. gen. νικητικός, νικηφόρος. Victorious, that getteth or declareth victory. Victrices literæ, Cic. Victricia signa, Lucan.

† Victuális, le ; & Victuárius, a, um ; Apul. Of or pertaining to victuals.

† Victuis, in Gen. pro Victûs ; Var.

Victúrus, a, um ; part. à Vinco. νικήσων. That will overcome.

Victúrus, a, um ; part. à Vivo : βιώσων. That shall live, continue and be seen.

Victus, a, um ; part. à Vincor ; Vir. νικηθείς, ἡττηθείς. Overcome, vanquished, cast, beaten ; baffled, disappointed of his purpose.

Victus, ûs ; m. Cic. verb. à Vivo. τροφή, ὁ βίος. מָזוֹן, מִחְיָה, מַאֲכָל. Sustenance, living, food, victuals, provision, things necessary, as meat and drink to live by : also life, Non.

Victúlus, li ; m. dim. Jun. A little street or village ; an hamlet.

VICUS, ci ; (i) m. Cic. κώμη. שׁוּק. ἄμφοδος, Gl. quòd per vices, i. ordines ædificia collocantur ; vel quòd sit vice civitatis ; vel quòd vias habeat tantùm sine muris. Omn. ab οἶκος domus, ut ab ἄστυ vinum. A street, to wit rows of houses one close to another, with a way between them. Vicus rusticus, Cic. A village. κώμη. חָצֵר.

Vidélicet, adv. Cic. videre licet ; δηλονότι, δηλαδή. To wit, namely, that is to say, or to speak plain.

Viden', Ter. pro Videsne. Do you see?

Videndus, a, um ; part. Ovid. To be seen.

VIDEO, es, ēre ; (i) di, sum ; act. βλέπω, ὁράω, ὑπόλημι. רָאָה. ab οἶδα idem, in fut. 2. ἰδῶ, Ion. ἴδω. To see, look or behold ; to perceive, understand, regard, consider ; to see to, to take heed ; to take care or provide for : also to visit and go to see ; Sen. Mercide Ter. I am out of pay ; take my sword for it. Videre gliscit prandium, Cic. To provide or see meat dinner be ready. Vide ut incedis, Plaut. Look how he struts. Vide quid agas, Ter. Have a care what you do.

Videor, ēris ; pass. δοκέω. נִרְאָה. To be seen, to seem, appear. Videre videor, Ter. Methinks I see it. Visus sum mihi ambulare, Cic. Methought I was walking. Quid tibi videtur ? Ter. What think you?

Videtur, bitur, sum est ; impers. δοκεῖ, δόξαι, φαίνεται. It seems, it appeareth, it seemeth good. Si tibi videtur, Cic. If you please, if you think fit.

Vidua, æ ; f. Cic. χήρα. אַלְמָנָה. qu. viridua, i. à viro ldua vel divila ; al. ex ve privat. & Duo, qu. sine duobus ; vel ex idua privata. A widow.

Viduátus, a, um ; part. cum Abl. Sen. χήρα ποιεῖσθαι. Deprived, bereft, destitute, left all alone.

Viduátus, ûs ; m. Tert. The estate of widows, widowhood.

† Viduertas, ātis ; f. i. calamitas ; dict. quòd viduet bonis, Fest. συμφορά.

Viduítas, ātis ; f. Cic. χηρεία, χήρωσις. אַלְמָנוּת. Widowhood : also lack or want. Viduitas opum, Plaut.

Vidŭlum, n. & vidulus, li ; m. Plaut. quòd in viam detur ; Mansiones, viaticum. אַמְתְּחוֹת. A bag, a budget, a purse or hawking-bag wherein travellers carry their money or any other thing.

Viduo, as ; act. ab ant. Iduo, i. divido, χηρόω, χηρώω. שָׁכַל. To deprive, to bereave, to make one a widow, or leave alone. Urbem viduare civibus, Virg. To kill all the inhabitants of a city ; dextram ense, Sen. To take it out of his hand.

Viduor, āris ; pass. Hor.

VIDUUS, a, um ; (i) Cic. à gr. ἴδιος privatus, solitarius ; vel ab ant. Idus, i. divido. ἴσημι, μισθεῖς. שָׁכוּל. Bereft, deprived, left alone, void, destitute, without. Vitis vidua, Catull. A vine that grows by it self, without the support of any tree. Virgines viduæ, Sen. Unmarried maids. ✠ Cum Abl. Solum arboribus viduum, Col. A ground void of trees.

Viduus, ui ; m. Bud. ὁ χήρος. אַלְמָן. A widower.

VIEO, es, ēre ; evi, ētum ; act. Var. ex Vi & Eo, i. ago vi : pot. à gr. ἱέω mitto, vestio ; ἱεῖναι, ἱέναι. קָשַׁר. To bind with twigs, to hoop a vessel : also to bend.

Victor, ōris ; m. verb. Ulp. qui viet dolia : κολοπλίστης, λαγήνιος. A Cooper that with hoops bindeth vessels : also he that makes baskets or vessels of osier, to be cover'd with leather, Plaut.

Vietus, a, um ; Cic. à Vieo. κολοπλιστός, μισθός. אָמְלָל. fine vi, naturalibus viribus privatus, Fest. That hath lost his natural strength, faint, flaggy, lither, lank, limber, weak, feeble, wrinkled or withered. Vieta vestis aranei, Lucr. A cobweb.

Vigens, part. Cic. Being in force. ✠ Vigens animo, Vegetus corpore, Non.

VIGEO, es, ŭi, ēre ; (i) neut. ex vi agendo, Fest. ἐρρώομαι, δύναμαι, σθένω. עָסַם. To be strong, lusty, fresh, lively, quick, of strength or power, to be in force : to flourish ; to be esteemed ; to dare or continue : to be much used and set by : to bear sway ; to live. Floreo, vivo, Cic.

Vigesco, is, ĕre ; incep. Catul. To grow strong and lusty.

† Vigelangillus, a, um; Apul. Having twenty angles or corners.

Vigesima, æ; f. Plin. εικοστη. The twentieth part; a thing of tribute.

Vigesimalis, le; adj. Apul. The twentieth, or of the twentieth.

Vigesimarius, a, um; Liv. εικοστος. Of or belonging to the twentieth part.

Vigesimo, as; act. Jul. Cap. To punish every twentieth man.

Vigesimus, a, um; Cic. εικοστος. The twentieth.

Vigesies; adv. εικοσακις. Twenty times.

Vigesis, is; Mart. ex Viginti & Assis: ὁ ἀναγκαιος εικοσιν ασσαρια. That weighs twenty pound, that cost twenty Asses.

Vigesis, is; m. The weight of twenty pound.

VIGIL, ilis; adj. omn. gen. Vir. Vigil, αγρυπνος; unde αγρυπνια, æ in is, ut ab Bos: al. Vigil qu. vim agilis: al. à Vigeo, vigilis, & per Apoc. Vigil, ut ab ago agilis. Perot. ἀγρυπνος & ἐγρηγορικος. עיר. Watchful, waking, diligent, careful, mindful, that never goes out.

Vigil, ilis; m. Cic. φυλαξ. שומר. A watch-man, a sentinel.

Vigilans, tis; part. Tert. Watching, awake. Adj. Cic. Watchful, heedful, VIGILANT.

Vigilandus, a, um; part. Tib. αγρυπνητος. To be watched.

Vigilanter; adv. Cæl. ἐγρηγορικως, ἀγρυπνως. Watchfully, diligently, warily, heedfully.

Vigilantia, æ; f. Cic. αγρυπνια, ἐγρηγορσις, ἐπιμελεια. Watchfulness, vigilancy, care, good heed.

Vigilantior, us; comp. Cic. More watchfull.

Vigilarium; n. Sen. locus & specula in qua vigiles: Leg. & Vigilitarium. A watch-tower or place to watch in.

Vigilārius, rii; m. Sen. epist. 58. αγρυπνος, φυλαξ. A watcher or watch-man.

Vigilātio, ōnis; f. Plaut. Waking.

Vigilātus; supert. Mart. Most waked.

Vigilātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Watched, sate up all night; made by sitting up.

Vigilax, ācis; adj. Col. αγρυπνητικος. Watchful, wary, vigilant.

Vigilia, æ; f. Cic. αγρυπνια, φυλακη, παννυχισμος, ἐγερσις. שמורה. A watch by watching, or being awake; a watch by night; vigilance and diligence: also the euen before any feast, a VIGIL, a feast-eue, Plaut. also a watch or fourth part of the night. Vigilia urbis, Cic. The Watch or night-guard.

Vigilis, ārum; f. pl. The Watch, Guard or Sentry. Vigilias agere; Cic. To keep watch and ward, to stand Sentry.

† Vigilium, ii; n. Non. idem.

Vigilo, as; neut. Cic. αγρυπνεω, γρηγορεω. שקד. To wake, to watch, to sit up all night, to be vigilant or very diligent. Vigilare ad multam noctem, de multa nocte, Cic. usque ad lucem, Ter. pro re aliqua, Cic. in aliquod scelus, Stat.

Vigilor, āris; pass. Ovid.

VIGINTI; adj. pl. indecl. εικοσι. עשרים. dict. qu. sint decem bis geniti, Prob. ab εικοσις, Dor. ικατιν, Camin. Twenty.

Viginti viratus, ūs; m. Cic. The office of twenty men of like authority.

Vigintivīri, ōrum; m. pl. Cic. εικοσανδρικοι. Officers of Rome, where twenty were of like authority.

Vigor, ōris; m. Vir. à Vigeo: αγρυπνια, ῥωμη. חיל. Strength, lustiness, courage, liuelinesse, force, vigour.

Vilesco, is; unde incep. Villesco, ĕre; ἀτιμαζομαι, ευτελιζομαι. חלל. To be or become vile, or of small price, to grow cheap.

Vilificio, as; Cic. vilipendo. To vilifie, or make of no reputation.

Villior, ūs; comp. Vir. More vile.

VILIS, le; (1) ευτελης, ἀτιμος, ῥυπαρος, ἀπρακτος. קלה. Vilis, quod in villis minori pretio venduntur res quàm in urbe. Per. rect. à gr. ϝειλω. fort. qu. vialis, i. in via projectus. Vile, of no value or account, little worth or set by; cheap, of little price, base. = Vulgaris, Cic. Pretiosus, Id. accuratus; Quint.

Vilissimè; adv. superl. Col. Most cheaply, dog-cheap.

Vilissimus, a, um; superl. Hor. Cheapest, basest.

Vilitas, ātis; f. Cic. ευτελεια, ἀτιμια, ἀτελεια. זלות. Cheapness, vileness, baseness, villany, Amm. Cæ Caritas.

† Vilito, as; Non. ευτελιζω. To make cheap or of little esteem.

Vilius; adv. comp. Plin. At a cheaper rate.

Villa, æ; f. αγροικια, οικιον αγροικικον. חצר. dict. à Vehendo, qu. vehilla, Var. quod in eam à villico fructus conuehantur & euehantur; cùm veneunt: à Vallo, i. aggere terræ, quod pro limite constitui solet. Onn. à Vicus, vicula, dim. Villa. A mansion-house one of a city or town, a VILLAGE; a farm-house or homestall.

Villānus, i; m. Büd. qui in villâ habitat; αγροικος. A farmer, a villager; hinc Angl. a villain.

Villāris, re; Plin. χωριος, ἀγροικικος. חצרי. Of or belonging to a village, farm, or country-house.

Villāticus, a, um; idem. Canis villaticus, Col. A country-cur, a house-dog.

Villica, æ; f. Col. ἡ ἀγροικια. A farmers wife, a woman that keeps a dairy or house in the country.

Villicans, tis; part. Plin. Playing the bailiff.

Villicātio, ōnis; f. verb. Col. ἀγροικια. A Bailyship or Steward-ship; a hiring or managing of a farm.

Villico, as; & Villicor, āris; dep. Ter. ἀγροικεω. To hire or manage a farm, to follow husbandry, to live in the country.

† Villico, ōnis; m. Apul. id. quod

Villicus, ci; m. Cic. villæ gubernator: ἀγροικος, ἐπιτροπος, οἰκονομος. The bailiff of a Mannour, a Steward, a Farmer.

Villōsus, a, um; Ovid. πολυτριχος, τριχωδης, χαιτηεις. שעיר. Hairy, having an high nap: also made of frieze.

Villula, æ; f. dim. Cic. οικιδιον. A little farm or mannour place.

Villum, li; n. dim. à Vicum, Ter. vinegar. Little or small wine.

Villus, li; m. Cic. à Pilus; fortè à μαλλος. M. ex ϝιλλω, quod & ϝιλλω convolvo; vel à Vellus, quod de lana primò dicatur. λαχνη, δασος. שער. An hair or coarse shag hair: also wooll, the hair or nap of the cloth, as in cor-ee, &c.

Vimen, inis; n. Vir. λυγος, ἱμας, ἱμαντιον. à Vieo. An osier, a twig, a rod, a wicker.

Viminālia, um; n. Plin. λογγαια. A trees and shrubs that bring forth twigs fit to bind or wind.

Viminālis, le; Col. λογγαιος, ἱμαντικος, ἱμαντος. Of or belonging to twigs: also apt to bind or wind.

Vimineus, a, um; Col. ἱμαντινος. Made of wickers, rods or osiers.

Vinācea, æ; f. Col. A grape-stone.

Vinācea, ōrum; n. Col. ἡ γαστηρ, τὰ ἐν ῥαγμασι. The kernels or hard stones in grapes, grape-stones: also the mother of the wine.

Vināceus, a, um; Cic. ἀπυρηνος, ἀπυρηνικος. Of or belonging to kernels of grapes, or to wine in itself and grapes.

Vinācius, i; m. Var. A grape-stone.

Vinago, inis; f. Varr. an eadem ut heb. ענב. ab ענב. A kind of black-dove.

Vinālia, um; n. πανδημα. Feasts at the first broaching or tasting of their wine, S. Martin's feast.

Vinālis, le; ἀπυρος. ut Vinalia verba, Var. Vsed as the wiser.

Vinārium, rii; n. Hor. A wine-vessel, as Hogs-head, Pipe or Runlet.

Vinārius, a, um; Cic. οινικος. Of or belonging to wine.

Vinārius, rii; n. Plaut. οινοπωλης. A vintner, a taverner, one that sells wine: also οινοφλυξ, a drunkard, a great drinker of wine; a wine-bibber, ULO.

Vinca, æ; f. Plin. al. Vinca pervinca dict. quòd obvia quaque sarmentis suis vincit. λυσιμαχια, λυσιμαχεια. Periwinkle.

† Vinceus, a, um; Potiùs vinctus, i, laqueo, onerabo gulam, Plaut. I will knit my neck in an halter, and hang my self.

Vincibilis, le; Ter. ἀνικητος, ἀχειροβλητος. Vincible, conquerable; easie to be vanquished or overcome, easie to be manured, tilled, wrought or laboured.

† Vincimen, inis; n. Jun. vimen. A twig or osier, to bind a thing with.

VINCIO, is, īre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. à Vieo. Nio, nibeo, Nexum, λυγιζω. שרג. To bind or tye up; to swage, to gird: also to hoop, to make sure, to drown and dull. Propert.

Vinclum, i; n. Poët. pro Vinculum.

VINCO, is, ĕre; ici, ictum; act. Cic. à vinclum. per metath. νικαω, κρατεω, νικαζω. נצח. To conquer, to overcome, to vanquish, to over-master, to worst, to get the better of: also to pass, to exceed, to excel; to surpass or surmount; to out-do: to prove or make out: also to express, Vir. to digest or concoct, Plin. to prevail or take place, Liv. = Expugno, Cic.

Vincor, ĕris; pass. Cic.

Vinctūra, æ; f. verb. Plin. λυγισμος, δησις. A binding, a tying.

Vinctus, a, um; part. Ter. δεδεις, δεδεμενος. Bound, hard laced, straight girded, constrained, Hor. promised and assured, Ovid. also a prisoner, Sen. δεσμιος. = Astrictus, Cic. Dissolutus, Id.

Vinctus, ūs; m. Var. δεσις, δεσμος. A binding, a bond, a girth.

Vinculum, li; n. à Vincio: δεσμος, τὸ δεμα. אסור. A bond or band; a tye; any thing that fastens or ties; as fetters, cords, jives; imprisonment; a garland, Sen. a bond or obligation wherein one is bound, Hor.

† Vindēmiātor; m. Hor. pro Vindemiator.

Vindēmia, æ; f. Vir. qu. vindemia, à vino vel vite demenda: τρυγητος. יקב. The gathering of grapes to make wine: vintage: also gathering of fruits or corn.

Vindēmialis, le; Macr. Of or belonging to vintage.

Vindemiātor, ōris; m. Col. τρυγητης. A vintager or he that gathers grapes to make wine: also a star which appears the fifth day of March. Plin.

Vindēmiātōrius, a, um; Var. τρυγητικος.

Of or belonging to vintage.

Vindēmio, as; Plin. τρυγάω. בָּצַר. To gather grapes or ripe fruit in harvest.

Vindēmiŏla, æ; f. dim. Cic. A little vintage.

† Vindēmitor, ōris; m. Ovid. id. quod Vindemiator.

VINDEX, icis; c. g. Cic. qu. vim dicens; à gr. ἴνδην ὄν; id. quod ἴσον ὄν, πανομοῖος, ἀμύνων. בַּעַל נָקָם. An avenger of wrong; a redresser of grievances; an assertor, a setter at liberty; a defender: also the Patron of a book; or to whom it is dedicated, Mart. ✤ Vindices rerum capitalium, Sal. Executioners, or headsmen and hangmen. Vindex peccatorum, Cic. A punisher of things done amiss; libertatis, Id. A restorer of one to his liberty. = Ultor, oppressor, Cic.

Vindicandus, a, um; part. Plin. To be preserved, punished, &c.

Vindictio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἐκδίκησις, τιμωρία. נָקַם. An avenging or punishing, a vindication.

Vindiciæ, ārum; f. Liv. à Vindex: ἐλευθερώσεις. The assertion of one's liberty or cause, &c. ἐνδικίαι, ἐνδικασίαι. Gl. also a Rejoinder in law, bringing in proofs and sureties.

Vindico, as; a&c. ἐνδικάω, τιμωρέω. נָקַם. To avenge, to revenge or punish; to defend, deliver or preserve from danger or wrong; to secure, ἀμύνειν, ἀνακτᾶσθαι. to restore, or set at liberty, to avouch, to maintain; to vindicate. Vindicare aliquem in libertatem, Cic. To set him at liberty; à supplicio, Id. To deliver him from it; se ab aliquo, Sen. de aliquo, Cic. To revenge himself upon him; se existimationi hominum, Id. To keep up his reputation; aliquid ab oblivione, Id. To keep it from being forgotten. Vindicare in aliquem, Veget. To punish him.

Vindicor, āris; pass. Cic.

Vindicta, æ; f. Cic. à Vindico: ἐκδίκησις, τιμωρία. נְקָמָה. Vengeance, punishment, defence, maintenance: also a rod which was laid on the head of a servant when he was made free: also liberty or freedom it self.

Vinea, æ; f. Cic. ἀμπελών. כֶּרֶם. à Vite, (qu. vitinea) vel à Vino. A vine or vineyard: also an engine of war made of timber and hurdles, under which in assault they came safely under the walls of a town, and so scaled them.

Vinealis, e; Col. ἀμπελικός. ἀμπελίτης. Of or belonging unto vines, or a vineyard.

Vinearius, a, um; Col. idem.

Vineaticus, a, um; Var. idem.

Vinetum, ti; n. Cic. à Vinea: ἀμπελών, ὀπωρεῶν. A vineyard.

Vinipotor, ōris; m. Plin. οἰνοπότης. A drinker of wine; a wine-bibber.

Vinitor, ōris; m. Cic. ἀμπελουργός. כֹּרֵם. A vine-dresser, a keeper of a vineyard; a gatherer of grapes, Vir.

Vinitorius, a, um; Col. ἀμπελουργικός. Of or belonging to the keeping of a vineyard, or dressing of vines.

† Vinnŭlus, a, um; Plaut. à Vinno, l. concinno molliter inflexo; Douza. V. Vinulus.

Vinŏlentia, æ; f. Cic. μέθη, συμποσία, οἰνοφλυγία. שִׁכָּרוֹן. Drunkenness.

Vinŏlentus, a, um; Cic. συμποτικός, οἰνώδης. שִׁכּוֹר. Given to drinking of much wine, or like made with wine, winish.

Vinōsissimus, a, um; superl. Ovid. Very much given to wine.

Vinōsus, a, um; οἰνώδης. That hath a smack and savour of wine, Col. also given to drinking of wine, Hor. φίλοινος.

† Vĭpŭlus, a, um; Plaut. dicitur molliter se gerens, & minime quid utile faciens, Fest. à Vinus, unde Angl. fine. al. qu. venum redolens. al. à Venus, ut sit amatorius. ἐπιθυμητικός. Delicate, dainty, nice, wanton; or somewhat tipsie or drunk with wine-bibbing.

VINUM, ni; (i) n. Vir. à gr. οἶνος. יַיִן. Var. à vi ducit; vel à Vite, qu. vitinum. wine: also any kind of drink.

Vio, as; Intenti ad viandum, Ammian. To journey or travel.

† Viocurrus, qu. viam currens, Var.

† Viocurus, ri; m. Var. qui vias curat. A Surveyor of the high-ways.

VIOLA, æ; f. Vir. à vi olendi; al. per dim. à gr. ἴον viola. al. quòd juxta vias nasci amat, ubi homines solent ire; ita & Ion ab itione. A violet.

Vĭŏlābilis, le; Vir. βιαστὸς, βιαῖος. That may be broken, abused, hurt.

Vĭŏlăceus, a, um; Plin. ἰοειδὴς, ἰοῦν. Of a violet colour, or like a violet.

Vĭŏlandus, a, um; part. Tib. To be broken or transgressed.

Violārium, rii; n. Vir. ἰωνιά. A bank or bed of violets.

Vĭŏlarius, rii; m. Plaut. ἰοβάφος. He that dyeth violet-colour.

Vĭŏlātim; adv. Liv. By way of violence or abuse.

Violātio, ōnis; f. verb. Liv. βιασμὸς, ὕβρισμα. A breaking, violating, wronging or abusing.

Violātor, ōris; m. verb. Liv. βιαστὴς, παραβάτης, διαφθορεύς. A corrupter or abuser; a transgressor, a forcer.

Violātus, a, um; part. Liv. βιαθεὶς, ὑβρισμένος. Deflowred, broken, forced, hurt, abused.

Violātus, ūs; m. Mart. An abuse.

Violens, tis; omn. gen. Hor. βίαιος. violent, forcible.

Violenter; adv. βιαίως, βία. Fiercely, violently, perforce.

Violentia, æ; f. Cic. βία. עֹשֶׁק. Force, violence, earnestness; storminess, Plin.

Violentior, us; comp. Vir. More violent.

Violentissimè; adv. superl. Just. Most violently.

Violentissimus, a, um; superl. Cic. Most boisterous.

Violentus, a, um; Cic. βίαιος. Forcible, violent, fierce, cruel, injurious, boisterous. = Vehemens, furens, Cic. & Tranquillus, Claud.

Vĭŏlo, as; act. Cic. à Vi, qu. vim ingero, Perpt. βιάζομαι, παραγομαι, διαφθείρω. חָמַס. To violate, corrupt, deflowr; to transgress or break, (as a man doth a law,) to distain, defile or fully; to hurt, to misuse, to wrong: also to cut or fell down, Ovid.

Viŏlor, āris; pass. Cic.

Viorna, æ; f. qu. vias ornans herba. An herb called Tee travelers joy.

Vĭpa, æ; f. Erasm. qu. in vino panis. A sop in wine, a toast.

Vipĕra, æ; f. Cic. quòd vi pariat, cum matris interitu: al. qu. vivipera vel à Vipre, i. Vepre, quòd in vepretis ſtabulari gaudet. M. ἔχις, ἰοβόλα, θηρίον. אֶפְעֶה. a viper, an adder.

Vipĕrālis; f. Apul. quod valeat contra viperarum morsus, Kue, herbgrace.

Vipĕrāria, æ; f. Gerard. Viper-grass.

Vipĕrĕus, a, um; Vir. ἐχιδνώδης. Of or belonging to Vipers.

Vipĕrīna, æ; f. quòd ad morsus viperarum remedium; vel semen ferat viperinis capitibus simile, Jun. ἄγριον. Wild Burrage.

Vipĕrīnus, a, um; Hor. id. quod Viperĕus.

Vipio, ōnis; m. Plin. 10. 49. à gr. ἀπιὼν. γερανίσκος. A young Crane.

† Vipres, antiq. pro Vepres, Scal.

VIR, viri; m. ἀνὴρ, ὁ φώς. אִישׁ. à Vi, quòd viribus præstat: al. à Vireo. A man, a stout fellow; a husband, Vir. the male of beasts, Id. the privy part, Catull.

Vira, æ; Fest. ἀνδρεία, Symmach. A woman, a manly woman. Viræ querquetulanæ, i. Hamadryades, Scal.

Virāgo, inis; f. Ovid. quòd ut vir agat; ἀνανδρεσσα, ἀρρενωπὸς γυνὴ. A man-like woman, a bouncing girl; an Amazon.

† Virārius, a, um; & Viratus, adj. qui est magnarum virium, Non.

Virbius, ii; m. Serv. bis vir, seu qui binas habet uxores; vel qui bis fecit facta viro digna; vel qui bis resuscitatus est, ut Lazarus & Hippolytus; vel ex Vir & Bios vita, qu. vir denuò vitalis.

Vircŭlæ; f. pl. Plin. vel pro virgulæ, vel qu. vasculæ ob virorem. Thin rinds of the Linden-tree betwixt the bark and the wood, such as they make boxing ropes of.

Virectum, ti; n. Vir. à Vireo: ἀλσώδες. A green place. Rect. Viretum.

Virens; part. Vir. Flourishing, green.

VIREO, es, ŭi; (ī) neut. Vir. χλωρύνομαι, θάλλω. רָעַן. à Ver; vel à Viro; vel à Vi, i. majorum virium ſto; M. à ירה. To be green, to flourish, to be lusty or strong.

Vireo, ōnis; m. Plin. à viridi colore; χλωρίων. A Canary-bird of a green colour, a Green-finch.

Vires, ium; f. pl. à ſing. Vis. Strength.

Virĕsco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. θάλλω, χλωρίζω, θάλλω. To wax green, to begin to flourish, to come to his flowers.

† Virĕsco, is, ĕre; à Vires, Non. To grow strong or of force.

Virētum, ti; n. Vir. à Vireo. ἀλσώδες. A place full of green herbs, a Green, a grass-plat.

VIRGA, æ; f. Cic. ῥάβδος, ῥάμνος. שֵׁבֶט. quòd vim gerat, Perot. vel quòd vi regat, vel vim regat, Sipont. vel qu. Verga, à virendo, ut θάλλος, à θάλλω. A rod, a twig, a young branch; a whip or scourge; a mans yard, a ſtrake, Ovid.

Virgārius, rii; m. ῥαβδοῦχος, ῥαβδιστὴς, Gl. Cyr. A Virger; a Beadle in an University.

Virgātor, ōris; m. Plaut. ῥαβδιστὴς. A beater with rods; a whipster; a Beadle of a Parish.

Virgātus, a, um; ῥαβδωτὸς. Made of twigs or whips, Catul. beaten with rods, Val. Flac. Streaked or striped, Vic.

Virgētum, ti; n. Cic. ῥαβδών. A place where osiers or rods grow.

Virgeus, a, um; Vir. ῥαβδινος. Of or belonging to rods, twigs, osiers, &c.

† Virgidēmia; Plaut. V. Virgindemia.

Virgifer, i; m. Liv. ῥαβδοφόρος, ῥαβδοῦχος. He that carryeth a silver wand or rod before an Officer or Preacher; a Verger, an University Beadle.

Virginal, is; n. Prud. virginis natura, ut Feminal fœmella. Also a kind of sacrifice, Apul.

Virginále, is; n. Solin. id. quod Virginal: it. instrumentum musicum Virginibus frequens. Virginals to play on.

Virgináliter, adv. Cic. as becometh a Maiden, virgin like; of or belonging to a maid or virgin. Feles Virginalis sive Virginaria, Pl. ut. a bawd.

Virginárius, a, um; Pl. ut. idem.

† Virgindémia, æ; f. Plaut. ja ſchneiden, cùm virgæ demuntur. A gathering of osiers, twigs or rods to make bands, &c. also whipping-ware?.

Virginénſis, e; Si adest virginenſi deo, ut virginis. Vanna ſolvatur, Aug.

Virgíneus, a, um; Vir. παρθένιος. Virgin-like; of or belonging to a virgin.

Virgínitas, átis; f. Cic. παρθενία. בְּתוּלִים Chastity, virginity, maidenhead, pusillage.

† Virgíno, ás; antiqu. To be chaste.

Virginor, áris; dep. Tert. παρθενεύω. To play the virgin, to be a virgin.

Virgo, ínis; f. Cic. qu. virago; ut ab אִישׁ, אִשָּׁה. al. à virore ætatis. παρθένος. בְּתוּלָה. A virgin or maid, a damsel; any thing that hath not been defiled or medled with; a chaste person, man or maid; also a married woman, Hor. one of the twelve Signs. Virgo equa, Plin. A mare never horsed. Virgo charta, Mart. A copy never yet published. Virgines sacræ, Jun. Nunn. § Virgo maxima, Val. M. The Lady Mother, Governesse or Prioress of the Nuns. Pueri virgines, Plaut. Young boyes.

Virgúla, æ; f. dim. ῥάβδος. A little rod. Virgula divina, Cic. When things succeed without our care, and fall as it were in our laps from heaven.

Virgulátus, a, um; Plin. ja ſtreifet. Striped, streaked, or drawne with rods.

Virgultum, i; n. Cic. à Virga, qu. Virgultum. ῥάγιασον, θλάσμα. שִׂיחַ. A company of young sprigs growing together out of the ground: also a sprout or young set or tree, Plin.

Virguncúla, æ; f. Juv. dim. à Virgo. παρθενάριον. γύναιον. a little girl or young maid, a maidlet.

Viris; five Viriola, æ; f. Paul. ornamentum colli è gemmis viridibus. A necklace (or as some, a many bracelet) made of green precious stones.

† Viriátus, a, um; Lucil. ap. Non. à Virea, a, quasi Dei. Viridis. Strong, lusty, pust in heart, force or strength.

Viriculæ, árum; f. Apul. dim. à Virea, lepidum. Little or small strength or force, small substance, or means; weakness.

Viriditas, átis; f. Plin. id. quod ceſtrum; it. missilis teli genus, Cæl. A graving tool: also a kind of dart.

Viridans, antis; adj. Vir. χλοεύων, χλοερός. Verdant, green.

Viridárium, ii; n. Snet. à Viridis. גַּן יְרָקוֹת. A green place inclosed, where wild beasts and fowls are kept: also a green garden or place set with Greens; a Green.

Viridárius, a, um; Ulp. κηπουρικός. Belonging to a garden or green place.

Viridárius, ii; m. Ulp. κηπουρός. A Gardiner, a Grein-keeper; Verder in a forest.

Viridè; adv. Plin. χλοερῶς. Greenly.

† Viridia, æ; f. Macr. A place set with green trees for pleasure.

† Viridia, órum; Macr. viridaria.

† Viridicárus, a, um; Cic. χλοηφόρος, πράσινος. Made green or fresh.

Viridis, de; adj. Cic. à Vireo. χλωρός, θαλλώδης, ὠμός. יָרֹק. Green; lusty, fresh, strong, lively; grassie; יְרַק colour in Metallaris.

Viridíſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Cic.

Viriditas, átis; f. Cic. χλοερότης, χλωρότης. יֹרֶק. Greenesse, liuelinesse.

Viridius; adv. comp. Plin. More greenly.

Virile, is; n. Plin. ſc. membrum, per quod vir eſt, τὸ ἀῤῥεν. Plur. Virilia. בֵּשֶׁת.

Virilis, le; Cic. à Vir. ἀνδρεῖος, ἀνδρικός, ἀνδρώδης. Of or belonging to a man; stout, valiant, manly; of the male kind; also grave, sober, substantial. Pro virili, ſc. parte. Cic. To his utmoſt.

Virilitas, átis; f. Col. ἀνδρεία, ἀνδρωσύνη. Manlineſs: also the privy parts of a man, as Plin.

Viriliter; adv. Cic. ἀνδρικῶς, ἀνδρείως. Valiantly, manly, manfully, like a man.

Virióla; f. Paul. vid. Viria.

† Viriósus, a, um; Apul. viribus abundans. δυνατός. Full of ſtrength. § It. id. quod Virosus, Gl. Poiſonous.

Viripótens, tis; f. Plaut. ἀνδρόγαμος. Ripe for marriage, able to lye with a man, marriageable, lapidable.

Viritánus ager, Feſt. qui viritim, vel ut al. virenti populo distribuitur, Paul.

Viritim; adv. Cic. κατ' ἄνδρα. אִישׁ אִישׁ. Man by man, man for man, from man to man: also particularly one by one, Sen.

Viror, óris; m. à Vireo. χλωρότης. יֹרֶק. Greenesse.

Virósus, a, um; à Vir; Lucil. ἀνδρώδης. Desirous, or lusting after man; riggish, that loves mens company.

Virósus, a, um; à Virus; Vir. βαρυμήδης, δυσώδης. נִאֲלָח. Full of poiſon, venemous, of ill ſavour and taſte.

Virtus, útis; f. Cic. à Viro, qu. viritus, ut gr. ἀνδρεία ab ἀνήρ. vel à Vi, ut aperta ex Apme Mars, nam fortitudo antiq. maxima virtus; vel ex ἀρετή. ἀρετή, ἀνδρεία. גְּבוּרָה, גְּבוּרוֹת. Vertue, force, power, ſtrength, ἰσχύς, courage, bravery, gallantry; value, worth, authority; merit, deſert; Ter. also a property, Quint. δύναμις. Deûm virtute, Plaut. By Gods help.

Virulentus, a, um; Gell. ἰώδης. Poiſonous, venomous, virulent.

VIRUS; (i) n. indecl. Cic. tres habet hodie tantùm casus, Serv. in Abl. Viro, Lucr. à gr. ἰός idem, ut à vove nurus: al. à Vir, qu. viri adulti odor; al. qu. vi oris; al. à vi & ἰός. יֶרֶס. Poiſon, venome; a rank rammiſh ſmell, as of the arm-pits; a ſtrong ſcent or taſte, a ſtinking ſmack, Plin. a ſtrong ſmell of ſpices or perfumes, Stat. a paint or dy, Plin. the ſeed or nature of living creatures, id. a woman's monthly terms: also the colour and juice of the purple-fiſh, Plin. jun. Virus amatorium, Plin. A love-potion.

VIS, vis, vim, vi; f. Plur. Vires, ium, ibus; ab ic, ing. al. à ſus ab hebr. אוֹן, Aven. & vocis ſpiritus, πνεῦμα. חֹזֶק, חֹזֶק. Force, violence, ſtrength, might, power, liveliness, vertue, efficacy, working, operation, effect, rage, abundance, plenty, multitude, ſignification, meaning or importance. Vis major, Plin. *Stormy and boiſterous weather, as if ſ. ſ. ſ.

Visus, a, um; part. Vir. ὁρατός. Beheld, perceived, seen.

Visus, ūs; m. Cic. à Video: ὄψις. Sight, view; a look; the sense of sight; the thing seen, A vision or sight, Vir. A kind of shew.

Vita, æ; f. Cic. ζωὴ, βίος. יְחִיִּים à vivendo. al. à gr. βιόω. à Vi, Iſid. Life, a manner of living, food: also the world, all men; common nature, Juv. Et in plur. Ter. Fashions, manners, behaviour: also ſoules. Vita ſine corpore, Vir. Ghoſts.

Vitābilis, le; Non. To be avoided.

Vitābundus, a, um; Sal. ἀλαβάμβυος. That eſcheweth a thing.

Vitālia, ium; n. Lucan. dict. quòd in ſe vitam contineat, Jun. The lungs, heart, liver, the VITALS or life parts. Vitalia capitis, Plin. The brain.

Vitālis, le; Cæl. ζώσιμος, βιωτικὸς. Of life; lively, VITAL, that hath life in it, or that gives and preſerves life: alſo likely to live.

Vitālis, is; f. Apul. ſc. herba, quòd vitam conſervat; al. quòd vitam in ſe ſemper habeat, ſemper enim viret. The herb Sengreen.

Vitālitas, ātis; f. Plin. τὸ ζωτικὸν, δύναμις ζωτικὴ. Life, livelineſs.

Vitāliter; adv. Lucr. ζωτικῶς. Lively, briskly, with life.

Vitātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. ἀλλαβεία, εὐφυγή. An avoiding or ſhunning.

Vitātor; m. Apul. φυλακτὴς. An avoider.

Vitātus, a, um; part. ἐκφυγεὶς. Shunned, eſchewed, avoided.

† Vitaxæ; m. pl. Amm. Maſters of horſemen among the Perſians.

Vitellianæ; Mart. ſc. tabellæ. A kind of writing-tables.

Vitellīnus, a, um; Med. Of or belonging to the yolk of an egg, or like to it.

Vitellus, li; m. Hor. à Vita; quòd ex eo vivat pullus, Perot. λέκιθος, χλωρὸν τοῦ ὠοῦ. חֶלְמוֹן. The yolk of an egg. ϕ It. dim. à Vitulus, Plaut. A young or little Calf.

Vitens, a, um; Vir. à Vitis. ἀμπελὶς. Of or belonging to a vine.

Vitex, icis; f. Plin. à Vieo, flecto; quòd ſit vieta; ſ. à Vio vel Vira unde & Vitis. ἄγνος, λύγος. A kind of withy or willow, commonly called Agnus caſtus, in Engliſh Park-leaves, Abrahams balm, chaſt or hemp-tree.

Vitiābilis, le; Prud. Sinful, faulty.

Vitiārium, rii; n. Col. vitium ſeminarium; ἀμπελοφυτὸν. A place planted or ſet with young vines; a vineyard.

Vitiātio, ōnis; f. verb. Sen. φθορά. Raviſhing, deflouring, ſpoiling.

Vitiātor, ōris; m. verb. Sen. διαφθορεὺς. A deflourer, a raviſher of maids.

Vitiātus, a, um; part. διαφθαρμένος. Deflowred, raviſhed, corrupted, ſtained or dyed, Sil.

Viticŏla, æ; c. g. Sil. qui colit vites. That planteth or dreſſeth vines.

Viticŭla, æ; f. dim. Plin. ἀμπελὶς. A little vine: alſo a tendrel, a ſprig, a branch.

Viticŭlum, li; n. Plin. κλημάτιον. The ſhoot, branch or tendrel of a vine.

Vitĭfer, a, um; Sil. ἀμπελοφόρος. That beareth vines.

Vitigĭneus, Col. & Vitigenus, a, um; Lucr. ἀμπελὶς. That cometh of a vine.

Vitĭlia, um; n. Plin. λύγοι. The twigs or rods to bind vines withal.

Vitĭligo, ĭnis; f. Cels. λεύκη, ὀλφὸς. Vitiligo in corpore hominis macula alba, ſive à Vitio dicta, etiamſi non ladit; ſive à Vitulo, propter ejus membranæ candorem, quâ naſcitur involutus, Feſt. nam ſcrib. Vituligo, Gl. Phil. The Leproſie, the Morphew.

Vitilis, le; Plin. dict. quod ad ligandum vites aptum eſt; vel à Viendo, qu. Vietilis. λυγώδης. Flexible, pliant; that may be wound, apt to bind a tye with: alſo made of twigs or wicker.

Vitilĭtigātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ζωπυρητὴς. רָגִיז. A barretter, a quarrelſome knave in law, a pettifogger, a corrupt accuſer, a ſlanderer, an baſter, a wrangler, a caviller, a quarreller: alſo a make-bate, Cato.

Vitilĭtigo, as; Plin. à Vitis & Litigo, vitiosè litigo; ζωπυρέω. רָגַז. To backbite, to detract, to wrangle and quarrel.

Vitio, as; act. Cic. à Vitium: διαφθείρω, κατακηλέω. שָׁחַת. To corrupt, vitiate, deſtroy, ſpoil, mar, infect, hurt or make ſick; to deflour. = Corrumpo, Cic.

Vitior, āris; paſſ. Ovid.

Vitiōsè; adv. Cic. κακῶς; πλημμελῶς. Ill, naughtily, amiſs, vitiouſly, faultily.

Vitiōſior, us; compar. Hor.

Vitiōſiſſimus, a, um; ſuperl. Quint. Moſt vicious or faulty.

Vitiōſitas, ātis; f. Cic. κακία, φαυλότης. Viciouſneſs, faultineſs, naughtineſs, lewdneſs, wickedneſs.

Vitiōſus, a, um; Cic. φαῦλος, μοχθηρὸς, κακός. רַע. Vicious, wicked, lewd, naughty: alſo faulty, corrupt, full of errors, rotten, worm-eaten, periſhed, Plin. alſo ſickly, crazy, full of diſtempers. = Flagitioſus, Cic. ✠ Purus, integer, rectus, Id.

VITIS, is; (i) f. ἄμπελος. גֶּפֶן. quia lenta, à Vieo, flecto, ligo: à Vi, magnâ vi flexa, &c. Scal. à Ferendo vino, q. d. vinitis; ſive quòd invitet ad uvas percipiendas, Var. al. quòd invicem ſe vittis innectant. A vine, a Centurions rod, Juv. κλῆμα, ῥάβδος.

Vitisātor, ōris; m. Vir. epitheton Saturni. ἀμπελοφύτης. A plant or ſett of vines.

Vitiſco, is, ĕre; Col. i. vitis fio. To grow to be a vine.

VITIUM, tii; (i) n. κακία, ἀμάρτημα, πλημμέλεια. רָעָה. à Vito, quòd vitandum & fugiendum ſit; vel ex Vi & Eo, quia ad vitium vi rapimur à naturâ: puto ab ἄτιον, unde αἰτιάομαι accuſo. Vice, ſin, wickedneſs, naughtineſs, a fault, a blemiſh; an imperfection; blame, offence, default, miſcarriage, corruption: alſo a malady, diſeaſe or diſtemper. Vitium facere, Cic. To crack or bunch out and be ready to fall. Vitium offerre virgini, Ter. To raviſh her. Vitio alicui dare, Cic. To find fault with him.

Vito, as; act. Cic. à Vi, quaſi Vi averto, Per. ἐκφεύγω. ἀλλαβέομαι. שָׁמַר. To ſhun or avoid, to eſchew, to beware of.

Vitrārius, rii; m. Lampr. A Glaſſmaker, a Glazier or worker in glaſs.

Vitrea, ōrum; n. Plin. ὑάλινα. Glaſſes, drinking-glaſſes, veſſels made of glaſs.

Vitreāmina, um; n. pl. Paul. idem.

Vitreum; n. Tert. A counterfeit jewel, like our Briſtow-ſtones; a piece of glaſs.

Vitreus, a, um; Plin. ὑάλινος, ὑαλοειδὴς. Of or belonging to glaſs, glaſſy, glaſſy green: clear like glaſs, tranſparent, Pl. jun. brittle like glaſs, Hor. Vitreo veſtis, Var. A garment of lawn or cambrick ſo thin and fine that one may ſee through it.

Vitriārius, rii; n. Sen. ὑαλουργὸς. A Glaſier, a Glaſs-maker.

Vitricus, ci; m. Cic. πατρυιὸς, ἀνδρόκηδος. matrix vocis vir; qu. mauricus, quòd novus ſuperinducatur à matre, Perot. Vitricus, qu. Patricus, patricus, avunculus quòd patris locò ſit. A ſtep-father, or father-in-law.

Vitriŏlum, i; n. Perot. à vitri ſimilitudine. Vitriol, copperis.

Vitrum, tri; n. Cæl. dict. quòd viſui perſpicuitate tranſluceat, Iſid. fort. à Vireo, qu. viritum, & per ſync. & metath. vitrum. ὕαλος. גְּוִישׁ. Glaſs: alſo woad, Pomp. Mel. iron.

Vitta, æ; f. Vir. ταινία, κεκρύφαλος, καρδιάκη. פְּתִיל. dict. quòd ei pectus vincitur, inſtar vitis ligantis, Iſid. faſcia quâ caput vincitur, Perot. A fillet, head-band, or hair lace wherewith the Prieſts wives did tye their hair; a ribband, a garland, a ſwathband, Ovid.

Vittātus, a, um; Plin. ταινιωτὸς. Bound with, or tyed up in a fillet or hair-lace, dreſſed with ribbands.

Vitŭla, æ; f. Vir. μόσχος. עֶגְלָה. An heifer or young cow, a cow-calf.

Vitŭlans, tis; part. Feſt. Iætatis gaudio, ut prato vitulus: σκαιύνεσθαι. Wantonly rejoycing.

Vitŭlīna, æ; f. ſc. caro; & Vitulinum, i; n. Cic. Veal.

Vitŭlīnus, a, um; Cic. μόσχειος. Of or belonging to a calf.

Vitŭlor, āris; dep. Plaut. à Vitulus, ut à μόσχος, μοσχεύω. σκαιύνομαι. To skip, hop and friſk about like a young calf.

Vitŭlus, li; m. Cic. ὁ μόσχος. עֵגֶל à gr. ἰτάλος idem; unde & Italia dicta, vid. Propr. A calf: alſo a Seal or Sea-calf; a young of other things; a ſteer or bullock, Vir.

Vitŭperābilis, le; adj. Cic. βλάσφημος, μωμητὸς. Blame-worthy, that may be blamed or found fault with.

Vitŭperātio, ōnis; f. verb. ψόγος. A blaming or finding fault with. ✠ Laudatio, Cic.

Vitŭperātor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ψόγος, κατήγορος. A blamer, diſcommender or reprover.

Vitŭperium, rii; n. ὄνειδος, ὀνείδισμα. דִּבָּה. Rebuke, diſpraiſe, blame.

Vitŭpĕro, as; act. Cic. à vitio, i. vitio aliquid do. Vitupero, alicujus vitia apparere facio, Perot. à Vitium & Paro vel Pario: ψέγω, λοιδορῶ. גָּרַף. To blame, to rebuke or diſcommend, to find fault with.

Vituperor, āris; paſſ. Cic.

† Vituperōres, um; m. pl. Gell. 19. 7. ψόγοι. Rebukers, finders of fault.

Vivācior, us; comp. Hor. More lively, longer-lived.

Vivācissimus, a, um; ſuperl. Gell. Moſt lively.

Vivācitas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀλκὴ, μακροβιότης, Col. Long life, livelineſs, VIVACITY.

Vivāciter; adv. Liv. Livelily.

Vivārium, rii; n. Liv. locus in quo vivæ feræ tenentur, ζωοτροφεῖον. A place where wild beaſts or fiſhes are kept; a park, a warren, a ſtew or fiſh-pond.

† Vivātus, a, um; Luer. Entrocre, endued with life, lively.

Vivax, ācis; adj. Col. ζώσιμος, μακρόβιος. עַתִּיק. Long-lived, lively, strong, lusty.

Vivens; part. Hor. Living, alive, lively; that manages naturally, stat.

Viverra, æ; f. Plin. quod vivit vel vivendo in terrâ; vel quod vivo major. Ivr. A ferret.

† Viveſco, is, ĕre; Luct. To live. Vivus ſum.

Vividè adv. Caſ. Livelily.

Vividius; adv. comp. Amm. More quick or luſtily.

Vividus, a, um; Hor. à Vivo. ζωηρός, ἐνδυνος. Lively, quick, brisk, mettleſom.

Vivifico, as; Apul. ζωοποιῶ. חָיָה. To quicken or enliven.

Vivificus, a, um; Amm. Giving life.

Vivipărus, a, um; Apul. That bringeth forth young ones alive.

Vivirădix, icis; f. Plin. vivum radicem habens: μάγυαρις. שׁוּם. A quick-ſet.

† Viviſco, is, ĕre; incep. Plin. ζωογονῶμαι. To begin to ſpring or take life; alſo to be ſtrong and luſty.

Vivitur, impers. Ovid. They live.

VIVO, is, ĕre; (i) xi, ctum; neut. à Vivus, Canin. à Vir, qui vim & vigorem habeo. Perot. ζάω, ζῶω, βιόω. חָיָה. To live, to have life, to be alive: alſo to live a merry life, to enjoy himſelf, Mart. alſo to be nouriſhed and increaſed, Vir. to continue, remain or laſt, Stat. Cum Acc. Vivere vitam, Ter.

Vivor, ĕris; paſſ. Ovid.

Vivus, a, um; ζῶος, ἐμψυχος. חַי. Alive, living, quick, lively, freſh, naturally, green. Aqua viva, Var. A running water. Calx viva, Jun. Unſlaked lime. Sepes viva, Col. A quick-ſet hedge. Amor vivus, Vir. An hearty love. Ad vivum, Cic. To the quick.

VIX, adv. Cic. qu. cum vi & difficultate. Similiter Græcis μόγις vim, à μόγος labor: uti & μόλις quod cum μολῶ fit; vel à vinco vici; ità viti, ut tandem vincat. Scarcely, hardly, with much ado.

Vixit, pro Vitæ ceſſit, Var. per Euphemiſmum. He lived, i. He is dead.

U ante L.

Ulcĕrāria, æ; f. quòd ulcera excitat. The herb ſtinking-horehound.

Ulcĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cels. ἕλκωσις. A breaking out into ſores and ſcabs.

Ulcĕro, as; act. Cic. ἑλκόω. חָבַל. To exulcerate or make ſick of ſores, to grieve, to wound, to raiſe bliſters.

Ulcĕrōſus, a, um; Hor. ἑλκώδης. Full of ſores or ſcabs; bliſter'd: alſo that maketh bliſters, Plin.

Ulciſcor, ĕris, ultus; dep. Cic. τιμωρέω, ἐκτίνω. נָקַם. ab Ulcere, Perot. ab ὄλκιος trahere, ad pœnam ſcil. M. inde Ulcio, hinc Ulciſcor. To revenge, to puniſh or avenge.

ULCUS, ĕris; n. Hor. ab ἕλκω. al. ulcio, quod olet, quaſi olcus: ſo ἕλκω. חַבּוּרָה. A ſore, an ulcer, a botch, a biſs. Id. the wound, gaſh or open place of the bark of a tree, Plin.

Ulcuſcŭlum, i; n. dim. Vir. ἑλκύδριον. A little ſore or ſcab.

Ulex, icis; f. Plin. ab Uligine; vel ab ἕλκω. criſpus. An herb like Roſemary, that dyers with gold to it.

Ulĭginōſus, a, um; Plin. ὑγρός, ὑγρασίας. רְטֹב. Oozy, moiſt, wet, plaiſh, watriſh.

Uligo, inis; f. Var. ὑγρασία, ὑγρασία. רְטֹב. contr. ab Udilĭgo, ut à Vitla viligo; al. ab ὕλη. Cùm in Græciam Cadmus ſimul cum paucis non paucas voces attuliſſet, ὕλην quòque importavit, quod æquum Syris priſcis ſignificabat, Scal. The natural moiſture of the earth; ooziness.

† Ullo, pro Ultus fuero; Non. Ullo, as, alli, ultum; indè Ulciſcor, quaſi Ulliſciſcor; ab ὄλλυω perdo; qui ullit vel ulciſcitur, ille aliquid perdit, M.

Ullus, a, um; Cic. dim. ab Unus. τις. Any, any one.

Ulmāria, æ; f. Offic. Meadſweet, or Meadwort.

Ulmārium, rii; n. Plin. πτόλεον. A grove of Elmes.

Ulmeus, a, um; Col. πτόλειος. Of or belonging to an Elm.

† Ulmitriba, æ; c. g. Plaut. ex Ulmus & τρίβω tundo: qui aſſiduè ulmeas virgas τρίβει, i. terit. πτοιοτρίβης. One beaten with elm-rods.

ULMUS, mi; f. Col. dict. quòd ulriginoſis locis & humidis meliùs proficit, Iſid. à πτόλος. The elm-tree.

Ulna, æ; f. Vir. à gr. ὠλένη. ὠλένη. חֵצִי. An ell, or ell, the length of two arms ſtretched out, Vir. a man's arm, Bud. a cubite, πῆχυς, an elbow; Suet. a ſathom, Plin. ὀργυιά. one of the two bones in the arm.

† Ulno, as; antiqu. To meaſure by ells.

Ulpicum, ci; n. Col. quod & allium Punicum dic. σκόροδον. Great or wild Garlick, African Garlick.

† Uls pro Ultra; Feſt. ab Olle pro Ille, ut ἐκεῖνος, i. ultra, ab ἐκεῖθεν. eſt enim Uls, in iſtâ parte, M. ultra.

Ulterior, ius; comp. Cic. ab Ultra, vel inuſ. Ulter: περαίτερος, περαιτέρω. Further, on the further ſide: alſo that is paſt, behind, Tac.

Ulterius; adv. Sen. περαιτέρω. עוֹד. Further, beyond, any more or longer.

Ultima excellentium; Jun. A, La, ui, Re.

Ultimè; adv. Ultimè affectus, Apul. Brought to the laſt caſt.

Ultimò; adv. Suet. ἐσχάτως, τὸ ἔσχατον, πολυτελῶν. בְּאַחֲרִית. At the laſt.

Ultimùm; adv. Liv. τὸ πλέον, τὸ ἔσχατον. The laſt time.

Ultimus, a, um; ſuperl. ab Ultra: ὕστατος, ἔσχατος, πλεῖστος. אַחֲרוֹן. Laſt, utmoſt; the furtheſt or furtheſtmoſt, the further end of the lowermoſt, Cic. alſo extreme, chief, greateſt. Ultima gentis, Ovid. The youngeſt of the name or houſe. Ultimum prætum, Catul. The utmoſt ſkirt of a meadow, next the common high-way. In ultimis eſſe, Petron. To lye a dying.

Ultio, ōnis; f. verb. Tac. ab Ulciſcor. ἐκδίκησις, τιμωρία. נְקָמָה. A revenging.

Ultor, ōris; m. Cic. verb. ab Ulciſcor: ἐκδικητής, τιμωρός. נוֹקֵם. A revenger.

Ultra, præp. cum Acc. Cic. ab Uls, ut Citra à eis; πέραν, ὑπέρανω. עֵבֶר. Beyond, on the further ſide.

Ultrà; adv. Plin. Further, moreover, more.

Ultrà-mundānus, a, um; Apul. Superceleſtial, or Heavenly.

Ultrix, icis; f. Cic. τιμωρήτρια, ἡ ἐκδικοῦσα. Shethat revengeth.

Ultrò; adv. ab Ultra, Per. vel qu. ſultro, à Volendo: ἑκουσίως, αὐτοκελεύστως. נְדָבָה. Willingly, of his or its own accord, voluntarily. Ultro citróque, Cic. To and fro, on one ſide and t'other.

Ultrōneus, a, um; Sen. ἑκούσιος, αὐτοματίος. Voluntary, done or proffered of one's own accord.

Ultrotribūta, æ; plur. erant redemptuæ operum publicorum faciendorum, dict. quòd ab ipſis locatoribus ultrò attribuebantur; M. A letting or taking of publick work upon agreat, Liv. alſo the expences and charges about ſuch works, Sen.

Ultum ire; Q. Curt. To revenge.

Ultus, a, um; part. ab Ulciſcor, Ovid. τιμωρηθείς. That hath revenged.

Ultus, ūs; m. verb. Plin. ἐκδίκημα. Revenge.

Ulva, æ; f. Vir. dict. ab Uligine; M. ab Alva, Iſid. ὕλκος, θαλάσσιος, πολυκαυλεία πόα. Keet or weed of the Sea, Sea-graſs or weeds growing in pools and ſtanding waters.

Ulŭla, æ; f. Plin. ἀπὸ τῆ ὀλολύζειν, i. ululando: ἀηδών. An owl or howlet.

Ulŭlābĭlis, le; adj. Amm. Howling, yelling.

Ulŭlāmen, inis; n. Prud. Idem quod Ululatus.

Ulŭlans, tis; part. Cic. ὀλολύζων, κωκύων. Howling, ſhrieking.

Ulŭlātus, a, um; part. Stat. Done with howling and crying.

Ulŭlātus, ūs; m. verb. Vir. ὀλολυγμός. An howling, yelling, crying or ſhrieking.

ULULO, as; neut. Vir. vel à gr. ὀλολύζω vel ab Heb. יָלַל. יְלִילִי. To howl as a dog or wolf doth: alſo to ring with, Sil.

Ulvōſus, a, um; Sidon. Full of reets or weeds.

U ante M.

Umbella, æ; f. dim. ab Umbra; Juv. Cuidam. A little ſhadow, a ſhonce or screen from the ſun that gentlewomen bear in their hands to ſhadow them; a bongrace; a broad-brimmed hat to keep off heat and rain: alſo the round tuft or head of fennel or other herbs, wherein the ſeed is, Ruell. An Umbrella.

Umbellātus, a, um. Boſſed. Clavi umbellati, Jun. Traſh-nails.

Umber, m. Plin. μυξωτὸν. dict. quòd umbras amet. A mungrel creature bred of a kind of goat and a ſheep.

Umbilicālis, le; med. ὀμφαλικός. Of or belonging to the navel.

Umbilicārius, a, um; Tert. Idem.

Umbilicātus, a, um; Plin. ὀμφαλωτός, ὀμφαλίας. Made with a navel, or in faſhion of a navel.

UMBILICUS, ci; (ĭi) m. Cic. ὀμφαλός. טַבּוּר. ab adj. ὀμφαλικός, Scal. quòd tibi ſit illumrumbo; Iſid. The navel: the middle of any thing; a little ſtone round and ſmooth, like a navel; a boſs, ſuch as is ſeen on the outſide of books, Hor. the ends of the ſtick upon which the book was rolled, Perſius. alſo a kind of wrinkled cockle or ſhell-fiſh wrinkled like a navel, Plin. alſo the bezail of a ring, Id. § It. pro genitali & libidine; Cæl. 4. 7. § Umbilicus ſolis, Plin. The little circle in the midſt whereof the Dial-pin is faſtned; ovi, Jun. The ſkrain or beginning of the egg; pomi, Pallad. The head of the apple our againſt the ſtalk, where the bloſſom grew.

§ Ad umbilicum ducere, Hor. To finish or make an end of a book or other thing.

Umbilīcĕo; ārum; f. Med. à secundo umbilicum; ὀμφαλιτικοὶ. Midwives that cut the navel-string of infants.

Umbo, ōnis; m. Liv. μεσομφάλιον, ὁμφαλὸς, Ionice Umbones à Græc. quod sint tanquam ὀμφαλοὶ, ὀμφαλῶνες Græci vocant quicquid extumidum est & prominet, ut ventrem ampullarum, Var. The boss of a buckler or shield, a buckler or targe; Vir. also a knot in a precious stone rising like a boss, a knob, Plin. the beazil of a ring, Id. the rump or knoll of an hill, Stat. a pulpit.

UMBRA, æ; f. Cic. σκιὰ, ἡ. ἀπὸ τῆ ὑπόστεγε, ab imbre, quòd omnes umbræ humidæ, Perot. vel quòd imbres obscurant solis lucem, Isid. al. Umbra à terrâ, cujus etiam color dict. veteribus, & indè ducta appellatio, humi obroa, χθὼν. post humbra, umbra, i. terræ color; Becm. A shadow or shade; a cloud, Val. Fl. a shady bough, Vir. an umbrage, appearance or likelihood, Hor. the first draught in painture, Vir. an unbidden guest accompanying one to a feast, Hor. a kind of fish swimming very quickly and speedily, Auson. in Halieut. Calenus, Cuadivs. a ghost or spirit. Vid. Umbræ.

Umbrāculum, li; n. Vir. Σκίασμα. חֹפֶשׁ. A place to shade one in; a bower, an arbour, a booth; a thing to keep off the Sun, any thing that one wears on the head to shadow the face, as a bone-grace, &c. Ovid.

Umbræ, ārum; f. pl. Vir. quòd animas mortuorum qui umbræ esse fingebant: οἱ ἐξ Ἅιδου ψυχαὶ. Ghosts, souls departed, walking spirits of the dead, bobgoblins, bugs.

Umbrāticŏla, æ; c. g. Plaut. qui colit umbram, i. in umbrâ, i. intra domum degit ignavus. One who keeps within doors, and plays least in sight.

Umbrātĭcus, a, um; Plin. Ἀσκιος, Cuneus, Cuadvs. Like or of a shade; making or casting a shade: that is done in the shade or very privately; also that keeps at home within doors; also slight, inconsiderable, sorry, worth little, Plaut.

Umbrātĭlis, le; Cic. ἀσκιος. Keeping private out of sight, as it were in the shade; sorry, slight, shady, not lasting, Amm. = Delicatus, mollis, segnis, Cic.

Umbrātus, a, um; par. Vir. Shaded.

Umbrĭfer, a, um; Vir. Σκιοποιὸς, σκιαστικὸς. Making or casting a shadow.

Umbro, as; act. Col. ἀποσκιάζω. Σκιάζω. חָפַשׁ. To shade, to cast a shadow.

Umbror, āris; pass. Vir.

Umbrōsus, a, um; Vir. Σκιώδης, σκιερὸς. Full of shade, shady.

Unante N.

Una; adv. Cic. ἅμα, ὁμοῦ. יָחַד. Together, all at once, or all under one.

† Unanimans, tis; adj. Amm. Idem quod Unanimis.

Unanĭmis, me; Vir. unius animi, ὁμόψυχος. Of one mind, heart and will: of one consent and accord, unanimous.

Unanĭmĭtas, ātis; f. Plaut. ὁμοφροσύνη, ὁμόνοια. Unanimity, agreement of mind and will.

Unanĭmĭter, adv. Vopisc. ὁμοψύχως, ὁμονοήτως. With one consent and accord, with unity.

† Unanĭmo, as; Amm. unanimis sum: ὁμόφρων εἰμὶ. To be of one mind.

Unanimus, a, um; Catul. V. Unanimis.

Uncātus, a, um; Cæl. Aurel. Hooked, crooked.

UNCIA, æ; f. à gr. ὄγκια. al. ab Unus, qu. una pars ex duodecim, Var. ὄγκια. The twelfth part of the whole, Cic. the twelfth part of a pound; and an inch, the twelfth part of a foot, Plin.

Uncĭālis, le; Plin. ὀγκιαῖος. Of or belonging to an ounce or inch, of an ounce weight, of an inch breadth, length or thickness. Literæ unciales, Hier. Text letters.

Unciārius, a, um; idem. ὀγκιαῖος. Unciarium fœnus, Liv. Usury of one in the hundred. Unciaria stips, Plin. The twelfth part of As, as a Penny with us is of a shilling.

Uncĭātim, adv. Ter. ὀγκιαῖος. Ounce by ounce, inch by inch, inch meal.

Uncĭnātus, a, um; Cic. ἀγκιστρώδης. Crooked, armed with hooks or tenters.

Uncĭnŭlus, li; m. dim. Jun. A clasp set upon garments, a little hook or loop.

Uncinus, ni; m. Apul. ὄγκινος. A little club or bar, crooked at the end of the staff; a broad arrow head.

Uncĭŏla, æ; dim. Juv. ὀγκίδιον. A little ounce or inch, a small distance.

Unctĭo, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. χρῖσις, ἄλειψις. An anointing, unction.

Unctĭor, us; comp. Cic. More gay, fine and neat, better set forth.

Unctĭto, as; Plaut. frequ. ab Ungo: πολὺ ἀλείφω. To anoint often.

Unctĭuscŭlus, a, um; dim. Plaut. ὑπολιπαρὸς. Somewhat fat, oily, greasie.

Unctor, ōris; m. verb. Cic. ἀλειπτὴς, χρίστης. An anointer.

Unctōrĭus, a, um; Pl. jun. ἀλειπτικὸς, ἀλειπτήριος. Of or belonging to anointing.

Unctŭlum, li; n. dim. Apul. A little ointment.

Unctum, ti; n. Col. ἄμμαμμα, ἄλειμμα. The leaf or fat of an hog, good for salves, or to fry meat.

Unctūra, æ; f. Cæl. An anointing.

Unctus, a, um; part. χριστὸς, χρίσις, κεχρισμένος. Ointed, anointed, greasie, oily: also gaily dress't and polish't: also i. h. plenus, Catull.

Unctus, ûs; Apul. χρῖσις. An anointing.

UNCUS, ci; m. Cic. ἀγκύρα, τὸ ἄγκιστρον. ll. ab ἐγκεκεῦσθαι intumescere, ὄγκος tumor, ὄγκινον aduncum, quòd ubi incurvatur intumescere videtur, Perot. vel ab Unguis, quòd incurvus; al. ab ἄγκος vallis. A crook or hook, a tenter; also an anchor, Val. Fl. a fish-hook, Jun. the nut of a steel or cross-bow, Id. a brace under a beam, Med. Gr. a drag or iron hook to drag traitours after execution about the streets, Juv.

Uncus, a, um; Col. ἄγκιστρος, ἀγκύλος. קַמּוּר. Crooked, hooked, bowed. Dens uncus, Vir. A plow-share. Retinaculum uncum, Stat. An anchor.

UNDA, æ; f. aqua in motu; pars aquæ in se collecta, & in unam partem tendens, cujusmodi in mari ventis concitato cernere est; Voss. ab unus, id est, abeundo & redeundo dict. Isid. quòd una sit, h. e. simul unita, & in se coacta, Perot. qu. ἀνδα, Pap. ἄυμαι irrigari, κλύδων. חֵל. A surge, a wave, a billow-water; trouble and bustle, Cic. a thronged crowd, Vr.

§ Unda prima prœli, Plin. The first running of wine or oil in the press.

Undābundus, a, um; Gell. κυμαίνων, κυματίζων. Casting up surges or waves.

Undans, tis; part. Vir. πλύμενος ὕδασι. Flowing, rising in surges or waves: also hanging, flagging, and loose, waving: also abounding, Catul.

Undātim, adv. Plin. κυματοειδῶς. Like waves, in fashion of waves.

Undātus, a, um; Plin. κυματοειδὴς. Made in fashion of waves, as watered silks, and the grain of wainscot.

Undè; adv. Cic. interrog. & indef. qu. de uno loco; al. ab ὅθεν. מִנַּיִן. From whence, whereof, out of or from which, of whom, how, by what means, wherewith. Unde gentium? Plaut. From what part of the world? out of what country? Unde domo? Vir. Of what family?

Undĕcēni, æ, a; Plin. ab Undecim. ἑνδέκατα. Eleven.

Undĕcentum, pl. indecl. Plin. centum dempto uno. ἑκατὸν ἐνὸς δέοντα. A hundred saving one, 99.

Undĕcies, adv. Cic. Undecim vicibus, ἑνδεκάκις. Eleven times.

Undĕcim, plur. indecl. Liv. ex Unus & Decem: ἕνδεκα. Eleven.

Undĕcimus, a, um; Plin. ἑνδέκατος. The eleventh.

Undĕcirēmis, is; f. Plin navis undecim remorum ordines habens, ἑνδεκήρης. A gally having eleven oars on each bank, or rather eleven banks of oars. D. leg. Undeciremus, a, um.

Undĕcunque, adv. Liv. πόθεν ἐκ. From what place soever.

Undĕlĭbet, adv. ad Her. ὁπῃοῦν. Cvlet. Where thou wilt, out of any place.

Undēnārius, a, um; Sip. The eleventh of 11.

Undēni, æ, a; Hor. per contr. ex Undecēni. ἑνδέκατα. Eleven.

Undĕquādrāgies, adv. Plin. τετταρακοντάκις ἐνὸς δέοντος. Nine and thirty times.

Undĕquādrāginta, plur. indecl. Liv. τριάκοντα ἐννέα. Nine and thirty.

Undĕquinquāgēsimus, a, um; Cic. πεντηκοστὸς ἐνὸς δέοντος. The nine and fourtieth.

Undequinquāginta, plur. indecl. Liv. τεσσαράκοντα ἐννέα. Nine and forty.

Undĕsexāginta; pl. indecl. Plin. ἑξηκοντάκις ἐνὸς δέοντος. Nine and fifty.

Undetrigēsimus, a, um; Liv. ἑνατος ἐνὸς δέοντος. The nine and twentieth.

Undĕvicēsimānus, ni; m. Hirt. Undevicesimanæ legionis miles. A soldier of the nineteenth regiment.

Undĕvicēsimus, a, um; Liv. ἐννεακαιδέκατος. The nineteenth.

Undĕviginti, plur. indecl. Cic. ἐννεακαίδεκα. Nineteen.

Undiquāque; adv. Liv. πάντῃ. ἀμφοτέρωθεν. Every where, on every side.

Undique; adv. Cic. ex Unde & Que: πανταχόθεν, πανταχοῦ, ἀμφοτέρωθεν. On every side, from all places, parts and corners, round about. Cum Gen. Undique latet rum, Apul. On all sides.

† Undiquĕcus; adv. Solin. Idem.

Undiquĕversum; adv. Solin. Idem.

Undisonus, a, um; Vir. ex Unda & Sono. Making a noise like waves of the sea, roaring with waves.

Undo, as; neut. & act. Cic. ab Unda: ὑγραίνω, κυμαίνω. To rise in surges: to boil as hot water doth, Vir. to abound, Claud. § Act. Undare campos Ungulae, Stat. To overflow them and make them swim in blood.

Undōsus, a, um; Vir. κυλινδούμενος, κυμαινόμενος. Full of surges or waves.

Undŭla, æ; f. dic. Cic. A little wave.

Undŭlātus, a, um; Plin. qu. à dim. Undula. κυματοειδὴς. Made like waves, watered or fluxi ure, grained or wainscot is.

Unĕdo, ōnis; m. Plin. dict. quòd plures una edi non possunt: μιμαλλὼν, quasi μία ἀχλὺς, unica baccella. The fruit of the Arbutus or Straw-berry tree, so bitter and unpleasant, that a man cannot eat past one at a time.

Unĕtra, æ; Apul. The smaller Centaury.

† Ungĭto, as; freq. ab Ungo; Cat.

UNGO, is, ĕre; xi, ctum; act. Cic. ab Uno, qu. unum ago; nam unguentis uniuntur corpora. ab Ungue, M. t. ungue illino: χρίω, ἀλείφω. מָשַׁח. To smear, to anoint, to bedawb, to perfume.

Ungor, ĕris; pass. Cic.

Unguĕdo, ĭnis; f. Apul. An ointment.

Unguen, ĭnis; n. Vir. ἄλειμμα. שֶׁמֶן. An ointment, any fat liquor or juice.

Unguentārĭa, æ; f. Plaut. μυροπωλικὴ. The art of making ointments: also for that makes or sells ointments.

Unguentārium, rii; n. Pl. jun. Money exacted in the Province for allowance of ointments and perfumes.

Unguentārius, a, um; Plin. μυροπωλικὸς. Of, or belonging, or pertaining to ointments or perfumes. Nux unguentaria, Jun. A walnut. Unguentaria taberna, Suet. A shop where ointments and perfumes are sold.

Unguentārius, rii; m. Cic. μυροπώλης, μυροπώλις. He that maketh and selleth ointments and perfumes; a Perfumer.

Unguentātus, a, um; Catul. μεμυρωμένος. Anointed with sweet ointments, perfumed.

Unguentum, ti; n. Cic. χρῖσμα, μύρον, ἄλειμμα. שֶׁמֶן. Any sweet ointment; a perfume, a salve, Plin. an Unguent.

Ungues, Var. dict. ob similitud. unguium. A kind of shell-fishes; Muscles.

Unguĭcŭlus, li; m. dim. ὀνύχιον. A tender soft nail. A teneris unguiculis, Cic. From his childhood.

† Unguilla, æ; f. pro Unguine seu Unguento. Unguilla vitæ; Solin. c. 10.

Unguinōsior, us; comp. Plin. More unctuous or oily.

Unguinōsus, a, um; Plin. λιπαρὸς, πίων. Oily, fatty, unctuous.

UNGUIS, is; m. Cic. à gr. ὄνυξ idem, Gen. ungŭis. al. ab ἰς, ος, unde ὀνυχος nucum, incurvus: al. ab Ungo, quòd politus & translucidus sit, quasi unctus; ὄνυξ. טְפַרְנָה. A nail of the fingers or toes in man, bird or beast; a claw; a talon: also the hoof of an ox or cow, Col. a knife branch or a young shoot of a vine, Id. a disease in the eye called a Haw, Celsi. a white flake in the gum Bdellium, Plin. An hook to gather grapes, Col. Unguis ruber, Plin. The white in the leaf of a rose whereby it is fastned to the heart. Unguem latum, Cic. A nail's breadth. Ad unguem, Id. Exactly.

Ungăla, æ; f. Cic. ab Unguis: ὀνύλη, χηλή. פַּרְסָה. The hoof of an horse or other beast: also an hook that is used for the drawing out of a child that is dead in the mother's womb; a tormenting iron, wherewith the sides of malefactors were pinched or burnt.

Ungŭlātus, a, um; Fest. ὀνυχώδης. That hath foul great nails.

† Ungŭlum, li; n. Plin. Oscorum lingua Annulus, Fest. δακτύλιος, σφράγισμα. A ring, a thimble.

† Ungŭo, idem quod Ungo; Prisc.

† Unguŭstus, ūs; m. Fest. fustus uncus. A crook or crooked staff.

† Uni; pro Unius; Tacit.

Unĭcălămus, a, um; Plin. unum habens calamum, μονοκάλαμος. That hath but one stem or straw growing out of the root.

Unĭcaulis, le; Plin. μονόκαυλος. That hath but one stalk.

Unĭcè; adv. Cic. μόνως, μοναχῶς. Singularly, only, entirely, dearly.

Unĭcŏlor, ōris; adj. Ovid. μονόχρως, μονοχρώματος. Of one colour.

Unĭcŏlōrus, a, um; Prud. idem.

Unĭcornis, ne; adj. Plin. μονόκερως. That hath but one horn.

Unĭcornis, is; m. Plin. μονόκερως. רְאֵם. An Unicorn.

Unĭcus, a, um; Cic. unus tantùm. μόνος. יָחִיד. One alone, singular: also notable or excellent, choice.

Uniformis, me; adj. Firm. μονοειδὴς, unius formæ. Uniform, all alike.

Uniformĭtas, ātis; f. Macr. ὁμοειδία. One and the same fashion, uniformity.

Uniformĭter; adv. Diom. ὁμοιοχημάτως. All alike, uniformly.

Unigĕna, æ; c. g. Catul. μονογενὴς. יָחִיד. An only begotten, one alone.

Unigĕnĭtus, ti; m. Bibl. μονογενὴς. יָחִיד. An only son; or one child without more; an only begotten.

Unĭjŭgus, a, um; quòd uno nitatur jugo, μονόζυξ. Coupled or yoked to one only. Unijuga vinea, Plin.

Unimammia classis, (l. classis,) Plaut. The army of the Amazons.

Unimămus, a, um; Liv. μονόχειρ. That hath but one hand.

Unĭmŏdus, a, um; Apul. unius modi. Of one sort or fashion.

Unio, ōnis; m. Plin. ab Unus, quòd in concha nulli duo reperiantur indifferenti, i. similes: μαργαρίτης. A pearl called an Union, for that many being found in one shell, not any one of them is like the other: Also an onion or scallion with one blade. Col.

Unio, is, ivi, ire; act. unum facio. ἑνίζω. יָחַד. To unite or make one.

Unio, ōnis; f. quod unum facit. συμφωνία, ἕνωσις. Union, concord, agreement, the number of one, unity.

Uniŏcŭlus, li; m. Plaut. μονοφθαλμός. That hath but one eye.

Unĭōnĭtæ, Prud. The Sabellians, a sort of Heretichs so called.

† Uniŏne, adv. Pacuv. Together.

Unĭsŭlcus, a, um; Col. μονόσχιστος. That hath but one slock or rift.

Unĭtas, ātis; f. Col. ab Unus; idem. Unity, oneness, the uniting or joyning of two things or more together: also concord, agreement, Sen. the likeness of two things of which one cannot be distinguished from another, Plin. also an Unite in Arithmetick; μονάς.

† Uniter, adv. Lucr. καθ' ἕν, ἑνῶς. Together, in one.

Unitio, ōnis; f. verb. ἕνωσις. An uniting or joyning together.

Unitus, a, um; part. ἡνωμένος. United or joyn'd together, made one.

Univalvis, ve; Universalvis concha, Gell. Shell-fishes that have but one shell.

Universālis, le; adj. ad Heren. καθολικὸς. Belonging to all, common, general, universal.

Universālĭtas, ātis; f. Philos. ὅλότης. The universality or generality.

Universāliter; adv. Philos. καθολικῶς. Universally.

Universē; adv. Cic. παντελῶς, ὅλως. Generally, all together, universally. ℨ Sigillatim.

Universim; adv. idem.

Universĭtas, ātis; f. τὸ πᾶν. כְּלָלוּת. The whole in general, the generality or community; also an University, Dig. § Universitas rerum, Cic. The Universe.

Universus, a, um; qui, unus ad unum versus, i. sine aliqui exceptione: σύμπας, ὅλος, καθόλου. כֹּל. Universal, the whole; all without exception, all together and in general; all at once, Plin. ℨ Singuli, Cic.

Univira, æ; f. Tert. μονάνδρου. A woman that hath had but one husband, or that knows but one man, Arnob.

† Univiria; An epithet given to Calphurnia, Treb. Poll.

Univŏcē, adv. Log. συνωνύμως. Univocally.

Univŏcus, a, um; Log. συνώνυμος. Univocal, that signifies but one thing.

Uniusmŏdi; adj. indecl. Ter. modi unius, μονότροπος, μονοειδὴς. Of one sort or fashion, never varying, all alike.

† Uno, as; Hier. ἑνόω. To unite.

Unŏcŭlus, i; m. Gell. μονόφθαλμος. Having but one eye.

† Unŏdē; adv. Non. ex Pacuv. Together, at once.

Unquam; adv. qu. uno quovis tempore, ποτέ, ποτε. At any time, ever. Unquam gentium, Cic. In all the world.

† Universus, pro Universus, Lucr.

UNUS, a, um; Cic. ex ἷς, ἑνὸς. אֶחָד. One, alone, only: also the first, Vir. Unus atque idem. The very same.

Unusquispiam; The same one.

Unusquisque, unaquæque, unumquodque; Cic. ἕκαστος, ἑκάστη. כֹּל. Every one, every.

V ante O.

Vōbiscum, Cic. i. cum vobis, μεθ' ὑμῶν. עִמָּכֶם. With you.

Vocābŭlum, li; n. Cic. à Voco: quo aliquid vocatur: λέξις, ὄνομα, ῥῆμα. שֵׁם. A name or term, a word; a Noun substantive, Gell.

Vocālis, le; adj. Juv. voce magnâ præditus: φωνήεις, ἦχον ἔχων, ἠχηρός. Loud, vocal, resounding, making a noise, well tuned or sounded.

Vocālis, is; f. Cic. quæ per se vocem edit. φωνῆεν. תְּנוּעָה. A vowel.

Vocālissimus, a, um; superl. Plin. jun. One with a very big or loud voice.

Vocālitas,

Vōcātus, ūs; f. Quint. Invenio, invocatio. The sweetness of delivery, so as to be heard and please.

Vōcāliter, adv. Apul. Invocatus. Distinctly, aloud.

Vōcāmen, inis; n. Lucr. Vocatio, appellatio. The name of a thing.

Vōcandus, a, um; part. Ovid. Qui vocari debet. That is to be called or named.

Vōcātio, ōnis; f. verb. Vocatus. A calling, a vocation, a bidding to dinner or supper, Cat.

Vōcātīvē; adv. Gell. Vocative. By calling, or in the vocative case.

Vōcātīvus, a, um; Quint. Vocativus. Of or belonging to calling, vocative.

Vōcātor, ōris; m. verb. Plin. Vocator. An inviter, a caller.

Vōcātus, a, um; part. Ovid. Vocatus. Called, bidden, invited.

Vōcātus, ūs; m. Cic. Vocatus. A calling or bidding, an invitement, a call.

Vōcĭférans, tis; part. Vir. Vociferans. Crying out aloud, braying, bawling.

Vōcĭférātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. Vociferatio. A bawling, a crying out.

Vōcĭférātor, ōris; m. verb. Vociferator. He that makes an outcry, a bawler.

Vōcĭférātus, ūs; m. Plin. Vociferatus. An outcry, a bawling.

Vōcĭfĕro, as; neut. Var. & Vocĭfĕror, āris; dep. Cic. vocem fero vel effero: Vociferor. To cry out aloud, to bawl, to squeal.

† Vōcĭfĭco, as; Gell. vocem facio. To name, to make known, to call.

Vōcĭtātus, a, um; Plin. Vocitatus. Called often.

Vōcĭto, as; frequ. à voco; Cic. Vocito. To call often.

VOCO, as; act. Vocare, vocito. קָרָא. ab ἰαμβ. ἴημι, ut ab ἰάπτω ἴαπτω, vomo: al. à vox. To name, to bid, to invite; to call upon or invoke, Vir. to call to one, to call for a thing. Vocare Deum, Vir. To call upon him. Aliquem ad cœnam, Cic. To bid him to supper. In jus, Id. To sue him. Ad pilleum, Id. To give him his freedom.

Vŏcor, āris; pass. Cic.

Vŏcŭla, æ; f. dim. à Vox; Cic. φωνίδιον, ῥημάτιον. A little voice, a bruit, a report or discourse, a word, Gram.

Vŏcŭlātio, ōnis; f. Gell. Vocula. The accenting of a word.

† Vŏcŭlus; quidam naves sic dictæ. Gell. 16. 25.

Vŏla, æ; f. Plin. à volvo; qu. volva, vel à volo, æ; quòd in avibus sit media pars alarum, quarum motu pennæ agitantur, Isid. à βολὴ, ex Celtica, ut Heb. יָד ex יָרַד. Al. Syrag. γαλεον. The hollow of the hand, the palm of the hand.

† Volam pro Velim; Non. ex Lucil.

Vŏlans, tis; part. Vir. ἱπτάμενος. Flying, going or running swiftly.

Vŏlantes, subst. Vir. Birds, fowls.

Vŏlātica, æ; f. Fest. A winch, an hag, that flies in the air.

Vŏlāticus, a, um; Cic. πτερόεις. That flieth or goeth away suddenly, flitting, inconstant, ἀβέβαιος. Also of or concerning flying creatures or birds; Ambr.

Vŏlātilis, le; adj. Cic. πτηνὸς, πτερωτὸς. That flies or can fly passing swiftly, flitting, λαγαροπτέρυξ. Volatil.

Vŏlātus, æ; f. Var. A flight.

Vŏlātus, ūs; m. Cic. πτῆσις, πτῆμα. A flying, or flight.

Vŏlĕbrum, i; n. Vir. dict. quod impleat volam: τὸ μέγα κτῆνος. A Wardan, a great beast.

Vŏlens, tis; part. Liv. ἑκὼν, βουλόμενος. Willing, ready, glad.

Vŏlenter; adv. Apul. Willingly.

† Vŏlentia, f. actio volentis. Volentia in compos. idem esse videtur quod Voluntas, βούλησις, Non. à Volentia sit Benevolentia & Malevolentia, pro Amore & Odio, qu. bona & mala voluntas.

Volgiŏlum, i; n. Plin. instrumentum rusticum à Volvendo. A roller, a thing to smooth the ground.

† Volgivăgus, a, um; Lucr. πλανητικὸς, πάνδημος. Vulgar, common. Vid. Vulgus.

Vŏlĭtans; part. Vir. Flying,

Vŏlĭto, as; freq. à Volo, is; Cic. πτερύττομαι. To fly about or up and down, to flutter.

VOLO, as; neut. Cic. πτόμαι, ἵπταμαι, πτομέομαι. דָּאָה. à Volo, vis; quòd voluntas omnium rerum celerrimè se movet; vel quòd sit motus voluntarius: vel qu. velut movere; vel à βολὴ jactus, qu. βολάδε βολᾶ jactare alas, unde & remigium alarum dic. To fly, to run or go quickly or in haste; to sail swiftly, to pass apace, to post away.

VOLO, vis, vult, lŭi, velle; Cic. à gr. inus. βούλω, βούλομαι, θέλω. דְּוָאוֹל. I am willing; to wish, to mean, to desire, to design. Volo Arpinum, Cic. I design to go thither, or would fain to be there. Bene, malè alicui velle, Id. To wish one well, ill. Quid tibi vis? What would'st thou have? what dost thou mean? Velit nolit, Cic. Whether he will or no.

Vŏlōnes, um; m. Liv. dict. quòd voluntariè se ad militiam obtulerunt. Volunteers.

† Volpes, quòd volet pedibus, Var.

Volsella, æ; f. Cels. à vello, vulsum. τριχολαβίς, μαδίσηριον. An instrument to pluck hair up by the roots; tweezers.

† Volsgra; avis quæ se vellit. Augures hanc Feciliram appellant, Fest. Volsgræ aves malæ & impedientes; idem quod Remores, Scal.

Volsus, a, um; pro Vulsus. That has his hair grubd up by the roots with tweezers; smooth, slick.

Voltis, Plaut. pro Vultis.

Volva, æ; f. Jun. à Volvo. חַכְרִין. That wherein a thing is wrapped, as a yolk of an egg in the white, &c. The core wherein the kernels lie, Scrib.

Vŏlūbĭlis, le; adj. à volvo, Plin. ἁπτὸς, εὐστρεφής. That is or may be easily tumbled or rolled, unconstant, mutable, rolling, alway turning, Cic. round, Ovid volubile; having a round pronuntiation, Cic.

Vŏlūbĭlis, is; f. Jun. sc. herba. Ropeweed or weedbinde.

Vŏlūbĭlĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀλλειγλία. Aptness to roll or turn round, volubility; inconstancy; also a round delivery or ready utterance.

Vŏlūbĭlĭter, adv. Cic. ἀστρόφως. Rollingly, roundly, volubly.

Vŏlūcer, hæc cris, hoc cre; à Volando, Cic. ὠκὺς, ταχὺς, πτερόεις. Swift, light, unconstant.

Vŏlucra, æ; f. Col. ἰλλ. dict. quòd se involvit in pampinis teneris, & eos prærodit. A worm that eateth vines, a vine-fretter, the devils gold-ring. ⁂ Volvox.

† Vŏlucrĭpes, ĕdis; adj. Auson. πτερόπους. Swift-footed.

Vŏlucris, is; f. Cic. omne quod volat, sive avis, sive ales, &c. πτηνὸν, πτερόεν. עוֹף. A fowl, a bird, a fly, a winged Creature.

† Vŏlucrĭter; adv. Amm. In all haste, or speedily.

Vŏlucrum, cri; n. Volucrum majus, Jun. Woodbine or honey-suckle.

Volvendus, a, um; part. Vir. κυλισθητέος. To be rolled or tumbled.

Volvens, tis; part. Virg. κυλίων, στρέφων. Turning, rolling, &c.

Vŏlūmen, inis; n. Cic. à volvendo, quod Majores in arborum libris scribebant, & libellos illos, quò commodiùs ferrent, complicabant: εἱλιγμα, φύσεγμα, σύνταγμα. גְּלִיוֹן מְגִלָּה. A folding, rowing: a volumen, a book; a bundle of any thing wrapt up together; the coil of a rope, the folds of a snake, Vir. also a turning and winding, variety, inconstancy, Plin.

Vŏluntārĭè & Voluntariò; adv. Cæs. ἑκουσίως, αὐθομάτως, αὐθαιρέτως. נְדָבָה. Voluntarily, willingly, of his own free will.

Vŏluntārius, a, um; Cic. ἑκούσιος, αὐθαίρετος, ἑκών. נָדִיב. Voluntary, willing, that is, of one's own accord. Herba voluntaria, Plin. A weed or an herb growing naturally of it self without setting or sowing. Voluntarius miles, Jul. Cap. A volunteer.

Vŏluntas, ātis; f. Cic. à Volo, volens pro volentior; i. volentia. βούλημα, θέλησις, γνώμη. רָצוֹן. Will, desire, inclination, purpose, good will, affection, mind, meaning. Voluntas suprema, Amm. A last will and testament.

VOLVO, is, ĕre; vi, ūtum; act. à gr. εἰλέω, κυλίνδω, στρέφω. גָּלַל. To roll, turn or tumble, to turn over or peruse, Cic. to tumble up or toss, Vir. to tumble out, deliver or utter, Cic. to consider and weigh, Vir. to wallow. ✠ Volvere aliquid secum, Cic. cum animo, Sal. in pectore, Liv. To consider of it, to roll it on his thoughts.

Volvor, ĕris; pass. Cic. To be rolled, &c. In præceps volvi, Ovid. To be tumbled down headlong.

Volvŏlus, i; m. Plin. à volvo. A roller of timber to break clods of earth, and to make the ground smooth.

Volvox, ŏcis; m. Plin. à Volvo. A vine-fretter, a worm that feeds upon vines.

† Vŏlup, indecl. Plaut. idem quod

Vŏlŭpe; n. Ter. qu. ab inus. Volupis, e; idque à Volo. τὸ ἁδὺ, τερπνὸν. A pleasant or acceptable thing.

† Vŏluptābĭlis, le; Plaut. ἡδυπαθὴς, ἡδύμολος. Pleasurable, delightful.

Vŏluptārĭè, adv. Apul. Pleasantly, or with pleasure and delight.

Voluptārius, a, um; τερπνὸς, τερπνός. Pleasant, bringing pleasure: also given to pleasure, sensual, voluptuous. ⁂ Mollis, delicatus, Cic.

Vŏluptas, ātis; f. à Volupe, quasi voluptas, ut à facile Facultas: ἡδονὴ, τέρψις, τερπνότης. עֲדָנָה. Pleasure, delight, solace, comfort, satisfaction: sensuality; sensual, carnal pleasure; also a sweetheart, a Dear. ✠ Dolor, Cic.

Vŏluptĭficus, a, um; Apul. Making pleasure or delight.

Voluptor, āris; Apul. τερπνόω. To take pleasure or delight.

Vŏluptŭōsus, a, um; Plin. ἡδυπαθὴς, ἡδυπαθής. Voluptuous, given to pleasure.

Vŏ'ūta,

Völūta, æ; f. Vitr. à Volvendo, quòd sit ordinem circumvoluta, ut gr. ἴωνος ab ἰόω. A work of leaves written about the head or chapter of a pillar; drapery-work.

Völūtábrum, bri; n. Vir. locus ubi sues volutantur, κυλισμός, κυλινδησμός, κυλίς. A place where swines and other beasts wallow or tumble.

Völūtábundus, a, um; Non. Wallowing, rolling in his mire, Cic.

Völūtans, tis; part. Vir. Rolling.

Völūtatim, adv. Plaut. κυλίνδην. Tossingly, tumblingly, rollingly.

Volūtātio, ōnis; f. verb. κύλισις. A rolling, tumbling, tossing, wallowing.

Völūtātus, ūs; m. Plin. idem.

Völūtātus, a, um; part. Cic. κυλισμένος. Rolled, tumbled, wallowed.

Volūtè; adv. Plaut. κυλίνδην. Tumblingly, rollingly.

Völūto, as; f. freq. à Volvo; Liv. σφάρω, κυλινδέω. To roll, to wallow, to tumble: to think of, revolve, cast and toss in his minde.

Völūtor, āris; pass. Cic. To roll or wallow, to be plunged; to be well-versed.

Volūtus, a, um; part. Vir. κυλιόμενος. Tumbled, rolled, &c.

Volūtus, ûs; m. verb. Apul. A winding or veiling.

Volvŭlus, i; m. Jun. ἔντερον. The twisting of the guts.

† Völux, Prisc. Volux, barbarum proprium, Pap.

Vŏmens, tis; Part. Ovid. Casting or breathing out.

Vŏmer, & Vŏmis, eris; m. Vir. Ovus, ovis, genitivo מַחֲרֶשֶׁת. quòd terram vomat; ab quòd vi vomens erutat. ✠ Vomer aratri dens; Vomeris summitas vomeris, Pap. The coulter, or rather the plow-share. Item Membrum virile, ut & Sulcus pro mulebri, consimile translatione, Lucr.

Vŏmercŭlus, li; m. dim. Lud. Viv. The Spade of Cards.

Vomex, icis; f. Plaut. A vomiting: also the top of the plow-share; Pap.

Vŏmĭca, æ; f. Sorcerie; μαγγανεία. מַזּוֹר. quòd tumet & vomit saniem. Impostume, a biter: also a purse full of money, Plaut.

Vomĭca liquoris species, Plin. Quick-silver.

Vŏmĭcus, a, um. Pertaining to vomiting, or to a biter.

Vomĭcus morbus, Sen.

Vŏmis, eris; m. id. quod Vomer.

Vŏmĭtio, ōnis; f. verb. Plin. ἐμεσμός, ἐξέρευξις. קִיא. A vomiting or spewing.

Vŏmĭtus, ûs; frequ. Col. A vomiting often. To vomit or spew often.

Vŏmĭtor, ōris; m. Plin. ἐμετικός. A vomitter, a spewer.

Vŏmĭtōrĭa, in spectaculis dicti unde homines glomeratim ingredientes in scenis se fundunt.

Vŏmĭtōrĭus, a, um; Plin. ἐμετικός, ἐμετικός. That makes one vomit.

Vŏmĭtus, imperf. Cic. They to spue.

Vomitus, ûs; m. verb. Plin. A vomiting or casting out.

VOMO, is, ĕre; ŭi, ĭtum; neut. ex ἐμέω, ἐμῶ. קִיא. Plin. Plaut. To vomit, spue, or cast out.

Vŏmŭi, ĭsti, perf. Plin.

Vŏmĭtum, ti; n. Plin. quem mater ab adoptione, cum difficultate acquirit: vel qui ope natura servatur, cui & opem ferri, M. Of one twice in a calamitous body, that is with much ado brought to perfect birth.

† Vopte, pro Vtpote, Cato in Fun.

Vŏrăcĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀδηφαγία, ἀδηφαγίς, λαιμαργία. Greedinesse, ravenousness, gluttony.

Vŏrāgĭnōsus, a, um; Sen. Full of gulfs and swallowing pits.

Vŏrāgo, ĭnis; f. à Vorando; quòd incidentia vorat: βάραθρον, χάσμα. חֹרִים. A swallow or gulf, a whirlpool, a quagmire; also a riotous spendthrift, Cic.

Vŏrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Catul. λαιμαργία, ἀδηφαγία. A devouring.

Vŏrātor; m. verb. Plaut. καταφαγᾶς. A devourer.

Vŏrātrīna, æ; f. Voratrina terra, Cic. χάσμα. A chap or cleft in the earth upon some earthquake: a whirlpit: a devourer, Tert.

Vŏrātum terræ; Amm. χάσμα. idem.

Vŏrax, ācis; adj. Cic. à Voro: βόρος, πολυφάγος, λαφύσσων. לוֹלֵל. Gluttonous, greedy, ravenous, voracious.

VORO, as; acc. Cic. à בָּרַר comedit, Aven. vel ex Fo valde vel grande, & ore, Can. à βοῆσαι vorax: βορός, κατανίπτω, λαφύσσω, βορέω. בָּלַע. To devour, to eat up, to eat greedily, to swallow.

† Vorsum, pro Versum; Vorsura pro Versura, & Vortex pro Vertex.

† Vorsus, ûs; m. pro Versus, Plaut. A dance, called the Round.

Vortex, ĭcis; m. Vir. pro Vertex.

Vorticordia dicta Venus, quòd hominum corda vertices, Scal.

Vos, Vestrum vel Vestri, Vobis; plur. nom. ὑμεῖς. אַתֶּם. à σφῶ. Ye, you.

Vosmĕtipsi; Cic. ὑμεῖς αὐτοι. Your own self.

† Vŏtītus, a, um; Plaut. i. religione prohibitus, vetitus, Non.

Vŏtīvus, a um; Cic. ἀναθὸς, ἀκτὸς. That is promis'd by a vow, devoted; also that is or hath been greatly desired, Apul. ἀκτὸς.

Vŏtum, ti; n. Cic. ἄναθεμα, נֶדֶר. A vow or promise made to God, a desire by prayer, or request, Ovid. a wish.

Vŏtus, a, um; part. Cic. Vowed.

VOVEO, es, ere; vŏvi, vōtum: act. Cic. ὑπισχνέομαι, ὑπισχνοῦμαι. נָדַר. qu. vocem Deo effero, Casaub. à βοᾶν. I beat. Scal. Al. à βοὴν αἰτεῖσθαι, from βοᾶν. To pray, to wish, to desire, to beseech and give, to promise, to devote. Vovere templum Deo, Liv. Spiritum pro rec. Amm.

Vox, ōcis; f. Cic. φωνή, ἔπος, ἀκοὴ. קוֹל. Vox dicit. contracte à Voce, (unde & obliqui producuntur, Prisc.) A voice, a sound, a tune, a word, a saying, speaking, talk, discourse.

U ante P.

Upĭlio, ōnis; qui & Opilio; m. Vir. qu. Ovipilio; vel ἀνοΐλιος, i. ὁ ἀπὸλιος. רוֹעֶה. A Shepherd.

Upŭpa, æ; f. Plin. ab ἔπωψ. in Aeolonu. al. à ῥυπὸς, i. vocq quam edit Var. ivoq. A bird called an Houp, or (as some) a lapwing, a puett. Also a beetle, mainock or like tool to dig stones in a quarry, Plaut. ἔρυξ.

U ante R.

* Urăeon, i; n. Plin. ἰσχίον. ab ἰσχὰς coxa: pilcis Thynni pars, Var. The tail-piece of the Tunny-fish.

Urăeus, a, um; Plin. ἰσχιακὸς. Of or belonging to the ham.

* Urāgus; m. Jun. ἔσχατος, postremus actus ductus. The Lieutenant, that brings up the rear.

* Urānŏcŏlŏs, vel Urānŏpŏlus; m. Plin. ἀστρονόμος. An Astronomer, that spectat, ab οὐρανὸς culum, & σκοπέω specto; cœli contemplator. A fish that hath one eye in the head, and that so placed, that swimming he seems to look upward. Also an Astronomer.

† Urbānātim; adv. Non. ἀστικῶς. Like a gentleman, citizen-like.

Urbāne, adv. Cic. ἀστείως. With a good grace, civilly, courteously.

Urbānĭce; adj. Liv. pro Urbane.

Urbānĭcus, a, um; Paul. ἀστικὸς. Of or belonging to a city.

Urbānĭtas, ātis; f. Cic. ἀστειότης, ἀστυκότης, χαριεντισμός. Courtesie, civility, civil behaviour, good manners, pleasantry.

Urbānus, a, um; Cic. ἀστικὸς, ἐυπολιτικὸς, χαρίεις. Of or belonging to a city, dwelling in a city, civil, courteous, genile, pleasant, comely, seemly: also tame, homebred, town-born, Plin. — Comis, Hor. lautus, Cic. ✠ Rusticus, Id.

† Urbicăpus, m. Plaut. πολιτικὸς. Homeri; qui capit urbes. A winner of cities.

† Urbicrŏmus, a, um; Prud. Burning the city.

Urbĭcus, a, um; Suet. ἀστικὸς. Of or belonging to a city.

Urbĭca, æ; f. Plaut. Jaculigenus. Alii legunt vervinam, & interpr. Verutum. A kind of weapon somewhat long.

† Urbo, as, act. pro. Orbo, i. orbum facio, a pro o, more Umbrorum, Fest. vel ab Urvo aratri. Urbare & Orbare est circulo circumscribere, unde urbi & orbi, inde Oculos Sen. voc. orbes, & qui eos amisit orbus; Scal. To draw a circle or dig a trench about; to cast or set out, a meet with a plow, Pomp. Læt.

URBS, is; f. Cic. πόλις, ἄστυ. עִיר. ab Orbe; quòd antiquæ civitates in orbem fiebant: vel ab Urbo vel Urvo, parte aratri quo muri designabantur. Antiqui enim Hetrusco more in urbibus condendis, junctis tauro & vacca, sulcum aratro circumagebant, intra quem urbem ædificarent. A city, a walled town, partic. the city of Rome. ✠ Urbs constat ædificiis & mœnibus; Civitas civibus, qui urbe degunt.

† Urbum, idem q. d. Urvum, aratri curvatura: unde urbi nomen; nam Urbare est aratro definire, Var.

Urcĕŏlāris herba, Plin. qua & Vitrago; dicta quòd sua asperitate lavandis urceis sit maximè idonea; vel quòd in urceis ferebatur. ἀκίνη, σιγγεῖον sive σιγγεῖτον. A herb called Fewerfew, or after some Pellitory of the wall.

Urcĕŏlus, li; m. dim. Col. ὑδρίσκιον. A little water-pitcher.

Urcĕus, ei; m. Plaut. κεραμεῖον, כַּד. ab Urna, Perot. ab Oros, ὄγος. Isid. A pitcher, a pot for water.

Urēdo, ĭnis; f. Cic. ab Urendo: vitium quo planta aduruntur, ἐρυσίβη, κανθαρὶς. יֶרֶקוֹן. The blasting of trees or herbes; also an itch or burning matter there, Plin. also a sticking heat of Iaw, Apul.

† Urenx, Plin. q. v. A kind of fitch. Ubi Annot. leg. Venetæ.

Urendus, a, um; part. Hor. To be burned.

Urens, tis; part. Vir. Burning: also killing vines or other trees with burning.

* Urēter, ēris; m. Cels. οὐρητὴρ. ab οὐρέω meior. The pipe or conduit by which the urine passeth from the veins to the bladder.

Urethra, æ; f. Med. οὐρήθρα. The privy passage of urine, reaching from the bladder to the end of the yard.

Ururgens, tis; part. Vir. Forcing, straining, pressing, urging, urgent.

URGEO, si, re; i, sum; act. Cic. Virg. Urgeo, urgere, ursi, rsum. ורג qu. urediment ago, h. e. inflammo; al. ab ἔργον, ἐργάζομαι unde in com. extat κακοῦργος, κακοῦργα. Per. al. ab ἄγχω. Scal. puto ab ὄρχις, extremum semen duco, imo sequens urgeo. To press on, to urge, to be earnest upon, to provoke, to hasten forward, to push on, to strain, enforce, constrain, pursue, follow or charge; to vex, trouble, molest and oppress: also to cover, Non.

Urgeor, eris; pass. Cic.

Uri, orum; m. pl. ὦροι, Plin. Sola Moscovia, Lithuania contermina, habet Uros, quos ibi patrio nomine Tour vocant Germ. Gesn. Quidam dicunt ἀπὸ τοῦ ὀρύσσω, id est, a monstro; Solin. Wilde Beasts like Oxen, Buglers or Buffs.

Uria, æ; f. Plin. A bird called a Naff.

Urica, æ; f. Plin. 18. 17. vitium satorum, ab urendo; al. τροῦκα, κρίμνα. An hurt coming to all manner of grain by too much moisture.

Urigo, inis; f. Plin. ab Uro, καῦσις, καῦμα. Burning with a caustick; also the nice of salt. Apul.

Urina, æ; f. Col. à gr. οὖρον, οὐρέω. מֵי רַגְלַיִם. ab ὄρια minga; quod urat excundo vel quod è renibus egeritur, qu. egerina; Isid. Pish, stale, water of a man or beast; urine; a burning or scorching, Apul. Urina genitalis, Plin. The seed of generation.

Urinalis, le; Jun. οὐρητικὸς. Pertaining to urine, or provoking urine.

Urinarius, a, um; idem quod Urinalis.

Urinator, ōris; m. verb. Liv. κολυμβητὴς, ὑποβρύχιος, δύτης. A diver or swimmer under water.

Urinatrix, icis; f. Gar. A diver, a didapper or ducker.

Urinor, āris; dep. Plin. κολυμβάω, ὑπὸ γῆν μένω, ὑποβρύχιον. שׁוּשׁ. aquam subeo, & rursus emergo; dictum ab Urvo, h. e. curvatura aratri; quam urinantes imitari videntur, ślp. vel, ut alii malunt, ab Urvi, quæ aquam è puteo aut flumine haurimus, quæ ut aquam capiat, primùm demergitur, deinde extrahitur. To duck under the water, and to spring up again; to dive.

Urinum, ovum; Plin. generationi inceptum, quod fit in arbatione derelicta; ab Urina, quod super aquam natat ob cavitatem; vel ab ὄον, ὠιὸν urina, q. d. aquæ plenum lit; ὄεσον & ὄεινον vel. ab ὑγιὸς ventus. An addle egg, a wind-egg.

† Urion, vel Urium, ii; n. Plin. 23. 4. ab Urie oppido. A kind of earth that miners avoid, when they dig for gold.

† Urito, as; freqn. Plaut. ἀνοδύλλω. To burn often.

URNA, æ; f. Cic. κάδος, ὑδρία, ὑδρεῖον. עֻלָּה. dict. quod in aquâ hauriendâ urinat, Varr. A measure of liquid things containing four gallons; also a water-pitcher. A pot into which the names of those that were to be chosen by lot into office were put; a ballot-box; also a pot or coffin, into which they used to put the ashes and bones of the dead; an Urne.

Urnalis, le; Cato. ὑδρικὸς. Of or belonging to a pitcher or pot, or that contains the measure of an Urne.

Urnarium, ii; Vet. [illegible] sels are set full of water, &c. a place to set in iron pots or pitchers, or like vessels: also a side-board in a dining-room, to set cups or glasses on; Alex. ab Alex.

Urnārius, ii; m. Col. A potter.

Urnula, æ; f. dim. Cic. ὑδρίδιον, ὑδρεῖον. A little pot or pitcher.

URO, is, re; si, sturus, act. Vir. καίω, φλέγω, πυρόω, πυρπολῶ. אוּר. ab heb. אוּר ignis; vel à πῦρ ignis; primò enim fuit Buro, postea Uro, πυρῶ, Sip. To burn, to parch, to set on fire; also to torment, vex, grieve, nettle or sting, to nip or bite: also to beat sore, to whip or scourge, Hor. μαστίζειν.

Uror, ĕris; pass. Vir. To burn in love; to fret and be grieved, to boil or seeth, Plin.

Urŏpygium, n. οὐροπύγιον. & Orthopygium, ii; n. Mart. ab ὀρθὸς & πυγὴ nates. The narrowest and lowest part of the chine, the rump.

Urpix, icis; m. Cato cap 10. ὄρπηξ vel ὀρπὶξ. instrumentum rusticum. V. Irpex. An instrument of husbandry.

Urruncum, ci; n. Var. r. 48. dict. quòd imprimis urri solet; vel ab ἄρυσσος, quod sit villosum aliquid, ut pilus. The lowest part of the ear of corn next the stalk.

Ursa, æ; ab Ursus, Plin. ἄρκτος. A she-bear: the greater and lesser bear-star.

Ursinus, a, um, Col. ἀρκτικὸς. Of or belonging to a bear. Urinæ uvæ, Jun. Bear-berries, or beyond-sea Goose-berries.

Ursŭlus, li; m. dim. ἄρκτιον. A little or young Bear, a Bears whelp.

Ursus, i; m. Plin. ἄρκτος. דֹּב quòd ore suo formet fœtus, qu. orsus; nam aiunt informes generare partus, & carnem quandam nasci, quam mater lambendo in membra componit; Isid. al. à gr. ἄρκτος. fort. ab Urgeo, ursi. An he-Bear.

Urtica, æ; f. Plin. herba cujus folia acriter urunt, i. pungunt. ἀκαλήφη. חָרוּל. A nettle; also a tickling of fetherby, Juv. also a kind of shell-fish, Plin.

Urticōsus, & Urticĭnus, a, um, Plin. Full of nettles.

Uruncus, i; m. Jun. id, quod quod Urruncum.

Urvo, as, āvi, are; id. quod Urbo, i. orbem facio, circundo. Urbare, est ita se jactare, ut sursum denuò excitat se, unde Amburvare apud Lucil. dic. Salii, qui eo modo corpus saltu reciprocant, Fest. ab eo fulco, qui fit in urbe condendâ ureo aratri; Scal. To tumble round.

Urus, ri; m. Cæs. ὄρεος βοῦς, ἄρκος. A beast like a Bull, but bigger in body, and very swift.

Urvum, vel urbum, bi; n. aratri curvatura, Fest. ab Urbum, id est, sursum versùs reflexum, vel in orbem; Var. The crooked plow-tail.

† Urvus, vel urbus, a, um; Scal. ἀνάκαμπτος. Bending upward.

U ante S.

Usia, æ; f. Aug. οὐσία, I. Essentia; Quint. Substance, essence, being.

Usitātè; adv. Cic. συνήθως, εἰωθότως, κατὰ τὸ εἰωθός. Ordinarily, usually, after the accustomed fashion, customarily.

Usitātissĭmus, a, um; superl. Sen. συνηθέστατος. Most usual, &c.

Usitātum est; Cic. It is a common saying, it is a thing often used.

Usitātus, a, um; Cic. συνήθης, εἰωθὼς. Usual, ordinary, Common.

† Usitor, āris; freq. ab Utor; χρῆσθαι, Gell. To use often.

Usquam, adv. Cic. πού, ἐπιτηδές: ullo loco: ex Us ab οὖς; & Quam. Any where, in any place, in any thing.

Usquam, adv. Cic. ex Us & quam. πού, ἐπιτηδές. Any where, in any place. Usquam gentium, Ter. In any part of the world.

Usque; adv. Cic. ἀεί, μέχρι, ἕως. עַד. ex Us & Que qu. ἑως καὶ. Continually, always, all along. Usque dum, Umil. Usque ad, Quite to, as far as. Usque à cunabilis, Plaut. From the very cradle. Usque à pueris, Ter. Even from their childhood, Ever since they were children.

Usque-adeo; Ter. μέχρις τούτου, μέχρι τοσούτου. Insomuch, so far forth.

Usquequaque; adv. Cic. πανταχοῦ, πάντως. All about, every where, on every side, continually, always, all along.

Usquĕquo; adv. ἕως πότε, ἄχρις οὗ. עַד מָתַי. How long? until that.

Ustĭo, ōnis; f. verb. Cato. ab Uro. καῦσις, ἐμφανὴς μάς, ἔκλειξις. חִבְעוֹכָה. A burning; a searing or burning with a hot iron, Plin.

Ustor, ōris; m. verb. Mart. qui corpora in bustuariis cremat. ἐμπρηστής. He that burneth, properly dead bodies.

Usticŭla, æ; f. Mart. dim. A woman-barber, or that burneth away hairs.

Ustrīgo, inis; f. Ambr. pro Uredine vel Rubigine: ἰφύσις. יְבָקוֹן. Blasting or blisting of corn, a burning in sores.

Ustrīna, æ; f. ab Uro; Plin. τὸ κατακαίειν. A melting-house for metal; a place where dead bodies are burned, Fest. A burning, Apul.

Ustŭlandus, a, um; part. Catul. κατακαιόμενος. To be burn'd or seared.

Ustŭlatus, a, um; part. Liv. ἐμπυρισθείς. Burned, seared. Pali ustulati, Vitr. Stakes burnt at the end to harden them.

Ustŭlo, as; Pacuv. ab Uro, ustum, καίω, κατακαίω, φλογίζω. דָּוַקִיד. To burn or sear a thing, to frizle or curl.

Ustūra, æ; f. Col. καῦσις. A burning.

Ustus, a, um; part. ab Uro; Ovid. καυσόμενος, καυτός. Burned, scorched.

Usŭālis, le; Dig. quod usui nostro servit, χρηστὸς. That serveth for our use, usual.

† Usŭāliter, adv. Plaut. Usually.

Usŭārius, a, um; Paul. That serveth for our use: that we have the use of, but not the property; also that which is provided for our daily use.

Usŭārius, ii; Pomp. ille cujus est usus, qui rei usum capit; χρήσιμος. He that hath the use of a thing, but not the propriety.

Usŭcāpio, is, re; pi, captum; Cic. id est, rem aliquam continuatione usûs & possessionis mihi attribuo, in meum usum verto: χρῆσιν ἰδιοποιοῦμαι. To make any thing his own through long possession, to take it his own by prescription of use.

Usucaptio, & Usucapio, Cic. & Usucapio, ōnis; f. Gell. est acquisitio vel adjectio dominii per continuationem possessionis temporis lege definiti, utpote 30. vel 40 annorum ii res immobilis; à die τῆς χρήσεως ἀρξάσης ἀπὸ τοῦ πρώτου. The enjoying of a thing by continuance of time, long possession or prescription.

Usufructuārius, tii; m. Pompon. χρήσιμος. He that hath the use and profit of a thing, but not the property.

Usufructus, ûs; m. Vid. Usufructus.

Usūra, æ ; f. Cic. ab Utor : χρῆσις, χρεία. Use, usage, occupying of a thing : item vitæ duratio. שִׁנּוּי חֹדֶשׁ. Usury, interest money given for the use of money, increase : also familiarity, conversation. Lucia usūram accipere alicui ; Cic. To lay him. Quincunces usūræ, Scav. Usury of five in the hundred. Semisses usūræ, Usury of six in the hundred.

Usurārius, a, um ; Plaut. χρεωστικός. Pertaining to use or usury, that giveth or taketh usury, lent upon usury.

Usurārius, ii ; m. Jun. An Usurer.

Usurpātio, ōnis ; f. verb. Cic. Prescription. Use, using or practising, usurping, usurpation ; also an interruption or disturbing of prescription, Paul.

Usurpātor, ōris ; m. verb. ὁ τυραννῶν. An usurper.

Usurpātus, a, um ; part. Much and often used or mentioned : taken to possession by prescript of time, Gell. Held by prescription, Amm.

Usurpo, as ; act. Cic. In frequente usu habeo, & hoc sive verbis, sive factis fiat, πραγματεύομαι, χρῶμαι. To usurp, or take into his use that which is another's : to use often or much, be it word or deed : to mention or speak often of : to disturb prescription by taking possession, Gell. Oculis usurpare aliquid, Lucr. To see it. Usurpor, āris ; pass. Cic.

Usūrus, a, um ; part. ab Utor : Ovid. χρησόμενος. About to use, that will use.

Usus, ūs ; m. verb. ab Utor : Cic. χρῆσις, χρεία, συνήθεια. Usu, exercise, practice, enjoyment, experience, usage, custome, profit, benefit, advantage, interest, conversation, acquaintance, familiarity, necessity, need, occasion. Usui nobis est, Plaut. Ex usu nostro est, Ter. It is for our advantage. Ad eam rem usus est tua mihi opera. I have need of your help.

Usufructus, ūs ; m. Cic. συμφόρημα, χρῆμα. אֲחֻזָּה. To use or profit of that which is another's, the benefit and property of the thing being still the owners, as in farming of land, &c.

U ante T.

Ut, adv. similit. ὡς ὅπως, καθάπερ. ab Is, ut ὡς ab ὅς pro Is : Al. ab ὡς, ut ἀ πρός, toti, Canin. Conj. ab ὅτι. ἵνα, ὅπως, ὅτι. שֶׁ־ it. adv. temporis, ab ὅτε tunc, ἡνίκα. Aliq. Interrogantis, πῶς. Aliq. Optandi ; utĭnam. Aliq. pro Quamvis, καίτοι. Aliq. pro Quam, ὡς. As, like as, even as, that or to the end that, as soon as, how? would to God : although, albeit, put the case, be it : Also for Ubi, where, Catul. Also for Ne, ut, Metuo ne subsiet, Ter. I fear he will not stand his ground. Ut maxime, Col. At the most. Ut vales? Plaut. How do you do?

Utcunque ; adv. Ter. quocunque modo. ἀπό ὁτουοῦν, ὁπωσοῦν. How soever, in what manner or fashion soever, according as.

Utendus, a, um ; part. To be used. Utendum accipere, Cic. To borrow for a time to use.

Utensĭlia, ĭum ; pars. Cic. Vessels.

Utensĭle, is ; n. subst. Cod. An utensil or implement, any thing for use.

Utensilis, le ; Col. χρησιμώτατος. Whatsoever is necessary for our use.

† Utensilĭtas, & Utensĭliter ; Tert.

UTER, tra, trum ; Cic. πότερος, ὁποτερονοῦν. ex Uterque, Scal. Which, or whether of the two.

UTER, ĕri ; m. vas vinarium, ab Uterus, qui aliquid intrinsecus habet, ut membra & viscera : vel quod ad modum uteri amplus sit & inflatus. ἀσκός. נֹאד. A bottle, a bag of leather made like a bottle, a bouge of leather : also a waterbouge, Cæs. a bladder, &c. to swim withal.

† Uter, ĕri ; m. Catull. id. quod Uterus.

Uterculus, li ; m. dim. ἀσκίδιον. A little bottle, also a little womb, belly or paunch : also the husk or bull of seeds : a coat or bull wherein young flowers are before they spread, Plin.

Utercunque, utrumcunque, utrumcunque, Cic. ὁπότεροσ, ὁπότερονοῦν. Whichsoever of the two.

Uterinus, a, um ; Justin. ὁμομήτριος. ὁμομήτριος. Born of the same mother or dam: that came both of one womb or belly. Frater uterinus, Fest. A brother by the mothers side.

Uterlibet, utrallibet, utrumlibet ; Plin. Which of the two you please.

Uternam, utranam, utrumnam ; Hor. ὁπότερος. Which of the two.

Uterque, utraque, utrumque ; Ter. ἀμφότεροι, ἑκάτεροι. שְׁנַיִם. Both the one and the other, both, each.

Utervis, utravis, utrumvis ; Cic. ὁποτερονοῦν. Either of the two, which of the two thou will.

† Utĕrum, i ; n. Plaut. & Turpil. ap. Non. id. quod Uterus.

UTERUS, ri ; m. Vir. μήτρα, ἀλλαντοειδές. רֶחֶם. gr. ἔλυτρον τὸ κεκλυσμένον τῆς μήτρας, Suid. Al. ab Uter, quod sit utris instar ; ab ὄδειος, Camin. vel fort. ab ὕδωρ, ὑδερός. The matrice or womb of a woman wherein the child is conceived : a belly, a paunch ; a child in the mothers womb, Tac. Uteri strangulatus, Plin. The mother, a disease of women. ✠ Alvus virorum, Uterus mulierum, Venter utriusque sexûs, Agræt. ✠ Uterus mulierum, Vulva cæterarum animantium, Plin.

† Uterutrŭbi, adv. Uterutrubi accumbamus, Plaut. Whether of us shall sit higher or lower.

Uti ; idem quod ut, ab ὅτι, quod, quia, Scal. Est & ὕστε, ὅτι, sicut : ὡς ὅπως, Teut, as, to the end that.

Utibilis, le ; adj. Plaut. ab Utor. To be used, that may be used, useful.

† Utica, æ ; f. Arnob. An ornament or garment about the head.

Utilĭor, us ; comp. Ovid. More useful.

Utilis, le ; Cic. χρήσιμος, ὠφέλιμος, χρειώδης, λυσιτελής, ὠφελητικός. סוֹעִיל. ab Utor. Useful, commodious, profitable, expedient, convenient, fit, good, necessary, wholesome, prosperous. Homo ad nullam rem utilis, Cic. Good for nothing. Cibus utilis ægro, Ovid. Wholesome or good for a sick body.

Utilissĭmus, a, um ; superl. Dolab. Most profitable or useful.

Utilĭtas, ātis ; f. Cic. ὠφελία, ὠφελεία, χρεία, λυσιτέλεια. תּוֹעֶלֶת. Commodity, profit, service, furtherance, advantage, interest.

Utilĭter ; adv. Cic. χρησίμως, λυσιτελῶς. Commodiously, profitably, &c.

Utilius ; adv. comp. Ovid. More profitable.

Utinam ; adv. optandi, Ter. ex Uti & nam. εἴθε, ἄφελον, ἄφελον. אֲבָלַי. Would to God!

Utique ; adv. affirm. Cic. ἄρα, δήπου, δηπουθεν. אָכֵן. Verily, surely, certainly, for certain, to wit : also moreover, over and above, Val. Max. also so, Quint.

UTOR, ĕris, ūsus, ūti ; dep. cum Abl. Cic. & cum Acc. Plauti χρῆμαι. אוּת. olim Auor, ut mior pro Ior, Fest. ab isto solco, is, ui, unde ἔωθα, unde Oitor & Oisus, Utor & Usus, Scal. To use, to make use of ; to dwell, to abide ; to implie ; to take the benefit of ; also to be conversant and familiar with one : to behave & demean one, to use him. ✠ To content himself with, Hor. Uti aliquo familiariter, Cic. To be well acquainted with one. Ille me facili utetur patre, Ter. I will prove a kind father to him.

Utor, ĕris ; pass. Gell.

Utpŏte, adv. confirm. Cic. ex ut & potis, Ut pote, i. possibile. ὡς ἂν, οἷονεί, καθάπερ, ἅτε ὄντες, ἅτε. Because as, considering that, in as much as.

Utpŭta, adv. Cic. ὡσπερεί, ἅτε puta ; ex Ut & Puta. ὡς οἷονεί. As, that is to say, that is to wit.

Utquid, adv. interrog. Cic. Ut notat finem, & induit vim Præpositionis finalis, qualis est ad, M. Sic Græc. ἵνα τί ; i. ἕνεκα τοῦ. לָמָּה. Why? for what? wherefore?

Utrārius, rii ; m. Liv. qui utriburia quam vel vinum fert. ἀσκοφόρος. That carrieth water, &c. in a bottle or tankard, a tankard-bearer.

Utrĭbi ; adv. Nav. In whether of the two places?

Utricīda, æ ; c. g. Apul. qui utres cædit. He that quaffeth off bottles.

Utricŭlārii, re ; adv. Bud. Of or like a bottle or bouge, or bag. Utricularis tibia, Jun. A bag-pipe.

Utricŭlārius, ii ; m. Sacc. qui in utre canit, infixis ei tibiis. ἀσκαύλης, ἀσκαύλιος. A bag-piper.

Utricŭlus, i ; m. Plin. dim. ab Uter. ἀσκίδιον. A little bottle : also a little womb ; also the husk or bull of seeds ; gurgeons or grudging, Jun. the first bud of a flower, Id. also a Bag-pipe.

Utrinde ; adv. Cic. From both parts or sides.

Utrinque, adv. Cæs. ex utroque loco ; ἀμφοτέρωθεν, ἐκατέρωθεν. On both sides, on both parts.

† Utrinquĕsĕ, as ; adv. Cat. Secus utramque partem. On every part, on every side.

Utrinsĕcus, adv. Lucr. On both sides, in each side.

† Utris, antiq. A bladder blown.

Utro ; adv. Plin. versus utram partem. ὁποτέρωσε. Towards which part or side? which way?

Utrŏbi, adv. Ulp. ? utro ubi ; utro loco? ἐκατέρωθι. Whether of the two places? to which of the two?

Utrŏbique, adv. Liv. ἀμφοτέρωθι. On both sides and parts, on the one side and the other.

Utrŏque ; adv. Liv. ἐκατέρωσε. To both sides, places or parts.

Utrŭbi ; adv. Ulp. idem quod Utrobi.

Utrum ; adv. interrog. Cic. ab Uter: πότερον, ἆρ, ἦ, ἆρα γε. Whether?

Utut ; adv. Ter. Howsoever, in what manner or fashion soever.

U ante V, & V ante U.

UVA, æ ; f. Vir. σταφυλή, βότρυς. עֲנָב. dict. ab Uvido, quòd intrinsecus humore plena ; Isid. Uva ab Uvore, i. humore & latice intùs concluso ; Var. fort. quià ūcā i. gibba & globosa. A grape, a raisin; a cluster.

clusters, a Vine. Vin. a berry, Plin. a swarm of Bees. Id. Also a disease, the swelling of the Uvula. Uva crispa, Ger. the Resp, or gooseberry.

Uvea, The fourth thin membrane of the eye, called also Chorion, Secundina, and Chorioeide: it is the first that cloatheth the Optick sinews.

Uvĕo, ēre; neut. unde Uvens; part. Silic. id infra. uvæ madeo. To be wet or moist.

Uvesco, is, ĕre; incep. βρέχομαι, διΐσχνομαι. To wax moist, or dank.

Uvĕus, a, um; quod ex uvâ fit; σταφύλου. Of a grape.

Uvidŭlus, a, um; dim. Uvidula à fletu, Cat. Blubbered and wet with weeping.

Uvidus, a, um; ab Uveo, contr. Udus, misi contrà ab Udus Uvedus, ut à Nauta Navita, diaeresi, non Græco. נָטָף. Wet, moist.

Uvifer, a, um; Sil. ferens uvas; σταφυλοφόρος. That bringeth or beareth grapes or berries.

†Vulga, æ; f. Non. pro Bulga, dict. à Volvo, qu. volva, quòd viaticum involvat: mea, ait, Varro. Aliqu. ponitur pro Vulva, & è contrario Vulva pro Sacculo. A bag or budget, scrip or satchel: sometimes a womans womb, or Macer saith.

Vulgāgo, ĭnis; f. Macer. σταφυλή, quòd vulgam, i. bulgam seu ventrem agat, moveat, qu. καλπάζω. Foleſoot, or Asarabacca.

† Vulgariam pro Vulgarem, Næv.

Vulgāris, re; à Vulgus: ἐγχωριος, δημώδης. Belonging to the common people, vulgar, common, ordinary, much used, vile, base. Vulgaris mulier, Suet. A common whore. — Communis, popularis, permagatus, obsoletus, vilis, Cic. Excellens, singularis, Id.

Vulgāritas, ātis; f. Arnob. The common manner of ordinary people; vulgarneſs.

Vulgāriter, adv. Cic. κοινῶς, πανδήμως, πολλαχοῦ. Commonly, vulgarly, after the common sort.

† Vulgārius, a, um; Gell. idem quod Vulgaris.

Vulgātior, us; comp. Liv. More commonly reported or talked of.

Vulgātissimus, a, um; superl. Plin.

Vulgātor, ōris; m. verb. Ovid. διαφημιστής, διαπεμπώμενος. A publisher, a divulger, a tell-tale, a spreader abroad of news.

Vulgātūrus, a, um; part. Claud. That will publish.

Vulgātus, a, um; part. & adj. Vir. δημοσιευθείς, διαφημισθείς. Published, divulged, made common, prostituted, Liv.

Vulgivăgus, a, um; Lucr. πανδημοφοίτης. Wandring or straggling among the people.

Vulgo, as; act. Liv. in vulgus spargo, διαφημίζω, δημοσιεύω, φημίζω. הִשְׁמִיעַ. To spread abroad, to noise, to disclose, to bruit, to publish or divulge: also to make common, to prostitute; Plaut.

Vulgor, āris; pass. Liv.

Vulgo, adv. Cic. πανδήμει, πανδημεί, ἐν τῷ κοινῷ. Commonly, ordinarily, abroad, every where, up and down; publickly, openly before all.

VULGUS, gi; n. & m. Vir. à Volvendo, quòd inconstanter stultéque huc atque illuc volvatur; à voluntate vagâ, Pap. qu. Volivagus; vel quòd quisque quod vult agat: à πολλοὶς, M. ut, πεπλεγμένος, unde adv. πολλαχοῦ. ut πολλοὶ τε πλανῶνται. הֲמוֹן. The common people, the rude multitude, the rabble or raſcality; the folk.

Vulnĕrārius, a, um; Plin. τραυματικός. Of or belonging to wounds.

Vulnĕrārius, rii; m. Plin. χειρουργὸς ἰατρός. He that cures or heals wounds, a Surgion or Chirurgion.

Vulnĕrātio, ōnis; f. verb. Cic. τραῦσις. A wounding or hurting.

Vulnĕrātus, a, um; part. Plin. Hurt, wounded.

Vulnĕro, as; act. Cic. τραύω, τραυματίζω. To wound or hurt, to grieve.

Vulnĕror, āris; pass. Cic.

Vulnificus, a, um; Vir. τραυματοποιός. That woundeth or maketh wounds.

VULNUS, ĕris; n. à Volvendo, quòd volvendo, i. vibrando fiat; Perot. ab ἀλλ, Canin. al. à Vulsa, i. vulsâ carne, quod est hians patensque apertura corporis ictu aliquo inflicta, solutio continuitatis in carne: τραῦμα, πληγή. מַכָּה. A wound, a bruise, a hurt, a sore, a raising or blott; Cic. love, Ovid. displeasure; grudg, Vir. also grief; also an arrow; Srat.

Vulnuscŭlum; li; m. dim. Ulp. A little wound.

Vulpanser, ĕris; m. Plin. χηναλώπηξ. A bergander, a bird of the kind of Geese.

Vulpēcŭla, æ; f. dim. Hor. ἀλωπηκίς. A little fox, a cub, a vixon.

VULPES, is; f. à volando, qu. volipes, Var. qu. volupes; est enim volubilis pedibus; Isid. ab ἀλώπηξ, Canin. pro Vulpex, unde Vulpecula. ἀλωπεκῆ. שׁוּעָל. A fox. Vulpes marina, Plin. A kind of fishes called Sea-foxes.

Vulpĭcanda, æ; f. Jun. The herb Foxtail.

Vulpinor, āris; Var. Vulpinos mores sequor, ἀλωπιζω. To play the fox, to deceive with crafty wiles.

Vulpinus, a, um; Suet. ἀλωπεκώδης. Of a fox; crafty, wily, subtile, Plaut.

Vulpio, ōnis; m. Apul. Homo vafer ut vulpes, ἀλώπηξ. A man crafty as a fox, a vulpone.

Vulsūra, æ; f. Var. πλυμός, πλυσις. A pulling, plucking, or tugging.

Vulsus, a, um; part. à Vello, Quint. πεπλυμένος. Tugged, plucked, pulled.

Vulticŭlus, li; m. dim. à Vultus, Cic. τὸ προσωπεῖον, προσώπιον. A little visage or countenance.

† Vultōrius, a, um; Perot. A certain chance at the dice. V. Vulturius.

† Vultum, i; n. Lucr. Id. quod Vultus.

Vultŭōse; adv. Donat. Diſdainfully, beavily, frowningly, bigly, as he had eaten bull-leef: sourly, or surlily.

Vultŭōsus, a, um; Quint. προσωπώδης, συνοφρυωμένος. Of a sullen grim countenance; big-looked, frowning, or making many countenances.

Vultur, ŭris; m. Liv. γύψ, ἀπὸ τοῦ πέτεσθαι. à volatu, quòd tardè volet propter corporis magnitudinem, Isid. à Vultu, quòd vultu valeat, quippe perspicacissimo visu est, M. A raveneus bird, called a Vulture or Gripe; also the constellation, the Harp so called.

Vulturīnus, a, um; Plin. ἀετώδης, γυπώδης. Of or belonging to a Vulture or Cormorant; also brown dusk coloured.

Vulturis, Gen. Vulturis, m. Enn. id. qd. Vultur.

Vulturius, ii; m. Plaut. γύψ. A vulture: also an extortioner; also an unlucky chance at dice, the same as Canis.

Vulturnus, ni; m. Plin. à Vulturno volatu; quoniam altè resonat; vel à Vulturno fluvio. εὖρος. The North-east wind: al. the South-east wind.

Vultus, ūs; m. Cic. à Velo, volitum; quòd sit voluntatis sive animi index: al. à Volvendo. πρόσωπον, ὄψις, ὄμμα, ὄψεις. פָּנִים. The countenance or visage, the face, the favour, the look, chear.

Vulva, æ; f. Plin. qu. Volva, i. jama; al. qu. volva, quòd fœtus in eâ involvitur. μήτρα, ὑστέρα, ἀλήτης. רֶחֶם. The matrice, womb, or mother; also the womb-passage; a womans privity; also a bag or budget.

Vulvārĭa, æ; f. Dodon. Stinking motherwort.

Vulvula, æ; f. Plin. A kind of fish.

Uvŭla, æ; f. dim. à similitudine uvæ dict. γαγγραινα. A piece of flesh in the roof of the mouth, or the top of the throat so called.

Uvŭlārĭa, æ; f. Jun. ἡμιόγλωσσον. The herb Horse-tongue.

U ante X.

Uxor, ōris; f. Cic. γυνὴ γαμετὴ, ἀλόχος. אִשָּׁה. qu. unxor, Don. quod eam puellæ nuberent, ventrent ad limen mariti, & postes, antequàm ingrederentur, ornarent laneis vittis, & oleo ungerent, Isid. Eam unctionem postium aiunt factam esse averruncandorum malorum causâ. Ungebant autem adipe suillo vel lupino; suillo boni ominis causâ, ut tam fœcundæ essent quàm sues; lupino, ne quid mali medicamenti inferretur, Plin. 28. 9. Al. ab heb. אשה. nam ש. quandoque transit in X. A wife; also she of beasts, Hor. ◊ Uxorem millies duxit, Sen. de eo qui cum uxore morosissimâ, sæpe lites habuit, sæpè redùt in gratiam.

Uxorātus, ûs; m. The state of marriage, or having of a wife.

Uxorcula, æ; f. dim. Plaut. γύναιον. A pretty little wife.

Uxōrium, rii; n. Uxorium pependisse dicitur, qui quòd uxorem non habuerit, æs populo dedit, Fest. ἀγαμίας δίκη. A mulct or forfeit paid for not marrying; money exacted by way of fine of them that had no wives.

Uxorius, a, um; Cic. γυναικεῖος, ἰδίως γυναικός. Of or belonging to a wife, becoming or befitting a wife, Gel. fond of his wife, Hor. uxorious.

Uxōrius, rii; m. Vir. γυναικοκρατούμενος. One that dotes on his wife, or is too much in subjection to her; ken-pecke; that lets his wife wear the breeches.

X x. Gr. Ξ, ξ. Angl. ks, x. Quanam Hebræorum litera huic respondeat, non ita liquidò patet. In Alphabeto, qui literario, qui numerali, ס et recta exadversùm consistit. ל, 30. ם, 40. ן, 50. ם, 60. pariter Græcè, ν, 50. ξ, 60. Id Heb. סמך Samech, Simcha vocant, gr. σίγμα. Verùm quicquid de ordine sit, ea diversa est littera. Dicimus ergo ס & ש, permutatâ invicem sede, apud Græcos, alteram in alterius locum commigrâsse. Hanc Hebræi שן Sebin, i. dentem appellant, quòd sit littera dentata; qualis & ξ, in plano posita, ad instar serræ. Potuit ab Heb. נשך Græci omisso ν dixere Νξ, ità à Schin factum ξι. Unde Latinis ix dicitur per Anastrophen, ut his ab i incipiat, sicuti Græcisin ξ desinit, censente Prisciano; vel, quod vult Scaliger, ut à Præpositione ex differret. Quid quod hodierni Græculi proferam ξ ante aliquot Vocales, fere ut Ui, quomodo & Hispani suum ι, & Galli ch, qui etiam, eodem Scaligero teste, erat vetustissima pronunciatio. Imo & ipsi Itali ss quandoque per ſſ exprimunt, ut Alessandro pro Alexandro. De Græco ξ vidimus. Latinum x, utut potestate congruat cum ξ, figuram habet prorsùs eandem cum χ, (quod sit litera decussata; unde χιάζω decusso) in quam & se nonnunquam resolvit; ut ὄνυξ, ὄνυχος. X, duplex cùm sit, conflata ex cs, gs, vel etiam ces (ut τρυγὸς trux) propter s ad semivocales, propter c vel g ad mutas spectat, in secundo, scil. ordine κ γ χ ξ. Usque ad Augusti tempora cs pro x scribebant, si Isidoro fides; tum demum, Christo nascente cœpit in usu esse, ob figuram crucis, uti piè sed non ità verè monet Papias; nam diu antè legere erat in Columnâ Duilianâ expscionm pro expugnationem. Olim quidem scriptum apect, gregs, &c. unde Fabius affirmat Latinos carere potuisse hâc literâ, si non quæsissent. Addit Cicero x quibusdam vocibus exemptum, fugâ vastioris soni; ut ala, palus, velum diceretur pro axilla, paxillus, vexillum. Attici contrà, qui elegantiæ studebant, ut qui maximè, σ in ξ mutarunt, ut amabilioris soni & temperatioris susurri, initiis vocum. Quod Dores imitati in finibus; ut pro ὄγυις, ὄγυιξ. Sic ab Αἴας, Latinè Ajax, & qui post palus antiquis erat pulvix. Non erat mirum igitur geminum ſſ in x mutari; ut πολυ πιχ, Ulyxes idem qui Ulysses; uti è converso à coxo (quod à cogo) coſſi dicitur. Etiam x transit in ſ; ut à ξυλικὰ siliqua; & in sc, ut ἰξὸς viscus, & ascella pro axilla. Itt c & g, ità & q mutatur in x; ut coquo, coxi: item v; ut vivo, vixi; & h; ut vehe, vexi. X similiter fit q; ut à lax, laqueus: v; ut nix, nivis: ſ; ut ab ex & fero, effero. Diximus x confiari ex κς, γς, χς. Illud magis mirandum etiam ex φς fieri, ut à γὶφ⊖, nix: quod & Latinè fit, ut proximus pro propſimus, q. d. propiſſimus. S post x omitti debere contendit Priscianus, quòd Græcè ix non ιξ ante σ scribatur, & quia x loco c & s fungitur; ergo exequor scribendum, non exſequor. At hinc sequeretur potiùs scribi debere ecſequor, quomodò antiquitùs scriptum ecferre, &c. In veterum monumentis inseri ſ videmus etiam, ubi non erat; ut dixerit, uxor, exſigatur. In numeris X valet 10, unde & in antiquis codicibus pro Denario Romano ponitur. Causam adfert Priscianus, quia ξ est decima Græcorum consona; aliis magis placet, quia sit ex duobus V, i. e. quinariis, altero recto, inverso altero.

X ante A.

† XAnthènes; Plin. 37. 10. ξανθὸς, à ξανθὸς flavus, qu. xanthinus, l. lapis. A precious stone of amber colour. Al. leg. Zanthenes.

* Xanthion, & Xanthium, thii; n. ξάνθιον. dict. quòd eo rufentur capilli: herba est è lapparum genere, quæ alio nomine Philanthropos dicitur. The lesser clot-burr, ditch-burr, bonse-burr.

* Xanthos; Plin. 37. 10. ξανθὸς. A precious stone of bright yellow colour.

X ante E.

Xenolium, li; n. dim. Apul. ξένιον μικρὸν. A small present or gift.

* Xenium, ii; n. Mart. ξένιον, à ξένος hospes, dict. quòd hospitibus dari solet; munus hospitale vocat Apul. מתנה. A present, gift or token bestowed upon a friend, guest or stranger; a saring: also a present given to a foreign Embassadour.

* Xenodochium, ii; n. Hier. ξενοδοχεῖον, παρὰ τὸ δέχεσθαι τοὺς ξένους. An hospital for poor travellers or strangers; an Inn.

* Xenon, onis; m. Cod. ξενὼν, hospitium. מלון. An Inn, a lodging.

* Xenoparochi; m. pl. Arcad. ξενοπάροχοι, ἐπὶ τῶν ξένοις τὰ ἐπιτήδεια παρέχειν, quod hospitibus necessaria suppeditarent. Officers appointed to provide wood and sale, &c. for Embassadours and strangers.

* Xerampelina, æ, um; ξηραμπελινὸς, ex ξηρὸς siccus, & ἀμπελος vitis; color pullus & ater, quem pullitiem dixit Plinius, ab aridis vitium foliis (ut videtur) quæ ejus fere sunt coloris. Hinc Xerampelinæ vestes, Juv. A murry colour, somewhat ruddy or blood-red, like the vine-leaves in Autumn; a dry sallow colour.

* Xeranticus, a, um; Theod. Prisc. ξηραντικὸς. Siccative or drying.

* Xerocollyrium, n. Mart. Empir. ξηροκολλύριον. A dry plaister for sore eyes.

* Xerophagia, æ; f. Tert. ξηροφαγία, aridorum esus: à ξηρὸς & φαγεῖν. The eating of dry meat; a kind of christian fast: also a diet us'ed by wrestlers.

* Xerophthalmia, æ; f. Cels. ξηροφθαλμία, i. oculorum siccitas. A dry sorenes of the eyes without dropping or swelling.

X ante I.

* Xiphias, æ; m. Plin. ξιφίας, à ξίφος ensis. A Comet or blazing star, appearing like a sword without any rays: also a sword-fish, having a snout like a sword.

* Xiphion, n. Plin. 25. 11. ξιφίον gladiolus; herba. A Lilly macronato. Shining Gladen, Sparg-wort.

† Xiphomachæra, æ; f. Jun. ξιφομάχαιρα, Poll. ξίφος ensis & μάχαιρα gladius. A two-handed sword, an arming or back-sword.

X ante Y.

Xylinum, i; n. Plin. ξύλινον, dict. quod nascitur ex fructice, quem Græci dicunt ξύλον. Bombast, cotton, fustian, a kind of wool or flax growing in little bags, which are the fruit of the plant Xylon.

Xylinus, a, um; Plin. ξύλινος. Of or belonging to cotton or fustian.

* Xylobalsámum, mi; n. Plin. ξυλοβάλσαμον. The wood of the Balsam-tree.

* Xylocinnámum, i; n. Plin. ξυλοκινάμωμον. Lat. lingum Cinnamomi. The wood of the Cinnamon-tree.

* Xylon, i; n. Plin. ξύλον, idem quod Gossipium, Gell. 7. Cotton, bumbast, fustian, the Cotton-tree.

Xylophágium, n. Hier. idem quod.

Xylophágus, i; m. Plin. ξυλοφάγος. lignum corrodens. A worm breeding under the bark of trees. † Cossus, Lat.

* Xyris, idis; f. Plin. 21. 20. ξυρὶς, iris Sylvestris, Off. A kind of herb with hary leaves.

Xyrotheca, æ; f. Jun. ξυροθήκη, theca novacularia. A barbers case for his sisseri, rasour, &c.

* Xystarches vel Xystarchus, m. Tert. ξυστάρχης, qui Xysto præerat. A master of a fencing or wrestling-school.

Xysticus, ci; m. Suet. ξυστικὸς. qui hastili vel siculo ludit, quod gr. ξυστὸν dic. vel pot. qui in Xysto exercetur, Cæl. 22. 52. A wrestler, a Champion.

† Xystios, i; f. Plin. 37. 9. ξυστὶς. qu. ξυστὸς rasilis. An ordinary stone in the Indies of a Jasper kind.

Xystum, ti; n. Cic. ξυστὸς, ποὶκ. Xysta sunt subdiales ambulationes, ubi sub cœlo suas exercebant palæstras. An open walking place, or gauery; in summer or fair weather; knot-garden, Suet.

Xystus, i; m. Vitr. ξυστὸς. אולם. porticus in qui Athletæ per hiberna tempora in tectis stadiis exercentur. A covered place, or gallery, where men used wrestling or other exercise in the winter, a close walk to walk in out of the sun and rain.

Y, Gr. Υ, υ. Heb. ו. Angl. Y, y. Pythagoræ littera; Græca vocalis, in iis duntaxat vocibus, quæ è Græcia in civitatem receptæ sunt, usurpata; v. g. ὕδωρ moly, κύμινον & abyssus. Itaque ex unâ Græcâ Latinæ factæ duæ, V & I. y, V ex minusculâ u, y ex majusculâ Υ. Veteribus u sola in usu erat; quocirca Purrum & Fruges Ennius dixit, non Porrhum, Phryges. Fuerit ergo Græcis, ut in ϑ & φ, sic & in u duplex sonus, quem ideò Latini sequiores duplici figurâ exprimendum censebant: at V esset u magnum sive longum, Y autem u tenue sive parvum. Nam prisci, quod dixi, ubique u sonabant; ut mus, cubus, dulce, fuge; non mys, cybus, dyke, fyge; quod sunt ex gr. μῦς, κύβος, γλυκὺ, φύγε. Certè Romanorum u erat ubi crassius sonaret, ut Græci in υ verterent; ut Pυρρος, Ιυλος, Κυαιστωρ, pro Κύρρος, Ἴουλος, Quæstor. Poterat y alternato sono cum i confusum, quam affinitatem soni probat Aelius Nunnus; Αἰγύπτιος pro Αἰγύπτιος, μῦστις & μύστις. Videri poterat y ex i conflatum (quomodo j longam scripsere) omissis punctis; vel saltem ex Græcorum impropriâ diphthongo υι. Anglorum initio vocum consonantis vice fungitur, pro g vel j Germanorum adhibita: ut garu Germ. stamen, yarn Angl. jahr Germ. annus, year Angl. Nulla habet littera Y vocabula, quæ à se incipiant, quòd initio aspirari soleat. Vide Hy.

Y ante M, & Y ante L.

† Ymber, bris; m. ap. vett. Vox. tanquam ab ὗω. A shower of rain.

V. Imber.

† Yucca, æ; f. Wa. quæ & Iucca. A tree in the West-Indies, of the root whereof they make their bread.

Z, Gr. Ζ, ζ. Heb. ז. Angl. Z, z. Consona duplex, idque in Græcis ferè vocibus, ζῶσις dicta, quomodò & veteres Syri appellabant ܙܝܬܐ Zeta, i. oleam, cujus sc. fcapum & cacumen refert, quam nunc Hebræi זַיִת i. telum, cujus manubrium superior pars aliquatenus repræsentat. De nomine actum est. Figura majusculæ Z magis accedit ad cognatam literam Σ, uti minusculæ Græcæ ζ ad finalem ς, quæ Hebræis צָדֵי Tsade, i. venabulum dicitur. Quin & nos Angli hodie Zed vel Zed vocamus. Potestas tamen magis exprimit ts quàm ss. Id Æoles plane declarant, qui pro διὸς dicere δῐορ. Dores inverso ordine literarum σδ ponunt pro ζ, ut pro ἀνείζω ἀνείσδω. Ità vulgò Esdras scribitur pro Ἔζρας. Sanè antiqui, qui nullam peregrinam literam adhibebant, pro ζ usurpabant simplex σ; ut ζώνη Θρᾷσσα, zona Thressa. Neque verò Græcè multùm absimiles ζ & ζ. Duplex σσ etiamnum obtinet; ut πολίσσω patrisso, πόλισσα prisse, πόλις prissa. Sed & altera pars compositi, δ scil. olim adhibita pro ζ, teste Prisciano, ut dicerent Medonius pro Menzentius. Duplex ζζ Lacedæmonis familiare erat; ut pro μείζα μείδδα. Διὰ contrà in compositis fit ζα, ut διαβάλλω, ζαβάλλω, unde Zabulus, i. Diabolus; à διαιτᾶν, Zeta. Similiter γ in ζ transit, ex Ionum dialecto; ῥύζα pro ῥυγα, ὀλίζον pro ὀλιγον. Nec immeritò, cùm ζ communiter muteur in γ & δ in futuris secundis verborum quartæ. Indifferenter scribitur ζιγγίβερις & γιγγίβερις, zingiber & gingiber. In j consonam itidem duplicem sapiusculè mutatus, ut ζυγὸν ἵππων, zeb nanev Jupiter! & vicissim, barbarè quidem sed non prorsus citra rationem, in historiâ Francorum legas Ζασὼ pro Jesu.

Z ante A.

† Zabŏlus, i; m. Cyprian. i. Diabolus; quomodò & Græci dixerunt ζαβόλος, & διαβόλος. The Devil. Al. leg. Zabullus.

* Zămia, æ; f. Plaut. ζαμία Dor. pro ζημία, damnum. A loss, detriment, damage or shrewd turn.

* Zămia, f. pl. Plin. 16. 26. ζαμία, dicuntur nucamenta. Pine-nuts that grow upon a tree, and burt others, unless they be plucked off.

† Zancha, æ; f. Treb. Poll. A kind of vesture or garment.

Zanthenes; Plin. 37. 10. A stone like amber. Vid. Xanthenes.

Zarsa parilla; off. vel ut alii, Sparta parilla; σπάρτον ἄμπελος. A kind of bindweed.

Z ante E.

Zea, æ; f. Plin. 18. 7. ζέα vel ζειὰ (unde ζειάφορος ἄνεμος, Homer.) Spelt: after some beer-barly, or beer-corn. Zea deglubita, Jun. Gurst, oatmeal-grotes.

Zedoaria, æ; f. radix nascens apud Sinenses ultra Indias, facie gingiberis, sed odoratior & amariusculà, ζαδοάρια, Dioscor. Zhoarp, a root like Ginger.

† Zelivira mulier, Tert. A jealous woman.

Zēlus, ălis; Bibl. id. quod

Zēlor, āris; Vulg. Int. à Zelus: ζηλόω. To have a zeal or great desire to do a thing, to be zealous, to love passionately, to imitate diligently; also to envy.

Zēlōtes, æ; m. Bibl. ζηλωτὴς verb. à ζηλόω, zelator. A Zealot; also one who is jealous.

Zēlōtypia, æ; f. Cic. ζηλοτυπία, à Zelotypus. קִנְאָה. Jealousie.

Zēlōtypus, a, um; Juv. ζηλότυπος, qu. ζήλου πυρεὶς zelo percussus. קַנָּא. Jealous.

Zēlus, li; m. Bibl. ζῆλος, i. fervor. קִנְאָה. A great desire, that one hath to do some thing; Zeal, ardent affection, emulation, envy.

Zēnith, n. indecl. Astron. vox Arabica. The point of the firmament directly over ones head wheresoever he be. Æ Nadir.

Zephyrius, a, um; ζεφύριος. Of or belonging to the Western wind. Zephyria ova, Plin. Eggs conceived with the wind; wind-eggs, or addle eggs; eadem quæ & ὑπηνέμια.

Zephyrus, ri; m. Vir. ζέφυρος, qu. ζωοφόρος vitam ferens; Lat. Favonius dic. The West-wind.

† Zerna, æ; f. Macer. λειχὴν, impetigo. A tetter or ring-worm.

† Zĕros, al. Zetos, Plin. 37. 9. gemma similis iridi aspectu, à ζειρὸς pro σειρὸς lineæ; ob albam & nigram transversam lineam. A kind of crystal.

Zēta, æ; f. Lampr. idem quod Dieta, & illud ex hoc corruptum, Æol. ζᾶ pro δῖα posito, ἀπὸ τοῦ ζέιν, quod est fervere, quòd solem accipiat multipliciter. A room kept warm like a stove; a withdrawing chamber with pipes conveighed along in the walls, to receive from below either the cool air, or the heat of warm water, the same as Dixta: a part of an house containing a chamber and a dining-room; Vos.

Zētārĭŏla; ĭdem qui Dixtarĭŏla; Paul.

Zētĕcŭla, æ; f. dim. Pl. jun. A little close room, a closet.

* Zeugites, æ; m. Plin. ζευγίτης, ad jugum pertinens, jugalis. A kind of canes or reeds, which falkners used to catch birds with.

* Zeugma, ătis; n. Gram. ζεῦγμα, junctura. A figure whereby many clauses are joyned with one verb.

* Zeus, zei; m. Ζεὺς, i. Jupiter; piscis qui & Faber, Plin. 9. 13. dict. quod Jovi sacer est: ζελεύς. A fish taken about Cales in Spain, black of colour and very delicate: some call it a Gold-fish, a deice.

Z ante I.

* Zibēthum, i; n. Jun. ζαπέτιον, à צִבֹּת fluere, stillare: est enim sudor inter hujusce animalis testiculos concrescens. Ti-vet.

bet. A perfume like musk.

Zingiber, ĕris ; n. & Zingiberi, n. Plin. & Zingiberis ; f. ζιγγίβερις, vel is. Ginger.

Zinziber, ĕris ; n. Plin. idem.

Zizănia, æ ; f. Ambr. id. quod

Zizănium, ii ; n. Bibl. ζιζάνιον. זְוָנִים. Darnel or cockle growing amongst corn, tares, &c.

* Zizyphum, phi ; n. Plin. ζίζυφον, ονος, Gal. A kind of fruit called of Apothecaries, jujubes.

Zizyphus, i ; f. Plin. ζίζυφος. Arbor primo non multo minor, cujus fructus Zizipbum.

Z ante M.

† Zmilăces, Plin. ζμιλάκης. Gemma quæ in Euphrate nascitur : al. leg. Zmilampis ; à σμίλη, scalpellum, eò quòd radi queat ; M. A precious stone found in Euphrates, of a gray colour.

Z ante O.

Zŏbŏla, æ ; f. Pomp. Sabin. An Ermin or Weezil, whose furr is that we call Sable.

Zŏdĭăcus, ci ; m. Cic. ζωδιακὸς, scil. τὸ ζῶον, sive ζώδιον, à figurâ animalium, qui in eo imaginantur. The Zodiack, a Circle in heaven, in which are the twelve Signs, where the Sun makes his walk.

Zona, æ ; Ovid. ζώνη. חֲגוֹר. A girdle, a purse on a girdle ; a Zone, or large piece of earth, of which they reckon five ; the two Frigid Zones under the Poles ; the two Temperate ones without the Tropicks, and between them the Torrid Zone under the Line ; Ovid. Also the Shingles, a disease ; Scribon. Zonam solvere, recingere, Ovid. To defloure one or get her maidenhead. Zonam perdere, Hor. To loose all his money.

Zōnārius, a, um ; Of or belonging to a girdle or purse. Sector zonarius, Plaut. ζωνοτόμος. A cut-purse.

Zōnārius, ii ; m. Cic. qui zonas facit, ζωνοπλόκος. A girdle-maker, a girdler.

Zōnātim, adv. Lucil. in modum zonæ. Like a circle, a round.

Zōnŭla, æ ; f. dim. Catul. ζωνίδιον. A little girdle.

* Zōophthalmon, i ; n. Plin. ζωοφθάλμιον. Quòd oculum animalis refert. Semgreen or Houseleek.

* Zoophytum, i ; n. Med. ζωόφυτον. quòd mediam naturam habet inter ζῶον animal, & φυτὸν, i. plantam ; q. d. plantanimal. A thing that is partly like a living creature, partly like a plant.

Zophŏrus, i ; m. Vitru. ζωφόρος. Pars columnæ inter epistylium & coronidem, animalibus aliisque signis ornari solita. A freeze or border in pillars or other works, set off with the shapes of several things graven upon it.

Zopissa, æ ; f. Plin. 16. 12. ζώπισσα, ex ζῆν vigere & πίσσα pix, eò quòd sit cæteris efficacior ; vel ab Heb. זפת. Pitch scraped off from ships, and tempered with wax and salt.

* Zōphyrum, vel on ; n. Plin. 24. 15. herba similis serpyllo. ζώφυρον. The herb Pulcal of the mountains.

† Zoronyssos, Plin. 37. 10. ζωρονύσσος, in Indo flumine nascitur, magorum gemma : al. leg. Zoranistos. A precious stone which magicians made use of.

* Zoster, eris ; m. Plin. ζωστὴρ, cingulum. S. Antonies fire, the shingles. = Cincinnus, Plin.

Z ante U.

Zupellum, ii ; n. Med. A mixt.

Zuma, æ ; f. Treb. Poll. v. Zyma.

Zura, f. Plin. Aphrorum lingua semen pulluri voc. contra Scorpiones efficacissimum. A white-thorn-berry.

* Zuz, indecl. Bibl. זוּז : drachma seu denarius, in argento pars octava daleri Joachimici. ζοὺζ. An Hebrew coin, whereof four made a shekle.

Z ante Y.

Zygæna, æ ; f. ζύγαινα, libella Gaza. A kind of fish with his head lying a cross the rest of his body.

Zygia, æ ; f. Plin. à ζυγὸς jugum. A tree of which they make yokes, a kind of maple. Carpinus, Lat. ♀ also an epithet of Juno, Goddess of marriage, Apul.

Zygia tibia, f. Apul. à ζυγὸς i. connubium. A pipe wherewith they plaid at weddings.

* Zygita, æ ; m. Cæl. Rhod. ζυγίτης, remex in medio sedens in ζυγοῖς, i. jugis vel transtris. He which sate and rowed in the middle place.

* Zygostata, æ ; m. Alc. ζυγοστάτης, libripens, qui ζυγῷ ἵστησι, i. libra appendit. A Clerk of the market to set to weights.

Zygostaticus, a, um ; ζυγοστατικὸς. Zygostatica libra, Jun. A pound weight Averdupois, containing sixteen ounces.

Zyma, æ ; f. Apic. à ζέω, ferveo. A vessel to boil broth, &c. in.

* Zymites, m. Cæl. ζυμίτης. à ζύμη, fermentum. חָמֵץ. Leavened bread.

* Zymōma, ătis ; n. Cæl. ζύμωμα. Leaven, leavening.

Zythepsa, æ ; m. ζυθέψης. A Brewer.

Zythum, thi ; n. Plin. & Zythus, thi, ζῦθος. ὅτι ἀπὸ τοῦ ζεσθῆναι ζωμοῦσθαι, Suid. à ζέω. Beer or Ale : drink made of corn or malt ; a drink used by the old Gauls, so called from the seething or boiling of it ; whence also Sider had its name ; others ascribe it to the Egyptians.

ROMA ANTIQUA.

1. Castrum Prætorium.
2. Vivarium, in medio horum Porta Querquetulana.
3. Minerva Medica.
4. Amphitheatrum Castr. qu.
5. Hippodromus Aureliani.
6. Ustrinum.
7. Domus Lucrionis.
8. Amphitheatrum Vespasiani.
9. Circus Maximus.
10. Domus Valentiniani.
11. Thermæ Olympiadis.
12. Columna Antonini.
13. Septa Curiata.
14. Circus Sallustii.
15. Domitiani Balnea.
16. Thermæ Diocletiani.
17. Mausoleum Augusti.
18. Circus Flaminius.
19. Theatrum Pompeii.
20. Theatrum Balbi.
21. Circus Agonalis.
22. Villa Publica.
23. Theatrum Marcelli.
24. Pons Fabricius.
25. Thermæ Aureliani.
26. Pons Sublicius.
27. Augusti Ædes in Monte Palatino.
28. Templum Fauni vel Isidis.
29. Aventinum.
30. Sepulcrum C. Cestii.
31. Doliolum.
32. Templum Neptuni.
33. Moles Hadriani & Pons Ælius.
34. Circus Hadriani.
35. Horti Domitiæ.
36. Villa J. Rustii.
37. Horti Sergii Galbæ.
38. Circus Caii & Neronis.
39. Horti Sereniani.
40. Pons Vaticanus & Porta Triumphalis.
41. Fortuna Equestris.
42. Porta Septimiana.
43. Horti Martialis.
44. Pons Janiculensis.
45. Naumachia.
46. Monumentum Petiliani.
47. Horti Cæsaris.
48. Porta Collina & Via Salaria.
49. Porta Viminalis & Via Numentana.
50. Domus & Horti Sallustii.
51. Domus & Horti Macenatis.
52. Domus Rutilii.
53. Porta Cœlimontana.
54. Area & Domus Lateranorum.
55. Vicus Bructanus.
56. Sepulcrum Statii Poetæ.
57. Porta Janiculensis.
58. Domus Domitii Nigri.
59. Capitolium,
60. Columna Trajani.

ITALIA
Vetus.
Mare Ligusticum
Mare Gallicum
MARE TYRRHENUM SIVE INFERUM.
MARE ADRIATICUM SIVE SUPERUM.
Mare Ionium.
MARE AUSONIUM
CORSICA.
SARDINIÆ Pars
DOUM.
Meridies.
Septentrio.
Occidens.
Oriens.
Mare
1 Metapontum
2 Sarnus flu.
3 Vesurius M.
4 Ulturnus flu.
5 Hostia
6 Garganus M.
7 Mazrinus flu.
8 Anio flu.
9 Seractes M.
10 Velinus L.
11 Nar flu.
12 Trasumenus L.
13 Argenturus M.
14 Ravenna
Miliaria Anglica.

DICTIONARIUM

POETICUM, HISTORICUM & GEOGRAPHICUM,

Nomina Propria exhibens.

AA, Ort. ἀα, σύσημα ὕδατος, Hesych. aquarum confluxus: à Sax. ea, aqua; Dan. aa, aqua, amnis. A River in the Netherlands, which having its rise in the Province of Artois, parts Flanders from Picardy, and falls into the British Ocean.

AARON, ōnis, m. p. l. Prud. p. b. Tert. Ἀαρών, אַהֲרֹן. Al. mons laudis, ab הָר mons & רָנַן cecinit. Al. docens seu concipiens, ab הָרָה concepit; in Hiph. הוֹרָה (ab יָרָה) docuit. Rectiùs & simpliciùs ab ipso הָר mons; (nam א & ן sunt literæ formativæ) ut sit Aaron Heb. id. quòd Gr. Ὀρίτης. Lat. Montanus. Non abludit hinc אָרוֹן Arca, cujus ministerio præficiebatur; ut, per Epenth. literæ ן, sit, tanquam Abram Abraham, sic אָרוֹן אַהֲרֹן. The son of Amram, elder Brother of Moses, Prince of the family of Levi, and High-Priest of the Hebrews, consecrated to that office by Moses, according to Gods own appointment, and afterwards confirm'd by miracle in the dignity of his Priesthood, upon occasion of that Schism, which Corah and his complices had made; when his Rod alone among all the others budded and blossomed, and was kept in the Ark for a token against the Rebels, which had murmur'd against him. His duty was to attend the Tabernacle and the Sanctuary, to offer Sacrifices for the people, to look to Gods publick worship, and once a year to enter into the Holy of Holies; in a word, to take care of the Church for spirituals, as Moses did of the State in civil affairs. His Mitre and Ephod, and other habits and ornaments, which he had peculiar and different from other priests, render'd him venerable, and struck a religious awe into the beholders. One blemish lies upon his story, that in Moses his absence he yielded to the importunity of the people so far, as to abet their idolatry, by making them a Golden Calf to go before them. He dyed in the 123 year of his age. § A King of Persia of that name, in Charles the Great's time. Æmil. § A Saracen Emperour, who led an army into Asia, and made a league with Nicephorus Emperour of Constantinople. Sigeb.

Aba, mons Armeniæ majoris, in quo oritur Euphrates fl. ut voluit Domitius Corbulo. Plin.

Ababa, Maximini Senioris Romani Imperatoris mater, Capitol.

Abăcæna, civitas Medorum, Ptol.

Abăcænum, urbs Siciliæ. Steph.

Abăcuc; m. ind. חֲבַקּוּק à חבק amplecti, luctari. Mirè LXX. Ἀμβακοὺμ, One of the twelve Prophets, in the reign of King Ahaz and Hezekias.

Abacus, The chief City of Cevola in India: now called Granata. Nizz.

Abaddon, Ἀβαδδών, ex אבד periit, in Piel, perdidit. Gr. redditur Ἀπολλύων, i. perdens, Apoc. 9. 11. The Destroyer, the Angel of the bottomless Pit.

Abadir vel Abaddir, m. ind. Prisc. vox exotica. Gr. Βαίτυλος. A stone which Saturn devoured instead of his son Jupiter: For it having been prophesied, that Saturn should be driven out of his Kingdom by some of his sons; that he might elude this Prophesie, he devoured all the sons that he begot of his wife Ops: but when Jupiter was born, she deceived him, and instead of the Child, put the stone Abadir in his mouth, and so saved the Godling alive.

Abæ, arum; dict. ab Abâ Heroe. leg. & Aba sing. A City of Phocis. The People Abantes. Str.

Abæa, oppidum in sinu Messeniaco, dict. ab Abante Lyncei & Hypermnestræ filio: Paus. Erat in eâ vetustissimum Apollinis templum & oraculum, unde etiam & ille Abæus cognominatus est; Abæatæ incolæ.

Abaga, Tartarorum rex & Armeniæ; Hierosolyma recuperavit. Sabell.

Abagarus, Persarum rex; Spart. item Osrohenorum, Herodian. item Edessenorum princeps. Eusseb.

Abăhius, Nilus fluvius, dict. qu. amnium pater, quòd post longum & tortuosum cursum, totam aquarum molem in multa cornua diffundat. Jov.

Abăla ex Heb. אבל i. vallis, magna planities. A City in the Tribe of Judah. § A Town of the Troglodites in Africk, not far from the red Sea.

Abăli. A People of India, Plin.

Abălites, sinus. dict. ab Abalâ ejus regionis oppido maritimo. A gulf in the Troglodytick Sea, Plin.

Aballăba, Appleby, a town in Westmerland, Camd.

Abălus. An Isle in the German Ocean, where there was great store of Amber, Plin.

Abăna vel Abna, Ἀμανα. אבנה vel אמנה si ab אבן lapis, fortè quòd inter lapides & saxa devolvitur. 2 Reg. 5. 12. A great River of Damascus, that riseth at the foot of Mount Libanus, and runs by the South and West-sides of Damascus.

Abannæ vel Abanni. A People of Africk, subdued by Theodosius, Amm.

Abantes, um; m. Ἄβαντες, ve l ab Aba duce, vel ab אבם q. pecudum saginatores, Graziers; unde & Eubœa, à bonum pascuis. Boch. A People that came from Thrace to Phocis, and there built a Town, which from their Leaders name they called Abæ, from whom themselves also were called Abantes. Afterward coming to Eubœa, and planting there, they called it from their own name Abantis.

Abantiădes, æ; m. Abantis pronepos, ex matre Danae. Perseus so called, as descended from Abas.

Abantias, ădos; f. Danaë Abantis ex Acrisio neptis; it. Atalanta, neptis Abantis, & Jasii filia.

Abantis, Ἀβαντὶς, Str. formerly called Macris, afterward Eubœa; insula maris Ægæi, sic dict. ab Abantibus incolis è Thraciâ oriundis, qui à civitate Abis in agro Phocensi in hanc insulam transmigrarunt. Abantæus, gent.

Abaortæ, pop. ad Indum fluvium, Plin.

Abarim, עברים transitus vel transeuntes q. d. Passages. Bibl. A hill or mountainous place in the land of Moab, over against Jericho, on the further side of Jordan; on the top whereof is Mount Nebo, where Moses dyed.

Abărimon, Scythiæ regio juxta Imaum montem. The inhabitants are wild savage men with their feet turned backward, yet very swift, Plin.

Abaritanam arundinem ex Africâ habet Plin. The best sort of Canes or Angling Rods.

Abăris, is; m. One in Ovid kill'd by Perseus. Another in Virgil slain by Euryalus. § A Scythian, who wrote Apollo's Northern journey, Oracles, Traditions, &c. and was Pythagoras his Scholar. Iambl. Hunc ferunt sagittam ab Apolline accepisse, quam jaculans & ipse cum eâ ferebatur: unde & αἰθροβάτης dictus est. L L.

Abarraza, Syriæ urbs. Anton.

Abarus. An Arab Rogue, that betrayed Crassus, when he went against the Parthians. App. Mariamnes. Plut. Mezeras Floro dicitur.

Abas, antis; m. rex 12 Argivorum, à quo postea Argivorum reges Abantiadæ dict. regn. an. 23. Son to Lynceus and Hypermnestra, father of Prætus and Acrisius, and great Grandfather of Perseus; from him called Abantiades. Ov. § A Grecian slain that night Troy was on fire. Vir. ◊ A Tuscan, a friend of Æneas, slain by Lausus. Vir. ◊ A companion of Æneas. Vir. ◊ One of the Centaurs. Ov.

Abasci, Arr. Abasgi, Procop. A People of Scythia, that turn'd Christians in Justinians time.

Abascus Sarmatiæ Asiat. fl.

Abassus, opp. majoris Phrygiæ, Liv.

Abastāni, A free People about the River Indus, Arr.

Abāton, Gr. ἄβατον, i. invium. A building in the City of Rhodes, made to defend the Statue and Trophies of Artemisia, who had conquer'd the Island. Cæl.

Abātos, i; f. Luc. ἄβατος, i. inaccessa, eo quòd ad illam propter limi & papyrorum copiam difficillimus sit aditus, ubi primùm Nilus magno fragore descendit. An Isle of Ægypt in the marsh of Memphis, abounding with flax and paper-reeds; where King Osiris was buried.

Abazea, gr. dict. à taciturnitate, quâ hæc sacra celebrantur; ἄβαζος enim taciturnum sign. Feasts instituted by Dionysius King of Asia, in honour of Bacchus. leg. & Abarea; sed rect. Sabazia.

Abba, Africæ urbs, Polyb.

Abbendonia. Abbington in Berkshire. ol. Shovtisham; postea Abbandune. Camd.

Abdala. A Saracen, King of Toledo, Volat. ◊ Mahomet's father, a slave employ'd by Merchants to lead their Camels. Cluniac.

Abdalmutalis, Arabs. The Grandfather of Mahomet, so beautiful, that all Women fell in love with him. Cluniac.

Abdalonimus, al. Abdolonymus, videtur nomen Arab. Abdala, i. servus Dei, additâ voce Gr. ὀνυμος, ab ὄνομα nomen. A poor Gardiner, yet of Princely descent, made King of Sidon by Alexander the Great. Curt. Just.

Abdara, Ptol. Abdera, Str. opp. Hisp. Bæticæ. hod. Almeria.

Abdaristenses, pop. Plin.

Abdemelech, Ἀβδεμέλεχ. עבדמלך i. Servus regis. Ebedmelek, an Æthiopian, one of King Zedekiah's Eunuchs or Courtiers, who spoke in behalf of the Prophet Jeremy, and by the Kings order help'd him out of the dungeon, Jer. 38. 8.

Abdemon, puer quidam, qui solvebat omnia problemata à Solomone rege proposita. Jos.

Abdenago, עבדנגו i. Servus claritatis. Abednego, one of the three Children, bred up with Daniel in the King of Babylons Court. His true name was Azarias.

Abdēra, æ; f. Ovid. dict. ab Abdero, Herculis deliciis, à Diomedis equis dilacerato; in cujus honorem Hercules posteaquàm pugnasset cum Diomede, Abderam condidit. A Town in Thrace, the Country of Democritus; called by Juv. Vervecum patria, yet bred many famous men. ◊ Another in Spain, hod. cum articulo, Aladra pro Alabdra. Pomp. mel.

Abderana, Saracenorum rex. ann. Christ. 827.

Abderides, qui & Aberides. LL. Deus Ethnicorum, qui deinde Saturnus, Cœli & Vestæ filius.

Abdērita & Abderītanus. A Citizen of Abdera in Thrace.

Abderītāni, populi, quibus natura peculiarem mentis stupcrem indidit; Cic. Plin. Cæl.

Abderiticus, a, um. Mad, foolish, whimsical; like the people of Abdera.

ABDIAS, æ; m. Ἀβδίας, עבדיה i. Servus Domini, Obadiah, the Steward and Governour of King Ahabs house; a pious man, that hid the Prophets in caves, and secured them from the persecution of Jezabel. ◊ A Levite, that was one of the overseers of the works, when the Temple was repaired in King Josiah's time. ◊ One of the lesser Prophets in Amos time.

Abdimelech, i. Servus regis, vel servus meus rex, Saracenorum rex, Æm.

Abdimonephes. A rich Ismaelitish Merchant, that bought Mahomet for his slave, who dying, Mahomet married his wife, anno à Christ. nato 612. Læt.

Abdirāmus, al. Abderama. A King of the Saracens, who brought a vast Army into France, and in hatred of Christian Religion harassed many Countries, and was overcome by Charles Martle King of France, who in the Battle slew above 300 thousand of the Saracens. Æmil.

Abdon, עברון, i. Servus, q. d. Servilius. One of the Judges of Israel; he was the son of Hillel, and governed eight years. ◊ The young Prophet, who for his disobedience was kill'd by a Lyon. ◊ An eminent man in King Josiah's time, 2 Chron. 34. 19. who is also 2 Kings 22. 12. called by another name, Achbor. ◊ Also a large City in the tribe of Asher.

Abdua, & Addua. A River of Lombardy, Plin.

Abeatæ. A people of Achaia, Plin.

ABEL, ēlis; m. הבל i. vanitas. Adam's second son, the first Martyr in the world, murdered by his elder brother Cain. ◊ אבל, i. luctus. A City of Israel, besieged by General Joab, when Sheba was there, and preserved by throwing the Rebels head over the walls, 1 Kings 15. 20.

Abeliani, Hæretici sic dicti, in agro Hipponensi; conjuges, nec tamen conjugali consuetudine utentes: freti illo Apostoli dicto, 1 Cor. 7. 9. August. An ex eo sic dicti, quòd Rabbini tradant Adamum, post Abelis necem, ab uxore abstinuisse per annos 130. Boch.

Abella, quæ & Avella. A Town of Campania in Italy. Hinc Avellanæ nuces, Macr. Filberds.

Abellinum, A Town of the Hirpines in Italy.

Abellinates. People of that Town, Plin.

Abeōna, Dea quæ abeundi (uti Adeona adeundi) facultatem præstaret, August.

Aberdonia. Aberdeen in Scotland, a Bishops seat and University; olim Devana.

Abesamis, Syriæ oppidum à Semiramide conditum, Plin.

Abesan, אבצן id. quod gr. Ἀβλύδης, à בץ lutum, vel ex אב & צנה, q. pater clypei, i. Vir fortis & bellicosus. Ibzan, one of the Israelitish Judges. He ruled seven years. He had thirty sons, and as many daughters, and saw them all married.

Abeste. A Town of the Aracosians by the River Hermandrus; Plin.

Abgarus, Ἄυγαρος, pro Ἀχγαρος, quod Arab. sign. potentissimus. Edessenorum Toparcha, cujus epistolam ad Christum scriptam recitat Euseb.

Abiah, אביה. i. Pater Domini. Samuel's second son. ◊ The son of Rehoboam, and fourth King of Judah. ◊ Abijah or Abi, the mother of King Ezekias.

Abiasāres, is. Curt. An Indian King, who yielded up himself and his Country to Alexander.

Abiāthar, i. pater excellens, The high Priest in the time of David.

Abiezer, i. pater adjutorii, One of the sons of Manasses, and head of a Family. ◊ One of Davids Worthies.

Abigail, i. patris exultatio. The wife of churlish Nabal, who after his death was married to David.

Abii. A people of Scythia.

Abila, quæ & Lysanii cognominatur, Cœlosyriæ urbs, Plin. quæ & Abilene, apud D. Lucam, cap. 3. 1. forte ab אבל planities. A Country, of which Lysanias was Tetrarch, as Herod was of Galilee.

Abimēlech, i. Pater meus rex, aut pater regis. The title of the Kings of Philistia or Palestine; as Ptolomy was for the Kings of Ægypt, and Cæsar for the Emperours of Rome. ◊ The son of Gideon, who after the murther of his brethren, 70 persons, usurp'd the government, and after three years tyranny, being wounded by a woman with a piece of millstone, she threw down upon's head at the siege of a Town, was at his own desire run thorough by his Armour-bearer, and slain.

Abiram, i. pater excelsus. The first-born son of Hiel, him, that rebuilt Jericho. ◊ One of Corah's partners.

Abishag, i. patris ignorantia vel error. The Shunammite, a young Virgin, who attended upon King David in his extreme old age.

Abisontes. A people of the Alpes. Plin.

Abissini. item Abassini, vel Abyssini, ex Abasenis Arabiæ gente oriundi. Aliter Præstigiani, Æthiopiæ populi; Arab. Habassi vocantur. A people in the Country commonly called Prester Johns in Africk. A great Monarchy professing Christian Religion. They call themselves Chaldeans, considering that their tongue, in which the holy Scriptures are most exquisitely written, differeth very little from the Chaldean.

Abitinenses. pop. Africæ. Plin.

Ablacus, Fluvius Danubium ingrediens.

Ablavius, A Gothish Historian. Jorn.

Abner, i. patris lucerna. The son of Ner, a noble Champion, Sauls General of his war, at last treacherously murdered by Joab.

Abnoba, æ; Tac. Pl. Ἄυνοβα. Ptol. leg. & Arnoba, & Arbona, corrupt. & Abnova. A Mountain in Germany, out of which springeth the River Danow.

Abobrica, al. Adobrica. A great Town in Portugal. Plin.

Abocis. A Town of Æthiopia, Plin.

Abolani. People of Italy, Plin.

Abona. A River in Britain called Avon, and the Town Avington. Camd.

Aboniteichitæ, incolæ dict. ab exiguo oppido, cui Ἀβώνιτειχος. i. Aboni murus, nomen est. People by the Euxine Sea.

Aborienſe, Romanorum oppidum in Africa. Plin.

Aborigines, Ἀυτόχθονες. Ancient people dwelling in the Mountains, whom Saturn brought into Italy. vel quòd ab origine, Serv. vel q. Aberrigines. Fest. Wanderers and Vagrants. vel ab ὄρος mons; quòd in montibus degerent. Dion Halic.

ABRAHAM, æ; & Abrahāmus, i; m. Ἀβραάμ. אברהם qui priùs Abram, i. pater excelsus dictus: ה unâ ex divini Nominis literis, Deo jubente, interpositâ, honoris gratiâ. Alii רחמן misceri volunt, ut sit pater multitudinis. The holy

Patriark

Patriark Abraham, the son of Terah, the father of the faithful, the friend of God, with whom God entered into Covenant to give him a numerous posterity, and the possession of the land of Canaan: which promise was fulfilled at the end of 400 years, after the Children of Israel came out of Ægypt. At Gods call he departed from his own Countrey in the 75 year of his age, and sojourned in the land of promise. In the 100 year of his age, he had an onely son by his wife Sarah, whom upon Gods command he was ready to have sacrificed, had not an Angel, that was sent on purpose, hindred him. He lived 175 years, and at his death took seizin of the promised land, being laid in a Cave, which he had purchased for a burial-place for himself and his family.

Abraxas. Ἀβρασάξ. One of Basilides the Hereticks Gods, under a feigned name; which because in the Greek letters it contains the number of the dayes of the year, St. Hierom is of opinion, that they meant by it Mithras the Persian god, viz. the Sun, who performs his course in that time.

Abreta. The Country of Mysia, ol. sic dicta. Plin.

Abretānus, ab Abreta. Jupiter so called, i. Mysiorum Deus.

Abrettini, pop. Mysiæ. Plin.

Abrincatui, Galliæ Lugdunensis populi, Plin.

Abritum, Mœsiæ urbs, ubi Decius Imperator occubuit, Pomp. Læt.

Abrŏcŏmes, Gr. ἀβροκόμης, i. molliter comatus. The son of Darius. Herod.

Abroditæ, Norvegi nunc dicti.

Abron, Grammaticus Rhodius, Suid. ◊ A Grecian of a very loose, voluptuous life: whence the Proverb; Abronis vita. ◊ An excellent piece of Apelles his drawing in Samos. Plin.

Abrŏtŏnum, Africæ urbs. Plin.

Abrupalis, pop. Rom. socius, à Perseo Macedonum rege expulsus. Liv.

ABSALOM. אַבְשָׁלוֹם. Ἀβεσσαλώμ. i. pater pacis. The son of King David by Maacah; one of a most comely person, and of an ambitious spirit, of great parts, and as bad qualities. He slew his brother Amnon at a feast, he had to that purpose invited him to, for ravishing his sister. Upon this, for some time he was in disgrace with the King his father. After his reconcilement, he affires to the Throne, raises a Rebellion, and drives his aged Sovereign out of the Royal City. But at length by a just judgment, being routed in Battle, and flying for's life, he met with a sad end; when, as he hung in an Oak, whose boughs had caught him by his lovely head of hair, he was run through, and killed outright by Joab. And yet it may be a question, whether his wicked life, or this lamentable death of his caused greater grief to his pious father.

Absarus. Ἄβαρος. A River of Armenia the less; also a Castle. Plin.

Absilæ. pop. Asiæ, Plin.

Absimarus, Tiberius, 67 Romanorum Imperator, crudelis & avarus rerum potitor, Æmil. ann. Christ. 697.

Absinthus vel Apsynthus. A City of Thrace.

Absinthii, populi juxta Pontum.

Absitris, Asiæ fl. Plin.

Absoros, insula maris Illyrici. Mel.

Absyrtium, insula maris Adriatici, Plin.

Absyrtos Colchorum fl. in Adriaticum mare se exonerans, ab Absyrto ibidem à Medæa interempto sic appell. Luc.

Absyrtus, i; m. quod dicitur discerptus. Son to Æëtes (otherwise called Ægialeus) King of Colchos, whom his sister Medæa, when she ran away with Jason, tore Limb-meal, and scattered the pieces up and down, that so her father being busied in gathering up the parcels of his body, might not make so close a pursuit after them. ◊ A River, near which this was done. ◊ A Greek writer, that was an excellent Horse-doctor. Suid.

Absyrtides, Islands in the Adriatick Sea, so called from this accident of Absyrtus. Plin.

Abulites, A Persian, the Governour of Susa, who delivered up the City and the Country about it to Alexander, for which service Alexander made him Governour of the Country. Curt.

Abundantius, Consul Romanus. anno Christi 392.

Abus. The River Humber in Yorkshire. From a British word Aber, which signifieth the mouth of a River, is Aberconwey, Abergevenny. i. Ostium Conovii, Gobannii fl. unde Gallis Hauvre.

Abusina, Avensperg. Bavariæ oppidum.

Abuticense, oppidum. Plin.

Abydēnus, a, um; Ovid. One of Abydos.

Abydēni, populi, ab Abydo civitate Asiæ, who being straitly besieged by Philip of Macedon, slew and burned, and made away with themselves, their wives and children, rather than they would fall into his hands. Liv.

ABYDOS, i; f. Ovid. & Abydon, i; n. Virg. sed Voss. mavult esse masc. apud Virg. & Abydos dici utroque genere. Ἄβυδος. A City on Asia side, close by the Hellespont, over against Sestos; Leanders Country, whose love to Hero the Sestian Maid, has made both places famous. This being the narrowest place of the Sea, betwixt these two Towns Xerxes laid a bridge to joyn Europe and Asia together, and to pass his Army. Luc. ◊ Abydos a City of Ægypt. hod. Abutich, where Memnon's Palace was, and Osiris his Temple.

ABYLA, æ; f. Ἄβυλα, Dion. per metath. Punicè sign. montem album; vulg. Almina, A high hill in Mauritania, over against Calpe, another hill in Spain; which two hills are better known by the name of Hercules pillars: joyned, 'tis thought, at first, but parted, they say, by him, and so the Sea let in, call'd therefore the Mediterranean, through the Straits of Gibraltar. Here 'tis said, that Hercules set up his pillars, as if here had been the end of the world, and there had been no going any further. ◊ A Town of Syria. Plin.

Abziritānum, opp. Africæ. Plin.

Abzŏæ, People near the Scythian Ocean.

A ante C.

Aca, Ace, Plin. Gr. ἀκή. i. acies. The City Ptolemais in Phœnicia.

Acabene, Mesopotamiæ regio; Acad. Hebr. id. quod Nisibis, Hier.

Acabis. A Village of Lybia. Ptol.

Acacesius, Mercurius cogn. ab Acacesio Arcadiæ opp. quod ab Acaco Lycaonis filiâ dictum. Paus.

ACADEMIA, æ; f. (ē) Ἀκαδημία vel Ἀκαδήμεια. à Cadmo literarum ap. Græcos inventore. q. קַדְמִיָּה. Al. ab ἀκή & δήμος, vel ab ἄκος & δῆμος. quòd ibi acuantur hominum ingenia & sanentur animi. Al. quòd sit ἰκὰς δήμου procul a populo: nam & scrib. ἰκαδημία ab Ecademo (Hor.) quodam heroe, qui non alius quàm Cadmus. A grove or woody place, without the City of Athens, where Plato first taught Philosophy; whose Scholars and followers were therefore call'd Academicks.

Acādēmĭci. i. Philosophers of Plato's Sect.

Acadera, Indiæ urbs. Curt.

Acadinus. A Fountain in Sicily, prope Dellos lacus, wherein, as Aristotle saith, Tables containing the Oath of one that hath sworn truly, will swim; but if the Oath be false, they will sink.

Acalandrum. A River in the Bay of Otranto, hod. Fiume di Roseto.

Acalanthis. The name of a famous Bitch. Cœl. Eras. Arist.

Acamantium, sic. dict. ab Acamante Thesei filio, ejus conditore. A Towns name in the greater Phrygia.

Acămas, antis; m. Gr. i. indefessus. A Thracian Prince, that assisted the Trojans. ◊ A Promontory of Cypres, whence the Island it self was called Acamantis.

Acampsis, Colchidis fluvius. Arr.

Acanthon. A Mountain in Ætolia.

Acanthus, i; m. ἄκανθος ab ἀκαίνω spina. A youth that was changed into a flower of his name. Vid. Appel. ◊ Insula in Propontide. ◊ Macedoniæ oppidum. ◊ It. opp. Cariæ, alio nomine Dulopolis. Plin. Fort. sic dict. quòd essent loca spinosa.

Acapeatæ. pop. circa Mæotim. Pl.

Acarnan, nis; m. A man of Acarnania. ◊ A strong hill in the Country of Athens. Sen.

Acarnānia, formerly Curetis. A part of Epirus in Greece. ◊ A City of Sicily, not far from Syracuse; Cic. where there was an ancient Temple Jovis Olympii.

Acarne. A Town about Magnesia, Plin.

Acaron. A City of Palestine, quæ Cæsarea voc. scribitur aliàs Accaron. Heb. Ekron, where Baalzebub, the God of Flies was worshipped.

Acasta. A Sea-Nymph. Hesiod.

Acastus, Ovid. The son of Pelias King of Thessaly, a famous hunter, whose wife Cretheis, or Hippolyte, loved one Peleus too well; but he refusing to obey her inordinate lust, she complained of him to her husband, that she could not be quiet for him: whereupon her husband would have slain him for it; but afterward the man slew him and her both. Hor.

Acca Laurentia. The Nurse of Romulus and Remus, wife of Faustulus. voc. Lupa. eo quòd nobile scortum fuit. & tales voc. lupæ ob avaritiam, Serv. She dyed rich, and left the Commonwealth her heir; wherefore she was honoured with a holy-day and sacrifice.

Acca. The companion and sister of Camilla, Virg.

Acchitæ, People of Arabia, Plin.

Accia. The mother of Augustus Cæsar, Suet.

Accilla, urbs Siciliæ. Liv.

Accisi, pop. ad Mæotim. Pl.

Accitana, Colonia est in Hispan. citeriore. Plin.

Accius. An old writer of Tragedies. Cic.

Acco, ûs; f. An old simple woman, who seeing her deformity in a glass, for vexation went mad: Cœl. This woman would talk with her self at the glass; whence came Accissare, to play the fool, to doze, to run mad. She would also refuse earnestly, that which she most desired; whence a feigned pe-

Jusal is called Aceſinus, Cic. ◊ An Hag, or Shire-barn, a Bugbear, to fright Children. Plut. ◊ A General of the Senons, Cæſ.

Accua, Italiæ oppidum. Liv.

Accurſiorum Colonia. A City in France, call'd Grenoble, i.e. Gratianopolis.

Accurſius, nobilis Juriſperitus, totum jus gloſſis illuſtravit, Florentinus.

Acedici, populi Æquicolis vicini. Plin.

Acelum. A Town in the Territory of Venice, vulg. Azolo.

Acema, mons in Alpibus, à quo profluit amnis Varus, Plin.

Acephali, ἀκέφαλοι, i. ſine capite, ſine principio, ſic dict. eò quòd nullus eorum invenitur author; vel ut al. eò quòd nullos Epiſcopos agnoſcerent. Hæretici iſti duas in Chriſto naturas concedebant, ſed earum proprietates confuſas eſſe contendebant. anno Chriſti 480.

Acerani, pop. Italiæ, Plin.

Acerina, Brutiorum Colonia. Liv.

Acerræ, arum; f. Virg. Ἀχέρραι & Ἀχέρρων. An ancient City of Campania, not far from Naples, which the River Clanius runs by, and often overflows.

Acervetis, Thraciæ urbs, poſtea Calatis dicta. Plin.

Aceſeus, Gr. i. medicus. A very cunning Painter.

Aceſias, æ; m. ab ἀκέω, ἀκέσω, ſano. An unskilful Phyſician, that inſtead of curing the Gout, made people worſe. Etaſm.

Aceſines. A River of Perſia, which runneth into Indus, Plin.

Aceſinus. A River of Scythia, Plin.

Aceſius, ab ἀκέω, i. medeor; ſic. dict. Apollo, eò quòd erat artis medicæ peritus. ◊ A famous Artiſt of Patara, who, together with one Helicon, is ſaid to have woven Pallas's fine vail: whence the Proverb Aceſii & Heliconis opera, of ſuch pieces as are wrought with extraordinary skill, Eraſ.

Aceſius, A loytering Mariner, who would out of lazineſs be a long while a putting out to Sea, upon pretence, he waited for a more ſeaſonable Moor. Whence the Proverb Aceſſi luna, upon thoſe that are loytering and dilatory in their buſineſs. Eraſ.

Aceſta, ab Aceſte rege ſic dict. quam Æneas profugus in ejus honorem condidit. A City in Sicily, after called Segeſta. Virg.

Aceſtæi, The People. Plin.

Aceſtes, æ; m. Vir. A King of Sicily; One that kindly entertained Æneas in his Travels, as being himſelf a Trojan on the mothers ſide: viz. the ſon of Criniſus, a River of Sicily, by Segeſta a Trojan Lady, the daughter of one Hippotes, a Nobleman of Troy. Serv.

Aceſtides, ferreæ fornaces in quibus ſit Cadmia.

ACHAB. אחאב i. frater patris. Ahab one of the Kings of Iſrael, the ſon of Omri, a wicked Prince, and one whom the inſtigations of his wife Jezabel made much worſe; inſomuch that 'tis ſaid of him, that he ſold himſelf to do wickedneſs; as in the inſtance of Naboths Vineyard: and yet for his feigned humiliation, God was pleaſed to defer the execution of theſe judgments, he had threatned to bring upon him and his, till after his death. He reigned 22 years.

Achæi. Ἀχαιοί, qui & Achivi. Grecians, the Greeks. ◊ Alſo Inhabitants of Pontus. Ov.

Achæmenes, is; m. Hor. i. bellorum victor, ut interpr. Amm. The Sophy or King of Perſia.

Achæmenia, dict. ab Achæmene. A Country in Perſia.

Achæmĕnides, Virg. q. ab Achæmene vel à Perſis oriundus. One of Ulyſſes companions, that was left among the Cyclops, and as Æneas came that way with his Fleet, made his eſcape, and got to him.

Achæmĕnius, a, um. Perſian, growing or made in Perſia. Achæmenia perfundi nardo, Hor. with rich Ointments. Achæmenias telas, Auſ. Perſian Carpets, &c.

Achæorum portus, ad pontum Euxinum. Plin. hod. Porto bon.

Achæus vel Achivus, a, um. One of Achaia, a Grecian.

Achaia, ἀχαΐα, ab ἄχος, i. dolor vel triſtitia, vel dict. ab Achæo rege, Jovis ſeu Xuthi filio. The whole Country of Greece. It was firſt called Danae; whence the Greeks are called Danai. It containeth Attica, Bœotia, Megaris, Ætolia, and Phocis. ◊ A part of Greece inviron'd with the Sea, ſave on the North-ſide, the Head-City whereof was Corinth, viz. Peloponneſus, now called Morea. See Ovid. Met. 6. Inde.

Achaïcus, a, um; Hor. Græcian; item prop. nomen viri, 1 Cor. 16. 17.

Achaïs, idis; f. opp. prope Oxum fl. ab Alexandro conditum & Heraclea dictum; quod deinde ſubverſum & reſtitutum Antiochus Achaïda appellavit.

Achan, עכן qui & Achar עכר dicitur. i. conturbans, prout ipſe Joſua exponit, Joſ. 7. 25. The troubler of Iſrael; He that ſtole the Babyloniſh garment, and the wedge of gold, committing treſpaſs in the accurſed thing, and was ſtoned for it in the valley of Achor; and all that he had, burnt with fire.

Achana, A River in Arabia. Plin.

Acharitanum, A free Town of Africa.

Acharnis, vir Senatorius atque militaris. A Senator of Rome, kill'd by the Marian party. Plut.

Achāles, æ; m. A Companion of Æneas, Vir. ◊ A River in Sicily, where Agat. ſtones are found. Plin.

Achaz, i. apprehendens, poſſidens. Ahaz, a King of Juda, upon whoſe Dial the Sun went back 15 degrees.

Achedōrus, fluvius Macedoniæ, dividens Apolloniam à Theſſalonicâ. Volat.

Achelōĭădes, ſive Achelōides, Sirenes à patre Achelōo appellatæ. The Mere-maids.

Achelōĭus, a, um. Of the River Acheloüs; it is uſed for Aqueus, watery. Vir. Veteres enim omnem aquam Acheloum vocabant. Euſtath.

ACHELOUS, oĭ; m. (ō) ſic dict. ab Acheloo Ætoliæ rege; vel ut Euſt. Ἀχελῶος παρὰ τὸ ἄχος λύειν, eò quòd habeat aquam ſanativam. olim Thoas, à celeritate. nam Θοὸς Celer. A famous River of Epyre in Greece, riſing from mount Pindus, and dividing Ætolia from Acarnania. The Poets ſtory of him is this, That he was the ſon of Oceanus and Tethys, and being engaged in a Duel with Hercules for Deianira, the King of Calydonia's daughter, and finding he had the worſt of it, he changed himſelf firſt into a Serpent, then into a bull, whoſe horns Hercules broke off, and gave one of them to Plenty, the companion of Fortune. At laſt being quite beaten, he turned himſelf into a River of his own name. Ovid. Stat. The meaning of the fiction is this. As a great River, he is ſaid to be the ſon of the Ocean; for his turnings and windings, likened to a Serpent; for his roaring, to a Bull. His two horns were, where he divided his ſtream. Hercules broke his horns, by banking and damming up his waters, that they might not overflow and ſpoil the Country any more, and by this means procured Plenty to the people.

Achĕlus, al. Ethĕlus, nom. Viri. Val. Fl.

Achēmon vel Achmon. One of the Cecropes, brother to Paſſalus, both very injurious to every body they met. Their mother bade them take heed of meeting with Melampygus, i. Blacktail. On a time they finding Hercules aſleep under a Tree with his armour by him, ſet upon him to abuſe him. But he having caught and bound them, took them up upon's Club, and carried them at's back, like a brace of Hares. They, as they hung with their heads downward, eſpying Hercules his backſide all black and hairy, talked of what their mother was uſed to tell them. Hercules over-hearing them, and being taken with the conceit, falls a laughing, and ſets them at liberty. Hence the Proverb, Nè in Melampygum inudas, Eraſm. Aware of Black-breech.

Acheriui, populi Siciliæ, Cic.

Acherius. A nimble-tongued Orator in the dayes of Auguſtus Cæſar.

Acherōis, dict. quòd ad ripam Acherontis fluvii naſcatur. A white Poplar.

ACHERON, ontis, m. (ĕ) Ἀχέρων ab α priv. & χαίρω gaudeo, i. carens gaudio, unde mœſtus Sen. triſtis, Sil. dicitur. vel ut Euſt. παρὰ τὸ μὴ χαίρειν τοῖς ἄχεσι, quòd moleſtis & luctuoſis aquis fluat; vel ab Heb. אחרון extimus, ut σωτὴρ & ἐξάγγελος, vel q. חרון ira & furor Dei. One of the Rivers of Hell, that firſt receives the ſouls of the dead. He was the ſon of Ceres without a father; whom when ſhe was deliver'd of in a dark Cave of the Iſland Crete, he not daring to behold the light, ſtunk down to Hell, and there was turned into a River. Others make him the ſon of Titan and Terra, and that Jupiter threw him down to Hell for giving the Titans drink in their thirſt. The moral of the ſtory is this. His name implies him to be without joy, and comfortleſs: becauſe that when men are ready to dye, a ſad aſtoniſhment doth uſually ſurprize them; nor can their mind chooſe but be mightily troubled in the re-ſearch and examination of their life formerly ſpent. He is ſaid to be the ſon of Ceres, or the Earth, becauſe the whole trouble and vexation of mind ariſeth from the care of getting and keeping of riches. He gave drink to the Titans fighting againſt Jove, becauſe of the many wicked thoughts which do ariſe in the hearts of worldly men againſt the Commandments of God, which if the mind cheriſh and give way unto, he muſt needs rebel againſt the Law of God. Beſides, it is ſaid to be of a moſt bitter taſte, becauſe that then the courſe of our former life being called to account, muſt needs breed bitterneſs and grief. Vide Nat. Com. ◊ The River Velichi of Epirus, near the City Pandeſia. ◊ A River in Italy, near which Alexander King of the Moloſſi was ſlain.

Acheron, pro Inferno, fœm. Plaut.

Acherons & Acheruns, id. Plaut. Ulmorum Acheruns, alibi Ulmitriba. A crack-rope, the waſter and ſpoiler of Rods.

Acherontia, civitas parva Apuliæ in monte ſita, ob id Nidum appellavit Hor.

Acherontini, A People dwelling near the River Acheron in Italy.

Acherūſia, ἀχερουσία ab Acheron, A Lake of Theſprotia in Epirus, whence floweth the River Acheron, or Acheros. Liv. ◊ A Fen in the Realm of Naples, near to Cumæ. Plin.

Ache-

Acherusius, a, um; Of Hell, belonging to Hell.

Achetini, Cic. People of Sicily near the River Achetus. Sil.

Achilleus, Zenobiæ parens.

Achillas. An Ægyptian Captain, whom Ptolomy commanded to put Pompey to death: also a Bishop of Alexandria.

Achillea; insula Ponti Euxini, sic dict. quòd ibi Achillis Sepulchrum ostenditur: quæ & Achillis cursus dicitur. Ἀχιλλέως νῆσος & δρόμος.

Achilleis, idos; f. The Title of a Poem of Statius; wherein he designed to have writ the life of Achilles, or Homer in his Odyssees did the life of Ulysses, and Virgil in his Æneids did the life of Æneas.

Achilleon, opp. Troadis juxta tumulum Achillis.

ACHILLES, is, & eos, & eï, Hor. per Synecphon. Achilli, Vir. (qab Achilleus) m. Ἀχιλλεύς. In Voc. Achille Ov. qu. à Nom. Ἀχίλλας primæ simp. Κατὰ τὸ ὀχλοποιός ἰλιοπόρθης γαλήνιος: vel ab a priv. & χείλος labrum, qu. sine labro; ab exusto scil. labro, quod dum lingeret infans, non erat ambrosiâ perunctum. vel ab a priv. & τὸ χιλὸς cibo, quòd cervorum tantùm medullis pastus sit à Chirone: alii Κατὰ τὸ ἄχος λύειν, i. solvendo dolorem; erat enim medicus. The Son of Peleus King of Thessaly and Thetis, the Goddess of the Sea. His mother dipt him all over, when he was a Child, in the River Styx, to make him invulnerable; onely that part of his foot, which his mother held him by, when she dipt him, scaped. He was put to Chiron's tuition the Centaur, to learn to ride the Great Horse, and to play upon Musick. His mother was warned by the Oracle, that if he went to the wars of Troy with other Princes, he should be there slain: wherefore she sent him in womans apparel, and procured he should lie hid amongst the daughters of Lycomedes, where he got with child one of his Daughters call'd Deïdamia, of whom was born Pyrrhus: but it was propheſied, that unleſs Achilles did help, Troy could not be conquered, wherefore Ulysses by craft found him out; He had an armour made him by Vulcan, at Thetis request, that by no humane force could be pierced: Out of a pet for Agamemnons taking away Briseis from him, he forbore fighting a great while, till Patroclus death: to revenge which he went again to battel, slew Hector, and drag'd him at his Chariot thrice about the walls of Troy, and then sold his Body to his father King Priam for a great ransom. At last himself was slain by Paris, being shot in the heel.

Achilles Tatius, A Greek writer, who before he was a Christian, wrote a fine Romance of Clitophon and Leucippe; in his descriptions much like our Sidney: afterward he was a Bishop. Suid.

Achimelech; i. Frater meus rex, aut frater regis. Abiathars father, a Priest that dwelt at Nob, where David and the men that were with him ate of the Shew-bread, which it was not lawful for any to eat of, but the Priests only.

Achisaris; oppidum, Plin. 6. 3. 24.

Achisarmi. People of Africa, Plin.

Achitæ; populi, Plin.

Achitophel. אחיתפל i. frater insulsitatis, q. d. homo plane insulsus ac fatuus. Abialons chief Counsellor against David; a great Politician, so that he was look't upon as an Oracle; yet miserably fool'd himself at the last, when upon a wretched discontent, because his counsel was not taken, he went and set his house in order, and hang'd himself.

Achne. Insula Rhodiorum. Plin.

Acholai, People of Arabia. Plin.

Acholla; civitas Africæ. Liv.

Achores; idem quod Myiagros, Eleorum Deus, Plin. 10. 28. idolum quod invocare solebant Cyrenaici, ut muscas multitudine pestilentiam inferentes interimeret. Dictus forte ab Accaron vel Ecron, ubi colebatur Baalzebub, i. Dominus muscarum.

Achorus; Ægypti rex.

Acidălia, ἀκιδαλία, Veneris Epitheton, vel quia injicit curas, quas Græci ἀκίδας dicunt; vel certè à fonte Acidalio, qui est in Orchomeno Bœotiæ, in quo se Gratiæ lavant, quæ Veneri sunt sacratæ. Venus, so called from a certain spring. Virg.

Acidalus. A Fountain in Campania, which healeth sore eyes.

Acidula aqua, Lynceſtis vocata, quæ vini in modum temulentos facit, Plin.

Acienses; populi Italiæ, Plin. Albanis finitimi.

Acila; Arabiæ Emporium, ex quo navigatur in Indiam, Plin.

Acilius. The name of many Noblemen of Rome: also a Fountain in Sicily, call'd so from Aciles, a Sweet-heart of Galatea's, kill'd by Polyphemus, and upon her request to Neptune, turn'd into a spring of his own name.

Acina; Arabiæ oppid. Plin.

Acinippo, opp. in Celticâ, Plin.

Aciris, Italiæ fluvius, Plin.

Acis, ĭdis; m. (ā) A fair Sicilian Shepherd, the son of Faunus, and the Nymph Simæthis. Polyphemus fell in love with him, but he could not endure him. Polyphemus enraged at it, beat out his brains; whose death Galatea pitying, changed him into a River of that name, that hath its rise in mount Ætna; now called Freddo, for its coolness. Acis dict. παρὰ τὸ ἀκὶς ἰσχύειν τὸ ῥεῦμα. §. Also an Island in the Ægæan Sea. Siphnus, ante Meropia & Acis appellata. Plin.

Aciſculus, cognom. gentis Valeriæ. Fab. id. quod. Dolabella.

Acitāni gens apud quam Martis simulachrum radiis ornatum maximâ religione colitur, Macrob.

Acitavones, populi inter Alpinas gentes, Plin.

Acme, Gr. ἀκμὴ, i. flos ætatis. Septimius his mistress. Cat.

Acmenæ, Gr. ætate integræ. The Nymphs of Venus. Paus.

Acmŏdes & Acmŏdæ. Seven Isles in the British Sea, Silly Islands, or the Sorlings.

Acmŏnides, dict. Κατὰ τὸ ἄκμων ονος, i. ab incude. One of the Cyclops; A Blacksmith, or son of the Anvil. Al. Cœlum, q. ἄκωλος, indefessum; vel Saturnus, cœli filius. Nam ἄκμων Incus & Cœlum.

Acmonenses, pop. Phrygiæ, Plin.

Acœtes, Gr. ab a priv. & κοίτη, i. lectus, pauper carens cubili. A poor Fisherman, Ovid.

Acolitanum, oppid. Africæ, Plin.

Acône, Græcè ἀκόνη Cos, propter cotes plurimas illic nascentes dict. portus Herculeæ, Bithyniæ civitatis: A place famous for poysonous Herbs; whence Aconitum poyson. Diosc.

Aconteus, i. jaculator. A gallant Huntsman, an excellent Archer, an Arcadian. Statius.

Acontiſma, Macedoniæ aditus anguſtiſsimus, Amm.

Acontium, ab Acontio Lycaonis filio dict. A Town of Arcadia.

Acontius, i. telum, quòd telo amoris ictus erat, Virg. Ovid. A young man of the Isle Cea, who going to Delos to the Solemnities of Diana, and there falling in love with a noble Virgin called Cydippe, and could not obtain her love, caught her with this device: he wrote these verses upon an apple, and cast it into her bosom. Juro tibi sanè per mystica sacra Dianæ, Me tibi venturam comitem, sponsamque futuram: who reading these verses, sware unawares, and falling sick upon it, was at last forced to marry him. § Magneſiæ mons vel Bœotiæ; Plin.

Acra Japygia, Plin. Aliàs Japygium & Salentinum, hodie Capo di S. Maria. A Promontory of Italy.

Acradina, arx Syracusanorum, quam Marcellus Rom. Imp. Cepit. Plut. A gallant City belonging to Syracuse, as Cicero describes it.

Acræ, Siciliæ urbs, quod ἐν ἄκρῳ, i. in edito, stet. Sil.

Acræa, ἀκραία, dict. Diana, quòd ἐν τοῖς ἄκροις, i. in montibus ac locis editis culta sit.

Acragas, A City of Sicily, &c. § An admirable Stone-cutter. Plin.

Acrătus, Gr. ἀκρατὴς, i. merus, immixtus. The Genius of Drunkards at Athens, set with his mouth only out at the wall. Paus.

Acraviſci, pop. Pannoniæ. Plin.

Acre, i. Summitas, sic dict. eo quòd in monte sita sit. A City of Apulia.

Acrenses, pop. Siciliæ, Plin.

Acria, oppid. Hispaniæ, Plin.

Acridophagi, ἀκριδοφάγοι, Gr. locustas, & φάγω comedo. Certain Moors that live upon Locusts; they are very swift, and so is their life: for none of them live above forty years. Diod.

Acrio. A Pythagorean Philosopher, cujus meminit Cic.

Acriſiŏne, from the daughter of Acrisius. A City of Peloponnesus: whence Acrisionæus, a, um. Virg.

Acriſiŏnēis, idis; Danae the daughter of Acrisius.

Acriſiŏniades, Perseus, Grandchild to Acrisius. Ovid.

ACRISIUS, ii; m. Virg. The son of Abas King of the Argives. He succeeded his brother Prætus in the Kingdom. It was told him by the Oracle, that he should be slain by him, that should be born of his daughter; and he had but only one, called Danae: whom therefore he shut up in a strong brazen Tower, and suffered none to come at her: but Jupiter, that chaste god, came down through the Tiles in a golden showre into her lap, and got her with child; which when her father knew, he caused her to be shut up in a chest, and cast into the sea; but a poor Fisherman of Apulia finding her and her child, carried her and her infant son to King Pilumnus, who married her: Afterward when her son Perseus came to age, and had cut off Gorgon's head, he went to Argos, and turn'd his Grandfather Acrisius into a cold stone. § The Grandfather of Ulysses, Laertes his father. al. Arcesius Ovid.

Acritas, Messeniæ prom. Pl. now called Capo di Gallo.

Acroceraunia, ab ἄκρος mons vel summitas, & κεραυνὸς fulmen: propter altitudinem & jactus fulminum; Divisim Ceraunia. Virg. Hills in the frontiers of Epirus parting the Ionian and the Adriatick Sea, Hor. Ov. now called Monti della Chimera.

Acrŏceraunium, promontorium est Epiri: dict. quod Acroceraunïis montibus sit vicinum.

Acrŏcŏrinthus, i. e. vertex Corinthi; mons Peloponnesi excelsus, sub cujus radice jacet oppidum Corinthus. Plin. Stat.

Acron, Ceninensium rex (unde Prop. Ceninum Acrona vocat) à Romulo singulari certamine victus, qui spolia ejus Jovi Feretrio dicavit. ◊ An old Scholiast upon Horace.

Acronius, A Lake near the Alpes in Switzerland, Germ. Bodensee.

Acrŏpŏlis, i. Summitas urbis: The Castle or Citadel in Athens; Whole Athens being divided into three parts, the Town, the Castle and the Port.

Acrotadus, Inf. in sinu Persico, Plin.

Acrothou, oppid. Thraciæ, in vertice montis Atho, unde nomen. Plin.

Acta, vel Acte, es. The Country about Athens. Attica regio, ab ἀκτὴ littus quòd maximam partem littoralis sit. Pl. Gell. unde & Attica. i. Actica dicta est. Str.

Actacottes, pop. feroces qui insulam Britannicam diripuerant, Am. Marc.

ACTÆON, ŏnis m. filius Aristæi, ex Autonoë, unde Autoneius heros dict. Ov. The Son of Aristæus and Autonoe. He was mightily given to hunting, and kept a many Dogs for that exercise. Ovid reckons up the whole Pack. One day, as he was hunting, he chanced to come by a fountain, where Diana was washing her self; and because he durst be so bold as to look upon a Goddess naked, she turned him into a Stag: His hounds (thinking he had been a real Stag) pursued him, ran him down, and devoured him. He was the Grand-child of Cadmus: Ovid calls him Hyantius; the Bœotians, as he was, having been anciently called Hyantes, Plin. By Nonnus called αὐτοκασίγνητος, i. à Canibus discerptus. The moral may be applied to those, who spend their estates in keeping packs of Dogs; or to those who by curious researches of nature, as studying the Philosophers-stone, &c. beggar and undo themselves.

Actæus, a, um, i. e. Atticus, Ov. Sive littoralis, uti Virg. ubi dicit, Actæo Aracyntho; nam Aracynthus est mons Thebanus. Serv.

Actania, An Island in the German Sea called Helich-land, Ort. over against the Elb near to Ditmarsh. Plin.

Acte, Neronis liberta, quam parum abfuit quin matrimonio sibi conjungeret, Suet. Item una horarum, vide Hygin. ◊ Item ea regio, quæ postea Attica.

Actia, orum. Games in honour of Apollo Actius, kept every five years: Or rather Ludi Actiaci were Games appointed by Aug. Cesar, in memory of his victory over M. Antony at Actium.

Actiolinus, Pataviorum tyrannus, P. Jov.

Actisanes, Æthiopum rex, qui Amasim Ægypti regem suis crudeliùs imperantem regno deturbavit, Ægyptiisque summâ cum æquitate imperavit: He devised a way to rid his Kingdom of Thieves; not by putting them to death, but cutting their noses, and banishing them into the uttermost parts of the desart, and there built a City for them, called from the chopping off their noses Rhinocorura, where wanting all necessaries of life, they might be forced to take pains for a livelyhood, and not infect the neighbour Countreys with their ill manners; who thereupon got their living with catching Quails along the Shore.

Actium gr. i. e. littorale, oppidum & Prom. Epiri: ob celebrem illam victoriam navalem Augusti contra M. Antonium & Cleopatram. It was built by Augustus, and called Nicopolis in memory of this victory. hod. Figalo.

Actius, a, um, & Actiacus, Ovid. Of that Town.

Actius, Apollo vocatus est, ab Actio prom. & civ. ubi colebatur. Virg.

Actius, or Accius. Hor. An ancient Roman Poet, a writer of Tragedies much commended in his time.

Actius Labeo. An unlearned Poet in Persius his time, who attempted to turn Homers Iliads into Latine verse, but came off pittifully.

Actius Nævius, augur; novacula cotem præcidit, spectante Tarquinio Prisco rege, quo factum est ut & à rege, & à populo semper in rebus dubiis consuleretur.

Actor, ŏris, m. Sir-named Auruncus one of Hercules companions in the war against the Amazons: Where he was wounded, and dyed in his way home.

Actŏrides, Patroclus, Ovid. Grand-child of Actor and Son of Menœtius whom Actor begot of Ægina.

Actorius Naso, Historicus Rom. Suet.

Actrida, oppid. Arabiæ, Plin.

Actuarius, A Greek Physitian.

Acuinus, A Citizen of Rome, who would have been thought to have been one of those, that had a hand in Cæsars murther. App.

Acusilaus, Athenïensis Rhetor, Who came to Rome in Galba's time, there set up School, and got ten minions of Crowns, which he left at's death to the people of Athens. Suid.

Acusiorum Colonia, Ἀκουσιανῶν. The City Grenoble in France.

Acutia, The Wife of Vitellius. Tac.

Acytos, An Isle not far from Creet. Insularum rotundissima, Plin.

A ante D.

Ada, עָדָה. Wife to Lamech. ◊. Esau's Wife. ◊ A Queen of Caria; upon her surrendry to Alexander, restored to her government, Curt.

Adad, Ἀδὰδ, interpr. Macr. unus, à חָד vel אֶחָד. The chief God of the Assyrians, whom they did interpret to be the Sun: as the Goddess Atergatis his wife to be the Earth; by reason that from these two all things arise. ◊ The Fourth King of Edom.

Adadrimmon, אֲדַדְרִמּוֹן, i. sonitus mali granati. A City near Jezreel, now called Maximianópole, in the Valley of Megiddo, where good King Josias was mourned for by the people. Compare Zach. 12. 12. with 2 Chron. 35. 24.

ADAM, æ, vel Adămus, i; m. Ἀδὰμ, ab אָדָם rubuit: quòd מִן הָאֲדָמָה ex rubra terra formatus fuerit, uti homo ex humo. Nomen Protoplasti proprium, reliquorum hominum utriusque sexûs commune. Porrò in ejus nomine Græco continentur 4 mundi plagæ; A, ἀνατολὴ; Δ, δυσμαί; A, ἀρκτος; M, μεσημβρία. The first man, the father of all mankind, fashion'd by Gods own hand out of the dust of the earth, who breathed into him the breath of life, a living soul, and furnished him with all advantages of nature and grace; and placed him in the Garden of Eden to dress it, and to look after it. But he through the inticements of his Wife, by eating of the forbidden fruit, fell from his innocence and happiness together; and had ruined all his posterity, had not God provided us a second Adam to retrive the miscarriage of the first; yet we do piously believe, that he by his penitence recovered Paradice, which he forfeited by his disobedience.

Adămastor, Claud. One of the Gyants.

Adamitæ, ab Adam nominati, cujus imitantur in paradiso nuditatem. Certain Heretick, which took their beginning of a Picard, who said that he was the Son of God, and named himself Adam: They went all, men and women, stark naked, and so met in their Assemblies. This shameless heresie began an. Christ. 1412. in the time of Sigismund the Emperour.

Adana, A City of Cilicia. Plin.

Ad Ansam, Cambd. Ithamcester in Essex.

Ad Lapidem, Stoneham in England. Camd.

Ad Murum, Wall town in the borders of Scotland, Camd.

Ad Pontem, Paunton, Camd.

Adar, An Hebrew Moneth, answering to our February.

Adbacillus, Galli cujusdam nomen, Cæs.

Adcantuannus, nomen ducis Aquitanici, Cæsar.

Addua, æ, m. Claud. Ἄδδουας. A River in Lombardy that runs into the Po.

Adelstanus, vel Ethelstanus. Saxon. i.e. nobilis gemma, Camd. Angliæ Rex, Edoardi ex concubinâ filius, regnavit annis 16. Polyd. In his dayes lived Guy of Warwick, about the year of Christ 927.

Adem, Arabiæ Felicis Emporium celebre, Oror.

Adeona, Dea ab Ethnicis culta, quia adeundi facultate prædita. Aug.

Ades vel Hades, ἅιδης, ab à priv. & ἰδεῖν videre. The God of Hell, called also Dis. ◊ Hell it self or the place of the dead. q. Invisibilis.

Adgandestrius, A King of the Catti. Tac.

Adherbal, ab בעל & אדיר i. magnificus Dominus. An African Prince Son of Micipsa, Grand-child of Masinissa. An Ally of the Romans, and for want of their assistance vanquisht by Jugurtha, and at last cruelly put to death. Sall.

Adiabaræ, aliis Adiabanæ, pop. Æthiopiæ, Plin.

Adiabēne. A Country of Assyria.

Adiabēni, pop. Armeniæ, Plin.

Adimantus, Platonis frater. Laert.

Adipson, opp. Ægypti, (quod & Gertun tum dicitur) ita dict. ob ſitim & inopiam aquarum. Plin.

ADMETUS, i; m. (ĕ) Ἄδμητος i. indomitus. A King of the Pheræans in Theſſaly; hence called Pherætiades. Ov. whoſe Cow-herd Apollo was nine years, when he was baniſhed Heaven by Jupiter for killing the Cyclopes: he obtain'd by Apollo's means, that when the time of his death was come, if any one elſe would dye for him he might ſcape: But he found none that would take his turn, ſave his Wife Alceſtis, whom because ſhe was ſo pious, Proſerpine reſtored to life again. § An obſcure Poet in Nero's time.

Adminocinus, Bellini Batavorum regis filius, quem in deditionem accepit C. Caligula.

Adminius, vel Adiminius, five Etiminius, Cynobelini Britannorum regis filius, qui Camaloduni jubente patre regnabat, quod nu nmus ibi excuſus probat, μιλέρτολις Ἐτμηνὶς βασιλέως. Mox à patre pulſus, cùm in oram adverſam transfugeret, à C. Caligulâ in deditionem receptus eſt. Langh.

Adonai, ind. nomen Dei ap. Hebr. Hier Κύριός, אֲדֹנָי i. Dominus meus vel domini mei, & legitur ferè pro יְהוָה Jehova; nomine Dei tetragrammato, quod erat ἀνεκφώνητον. The Lord God, Creatour of all things, and abſolute Soverain of all his Creatures: Ab אָדוֹן baſis, ut βασιλεὺς, vel à דִּין judicare. q. ſupremus judex.

Adonia, Feaſts dedicated to Adonis, Amm. The ſame as thoſe in Ezekiel, where the women ſate lamenting for Thammuz. Hieron.

Adonias, אֲדֹנִיָּה i. Dominus meus Jah ſive Jehova. The Fourth Son of David, whom he had by Haggith, who for his aſpiring to the throne, to which he thought to make his way by marrying Abiſhag, was by Solomons order ſlain by Benaiah.

Adonibezec, אֲדֹנִי בֶזֶק i. Dominus urbis Bezek, in quâ regnabat. The King of Bezek in the land of Canaan, vanquiſhed and taken by the children of Iſrael, who cutting off his Thumbs and great Toes, ſerved him as he had ſerved 70 Kings before.

Adoniram, אֲדֹנִירָם i. Dominus meus excelſus, one of K. Solomons principal Officers being over the Levy or tribute.

ADONIS, idis; m. (ŏ) Ἄδωνις ab ἀδεῖν canere Moſchop. ab אָדָן ſirus, Salix, ירוּס, i. Salignus dictus Heſ. vel rect. ab אֲדוֹן Dominus. Ἄδωνις δεσπότης ὑπὸ φοινίκων. Heſ. Bion ἀεσβεσὸν vocat. Dicitur & Aidoneus Plaut. & Auſ. al. Adon. An Aſſyrian Idol, the ſame as Thammuz, in whoſe honour the Adonian feaſts were kept. He was the Son of Cynaras King of Cypres, by his own daughter Myrrha: He was a very beautiful youth, hence feigned to be Venus her minion and gallant. As he was hunting the Byre in the Idalian grove, he was gaunched by the Byres Tuſk, and dyed in the bloom of his youth, much lamented by Venus, and turned by her into a flower of his name, of a bloody colour. Virgil implies that he was a Shepherd. Macrobius takes him for the Sun; others for the ſeed of Corn; whence the fable that ſix months he lies in Proſerpines lap, i. e. whilſt it continues under ground, and the other ſix months, viz. Spring and Summer, he lyes with Venus.

Adonidis horti. prov. of gardens fitted for pleaſure, no profit nor laſtingneſs.

Adonius, a river flowing from mount Libanus, turns bloody yearly on thoſe dayes Adonis feaſts are kept: Lucian. qui & Adonis dict. Plin.

Adramelech, i. magnificentia regis, an Idol of the Aſſyrians; to whom they of Sepharvaim burnt their children. § One of the two ſons of Sennacherib, that ſlew their father.

Adramyttium, & eos Plin. Ἀδραμύττιον, Ptol. Ἀδραμυττεῖον, Etymol. Atramytteum, Liv. olim Pedaſus, hod. Landraniti, quem vocant Thebes campum, Liv. à Phæn. חצרא מודי i. regio luctuoſa. מות enim ἀλυς. i. limus. Bybl. Angl. מוד. Boch. Urbs Aſiæ minoris.

Adranon & um, Sil. Ἄδρανον vel Ἄδρανος, Siciliæ urbs mediterranea, cum fl. ejuſdem nominis, hod. Aderno, ſacra Adrano Deo, qui per totam Siciliam cultus, Pl. tanquam δαίμων, Æl. à quo & nomen urbs accepit. Diod.

Adranus, fl. Cattorum in Germ. Tac.

Adraſtia vel Adraſtea, Jovis & Neceſſitatis filia, ſcelerum vindex acerrima, ab ἀ priv. & δράσσειν fugiendo, quòd ſc. nemo nocens meritam pœnam unquam effugerit, etiamſi tardiùs aſſequitur. The Goddeſs Nemeſis or Fortune; to whom K. Adraſtus firſt built a Temple, and called her Ἀδράστεια. Str. The ſame alſo as μοῖρα, Apul. or εἱμαρμένη Caſaub. that is Fate.

ADRASTUS, i; m. ἄδραστος, i. minimè fugax. A King of the Argives, the Son of Talaon and Eurynome; hence called dux Talaonides, Stat. deſcended of Inachus and Perſeus; hence Inachius and Perſeïus. He took Polynices his Son in Laws part in the Theban war, was long-liv'd, and dyed of age.

Adrēmon, The father of Thoas.

ADRIA, æ; m. Hor. de mari. Urbs ſ. Ἀδρίας ab ἀδρὸς vehemens. The Adriatick Sea or Gulf of Venice, a very tempeſtuous Sea. Hence inquierus, Hor. Ventoſus, Sen. Vagus, Lucdicitur, and by way of proverb of an angry perviſh perſon. Improbo iracundior Adriâ, fretis acrior Adriæ. Hor.

Adria colonia, a Town of Italy, belonging to the Picenes, Seven miles off from the Sea: The country about it called ager Adrianus. Plin.

Adrianŏpŏlis, urbs condita, uti nomen indicat, ab Adriano Imp. Adrianople, a City of Thrace upon the River Hebrus: where before the taking of Conſtantinople, the grand Seignior kept his Court.

Adriānus, An Emperour of Rome, the ſucceſſour of Trajan, he came in perſon into Britain, and built a wall to part the enemy from the Romans; and having ſet things in order, returned to Rome; and upon his Coin intitled himſelf Reſtitutor Britanniæ. Langh. He reigned twenty years, and dyed of the dropſey, being ſixty two years old: ann. Chr. 139. He was a lover of learning, and learned men, and delighted much in Poetry.

Adriāticum mare, The Sea before Ravenna: it parteth Italy from Dalmatia; the Gulf of Venice.

Adrobrica, Hiſpaniæ urbs. Pomp.

Adrumetum, Pl. Sall. Ἀδρύμη Str. Ἀδρύμης, Ptol. q. חצר מות i. atrium mortis, Scal. Rect. q. חֲצַר מֵאָת regio centum, i. centuplans, yielding of one buſhel a hundred, as Varro ſaith. Africæ urbs maritima in Byzatio regione fertiliſſimâ.

Aduatici, Belgarum populi, Cæſ. People of Boiſleduc, or as ſome ſay of Doway.

Adulas, mons inter Alpes, unde ſcaturit Rhenus Fluvius. Strab.

Adulitæ, pop. Ægypti, Plin.

Aduliton, Plin. A Town in Ægypt, built by ſome ſlaves, that ran away from their maſters.

Adultus, Jupiter cognominatus eſt, ut etiam Juno Adulta; nam præcipuè in connubiis Ethnici Deos 5 invocabant, Venerem, Suadelam, Dianam, Jovem adultum, & Junonem adultam.

Aſdunicates, Pl. People of France.

Aduram, אֲדוֹרִים i. potens & excelus. An Officer in K. Davids time over the tribute, and ſo continued till Rehoboam, by whom being ſent to the people he was ſtoned to death, upon which followed the rebellion.

Adurnium, Ederington in Suſſex. Camd.

Adyliſſus, mons Græciæ. Plin.

Adyrmachidæ, pop. Libyæ Mareotidis. Plin.

A ante E.

Æa, Αἰαία. Ptol. ab αἶα, i. terra rect. ab אִיָּה i. inſula. The chief City of Colchis, by the River Phaſis. Val. Flacc. makes a ſtory of it, that Æa was a huntreſs, whom Phaſis fell in love with, and in his purſuit of her ſhe was turned into an Iſland or City of her own name.

Æăcides, æ & is; m. Achilles, grandchild to Æacus: and Pyrrhus, great grandchild.

ÆACUS, i; m. (ă) Αἰακὸς, q. dextus, immitis. Æ. The Son of Jupiter and Ægina King of Œnopia, which from his mothers name he called Ægina. His country being diſpeopled by a plague, Jupiter at his requeſt recruited him with ſubjects, by turning Ants into men, whom he therefore called Myrmidons. He had by Chirons daughter two Sons, Telamon and Peleus, and a third by a daughter of Nereus, Phocus. The reputation of his juſtice was ſo great, that after his death they made him by Pluto's commiſſion one of the three Judges of the infernal Bench.

Æa, Circe, Αἰαία, i. Colchica, Euſt. ab Æa urbe. § Inſ. in mari Tyrrheno, q. ἀία, where Circe dwelt, and Aurora had her lodging. Hom.

Æantion, a deſert Iſle in the black Sea. Plin.

Æantium, ab Αἴας Αἰαντίων Ajax, oppidum Troadis, in quo ſepultus eſt Ajax. § A promontory of Magnelia. Pli i.

Æanum, Macedoniæ oppidum.

Æas, Αἰας ab Ajacis nom. A River running out of Macedon into the Ionian Sea.

Æcani,

Æcani, populi Thuſcorum. Plin.

Æculani, Italiæ pop. Plin.

Ædemon, Ptolomæi libertus, qui patronum à C. Cæſare interfectum ultus eſt. Plin.

Ædepſum, opp. Euboeæ. Plin.

Ædeſia, ab Aidὼς pudor. An Ægyptian woman, a rare example of Chaſtity. Suid.

Ædeſſa, Æmathiæ oppidum, Liv.

Ædon, mons Thraciæ.

Aëdon, ŏnis; f. The wife of King Zethus, who envying the wife of Amphion, her husbands brother, becauſe ſhe had ſix ſons, thought in the night to ſlay one of them, and by chance ſlew her own ſon Itylus; but finding her miſtake, ſhe would have died for grief, but was turned into a Linnet or Thiſtle-finch, to ſing her childs dirge.

Æeta, vel Æetes, æ; m. per Synær. Æta, Ovid. ab αἰθω, i. fulgeo, ardeo, utpote Sole natus. King of Colchis, father of Medæa, and Chalciope, and Abſyrtus.

Æetes, portus in Italiâ. Valer. Flac.

Æetias & Æetis, Medæa. The daughter of Æeta. Ovid. Val. Fl.

Æetius. Pertaining to Æeta. Æetius heros, i. Abſyrtus. Val. Flac.

Æga, A Nymph, Jupiter's Nurſe; the daughter of Olenus, tranſlated after her death into heaven, and made a ſtar, call'd the Goat. Hence Olenia capra. ſcil. ab αἴξ, ἀγὸς, capra, in Acc. αἶγα.

Ægæ, arum; vel Ægæ, es, forſan ab αἴξ, ἀγὸς, i. Capra, quòd iis præcipuè abundet animalibus. A City of Emathia, and Cilicia, and Æolia. Plin.

Ægæa, Amazonum regina, à quâ Ægæum mare, in quo periit. Feſt.

Æ G Æ O N, ōnis, Ov. ŏnis, Stat. Αἰγαίων, ἀ γαιὸς ſuperbus, vel ab Ægæ inſ. deſertâ, in qua latitavit; vel ab Ægæo mari, pro quo etiam ſumitur, Stat. Gigas ἑκατόγχειρ, centimanus. A huge and terrible Giant, ſon of Titan and Terra, who at once ſtung at Jupiter an hundred Rocks: afterwards when he was overcome, was bound with an hundred chains to a Rock of the Ægean Sea. He was indeed a great Pyrate, and had a hundred men ſerving him in a ſhip: Among men he was called Ægæon, among the gods Briareus. Hom.

Ægæum mare, Αἰσίου πέλαγος· ab Ægæ inſulâ, vel ab Ægæo Theſei patre, vel ab Ægæa Amazonum reginâ, vel ab Αἰγαῖος Neptuni Epitheto, vel ab αἴξ, αἰγὸς capra, ſcil. Cœleſtis, cujus ortu, Hor. occaſu, Ov. tempeſtates magnæ cientur; vel denique ſimpl. ab αἰγὸς Dor. fluctus. Part of the Mediterranean Sea near Greece, parting Europe from Aſia: it is vulgarly called Archipelago, and by the Turks the White Sea. There are a great many Iſlands in it, ſome ſcattered up and down, the Sporades: others in a round, the Cyclades. ◊ Ægæum Scaphulâ tranſmittere, To paſs over the Ægean Sea in a Cock-boat: i. to undertake a weighty buſineſs with ſlight abilities. Ægæum navigat; of a perilous journey, or dangerous undertaking.

Ægaleos, A woody mountain of Meſſenia. Stat.

Ægates, Inſula Africæ. Sil.

Ægeæ, Iſlands on the Ionian coaſt. Plin.

Ægetini, Calabrorum pop. Plin.

Æ G Æ U S, i. m. Αἰγεὺς, ab Ægæ inſulâ, vel quòd ſe in Ægæum mare projecerit. King of Athens, next after Pandion. He had two wives, Æthra, of whom he begat Theſeus; and Medea, by whom he had Medus. In his reign King Minos of Crete, in revenge of his ſon Androgeus his death, had made moſt cruel war on the Athenians, and had ſet upon them this penalty, that yearly they ſhould ſend into Crete ſeven Noblemens children to be devoured of the Monſter Minotaurus: This penalty had been executed three years, and the fourth year it fell among others to Theſeus, King Ægeus' eldeſt ſon, who being of a noble courage, did put them in great hope to kill the Monſter, and with much honour to eſcape the danger: at his departure therefore he had in charge of his father, that if the ſhip he went in returned proſperouſly with good ſucceſs, that he ſhould ſet up a white flag, in token of victory, and pull down the black one, they went forth with, as mourners. But when Theſeus through the counſel of Ariadne, King Minos his daughter, had overcome the Monſter, and with a clew of thread eſcaped the labyrinth, ſailing homewards again with great joy towards his country, he forgot his fathers command touching the white flag: The old Prince deſirous to ſee the return of his ſon, uſed to go unto the top of an high tower, to ken or view ſhips a coming; and at length having eſpied his ſons ſhip with a black flag, as it went out; ſuppoſed his ſon had been ſlain, and preſently threw himſelf from the top of the turret headlong into the Sea; which Sea was called afterwards by his name, Ægeum. After his death, to comfort his ſon Theſeus, he was by the Athenians conſecrated to be Neptunes ſon, god of the Sea.

Ægĕria, rect. Egeria. A goddeſs Nymph, with whom Numa Pompilius had familiar converſe.

Ægiale, es; f. αἰγιαλὸς, i. e. in littore habitans, littoralis, Stat. The wife of Diomedes, who whilſt her husband was at the wars of Troy, committed adultery with Cyllabarus the ſon of Sthenelus: which when Diomedes underſtood, he would not return home for ſhame, but went into Italy, and obtain'd part of the Kingdom with Daunus: others ſay, he committed the government of houſe and wife to Cometa the ſon of Sthenelus: but Venus having been wounded by Diomedes, put ſuch a Fury into Ægiale, that ſhe became a common Harlot to every body, but eſpecially to this Cometa.

Ægiălĕus, i; Αἰγιαλεὺς, i. in littore degens, vel rex littorum, quòd regio eſſet pleramque partem littoralis. The ſon of Phoroneus, to whom Apis, upon his departure into Ægypt, left the government of Achaia, which by another name was called Ægialos, as lying along the Sea-ſhore; * Others make him the ſon of Inachus by Melia, a Sea-Nymph; from whom the Countrey was called Ægialea, which afterward from Pelops, was named Peloponneſus. ◊ Alſo the firſt King of the Sicyonians, who, as ſome would have it, gave that name to the Countrey: He lived before Abrahams time, and reigned 72 years. ◊ Abſyrtus, Medea's brother, ſo call'd alſo.

Ægialia, An Iſland over againſt Ætolia. Plin.

Ægialos vel Ægialus. Αἰγιαλὸς, i. littus: The name of a village near Pontus. ◊ A Countrey of Greece, call'd alſo Achaia.

Ægida, oppidum Iſtriæ, Plin.

Ægides, æ; m. Son to Ægeus, Theſeus.

Ægidius, Francorum rex. Æmil. Αἰγίδιος. Lat. q. Capellus Ang. Gilles.

Ægila, Αἴγιλα, An Iſland 15 miles from Cythera, Plin.

Ægilips, Αἰγίλιψ. fic dict. eo quòd præ altitudine capris ſit inacceſſa. A City of Epyre by Crocyia, Steph.

Ægilium, inſula maris Tyrrheni, Plin.

Ægilodes ſinus. The Gulf of Laconia, Plin.

Ægilos, i; f. Lat. Capraria, An Iſland near Corſu.

Ægimius. The name of a man that lived two hundred years, Plin.

Ægimurus, i. Capraria. Liv. Cæſ. Ægimori duo, Plin. vulgò La Galetta, inſula in mari Lybico.

Ægina, æ; f. Αἴγινα· à quâ ipſâ inſula Ægina dicta. The daughter of Aſopus, King of Bœotia, on whom Jupiter (in the likeneſs of fire) begat Æacus and Rhadamanthus: ◊ The Iſland it ſelf, in which Æacus reigned, formerly called Œnopia, being one of the iſles in the Ægean Sea, and inhabited by the Myrmidons, or Piſmire-people. Vid. Æacus.

Æginenſes, vel Æginētæ. People of the Iſland Ægina; otherwiſe called Myrmidons.

Æginētĭcus, a, um; Hence Æginēticum æs; The braſs of that Countrey much valued, Plin. and money there firſt coyned. Ælian.

Æginium, A Town of Macedon. Plin.

Ægiŏchus, i. Αἰγίοχος, geſtans ægidem, eo quòd corio capellæ Amalthææ uſus erat pro ſcuto, quando contra Titanas dimicavit. vel, ut alii volunt, ab αἴξ, i. capra memoriâ, à qua puer fuit nutritus in Creta. One of Jupiters titles.

Ægion, oppidum Achaiæ, Plin.

Ægipan, A Town of Æthiopia. Plin.

Ægipan, is; m. Αἰγίπαν· Pan ſo called, becauſe ſhaped like a Goat, only with a Fiſhes tail, for inventing the trumpet-marine, the blowing of which cauſed a panick fear. And as to ſhape, is much-what the ſame with Capricorn, one of the 12 Signs. From him were called Ægĭpānes, um; m. i. Semicapri; Naked people light and nimble, having Goats feet, with long whisking tails. The Ancients worſhipped theſe Monſters or Baboons for demi-gods, or the gods of the woods. ◊ A ſort of people in Africk, Plin.

Ægira, A City of Achaia, Plin.

Ægis, ĭdis. f. Virg. αἰγὶς, i. pellis caprina, ſcutum Jovis, ἀπὸ τῆς αἰγὸς, i. capræ; nam ille à capræ Amalthææ nutritus eſt, cujus mortuæ pelle ſcutum ſuum operuit, ſeque ob capræ memoriam Ægiochum appellari voluit; Scutum vero Palladi dedit, cui ipſa Meduſæ caput impoſuit, quod qui intuebantur protinus lapideſcebant.

Ægiſthus, i; m. Αἴγισθος· Ovid. The ſon of Thyeſtes by his own daughter Pelopeia, who to conceal the villany, expoſed the Child in the woods; where a ſhepherd meeting with him, nurſed him up with Goats milk, whence he had his name. Being grown up, he killed his Uncle Atreus; and kept Clytemneſtra, his Couſin-german Agamemnon's wife, during his abſence at the ſiege of Troy; and at his return, with the wives help, murder'd him too at Supper, and was at laſt himſelf ſlain by Oreſtes, in revenge of his fathers death. ◊ The brother of Damas; otherwiſe named Ægyptus.

Ægium, A Town in Peloponneſe, where Jupiter was nurſed by a Goat; of which the Town hath its name.

Ægle, αἴγλη, i. ſplendor, lux. The daughter of Heſperus King of Italy, ſhe and and her two Sisters, Arethusa and Hesperethusa, were called Hesperides. ◊ A Nymph of this name, one of the Naiades, daughter to Sol and Neæra. Virg.

Ægles, a Champion of Samos, that was dumb all his life, till at the sacred games or exercises, as they were wrestling, he spying deceit in their doing, striving to speak, loosed the strings of his tongue, and spake distinctly ever after. The like we read of the son of Crœsus. Gell. Val. Max.

Æglia. An Island not far from Creet.

Ægŏbŏlus, Αἰγοβόλος. i. caprarum jaculator. Bacchus, worshipt by this name in Potnia. The occasion this; as the inhabitants were once keeping Bacchus his feasts, they grew drunk and mad, fell to blows and kill'd one of the Priests. Whereupon the god sent a pestilence among them. They consulting the Oracles, were advised to sacrifice one of their handsomest boyes to Bacchus; which having done for several years, Bacchus at length accepted a Goat instead of a boy. Gyrald.

Ægŏcĕros, ōtis; Luc. Αἰγόκερως. i. Capricornus. In Acc. Ægoceron, Luc. non ut sit secundæ Decl. quod vult Voss. sed more Græcorum, qui & ως & ωτα inflectunt. A Sea-monster, into which Pan transformed himself, when in Ægypt, together with the rest of the gods, he fled from Typhon that fell Gyant, and enemy of the gods: Jupiter admiring his subtilty, for reward placed him among the stars, one of the twelve signs, where the Sun makes winter solstice.

Ægon, ōnis; m. Αἰγων. ὁ τὰς αἶγας νομεύων. The name of a Shepheard in Virgil. ◊ A promontory of Lemnos. ◊ The Ægean Sea, called Ægon and Ægeon. Stat. Val. Fl.

Ægonensis, porta Romæ quæ & Quirinalis, eo quòd mons ipse Quirinalis prius Ægonus cognominatus est. R.

Ægophăgos, Αἰγοφάγος, i. capras comedens. Juno dicta apud Lacedæmonios, quod ibi capræ illi immolarentur. Cæl.

Ægospotamos, i. capræ fluvius, A river in Thrace, where is shewn a stone of a wain-load, which Anaxagoras foretold, would fall out of the Sun. Plin.

Ægussa vel Ægūsa, q. αἰγῶσα, capris plena; insula in mari mediterraneo, Africam versus. Al. Æthusa, Plin.

Ægypsus, i; f. ab Ægypso Caspio conditore. A City upon the river Ister, Ovid.

Ægyptas, Ciceronis libertus.

Ægyptini, Æthiopes Ægyptiis finitimi, Fest.

Ægyptius, a, um. Of Ægypt, Ægyptian.

Ægyptus, i; m. An ab Αἴξ, αἰγὸς quòd populares suos capras colere instituerit? an παρὰ τὸ αἶγας πάσειν, quòd paverit capras ob terræ fœcunditatem? vel ab αἰγυπιὸς ob fuscum & vulturinum colorem? The Son of Belus, and Brother of Danaus, who having fifty sons, matched them with his brothers fifty daughters, who all of them saving Hypermnestra, by their fathers order, slew their husbands the first night they bedded them. Lynceus the man that escaped, afterwards outed his Uncle Danaus out of his Kingdom, and reigned himself sixty nine years over the Argives.

ÆGYPTUS, i; f. Αἴγυπτος ab Ægypto Danai fratre, qui ibi regnavit. Etymol. ab αἴθω uro; quòd incolæ sint adusti. al. q. ἰσχυπτος, quòd sit ἰσχὺς τῷ ποτῷ ἀ πνεύματος, propinqua Nilo fl. Al. ab αἴξ, γος, quòd capras vel coluerit vel paverit. Simsonus ab urbe Coptos (unde & lingua Coptica dicitur) nobili emporio dici vult. אי Kaptos, i. Insula sive terra Copti. Heb. מצרים formâ duali, quia ipsa regio duplex. vel à filio Chami, unde & Psaltes eam terram Cham vocat, vel ab angustiis quòd sit regio angusta, in longitudinem extensa. Boch. à מצר ducit, quòd sit munitus locus. Olim dicta χημία, vel à Chamo, vel à nigredine, est enim μελάγχρως; חום a. niger. It. Ἠερία sive Ἀερία. The country of Egypt: It is divided by Mela into two parts, the lower Delta, and the upper Thebais; famous for the invention of arts, as Physick, Astronomy, Husbandry, Building, natural Magick, and other mysterious Sciences; insomuch that several learned men of Greece, as Pythagoras, Plato, &c. travelled thither for knowledge. How rich it hath formerly been, the vast Pyramids and other famous monuments yet remaining shew. The people were much given to Idolatry, and worshipped beasts, and fowls, and onions, and garlick, and monsters: The country is so hot, that it seldom rains there, but the river Nile once a year overflows the country, and makes it so fruitful, that it hath been formerly stiled the Granary of the world. Further, Ovid, Pliny, others tell us that the very slime of the river breeds living creatures, so that one may see mice and rats half formed, the head and fore-part being alive and moving, and the hinder-part only still slime and mud. Egypt is bounded on the East with the red Sea, on the West with Cyrene, on the North with the Mediterranean, on the South with Æthiopia.

Ælana, al. Læana, est opp. Arabiæ Petr. inde Ælaniticus sinus, Plin.

Ælia, Jerusalem ita cognominata, quòd eam Ælius Adrianus restaurari curârit.

Ælianus, The name of divers Romans; one particularly that spoke Greek most elegantly and readily, and wrote several treatises in that language of Various history, of living creatures, of Tacticks.

Ælius, & Ælia, proper names among the Romans. Once a very poor family. Val. M.

Ælius Stilo. A Grammarian that was Varro's Master, Suet. Malè scrib. Stolo apud Plin.

Aëllo, ûs; f. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ἀέλλης, i. procellâ, quam cursûs celeritate referebat. One of the three Harpies. ◊ One of Actæon's dogs; Swift. Ovid.

Æmăthia vel Emathia. The Country of Macedon.

Æmĭlia, Gr. i. facundia. Æmilios Plut. dicit à Numâ nuncupatus ab urbanitate, i. ἀπὸ τῆς εὐωλίας. The name of a Vestal Virgin; Val. M. ◊. A Country of Italy called Flaminia and Romandiola. Mart.

Æmilia gens. A noble family in Rome.

Æmilia via, one of the Roads of Italy, made by Æmilius, when he was Consul.

Æmiliānus, Africanus minor primus appellatus fuit, Pauli Æmilii filius, cùm ex Æmilia gente in Scipionum familiam esset adoptatus. Juv.

Æmilius Censorinus. A cruel Tyrant of Sicily, who if any brought him a new Engine to torment men withal, would reward them liberally. One Paterculus presented him with a brazen horse for that purpose. But he bethinking himself, with great justice ordered the author himself to be put in, to make the first tryal.

Æmilius Macer. A Poet of Verona. Ov.

Æmilius. A beautiful young man of Sybaris in Italy, much given to hunting; his wife jealous that he pretended hunting only to give some body else the meeting, went out into the woods and hid her self amongst the bushes, which she rustling, the dogs came in, and tore her to pieces instead of a wild beast; the young man seeing this, slew himself. Plut.

Æminius, A river in Spain. Plin.

Æmŏchărēs, αἱμοχάρης, i. Sanguine gaudens. An Epithet of Mars.

Æmon, ōnis; m. gr. i. peritus. Creons youngest son, to whom Antigone was betrothed, but never married; for whilest she followed her father in exile, Æmon was slain by the monster Sphinx, Ovid. But Prop. says, he slew himself at Antitigone's grave.

Æmona, A town belonging to Venice, now called Citta nuova.

Æmŏnia, regio Græciæ, ab Æmo monte, cui propinqua est; vel ab Æmone Deucalionis filia. dict. Thessalia: inde Æmonius, a, um; i. Thessalicus.

Æmŏnides. A mans name in Virg.

Æmus, vel Hæmus, i. m. A King of Thrace, who married Rhodope, the daughter of Strymon. They grew so proud, that one said he was Jove, and the other that she was Juno, and would needs be worshipped as Gods. Whereupon Jupiter turned them into two hills, of the same names. Ovid. ◊ A mountain in Thrace.

Ænaria, f. (ă) apud Stat. A statione navium Æneæ, Plin. A similis eò missis, quæ gr. ἀρμίναι, i. enares, Salm. Ab æripodinis pro Akenaria, Is. Voss. An Island of Italy near Naples.

Ænea. A city of Thrace built by Æneas. Liv.

Ænēădæ. Trojans so called from Æneas, sc. ab Αἰνείας, Αἰνειάδης.

ÆNEAS, æ; m. (ē) Αἰνείας, ab αἰνέω laudo. Rect. ab Hebr. חן gratia, ut sit id. quod Ἀνναῖς & Ἰωάννης, i. gratiosus, quod Punicè Hanno dicitur, Germ. Hans, Hisp. Juan, Gall. Jean, Ital. Giovani, Brit. Evan, Ang. John. Hung. Janos, &c. Veneris & Anchisæ filius. A Trojan Prince, who after Troy was taken, came into Italy, where he married Lavinia, King Latinus his daughter, and succeeded in his Kingdom: He and Antenor, tis believed, betrayed the city of Troy; though Virgil excuse it, and make it his design to parallel him with Ulysses in all his adventures. When Troy was on fire, he carried his father Anchises, and his household-gods on his shoulders, and led his son Ascanius by the hand, his wife following him, who was lost by the way.

Æneas Sylvius, 4. Latinorum rex. ◊ A Pope of that name, a great writer, called after Pius II.

Æneis, ĭdos; f. liber de gestis Æneæ, Virgil's Æneids.

Æneĭus, a, um; Of Æneas.

Æněsidēmus, dict. videtur quasi αἰνέσας τὸν δήμους, i. populi laus. A famous captain of the Argives, Liv.

Æneſius, dictus Jupiter, ab Æno monte Cephaleniæ, in quo eſt ipſius fanum.

Æněides patron. ab Æneas, Virg.

Ænienſes, populi Ætoliæ.

Ænnum, A little town of Ægypt. Plin.

Ænobarbus, Domitius appellatus eſt, quoniam Caſtor & Pollux, quum de victoria nunciarent Domitio, ipſéque minimè crediderat narrantibus, malas barbámque manibus permulſerunt, & eam ex fuſcâ in flavam converterunt; unde à barbâ rutila æneique coloris Ænobarbus dictus, quod poſtea Domitiorum cognomen fuit.

Ænocanma, mons excelſus Æthiopiæ. Mel.

Ænōna, civ. Illyrici. Plin.

Ænos. dict. ab Æneâ conditore. A free Town in Thrace. Mel.

Æŏles, dict. ab Æolo Hellenis filio. The Æolians, that uſed a particular dialect of the Greek from the reſt, called the Æolick.

Æŏlia, & Æŏlis, dict. ab Æolo. A country of Aſia, inhabited by the Æolians, lying between Ionia and Troas, near the Helleſpont; it was before called Myſia. ◊ The country of the winds. Vir. Æoliæ inſulæ. Seven Iſles between Italy and Sicily, viz. Lipara, Hiera, Strongyle, Didyme, Ericuſa, Phœnicuſa & Euonymos; aliter Vulcaniæ, Gr. Hephæſtiades dictæ, πλωτὰι; Dion.

Æŏlides, dict. Ulyſſes. q. ab avo Æolo, patre Siſypho. Ovid. ◊ A trumpeter Virg. aptè q. Æoli filius. q. d. Puff-cheek, bluſterer.

Æŏlis, idis ſ. f. A country of leſſer Aſia, beyond Ionia.

ÆOLUS, i; m. (ŏ) Αἴολος, ab αἴθω procella, turdo, tempeſtas. Jovis, ſive ut alii, Hippotæ filius, hinc Hippotades dict. Ovid. King of the Æolian Iſlands, which were ſo called from him. He was ſaid to be the God of the winds, becauſe he ſo ſtudied Aſtronomy, that he knew what times and how long ſuch winds and tempeſts would be, and when it would be calm; or becauſe the clouds and miſts, riſing about thoſe Iſlands, did always portend great ſtore of winds.

Æos. Son to Typhon, he built Paphos.

Æpalius. A King, that was expelled his kingdom, and by the help of Hercules was reſtored; and in token of thankfulneſs, after Hercules his death ſettled his kingdom on Hercules his eldeſt ſon Aylas, and his poſterity, Stn.

Æpulo. A little prince of the Iſtrians, who being dead drunk, when he was taken by the Romans, could hardly be made know, after he waked, that he was a priſoner. Liv.

Æpy, αἶπυ, i. altum, ſic dictum, quòd edito in loco ſitum ſit. A city in Neſtors territories. Stat. hence Æpytius, a, um; Id.

Æqueſilici, pop. Hiſpaniæ citerioris, Plin.

Æquicŏli, & Æquicŏlani, & Æquicŭlani. People of Italy, inhabiting the hills above Tibur. Virg. Ov.

Æquimelium, A place in Rome where Sp. Melius his houſe was pull'd down and level'd to the ground. Liv.

Æria, vel Aëria, quòd in excelſo ſita. opp. Galliæ. Narb. Plin. Hod. Aire. ◊. Inſula maris mediterr. Thaſſos olim ſic dicta. ◊ Item Creta primùm Æria dicta. Plin.

Aërŏpe, q. ἀειρόπους, celeripes, light-heeled. Ovid. The wife of Atreus, with whom Thyeſtes committed adultery, and begat of her two ſons; which ſons afterwards Atreus had killed, and dreſſed, and ſet upon the Table before his brother.

Æropus. A hill of Chaonia. Liv.

Æroſa, ant. Cyprus dicta, quòd in ea plurimum Æris enaſci ſoleat.

Æsăcus, gr. i. avis ſolitaria, quæ à quibuſdam Sylvia. The ſon of Priamus by Alyxothoe the daughter of Dimas; more delighted to live in the woods and forreſts than in cities: He fell in love with Heſperie, or Eperie, and followed her into the woods, who, as ſhe was running from him, was ſlain by a ſerpent; whereupon he fell into ſuch a diſcontent, that he threw himſelf headlong off a rock into the ſea; whom Thetis turned into a Didapper, or Moorhen. Ovid. ◊ A river of Troy by the hill Ida.

Æsăpus. A river in Sicily, another in Calabria, Ovid.

Æsăpus, vel Æsēpus. fl. Myſiæ in Aſiâ, ex Idâ monte profluens.

Æsar, ăris, m. Ov. Αἴσωρος. A river of Magna Græcia hard by Croton. Hence Æsăreus, a, um. Of that river.

Æschĭnes, is, m. ab αἰσχος, dedecus vel pudor; quòd erat verecundus. An Orator of Athens, Demoſthenes his Antagoniſt and rival. At Rhodes having read his own oration, which he ſpoke againſt Demoſthenes, and the defence which Demoſthenes made in anſwer to his charge, for which Æſchines was baniſhed; and his friends being much taken with it, Ay, ſaid he, if you had heard the leaſt himſelf deliver it, what would you have ſaid? There were ſeven or eight others of that name. Laert.

Æschrion, ab αἰσχος. A Poet of Mitylene, a familiar acquaintance of Ariſtotle.

ÆSCHYLUS ab αἶσχος. The twelfth Judge of Athens; in his ſecond year Iphitus ordered that the Olympick games ſhould be kept every fourth year with a great concourſe of all Greece, which ſpace of years was called Olympias; and from this time did the Greeks reckon by Olympiads. ◊ A Greek Tragedian. Being told that upon a certain day he ſhould die by ſome fall, he went forth of a city of Sicily, in which he was, and ſat in an open place bare-headed; and by chance an Eagle carrying a Tortoiſe, or ſhell-fiſh in her talons, taking his bald head to be a ſtone, fell it upon his head to break it, that ſo ſhe might eat the meat in it; but it light with ſuch violence on his head, that it kill'd him. Hence Æſchylēus, a, um, Prop.

Æschylus Gnidius. Cicero's Maſter.

Æsculanus, Deus ſub cujus nomine Pecunia culta eſt Romæ; Aug. de civ. Dei: dictus & Argentinus. A god amongſt the Romans, whom they worſhipped, becauſe they thought he had power to make them rich. Bud.

Æsculapii Inſula, q. d. The holy Iſland; a place in the river Tibur, made by corn, which the people had flung into the river out of Mars his field, that had been ſown there by Tarquin, and became firm ground in the midſt of the river.

ÆSCULAPIUS, i. m. (ŭ, ā) Ἀσκλήπιος, primùm ἰατὸς, i. blandus, mitis dictus, quòd dolores ægrotantium medicamentis deliniret; mox quòd Aſclen, Epidauri tyrannum, ſanaret, Ἀσκλήπιος. Euſt. אִישׁ כַּלְבִּי i. vir canimus, Boch. Nempe canes adhibentur ejus templo, quòd is uberibus canis ſit nutritus, Feſt. The ſon of Apollo by the Nymph Coronis, whom, having to do afterward with one Iſchys, Apollo ſlew to death, yet took care of the child, and delivered him into Chiron's tuition, to ſtudy Phyſick. Ovid. He grew ſo skilful, that at Diana's requeſt he reſtor'd Hippolytus to life, who had been pull'd to pieces by his coach-horſes; which troubled Jupiter ſo, that any mortal ſhould riſe again to life, that he ſtruck Æſculapius dead with a thunderbolt. Virg. He was ſuch an excellent Phyſitian, that after his death he was worſhipp'd as a God. He was uſed to carry a Dog along with him for his Chirurgion, and a Goat for his Apothecary; the one to lick wounds and ulcers whole, the other to cure conſumptions and inward diſeaſes with her milk. He dwelt at Epidaurus, thence called Epidaurius. From whence being ſent for to Rome in the time of a Plague, he went on board the ſhip in the ſhape of a great ſerpent. The Romans being cured built him a temple, and worſhipt him under that ſhape. He had two ſons famous Phyſicians, Machaon and Podălirius.

Æsēpus, A river by the hill Ida. Plin.

Æsernia. A city of the Samnites. Sil.

Æsimides, Athenienſium princeps.

Æsis, fl. Umbriæ in Italiâ, & Umbriæ civ. Αἴσις. Ptol. unde Æsĭnātes pop. Plin.

Æsius. A river in Bithynia, Plin.

Æsolani pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Æson. Son to Cretheus, brother to Pelias, the father of Jaſon: thence called Æsŏnides. At Jaſon's requeſt Medea by her magick arts reſtored this old man to his youth again.

Æsōpiānus, vel Æsōpĭcus, a, um; Of Æſop.

ÆSOPUS, i; m. (ŏ) Αἴσωπος. ab αἴθω, αἴσω ardeo, & ὤψ, ὠπὸς, vultus; quòd eſſet coloris aduſti & Æthiopi ſimilis. Ut mihi videtur nomen Phœn. ſive Hebr. יוֹסֵף ioſeph. Æſop, the famous writer of fables or ſtories, yet a Phrygian by birth, and a ſlave by condition: a moſt deformed and a very witty perſon. He liv'd in the time of Cræſus king of the Lydians. His life is ſet before his book. Ne Æſopum quidem trivit, he hath not ſo much as read Eſop's fables, Prov. of a dunce and an Ignoramus; that being the firſt Claſſick author read to children in Schools. ◊ An excellent player of Tragedies, acquainted with Tully. He got a great eſtate by Acting, and left it to a ſpend-thrift ſon; who was wont to diſſolve pearls and diamonds in vineger, and do other ſuch coſtly frolicks at his entertainments. Plin. Hor.

Æsquilinus. A hill in Rome.

Æsŭla, æ. f. A town in Italy ſeated on a hill between Tibur and Prænеſte. Hor. the people Æsŭlāni. Plin.

Æsyca. The town Netherby upon Esk in Cumberland.

Æsymnētæ erant, qui parem regiæ dignitati poteſtatem habebant; à quo nomine Dictatoris imperium apud Rom. traxiſſe traxisse originem creditur. Alex. ab Alex.

Æsymnus. dict. ab αἰσυμνάω, i. impero. A noble man of Megara, who not enduring the tyranny of kings, asked Apollo, by what means the Megareans might order their Common-wealth best: He answered, if they would take counsel of the More. He thinking Apollo had meant the dead, because they were more than the living, built a tomb for Hero's or brave men departed, and built a Council-house about it, which from him was called Æsymnium: thinking that by that means the dead would likewise joyn with them in Counsel.

Æternitas. Eternity was worshipped by the heathens for a Goddess.

Æthălia, à Græcis dicta, ab αἰθάλη fuligo, quam diffiat Vulcani officina; Lat. Ilua. An Island in the Tyrrhen sea, full of Iron miner. ◊ The Island Chios so called formerly.

Æthălides, gr. id est, fuliginosus, utpote sub terrâ æternis vicibus degens. A Herauld or Cryer, the son of Mercury, who had leave to be sometimes amongst the living, and sometimes among the dead, and so knew all that was done in either place. Pythagoras was wont to boast that he was the man. Laert.

Ætheria, gens, æ. Æthiopiæ olim. Plin.

Æthiŏpe, Plin. The Island Lesbos, once so called.

Æthiŏpia Αἰθιοπία, q. d. incendium: Est enim Zona torrida, vel ab Æthiope Vulcani filio dicta. Heb. כוש Chus, q. nigra vel nigredo, à Chus filio Cham. Boch. vult Æthiopiam esse Lud, & Æthiopes Ludæos. Æthiopia or the Blackmore Country beyond Egypt in Africk, now called the Abissines or Prester John's country. A very large country, lying partly on this side, partly beyond the line: 'Tis accounted double; the one bounded by the river Nile on the one side, and the red sea on the other; the other lying without Nile into the midland.

Æthiŏpĭcus, a, um; Of Æthiopia.

Æthiŏpissa. A she-Blackamoor.

Æthiops, pis; m. Αἰθίοψ. i. vultu niger, ab αἴθω uro, & ὤψ, ὠπὸς, facies: qui faciem adustam habet. An Ethioplan, a Blackmoor.

Æthon, Αἴθων, i. ardens. One of the horses in the Chariot of the Sun. Ov. ◊ One Pallas his war-horse in Virg. ◊ One of Pluto's four Coach-horses. Claud. ◊ A farting Parasite in Martial.

Æthra, i. ætheris serenitas. The daughter of Pittheus, (wife to Ægeus, and mother to Theseus ) whence called Pittheïs. Ov. ◊ The daughter of Oceanus and Tethys, and wife of Atlas, by whom he had twelve daughters and one son called Hyas. The daughters were all made stars, five Hyades, and seven Pleiades.

Æthræa, The Island Rhodes once so called.

Æthria, i. aer lucidus. The Isle Thassos in the Ægean sea. Plin.

Æthusa. An Island near Barbary. Plin.

Ætius. A noble man of Rome slain by Valentinian. ◊ A Greek Physician. ◊ An Heretick, from whom the Ætians or the Eunomians had their rise.

ÆTNA, æ; f. Αἴτνη, q. d. Αἴθνη, ab αἴθειν ardere; vel ab אתונא [attuna] fornax, caminus. Boch. uti Ovid. sulphureis ardet fornacibus Ætna. sic & Virg. Claud. A mount of Sicily, which alwayes burns and casts out flames and ashes, and sometimes great stones into the neighbouring country; yet the plains and valleys about it are very fruitful and verdant, and the mount it self, notwithstanding its continual fires, hath snow always lying on the top of it. Sil. Claud. Here Jupiter lodg'd the Giants, after he had thunder-struck them. It was formerly called Inesius, now Monte Gibello. ◊ A city at the foot of the hill Ætna, formerly Inessum, now Centorbe.

Ætnanus, a, vel Ætnæus. Belonging to Ætna. Ætnæus venator. A hunter for nothing, one that hunts in Ætna, where no game is.

Ætnēius, a, um. Of the hill Ætna.

Ætnenses, populi. Plin.

Ætōlia, ab Ætolo Martis seu Endymionis filio. A region in Achaia between Acarnania and Phocis; in the very bosom and midst of Greece, &c.

Ætōlus, or lius, a, um. Of that region.

Ætōlus, gr. ab αἰτεῖν, i. rogare; quòd Ætoli essent petaces: unde apud Aristophanem, ὁ αἰτωλὸς ἔχειν τὼ χεῖρα λέγεται. The son of Mars or Endymion, who for manslaughter fled into the country called from him Ætolia.

Ætuātes, pop. Helvetiæ. Cæs.

Ætus, fl. ab αἰετὸς i. aquila, à cursûs velocitate. The name once of the river Nilus. ◊ A river in Scythia, which by its overflowings spoiling Prometheus his fruitful grounds, gave occasion to the story, that his growing liver was fed upon by an Eagle.

Æx, ægis; f. αἴξ, i. capra, quòd capræ speciem procul aspicientibus præbeat. An Isle full of rocks, between Tenedos and Chios: hereof the sea Ægeum was named. Plin.

A ante F.

Afer, Afra, Afrum. Αἴβυς, Αἰβυσσα. One of Africk. Hinc Africa, sc. regio.

Afrania. A shameless woman, wife to one Licinus: unde mulieres perfrictæ frontis per contumeliam Afraniæ dicebantur; A bold Bettrice.

Afranius, ab ἀφρονεῖν desipere, insanire: potiùs à patriâ. q. Afer. A comical Poet. Cic. Hor.

AFRICA, æ; f. (ĭ) ab α & φρίκη i. sine frigore: est enim regio calidissima; vel ab Ophre Abrahami nepote, qui in Libyâ devictâ consedit, Jos. vel à פרך [pharak] divisit, quòd ab Europâ & Asiâ divisa; vel ab עפר [apnar] pulvis, quia arenosa; vel ab Arab. פרוך [phrik] Spica, אפריכה [aphrica] terra spicarum, i. fertilis. Boch. Αἰβύη. Africk one of the four parts of the world, parted from Europe by the Mediterranean sea from the streights mouth; and from Asia by the river Nile, or (taking in Egypt and Ethiopia ) by the Red Sea; and joyned to Asia at the upper end by a little neck of land of threescore miles length.

Africanæ, scil. feræ. Panthers, because they abound in Africk.

Africānus, a, um: Of Africk. unde Scipio voc. Africanus, à devictâ Africâ.

Africus, sc. ventus. Αἴψ. The South-west wind. Virg.

A ante G.

Aga, mons, ex quo Araxes & Euphrates oriuntur.

Agăbus, nomen Prophetæ, Act. 11. ab. Heb. חגב locusta, vel חג אב festivitas patris.

Agacturi, pop. Arabiæ. Plin.

Agag. A King of Amalek, whom Saul spared, and Samuel hewed in pieces.

Agagammatæ, pop. circa Mæotim. Plin. al. Agamantes.

Agallis. A woman that was a good Grammarian, and first, as some say, invented the Ball. Cæl. Rhod.

Agamēde, An Isle of the Mediterranean sea. Plin.

Agamēdes, Ἀγαμήδης, ab ἄγαν valdè & μήδομαι consilium. An excellent workman. He and Trophonius made the chancel, or Oracle, in the Temple at Delphos, of five whole stones; and when they desired of Apollo, that they might have for the reward of their work that which he judged to be best for man; three dayes after they were found dead in their beds. Cic.

AGAMEMNON, ŏnis. m. Ἀγαμέμνων q. ἄγαν μίμνων, i. μένων, diu manens, ob diutinam moram in decennali obsidione Trojæ. The son of Atreus by Aërope, and brother of Menelaus; King of Mycenæ and Argos. He was chosen Captain General by the Greeks, in the war against Troy: and being after the taking of Troy forewarned by Cassandra, the daughter of Priamus, of his death, yet he went home to his wife Clytemnestra; who together with her Paramour Ægisthus, son of Thyestes, slew him at a banquet: in revenge whereof, Orestes, Agamemnons son, slew both the adulterer Ægisthus, and his mother. Agamemnonis hostia; A proverb applied to them that are hardly perswaded to a thing.

Agamemnŏnius, a, um. Virg. Of Agamemnon.

Agamnestor, ŏris. Athenarum Judex.

Agamzua. A town of Media. Plin.

Agandei. People about Mæotis. Plin.

Aganippe, es; f. quæ & Hippocrene, ab ἄγαν & ἵππος, quòd equi Pegasi ungulâ factus sit hic fons; vel q. אגן אבא i. crater virorii, qui priùs Enippe, עין אבא i. fons viridis dictus. Boch. A famous well or spring in Bœotia by mount Helicon, sacred to the Muses: unde Musæ dictæ Aganippides.

Aganippis, ĭdos; denom. & Aganippæus, a, um. Of Aganippe, Ovid.

Agapēnor, gr. à amans viros. One of the Captains of Agamemnon's fleet. Hom.

Agapētus, gr. à charus, dilectus. A Consul; and a Pope or two of that name.

Agapius, i. amabilis. A Physician of Alexandria, and a Philosopher of Athens.

Agar. Lat. advena. Sarah's maid; she was the mother of Ismael, of whom the Agarens.

Agarēni, People of Arabia, now called Saracens, descended of Ishmael.

Agarista. The daughter of Clisthenes, so beautiful, that all the gallants of Greece strove for mastery in tilting and other exercises to win her in marriage. Ælian.

Agarus, A river in Sarmatia; (Sagaris, Ovidio) whence the root Agarick has its name. Rhod.

Agasicles, ab ἀγάσθω, inclytus, & κλέος gloria. A king of the Spartans; He had this golden saying, that there was no surer way of establishing a government, than for a king so to rule his subjects, as parents do their children. Plut.

Agasso. A grooms name in Horace.

Agasthĕnes, i. præpotens. The father of the fair Polyxenus, who was one of the Captains against Troy. Hom.

Agastus, gr. ἀγαστὸς, admirabilis. Judex vel Archon secundus Athen. an. 36.

Agasus, portus Italiæ. Plin.

Agătha, ἀγαθὴ, i. bona, Plin. A city of Provence in France, belonging sometime to Marseilles. ◊ A Virgin martyr of Carthage.

Agatharchus, i. bonus Imperator. A Painter, who boasted to Zeuxis, in how short time he could draw a picture; to whom Zeuxis answered, that he must be a great while a drawing one; noting, that one could not do a thing in haste, and do it exactly. Plut.

Agathias Scholasticus, i. advocatus. A Civilian that wrote somewhat of the history of Justinian, and several Epigrams in the Greek Anthology.

Agathirnum, opp. Siciliæ, Plin. Al. leg. Agathyrsum, sicut Strabo habet.

Agătho, gr. i. bonus, A Pythagorean Philosopher, who being asked by King Archelaus when he was 80 years old, whether he had any strength left; answered, that not only the Spring, but Autumn beareth fruits. ◊ An Athenian of huge bigness and great strength in Adrian's time.

Agathŏclea, Ptolomæi scortum. Just.

Agathŏcles, ab ἀγαθὸς, i. bonus, & κλέος gloria. A Sicilian Tyrant, son of a Potter, who after he got to be King, slew all the Nobles, de quo vid. Just. l. 22. ◊ A Captain of Greece, son to Lysimachus, whose death was contrived by his mother in law Arsinoe.

Agathon, i. bonus: A wanton minstrel. ◊ Agathonia cantio, Prov. A loose sing-song good for naught.

Agathopŏlis, gr. i. bona civitas. The city of Montpelier in France.

Agathurnum, Sil. A town of Sicily, hod. opp. S. Marci.

Agathyrsi. A rich People near to the Scythians; so called from Agathyrsus, one of the sons of Hercules: à Thiras, gr. Θρᾷξ. Boch. They were called Picti Agathyrsi by Virg. because their hair was painted blew; whence some conjecture that the Picts in Scotland, joyning to the Marches of England, had their beginning.

Agathyrsum, Al. Agathyrnum, opp. Siciliæ.

Agathussa. The Island Telos so called by Callimachus.

Agave, Ἀγαυὴ. Daughter of Cadmus and Hermione, married to Echion King of Thebes, by whom she had Pentheus, whom she and the rest of the Mænades in their mad revels tore limb-meal, because he would drink no wine, but slighted Bacchus feasts.

Agavus, Ἀγαυὸς, i. splendidus. One of the sons of King Priamus.

Agdus. A huge rock upon the borders of Phrygia, of which Deucalion and Pyrrha took the stones, wherewith they repaired mankind after the flood. Arnob.

Agedi, pop. circa Mæotim. Plin.

Agelas. A famous stone-cutter, Polycletus his master. ◊ The sixth King of Corinth.

Agelastus, ἀγέλαστος, i. non ridens, dict. Crassus, avus Crassi in Parthiâ interempti. He never laughed but once in all his life; and that was when he saw an ass eat thistles; upon which occasion he said, Similes habent labra lactucas. Like lips, like Lettuces.

Agelia, epitheton Minervæ, quasi ἄγουσα λείαν, i. prædam abducens. Cœl.

Agelocum. Littleborough upon Trent.

Agēnor, ŏris; m. ἀγλώωρ ab ἀγὼ, i. vir. & ἄωρ valde. A King of the Phœnicians, son of Belus, father of Cadmus and Europa.

Agerōna; industriæ dea, ab agendo, quòd ad agendum excitaret. The Goddess of industry amongst the Romans.

Agesander. A famous stone-cutter of Rhodes. Plin.

Agesias Cyrenaïcus. A Platonick Philosopher, who by persuading the immortality of the soul, caus'd many to kill themselves: whereupon he was silenced by Ptolomy. Cic.

AGESILAUS, aï; m. (c̄, ĭ, ā) Ἀγησίλαος, ὁ ἀγὼν + λαὸν, i. populum ducens. The sixth King of the Lacedæmonians, succeeded his brother Agis: a man of short stature, and lame of one leg, but a very valiant prince. Just. ◊ An Athenian, Themistocles brother, he slew one of Xerxes guard instead of Xerxes; and being brought to the King, as he was at sacrifice, put his right hand upon the Altar into the flames, and burnt it without shrinking at the pain; telling them withal, that all the Athenians were such men as he: and if you will not believe me, saies he, I'le put in my left hand too. Whereupon Xerxes for his gallantry dismissed him: Plut. ◊ A name given to Pluto, παρὰ τὸ ἄγειν τοὺς λαοὺς, quòd populos agat.

Agesinates, pop. Aquitaniæ, Pictonibus juncti. Plin.

Agilæus. The third King of Corinth.

Aginum, Ausonii. The city of Angolesme in France.

Agis. A King of Lacedæmonia, who was slain by his own people, because he would have renewed the laws of Lycurgus.

Agla. A town of Spain. Plin.

Aglaia, ἀγλαΐα, i. splendor: una est Gratiarum, quæ & Charites dicuntur, alio nomine Pasiphae appell. sunt autem tres, Aglaia, Thalia, Euprosine. Aglaia est lætitia; læti enim in dandis beneficiis esse debemus. One of the three Graces.

Aglais, The daughter of Megacles, famous for gluttony. Cæl.

Aglaonice, ἀγλαονίκη, i. clara victoria. The daughter of Hegemon, a sorceress.

Aglaŏpe, una Sirenum, Lat. q. splendido aspectu; One of the Sirens.

Aglaophæna, ab ἀγλαὸς & φαίνω appareo. Another of the Syrens.

Aglaŏphon, A famous painter. Plin. Cic.

Aglauros. Daughter to Erictheus King of Athens; she was turned into a stone by Mercury. Ovid.

Aglaus, ἀγλαὸς, i. inclytus. A poor Arcadian, whom Apollo judged more happy than Gyges, because he never travelled further then his own ground. Val. M.

Agneda. Edenburgh, the chiefest city of Scotland.

Agnices, A river falling into Tigris, Plin.

Agnitas, vel Agnita, æ; Æsculapii cognomentum apud Spartanos, apud quos ejus Dei simulacrum ex Agno, quæ planta est, erat exsculptum, Cæl. The surname of Æsculapius among the Spartans.

Agno. A well in Arcadia, that by using certain ceremonies, the waters of it would rise and grow into clouds, and so poured down great showres; so named from one of the Nymphs that nursed Jupiter. Rhod.

Agnodice. A Virgin, who being desirous of the knowledge of Physick, went in the habit of a man, and studied; who at length grew so skilful in the diseases of women, that she had all the Patients, and became their Midwife; before which time Physicians were Midwives: the Physicians complained that she was naught with the women, and so got their custome; but she shew'd her self to be a woman, and so their suit fell. Hyg.

Agnoïtæ, hæretici, ab ignorantia dicti. Certain Heretick; among the Eutychians, that thought Christ in his divine nature was ignorant of some things, as of the last day. Cæl.

Agoce. A city of Æthiopia. Plin.

Agōnalis mons, One of the seven Hills of Rome, called afterward Quirinalis.

Agōnālia, prius Agōnia. Ov. Feasts kept yearly amongst the Romans, in honour of Janus, or of Agonius, the God of business. Fest. So cal'd, because he that was to slay the sacrifice ask'd before he did it, Agon? i.e. Shall I? or from the Agones or maiteries and prizes, that were antiently plaid at these feasts. Ovid.

Agōnax, Zoroaster's Master in art Magick. Plin.

Agonensis porta. A gate of Rome, called also Collina; now Porta Salari.

Agonis. A maid servant of Venus Erycina. Cic.

Agonius, Deus præsidens rebus agendis; ejusque festa, Agonalia, prius Agonia.

Agoracritus. A famous carver, Phidias Scholar. Plin.

Agorēa Minerva, i. forensis, Cæl.

Agoreus dict. Mercurius, quòd ejus statua in medio esset foro.

Agra, locus Bœotiæ, ubi Diana venari solita; unde Agræa dicta. ◊ Regio Lazonitarum, Arabiæ populorum.

Agræ, Arcadiæ urbs. Plin.

Agragantinus, a, um: Of Agragas.

Agrăgas, antis; m. Ἀκράγας. ab ἄκρος, i. arx, Punicè. ברך. A hill in Sicily; also a River and a Town upon the top of the hill, of the same name, Virg. otherwise cal'd Agrigentum, Serv. But Voss. saith, it has its name from the river.

Agrammes. A Barbers son, whom the Queen of India fell in love with, and caused him to kill the King, that so by marrying her, he might reign in his stead. Curt.

Agraria Lex, Cic. A Law proposed by some levellers for dividing the common fields equally among the people.

Agricŏla, Tacitus his father in Law, who also wrote his life; wherein he has given a full account of all his exploits in the Island of great Britain, whilest he was Governor here in Domitian's time. ◊ Two or three Consuls of that name.

Agrigentinus, a, um; Of the city Agrigentum.

Agrigentum. The town Gergento, on the hill Agragas in Sicily.

Agriodos, ontis; m. ἀγριόδους. i. dente ferox. One of Actæon's dogs. Ovid.

Agriōnia. Feasts among the Bœotians, celebrated in honour of Bacchus, called Ἀγρεύς. i. Ferus.

Agriophăgi. solis ferarum carnibus vescebantur, unde nomen. People of Æthiopia.

Agrippa, quasi ægre pedibus natus, quòd isti primi omnium in partu prodierunt; vel ab ægro partu dict. Herod Agrippa, eaten up with worms for his pride. ◊ The husband and brother (so Juvenal) of Berenice.

◊ Au-

§ Augustus his son in law, a victorious prince. Virg. Hor.

Agrippa Menenius, cognom. Lanatus: He was by the Romans chosen Captain against the Sabines, and triumphed when the Commons of Rome rose in mutiny against the Senators, because they were charged with taxes and services of war, and could not be quieted; he made a speech unto them on this manner: The Limbs and members of the Body conspired against the belly and the Stomack, because they thought that they were idle, and therefore would give them no food; but when they saw by that means themselves began to waste and consume, they then perceived that they were nourished by them, and so grew into amity again: So is it, said he, with the Senate and People; they are as it were one body, which discord destroyeth, but amity and concord maintaineth. Liv.

Agrippenses. People of Bithynia. Plin.

Agrippina. The mother of Nero, daughter to Germanicus, and sister to Caligula, wife first of Domitius, afterward of Claudius, whom she poisoned, that she might make Nero her son (who afterwards justly rewarded her) Emperour. § Another Agrippina, mother to this, and the wife of Germanicus.

Colonia Agrippina, Tac. Agrippinensis, Plin. The city Coleyn in Germany.

Agron, A Physician of Athens, who in a plague-time by making of great fires, did his country good service. Cæl.

Agrospi. People of Æthiopia. Plin.

Agrosus, mons ubi nunc Roma, postea Palatinus dict.

Agrötĕra, Dianæ cognomen. Cæl.

Aguntum, opp. Norici. Plin.

Agyeus, sive Agyieus. Hor. Ἀγυιεύς, dictus Apollo ab Athenienſibus, quòd ei ἐν ταῖς ἀγυιαῖς, i. in viis publicis ſuæ urbis ſtatutis altaribus ſacrificarent. The ſirname of Apollo.

Agylla, à Pelaſgis conditoribus dict. Plin. A Thuſcan city called alſo Cære. So Strabo. Others ſay the ruines of this town lye four miles off from Cære.

Agylleus, Stat. A great wreſtler, a maſſy fellow like Hercules.

Agyricum. A town of Sicily. § Agyrini, People of that town. Plin. Cic.

Agyrtes, gr. ἀγύρτης, i. præſtigiator. One that killed his father. Ovid. § A trumpeter. Stat.

A ante H.

Ahala, cognomen Serviliorum.

Ahama, oppidum Hetruriæ. Liv.

Ahaz. The eighth King of Iſrael.

Ahaſuerus, qui eſt Darius Hiſtaſpis filius, hinnitu equi rex Perſarum confirmatus. A Perſian Monark; he divorced his wife Vaſhti, and married Eſther.

Ahenobarbus, v. Ænobarbus.

A ante I.

Ajälon, Heb. ilex vel quercus, aut fortitudo ſive cervus. The name of a valley, and of ſeveral cities in Paleſtine.

AJAX, ācis; m. Αἴας ab αἰάζω, lugeo, Soph. A valiant warrier in the Grecian Camp againſt Troy, Telamon's ſon by Heſione, the ſtrongeſt Greek next Achilles: He for anger that the company of Princes had adjudged Ulyſſes to have Achilles armour, grew mad, fell upon flocks of ſheep, and at laſt with that ſword which Hector had given him, ſlew himſelf, and was turned into a flower the Hyacinth or Violet, which wears upon it the two firſt letters of his name, αι as Ovid. § A King of the Locrenſes in Greece, ſon to Oïleus: He was ſtruck with thunder in his return homeward from Troy, by Pallas, for having raviſh'd Caſſandra in her temple after the taking of Troy. Virg. § One of King Antiochus his Elephants ſo called. Plin.

Aidōneus, Pluto appellatus, vel ab Ἀΐδης, infernus; vel ab אדון i. dominus, quòd in omnes mortales poteſtatem habeat.

Aius, Cic. Deus à Romanis dictus eſt ab eo quòd aiebat, i. loquebatur: nam olim Romæ audita vox eſt, ſilentio noctis, clarior humanâ voce, quæ jubebat Magiſtratibus nunciari, Gallos adventare, & ut providerent, nè Roma à Gallis caperetur. Liv. hunc eadem ratione vocat Locutium.

A ante L.

Alaba. A city in Spain. Plin.

Alabanda, n. ab Alabando, Caris filio; it. Alabandenſium Deo, Cic. vel ab Ala, ſic Cares Equum vocant, & victoriâ, quæ ab eiſdem Banda dicitur. A city in Caria. Juven.

Alabaſtrum, A town in Egypt abounding with Alabaſter. Plin.

Alabaſtros. A river in Troas, which riſeth out of mount Ida. Plin.

Alabus, & Alabis, Sil. A river of Sicily.

Alachroæ, qui & Lotophagi, pop. Africæ. Plin.

Alalcomenium, Stat. A city of Bœotia; from her Temple here Minerva is called Alalcomenĕis, Steph.

Alamanes. A Statuary, Phidias ſcholar. Pl.

Alana. A city of Æthiopia. Plin.

Alāni ſunt Lithuani. A warlike people of Scythia, near the Lake Mœotis. Claud.

Alanus, Sclavonicè Canis, Scal. A Captain of the Goths. Diac.

Alaricus, Claud. Two Kings of the Goths, of that name; whereof the firſt ſacked and deſtroyed Rome.

Alaſſi, opp. Cyrenaïcæ. Plin.

Alaſtor, ἀλάστωρ, i. exitialis. One of Pluto's four Chariot horſes. Claud. § One of Sarpedon's companions to Troy, ſlain by Ulyſſes. Ovid.

Alaſtores Dæmones, mali Genii, qui calamitates, peſtes & fames in terris diſſeminant.

Alāta caſtra, alio nomine Caſtrum puellarum, gr. παρθένων στρατόπεδον. Edenburgh in Scotland.

Alatrinates. People of Italy. Liv.

Alauna. A town in Britany; Vul. Alaway. Camd.

Alaunius. The river Avon. Ort.

Alaunus. Alne or Northtyne, a river in Northumberland.

Alazon, ab ἀλαζών ſuperbus. A river parting Albania and Iberia. Val. Flac.

Alba Heluorum, opp. provinciæ Narbonenſis. Plin.

Alba Dea. The ſame as Albunea.

Alba Julia, hod. Weiſſenburg. The chief city of Tranſylvania.

Alba longa, ab omine porcæ albæ ibidem inventæ Alba eſt dicta. The name of a city built by Aſcanius, the ſon of Æneas. Vir. The people called Albani. Var.

Alba, civ. Marſorum ad lacum Fucinum. Pl. Sil. Pop. Albenſes. § Opp. Hiſpaniæ, al. Vergae.

Alba Pompeia, col. & urbs Ligurię. Pl.

Alba regalis. A town where the Kings of Hungaria were crowned. hod. Stulweiſſenburg.

Alba Sylvĭus, Latini Sylvii fil. Sextus Latinorum Rex. Ovid.

Albanenſes, pop. Hiſpaniæ citerioris. Pl.

Albāni, pop. Scytharum, ab Jaſone oriundi, ante quos mare Albanum, Plin. § Item pop. Italiæ, ſicut & Albenſes.

Albāni Fanum. St. Albans. From a Saint of that name, Albanus, of a noble Roman family, born at Verulam; who in the tenth perſecution under Diocletian ſuffered martyrdom at this place, together with the Souldier who was ſent to be his executioner, one Heraclius; who being converted by the holy man at that inſtant, and refuſing to do his office, dyed a Martyr too. He was beheaded on the 22 day of June, in the year of Chriſt 303. Bede.

Albānia, regio Aſiæ inter mare Caſpium & Iberiam, à colore populi vocata, eo quòd albo crine naſcuntur: Alſo a country in Scotland.

Albānūs, lacus & mons, non procul ab urbe Româ, apud Albam urbem. Prop. Hor.

Albĕrīcus Prænomen; Anglis Awbry.

Albidius, A man, who after he had ſpent all, at laſt had his houſe ſet on fire: upon which Cato paſſed this jeſt, That he was an ill-natur'd fellow, that what he could not eat, he burnt. Macrob.

Albingaunum. A town of Liguria; hod. Albenga.

Albinus, Imperator Romanus, dictus quòd exceptus ſit ex utero candidiſſimus, contra conſuetudinem puerorum, qui naſcendo ſolent rubere. Cæl. Rhod. The name of divers Romans. § One Clodius Albinus, Governour of Britain, after Pertinax, in Emp. Commodus his time, and ſlain by Severus.

Albĭnŏvānus Celſus. Nero's Secretary. Hor.

Albĭnovanus Pedo. A Poet in Ovid's time.

Albion, Britannia dict. ab albis rupibus, quas mare alluit, vel ab Allyban, quo nomine partem ejus ſeptentrionalem appellarunt Scoto-Hiberni, i. Ellanban, quod ſign. Inſulam albam, quo modo & Orpheus eam vocat χέρσον λευκαίον. Langh. Al. qu. ὄλβιον, id eſt, felix; ob ſummam fertilitatem ſoli. Al. ab Albione Gigante, filio Neptuni, qui ibi regnavit. The Iſland of great Britain, containing the two Kingdoms of England and Scotland.

Albis. A river running through the midſt of Germany, called the Elbe; and falls into the ſea near Hamborough. Luc. It has its name from Halb, i. half, becauſe it divides the country into two halves.

Albium Intermelium, opp. Italiæ apud Ligures. Plin.

Albium Ingaunum, opp. Liguriæ, Plin.

Albius, A rich miſer in Hor. § The ſirname of Tibullus. Hor.

Albonenſes. People of Illyria. Plin.

Albucilla. The name of a ſhameleſs whore in Tacitus.

Albŭla, ab albo colore ſic dict. nunc Tiberis. The river Tiber formerly ſo called. Vir. Liv. § A river near the city Tibur. Mart. Flumen ad Anienem viâ Tiburtinâ. Voſſ. ex Vitr. Eſt fœm. ſubaudito ſubſt. aqua.

Album, Promontorium Africæ; item promon. Phœniciæ non procul à Tyro. Plin.

Albu nazar. An Arabian Phyſician and Aſtrologer ſo called.

Albuna. A goddeſs whom ſome think to be Sibylla Tiburtina. Gr. λευκοθέα, i. Alba Dea.

Albŭnea, ſic dict. ab aquæ qualitate. The name of a river, and a wood by the river Anio in Italy. Vir. Hor.

Alburnus, Lucaniæ mons, à candore verticis dictus, Virg.

Albutius Silus. An Orator of Novaria. Suet.

Albu-

Albutius vel Albucius. A base covetom fellow, which would beat his servants before they had done any fault, for fear he should not have leisure at the instant of their offending. Hor.

Alcæus, ἀλκαῖος ab ἀλκὴ, i. fortitudo. A Greek Lyrick Poet that lived in the time of Sappho. § The grand-father of Hercules, whence he was called Alcides. § The son of Hercules, by Omphale.

Alcander. A Lacedemonian youth, that by chance put out Lycurgus eye, who never punished him for it, but took him into his house to be his servant. § One of the companions of Sarpedon, king of Lycia, slain by Ulysses at the Siege of Troy. Ovid.

Alcānor, A mans name in Virgil.

Alcăthoe. The city of Megara, so called from Alcathous, who being suspected to have murthered his brother fled thither. Ov.

Alcăthous. The Son of Pelops: Also a Trojan, who married Hippodamia.

Alce, es; f. gr. i. robur. One of Actæons hounds in Ovid. § A harlot, Gell. § A city of Spain, Liv.

Alces. A river of Bithynia. Plin.

Alcēsta, vel Alcestis. The wife of Admētus king of Thessaly, who being sick, sent to the Oracle, and received answer; that he must needs dye presently, unless one of his friends would dye for him: they all refused, and then she voluntarily died for him. Juv. Ov.

Alchiŏne, mons Macedoniæ. Plin.

Alcibiădes. A noble man of Athens, that could fit himself to all mens humours, of what country or condition soever: He was by nature prone to luxury, and other vices, but giving himself to be instructed by Socrates, he was somewhat reclaim'd. As he was going to the King of Persia, there were some men sent after him, who being they could not come at him, set the house on fire about his ears, and burnt him alive. Justin.

Alcidămas, antis. Gr. i. robore superans. A famous wrestler. Stat.

Alcidămus, An ancient Rhetorician. Cic.

Alcides, æ; m. dict. Hercules ab ἀλκὴ i. robur, vel patron. ab Alcæo avo paterno; It. Minerva, apud Macedones. Liv.

Alcimăchus, Pictor nobilis. Plin.

Alcimĕde. The wife of Æson, mother of Jason. Val. Fl.

Alcimĕdon, Sculptor nobilis. Virg.

Alcimus, ἄλκιμος i. fortis, A King of the Lydians, Cæl. § A Jewish villain, who got to be high Priest. 1 Maccab. 7.

Alcinous, ἀλκίνοος, à robore animi; Rex Phæacum in Corcyra justissimus: A King who had fair Orchyards, and great store of fruit; Virg. Ov. &c. He entertain'd Ulysses in his travels. Hom.

Alcippe. A country woman in Virgil.

Alcippus. A chief citizen of Lacedæmon, who was banished by his adversaries.

Alcisthĕne. A woman that was a famous picture-drawer. Plin.

Alcithoë. A woman of Thebes, a spinster, who with her sisters was turned into Bats and Rear-mice, for slighting the feasts of Bacchus. Ovid.

Alcmæon. The son of Amphiaraus and Eriphyle: his father enjoyned him, that after his death he should revenge his blood on his wife; which charge he performed, and slew his mother; for which he was after vexed with furies.

Alcmæōnius, a, um; Of Alcmæon. Prop.

Alcman, A Greek Lyrick poet, who wrote in the Dorick dialect.

Alcmēna, vel Alcmēne, & Alcŭmēna, Plaut. Ἀλκμήνη, ab ἀλκὴ robur. The wife of Amphitryo, to whom Jupiter came in her husbands absence, in the shape of her husband, and begat Hercules of her, Ovid. Plaut.

Alcon, ōnis; m. An excellent Archer of Creet. Virg. § A silver ingraver. Ov. § Another man in Stat.

Alcorānus, Arab. lectio, Scriptura. The Alcoran, an impious absurd book of the Turks religion, compiled by Mahomet, with the help of Sergius an Apostate Monk, and a renegado Jew.

Alcuinus, A learned man, Schoolmaster to Charles the Great.

Alcyŏne, ab ἀλκυών, vel Alcinoe. One of the Pleiades, daughter of Atlas and Pleione, whom Neptune loved, and begat of her Alcyone, the wife of Ceyx; who going to the Oracle was drowned by shipwrack, and by the gods changed into a bird called a kings fisher. Ov. § Another daughter to Evenus, wife to Idæus, whom Apollo took away from her husband and kept her, but her husband with bow and arrows sought to take her from Apollo by force of arms, but he could not; her parents therefore called her Alcyone, whereas before she was called Marpessa.

Alcyoneus. A Gyant slain by Hercules, whose daughters bewailing their fathers death, were turned into Halcyons or Kings fishers.

Alēbas, rex Larissæorum, à satellitibus confossus propter tyrannidem suam. Ovid.

Alebecerii. pop. Galliæ Narbon. Plin.

Alecto, ūs. f. Ἀληκτὼ i. incessans, ab a privat. & λήγω desino. One of the three furies: the other two were Megara and Tisiphone. Vir. Ov.

Alectryon, i, gallus. A young man beloved of Mars, and so trusted by him, that he kept the door whilst he lay with Venus, lest Sol coming in the while should catch them; but on a time he being heavy asleep, Sol came and spyed them, and told Vulcan, who formerly suspected them, and having provided a net of chains for the purpose, cast it about them, that they could not get out; so that the story was known to all the gods, and Mars was angry with his friend Alectryon, and changed him into a bird of that name called a Cock; who now remembring his old fault, by crowing giveth warning constantly every morning of Sol his appearing.

Alectum, postea Donum Dei, Dundee in Scotland. Camd.

Alcii campi, Ἀλήια πεδία, in Cilicia, ἀπὸ τῦ ἀλᾶσθαι, ab errando, quòd excussus Pegaso Bellerophon, miser in campis, mœrens errabat Alein. Cic. Al. q. ἐν ἐρημίᾳ λήϊα. i. Steriles campi.

Alele. A city of the Phazanians, in Africk.

Alemanni, ita dicti patrio vocabulo, quasi toti viri; als mauner. Verstegan. Almains, People of Germany.

Alemannia, Germany. Claud.

Alemannus. The river Alemul in Germany.

Alenconium, opp. Galliæ, vulg. Alenzon, a Dutchy.

Aleniticus sinus, sive Ælaniticus, vel Læniticus, in Africâ. Plin.

Aleon. A river of Asia; & Aleos amnis. Plin.

Aleria. A Colony in Corsica. Plin.

Alesius, The name of one of Hippodamia's woers.

Alētha, urbs Galliæ, postea Maclovium, vul. S. Malo's.

Alēthes, ἀληθὴς, i. verax fidus. One of Æneas his companions. Vir. § A King of Corinth.

Aletini, pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Aletrinates, pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Aletium. A town of Italy.

Alex. A river in Italy. Plin.

Alexamenes. One that slew Nabis the tyrant of Lacedæmonia. Liv.

ALEXANDER, dri; m. Ἀλέξανδρος. i. adjutor virorum. Alexander the Great, son of Philip King of Macedon, and Olympias. A prince of an extraordinary spirit, and a shape of body answerable, He began his great enterprises about the age of twenty years, and in the space of twelve years had conquer'd India, Darius the Persian Emperour, and all the East, all Greece, and the greatest part of the world: He honoured learning much, and learned men. Aristotle was his Tutour. When he had conquered Babylon, he grew proud and intemperate; and was given to drinking. Some say he dyed with drunkenness; others that he was poisoned, for that he had causelessly put to death many of his friends. Q. Curtius hath written his Life and History. § There were also divers others of that name.

Alexander Pheræus, A tyrant in Thessaly, slain by his wife. Cic. off. Ov. in Ibi.

Alexander Severus. An Emperour of Rome, who by his virtue and prudence restored the state of Rome, wonderfully disordered by the vitious living of his predecessor Heliogabalus.

Alexandra. The wife of Alexander King of the Jews. § A daughter of Priamus called also Cassandra.

Alexandria, ab Alexandro Macedone condita. A city in Egypt, now called Scanderia. § Another of Syria or Cilicia, Vulg. Scanderoon, &c. § Opp. regionis Margianæ; it. Sogdianorum; it. Carmaniæ, &c. All of them built by Alexander.

Alexandrinus, a, um; Of Alexandria.

Alexandropŏlis, dict. ab Alexandro magno conditore. A city of the Parthians. Plin.

Alexia, oppidum Galliæ.

Alexicăcos, ἀλεξίκακος. Lat. malorum depulsor, Apollo vocatus est.

Alexio, A Physician, and friend of Cicero's.

Alexis, ab a priv. & λέξις. quòd nihil dicat, nihil respondeat amotori, superbus & fastidiosus. A fine youth, a page of Pollio or Mæcenas; whom Virgil makes love to. Eclogâ 2.

Alexius, ab ἀλέξω, i. opitulor. The name of divers princes.

Alfaterni, pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Alfellani, pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Alfrēdus, sive Aluredus, A Saxon King of England, a learned and excellent prince.

Algĭdum, ex ăĕris algore dict. The town Roccha del Papa in Italy, situated on the high hill Algidus.

Algidus, ab assiduo frigore dict. A hill twelve miles from Rome.

Ali-

Aliacmon, fl. Macedoniæ.
Aliartus, Stat. Aliartum, Liv. opp. Bœotiæ.
Alinda, A city of Caria. Arr.
Alingonis portus circa Garumnam fluvium. Sidon.
Aliphe, oppidum in Samnio: hinc Aliphānus, a, um. Hor.
Aliphera, urbs Arcadiæ. Gyr.
Alisō, opp. Belg. Vul. Iselburg, vel (ut Jun. vocat) Wesel.
Alisuntia, Auſ. vel Alisontia, ut Scal. leg. fl. Galliæ Belgicæ.
Aliterius, Jupiter voc. & Ceres Aliteria, quòd in publica fame ſervaſſent molitores, ne farina diriperetur.
Allantenſes, People of Allante, a town of Macedon, and another of Arcadia. Plin.
Allia, æ. f. Luc. Virg. &c. A river in Italy where the Romans were routed by the Gauls with a great ſlaughter. Hence Alliēnſis dies, Cic. Suet. noted in their Almanacks for an unluckie day.
Alliēnus, Prætor Siciliæ. Hirt.
Alliēæ, Sil. Liv. opp. Italiæ.
Alliēānus ager, Sil. The field belonging to that town.
Allobrŏges. People of Savoy & Piedmont.
Allobrox, ŏgis, m. ſing. Hor. Juv. One of that country, a Savoyard.
Almanſor, A Captain of the Saracens. Volat.
Almedeſſos, A city of Thrace.
Almericus. The brother of Baldwin, and ſixt King of Jeruſalem. ◊ An Heretick burnt at Paris by order of Pope Innocent. 3. Volat.
Almo, ōnis. m. Poet. A river not far from Rome, where Cybeles Prieſts were wont to waſh themſelves at their ſacrificings, &c.
Almon, A mans name in Virgil. ◊ A towns name of Theſſaly. Plin.
Almopii, pop. Macedoniæ.
Alōa, pl. ἄλωα. The husbandmens feaſt at Athens, after harveſt, conſecrated to Ceres and Bacchus; dict. quòd in areis, quæ Gr. ἅλωες, celebrarentur.
Aloeus, ἀλοεύς, i. triturator; Gigas, cujus filii dicuntur Martem vulneraſſe: The ſon of Titan and Terra, whoſe wife Iphimedia Neptune raviſhed, and had by her two ſons, who from the Giant were called Alōïdæ. Luc. Claud.
Alogiani, Hæretici ſic dicti quòd Domini verbum recipere noluerunt, & λόγον, ſive verbum, non priùs fuiſſe dicebant, quàm ex Mariâ naſceretur; ideoque Evangelium Johannis repudiabant.
Aloïdæ, Aloei filii, Otus & Ephialtes.
Alone, ſive Alona. The town of Whitley in Northumberland called Oldtown upon Alon. ◊ Alſo an Iſle near Ionia.
Aloni, pop. Meſopotamiæ. Plin.
Alontigeceli. A people of Spain. Plin.
Alope, mulier, à cujus nomine Alope Theſſaliæ civitas. Plin.
Alopĕce, ſic dict. quòd ſit ἀλωπεκώδης. An Iſle in the Euxine ſea, full of foxes; Gallicè L'Iſle des Renards.
Alopeconneſus, ἀλωπεκόννησος i. vulpium inſula. An Iſle near Boſphorus Cimmerius.
Alopes, Epheſus ſo called at the time of the Trojan war.
Aloſtigi, A people of Spain. Pl.
ALPES, ium. f. Ἄλπεις Leg. & Acc. ſing. Alpem, Juv. Luc. &c. Abl. Alpe, Ov. Claud. dict. ab altitudine. Nam Gallicè Alpes, montes alti. Serv. Feſtus à candore nivium dicti ſunt, quia perpetuis ferè nivibus albeſcunt. Sabini enim alpum dixere quòd poſtea Latini album. Feſt. The Alps, high mountains, which part Italy from Germany and France. When Hannibal was to paſs theſe hills into Italy, he made his way through them with vinegar, which being ſoaked into the rocks, made the hard ſtone yeild to their pickaxes, Liv. Juv. Hence the Adj. Alpinus, a, um.
Alpeſa. A town in Spain. Plin.
Alphæus, pater Jacobi min. Apoſtoli.
Alphea, Diana, ab eventu, quòd Alphæus amore Dianæ percitus, Ortygiam uſque eam ſit inſequutus, ac mox deſtiterit; ob id extructo inibi Deæ templo, illi conciliatum eſt de facto cognomen. Cæl.
Alphēïas, dict. ab Alpheo amatore quem fugit. The name of Arethuſa.
Alphēnus. One in Horace, who being a Cobler turned Lawyer, and was afterward Conſul of Rome.
Alphēſibœa, ἀλφεσίβοια, The daughter of Phlegeus, and Alcmæons wife. Prop.
Alphesibœus, ἀλφεσίβοιος, i. boves inveniens. A Heardſman's name in Virgil.
ALPHEUS, i. m. Ἀλφειὸς παρὰ τὸ ἀλφὼς ἰᾶσθαι, quòd Alphos i. maculas, vitiliginis ſpeciem curet. Pauſ. A famous river of Arcadia, near the city Elis, which runs down along by Piſæ into Greece, and there is ſwallowed up of the earth, and runs under ground, and thence paſſeth through the ſea, without mingling his ſtream with the ſalt waters, till he arrive at Sicily, where he blends his current with the fountain Arethuſa near Syracuſe; inſomuch that any thing, that is thrown into the river on Greece ſide, ſhews it ſelf in Arethuſe. Hence the Poets fain, that Arethuſe was a huntreſs, and beloved of Alpheus, and fled from him by ſome paſſages under ground unto Ortygia, whither he followed her. This river ſome Heathens worſhipped as a god.
Alphion. A lake which cureth the Morphew or freckles.
Alphius. An Uſurers name in Horace.
Alphonſus. The name of divers Kings of Spain.
Alpinus. A Poet, that wrote the wars of Memnon the ſon of Aurora, but ſo ill, that Horace ſaith, he murders him.
Alſa. A river running by Aquileia. Pl.
Alſatia. A country in Germany.
Alſium. A town of Italy. Sil.
Alſus, ab ἄλσος, i. nemus; paſtor qui in ſylvis ac montibus degit. Virg.
Altadas. 12. Aſſyriorum rex.
Altellus, Romulus dict. in terra altus à lupâ: al. quòd telis alteretur, ſive quòd rebus geſtis altus, i. excelſus ac glorioſus eſſet; ſeu quòd à Tatio, Sab. rege in colloquium poſtulatus alternis vicibus eum audierit. Feſt. The ſir-name of Romulus.
Altenius, Cariæ mons: which breedeth Scorpions, that will not hurt any ſtranger, but are very pernicious to the inhabitants.
Alteus, Tuſci filius.
Althæa, ἀλθαία i. malva agreſtis. The daughter of Theſtius, the wife of Oeneus; King of Calydon, and mother of Meleager; at whoſe birth ſhe heard the Deſtinies ſay, that the child ſhould live as long as the block that was in the fire ſhould remain unburned, which ſhe kept till ſhe had heard that he had ſlain all her brethren, his uncles; and then ſhe ſhewing her ſelf a kinder ſiſter than mother, in revenge burned the block, whereupon he alſo died. She repented of this fact after, and made away her ſelf. Ovid. Sen.
Althepus. King of Egypt, of whom Egypt was called terra Althepia. Rhod.
Altinātes, Altini incolæ.
Altinum. A city on the ſhore of Venice. Plin.
Altius, Jupiter dictus eſt ab Alti luco Jovi ſacro.
Aluntium. A city in Sicily. Cic. Alūntini, People of that city.
Alvona, opp. Illyrici. Plin.
Alutæ. People of Illyrium. Plin.
Alutrenſes. People of the Alps. Plin.
Alyattes. King of the Lydians, and father of Cræſus. Hor.
Alypius Antiochenſis, Britanniæ Vicarius ſub Imp. Conſtantio, Conſtantini M. filio.
Alyſius, ἀλύσιος, Bacchus dicitur, à λύω, i. ſolvo, Cæl. unde & Lyæus.
Alyſſus, ab α privat. & λύσσα rabies. A well in Arcadia that cureth the biting of mad dogs. Pauſ.
Alyxŏthoë, es. f. Ov. The daughter of Dimas, and mother of Æſacus by King Priam.

A ante M.

Amaccura, A city of Africk. S. Auguſt.
Amadeus, q. Amans Deum, Gallicè Amadis. A title of the Dukes of Savoy.
Amalchium. The frozen Sea.
Amalec, Ἀμαλήκ, עמלק. populus lambens vel percutiens, Filius Eliphas ex Thamnâ concubinâ, Eſavi nepos. ◊ Pars Idumæorum, vicina Judææ verſus meridiem, Inde.
Amalecitæ, Ἀμαληκῖται. Joſ. The Amalekites.
Amalphis, A city of Italy, where John Goa firſt found out the uſe of the mariners Compaſs, about the year 1302.
AMALTHEA, æ. f. Ἀμάλθεια, ab ἀμαλθύω, i. multiplico, nutrio. Pot. ex אמנת Chald. Amanthai, i. nutrix, n. in l. verſo. The nurſe of Jupiter; for Meliſſus King of Creet had two daughters, Amalthæa and Meliſſa, which fed Jupiter, when he was a child, with goats milk and honey. Some ſay that the Goats name was Amalthæa, whom Jupiter for her good ſervices afterward made a ſtar, and gave one of her horns to his two Nurſes, when he was come to age; and gave it this vertue, that the horn ſhould ſupply every thing they wiſhed for. Ovid ſaies that Amalthæa was the Nymph that nurſt him, and that the Goat by accident breaking off her horn againſt a tree, ſhe filled it full of flowers and fruits, and put it to Jupiters mouth, for which he harriſhed his Nurſe, and innobled the horn to be the horn of plenty. Ἀμαλθείας κέρας Prov. Pleno copia cornu. Hor. for Gods plenty, though Ovid applies that too to Achelous his horn that Hercules broke off.
Amalthæa Sibylla, Tib. A Sibil, who offered to King Tarquin nine Books, in which were written the deſtinies of the Romans, for a round ſum of money, which he refuſing to give, ſhe went and burnt three of them, and brought them again, demanding the ſame price; and the third time burning three more of them, ſhe had as much for the three remaining as ſhe ask'd for all nine at firſt.

Amana, אמנה i. Fides, ſive veritas, aut nutrix. A river of Damaſcus; called alſo Heb. Abana. Vid. ◊ Alſo a hill of Cilicia, qui & Amanus.

Amandæ, Indiæ pop. Plin.

Amandra. A country near the river Nile. Plin.

Amanides portæ, Curt. Ἀμανικαὶ πύλαι Ptol. The Straights of the hill Amanus to paſs out of Cilicia into Syria. Pliny calls them Portas Amani montis; now Stretto di Scanderona.

Amanoïdes, Ἀμανοειδὲς Ἄκρον. dict. quod formam, effigiémque Amani montis circumnavigantibus exhibet; (vel potiùs fortè Ἀμμοειδὲς. i. Arenoſum) Pomp. Mel. A Promontory of Cilicia.

Amantes, pop. Pannoniæ infer. Plin.

Amantia. A city of lower Hungary. Lazio, Quinque Eccleſiæ, Vulg. Funfkirken. ◊ A city of Macedon. ◊ Another of Lorain.

Amantini, People of Hungary. Pl.

Amānus, i; m. Luc. Val. Fl. à firmitate, ab אמן. A hill that parts Syria from Cilicia, abounding with Tigers, Panthers, and other wild beaſts. hod. Monte di Scanderona.

Amanum, portus Hiſpaniæ citerioris. Plin.

Amărăcus, ἀμάρακος, herbæ nomen. A youth, perfumer to Cinyras King of Cyprus; who by chance broke a box of ointment, by which means the ointment ſmelled more ſweetly; whence the beſt ointments were called Amăracina. Lucr. He was when he died changed into the herb Majorana, Sweet Margeram. Virgil uſeth it for Marjoram; ſo Cat. ◊ Nihil cum amaracino ſui. Gell.

Amarbi, pop. Scythiæ. Plin.

Amardi, Mel. Amordi, Plin. People of Aſia near to the Hircan Sea.

Amardus. A river of Media. Plin.

Amărȳllis, ĭdis. f. ab ἀμαρύσσω vel ἀμάρυμα, ſplendor. A country wenches name mentioned by Theocritus and Virgil. Rome ſo called ab ἀμαρύσσω, i. incito.

Amarynthus. A town in Eubœa, where Diana was worſhipped, whence ſhe called Amaryſia. Steph.

Amāsēnus. A river in Italy; Vir. another in Sicily. Ovid. which others read Amĕnānus.

Amaſia. A town of Germany, hod. Marpurgum. Cluv. takes it to be Embden. ◊ A city of Pontus, Strabo's country. ◊ The river Ems between the Elb and the Rhine, running into the Sea in Eaſt Freeſland. Str. which in Ptol. is Amaſius. Tac. Amiſia. Plin. Amiſius.

AMASIS, is; m. Luc. A famous King of Egypt, buried under one of the Pyramids. He made a law, that every one ſhould yearly give account to the government, how they lived. Thoſe that could not, to be put to death: which Solon ordered in Athens too.

Amaſii. People about Mœotis. Plin.

Amaſtra, Sil. Vid. Ameſtratum.

Amaſtris, is; f. A city of Paphlagonia. Catul. Amaſtris Pontica. Hence Amaſtriăcus. Ovid.

Amata, King Latinus his wife, Lavinia's mother, who hanged her ſelf, that ſhe might not ſee Æneas her ſon in law. Vir. ◊ The name of the firſt Veſtal Virgin.

Amatæ, People of India. Plin.

Amatha. A country of Arabia. Steph. ab arena. ◊ A city of Phœnicia and Sicily.

Amathei, pop. Aſiæ. Plin.

Amathus, untis. A city of Cyprus dedicated to Venus. Ἀμαθὸς. ab aquis calidis. Egeſip. q. חמתא. Rect. ab ἄμαθος arena. Gravidamque Amathunta metallis. Ov. Hence Amathunteus, or as ſome read, Amathuſiacus. Ov.

Amathus, thi. A river running by Pylos, Neſtor's country.

Amathuſia, ſcil. inſula. Cyprus ſo called of the city Amathus.

Amatini, pop. in Epiro. Cæſ.

Amaxitus, opp. Doridis. ◊ Locus Troadis. Plin.

AMAZONES, um. f. à Sing. Amazon. Virg. ab α priv. & μαζὸς mamma, quòd dextrâ mammâ execta carerent. al. ab ἅμα ζώω. Quid ſi ab אמץ, ab fortitudinem & robur. The Amazons, a warlike nation of women in Scythia, near Mœotis, who when they had a mind to have children, ſent for men that lived near them, to get them with child, but to ſtay with them no longer; and if they bore male children, they lamed and cripled them; if females, they cut of their right breaſts, that it ſhould not hinder them in throwing their javelins or darts, or to ſhoot. See their hiſtory, Juſtin. lib. 2.

Amazonia. ſc. regio. The country of the Amazones.

Amazonius, a, um. Of the Amazons. Amazoniâ peltâ. Stat. Their ſhield or little round target. Securi; Hor. Their Poleax.

Amazonides, um. pl. f. Virg. idem quod Amazones. q. d. Amazonum filiæ.

Amazonius, Apollo dict. à Lacedæmoniis, quia in agro Pyrrichio Amazones contra Græcos pugnare deſierant. Pauſ.

Amazonius, vel Amazonicus mons, ſic dict. ab Amazonibus. A hill in Aſia, at the foot of it runs Thermodon a river; near it the Amazons lived. Plin.

Ambacia, vulg. Amboiſe. A town in France.

Ambarvalia, cum victimas ambi. i. circum arva ducerent. A Roman feaſt ſacred to Ceres, whom with a ſolemn proceſſion in the fields they worſhipt, and pray'd her to proſper their corn.

Ambarri. People about Charleroy in Burgundy. Cæſ.

Ambĕnus. Val. Fl. Mons Sarmatiæ Europææ.

Ambianum, Sic dict. ab ambientibus aquis. The city Amiens in France. pop. Ambiani vel Ambianenſes.

Ambiati, pop. Galatiæ. Plin.

Ambiantium. Suet. A place in Germany, where Caligula was born.

Ambibareti, hod. Vivarienſes. People of the country Viveretz. Cæſ. Their city Vivarium, Viviers.

Ambibarii. People of Bretaigne in France. Cæſ.

Ambigatus. A King of France. Liv.

Ambiliates. People of France, of the town L'Amballes; where they make great ſtore of Parchment.

Ambivareti. People of Brabant between the Rhine and the Maes. Cæſ.

Ambiorix. A French Captain. Cæſ.

Amboglana. Willoford in Cumberland; or, as Cambden, Ambiſide in Weſtmerland.

Amboina, An Iſland in the Eaſt-Indies, a Plantation of the Dutch.

Ambracia, Pyrrhi regia, ab Ambrace rege Theſproti filio dict. A city of Epire, cau'd in the vulgar tongue Larta; it was formerly called Paralia; afterward named Nicopolis by Auguſtus after Antonie's defeat. Hence Ambraciota, An inhabitant of that city.

Ambracius ſinus. Plin. A part of the Adriatick Sea, on the continent ſide; hod. Le golfe de Larta.

Ambrones. pop. Galliæ Narbon. Feſt. Flor. People of France living by Pillage; hereof vile and naughty fellows are cau'd Ambrones. Eraſm.

Ambroſia, Dionyſii feſtum. i. Bacchi, apud Iönas: quæ & Lenæa. Cœl. Rhod.

Ambroſia ſive Ambroſii vicus. Ambreſbury in Wiltſhire.

Ambroſii mons, hod. Stone-henge. A company of great ſtones on Salisbury plain, ſo ſtrangely ſet, that a man cannot take the exact number of them. It was erected by Aurelius Ambroſius King of the Britains, in memory of his Nobles there treacherouſly ſlain by the Saxons under Vortiger.

Ambroſius, Gr. i. immortalis. One of the Latine Fathers, who was Biſhop of Millain under Theodoſius the Emperour.

Ambryſus. The name of two cities, the one in Phocis, the other in Bœotia. Str.

Ambuareti. pop. Galliæ, Cæſar.

Ambūbaiæ, arum. f. Hor. i. tibicinæ, ab אבוב Chald. amnis. tibia, fiſtula. Minſtrels. vid. Appell.

Amburbiale Sacrum. Vid. Appell.

Ambuſtus, cognomen Fabiorum. Plin. The firſt ſo caued, blaſted with lightning. Feſt.

Amelas. A town of Lycia. Plin.

Ameles, ētis. ἄμελης. Plat. A river in hell, the water whereof no veſſel can contain.

Amĕnānus. A river of Sicily near mount Ætna. Ovid. Al. leg. Amaſenus.

Amenophis. The name of divers Kings of Egypt.

Ameria. Ἀμέρειον, St. ab Amerio dict. A city in Italy. Feſto Umbriæ oppidum unde Amĕrīnus, a, adj. Amerinus munceps, Cic. Amerina ſalix, Plin. retinacula, Vir. pyra, Stat. A ſort of latter pear.

AMERICA, æ; f. The new world unknown till the year 1490. found by Columbus of Genua, and reacheth all along from North to South, conſiſting of two Peninſula's, parted by a ſmall neck of land; in the one Mexico, in the other Peru and Braſil. It had its name from Americus Veſputius, whom ſome do make the firſt finder, in the year 1497. Bucholc. The country in length is 750 German miles; in breadth 525. But no man truly yet knoweth the juſt length and breadth of this country.

Ameriola. A town in Italy now loſt.

Ameſtratus, Ἀμήστρατος. Polyb. Municeps. unde Plin. Muniſtratini. Silio Amaſtra. q. עם עשתרתא i. populus Aſtartes deæ Punicæ. Boch. A city in Sicily; The people are cau'd Ameſtratini. Cic.

Ameſtris. A Queen of the Perſians, Xerxes his wife, who lived many years; and to requite the Gods for this benefit, ſhe upon a vow cauſed fourteen noble mens children of Perſia to be buried alive.

Amiantus, ἀμίαντος. id eſt, immaculatus; oculum enim ſibi perforavit, quòd intuitu intuitu parum pudico transeuntes fœminas conspexisset. A Bishop of Alexandria, St. Mark's Scholar. Sabell.

Amicitia fuit Gentium dea. Gyr.

Amicus & dexter. i. propitius & favens. An Epithet of Hercules, so called because he was thought to be the God of Lucre or gain. Dives amico Hercule, Hor. dextro Hercule, Pers.

Amida, oppidum Mesopotamiæ. Ptol. Ammæa. A town upon the river Tiger. Amm. Now called Carahemit. i. The black city, by the Turks.

Amilcar. Punicum Vocabulum. q. חמלך rex, sive regius. A Captain of Carthage; when the Athenians feared the power of Alexander, he upon their account went to Alexander as a banisht man, and offered his service, and sent word of all his intentions in Tables of wood covered with wax. Trog. ◊ The father of Hannibal; and several others. Liv.

Amilco. A Captain of Carthage. vid. Himilco.

Amilus. A river in the woods of Mauritania, where the Elephants at new moon in herds purify themselves. Plin.

Aminadab, Ἀμιναδάβ עַמִּינָדָב Lat. populus spontaneus, aut populi princeps, filius Ram, filii Esron, &c.

Aminea, Ἀμνεία. quòd vinum ἄμεινον i. e. melius pareret. Alc. quòd sine minio. i. album & ruboris expers vinum esset. Serv. A city and country of Italy, fruitful of rich wines: it was called also Aminæ, and afterwards Falernum, whence the most generous wines came. Unde Aminæ vites. Virg. Al. leg. Taminiæ.

Aminei & Aminenses, populi. Plin.

Aminula. A poor city in Apulia. Fest.

Amisius, fluvius Germaniæ. Steph. Amisia, The river Ems.

Amisus vel Amisum. Plin. urbs Paphlagoniæ maritima, Leuncl.

Amiternum, urbs Campaniæ. Ἀμίτερνον. Str. Ἀμίτερνα. Dion. Hal. non procul ab Aterni fonte: ab am. i. circum & Aternum flumen. Varr. Amitertias; adj. Virg. Amiternini vel Amiterni, pop. Plin.

Amithāon, ōnis. m. Stat. pater Melampodis medici; unde Amithaonius dicitur. Vir.

mitinenses, pop. Latii. Plin.

Ammianus. A famous Greek Poet. Cœl.

Ammianus Marcellinus, An historian in Gratian's time.

Ammientes, pop. Hisp. Plin. ab Ammia civ. Ptol.

AMMON vel Hammon, ōnis. m. Luc. Jupiter sub specie Arietis cultus in Lybia, q. d. arenarius. Gr. ἄμμος arena, vel à חַמָּה Sol, idem scil. cum Sole, Macr. cujus radii velut cornua; unde corniger Hammon. Al. ab Hamo filio Noæ, cujus posteri Lybiæ cultores, unde Ægyptus Χαμία. i. terra Cham dicta. Ἄμμις, ὁ Ζεύς. Hes. The name of Jupiter worshipt in Africk under the shape of a Ram; where also he had a famed Oracle. ◊ The name of a champion in Ovid, brother to Broteas. ◊ A river of Arabia; the people Ammonii, Plin. ◊ Ammonis delubrum in insulâ Meroë, Plin.

Ammon, Heb. i. populus ejus. The name of divers men, one whereof was the son of Lot, father of the Ammonites.

Ammonia, dict. ab arenæ copiâ, quæ ἄμμος gr. dicitur. The midland part of Lybia. ◊ All Africk so called from Ammon. St. ◊ Also the name of Juno. i. Arenaria.

Ammonius. A notable Philosopher of Alexandria, Origen's Master; and the name of divers other men: One of that name, a Monk, being call'd to be a Bishop, and being unwilling to take the office upon him, cut off his own right ear, that being maimed he might be uncapable of that place. Socr.

Ammothea, dict. ab ἄμμος & θέω, i. per arenam currens. A Sea-Nymph. Hesiod.

Amœus. A King of the Tuscans.

Amometus. An Historian. Plin.

Amon. Ἀμών, אָמוֹן i. fidelis, aut verax, seu artifex, aut nutritius; Filius Manasse, rex Judæ.

Amona, הֲמוֹנָה i. multitudo sive tumultus. A city of Jewry, near to which the Giant Gog was buried; whence the Septuagint render it πολυάνδριον, i. a Church-yard, a burying place, with respect too to the Hebrew name, which signifies a multitude, as the Latin has it, Abiit ad plures, of a man that is dead.

Amonius. vir nobilis; cujus tanta fuit abstinentia, ut nunquam nisi panem assum ederit, nunquam iratus, nunquam mentitus fuerit. Steph.

Amor, put for Cupid. Poet. The son of Venus, and god of love.

Amorgos, i. f. Ἀμοργός. q. אוֹרֶג עַם Gens textorum. Erat. n. ibi lini copia. hinc ἀμόργινα ἱμάτια. i. πορφυρᾶ. Etym. q. per Metath. ab אַרְגָּמָן purpura, sed ἀμοργὶς est lini genus in hac insula nobile. One of the Isles called Cyclades in the Ægean Sea, hod. Murgo.

Amorrhæi, אֱמֹרִי i. amari vel rebelles aut loquaces. A people that dwelt about mount Libanus: The Amorites, whose King Sihon, Num. 21. won the land of the Moabites from them. Amorrhæi, pop. Palæstinæ.

Amos, אָמוֹץ i. fortis vel robustus, Isaiæ pater. ◊ Amos, עָמוֹס i. onustus, Propheta, unus ex 12. vixit tempore Hesiodi poetæ.

Ampela. A city of Crete or Candie. Plin.

Ampeloessa, ἀμπελόεσσα, i. vitibus consita. A town of Decapolis bordering upon Syria.

Ampelos, ἄμπελος, i. vitis. An Isle or Promontory in Samos. Str. ◊ A town of Macedon. Plin. ◊ Bacchi amasius. Ovid.

Ampelusia. A Promontory of Africk in Mauritania. Mela. called by the Moors, Cota.

Amphialus, An excellent leaper, or vaulter. Hom.

AMPHIARAUS, (ā) i, m. Son to Oicles (of whom he is called Œclides) a Grecian prophet, whom King Adrastus would needs have with him to the Theban wars; but he foreknowing that he should not return thence, hid himself. At length Eriphyle his wife being perswaded by Adrastus, who had bribed her with a chain of Gold, told where her husband was; then he was forced to go, and the first day he came to Thebes, he was swallowed up in a breach of the earth with his Chariot, and was afterwards worshipped for a God. Cic. Stat.

Amphias, A man of Tharsis, who from mean estate coming to great wealth, and proudly contemning his friend, at length remembring himself, said, We are all of one mould. Macr.

Amphicrates. An Historiographer. Athen.

Amphictyon Ἀμφικτύων. King of Athens, The son of Helenus; he ordained the great Council or general diet, or Parliament of all Greece, which was called Amphictyonium concilium: It consisted of seven Hans-towns or free states in Greece: They that were chief in that Council, were called Amphictyones, Cic. He first out of thrift mingled water with wine. Cœl. Rhod. ◊ Another, the son of Deucalion, that succeeded Cranaus in Athens, the first interpreter of dreams and strange events.

Amphidamas. The son of Busiris, who father and son used to sacrifice their guests, and were themselves both slain by Hercules.

Amphidromia. Ἀμφιδρόμια, pl. vel ἀμφιδρομία, sing. A kind of Vpsitting feasts among the Athenians, five dayes after the womans delivery. The child was then carried about the house, and friends sent presents.

Amphigenia. A city of Messenia in Peloponnesus. Stat.

Amphilochus. A Sooth-sayer, son to Amphiaraus and Eriphyle; who after the war of Troy built Argos Amphilochium, hod. Anfiloca. ◊ An Athenian Philosopher that writ of husbandry. Varr.

Amphimachus, ἀμφίμαχος. i. utrinque pugnans. Two of that name Grecian Captains. Hom.

Amphimedon Libycus, qui in aulâ Cephei regis adversus Perseum pugnans occisus est. One of the Centaures. Ov. ◊ One of Penelope's gallants, slain by Telemachus, Ulysses his son. Hom.

Amphinome, dict. ab ἀμφὶ & νομὴ, à circumpascendo, quod proprium est aquarum, quæ ripas & littora circumquaque depascunt. A Nymph. ◊ Also the mother of Jason, who stabbed her self with a sword, when her son was absent. Nat. Com.

Amphinomus. A Sicilian: He and his brother Anapius, when the country of Sicily was by the eruption of Ætna set on fire, carried their father and mother on their shoulders, and saved them. Val. M. ◊ Also one of Penelope's woers, slain by Telemachus.

AMPHION, ōnis, m. (ī) Poet. Ἀμφίων. dict. quod ex ἀμφίδος, i. in bivio natus esset. The son of Jupiter by Antiope, the daughter of Nicteus; who being divorced from her husband King Lycus, Jove got her with child; wherefore upon Dirce the second wives account being imprisoned, was set free by Jupiter, and fled to mount Cithæron, and there was delivered of Amphion and his brother Zethus in a high-way that had a double turning; whom the Shepherds took care of. The two brothers when they came to age revenged their mothers injuries upon Dirce. Amphion was so cunning a musician, that as he plaid on his Lute, which Mercury gave him, the stones that built Thebes followed him to the place, where they should be laid; that is, he by his Oratory wrought upon a rude wild people to live together peaceably in Thebes, where he was King.

Amphipolis, urbs Macedoniæ & Thraciæ. Plin.

Amphipyros, Dianæ cognomen: dict. quòd utraque manu facem gestat. Cœl.

Amphiroe, Nympha. dict. ab undiquaque fluendo. Hes.

Amphiscii, gr. ἀμφίσκιοι, dict. quòd circumquaque projiciant umbram. People

under the Equinoctial, that cast their shadow every way.

Amphisbæna. Ἀμφίσβαινα, i. utrinque gradiens. A Serpent in the Libyan deserts having two heads, at each end one. Luc.

Amphissa. Luc. dict. quod undique montibus cingatur. A city of Locris in Greece. § Another in Italy. Hinc Amphissia saxa, Ovid. This city is called now La Rocella.

Amphistides. A foolish fellow, that knew not that ever he had any parents.

Amphistratus, gr. i. is qui circa exercitum dat operam; statuarii nomen. Plin.

Amphithoe, à circumcursitando. A Sea Nymph. Hyg.

AMPHITRITE, es; f. (i. i.) Poet. Ἀμφίτριτη, à circumterendo, quòd mare terram undique terat & lancinet. The wife of Neptune, daughter of Nereus, and Goddess of the Sea, sometimes taken for the Sea: Ovid. She at first fled away, because she would not be married to Neptune; but he sent a Dolphin to look after her, who at length found her, and perswaded her to marry with Neptune; she was the mother of Triton. Hesiod.

Amphitryo, ōnis, m. Ἀμφιτρύων. A Theban Prince, son of Alcæus, on whose wife Alcmena, Jupiter lego Hercules; so that the Poets call him Amphitryoniades by the fathers side, as they do Alcides upon the mothers account.

Amphorites, genus certaminis & exercitii literarii in Æginâ Æacidæ, ubi bos fuit præmium Dithyramborum poetis. Nat. Com.

Amphrysus, Poet. A river in Thessaly where Apollo kept Admetus sheep; unde Amphrysius, Vir. & Amphrysiacus, Stat. § A river in Phrygia that makes women barren. Plin. § A city of Phocis. St. whence Amphrysia vates. Vir. One of the Sibyls.

Ampsaga, fl. Africæ. Plin.

Ampycides. Mopsus the son of Ampyx. Ov.

Ampyx, ycis. leg. enim Ampyca in Acc. Ovid. Al. Ampycus. The father of Mopsus.

Amsanctus. Cic. Vir. A place in the midst of Italy, having brimstone water, which running amongst close woods breeds such a pestilent air, that it kills all that comes near it; whence it was conceited, that the infernal Ghosts had their breathing hole in that valley.

Amstela, A little river in Holland, which runs by Amsterdam.

Amstelodamum & Amstelrodamum, i. Amstelæ agger. A famous Market town, the chief city of Holland, called Amsterdam.

Amulius, Porcæ filius & Numitoris frater. King of the Albans; He took the Kingdom from his elder Brother, and kill'd his son Lausus, and his daughter Rhea Sylvia he made a Vestal Virgin, that so she might have no Issue; He was at last slain by Romulus and Remus, the two children of that daughter, who restored the Kingdom to their Grandfather Numitor. § Also a famous Picture-drawer. Plin.

Amyci portus in Ponto. Plin. The Port so called from King Amycus being slain there.

AMYCLÆ, arum, f. (y) Ἀμύκλαι Peloponnesi civitas, urbs Laconiæ, Apollini sacra; (unde & is Amyclæus dicitur) Tindari regis, Castoris & Pollucis patria, una ex iis urbibus quas olim Lacedæmonii centum tenuerunt, institutis etiam communibus sacris pro singulari salute, quæ Hecatombas ab earum numero memorabant; Nomen indidit Amyclis Lacedæmonis filius. Dictæ Ovidio armiferæ, antiquæ; Statio Apollineæ, Ledææ. § Urbs Italiæ inter Cajetam & Taracinam, à Laconibus Castoris & Pollucis comitibus condita, & ab Amyclis Laconiæ sic appellata. The people of this city being Pythagoreans abstained from eating flesh, or killing any beasts, yea from killing Serpents; and yet the Serpents killed many of them, and annoyed them much: They were oftentimes put in fear with the rumour of enemies coming upon them, when there was no such matter; then they made a law that none should dare to report any such thing: but at length the enemies came upon them indeed on a suddain, and surprized them. Hence grew a Proverb. Loqui volo, nam scio Amyclas tacendo periisse. and Virgil calls them tacitæ, and in Ausonia. Amyclas vivere, is as we say, to see and hear and say nothing.

Amyclas. A mariner that carried Cæsar by water. Luc.

Amycus. King of the Bebricians, Neptunes son, who had this custom, that he would take all the strangers, that came, into a wood to exercise activities, and there lay an ambuscado to slay them: Upon the Argonauts arrival there, Pollux being challenged by him, and mistrusting his design, called his companions about him, and slew him. § Also a Centaur so called. § Also one of Æneas his companions. Theocr. Ov. Vir.

Amydon, ōnis, f. Juv. A city of Pœonia.

Amymone, es, f. Ov. i. inculpata. The daughter of King Danaus, one of the fifty sisters; as she was shooting in a wood, by chance she hit a Satyr, who coming with violence to her, would have ravished her; she called upon Neptune for help, who to save her threw his Trident or three-forked spear at the Satyr, and hit a rock, out of which sprang a fountain, which he called by this fair Ladyes name. However Neptune her preserver made ill advantage of that favour, doing that in earnest, which the other but designed; and got her with child of Nauplius. § Fons & fl. Peloponnesi à Danai filiâ hac ità dict. Ov.

Amyntas, æ, m. The name of divers Kings of Macedon: One father to King Philip, Alexander's grandfather. § A shepherd in Virgil.

Amyntor, ōris, m. Ov. ἀμύντωρ, i. propugnator. A governour of the Dolopes. § The father of Phœnix.

Amyris. A citizen of the Sybarites, who being in a flourishing condition sent to consult the Oracle at Delphos, concerning their good fortune. 'Twas answered, they should then be ruin'd, when they honoured men more than the Gods. A while after a servant being taken by his master, fled to the altars of the Gods, but to no purpose; but taking sanctuary at his masters monument he was releas'd. Amyris seeing this, packs up his tools and quits the country. The rest thought he had been out of his wits, and cried, Amyris is mad; but at length they were sore plagued, and he only proved the wise man among them, whence that Proverb, Amyris insanit.

Amyros, i. m. Fluvius Thessaliæ, Val. Fl.

Amysum, oppidi nomen. Plin.

Amythaon. The son of Cretheus, and father of Melampus; a good souldier and Physician. Hence Amythāōnius, a; adj. Vir. Tib.

Amyzon, Cariæ urbs. Plin. hod. Meza.

A-ante N.

Ana, fl. quo Lusitania à Bætica discernitur. Plin.

Anabaptistæ, Anabaptists or Dippers, a sect of hereticks, which began in Germany, ann. Chr. 1524. They taught, that baptism did nothing profit children, and therefore in their riper age they were to be dipt again.

Anacalypteria. A feast kept the day after the wedding, when the bride put off her vail, that all might see her. The gifts given to the bride were called ἀνακαλυπτήρια ab ἀνακαλύπτειν. i. revelando, because they were given her that day.

ANACHARSIS, is. m. Ἀνάχαρσις ab α priv. & χαίρω lætor; erat enim homo austeræ vitæ & tetrici vultus. A Scythian Philosopher, on whose picture this was written, Lingua, ventre, & pudendis abstinendum esse. He found out the Potters wheel; he went bare-footed, slept on the ground, and hunger was his dainty food. He said, Laws were like spiders webs, that would take flies, but not wasps and hornets; that is, if poor men offend, they are sure to be punished, but great men may break the Laws, and never smart for it. Being ask'd, how a man given to drink must be reclaim'd from that vice, he answered, if he see drunken men behave themselves like beasts before him, when he is sober. He slighted mony. He liv'd in Solon's time. Endeavouring to bring in the Athenian Laws and customes into his own country, he was kill'd by his brother, King of that place. Anacharsis inter Scythas, a Proverb of a rare person; he being the only Philosopher, we read of, of that rude country.

Anachis, unus ex quatuor Iaribus diis apud Ægypt. Nam numerabant Dymenem, Tychin, Heroen, & Anachim, quos putabant, simulatque in lucem editus esset homo, illius pervigilem curam agere. Alex. lib. 6. Gyr. leg. Δύναμιν, τύχην, Ἔρωτα, (i. Ἔρωτα) & Ἀνάγκην, i. necessitatem.

ANACREON, ontis, m. Hor. Ἀνακρέων ex Teïo, Ioniæ civ. An old lascivious Lyrick Poet; a merry Greek, wanton and amorous. He was in love with a Boy Bathyllus. He was choaked with a grape-stone. Plin.

Anactoria. A city of Epirus. Also the Isle of Miletus. Plin.

Anactorium. Plaut. Hence Anactorius, adj. Sil.

Anadyomene, Ἀναδυομένη. Sic dict. est Venus è mari emergens, quam Apelles depinxit. Plin.

Anætia. A town of Armenia the greater.

Anætis or Anaïtis. The Armenians chiefly worshipt this Goddess: yea, even the chief of the city would send their daughters to her feast, who should there prostitute their bodies to any; and being thereby thought to be the more creditable, were presently given in marriage. These feasts were solemnized with drunkenness, and all kind of intemperance. The occasion of these feasts was the victory of Cyrus over the Sacæ, of whom the feasts were called Sacæa. Boch.

Ana-

Anagnia. A city in Italy, where Anthony caused money to be coined, sculptul of corn. Vir.

Anagnini, pop. Liv. gr. Ἀναγνῖνοι.

Analitæ. People of Arabia the happy.

Anandia, seu vallis Anandi. fl. Anandale in Scotland.

Ananias, æ. m. Heb. responsum Domini. One who with his wife Sapphira was miraculously by St. Peter struck with sudden death, for their dissembling. Act. 5.

Anapauomenos, fons, Plin. 2. 103. A fountain in Dodona called Joves well; which is so very cold, that it extinguishes all torches and fire-coals; but if one put a torch into it, and the light put out, it will presently light it again. In meridie semper deficit; inde Anapauomenon vocant.

Anaphe, es, f. Ἀνάφη. Ov. ab ἀναφαίνω i. appareo: Nominis ratio hæc traditur, quòd Argonautis intermestri lunæ tempestate jactatis opportunè apparuerit, vel à עֲנָפָה ramosa, opaca, Boch. hod. Narsio. An Island, that rose up of it self in the mediterranean Sea. Plin. Hic delubrum Apollinis Anaphæi.

Anapius. The brother of Amphinomus.

Anapus, Ov. q. ἄπνυ πόσιος, vel quòd non esset πῖϛ ποσὶ διαβῆναι. Theocr. schol. vel ab עֲנָב uva; quòd agri circum Anapum uvis fertiles fuerint. A river in Sicily.

Anariacæ, Str. Anariaci, Pl. People near the Caspian Sea.

Anarrhysis. A feast of the Athenians, dedicated to Jupiter and Pallas; where they sacrificed; ex ἀναῤῥύω, quòd hostiam resupinarent, Diis superis immolantes.

Anartes, populi trans Rhenum & Danubium, Dacis finitimi. Cæs.

Anas, Pl. Ana, Ptol. vul. Guadiana. A river in Spain, that parts Granada from Portugal, so called from its diving like a duck, or going under ground, and then rising again.

Anassus, fl. Venetæ dictionis. Plin.

Anastasia, ab Anastasio imperatore extructa. A city in Mesopotamia, formerly called Daria; distant from Nisibis twelve miles. Amm.

Anastasius. A Greek Emperour, a persecutor of the Church, and a maintainer of the Eutychian heresie. ✠ Divers Popes and others of that name.

Anatilia, Plin. A town of Provence in France; now St. Giles.

Anatis. Plin. A river by Tangier. ✠ A river in Sicily. Liv.

Anatole, ἀνατολή, una Horarum. Hyg.

Anaudoma, opp. Syenitarum. Plin.

Anaurus, Luc. Ἀναυρος quòd nullas exhalet auras. A small river in Thessaly.

Anausis Alanorum rex, procus Medææ. Val. Flac.

Anax. Ἄναξ. i. rex. Cœli & Terræ filius, à quo Miletus olim Anactoria dicta. ✠ Dioscuri ex Jove & Proserpinâ nati Anaces, Cic. i. e. Ἀνακλες dict. ✠ Item Castor & Pollux, quorum Festa inde Ἀνάκεια dicta.

ANAXAGORAS, æ. m. Clazomenius. Cic. Lucr. A Philosopher of a noble extraction, who having a great estate, which he left to his friends, and being reproached for his carelessness, answered, 'Tis enough for you to care. One asked him why he had no care of his country: I have (said he) and pointed his finger towards heaven. When he returned into his country, after travel, and saw his possessions which he left, he said, Had not I lost these, I should have been lost my self. He would dispute that snow was black, because made of water. When he lay a dying his friends asked him, if they should carry him to his own country to be buried. No matter, saies he, there's a short cut into the other world every where. He by his skill in Astronomy foretold, what time a stone should fall from the Sun, which accordingly came to pass in the sight of many; which stone was kept for a monument afterwards. Plin. The stone was as big as a cart. He was the first, that writ of the Eclipse of the Moon.

Anaxandrides. A King of Lacedæmon. Paus. also a Comedian of Rhodes, Suid.

Anaxarchus, ab ἄναξ rex, & ἀρχὴ imperium, q. d. Rex cum imperio. Ovid. A Philosopher of Abdera, follower of Democritus. The King of Cyprus (Nicocreon) took him and put him into a great stone-morter, and caused men to pound him with great Iron pestles. He bore it with such courage and patience, that he said to the Tyrant, Beat on, beat on the bag of Anaxarchus, thou canst not hurt him himself. The tyrant said, he would pull out his tongue; he bearing that, presently bit it off, and spit it into the tyrants face.

Anaxărĕte, es, f. i. regia virtus ἀναξ ἀρετή. A fair stately maid of Cyprus, but so hard hearted, that a lover of hers, one Iphis, a poor young man, hung himself at her door for love of her; which sad sight she looking upon without any relenting, was turned into a stone. Ov. Met.

Anaxilaus. King of the Rhegines, founder of Messana in Sicily, before called Zancle. A Prince of great justice. Vid. Just. l. 4. ✠ A Physician Pliny speaks of.

Anaxilides. A writer, that St. Hierom mentions.

Anaximander, Philosophus Milesius, Thaletis auditor & successor. Cic. A Philosopher that held the Gods were mortal, but liv'd long; that men were made of water and earth. He foretold the Earthquake that overthrew Lacedæmonia. He was the first that made a Sphere and invented Dials.

Anaximenes. A Philosopher, son to Erasistratus, and Anaximander's scholar. He affirmed the air to be a God, and the principle of all things. Cic. ✠ The son of Aristocles, scholar to Diogenes the Cynick, who went to Alexander the Great, Embassadour for the Lampsacenes. Alexander knew him well, but yet when he heard the cause of his coming, swore he would do all clean contrary to his suit. Anaximenes understanding this, when he came to have audience, desired that he would utterly raze the city, cause their women to be ravished, their goods to be plundered, the men to be all put to the sword, and all sorts destroyed. Whereupon Alexander in conscience to his oath, which obliged him to do quite contrary to what was asked, was fain to forgive them. Suid. He was the first, that put his scholars upon declaiming extempore.

Anaxipolis, Thasius, Poeta comicus, Plin.

Anazarba. A town of Cilicia, called afterward Diocæsarea & Cæsar augusta. Oppian's, and Dioscorides his country.

Anazarbeni, pop. Plin.

ANCÆUS, i. m. Neptuni filius, patriâ Samius, ἄγκαιος nomen luctatoris, παρὰ τὸ ἄγκας λαμβάνειν ἀπὸ τῶν γαλατῶν. A King of Samos, who lov'd husbandry, and planted a vineyard, but made his servants overtoil themselves, insomuch that one of them said, he should never taste of the wine of that vineyard: when the vintage was come, and the grapes pressed, he was jocund, and called for that fellow that said he should not taste of the wine, and called for a cup of the wine, and said to his servant, Thou saidst I should never taste of this wine: O Sir, saith the servant, many things fall between the cup and the lip. Whilst these words were speaking, one brings word that a great wild boar was got into the vineyard; whereat in haste he threw away the cup, and ran into the vineyard, and was presently slain by the Boar: whence that Proverb, Multa cadunt inter calicem supremaque labra. Another whom Ovid calls Parrhasius.

Ancæus, Killed by the Calydonian Boar.

Ancalites. Cæs. The hundred of Henley in Oxford-shire. Camd.

Ancharia. The name of a Roman family, a Asellia also was. Anearius enim est asinus; ἄγχαρος. i. ἀχθοφόρος.

Anchaises, one of Perseus Captains against his Brother Acætes or Aætes. Val. Flac. Argon.

Anchemolus, filius Rhæti. Vir. One who committed incest with his step-mother.

Anchiala, vel ale, Plin. ἀγχίαλεια Dion. i. Mari propinqua. A city of Cilicia, built by Sardanapalus on one day with Tarsus.

Anchiălus, gr. i. Maritimus. The name of an Astrologer in Tully: ✠ Also a city of Thrace near to the Euxine Sea. Ov. now called Kenkis. ✠ Judæorum deus Mart. jura Verpe per Anchialum. i. ut qu. אֹם חי אלהים si vivit deus quam formulam in Judæorum colloquiis usurpatam ità expressit Porta. Al. leg. Ancharium. i. Asinum, quòd fingerent id animal à Judæis coli. Tac. Plut.

Anchimolus, Sophista. A water drinker. Cœl.

ANCHISES, æ, m. (i) Ἀγχίσης. The son of Capys, and father of Æneas; before he was of Troy, he liv'd in the woods, and fed cattel; Venus came and fell in love with him; he begat Æneas on her: hence called Anchisiades. i. The son of Anchises Vir. At the burning of Troy, Æneas carried him away on his shoulders, and took him along with him to Sicily, where he dyed. hinc Anchisæus, a. adj. Vir. Belonging to Anchises.

Anchurus. The son of Midas. About Celænon, a town of Phrygia, the earth opened with a mighty mouth, and swallowed up men, houses, and all things else. Midas consulting with the Oracle, had answer, that they must cast the most precious treasure they had into it: They cast in much riches, and were never the nearer: Then Anchurus thinking nothing was more precious than mans life, and he being, next his father, the best man in the country, came to his father and friends, and took his leave of them, and took horse, and rode into the gulf, and then it closed again. Plut.

Ancon, ōnis, f. Luc. Juv. vel Ancona, Plin. nomen habet à situ, qui cubiti flexuram refert, quam gr. ἀγκῶνα dicunt. The chief city of Picenum in Italy, built by the Sicilians, on the Shoar of the Adriatick Sea.

Ancoranus, mons in Mauritania citeriori, near Tangier. Amm.

Anculi & Anculæ, Dii Deæque ancillarum. The Gods and Goddesses of maids. Fest.

Ancus Martius, dictum volunt Ancum ἀπὸ τῦ ἀγκῶνος, i. à cubito, quem incurvum habebat. Serv. Tales enim Ancos vocat Fest. The fourth King of Rome, The son of Numa Pompilius his daughter; a brave spirited man, and a great builder. He was the first, that made a prison in Rome.

Ancyra, Plin. Ἄγκυρα. dict. ab ancoris navium à Mithridate captarum. The names of two cities, the one in Galatia, now called Anguri; another in Phrygia major. ◊ Livy speaks of another about Macedon.

Ancyritanus, a, um. of Ancyra. Synodus Ancyritana. A Synod or Council held there.

Andăbătæ. pop. Asiæ in tenebris vergentes. unde prov. Andabatarum more pugnare, Cic. To play at blind-mans buff, to wink and fight.

Andanis. A river of Carmania. Plin.

Andaræ, Indiæ pop. Plin.

Andarestenes, Macedoniæ pop. Plin.

Andatis, Æthiopiæ opp. Plin.

Andebonthus. The son of Cnute, King of England. Volaterr.

Andegavi, pop. qui & Andes. People of Anjou. Tac. Plin.

Andegavia. A country in France called Angiers.

Anderida. Newenden in Kent. Camd.

Andes. Angers in France. Cæs. ◊ Also a village by Mantua in Italy, where Virgil was born.

Andinus, a, um. Of Andes. Sil. Andinus Vates. Virgil the Poet.

Andocides. One of the ten special Rhetoricians in Athens.

Andologenses. pop. Hisp. Plin.

Andomatunum, Lingonum urbs in Gall. Belg. hod. Langres.

Andorisippo, urbs Hisp. Bæticæ. Pl.

Andræmon, ŏnis. The father of Thoas. Ovid.

Andragoras. The name of a man. Mart.

Andramytes, Rex Lydorum, qui primus omnium mulieres fecit Eunuchas, iisque vice Eunuchorum usus est; Cæl. Alex.

Andreapolis, or Fanum Sti Andreæ, St. Andrews in Scotland, an University and Arch-bishops See.

Andreas, i. virilis, nomen Apostoli & aliorum virorum. St. Andrew the Apostle, and several others.

Andresti, Indiæ pop. Conquered by Alexander.

Andria, A woman of the Isle Andros, the name of a Play in Terence. The Andrian woman.

Andriaca. A town in Media, another in Lycia. Plin.

Andricus, Ciliciæ mons; Str. item Fluvius. Plin.

Andrimachidæ, or Andromachidæ, Are a people, which present their Virgins, that are to be married, unto their King, who lies with them, if he like them, or else they pay him a piece of money: They say it has been a custom in some countries among us, in time of heathenism.

Andrius, a, um. Of the Isle Andros.

Androbius, Plin. An excellent Painter.

Androcalis, Æthiopiæ opp. Plin.

Androclea. One of the daughters of Antipænus, which killed themselves for the safety of their country; for the Oracle said, they should have the better of their enemies, if the best person in their city killed himself; which their father, who was the greatest man of the place, being not willing to do, she and her sister Heraclea did. Paus.

Androclidas Lacon. A famous warrier, who when he was jeered, that being lame he would go to the army in the field, answered, The army had need as well of such as would stay by it, as of such as could run away. Cæl.

Androcydes. A Physician, who writ thus once to Alexander the Great. Vinum potaturus, rex, memento te bibere sanguinem terræ. sicut venenum est homini cicuta, sic & vinum. Plin. ◊ A Painter Plin.

Androdus, Dacus, servus, Romæ in circo maximo agnitus à leone, cujus pedem vulneratum aliquando curaverat in Sylvis. Gell.

ANDROGEOS, ō. Vir. & Androgeus, i. Oyid. & Androgeon, onis. unde in Acc. Androgeona. Prop. unde & Androgeonem. Catul. The son of Minos, King of Crete, who because he overcame all in exercises of activity and arms, was slain by the Athenians and Megarens, out of envy. Minos made war with them hereupon, and overcame them, and enjoyn'd them for revenge to send seven of their young nobles of each sex yearly to him to be devoured by the Minotaur. ◊ Also a Grecian Captain, that went to the wars of Troy. Vir.

Androgynæ, vel Androgyni, ab ἀνὴρ vir, & γυνὴ mulier, populi in Africa utriusque sexûs, inter se vicibus coeuntes; dextra mamma his virilis, læva muliebris. Plin.

Andromache, es, f. Poet. Ἀνδρομάχη ab ἀνὴρ vir & μάχη pugna. i. virago. Daughter of Eetion, and wife of Hector, by whom he had Astyanax. Pyrrhus carried her away captive to Greece, and had Molossus by her.

Andromachus. A crafty flatterer that betrayed Crassus to the Parthians. ◊ One that was made governour of Syria and Phœnicia by Alexander. Curt.

ANDROMEDA, æ. & Andrŏmĕde, es. f. Ov. Ἀνδρομέδη, i. viris imperans, Daughter of Cepheus and Cassiope, King and Queen of Æthiopia: She for her mothers pride, that would contend with the Nymphs in beauty, was by them bound to a rock, and there exposed to a Sea-monster; Afterwards Perseus slew the monster, and married the Lady. At last Minerva placed her amongst the Constellations.

Andron. A Physician mention'd by Celsus.

Andron Larandus tibiis canens, primus omnium motiones corporis & rhythmos excogitavit, Cæl.

Andronicus. i. virorum victor. A Grammarian. Suet. ◊ One who four hundred years after Rome was built, made the first Comedy. ◊ Several others of that name.

Andros Britanniæ Insula, dict. ab Ader, which in British signifieth a Bird, whence 'tis called Birdsey. q. d. The Isle of Birds, Camd. It lies betwixt Ireland and Wales, near Aberconwey; the Britains call it Enhly. ◊ Also an Isle, one of the Cyclades. Ov. hinc Andrius, a, um.

Androsthenes, ἀνδροσθένης, i. hominum robur. A Governour of Thessaly, that was on Pompey's side. Cæs.

Androtion. One that wrote of husbandry. Plin. Var. Col.

Anecus. A river in Sicily, that runs under ground two miles, and riseth again, and runs into the Syracusian Sea. Vib.

Anemo, ōnis. A riven in Italy. Plin.

Anemotis, dicta Pallas à sedatis ventis, quos Græc. ἀνέμους dic. Cæl.

Anemurium, urbs Ciliciæ. Plin.

Anetia. A towns name. Plin.

Angaris. A mountain in Palæstina. Pl.

Angelia, Mercurii filia, quòd is nuntiis præsit. Cæl.

Angelici. Hereticks that worshipt the Angels. Aug. Epiph.

Angelopolis, The city of St. Angelo, in Italy, &c. Ferr.

Angerona & onia, sic dicta quòd anginam morbum, vel angores & animi sollicitudines propitiata depellat. Fest. Ver. vel quia angit & comprimit os. Est enim Dea silentii. Plin. The Goddess of silence or of cheerfulness, or that cureth the squinsey.

Angeronalia. Feasts dedicated to the Goddess on the one and twentieth of January. Macrob.

Angia; Anguien, A Dukedom in Henault.

Angitia sylva. Nemus in Marsorum regione. Virg. So called from Anguitia.

Angli, Ἄγγλοι Ptol. pop. ad Albin, fortè quòd in angulo viverent. The Angles, people near the Baltick Sea; of whom the English descended.

ANGLIA, æ. f. Βρεττανία dicta quòd in orbis angulo sita sit, Isid. vel ab Angelo, quod ejus incolæ illustres sunt, & speciosi ut angeli. Quod Gregorius Papa dixit, cùm vidisset Romæ pueros Anglos in foro, & rogans cujates esset, accepisset responsum, Anglos eos esse, imò Angelos, inquit. Sed & Teutonicè Eng angulus, unde England & Engl angelus. Engleth Angelicus & Anglicus. A country near the Baltick Sea, the ancient seat of the Saxons, driven out thence by the Danes. When these Angles and Saxons came over into the Island of great Britain, they called that part of it, which they had possessed themselves of, by the name of their own country England, formerly called Albion. The Welsh call it Lloegr, and Englishmen Seissons, i. e. Saxons. The whole Island is divided into three parts; England, Scotland and Wales. A plentiful country, furnished with all necessaries and delights of Life. Abounding with mines, mettles, cattle, coals, dogs of several sorts, Mastiffs, Hounds, Spaniels; all provisions for back and belly; flesh and fish, beef, beer, wool, &c. Anglia mons, pons, fons, Ecclesia, fœmina, lana.

Anguillaria insula sive Elia. The Isle of Ely. Elia, the city of Ely. Camd.

Anguitia, Æetæ filia, soror Circes & Medææ, quæ Marsis remedia contra venena ostendit, Sil.

Ania. fœm. ab Anius. A beautiful Roman woman, whose husband being dead, a kinsman was perswading her to marry again;

again; but she replied, saying, If I should marry another good husband, I should still be in fear of loosing him; and having had a good one, it would be a grief to have a bad one after.

Anicius, The name of a worthy family of Rome. One of that name was the first Senatour, that embraced the Christian faith.

Anigriades, Nymphæ ab Anigro fluvio. Paus.

Anigrus, vel Aniger. Vib. A river of Thessaly, wherein the Centaurs, when they were wounded by Hercules, washed their sores: and whereas before the waters were wholsome, they became so stinking, as they were neither good for man nor beast, Ovid.

Anio, Hor. Anien, Stat. Anienis, Vir. gen. enis. m. Ἄνιων, dict. ab Anio Hetruscorum rege ibi demerso. A noble river of Italy that falls into Tiber. Vulg. Teverone. Hence Anienus, a, adj. Vit.

Anienus, i; Prop. The God of that river, or Tiberinus of Tiber.

Anienicola, æ; Sil. An inhabiter upon that river.

Aniſena flumina, Ov. Fast. Mistaken for Amenana.

Aniſtis Lacon, Alexandri magni cursor, à Sicyone Elin usque mille ducenta stadia uno die percurrit, Solin.

Anitorgis, Hisp. Tarracon urbs. Liv.

Anius. The Son of Apollo, and King of Delos, and Apollo's Priest. Vir.

Anna, חַנָּה i; gratiosa. Ἄννα, dea ab annus quibus præest vocata. A Goddess, and the daughter of Belus, and sister to Diana; drown'd at last in the river Numicius: after cal'd Anna Perenna. Ov. Fast. as he tells us, take her for the Moon, Thamis, Io, and Jupiter's nurse. § Hannah, Elkana's wife, Samuel's mother.

Annæus Seneca Cordubensis. A Stoick Philosopher, Tutor to Nero; who having a mind to be rid of him, was yet so civil to him, as to leave him to the choice what death he would die. He chose to bleed to death in a warm bath. § A Poet, his Nephew, that wrote Tragedies.

Annarus. A debauched King of Babylon. Alex.

Annas, heb. i. affligens, vel humiliatus, aut respondens; pontifex Judæorum, socer Caiaphæ pontificis.

Annibal, ălis. Ἀννίβας, à בַּעַל & חֵן i. gratiosus dominus. A great General of Carthage, a sworn enemy to the Romans. Vide Hannibal.

Annius. The name of divers noble Romans.

Annon Carthaginensis, præ nimio fastu humanis terminis non contentus cupiebat majora. Nam cùm aves multas ex iis, quæ modulationibus in cantu utuntur, emisset, nutrivit eas in obscuro loco, docuitque id unum dicere, Annon dem est; atque hinc ei nomen datum est. § Also a Carthaginian General. Ælian.

Anouymi, pop. Africæ, Plin. qui & Atlantes, montis Atlantis incolæ, sic dicti, quòd propriis careant nominibus.

Anſanctı vallis, vid. Amſanctus.

Anſelmus. A Bishop of Canterbury, in the time of William Rufus.

Anſer, ĕris; q. d. A Goos-cap. Ov. A sorry whistling Poet that plaid abusively upon some of Virgil's verses.

Ansibarii, pop. Germ. infer. Tac.

Antacæ, Sarmatiæ Asiaticæ pop. Pl.

ANTÆUS, i; Poet. Ἀνταῖος ab ἀντὶ contra; filius Neptuni & Terræ. A huge Giant of vast height: He wrestled with Hercules. Now as oft as he was weary, or faint, he would but touch the earth, and be in perfect strength again. He was the first founder of Tangier. Plin.

Antagoras. A famous Poet of Rhodes. Cæl.

Antandros, i; f. Virg. Ἀντανδρος. Phrygiæ urbs: hod. S. Dimitri, forte quòd esset ex adverso Andri insulæ.

Antarădus, urbs in orâ Phœniciæ, Plin.

Antarcticus, Ἀνταρκτικὸς. The Southern Pole, opposite to the Northern; not to be seen by those that live on this side the Line.

Antebrogius. An Ambassadour from Belgia to Cæsar.

Antematunum & Andomatunum, urbs Gall. Celt. hod. Langres. Anton.

Antemnæ, Virg. q. ante amnem, Var. Fest. quòd eas amnis præterfluat. A city of the Sabines in Italy. Al. leg. Antennæ. Antemnates, pop. Liv.

Antenacum, Antonacum, & Antunnacum, Anton. opp. Germ. infer. hod. Andernach.

ANTENOR, ŏris; m. (ĕ) Vir. Ἀντήνωρ, ex ἀντὶ & ἀνὴρ compon. A Trojan Prince, who (as some say) betray'd his country to the Greeks; others, that he onely advised peace. Upon his escape, coming into Italy, he built Padua, or Patavium. Hence Antenoreus. adj. Luc.

Anteros, filius Veneris, & Martis. The God that punished those that slighted love or lovers. Cic.

Antevorta, dict. quòd futura prospiceret, & præterita nosset. A Goddess of the Romans. Cæl.

Anthana dict. ab Anthe Neptuni filio. A city of Laconia, one of the hundred. Plin.

Antharis. A King of Lombardy. Diac.

Anthĕdon, ōnis, f. Ovid. Ἀνθηδών, nomen habens ab Anthedone Neptuni filio, aut certe διὰ τὸ πολλῶν ἀνθεμωδέστατον εἶναι, quòd omnium floridissima sit. A city of Bœotia, now Talandi, over against the Isle Eubœa. § Another of Syria, called afterward Aggrippias. Joseph.

Anthemius, gr. i. floridus, pulcher. The name of some noble Romans.

Anthemus, urbs Macedon. Plin.

Anthemusia, urbs Mesopotamiæ. Amm.

Anthemus, Chius, sculptor insignis.

Anthesphoria, Ἀνθεστήρια. Lat. Floriferium, Fest. dict. à ferendis floribus. A feast among the Sicilians in honour of Proserpina, who was carried away by Pluto as she was gathering flowers. Ovid.

Antheus. The son of Antenor, whom Paris slew unwittingly. § One of Æneas his captains. Vir.

Anthion. A well in Bœotia. Cæl.

Anthisteria, vel pot. Anthesteria, Festum Baccho sacrum. Ἀνθεστήρια τὰ Διονύσια. Fest sacra, quæ apud Athenienses in mense octavo, qui ἀνθεστηριὼν appellat. i. Aprilis (quòd eo tempore cuncta floresc unt) agebantur; in quibus servi conviviis hilaribus à dominis suis excipiebantur.

Anthium. A town in Thrace, called after Apollonia: also a city in Italy. Vid. Antium.

Anthius, i; floridus, Bacchus. Paus. unde florens Iacchus. Catul.

Anthores, is. A mans name in Virg.

Anthropographus, dict. Dionysius, quòd nihil nisi homines pinxit. Plin.

Anthropomorphitæ, hæretici quidam qui simplicitate rustica, existimabant Deum esse ἀνθρωπόμορφον, i. humanæ formæ.

Anthropophagi, ἀνθρωποφάγοι, qui humana carne vescuntur. Cannivals, man-eaters, people of Scythia. § Others of Brasil in America.

Anthylla, Ἄνθυλλα. A rich city in Ægypt, the rent or revenue of which the King always allowed his Queen to buy her shoes with, as Herodotus has it; or girdles, as Athenæus.

Anti, pop. Sarmatiæ. quibus devictis Justinianus Imp. Anticus dictus. Jorn.

Antias Dea vocata, est ab Antio oppido, ubi colebatur. Antiatina, Suet. Diva, gratum quæ regis Antium, Hor.

Anticanis, vel Antecanis, sydus, quòd ante majorem canem oriatur, προκύων.

Anticatones libri dicti sunt duo, quos Cæsar contra Catonem scripsit. Juv.

Antichthones, ab ἀντὶ contra & χθὼν terra; homines qui colunt terram Australem, nostræ oppositam. Mel.

Anticlea. The daughter of Diocles, and mother of Ulysses; forced by Sisyphus; whence Ajax twits Ulysses in the teeth, as if Sisyphus were his father. Ovid.

Anticyra, & plur. Anticyræ. Pers. Ἀντίκυρα. An Island over against the hill Œta in Thessaly, where the herb Hellebor groweth, which is good to purge melancholy: whence is the Proverb spoken to melancholy, or mad men, Naviga ad Anticyras: that is, Go purge your melancholy.

Antidonus. A valiant souldier of King Philip's.

Antidotus. An excellent picturer of women. Plin.

Antigenes. A young smug shepherd in Virgil.

Antigenides. A musitian of Thebes, the scholar of Philoxenus. Pl. Cic.

Antigone, es; f. Sen. Stat. The daughter of Œdipus King of Thebes: when her blind father was banished, she led him; afterward, being at the burial of her brother Polynices, she was slain by Creon's command; but Theseus soon after revenged her death by killing Creon: And Creon's son Hæmon, that was in love with her, kill'd himself at her tomb.

Antigonus. The name of divers great men; one of them was nick-nam'd Δόσων. i. Will-give, as wont to promise great matters, but perform nothing. Plut. One of them, for his bounty towards the Greeks, was called Evergetes. § One a Major-General under Alexander. Curt.

Antibia. Anthil in Bedfordshire. § Urbs Liguriæ, Suet.

Antilibanus, mons Libano oppositus.

Antillæ. The Antégo Islands.

Antilochus, gr. ἀντίλοχος, qui adversus alium insidias struit. The son of Nestor, slain by Memnon (as Homer says;) or by Hector (as Ovid.)

Anti-

Antimachus, Cic. ἀντιμαχ⊙, qui pugnat adversus alium. A Greek Poet who reciting an obscure Poem, and all going away but Plato, said, Plato est mihi pro omnibus, Plato is as good as all: for an Orator must speak for the liking of all, but a Poet to the judicious. ◊ Also a Trojan who dissuaded the restoring of Helen. Hom.

Antinoë, Urbs Ægypti, ita dict. ab Antinoo Adriani amato: Hieron. hodie Anthios. Leo Afr.

Antinous. One of Penelope her woers; Prop. Also a young stripling whom Adrian the Emperour loved dearly. Spart. A youth of Bithynia consecrated to be a God.

Antiochia, Ἀντιόχεια vulg. ἡ ἐπὶ Δάφνῃ. i. juxta Daphnen, distinctionis causâ. à Seleuco Nicanore condita est, & à patris sui nomine Antiochia appellata. Antioch, a capital city of Syria. This is the city, where men were first named Christians: There is another city of this name in Pisidia; another near the mount Taurus, having its name from Antiochus the great, who fled from Syria to that place, when he was overthrown by the Romans: Here was St. Luke the Evangelist born. ◊ Other cities in all seven of this name. Hence Antiochenses & Antiochenus.

ANTIOCHUS, i, m. Antiochus the Great, Son of Seleucus, King of Asia, called in Greek Hierax Hawk, i. e. a Bird of prey. When the Embassadors of the Magnesians came to him, he marvelled to see their heads white, and their beards black: his Physicians answered, The watry Situation of their city won the cause, by making their brains over moist: but the Ambassadours answered and said; Nay, but 'tis because the heirs of our heads are far more ancient than those of our beards. ◊ A Philosopher, master to Tully and Brutus. Plut. ◊ A bungling Barber in Martial.

Antiochus Epiphanes, h. e. illustris vel nobilis, Syriæ rex Octavus, Hierosolymam destruxit, & multa mala Judæis intulit. The most cruel of all Tyrants. This is that Antiochus Epiphanes, which they called Epimanes, Ἐπιμανὴς, that is, furious and mad; He would throw great store of money into the highways, and bestow precious ointment upon the common people, and bathe in the same bath at the same time with them, and a hundred other mad tricks. Vide Polyb.

Antiopa, vel Antiope, Poet. The daughter of Nycteus, and wife of Lycus King of Thebes and Ægypt, whom Jupiter lay with, by whom he had Zethus and Amphion. Lycus upon first discovery divorced her, and afterward Dirce his second wife imprisoned her. But they both at last were killed in revenge of their unkind usage by the two Boys, when they were grown up. From her fathers name she is called Nycteis. Ov. Prop.

Antiope, Amazonum regina, Nat. Com.

Antipater, tri. Ἀντίπατρος, i. pro patre, vel contra patrem. A Philosopher and a Poet of Sidon. ◊ A Stoick, instructor to Cato Uticensis: He had yearly on his birth-day an Ague; and at length dyed on the same day, and by the same disease. He would pour out a world of verses extempore. Quint. ◊ Also one of Alexanders Captains & successors. ◊ Herods father, governour of Judea.

Antipatris, quam sic Herodes rex Judææ ex patris sui Antipatri nomine vocaverat. A city of Palestine now called Assur. Hither St. Paul was brought prisoner. Act. 23.

Antiphanes. The Clerk to Alexanders company of horsemen. Curt.

Antiphates, Poet. A King of the Læstrygons; who were men-eaters. Ulysses had much ado to scape his clutches. ◊ Also Sarpedons base son. Vir.

Antiphellus & Phellus. Places in Lycia. Plin.

Antipheron, ontis, Sen. One who Aristotle sayes, met with himself and saw his own image before him, where ever he went.

Antiphilus. A noble painter, rival to Apelles. Plin.

Antiphon, ontis. Cic. A brave Orator; he made an excellent defence for himself at Athens. ◊ One that wrote of dreams. Sen. Tert.

Antipodes. People dwelling in that part of the world which is underneath us. Cic.

Antipolis. Gr. i. æqualis civitas. A city of Provence in France. Liv. hod. Antibe. Hence

Antipolitanus, adj. Mart.

Antirrhium, cui alterum pro promontorium in Peloponneso obvertitur. Plin. A promontory of Ætolia.

Antissa. A town in the Isle Lesbos. Liv. Once an Island it self, Ovid.

Antisthenes, i. Æqui-potens. A Philosopher who having taught Rhetorick himself, and afterward hearing Socrates, bad his scholars go look them a new master, for himself had found one; he sold all that he had, and gave it away to the poor. He went every day five miles to hear Socrates; was Diogenes his master, and chief of the Cynick sect.

Antistius. A noble man of Rome, that turn'd away his wife for talking with a mean person. Alex.

Antitaurus. A hill opposite to mount Taurus in Armenia.

Antithei. quidam mali dei, quos à Magis confingi ait Arnobius. Vide.

Antitrajectus. Andover in Hampshire.

Antivestæum. The cape of Cornwal, St. Burien or the Lands end. Camd. Bolerium dict. Ptol.

Antium, dict. quod ante alias urbes in ipso littore sita sit, ad otium rerumque urbanarum vacationes accommodata. An ancient city of Italy, being the chief city of the Volscians, Here was Fortunes temple. There is nothing of the city left now, only a Promontory neam it still called Capo d'Anzo.

Antiates. Ἀντιάται, pop.

Antiense templum. Val. M.

Antlatinæ fortes. Suet.

Antobroges. People of Guienne in France. Plin.

Antomenes. The last King of Corinth.

Antona. juxta Cambd. The river Nen, that runs by Northampton. Polydor Virgil makes it the river Wye, that runs into Severn. ◊ The town Hampton, or Southampton or Northampton, acc. to Lipsius and Ferr.

Antonia. The wife of Drusus, and mother of Germanicus. Val. Pliny sayes she never spit.

Antonina, Urbs Batavorum. Amm. Utresium. Al. Trajectum ad Rhenum. Utrecht, a city of the Low countreys.

Antoninopolis. Mesopotamiæ civ. Amm.

Antoninopolitæ in Lydia, qui Mæandro alluuntur, Plin.

Antoninus Pius, Antoninus Commodus, & Antoninus Caracalla, were Emperours of Rome. The first whereof called Pius, and Pater Patriæ, was the sixteenth Emperour. ann. Chr. 139. whose son M. Aurelius Antoninus the Philosopher succeeded him. Antoninus Commodus a most vitious and debauched Prince, and Antoninus Caracalla Severus his son, to whom Oppian presented his Poem, and was rewarded well for his pains, with a piece of Gold for every verse in the whole work.

ANTONIUS, (ō) The name of divers noble men of Rome: Antoniorum familia nobilissima vetustissimáque ab Antio Herculis filio oriunda. ◊ Ant. Gnipho, Suet. A master of Rhetorick and Poetry; Cicero and other gallant men his scholars. ◊ M. Antonius the Orator, a ready speaker. Cic. Kill'd by the Marian faction, and his head (as many other brave mens were) hung on the pleading place. Luc. His eldest Son M. Antonius a great spend-thrift. Sall. Another of his sons C. Antonius a great plunderer in Sylla's army. Cic. ◊ Mark Antony the Triumvir, was the Orators Grandchild. He had the Eastern quarters left for his share, where he did several exploits; but falling in love with Cleopatra, was by Augustus worsted in a Sea-fight at Actium, and at last besieged at Alexandria in Ægypt he slew himself, Tullies second Philippick has set him out to the life, but lost the speaker his; as Juvenal takes notice. ◊ His son Julius Antonius came to little better end, as neither his brother L. Antonius.

Antonius Musa. Physician to Augustus.

Antonius, The first Hermit which we now call a Monk; he lived in Egypt: St. Hierom wrote his life. He lived 105. years. Floruit an. Chr. 300.

Antor, ōris. Val. Flac. Al. leg. Actor. The name of a Centaur.

Antorides, A Painter. Plin.

Antricum, A town of Provence in France, now called Chartes.

Antrimum. Antrim, the chief place of the country of Antrym in Ireland.

Antronia, Ἀντρωνία, Str. dict. ab antris, quorum magnam circa hanc urbem copiam fecerunt molarium lapidum fodinæ. A city of Messenia in Peloponnesus. Antronius asinus, a great Lob-cock.

Antros, An Isle in the river Garumna; in France. Mel. hod. Cordouan.

Antuates, pop. Galliæ Cæs.

Antuerpia, alias Antverpia. Andoverpum, Sigeb. ab Andoverpo gigante, loci domino. Gal. Anvers, Hispan. Anveres, Ital. Annersa, Germ. Antorff. Antwerp, a noble rich city of Brabant upon the river Scheld, with many stately buildings.

Anturnacum, opp. Germ. infer. ad Rhenum, Andernach.

Anubis, is; m. linguâ Ægyptiaca dicitur canis, sub cujus formâ colebatur Mercurius, quia nihil est cane sagacius. Serv. hinc Hermanubis. Plut. latrator Anubis, Vir. Ov. Semicanis Deus. Luc. The God of the Egyptians, whom they worshiped in the form of a dog; some take him to be the son of Osiris, some to be Mercury.

Anullinus. A Roman Consul U.C. 1047.

Anxa, opp. magnæ Græciæ. Plin. postea Gallipolis, nunc Gallipoli.

Anxani, i. Anxanenses, pop. ab Anxano Ferentanorum in Italia opp. hod. Lanzane.

Anxur, ūris, n. & ap. Mart. Masc. Candidum

dictus Anxur. Urbs Volſcorum, dict. quia illic colebatur Jupiter imberbis, quem idcirco Anxurum, qu. ἀνύξυρον, i. ἄνευ ξυρῆ, i. ſine novacula, voc. quia barbam nunquam raſiſſet. hod. Terracina dict.

Anxurus, ſive Anxyrus, Virg. nomen quo Jupiter à Campanis Voc. vel quod maximè Anxure coleretur, vel quòd eſſet ἀνύξυρος i. ſine novacula, ſc. imberbis. Al. leg. Axurus.

Anytus, Gr. ab ἀνύω i. expedio. An Athenian, one of the three that accuſed Socrates, and cauſed him to be put to death. Whence Horace calls Socrates Anyti reum.

Anzaba. A river nigh to Tigris. Amm.

A ante O.

Aonia, ab Aone rege Neptuni filio dicta. The hilly part of Bœotia.

Aönes. People of Aonia. Virgil uſeth it as an adj. Aonas ad montes.

Aönides, um, f. The Muſes, worſhipt on thoſe hills.

Aonius, a, um. Of that country. Claud.

Aornos, Ἄορνος. Str. vel Aornis Ἄορνις. Dion. Petra apud Indos præceps & invia, q. avibus inacceſſa; ab Alexandro expugnata. Cur. A hill in the Eaſt Indies ſo high, that no birds fly over it.

Aornus lacus, ἄορνος λίμνη. inter Puteolos & Baias. dict. quòd avibus careat, ob gravem & ſulphureum halitum. vid. Avernus. ◊ Lacus Epiri cujus exhalatio avibus peſtifera, Plin. in Acc. Aornon Virg. dixit.

Aoti. pop. in finibus Thraciæ prope Iſtrum. Plin.

Aous, fl. Maced. Liv. qui Lous Ptol. Æn Str. Plin. Vul. Pirgi.

A ante P.

Apameſta. A town of great Greece.

Apameſtini. People of that town. Plin.

Apamia ſive Apamea & Apamæa, Ἀπάμεια. A city of Phrygia, Plin. of Meſene, Amm. of Syria, St. &c. All ſorrounded with water. Apamenſes, pop. Cic.

Aparctias, æ, m. Plin. Ἀπαρκτίας, ventus ab Arcto, i. à ſeptentrione flans.

Apartheni, pop. circa Mœotim. Pl.

Apaturia. Feaſts ſic dicta; cui Trœzeniæ virgines Zonas ante nuptias conſecrabant, ex Æthræ inſtituto. ◊ Venus it. Sic dicta, παρὰ τὸ ἀπατᾶν, i. à decipiendo, cujus & templum Apaturum, Str. ◊ Ἀπατούρια, Feaſts kept at Athens in honour of Bacchus in the month October.

Apella, æ; m. propr. viri Judæi, ap. Hor. Chii ap. Cic. non ergo quia ſine pene, i. verpus, recutitus.

APELLES, Coüs, Pictor eximius. Ἀπελλῆς. A Painter. Alexander would be painted by none but him. Hor. Cic. He painted Venus, but liv'd not to finiſh it; and after none could perfect it. Having once drawn a horſe, and being about to paint the foam, he ſo miſcarried, that in deſpair he threw the ſponge that he wiped his colours on at it; and obtain'd by fortune, what he could not by skill; the daſh of the ſponge leaving an exact foam behind it. Sext. Emp. hinc Apelleus, a, um. Prop.

APENNINUS mons, Poet, (ă.) Ἀπέννινος ὄρος, à penna quæ eſt ſummitas. Forte à pen Brit. quod ſummitatem & faſtigium denotat; unde & ipſis montium nomina, ut Penmaur, &c. vel q. Pœnnus, (quod cum Annibal primus ſuperavit) uti Caſaub. leg. A ridge of hills of great height, parting Italy down along through the middle of the whole length of it, from the Alps almoſt, betwixt the two ſeas, the upper and the lower, i. the Tyrrhen and the Adriatick. The top of it is now called Monte Fiſcello.

Apenninigenæ. Inhabitants upon thoſe hills.

Apenninicölæ. Idem.

Aper. A Roman name.

Apeſus, untis. Or Apheſas, antis, Stat.

Apeſantus, Plin. A hill of Peloponneſus near the Lake Lerna and the Nemæan wood, ab ἀφίημι, ἀφίσω. Stat. Schol. unde ſe Perſeus miſit ad volandum: & leg. Apheſanta, in Acc. q. ab Apeſas. Al. Apeſunta, q. ab Apeſus.

Aphaca locus Palæſtinæ inter Heliopolin & Byblum, Ἄφακα, ubi templum Veneris.

Aphæa, Ἀφαία. Æginetis, quam Cretes Dictynnam vocant. ſc. Britomartis, Pauſ. Virgo venatrix, Dianæ chara. ab ἀφίημι. fugiens Minois amores. Vir.

Aphanna, ab ἀ priv. & φαίνω appareo. An obſcure country of Sicily.

Aphas, Moloſſorum fl. Plin. hod. Inacho.

Aphetor, Ἀφήτωρ. Apollo, Sagittarius, ab ἀφίημι, i. mitto, vel dictus ab edendis oraculis, Cæl. Rhod. Unde ἀφητορεία, μαντεία. Heſych. A name of Apollo.

Aphidnæ, locus in Attica. Sen. Trag.

Aphrodiſias, dicta quòd in eâ Venus colebatur. An Iſland in the Perſian Sea. Pt.

Aphrodite, ἀφρογένη, ab ἀφρὸς ſpuma; nam de ſpuma maris natam ferunt. Hinc Venus orta mari, Ovid. The ſirname of Venus.

Aphthonius ἄφθονος, id eſt, invidia carens. Sophiſta, ſcripſit Progymnaſmata.

Aphydnus, A Souldier of Æneas ſlain by Turnus. Vir.

Apia, dict. ab Api, Sycioniorum rege. The country of Peloponneſus, heretofore called Ægialea.

Apicius, ἀπίκια placentarum quædam genera, unde fortè nomen habet. The greateſt glutton that ever was; he lived in the time of Seneca; he wrote a book how to move appetite; at length he hang'd himſelf.

Apidănus. One of the chief rivers of Theſſaly. Ov. Luc.

Apĭna, oppidum nullius pretii, hinc plur. Apinæ & Tricæ de rebus nihili. Sunt Apinæ Tricæque, & ſi quid vilius iſtis, Mart. A town of Apulia, overthrown by Diomedes.

Apiolæ, opp. Latinorum. Plin.

Apion. A great Grammarian. Plin.

APIS, (ā) Ovid. King of the Argives, and Jupiter's ſon by Niobe the daughter of Phoroneus: called alſo Oſiris. He married Iſis; went out of Greece, leaving the Kingdom to his brother, over into Egypt; where he civilized them, and taught them to dreſs vines, became their King, and did ſo oblige them by his government, that after his death they made a God of him, and worſhipt him under the ſhape of an Ox. The ſame as Serapis.

Apitani, Arabiæ pop. Plin.

Apolauſtus, The ſirname of Agrippa the Player. Capit.

Apollinares ludi. Liv. Games in honour of Apollo, perform'd in July.

Apollinaris. An Heretick, who taught that the Word took fleſh without the reaſonable ſoul, that there was but one nature in Chriſt, &c.

Apollinarius. A great Scholar, an acquaintance of St. Gregory's, and Baſils in Julian's time. He tranſlated moſt of the Hiſtory of the Old Teſtament into Heroick verſe in Greek. His tranſlation of the Pſalter we ſtill have. He was Biſhop of Laodicea.

APOLLO, ĭnis, m. Ἀπόλλων. Jovis & Latonæ filius, Phœbus etiam dictus & Sol: medicinæ inventor; item Citharœdus & ſagittarius: Deus Vaticinii & Muſarum præſes; ſemper imberbis. Ἀπόλλων dicitur ἀπὸ τῦ ἀπολλύειν, i. perdere vel deſtruere; immiſſâ ſc. peſte ex nimio calore, vel ab ἀπολλύειν, i. ſolvere; eo quòd ſuis radiis nebulas diſſolvit; vel ab α privat. & πολὺς multus, quòd unicus ſit ſol; unde Latinis ſol quaſi ſolus. Cic. vel fort. à יובל Jobale Caini filio, qui primus Citharæ inventor. The God of Muſick, Phyſick, Poetry, and Divination or Prophecy. The ſon of Jove and Latona, born in the Iſland Delus at the ſame birth with Diana: who is called Phœbe, as he Phœbus; taken for the Moon, as he for the Sun; a Huntreſs, as he an Archer, with quivers both; chief of the Nymphs, as he of the Muſes; and governeſs of Night and the lower world, as he of Day and the upper. He killed the Serpent Python, and afterward the Cyclops, for which he was degraded a while, and went and kept Admetus the King of Theſſalies cattle: whence he was called Apollo Nomius. He turned Daphne whom he loved into a Laurel, his boy Hyacinth into a Violet. He flea'd Marſyas the fidler alive, who challenged him at muſick. With Neptune's help he built the walls of Troy for King Laomedon. He had a famous Temple, and Oracle at Delphos. He and Bacchus were always accounted young. In the Ægyptian Language he is called Horus, of whom the Hours are named. Macrob.

Apollodorus. A famous Grammarian. ◊ A Painter. Plin. ◊ A Comick Poet.

Apollonia. q. d. Apollinis civitas. A city of Macedon. ◊ Another of Aſia. ◊ Another of Thrace. Plin.

Apolloniatæ, & Apollonienſes. People of that city.

Apollonius, ab Ἀπόλλων, ωνος. Alexandrinus, the Grammarian. ◊ Rhodius, Cicero's maſter for Oratory. ◊ Alabandenſis, a Rhetorick teacher, &c.

Apollonius Tyaneus. A Pythagorean Philoſopher, whoſe life Philoſtratus and Damis wrote. He was a great Magician: Some Heathen, in malice to Chriſtians, affirm, that his miracles were as great as Chriſts and his Apoſtles; againſt whom Euſebius wrote. He liv'd in the dayes of Domitian, and told of his death. He underſtood the Language of birds. Cæl.

Apollophanes. A flatterer of King Antigonus. ◊ A Phyſician of Antiochus Soter. Plin.

Apollopolites, Ægypti nomos vel præfectura. Plin.

Apollos, vir Alexandrinus magni nominis in Eccleſiâ, Act. 8. 1 Cor. 3.

Aponiana, inſula Lilybæo proxima. Hirt.

Aponius, Vir Prætorius. Suet.

Apŏnus. Luc. ἄπονος, i. dolore carens dict. quòd morbis ſine dolore remedium afferat. A fountain and village in Italy, (where Livy was born) near Padua, with with hot waters good for ſeveral diſeaſes. Hinc adj. Aponus, a, um; Mart.

Apotropæi, Dii malorum depulſores; ab ἀποτρέπω averto. Amm.

Appenzela, Helvetiæ pagus. i.e. Abbatum Sella. An Abbot's ſeat of the Benedictines in Suizzerland.

Appia via, eſt à Roma in Campaniam, & à mari uſque ad Brundiſium, quam Appium Claudius Conſul lapidibus ſtravit. Stat.

Appiades dæ. dict. quòd ad Appias aquas illis templum erectum erat. Venus and Pallas ſo called, Ovid.

Appianus, A Greek Hiſteriographer of Alexandria: He wrote the Hiſtory of Rome in twenty four books.

Appii forum. A town in Italy. Cic.

Appius, quaſi Attius. nim. ut ab ἄττα gr. ſit ἄππα. Atta autem vox Sabina cum denotat, qui propter vitium crurum vel pedum plantis non inſiſtit. Feſt. vel ab Appii coronâ, quam L. Appius in Achaiâ meruit. The name of a Roman family. ◊ Appius Cæcus, famous for breaking the peace with Pyrrhus. ◊ One a Cenſor once, Hor. to whom Tully writes an Epiſtle.

Apronianus. A Conſul of Rome that year in which it was burned, in the time of Commodus, ann. Chr. 192.

Apros. A city of Thrace. Juſt.

Apruſtum Plin. ἄβυσσος Ptol. opp. Brutiorum in Calabria.

Aprutium, Italiæ regio inter Apuliam & Picenum. Voc. item Samnium. Vulg. Abruzzo.

Apſilæ, gens Scythica. Plin.

Apſus. A river of Macedon. Luc.

Apſynthus & Apſinthus. civ. & fl. Thraciæ; & regio Apſynthis dicitur, & populi Apſynthii, hinc Abſinthium.

Apteron. Plin. An inland town of Candy. ◊ A city of Lycia.

Apuani. Liv. People of Apua, a town neer Legorn. hod. Pontremoli.

Apuleius. A Philoſopher born at Madaura; from whence he was called Madaurenſis: He wrote of his Metamorphoſis, or change into a golden Aſs; he was accuſed of Magick; whereupon he wrote his Apologies; he wrote divers other books.

Apulia. Hor. dict. qu. Apluvia, quod ibi rariſſime pluat. Al. ab Apulo rege, qui fertur dudum ante bellum Trojanum huc commigraſſe. A country in Italy well ſtored with ſheep, and commended for wool. It is now called Puglia; it is divided into two parts; the one is called Puglia piana, or Daunia; the other Peucetia, or Terra di barri.

Apŭlus, a, adj. One of that country.

Apulum. A city of Tranſylvania, now called Alba Julia and Weiſſenberg.

Apuſcidamus. Plin. A lake of Africk, wherein every thing ſwims, nothing ſinks.

A ante Q.

Aquæ, urbs Helvetiorum, vul. Baden, Caſtellum aquarum, Tac.

Aquæ Auguſtæ. The town Baionne of Guienne in France.

Aquæ calidæ, or Aquæ ſolis. The city of Bath in England.

Aquæ Lupiæ, Guadaloupe or Gardeloupe, one of the Antego Iſlands.

Aquæ mortuæ. The town Aigues mortes, of Narbon in France.

Aquæ Sextiæ, nunc Aquenſis civitas. Aix in Provence, an Arch-Biſhops See.

Aquæ Taurinæ, opp. Etruriæ, hod. Acqua pendente. Aquenſes, pop. Plin.

Aquarii ſolam aquam in calice ſacramenti offerebant; ann. Chr. 240. Certain Heretick, who adminiſtred the Communion with Water inſtead of Wine. Cæl.

Aquarius, Poet. The eleventh Sign of the Zodiack, riſeth toward the latter end of January; called ſo from water, by reaſon of much rains about that time of the year: hence Catullus calls him Hydrochoon. The Poets make him to be Ganymed Joves cupbearer.

Aquicaldenſes, pop. Hiſp. citer. Plin.

Aquila, vir Judeus ex Ponto. Act. 18. One Aquila Ponticus tranſlated the Old Teſtament into Greek. ◊ Item urbs Brutiorum à Longobardis condita, Volat. ◊ Item Aquila major & minor, Mauritaniæ Tingitanæ loca duo. Anton. ◊ Aquila aſtrum, exorto Leone occidit, oritur cum Capricorno.

Aquilaria. A place in Africk. Cæſ.

Aquileia, Mart. Aquileia. Sil. Aquilegia, Mela. dict. vel ab aquila quæ dextra, cum urbs conderetur, advolavit: unde & Aquilia; vel ab aquarum copiâ. A city in Italy, not far from Venice. Sil. Here Ruffinus was born.

Aquilicia, ſacra à Romanis fieri ſolita, cùm in magna ſiccitate aqua eſſet advocanda: ſacerdotes hujus ordinis vocantur Aquilices, ab aquâ elicendâ.

Aquilina. A Curtiſan.

Aquilinus. A Conſul of Rome.

Aquilius. The name of ſeveral Romans. ◊ One Aquilius Manius, kill'd cruelly by Mithridates. Arnob. ◊ Another an Hiſterian. Hier.

Aquillia aliàs Aquilia, gens fuit Romæ patricia.

Aquilonia, Hirpinorum in Italiâ urbs. Liv. ◊ Opp. Galliæ, in Aquitaniâ, Aiguillan.

Aquinates ſaltus, Plin. neer Aquinum.

Aquincum. The chief City of Hungary, Buda or Oſen. Cluver.

Aquinius. A ſorry Poet. Cic.

Aquinum. Opp. Italiæ prope Samnites. Sil. Juv. vulgò Aquino, unde inſignis ſcholaſticus Thomas Aquinas, vel de Aquino.

Aquiſgranum. dict. à Grano fundatore, Neronis fratre, & calidis aquis ſcaturientibus intra urbis mœnia. The city in Germany called in French Aix la Chapelle; of others it is called Achon, or Aken in Gulich. There is the Sepulchre of Charles the Great.

Aquitania, Ἀκουιτανία. The third part of France, now called Guienne, bordering on the Ocean ſea on the one ſide; on the Weſt it hath Spain; on the North the Province of Lyons, and on the South Narbone. It has the Cities Toloufe and Burdeaux in it. Aquitani: The people.

Aquites. A Prieſt ſo called.

A ante R.

Ar. heb. i. Vigilia, vel adverſarius, vel civitas. Ætate Hieronymi Areopolis, adjuncta voce Græci. The chief City of the Moabites.

Ara, Ovid. θυτήριον, ſignum cœleſte.

Arabarches. An Egyptian Publican, or Farmer of Cuſtoms. Juv. Ironicè, Arabum Princeps, i. ſervorum. Al. Alabarches. Ἀλαβάρ atramentum ſcil. qui ſcriptioni ſive tributo ſcribendo præeſt.

Arabia, ex Arabs, ab Heb. ערב quòd ſit regio pleramq; partem deſerta & inculta: vel quòd ipſi Arabes ſint populi miſtura & colluvies quædam hominum. A country of Aſia ſo called, between Judea and Egypt. It is divided into three parts; Arabia the Stony, Arabia the Deſart, and Arabia the Happy. A country full of ſpices, rich perfumes, and other treaſure. Arabius tibicen. A tattle-baker, that never gives over talking. Prov.

Arabicus ſinus. The red ſea.

Arabo, ōnis, fl. & urbs Pannoniæ ſuper. The city Raab, or Uyvar in Hungary.

ARABS, ăbis; m. Ἄραψ. An Arabian. Arabes, pl. dicti à deſertis quæ incolunt. In times paſt they had this cuſtom, that one woman ſhould be wife in common to all her neareſt kindred, and he that went firſt to lie with her in the day (for in the nights ſhe ever lay with the eldeſt) ſhould ſet his ſtaff at her door. One Arabian Damoſel had fifteen Brethren, and ſhe being wearied with often admitting of them, deviſed this ſhift: ſhe got ſtaves like theirs, and ſet them at her door; ſo when any one came, ſeeing a ſtaff at the door, he would return, thinking another had been there: but they being all together, and finding a ſtaff there, charged her with adultery; which when the truth was known, ſhe eſcaped. An adulterer among them was puniſhed with death.

Arabicus ſinus. The Arabian Gulf; one part of the red ſea, as Pliny accounts it; ſo as the Perſian Gulf makes the other. Hod. Mar di Meccha.

Arabus, Apollinis filius, ſic dict. quod inter Arabes vixit, artis medicæ ſtudioſiſſimus, Plin. The ſon of Apollo. ◊ A ſtone as white as ivory; which being beaten to powder, is very good to rub the teeth with. Pl.

ARACHNE, es; f. Ov. Ἀράχνη i. Aranea, ab ארג texuit. A maid of Lydia, and daughter of Idmon, (ἰδμων gr. i. ſciens peritus) a moſt skilful ſpinſter and clothworker; thought to have been the firſt inventreſs of the ſpinning trade. She taking it to heart that Pallas (with whom ſhe contended for the excellency of her Art) had broken her work, hanged her ſelf; whereupon Pallas turned her into a ſpider. ◊ A city of Theſſaly. Liv.

Arachoſia. A country on the other ſide the river Indus. Pl.

Arachoſii, Ἀραχῶται. The people of that country. Curt.

Aracillum vel Arracillum; Flor. opp. Hiſp. Tarracon.

Aracynthus, Ἀράκυνθος, mons Acarnaniæ, Pl. Bœotiæ, St. Theberum. Serv. Atticæ, Vib. quòd Virg. Atheum vocet. ſed ἀκτὴ ap. Theocr. (unde ſumſit Virg.) eſt appell. & ſign. Litoralem aut petroſum, ab ἀκτὴ litus.

Arădos, i; f. Mel. Inſula in orâ Phœniciæ, ad os Eleutheri fl. Ex adverſo ſunt Antaradus, Marathus, & Laodiceæ.

Aradii. The people of this Iſland, good ſea-men. Str.

Aræ Flaviæ. Nordlingen in Germany upon the Danow. Ptol.

Aræ Philænorum, Sall. opp. Africæ maritimum; vul. Porto di Sabia.

Aræ Sextianæ, urbs Hiſpaniæ in Gallæciâ, Plin. hod. Luga.

Aræthyrea, regio & civitas Achaïæ, quam Hom. ab amœnitate vocat Ἀρητοῦσσαν i. egregiam. A ſmall country and city of Achaia, or Greece, afterward called Aſophis.

Arætus,

Araxus, ἀραῖος, Jupiter sic dictus, quòd eum cuncti precentur. Cæl. Rhod.

Aralius, vel Analius. The seventh King of the Assyrians.

Aram, Heb. excelsus. The son of Sem, and father of the Syrians; from whom the country it self of Syria is in Holy Writ styled Aram.

Aranie. The two Isles of Aran in Ireland.

Aranium, Plin. opp. in sinu Æthiopico.

Arapotes, Plin. Μαραώτης, Str. lacus Ægypti, prope Alexandriam; hod. Lago de Antacon.

Aramæi; i. e. Syri; sed linguâ Persicâ Scythæ ita appellantur. Plin.

ARAR, Poet. vel Ararĭs, is; m. unde in Acc. Ararim Vir. q. ἄγνοος, παρὰ τὸ ἀρυπόδευτον τῷ ῥοδανῷ, Plut. sed Arar Brit. lentum sign. unde Lentus Arar, Claud. A river of Provence in France, which running very slow, falls into the Roan near Lyons; 'tis called in French La Saone.

Ararat. A hill in Armenia, where the Ark of Noah first rested, or (as some) Armenia it self.

Arrauceles, pop. Cyrenaicæ regionis. Pl.

Araspas. A Median, whom Cyrus gave Panthea, Abradates his wife to keep. Cæl.

Aratia, inf. contra Persidem, Neptuno sacra. Plin.

Arator. A Christian Poet, that translated the Acts of the Apostles into Hexameter verse.

Aratus. Ovid. A Grecian Poet and Astrologer, whose book of Phœnomena Tully and others translated into Latin verse. ◊ A Prince of Sicyon, that rescued his country from slavery. Cic. Liv.

Arausĭo, ōnis. The Principality of Aurange, which belongs to the family of Nassau.

Aravus, fl. Gall. Belg. Auf.

ARAXES, is; m. Poët. Ἀραξης, ἐν τῷ ἀραιοῦν, quòd diffringat obstantia. Eust. A large and boisterous river of Armenia, parting it from Media; Alexander made a bridge over it, which by the violence of the stream was straight born down.

Arba. An Isle and a City of Illyria. Pl.

Arbăces. The first King of the Medes, by Justin named Arbactus.

Arbeia, Ireby in Cumberland.

Arbela, n. plur. ab Arbelo Athmonei filio. St. q. ארבל Irbel. i. Beli urbs. Greg. A city of Assyria, where Alexander and Darius fought for the command of the world. Curt.

Arbelitis. The country. Plin.

Arbella. The limits of Judea Eastward beyond Jordan.

Arbetio. A Roman Consul, slain upon misprision of treason, in Constantine's time. Amm.

Arbi, dict. ab Arbi vicino fluvio. People of India. Plin.

Arbis. A river of Gedrosia, now called Berbero, the bound of India Westward. Pl.

Arbius mons Cretæ, unde Jupiter Arbius, quòd ibi esset educatus. Step.

Arbona, montis nomen, Pl. Abnoba, Ptol.

Arborea, urbs Archiep. Sardiniæ; vul. Oristagni.

Arboricha. The seven Isles of Zealand; viz. Scowen, Duveland, Walkeren, &c.

Arbosium, Amm. al. Arborosa. A city of Burgundy; vul. Arbois.

Arbuscula, muliercula mima. A woman-player, who, the People disprising and a Knight commending her, said, She was comended with the testimony of some good men, though not of the multitude. Hor.

Arcădes. People of Arcadia; Arcadians.

Arcădia, dict. ab Arcade Jovis filio ex Calisto, Prisci Pelagia voc. & Lycaonia. A country in the middle of Peloponnesus, having very good pasture-ground, and therefore abounding with shepherds, who were given to musick and the horn-pipe. Pan was the peculiar God of this country.

Arcadicus, a, um. Of Arcadia. Arcadicus juvenis, Juv. & Arcadicum germen, Prov. A great booby, a block-head.

Arcădius. The name of divers men; one of this name, son of Theodosius, shared the Empire with his brother Honorius.

Arcānum. A country-house of Cicero's, not far from Minturnæ: q. d. locus arcanus. A retiring place. Nunc Arce dic.

ARCAS, ădos; m. Poët. Ἄρκας, ab ἀρκτος, i. ἀρκτος Ursus. q. d. Ursinus, Ursæ filius. The son of Jupiter, and the Nymph Calisto, whom Juno turn'd into a beast, and her own son afterwards unawares shot as he was a hunting. Wherefore Jupiter translated her, and made her the Bear-star, and Arcas himself when he died, the lesser bear. From him the people and country of Arcadia took their name, who being a very ancient nation, were fancied by the Poets to have been before the Moon; therefore called Προσέληνοι, i. older than the Moon.

Arcena, ἄρκη vel Ἀρκαία, St. quæ & Arca Cæsarea, urbs Phœniciæ, in quâ Alexander Severus Rom. Imp. genitus. Lampr.

Arcĕsilas. A Philosopher, scholar to Polemon; a shrewd subtle disputant. Pers.

Arcesilaus, Ἀρκεσίλαος, i. populi auxiliator. A captain of Bœotia, that came against Troy with fifty ships, and was slain by Hector. Hom. ◊ An Ingraver. ◊ Another a Painter. Plin.

Arcĕsius, Ov. Ἀρκεισιος, Hom. per ei metri gratiâ; à fut. ἀρκέσω, i. auxiliari. The son of Jupiter, Laertes father, Ulysses his grand-father.

Archăgăthus, i. bonum initium. A Peloponnesian, the first Physician who practised in Rome. Pl.

Archelāus; i. princeps populi. The name of divers Kings. ◊ A Philosopher, Anaxagoras scholar, and master to Socrates. He first brought natural Philosophy into Athens (whence he is called Physicus) as Socrates brought in moral, Cic.

Archestrătus, A Poet, a follower of Sardanapalus. Rhod.

Archias, gr. i. principalis. A Poet of Antioch, much beloved of Tully, who defended him in an Oration of his. Also the name of him who built Syracuse. Volat.

Archidămus, gr. i. princeps populi. The name of divers Kings of Sparta.

Archidas, παραγωγεύς, ab ἄρχομαι, i. impero. An Athenian captain. Plut.

Archidemia, fons Siciliæ. P.

Archidēmus. A Logician. Cic.

Archigallus. The chief of the Priests of Cybele. Tert.

Archigĕnes. A Physician. Juv.

Archilŏchus, ἀρχίλοχος, i. princeps insidiarum. A Grecian Poet of the Island Paros, who first wrote Iambick verses; his father in law Lycambes having given his daughter, betrothed to him, to another, he wrote so bitterly; that he made his father in law hang himself. His books were forbidden in Lacedæmon, for their wanton and obscene expressions, and himself banished the country. He lived in Romulus his time. ◊ Nestor's son slain by Memnon.

ARCHIMEDES, is; m. (c) Cic. Ἀρχιμήδης, i. princeps consilii. An excellent Mathematician of Sicily, near kin to King Hiero. He first invented Spheres and Globes, to shew the motions of the Heavens. He discovered the cheat in making the Kings crown, by shewing, after a strange way, how much silver was mixed with the gold. It was he said, Δὸς πῦ στῶ: i. Let me have but a place to stand on, and I will turn the world which way I please. He in their wars with the Romans, found out several engines, and rare inventions to annoy the enemy, and defend the town. When Marcellus took Syracuse, he gave strict order for the saving Archimedes alive; but he, as he was poring upon his Mathematicks, and never minded what had hapned, was killed by a common souldier, that broke into his house, to the great grief of the Roman General.

Archippe, Marsorum oppidum. à Marsyâ Lydo conditum. Plin.

Archippus, id est, princeps equorum. Nom. viri. N. T.

Architis, Venus apud Assyrios culta. Macr. ab Arca urbe in Libano sitâ, ut putat Boch. Alii aliter legunt.

Archontes, i. q. principes. Were the Princes of Athens, nempe Rex, Archon, Polemarchus, & Thesmothetæ sex.

Archontici, Valentinianorum secta. Certain Heretick, that thought the world was made ὑπὸ τῶν ἀγγέλων, by Angels, &c. Theodor.

ARCHYTAS, (y) æ; m. Ἀρχύτας, Hor. A noble Philosopher of Tarentum, Plato's Tutor in Geometry, whom he delivered from the Tyrant of Sicily, Dionysius, by giving him notice of a plot to kill him, and wishing him to make his escape. He first invented the Cube. He made a Pigeon of wood to fly. Gell. He found out the Mathematical Instrument, called a Rattle, to imploy children, and keep them quiet.

Arctophylax; qui & Arcturus. ἀρκτοφύλαξ, id est, ursæ custos, Bootes. A star near Ursa major. Cic. Ov.

Arctos, i; f. Ἄρκτος, ursa. Poet. The two Bear-stars; the greater called Cynosura, and the less called Helice; this observed by the Greek Mariners, that by the Phœnicians; both near the Northern Pole, and never set in our Horizon. Hence Polus Arcticus, i. Septentrionalis. The Northern pole.

Arculus, Deus, penes quem arcarum custodia. Fest.

Ardalides, vel Ardaliotides, Musæ dictæ, ab Ardalo, Vulcani filio, qui tibiam adinvenit. Cæl. ex Paus.

Ardalus, ab Ardeo. The son of Vulcan.

Ardea, æ; f. dict. q. Ardua, i. magna & nobilis, Serv. vel ab augurio avis cognominis, Hyg. vel à fervore regionis, quòd ardeat. A city once in Italy, where Turnus King of the Rutuli kept court; after whose death it being burnt, was changed into the bird of that name, the Heron. Ovid.

Ardeates, The people of that city.

Ardeatinum, Sen. i. ager Ardeatinus. The country thereabouts, a sickly unhealthy place.

Ardices. A painter of Corinth. Plin.

Ardonea, civ. Apuliæ. Liv.

Arduenna, æ; f. Cæs. The wood Ardenne in France, reaching five hundred miles in length from the river Rhine, to the city Turnay, and the Low-countries: In French it is called, La Foreſt d'Ardenne, ou les Ardennes. Some will have Arden, a part of the country in Warwick-shire, to take its name from this place, but it seemeth otherwise.

Arēa, æ, f. Fortis Bellicosa. Epitheton Minervæ. § Also an Isle of Pontus dedicated to Mars.

Areburgium. A town between Triers and Cullen; vul. Arenburg. Sim.

Arecæi campi. Tib. ab Arica, Ἀρεκαι, Ptol. urb. Susianæ, à Nimrode extructa.

Arecomici. People of France; the city they belong to, called Avignion. Others take it to be the country Arraignac.

Aregon, piscis Corinthii nomen. Str.

Arelate, is; n. & Arelas, atis. Aur. & Arelatus, i; Avien. Galliæ urbs nobilis, à situ dicta Νῆμα Britannis sign. super, & Laut. humidum; quod in solo ulmigino & humido posita sit. Camd. Plinio Sextanorum colonia, olim Constantia, Scal. Item Mamillaria colonia, Ort. quæ gr. Theline, à θηλὴ mamilla; vel ob urbis formam, vel ob annonæ ubertatem. The city Arles in France.

Arellius, A famous painter at Rome, but a wan on fellow, who used to draw the Goddesses like his mistresses. Plin.

Aremorica, Galliæ regio. The country of Aquitane, or Guienne in France. Plin.

Aremulus Sylvius, qui & Remulus, Agrippæ filius, 12 Latinorum rex.

Arenacum, Tac. A town of Gelderland, hod. Arnheim.

Arenates, Pop. Hispaniæ.

Arene, urbs Messeniæ in Peloponneso. Plin.

Arentalium, opp. Belgii; vul. Herentals.

Areopagitæ. Severe Judges at Athens, who sate in Mars his Hill, and past sentence upon life and death.

Arepagus, ἄρειος πάγος, ὁ, i. collis Martis; Curia Martis, Jur. Vicus erat Athenis, à templo Martis dict. ubi primum capitis judicium actum fuisse test. Plin. vel quia ibi se primus Mars judicio sistere coactus est, occiso Hallirrhotio. Cæl. A village near Athens, called Mars his hill, where was the Judgement-hall, or Judicatory first set and dealt.

Arcopolis, Arabiæ civ. quæ & Moab, & Ariel, & Rabathmoaa, Rabathnia, Ptol. & Areer Heb. Areopolitæ, pop.

Arescon, i. placens. One who before had been woman, by the name of Arethusa, and afterward turn'd man, and married a wife. Plin.

Aretæ, Luc. Indiæ pop. Abretæi Just. vocat, Oretæ Grot. Prætios Curt.

Arēta, æ, f. Virtus. The daughter of Aristippus, who succeeded her father in his school, teaching sensual pleasure to be the chiefest happiness.

Arētas, i. Virtuosus. The father in law of Herod the Tetrarch.

Arēte, ἀρήτη. The daughter of Rhexenor, and wife of Alcinous, King of the Phæacians. Hom.

Arethas, An old Greek commentator upon S. John's Revelation.

Arethusa, Sol. Arethusa, Plin. Agrigentinus, Str. A lake in Armenia the Greater, in which nothing will sink: Tigris runs thorow it, and mixeth not with it.

ARETHUSA, æ, f. (ū) ἀρέθουσα. A Nymph, the daughter of Nereus and Doris. One of Diana's companions; she was beloved of Alpheus; whose violence when she could not escape, Diana turned her into a fountain of that name, whose waters, that they might not be mixt with Alpheus stream, ran under ground by secret channels, and brake out again about Syracuse in Sicily; whither Alpheus also pursued her.

Arētinus, a, um; of or belonging to Aretium. Mart.

Arētium. A city of Tuscany, called Arezzo. Sil.

Aretus. The son of Nestor and Eurydice.

Arevici, pop. Hispan. Tarracon. Plin.

Areus, fl. Bithyniæ. Plin.

Argæus, Gr. i. Argivus. Son of Pelops, father of Alector: also the son of Lycimnius; who going a voyage with Hercules, died in it; and Hercules having sworn to bring him with him, burnt him to ashes, and brought them home, to keep his oath; whence the custom of burning the dead came. Cæl. § An high hill in Cappadocia, where there was an excellent breed of horses. Claud. Hence Argæus, a, um; adj. or Argæa nive. Claud. Argæa gramina, Id.

Argālus. A King of the Laconians.

Argānthonius. A King of Spain that lived three hundred years, Sil.

Argaricus sinus Indiæ intra Gangem; Ptol. hod. Golfo di Bengala.

Argathella, Argile in Scotland.

Argea, loca Romæ sic appellata, quòd in his sepulti essent quidam Argivorum illustres viri. Fest. Al. leg. Argei; ut apud Varr. Ov.

Argella, urbs Germaniæ; vul. Torgau.

Argentarius mons Tusciæ. Rutil.

Argentia, urbs Americæ merid. vulgò La Plata.

Argentæus, fl. Galliæ Narbon. Cic. § Id. America; vul. Rio de la Plata.

Argentiful, pop. Calabriæ. Plin.

Argentinus. A God that brought in the use of silver coyn. Aug.

Argentomagum, opp. Galliæ; vul. Argentan.

Argentoratum, A city of Germany upon the Rhine; the chief city of Alsatia; vul. Strasburgh.

Argentauria, Aur. Vict. A town once of Germany, where now Colmar stands.

Argestes, ventus, qui & Caurus, occidentalis, frigidus. Vitr.

Argestratus, A Laced emonionum rex.

Argeus, a, um; ἀργεῖος, Of Argos.

Argeus. A King of Macedon.

Argia, id est, candida vel Græca; Argiva, Adrasti Argivorum regis filia, & uxor Polynicis, cui Thessandrum peperit. She, for burying her husband, was by the tyrant Creon put to death, together with her husband's sister Antigone.

Argi, Argivi, & Argolici. People of Argos, or Greece; Grecians.

Argila, opp. Mauritaniæ; vul. Arzilla.

Argiletum, locus erat Romæ juxta Palatium, dict. ab Argo Argivorum duce, qui ab Evandro hospitio acceptus, ab Arcadibus est occisus; cui postea tumulum erexit, quem de nomine ejus Argiletum appell. Virg. Æn. & lethum docet hospitis Argi. Al. ab argilla, i. creta, cujus in eo loco erat magna copia. Var. The sepulchre of Argus, a place in Rome, where were a great many Book-sellers shops. Mart.

Argina, opp. Locrorum. Plin.

Argiphontes, cognomen Mercurii, sic dict. ab Ἀργὸς φονεύς, i. Argi centoculi interfector. Macr.

Argisse, civ. Thessaliæ. Volat.

Argita. The river Swilly in the North of Ireland. Camd.

Argivā Juno ab Argis denominata, ubi Junonis sacra celebrabantur. Vir.

Argivi, Argæi. The Grecians or people of Greece, so called from the city Argos.

ARGO, ūs; f. ab ἀργὸς, i. velox. Diod. vel quòd Argus eam fabricavit; vel ab Argivis, i. Græcis in ea vectis. Cic. Val. Fl. vel ab אָרַג, a textura, unde purpura textrinum, Ennio; vel ab אָרַךְ quòd esset, Plinio dicente, longa navis; Boch. The ship wherein Jason and his company went to Colchis, to get away the golden fleece.

Argobastes. One that having murder'd Valentinian the younger, that he might get the Empire; being defeated by Theodosius, slew himself. Diac.

Argolicus, a, um. Grecian. Id. quòd Argivus. Ovid.

Argōlis, regio Peloponnesi, Mel. unde Argolicus.

Argonautæ. Jason and his companions that sailed in that ship called Argo, to Colchis, to fetch the golden fleece.

Argos, i; n. pl. Argi, orum, m. ab Argo rege; hinc Argivi, Græci, & Argolici duces. A country, a city; the name of divers famous towns in Greece: One of that name is in Achaia, which for the great store of pasture for horses, was called Argos Hippium.

Argous portus inf. Æthaliæ, hod. Porto ercolo, Jov.

Argus, i; m. ἀργὸς, id est, album, sinuus, velox: Aristoris filius, unde Aristorides dictus Ovid. patronymic. à Græcis cognominatus, quòd totus oculis scateret. Juno made him keeper of Io, a concubine of her husband Jove's, whom he had transformed into a heifer; but Mercury, by Jupiter's command, slew Argus: and Juno turned him into a Peacock, in whose tail his 100 eyes are to be seen still. Mythologici interpret. Argum sphæram stellisram innumeris oculis, id est, stellis refulgentem; Mercurium Solem, qui tunc Argum dicitur occidere, quum diuno suo lumine stellarum lucem obscurat. Macrob. § Also the name of divers other men; one whereof was the fourth King of the Argives. § Also Ulysses dog, who alone of all the family knew his master at his return, after twenty years absence. § Also the name of Evander's guest, whence Ægiletum.

Argyna, opp. Locrorum, cujus incola Ozolæ. Plin.

Argynnis, Venus cognominata ab Argynno puero ab Agamemnone Rege amato, qui cum frequentius natasset in Cephiso flumine periit, quo in loco sepelivit eum Agamemnon, ibidemque Veneri Argynnidi templum struxit.

Argynnus. A beautiful boy loved by Agamemnon, and was drowned. Prop.

Argyra. A Nymph, for whose love Silenus died; and Venus turned him into a river. § Also a city of Sicily, where Diodorus Siculus was born.

Argyraspides, ἀργυράσπιδες, sic dicta legio quædam Macedonica sub Alexandro. Curt.

Argyre, ab argenti copia; Indiæ inf. metallis abundans. Solin.

Argyripa, Virg. A town of Apulia Daunia, built by Diomedes; called Arpi by Cic.

Argy-

Argyrondas. A river of Ætolia, of silver streams.

Argyrophylus, i. argenteas habens portas. An Emperour of Constantinople, drowned in a bath by his wives contrivance. Egnat.

Argyrotoxos, ἀργυρότοξος, i. argenteum arcum ferens. Apollo so called.

Aria, Gr. a Roman Lady. §. Also the name of a country in Asia, Plin. now called Corazan; the people Arii. §. Also an Isle in Pontus dedicated to Mars.

Ariabignes. The son of Darius, one of Xerxes Admirals. Herod.

Ariadne, sive Ariadna. The daughter of Minos King of Creet, who being in love with Theseus, by a bottom of thread helped him out of the Labyrinth; she being deserted by Theseus, was afterward married to Bacchus, and had a crown of seven stars bestowed upon her, called Corona Cnossia.

Ariaidunum, urbs Hispaniæ, Plin.

Arianus. An Historiographer: also a Poet of great esteem under Tiberius.

Ariarathes. A King of Cappadocia, who being block up by Perdiccas, killed himself and his subjects, and burnt his city, that his enemies might have no advantage by their victory. §. A King of the Thracians. Liv.

Aricandos, à quo & urbs ibi Aricanda nomine. A river in Lycia.

Arichondas. The first inventer of Trumpets. Vir.

Aricia. The wife of Hippolytus, Vir. also a town in Italy, ten miles from Rome, built by Hippolytus, and called after his wives name, Nemoralis Aricia. Ov. Luc. Mart. The place where the common beggars met, called by Persius, Clivus Virbii, i. Hippolyti; now called Rizzo, or Riccia.

Aricinum nemus juxta Ariciam, in quo Ægeria nympha, cum qua loqui solitum ferunt Numam Romanorum Regem.

Aricinus lacus juxta Ariciam, quod speculum Dianæ vocabatur.

Aricomici, Vid. Arecomici.

Ariconium. Kenchester (as Camd.) Others say Hereford.

Aridæus. A bastard of Philip, and brother to Alexander, whom he succeeded. Just.

Aridices. A Philosopher. Macr.

Ariel, c. 29. Isiæ accipitur pro civitate Jerusalem. In 43 verò Ezechielis altare holocausti signif. Est enim nomen viri 1 Paral. 11. Lat. Leo aut Lux Dei.

Aries. The first Sign in the Zodiack, which at the entrance of the Sun makes days and nights equal. The ram with the golden fleece, that carried Phryxus and his sister Helle over the Hellespont.

Arii pop. Indiæ, it. Arabiæ, Plin. it. Germaniæ, Tac.

Arimanis, unus ex illis Principibus, quos placet veteribus quibusdam habere imperium super mundum. Hi sunt Oremalis, Mitris, Arimanis. Cæl.

Arimaspes. A great friend of Zoroasters. Cæl.

Arimaspus. A river of Scythia of golden sands.

Arimaspi, i. lingua Scythica, Unoculi. Eust. People inhabiting by that river; they have but one eye, and that in their forehead; or (as Herodotus saith) they have two, but use to wink with the one, that they may have the other more stedily when they shoot.

Arimathæa, civ. Judææ, quæ & Ramat, & Ramathe, & cum Emphati vel Prosthesi, Arimathæa; dict. quòd in edito sita esset.

Arimaces Sogdianus. An Indian Prince put to death by Alexander. Curt.

Arimimum, à flumine propinquo dict. nominis sic dict. Fest. A city of Italy by the river Rubico, now called Rimini. Pl.

Arimphæi. Scythian people; or, as Amm. near to the Riphæan mountains; they live on berries and nuts.

Arimi [illegible] seu Mæonia. Var.

[illegible] A King of Cappadocia [illegible] and Pompey in his last battle against Cæsar. Luc. §. Also a captain of Darius, [illegible] Also a kil near Parthia.

ARIO, ōnis; m. (i) Ἀρείων, i. fortior, melior. A cunning Musician of Lesbos, who going into Italy, and getting a great deal of money by his skill, as he was sailing homewards, was set upon by the Mariners for his money; but he desired them, that he might play them one lesson on his harp before he died; and playing, leaped over board into the sea, and lighted on the back of a Dolphin, who delighted with his musick, carried him home before the Mariners came; where he told the story of his escape, and the Mariners being examined, confessed it. §. Also the name of Adrastus his horse.

Arioviſtus. A German Prince conquer'd by Cæsar: Germanicè Erneit, i. Severus. Avent.

Ariphron, The ninth Archon of the Athenians.

Arisba, vel Arisbe, Luc. sic dict. ab Arisbâ filiâ Teucri. A city of Troy, destroyed by Achilles. Vir.

Ariscotum. A city of Brabant, vul. Arschot, with a Dukedom belonging to it.

Aristæum. A city of Thrace, at the foot of mount Hæmus. Plin.

Aristæus. The son of Apollo by Cyrene, the daughter of Peneus, King of Arcadia. He first found out the use of honey, and rennet to make cheese, and oyl, and many other things. Just.

Aristæus vel Aristeas. A famous writer in the time of Ptolomy Philadelphus; whose Library-keeper he was. He wrote a book concerning the seventy two Interpreters, though some question, whether it were his.

Aristander. A sooth-sayer. Plin.

Aristarchus, i. optimus princeps. A Grammarian Critick of Alexandria, that undertook to correct Homer.

Aristarete. The daughter of Nearchus; she was an excellent picture-drawer. Plin.

Aristeus. A sophister in the time of Antonius the Emperour.

Aristides. An Athenian noble man, sirnamed the Just; Themistocles envying him, banished him the country by an Ostracism; but when Xerxes came against Greece, he was called home again to defend his country, and discharged many offices with great equity: when he died, all the money he left, would not pay the charges of his funeral. §. Also a Christian Philosopher in Adrian's time. Hier. §. Also a Painter, a Theban in Apelles time, who first expressed passions in paint. §. Also one that writ wanton Romances, under the title of Milesia. Ov.

ARISTIPPUS, i; m. (i. optimus equus) Cyrenæus, Socratis auditor, primus quæstu philosophatus est; cum Xenophonte simultatem habuit, & à Diogene Canis regius appellatus est, quòd Dionysio & divitibus ventris gratiâ adularetur. He was wont to say, That good cheer was no hindrance to a good life. He was complaisant to every body, never out of humour; whence the Poet gives him this character: Omnis Aristippum decuit color & status & res. He would use the pleasures he had, and slight those he had not: when he was to travel to increase his knowledge, he bade his servants throw away their money, that they might travel the better. He said pleasure was the end of good things, and sorrow of ill. He liked no pleasure but that which might concern a mans own happiness. His followers were called from his country, Cyrenaïci. §. A Master of that name, the Philosopher's Grand-child; who being in danger of ship-wrack, showed great fear; and being asked by one, Why, being a Philosopher, he should be more fearful than he? answered, I am afraid of the life of Aristippus; but if thou dies, there is no great harm done.

Aristo, ōnis; m. Many of that name Philosophers. Laert. §. One a great scholar, whom Pliny Jun. admired. §. One a woman-hater, who lay with an Ass, and had a daughter by her, named Onoscela; i. Ass-legged. Plut.

Aristobūla, gr. i. optimum consilium. Diana, so called by Themistocles, who built her a temple. Cæl.

Aristobūlus, ab ἄριστος optimus, & βουλὴ consilium. A King of the Jews. §. Also a Historian in the time of Alexander the Great. There were others of that name.

Aristocles, sic dict. priùs ex avi paterni nomine, pòst à magistro ob humerorum latitudinem Plato appellatus. Plato the Philosopher, so named at first.

Aristocreon. A Geographer. Plin.

Aristocritus. An Author whom Pliny mentions.

Aristodēmus, i. populi primarius, ὁ τῶν δήμων ἄριστος. One that taught Pompey's children.

Aristogiton. An Athenian Orator, who for his impudence was called Dog. §. One of those that slew the Tyrant Pisistratus. Suid.

Aristolāüs, gr. idem valet quod Aristodemus. An exact Painter.

Aristomāchus. One loved Bees so well, that for thirty eight years he did nothing else. Plin.

Aristomēnes. An Athenian Captain, whose heart at his death was found to be as hairy.

Ariston, i. optimus. A Carver, Plin. A Lawyer. Gell.

Aristonicus, i. ei, optimus victor. The son of Eumenes; he invaded Asia, Just. §. A Governor of Methymnia. Curt.

Aristonides. A famous Stone-cutter. Pl.

Aristonus, ἄριστος, i. mens optima. A Captain of horse under Alexander. Curt.

Aristonymus. A comical Poet, keeper of Philodelphus his Library. Athen.

ARISTOPHANES, is; m. (ă) i. optimus apparens. A comical Poet, eloquent in the Athenian tongue, though born at Lindum, a town of the Island Rhodes; he wrote fifty four Comedies; one of them called, The Clouds, which is counted the wittiest, was against Socrates. He was the chief writer of the old Comedy, as Menander of the new. St. Chrysostom was so much pleased with the reading of him, that when he went to sleep, he was wont to lay him under his pillow. §. Also a Grammarian of Byzantium.

Aristophon. A Painter. Plin. Est & civis Atheniensis qui sæpè gloriabatur quòd nonagies quinquies accusatus semper evasisset.

Aristor. The son of Crotopus, and father of hundred-eyed Argus, thence called Aristorides. Ov.

ARISTOTELES, is; m. dict. ab optimo fine, i. summo bono, de quo scripsit; ἄριστον τέλος. A famous Philosopher; Plato's Scholar, Alexander's Tutor; the son of Nicomachus, Physician to Amyntas, Alexander's Grand-father. He was called Stagirita, from the country Stagira, where he was born. He was the chief of the Sect of the Peripateticks.

Aristotimus. A Tyrant of Epire. Just.

Aristoxĕnus, optimus hospes. A Philosopher, the Scholar of Aristotle, born at Tarentum. § Also a Musician in the time of Tullus Hostilius. § One of that name of Cyrene, so curious in gardening, that every night he used to water his lettice with wine and honey, to make them grow the better, and relish more pleasantly.

Arius. The sixth King of the Assyrians. Also a river of Asia. § A noted Heretick, that denied the Son of God to be ὁμοούσιον, i. of the same substance with the Father.

Arius, ager asper & importuosus Chiās insulæ, Plin. & Virg. Arvisium, where the best sort of Greek wines grew.

Armacha & Ardinacha. An Arch-bishops seat in Ireland, the chief city of Ulster, called Armagh.

Armalchar, sic ab Assyriis appell. & significat regium flumen. sc. מלכא נהר The river Euphrates. Plin.

Armata Venus, was worshipped by the Lacedemonians, because their women meeting their husbands in the field after a victory, lay with them as they were armed. Lactant.

Armedon. An Island belonging to Greet. Plin.

ARMENIA, æ; f. nomen accepisse creditur ab Aram filio Sem. q. Aramia; al. à montibus trahunt, qui eam circunquaque cingunt, quos Heb. הרים Harim dicunt. A country of Asia, now called Turcomania, divided into two parts, the Greater and the Lesser; the Greater hath on the North Iberia; on the West part Cappadocia; on the East part the Hircan sea; on the South Mesopotamia. The lesser Armenia hath on the North and West a part of Cappadocia; on the East Euphrates; on the South Taurus. Armeni, populus.

Armenius, a, um; & Armeniacus, a, um. Of Armenia.

Armenochalybes, pop. Cappadociæ circa Armeniam majorem. Plin.

Armifera, Armigera, Armisonans, Armipotens, Poët. Epithets of Pallas.

Armilustrium. A feast among the Romans, when they appeared in arms; and blew trumpets at the sacrifice, Var. to wit, at the mustering of the Army.

Arminius. A German General, who routed Quintilius Varus and his Army. Tac.

Armistæ, pop. Dalmatiæ. Plin.

Armoricæ. La Bretaigne. Armoricæ vel Aremoricæ civitates. Bretagne in France, so called by Cæsar. Ab Ar super & Mor mare, Brit.

Armuzia vel Armuza. The Island Ormus, with a city of the same name in the Persian gulf.

Arna, civ. Umbrorum in Italiâ. Sil. Arnates pop.

Arne, urbs Bœotiæ, juxta sinum Maliacum. Plin. q. הר נאה i. mons amœnus; quòd sit in sublimi posita. Boch.

Arnoba, Arnoboa, & Arbona. Mons est ex adverso Rauraci Galliæ oppidi, Tac. Plin.

Arnobius. A Rhetorician of Africk, master to Lactantius; he wrote seven books against the Gentiles, ann. Chr. 300.

Arnolphus. The name of divers noble-men.

Arnus. A swift river in Italy, which runneth by Florence, now called Arno. Rutil.

Aroma. A city of Cappadocia. Plin.

Arospes, fl. Arianæ regionis. Plin.

Arotus, & Marotus. Two Angels (as the Alcoran tells the story) sent from heaven to teach men not to kill, not to judge falsely, not to drink any wine. A certain beautiful woman had them to supper, and gave them such store of wine as they were drunk, and then both of them solicite her to lie with her; she granted, upon condition they would teach her those words, which being said, he or she that said them, should go straightway to heaven: They taught her, and afterwards claiming her promise to lie with her, she said the words, and was presently taken up into heaven, and told God all that had passed. He punished the Angels, and turned her into the Morning-star. From this came the forbidding the use of wine amongst the Turks.

Arpani, pop. Italiæ. Plin.

Arphaxad. The son of Shem; à quo Chaldæi; Lat. Janans & Iaxans.

Arpi. A city of Apulia. Mart. at first called Argi, then Argos Hippium, then Argyripa, at last Arpi.

Arpiages. One that did eat his son. Ovid. sed. leg. Harpagides, i. Harpagi filius. LL.

Arpinas, ātis. One of Arpinum, especially a name given to Tully, by his adversaries, in scorn, shewing his mean original.

Arpium, hodie Abruzzo opp. Volscorum. An ancient town of Italy, famous for the birth of Plautus and Marius.

Arræi, pop. Thraciæ. Plin.

Arrebaci, pop. Hispaniæ. Plin.

Arria. A Roman Lady, whose husband Pætus being condemned, she stabbed herself with a poniard, and gave it to him to do the like. Mart.

Arrius. A Philosopher in Alexandria in Augustus his time; and another, an acquaintance of Cicero. Also an Arch-hereticke, who denied the Divinity of Christ; who at last in a house-of-office voided his entrails with his excrements.

Arsăces, i. Elevans scutum. A Parthian King, from whom the succeeding Kings were called Arsacidæ. Tac. Luc. Hence Arsăcius, a, um. Mart. for Parthicus.

Arsagalitæ, pop. ad Indum fl. prope montem Caucasum. Plin.

Arsames, A Governour of Cilicia, that destroyed the country when Alexander was coming. Curt.

Arsametes, fl. Asiæ juxta Parthiam aut Armeniam. Tac.

Arsamote, urbs Mesopotamiæ. Plin.

Arsania. A river of Armenia. Plin.

Arsenius. A noble-man of Rome, who hearing these words, Fuge, tace, quiesce, he knew not from whom, left his estate, and betook himself to a Monastery.

Arsenotheleæ, gr. i. masculo-fœminæ. Ancient Gods so called, because they did participate of both sexes. Cæl.

Arsia. A wood in Tuscany. § A river of Italy, running by Campania. Plin.

Arsicodani, pop. Arabiæ Fælicis. Plin.

Arsicoras. King of Sardis in Annibal's time.

Arsinoë, es; f. Daughter of King Ptolomy Lagus, and wife to Lysimachus King of Macedon, after whose death her brother Ceraunus deceitfully and cruelly murdering her two sons, and banishing her, seized the Kingdom. Just. § Another of that name, Cleopatra's sister, who in Cæsar's distress at Alexandria left him, and sided with his enemies; and at last by Ganymeds help, having rid Achillas out of the way, got the government into her hands. § A city of Egypt far up by the Red sea. Val. Fl. Several other cities of that name.

Arsissa. A lake in Armenia, wherein things never so heavy swim. Plin.

Arsinus. A martyr under Decius.

Artăbanus. The son of Hystapis, and brother of Darius King of Persia. Just. Also a King of Parthia, whom Artaxerxes the Persian slew, and restored the Kingdom to the Persians.

Artabatitæ. Ethiopians that live wild. Pl.

Artăbazus. A great friend of Darius. Just. Also one of Xerxes captains.

Artabri, dict. ab Artabro vicino promontorio. People of Portugal. Sil.

Artabrum. A Promontory of Portugal, now called Capo di Mongia. (It is also taken for Lands-end in Cornwal.)

Artacæos, insc. in Propontide. Plin.

Artace. A city of the Mileſians in Phrygia, Plin. Also a mountain in the Isle Cyzicus.

Artacana, opp. Bactrianæ reg. Curt.

Artăcia, fons apud Læstrygonas. Tib.

Artatus, Illyriæ amnis. Liv.

Artaunum, urbs Germaniæ; hod. Herbipolis, vul. Wirtzburg, i. herbarum civitas; Franconiæ caput.

Artaxăta, plur. num. Juv. urbs Armeniæ maj. quam Annibal Artaxiæ regi condidit ad Araxem fluvium.

Artaxerxes, i. e. μέγας ἀνήρ. Nam ap. Persas Ἀρτὰς, μέγας. Hes. & Ξέρξης ἀνήρ, Herod. Amm. interpr. Belli victor. The name of divers Persian Kings, as Cæsar was of the Romans. One whereof was son of Xerxes King of the Persians, called Longimanus and Assuerus: he had an hundred and fifteen Sons by his Concubines, and by his lawful Wife three; to wit, Darius, Ochus, and Ariarates; of which Darius being made King by his father, together with fifty of his brethren, conspired against his father, who were all slain: Also another, brother to Cyrus the younger, firnamed Memnon; when a poor man offered him an apple of an exceeding bigness, he took it gratefully, saying, This man will make a great city of a little one. The other was wont to say, Beneficium dare longè magis regale quàm auferre.

Artemas, Ἀρτεμᾶς. Nomen viri, Tit. 3. ab Ἄρτεμις Minerva. ut Ζηνᾶς à Jove, dict.

Artemidorus. One that taught Greek at Rome, an acquaintance of Brutus, who the very morning Cæsar was murther'd, presented him with an information of the conspiracy against him; which had he read, he might have prevented it. § One that wrote the Onirocriticks, or Interpretation of Dreams. § A Philosopher in Trajans time. Plin. jun.

Artĕmis, Diana sive Luna, quòd acrem secet, qu. ἀειτόμη. Ov. vel ut Strabo, Ἀπὸ τῆς ἀρτιμίας τοκετῶν, quòd integros reddat partus, quippe quæ parturientibus præsit.

Artemisia. The wife of Mausolus King of Caria, a woman of renowned chastity; after her husbands death, she drank up his ashes in wine; and made such a famous tomb for her husband, that all stately monuments were

were hence called Mausoléa, Gel. § Another Queen of Halicarnasi, &c. a woman of great courage and conduct, that assisted Xerxes against the Greeks. Just.

Artemisium, q. d. Dianium; lacus prope Ariciam Dianæ sacer; Lat. Nemorense dict. unde Sacerdos ejus loci Nemorensis rex dic. Suet.

Artemisius. A hill of Arcadia. Plin.

Artĕmon Clazomenius. He found out the Lute and the Battering Ram. Serv. Another an excellent Painter, Plin. § Also a Syrian, who was so very like Antiochus, that after he was kill'd, usurped the Kingdom by Laodice the Queens means. Val. M.

Artemōna, Ἀρτεμών, ab Ἄρτεμις, Diana, ut Artemisia, &c. fœm. ab Ἀρτέμων. A woman of very good parts. Plaut.

Artena, opp. Volscorum. Liv.

Artesia. A Province of the Spanish Netherlands, Artois.

Arthabaticæ. Wild savage people. Plin. Sol.

Arthurus, ab Arcturo stellâ, Camd. vel ab ἄρκτος, Ursus, q. d. Ursinus. King Arthur, a brave Prince, a right Briton, famous for his prowess and chivalry, and one whose great parts and achievements would have made a fit subject for a worthy History, had not the Monks abused it with fictions and Romances: He worsted the Saxons in fifteen battles, and well-near drove them out of the Realm. His name is still famous, and the Knights of his round Table talkt of. He lived about five hundred years after Christ.

Artigula, inf. Æthiopiæ. Plin.

Artotyritæ, i. panem & caseum offerentes, ab ἄρτος & τύρος. People that offered bread and cheese to their gods. Epiph.

Artūrius. An unworthy fellow at Rome, who had got to be rich. Juv.

Arvæ, pop. Hircaniæ. Curt.

Arvales fratres 12. Sacerdotes à Romulo instituti, quorum officium erat Cereri & Baccho pro frugum & vini ubertate ambarvales hostias mactare, quæ idcirco dicebantur, quòd antequam mactarentur, ter circum arva ducerentur.

Arvisium. A Promontory of the Isle Chius, from whence came the best Greek wines, called Arvisia vina: Gr. Ἀρμισία, Virg. Malmsey.

Arubas, rex Molossorum. Just.

Arucci, Hisp. Bœticæ urbs. Plin.

Arverna, or Arvernæ. The chief City of Guienne in France, a Bishops See; now called Clermont.

Arverni. Luc. A people of France, upon the river Loir, who pretended themselves akin to the Romans, as being descended from the Trojans, Les gens d'Auvergne.

Arvernum, urbs Aquitaniæ episcopais; hod. Clermont; caput Arvernorum.

Arvirāgus. One of the Kings formerly of Britain. Juv.

Arula. A river in France, called the Loir. Al. Lædus dicitur.

Arunx. A Sooth-sayer, Luc. Also the eldest son of Tarquinius Superbus, which slew Brutus in the war at Regillum, Liv. Also a Trojan souldier that slew Camilla. Vir.

Aruntina. A town of Sussex, Arundel.

Aruntius Stella. An ingenious Roman Gentleman, an acquaintance of Statius the Poet.

Arvonia. The city Caernarvon in Wales.

Arupinum. A town of Istria. Tib.

Arŭppum. A town of Guienne in France, Sidon. Al. leg. Avernam.

Arxippus, 21. Archon Athenienſium.

Arymphæi, pop. circa Mœotim. Plin.

A ante S.

Asachæ, & Asachæi. A people in the mountains of Æthiopia, Plut.

Asacus. A river of Macedon, at the foot of the mountain Œta. Liv.

Asampatæ, pop. circa Mœotim. Plin.

Asania, fl. Mauritaniæ. Solin.

Asărōton, i; n. ἀσάρωτον, sc. pavimentum, Stat. ab α priv. & σαίρω, verro; quoniam purgamenta cœnæ in pavimento, quæque everri solent, veluti relicta videbantur; nim. parvis è testulis, tinctisque in varios colores constrato, Plin. ita ut existimaret quis non fuisse versum. Hinc Asaroticis lapillis ap. Sidon.

Asbamea. A spring of Cappadocia, near to which Asbamæi Jovis templum in Cappadociâ. Amm.

Asbestæ, vel Asbystæ. People of Lybia, where the Oracle of Ammon was.

Asbŏlus, gr. i. fuligo, à fuligineo pilorum colore dict. One of Actæon's dogs.

Ascălăphus, Acherontis & Orphnes Avernalis Nymphæ filius. Acheron's son, turned into an Owl by Proserpina, for telling that she had eaten an apple in hell, and so hindering her return.

Ascalingium. The city Hildesheim in Germany. Al. Hildesium.

Ascălon, אשקלון i. appensio vel statera, sive ignis infamiæ, dict. ab Ascalo Lydo, à quo est condita. A city of Palestine, vul. Scalona.

Ascanius, fl. Bithyniæ per Ascaniam paludem fluens. Vir. dict. fortè ab אשכנז Ashkenaz, filio Gomeri.

Ascanius, dict. ab Ascanio Trojæ fluvio, deinde Ilus, ab Ilo Trojanorum rege, postea Iulus, à prima barbæ lanugine. The son of Æneas by Creüsa, King Priam's daughter. He reigned after his father over the Latins, and built the city called Alba longa; and after thirty eight years reign, left his half-brother Sylvius Posthumus his successor.

Ascantici, pop. Sarmatiæ Asiaticæ. Plin.

Ascenas Gomeri filius; à quo dict. sinus Ascanius, & Ascanius lacus & amnis in Bithynia; item Ascania regio & urbs in Phrygiâ. Judæi hoc nomine Germaniam intelligunt.

Ascia, ἄσκια, i. sine umbra. Loci Indiæ, in quibus umbræ non sunt. Plin.

Asciburgium, urbs Germaniæ. Ta. vul. Emerich, vel, ut Lipsio magis placet, Aschelburg.

Ascitæ, Arabes dict. ab utribus quos Græci ἀσκοὺς vocant, quoniam bubulos utres binos sternentes ponto piraticam exercent. A people of Arabia. Plin.

Asclepiades the Prusian. A Rhetorician, afterwards he professed Physick; he used to say, That health was preserved by abstinence from meat and drink, by walking, labouring, and rubbing the body. He never was sick himself, but at last died with falling down stairs. Plin. § An Historian of Cyprus in Pigmalion's time. Hier. § A blind Philosophers name in Tully. § Also a Poet, the first maker of Asclepiad verses. Several others of that name.

Asclepiodorus. A Painter; Mnason the Tyrant gave him for the making of the twelve gods, three hundred pounds apiece. Plin. § A Mathematician of Alexandria. Suid.

Asclepius. The son of Mnason, and grandchild of Æsculapius. Aug.

Ascleterion. A Mathematician who foretold that himself should be eaten with dogs; Domitian to shew the vanity of his Art, gave order that he should be put to death, and buried carefully; but a sudden storm tearing up his grave, the dogs did eat him indeed. Suet.

Asclus. A city of Italy. Sil.

Ascōlia, ἀσκωλία, δοτ τῇ ἀσκῇ, i. ab utre dict. Festa apud Atticos in Bacchi honorem celebrari solita, quibus rustici unctos saliere per utres. Vir. qui quidem utres ex pelle capri, quem immolabant, inflatâ fiebant. Serv. Ἀσκωλιάζειν, τὸ ἐπὶ τῶν ἀσκῶν ἁλλεσθαι. Schol. Aristoph. idque uno pede, quò frequenti lapsu materiam risûs præberent.

Ascŏnius Pedianus. A Commenter upon Tullies Orations: he lived in the time of Nero the Emperour. § Another, an Historian in Vespasian's time. Hier.

Ascra. A town in Bœotia, by the mount Helicon, the Poet Hesiod's country; from thence called Ascræus.

Ascŭlum. The chief town of Picenum; another in Apulia. Flor.

Asdrŭbal. The name of several Noblemen of Carthage, of which one married Annibal's sister. He was slain by a Moor-slave, whose master he had killed before: the slave being tortur'd, never altered his countenance. Liv. Sil. § Another defeated by Cl. Nero, by the river Metaurum. Hor. § Another in the third Punick war, that upon the surrender of Carthage, with his wife and children threw themselves into the flames of the city. Liv.

Aselli. Two Stars in Cancer, with a little Cloud betwixt them, called Præsepe, i. The Cratch. Plin.

Asellius Sempronius. An Historian in Scipio Æmilianus time. Cic.

Asia palus, & Asia prata; (ā) Vir. apud Tmolum-montem & Caystrum fluvium, ubi ua nplurimæ grues.

ASIA, æ; f. (ă) dict. ab Uxore Promethei, Herod. vel ab igne sacro in Asiâ culto. Becm. Nam אשה & Jœminam & ignem sign. vel qu. חציה i. media, inter Europam & Africam, Boch. The third part of the world, larger than the other two together; divided from Europe by the river Tanais, and the Ægean sea; from Africk by the river Nile. It lies under the dominion of six great Lords, and is shared among them: the Czar of Muscovy, the Cham of Tartary, the Emperour of China, the Grand Seignior, the Sophy of Persia, and the Great Mogul in the East-Indies. That part of it betwixt the Euxin and the Mediterranean sea, is called Asia the less, now in the vulgar Greek, Natolia, from ἀνατολή, which signifies, the East; because it lies East from Greece: And it contains under it several countries, Pontus, Bithynia, Phrygia, Cilicia, Cappadocia, Lycia, Lydia, Ionia, &c. A very rich, fruitful and pleasant country. Hinc Asianus, & Asiaticus, a um. Of Asia. Asiaticum dicendi genus, Ἀσιανὸς χαρακτήρ. A loose bumbastical tedrom way of speaking.

Asiarchæ, gr. i. Asiæ præfecti. Rulers of Asia, men chosen by common consent to manage the publick affairs. § Certain priests, whose office it was to set forth Plays in honour of their Gods.

Asida. A town of Bœtica in Spain. Pl.

Asilas. A Soothsayer which helped Æneas against Turnus. Vir. § A Trojan captain. Id.

Asina,

Asĭna, cognomen Corneliorum, quòd à Cneio Cornelio Scipione ad posteros est propagatum; hic enim cum sponsores ab eo poscerentur, asinam produxit in forum cum pecuniæ onera, quasi pro sponsoribus præsens pignus, eámque ob causam Asina postea dictus est. Macr.

Asinaria, festus dies erat Syracusis, ab Asinario fluvio dict. apud quem Atheniensium Imp. Demosthenes ac Nicias capti. Plut. ◊ The name of one of Plautus his comedies.

Asinarius, vel Assinarus, fl. Siciliæ, ab Heb. הצינור i. e. canalis, emissarium aquarum.

Asĭne, es; f. One of the Sporades Islands. Another in the Adriatick sea. Mel. A town of Messenia in Peloponnesus. Ptol. Asinæ cautes, Luc.

Asines, is; m. fl. Siciliæ, hod. Fiume freddo.

Asinius ab asino. Sigon. The name of divers Noble men of Rome.

Asinius Pollio. A famous Oratour in the time of Cæsar and Tully, the first erecter of a common Library, wherein he set the Image of Varro. Plin. Virgil inscribes one of his Eclogues to him.

Asinius Gallus. The son of Pollio, who wrote a book in commendation of his father before Tully for eloquence; which was answered by Claudius Cæsar. Suet.

Asinius Capito. A learned Grammarian. Gell.

Asis, idis; f. (ă) unde Asida terram, Ov. Asia.

Asisinates, Plin. The People of Asisium, a town in Italy, Vulg. Assisi.

Asius. The son of Dymas, and brother of Hecuba, Hectors uncle; also a river of Umbria in Italy called Chiazo rising in the hill Asi. Also a name of Jupiter so called from Asium, a town of Creet. St.

Asmodæus. The name of a Devil in Tobit. à שמד perdidit. q. d. Ἀπολλύων.

Asnæus, mons Macedoniæ. Liv.

Asōpiades. Æacus son of Ægina, and grand-child to Asopus. Ovid.

Asōpis. Ægina daughter of Asopus. ◊ A country of Peloponnesus, so caued from the river Asopus.

Asōpus, i; m. A river of Bœotia, that runs by Thebes, the father of Ægina, Poët. ◊ Another of Asia, by Laodicea. ◊ Another of Macedon, by Heraclea, Liv. ◊ Another of Morea; not far from Corinth.

Asorus. A river of Heraclea, at the foot of the mountain Oeta. Liv. Al. leg. Asurus, Ascordus, & Asasus. LL.

Aspagones, pop. Indiæ. Plin.

Aspar. Garamas quidam. Pont.

Aspasia. A woman-Rhetorician of Miletum; who taught Socrates Eloquence, and was much respected by Pericles for her wisdom and policy. ◊ Another a Phocian, a very beautiful woman, Cyrus his mistris. Justin ab ἀσπάζομαι, amplector.

Aspasius. A Sophister of Tyrus; Another of Byblus, that writ a Panegyrick on Adrian, in whose time he lived. Suid.

Aspelia. A name of the Isle Cyprus. Plin.

Aspendius. A harper that would singer the harp so lightly, that none could hear it but himself, Cic. whence came the Proverb, Aspendius Cythæristæ, i. One all for his own profit. Ascon.

Aspendus, A city of Pamphylia, where they offered in sacrifice swine to Venus, because Mopsus vowing to offer the first thing.

Aspis, à Clypei forma dictum ἀσπὶς, opp. & mons Africæ, Sil. ◊ Also the name of several Islands.

Aspledon. A city of Bœotia. Plin.

Assabinus. A name of Jupiter among the Arabians. Blin.

Assăcus. The son of Tros, the father of Capys, of whom came Anchises. Assaraci tellus, Hor. Troy.

he met, it chanced to be a Son. Steph.

Asphalius, ἀσφάλιος, i. firmus. Neptune so called from ceasing earth-quakes, or he is called Ennosigæus from raising them.

Asphaltites, sc. lacus. Ἀσφαλτῖτις λίμνη, & Asphaltus ἄσφαλτος, i. bitumen. The lake of brimstone in Judæa, where once Sodom and Gomorrha stood, called by Justin, The dead Sea wherein no living creature can drown. Plin. hod. Serban, Jun.

Assaradon. The last King of the Assyrians, son of Sennacherib; he lived in the time of King Hezekiah.

Asseriates. People of the Alps. Plin. hod. Val de Serra.

Assessiates, pop. Illyriæ. Plin.

Assidæi. A religious Sect among the Jews. Maccab. qu. חסידים. i. pii.

Assisia, apud Milesios Pallas dicta est, vel Assesia ab Asseso oppido, in quo templum habuit.

Assorini. People of Assorus, a town of Sicily. Cic.

Assos, i. appropinquatio. ab ἄσσον propius. A city of Lycia, scituated on an high dangerous Promontory; from whence that saying of Nicostratus, ἄσσον ἢ λλ. Assos eas, ut citiùs ad exitii terminos pervenias. ◊ It is the name of several other cities.

Assuerus, אחשורוש, i. princeps & caput, filius Darii Hystasp. regis Persarum, qui & Artaxerxes, maritus Esthera.

Assyria, אשור, sic dict. ab Assur filio Shem. A large country in Asia: on the East it hath Media, on the West it hath Mesopotamia, on the North Armenia the less, and on the South Susiana. Here was the first monarchy erected.

Assyrius, a, um. One of Assyria.

Asta. ab אשרה effusio ὑ κατὰ Ἀσσυρίους. Str. vel ab asylum urbis. A city of Spain near the Streights. ◊ Another of Italy, near Leghorn. Claud.

Astaces. A river of Pontus. Plin.

Astacus, dict. ab Astaco Neptuni & Olbiæ Nymphæ filio. A city of Asia. ◊ It. civ. Acarnaniæ. Plin.

Astapa, urbs Hisp. Bæticæ. Liv. hod. Estepa.

Astăpus, fl. Æthiopiæ. A river, which together with Nile and Astabora makes the Island Meroe. Plin.

Astarte, ab עשתרות, i. greges sive divitiæ. Ἀστάρτη, ἡ παρ' Ἰδυμαίοις Ἀφροδίτη. Suid. A goddess of the Assyrians and of the Sidonians, to whom Solomon, to please one of his Concubines, raised an altar.

Astartus. A King of Tyre.

Asteria, vel Asterie, ἀστερία, i. Stellaris. The daughter of Cœus the son of Titan, of whom Jupiter in the shape of an Eagle begat Hercules. Jupiter afterwards being angry with her, the Gods in pity turned her into a Quail, in Greek Ὄρτυξ, of whom the Island whither she fled was called Ortygia; afterwards Jove turned her into a stone. The Island was afterward called Delos, where the Sun first appeared after the Deluge, and consecrated to Apollo, who therefore is said to be born there; there also was fire first found.

Asterion. The son of Cometas one of the Argonauts, that followed Jason to Colchis; Val. Fl. ◊ Also a river of Achaia, that runneth into the Nemæan wood. Stat. ◊ Also a city of Thessaly, quòd in alto monte velut astrum fulgeret.

Asteropæus, The son of Pelagonius one of the Trojan side, who was slain by Achilles, when he went to revenge the death of Patroclus. Hom.

Astigi. The name of three cities in Spain.

Astiochia. The mother of Tlepolemus.

Astomi, i. sine ore, ἄ priv. & στόμα os: anhelitu-tantum viventes & odore. A people of India, which having no mouth, live by smelling; they are all hairy, and cloath themselves with cotton gathered from the leaves of trees.

Astorgius, ἀστοργος, i. affectione amoris carens. The son of Galeotus.

Astræa, quòd relicta terra inter astra habitet. The daughter of Astræus King of Arcadia and Aurora; or of Jupiter and Themis; The Goddess of Justice. She in the Golden age of the world lived upon earth; but in the Iron age fled to heaven, and there became the sign Virgo, next to Libra, Justices Ballance. Ovid.

Astræus, ἀστραῖος, i. astrorum veterum pater, teste Arato. One of the Titans that warred against the Gods; and father of Astræa, as some say.

Astrapæus, gr. i. fulgurator, ab ἀστραπὴ Coruscatio. Jupiter so called.

Astrapa, ἀστραπὴ, i. fulgur. One of the seven stars or Pleiades. Al. Asterope.

Astreus. One of those that Perseus slew in the uproar in King Cepheus his Court. Ovid.

Astrologus. A name given Hercules, for burning himself that day, when there was to be an Eclipse of the Sun. Fest.

Astur. One that helped Æneas against Turnus; also one of Asturia.

Astura, opp. & fl. Latii.

Asturcones, equi ab Asturia regione Hispaniæ ita appellati, quibus non vulgaris in cursu gradus, sed mollis alterno crurum explicatu glomeratio est. Plin. Ambling nags of Asturia.

Asturia. A country of Arragon in Spain, bordering upon Gallicia, famous for golamines, and a sort of horses, which we cal Spanish Gennets. Mart. The people Astures. The country is now called Las Esturias.

Asturica Augusta, Asturam urbs. The city Astorga in Spain.

Asturum lucus. A city of Spain; hod. Oviedo.

Astusăpes. A name of the river Nile. Plin.

Asty vel Astu, ἄστυ civitas, unde per excell. Athenæ & Alexandria vocabantur.

Astyages, qu. ἄστυ ἄγων, civitatis ductor. The last King of the Medes, who married his daughter to one Cambyses, a mean Persian; of whom he got Cyrus, who at last outed his Grand-father, and translated the Empire to the Persians. Just.

Astyanassa. A wanton maid of Helena's. Prima de variis concubitûs modis librum conscripsit, Suid.

Astanax,

Aſtyanax, i. urbis Rex. The ſon of Hector and Andromache, whom the Grecians cruelly threw down headlong off from a tower, and beat out's brains. Ov.

Aſtydāmas. A Tragical Poet of Athens; alſo a Stage-player, a vain-glorious fellow.

Aſtydamia. The daughter of Ormenus, whom Hercules raviſhed after he had ſlain her father.

Aſtydamus Mileſius. A great eater.

Aſtylus. One of the Centaurs, a Sooth-ſayer, who fearing the Lapithæ, fled out of the ſcuffle. Ov.

Aſtylus Crotoniata. An excellent Racer in King Hiero's time.

Aſtymedūſa, i. urbem regens. Œdipus his ſecond wife, whom he married after his mother was divorced from him.

Aſtynŏme, alio nomine Chryſeïs. The daughter of Chryſes, Prieſt of Apollo.

Aſtynŏmi, gr. Ædiles, vel ut Gaz Tribuni plebis. Magiſtrates at Athens, who were to look to the Muſicians.

Aſtynous. A Trojan Prince ſlain by Diomedes. Hom.

Aſtyŏche. The daughter of Actor, of whom Mars got Aſcalaphus and Jalmenus, two that were at the Trojan war. Hom.

Aſtyochia. One of whom Hercules begat Tlepolemus. Hom.

Aſtypālæa. One of the Iſlands Cyclades; called ſo from the mother of Ancæus. Al. ἄνω παλαιὰ, i. urbs vetuſta. Hence Aſtypaleius, a, um. Ovid.

Aſtyr. Memn[illegible]gon. v.

Aſuciandæ, po[illegible] Aſiat. Plin.

Aſuſa, opp. Italiæ [illegible]uſani. Plin.

Aſura, opp. ad Euphr[illegible]. Plin.

Aſus. A town in the middle of Crete.

Aſychis, A King of Egypt. Herod.

Aſylas. A Sooth-ſayer in Virgil.

Aſylum, ἄσυλον, i. inviolatum; vel ab אשל nemus, lucus. A temple built by Romulus, which was a ſanctuary for malefactors.

Aſyncritus, gr. i. incomparabilis. A mans name, Rom. 16. 6.

A ante T.

Atabuli, pop. Æthiopiæ. Plin.

Atăbulus, gr. ἀτάβολος ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀτάλλειν, i. à noxa detrimentóque inferendo. Porph. A wind proper to Apulia; by Gellius it is called, Horace's wind, as mentioned by him.

Atabyria, dict. ab Atabyro rege, ſive Atabyri editiſſimo totius inſulæ monte. The Iſle Rhodes once ſo called.

Atabyris, Jovi Atabyrio ſacer mons. A high hill in Rhodes, on the top whereof was a temple of Jupiter's.

Atacini, Atacis amnis accolæ. A people of Narbon in France.

ATALANTA, virgo venatrix. King Jaſius daughter of Arcadia, who having vow'd virginity, devoted her ſelf to Diana, and turned huntreſs. She, together with Meleager, kill'd the Calydonian boar, with whom ſhe afterward married, and had by him Parthenopæus. She is called from her father Jaſis; from the hill Nonacrius in Arcadia, Nonacria, and Nonacrina by Ovid; and by St. Hierom, The Calydonian maid.

Atalanta, filia Schœnei regis in Scyro inſula. She was ſo ſwift of foot, that ſhe made an offer, that whoſoever could overrun her, ſhould have her; but if ſhe overran them, he that loſt the goal ſhould die; as many did; till at length one Hippomenes ventured to run with her; but Venus had given him three golden apples, which, as they were running, he threw down one after another in the way; ſhe ſtaying to take them up, he won the race, and had the Virgin; but becauſe they lay together in the temple of Cybele, they were afterward both turned into Lions, and made to draw her coach. Hence Atalantæus, a, um. Stat.

Atalante, inſula parva Eubœæ. hod. Talandi.

Atarnites, Ovid. Atarnæ tyrannus, Ariſtoteli neceſſarius & percharus. Turneb.

Atas, vel Athas, æ; m. A boy that could run ſeventy five miles in one afternoon. Mart.

Ataulphus. A King of the Goths, who purpoſed to ſack Rome, and call it Gothia; but he deſiſted from his purpoſe, by the interceſſion of Placidia, ſiſter of Honorius; vixit an. Chriſt. 410. Diac.

Atax, Luc. A river of Narbon in France. vul. Ande.

Ate, ātæ, i. noxa. The Goddeſs of revenge and miſchief.

Atella, unde dicti ludi Atellani. Juv. A town of Campania.

Atepomarus. A French King that warring againſt the Romans, vow'd he would not quit the city, till they delivered up their wives for him and his to abuſe; they ſent their bond-women, and preſently on a ſudden iſſued out upon them, and overthrew them; whereupon was inſtituted the ſervant-maids Holy-day.

ATERGATIS, vel Atergata; ab אדיר & דג i. e. magnus piſcis. Voſſ. The mother of Semiramis, as ſome ſay, who for the loſs of her maiden-head grew ſo melancholy, that ſhe threw her ſelf headlong into a lake. Now when the divers that ſought for her body could not find it, they fancied that ſhe was turned into a fiſh; wherefore her neighbour people moſt religiouſly [illegible] eating of fiſh; wherefore they called her Atergatis, i. e. ἄτερ Γατιδὸς, without fiſh; the word in Syrick ſignifying a fiſh. Athenæus ſayes, her right name was Gatis; and that ſhe loved fiſh ſo well, that ſhe put out an order, that no one ſhould eat fiſh ἄτερ Γατιδὸς, i. e. beſide Gatis: for which reaſon the common people nick-nam'd her Atergatis. She was a Goddeſs, or Idol of the Aſſyrians; her upper part reſembling a woman, the lower like a fiſh. Plin. She went by other names alſo, Derceto and Dagon. Macrobius underſtands her to be the Earth, as Adad to be the Sun, of which two all things are produced.

Aternus. Pelignorum fl. in Italia; hod. Peſcara.

Ateſtē, is; n. A city in the country of Venice, now Eſta. Tac. Hence Ateſtinus, a, um. Mart.

Athamanes, pop. Ætoliæ. Plin.

Athamantes, pop. Epiri & in ſing. Athamas. Luc.

Athamantides, i. Phryxus, Melicertes, vel Learchus, Athamantis filius.

Athamantis. Wife to Athamas.

ATHAMAS, antis; m. The ſon of Æolus, King of Thebes; he had by Nephele his wife two children, Helle and Phryxus; after her, marrying Ino daughter to Cadmus, ſhe accuſed his children of ſome crime, that getting upon the back of the Ram that had the golden fleece, they ſwam over the ſea Helleſpont, to get away from their mother-in-law. Juno angry with Ino for miſuſing the children, made her husband mad with her. He meeting her, and the children he had by her, thought it had been a Lioneſs and her whelps, ſlew one, and made her and her other ſon run down a ſteep rock into the ſea. Ovid. § Item Theſſaliæ mons. § Alſo a river, the water whereof did ſet wood on fire. Ovid.

Athanagia, urbs Hiſpaniæ citerioris. Liv.

Athanaſius, i. immortalis. A Greek Father, and Biſhop of Alexandria, perſecuted by the Arians many years. He was one of the Councel of Nice.

Athānāti, ἀθάνατοι, i. Immortales. Curt. quòd mortuo uno ſubſtituebatur alius. A ſquadron of Perſian horſe, conſiſting of ten thouſand men, which as faſt as any of the number died, was immediately ſupplied.

Athara. Atergatis ſo called. Cæl.

Athēna, Minerva; ἀθήνη, quaſi ἀθήλη, quòd lactata non ſit. Voſſ. ab איתן fortis, vel à תבה ſtudere, docere, quòd ſit belli & ſtudiorum præſes; Capello ארון ה i. Domina.

Athena. The mother of Biſhop Cataldus.

ATHENÆ, ārum; f. pl. (ē) à Minerva dict. quam Græci ἀθήνη appellant: ferunt enim Neptunum cum Minerva de urbis hujus nomine contendiſſe, tandemque inter eos ita conveniſſe, ut urbi nomen imponeret, qui utilius humano generi munus edidiſſet: cúmque Neptunus equum, Pallas oleam produxiſſet, victum ſuffragio uno Neptunum Minervæ conceſſiſſe, quæ urbem recens conditam de nomine ſuo Athenas appellavit. The famous City and Univerſity of Athens in Greece, on the ſea-coaſt in Attica, firſt built by Cecrops, and called Cecropia. hod. Setines. Tully calls it Omnium doctrinarum inventrices Athenas: And in another place, Unde humanitas, doctrina, religio, fruges, jura, leges ortæ. The people are called Athenienſes, i. Athenians.

Athenæ, Minervæ ſacra. Paul.

Athenæum. A place dedicated to Minerva for exerciſes of Learning; a publick School or College. Lampr. § Alſo a Promontory of Italy. hod. Capo di Campanella.

Athenæus, gr. i. Athenienſis. A Philoſopher of Cilicia in the time of Auguſtus. § Alſo a Grammarian under M. Antonius, who wrote a learned book De Deipnoſophiſtis.

Athenion. An Athenian, General in the time of the war with Mithridates. Cæl. § An excellent Painter. Plin.

Athenŏdōrus. A Stoick Philoſopher, who taught Auguſtus this leſſon, That he ſhould neither ſay nor do any thing, but take time, till he ſaid over the Greek Alphabet; that ſo he might not ſay, or do any thing raſhly, or in paſſion. He was Tiberius his Tutor, Suet. His country, Tarſus. Str. § Alſo a Stone-cutter. Plin.

Athenŏpŏlis, opp. Galliæ Narbon. Plin. vul. Ries, Yres, vel Eres.

Athēſis, is; m. Vir. A pleaſant delightful river in the country of Venice, paſſing by Trent, and through Verona into the Adriatick ſea: It is called by the Italians, l'Adige; by the Germans, Eſch.

Athilla. A proud King of Hungary. Jov.

ATHOS, ōs; vel Athon, ōnis; m. (ă) Poët. A high mountain of Macedon, the ſhadow whereof reacheth unto the iſle Lemnos, at eighty ſeven miles diſtance. Xerxes

Xerxes the Persian King digg'd through a good way of it, to make a passage for his fleet. Juv. Luc. 'Tis now called Monte Santo. ◊ Fuit & nomen gigantis à quo mons nomen habet. Nicand.

Athous, Jupiter cultus in vertice montis Atho. Hesych.

Athyrax. The father of Hippodamia, the first Inventer of Magick: Also a river in Ætolia, and a city in Thessaly.

Athyras. A river of Thrace. Plin. Atyras; hod. Acqua dolce.

Athyta, sacrificia, quæ ἄνευ σωμάτων, i. sine victimis diis offerebantur. Cæl.

Atilia. An ancient, but mean family of Rome. ◊ A town of Germany called Altenburg, or Azelburg.

Atimetus, ὁ τιμῆεις, i. non honoratus. A free man of Cæsar's.

Atina, dict. à morbis, qui Græcè dicuntur ἄτται, quos paludis vicinitas creat, Serv. An ancient city of Campania.

Atinates. People of the city Atina. Plin.

Atlantes. Moors dwelling about Atlas; they have no names to distinguish them one from another; they are thought to inhabit the Kingdom which now is called Borneo.

Atlanteus, a, um. Of the hill Atlas. Hor.

Atlantiades. Mercury, Grand-child of Atlas.

Atlantica insulæ. Two Isles upon the coast of Lybia, called, The Fortunate Islands, for their fruitfulness and pleasantness; by the Poets they are called, The Elysian Fields. Some think the Isle Spagnola and Cuba are the same. Pliny calleth them Hesperides, or the Western Isles. Others would have them to be the Isles of Saint Michael and Saint Mary.

Atlanticum mare. Cic. The Atlantick Sea, or Ocean, which lies along upon the West of Spain and Africk.

Atlanticus, a, um. Hor. Of Atlas.

Atlantides, quindecim filiæ Atlantis ex Pleione Oceani vel Deucalionis filiâ, Latinè Vergiliæ dictæ. The fifteen daughters of Atlas, whereof five were called Hyades, the rest Pleiades.

ATLAS, antis; m. (a comm.) Ἄτλας, an à τλάω vel τλάω, quòd cœlum sustineat humeris. A mountain of Mauritania, so high, that the top of it is said to reach to heaven, and to bear it up. It taketh the name from a man of that name, King of the country, and brother of Prometheus, turn'd by Perseus into this hill at the sight of Gorgon's head; who because he was the first professor of Astronomy, was said to bear heaven on his shoulders; to wit, by maintaining the Science of it, Nat. Com. There are two hills of this name, the one by Hercules Pillars, the other that divides the Kingdom of Fess and Marocco, now called Erriff. ◊ Also a King of Italy, father to Electra: another of Arcadia, father to Maja.

Atlantis. An Utopian Island described by my Lord of Verulam.

Atrăces, pop. Ætoliæ, quibus nomen dedit Atrax, Ætoli filius: Atracis ipsa regio unde Atracis dicta Hippodamia.

Atrăcius, a, um. Of or belonging to Thessaly. Hinc Atracia ars, Stat. Ars Magick.

Atratinus. One that accused Cælius, Cicero's client. Al. Atracinum.

Atrax, ăcis; m. Catul. A river of Ætolia.

Atrebates, dict. ab atro colore, Suid. People of the Province of Artois, famous for the making of Arras.

Atrebatii. The people of Berkshire in England. Camd.

Atrebatum. The town of Arras in the Province of Artois.

ATREUS, ei; m. gr. i. ἄτρεκ©-, interritus, ab ἀ priv. & τρέω, i. metuere, vel ἀκατασκευ©- indefessus, ab ἀ priv. & τείνω. The son of Pelops and Hippodamia, and King of Mycenæ, a Grecian city. He banished his brother Thyestes, for committing adultery with his wife Aërope; and afterwards calling him home again, bade him to a feast, and caused the children which he had begotten of her, to be dressed, and set before him to eat; at the horror of which fact, the Sun went back. Thyestes asked Apollo, How he might revenge this fact? He answered, That if he would lie with his own daughter, he should get a son of her that should revenge it. So he begot Ægisthus of his daughter Pelopea; who afterwards slew his Uncle Atreus, and his cousin Agamemnon. He found out the Eclipse of the Sun, which gave occasion to some part of the story.

Atrianorum paludes. A place near the mouth of the river Po; called also, the seven seas. Plin.

Atrides, æ; m. The son of Atreus, Agamemnon or Menelaus.

Atrŏpos, i; f. ab ἀ priv. & τρέπω, quòd nunquam se mutari patitur. One of the three Ladies of Fate, which is said to cut off the thread of life.

Atta. A Comedian. Hor.

Attabas. A notorious robber, with his fellow Numenius; unde proverb. Convenerunt Attabas & Numenius.

Attaci, gens Serica. Plin.

Attacotti, Scotorum populi. Amm.

Attăli. A sort of wild Arabs, robbers. Plin.

Attălia, A city of Pamphylia, built by King Attalus of Lydia. Cic. Ad. Step.

Attălicus, a, um. Belonging to Attalus, or Attalus-like, i. e. Rich, costly, stately, brave. Attalicæ conditiones, Hor. vestes, Prop.

Attălus. A Macedonian, a great enemy of Alexander's. Curt.

Attălus. A King of Pergamus; he was exceeding rich, and lived in very great state: having no Children, he made the Commonwealth of Rome his Heir.

Attalus. A Martyr that was fryed to death.

Atteius. An acquaintance of Philologus; Rhetor & Grammaticus, Salust. Suet.

Attella, vid. Atella.

Attena, opp. Æthiopiæ. Plin.

Atthis. The daughter of Cranaus; of whom the country, which before was called Actica, was named Attica. ◊ Also a Nightingale, she having been Pandion the King of Athens daughter, Mart.

Attica regio, ab Atthide Cranai filiâ; prius Ἀκτικὴ ἀπὸ τῆς ἀκτῆς, quòd littoralis. A country of Greece, between Achaia and Macedonia; the chief city whereof was Athens.

Atticus, a, um. Of the country of Athens.

Atticus. The name of divers eminent persons; one of whom Cicero sent several Epistles to, a very good Grecian.

Attidiates, pop. Italiæ; urbs Attidium. Plin.

Attilius Regulus. A noble Consul of Rome, in the first Punick war; famous for his faithfulness in keeping his word to his enemies, though it were to the loss of his life: For having been taken by the Carthaginians, and sent to Rome to advise an exchange of prisoners, he perswaded the contrary in Parliament, and returned again to Carthage; where they most barbarously murdered him, cutting off his eyebrows, and putting him into a hogs-head stuck full of nails.

Attuarii, pop. Germaniæ. Vell.

Attubi, urbs Hispaniæ Bœticæ, Plin. hod. Espejo; quæ alii Hispavia.

Atuacutum. The city Antwerp in Brabant.

Aturensium civitas. The city Aire in France. Scal.

Atyla or Atila. A warlike Scythian Prince, who for a time made a great bustle in the world, at last kill'd himself with a debauch. The titles he gave himself were these: Atyla Munduzi filius, & magni Nimrod nepos, Engadiæ natus, divina benignitate Hunnorum, Medorum, Gothorum, ac Danorum rex, metus orbis, Deique flagellum.

Atys. Son of Crœsus King of Lydia; who was dumb all his life, till in the battle, seeing a souldier of Cyrus ready to kill his father, out of an earnest desire to speak, the firing of his tongue burst, and he cried, Save the King. ◊ Also the son of Hercules and Omphale, father of Lydus, from whom 'was called Lydia. ◊ Also an Indian, son to Limniace, Gyges daughter. Ovid.

Atys, (ă.) or beautiful Boy, beloved of Cybele, the mother of the gods; she made him one of her Priests, and enjoyned him chastity; but he having lain with the Nymph Sangaritis, she in anger made him go beside himself, and afterward turned him into a pine-tree. He is called by Ovid Cybeleius Atys, and in Persius Berecynthius Attis. Græcè enim & Ἄττις, ἴν©-, & Ἄττυς, υ©- dicitur.

A ante V.

Avalites qui & Abalites, sinus & emporium Æthiopiæ, in ora maris rubri, contra Arabiam; hod. Zeila. Avalitz, pop. Plin.

Avalonia sive Glasconia, Insula Avalon, ap. Matth. Westm. The town of Glastenbury, Lelando.

Avaricum, Cæs. A town in France called Vierron, or Viarons, or rather the city of Bourgos, the chief of Berry.

Avarum. A promontory of Tarraconia in Spain, called Capo di Vianca.

Avasitæ, or Æsalitæ, Plin. People of Egypt, inhabiting cities in desart places, which they call Avases.

Avatici, pop. Gall. Narbon. Plin. Al. Avantili, vel rect. Anatilii.

Auchetæ, pop. Scythiæ Europeæ; ap. quos Hypanis fl. oritur, in Podoliâ, Plin. Auchates in sing. habet Val. Fl.

Audēlōpes, People in the desarts of Africk. Claud. Al. leg. Autololes.

Audena. Italiæ amnis. Liv.

Audomaropolis seu Fanum S. Audomari. A city of Artois, called S. Omer; it grew out of the ruines of Tarvanna.

Audus, mons Africæ Maurit. Cæs.

Avella. A city of Campania, otherwise called Abella; whence Hazle-nuts called Avellanæ.

Aven-

Avendonis. The city Adelsperg in Carniola.

Avenio. A city in France, called Avignon, belonging to the Pope: It is famous for the number seven; to wit, seven Palaces, seven Parishes, seven Hospitals, seven Nunneries, seven Colledges, seven Monasteries, and seven Gates.

Aventicum, opp. Helvetiæ. Tac. hod. Abenches. Germ. Wistisburg.

Aventina, Diana dict. quòd in Aventino monte coleretur, quæ & Aventinensis, Val. M.

Aventinus, ita dict. ab Avente fl. Sabinorum, Serv. ex Varr. vel ab avibus, quarum ob sitûs opportunitatem amnisque vicinitatem maxima ibi copia erat; vel ab Aventino Albanorum rege ibi sepulto, Ovid. vel ab adventu hominum, qui ad Dianæ templum, quod eo in monte à communi Latio conditum fuit, commeabant: vel ab advectu; erat enim hic mons à reliquis urbis Romæ montibus paludibus discretus, unde ratibus ad eum advehebantur quadrantem pro naulo persolventes. One of the seven hills of Rome; hod. Monte di S. Sabina. ◊ Also the thirteenth King of the Albanes, called Aventinus Sylvius, who was buried there. Also Hercules his son by Rhea Virg.

Aventinus, a, um. Of that hill.

Averni. People of Avergne in France.

Avernus, dict. qu. ἀορνος, i. avibus carens, five quòd supervolantes gravi ejus odore necarentur; five quòd sulphureæ exhalationes aërem usque; adeò extenuarent, ut aves sustinere non posset. A lake in Campania, dedicated to Pluto, near to the Grot of the Cuman Sibyl; whose waters cast up such a deadly steam, that the birds which attempt to flie over, fall down dead. It is also called Lago d'Averno, or Lago di Tripergola. It is also taken for Hell by the Poets.

Avernus, a, um; & Avernalis, le. Of hell.

Averroës. An Arabian and Mahumetan, a great Philosopher; for his Comment upon Aristotle, he was named Commentator. He lived at Corduba in Spain, in the year 1149.

Averruncus, qui mala averruncare, i. depellere atque avertere putabatur. A god of the Romans. Idem qui gr. Ἀποτρόπαιος, &c.

Aufeia aqua, postea Martia dict. The clearest and wholsomest water in the world; it was brought into Rome by Ancus Martius, and riseth in the farthest Pelignian hills.

Ausidena, urbs Caracenorum in Aprutio. Liv.

Ausidenates. The people of that place, Plin.

Ausidius. A debaucher of citizens wives, Juv. One of the Island Chio. Hor. Another called Lurco, who first cram'd Peacocks, and got a great estate by it. ◊ Ausidius Bassus, an excellent Historian. Quint. ◊ Ausidius Modestus, an excellent Grammarian, that commented Virgil. ◊ Ausidius Luscus, the Major of the town, at Fundi. Hor.

Ausidus. A river of Apulia in Italy, which riseth in the Apennine, and falls into the Venetian gulf; hod. L'Ofanto. ◊ Ausidus Adriam retrofugit, prov. Serv. An unlikely story.

Ausona. The river Avon in Warwickshire, Camd. According to others, Nyne in Northampton-shire.

Auga, vel Auge, αὐγὴ ἢ αὐλεία, i. splendor; Alei filia. When her father found she was with child by Hercules, he ordered her to be drowned; but she was conveyed into Caria, where being delivered of Telephus, King Theutras married her; and bred up her child as his own son; and made him his successor.

Augeas. The King of Elis, one of Jason's companions to Colchis: he had a stable that would hold three thousand Oxen; it was not cleansed in thirty years; he hired Hercules to clean it; he drew the river Alpheus therein it, and purged it. Hercules after demanding his reward, Augeas made his son Phyleus to be judge in the case: he giving sentence against his own father, Augeas banished him; but Hercules afterward vanquished Augeas, and made his son Phyleus King.

Augia major, Germaniæ insula, vulg. Rickbow.

Augilæ, Africæ pop. qui Manes tantum Deos colunt. Mel.

Augius, mons Liguriæ. Liv.

Augusta, Ptol. Sebaste, hod. Seveste, urbs Ciliciæ. ◊ Urbs Suevizæ, hod. [illegible] bingen. An University which belongs to the Duke of Wittemburg.

Augusta Acilia. Azelburg in Germany.

Augusta Auscìorum, pop. Ausci. Cæs. hod. Aux vel Ausch. An Arch-bishops See in Guienne in France.

Augusta Bracarum, vel Braccara Augusta. A city and Arch-bishops See in Portugal.

Augusta Cæsarea, idem quod Numantia.

Augusta Emerita. The city of Merida in Portugal.

Augusta Rauracorum, Rauricum, Plin. Rauraci & Cæs. Aust near Basil in Switzerland, once a famous city.

Augusta Rhætorum, Auson. sive Vindelicorum.

Augusta Suessionum, Plin. urbs Gall. Belg. hod. Soissons.

Augusta Tiberii. A city of Bavaria, Regensburg or Ratisbone.

Augusta Trevirorum. The city Triers by the river Mosel in Germany.

Augusta Trinobantum. The ancient name of London.

Augusta Veromanduorum, Civ. Galliæ Belg. vul. S. Quintino.

Augusta Vindelicorum. The city Ausburg in Germany.

Augustæ. The Emperours Consorts so called.

Augustinus, ab augendo Ecclesiam dict. Saint Austin, one of the ancient Latin fathers, Bishop of Hippo in Africa, an. Chr. 399. Func. vix an. 76.

Augustodunum. Heduorum in Gall. urbs. The city Autun in Burgundy, a very ancient city.

Augustoritum. The city of Poictiers in France. pop. Pictavi, Amm. & Pictones, Cæs. & Plin. Others would have it to be Limoges, al. Lemovicum.

Augustulus. The last of the Roman Emperours, who quit the Government for fear.

Augustus, dict. ab augurio, vel ab augendo. The second Emperor of Rome, son to Octavius a Senator, and nephew to Julius Cæsar; in the forty second year of his reign was our Saviour Christ born, an. M. 3960. Hinc Augustinus currus, Suet. Augustus his chariot. Al. leg. Augustum.

Augustianus, Suet. A Royalist, one that stands for Augustus. Augustanus, Tac.

Augustales ludi, Sacerdotes, Tac. Instituted in honour of him.

Augustale, n. absol. The Emperours pavilion.

Avicenna. An Arab Prince, that wrote of Physick in the Arabick tongue.

Avidienus, ex Avidius dict. The name of a niggard in Horace.

Avidius Cassius. A Noble-man of Rome, a cruel person.

Avienus Festus. A Poet in the time of Gratian and Theodosius; he translated Aratus, &c. into Latin verse.

Aviola. A Consul; he revived as he was put into the fire (which was their burial) but the fire was so hot, he could not be saved; he was in the time of the Emperour Gordian a Consul, an. Chr. 241.

Aulerci. People of France in several places.

Aulestes. A King of the Tyrrhenes, who was slain by Messapus [illegible] war between Turnus and Æneas. Vir.

Auletes, i. tibicen. The father of Cleopatra, and King of Egypt.

Aulis, gr. i. tentorium, à castrametatione nomen sortita. A Town and Port of Bœotia, where the Princes of Greece conspired the destruction of Troy.

Aulocrēne, es; Plin. A spring, hill and valley of Phrygia, out of which Mæander flows; where Apollo hung Marsyas upon a Plane-tree.

Aulon. A hill of Calabria, and town on that hill, Cæl. also a great valley of Libanus; also a city of Macedon, Plin. hod. Valona. famous for wool and wine, Mart.

Aulus, dict. quòd diis alentibus nasceretur. The name of divers Noble-men.

Avo vel Avus. A river in Spain; hod. Rio d'Avia.

Avona. The river Avon in Somersetshire, and Warwick-shire.

Aurea Chersonesus, peninsula Asiæ, in Indiâ extra Gangem. A country divided into several Kingdoms: The chief city Malaca, now the Hollanders, formerly the Portugals.

Aureatum. The city Eichstadt in the upper Palatinate.

Aurelia, à Sole, (quem gr. Ἥλιον vocant.) dict. quod ei publicè à pop. Romano datus sit locus in quo sacra faceret Soli. Fest. A noble family in Rome; also the mother of Cæsar the Dictator; also the city Orleans, i. e. civitas Aurelianensis.

Aurelius. An excellent Painter; also the name of divers noble Romans; an Emperour or two of that name.

Auriniana ala, Tac. opp. Norici.

Aurora, matutinus splendor quem cernimus ante solem elevatum; quam ideò poetæ Titanos dicunt filiam, quòd Solem sepiùs Titana vocant. The daughter of Titan, Goddess of the morning.

Aurunca. A city in Italy built by Auson, a son of Ulysses and Calypso, very ancient.

Aurunci. Vir. People of that city.

Ausci. People of the city Aux in Guienne. Cæs. Auscenses Sidon. vulg. Ausch.

Auser. A river of Hetruria near Luca. Plin. Rutilio Ausur, Strab. Æsarus, hod. Osavi.

Ausses. People of Africk, amongst whom the Virgins once a year used to challenge one another to fight with cudgels, and brickbats, in honour of Minerva: Whose- ever was killed, they thought they were no maids: And she that forgot most valiantly, was carried in the chariot about the lake Tritonis, in honour of her triumph.

Ausēlani, pop. Hisp. Cæs.

Ausītis, Sancti Jobi patria.

Ausŏba. A river in Ireland, the mouth whereof is the Bay of Galway. Camd.

Ausŏn vel Ausŏnius. The son of Ulysses and Calypso.

Ausŏnes. People of Italy; Aurunci Græcis Ausŏnes.

Ausŏnia, dict. ab Ausone quodam, Ulyssis & Calypsûs filio. Part of Italy, between Benevent and Cales. Since all Italy is so called.

Ausŏnii. People of Italy, so called from him.

Ausŏnium mare, dict. ab Ausone Ulyssis & Calypsûs filio, qui illic regnavit; al. Siculum mare. A part of the Ionian sea.

Ausŏnius, a, um. Of Italy.

Ausŏnius. A philosopher; also a Poet in the time of Gratian the Emperor, born in France at Bourdeaux.

Auster, tri; m. q. Hauster, ab hauriendis aquis, unde humidus Auster, Vir. Pincerna pluviarum Augustino dicitur. vel qu. αὐσηρὸς ab αὔω sicco exuro, quòd ventus sit item calidus. Νότος. The South wind.

Austragena reg. Parthiæ, ubi naphtha. Plin.

Austrania; al. Classaria; al. Glessaria. An Island of the Baltick sea, Ameren, Ort. Strand, Cluv. in the North sea.

Austrasia. vul. Westrick, A country of upper Germany, taken to be the same with Lorrain.

Austria. Oſtenreich, quod nomen Orientali regnorum suorum limiti Francorum reges indiderant, sicut Occidentali, Weſtenreich: antea Pannonia superior dict. A country of Germany, now the seat of the Emperour; the chief city is Vienna. Hence Austriacus, a, um.

Autaris, locus Arabiæ Fælicis. Pl.

Auteri vel Autini. People of Ireland in the Province of Connacht.

Authe. One of the seven daughters of Alcyoneus, the Giant slain by Hercules.

Authetani & Ausetani, Liv. Plin. pop. Hisp. citer. in Catalaunia.

Autochthones, Lat. Indigenæ. Natives of a country. vid. Appell.

Autolĕmus. A man that being told by the Soothsayers, he should be burned the next day, to prevent the omen, went and lodg'd in a river; and yet for all that was burnt, for he was struck with lightning.

Autŏlŏles vel Autŏlŏlæ. People of Mauritania Tingitana; they are exceeding swift. Claud.

Autŏlycus, fur maximus. The son of Mercury. Ov. and grand-father of Sinon by the fathers side, and Ulysses by the mothers. Also one of Jason's companions that built Sinope. Also a noble wrestler. Plin.

Automate, Insula maris Ægæi, Plin. One of the Cyclades.

Autŏmĕdon, Vir. The son of Diores, Charioteer to Achilles, and Pyrrhus his Armour-bearer; an excellent driver of a Coach.

Autŏnoe. The daughter of Cadmus and Hermione, wife to Aristæus and Actæon's mother.

Autonoēius. Actæon, son of Autonoe.

Autricum. The city Chartres in France.

Autrig[illegible] Hisp. Mel.

Auxim[illegible]ity Osimo in Picenum. Luc. Auximon. Auximates. pop.

Auzea, Numidiæ castellum. Tac.

A ante X.

Axa. A town in Devonshire, Axminſter.

Axanthos. An Island betwixt Scotland and Ireland.

Axelodunum. Hexham in Northumberland, upon the river Tine. Camd.

Axĕnus pontus, i. inhospitalis, ἄξενος, à truci accolarum barbarie. The Euxine sea: The inhabitants used to kill all strangers, only to make drinking-bowls of their skulls.

Axiaces vel Axiacæ, dict. ab Axiace fluvio. People of Sarmatia in Europe. Plin.

Axiaces. A river in Sarmatia, called also Hypanis.

Axion. The brother of Alphesibæa.

Axiothea, Phliasia, gr. ἠξιωμένη digna. A noble woman, who in mans apparel with another woman, was a hearer of Plato's.

Axis, urbs Umbriæ, Propert.

Axius, gr. ἄξιος, i. dignus. A river of Paphlagonia, passing through Mygdonia into Macedonia; hod. Vardari. It makes the cattle that drink of it brown, as Haliacmon white. Plin.

Axon. A river of the lesser Asia, Plin.

Axŏna. Auson. A river in France, it is called Le Disne, or Aisne.

Axŏnes, Luc. The people that live by this river.

A ante Z.

Aza. A town of Armenia the less.

Azan, mons Arcadiæ, Cybele Deorum matri sacer; inde regio vicina dict. Azania. Al. Azon.

Azanes. People of Azania.

Azania, dict. à monte editissimo Azan. A country of Arcadia, so called from the hill. Est etiam Æthiopiæ regio.

Azanius fons. A well, whose water breeds such an antipathy against wine, that after one drink of that, he cannot endure the smell of wine.

Azanium mare: pars Oceani Æthiopici, by some called Mar de Zanguebar.

Aziris. A city by Euphrates in Armenia. hod. Arsingan.

Azon, mons Peloponnesi, vid. Azan. Stat.

Azonax. Zoroaster's master in Magick. Plin.

Azores. Nine Islands in the Ocean seas belonging to the Portugals; Tercera the largest of them. They are so called ab accipitrum copiâ.

Azōtus. A city in Palestina, between Ascalon and Joppe; one of the five cities of the Philistines. hod. Asdod.

---

B ante A.

Baal, בעל dominus. An Assyrian god.

Babilus. An Astrologer in Nero's time. Suet.

Baba. A town of Fez in Africk, called Julia campestris.

Babactes, ἀπὸ τοῦ βαβάζειν, quòd est vociferari; Bacchæ enim in Liberi patris Orgiis inconditos quosdam ululatus edebant. Bacchus so called; aliter vocatur Bassus.

Babanenses. A people of Spain. Plin.

Babel, i. confusio seu commistio. A city in Chaldea built by Nimrod.

Babilius. A Roman, who, by the help of a certain herb, passed from Sicily to Alexandria in six days. Plin.

BABYLON, ōnis; f. ex Babel ubi erat turris ædificata, & confusio linguarum subsequuta, nam בלל est confundere: al. à Belo per reduplicationem. A noble city in Chaldea, finished by Semiramis, an. M. 1960. It contained in compass threescore miles. Semiramis walled it about with brick walls, of that thickness, that coaches might meet and turn upon them. The walls are in height three hundred foot, in breadth seventy five; and the river Euphrates passing through the midst of it. hod. Bagdet, but this was Seleucia, and is at some distance from the ruines of Babylon. ◊ Also New Babylon in Egypt, at some distance likewise from Alcairo, not far from the Isle Delta in Egypt. ◊ The people of Babylon were excellent at embroidering; great Students of Astrologie and Fortunes. Hinc

Babylonia, dict. à Babylone urbe. The country of Babylon in the greater Asia, having on the North Mesopotamia, on the East Susiana, on the West Arabia Deserta, on the South the Persian Gulf. Some think it to be the Land Shinar, mentioned Gen. 20. Hence Babylonienſis. Plaut.

Babylonicus, a, um. Babylonica peristromata. Plaut. Turkey carpets.

Babylonius, Cic. An Astrologer; one that casts Nativities, and the like.

Babys, gr. βαβάζειν, i. inarticulatè loqui. Brother of Marsyas, that challenged Apollo to play with him.

Babytace. A city of Persia. Plin.

Bacchæ, Bacchi sacrificulæ, quæ & Menades & Thyades, &c. dictæ. Women that were Bacchus his she-priests.

Bacchānal, locus in quo Bacchi festa celebrabantur.

Bacchanalia, um; n. Bacchus his feasts, or revels.

Bacchemon. Son to Perseus and Andromeda, Lactant.

Bacchiădæ, dict. à Bacchia Dionysii filia; vel à Baccho quem colebant. People of Corinth, that being banished came into Sicily. Thence Bacchēis, ĭdis; f. Stat. An Epithet of Corinth.

Bacchi ara. A town upon the Rhine in the Palatinate, now Baccharach, or Bacharach; whence Rhenish wine has its name.

Bacchium, Liv. Bacchina, Plin. A little Isle of the Ægean sea over against Smyrna.

Bacchius, & Bithus. Hor. Two excellent Fencers, or Sword-players, of equal age, courage, and strength; whence this Proverb, Baccius & Bithus, when one meets with his match.

BACCHUS, Βάκχος, Eust. Ἀπὸ τῦ βοᾶν, à vociferando & ululando. Etym. ex βοάζω, βάξω, βάκχος & βάκχος. βακχάω, sig. inebriari. à בכה lamentari. Heinſ. qu. ברי כושי Bar-chus, i. Chusi filius, Boch. Bacchus à Græcis etiam διμήτωρ dict. i. Bimater, quòd duas matres habuisse fingitur: Ferunt enim Semelen ex Jove jam gravidam, cùm ab amatore Deo (qui se illi daturum quicquid petiisset per Stygiam paludem juraverat) Junonis dolo hoc sibi munus rogasset, ut talis secum, qualis cum Junone solebat, nocte unâ concumberet, fulmine fuisse exustam; puerum verò ex utero exemptum Jovis femori fuisse insertum, quem ille posteà maturo partûs tempore tempore more gravidæ mulieris enixus est, unde Bimater, & Bis genitus Bacchus dicitur. The son of Jupiter by Semele, and God of Wine; he is called also Liber pater, Lenæus, Bromius, Lyæus. His Aunt Ino privily nursed him a while, and after delivered him to the Nymphs, who brought him up. Ovid. His chariot is drawn with Tygers, and Linces or Ownces, and a company of mad fellows following it. Others say he was the natural son of Hammon, whom the Poets call Jupiter Ammon; who for fear his wife Rhea should know of the adultery, Hammon sent Bacchus to Nysa in Arabia, where he planted Vines, and made Wine; whence he is called, The God of Wine: Vix. an. M. 1900.

Bacchylides. A Lyrick Greek Poet.

Bacenis, Sylva Germ. It parteth the Suevi from the Cherusci. Cæs. Merc. says, 'tis Turinger Waldt; others make it to be Nigra Sylva.

Bachúna, inf. juxta Smyrnam. Plin.

Bactra, orum; n. Vir. vel Bactrum, Plin. hod. Bagdasan. urbs Bactrianæ regionis caput, ad Bactrum fl. unde & nomen habet. A Province of Scythia beyond Assyria. The Bactrians keep Dogs, which they call Canes Sepulchrales, to which they cast their Parents when they are old, or ſpent with diſeaſes, to be devoured. Curt. Their women live as they liſt, by the permiſſion of their ſilly husbands. Plin.

Bactri, & Bactriani. People of that Province.

Bactros, i; m. Luc. A river in the borders of Scythia Aſiatica. hod. Bachora.

Bacuntius, fl. Pannoniæ infer. in Hungaria, Plin. hod. Bozwtha.

Bada. The city Baden in Germany, a Marquiſate.

Badacum. The city Obdach in Noricum, not Saltzburg.

Badenacha. A country in the North of Scotland, near Athol, vul. Badenoth.

Bädiza. Bathe in Summerſet-ſhire.

Badonicus mons. Banns down near the city Bath. Camd. but according to Polyd. Virgil, Blackmore, a hill twenty miles off Durham.

Bäduhennæ lucus, Tac. A place in Friſeland, vul. Sevenwolden, i. Septem Sylvæ. Al. Coeworden.

Bæbĕis, idos; f. lacus Bætiæ, Propert.

Bæbro, opp. Hiſp. Bæticæ. Plin.

Bætarra, Galliæ Narbonenſis urbs, olim Septimanorum (legionis Romanæ) colonia, vul. Beſiers.

Bætarreni, pop. in Cæloſyriâ, Plin.

Bætica, dict. à Bæti amne, qui mediam perfluit. A third part of Spain: Ortel. calls it Andaluſia, ſo as to take in Granada. The other two parts are Arragon and Portugal. By Strabo it is called Turdetana.

Bæticus, a, um; ut, Bæticus color. Puke colour, between ruſſet and black.

Bætis, is; m. vel Bæthis, τὸ βαθὺ, a profundendo, vel pot. à Punico בּוֹצִי i. paludoſus, quod alicubi ſtagnet: unde & ab incolis Πόρτο dict. St. à בְּרֵכָה ſtagnum. Voſ. A river running through Andaluzia, the South part of Spain, now Qualalquivir, i. Fluvius magnus.

Bæton. An Hiſtorian in Alexander's time, Plin.

Bætulo. A town near Barcelona in Catalonia. Melæ Bætullo dicitur.

Bætulum, al. Bætulo, fl. in eodem tractu, vul. Beſon.

Bæturia, regio Hiſp. Luſitanicæ, vul. Eſtremandura, Al. Bathuria, Hirt. Beturia, Liv.

Bætylus, βαίτυλος. Lapis Abadir, quem Saturnus pro Jove devoravit. Priſc.

Baffini ſinus. Baffins Bay in the North of America, diſcovered by the Engliſh.

Baganum, al. Bagacum & Baiacum. Bavay, oppidum Hannoniæ.

Bagiſtanus, mons Mediæ, apud quem Semiramidis effigies in petrâ inſculpta. Cæl.

Bagōas, linguâ Perſicâ Spado dicitur, Plin. The name of an Eunuch. Curt. Ovid.

Bagoe. A Nymph, or Sibyl.

Bagrāda, æ; m. Luc. Al. Bragada. Scil. à בְּרֵכָה Stagnum. gr. Βαγρος, ἅλως, Heſ. quòd ſit ſtagnante vado, Sil. A river in Africa by Utica, where Attilius Regulus ſlew a huge ſerpent. Gell.

Baiæ, dict. à Baio Ulyſſis comite illic ſepulto. Str. Sil. A city of Campania near the ſea, ſcituated between Puteoli and Miſenum. In this country are many hot waters, both pleaſant and wholeſome; whence it is ſuppoſed all other hot Baths were called Baiæ. 'Tis a place highly commended by the Poets for its delightfulneſs.

Baianus ſinus, Plinio; Puteolanus, ap. Tac. idem videtur cum Lucrino, vul. Golfo di Puzzoli.

Bajazeth. A proud Emperour of the Turks, whom Tamberlain, a Tartar, took priſoner, bound him in Chains of Gold, and put him in an Iron Cage, uſing him for a foot-ſtool when he took horſe; when he ſate at meat, he made him pick up the crumbs under his table, like a Dog: ann. Chr. 1393.

Baiacaſſes pop. Auſon. Bellocaſes, Cæſ. Vellocaſes, Plin. urbs Baiocaſſina, Sidon. vel Baiocæ. Vulg. Baieux. A city of Normandy, a Biſhops ſeat.

Baiona. A city of Guienne in France, vul. Bayonne. ◊ A city of Gallicia in Spain.

Balacrus. Son of Amyntas, and Captain of Alexander's Auxiliary Forces. Curt.

Balanea, urbs Phœniciæ, Plin.

Balari, pop. Sardiniæ. Liv. Plin. Eorum regio Baromela.

Balbia, opp. Brutiorum in Calabriâ, Plin. Vinæ Balbinæ olim in pretio. Hod. Altomonte.

Balbillus, Ægypti præfectus, ſub Nerone. Tac.

Balbinus, Imp. Romanus, Jul. Cap. ◊ Alius vulgaris, cujus meminit Hor.

Balbus, cognomen fuit Atiliorum, a balbutie, primum uni ex illis impoſitum, & poſtea à poſteris retentum.

Balduinus, i. audax victor. The name of ſeveral Kings of Jeruſalem.

BALEARES, um; f. dict. à Baleo quodam Herculis comite, Liv. rect. Χὸ τῦ βαλλειν, i. a jaculando, propterea quòd fundæ & jaculationis peritiſſimi eſſent. Βαλεαρίδες νῆσοι, quæ & Γυμνήσιαι. De incolis Βαλεαρεῖς, i. σφενδονῆται, Polyb. Erant enim optimi jaculatores ſive fundatores, Str. Quare Boch. ab Heb. יָרָה בָּעַל i. Magiſter jaculandi, ducit. Two Iſlands in the Mediterranean ſea, over againſt Spain, caled Majorca and Minorca. The inhabitants were excedent at ſlinging and darting. They uſed when their children were hungry, to ſet their victuals upon a beam, which they muſt with a dart bit down before they had it. They were ſo infeſted with rabbets, that they were fain to intreat Auguſtus for a band of men to deſtroy them. Plin.

Balearis, re, or Balearicus, a, um. Of thoſe Iſles. Funda Balearis, Vir. Balearica, Ovid. Telum Baleare, Sil.

Baleſium. opp. Italiæ, non procul à Brunduſio, Plin.

Ballio. A bawd in Plautus.

Ballönöti. pop. Scythiæ Europ. Val. Fl.

Balthaſar. A King of Babylon.

Balticum mare, à Baltia inſ. Fort. à Balteus. The Belt or the Baltick ſea, into which they paſs through the Sound. It lies betwixt Germany and Scandinavia; by the Germans called the Ooſt Zee. It doth not ebb and flow as other ſeas do; whence Tacitus calls it Mare Pigrum. It hath many other names given it, Codanus ſinus, Mel. Suevicum mare, Tac. Al. Mare Venedicum.

Balyra. A river of Peloponneſus. Cæl.

Bambalio, propter hæſitantiam linguæ dict. Cic. βομβάλειν inter cætera balbutire, Fung. Mark Antony's wives father.

Bāmāra, regio Libyæ, Sil.

Banna, apud Italiotas rex aut ſummus magiſtratus, Cæl. ◊ The river Ban in Ireland, running into the Northern ſea.

Bannavenna. Weedon in the ſtreet.

Bantia, opp. Apuliæ, Liv. pop. Bantini, Plin. Batini, Hor.

Banurri. The people of Bamura, about Tangier. Plin.

Baptæ, i. Tinctores, Dippers; ſic dict. quòd qui ſacris illis initiabantur aquâ calidâ tingerentur. Prieſts of Cotytto the Goddeſs of lechery, whoſe rites were performed in the night with all kind of jolity; Juv. Eupolis wrote a Play againſt them, for which they dipt him to purpoſe, for they drown'd him.

Bara, inſula parva ante Brunduſium, Feſt. hod. S. Andrea.

Barabbas. A robber and murtherer, whom the Jews preferred before our Bleſſed Lord.

Baracum, opp. Cyrenes, Plin.

Baracūra. A Mart-town of India, called Bengala.

Baragaſa. A town of Æthiopia, Plin.

Baramalacum, Arabiæ opp. Plin.

Bārāthrum. A deep pit in Athens, into which malefactors were thrown. Diom.

Barbara. A Virgin of Nicomedia, impriſon'd and unworthily uſed by her own ſa her, and after put to death for being a Chriſtian. Volat.

Barbaria. A country in Africk; the coaſt of Barbary: It is divided into four Kingdoms, i. Tunis, Algiers, Feſſe, and Morocco; and lies all along the Africk ſhore, from the Straights to Egypt. ◊ Any country but Greece ſo called, particularly Phrygia, Hor. Whence Aurum Barbaricum, Vir. Barbaricæ veſtes, i. Phrygiæ, Luc. & Barbaricarii, Phrygiones, acupictores. Cod. By Ovid uſed for Scythia, where he lived in baniſhment.

Barbata or Barbada. The Barbadoes, an Iſland of America, an Engliſh Plantation; a rich fruitful country.

Barce, es; f. Claud. The ſame as Ptolemaïs, Plin. A country and city of Africk; the people Barcæi, Vir. Alſo the nurſe of Sichæus, Virg.

Barcha. The ſirname of Hannibal's famil. Inde Barchina facio, Liv.

Barcino, ōnis; Plin. Barcinon, Liv. ab Amilcare cognom. Barcha, condita urbs, que à Rom. Colonia Faventia dict. The chief city of Catalonia, vul: Barcelona. Auſon habet in fœm. g. ſcil. Subintell. Urbs.

Barderate. A town of Piedmont, vul. Bra. B.

Bardĕsänes. An Hiſtoriographer of Babylon in Alexander Severus his time. He wrote a book of the Indian Brachmans and Gymnoſophiſts, mentioned by St. Jerom. ◊ Alſo a Biſhop of Meſopotamia, that wrote a book in the Syriack Tongue againſt Marcion.

Bardi, Luc. Bardus Gallicè cantor, qui virorum fortium laudes canit, Feſt. Βάρδοι, ἀοιδοὶ παρὰ Γαλάταις, Heſych. The Bards, a ſort of Poets among the Gauls, that ſet forth the praiſes of gallant men in Verſe.

Bardiăcus, Juv. Mart. à Bardeis Dalmatiæ, qui gr. Βαρδαῖοι, Plut. Βάρδεττοι, Ptol. Ἀρδιαῖοι, Str. lat. Vardæi, Plin. Bardei, ἐν ὑψηλοῖ δέλοι, Gl. Steph. A ſort of Slaves of Dalmatia, that ſerv'd in war for pay; a Slave, a Red-coat.

Bardillus. A King of the Illyrians, vanquiſhed by Philip, Alexander's father.

Barduli, qui & Varduli, populus Hiſp. Tarracon. Plin.

Barea, opp. Hiſp. Bæticæ, Plin.

Bargeni, pop. Africæ ex Troglodytis.

Bargyla & Bargylia, dict. à Bargylo Bellerophontis comite, quem Pegaſus occidit. St. Aſiæ min. urbs, Plin.

Bargylus, mons Aſiæ, Plin.

Baria, vicus Sabinorum, Hor.

Bărine, meretrix perjura, Hor.

Băris, ĭdis; f. Propert. navigii Ægyptii genus, Herod. Βάρις. A ſhip, ſuch as they uſed in Egypt, ſteer'd with poles.

Bărium, ii; n. Bari in Gen. contr. Hor. ab incolis Baræ inſ. parvæ apud Brunduſium conditum, Feſt. A city of Apulia, near the ſea-ſide, vul. Barri; an Archbiſhops See, where the Kings of Naples were wont to be crowned.

Barnăbas, æ; m. i. filius conſolationis vel prophetiæ, Heb. Barnaby, an Evangeliſt, and companion of S. Paul in ſome of his travels.

Barnaſtapula, Barnſtable, a town of Devonſhire. B.

Barra. A town of the Orobians in Italy, of whom the Bergomats were deſcended.

Barſa. An Iſle of the Britiſh ſea, Baſepool, or rather Bardſey; or, as others, an Iſle of France, upon the coaſt of Bretaigne, vul. Iſle de Bar. B.

Barſabas, filius converſionis aut juramenti; nomen viri. N. T.

Barſine. Wife to Alexander the Great, by whom he had a ſon named Hercules; who were both put to death by Caſſander. Juſtin.

Bartholomæus, Βαρθολομαῖος, filii χρεμαστοῦ ὕδατος, i. filius ſuſpendentis aquas. Heſ. Al. Bar-Ptolemæus, i. filius Ptolemæi. Bartholomew, one of the twelve Apoſtles, preached the Goſpel in India, and was martyr'd, by being flay'd alive.

Bartolus. A famous Civilian of Italy; he took his Doctors degree at twenty one; an able Scholar in ſeveral parts of Learning: Born in the year 1309.

Barzanes. A King of the Aſſyrians, worſted in Armenia by Ninus.

Baſabocates. People of Guienne in France, near Poictiers. Plin

Baſan. A country beyond Jordan, whereof Og was King; moſt fruitful for paſtures. Gr. Βαϛανὶς & Βαϛανάα, it. Βαϛανῖτις ſc. χώρα.

Baſilea, i. regia civitas. A city in Germany upon the Rhine, called Baſil, in French Baſle.

Baſilia, al. Baltia, Scandinavia, Plin. An Iſland, as the Ancients erroneouſly thought, between the Baltick and the Northern ſea. It contains many Kingdoms, Norway, Swedeland, &c. Eaſt-ward it joyns with the main land.

Baſilidæ, dict. à regiis moribus. People of Scythia in Europe, under the Czar of Muſcovy. They had their original from Hercules and Echidna. Mel.

Baſilides. An Heretick in the Emperour Adrian's time, that taught that the ſoul only was ſav'd, and not the body; that the renouncing of ones faith in times of perſecution, was no ſin, but an indifferent thing; that there were as many heavens made, as days in the year; that Chriſt was not crucified, but Simon of Cyrene in his ſtead. Vix. ann. Chr. 130.

Baſilis. An Hiſtorian, that wrote of India. Plin.

BASILIUS, i. regius, ſirnamed Magnus, Biſhop of Cæſarea in the time of Gregory Nazianzen and Chryſoſtom; he was baniſh'd by Valens the Emperour, who favoured the Arian Hereſie; but ſhortly after Valens (his wife being ſick, and his little daughter dead) ſent to intreat S. Baſils prayers to God for him, that himſelf might eſcape. Vix. ann. Chr. 369. ◊ Another of this name, called Baſilius Ancyranus, that wrote againſt Marcellus a book De virginitate; he lived in the time of Conſtantine, and was one of the ring-leaders of the Macedonian Hereſie. Hier.

Baſilus. A notable Pyrate. Luc. ◊ One that in his Prætorſhip cheated the country. Juv.

Baſſania, opp. Macedoniæ, Liv.

Baſſăreus, dict. à Baſſara Lydiæ oppido, ubi præcipuè colebatur; vel à Βάζειν clamare; al. à ſpecie veſtium, quibus miniſtræ ejus utebantur in ſacris. Βασσάρεα, γυναῖκες ἃς ἱέρειαι αἱ Θρᾴκιαι βάκχαι. Heſ. Rect. fort. à בצר vindemiavit, Boch. A ſirname of Bacchus. Hor. Hinc Baſſaricus, a, um. Propert.

Baſſăris, ſ. g. Bacchi ſacrificula. Perſ.

Baſſi, al. Haſſi, pop. Gall. Belg. Plin. Eorum opp. vul. la Baſſee. F.

Baſſianus. An Emperour; alſo a Chriſtian Biſhop born at Syracuſe in the time of St. Ambroſe.

Baſſiniacus ager. A country in France, vul. le Baſſigny. B.

Baſſus Aufidius. An Hiſtorian in Auguſtus his time. Sen. Quint. ◊ Baſſus Cæſius. A Lyrick Poet, Quint. an acquaintance of Perſius. ◊ Others of that name.

Baſta, opp. Salentinorum in Italiâ, Plin.

Baſtarnæ, Βαστάρναι, Dion. Baſternæ, Plin. Ovid. Claud. pop. Sarmatiæ Europæ, in regno Polonico, apud oram maris Euxini.

Baſterbini, pop. in 3. reg. Italiæ. Plin.

Baſtetani, Plin. Vaſtetani, Liv. pop. Hiſpaniæ Tarracon. quorum urbs Baza, in regno Granatenſi.

Baſteum, caſtrum Italiæ, prope Padum, Rhod.

Baſtuli, pop. Hiſpaniæ Bæticæ, juxta fretum Gaditanum, Plin.

Batala, opp. Sidicinorum in Italiâ. Liv.

Batalus, Βάταλος, ἀνδρόγυνος, ὑπερδὸς, ἐκκλίνων, Heſ. it. Atticè pars pudenda ſic dict. Plut. A wanton miniſtrel of Epheſus, who firſt uſed womens ſhoes upon the ſtage; whence all effeminate perſons ſo called. Liban. ◊ A ſirname, or nickname of Demoſthenes. Cæl.

Bătăvi, Luc. pop. Germaniæ inſer. in Belgio. The Hollanders.

Batavia, Cæſ. quæ & Batavorum inſula, Plin. q. βαθεῖα, i. profunda, in aquas demerſa; vel à Batavo quodam, regio Gallorum ſanguine orto. A Province in the Netherlands, called Holland; a part whereof ſtill retains the ancient name, Betowe and Betuwe. ◊ A city in the Eaſt-Indies, in the Iſle Java, a famous Mart, in the Hollanders poſſeſſion ſince the year 1619. formerly called Jacatra. It is fifteen leagues off Bantam Eaſtward.

Batavodurum opp. Germaniæ inſer. in Batavis, quod & Duroſtadium; vul. Wyck de Duerſtedeu.

Bătăvus, a, um. Of or belonging to Holland. ◊ Spuma Batava, Mart. A Dye to colour hair yellow. Unde auricomus Batavus, Sil. ◊ Auris Batava, Mart. A dull phlegmatick Butter-box.

Bateni, pop. non procul à Bactris, ad Caucaſi montis juga. Plin.

Batenis arx, Battenbourg, opp. Geldriæ.

Baternas, pro Baſternas, poet. Val. Fl.

Bathonia. The city Bathe in England, a Biſhops ſeat. Olim Aquæ ſolis & mons Badonicus dict.

Bathſheba, i. filia juramenti. The wife of Uriah, by whom King David had Solomon. Her father Eliam is ſuppoſed to be the ſon of Achitophel, who for that reaſon took Abſalom's part againſt his father. Hieron.

Bathycles, à βαθὺς profundus & κλέος gloria. A rich Hunks. ◊ Bathyclis calix, Prov. Becauſe he lived like a hog at a trough, and would let no body drink of his cup.

Bathyllus. A youth of Samos, beloved by Anacreon the Lyrick Poet, Hor. ◊ A mimick or antick Dancer, Juv. Perſ. whom Mecenas took much delight in, Tac.

Batinus, ſi. Picenorum, in Italiâ, Plin. ◊ Saltus Batinus, Hor. Al. leg. Banianus, à Batiâ vel Bantia, opp. Apuliæ.

Batrachus, Βάτραχος, i. Rana. An Ingraver at Rome, a Lacedæmonian by country. Plin.

Battărus, Val. Cato Diris. The name of a tree or herb, as ſome; of a river, as Scal. ſaith.

Battiădæ, m. pl. Sil. Cyrenenſes dict. à Batto Cyrenes conditore.

Battiădes, m. patron. à progenitore Batto Ovid. Stat. Callimachus, a Poet, the ſon of Battus.

Battis, f. qu. Batti filia. Ovid. A miſtreſs of Philetas the Poet, who ſets her out in his Elegiack Verſes.

BATTUS, i; m. Βάττος, βασιλεὺς, τύραννος. Αἰβυσς. Heſych. i. rex, linguâ Libyca. vel à בטא effutivit, blateravit. Βάττος, τραυλίσσων, ἰγκίζων. Heſ. An Herds-man in Ovid, who having ſeen Mercury out of waggery ſtealing away ſome of Apollo's cattle, at which time he ſerved Admetus, and hiding them in the woods, had one of the faireſt Cows given him to keep his counſel. Mercury going away, came afterward in another ſhape, and aſked Battus, whether he could tell him any tidings of ſuch cattle that were miſſing?

missing? promising him a double reward if he would tell him. The old fellow out of covetousneſs diſcovered what he ſhould have concealed, and told him. Whereupon for his falſhood he was turned into a ſtone, called Index, i. the Touch-ſtone. ◊ The founder of Cyrene in Africk, whence the people called Battiadæ. The Poet Callimachus derived himſelf from him, hence called Battiades. ◊ A fooliſh, impertinent, tedious, nonſenſical Poet, Suid. whence Battologia, Βαττολογία. Tautology, ſaying the ſame thing over and over, either in the ſame, or in other words.

Battûlum, Vir. A town of Campania, now utterly loſt; the people whereof aſſiſted Turnus againſt Æneas.

Batum, ſl. Italiæ, in agro Brutio, Plin.

Bavâria, ab Avariibus, Hunnorum reliquiis, qui expulſis Noricis ibi conſedêre, ſic dict. adjecta b literâ. It. à Boiis dicta Boiaria; olim Vindelicia. A country of the upper Germany, called in High-Dutch Bayern, in French Baviere. It hath on the North the Danow, on the Eaſt Auſtria, on the South Tirol, and Suevia on the Weſt. The Duke of this country is one of the Prince Electors of the Empire; and has by the Treaty of Munſter, the upper Palatinate to under his dominion. The chief city is Munchen.

Baubo, f. Arnob. Βαυβὼ, πόνων λύμπτρια. σημαίνει δὲ καὶ κοιλίαν. Heſych. A woman that entertain'd Ceres, when ſhe was in grief for the loſs of her daughter.

Baucis, is; f. Ovid, An qu. Βαυκὶς, ἀπὸ τῆς βοῆς tuſſis. An old woman, wife to old Philemon, which were the only two of all the country that would entertain Jupiter and Mercury when they travelled over Phrygia; wherefore having reſolved to deſtroy the people for their rudeneſs, they bid their hoſt and hoſteſs follow them; which the aged couple did: And being got to the top of a neighbour-hill, they looked back, and ſaw all the country ſwallowed up, but their cottage only, which was ſtraight turned into a Temple, or Chappel. And the Gods putting it to their choice to ask what they would in requital of their curteſie, they deſired only that they might be the Prieſts of that new Temple, and die both together; which was granted them. So there they lived, and when they were grown very old, they were turned at laſt into Trees.

Bâvius and Mævius, two ſorry Poets in Virgil's time, who had great ſpite at him; whom therefore he ranked with a proverbial Verſe: Qui Bavium non odit, amet tua carmina Mævi.

Baujovium. A town of France near Lyons, vul. Beaujeu; from whence the country called le Beaujolois. Al. dict. Bellijocum.

Bauli, m. pl. qu. Boaulia, Symm. à βοᾶν αὐλὴ, i. bubile ſic dict. quòd olim Hercules juxta Baias fecit caulam bobus, quos Geryoni eripuerat. Unde Herculeos Baules voc. Sil. A town in Italy, between the Cape of Miſenum and the Lake of Baiæ; ſo Tac. Here Hortenſius had a country-houſe, Cic. hod. Bagola.

Bauma, opp. Sinus Æthiopici, Plin.

Bautica. A river of Lombardy.

B ante E.

Beatrix, virgo Romana & martyr, tempore Diocletiani circ. ann. Chriſt. 286. Her name in Engliſh is Bettrice.

Bebiani, pop. in 2. reg. Italiæ, Ligures ſic dicti, Plin.

Bebius. A grand Informer in Veſpaſian's time, ſirnamed Maſſa. Alſo an hill in Campania, caſting forth fire like to Ætna. corr. pro Bebius ſive Veſvius, ex Veſuvius. LL. ◊ Bebius Pamphilus. A Conſul that year when Numa's books were dig'd up. Val. M.

Bebriâcum, Juv. Bedriacum, Tac. Βηδριακὸν. Plut. A village in Italy between Cremona and Verona, where Vitellius worſted Otho; it is now called by the Italians, la Bina. Inde Bebriacenſis, e; adj.

Bebryce. One of the daughters of Danaus.

Bebryces, vel Bebrycii. A people deſcended of the Thracians, ſo called from Bebryce. The country Bebrycia.

Bebrycia, dict. à Bebryce, unâ filiarum Danai, quæ unà cum Hypermneſtrâ præter juſſa patris ſponſo pepercit, quare fugiens patrem unà cum viro in hæc loca pervenit, incoláſque ritus docuit Ægyptios; pro quibus meritis regionem ab ejus nomine Bebryciam ferunt appellatam. Euſt. A country in Aſia, afterwards called Mygdonia and Bithynia. Inde Bebrycius, a, um: Of that country. Vir.

Bebryx. A King in the Pyrenean mountains, which were ſo named from his daughter Pyrene. Sil.

Becare. A Port of Aſia, Plin.

Bechires, Plin. Βίχειρες, Suid. gens Scythica.

Beda, ob vitæ modeſtiam Venerabilis dict. A learned man of England; floruit circ. ann. Chriſt. 694.

Bedeſis, fl. Italiæ, in agro Florentino, vul. Ronco, vel Bedeſe, B.

Beduini. Certain Arabians that went to war without armour, becauſe they referred all to fate, and thought death was unavoidable; they went cloathed in goats-skins, and worſhipped the riſing Sun. Volat.

Beelphegor, nomen Idoli Moabitarum, quòd in monte Phegor colebatur: idem creditur cum Priapo.

Beelzebub, בעל זבוב i. dominus muſcarum. Ἀπομυῖος. Beerſheba, i. puteus juramenti, Heb. Βηρσαβεὲ, Joſ. A city in the farthest end of Jewry.

Behemoth, בהמות, animalia ſive jumenta plur. ſign. Apud Jobum pro Elephanto accipitur.

Bel, contr. à בעל dominus; unde Belus. An Idol of the Babylonians.

Belâ. The name of divers Kings of Hungary. Volat.

Belenus, Apollo. ſic dict. Aquileienſibus Italiæ pop. quorum erat tutelaris, Auſ. Fort. à Βέλ☉, telum, jaculum.

Beleridæ ſeu Belerides, inſulæ duæ in orâ Sardiniæ, hod. Tauro & Vacca, Dalech. ſed B. tres facit; hod. le Sanguinare.

Belga, æ; m. Luc. à balgen, i. manum conſerere, Jun. quippe fortiſſimos Gallorum voc. Cæſ. A Dutch-man.

Belgæ. The Low-country men, the Dutch; alſo the people of Somerſet-ſhire, Wiltſhire, and Hampſhire in England, Camd. ◊ Alſo the city Wells beyond Bathe.

Belgia. The Low-countries, or Nether-lands. It containeth ſeventeen Provinces; it was ſometimes called Gallia Belgica: al. Belgium, cujus incolæ Belgæ.

Belgicus, a, um; adj. Vir. Dutch, or belonging to the Dutch.

Belgites. People of Pannonia. Plin.

Belgium. Bavay, a town in Hannonia, as ſome; or as others, Beauvais, a town of Picardy. Cæſ. ◊ Alſo the Low-countries, or Netherlands.

Belgius, Gallorum dux. Juſt.

Belgradum, Taurunum, Ort. Alba Græca, Clav. Belgrade. A city of Hungary, upon the Danow, in Dutch Griechiſch Weiſſenburg.

Belial, Bibl. à בלי & יעל i. inutilis; vel à בלי & עול i. abſque jugo. Hier. Ἀποστάτης, Suid. παράνομος, 70. Bèlial, the Devil. ◊ A ſon of Belial, i. a wicked prophane perſon.

Belides, æ; m. Vir. deſcended of Belus.

Belides. f. pl. qu. à ſing. Belis, idis. Fifty daughters of Danaus, ſo called from their grand-father Belus; who were married to fifty of their uncle Ægyptus ſons: But by their fathers order they ſlew every one their bride-man the firſt night; only Hypermneſtra ſpared her husband Lynceus, and Bebryce alſo ſpared hers. Their puniſhment in hell for this fact was, They were to fill a barrel that was full of holes with water, which ſtill as faſt as they filled, ran out again: Whence came the Proverb, Danaidum doliſum; ſpoken of an unſatiable perſon, whoſe greedy deſire is never ſatisfied.

Belippo, opp. Hiſpaniæ Bæticæ. Plin.

Beliſama, fluv. Rhibel in Lancaſhire, near Preſton.

Beliſarius. A brave Greek General under the Emperour Juſtinian, who overthrew the Perſians in the Eaſt, vanquiſhed the Vandals in Africk, ſubdued the Goths in Italy; but after all his great exploits, the Emperour being jealous of him, to prevent all danger, unworthily put out both his eyes; whereupon he had a little butt made him at the towns end, by the way-ſide, and there begg'd of paſſengers. Date obolum Beliſario.

BELLEROPHONTES, æ, vel is; gr. i. Belleri interfector, Corinthiorum ducis; qui ante ſtipponem, Cæl. Al. qu. βελλεροφόντην conſilium ferens. The ſon of Glaucus King of Ephyra, whom Sthenobœa, wife to Prætus King of the Argives, was ſo taken with, that ſhe courted him to lie with her; but perceiving he would by no means condeſcend to her requeſt, told her husband how he would have lyen with her; who to revenge the injury, ſent him to his father in law Jobates into Lycia, with letters to take away his life; whence the Proverb, Bellerophontis literas affert, when one brings letters againſt mens ſelf. Jobates would not ſlay him, but ſent him to war againſt the Solymi, with a ſmall guard, there to be ſlain. He overcame them, and all other dangers which he was put upon. At length he was ſent againſt the monſter Chimæra, where by Neptunes help, who gave him the horſe Pegaſus, he came off with honour; whereupon Jobates gave him one of his daughters, and part of his Kingdom. When Sthenobœa heard of his proſperity, ſhe killed her ſelf. Hinc Bellerophonteus, a, um; Prop. Of Bellerophon.

Bellethani, pop. Hiſpaniæ, ad Iberum fl. Plin.

Bellicum, Bellay, urbs Galliæ Epiſcopalis. B.

Bellienus. A Roman, mentioned by Tully, whoſe houſe was burnt at Cæſar's funeral.

Bellinus. A holy man, Biſhop of Padua.

Bello,

Bello, vul. Tariſſa, opp. Hiſpaniæ Bæticæ. Mel. Βίλων, St.

Bellocaſſi. People of France, called alſo Baiocenſes, Gall. Bayeux in Normandy.

Bellogradum. A city of Hungary, called Belgrade, where Mahomet was by a few Chriſtians routed. Vid. Belgradum.

Bellomariſcus. A town in the Iſle of Angleſey, called Beaumariſh. B.

Bellomontium. The name of ſeveral towns in France, vul. Beaumont.

Bellōna, antiq. Duellona, Varr. dict. à bello. The Goddeſs of war, and Mars his ſiſter. Her Prieſts ſlaſhed themſelves with their knives, to appeaſe her with their blood. Before her temple the Herauld ſet a ſpear on a pillar when any war was proclaim'd.

Bellonarii, Sacerdotes Bellonæ. Acron.

Bellönōti, pop. Sarmatiæ Europæ, Sidon.

Bellovăcum. A city of France, now called Beauvis, formerly Cæſaromagus. The people are called Bellovaci.

Bellovilla, Galliæ regio, Æmil.

Belloveſus, i. pulcher aſpectus. Beavis, pro quo nuper Bogo, Camd.

Bellus locus. Beawdly, G. ex Leland.

Belna. A town of Burgundy, vul. Beaulne.

Belochus. The ninth King of the Aſſyrians in Jacob's time.

Belunum. A town belonging to Venice, Plin.

BELUS; Heb. i. dominus, à Sole dict. qui Aſſyriorum linguâ Bel dicitur. Belus Jupiter, Saturni. i. Nimrodi filius. Βῆλος, βασιλεὺς Βαϐυλῶνος, ὃν ὁ Ζεὺς αὐτὸς. Euſt. The ſecond King of Babylon, he reigned ſixty two years; the firſt man that ever was made a god. He invented Aſtronomy, and had dedicated to him the preciouſt ſtone call'd Beli oculus. The Sidonians and Phœnicians worſhip him by the name Baal or Beel ſemen, i. Cœli dominus. His ſon Ninus ſet up his Image, and cauſed his people to worſhip it; and in it was a dæmon that gave anſwers. ✠ Alſo Belus the father of Danaus. ✠ Alſo a King of Phœnicia, father of Dido. ✠ Alſo a river of Syria, where glaſs was firſt made. Plin.

Bembinadia. A country of Arcadia, the ſame as Nemæa; ubi Bembina vicus, unde Bembinatis beſtia, Plaut. i. Leo Nemæus.

Bēnācus, Vir. A Lake belonging to Venice, betwixt Verona and Brixia, it hath golden ſands; by the Italians it is called Lago di garda, in Dutch Gardſee. It abounds with Eels and Carps. Nomen accepit à Benaco opp. in ripâ lacus, hod. Toſcolano. Pop. Benacenſes. Vop.

Bendis linguâ Thracum Diana appellatur. Βένδις, ἡ Ἄρτεμις Θρᾳκιστί. Heſ. Hujus feſta Athenis Βενδίδεια, Bendidia.

Benedictus. St. Bennet, the firſt founder of Monks in Italy.

Beneventum, oppidum eſt Hirpinorum, opus Diomedis, Solin. antè Maleventum appell. donec coloniâ eò à Romanis deductâ, boni omninis gratiâ Beneventum appellari cœpit. Plin.

Bengala. A great City, Kingdom, and Gulf of that name in the Eaſt-Indies.

Benjamin, i. filius dextræ vel dierum. The ſon of Jacob by Rachel.

Benna vel Bena. A city of Thrace.

Bennaventa, or Bennavenna. Northavondune, i. Northampton, as Leland; or rather Wedon in Northampton-ſhire. Camd.

Bennopolis. A city of Germany, vul. Hildeſheim; ſo called from S. Benno, the Biſhop of the place.

Ben Sirach, i. filius Sirach, Siracides; ſententiarium moralium Hebræus auctor vetuſtiſſimus, qui à Judæis Jeremiæ prophetæ creditur fuiſſe nepos. Geſner.

Benthima vel Benthemum. Benthem, a town of Weſtphalia.

Bentivolium, vul. Bentivoglio, caſtrum Italiæ, in agro Bononienſi.

Bercheria. Barkſhire in England.

Bercorcates. A people of Guienne in France. Plin.

Berecynthius, a, um: Hinc Berecynthia mater, Vir. i. Cybele, mater deûm, à Berecyntho Phrygiæ monte, ubi colebatur. Βερεκυντία ἡ Φρυγία, Heſ. Berecynthium cornu, Hor. quali ſcil. uſi Cybeles ſacerdotes, cum tympanis.

Beregrani, Plin. pop. Italiæ quorum opp. Beregra. Hinc Beregranus ager, Front.

Berengaria. The wife of Richard, King of England, and the daughter of Garſias King of Navarre. Polyd.

Berengarius. An Italian General, Blond. Alſo a French man of Tours, who denied the Tranſubſtantiation, or Carnal preſence in the Sacrament, in the time of Pope Leo the ninth.

BERENICE, or Beronice, es; f. à φέρω & νίκη. Several Ladies of this name. One the wife of Ptolomy Lagus, and mother of Philadelphus, Theocr. Another daughter of Philadelphus and Arſinoe, wife to King Evergetes, who vow'd to cut off her hair, if her husband returned from the war victor; accordingly ſhe did, and ſent it to Venus temple: But it was preſently (as Conon the Mathematician gave out) taken up into heaven, and made ſeven ſtars, called thence Coma Berenices, Catul. A third, daughter of Herod the Aſcalonite, and wife to her brother Agrippa, ſo Juven. Theſe are mentioned in the Acts. A fourth of Greece, who had a priviledge to be preſent at the Olympick games, which no other woman might; as one whoſe father, brothers, and children had been Conquerors in thoſe prizes. Val. M. ✠ Some cities of that name; One of Pentapolis in Egypt, another near to the Arabian gulf, both built by Ptolomy, and named in honour of his wife.

Berenicēus, a, um; Catul. Of Berenice.

Berenicis, idis; f. Luc. The country of Cyrene, where the city Berenice ſtood.

Berga. Bergen in the Baltick ſea.

Bergæ ad Zomam. Bergen op Zoom, a city of Brabant, under the Hollanders.

Bergæ D. Gertrudis. Gertrudenberg, a town in Holland.

Bergion & Albion. Two Giants, the ſons of Neptune, ſlain by Hercules, Mel.

Bergiſtani, pop. Hiſpaniæ, Liv.

Bergomum, à berg, Germ. Mont & home, i. domicilium; quòd in montibus degant Bergomates, altiùs quàm fortunatiùs ſiti, Plin. A town in Italy under the Venetians, ſome thirty miles from Millain; whence the Bergomat Pear.

Bergos, Plin. Bergen, a ſea-town in Norway. F.

Bergufia. Burgoin, a city of Provence in France.

Berlinum. Berlin, a chief city of the Duke of Brandenburg.

Berna. A city of the Swizzers, called Bern; pop. Bernenſes.

Bernardus, à Bern, Germ. urſus, ut ſit id. quod Arthurus. Al. qu. Hard child. St. Bernard, an ancient father, Abbot of Claravallis; he wrote much, and though he lived in very ignorant times, yet had a right underſtanding, but not ſo as to be quite free from miſtake; whence the Proverb, Bernardus non vidit omnia.

Beroa, opp. Theſſaliæ, LL. ex Ovid.

Bĕrŏe, es; f. A woman of Epidaurus, nurſe to Semele, Bacchus mother, Ovid. Alſo the wife of one Doryclus. Vir.

Berœa vel Berrhœa, à Eberone conditore dict. mutato ph in b; vel à Beræa, filiâ Beretis, qui erat Macedonis filius. A city of Macedon, mention'd in the Acts of the Apoſtles, now called Veria or Boor. Another of Syria, now called Aleppo.

Beroſus. An anoient Hiſtorian, who wrote of the affairs of Babylon and Aſſyria. The Athenians erected a ſtatue to him with a golden tongue. Plin. ✠ Alſo a hill in Taurica, that hath three ſprings, which are without either pain or cure deadly. Plin.

Berubium. A Promontory in Scotland, called Dumsbey, al. The cape of St. Andrews; or rather Dungesby-head in Cathneſs.

Berwicum, or Bervicium. Barwick, a town betwixt England and Scotland.

Berytus. A city of Phœnicia, vulgò Barutum, Plin.

Beſaro, urbs Hiſp. Bæticæ, Plin.

Besbicus, ſive Besbycus, inſ. Propontidis, Plin.

Beſidiæ, opp. Brutiorum, Liv. hod. Biſignano.

Beſippo, Hiſp. Bæticæ portus, Patria pomp. Melæ, ipſo teſte.

Beſſarion. A learned Cardinal, that lived in the time of Eugenius the fourth, famous for his liberality towards learned men; flor. circ. ann. Chriſt. 1432. Volat.

Beſſas, vel Beſas. An Idol of Abydos, that in paſt times gave anſwers. Amm.

Beſſi, vallibus habitantes; nam Βῆσσα vallis. People of Thrace on the left ſide the river Strymon, famous for theft and robbery. Ovid.

Beſſus. A Preſident of Bactra, that ſlew Darius after his defeat by Alexander.

Beſtia. A Roman mentioned by Salluſt in Catiline's conſpiracy.

Beta, urbs in ſinu Æthiopico. Plin.

Betaſii, pop. Belgii, Tac. Horum tractus Beelandi, vicus Beeis.

Beterones, pop. Hiſp. Tarracon. circa pagum Beteri, Liv.

Bethabara, N. T. i. domus tranſitus; locus trans Jordanem.

Bethania. i. domus afflictionis. N. T. Bethany, a town two miles from Jeruſalem, on the ſide of the mount Olivet, where Lazarus and his ſiſters lived.

Bethel, בֵּית־אֵל i. domus Dei. Θεοῦ Suid. The name of a city in the tribe of Benjamin, before called Luz.

Bethesda, i. domus effuſionis, בֵּית אַשְׁרָא nomen piſcinæ. Al. domus miſericordiæ, בֵּית חִסְרָא quòd ægrotis curandis deſtinaretur.

Bethlehem, בֵּית לֶחֶם i. domus panis. A town in Judea, firſt called Ephrata, the city of David, where our Saviour was born. Contr. Bethlem, Juvenc. Hinc Bethlæus, Sedul.

Bethſaida, i. domus ſive locus piſcationis. A town of Galilee, by the lake of Geneſareth, Andrew and Peters country.

Bethſan,

Bethſan, urbs Paleſtinæ; al. Scythopolis.

Bethſames, i. domus ſolis, q. d. Ἡλίου πόλις. opp. in tribu Judæ, ante Abel dict.

Bethulia vel Betulia, opp. Galilææ.

Bethunia. Betune in Artois.

Betulo vel Bettullo, opp. & fl. Hiſpaniæ citer. Opp. hod. Badelona, Fl. Beſos. F.

Beturia vel Bethuria, Hirt. regio Hiſpaniæ Luſitanicæ, vulg. Eſtremadura.

Betys, fl. Hiſpaniæ Bæticæ, F. ex Claud.

B ante I.

Biănor, ŏris; m. Virg. The ſon of Manto, ſirnamed Ocnus, King of the Tuſcans. He built Mantua, where Virgil was born, and called it after his mothers name.

BIAS, antis; m. A Philoſopher, one of the ſeven wiſe men of Greece, and Prince of the Prienians; when the city was taken by the enemy, and every man fled with bag and baggage, he carried nothing away with him; and being aſked, Why he did ſo? he anſwered, Omnia mea mecum porto: accounting his learning and virtue only his; the goods and riches of this world none of his.

Biatia. A town of Spain, vulg. Baeza. Plin.

Bibaculus. An Iambick Poet. Quint.

Bibaga. An Indian Iſland, wherein is great pleaty of Oyſters and ſhell-fiſh. Plin.

Bibenſes, Inſcr. ant. The people of Bibonum.

Biberiacum, Suet. pro Bebriacum.

Biberius, Tiberii agnomen propter nimiam vini aviditatem, παροινικῶς dict. Caldius Biberius Mero, pro Claudius Tiberius Nero Sueton.

Bibiana. A Roman martyr in the time of Julian the apoſtate. Volat.

Biblia, al. Billia. The chaſte wife of Duillius.

Biblina. A country of Thrace; unde Biblinum vinum, Βίβλινος οἶνος, Suid. Al. à Biblo Naxi fl.

Bibliolachas, Didymus ſo called, quòd ter mille quingentos libros conſcripſerit, Rhod.

Biblis. A fountain of Lycia, into which Biblis the ſiſter of Caunus was turned. Vid. Byblis.

Bibonum, Tac. opp. Sueviæ; hod. Bebling, vel Bebenhauſen.

Bibracte, Cæſ. A town in France, called in French, Beurect.

Bibrax. The town Bray, or Braynes, in France, in the country of Rochel.

Bibroci. People of the hundred of Bray in Barkſhire, about Windſor.

Bibulus, quà bibendo. A Conſul of Rome together with Cæſar, who ſtood for a cypher all the time, Suet. whence that form of date, Julio & Cæſare Coſs.

Bice, es; palus non procul à paludè Mæotica, Val. Fl.

Bicurgium. The city Erford in Germany.

Bidini. People of Sicily; the town Bidis.

Biendium. A ſea-port of Spain. Plin.

Bigaſtrum, al. Bagaſtra urbs Hiſpaniæ Tarracon.

Bigerra. The city Bejar in Spain, or as others Peſquera; Latinè Apiarium dicitur. F.

Bigerriones, Cæſ. Bigerri, Plin. Begeritani, Auſ. People of Guienne in France; the country Bigorre.

Bilbilis, f. Mart. A town of Tarracon in Spain, upon the river Salo, where the beſt Iron is. § Alſo the river called Bilbo, whoſe water hardens Iron; whence come our Bilbo-blades. vulg. Xiloca. Hinc Bilbilitanus, adj. Of Bilbo; one of that country, as Martial the Poet was.

Bilia, vel Billia. vid. Biblia.

Bilis. A river of Aſia near Heraclea. Plin.

Bimater, agnomen Bacchi, quòd duas matres habuerit, Semelen & ipſum Jovem. q. d. Bis genitus. unde Nonnus eum vocat Βάκχον διοσότοκον.

Bimonium, vel. pot. Binovium vel Vinovium. Bincheſter in the Biſhoprick of Durham, Camd.

Bingium, Tac. Bingen, a town of Germany, four leagues from Mentz.

Bion, ōnis; m. Several of that name, Laert. One an eloquent Philoſopher of Boryſthenes, who ſaid to one that had rioutouſly waſted and ſold his lands, The earth ſwallowed up Amphiaraus, and thou haſt ſwallowed up it. Hence Bionei ſermones, Hor. i. e. Satyræ, Turneb.

Bipedimui. People of Guienne; quorum urbs Vamiers. Plin.

Bipontium. A city of Germany in the Palatinate of Rhine, vul. Zweybrucken, Gall. Deux ponts, a Dukedom. B.

Birgus. A river of Ireland, called Barrow, which riſeth in Queens county.

Biſaltæ, Vir. A people of Thrace.

Biſaltes. A river of Thrace. Plin.

Biſaltis dict. à Biſaltia Thraciæ regione. The name of a maid deflowred by Neptune in the ſhape of a ram. Ovid.

Biſontium, al. Biſontio, & Veſontio, Cæſ. The chief city of Burgundy; Beſancon.

Biſton, ōnis; m. The ſon of Mars and Callirrhoe, which built the city Biſtonia in Thrace.

Biſtŏnes, um; m. Luc. People of that country, Thracians.

Biſtŏnia. ſc. urbs, regio, à Biſtone rege. A country or city in Thrace.

Biſtŏnis, ĭdis; f. ſc. aqua ſeu λίμνη. Plin. A lake in Thrace, now called Bouron. B.

Biſtŏnius, a, um, Ov. Of that country, Thracian. Biſtonius tyrannus, Luc. Diomedes, King of Thrace. Biſtonius turbo, Id. A Northern blaſt.

Bithon. Rhod. A man of that ſtrength, that he could carry a bull on his back.

Bithus. A famous ſword-player, with his fellow Bacchius, mentioned by Sueton.

Bithyæ. Scythian women that have two apples or ſights in each eye, and can bewitch one if they but ſee him; and kill him if they look long upon him.

BITHYNIA, dict. à Bithyno rege, vel à Thynis, qui ex Europâ tranſeuntes hanc forte regionem occuparunt. Ita Claud. Thyni Thraces erant, quæ nunc Bithynia fertur; ut ſint Bithyni, qu. βιθυνοι, ut Bitumen βιτουμεν. quod & ſitus probat: Tenent oram omnem Thyni, interiora Bithyni, Plin. A country of Aſia the leſs, next to Troas, over againſt Thrace, and as is ſuppoſed planted by Thracians; whence Xenophon calls it, Thracia Aſiatica. It was called formerly Bebrycia and Mygdonia; now it is called by ſome Burſia, by others Becſcanjial, and by the Turks Oſmanili.

Bithynus, Bithynius & Bithyn'cus, a, um; adj. Of Bithynia. § Juv. corripit primam, Hor. producit.

Bitias, æ; m. Vir. The brother of Pandarus, ſons of Alcanor the Trojan, Æneas companions, ſlain by the Rutili. § One of Dido's nobles. Id.

Biton. Son of Argia the prieſteſs; ſhe once going to the temple of Juno to ſacrifice, the coach-horſes being tired, Biton and his brother Cleobis drew the coach up the hill to the temple; ſhe deſired of the Goddeſs the beſt thing the gods could give to man for her two ſons: At night, after ſupper, they went to bed, and were found dead in the morning. Thus Tully tells the ſtory.

Bituitus, Allobrogum rex. In a battle with Fabius the Proconſul, he loſt an hundred and fifty thouſand men; himſelf after that kept in cuſtody all his life at Alba. Anno U. C. 633. Epitom. Liv.

Bituntum, urbs Italiæ, B. hod. Bitunto. Al. Hiſpaniæ opp. quòd Mart. habeat. Leg. & Butuntum.

Bituricenſis provincia. A country called le Berry in France.

Bituriges, Plin. Biturici, Col. & in ſing. Biturix, Luc. People of Guienne in France, of the country of Berry; their chief town Bourges, an Arch-biſhops See, in Latin Avaricum.

Bizantion, in Acc. Luc. The city ſince called Conſtantinople, vid. Byzantium.

Bizon. A city of Thrace, ſwallowed up by an earth-quake. Plin.

B ante L.

Blabia. A town of France, vul. Blavet. Ortel.

Blacia. A country near Cumæ. Aug.

Bladinæ montes. Bliew Blemy in Ireland. G.

Blæſus. A mans name; Stat. q. d. Liſper.

Blagura. A mountain in Ireland, out of which ſpring three famous rivers, Berna, Corus, and Syurus, which water almoſt the whole countr.

Blancafortium. A town in France, about two leagues from Burdeaux, called Blanquefort. B.

Blanda, Blanes opp. & flu. Hiſp. Tarracon. item opp. Brutiorum. Liv. blandæ; hod. belvedere.

Blandŭſia, æ; f. A fountain of Italy, hard by Mandela, Horace's country-houſe, to which he hath inſcribed one of his Odes.

Blandenona. A place not far from Placentia, Cic. hod. Broni.

Blaſcon. An Iſle in the mouth of Rhoan. Plin. hod. Languillade. B. faith 'tis a great way diſtant from Rhoan, and that 'tis now that Iſle called Breſcon, ſeven leagues from Narboane.

Blaſtus. N. T. A mans name.

Blatum Bulgium. Bulneſs, a town in Cumberland, Camd.

Blavia, Auſ. A town of France, four leagues from Burdeaux.

Blemmyæ, Plin. Claud. habet in Acc. Blemyas, ubi al. leg. Blemæ. ſed & Melæ Blemyæ dicti. Rect. Blemyes. nam & gr. Βλέμυες à Blemy, Æthiopum rege, ut ait Nonnus; à בלי & מוח i. ſine cerebro, Boch. quòd capite careant. Ethiopian monſters, a people having no head, but their eyes and mouths in their breſts.

Bleræ, opp. Thuſciæ; hod. Bieda. pop. Blerani, Plin.

Bleſæ, or Bleſenſe caſtrum. A fine town

in

in France, called Blois, on the river Loire.
Bleſtium. Old-town in Hereford-ſhire.
Bliteræ, Plin. Biteræ, lib. Conc. A city of France, in Provence, called Beziers.

B ante O.

Boagrius. A river of Locris, running by the city Thronion; vul. Terremoto.
Boanerges, i. filii tonitrûs. The ſons of Zebedee, ſo termed by Chriſt in the Syriack language. Nam Hebr. dici debuit בְּנֵי רַעַם.
Boarmia, Pallas dicta eſt à Bœotiis, à boum ad aratum coaptatione, Rhod.
Boas, inſ. Dalmatiæ. LL. ex Amm.
Bocalium. A town of Arcadia. Plin.
Bocanum Hemerum. The famouſeſt city in all Africk; Marocco.
Boccatius. An Italian of Florence, who wrote the Genealogie of the Gods, and ſeveral other ſtories; Boccace.
Bocchus. A King of Mauritania, which delivered Jugurtha bound to Sylla. Sall.
Bocchyris. A juſt King of Egypt; whence the Proverb, Bocchyris judicium. regn. ann. 44.
Boccori. People of Portugal, Plin.
Bodincomagum. A city of Montferrat in Italy, called now Caſal. B.
Bodincus, Padus dict. Ligurum linguâ, i.e. fundo carens. Plin The river Po in Italy.
Bodminia, quæ & Boſtiena. Bodmin in Cornwal.
Bodotria, Tac. Boderia, Ptol. The Forth or Frith by Edenburg in Scotland.
Bæa, opp. Peloponneſi, Plin.
Bæbeis, idis; f. ſc. aqua, &c. Βοιβηὶς λίμνη, Hom. A lake of Theſſaly, near the hill Oſſa, Luc. Hinc Bæbeicus, inquit F. ap. eundem Luc. ſed ibi rect. leg. Bebrycio.
Boëdromia, Feſtum Athenienſium, ὁτὸ τῶ βοηδρομεῖν, i. βοηθεῖν, h.e. ἐπὶ βοὴν, i. μαχλῶ δραμεῖν, Harpocr. quòd Ion Xuthi f. iis adverſus Eumolpum auxiliatus eſſet. Aliter P'ut. ob profligatas à Theſeo Amazonas; unde & menſis ipſe, quo id factum, Βοηδρομιὼν, qui nobis eſt Junius; & Apollo Βοηδρομίω- dictus.
Boëmia, & Bohemia; Boiemum, Tac. Boiohemum. Paterc. dict. à Boemis, vel à Boemo principe. pot. à Boiis, gente Gallicâ, qui eam occuparunt. The moſt fruitful country of upper Germany, called Bohemia; by the Dutch Bemerlandt; by the Inhabitants, which ſpeak a dialect of the Sclavonick, Czeskazem. It is environ'd with the Hercynian forreſt. The chief city is Prague.
Bœotia, dict. à bove, cujus ductu Cadmus pervenit ad eum locum, Ovid. A country in Greece, parted from Attica by the hill Citheron. It was formerly called Aonia, Ogygia, Hyantis, Meſſapia, and Cadmeïs; now it is called Stramulipa. The chef city was Thebes, built by Cadmus, hod. Stives. A good country for paſture of cattle, but of an ill foggie air; whence the people were reputed block-heads, Hor.
Bœotus, Bœotius, Hor. Bœoticus, a, um. Of that country.
Boëtius ſive Boëthius, i. auxiliator; nam eſt ex gr. βοηθεῖω. An excellent ſcholar, and one that had been Conſul in the time of King Theodoricus; by whom he was baniſhed, and kept at Ticinum, where he wrote theſe books De conſolatione Philoſophiæ. He and his fellow-Conſul Symmachus were at laſt both ſlain by his appointment, ann. Chr. 526.
Bogudiana. A part of Tangier-Province in Africk, Plin.
Bohilla, opp. Italiæ, qu. bovis hilla, quòd bos inteſtina vulnere trahens advenit. Non.
Boia, Cæſ. A town of France, where the Boii once dwelt, now called Bourbon; whence the Kings of France themſelves have their name.
Boiemum, Tac. Bohemia.
Bon. People of France, whoſe country is called Bourbonnois, and is a Dukedom. ◊ Others of Germany, who were afterward called Boiarii; the country Bavaria. ◊ Others of Italy, in the country called Romandiola, vulg. Romagna.
[illegible] in Germany now called Wienerwaldt.
Boion, opp. Cyrenes, it. Doridos, Plin.
Bola, Virg. Bolæ Liv. opp. Æquorum in Latio in viâ Appia. pop. Bolani, Plin.
Bolerium, opp. S. Burien in Cornwal. ◊ Bolerium promont. The cape of Cornwal, the Lands-end; in Corniſh Penwith; al. Antiveſtæum.
Bolbulæ. A town and Iſle of the Mediterranean ſea. Plin.
Bolingæ. A people of Aſia. Plin.
Bombus. A river of Cilicia, Plin.
Bomilcar. A Carthaginian captain, ſon of Amilcar; he was hang'd on a gibbet in the midſt of Carthage, being ſuſpected of a conſpiracy. Juſtin.
Bomitæ. People on the hill Amanus in Syriæ. Plin.
Bomonicæ, Βωμονικαὶ. i. in ara contendentes: adoleſcentuli erant qui in Dianæ Orthiæ ſacrificiis apud Laconas aris ſuperpoſiti, contendere ſolebant, quis plura verbera ſuſtineret.
Bon. A King of the Thuſcans. Ab eo Bononia dicta, Cato Orig.
Bona dea, ἀγαθὴ θεὸς, Plut. A Roman Matron of that chaſtity, that whilſt ſhe lived no man ever ſaw her but her huſband: after her death ſhe was made a goddeſs, to whom women alone, and that in the night, did worſhip; whom therefore Propert. calls Fœminea Dea, in Greek Γυναικεία, Plut. Nor was it lawful for any male-kind to be preſent at her rites, Ovid. They ſacrificed to her a ſow-pig, Juv. whence ſome take her for Proſerpine, the daughter of Ceres; becauſe ſwine deſtroy corn, which was her gift. Alex. ab Alex. Ῥωμαῖοι δὲ νύμφην Δρυάδα Φαύνῳ συνοικήσασαν. Plut. unde & vett. dicta Fauna; item Fatua & Senta.
Bonaventura, Theologus & Cardinalis Franciſcanus ex oppido Bagico regio, Scholaſticus inſignis; à Xiſto IV. in catalogum Sanctorum relatus eſt.
Boni portus, κηλὸς ἀγαθὸς. Act. 27. civ. Cretenſium cui nomen κηλὸς ἀκτὴ, i. pulchrum littus.
Bonianum, opp. in Samnio, Cic.
Bonicius, præſul Avernenſis. Volat.
Bonifacius, qu. à bonâ facie. The name of ſeveral Popes of Rome, and of divers others.
Bonium, al. Bovium. The city Bangor in Wales, a Biſhops See. F. ex Camd. But B. ſayes, it is a little village, called Bangor in Flint-ſhire, upon the river Dee, (where once was a famous Monaſtery) forty miles off that other Bangor.
Bonna. A city in Germany, upon the Rhine, called Bon, where the Elector of Colen ſometimes keeps his reſidence. olim Verona dict.
Bononia, locus eſt fabuloſus, unde Bullioniæ, & poſtea Bononicæ nomen, à bullienti fabulo, Gallico nomine inditum putant, vel à bonis ædificiis. A city of Italy, vul. Bologna, in French Boulogne lagraſſe; olim Felſina, ſcil. à Felſino Tuſcorum rege condita, Plin. Pop. Bononienſes, Cic. ◊ A city of France in Picardy, Bulloign, ſeven leagues from Calis, vul. Boulogne ſur la mer, and the country le Boulonois. vett. Geſſoracum Morinorum dict. ◊ A city of Hungary, upon the Danow, now called Bonmonſter, from the Minſter there.
Bononienſes, Bononiæ incolæ.
Bonoſus. An Emperour of Rome, a Schoolmaſters ſon. Vop. He was a great drinker; ſo that when being worſted by Probus his ſucceſſor, he hanged himſelf, people ſcoffed, and ſaid, It was a jug, and not a man that hung there.
Bonus, Presbyter Romanus. Volat.
Bonus eventus, inter Conſentes divos agricolarum. Varr. His ſtatue held a platter in his right hand, an ear of corn and a poppy in the left. Plin.
Boönæ, βοῶναι Athenis dicti ſunt qui boves ad dies feſtos coemerent. Demoſth.
Booſcœte, Helleſponti urbs, Germanicopolis poſtea dicta, Plin. 5. ult.
Boötes, æ; m. βοώτης. Lat. Bubulcus: ſtellula eſt juxta urſam majorem, quæ more bubulci plauſtrum ſequi videtur. dict. & Artophylax.
Booz, i. in fortitudine, vel in hirco, filius Salmon; item nomen columnæ in porticu Solomonis.
Borbetomagus, Germaniæ urbs, Ptol. quibuſdam hodie Worms.
Borbonium. A Dukedom of France, Bourbon.
Borcani. People of Italy. Plin.
Borcole, Thraciæ oppidum. Plin. LL.
Borcovicum. Barwick in Northumberland. Camd. Al. Berwick.
Borea, oppidi nomen. Cic.
BOREAS, æ; m. Poët. Βορέας, à βοὴ & ἰέω, quòd cum ſonitu ruat, vel. à βορὰ, q. d. vorax. The bluſtering Northwind, ſon of Aſtræus; or as others of Strymon: he had by Orithyia, the King of Athens daughter, two ſons, Zetes and Calais. He begat alſo of Dardanus his mares twelve very fleet horſes. ◊ A hill of Macedon, near Dyrrhachium. Vib. Seq.
Boreoſtoma. One of the mouths of the Danow. Plin.
Boreum. Tellinghead. Ort. al. S. Hellens head. A cape on the North of Ireland. ◊ It. Cyrenes prom. Mel. Βόρειον ἀκρωτ, Ptol. Al. leg. Botrion, Al. Byrion. Is. Voſſ. Byron.
Borgodi. People of Aſia. Plin.
Boringia. The Iſland Bornholm in the Baltick ſea. B.
Bormanico, oppidum Narbonenſis provinciæ, Plin. 3, 4.
Bormiæ aquæ, Caſſiod. Wormſee, ubi Bornium, vul. Worms, opp. Rhætorum. F.
Boron. A town of the Troglodytes. Plin.
Boructuarii, Rhod. pop. Germaniæ; quorum villa Velſenberch, Ort. al. Brouck, qu. Bructeri. F.
Boruſſia, vul. Pruſſia, it. Prutenia. A country in the Kingdom of Poland, divide vided into two parts; Prussia Royal, under the King of Poland; and Prussia Ducal, under the Duke of Brandenburg. The people Borussi, or Borusci. Sub axe Borusco, F. ex Ov. sed LL, leg. Boreo.

Borysthenes. A river of Poland, the greatest in Europe next Ister, called Nieper. Also a town by the mouth of that river. inde Borysthenidæ, pop. Propert. ◊ Borysthenius, a, um. Of that river. Ovid.

Bosa, urbs Episc. Sardiniæ. Pop. Bosenses, Plin.

Boscum Ducis, sive Sylva Ducis, Gall. Bois le Duc, contr. Bosleduc & Bolduc. A city of Brabant under the Hollanders, called in Dutch Hertogenbosch.

Bosnia or Bossina. A country of Servia, once part of the Kingdom of Hungary, afterward a Kingdom of it self, now wholly under the Turks.

BOSPHORUS, qu. à βοῦς & φέρω, vel rect. Bosporus, βοσπορος, i. bovis transitus, Plin. vel quòd Io in bovem mutata trajecerit, Val. Fl. Dion. Two straits of the sea so called; the one Bosporus Thracius, vul. Stretta di Constantinopoli; so narrow, that they may hear cocks crow, and dogs bark from one side to the other. The other Bosporus Cimmerius, vul. Stretto di Gaffa, more Northward, at the entrance into Mæotis; whence called Os Mæotidis, Capell. where was a city of the same name, vul. Vospero. Pop. Bosphorani, Plin. ◊ Propert. habet in plur. Bospora, scil. freta, ut sit adj. Inde Bosporius, Ovid. & Bosphoreus, Sidon.

Bosporus. A town of Franconia in Germany; vul. Ochsenfurt.

Bosra. A city of Edom, and another of Moab, Jer. 48. 24.

Bostra. A city of Arabia, called also Philippopolis.

Bothnia, unde sinus Bothnicus. A country belonging to the Swedes, between Lapland and the Baltick sea.

Botrodus. A town of Spain near Segobriga, a place well wooded. Mart.

Botizi, Thraciæ pop. Plin. 4. 11.

Botrys. A town of Phœnicia. Mel. al. Beteron.

Bovianum, hod. Boiano, colonia Samnitum, Plin. hinc Bovianus, adj. Sil.

Bovillæ. A village near Rome, whence called Suburbanæ Bovillæ by Ovid. ◊ Also a town of Italy at further distance, Mart. six miles off Arpinum. F.

Bovium. Boverton, or (as Camden) Cowbridge in Glamorgan-shire. Al. Bonium.

B ante R.

Brabantia. The largest Province of the Spanish Netherlands, Brabant. It hath Flanders on the West, and Gelderland on the East. The people formerly called Ambivariti. It is in length seventy five miles, in breadth sixty. Malines is the chief City, Brussels the seat of the Government, Antwerp a famous Mart, and Lovain an University. Breda, Berg op Zoom, Bolduc and Grave, are under the Hollanders.

Brabantini. People of Brabant.

Brabasthenes. A hill ten miles from Lacedæmon, Liv.

Bracara, now called Braga: A city of Spain belonging to Portugal; The Archbishop of it is Metropolitan, and Primate of all Portugal.

Bracari, vel Bracares. People of that country.

Braccata Gallia. Provence in France; so called à braccis, from the peoples wearing trowses.

Brachmanes, vel Brachmanæ, it. Bragmanes, Pallad. Βραχμᾶνες, Str. Βραχμᾶναι, Clem. sing. Βραχμὰν, i. בר חכמין ἀγριοσοφιστὴς, h. e. Gymnosophista, Jacob. fort. à רחמן i. misericors, quòd animalium esu abstinerent, Porph. Erant enim Pythagorei, aut saltem ab iis edoctus Pythagoras. The Bramans, Philosophers in India; they eat no flesh, nor drink wine, and endure no images. Plin. l. 17.

Bractia, Insula Illyrici, Plin.

Bradeas. A Noble man that went very fine about the feet; whence the Proverb, Nobilitatem in astragalis gestare; of those who have nothing to shew for their gentility but fine cloathes. Rhod.

Bradua. A Consul of Rome. an. U. C. 937.

Bragãda. A river of Africk, near to Utica. R. ex Sil.

Bragæ. Certain desart Islands, Plin.

Brage. Broughton in Hampshire. R.

Brana. opp. Turdulorum in Hisp. Plin.

Branchidæ. The Priests of Apollo. Plin. unde & Branchidarum oraculum. A place sacred to Apollo in Milesia, hod. Petrun: whence he himself called Branchiades, à Branchо adolescente Thessalo, quem & vivum dilexit & mortuum templo decoravit; cui & vaticinandi artem concesserat. Lact. ad Stat. vel à Branchidis populis, apud quos responsa dabat, Str.

Brandeburgum, qu. Brennoburgum, à Brenno Gallorum duce conditum, ad Havellam fl. A city of the upper Germany, chief of the whole Marchy of Brandenburg. ◊ A city of Poland in Prussia Ducal, belonging to the Elector of Brandenburg.

Brangonia, quæ est Vigornia. The city of Worcester.

Brannesia. Oldenberch in Holsatia, once a Bishops See, since translated to Lubeck.

Brannodunum. Brancester in Norfolk, Camd.

Brannogenium. Worcester, afterwards called Brangonia, or Vigornia.

Brannovices or Brammovices. A people once of Provence in France, now in the Dutchy of Savoy, belonging to the town Brammovicum, hod. Bramant. B.

Brannovi, pop. Galliæ Narb. quorum opp. Brigantium, Cæs.

Branodunum. Brancaster in Norfolk. F. ex Camd.

Branovium; quæ & Brangonia. In Welch Caervrangon. Worcester. F.

Brasilia. Brasil in the West-Indies; a large and fruitful country discovered and held by the Portugals.

Brattia vel Bractia. An Isle in the gulf of Venice, vul. la Brazza. Plin.

Bratuspantium. A town of the Low-Countries, Granviller; or, as some, Grattepante, &c. Cæs.

Braunodunum. A town of Bavaria, vul. Braunaw.

Bravum. The city Burgos in Spain, an Arch-bishoprick.

Brechinia. Brecknock, a shire and town in Wales.

Bruda. A city of Brabant.

Bergmenteni. People of Troas in Asia.

Brema. A city of Westphalia, Bremen.

Bremenium. Brampton in Cumberland, Camd. or Barwick, Vilonov. or, as others, Bramburrow.

Bremetonacum. Ribchester, or Overborrow in Lancashire. Camd.

Brenda. Vett. poët. Brundusium, brevitatis gratiâ. Fest.

Brenni, al. Breuni. People of Germany in the county of Tirol. Flor.

Brennoburgum, à Brenno conditum. Brandenburg, belonging to the Marquis and Elector of that name.

Brennus, à Brit. Brennin, Rex; vel saltem ita Rex illis ab ejus nomine dict. Gallorum Senonum dux, qui Brenonam urbem ædificavit, quæ postea dicta est Verona. He came into Italy with three thousand Gauls at his feet, overrun the country, routed the Roman army at the river Allia, sacked and took the city Rome it self all but the Capitol; and made them at last buy his departure with a round sum of gold, though Livy, and out of him Plutark, say, he was driven away by Camillus. ◊ Another of that name, who went into Greece, and plunder'd the temple of Apollo at Delphos, and afterwards fell mad, and killed himself. Propert.

Brenthus. The son of Hercules, à quo Brundusium, gr. Βρεντήσιον.

Breuci. People of Hungary by the river Saus. Plin.

Breuni, sive Brenni. Ut Str. Βρέννοι καὶ Γαισάται, ita Hor. Genaunos Breunosque conjungit. pop. Vindelicіæ in Bavaria. ◊ Item populi Alpini, Plin.

BRIAREUS, Βριάρεως à βριαρὸς, i. fortis, robustus. One of the Giants, the son of Titan; he was called Ægæon among men, and among the gods Briareus. Poets fain, that he had an hundred arms, and fifty heads; whence Virgil calls him centum geminus. When Pallas, Juno and Neptune, and many other of the Gods had conspired against Jupiter, at Thetis her request he went into heaven, and by his appearance quasht the mutiny; afterward he was one of those that fought against the gods. Stat.

Briela. The Brill in Holland, a strong place.

Brigæcium. A city of Spain, vul. Oviedo, al. Braganza. B.

Brigantes. People of York-shire, Lancashire, Bishoprick of Durham, Westmerland, Cumberland. Also people of Scotland by Gallaway. Juv.

Brigantia. A city of Portugal called Braganza, the Dukes whereof are Kings of Portugal.

Brigantinus lacus, Germ. Bodensee, Ital. Lago di Constanza, Lacus Rhætiæ inter Alpes; Brigantia Melæ.

Brigantinus portus. A Port in Spain, vul. Porto della Cevunna.

Brigantium. A city of England, York. ◊ A town of France in the Dauphin, Brianzon. ◊ A town of Spain, hod. Compostella; al. Betauros. ◊ Opp. Rhætiæ, Bregentz.

Brige. Broughton in Hampshire.

Brigani. A people of the Alps. Plin.

Brigida. Saint Brigid; she was the first beginner of an order of Nuns in the time of Pope Urban the fifth, an. Chr. 1364.

Briletum, mons Alticæ regionis, LL. ex Plin.

Brillendunum. Bridlington in York-shire.

Brimo, ûs; f. Stat. Βριμὼ, ἀπὸ τῦ βρεμᾶν, à terrendo, quòd nocturna terricula mentis ab eâ immitti credebantur, Rhod. One of the names of Proserpina, or Hecate.

Brisabritæ. People of India. Plin.

Briseus, Epitheton Bacchi, à Brisa, prom. Lesbi insulæ, ubi colebatur; tribuitur item Poetis, ut Accio ap. Pers. quod ii in Liberi patris tutelâ essent. Casaub.

Briseïs, idos; f. Poet. Βρισηΐς, Hom. dict. à patre Brise. The daughter of Brises, who at the taking of Lyrnessus, fell to Achilles share; from whom afterward Agamemnon took her by force, which bred a great quarrel betwixt them.

Bristolium. Bristol or Bristow.

BRITANNIA, dict. à Britone rege; al. à Bruto Trojano, quasi Brutania. Coop. ex Prytania quod gr. signif. metalla, nundinæ & vestigalia, propter metallorum aliarúmque rerum copiam. Cambd. à Brith, i. pictus, quòd incolæ se pingerent glasto. Boch. deducit Βριτανικη à ברח אנך i. ager stanni sive plumbi; satis commode ad rem, non item ad vocem. Nam Βριτανικη à Βριτανία, hoc à Britannis sive Britonibus. Dic. & plur. Britanniæ. The Island of Great Britain, containing England, Scotland and Wales; it is eight hundred miles in length.

Britannia minor. Bretagne in France, inhabited by the Britans, who fled in Vortiger's time out of England.

Britannicus, a, um; adj. Of Britain.

Britannicus. The son of Claudius Cæsar and Messalina; he was poysoned by Nero.

Britannus, i; & Brito, ōnis; m. A Britain, a Welsh-man.

Britium. A town of Portugal. Plin.

Britomartis, Βριτόμαρτις, i. Virgo dulcis, Solin. Nympha Cretensis, quæ & Diana. Hes. A nymph of Crete, who to escape being ravished by Minos, cast her self headlong into the water. Virg.

Britŏnes, um; m. Juv. populi utriusque Britanniæ.

Brivates portus. Breſt in France. Scal.

Brixellum. A town between Mantua and Cremona, vulg. Bressello. Suet.

Brixentes, pop. Norici, Plin.

Brixia, hod. Brescia. A city of Italy under the Venetians.

Brixillum. Plin. id. quod Brixellum.

Brizo, ex βριζω, dormio. The goddess of dreams. Cœl. Rhod.

Bromius, Χαρ τω βρεμειν, a fremendo; vel Χαρ της βροντης a tonitru, eò quòd natus sit cum tonitru, ejus genitrice fulmine peremptâ. Bacchus so called. Ovid.

Bromus. One of the Centaurs. Ovid.

Brontes sic dict. quòd Jovi cudat τον βροντην, i. fulmen. One of the three Cyclops, or Vulcans forge-men, who make Joves thunderbolts.

Bronteum, βροντειον, à βροντη tonitru. A device under the stage, whereby the Players could counterfeit thunder.

Bronteus, Χαρ της βροντης à tonitru. The name of Jupiter, q. d. Tonans.

Broteas. A famous champion at whorl-bats, brother to Ammon.

Brotheus. The son of Vulcan, who being jeer'd for his ill-favouredness, threw himself into the fire. Ovid.

Broverſavia. A town in Zeland, called also Scaldia; vul. Brewers haven.

Brovonacis, Camd. The town called Brougham in Westmerland.

Bructeri. People of the Low-countries in East-Friesland; their country called Brockmerland. ◊ Accola sylvæ Bructerus Hercyniæ. Claud.

Brugæ. The city Brugg in Flanders, or Bruges, a gallant city; so called from the many bridges it hath.

Brullitæ. People of Ephesus. Plin.

Brumalia, quæ & Liberalia, Bacchi sacra, qui vett. Brumus, i. Bromius dict. Feasts of Bacchus, kept twice a year, 12. Kal. Mart. and 18. Kal. Sept. Rhod.

Brundulus, portus. An haven belonging to Venice. Plin.

Brundunum, urbs Bavariæ, vulgò Braunaw.

Brundusium, dict. à cervini capitis similitudine, quòd βρένθον suâ linguâ appellabant Messapii. Græci Brenteſium appel. à Brento quodam Herculis filio. A city of Calabria by the Adriatick sea, which hath a very commodious haven, whence was their usual passage into Greece.

Brunsuicum, vel Brunsuiga, Brunſwick, i. Brunonis vicus, dict. à conditore Brunopolis, & quòd quintuplex sit, Pentapolis. The chief city of Saxony.

Brutidius. An Orator and Historian, Sen. a friend of Sejanus, Juv.

Brutii, qu. Bruti, i. stupidi & vecordes dict. quòd ad Annibalem defcivissent; unde & Strab. Χοιρισται, i. defectores. vel Βρέττιοι, οἱ δεραπόνται, Diod. i. servi & fugitivi, quòd cùm essent Lucanorum pastores, autugerent. Vel Χαρ Βρέττια της Ηεραλέους, Eust. vel à picis abundantia; nam βρεττια pix. Boch. People in the farthest part of Italy, beyond the Lucani, over against Sicily, in Calabria. ◊ Hos Brutianos voc. Gell. Brutates Enn. quos & bilingues esse dicit, quod Oscè & Græcè loquerentur. Fest.

Brutium, promont. Brutianorum, al. Leucopetra. vul. Punto della Saetta. Mel. B.

Brutus. A noble family of the Romans. Primus ita dictus L. Junius, ob stultitiam Tarquinii metu simulatam. The first Consul of Rome with Collatinus, after the banishment of Kings, ann. M. 3442. U. C. 265. ◊ Junius Brutus. One of the conspirators that slew Julius Cæsar; who flying upon it, and being afterward routed by Augustus and Antony at Philippi, killed himself; he was a great chrony of Tullies.

Bruxella, or Bruxellæ. The chief city of Brabant, called Brussels.

Bryaxis. An Ingraver that helped to make the famous monument of Mausolus. Plin.

Brygion, opp. Macedoniæ, Plin.

Bryllion. A city of Mysia. Plin.

Bryorum littus, in regione Cyrenaicâ, Mel.

Bryſæ, Thraciæ populi, Plin.

Bryſani. Scythians, neighbours to the Cycones.

Bryseus, nomen Bacchi, à Bryſea urbe Laconiæ quòd ibi coleretur; vel à βρύω, i. scaturio, quòd ex alvearibus mella, vel ex uvis musta exprimere primus docuit: al. à Byrſa, pelle quam in bello induebat, per metath.

B ante U.

Bubacene, Asiæ regio, Curt.

Bubălus, vid. Bupalus.

Būbastus, i; f. q. d. της Βοὸς ἄγων, Bovis, sc. Isidis, urbs. A city of Egypt, now called Aizoth, Ortel. where the Cow-goddess Isis was in former times worshipped; who also from this place was named her self Bubastis, is vel idis; f. so Ovid calls her, reckoning up the Egyptian Deities; Latrator Anubis, Sanctáque Bubastis, variisque coloribus Apis. And hence those rites, which were yearly performed in honour of that Goddess, are called by another Poet, Bubastia sacra. Grat. Cyneg.

Būbăsus, Cariæ regio, cujus mulieres Bubasides nurus, Ovid.

Bubei, Africæ interioris pop. Pl.

Bubentani, Campaniæ pop. Plin.

Bubon, Lydorum urbs, à Bubone latrone condita. Plin.

Bubona, boum Dea antiq. The Goddess of Oxen. Rhod.

Buca, Pl. Bŭccæ, Pt. opp. Ferentanorum in Italiâ.

Bucephalos or Bucephalon. A city of India, near the river Hydaspes, built by Alexander the Great, in memory of his horse Bucephalus, whom he lost there, after the fight with the Indian King Porus. Curt.

Bucephalum, portus in sinu Saronico, prope Isthmum Corinthiacum. Plin.

Bucĕphălus, i; m. à βους & κεφαλη, quòd magno & qu. bovino capite esset. Alexander's great charging-horse, who would let none but his own master get up on the back of him.

Bucinna, Siculi maris inf. Pl.

Buclopus. The god of flies. Rhod.

Bucolion, gr. boves pascens. The son of Laomedon. Hom.

Buda. The chief city of Hungary, not far from the Danow, now called Offen.

Budda. An Indian Philosopher, whom the Indians pretended to have been born out of the side of a Virgin. Cæl. Rhod.

Budĕa, civitas Magnesiæ; unde Budæa Minerva; in honore apud Thessalos habita, Gr. Βούδεια.

Budini. People of Scythia. Plin.

Budoræ. Two Isles near Candie. Pl.

Budorgis, urbs Germaniæ, hodie Uratislavia, vulgò Breslau.

Budoris. The city Heidelberg in the Palatinate, or, as some, Durlach.

Bugences, dict. Bacchus eâdem ratione, quâ Tauriformis ac Tauriceps, qu. Βουγενης.

Bul, בול mensis Hebr., vel à יבול proventus sc. Autumni, vel à נכל cecidit, quòd tum folia decidant; respondet nostro Ottobri.

Bularchus, pictor præstantiss. Plin.

Bulgari, pop. & eorum regio Bulgaria, Mœsiæ pars inferior, intra Hæmum montem, & Danubium fl. sita.

Bulfæum. A Welch town in Brecknockshire, called Buelth. Camd.

Bulla Regia. A free town of Numidia in Africk. Plin.

Bullenses. A people of Locris. Plin.

Bulliones. Barbarous people of Macedon. Pl.

Bunas judex est. prov. An Athenian, that being made an Arbitrator, put off the business still, and would never determine the controversie.

Būpălus, i; m. Hor. A Painter in Asia, who to make sport, drew the picture of Hipponactes the Poet, an ugly fellow; who in revenge wrote such a copy of Verses upon the Painter, that he made him hang himself.

Buphagus. A river in Arcadia, so called from Buphagus the son of Iapetus, slain by Diana for his unchaste designs. Rhod. ◊ Βουφαγος Hercules dict. quod multi esset cibi, & boves integros ederet.

Buphonia, Βουφονια. Festum apud Athenienses, nienſes, in quo multi mactabantur boves.

Bupraſium, à Bupraſio conditore. A city and country of Achaia. Plin.

Būra, Ovid. A city of Achaia, in the gulf by Corinth, long ſince ſwallowed up by the ſea. Inde Buraicus, Hercules dictus ab Achaiæ urbe Burâ.

Burdĕgăla, vel Burdigala. Burdeaux in Gaſcoin, a city of France, an Arch-biſhops ſeat, Auſonius his native country.

Burgundia, æ; f. Two countries of this name; the one the Dutchy of Burgoin, once inhabited by the Hedui, called Lower Burgundy. The other called Upper Burgundy, once poſſeſſed by the Sequani, and now goes by the name of the Franche Comté.

Burgundiones. People of that country; Burgundians.

Burnum, opp. in tractu Dalmatiæ, Plin.

Burrium. Usk in Wales.

Burſaonenſes, Hiſpan. pop. Plin.

Buſcumducis, or Sylva ducis. One of the four chief cities of Brabant, called Boiſleduc, from the woods about it, which once belonged to the Duke of that country.

BUSIRIS, idis; m. al. à βοῦς & ὄνος, q. boum tractor. Malim à βοῦς bos, Ægyptiorum idolum, & Σῖρις ſive Nilus Ægypti fl. A moſt cruel tyrant of Egypt, much about the time when Danaus reigned in Greece. He was the ſon of Neptune by Libya, the daughter of Epaphus. He was wont to ſacrifice all his gueſts and ſtrangers upon his altars; whence Buſiridis ara, Virg. Stat. to expreſs the moſt ſavage cruelty. But at laſt Hercules coming into the country, and finding he had the ſame deſign upon him, ſlew him and his attendants.

Butea, dict. à Buteone, i. accipitre, cui principatus in auguriis dabatur olim; unde hæc familia Butea dicta eſt, proſpero auſpicio à Buteo deſumpto. A family in Rome.

Buteo. A Roman Orator mentioned by Seneca.

Butes, gr. i. Bubulcus, The ſon of Amycus King of Bebrycia; who being baniſhed the Kingdom for his fathers cruelty, came into Sicily, and was there in great favour with the famous courtezan Lycaſte, called Venus for her beauty: he had a ſon by her called Eryx; whereupon roſe the fable, that Butes begat Eryx of Venus. ◊ A Trojan, ſlain by Camilla. Both theſe mention'd in Virgil.

Buthos, gr. Βύθος, i. profunditas. A town of Egypt. Pl.

Buthrotos, i; f. Ov. vel Buthrotum, i; n. Vir. vulgò Butinto. A city of Epirus, over againſt the Iſland Corfu.

Buthus, gr. Βοῦθος, qu. à βοῦς bos & θύω macto. A great eater, that was wont to devour a great ox in a day; whence he became a proverb, Buthus obambulat, Βοῦθος περιφοιτᾷ. q. d. Room for the great eater.

Butoa. An Iſle near Candy. Plin.

Butua, opp. Liburniæ. Plin.

Butuntinenſes, pop. Apuliæ. Pl.

Buxentum, à Buxo arbore, quæ copiosè illic provenit, gr. Πυξοῦς. opp. Lucaniæ.

Buzyges, is; m. Auſ. Βούζυγης. A noble perſon of Athens, that firſt invented plowing with yokes of oxen, whence he had this name given him; for his own true name was Epimenides, Heſ. tells us.

Buzygia, Athenis fuit familia ſacerdōtio prædita, à Buzyge ſic dicta.

B ante Y.

Bybaſſus, Cariæ regio. Vid. Bubaſus.

Byblis, idis; f. Ov. Βύβλις. The daughter of Miletus and Cyane, who deſperately falling in love with her brother Caunus, and being ſlighted by him, died for ſorrow; and is feigned to have been turned into a fountain of her own name. ◊ A little Iſland of the Mediterranean ſea, Plin. Otherwiſe called Melos, Zephyria, Mirmallis and Siphnus.

Byges, pl. Byce, Pt. palus Sarmatiæ, in Mæotidem influens.

Byrrhus, i; m. Hor. ſat. 4. A notable thief or high-way-man.

BYRSA, æ; à gr. Βύρσα, corium, ſec. fabulam. Reverà ab Heb. ſive Punicâ voce בצרה botſra, i. arx, præſidium. The Burſe, (as we in another ſenſe call the Royal Exchange; to wit) a Caſtle in the midſt of Carthage, on the top whereof was the Temple of Æſculapius, which the wife of Aſdrubal burned with her ſelf in it, when the city was taken. The original of this city is thus ſet down by Servius; Dido arriving on the coaſt of Libya, was forbidden there to ſtay by Hyarbas King of that country; ſhe therefore cunningly deſired to buy of them ſo much ground, as might be compaſſed with an oxes hide; and having obtained her deſire, cut the hide into ſmall thongs, and therewith incompaſſed twenty two furlongs, on which ſhe built the City named Carthage; and the Caſtle was called Byrſa, i. e. The Hide.

Byzăcium, i; n. Pl. A moſt fruitful country of Africk, yielding a hundred-fold increaſe. Byzacia rura. Sil. & Byzacenus ager. Plin.

Byzantium, dict. à Byze, Megarenſium claſſis præfecto, Euſtath. A city of Thrace, built by Pauſanias, a captain of the Spartans, Juſtin. It was called Ligos formerly, Plin. afterwards Nova Roma; then in the time of Severus, and his ſon Antonius, Antonia; and being enlarged, and made the head of the Oriental Empire in the time of Conſtantine, it was called Conſtantinople. It is now under the hands of the Turk, having been won by Mahomet the ſecond, ann. Chriſt. 1453. They call it Stambull. Hence Byzantia littora, Ovid. Byzantiacos lacertos. Stat.

Byzenus. The ſon of Neptune, of a fierce ſpeech; whence the Proverb, Byzeni libertas, applyed to thoſe that are laviſh of their tongues.

Byzĕres, um; m. Val. Pl. Βύζηρες. Dion. Buzeri, Plin. A people of Pontus.

Byzia, æ; Pl. The city of the Kings of Thrace, for Tereus his wicked fact frequented by no Swallows.

C ante A.

CAbalaca. A town of Albania in Aſia. Plin.

Cabalinum, Cæſ. Cabilonum, oppid. Galliæ. Chalons ſur Saone.

Caballinus fons, Petſ. The Muſes well upon the mount Helicon, called in Greek Hippocrene, i. equi fons, the horſes ſpring, which upon Pegaſus his ſtriking his foot in that place, brake out.

Cabellio. A town of Provence in France, call'd Cavaillon.

Caberon, Aſiæ fl. Plin.

Cabiri, Κάβειροι. Dii Phœnicum, qui Beryti maximè colebantur, Euſeb. q. d. Divi potes, Θεοὶ μεγάλοι καὶ δυνατοὶ.

Cabul, כבול compeditus vel à terra tenaci ob copiam argillæ. A country of Galilee, which Solomon gave to Hiram King of Tyre.

Cabura, fons Meſopotamiæ, egregiè odoratus, quò Juno eo aliquando fuerit perfuſa. Plin.

Caca. The ſiſter of Cacus, Serv.

Cacannus. The firſt King of the Hunns.

CACUS, i; m. (ā) q. à Gr. κακὸς malus, quòd omnia rapinis & incendiis vaſtaret; unde & Vulcani, i. ignis filius dictus, & monſtrum hominis creditus. The ſon of Vulcan, a fellow of monſtrous ſhape, and vaſt ſtrength; a great Tory and Cow-ſtealer, that kept his cattle in the Aventine woods. Having ſtolen Hercules his oxen, he drew them backwards by the tails into his den, that they might not be found out by the track of their feet. Hercules driving the reſt of his cattle that way, and hearing thoſe that he mixt bellow in the cave, makes thither, meets with the thief, knocks him o'th' head with his club, pulls him out by the heels, and replevins the oxen out of the pound. Liv. Virg. Ov. Juv. &c.

Cadara, inſula ingens Rubri maris. Pl.

Cadetes, vel Caletes. People of France mentioned by Cæſar. Gall. voc. Chaſteau Bryant in Brittain. Pl.

Cadmia, æ; f. ſc. terra; ut Καδμεία ſc. λίθος. eſt enim Adj. à Cadmus, qui primus æs Thebis inventum condidit, Hygin. Braſs-ore, the ſtone out of which braſs is made.

CADMUS, i; m. Κάδμος. à קדם oriens. quod eſſet קדמני orientalis; & forte Hevæus, unde in ſerpentem mutatus dicitur. nam חויא ſerpens. Primus æris repertor, unde Cadmia dicta: primus ſcholas inſtituit & literas docuit in Græciâ, Herod. unde Academiæ nomen, & Literæ Cadmi filiæ dici meruerunt. The ſon of Agenor, King of the Phœnicians, being ſent by his father out of Aſia into Greece, to look for his ſiſter Europa, whom Jupiter had in the ſhape of a bull, or as ſome explain the ſtory, in a ſhip call'd the Bull, ſtoln away, and carried her to Creet, he durſt not return home without her, but ſtaid among the Greeks, whom he taught the uſe of letters, and the way of making braſs. He built the city Thebes in Bœotia. Having ſlain a great ſerpent, that had kill'd a many of his companions, he took the teeth and ſowed them in the ground, out of which there ſprang as many armed men, who preſently fell a fighting, and diſpatched one another all ſave five; whence the Proverb, Cadmea victoria, Καδμεία νίκη, when one gets the better of his enemy with much loſs. At laſt 'tis ſaid, he himſelf with his wife were transformed into ſerpents. He lived much about Joſhua's time.

Cadmus Mileſius. An Hiſtorian a little after Orpheus his time. He wrote the Hiſtory of his own country Miletum, and of all Ionia; and added two letters to the Greek Alphabet, ϗ, ϡ. ◊ An Executioner or Hang-man. Tradere Cadmo, Hor. To condemn a man, or ſentence him to death.

Cadomum. A city of Normandy in France, call'd Caen.

Caduceus, Mercurii virga; unde Caduciſer vocatus eſt; à caducando dict. quòd contentiones & bella cadere faceret. Mercuries golden Rod or Tip-staff. It was figured by the Egyptians to be like two serpents knit together in the middle; which knot was called Hercules his knot. This Wand, as also the Harp, was given to him by Apollo; wherewith he had power to bring souls out of hell, and to cast any one into a sleep.

Cadurci. People of Guienne in France, about Cahors.

Caduſii, pop. Aſiæ circa Caſpium mare.

Cæa, æ; Ov. Virg. vel Ceos, i; f. Cic. à Cæo, Titanis filio ſic dicta. An Iſle in the Ægean ſea. Gr. ὐδρόεσσα. vul. Zea.

Cæcias, æ; m. Pl. A wind betwixt the North and Eaſt points: It doth, by a ſtrange power it has, gather the clouds to it; whence the Proverb, Mala ad ſe trahens, ut Cæcias nubes.

Cæcilia. A family of Rome; vid. Feſt. From whence, as ſome think, the Engliſh name Cecil; as from the Sabelli, Savill.

Cæcilia. The wife of Tarquinius Priſcus, called alſo Tanaquil. Plin.

Cæcilius. The name of a noble family in Rome. vid. Cæculus.

Cæcübum. A town in Campania, whence there came an excellent ſort of wine. Hor. Mart.

Cæculus, Vulcani filius, ſic dict. quòd minores haberet oculorum orbes; ab hoc Cæcilios ortos putant, quorum familia Romæ nobiliſſima fuit. As his mother ſate by the fire, a ſpark light in her lap, by which ſhe ſaid ſhe conceived with child; and therefore this child was counted Vulcan's ſon. He was the founder of the city Prænesте in Italy. vid. Virg. Æneid. 7.

Cædicius. The name of ſome Conſuls.

Cæleſtini. People of Umbria. Plin.

Cæleſtis, Tertul. i. Fortuna, Africæ Dea.

Cæliculum. A place mentioned in Cic. de Aruſp.

Cælius, à cœlo dict. i. cœleſtis. The name of divers Romans: alſo one of the ſeven hills on which Rome ſtood. Liv.

Cælus, i; m. Deus, à quo Cælum dictum. Thoſe ancient Worthies, whoſe original was not known, as Saturn, Atlas, &c. were ſaid to be Cœli & Terræ filii, the children of Heaven and Earth; as thoſe that were of mean parentage, and ignoble extraction, that no body knew whence they came, were termed to be only the ſons of the Earth.

Cæna. One of the Alps, out of which iſſueth the river Varus.

Cæne. A little Iſle in the Sicilian ſea, towards Africk, near Malta. Plin.

Cæneus, i. Ov. Jupiter ſo called, from another Cæne, a town in the Morea, not far from the Promontory Tænarus.

Cænina, æ; f. Ovid. Καινῖνα. à Cænite conditore ſic dicta, Feſt. A town of Italy.

Cæninenſes, Liv. Καινῖται. Plut. Καινῖται, St. The people of that town.

Cænis. A Theſſalian Virgin, who having been deflowred by Neptune, obtained of him that ſhe might be turned into a man, and that no weapon might have power to wound her. Changing her ſex, ſhe changed her name into Cæneus. In the Centaur-fight, being overwhelmed with a pile of trees, he was turn'd into a bird; ſo Ovid. But Virgil makes as if he had been man firſt, then woman, and at laſt man again. ◊ A Promontory in Italy, now called Coda di Volpe. Ortel.

Cænites. A port of Achaia, not far from the Saronian gulf. Plin.

Cænotropæ, Ami & Dorippes filiæ, Oeno, Spermo &, Elais, quaſi in novas formas omnia vertentes, eò quòd id illis impertierat Dionyſius, ut quicquid tangerent in triticum ſtatim verteretur, & vinum & oleum. Cæl. Rhod.

Cære. Hanc quondam Agyllam nominatam ferunt, deinde vero Lydis, quos poſtea Tyrrhenos voc. adverſus Agyllinos bellum gerentibus, cum quidam murum ſubiens, urbis ejus nomen percontatus fuiſſet, eique à Theſſalo quodam de muro χαῖρε reſponſum eſſet, eo veluti omine à Tuſcis accepto, captam poſtea urbem mutato priori nomine, Cære vocavêre. Once a famous city of Hetruria.

Cærelum, Umbriæ oppidum; à quo Cæretani.

Cærites, um; m. Gell. The people of Cære, who for ſhewing kindneſs to the Romans in the war with the Gauls, were made free of the city, but ſine ſuffragii jure, not to meddle with the Government; whereupon when any Citizens had by the Cenſors their right of voting taken from them, the books that their names were ſet down in, were cal'd Cærites tabulæ; inſomuch that it became a Proverb, Cærite cerâ digni, Hor. of thoſe that deſerv'd to be cenſur'd, and loſe their priviledge.

Cærperis. Portcheſter in Hampſhire.

CÆSAR, ăris; m. inde tractum, quòd qui primus ex gente Juliâ id cognominis eſt ſortitus, matris ventre tradatur exciſus, (quales Cæſones potiùs appellandi, Feſt.) vel quòd oculis cæſiis, hoc eſt, glaucis fuerit; vel à cæſarie, cum qua natus proditur; vel quod Avus ejus in Africâ Elephantem interfecit, qui lingua Punica Cæſar appell. Serv. The ſirname of the Julians in Rome; from whence the ſucceeding Emperours, down from Julius Cæſar, who was the firſt, were every one called Cæſar. Incepit imperium Cæſarum ann. Mund. 3900. ante Chr. 48. ſic Helvic. vel ann. 3924. juxta Buchole.

Cæſar Auguſta. The city Saragoſa in Spain.

Cæſarea, dict. à Cæſare. A city in Paleſtine, built by Herod in honour of Cæſar. ◊ The chief city of Cappadocia, called alſo Mazaca; from which Baſilius M. the Biſhop thereof, was called Cæſarienſis. ◊ Another of Mauritania. Pl. ◊ The Iſle Jerzey in the Britiſh ſea. Camd.

Cæſar montanum. The city Keiſerburg in Germany

Cæſarobricenſes, Luſitaniæ pop. Plin.

Cæſarodunum. The city Tours in France, upon the Loire.

Cæſaromagus. Bourghſtead or Chelmſford in Eſſex: alſo Beavais in France.

Cæſena, dict. à cædendo, quòd exiguo amne cæſa, id eſt, diviſa ſit; vel quòd ager ejus duobus fluminibus Sapi & Rubicone ſit diviſus. A city in Flaminia; hinc Cæſenates dicti ſunt Cæſenam habitantes.

Cæſenatius, a, um. Of Cæſena.

Cæſerverus. A city of England, ol. Caradoc, hod. Sariſbury. LL.

Cæſo. The name of divers Conſuls.

Cæſonia. Juv. Perſ. An Empreſs, Caligula's Lady, that gave him a potion which put him beſide himſelf.

CÆYX, ycis. A King of Thrace, ſon to Lucifer, and husband to Alcyone. He went into Egypt to conſult the Oracle, wherefore his brother was turned into a ſparrow-hawk. His wife was unwilling he ſhould go; at length, promiſing to return at a day, was drowned by the way. His wife looking often for him, and going to the ſhore, and praying daily for her husbands ſafe return, at laſt eſpied his body floating a good way off: ſhe caſt her ſelf into the water to ſwim unto it, and by the way was chang'd into a bird, called a Kings-fiſher, and ſo was he. Ovid.

Caïcus, Miſiæ fl. Ovid. Vir. Luc.

Caïeta. The nurſe of Æneas. Vir. ◊ Alſo a promontory, and town, and haven in Campania. It is derived by ſome of Καίειν uro; becauſe the Trojan Ladies being here arrived, fearing their husbands would go to ſea again, they burnt their ſhips. Serv.

Caini, or Cainiani, or Cainites. Hereticks that worſhipped Cain; ſaying, That he was of one power, viz. the Devil, and Abel of another; and that Cain his ſide prevailed, ſo that he ſlew Abel. They thought Judas a great friend to mankind, and a good man for the betraying of Chriſt. vix. ann. Chriſt. 160.

Cairus, & Alcairus noſtris, Latinis Babylon, the greateſt city in all Egypt. vulgo le grand Cairre.

Caius, & Cäius (unde Caianus. Stat.) Voc. Cai. Mart. The ſame as Gaius was with the ancients. A common Prænomen or Chriſten-name among the Romans; Caius to the men, Caia to the women: whence that cuſtom of the Brides ſaying, as ſoon as ſhe was brought into her husbands houſe, Ubi tu Caius, ego Caia; i. where you are maſter, I will be miſtreſs.

Calabria, à καλὸς, bonus, & βρίθω onero. à קלבא pix, gr. Πιτυοῦσσα, à τὸ πίτυας, picea arboribus. A country in the uttermoſt part of Italy, which is almoſt an Iſle; it bringeth forth fruit twice in a year; it abounded much with bees and cattle. Hor. &c. anciently called Peucetia, and Meſapia, now called Terre de Labe r.

Calabri. The inhabitants. Of this country was Ennius. ◊ Dona Calabri hoſpitis. Of ſlight preſents, that the giver knows not what to do with, if you would not take them; as they would ſay to their gueſts they entertained, If you will not put up my pearl, I muſt give them my hogs.

Calægia. Wittenberg in Germany.

Calais, gr. παρὰ τὸ ἀκαλὸν εἶεν. Euſt. The ſon of Boreas by Orithya; he was ſaid to have wings, and to go with the Argonauts to Colchos; and with his winged brother Zethes, chaſed the Harpies to an Iſland; and afterwards were ſlain by Hercules, and turned into certain winds which ariſe eight days before the riſing of the Dog-ſtar; whence they are called πρόδρομοι præcurſores.

Calaminæ, inſulæ quædam nympharum, quæ qu. tibiarum cantu in ambitum moventur, Calaminæ à Calamis dictæ ſunt, atque item Saltares, quòniam in Symphoniæ cantu ad ictus modulantium pedum moventur. Plin.

Calamis, idis; m. Plin. An excellent ingraver, eſpecially of horſes. Prop. mentioned by Ovid by the name of Calais.

Calamoboas, i. calamo vociferans, Antipater ſic dict. nam cum nec vellet nec poſſet congredi cominùs cum Carneade, ſemet ad ſcribendum vertit, multoſque libros edidit maledicos, in quibus paſſim contradicebat Carneadi. Eraſm.

Calanus, id eſt, ſapiens. Indi enim quemque ſapientem Calanon vocant, Suid.

Suid. An Indian Philoſopher, who on a time made a great bonefire in the preſence of Alexander; and feeling himſelf a little ſick, went up to the top thereof, and burned himſelf. A little before, Alexander had aſked him, What he would have? And he anſwered, I ſhall ſee thee very ſhortly. Which ſo fell out; for a while after Alexander died at Babylon. Arrian.

Calaris or Caralis, Flor. The chief city of Sardinia, now called Cagliari.

Calaritani. The people of Calaris.

Calatia, æ; Cic. Callatia, Sil. A city of Campania in Italy.

Calatini, Liv. The people of that city.

Calatis. Thraciæ civ. Pl.

Calatum. Tadcaſter and Helcaſter. Lh. Overburrow in Lancaſhire. al. Wheallepcaſtle in Weſtmerland. Camd.

Calauria. An Iſle in the Argolick gulf, where Demoſthenes poyſoned himſelf. Here Diana was worſhipped; who is hence called Calaurēa. Ov. dict. à Calauro Neptuni filio.

Calazophylaces, ſacerdotes erant apud Græcos, qui grandines, cùm inſtarent, ſpecularentur. leg. Chalazophylaces, à χαλα-ζα grando. Gyr.

Calbis, Cariæ amnis. Mela. Galbias vett. Indus, Plin. ol. Mauſolus.

Calcaria. Tadcaſter or Aberford in York-ſhire. Camd.

Calchas, antis; m. gr. à καλχαίνειν, id eſt, omnia cogitando curare, miſcere. vide Euſt. in Iliad. α. A Greek Soothſayer, the ſon of Theſtor; he went with the Grecians to the Trojan war. Hom.

Caldius militari joco dictus eſt Claudium Cæſar, ſicut Biberius pro Tiberius, & Mero pro Nero. Suet.

Călē, Cales; ſive Cæles, Calium. Virg. Hor. A town of Campania, famous for wine, thence called Calenum. It was built by Calais. Sil.

Calecut. The chief city of the Eaſt-Indies, lying upon the Indian ſea: the inhabitants thereof worſhip the Devil, whoſe image, of a monſtrous ſhape, they have in their Churches.

Călĕdŏnia. Part of the Iſle of Britain, now called Scotland: It had then vaſt woods, with wild Boars in them. Mart. Sil.

Caledonii. The people of Scotland. Mart. Luc. à Brit. kaled, durus. Camd. quod incolæ aſperi eſſent & regio ipſa horrida. & Heb. גלוד glacies, duramen aquarum. Lucr.

Calenum, dict. à καλὸς, i. bonus & οἶνος vinum: ſed eſt à Calibus, opp. Campaniæ.

Calenus. A famous Soothſayer. Pl.

Cales, Val. Fl. Κάλης. Thucyd. A river of Scythia.

Caletes, Cæſ. Galliæ Belg[illegible] populi. vul. Le pays de Caulx.

Caletum. The town of Callis in France, over againſt Dover.

Caleva, Albionis inſulæ urbs, hodie Wallingford. Camd. or Oxford.

Calianaſſa, & Calianira, Nymphæ, quarum altera à benè regendo, altera à viris honeſtandis, dict.

Caligula, à caligis, quas Margaritis refertas primus geſtavit; vel potius à caliga militari, quâ frequenter in exercitu utebatur ad conciliandos ſibi militum animos; id enim militibus gratiſſimum fore credebat, ſi imperatorem veſtibus nihil à gregario milite differre viderent. An Emperour of Rome, the ſucceſſor of Tiberius, ſon of Germanicus.

Calinus. A Stone-cutter. Quintil.

Caliphius, vox Arab. i. princeps, imperator. A Chaliph, a Dye, or Baſſhaw, the title of the Kings of Egypt ever ſince the year of Chriſt 630.

Callaici, Luſitaniæ pop. (dict. etiam Gallaici.) Ovid. Mart. hod. Gallicia.

Callias. A comical Poet in Athens; he made ropes to get his living; whence he was nick-named Schœnion, Σχοινίον, i. Rope-maker.

Callicrates, Pl. An excellent Artiſt, for making Ants and other little creatures of ivory.

Callidemus. An Hiſtorian or Writer mentioned by Pl. Solin.

Callimachus. A Greek Poet, King Ptolomy's Library-keeper; he wrote a book called Αἴτια, i. the Cauſes. Mart. § Two others in Pl. an Ingraver and a Phyſician.

Callinous, i. optime intelligens. The firſt inventer of Elegies. Terentian.

Calliŏpe, es; f. Vir. Orphei mater, una Muſarum, quæ heroico carmini præeſſe exiſtimatur, à vocis ſuavitate nomen habens; καλὸς enim bonus & ὄψ vox. Efſertur & Calliopēa. Vir. Ov.

Callipedes. A Greek Stage-player; a conceited Actor of Tragedies.

Callipolis, quaſi Caligulæ polis, utpote ab eo ſtructa; aliis vocatur Gallipolis. A city in Thrace. § A city of Apulia, which reacheth into the ſea; and it hath ſo ſtraight an Iſthmus, that a cart can hardly paſs along it.

Callipygos, Venus apud Syracuſanos ita dicta à pulcris clunibus. Rhod.

Callirrhoë, es; f. Phoci Bœotii filia. A beautiful Damoſel that had many Woers, who becauſe they were put off by her Father, ſlew him; ſhe after procured them to be ſlain. § A Well by Athens, Stat. with a ſingle r, Callirhoe.

Calliſthenes, à roboris præſtantia. A Philoſopher whom Alexander uſed familiarly; but when he oppoſed the worſhipping of Alexander, he cruelly put him to death.

Calliſto, ûs, Nympha pulcherrima. The daughter of Lycaon, King of Arcadia, gotten with child by Jupiter, and of her was Arcas born: ſhe and her ſon were both turn'd by Juno into Bears; and by Jupiter tranſlated into Heaven, and there made Stars; the one the greater, the other the leſſer Bear-ſtar.

Calliſtratus. A learned man, a Counſellor of Alexanders. § A Stone-cutter, Pl. § An Orator at Athens, Demoſthenes his Tutor, Gell.

Callixenus. A famous Stone-cutter. Pl.

Calon, gr. κάλον, i. lignum. An image-maker. Quint. Pl.

Caloſtoma, καλόςομα. One of the mouths of Danubius. Pl.

Calpe, Κάλπη. Arab. גלפא vas fictile. mons concavus inſtar vaſis. A hill in the fartheſt part of Spain, by the Straights of Gibraltar, over againſt Abyla on Barbary-ſide; which two hills are called Hercules pilars: under this hill once ſtood an ancient city called Tarteſſus; whence in Claud. Tarteſſia Calpe.

Calphurnia. One who would plead her cauſes her ſelf before the Senate; and was ſo confident and troubleſome to the Judges, that they made a Law, That no woman thenceforward ſhould be ſuffered to plead.

Calphurnius. Certain Romans ſo called.

Calviſius. A Conſul in Pliny the ſecond's time.

Calous. An ancient Poet, a friend of Catullus. Hor.

Calydon, ōnis; f. Ov. The chief city of Ætolia, where Meleager's father kept court, which the river Evenos runs through, called Calydonius amnis. Ov.

Calydonis, idos. A woman of Calydon, Ov.

Calymna, æ; Ov. al. Calydna. An Iſland famous for honey; Mel. Calymnium.

Calypſo, us; f. Ov. A Nymph, the daughter of Oceanus and Tethys, or (as Prop.) the daughter of Atlas; ſhe reigned in the Iſle Ogygia, and entertained Ulyſſes after a ſhipwrack; where he ſtaid ſome ſix or ſeven years.

Camaloduunum. The town Maldon in Eſſex.

Camarina, æ; f. Virg. Καμαρῖνα. A ſtinking lake in Sicily, and a town ſo called; the inhabitants whereof conſulted with Apollo, whether they ſhould dry up the lake or no? he forbade them; howſoever they, contrary to his counſel, dried up the mariſh; by which place ſhortly after the enemies entered, and ſpoiled the city; whence the Proverb, Camarinam nè moveas; i. be not the cauſe of thy own miſchief.

Cambetis, Germaniæ hodiè Caempt.

Cambles. A King of the Lydians, ſuch a Gormandizer, that one night, after he had ſupped and went to bed, he eat up his Wife that lay by him; and in the morning, when he found one of her hands in his mouth, he killed himſelf. Xanthus apud Cæl. auctor. eſt.

Cambodunum, Vindelicię urbs hodie Monachium, vulgo Munchen.

Cambodunum. Weſtcheſter, Talb. Almandbury in York-ſhire. Camd.

Cambolectri. People of Provence in France. Pl.

Camboricum. Cambridge. Talb.

CAMBRIA, æ; f. hodie Wallia. The country of Wales, parted from England by the rivers Dee and Severn, and lying Weſtward on the Iriſh ſea. It is the ſeat of the ancient Britains, which at the coming of the Saxons into England, retired into that part of Britain. It was never conquered, but hath ever kept her ancient inhabitants without mixture of other people, and their ancient language pure, until of late that many of them (eſpecially the Gentry) uſe the Engliſh. This country belongs to the eldeſt Sons of the Kings of England; who as ſoon as they are born have the title given them, of Prince of Wales.

Cambyſes, is; m. A Perſian Monark, the ſon of Cyrus. He conquer'd Egypt, pillaged their temples, and pull'd them down. He in vain attempted to ſearch the riſe of Nile. At laſt he died of a ſlight wound he gave himſelf with his own ſword. Luc. § A river of Aſia. Mel.

Camelodunum. Duncaſter. Lh.

Cameracum, urbs Galliæ Belgicæ, vulgò Cambray.

Camerinum, Umbriæ urbs præclara, à curvitate ſitûs dict. pop. Camertes.

Camerinus. Poeta quidam. Ovid.

Came-

Camerium, Italiæ opp. Plin.

Cameſes or Camiſes (à quo Italia Camiſene olim dicta.) Jani frater, Cat. imperii conſors. Macrob.

Camicus. A city in Sicily.

Camilla, Queen of the Volſcians, daughter of Metabus and Caſmilla, from whom with a ſmall change ſhe had her name; a Virago, bred up in the exerciſe of arms, and ſlain in the war againſt Æneas, when ſhe helped him againſt Turnus and the Latins. Virg. Æn. 11.

Camillus, puer ingenuus, qui Flaminî Diali ad ſacrificia miniſtrabat: Antiqui enim Camillos & Camillas, miniſtros & miniſtras impuberes in ſacris voc. A Prieſts boy. ◊ A noble Roman, that being baniſhed from Rome, yet out of affection to the welfare of his diſtreſſed country, he ſaved Rome from its final ruine by the Gaules. He was ſeveral times Dictator, and did great ſervices to the Commonwealth. ◊ Mercury himſelf in the Hetruſcan language called Camillus, i. Deorum miniſter, Heb. קָדְמֹם אֵל unde Caſmillus prius, dein Camillus. Boch.

Camirus, dict. à Camiro Herculis filio. A city in Rhodes. Phœn. חַמּוֹרָה argilloſa; uti Hom. vocat ἀργινόεσσα Κάμειρον.

Camma. A noble Lady of Galatia, who to revenge the death of her husband that was kill'd by Sinorix, procured to be married to him; and the cuſtom being, that the woman ſhould drink a cup to her new husband, ſhe filled a cup, and put poyſon into it, and drank to him; and ſo they both died, ſhe being glad ſhe had ſo revenged her husbands death. Alex. ab Alex.

Camæna, æ; f. Hor. Perſ. Sen. Muſa ſic dicta, à canitu amœnitate; antiq. Carmæna & Caſmæna. Var. Any of the Muſes.

Campania, dict. quod ſit campeſtris. A pleaſant champain country of Italy, in the Realm of Naples, now called Terra di Lavoro. It was accounted the moſt fruitful and pleaſant country in Italy. Hence the Adj. Campanus, a, um; à campus, i. Feilden. Or rather from the Adj. Campania.

Campaſpe. Alexander's moſt beautiful Concubine. He commanded Apelles to paint her naked; whereupon he fell in love with her: Alexander perceiving it, gave her unto him, ſhewing his great gallantry, that could ſo conquer his affections. Plin.

Campus lapideus, vel ſaxoſus, Pl. hodie la Crau dict. A field in France, where Hercules fought with Vulcan's ſons; and having no weapons, he prayed to Jupiter, and he rained down ſtones, &c.

Campus Martius. A field near Rome, on the banks of Tibris, where the youth uſed all manner of exercizes, and the Citizens uſed to meet for the chooſing of Burgeſſes and Magiſtrates.

Camulodunum, Angliæ oppidum, Tacit. Colcheſter.

Cana. קָנָא i. zelus, vel æmulatio ſive poſſeſſio, it. arundo. A city of Galilee, where our Saviour wrought his firſt miracle.

Canaan, כְּנַעַן i. mercator. The ſon of Ham; and from him all Paleſtine ſo alled, the land of promiſe, afterwards poſſeſſed by the Jews; convenient for merchandize, in its ſcituation ſo near the ſea.

Canace. The daughter of Æolus, and ſiſter of Macareus; when her father perceived ſhe was delivered of a child begotten by inceſt of her own brother, he caſt the babe to the dogs; and by one of his guard ſent his daughter a ſword to kill her ſelf withal; whereupon Macareus fled to Delphos, and was there made Apollo's Prieſt.

Canaehe, dict. Κατὰ τὴν προφορὰν, i. à clamore, & ſtrepitu. One of Actæon's dogs.

Cananæa. The country of Canaan; ex Canaane filio Cham: A part of Syria, now called Judæa, Paleſtina, or the Holy Land.

Cananæus, a, um. Of Canaan.

Cananitis, idis; f. ſc. regio vel fœmina. The country it ſelf of Canaan, or a Canaanitiſh woman.

Canariæ, à canibus ibi repertis. Pl. The Canary Iſlands in the Atlantick ſea, from whence our Canary Wines do come. They are ſeven in number, called by the Ancients, The Fortunate Iſlands.

Canarii dict. quod canum victus ipſis promiſcuus ſit, Plin. People near the hill Atlas.

Canatius. A high hill in Spain, on the top whereof is a pool, the depth whereof cannot be ſounded; and if one caſt a ſtone or heavy thing into it, there ariſeth a great tempeſt on the ſuddain, they ſay; and that in a dark vault of it, the Devil keeps court.

Cancer, cri; m. The Crab, one of the twelve Signs of the Zodiack; made a Star by Juno, by whoſe order he wert and bit Hercules by the foot, and was ſlain by him. Hyg. Or ſo called, becauſe the Sun being in this Sign, begins crab-wiſe to creep backward.

Canchæi. People of Arabia. Pl.

Candace, es; f. Syr. poſſeſſio pura. A Queen of Æthiopia in Auguſtus his time; a gallant Lady. Plin.

Candaces. The Queens Eunuch or Chamberlain, converted to the faith by Philip the Evangeliſt, Act. 8.

Candavia, mons Ægypti. Luc.

Candaules. A King of Lydia, ſlain by Gyges at the inſtance of his wife, becauſe he would needs ſhew her to Gyges naked. Juſt.

Candei. Arabian people. Pl.

Candia olim Creta, inſula maris Mediterranei. An Iſle famous once for having an hundred cities, thence called Hecatompolis; alſo a city in that Iſle.

Candiope. The daughter of Œnopion; ſhe was deflowred by her brother Theodotion, and had by him Hippolagus; afterwards Theodotion being baniſhed by his father, they went by the direction of an Oracle to live at Thrace.

Canens, tis; f. Nympha, Ovid. The wife of Picus, King of the Lauretans, who when ſhe ſaw her husband turned into a bird by the inchantment of Circe, pined to death, and left her name to a place on the bank of Tiber, where theſe things were done.

Canidia; f. An old witch of Naples, whom Horace writes againſt.

Caniuafates. People of Germany, near to Batavia, Le pays de Gorokum in Holland.

Caninius. A Conſul of Rome, that died the ſame day he was made Conſul; whereupon Cicero made this jeſt, that Caninius was a mighty vigilant Magiſtrate, that had never ſlept all the time of his Conſulſhip.

Caniſtius. A ſwift runner, who in one day ran twelve hundred furlongs. Plin.

Canius. A merry Poet, that was always laughing. Mart.

Cannæ. A pitiful village in Apulia, made famous by a great overthrow which Hannibal gave the Romans there, where were ſlain forty thouſand men; and among them ſuch a number of Gentry, that he ſent to Carthage three buſhels full of rings, for a token of the victory. Liv. Flor.

Cannenſis, e; adj. Cannenſes populi. Pl. pugna Cannenſis. Prop. Cannenſis calamitas. Cic.

Canonium. Canonden in Eſſex. Chelmſford, Camd.

Canopus, vel Canobus, Mel. Stat. A city of Egypt, diſtant from Alexandria twelve hundred furlongs; the country of Claudian the Poet. It was built by Menelaus, in memory of his Pilot Canopus, who died there, and was canonized for a God. ◊ A God of the Egyptians. Ruffinus tells this ſtory of him: The Caldeans worſhipped the Fire for a God, and challenged the Gods of all Nations for the maſtery. The Fire upon tryal conſumed all the other Gods, Canopus his Prieſt hearing of it, deviſed this ſtratagem; He cauſed a Pitcher to be made full of holes, and filled it with water, and ſtopped it with wax; and ſetting Canopus his head upon it, dreſſed it up like a God. The Caldeans ſetting their God Fire to conſume it, the wax being melted, the water guſhed forth, and put out the fire; and ſo Canopus by the Prieſts means got the honour of the day. ◊ A bright Star in the Southern Hemiſpere, ſeen beyond the Line. Vitr. Plin.

Cantabri ſing. Cantaber. A war-like people of Spain. Hor.

Cantabria. A country in Spain, called now Biſcay.

Cantabrigia, æ; f. Cambridg, one of the two Univerſities of England.

Cantharus. A notable Cheat of Athens; whence the Proverb, Cantharo aſtutior.

Cantium. The country of Kent in England.

Cantium promontorium. North-forland in Kent. Ortel.

Cantuaria. Canterbury, the chief city of Kent, an Arch-biſhops ſeat.

Canuleius, Tribunus plebis Romæ, qui obtinuit, ut connubia plebis eſſent communia, & ut alter conſul de plebe crearetur. Liv. lib. 4.

Canuſium. A town in the country of Apulia, where is very fine wool; whence lana Canuſina: 'tis of a ruddy colour. And Canuſinatus in Mart. one that wears cloaths made of that wool. It was built by Diomedes; ſo Hor.

Canutus. The name of a worthy good Daniſh King.

Capaneus. A noble Grecian Captain, who as he was beſieging Thebes, invented ſcal[illegible]ah ladders, and was there knockt o'th' head with ſtones caſt from the wal[illegible] inde Capanēus, & Capanēius, a, um. Stat.

Capellatium, Alemaniæ regionis nomen. Amm. Marcel. Hodie Pfaltz, Lat. Palatinatus, teſte Rhenano. The Palatinate, the Prince Palatine's country.

Capēna. A town of Tuſcany; whence Capenates, the people, Plin. and Capēnus, a, um; an Adj. Virg. ◊ One of the gates of the city of Rome; Ov. call'd alſo Triumphalis, becauſe thoſe that came in triumph rode through it; and Fontinalis, from the great number of ſprings. Hence the little river Capenas takes his riſe and name. Sil. Now this gate is called Porta di S. Sebaſtiano. LL.

Capētus.

Capetus. A King of Alba. Ovid.

Căphăreus, ei; m. A dangerous rock upon the Eubœan shore towards the Hellespont, (à כיפא Syr. Scopulus, Boch.) where Nauplius, King of the country, revenged the death of his son Palamedes upon the Greeks, at their return from Troy, by setting up a light on the top of the hill, which they mistaking, many of them struck upon the rock, and were shipwrackt. Poët.

Capharnaum, al. Capernaum. The chief city in Galilee, near the lake Genezareth, where Christ cured the Centurions son, and did many other miracles.

Capillati. A people of the Alps. Plin.

Capito, à magno capite. The name of several Romans.

Capitolinus. Jupiter so called, as having a Temple built for him on the Capitol hill. ◊ C. Manlius had this title given him, for defending the Capitol against the enemies.

Capitōlium, dict. à capite hominis ibi reperto dum foderent fundamenta; antea mons Tarpeius voc. The Capitol, the great Tower or strong Castle of Rome, built upon a hill.

Cappădōcia, dict. à Cappadoce amne. A large country in Asia the less, upon the Euxine sea, famous for horses and mules, and slaves; whence Cappădŏces, à sing. Cappadox, are taken by the Poets for slaves and drudges: And Hor. says, the King of that country is mancipiis dives. A people of servile disposition.

Cappagum. A town in Spain. Plin.

Capraria, Pl. Caprasia, Var. dict. quòd capris abundat. An Isle in the Tuscan sea. gr. Ægilos.

Caprarienſes, populi & montes Mauritaniæ, Amm.

Capreæ. An Isle eight miles beyond the city Surrentum in Campania, where Tiberius once kept his court; inhabited anciently by the Teleboæ, Virg. called therefore by Sil. Telonis insula.

Capreæ palus. A place where Romulus vanished away, Ov. Cic.

Caprificialis, dies Vulcano sacer fuit, quo Attici æstivi mellis vindemias auspicabantur, Plin.

Caprius. An invective satyrist, and bitter railer. Hor.

Capronia. A Vestal Virgin taken in adultery, and put to death.

Caprotina, dict. quòd illi Nonis Caprotinis sub caprifico sacra fierent. Juno so called.

Capſa. A city in the midst of Africk. Flor.

Capua, dict. à Capy Samnitum duce, Liv. à camporum latitudine, in quibus sita est, Cic. vel à falcone; sub cujus Augurio condita est, qui priscâ Thuscorum linguâ Capys dicebatur; vel à Capy Æneæ commilitone, qui eam condidit, Virg. vel quod esset 12. urbium caput, Flor. à ipsa duodecima reliquis undecim præsset, Strab. vel à cayacitate, quòd omnem vitæ fructum capiat; vel rectius à Capi Sylvio 8o. Latinorum rege qui hanc urbem ædificavit. A famous city of Campania or Naples.

Caput bonæ spei. A Promontory in Africa, the Cape of good hope.

Capys, yos; m. The son of Assaracus, grand-child of Tros, and father of Anchises. Ov. ◊ A Trojan, that came along with Æneas into Italy, and there built Capua, Virg.

Capys Sylvius, King of the Albans, and father of Capetus.

Carabis. A river of Scythia, Plin.

Caracalla, agnomen Antonii Cæsaris, ab indumenti genere ad talos usque demisso, & Caracalla dicto.

Caractacus. A British Prince in Claudius time conquered by the Romans, and carried to Rome in triumph; where for his gallant spirit he was honourably treated by the Emperour. In his own language his name was Cradoc, i. a Warriour. Tac.

Cărălis, is; f. Claud. The chief city of Sardinia; whence Caralitanum promontorium, and Caralitani pop.

Carambis, is; f. Paphlagoniæ Promontorium. Val. Fl.

Caranus. The first King of Macedonia in Midas time. Just.

Caraſeni, Tauricæ regionis pop. Pl.

Caraſtaſci. People about Mœotis. Pl.

Caraxus. The brother of Sappho. Perot.

Carbileti. People of Thrace. Pl.

Carbilius. A certain Roman, the first that put away his wife because she was barren. Gell.

Carbo. The name of divers Romans, Cic. Val. M.

Carbŭlo. A town near Corduba in Spain. Plin.

Carcathiocerta. A city of Armenia the greater. à קרתא & כרך i. urbs munita; Sophenes regia. Str.

Carchedon, gr. The city Carthage; hence Carchedonius, The name of a Comedy in Plautus, i. The Carthaginian.

Carcinus. A Tragick Poet of Sicily. ◊ Carcini poemata. A proverb of obscure writings. ◊ The sign Cancer, Καρκίνος. Luc.

Cardea, sive Cardinea, dict. quòd Cardinibus præerat. A goddess of the Romans. vid. Carna.

Cardia, urbs in Thraciâ Chersonesо, à cordis similitudine vocata. Plin.

Cardiceas, Medorum rex quartus.

Carenſes. People of Spain. Plin.

Carentini. People of Italy. Plin.

Cares. A famous Stone-cutter, Scholar to Lysippus.

Cāres, pl. The people of Caria, Virg. Ov. a military people, but mercenary, and of small esteem.

Careſſus. A river of Troas. Plin.

Cāria, æ. capitalis dict. à Care rege. vel à כר agnus, aries; à pastu pecorum. Boch. A country in Asia the less, between Lycia and Ionia, on the side of the mountain Taurus. inde Caricus, a, um.

Carina, Plin. A hill in Candie, nine miles in compass, where no flies are seen at any time.

Carinæ. A street in Rome, the houses whereof are built like the bottoms of ships. Vir. Hor. ◊ Women that mourned for the dead, hired out of Caria. Rhod.

Carini. People of Germany. Plin.

Carinthia. A Dukedom in the upper part of high Germany. Sabell.

Carinus. A Roman Emperour. Vop.

Carioſuelites. People of Lyons in France. Plin.

Cariſſa Paphlagoniæ opp. Plin.

Cariſſa. A city of Spain, called also Aurelia. Plin.

Carius. The son of Jupiter, hearing by chance the Nymphs sing, learned musick of them, and taught it the Lydians, and was honoured for a god. St.

Carlomannus, Alemaniam devastavit, Saxones subegit. An. 1493.

Carmacæ. People of Asia, near to Mœotis. Plin.

Carmania, à כרם Syr. כרמא vinea; quòd vitibus abundet præstantissimis. A country in Asia, between Persia and India; it is divided into two parts, the one is called Carmania Deserta, now called Mingiu; the other Carmania Major, Turquestan, now Cheman; famous for cloth of gold and scimitars.

Carme. A Nymph, by whom Jupiter had Britomartis.

Carmēlus, כרמל pascuum, ager sativus; vel qu. Vinea Dei. Two hills in Judea; the one Northward towards the sea, near Ptolemais; here Elias was conversant. The other mid-land, near Hebron, in the tribe of Juda, where Nabal dwelt.

Carmenta, & Carmentis dict. à carminibus quibus dabat responsa: Plut. dictam putat, quòd careat mente præ afflatu. A Propheteſs of Arcadia, the mother of Evander; her true name was Nicostrata: from her had the gate Carmentalis in Rome its name, called afterwards Scelerata, for that through this gate the three hundred and six Fabii went out, who fighting at the river Cremera against the Hetruscans, were all slain. Ovid.

Carmentalia, Festa in honorem Carmentæ à matribus facta; 18. Cal. Feb. celebrata. Yearly feasts of the Roman Ladies in honour of Carmenta. Ovid.

Carmides. A Grecian of a singular memory, that could name all the books in a great Library, as they stood in order. Plin.

Carminius. An Historian, which wrote of Italy. Rhod.

Carna, dea cardinis hæc est. Ovid. al. Cardinea quòd striges noctumas à limine submovebat. Rhod. A Goddeſs of the Romans, to whom they prayed to be propitious to them, in preserving the health of their bodies, especially of the inward parts, as of the liver and heart; she being esteemed the governeſs of the vital parts.

Carnabas. A cruel man, who slew his father Triopas, King of the Perrhæbi. Rhod.

Carnæ. People about Mœotis. Plin.

Carne. A town of Phœnicia. Plin.

Carnea, sive Carnia. The feasts of Apollo at Sparta.

Carneădes. A learned Philoſopher of Cyrene, Scholar of Chrysippus, and chief of the Sect called Novi Academici: when he undertook to confute Zeno the Stoick, he purged his head with Hellebore, that the corrupt humours of his stomach might not annoy his wit and memory. When he was sent by the Athenians Embaſſadour to Rome, Cato said in the Senate-house, that they must take heed of this man, who by the charms of his eloquence would be able to effect any design he aimed at. Gell. Val. M.

Carneus, dict. à Carne vate. Apollo so called.

Carni. People near Venice, whose country now is called Carniola.

Carnius, mensis apud Athen. Maius dicebatur.

Carnutes. People of France, inhabiting Chartraine, or Chartres.

Carodunum. A city of Poland, now Cracovia, Cracow.

Caroloſtadium, Franconiæ opp. vulgò Karlſtadt.

CAROLUS, Kerl. Scal. Carl prisca vox est, quâ robusti fortesque viri designabantur: quidam ex קרא vocavit, & אל deus; aliqu. κᾶρ ὅλον totum cordatus. Charles, the name of divers Kings and Princes; one whereof surnamed the Great, the the ſon of Pipin, firſt King of France, afterwards Emperour of the Romans: he overthrew the Huns, Saxons, Bavarians, and thoſe of Lombardy, with many other notable victories which he atchieved: he founded the Univerſity of Paris, and did many other works of Piety. Finally, he was a moſt excellent Prince, both in peace and war, had he not too much ſtooped to the See of Rome, of which he firſt got the title of Moſt Chriſtian King.

Carpăthus, i; f. An Iſle between Rhodes and Crete, which uſually retaineth its ancient name. By ſome it is now called Scarpanto. ◊ Carpathius leporem; a proverb of thoſe that deſire or procure things to their own prejudice.

Carpentoracte. A city of Narbonne in France. Plin.

Carpetani. People of Spain. Plin.

Carpi. People of Africk. Plin.

Carpocrătes, Gnoſticorum Coryphæus. An arch-heretick in Adrian the Emperours time, who ſaid the world was created by Angels, and that Chriſt was like other men, ſaving that he had a pure ſoul. He was for community of wives. From him his followers were called Carpocratians. Iren.

Carræ, pop. Arab. Fel. Plin.

Carræ. A city of Meſopotamia, by the Hebrews called Charan, now Heren. Here Abraham dwelt, and it was here that Craſſus the Roman with his whole Army was routed ſo miſerably. Luc.

Carrodunum. Ptol. Germaniæ oppidum. quidam vocant nunc Krakow. Item alterum in Vindelicis hod. Krainburg.

Carſeoli, orum; m. A town of Italy not far from Ovids country. Ov. Hence Carſeolanus, a, um.

Cartagena. *A city in the Weſt-*Indies.

Carteia. A town of Spain, neer the Streights mouth, thought to be the ſame with Tarteſſus. Pl. Sil. Mel. Some judge that a miſtake for Carpeſſus, and ſay it was once called Heraclea from Hercules that built it, who in the Phœnician language is named Μίλκαρθος, i. מלן קרתא Rex urbis, ſc. Tyri, whence this town had its name. Boch.

Cartenna. A colony of Auguſtus in the province of Tangier. Plin.

Cartennæ. A town of Africk belonging to Algiers. Mel. hod. Moſtagan. B.

Carthæus, a, um. Ovid. Belonging to Cartheia, a city of Spain.

CARTHAGO, inis; f. (ā) Καρχηδών. à קרתא גן i. Urbs hortorum. Al. à Carthagine, Herculis Tyrii filiâ. Cic. hod. Berſack, ab ant. nomine Byrſa. Carthage, once the moſt famous city of Africk, built by Queen Dido, ſome time before Rome, as Juſtin ſays. It was a powerful and flouriſhing Commonwealth, till at laſt, after a long conteſt with the Roman State for the maſtery, in the third Punick war it was utterly ſubdued by Scipio, thence called Africanus; and the city it ſelf by order of Senate quite razed and demoliſhed. In the Emperour Adrians time it was rebuilt, and from him called Adrianopolis. Out of its ruines at laſt grew a neighbour-city Tunis, at about fifteen miles diſtance. ◊ Carthago nova, quæ & Spartaria, à Sparti copiâ. A city of Spain, with a ſtrong port and a large haven, built by Aſdrubal, now called Carthagena. Another of that name, in the South-part of America, in the kingdom of Granada. ◊. Carthago vetus, A City once of Arragon in Spain, built by Hamilcar, now a village called Cantaricja, or, as others, Villa Franca.

Carthāgo. A daughter of that Hercules, who was worſhipped at Tyre. Cic.

Cartheia, Cic. Carteia; Mel. quæ & Tarteſſus, Plin. Cartha, Ovid. unde adj. Carthæus; hod. Algezira. A town of Spain near the Streights, once a Royal City of the Moors. It was built by Argantonius, Sil. ◊ A city of the Iſland Cæa, whence Cartheïa mœnia, Ovid. ◊ A ſmall Iſland about Delos, the country of the Poet Simonides, Bacchylides, &c. Alex. ab Alex.

Carthuſiani. Carthuſian Friers inſtituted firſt in France, ann. Chr. 1080. by S. Bruno of Colen, who taught Philoſophy at Paris; ſo called from Carthuſia, in French, la Chartreuſe, a deſert place in the Dauphine, where was the firſt Monaſtery of this Order, four leagues off Grenoble, where the General of that Order always reſides. Hence the Charter-houſe in London, as having been once a Religious houſe belonging to thoſe Friers.

Cartris, peninſ. & prom. Cimbrorum, Plin. A town and promontory of Denmark, over againſt Norway, called now Scagen.

Carvilius Spurius. Having worſted the Samnites, of their armour he made Jupiter, that ſtood in the Capitol, Plin. He was the firſt that divorced his Lady for having no children by her, Val. M. Gell.

Carvonis. A town of the Low-Countries in Brabant called Grave.

Carus, 36 Romanorum Imperator.

Caruſii. People of Africk on the South ſide, Sipont.

Carya. A City of Peloponneſus, which ſided with the Perſians againſt Greece, and was afterwards demoliſhed by the Greeks, Vitr.

Caryatides columnæ, à Carya Laconiæ oppido, Vitr.

Caryſtos, i. f. Poet. i; ardens tela, à חר ardeo & שחי tela, Boch. quòd ex lapide Caryſtio texeretur tela, cujus ſordes igne purgabantur, Str. A city upon the ſhore of Eubœa, famous for marble. Inde Caryſtæus, a, um; Ovid.

Caſa candida, quæ & Lucopibia, & S. Ninianus. Whithern in Scotland, a Biſhops Sea under the Archbiſhoprick of Glaſgow, over againſt the Iſle of Man.

Caſandra. An Iſle over againſt Perſis.

Caſcandrus. An Iſle in the Ocean towards India, famous for fiſhing of Pearls, Plin.

Caſcantenſes, pop. Hiſpaniæ, Plin.

Caſellius Vindex. A learned Lawyer, as he was accounted, but againſt whom Terentius Scaurus wrote, ſhewing his miſtakes. Int. Hor.

Caſilinum. A town of Campania in Italy, Plin. ſeated upon the river Vulturnus, Liv.

Caſina. A Comedy in Plautus, ſo called from a principal perſon in the Play.

Caſinum & Caſſinum; à caſcum, i. vetus, Var. A town of Campania in Italy, Sil.

Caſius mons, Luc. A hill in Paleſtine near Egypt; Here Pompey had a Tomb, and Jupiter a Temple, being hence called Caſius, Luc. alſo a hill in Syria, ſo high, that on the top of it one may ſee day in the Eaſt and night in the Weſt at the ſame time. The country called Caſiotis, to which belong Antioch, Seleucia, Lydia, and other Cities.

Caſletum, opp. Galliæ Belgicæ, Æmil.

Caſleu, menſis 10 Hebræis, à כסיל i. Orion, qui menſe Novembri occidens magnas tempeſtates ciet. An Hebrew month anſwering our November and December.

Caſmillus קסם אל Dei miniſter. Mercury ſo called in the Hetruſcan language. Vid. Camillus.

Caſmonates Liguriæ pop. Plin.

Caſinium, oppidum juridicum, Feſt.

Caſos, nunc Caſſo voc. An Iſle of the Ægean Sea, one of the Sporades, Plin.

Caſperia. The wife of Rhætus King of the Marrubii: ſhe lay with her ſon in law Archemolus; Vir.

Caſperula, opp. Sabinorum, à Caſpii portis dict. ſcil. quæ Caſperia, Vir. vul. Aſpra.

Caſpiæ portæ, urbs Mediæ in Parthiæ confinio, vel anguſtia montis Tauri, per quam in ulter. Mediam tranſitus: non procul à Caſpio mari. Caſpia clauſtra, Luc. Portam Caſpiacam Stat. vocat.

Caſpii. People of Hyrcania, near the Caſpian Sea; they famiſh their parents to death, after they be ſeventy years of age, Str. They train up dogs for war, Val. Flac. Caſpiadæ, queis turba canum, &c. Virgil calls the country Caſpia regna.

Caſpii montes juxta mare Caſpium.

Caſpingium. A town in Holland called Gieſſenburg.

Caſpium mare, Hor. al. Hyrcanum mare. The Caſpian ſea. It hath no paſſage into any other ſea, but is an huge Lake of it ſelf. It is 800 miles in length, ſcarce 650 in breadth. It goes by ſeveral names; Mer de Sala, mer de Bacu, mer de Tabareſtan. By the Armenians it is called Mer de Giorgiam, by the Perſians, Kurſum or Dario Gueylani; by the Ruſſes more Gualenskoi.

Caſpius, a, um, ad Caſpios pertinens.

Caſſanda. Caſſant, an Iſle of the Low-Countries, over againſt Fluſhing, not far from Sluſe.

Caſſander. A Macedonian, that murdered Olympias, Juſt. the 25*th King.*

Caſſandra. The daughter of Priamus and Hecuba: Apollo being in love with her, promiſed to give her what ſhe would, if ſhe would lie with him; ſhe asked the gift of proph-eſie; but having obtained it, would not let Apollo have his deſire; who in revenge cauſed that none ſhould believe her propheſies; and ſo neither Trojans, nor Agamemnon, to whoſe ſhare ſhe fell after the taking of Troy, would believe her, which proved their ruine. She was married to Choroebus, and raviſhed by Ajax Oileus, in the Temple of Minerva.

Caſſandria, dict. à Caſſandro Antipatri filio, olim Potidæa voc. A city of Macedonia, Plin.

Caſſella. Caſſel, the chief city of the Landgrave of Heſs in Germany.

Caſſera. A town of Macedon, Plin.

Caſſi, Cæſ. People of England in the hundred of Caiſhow in Hertfordſhire, Camd.

Caſſia via, à Caſſio ſecata, Feſt.

Caſſianus. A Martyr, Biſhop once of Breſcia, afterwards at Imola, called Forum Cornelii, where he taught School; he was by the Emperour Julian's order ſtabb'd to death with his Scholars pen-knives. Prud. Several others of that name.

Caſſilia. Caſhel in Ireland, an Archbiſhoprick. ◊. The city of Caſſel in Haſſia.

Caſſinum, opp. Campaniæ. Vid. Caſinum.

Caſſiodorus. A learned man, Abbot of Ravenna, Tutor to Theodoricus King of the Goths; he wrote the Tripartite Hiſtory of the Church.

Caſſiöpe, es; f. Prop. vel Caſſiopeia, gr. κασσιέπεια. The wife of Cepheus, King of the Æthiopians, and mother of Andromeda; after her death tranſlated into Heaven ven, and made one of the Constellations there. § A town also of Epirus, another of the Island Corcyra; Plin.

Cassitérides, χασσιτερίδες, à κασσίτερος, stannum; dict. à fertilitate plumbi & stanni. Some Isles in the Spanish Sea: Also our Isles of Silly, or the Sorlings, Camd.

Cassius. The name of divers Romans: one of that name was one of the murderers of Cæsar. Ano. her a Poet in Horace.

Castabala. A town of Cilicia: The people Castabalenses, that used dogs in their wars, and muster'd them into companies.

Castalia. The daughter of Achelous.

Castalides, um; f. Poet. dictæ à fonte Castalio. The nine Muses.

Castalius, fons, dict. à Castalia virgine, quæ, cùm Apollinem fugerit, in fontem sui nominis versa est. Κασταλία, unde & Virg. Castalia dic. scil. su. bintell. πηγή. Boch. deducit ab Arab. קסטרה Kastala, i. fontis labentis murmur, ex quo captabant vaticinia de futuris, unde & πηγὴ μαντικὴ dict. Luciano. A spring of Phocia, at the foot of the hill Parnassus; called also Caballinus, and Libethris, sacred to the Muses.

Castanea. Urbs Magnesiæ, Plin. unde Castaneæ nuces.

Castella. The Kingdom of Castille in Spain, the chief city whereof is Madrid. Hence the Spanish proverb, Lengua Castellana, lengua de Dios.

Castellio. Once professor of Greek at Basil; Famous for his Translation of the Bible and other his learned works. He was very poor, yet bore his poverty with incredible patience. His life written by Peter Ramus, Philip Melanchton, Zuingler of Basil, Christopher Carleil our Country-man, Doctor Humphreys, Sir John Cheek, who all testifie, That he was a man of incomparable learning, piety, humility and integrity: He died of an Atrophy, through too much abstinence and study.

Castellio. Several towns of France of that name, by them called Chastillon.

Castellodunum. A city of France, called Chasteaudun, belonging to the Duke of Longville.

Castellum Aquarum. A city of Swizzerland, cal'd Baden or Ober Baden, where the general Assembly of the Cantons meet.

Castellum Cattorum. The chief city of Hessen, cal'd Cassel.

Castellum Morinorum. A town in Flanders, called Kassel.

Casthenes. A gulf of Thrace hard by Constantinople.

Castinensis Venus, sub eo nomine à Thessalis culta. Alex. ab Alex. ita dict. à Castinio Aspendi monte, ubi erat ei fanum dicatum.

CASTOR, ŏris; m. (κάστωρ, à κάζω orno) & Pollux, fratres gemini, Jovis ex Leda sub cygni forma compressa filii, qui & Tyndaridæ passim à Poetis appel. Tyndaride fratres; hic eques, ille pugil. Ovid. gr. Διόσκουροι. These two brethren when they came of age, freed the Sea from Pirates, and were therefore worshipped as gods of the Sea. At the last when Castor died, his brother Pollux being immortal, desired of Jupiter, that he might share his immortality with his brother; which thing granted, the two brethren lived and died by turns. The ground of the story is, that the Gemini or Twinstars into which it is fained that those two brothers were turned; when the one rises, the other goes down. § Also a Physician of that name; who first prescribed Pepperwort as good to drink for the falling sickness. Plin. § Another an Historian, Auson. § Another, the grandchild of King Deiotarus, Cic.

Castorum lutus. A place 12 miles off Cremona, Tac.

Castra Alata. Edenburgh in Scotland.

Castra Constantia. Constance a city of Normandy in France.

Castra exploratorum, Cambd. Burgh upon Sands in Cumberland.

Castra Ulpia. The city Cleve in Germany.

Castratius, tempore Syllanæ dissensionis Placentiæ magistratus. Val. Max. § Alius Rhetor tempore Adriani Imp.

Castriani. A people destroyed great part of them by the Emperor Aurelian. Vop.

Castrum Britonum. Dunbritton in Scotland.

Castrum Caledonium. Dunkelden, a Bishops seat in Scotland.

Castrum Inui, Virg. A Sea-town of Tuscany, now called Cornetto; the same, some think, as Pliny calls Castrum novum.

Castulo, urbs Oretanorum in Hispaniâ, Bœticæ finis, condita à Castalio, Castaliæ nymphæ filio, à qua nomen accepit Castalius fons: unde Silio dicta Parnassia Castulo: pop. Castulonenses, Plin.

Casuentum, fluv. Lucaniæ, in sinu Tarentino, vulg. Basiento: pop. Casuentilani, Plin.

Casurgis. The city Prague in Bohemia.

Casus, i; f. à קש stipula: olim Achne, ἄχνη autem palea, Boch. insula prope Rhodum, Plin.

Catabanes, Catabeni, Prisc. iidem qui Gebanitæ, Plin. pop. Arabiæ desertæ.

Catabathmos, Sall. κατάβαθμος, i. descensus, dict. quod sit vallis devexa in Ægyptum, finiens Africam. Mel. Theveto Cabo de Alber voc.

Catadupa. Cic. à κάτω & δοῦπος sonitus. The Cataracts or downfalls of the river Nile in Ethiopia, where falling from high hills it makes so great a noise, that the people dwelling near are made deaf therewith: who are from this place themselves called Catadupi.

Cataia. A country of Asia betwixt Tartary, China, and Turkestan.

Catalaunia or Catalonia. A country of Spain, belonging to the Kingdom of Arragon.

Catalaunum. The name of two cities of France: one in Champaigne called Chaalons, the other in Burgundy, called Chalons.

Cătăna, Siciliæ opp. juxta Ætnam.

Cataphrygæ, sic dict. à Phrygiâ, ipsorum & Montani patriâ. Hereticks of Phrygia, who were of Montanus his gang; about the year of Christ 170.

Cataractonum. Catterick or Catarrick in Yorkshire. Camd.

Catarrhytum, κατάῤῥυτον, dict. quod sit locus irriguus: Hippo a town of Africk, where S. Austin was Bishop, so called by the Greeks, for its store of water.

Caterlogum. The city of Caterlagh in Ireland, which gives name to the County.

Cathari. A people of India, who had this custom, that their women when their husbands died, were burnt with them. § It. Hæretici quidam, dict. καθαροὶ puri, ob simulatam puritatem. Puritans, a sect which denied oaths upon any occasion for the deciding of any truth; they maintained absolute perfection in this life; whence with their Master Novatus, they denied repentance to those that fell away after Baptism: vix. ann. Christi 250.

Catharina. A Virgin Martyr, of Alexandria, in Egypt; whom Maximinus the Tyrant design'd to have broken upon the wheel; but the wheel it self being broken in pieces by thunder, she was beheaded.

Catharum & Cattara. A city of Dalmatia, called Cattaro, belonging to the Venetians.

Cathelauni, vid. Catalaunum.

Catienus Philotimus. A man that so loved his Master, that he threw himself into his funeral pile to burn with him.

Cati fons, sic dict. quòd in agro erat cujusdam Cati. Fest. A well in Italy.

Catilina. A Conspirator of Rome, whose cursed plots were found out and brought to nought by Cicero then Consul of Rome. The History of it is written by Sallust.

Catilius Severus. A most learned man, scholar to Papinian. Lampr.

Cătilli, populi circa Anienem fluvium: Anienicolæ Catilli, Sil.

Catillus. The son of Amphiaraus and brother of Tyburtus: in memory of whom he built Tybur. Vir. It is also the name of an hill nigh to Tybur, so named from him; from which the inhabitants are called Catilli. It is now called M. de Tivoli.

Catina, Plin. al. Catana, Siciliæ urbs.

Catius. Deus Ethnicorum, qui homines catos, i. cautos faceret, Aug. § Also an Epicure in Horace.

Catizi. A sort of Pigmies, Plin.

CATO, ōnis; m. quòd catus, i. sapiens. The sirname of divers Romans, whereof two were of especial note; the former called Cato Censorius, for his gravity and worthy carriage in the Censorship. He was fourscore times accused, and alway came off with honour. When Embassadors were chosen to be sent into Bithynia, of whom one had the gout, another the head-ach, the third was timerous; Cato laughing, said to the Senate, The people of Rome send an Embassy, which hath neither head, nor foot, nor heart. He was an excellent Orator, Commander, and Statesman; well skilled in Civil Law, wrote a book of Husbandry, and learnt Greek when he was an old man. § The second Cato, great grand-child to the former, called Uticensis, because he slew himself at Utica, after Cæsar had vanquished Pompey. He was a severe rigid man, yet would play the good fellow sometimes, so yet as not to forfeit the reputation of his gravity. In his old age he was called Cato the wise. § A third of this name Val. Cato, a great Grammarian in Sylla's time. He wrote some Poems, and was respected much by those of that faculty, as appears by the commendations they give him. He lived to be very old and very poor.

Catti. People of Germany in the Landgrave of Hessen: from whom also Catwick in the Low-countries had its name.

name, q. Cattorum vicus.

Catuaci. People in the Low-countries about Doway; called in Latin Duacum, qu. Catuacum. Al. leg. Aduatici. Cæs.

Catularia, sic dicta, quòd non longe ab ea, ad placandum Caniculæ fidus frugibus inimicum, rufæ canes immolabantur, ut fruges flavescentes ad maturitatem perducerentur. Fest. A gate of Rome, so called.

Catullus. A famous learned but a wanton Poet born at Verona, in the time of Marius and Sylla. ♁ Alius Mimographus, cognom. Urbicarius, Juv.

Catulus, dict. à Cato, i. callido. The name of divers Noblemen.

Caturactonium & Caturractonium, & Cataractonum. The city Carlisle in Cumberland; or as some, Allerton in Yorkshire; or, as others, Catterick and Catterick-bridge.

Caturiges, Cæs. People of France in the Dauphine, living on the Alpes; their town is called Chorges.

Catyeuchlani. Buckinghamshire, Bedfordhire and Hartfordshire-men once so called. Camd.

Cavares. People of Narbon in France: their chief city was Avignon.

Cauca, opp. Hisp. vulg. Coca; pop. Caucenses, Plin.

Caucăsiæ portæ, quæ & Iberiæ. A city in the straight passage between mount Caucasus and the Caspian Sea, call'd now Derbent, i. The Streights, and by the Turks Demir or Temir capi, i. e. The iron Gates, for the strength of the place.

Caucăsus, i. m. quod Scytharum linguâ nivem signif. Boch. גוג חסן Gog hasan, i. præsidium Gog, quòd hæc pars Scythiæ esset terra Gog. An high hill in Asia between the Euxine and Caspian Sea, called also Garamas, and of later Geographers Cocas and Cochias: it is situated above Iberia and Albania, on the North part. It is of great height, covered with snow, rocky and full of trees. Here they say, Prometheus lay bound, an Eagle or Vulture feeding on his liver. Hinc adj. Caucasæus, a, um; Vir.

Caudi campi apud Padum & Vercellas, in quibus Cimbri à Mario victi. Flor.

Caudium, opp. Hirpinorum in Italiâ, prope Beneventum, hod. Arpaia. Hinc Caudinæ fauces, & Furcæ Caudinæ, Luc. ubi Romani à Samnitibus sub jugum missi.

Caulon, ōnis, m. Vir. vel Caulum, Sil. & Aulon, opp. in Italiæ fronte apud Locros.

Caunus. A city of Caria, near the river Calbis; also a mountain in Spain, now called Moncayo. Ortel. Also the son of Miletus and Cyane; whose sister Byblis falling in love with him, he went into Caria, and built that city, calling it after his own name. Ovid. inde Cauneus, a, um; Cic.

Cauria. The town Coria in Portugal. pop. Caurenses, Plin.

Cauros, insula Andros dict. cum oppido: Plin.

Caurus, ventus ab occasu solstitiali flans, qui & Corus dic. Vir.

Causennis. A town in Lincolnshire; whence that part of the country still called Causeven, Talb. Some take it for Bridge-Casterton. Camd. for Kesteven.

Cauti, al. Cantæ. People of Scotland about Murray and Ross.

Cayci, Luc. qui & Cauchi & Chauci, Tac. People of Germany, of two sorts; one about Bremen, the other about Oldenburgh.

Cāyster, & Caystrus, κάϋστρος, i. ardens, à καίω, κάυσω uro, sic dict. quòd fluat διὰ κατακαυμένης, per Phrygiam combustam. A river of Asia, about Ephesus, abounding with swans, Poët. It is now called Chiay.

C ante E.

Cĕa, Plin. vel Ceos, Cic. dict. à Ceo Titanis filio. An Isle in the Ægean Sea, one of the Cyclades. Hinc Cœus, a, um; Prop. Cœa vestis in pretio. Hodie Zia dict.

Ceba, opp. Liguriæ. Caseum Cebanum commendat Plin.

Cebares, equiso fuit, cujus astu Darius regnum Persarum est adeptus.

Cĕbes, A Theban Philosopher, who wrote a little Book, called Cebetis Tabula.

Cebrēnia. A country of Troas. Hinc Cebrēnis, idis, f. patronym. Ovid. & Cebrenus, a, um; gent. Auson.

Cecinna. The name of several Romans. One of them being on Pompey's side, took young swallows with him from Rome, which afterwards he sent with letters to his friends to give them intelligence. Plin. ♁ Also a river of Hetruria so called.

Cecrŏpia, arx Athenis, Plin.

Cecrŏpidæ, Poët. The Athenians so called from Cecrops their first King.

Cecrŏpius, a, um. Of Athens, &c.

CECROPS, ŏpis; m. κέκροψ. Biformis, διφυὴς dict. quia primus marem fœminæ matrimonio junxit, Just. vel quòd δύο γλώσσας ἐπιστεῖλο, Hier. fcil. Ægyptiam & Græcam; vel quòd partim homo, partim draco esset, Apollod. homo ob sapientiam, draco ob robur, Demosth. The first King of Athens; he first enacted marriage, found out Images, built altars, and offered sacrifices amongst the Greeks. He built the City Athens, and called it by his name Cecropia, Plin. He lived near Moses his time.

Cēdar, קדר id est, nigredo, à Cedar filio secundo Ismaelis: Arabia Petræa sic dicta Hebræis: pop. Cedrei, Plin. Cedareni, Lampr. ♁ It. oppid. Palestinæ in Galilæa.

Cedron, i. torrens cedrorum. A brook between Jerusalem and mount Olivet.

Cedros, sic dict. quòd cedrus illic copiosius nascitur. An Isle on the coasts of Germany, full of Cedars; from which amber is said to drop on the rocks. Perot.

Cefala. A small Isle of Africk under the Portugals, first discovered in the year 1560. LL.

Celādon. One that was slain at the marriage of Perseus and Andromeda. Ovid.

Cĕlādusa, Mel. Celadussæ, Plin. hod. Lagusta; insl. maris Adriatici.

Celæna, locus Campaniæ, Junoni sacer, Vir.

Cĕlænæ, arum; f. The chief city of Phrygia, Liv. where Marsyas was worsted by Apollo, and turned into a river. Ovid. Hence Cĕlænæus, a, um; Stat.

Cĕlæno, κελαινώ, οῦς τῆς κελαινότητος, i. à nigredine sive obscuritate dict. One of the Pleiades, daughter of Atlas, Ovid. also one of the Harpies, Virg.

Celandus, Mel. qui & Alesler, & Cavarus, fluvius Hispan. Tarracon. hod. Cavado. B.

Cĕlendræ, Luc. Celenderis, Tac. unde regio Celenderitis, Plin. urbs sive castellum Ciliciæ in littore.

Cēlestīnus. The name of five several Popes of Rome: also an Heretick, assistant to Pelagius, ann. Christi 410.

Celetrum, opp. Macedoniæ, Liv.

Cĕlĕus, i; Vir. The father of Triptolemus, and King of Eleusina, whom Ceres, for his kind entertainment of her, taught all the skill in husbandry.

Celeusum, opp. Vindeliciæ; hod. Neustat, B.

Cĕlius. A hill of Rome so called from one Celius, a Tuscan Captain, Bocc.

Cella. A city of Germany, called Zell. B.

Cella S. Canici. Kilkenny in Ireland.

Cellensis lacus, al. Acronius. Zellersee on the borders of Swizzerland.

Celmus. A foster-father of Jupiter, and by him at last turn'd into an Adamant. Ovid.

Celnius. The river Killian of Ross in the north of Scotland.

Celsus. Several of that name. One a Physitian in Tiberius his time. He wrote also of many other subjects, Quint. One a notable plagiary, mentioned by Horace.

Celtæ, pop. Galliæ, dict. à Celto Polyphemi filio, App. à חלתא Chald. Chelta, i. crocus. Boch. quòd essent ξανθόχροες, Str. flavi sive croceis capillis. Rect. fort. per contr. à Γαλάται Κέλται. The people of France so called.

Celtibĕri, ex Celtis & Iberis. A people of Spain dwelling near the river Iberus, in the country of Arragon.

Celtibērius, a, um. Catul.

Celtica. A country in France, situated between Garumna and Sequana; otherwise called Gallia Comata.

Celtici. People of Spain descended from the Celtæ in France; Biskainers.

Celticum. Hispaniæ promontorium, Finis terræ dict. uti nobis Lands-end.

Celurca, postea mons Rosarum. A town in Scotland, called Monros or Montrosse.

Cema, olim Acema. A river of France rising out of the hill Cemenus in the Alps.

Cemēnus, mons Gall. Narbon. apud Varum fluv. ex quo Cema fl.

Cempsi, pop. Hisp. ad radices Pyrenæi montis, Prisc.

Cēnæum. A Promontory and city of Eubœa; inde Jupiter Cenæus, à fano ei ibi exstructo, Ovid.

Cenchrĕæ. A town and port in the Isthmus of Peloponnese, belonging to Corinth; whence called Corinthiacæ Cenchreæ, Ovid. Hinc Cenchræus, a, um; Stat.

Cenchris. The wife of King Cinyras, and mother of Myrrha. Hygin.

Cenchrius. A river of Ionia that runs through the wood Ortygia, in which the Poets feign that Latona was washed by Ortygia her nurse, after her child-birth. Tac.

Cendevia. A marsh of Palestine, at the foot of mount Carmel, out of which the river Belus hath its rise. Plin.

Cenĕa, Atalanta Cenei filia.

Cēneus. A noble Thessalian, father of Atalanta: he was invulnerable; whence that saying, Invulnerabilis ut Ceneus. He was changed from woman to man, Ovid.

Ceni-

Cenimagni, populi in orâ Angliæ orientali, Cæs. qui & Iceni; unde Lipsi. leg. Iceni, Cangi, voce divisâ. People of Suffolk, Norfolk and Cambridge-shire.

Cĕnīna, urbs vicina Romæ, à Cenite conditore dict. Fest. pop. Ceninenses.

Cĕnŏmāni, dict. à Cydno Lyguris filio. People of Gallia Celtica; their country called le Maine: their chief City Cenomanum, vulg. le Mans. Also a People of Lumbardy in Italy.

Censorinus. An Author, that wrote a learned Book De die natali.

Centaurĕtus, Galata quidam fuit; who when Antiochus was slain, took his horse, which presently run away with him down a precipice, and broke his own neck and his Rider's. Plin.

CENTAURI, m. pl. Κένταυροι, qui & Hippocentauri; ita dicti παρὰ τὸ κεντᾶν τοὺς ταύρους, a pungendis sive stimulandis Tauris: vel quod iis primitùs vectarentur, Voss. scil. ante equorum domituram; vel quod equis insidentes ex Thessalicujusdam regis jussu, nim. Ixionis, cujus erant satellites, boves œstris agitatos stimulis ad tecta revocarent. Hi visi autcùm irent velociter, aut cùm eorum equi circa flumen Peneon potarent, capitibus inclinatis, locum fabulæ dederunt. Serv. veluti unum corpus equorum & hominum viderentur. Oros. People of Thessaly near mount Pelion, who first broke horses for war, when it came to pass, that they being seen by other people on horseback, at distance, were supposed to be but one creature, which had the upper part like a man, and the nether part of his body like an horse. The Poets fable that they were begotten by Ixion, of a Cloud, which he imbraced instead of Juno. The ground of this story was, that the place of their residence was called in Greek Νεφέλη the Cloud. At last in a drunken scuffle at Pirithous his wedding, they were knocked i'th' head and utterly routed by Theseus and the Lapithæ.

Hinc Centaureus, a, um; adj. Hor. Centaurium, κενταύριον, medicamentum à Chirone Centauro inventum. Fest. & Centaureum, κενταύρειον, unde graveolentia Centaurea, Vir. sive Centaurea, Plin. κενταυρεία, scil. βοτάνη, herba, cujus magna vis in sanandis vulneribus.

Centaurus. A great Ship in Virgil called Centaur.

Centobrĭca, Celtiberorũ urbs. Valer. M.

Centŏres, um; m. pop. Scythiæ, Val. Fl.

Centrones. People of Flanders, about the City Courtray, or as the Dutch call it Cortryck. Also people of Savoy toward the Alps, whose Country is now called La Tarantaise.

Centum cellæ. Pl. jun. urbs Tusciæ, vul. Civita Vecchia: à Trajano Imp. primùm condita, unde Trajani portus, Ptol. Erant a. Cellæ istæ νεώσοικοι domunculæ navium, cùm subducerentur in stationem.

Centumpĕrāncæ, insula Italiæ in agro Sentinarum. Nic. Perotti patria.

Centŭrīpæ, Κεντόριπα, Ptol. Κεντόριπα, Str. in Abl. plur. Centuripis, Cic. in Nom. Sing. Centuripe, Sil. hod. Centorbi. Siciliæ regio, à qua Centuripinum crocum. ◊ Centuripini, populus.

Cĕphălēdion. A Town of Sicily. Plin.

Cĕphălēne, & Cephalenia insula, à Cephalo Amphitryonis socio, Deionei filio dicta; vel à copiâ cephalorum piscium voc. olim Melæna, Taphos, & Teleboa. An Isle in the Ionian sea beyond Corcyra, in compass 120 miles, under the Venetians, now called Cefalonia. 'Tis about 20 miles distant from Zant. It once belong'd to Ulysses. inde Cephalenes. pop. Sil.

Cephalœdis. Κεφαλοίδις, Ptol. Κεφαλοίδιον, Str. hod. Cefalu; urbs Siciliæ; unde Cephaloidias ora, Sil. Græco ritu. Pop. Cephalœditani, Cic.

Cephalonnesus, inf. sinûs Carcinitis, ex adverso Tauricæ Chersonesi. Amm. hod. Rubea.

Cĕphălŏtŏmi. People of Colchis. Plin.

CEPHALUS. The son of Deioneus, or, as some, of Mercury and Herse the daughter to Cecrops. He married Procris, daughter to Hyphilus King of Athens, whom he very intirely loved. Aurora falling in love with him, and not obtaining his love, sent him home to his wife in shape of a Merchant, to try her chastity. He offering her gifts to be naught with her, she at last overcome, condescended to his request; then he taking up his own shape again, upbraided her of her disloyalty. Procris for shame fled into the woods; afterwards being reconciled, she gave her husband a dart that would never miss, and a hound called Lælaps: with these Cephalus went into the Woods a hunting. She being jealous went to watch him, and hid her self in a thicket. Cephalus weary and hot, came and sate him down hard by, and called upon Aura, to refresh him. She thinking he had called for Aurora, rowsed up her self, and stirred the Bushes; whereupon, Cephalus thinking it had been a wild beast, threw the Javelin and killed her. Ovid. ◊ It is also the name of an Athenian Orator, that first made Proems or Prefaces, and Epilogues in Speeches. Suid.

Cephas, non à κεφαλή, quòd sit Ecclesiæ caput, ut quidam ineptiunt, sed à Syr. כֵּיפָא Petra; unde & Græcè Πέτρος dict. A name given by our Saviour to Simon, Andrew's brother.

Cephēnes, um; m. Æthiopiæ pop. Ovid. fort. à Cepheo rege sic dict.

Cepheus, ei, vel eos; m. A King of Æthiopia, father of Andromeda, whom Perseus married: he was taken up with his Wife and Daughter into Heaven, and set hard by the lesser Bear-Star: inde Cephæus, a, um, adj. Ovid.

Cephis. A famous Statuary. Plin.

Cephisia, dict. à Cephiso amne. A little country of Attica; through which the River Cephisus runs, Plin.

Cephisĭdōrus. The name of several Athenians. Suid.

Cephisis. A lake near to the Atlantic Sea, with Amber in the mud of it.

Cephissus, Luc. Cephisus, Ovid. hinc Cephisis & Cephisias patronymic. A river of Bœotia, near to which, the temple of Themis stood, where Deucalion and Pyrrha were taught how, after the Deluge, to restore Mankind.

Cepio Servilius. A Roman Consul, who having taken Tholouse in France, and pillaged the Temple there, came afterwards to a miserable end: whence arose this proverb, Aurum Tolosanum; applyed to sacrilegious persons.

Cepœ, oppid. Bosphori Cimmerii. Plin.

Cĕrăcates. People of Germany. Tac.

Cĕrămicus sinus, ab urbe Ceramo, A gulf of Caria, not far from Halicarnassus. Plin. Also two places in Athens, so called. Suid.

Cĕrămium. A place in Rome, where Tully and Milo dwelt. Cic. q. d. Potters Street.

Ceramyntes, Κεραμύντης, i. Sati propulsator; Hercules sic dict. quòd esset Alexicacus & Averruncus Deus. Rhod.

Cĕrastæ. Isles in the coast of Arabia, near Syene in Æthiopia. Plin.

Cĕrastis, κεράστις, Cyprus olim sic dict. quòd homines cerastæ i. e. cornibus Insignes eam olim tenuerunt; vel quòd procurrentibus promontoriis, velut infestis cornibus, assurgat. An ancient name of the Isle Cyprus.

Cĕrăsus, untis. f. hod. Cherasonda, ab Acc. Κερασοῦντα. sic dict. quòd cerasis maximè abundet. A City of Cappadocia, upon the shore of the Euxin Sea. From this place Cherries were first brought into Italy by Lucullus.

Cĕrătus, A river of Crete passing by the City Gnossus. Hinc Ceratæus, Vir.

Cĕraunia, quæ & Acroceraunia, item Ceraunii montes. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς κεραυνῶν, i. fulminibus, quibus sæpe impetuntur. High hills on the borders of Epirus; reaching out to the Sea, where the Ionian sea is separated from the Adriatick. Scopulosa Ceraunia, Luc. Prærupta, Ovid. hod. voc. Monti di Chimera.

Cĕraunius, Mons Taurus Græcè dict. Plin. It. Jovis fulminantis cognomen: qui & Κεραυνοβόλος, quòd fulmina jaculetur, dict.

Cĕraunus. A river of Cappadocia. Plin. ◊ Also a Syname of one of the Ptolomies, Rhod.

Cerbălus. A river of Apulia. Plin.

Cerbani, pop. Arabiæ. Fel. Plin.

CERBERUS, qu. κρεοβόρος & carnivorus, quod terræ proprium est, uti interpretantur Mythologi, quæ sibi credita corpora omnia vorat ac consumit. A dog with three heads, that keeps the gate of hell. Hercules bound him in a chain, and drag'd him thence to light. Hesiod makes him have 50 heads, and Horace 100, calling him Bellua centiceps, the hundred-headed Beast.

Cercĕis, dict. à texendo, κερκὶς enim radium textorium significat. A nymph of the Sea. Hæsiod.

Cercĕtæ κερκέται. hod. Circassi, pop. in orâ Sarmatiæ Asiaticæ. unde Cerceticus sinus maris Euxini.

Cercĕtii montes in Thessaliâ. Plin.

Cerciæ, insulæ circa Ioniam. Plin.

Cercĭdas. An excellent Lawgiver of Megalopolis. Steph.

Cercĭna, & Cercinna, Κέρκινα, Str. Κέρκινα, Diod. An Island, with a City of the same name, in the midland Sea, on the coast of Africk near Tunis.

Cercĭnitis. A little Isle joyned with a bridg to Cercina, towards Carthage.

Cercinium, opp. Macedoniæ, in confinio Thraciæ. Liv.

Cercōpes, κέρκωπες, homines versipelles & fraudulenti circa Lydiam, à Jove in simias mutati, qui & insulis Pithecusis nomen dedere. Ovid. lib. 14. Metam. est autem κέρκος dict. non à κίρδος lucrum, ut sit id. quod lucripeta sive lucrio, quod vult. Fest. sed à κέρκος cauda & ὤψ facies, ut sit animal caudâ spectabile, scil. simia caudata, κερκοπίθηκος. The Inhabitants of Pithecusa: Also two Brothers Achæmon and Passalus, so called for their Apish tricks.

Cercyon,

Cercyon, ŏnis; m. A notable robber; he was so strong that he would bend the tallest trees, and tie the poor Passengers to them that he had robbed, and so with a swing pull them to pieces. At last Theseus served him the same sawce, and so there was an end of him. Hinc Cercyoneus, a, um, adj. Ovid.

Cerdo, sive Cerdon. A Heretick that taught two contrary Principles to be the cause of every thing, i.e. a Good and a Bad: under the bad he ranked Moses and the Prophets; under the good he comprehended Christ and the teachers of the Gospel, &c. He was the master of Marcion the Heretick, vix. an. Chr. 150.

Cerdōus, κερδῶος, i. lucri Deus. à κέρδος lucrum. Apollo sic. dict. quia oraculis editis ad lucrum conferre insigniter crederetur. Rhod. It. Mercurius, quòd negotiis & mercaturæ præsit; unde & ei marsupium assignant. Suid.

Cĕrĕālia, sacra Cereris à Triptolemo instituta; quæ & Thesmophoria, Plin. in quibus nihil vini adhibitum, Plaut.

Cĕrĕālis, The name of a Consul, Spart. Also the City of Ebura in Spain. Plin.

CERES, ĕris; f. sic dict. qu. Geres, à gerendis frugibus; Var. vel à cereo, pro quo nunc dicimus creo, Ser. qu. frugum creatrix. vel à Γῆρις, Scal. Γῆρις, ἡ, ἡ, ἡ Δημήτηρ ἡ ἀνὰ. Hes. hoc autem ab Heb. גרש spica virens, unde Angl. Grass. Δημήτηρ, qu. Γῆ μήτηρ. The daughter of Saturn and Ops, the Goddess of Corn and Tillage. She had by Jupiter one daughter, named Proserpina, whom Pluto stole away, and took with him into his infernal kingdom. Ceres missing her, and not knowing what was become of her, lighting torches on Mount Ætna (which hath burnt ever since) sought her all the World over; and in her travels coming to King Eleusius, she undertook the nursing and tuition of his son Triptolemus. In the day time she gave him milk of Heaven, and in the night raked him up in the fire. When he was grown to age, she provided him a chariot drawn with winged dragons, that he might travel through all the World, and teach people Husbandry, to till the ground and to sow corn, (for before they lived on Acorns). Afterward hearing that her daughter was carried away by Pluto, she went to Jupiter, and complained to him of the injury done her. Jupiter granted that she should return back, upon condition, she had tasted nothing in Hell whilst she was there; but it being proved by the witness of Ascalaphus, that she had eaten some of a Pomgranate as she walked in Pluto's Orchard, she was denied all hope of return, who thereupon turn'd Ascalaphus for his tale-telling into an Owl. At length Jupiter to ease his sisters grief, granted that her daughter should live half the year below with her Husband, and the other half with the Gods above. Sometimes Ceres is taken for the Moon, as Liber, i. Bacchus is for the Sun. Vir. By Metonymy, the word is used to signify Bread and all manner of food. Sine Cerere & Libero friget Venus, Ter. i. e. sine cibo & vino friget amor. Hinc Cerealis, le; adj.

Ceretanum, opp. Siciliæ, ad radices montis Hyblæ. Cic.

Ceretica. Cardiganshire in South-Wales.

Cerinthus. An Heretick who taught, That Christ at his coming again should give to his people all carnal delights and pleasure: he denied all the Scripture, onely Matthew excepted: vix. an. Chr. 97. ◊ Also a Town of the Isle Eubœa, Plin.

Cerites, Populi, quos cum vicissent Romani, statuerunt, ut nunquam leges conderent vel haberent; unde illud prov. Cerite cera digni, i. sine lege & suffragio. Bud. Vid. Cære.

Ceritus, a, um; Prisc. à Ceres, pro unicum r. rectiùs Cerritus, i. larvatus, male sanus, Cereris irâ, mente motus. δημητρόληπτος. One out of his wits, struck mad by by the sight of Ceres.

Cermalus, locus in urbe Româ sic dict. Fest.

Cermerum. A town of Macedon. Plin.

Cerna, Plin. An Isle in the Æthiopian Sea, now called the Isle of Saint Laurence or Madagascar. It is observed by one, that the North Pole is not seen there, and the Needle will do no service, therefore they are constrained to use Astrolabes, and other instruments.

Cerne. An Isle in the Atlantic Sea, otherwise called Madera, or Gratiosa.

Cernetum. A town near Casinum in Italy. The people Cernetani, qui & Mariani.

Ceroti insula. Chertsey in Surrey.

Cerritus, a, um, qu. Cereritus, à Cerere, Hor. Mad, frighted out of his wits with the appearance of Ceres. Vid. Ceritus.

Certima, Cestiberorum urbs in Hispaniâ. Liv. à Punico קרתא urbs.

Cervaria. A place in Aquitane. Pomp.

Ceryx. The son of Mercury. Κῆρυξ, i. caduceator. Rh.

Cescus. A City of Cilicia.

Cesperia & Casperia. A City of the Sabines, from whence Turnus had assistance, when he fought against Æneas.

Cessero. The City Castres in Narbon, or rather S. Tubery 12 leagues off Castres.

Cestius. One of the Bridges of Rome, now called Ponte di S. Bartolomeo.

Cestria. The City of Westchester.

Cestrus. A river of Pamphylia. Mela.

Cĕthĕgus. A name of some Romans, whereof one, a most eloquent man, was Consul in the time of the second Punick War, an. urb. 549. whom Ennius therefore styles Suadæ medulla. A nother conspired with Catiline, to destroy his country. Sall.

Cetius, Liv. The hill of Kalemberg, in Germany.

Cetobrica. A City of Portugal, called Setuval, 6 Leagues off Lisbon. The Dutch call it S. Ubes.

Ceuci. A People of Spain. Plin.

Ceus, vel Ceos. The son of Titan, who made war against Jupiter for ravishing his daughter Latona. Vir. ◊ Also an Island, where all persons above sixty years old were forced to end their lives with poison, that there might be no victuals wanting for the rest. Rhod.

CEYX, ycis; m. Κῆυξ. King of Trachinia, and husband of Alcyone: in a voyage at Sea he was shipwracht and drowned, whereupon his wife and he were turn'd into Kings Fishers. Ovid. Metam. 11.

C ante H.

Chabrias, æ; m. An Athenian Philosopher and famous General, who in a Sea-fight beat the Lacedæmonians. It was his usual saying, that an Army of Stags with a Lion to their leader was more dreadful, than one of Lions led on by a Stag. Demosthenes highly commends him up and down in his Orations.

Chadæi, pop. Arabiæ Fel. Plin.

Chadeni. People of Scandia, in the Northern part of Norway.

Chærea, m. χαιρέας, à χαίρω gaudeo. A frolick young blade in Terence.

Chærecla. A City of Pentapolis in Africk. Amm.

Chærephon. An Athenian Philosopher, Scholar to Socrates, who by his extraordinary hard study, being grown pale and lean, occasioned that proverb in Aristophanes, Nihil à Chærephonte differs.

Chærinthus. A very handsom boy mentioned by Horace. Another of that name in Tibullus.

Chæronea, χαιρώνεια dict. à Chærone i. nstauratore, Apollinis filio. Plut. prius Arne dicta, Pans. A village of Bœotia, the country where Plutarch was born, whence he is called Philosophus Chæronensis; famous for two battles fought there; the one wherein Philip of Macedon got the mastery of Greece. Str. The other in which Mithridates was routed by the Romans, when Sylla with the loss of fourteen men only, slew an hundred and ten thousand of the enemy.

Chairus. The City of Babylon in Egypt; Rhod. called Cairo, or Alcairo: in this City is every seven years a plague.

Chalastra. A City of Macedon, by the sea-side. Hence Chalastricum vitrum, Plin.

Chalcæa, Rhod. à χαλκεὺς faber ærarius. A feast kept by Smiths and other handicrafts men to the honour of Vulcan.

Chalcedon, ŏnis; f. Claud. Chalcedonia. Liv. urbs Cæcorum dict. quòd tam vicina Byzantio, vel quòd non ita commodo loco à Megarensibus condita fuerit. Plin. A City of Bithynia, where the fourth general Council was held, ann. Chr. 453, to refute the heresie of Nestorius. It was over against Constantinople, within a mile of it, on Asia side. By the Turks 'tis called Calcitiu, by others Caecelina, and Scutari. Hinc Chalcedonius, a, um; Claud.

Chalcenteros. Rhod. χαλκέντερος, i. ænea viscera habens. Didymus the Grammarian so called for his unwearied pains in study.

Chalcia. An Isle near Rhodes, one of the Cyclades. Plin.

Chalcidene. A very fruitful country of Syria. Plin.

Chalcicœcus, Rhod. χαλκιοικος, i. æneam habens domum. Minerva so called.

Chalciope, i. vox ænea. The daughter of King Æeta, wife to Phryxus, and sister to Medea. Ovid.

Chalcis, ĭdis; f. Luc. dict. à Chalcide filia Asopi, vel ab ære primùm ibi reperto, Plin. unde & ipsa Eubœa Chalcis olim dicta, vel à חלק, quòd à continente angusto freto divisa sit, Boch. A City of Eubœa, (near to Euripus) now called Negroponte. Chalcidicus, a, um. belonging to that City. Hinc Chalcidicum, genus ædificii ab urbe Chalcidica dictum, Fest. Chalsidico versu, Vir. respicit ad Euphorionem poetam. Chalcidensem. Chalcidica arte, Id. i. Cumæa, quod Cumas Chalcidenses condiderint.

Chalcitis. An Isle over against the mouth

mouth of the river Rhindacus in Asia. Plin.

Chaldæa, à Chaldæo rege, qui 14 à Nino fuit. A country of Asia, to which the great City of Babylon belonged; from whence it was called Babylonia, now called Caldar. It is bounded on the East with Assyria, on the North with Armenia, on the South with Arabia deserta, on the West with Syria.

Chaldæi, pop. Chaldæa, Heb. כשדים i. sicut dæmones. ita Gl. χαλδαῖοι, οἱ ἀστρολόγοι. & probat Hier. pot. tamen ab Arphaxad eorum auctore appellati. ארפכשד abscissis scil. tribus prioribus literis, & totidem relictis. The Chaldeans great Students in Astrology; whence all casters of Nativities and Fortune-tellers go by this name. Hinc Chaldaïcus, a, um.

Chalinitis: ἀπὸ τῆ χαλινᾶ, i. e. à fræno, sic dict. Minerva quòd Bellerophonti Pegasum equum præbuerit, eúmque fræna verit.

Chalus, Rhod. 18. A river of Syria, where there are very large Fishes, and very fair and gentle, so that the people (as Xenophon says) took them for Gods, and would not suffer any one to do them any wrong; as neither to their doves. From some such instance perhaps it was, that they worshipped Dagon, i. a Fish.

Chalybes, ferrum nudi effodiunt, à quibus Chalybs, i. ferrum nomen accepit; quos ideò σιδηροτέχλωνας voc. Æschilus, & ipsam regionem. ἄιαν σιδηροφόρον. q. d. terram ferriparentem. sic & Amm. Chalybes, per quos erutum & domitum est primitus ferrum.

Chalybs. A river in Spain, in quo Chalybs optimè temperatur, juxta quem & Chalybas populos collocat Justinus 44. hod. Cabe voc.

CHAM. חם θερμασία, i. calor, Cyril. vel niger, unde Ægyptus χημία dicta, quia μελάγχροος, Plut. rect. à Chamo, i. e. terra Cham, uti Psaltes eam vocat. Cultus in Africâ, nomine Jovis Hammonis; Ἄμμων γὰρ Αἰγύπτιοι καλέουσι τὸν Δία, Herod. nim. ut חם calor, ità Ζεὺς à ζέω ferveo. sed & ipsa arena Libyca ἄμμος à חמה fervor. Ham, Noah's third son, who in the division of the world had Africk for his lot: and was worshipped by the Egyptians under the name of Hammon, and the country still called by his name, Chemi, that is, the land of Cham.

Chamavi & Chamani. People somewhere in Germany. Tac.

Chananæa, sive Chanaan. The holy Land: the bounds of it Jordan on the East; the Mediterranean on the West, Southwards the deserts of Arabia, and North mount Libanus.

Chaönes. People of Chaonia. Chaoniam Helenus Priami filius, à Chaone fratre, quem in venatu per ignorantiam dicitur occidisse, nominavit, qu. ad solatium fratris extincti. The hilly part of Epirus. Hinc Chaonis ales, i. columba, Ovid. Chaonius victus, i. glandes, Claud.

Charadrus, Fl. Phocidis, Stat. urbem Charadram alluens, & in Cephisum influens. Paus.

Charaxus. The brother of Sappho, that spent all upon the harlot Rhodope, and afterward turned Pirat. Ovid.

Chares. An Athenian captain, who was liberal and frank in his promises, but slow of performance: unde prov. Charetis pollicitationes. Also an ingraver, Scholar to Lysippus, who made the Colosse of the Sun at Rhodes. Plin.

Charicle, es; f. A nymph by whom the Centaur Chiron had a daughter, by name Ocyroe.

Charidemus, χαρίδημος, i. populi gaudium. An Athenian, who being banished thence by Alexanders order, and being an excellent Souldier, fled to Darius, and did the Persians great service against the Greeks. Curt. ◊ Another fellow of that name in Martial, that was thrown upon the Stage to the wild Beasts.

Chăridēmi promontorium. A Promontory in Spain, called Cabo de Gates, from the Agat stones found there.

Chărilāus, χαρίλαος, idem quod Charidemus. A noble Lacedæmonian, curious in ordering his hair, who being asked the reason of it, said, Of all ornaments, the hair was most comely, and the least costly. Again being asked, why Lycurgus made so few Laws, he answered, That a few laws would suffice for them that spake so little, Cœl. 18. 4.

Chăris, i. gratia, uti נעמה sign. Tubal-Caini uxoris nomen. The wife of Vulcan.

Chărisius, à χάρις, ut Gratianus à Gratia; Annas & Joannes, à חן gratia. An Athenian Orateur mentioned by Cicero: also a Grammarian.

Chăristĭa, n. plur. Val. M. χαρίστια, à χάρις. convivium solenne, quò cognati & affines sese mutuò excipiebant, & dona ultro citroque mittebant. XI. Calend. Mart. Ovid.

CHARITES, um; f. à sing. Charis, itis. gr. χάρις. est a. χάρις gratia, venustas, lepos, à χαίρω gaudeo. Tres erant; Aglaia (quæ alio nomine Pasithea) Thalia, & Euphrosyne. The three Graces, the daughters of Jupiter and Autonoe; or of Jupiter and Eurynome. They are said to be three, because we ought to be bountiful to others, and thankfully to receive good turns from others, and to requite courtesies: which are three several acts. One they say, was painted with her back towards us, and her face fromward, as proceeding from us; the other two with their faces towards us, noting, That for one benefit done, we should receive double thanks: They were painted naked, to shew that good turns should be done without dissembling and hypocrisie: also young, to note, That the remembrance of benefits should never wax old: They were also pictured laughing, to note a Chearfulness in doing of kindnesses. Lastly, their arms were linked one with another, to teach, That one kindness should draw in another, so that the knot and bond of love should be undissoluble. ◊ Charitonia corr. scrib. ap. Lucr. (qu. gratiam habens ἄνιον, i. venalem) pro Charitonmia, i. una Gratiarum, venustatis & lepòris ergo.

Charmidas. A Grecian of a vast memory. Plin.

Charmis. A Physician of Marseilles in France, who used in the coldest time of winter, to wash his Patients in cold baths. Plin.

Charmus. A Poet of Syracusæ; who would produce verses and proverbs out of Authors upon every thing that was set on the table. Athen.

CHARON. ōntis; m. à χαίρειν gaudere, per antiphr. Fung. ut ût id. quòd Acheron, per aphær. vel quia animas cum gaudio transfert in Elysium, Nat. Com. Al. à χαροπὸς, ob oculorum splendorem. Vox Ægyptia est, inquit Cajetanus, & portitorem sign. At unde id ei notum? Certè Græca forma est, & ni fallor à gaudio traducta. The Ferry man of Hell, who wafts the souls of the dead, in a boat, over the Stygian Lake. An ill-looke and ill accoutred Sculler: see him described by Virgil, Æn. 6. Juvenal calls him tetrum porthmea, the grim Ferriman. Hinc Charoneæ scrobes sive spiracula, quæ mortiferum spiritum exhalant. Plin.

Charondas Thurius, called also Catæneus, from the city Catana, where he was born. He made a law that none should come into the assembly armed: afterwards he himself unawares coming with his sword girt about him, as he returned out of the court, he that sate next to him put him in mind how he appeared there contrary to the Law that he himself had made; whereupon immediately he drew forth his sword, and fell upon it, and so dyed, whereas he might have took no notice, or have excused the matter. Val. Max.

Chăronēa porta Athenis, per quam damnati ad supplicium ducebantur.

Charonium, χαρώνιον vel χαρωνεῖον, q. d. Charontis ὄστιον. ita Gal. vocari ait barathra odores exhalantia. Leg. ap. Gell. ex Laber. Al. idem est quod Acheron; Cœl. Rhod. leg. Catonium.

Chărops. The son of Æschylus, the fourteenth Prince of Athens, the first Archon or supreme Magistrate for ten years, whereas before they were for life. This was about the time when Rome was built. Sigon.

Charta. The city Tyre, so called: the word in the Hebrew tongue signifying a City; whence Dido called the city built by her Carthago.

Charybdis. A Gulf of the Sicilian Sea, now called Galofaro; situated over against Scylla, a dangerous Rock: whence the Proverb Incidit in Scyllam, cupiens vitare Charybdim: it being very hard for passengers to escape the one or other of them. They are betwixt them the occasion of many Shipwracks. Itaq. Boch. Charybdin dici vult. qu. חר אברן chor abdan, i. toramen perditionis.

Chauci, Plin. & Tac. The People of Friesland and Groningen in the Low countries; and of Lunenburg and the Stift of Bremen in upper Germany. ◊ Claud. hos Chaycos vocat.

Chaurus, ventus, qui & Caurus & Corus. Vid. Corus.

Chelidonia, à χελιδὼν hirundo, Plin. The season when swallows first appear'd, which was about the latter end of February.

Chĕlidonĭæ. q. d. Hirundinæ; quòd in earum scopulis hyeme lateant hirundines. Two certain Isles over against the mountain Taurus, unfortunate to Mariners; the one of them called Corydela, the other Menalippea.

Chĕlidōnĭum, promont. Tauri montis.

Chelonophagi, plur. χελωνοφάγοι, q. d. Testudinivori. Plin. A People of India, in a nook of Carmania, which feed upon Tortoises, and cover their houses with the shells.

Chemmis. A floting Island of Egypt.

Chemosh, idolum Moabitarum, alio nomine mine Beelphegor, Hier. כמוש. Al. putant eum esse, qui gr. Κῶμος dic. Dem Comessationis putâ.

Chenoboscia. ab anserum pascuis dict. A City of Egypt, over against Diospolis.

Cheops, vel Cheospes. A King of Egypt that made a famous Pyramid at Memphis, about which there were so many Men imployed, that he spent upon them 1060 talents onely in Parsely, Onions and Garlick.

Chepstovium. Chepstow in Monmouth-Shire.

Cheremocrates. An excellent workman and Artist, whose masterpiece was the Temple of Diana at Ephesus. Str.

Cherias. A Champion whom Hercules slew with a fillip: also a Physician of Athens. Plin.

Chersĭdămas, antis; m. id est, manibus victus, a χερσί, in dativ. pl. χερσὶ, & δαμάζω domo. A Trojan slain by Ulysses. Ovid.

Chersiphron, à χεὶρ manus & φρὴν mens. Operi præfuit Chersiphron architectus, Plin. The overseer or chief undertaker of the building of the Ephesian Temple.

Chersonesus, vel Cherroneſus, f. χερσόνησος, ὁ ἀπὸ τῆς χέρσου νῆσος, i.e. terra in insulæ modum mari cincta, uno tantùm eóque angusto spatio continenti adjuncta; Lat. Peninsulam vocant. It is the name of several countries, whereof five are of the most note; The first is by an Isthmus of seven miles bredth joyned to Achaia, being in compass 600 miles; it is now called Peloponnesus and Morea. The second of Thrace, called also Cherroneſus Hellespontiaca, and Pallene. The third adjoining to Saxony, is called Cimbrica, now part of Denmark, to wit, Jutland. The fourth Taurica, between the Euxine Sea, and the Mœotick Lake, by Ortel. called Cherso. The fifth Aurea in the East-Indies, above Ganges, also called Malacha; it is called by Mercator, Japan, by others Samotta. ℌ Many Cities also go by this name.

Cherubim sive Cherubini. כרוב dict. כרביא quasi puer sive adolescens. Rabb. erant enim juvenes alati. The Cherubins, an order of Angels: two of them in carved work, by God's own order set upon the Propitiatory or Mercy-seat, with their wings stretched out so as to cover it.

Chĕrusci. A great and warlike People of Germany, Tac. called Mansfelders, Ortel.

Chesius. fl. in Samo. Plin.

Childebertus & Childericus. The name of divers Princes of France.

Chiliastæ, χιλιασταὶ à χίλιας mille: Hæretici quidam, quos Milenarios Augustinus interpretatur, propter illud ex sacra pagina, Una dies apud Dominum ut mille anni, & mille anni ut una dies. They were men that held this opinion, That Christ should come personally, and reign as a king upon earth for a thousand years. The first broachers of this opinion are thought to be Cerinthus and Papias, S. John the Evangelists Disciple, who lived about the year of Christ, 100.

Chilmoria. Kilmore a town of Ireland in Ulster.

Chilo, ōnis, m. χίλων, à magnitudine labrorum, Fest. id. quod Lat. Labeo. A Lacedæmonian Philosopher. One of the seven wisemen of Greece; he died for joy when he heard of his sons victory which he won. These three Apophthegms of his were consecrated to Apollo at Delphos; 1. Know thy self. 2. Desire nothing over-much. 3. Misery is the companion of debt and strife. Many other wise sayings there are of his.

Chilpericus. The ninth King of France, a lewd and wicked Prince. He had three Wives. The first he divorced; The second he made away; and was himself murdered by his third, and was buried in S. Germans Church, Anno 723.

Chĭmæra, æ; f. χίμαιρα, i. capra, mons Lyciæ ignivomus, in cujus cacumine leones habitant, in medio autem, ubi pascuis abundat, capræ; in radicibus autem serpentes: hinc factus est locus fabulæ Chimæram monstrum esse, quod flammas vomat, caput & pectus leonis habens, ventrem capræ, caudam draconis: unde triformis dic. Hor. Πεφύκει λέων, ὄπιθεν δὲ δράκων, μέση δὲ χίμαιρα, Heliod. quem versum sic extulit Lucr. Prima leo, postrema draco, media ipsa Chimæra. Sic autem Ovid. Mediis in partibus hircum, Pectus & ora leæ, caudam sepentis habebat. Et quoniam Bellerophon montem hunc habitabilem reddidit, Chimæram dicitur occidisse. Serv.

Chimerium. The hill of Phthiotis in Thessaly. Plin.

China. A Country in Asia, called also Sinarum regio; it is under one king, whom the people called Lord of the World, and son of Heaven; it reacheth from the Tropick, to fifty two degrees lat.

Chiŏne, es; f. dict. à candore: χιὼν enim nivem sign. A noted harlot, the daughter of Dædalion, wife to Pœonius; whose beauty when Apollo coming from Delphos, and Mercury from the hill Cyllene, saw, they fell in love with her, and both in one night lay with her, and had each of them a child by her; the one called Philammon an excellent Musician, the other Autolycus a notorious thief. ℌ Another of this name, a stately courtesan of Rome. Juv. upon whose name Martial plays, Frigidaes, & nigra es; non es, & es Chione.

Chios, dict. à Gr. litera X. cujus formam imitatur; sive à nive in ea abundante, quæ χιὼν dic. An Isle in the Ægæan sea, now called Scio; from whence cometh the most excellent Malmsey, and other rich wines: it is situated betwixt Lesbos and Samos. olim Æthalia, al. Macris & Pityusa dict. Plin. Chius ad Coum, A proverb noting an unequal comparison, as an Ace to a Sice. Chius, a, um. Of that Isle. Chia, subaud. ficus, Mart. Chium, subint. vinum. Hor.

Chirocrates, i. manibus potens. A famous Carpenter by some called Dinocrates. Plin.

CHIRON, ōnis; m. χείρων, à χεὶρ manus, quòd primus τὴν χειρουργικὴν artem Chirurgicam instituit. Hygin. One of the Centaurs, the son of Saturn and Phillyra. Saturn using Phillyra's company, his wife Ops came and had liked to have surprized him; but he turned himself into an horse: Phillyra conceived and bare a creature, whose upper part was a man, and the lower part a horse: This Chiron became an excellent Physician; he taught Æsculapius Physick, Apollo Musick, and Hercules Astronomy, and was Achilles his Tutor. He gave the name of Centaurium to our herb Centaury; which is also called from him Chironion, an herb good for the curing of wounds; as also a sore is called Chironium ulcus, which cometh especially to the Thighs and Feet; so called, because it had need of such a one as Chiron was to heal it. He was at last placed in the Zodiack, and made one of the signs there called Sagittary.

Chitis. An Isle of Arabia, whence the Topaz came.

Chloræus. A Priest of Cybele. Vir.

Chlōris, is; f. χλωρὶς; à χλωρὸς viridis. unde & Flora dicta. Chloris eram, quæ Flora vocor. Ovid. The goddess of flowers, otherwise called Flora: also the daughter of Amphion, wife of Neleus, and mother of Nestor.

Chlorus. A river of Cilicia. Plin.

Choaspes, a river of India. Curt. ℌ Also a river of the Medes, the water whereof was so delicious, that the Kings of Persia drank constantly of it, and had it carried along with them in their journies. Solin. Hinc regia lympha Choaspis, Tib.

Choerades, χοιράδες, i. ſuculæ. Rocks near the Straights mouth called by the people there los puercos, i. The swine or the Pigs.

Chœrilus. A foolish Poet that undertook to write of the worthy exploits of Alexander, with Alexanders own consent, upon this bargain, that for every good verse he made he should have a Philip, i.e. a piece of gold; for every bad one a Box on the ear. When he had done, there were not above seven good verses in the whole Poem: so that he received very few pieces of Gold, but a great many boxes to put them in. Horace makes himself merry with this Chœrilus sometimes: there was another too of the same name before this, who wrote the victory of the Greeks against Xerxes so well, that Archelaus King of Macedon gave him for every verse a piece of Gold.

Choës, à χοὴ libamen. A feast at Athens kept on the 12 of December, in honour of Dionysius Lenæus, that is, of Bacchus.

Chonodomarius, Alemanorum rex. Amm.

Chorasmii, pop. Asiæ, ad utramque Oxi ripam. Plin. horum regio hod. Corassan dict.

Chorazin opp. Galilææ.

Chōrinæus. A mans name in Virgil.

Choræbus. An Athenian, who first found out the Potters trade, Plin. and won the first prize at running. Rhod. ℌ A young spark, who was a servant to Cassandra, King Priams daughter. Vir.

Choromandæ, People that have no voice, but make an horrible noise; their bodies are all hairy, their eyes like cats eyes, and their teeth like dogs teeth. Plin.

Chosrŏes. A King of the Persians, very studious and understanding in the Philosophy of the Greeks.

Chrēmes, etis & is; m. à χρήματίζεται, id est, screare, ut solent senes. An old mans name. Terence.

Chrēstus, χρηστὸς, i. bonus. Ita Gentiles etiam aliquando Salvatorem nostrum voc. Chrestum, & nos Chrestianos. Suet. A Sophister of Byzantium in the time of Hadrian the Emperor, who was much given to wine; yet he always had that care, that when he misspent his time all the day, he would redeem it at night in his Study.

Christophorus χριστοφόρος Ⓖ, i. e. Christum ferens. S. Christopher, who they say carried Christ on his back through the Sea.

CHRI-

CHRISTUS, i; m. χριστὸς, i. unctus, à χρίω ungo; id. quod Heb. משיח scil. Messias. à משח unxit. Nomen officii Domino nostro ac Servatori Jesu tributum, quòd eum unctione spiritali Spiritus S. donis instructum in Regem, Sacerdotem & Prophetam consecravit. CHRIST, the Anointed, our blessed Lord and Saviour. Hinc Christianus, a, um; A Christian, or belonging to Christ. Christiani, χριστιανοὶ, Christians, so called first at Antioch.

Chrysantas. One of Cyrus his Captains. Rhod.

Chrysanthus, τὸ τῦ χρυσῦ ἄνθος, flos aureus. A young man that lived a virgin with his wife Daira, and became a Christian, and was martyred in Rome in the ninth persecution, being thrown into a ditch, and then stoned to death, Volat.

Chrysaor, Gr. i. ensem gerens aureum. Neptunes son by Medusa. Hyg.

Chrysas. A river of Sicily, and there worshipped for a God; his Chappel called Chrysæ fanum, Cic.

Chryse, es; f. A town of Cilicia, sacred to Apollo, Ovid. ◊ Also an Island in the East-Indies, thought to be Japan. Extra ostium Indi, Chryse & Argyre fertiles Metallis. Plin. Ergo dict. ἀπὸ τῦ χρυσῦ, ab auro.

Chryseis, idis; f. patron. Chrysæ filia, χρυσηὶς. The daughter of Chryses the priest of Apollos; she was called Astynome, whom Agamemnon took as a prey and detained; whereupon Apollo angred, sent a plague among the Greeks. Hom.

Chrysermus. A Physician in Pliny.

Chryses, χρύσης, à χρυσὸς i. aurum, eò quòd multum aurum pro redemptione filiæ Agamemnoni solvit. A Priest of Apollo.

Chrysippus χρύσιππος, à χρυσὸς aurum, & ἵππος equus, q. d. eques auratus: nobilis Stoicus. A Stoical Philosopher, son of Apollonides, born at Tarsus; he was scholar to Zeno, a most acute Logician; whence this was said of him; Si apud Deos Dialectica haberetur, non aliam esse futuram quam Chrysippi. Flor. an. m. 3720. ◊ Also a son of Pelops slain by his brothers Atreus & Thyestes, for which they were both banished by their Father.

Chrysis, idis; f. meretrix Terentiana, dict. ἀπὸ τῦ χρυσῦ, cujus gratiâ corporis usuram fecit; vel ab aureos, i. flavos crines; q. d. Goldy Locks.

Chrysitis, Liv. A place in Macedon, now called Siderocapsa.

Chrysoceras, τὸ τῦ χρυσῦ κέρας, i. auri cornu. A Promontory of Thrace near Byzantium; in the Suburbs of the City, where all the Christians live: called by the Greeks and Turks Galata, in Latin Cornu Byzantii.

Chrysogonus, χρυσόγονος, q. d. aurea fœtura, vel auro genitus. Sylla his freeman; Cic. ◊ Also a noble man of Rome, a Martyr, who was strangled to death, when Diocletian could not draw him away from the profession of the Faith by promising of the Consulship to him, or any other such preferment. ann. Chr. 290. Vol. ◊ Also a Fidler or Songster. Juv.

Chrysopolis, χρυσόπολις, i. aurea civitas, dict. quòd Persæ illic colligerent aurum ex tributo aliarum civitatum; vel à Chryso Chryseidis & Agamemnonis filio. A City of Bithynia. Plin.

Chrysorrhoæ, dict. quod apud eos sint auriferi torrentes: unde occasio fabulæ de vellere aureo apud Cholcos. People by the river Phasis.

Chrysorrhoas, æ; m. χρυσορρόας aurifluus. Ità prius dictus Pactolus, Solin. A river of Lydia: When Midas the Lydian king had entertained Bacchus, and was bidden to ask what he would, he asked, That all he touched might turn to gold; and when the meat, which he touched to eat, turned into gold also, and he was like to be famished, he desired his guest to rid him of his boon, who bade him go and wash himself in the river Pactolus; which doing, he turned the sands of that river into gold; and the water into a golden colour; whence it is called Chrysorrhoas. ◊ Also a river in Syria, by Damascus, called now Adegele, and 2 Reg. 5. Pharphar.

Chrysostomus, χρυσόστομος, i. os aureum, ob eloquentiæ suavitatem, à χρύσος aurum, & στόμα os. A Father of the Greek Church, born at Antioch, and made Bishop of Constantinople, ann. Chr. 401. He was banished by Arcadius, for talking against the Empress Eudoxia, where after three years banishment he died, on Sept. 14. ann. Chr. 411. ætat. 59.

Chryxus, The grandchild of that Brennus, under whose conduct the Gauls took Rome, Sil. lib. 4.

Cthonia, à χθόνιος, i. terrestris, sic dict. Ceres à eâdem cum Tellure; unde gr. Δημήτηρ, qu. Γῆ μήτηρ dicta.

Chthonium, χθόνιον, i. terrestre. A feast in honor of Ceres.

Chullabi, Africæ proprix urbs. Aug.

Chuta, regio Persica sic dict. à Chuto fluvio Persico. The country from whence Salmanasar brought people to inhabit Palestine, 2 King. 17. Chutæi, the People.

Chydorus. A river of Bœotia, drunk dry by that numerous army of Persians, who came along with Xerxes to invade Greece.

C ante I.

Cii pop. Ceæ sive Zeæ Insulæ. Cum apud eos nec tibicines nec meretrices essent, contrà Chii ut effœminati male audiebant; unde Adagium ap. Athen. l. 13. Non Chius sed Cius, de rebus valde discrepantibus.

Cibarci. A people of Spain. Plin.

Cibinium, à fl. cognomine dict. A midland City of Transylvania, called Hermanstadt. It belongs to the Saxons there, and is the chief of the country.

Cibotus, civ. Asiæ, quæ & Apamia.

Cibyra, unde juga Cibyritica, Plin. A City of Cilicia, neer to Antioch. Cibyrates, pop. Cic.

Cicæ. Islands upon the Coast of Gallæcia; vul. Islas de Bayona.

CICERO, ōnis; m. cognomen à Cicere inditum, ut à piso Pisones dicti, &c. scil. ut quisque genus aliquod frumenti optime sereret. Plin. A nasi figurâ, Plut. à faciei habitu, Prisc. ita dictum volunt. an quòd tuberculo aliquo, ciceris instar, ei vel nasus, vel facies insigniretur. Absit ut Oratorum princeps Chittyface dicatur. Nomen certè à majoribus, si quos habuit, uti Fabiorum, Pisonum, Lentulorum traductum. Sanè utut novitas ei objiceretur, tamen alterum Tullii nomen avitam nobilitatem arguit, si verè Silius, quum de Tullio sic loquitur, Regia progenies, & Tullo sanguis ab alto; vel si T. Appio Volscorum rege oriundus esse, qui primus Cicero dictus est, quod alii affirmant. Κικίερον. Vitam ejus Plut. fusè descripsit. Mark Tully Cicero, father of the Latin Eloquence, the greatest Oratour that ever the Roman state bred or imploi'd: nor was he less to be admired in Philosophy; witness his many writings of that kinde upon several subjects, wherein he has highly approv'd his great abilities in all sorts of learning, and has made it manifest, that the depth and compass of his understanding, together with the solidity of his judgment in his Moral and other Treatises, equall'd the powers and glories of that inimitable style he shew'd himself master of in his Orations. As for the one he made Demosthenes his pattern, so for the other he applied himself principally to Plato; though no stranger to the other Sects, Stoicks, and the rest; yet a friend and follower of the Academy. He was not born indeed to Poetry, but made such a considerable Essay in his youth by translating Aratus, as might be a fair proof, that had not his stars directed him to purchase fame another way, he ought not to have despaired of gaining the Muses favour, could he have been at leasure to have courted them, and have made those lighter studies his only business. He was born at a mean town in Italy called Arpinum, but his services, assoon as he came to be taken notice of in Rome, so recommended him to the liking of the publick, that making easy steps through the lower honours he was, without prejudice taken at his birth, admitted into the Chair of State, and was made Ruler of that people, that govern'd the World. And so well did he acquit himself in his Consulship, that he was the first that ever was honour'd with an Appellation, which surpasses all Imperial titles whatever, that he was by common vote styled the Father of his Country. A great lover and preserver of the State he was, as long as he had power in his hands; witness Catilines conspiracy, the Agrarian Law, and several other attempts, which he by his vigilance and industry defeated. He was banished the City by Clodius at that time Tribune, against whom he made that incomparable speech for Milo; but was with honour restored. In the Civil wars he took part with Pompey, as thinking the publick liberty lay on that side, to which he always to his last breath shewd himself a constant friend. Nor left he off his employment in the publick under the Conqueror, such was Cæsars kindness to him, whom he so ravished in his eloquent addresses, that he was observed to let fall papers of concern out of his hand, as he spoke to him. Tet be approved of his Murder, as one that had usurp'd upon the peoples liberty: which was the great reason made him an enemy to Mark Antony, whose Character, besides that design of tyranny, was render'd so bad by his personal debaucheries, that it afforded matter enough to his eloquent Adversary to set him out, as he has done to the life, in his Philippicks, which he so called in imitation of the Greek Oratour, with this omen, that the Speaker was to run the same fate, and his learned Invectives were to cost him his life, as they did. For Anthony being now got to be Triumvir, revenged his shame, and having in barbarous manner given order for the cutting off Cicero's head, stuck it up in the the pleading place. But in vain didst thou wreak thy malice upon the Author's life, whose immortal writings to thy perpetual discredit shall last as long as the World do's, which shall always admire him, and curse thy memory. He was cut off in his Climacter, the sixty third year of his age. Pardon, Reader, the length of this discourse upon Him, to whom thou owest the best part of Latin language, and in whose works when thou arrivest once to a delight, thou maist take a great Masters word for it, thou thy self art no small proficient. Read his Epistles over with care, and thou wilt find the whole story of him as to his private concerns, and the affairs of State too, as they were managed in his time. He left one Son, unworthy of such a Father, to whom when he was a young Student at Athens, he sent his Book of Offices, a Book which gave the first handsel to the Invention of Printing in Europe. He had a Brother too, Quintus Cicero, once Cæsars Lieutenant-General in France, afterwards Proconsul of Asia, who at last came to the same sad end with his Brother. Some places still retein his name.

Ciceronis villa, Suet. still called Ciceroniano: a place of Campania neer to Baiæ and Puteoli, hard by the Lake Avernus. Here was his Country-House, whither he used to retire from the businesse of the Town, and where he wrote many of his pieces; otherwise called the Tusculan, and by Pliny the Academy.

Ciceronis Aquæ, not far from this place, Plin. now called Bagni di Cicerone, and Bagni di Britolino, or as one mends it, di Tritolino. B.

Ciceronis Castra, Cæs. A little Village in Flanders, not far from Gaunt, now by the name of Veltsick.

Cicestria, Chichester in Sussex.

Cicimeni. People about Mæotis.

Ciconnes. People of Thrace neer the river Hebrus, whom Ulysses vanquished after he went from Troy, and plunder'd their City Ismarus. Here the Women tore Orpheus to pieces, Vir. They had a river that petrified any thing it touched, Ovid.

Cicuta. An Usurer in Horace.

Cicynethus, i. חוק עינות sinus fontium. Boch. uti Pagasæ à fontibus πηγαῖς dict. Insula Macedoniæ in sinu Pagasæo.

Cilicia. A country of Asia the less, where S. Paul was born; now called Caramania: The people are inclined to lying and stealing; whence the Proverb applyed to such as will lye for their own gain, Cilixnon facile verum dicit. It is divided into two parts, Campestris and Trachea, i. the plain country, and the rough and rocky. Whence it had its name à חלק lapis, quia regio lapidosa. It abounded much in saffron, which is therefore called spica Cilissa, Propert.

Cilix, filius Phœnicis, à quo dict. est Cilicia. ◊ It. incola Ciliciæ Cilix, fœm. Cilissa.

Cilla, opp. Troadis, Apollini sacrum, Ovid. nomen habet à Cille Pelopis auriga; Pelops enim eodem quo Cillus mortuus est loco, urbem condidit hanc, quam Cillam de nomine ejus appellavit.

Cillenus. A mountain of Arcadia, sacred to Mercury, thence called Cillenius. Rect. scrib. Cyllene.

Cillus, Pelopis auriga, & ab eo nomen civitatis Cillæ. Str.

Cilnius. The sirname of Mæcenas, a great family in Tuscany. Liv.

Cilurnum. Collerton or Collerford in Northumberland; as others, Walwick; or Scilicester in the Wall.

Cimbri, qui lingua Gallicâ latrones dicuntur, Fest. vel à Gomero, à quo originem deduxerunt. People of Denmark and Holstein, &c. Men of vast Bodies and dreadful looks, Juv. They made an inrode into Italy, with a design to take Rome, but were beaten and routed by Marius. Anno U. C. 640.

Cimbria. Part of the Country now called Denmark. ◊ Cimbrica Chersonesus, divided into four parts; Jutland, Holstein, Dithmarsh, and Sleswick.

Ciminus, lacus & mons Hetruriæ: Cimini lacus, Vir. unde sylva Ciminia, sive saltus Ciminius, Liv. Plin.

Cimmerii, dict. qu. χειμέριοι, i. hiberni: vel à κίμμερ & caligo; Eust. Cimmerii, qu. χειμῶνος σκότος ἔχει, i. caligine. Rect. à כמר denigrari, à tenebris scil. unde ortum prov. Cimmeriæ tenebræ. ◊ Cerberii Cratoni dicti, quòd loca tenerent Cerbero vicina, Becm. People of Italy dwelling in a valley between Baiæ and Cumæ, so invironed with hils that the sun never comes at it; They lived in caves under ground, and there was Sibylla's Grott, and there they fancied was the descent to Hell: which gave occasion to Virgils fictions in the sixth book of his Æneids. Here Ovid places the House of sleep. ◊ Also people near the Bosphorus, where the air is so gross that they are always in darkness, having little light by the Sun.

Cimmeris. A City of Troas, before called Edonis. Plin.

Cimmerium, oppidum Tauricæ Chersonesi, in ipso ore Bosphori; Cerberion appellatum propter insalubritatem loci. Plin.

Cimolus. An Island in the Sea of Crete, over against the Promontory Zephyrus of the same kind of soil. Hence Terra Cimolia, Κιμωλία γῆ. Chalk. Hinc Cretosa; rura Cimoli, Ovid. It is now called Sicandro.

Cimon, Athenienſis, patre Miltiade, matre Ægesiphile. He is renowned for his liberality: he gave all the spoils that were gotten from his enemies in war to the people. He provided every day great store of victual to relieve all sorts of poor that came unto him. Corn. Nepos has writ his life. ◊ Another of that name, a Painter, Plin.

Cincinnatus, nomen habet a prolixis capillis, quos cincinnos Lat. dic. The name of a Senator, who being called from the plough was made Dictator of Rome. ann. Urb. 316.

Cincius. A Roman Senator, who was Prætor of Sicily in the time of the second Punick war. Liv. ◊ Another, who wrote of military affairs; mentioned by Macrob.

Cineas. A certain Thessalian intirely beloved by Pyrrhus, by whom being asked (after he had performed his Embassy to Rome) what he thought of the Romans; he replyed, The Senate seem'd to be an assembly of Gods, but the people were like the Hydra. He had so good a memory, that on the morrow after he had delivered his embassy, he could call all the Senators by their names, and the Knights too.

Cinga, Luc. A river of Spain, issuing out of the Pyrenæan hills, and emptying it self into Iberus.

Cingali, al. Cyngari. Gipsies, a sort of vagrant lewd people, so called by the Italians.

Cingulum. A City of Picenum in Italy, built by Labienus at his own charge, Cæl. It is now called Cingoli, Leand. The people Cingulani. Plin.

Cinna. A cruel Roman in the civil war joyned to Marius, who was also exceeding cruel; in his first Consulship he slew his partner Octavius; in his fourth Consulship, when he was to war against Sylla, he was stoned to death at Ancona, by the Army, for his cruelty. ◊ Also an excellent Poet, contemporary with Virgil. ◊ Another, who was ten years a writing an obscure Poem, called Smyrna, Catul. ◊ Another slain by the people at Cæsar's funeral, upon a mistake, they believing he had had a hand in the murder. ◊ Another pardoned by Augustus, against whom he had plotted. Sen.

Cinnămus. A Barber at Rome, that got to a Knights estate; and at last broke and fled into Sicily. Mart. l. 7. ep. 63. ◊ A Greek Historian, who wrote the life of John Comnenus and his Son Manuel, Emperors of Constantinople.

Cinnarus. A notable Bawd, who by that base profession got much wealth, which he promised while he lived to consecrate to Venus, but being dead it was made the peoples prey; which made way for that proverb, Rapina rerum Cinnari, Ill gotten, ill gone.

Cinxia, à cingendo, Juno dicta, quòd nuptiis præesset, à cinguli aut zonæ solutione in conjugio dict. Fest. unde zonam solvere, in proverbium abiit. Virginensis dea, Augustino; Fortuna virginalis, Arnobio dicta: corr. scrib. Cinxia.

Cinyps, Claud. hodie Magro voc. A river of Africk near to Garamas: The country about it very fruitful, and abounding with Goats. Hinc Cinyphius, a, um; adj. Cinyphii hirci, Vir. Cinyphia segetes, Ovid.

Cinyras, æ; m; Κινύρας à כנור instr. musico, dict. Suid. A King of Cypres, who unawares lay with his daughter Myrrha, and begate on her Adonis. Ovid. Hinc Cinyreius, a, um.

Cios, à Cio Herculis comite. A Mart-town in Phrygia, and a river thereto adjoyning of the same name. Plin.

Cippus, Ovid. qui Cipus ap. Val. Max. A Noble Roman, who having routed the enemy, and returning home, was told by Soothsayers, that if he came within the walls of the City, he should beruler of it; whereupon he called the Senate together without the City, to tell them the prediction, and then voluntarily banished himself.

Circæum, unde Circææ littora terræ, Vir. Κιρκαῖον ὄρος, Str. Circeium mons, Serv. A Promontory of Italy, once an Island, where Circe dwelt, hod. Monte Circello.

CIRCE, es, f. The daughter of Sol and the Nymph Perse; she was a Sorceress, and skilful in the nature of Herbs; she poysoned her husband King of the Scythians, and being for her cruelty expelled her Kingdome, went into Italy, and there dwelt in an Isle, whither Ulysses *was driven with his companions, whom she turned with her enchanted Cup into swine; at last upon intreaty she restored them again to their their former shapes; she bare him a Son called Telegonus. By Circe is to be understood sensual pleasure, which bewitches Men, and turns them into Beasts. inde Circæus, a, um.

Circenses ludi, sic dict. quòd in Circo peragerentur, v. Appel.

Circestria. Cirencester in Gloucestershire, qu. Corincester, i. Corini fl. castrum.

Circius, ventus Galliæ Narbonensis peculiaris ex Galliâ per Italiam flans, Senec. inter Corum & Aparctiam spirans, a vertigine dict. eò quòd in orbem circumagatur; Gell. vel est vox Celtica, à Brit. cyrch impetus, violentia, Cambd. Leg. ap. Catonem Cercius, gr. Κερκίας, Gl. quæ Sicula vox est, Theophr. A most fierce boistrous wind, peculiar to France, which yet the old Gauls owned as a blessing, in the greatest storms, imputing the wholsomness of their Air to him. Augustus, whilst he was in France vow'd him a Temple, and built it.

Circumcelliones. A kind of wandring Heretick, who to get them a fame, would cast themselves headlong down steep hills, and otherwise kill themselves.

Circumpadanus, One that dwelleth about the river Po in Italy.

Ciris, is; f. à κείρω tondeo, quòd patris Nisi purpureum crinem totonderit, ut Minoi hosti obtingeret victoria. Scylla so called, the daughter of King Nisus, who was changed into a bird, vide Appel.

Cirrha, opp. Phocidis ad radicem Parnassi, in quo Apollo religiosissimè colebatur. Unde & dominus Cirrhæ, uti Bacchus Nisæ dict. Juv. & Cirrhæus deus, Claud.

Cirtha, vel Cirta. The City now called Constantina, in Numidia.

Cisalpina Gallia; Called also Togata, and Citerior Gallia; the Country between the Alpes and the river Rubicon; now called Lombardy in Italy.

Cisapennina; Italy, on that side of the Apennine hills, where Rome standeth.

Ciserussa, ins. non longè à Cnidodistans.

Cispius, mons Romæ, qui posteà Exquilinus, Var. de nomine Cispi hominis dict. Fest.

Cisseus, Thraciæ rex, pater Hecubæ, quæ inde Cisseis dicta. Vir.

Cissus, κισσὸς hedera. Bacchus his boy, who breaking his neck with dancing was turn'd into the Ivy-tree, which naturally embraces the Vine.

Cisthena, Mel. Cisthene, Plin. A city of Æolis.

Cistertium, vul. Cisteaux. A village of Burgundy, with an Abbey in it, where the Oraer of the Cistertians first began. The Abbot of this place is General of the Order.

Citārini. People of Sicily. Cic.

Citharon, ōnis; m. Licenter Citheron, Auson. A famous hill of Bœotia, sacred to Bacchus, where his She-priests were wont to keep their Revels. Here Pentheus was torn in pieces by his Mother and Sisters, and Actæon by his hounds. It is a rocky cragey hill not far from the City Platæa.

Citharistes. A Promontory of Gallia Narbonensis; hod. Cap. de S. Sigo.

Citium. A town of Cyprus. Plin.

Civaro vel Civaron. The chief city of Savoy, called Chambery.

Civitas Legionum. Chester, and Caerleon so called.

C ante L.

Clæon, κλαίων, dict. a fletu, ut fons alter illi vicinus Gelon à ridendo, γελῶν. A fountain of Phrygia.

Clagefurtum. A City of Sclavonia, cruel to theeves; for if one be but suspected of theft, they take him without any more adoe, and hang him presently, and then three days after examine the matter: and if they find be were clear, they bury him gallantly; if guilty, they let him hang.

Clampētia, Λαμπετία. Steph. hod. Amantia, opp. Brutiorum in Ital.

Clānis, Sil. A river of Tuscany, now called la Chiana.

Clānius, A river of Campania near Naples, close by the City Acerræ, Vir. called by Pliny, Glanius, now Glanio, or l'Agno.

Clārānus. A learned Grammarian. Mart.

Claromontium. The name of several Towns in France, called Clermont.

Clāros, i; f. Ovid. vulgò Calamo, Ioniæ civitas Apollinis fano & oraculo nobilis: indè dict. quòd Apollini sorte obtigit, quæ Doricè κλᾶρος, pro κλῆρος, unde Apollo Clarius dictus. ϕ It. ins. in Mari Myrtoo, & ipsa Apollini sacra.

Clārus fons. Shirburn in Dorsetshire: Nimirum Shirr est purus, & Bourn, fons.

Clastidium Italiæ vicus, Liv. urbs, Polyb.

Clāterna, hod. Quaderna, opp. Æmiliæ inter Bononiam & Forum Cornelii; Melæ est in Piceno.

Claudæ, ins. prope Cretam, Act. 27.

Claudia. A Noble Family of Rome, descended from Clausus King of the Sabins. Appius Claudius first brought the family to Rome. Vir. ϕ One of this name a Vestal virgin, who being suspected of dishonesty, when the image of Cybele was brought out of Phrygia to Rome in a Barge, and it happened to stick so fast in the river Tyber, that it could by no force be removed, she to prove her self a Maid, tying her girdle (the badge of chastity) to the Barge, drew it along to the City: which a thousand men were not able to do. ϕ Urbs Norici, hod. Clagenfurt, vel Claugen.

Claudia, sive Claudia castra. The city Glocester in England.

Claudiānus. Claudian, a gallant Poet in the time of Theodosius and Honorius, born at Alexandria in Egypt. In that Inscription, which the Emperors set upon his Statue, he is called Prægloriosissimus poetarum.

Claudiopōlis. A city of Cappadocia, Plin. ϕ Another of Transylvania, called by the Dutch Clausburg, by the Hungarians Closwar.

Claudius. The name of several Romans. Claudius Cæsar, who succeeded Caligula in the Empire. His wife Agrippina poison'd him with a Mushrom; whereupon Seneca wrote his Ἀποκολοκύντωσις, i. e. his being Canonized into a Mushrom-God.

Clausentum. Southampton, Cambd.

Clausus. A King of the Sabines that was aiding to Turnus against Æneas. Vir.

Clazŏmĕnæ, Hor. A city of Ionia in Asia, built by Paralus: patria Anaxagoræ.

CLEANTHES. is; m. Κλεάνθης, i. gloriæ flos, vel gloria florens; à κλέος gloria, & ἄνθος flos. qui & Phreantles per jocum dict. i. puteos hauriens, à φρέαρ puteus & ἀντλέω haurio. A Stoical Philosopher, the successour of Zeno: a man who for his excessive pains was called another Hercules; whence arose that saying, whereby to express a thing done exactly and with great pains, Ad Cleanthis lucernam est evigilatum. Being very poor, and not having wherewith to maintain himself at his Studies, he was used at nights to get his living by drawing water for the gardens, that he might mind his Philosophy by day: whence he was nicknamed Phreantles. They add further of him, that what he heard of his Tutor, he wrote in Ox-bones, and tyle-sheards, for want of mony to buy paper.

Clearchus, i. gloriæ princeps. A Lacedæmonian Captain, who was used to say, That a Captain is more to be feared than the enemy; meaning, if a souldier should forsake his Captain, he is sure to be punished with death, whereas the Enemy may give him quarter.

Clemens, A Bishop of Alexandria, whence called Clemens Alexandrinus: he was the Scholar of Panthenus, and master to Origen; he lived in Severus his time. A very learned man both in Divinity and Humanity, as appears in that one piece of his called Stromata. It is also the name of several Popes.

Clĕŏbis. The son of Argia the Priestess, who with his brother Biton, at one time supplied the place of their Mothers Coach-horses, to carry her to Church; for which act of piety, upon her request that the greatest blessing which can befall man, might be bestowed upon them, they were found both dead in their beds next morning. Vid. Biton.

Clĕŏbūlina, filia Cleobuli. She wrote a book of Riddles, one whereof was that of the Months and days of the year.

Clĕŏbūlus, à κλέος gloria, & βουλὴ consilium. The son of Euagoras; one of the seven Wise men of Greece, a gallant personage too for strength of body, and comeliness of parts.

Clĕocritus, Cybels son, a wag-wanton. Vid. Erasm. Adag.

Clĕŏdōra, à κλέος gloria & δῶρον donū. A nymph, the mother of Parnassus, from whom the Hill had its name. Rhod.

Cleŏmbrŏtus κλέος βροτός, i. gloria mortalium. A Captain of the Lacedemonians, son to Pausanias, who lost himself and the whole army in a battle against Epaminondas. ϕ Also the name of a young man, who having read Plato's book of Immortality, threw himself headlong off a wall into the Sea. Cic. Ovid.

Clĕŏnēdes, gr. i. gloriæ studiosus. A most famous Champion, who being cheated of his prize at the Olympick games, ran mad through grief: at his return to Astypalæa, among other mad pranks, he took hold of a pillar, which upheld a house, where there were a great many Children together, and breaking it threw down the house upon their heads. And when he was sought after to be punished, he got into a Tomb, where he kept the entrance so strongly, that none could come at him; and when they digged about to get in, he was vanished away; whereupon the people sending to the Oracle of Delphos, to know what was become com; of him; they were answered with this verse, Ultimus Heroum Cleomedes Astypalæus. Plut.

Clĕŏmĕnes. A Sicilian, a confederate of Verres. Cic.

Cleon, tis; The name of several Grecians.

Cleonæ, arum; f. Poet. & Cleone, es; Plin. & Cleona, æ; Mel. hod. Sanvasili. A town in Greece betwixt Argos and Corinth. Hinc Cleonæus leo, Claud. A great Lyon, which Hercules killed there; one of his 12 labours: which lyon was made a Star, and placed in the Zodiack; thence called Cleonæum Sydus. Stat.

Clĕŏnymus, Athenienſiũ dux ἀνέλκυστος dict. quòd abjecto clypeo fugerit. Unde Prov. Cleonymo timidior. Suid.

CLEOPATRA, Κλεοπάτρα, i. gloria patriæ vel patris. An Ægyptian Queen, ſiſter and wife to Ptolemy the laſt; ſhe was firſt courted by Julius Cæſar, to whom ſhe bare a ſon called Cæſario; afterwards Mark Antony kept her company, quitting Auguſtus his partners ſiſter, to whom he had bin married before. Which Auguſtus reſenting, called him to account, and in a Sea-fight at Actium having routed him, drove him to that deſpair, that he killed himſelf. This Lady taking example by him, that ſhe might not be carried about alive in triumph, clapt two poiſonous aſps to her breaſts, and ſo dyed. Hor.

Clĕŏphantus. The ſon of Themiſtocles: Rhod. alſo a Painter of Corinth, and a Phyſician. Plin.

Cleophas, æ; m. A diſciple, who met with Chriſt after his reſurrection at Emmaus.

Clĕoſtrătus. A young man upon whom when the lot fell, that he ſhould be ſacrificed to a cruel Dragon, that deſtroyed the country of the Theſpians; Meneſtratus grieving at his chance, armed himſelf, and ſlaying the Monſter, ſaved his friend, and delivered the city. ♀ An ancient Philoſopher, the firſt that wrote of the Conſtellations, particularly, of Aries and Sagittary. Plin.

Clepĭdava, opp. Baſtarnarum. The city Kaminiec in Poland. B.

Clepſydra, i. e. An Hour-glaſs. A fountain in the Citadel at Athens ſo called, becauſe that when the Eteſian winds begin to blow, 'tis full; when they leave off, 'tis dry. Rhod. 18. 39.

Cleſides, A famous painter, who to be revenged upon Queen Stratonice that had ſlighted him, painted her ſporting with a fiſher-man, with whom it was thought ſhe was in love.

Cleſis, m. Bapt. Mant. ap. vet. Cluſius. A river of Italy; vul. Chieſe.

Clĕvum. The City Glocester, Cambd. or as others, a town once neer Glouceſter; the place ſtill called Cleve. This City is now called by the Welſh, Caer Glovi.

Clĭbănus. A hill in the furtheſt parts of Italy, not far from the Promontory Lacinium: alſo a town of Mauria. Plin.

Clides, prom. Cypri, vul. Capo di S. Andrea: ubi 4. inſ. parvæ ejuſdem nominis.

CLIO, ûs; f. Κλειώ, à κλέος, gloria, quòd poetis gloria ex carmine naſcatur, vel à κλείω celebro; quòd cum hiſtoria inventrix eſſet, ejus propriũ ſit virorum fortium, i. bveum geſta verſu proſequi, eorúmque celebrare laudes. One of the nine Muſes, and ſhe the firſt, Heſ. whence Ovid calls the reſt her Siſters. She was the Miſtreſs of Hiſtory, and the Patroneſs of Heroick Poets.

Cliſthĕnes. A Citizen of Athens, who firſt invented Oſtraciſm, or the baniſhment ſorten years ſpace, and the firſt that was puniſhed with the ſame; an intemperate man; as appeats by the Proverb, Cliſthene intemperantior.

Clitarchus. An Hiſtorian that went to the wars with Alexander, and wrote his acts, with more wit then truth. Quint.

Clitæ, pop. Ciliciæ, Tac. It. locus circa Athon Montem, Liv.

Cliternia. opp. Italiæ, Mel. vul. Celano. Pop. Cliternini, Plin.

Clitĭpho ōnis; m. qu. κλειτὸν φῶς, i. lux inclyta, adoleſcens apud Ter.

Clitis, Sidon. fl. Galliæ apud Pictavos, vul. Le Clain vid. Clanis.

Clitŏmăchus. A Philoſopher of Carthage, who went to ſtudy at Athens, and was ſcholar and ſucceſſor to Carneades, Suid. alſo a Champion, who had ſuch chaſte ears, that if he heard any talk obſcenely, he would forthwith part company and be gone. Var.

Clitor; opp. Peloponneſi, in Arcadiâ, cum fl. cognomine. Et rapidus Clitor. Stat.

Clitŏrius fons. A Spring in Arcadia, neer the town Clitor. He that drinks of the water of that Spring, ever after loaths Wine. Ovid.

Clĭtumnus, fl. Umbriæ, hod. le Vene, vel ut B. Cliunno etiam nunc dict. cujus aqua pota candidos boves facit. Plin. & Poet. A river in Italy, of which if beaſts drink, the young they bring forth are all white; as there are ſome paſtures in Warwick-ſhire that turn all black beaſts into gray or hoary-colour. R.

Clitus. The foſter-brother and intimate friend of Alexander the Great; whom in a drunken humour Alexander ſtruck thorough with a dart, as they ſate at table, becauſe he ſpoke againſt the Perſian faſhions. The next day after, the king was ſo ſore grieved for the loſs of his friend, that he faſted three days, reſolving to ſtarve himſelf to death, and follow his friend into the other world: but being prevailed upon by others, he deſiſted from that intent, and then buried him moſt ſumptuouſly. Curt.

Clivia. dict. à clivo in quo à Cæſare condita fertur. Pendet enim versùs Rhenum inſtar clivi. The City Cleve in Germany, the chief of that Dutchy, belonging to the Duke of Brandenburg.

Cloacina, Dea, quòd eſſet in cloaca reperta. Ita Lact. 1. 20. Cloacinæ ſimulacrum in cloacâ maximâ repertum Tatius conſecravit; & quia, cujus eſſet effigies, ignorabat, ex loco illi nomen impoſuit. Quod joculare Chriſtianorum commentum fuiſſe putat Voſſ. ut ſit eadem, quæ Cluacina. Alii diverſas faciunt Deas; inter quos Gyrald. Si hoc ſit, hæc ea eſt, quæ cloacis præerat.

Cloanthus. Æneas companion, Vir.

Clocheria, The City Clogher in Ireland, a Biſhops See.

Clodia Foſſa, hod. Chioza, urbs Venetæ ditionis, in inſ. parvâ maris Adriatici.

Clŏdii forum. A town of Italy, in octavâ regione. Pl. 3. 15.

Clŏdius. Clodiorum familia, à Clodio Æneæ ſocio dict. Feſt. rect. à Sabinis oriundi, & ab Appio Claudio ſic dicti, qui primus ex eâ familiâ cum 5 clientum millibus ſe Romam contulit. vid. Claudius. The name of divers Romans, one whereof was Tullies enemy, and cauſed his exile; a great whoremaſter, at laſt ſlain by Milo; another was ſon of Eſopus the player in Tragedies, who ſpent a great eſtate which his father left him, in riot.

Clœlĭa. A Roman Lady, who with other Virgins was given for an hoſtage to Porſenna: ſhe deceived her keepers, and ſwam over the river Tiber to the city; whereupon the Romans ſet her up a Statue in remembrance of her exploit.

Clōta, fl. Scotiæ, vul. Cluid vel Clyd.

Clōtho, una Parcarum, dict. à κλώθω, i. neo; fingunt enim poetæ hanc colum geſtare, & nendo humanæ vitæ terminum præſcribere. One of the deſtinies, who ſpins the thred of Life.

Cluăcina, dict. Venus, à Cluendo, i. purgando. Quippe ita traditur; myrteâ verbenâ Romanos Sabinoſque, cùm propter raptas virgines dimicare voluiſſent, depoſitis armis purgatos in eo loco, qui nunc ſigna Veneris Cluacinæ habet. Cluere enim antiqui purgare dicebant. Hæc Plin. 15. 29. Al. leg. pugnare, (quo ſenſu à cluo eſt clupeus;) ut ſit Venus armata, cujus templum non procul à foro fuit. Al. à clueo, i. celebror; quòd qui gloriæ ſtuderent, ſæpe eſſent apud Deæ hujus ſacrum; V. ex Plaut. Dic. & Cloacina, Vid.

Cluanum. A city of Connacht in Ireland, a Biſhops See, called now Kiloom, or as others, Clon.

Clŭentĭus. A noble Roman for whom, being accuſed by his mother Saſſia for making away his father in law Oppianicus, Cicero made a defenſive Oration. His family came from Cloanthus. Vir.

Clūnĭa, urbs olim & conventus juridicus Hiſp. Tarracon. Plin. hod. Corunna del Conde. Pop. Clunienſes.

Cluniacũ. A famous Abby in Burgundy, vul. Clugny.

Clŭpea, ſive Clypea, dict. à clypei figura. A city of Africk. Luc. eadem, quæ & Aſpis, Sil. ſcil. ἀσπὶς Clypeus.

Clūſia, Tuſci Regis filia pudiciſſima. She caſt herſelf down from a ſteep tower to ſave her ſelf from Torquatus, and her cloaths being hoiſted up with the wind, ſhe came to the ground, and was taken up without hurt. Plut.

Clūſini. People of Hetruria, Plin. ♀ Cluſini fontes, balnea Tuſciæ in agro Cluſino, hodie voc. Bagni de S. Caſſiano. Hor.

Clūsiŏlum. A town of Umbria. Pl.

Clūsĭum. The city Chiuſi in the middle of Tuſcany; The ſeat of K. Porſenna, where he was alſo buried.

Clūſius, qu. Clauſius; à cludo cluſi pro Claudo clauſi. Janus ita dictus, quòd cùm eſſet cœli janitor, fores clauderet; quemadm. idem, quòd aperiret, Patulcius dict. Ovid. Al. quòd pace ejus portæ clauderentur, bello paterent, ità dictum volunt.

Clyměne. The wife of Iapetus; alſo the mother of Phaeton: alſo Helena her handmaid. Ovid.

Clymĕnēides, um; f. patron. Phaethon's Siſters, daughters of Clymene.

Clymenēius, a, um; adj. Clymenēia proles, Ovid. Phaethon.

Clymĕnēus, a, um; unde Clymenēa germina, Stat. The buds of the poplar-trees, trees, into which Clymene's daughters were turned; i. Amber-drops.

CLYTÆMNESTRA. The daughter of Tyndarus and Leda, wife of Agamemnon, living in adultery with Ægisthus, while her husband was at Troy, at his return with his help slew her good man, and would have slain her son Oreſtes too, but that Electra his ſiſter ſent him away to king Strophius; who after he was grown up, returning to Argos, ſlew his mother and her gallant both. Poet.

Clytia, à κλυτὸς i. inclyta; vel ſcrib. Clitie, es. A Nymph, beloved by Apollo, till ſhe diſcovered to Orchamus, how Apollo lay with his daughter Leucothoe. Whereupon Apollo could not endure her. But ſhe poor ſoul was ſo much in love with him, that without eating or drinking, ſhe did nothing but look after him, which way ever he went, till at laſt being waſted with hunger and grief, ſhe was changed into a Marygold or Heliotrope, ſo called, becauſe it alway turns toward the Sun. Ovid.

Clytius. A young man beloved of Cydon. Virg.

C ante N.

Cnēmides, Mel. oppid. Bœotiæ cum monte cognom. ex quo Locri Epicnemidii dicti. hod. Eretia.

Cn. vel Cnēus, dict. à nævo, præpoſita C. litera. The ſirname of many Romans.

Cnidus, i; f. Hor. ſive Gnidus, Plin. A city in Caria, where Venus was worſhipped; alſo a Promontory in the ſame place.

Cnōſus, al. Gnoſſus, urbs Cretæ: unde Cnoſius, a, um; Vir.

C ante O.

Cōa veſtis, Hor. j. bombycina; à Co inſ. dict. in quâ Pamphile Latoi filia prima reperit rationem telam à Seribus miſſam redordiendi, vel retorquendi. Plin. 11. 22. Vid. Cos.

Coamani, Aſiæ pop. Mela.

Coatræ, vel Coactræ. People dwelling between Aſſyria and Media upon the hill Choatra, which is of a very great height. Luc.

Coboris. An Iſle in the gulf of Arabia.

Cobatas. A Magician of Media, in the time of Alexander. Curt.

Cocalus. A king of Sicily, to whom Dædalus fled out of Crete, whom Minos purſuing thither, was there ſlain by the daughters of Cocalus. Ovid.

Cocanicus. A lake in Sicily, whoſe waters in ſummer-time are neer the banks turn'd into ſalt. Whence Sal Cocanicus, Plin.

Cocceius. A friend of Horace, and crony of Mæcenas. Hor.

Coccyū. Cockly in Lancaſhire. Cambd.

Cocinthus, Plin. Κόκινθος, Polyb. Al. Cocinthum vel Cocynthum. The longeſt Cape of Italy, which parts the Sicilian from the Ionian Sea. hod. Capo di Stilo dic.

Cōcles, itis; m. i. unoculus. Coclites dicti qui naſcerentur altero lumine orbi, Plin. vid. Appell. A noble Roman, who maintained a paſs alone, and kept back Porſenna and all his Army till the bridge was broken down behind him, and then he caſt himſelf into Tyber, and ſo ſwam to land; Liv. Val. M.

Coctiæ, ſive Cottiæ, dictæ ſunt Alpes, à Coctio rege Gallorum domitore: it. Cottianæ, Tac.

Cōcytus, ὁπὸ τῦ κωκύειν, i. à gemendo & lamentando; κωκυτὸς luctus. A river in hell, Poet. hinc Cocytia dicta ſunt ſacra quæ Proſerpinæ apud inferos fiebant.

Codania. The chief city of Denmark, vul. Copenhagen; quæ & Hafnia.

Codanonia, inſ. ſinûs Codani, à quo & nomen. An Iſland in the Baltick Sea, belonging to Denmark, called Zeeland, wherein is the City Copenhagen.

Codanus ſinus. The Baltick Sea, the Belt, or Sound.

CODRUS. The ſeventeenth and laſt king of Athens, who gave his life for the good of his countrey: The Peloponneſians were told by the Oracle that they ſhould have the better, ſo they did not kill the king their enemy. Codrus hearing this, diſguiſed himſelf and went to them, and offering ſome provocation, being not known who he was, was ſlain; and the Athenians got the day. Paterc. Codrus pro patriâ non timidus mori, Hor. He lived about the time of Samuel the Prophet. ◊ Alſo a Poet, who for his poverty became a Proverb; Codro pauperior.

Cœla, ſinûs Euboici locus, Ll. vel ut F. fauces montium Theſſaliæ & Epiri. Liv.

Cœlembas, urbs Gedroſiæ in Indiæ confin. Cambaia nunc dict. F.

Cœleſyria, κοίλη, i. cava. A part of Syria called alſo Cœloſyria. The chief city whereof is Antioch, or as B. Damaſcus.

Cœlimontana. S. John's Gate in Rome.

Cœlius unus ex ſeptem urbis Romæ collibus dict. à Cœle Vibenna Hetruſcorum duce, qui Tarquinio ſuperbo ſuppetias tulit. One of the ſeven Hills of Rome, now called S. John of Lateran. Hunc montem Tiberius Imperator Auguſtum appellari juſſit; Suet. Tacitus addit eum prius Querquetulanum vocatum. Poſtea Tuſcum vicum dictum ſcribit Varro, & Maſtarna olim appel. à Tuſcis.

Cœnænum. Lawenburg in Saxony.

Cœrānus, in Acc. gr. Cœranon, Ov. Κοίρανος dominus. One of thoſe whom Ulyſſes ſlew.

Cœus. A giant, the ſon of Titan and Terra; Virg.

Cogamus. A river of Lydia, Plin.

Cola or Colena. Col Iſland in the Scottiſh Sea.

Colaicum, prom. Indiæ citer. Capo di Colle, Merc.

Colapiani pop. Pannoniæ, juxta Colapim fl. ubi in Saum incidit, regio eorum Corbavia voc.

Colaxes. The ſon of Jupiter and Ora, he was ſlain by Jaſon. Val. Fl.

Colchi. A Mart-town of India within Ganges, upon the coaſt of Malabar; now called Cochin and Canancina; alſo people of Colchis, Ovid.

Colchis, idis; f. Poet. A countrey of Aſia near Pontus, having on the Weſt the Euxin Sea; on the Eaſt Iberia; on the South Armenia: it is now called Mengrelia. In this countrey reigned Æetes, from whom Jaſon and the Argonatus by the help of Medea, fetch'd the golden fleece: this country is full of poiſons, which gave occaſion to the Poets of the ſtories of the witcherafts of Medea, who her ſelf is hence ſtiled Colchis. ◊ Hinc Colchicus, a, um; Hor. & Colchiacus, a, um; Propert. Colchus, a, um; Hor. One of this country.

Colentium, al. leg. Collenium, inſ. Illyrici: Pop. Colentini, Plin.

Colippo. A city once of Portugal, betwixt Lisbon and Conimbra. The place is now called S. Sebaſtian.

Collatia, opp. Italiæ, ab Albanis ut creditur conditum, & à Tarquinio Superbo inſtauratum, collata eum in uſum à Po. Rom. pecuniâ, unde & nomen putatur accepiſſe. Serv. ex hac urbe ortum traxit Tarquinius Collatinus Lucretiæ maritus, à quo dict. mons Collatinus ac Collatina vel Collina porta Romæ.

Collatina, dea quæ collibus, i. Quirinali & Viminali, præſidebat.

Collatinus, The husband of chaſt Lucretia; he was the firſt Conſul with his Colleague Junius Brutus, after the change of the government from Kingſhip: he was afterward baniſhed, only becauſe he was of the kindred of the Tarquins.

Collina. Ovid. porta Romæ, quæ & Quirinalis & Salaria, Tac. in colle Quirinali ſita, unde & nomen accepit.

Colnus. A river running into Thames, unde Colbrook. G.

Colobaſius. An Heretick, who ſaid the life of Man conſiſts in the ſeven Planets. Tert.

Colocaſia, Minerva dict. cujus templum in Sicyone; Rh.

Colonia. Colcheſter in Eſſex, or as ſome Colne, as others, Sudbury.

Colonia Agrippinenſis, vel Colonia Agrippina, dict. ab Agrippina Neronis matre; Ubiorum civ. eſt, Ubiopolis dict. cis Rhenum fluvium ſita. A famous city on the river of Rhine in Germany, the chief ſeat of one of the ſpiritual Electors of the Emperour, now called by the Inhabitants Coln, in French Cologne, uſually Collein, or Cullen.

Colonia Allobrogum. The city Geneva ſo called.

Colonia Trajana. A town of lower Germany, called Keyſerſwerd, upon the Rhine; or as others, a town in the Duchy of Cleve, called Kellen. B.

Colonis. An Iſle in the Argolick gulf.

Colonos, gr. mons. The name of a place near Athens, from whence Oedipus living there an exile, was called Coloneus; here Neptune was worſhipped. Rhod.

Colophon, urbs Ioniæ, cujus incolæ in equeſtribus certaminibus tantum excelluere, ut victoriam ſibi certam pollicerentur, quibus Colophonii opem tuliſſent, unde prov. Colophonem addere, cum ſumma operi manus imponitur. The name of a city of Ionia in Aſia the leſs, famous for the Temple of Apollo, called Clarius, and the birth of Homer, who is therefore by Virg. called Colophoniacus; and ſo ſays Cic. too, Homerum Colophonii civem ſuum eſſe dicunt. It is now called Altoboſco, and Belvedere. Ort.

Colopiani. People of Pannonia. Pl.

Coloſſæ, hodie Chone dict. & incolæ Coloſſenſes ad quos D. Paulus ſcripſit; quos Suid. eoſdem eſſe vult cum Rhodiis, & id nominis à ſolis coloſſo Rhodi adeptos. Perperam. A town of Phrygia near Laodicea & Hierapolis, Plin. 5. 32. which by an Earthquake was overturned in the the time of Nero.

Colotes, Teius, pictor. Quint.

Colubræ. A people of India. Plin.

Colubraria, inſ. maris Balearici colubris ſcatens, vul. Dragonera, ſeu pot. Mons Colibre. Aliis eadem quæ Ophiuſa, vulg. Formentera.

Columbaria. A City of Alſatia, called Colmar.

Columella Gaditanus. An excellent writer of husbandry; he lived in the reign of Claudius Cæſar. ◊ Alſo a village of the Brutians in Calabria, called alſo Columna regia, or Rhegina, now Cathona. Hence they take Shipping for Sicily.

Columnæ Herculis, montes duo in occidente, qui procul ſpectantibus geminæ columnæ videntur. Alii dicunt columnas Herculis in Gaditana inſula (ubi etiamnũ oſtendunt fuiſſe duas turres dictas turres de Ercole) fuiſſe ex ære octo cubitorũ, ad quas proficiſci ſolebant qui navigationem perfolviſſent, tanquam Herculi ſacra facientes. Hercules Pillars, two mountains in the weſt, neer the Streights; the one on Spains ſide, called Calpe: the other on Barbary ſide, called Abyla. Theſe it was believed Hercules had ſet up at the end of his travels, as the bounds of the world, being he could go no further by land.

Columnæ. Certain ſmall Iles in the Red-Sea. Plin.

Comãgẽna. Part of Syria above Cilicia Eaſtward beyond the hill Amanus, reaching unto Meſopotamia, from which it is parted by the river Euphrates.

Comãgẽni, incolæ, haruſpicinæ olim periti præ cæteris nobilitati. Hinc ap. Juv. Comagenus aruſpex.

Comãna. A city of Cappadocia, in which was the Temple of Bellona, inde Comani dict. ſacri ſervi Bellonæ. Exectos lacerat Bellona Comanos. Val. Fl.

Comara, opp. Galatiæ, Plin. Comari, Mel. pop ad Caſpin ſinum a Gomero dict.

Comata Gallia, France vide Gallia.

Combe, κόμβη, i. orno, como; primùm æneam armaturam dicitur inveniſſe, unde & Chalcis eſt cognominata. The daughter of Aſopus.

Combi, plur. Juv. A city of Egypt upon the river Nile; the people worſhip a Crocodile.

Combretonium, Bretenham in Suffolk.

Comenſes, à Como Galliæ oppido dicti. People of France.

Comerus. A Scythian, who taught the Italians to make a city with waggons: Hinc Veii appellati ſunt vocabulo Oſco, quo Veias plauſtrum appel.

Cõmẽtes, æ, m. κομήτης, i. crinitus; unde criſtatum voc. Val. Fl. The father of Aſterion, one of the Argonauts.

Commodus. A Roman Emperour, the ſon and ſucceſſor of Marc. Antoninus, a vicious Prince. His life is written by Herodian.

Commone. An Iſle near Epheſus; Plin.

Compendium, urbs Galliæ, vulgò Compeigne.

Compitales dii, Suet. qui & Semitales, Virg. & Viales, Plaut. qui quòd eſſent Lares publici, urbiſque cuſtodes, ideò in compitis, ſemitis ac viis publicis ſtatuebantur; V. θεοὶ κ᾽γυιεῖοι.

Compitalia ſacra, in compitis in Larium honorem peracta, unde & lares compitalitii & feriæ compitalitiæ, Philarg. Compitalia, ἑορτὴ κ᾽γυιεῖων ἐορτὴ αὶ γινόμεναι ἐν ταῖς ὁδοῖς ὑπὲρ τῶν κ᾽γυιείων τοῖς τετραγώνοις, Gl. Philox. Compitalia, i. e. ubi eos, qui peregrè moriuntur, colunt; Chariſ. celebrari ſolebant 4. Nonas Januarias, qui Compitalitius dies ideò dic. V. ex Cic. Rect. Caſaub. nullum certum diem his ſacris præfinitum fuiſſe docet ex Var. unde & Auſ. nunquam certis redeuntia feſta diebus. voc. Holy days like our wakes.

Complutum. A city in new Caſtile in Spain, called now Alcala de Henares, a famous Univerſity. pop. Complutenſes.

Compoſtella, à Jacobo Apoſtolo primùm Giacomo Poſtolo dict. poſt Compoſtella contract. Voſ. A city in Spain, uſually called S. Jago, becauſe S. James was buried there, whither many blindly devoted do reſort to worſhip his reliques.

Compſa, urbs Hirpinorum, Vell. pop. Compſani. Dic. & Conſa Liv. & Coſſa, Cæſ. hod. Conza.

Compũſa. A town of Bithynia not far from Chalcedon; Plin.

Cõmum, civ. Galliæ Ciſalpinæ apud Italos Como dict. juxta Larium lacum, quæ cùm à Julio Cæſare mittis partibus aucta fuit, Novum Comum, & incolæ Novocomenſes dicebantur.

Cõmus, κῶμος, temulentiæ & comeſſationum Deus. vel à κώμη vicus, quòd in vicis & compitis coleretur, unde eruptiones laſciviarum voc. Tert. vel à κῶμα ſomnus profundus, quòd in multam noctem producerent hæc convivia. vel pot. à קָמוּשׁ Chamos, qui Moabitarum Deus; V. vel à קוּם ſurgere, ſcil. cùm ſurgeretur à menſa; Caſaub. erat enim pocænium uti voc. Hermol. Hinc κωμάζω, lat. Comiſſor. vid. Appell. He was ſerved by youths eſpecially, who in honour of him went with dancings, muſick and torches to their Miſtreſſes chambers in the night, and gave them ſerenades, and ſometimes brake down the doors.

Conarus. The twentieth King of the Scots, the firſt that ever ſet Tax on the people; for which reaſon they put him in priſon, where he died.

Concănus, i; Hor. Wild people who drank horſes bloud; they lived in that part of Spain called Aſturia.

Concangium. The Barony of Kendal in Weſtmerland, Cambd.

Concordia. A goddeſs of the Romans who had a gallant temple, where ſtorks uſed to build; Juv. alſo a Cities name in Germany called Rochersberg: alſo a town in Hiſpania Bœtica, whence the people are called Concordienſes. Plin.

Concubienſes. People of Umbria. Plin.

Condalus. A Lieutenant in Lycia under Mauſolus king of Caria: he by this device cheated the people of a great ſum of money; he ſeeing the people of Lycia much delighted with wearing of long hair, ſained a letter from King Mauſolus, to command all the people to cut off their hair and ſend it to him: Howſoever, if they would give him a ſum of money, he would buy hair enough in Greece, and ſend that to the king inſtead of theirs, to ſatisfie him: They willingly hearkned to ſuch a condition, and ſo he atchieved his purpoſe. Ariſtot.

Condate. Congleton in Cheſhire; Alſo the city Rhenes in Britany.

Condates, portus Aquitaniæ, Auſon.

Condercum. Cheſter upon the Street, in the Biſhoprick of Durham. Camd.

Condivincum. The city Nantes the chief of Britain in France.

Condruſi, Belgarum pop. Their countrey is now called Condrotz, betwixt Liege and Namur.

Cône, es; f. Luc. An Iſle of Scythia by the mouth of Iſter.

Confluentia, & Confluentes; dict. à confluxu duorum fluminum. A city in Germany where the two fair rivers Rhene and Moſel meet; now called Coblentz.

Congavata. Roſe-Caſtle neer Carlile in Cumberland.

Congĕdus, amnis Celtiberorum; Mart. A river neer Bilbo in Spain.

Coniades. A Greek writer, who wrote of the ordering of wine. Plin.

Conimbrica. A city of Portugal, with a Biſhops Seat, and an Univerſity, now called Coimbra.

Connacia. Connaught in Ireland.

Conon. A Pope that enjoyed the Chair eleven moneths, an. Chr. 687. ◊ A famous Mathematician of Samos, that wrote ſeven books of Aſtrology; Vir. ◊ Alſo a captain of the Athenians; who being overthrown by Lyſander, captain of the Lacedemonians, willingly made himſelf an Exile; in which time he ſo prevailed with Artaxerxes king of the Perſians, that by his help he reſtored again to his country their former liberty.

Conopas. A dwarf of two foot long and a hands bredth, the Minion of Julia Auguſtus his niece. Plin.

Conopon, quod & Diabaſis, inſ. parva Myſiæ ad oſtium Iſtri Pſeudoſtomum apud Peucen inſulam.

Conovium urbs, cui Conovium fl. nomen dedit. A town of Wales, called Aber-Conwey, i. the mouth of the river Conwey; in Welſh Caer hean, in Caernarvanſhire.

Conradinus. The ſon of Conradus the Emperour, a lewd Prince.

Conradus. An Emperour the ſon of Frederick, poiſoned by his ſucceſſors procurement.

Conſa, Liv. vid. Compſa.

Conſaburenſes. People of New Caſtile in Spain. Plin. The town Conſaburum, vul. Conſuegra.

Conſentes, dii majorum gentium, & hi erant duodecim; mares ſex & feminæ totidem, cæteri minorum gentium, Vict. Conſentes dii dicti ſunt, qu. in eo quod gerendum eſt conſentientes: erantq; hi ſummi Jovis conſiliarii ac principes, Arnob. in intimis penetralibus cœli, Var. Al. qu. conſulentes, ab ant. cenſo, i. conſulo; unde & Deus Conſus. Jun.

Conſentia, ſacra quæ ex multorum conſenſu inſtituta ſunt, Feſt. erantq; gentilium inter ſe propria, putà Corneliorum, Valeriorũ, &c. Scal. ◊ Alſo a City in Calabria, called now Coſenza. Pop. Conſentini, Cic.

Conſilinum. A town of Apulia, not far from Tarentum. Mel.

Conſiva Ops, non à Conſo, uti Conſentes dii, ſed à conſero, conſevi. Erat enim uxor Saturni, qui ſarioni præerat; V.

Conſtans. The name of divers Emperours, one whereof the ſon of Conſtantine.

Conſtantia, The city Conſtance in Germany, neer Suizzerland. Hence Conſtantienſis lacus, in Dutch called Bodenzee.

Conſtantia Caſtra. A City of Normandy now called Coutances.

Conſtantina. The Metropolis of Numidia,

midia, formerly called Cirta. Aug.

Constantinopolis, i. Constantini urbs, ab illo instaurata, & Imperii sedes constituta, & Nova Roma dicta, quæ prius, Byzantium, Turcæ Stambol voc. The city Constantinople, called the Port, the seat of the grand Seignior.

CONSTANTINUS, Magnus cuncup. Constantine the Great, the son of Constantius and Helena, the first Emperour that embraced the Christian Faith; he translated the Seat or Court of the Empire from Rome to Byzantium, which was after that called by his name Constantinople and New Rome, for which reason the Country of Thrace also, in which the city stands, was called Romania. He divided the Empire among his three sons, Constans, Constantius, and Constantine. ◊ There were also divers others of that name.

Consualia, ludi erant celebrari soliti xviii. Augusti, dicati Conso, i. Neptuno equestri, vel Consilii deo, ejus scil. quo Sabinarum virginum rapinam militibus suis in Matrimonia excogitavit Romulus, Tert. Erant autem Consualia Ποσειδῶνος ἱππίου, mense Augusto fieri solita; Neptunalia, mense Julio celebrata, Ποσειδῶνος σεισιχθονος. Bulling.

Consuanetes, People of Vindelicia.

Consuarani, qui & Consorani. People of France; the country called Conserans.

Consus, Neptunus equestris, consiliorum deus, qui ideo templum sub tecto in circo habebat, ut ostenderetur tectum debere esse consilium; Serv. ità dict. à consum, i. conditum, quod ara ejus sub terrâ condereturr, sive quod consilia abscondita esse debeant. V. vel à conso, i. consulo. Conso, τὴν ὑφ' ἑαυτὸν ἑαυτὸς, Gl. ut fuerit idem qui Harpocrates sive Sigalion Ægyptius, silentii Deus.

Consygne, es; al. Consingis, Nicomèdis Bythiniæ regis uxor, ob lasciviorem cum viro jocum à cane lacerata. Plin.

Convenæ, pop. & urbs Galliæ Aquitan. vùl. Comingeois; & regio Comingei.

Convennos insula. Shepey Island at Thames mouth.

Conventria. Coventry, a city in Warwickshire; which with Lichfield makes a Bishops Sea.

Cōos, sive Cos; f. inf. in mari Ægæo. An Island of the Midland Sea, with a city of the same name; now called Lango, next to Rhodes, over against Caria: In this Isle was Hippocrates the great Physician and Apelles the famous Painter born. Hinc Cōus, a, um; adj. Coa vestis, Propert. Silk garments, such as Ladies wore, which were wrought in this Island.

Cophantis, mons Bactrianæ semper ardens. Plin. 2. 106.

Coptos, i; f. Stat. opp. Thebaidis; undè & Ægypto nomen, à κόπτω scindo, quòd Isis hic accepto nuncio de nece mariti sui Osiridis, abscinderit capillos. Plut.

Coqueda. Coket Island, upon the coast of Northumberland neer Warworth, so called from the river Coket, which over against it empties it self into the Sea.

Cora. Luc. A city of Latium, built by the Dardani before Rome, the people Corani.

Coracesium. A city of Cilicia. Liv.

Coracesius, A part of the hill Taurus, so called. Plin.

Coralius. A river of Phrygia, otherwise called Sangarius.

Coralli. People of Pontus, rude and savage; and wept in furrs. Ovid.

Corax, κόραξ, corvus. A Rhetorick-master of Sicily; the first that taught for pay; he covenanted to teach one Tisias his skill, on this condition, That he should pay half his mony in hand, and the rest, the first cause he should carry in pleading. Tisias proved a good Proficient in the study of Eloquence, yet would not take upon him to plead: Corax thinking he deferred his pleading only on purpose to defeat him of his due, sued him, and brought this Argument against him: Know this, saith he, you foolish fellow, that however the case go, thou must pay me my mony; for if thou get the better of me, then my money is due by the bargain between us; if I have the better, then it is due by law. Nay wise Sir, replyed Tisias, not so, you can get it neither way; for if you cast me, then by compact between us, you cannot demand any mony: for our bargain was, That you should have it when I overcame; but if I cast you, you cannot lawfully ask it of me, being quitted by the Judges sentence. The Judge hearing this witty reply, gave no definitive sentence of the case, but only cried out alluding to the name of Corax, i. Crow. Κακὸς κόραξ κακὸν ὄον, Mali corvi malum ovum, An ill bird an ill egg. q. d. The Crow has bred up a bird to pick out his own eyes, i. e. A crafty master has got as cunning a knave to his scholar. vid. Cal. ex Cic. Others relate this of Protagoras and Euathlus, vide Gell. ◊ Mons Ætoliæ, Liv. it. mons Sarmatiæ in Asiâ, cum fl. cognomine, Amm. in finibus Colchorum; ubi pop. Coraxi & montes Coraxici, Caucasi pars, qui & Heniochii, Plin. è quibus Cyrus fl. funditur. ◊ It. urbs Sardiniæ inf. vulgò Algiery.

Corbana. A Persian overcome by the Christians, he lost 100000 men. Blond.

Corbilum vel Corbilo, urbs Galliæ Lugdun. ad Ligerim, vul. Nantes, Ort.

Corbio, opp. æquorum in Latio; Liv.

Corbulo. A Pro-consul of Syria, that vanquished the Parthians in Nero's time: Tac. ◊ Also a lubberly fellow, fit to carry burthens: Juv.

Corcagia, Corke in Ireland.

Corcyra, p. l. Luc. ita dict. ab ejusdem nominis nympha Asopi filiâ quam Neptunus ibi compressit. An Isle of the Ionian sea, called by the Ancients Phæacia, now Corfu, where Ulysses suffered shipwrack and Alcinous had his brave gardens. ◊ Also the name of another Island in the Adriatick sea, called Melæna, and now Curzola.

Cordillo. A Stoic Philosopher so severe, that he made no account of the acquaintance of kings and Princes; yet was prevailed upon by Cato Uticensis, to accompany him and his army into Macedon. Volat.

Cordiba, vulgò Cordova, quæ & Colonia Patricia dict. Plin. à קוּשְׂבָא trapetum, quòd oleo abundaret. Boch. A city of Bœtick Spain, the country of Lucan and both the Senecа's; Mart. from whence cometh the name of Cordovan leather.

Cordus nomen hominibus sero natis tributum, Quint. sicut agni cordi, qui post tempus nascuntur, Var. & corda frumenta, quæ serò matureſcunt, Fest. An Historian that wrote the lives of the Emperours; Jul. Cap. ◊ Also one that was Tutor to Alexander Mammeas.

Cordylusa, inf. circa Rhodum; Plin.

Coresa. An Island of Greece. Plin.

Coresia, Minerva ab Arcadibus appellata; Cic.

Corfinium, Pelignorum metropolis Luc. bod. S. Pelino, al. Pentina. Pop Corfinienses, Plin.

Coricæ. Two Isles by Peloponnesus Plin.

Cōrinium. A town fifteen miles off Glocester, called Cirencester. A fl. Corino dict. vul. Churne.

Cōrinna, dim. à κόρη puella. A woman Poet, a great wit, a mistress of Ovids. ◊ A Theban woman, that five times foil'd Pindar himself, and put forth 50 books of Epigrams. Propert.

CORINTHUS, inf. κόρινθος, i. saturitas, vel satietas quòd sit rerum omnium affluentiâ nobilis. Al. dictam putant à Corintho Marathonis seu Pelopis filio, qui illam eversam instauravit, cum antea Ephyre diceretur, & à Sisypho condita. Mihi vid. ab Heb. קִרְחָא i. urbs, inserto n, quod amat fieri, dict. A famous and rich city of Achaia, placed in the middle of the Isthmus, or narrow straight going into Peloponnesus or the Morea; it was a city much resorted unto by reason of the havens it had towards the Ionian and Ægean seas, whence Ovid calls it bimarem Corinthon; whereupon it abounded so much with wealth, that the Romans suspected their greatness. The Corinthians being so insolent, as the other suspicious, they abused the Roman Embassadours, and cast urine upon their heads as they passed through the city; upon this disgrace the Romans sent L. Mummius, who burnt the city, and razed it to the ground, anno M. 3827. U. C. 630. In the burning of it, so many rich and costly Statues of sundry sorts of metal were melted, that thereof was afterwards found a kind of precious mixt mettle called Æs Corinthium, more esteemed than silver among the Romans, Cic. This city was afterwards rebuilt, and called by its former name by Julius Cæsar, an. U. C. 732. It was a place once famous for the profession of Christianity in it, witness S. Paul's Epistles: but of late, an. Chr. 1458. it fell into the Turks hands, under Mahomet the second, and is now called Coranto, but by the Turks Gereme. Hinc Corinthii, Inhabitants or natives of the place: Corinthienses. Those that trade or traffick there. ◊ Corinthiacus, a, um; Ovid. Of Corinth, as Sinus Corinthiacus, now called Golfo di Lepanto. The Castle in it which stood on a very high hill, was called Acrocorinthus.

Cōrioli opp. Latii in fin. Volscorum, Liv. Pop. Corioläni; Plin.

Cōriolanus, sic dict. quòd Coriolorum urbem expugnabat. A noble Roman being banished by the malice of the ungrateful people, gathered an Army of the Volsci, and would have besieged and taken Rome, had it not been for the earnest entreaties of his mother Veturia, and his wife Volumnia. His Life is written by Plutark.

Cori-

Coriovalſum, opp. Belgii, vulgò Valkenburg.

Cŏritāni, Ptol. κορίτανοι, The People of Northampton-ſhire, Leiceſter-ſhire, Rutland-ſhire, Lincoln-ſhire, Nottingham-ſhire, and Derby-ſhire: ſo Camb. But Llhuyd makes them to be only the People of Lincoln-ſhire.

Cŏritus, mons Hetruriæ pars Cimini montis; Cato. à Corito rege Electræ viro, & Dardani patre, unà cum oppido in eo exiſtente denominatus: urbs Coriti; Virg. ◊ It. mons Umbriæ in Sabinorum confin. hod. Monte Corvo. vid. Coryſus.

Cŏriundi. People inhabiting Caterlog, Kilkenny, Oſſory and Ormond.

Cornabui vel Cornabii. People in the North of Scotland about Strathnavern and Cathnes; Camd.

Cornavii. The People of Warwick-ſhire, Worceſterſhire, Stafford-ſhire, Shrop-ſhire, and Cheſhire; ſo Cambd. or as others, the inhabitants of Cornwal.

Corne. An hill in the Tuſculan with a grove of Beeches dedicated to Diana.

Corneates. People of Pannonia. Plin.

Cornēlia, Juv. A noble Matron, ſiſter to Scipio, wife of Semp. Gracchus, and mother of Tiberius and Caius Grac. ſhe taught her ſons the purity and elegancy of the Latine tongue: ſhe was a grave Matron, admired for her temperance. V. Max. relates, that ſhe uſed not to make a ſhew of her brave attire, but her children, which ſhe look't upon as her chiefeſt ornaments. Item P. Seſtii uxor; Cic.

Cornēlius, dict. a belli cornu. The name of divers gallant and worthy perſons. One Corn. Gallus a fine Poet, and great acquaintance of Virgils. Another Corn. Nepos, in Cicero's time; he wrote the lives of famous men, of which there remains but one, that of Pomponius Atticus. One a Roman Centurion, Chriſtened by S. Peter, and after made the firſt Biſhop of Cæſarea.

Cornificius. An excellent Poet in the time of Saluſt. Alſo a friend of Tully's.

Cornūbia. Cornwal in England.

Cornūtus A Stoick Philoſopher in the time of Nero, by whom he was baniſhed; he was Tutor to Perſius. ◊ Another, that commented Virgil. Gell.

Corocotta, animal Æthiopicum, è leænâ & hyænâ genitum, Plin. unde Porph. ἰνδικὸν ὄνειαρ voc. cùm autem ὄνειαρ ad verbum porcum ſign. hinc factum, ut Porcelus ille, cujus exſtat teſtamentum M. Grunnius Corocotta diceretur.

Cŏroebus. The ſon of Mygdon, a ſuiter to Caſſandra the daughter of Priamus, ſlain by Peneleus a Grecian, at the deſtruction of Troy.

Corona, quæ & Stephanopolis. A city of Tranſylvania, called in Dutch Kronſtadt: by the inhabitants Braſſow.

Coronæburgum, A Caſtle in Denmark, called Cronenborg.

Cŏrone. A town of Peloponneſus.

Coronēa, à Corono Theſſandri filio dict. A city of Bœotia, where no Moles breed, & if any be brought thither they dye.

Coronia. A city belonging to the Swedes, called Landſcron,

Cŏrōnis; f. κορωνίς, i. cornix Ovid. A beautiful Nymph, cased alſo Arlinde, gotten with child by Apollo; who afterward loved one Iſchis: a Crow ſaw them together, and told Apollo, who in anger ſlew her, and ript the infant out of her womb, who was called Æſculapius, and delivered him to Chiron the Centaur, to be brought up. ◊ Alſo the name of a goddeſs worſhiped in Sicyonia.

Corſica, à Corſica muliere; cujus taurus ex continenti in eam inſulam tranaverat; rect. à Pun. חוֹר שׁי quia maximè ſylveſtris, Boch. priùs dict. Cyrnus à Cyrno Herculis filio, cùm ante Therapne vocaretur, Ovid. An Iſle in the Liguſtick ſea, about half a dozen mile from Sardinia: it is in compaſs 300 miles; it is now under the city of Genua.

Corſtopitum. Morpeth in Northumberland, Camb. Corbridg, Talbot.

Corteriacum. Cortryck in Flanders.

Corton, Liv. Cortona, Sil. ab ant. Græcis Croto dict. A city of Tuſcany Pop. Cortonenſes; Plin.

Corvinus, vide Meſſala.

Cŏruncānus, primus de plebe Pontifex Max. factus; Liv.

Corus, id. qui Caurus, λιβόνοτος; ex adverſo Vulturni flans, ab occaſu ſolſtitiali & occidentali latere ſeptentrionis, Plin. quòd ipſe ventorum circulum claudat, & qu. Chorum faciat, Iſid. ſed erat antè Caurus dict. inde Corus, ut Claudius Cladius, Caupo Copo; à קר frigus; ut ubi Canrino perſtrinxit frigore veſper, Grat. & ſemper ſpirantes frigora Cauri, Vir. A cold weſterly wind.

Cŏrybantes, um; m. pl. κορύβαντες. dict. à κορύπτειν, quòd inter ſaltandum, capita jactarent. vel qu. κρυβάντες à κρύπτω, i. abſcondentes; Jóvem enim in Creta recens natum celaverunt, tympana pulſantes, ne Saturnus (qui cum Titano fratre convenerat, ut ſobolem omnem maſculam interficeret) puerum vagientem audiret. vel à κόρυς galea quòd eſſent galeati: vel à κόρη oculi pupilla, quòd Jovis cuſtodes cùm eſſent, patentibus oculis dormirent, quod κορυβαντιᾶν Græci vocant: Plin. vel ἀπὸ τῦ ἐπὶ τὸ κάρα θεῖναι, quòd capite incederent; Palmer. Diodorus Siculus ſcribit Corybantum Jaſonis & Cybeles filium fuiſſe, ac ſimul cum Dardano Sacra matris deûm in Phrygiam detuliſſe, eóſque qui in ſacrificia ejus deæ incumbere voluerunt, de ſuo nomine Corybantas appellaſſe. Iidem & Curetes, & Idæi Dactyli, imò & Telchines ſec. Strab. dicti. Cybeles Prieſts ſo called from one Corybantus, one of her firſt attendants, and hereupon we call the Cymbals, Æra Corybantia; Vir. as they danced about the ſtreets they begged money of the people whom they met, whence they were called μητραγύρται from μήτηρ mater, becauſe Cybele was the mother of the gods, and ἀγύρτης, a Jugler. They firſt inhabited the mount Ida in Phrygia, hence ſtiled Idæi Dactyli; and thence went to Creet, where they nurſed up and tended the infant Jupiter.

Corybas, in ſing. Claud. Κορύβας, Πρίας ἱερεύς. Heſ. One of Cybel's Prieſts. ◊ Alſo a Painter. Plin.

Corycus, mons Ciliciæ altiſſimus, cum oppido ejuſdem nominis: ad montis hujus radicem antrum erat Corycium, Luc. Muſis ſacrum, unde etiam illæ paſſim a poetis Corycides dictæ; Ovid. eſt & Corycius portus Ioniæ; ubi Coryczi ad mercatores furtim accedebant, & ſubauſcultabant quid rerum ferrent, & quò navigarent, poſtea diſcedentes Myonneſiis renunciabant, qui adoriebantur eos, ac diripiebant, ex quo factum eſt, ut omnes ſecreta curioſè auſcultantes Coryczi dicerentur. An high hill in Cilicia, with a town of the ſame name, bringing forth great ſtore of excellent Saffron; at the root of this hill was the Cave Coryciun; Hinc Coryczus, κωρυκαῖος. An Informer, an eaves-dropper, a tell-tale. ◊ It is alſo a Promontory in Crete, now called Cambraſia or Cambruſſia.

Corydon. A ſhepherds name in Virgil, an ordinary ſwain, or country-Clown.

Corytus. The town Cortona in Tuſcany.

Cos. An Iſland in the Ægean ſea, v. Coos.

Cŏſa, æ; f. Rutil. Cŏſæ, f. plur. Vir.

Coſſa, Plin. A city of Tuſcany, deſtroyed by mice. ◊ Another city in the Kingdome of Naples; Liv.

Coſmanates. People of Liguria. Plin.

Coſmus, i. ornator, à κόσμος mundus, & κοσμέω orno. A Perfumer or ſeller of ſweet ointments in Rome: Inde Coſmianum, ſcil. unguentum, Mart.

Coſſus, The name of ſeveral men. A Colonel in Vir. A flatterer and follower of old folks, in hopes to get ſomething by them at their death, in Juv. ◊ Coſſi ab antiquis diceb. naturâ rugoſi corporis homines, à ſimilit. vermium ligno editorum, qui coſſi appellantur. Feſt.

Coſſutia. A wife of Cæſars. Suet.

Coſyra, Plin. Coſſura, Mel. An Iſle in the Africk ſea, not far from Malta, and belongs to Sicily: a little barren place. Ovid.

Cotes, vel Cottes. A Cape of Africk, not far from Tangier; now called Cap. Spartel in French, and by the Spaniards, Cabo Eſparto.

Cothon. A Port of Carthage: alſo an Iſle in the Laconian gulf, not far from Cythera. Sunt autem Cothones portus in mari interiores, arte & manu facti; Feſt.

Cōtiſo vel Cotiſon, Hor. qu. Gotts ſon, i. Dei filius. Dacorum rex.

Cotta. An excellent Oratour commended by Cicero. ◊ Alſo another Roman that warred againſt Mithridates, and reconciled Cæſar to Sylla.

Cottiæ Alpes. High hills betwixt Italy and France, which part the Dauphinè from Piedmont.

Cotys, & Lat. Cotus. The name of the kings of Thrace. One of them the ſon of Bitis, in the time of the Civil War ſided with Pompey: Cæſ. When a ſtranger brought him brittle earthen veſſels, which were curiouſly wrought, he brake them all in pieces, leſt others breaking them, ſhould move him to anger, whereunto he was much inclined; Plut. ◊ Another Ovid writes to in his baniſhment, as King of the Country.

Cotytto, dea Impudentiæ habita eſt, cui Athenis à Baptis (ſacerdotibus illius) nocturna ſacra hebant, quæ ab illa voc. Cotyttia. Hor. Hanc Probus ſaltatricem fuiſſe exiſtimat, unde etiam ſacerdotes ejus laſcivis ſaltationibus mores ejus referebant. Juv.

Counos. An Iſland at the mouth of Thames, which Camd. will have to be Canvey, others Shepey.

C ante R.

Cràcovia, qu. Gracchopolis, à Graccho conditore. The chief city of Poland, called Cracow.

Cracus, Deus apud Ægyptios, cui salsamentis sacra fieri solitum est. Rh.

Crăgus, & Cragos, Ovid. dict. à Crago, Tremiletis & Praxidicæ Nymphæ filio. A mountain in Lycia, sacred to Apollo.

Cranaus, κρανᾶος, i. asper, voc. αὐτόχθων. The second king of Athens, next after Cecrops.

Crane, quæ postea Carna, nympha cardinum præses. Ovid.

Craneum, gymnasium, ap. Corinthum. Cic.

Craneus. The first king of the Macedons 500 years before Alexander. Volat.

Cranon, Plin. Crannon, Liv. A city of Thessaly.

Crantor, ŏris; m. Hor. κράντωρ, i. imperator, à κράινω impero. An Academick Philosopher, scholar to Plato, schoolfellow to Xenocrates and Palæmon; he wrote a Book De Consolatione, which Cicero did imitate; He died of the Dropsie. Also Peleus his Armour-bearer, slain by Demoleon the Centaur. Ovid.

Crassitius Surrentinus. A Grammarian, the master of Julius Antonius, Mark Antony's Son; Suet.

CRASSUS, à crassitie vel saginâ corporis dict. The name of divers Romans. One named Lucius Crassus, a famous Orator, highly commended by Tully. Another called M. Crassus, the richest man of all the Romans; he counted no man rich, who could not with his yearly revenues maintain a great Army: he was by nature very covetous (though to get the peoples favour, he would sometimes give liberally) but his greedinesse proved his ruine; for when the Roman Empire was shared into three parts, whereof Cæsar had one, Pompey another, it fell to his lot to be in Syria, and the eastern countries; where for greedy desire of gold, he waged war against the Parthians, by whom both he and thirty thousand Romans were slain: And because the Barbarians conjectured that he undertook this war against them for the love of their gold, therefore they melted gold and poured it in at his mouth, that so they might fill his dead body with that, with which his heart could never be satisfied, whilst he lived.

Crătēis, & Cratæis, Vir. A river of Calabria, that runs into Scylla, now called Fiumara de moro.

Crătērus. An excellent Physician, Cic. & Hor. § A brave Engraver, and one a Painter. Plin. § A companion of Alexanders, that wrote his Acts.

CRATES, ētis; m. à κράτεω, i. impero. A Philosopher of Thebes, who turning all his estate into money, delivered it to a Banker, upon this condition, that if his sons proved Philosophers, he should give it among the poor Citizens; for a Philosopher (saith he) needs no mony: but if they did not, then that he should give it them, to help out their want of learning. Some write that he threw it all into the Sea, saying, Away ye paultry cares! I will drown you, that you may not drown me. For he thought that none could have riches and vertue together. He was of Euclid's time. § Also a Grammarian, that being sent upon an Embassy by king Attalus to Rome, first brought this study thither, every day reading Grammar-lectures: this was about the time when Ennius died.

Crāthis, nomen pastoris, qui capræ amore deprehensus, infantem sustulit, qui cruribus matrem, facie verò patrem referebat: Rhod. Also a river of Calabria near the town Sybaris, the water whereof will make ones hair yellow, of a golden colour. Ovid.

Crātinus, à κράτος. A Comical Poet, of the old stamp, very satyrical; yet a good fellow too. Hor.

Crātippus. An Athenian Philosopher Tutor to Cicero his son Mark. He meeting Pompey after his overthrow at the Pharsalian battel, gave him all the comfort that Philosophy could afford him, by disputing of Providence, and of the apparent downfal of Rome. Plut.

Crātylus. A Philosopher, to whom Plato dedicated a Book.

Crēmĕra. A river of Tuscia, famous for the slaughter of three hundred Fabii by the Veientes; Ovid. It is now called la Varca. It runs into Tiber 5 mile above Rome.

Crēmōna. A city in Italy, not far from Mantua, Virgil's country.

Cremonis jugum. That part of the Alpes, where Hannibal got thorough. Liv.

CREON, ontis; m. κρέων, i. imperans. Menoecius his son; This Creon after that Oedipus had unwittingly killed his father Laïus, took upon him the kingdom of Thebes: He was much annoyed with the monster Sphinx, whom there was no way of appeasing, but by expounding a riddle she proposed; whereupon Creon made proclamation, That whosoever could expound the Riddle, should have Jocasta his sister and Œdipus his mother to wife, and he would resign the kingdome to him. Œdipus was the only man did it; which being done, the Sphinx cast her self down a steep hill, and broke her neck, and so Œdipus got the kingdome, and married Jocasta, which was (though he knew it not) his own mother: But when at last he came to understand it, he went into banishment, and left the kingdome to his two sons, who presently after their fathers departure, fell to odds, and in a battle killed one the other. Whereupon the kingdome came again into the hands of Creon, on whom (for his Cruelty in murthering Antigone, and other like outrages) Theseus made war, and slew him. Stat. § Another Creon, the son of Sisyphus, who gave his daughter Creusa in marriage to Jason when he forsook Medea, Sen. § The first Archon or yearly Magistrate at Athens, of this name. Vell. § Also a mountain in the Isle Lesbos. Plin.

Crĕpi. Luperci dicti sunt à crepitu pellicularum, quem verberantes faciunt; mos enim erat Romanis nudos discurrere in Lupercalibus, & obvias quascunque fœminas flagris ex pellibus confectis ferire. Fest.

Cres, Crētis; m. Cressa, fœm. One of Crete.

Crēstones. A kind of people where every man hath many Wives; now when any man dies, there is a strife among his wives, who loved him best when he was living; Then she that is proved to have loved him best, carrieth away the victory, and is led to the tomb of her husband, attired in her best apparel, and is slain by her kinsfolks, and buried with her husband.

CRETA, æ; f. (ē) à Crete Jovis filio, Curetum rege; vel Cureta dict. ab habitantibus Curetibus, & per Syncopen Creta: olim Aeria, Curetis, Macaros, Macoronesus, & Hecatompolis, dict. hodie Candia. Boch. ducit Cretes à כרתי Sagittarius; quià τοξόται Κρῆτες. The Island Creet now called Candy, situate in the mouth of the Ægean sea, between Rhodes and Peloponnesus: the breadth of it is 50 miles, the length 270 miles: In this Isle Jupiter they said was brought up and buried too. There were once a 100 Cities in this Island. The people were excellent Archers, and mightily given to lying, as Saint Paul observed of them out of a Poet of their own, Epimenides: Κρῆτες ἀεὶ ψεῦσται, κακὰ θηρία, γαστέρες ἀργαί. § Also a town in Scythia; Val. Fl. Hinc Cretæus, Creticus, Cretensis, Cretanus Plaut. & Cressius, Virg. Of Creet, belonging to Creet.

Crētheus. The son of Æolus, who begat Æson, on Tyros daughter to his brother Salmoneus. Hinc Cretheia virgo, Val. Fl. i. Helle Crethei neptis.

Crētĭcus Judicis nomen, Juven.

Creticus pes, quià Cretes saltando rhythmicâ ejus compositione utebantur. Diom.

Crĕūsa. The daughter of Creon king of Corinth, and Jason's second wife, to whom Medea, inraged by Jason's forsaking her, sent a casket with wild-fire in it, which burnt her as soon as she had opened it; Ovid. § Also another, the wife of Æneas, the daughter of King Priam, who was lost in the streets of Troy, as Æneas with his father and his son fled. Virg. Some say, that Æneas slew her, by covenant with the Grecians, that none of the seed of Priam should remain.

Crīnas. A Physitian of Marseilles, that gave all his Physick, by observation of the Planets, and their motions. Plin.

Crinisus, Virg. & Crimisus, & Crimnisus, & Criniſſus Probo. à κρήνη fons. A river of Sicily, near the city Segesta; it is now called Freddo, or S. Bartholomeo. Of it Servius relates this story; When Laomedon denyed Neptune and Apollo their wages for making of the Walls of Troy, Neptune was angry, and sent an huge Sea-Monster to waste the countrey; And they were told by the Oracle, there was only this remedy, to give up the maidens of Troy to him: Wherefore Hippotes a noble Trojan, fearing lest his daughter Hegesta should be cast to the Monster, put her into a ship, rather to be drowned, out of his sight, than to be devoured in his sight: But she by chance was driven into Sicily, where Crinisus falling in love with her, and turning himself into the shape of a dog or bear, lay with her, and begat Acestes on her, afterwards king of Sicily.

Crispinus, sic dict. à crispis capillis. Captain of the Guard to Domitian; an unworthy fellow of mean extraction, and lewd carriage. Juv.

Crispus. The name of Saluſt, and of certain others.

Crītias. A Philosopher that held the blood to be the Soul; also one of the thirty Tyrants that ruled in Athens. Cic.

Crītōbūlus, i. consilii arbiter. A Physician that cured Philips eye, when it was stricken out with a bar. Plin.

Crītŏlaus, i. populi judex. A captain

tain of Achaia, who by his ill manage ruined Corinth; Cic. and at last poisoned himself; Liv. also a Peripatetick Philosopher, that went with Carneades in the Embassy to Rome, Cic.

Criu metopon. κριὸς μέτωπον, i. Arietis frons. geminum Prom. unum Cretæ, hod. Capo Crio, alterum Tauricæ Chersonesi, hod. Im Kermen.

Croatia, ap. Vet. Liburnia. The country of the Croatians or Crabats.

Crobialus, opp. Paphlagoniæ, quod alluit amnis Parthenius. Val. Fl.

Crŏca, used by the Polish poets for Cracovia, the city Cracow in Poland.

Crocala, An Island of sand at the mouth of the river Indus. Plin.

Crococalana, item Crocolana & Corolana. Ancaster in Lincoln-shire. Cambd.

Crocŏdilŏpŏlis, opp. quod & Arsinoe, à Crocodilorum multitudine dict. A town of Phœnicia, by the hill Carmel; Plin. another in Egypt by the river Nilus.

Crŏcŏdilos, mons Ciliciæ. Plin.

Crŏcus. A handsom youth, who being in love with a young lady called Smilax, pined away into a Flower of his name, in English, Saffron. Ovid. Another a huntsman, upon the Muses intreaty stellified, and named Sagittary. Sidon.

CRŒSŪS. The last king of Lydia, the son of Halyattes, the richest man then living; whence that proverb, Crœsi divitias, when we speak of an abundance of wealth. This Crœsus once asked Solon, who was the happiest man. He instanced in certain others; Crœsus thought he would have named him; but the Philosopher told him, No man could be said to be happy before death: which proved so in Crœsus his own case, for he was afterward taken prisoner by Cyrus, and being ready to be burned, he cried out Solon, Solon, Solon! Cyrus asked why he called on Solon, and was told Solon's saying: whereupon considering it might be his own case, he saved him alive, and used him all his time with a great deal of respect.

Cromna, opp. Paphlagoniæ, Val. Fl.

Crŏmyon, ŏnis; m. Ovid. A place in Greece belonging to Corinth or Athens.

Crŏmyŏnesus. An Isle over against Smyrna. Plin.

Cronciades. One of Hercules sons by Megara.

Crŏnia, à Κρόνος Saturnus, Saturnalia Lat. Feasts in the honour of Saturn, in which little presents and gifts were sent from one to another. They were kept in winter on the 19 of December.

Cronia, prom. prope mare Caspium. Plin.

Crŏnium mare, Plin. à Κρόνος Saturnus, qui, cùm frigidum sydus sit, rebus frigidis præest; Eust. The frozen or Northern Sea. Al. mare Adriaticum, quòd Italiam, sc. κρύος, i. Saturnus habitaverit.

Crŏnius. One of the Centaures.

Crŏton vel Croto, Liv. ōnis; f. Sil. à Crotone quodam ibi tumulato: Ovid. A city of Italy not far from Otranto, very ancient. It is very wholsome, and of a temperate air; whence that proverb, Crotone salubrius; it was the country of Milo the great wrestler; indè Crotoniatæ incolæ.

Crŏtŏpus. The eighth king of the Argives, father of Phlamathe, who had a child by Apollo, called Linus, whom she hid among the bushes, and the dogs tore him to pieces. Ovid calls him Crotŏpiadem Linum.

Crumerum. A town of Hungary, called Komar; hod. Lat. Gomorra; Ferr.

Crustŭmĕrium, opp. Sabinorum, Plin. Crustumeros vocat Vir. à Cassio Hemina voc. Clytemnestra, indè corrupto nomine Crustumetum, vul. Palombara, al. Monte Ritondo dicitur; Ortel.

Crustŭminum, opp. Thusciæ juxta Veios; unde Crustumina pyra, Plin. quæ Vir. Crustumia vocat.

Crustŭmium. A river rising out of the hill Apenninus. Luc.

Crynis, fl. Bithyniæ, Plin. fort. à κρουνὸς fons, aqua saliens.

Cryon, fl. Aliæmin. per Lydiam in Hermum defluens; Plin.

Crypta Neopolitana, via manufacta sub monte Pausilypi, mille passus in long. protenditur; vul. Grotta di Napoli.

Cryssa, fl. Troadis; Plin.

C ante T.

Ctēsias. A noble Historian of Cnidus; another of Ephesus. Plut.

Ctēsibus. An Athenian Parasite, who being asked how much Philosophy he had left, answered, Ἀσυμβόλως δεῖπνεῖν, sine symbolo cœnare. enough to sup of free-cost; for being full of jests, he was often invited to feasts. Rhod. Another of Alexandria, the inventer of wind-Musick, Vitr. Plin.

Ctēsiphon, ontis; m. A brave Workman who made the great Temple of Diana at Ephesus, which was afterwards burnt by Herostratus. ℌ Also a noble man of Athens, that perswaded the Athenians to crown Demosthenes in the Theatre with a golden Crown: whereupon being accused by Æschines, he was defended by Demosthenes in that excellent oration of his Περὶ στεφάνου. Cic. ℌ Also a town of Assyria, called Calamio, or Calaneh, Amos 6. Hieron. over against Seleucia, where the Parthian kings kept their winter, as they did their summer in Hyrcania and Ecbatanæ. It was once the chief city of the Kingdom of Babylon. Plin.

Ctesippus, i. equorum possessor. The son of Chabrias a foolish youth brought up by Phocion. Plut.

Ctēsius, Jupiter dictus apud Athenienses; Rhod. à κτῆσις possessio.

Ç ante U.

Cŭba, Dea apud antiquos quæ præerat cubantibus. Est & Cuba Insula Americæ septentr. alias voc. Fernandina.

Cucŭlus, Juptier so called, quòd Junonis desiderio in hanc avem fuerit transformatus.

Cudum, prom. vel opp. Indiæ. Mel.

Cuma, à κῦμα, i. fluctus, civ. juxta mare sita. vel à Cyme Amazone; unde & Amazonium dict. A city of Æolis, opposite to Lesbos, Hesiod's country, as also of the Sibyl, called Cumæa or Erythræa, which came into Italy.

Cumæ, arum; f. Cumé, Sil. Cyme, Mel. Cyma, Liv. A city of Campania, near Puteoli, built by the Cumæi of Asia. Virg. calls it Cumæam urbem.

Cumbria, Cumberland in the North of England.

Cunetio. Marleborough in Wiltshire.

Cūnĕus ager. Mel. The country el Faro in Portugal, or as Plin. the Tromontory Cabo de S. Maria.

Cūnicŭlāriæ. Two small Islands between Sardinia & Corsica.

Cūnina, Dea quæ cunis infantium præerat. Var.

Cūninus, Deus fascini averssor.

Cŭpido, ĭnis; m. à cupiendo ἔρως, i. Amor, Veneris filius. ex Chao & Terra natus Hes. alii ex Marte & Venere; alii ex Nocte & Æthere; al. ex Lite & Zephyro; al. ex Venere & Cœlo; al. ex Venere & Vulcano; Sen. quidam ex sola Venere prognatum tradunt. Cupid, the God of Love, of which there were two, Ovid. The one born of Venus, and begotten of Jupiter; the other the son of Erebus and Nox; Cic. he is pictured armed with a torch, and a bow, and two darts; the one of gold, and the other of lead; the one procureth love, the other chaseth it away: indè Cupidineus, a, um. Of Cupid. Ovid.

Cupra, opp. Piceni geminum. Cupra Montana, vul. le Grotte & Cupra Maritima. Sil. vul. Ripa Transona, ubi fanum Junoni sacrum. Pop. Cuprenses, Plin.

Cŭres, plur. num. Sabinorum opp. à Tatio regnatum, Vir. unde & Romani Sabinis Romam migrantibus Quirites dicti. Liv.

Cūrētes, um; m. Κύρητες, ἀπὸ τῆς κουρᾶς, i. à tonsura, dict. quòd cincinnos ad delicias alerent, Eust. (vel ut alii) quòd anteriorem capitis partem detonsam gestarent, nè hostes eos cæsarie apprehenderent; al. ἀπὸ τῆς κουροτροφίας, ab eo quòd Jovem infantem aluisse dicant. Dicæos referunt Curetas, qui Jovis illum Vagitum in Creta quondam occultasse ferunt; Lucr. Vid. Corybantes, The same as the Corybantes and Idæi dactyli; they were six brethren which came from the hill Ida into Crete, to whom Rhea committed the bringing up of her young son Jupiter, for fear of her husband Saturn. They first used Drums and dancing in armour, Plin. Hinc Curetida terram ap. Ovid.

Curia. Corbridge in Northumberland. Cambd.

Curifugia. A country-house of Nicholas Perottus, which he so called.

Cūrio, à curis, vel à curia; dict. The name of a family in Rome: one of that name, a great man of Cæsar's party, Luc. who built two Theaters, so as to keep them asunder, or to clap them together. See Plin. 36. 15.

Curionia sacra, quæ in curiis fiebant. Fest.

CURIUS (ŭ) A noble man of Rome called Dentatus; he was thrice Consul, a man of tried courage, singular honesty and frugality. When he had beaten Pyrrhus the king of Epirus, and drove him out of Italy, he divided the land, distributing to every man four acres, and reserved no more for himself, saying, That none ought to be General who could not be content with a common soldiers share. When the Embassadours of the Samnites brought him a great sum of money, as he was sitting by the fire side boyling of rapes, he told them, He had rather rule over rich men, than be rich himself; and he that could not be worsted in fight, would not be bribed with money.

Curtius, à celeritate currendi dict. A noble Roman, who gave his life for his countrey; for when the earth was sunk with a wide gap in the middle of the Forum, rum, and it was told that it would not come together again unless some prime young noble-man were put into it, he mounted on horseback, and rode into it; from whence there is a Lake called Curtius. Liv. ☞ Q. Curtius. One in Tiberius his time, who from a Receivers Clark came to be Consul. Tac. ☞ Also an Historian, who wrote of Alexander's acts.

Curtius fons. A water brought 40 miles to Rome in arched work.

Cuscum. A great City in the West Indies in the Southern continent; Cusco.

Cuthbertus, i. scientia clarus: à cuth, scientia, & bert, clarus. Angl. qu. Cuthbert.

Cütilia. A lake in the county of Reate, wherein a woody Isle floateth up and down continually. The water of this lake is good for wens. Vitr.

C ante Y.

Cyāna. A Virgin of Syracuse; she being ravished by her own father Cyanippus, in the dark, when he was drunk, which she discovered by a ring, baled him by the hair of the head to sacrifice him at Apollo's altar, and slew her self with him, to stay the plague that was sent among the people for that villany. Plut.

Cyāne, es ; f. a Sicilian Nymph, who helping Proserpine against Pluto, was changed into a river of the same name, which runneth into Anapus, Ovid. and is now called Pisma Sirini: Also a town of Lycia, Plin.

Cyānea, κυάνεα, quæ & Symplegades, insulæ vel scopuli maris Euxini sub Thracio Bosphoro. Two Rocks neer the entrance of the Black Sea, over against one another; at so small a distance, that as one comes up by ship towards them, they appear but one, like the two steeples in Kent neer North-Foreland. Whence the Poets fanied that they met sometimes and came together; hod. Le Pavonare.

Cyanee, es ; f. i. cærulea. The daughter of the river Mæander, by whom Miletus begat Caunus and Byblis ; Ovid.

Cyanus, a river of Colchis. Plin.

Cyathus, fl. Ætoliæ ; Rhod.

Cybale. A poor mans maid in Virg.

Cybebe, Magna Mater, dict. quod ageret homines in furorem, quod gr. κυβίζειν dic. Fest. Κυβίβη, μάλιστα θεῶν, Hesych.

CYBELE, (mediâ communi) es ; f. dict. à Cybelo Phrygiæ monte, ubi ejus sacra primùm creduntur instituta: unde Mater cultrix Cybeli dic. Virg. al. à Cymbalo quo utebantur in ejus sacris. Fest. παρὰ τὸ κύμβαν, dictam malit, i. in caput rotari, quo genere saltationis Galli, Deæ hujus sacerdotes, peculiariter in sacris utebantur. The goddess Cybele, called also the Mother of the Gods, daughter of Heaven and Earth, and wife to Saturn ; upon which account she goes by other names also ; as Ops, Rhea & Vesta : and from the places where she was worshipped ; as Dindymene, Berecynthia, Idæa, Phrygia, & Pessinuntia. She was worshipped by the Corybantes her Priests by the sound of drum, taber, pipe and cymbal. She is pictur'd with turrets upon her head. Her statue was by the counsel of Sibylla translated from Pessinuns to Rome by Scipio Nasica, and was there much honoured.

Cybernesia, à κυβερνάω guberno. Feasts instituted by Theseus at his return from Crete, in honour of his Steersman Nausithous. Rhod.

Cybira. A town of Lycaonia. Hinc Cybiraticus, a, um ; Hor.

Cycládes, um ; f. pl. κυκλάδες, i. orbiculatæ, à κύκλος, dict. quòd circa Delum in orbem sitæ sunt ; Plin. Isles in the Ægean sea ; they are in number fifty three ; they are now called Isole del Archipelago. Leg. in sing. Cyclas ap. Sil.

Cyclópes, um ; m. dicti ab eo quòd unicum habent oculum, eúmque orbiculatum mediâ in fronte situm. Hes. à sing. Cyclops, opis ; κύκλωψ, à κύκλος circulus & ὤψ oculus, quem unum habebat Polyphemus Argolici clypei aut Phœbeæ lampadis instar ; Virg. The sons of Neptune and Amphitrite, Vulcans assistants to the making of Jupiters thunderbolts (as the Poets feigned.) There be three of these of most note among the Poets ; Brontes, Steropes, and Pyracmon. These Cyclopes were an ancient people, inhabiting the Isle of Sicily, which were mighty great men, whence the Poets called them Giants.

Cycnus, Κύκνος, i. cygnus. The son of Mars, whom Hercules slew ; Hygin. ☞ Also Neptunes son slain by Achilles in the Trojan war ; Ovid. ☞ It. Hyries filius. Id. ☞ Also a king of the Ligurians, who bewailing the death of his cousin Phaeton, was changed into a swan ; Virg. as were also the two others in Ovid. ☞ Also the name of a Horse so called for his whiteness. Stat.

Cyda. A rascally fellow of Crete, whom M. Anthony made one of the Judges at Rome.

Cydias, i. gloriosus, à κύδος gloria. A skilful Painter that pictured the Argonauts, which table Hortensius bought for an hundred sixty and four talents. Plin.

Cydippe. A noble and beautiful Lady, with whom Acontius fell in love, but being out of hope to attain her, because he was not noble and rich enough, he used a sleight with a couple of verses written upon an Apple to trapan her into a promise of marriage ; Ovid. vid. Acontius.

Cydnus, à candore dict. Quicquid candidum est, Cydnum gentili lingua Syri dicunt ; Solin. A clear river of Cilicia, issuing out of the mountain Taurus, and passing by Tarsus : the water of it is extream cold, into which Alexander, in the time of his wars against Darius, going to cool himself, found his body so benummed with cold, that he had died of it, had not that faithful, though suspected Physician, Philip, holpen him. It cures the gout, by bathing the legs in it. Vitr.

Cydon. A town of Crete, vul. Canea dic. Hinc mala Cydonia, Quinces ; Plin. & absol. Cydonia, Mart. Cydonia spicula, Vir. Cydoneæque Pharetras, Ovid. ☞ Also a mans name: Virg.

Cydonia. An Isle before Lesbos. Plin.

Cylbiani montes, Phrygiæ majoris, ex quibus profluit Cayster. Plin.

Cyllarus. One of the Centaures ; Ovid. also one of Pollux horses, or rather Castor's. Poet.

Cyllene, mons Arcadiæ, cupressifer, Ovid. in quo Maia à Jove compressa Mercurium peperit, unde ille dictus Cyllenius.

Cymæus, mons Thusciæ cum lacu cognomine ; Vir. vid. Ciminus.

Cymodoce, κυμοδόκη, fluctus capiens, à κῦμα fluctus, & δέχομαι capio. A Sea-Nymph, daughter of Nereus & Doris ; Virg.

Cymodocea. One of the Sea-Nymphs, into which Æneas his ships were changed. Virg

Cymothoe, κυμοθόη, i. fluctuum velocitas, dict. quòd inter fluctus discurrat. A Sea-Nymph, the daughter of Nereus and Doris. Virg. ☞ Also a spring of Achaia. Plin.

Cynægyrus, An Athenian Captain, who used great valour in the Persian war, in pursuing his enemies ; he held a loaden ship with his right hand ; and when that was cut off, he held it with the left ; that also being cut off, he held it with his teeth. Val. Max.

Cynæthus. A famous Poet of the Island Chios, who first at Syracuse sung Homer's poem, inserting some verses of his own. Rhod Cynamolgi, gr. i. canes mulgentes. Monstrous people of Æthiopia. Plin.

Cynāpes. A river that discharges it self into the Euxin Sea. Ovid.

Cynara, Ægæi maris inf. Plin. Hinc Cynareus, a, um ; Stat.

Cyneas, Thessalus, forsan à κυνέη, i. blandior, secundum illud Plutarchi, quòd plures civitates facundiâ subegerit quàm Pyrrhus armis expugnarit. An Embassador from king Pyrrhus, sent to Rome, where he learned in one day to salute every Senatour by his peculiar name. His memory is commended by Tully.

Cynici, κυνικοί, i. canini dict. à canina mordacitate, quâ in hominum vitas nullo discrimine invehebantur, aut quòd canum more in propatulo coirent. The Cynick Philosophers, followers of Antisthenes and Diogenes: incepit hæc Secta circa an. M. 3600.

Cynips. A river of Africk. Claud. About this river are large Goats ; Vir.

Cynocephali, κυνοκέφαλοι, i. canicipites. People of India with heads like dogs. Plin.

Cynocephalus, κυνοκέφαλος, i. caniceps. The God Anubis among the Egyptians : unde & urbs, in quâ cultus, Cynopolis dicta.

Cynosarges, κυνόσαργες, i. canis albus, qui sacrificante Diomo, rapta femora in hunc locum detulit. A place in Athens where children which were bastards were brought up without the gate. Suid.

Cynossema, i. Canis tumulus, σῆμα κυνός, locus ubi Hecubæ sepulchrum ; fabulantur enim poetæ Hecubam, cum in Græciam adduceretur captiva post exitium patriæ ac suorum, ibi doloris impatientiâ in canem esse conversam, & deinde sepultam. A promontory of Thrace, where Queen Hecuba was buried.

Cynosūra, κυνὸς οὐρά, canis cauda. The lesser Bear-star, by observing of which the Mariners of Tyre and Sidon steer'd their course, as the Grecians did by the other. ☞ Also a place in Peloponnesus. Stat.

Cynthia, à Cymbo Monte. The Moon. ☞ The name Propertius gives his Mistress, who was before called Hostilia.

Cynthus. A hill in Delos, so high, that the shadow of it is said to spread over the whole Island: In hoc monte Latona Apollinem & Dianam dicitur peperisse, unde hic Cynthius, hæc Cynthia passim à poetis appel.

Cyparissos, urbs Peloponnesi in ora Messeniæ littorea. Stat.

Cyparissus, Telephi filius, Apollinis delicia, deliciæ, & ab illo post mortem in Cypressum arborem immutatus; Ovid. ◊ Est & civitatis nomen circa Delphos, ab ejus arboris frequentiâ dict. Mela. Gen. exit in unis

Cyprianus. Saint Cyprian, one of the Latine Fathers, Bishop of Carthage; and Martyr in the year 250.

Cypris, Idis; f. Venus so called from the Island Cypres, where she was worshiped; whence said to be Diva potens Cypri, Hor.

CYPRUS, i; f. dict. à Cypro Cinyræ filiâ, Steph. unde Cinyreæum vocat Luc. vel pot. Κύπρος ἄνθος νύμφη, à Cypri flore, quæ planta, alioqui rara, ibi plurima provenit; Eust. unde Κύπρος Κύπρου vocat Hom. Heb. כֹּפֶר ea planta dic. An Isle in the mediterranean sea, situated betwixt Syria and Cilicia, so fruitful that it was called the Happy Isle; and the inhabitants thereof being much given to wantonness, it was thence consecrated to Venus. It had two famous Cities in it, Salamis & Paphos. It had several other names anciently, Acamantis, Amathusa, Aspelia, Cryptos, Cerastis, Macaria, i. beata, Hor. & Arosa; by reason that much brass was digg'd up there.

Cypsella, Plin. urbs Thraciæ mediterranea. Pop. Cypselidæ, Vir.

Cypselus, κυψέλη i. cistula, scil. in quâ delituit occultatus à matre cum ad mortem quæreretur. A tyrant in Corinth. Cic.

Cyre, i. domina. Ceres sic dicta apud Cnidios. Rhod.

Cyrenæ, arum; f. pl. Catul. Vid. Cyrene.

Cyrenaica, regio Africæ, à Cyrene dict.

Cyrenaici, dict. ab Aristippo Cyrenæo, sectæ author. Certain Philosophers, who held the chief good of man to be pleasure, and vertue so far to be esteemed, as it was a meanes to attain to pleasure.

Cyrene, es; f. Penei fl. filia, cujus amore flagrans Apollo, in Pelio Thessaliæ monte eam rapuit, & in eam Africæ partem transtulit quæ ab ea postea dicta fuit Cyrenaica, cujus regionis urbs præcipua itidem Cyrene ab eadem dicta: ab Hebr. Lebahim, bod. Curene; una ex iis, quæ Pentapolim conficiunt, à Batto condita. The daughter of Peneus, by whom Apollo had Aristæus. ◊ A City of Africk, one of the five, which make up the Pentapolis, from whence the whole country was called Cyrenaica. The people were excellent charreteers. The place abounded much with Benzoin; whence Catul. calls it laserpitifera Cyrenæa.

Cyrillus, dim. à Cyrus; A learned Bishop of Alexandria, in the time of Theodosius; he was Rector of the Ephesine, or third Oecumenical Councel, gathered to confute the heresie of Nestorius, an. Chr. 431. Another Cyril of Jerusalem, anno Chr. 365. who wrote the Catecheses; Hier. ◊ Another Cyrillus, Diaconus Heliopolitanus; he pulled down the Idol-gods of the heathen in the time of Constantine; whereupon they after the death of the Emperour, ript him up quick, and pulled out his liver and ate it.

Cyrnus, insula in mari Ligustico, sic dict. à Cyrno rege Herculis filio, ab Ovidio Therapne vocatur, nunc Corsica: hinc Cyrnæus, a, um. Vir.

Cyrrha. A town in Phocis, at the foot of the hill Parnassus. vid. Cirrha.

Cyrrzi, pop. Æthiopiæ, juxta Nilum fl. Claud.

Cyrsilus. An Athenian who was stoned to death as a Traitor to his country. Cic.

CYRUS, Persicâ linguâ solem signif. sicut & Heb. כּוֹרֶשׁ. The son of Cambyses by Mandane the daughter of Astyages. This Astyages king of the Medes, being informed by the soothsayers, that of his daughter Mandane should be born a son that should over-rule Asia and drive him from his kingdom, married her to one Cambyses, a mean man among the Persians, purposing by that means to avoid the Prophesie: yet fearing the worst, as soon as Cyrus was born of her, he gave him to Harpagus to be slain; but he fearing the future displeasure of Mandane when she should be Queen, did not slay the childe, but gave him to a shepherd, by whom he was brought up, till at last he made good the prophesie of the soothsayers. He first united the kingdom of the Medes and Persians, overthrew the Lydians, of whom Crœsus was king; took Babylon, and was the first Emperour of the Persian Monarchy, which continued two hundred and seven years, till Alexander the Great: This is that Cyrus, whose name and power was foretold by Isaiah 45. 1. an hundred years before he was born: He was a man admired for his Personage, Prowess, Wisdom and Liberality, but especially for his Memory. Solinus relateth, That he could call every souldier in his Army by name, when he spake unto them. At last, itching after more Victories, he was slain by Tomyris, Queen of the Scythians, by whom his head was cut off, and thrown into a vessel full of blood, with this bitter taunt, Satia te sanguine quem sitisti. See his life described by Herodot. Solin. Just. & Val. Max. ◊ Also the name of a Poet, who for his singular good wit, was made a Bishop by Theodosius the Emperour. Volat.

Cyrsilis. The daughter of Diomedes King of Thrace, who would eat people up alive, and give the parents their children dressed to eat. Volat.

Cyta, five Cyte. A town of Colchis: inde Cytæus, a, um. Of Colchis, Val. Fl. Hinc Cytæis, f. Epitheton Medeæ. Propert. & Cyteinus, a, um. Id.

Cythera, orum; n. pl. insula contra Cretam, in quam Venus primùm conchâ marinâ dicitur advecta, unde Cytherea illa dicta. Boch. deducit nomen inf. à Petris, quæ Chald. קִתְרִין dict. qd. scopulis scateat. An Island betwixt Peloponnesus and Candy or Crete, now called Cerigo, in compass six miles, formerly called Porphyris, Plin. or Porphyrusa, Aristot. for the excellent purple-fishes taken there. Hinc Cytheriacus, a, um; Mart.

Cytheris. A notable harlot, the Mistris of Corn. Gallus, whom Virgil by a feigned name calls Lycoris.

Cythnos, f. Ovid. dict. a Cythno primo habitatore. One of the Cyclades; otherwise called Ophiusa & Dryopis. It was destroyed by Amphitryo. Hinc Cythnius, a, um; Of that Isle.

Cytis. An Isle of Arabia, whence the Tepra stone; Plin.

Cytorus, i; m. mons Galatiæ, in quo buxus plurima nascebatur; unde & Buxifer à Catullo dicitur, & quæ buxea sunt Cytoraea dicuntur, Ovid. sæpe Cytoraico deducit pectine crines.

Cyzicus, i; f. Propert. & Cyzicos, Ovid. urbs Mysiæ ad Propontidem, dict. à Cyzico rege, quem Jason per imprudentiam interemit: It was once a brave large City as any of the lesser Asia; hod. Chizico.

D ane A.

DAæ, m. pl. Vir. al. Dahæ. Plin. People of Scythia, neer the Caspian Sea.

Dabrona. A river in Ireland, now called Broadwater, formerly Avonmore, i. The great river.

Daci. People of Transylvania.

Dacia. A country beyond Hungary, beyond the Danow. It is divided into Transylvania, (quæ Dacia mediterranea dic. & Germ. Siebenburgen, i. septem castra, Valacchia (quæ Dacia Alpestris) & Moldavia. vide Ort. Incolæ Daci dic. qui olim Davi, ex quo apud Athenienses Davorum nomina servilia: hinc factum ut in Comœdis servi introducantur Davi & Getæ, quippe ejusdem originis. Hinc Dacicus; A Title of some of the Emperors, for their victories there. Juv. est & Dacus, a, um; Stat. Dacian.

Dactyli Idæi, iidem qui Curetes & Corybantes, quos Jovem nutrivisse ferunt, ne vagitu infans proderetur novo lusûs genere excogitato, clypeolis æneis inter se concurrantes æris tinnitu, & numerosi pedis compositione (qui inde Dactylus dictus est) celavêre vocem infantis. Diom. Hi priùs Phrygiam habitârunt; unde Idæi ab Ida Phrygiæ monte dicti, dein Cretam profecti ferri usum invenerunt; Dactyli modulos, crepitu aut tinnitu æris deprehensos, in versificum ordinem transtulerunt. Cybeles Priests, vide Corybantes.

Dædūchus, δαδοῦχος. The chief Priest of Hercules, says Alex. ab Alex. or as others, any Priest of Ceres, among the Athenians; so called from the Torch he carried.

Dædăla. A town in Lycia, where Dædalus was buried, being killed by a water-Snake that came out of the river Ninus: Plin.

DÆDALUS, δαίδαλος, i, artificiosus, à δαίω, scio; vel δαίδαλον vario: Fest. faber Athenienſis, Micionis filius. The most ingenious Artificer in the world; whence the Proverb, Dædali opera, when we would commend a thing for the curiousness of the work: he invented the Saw, the Ax, the Plummet, the Augour, Glue, Cement, Sails for ships, the sail-yard; he also made Statues with a device to make the eyes move as if they were living: being accused for the death of Perdix his nephew, he fled into Crete, and there made the Labyrinth or Maze, into which Minos put him and his son Icarus, because he had made a Cow of wood, wherein Pasiphae putting her self plaid the beast with a Bull. He seeing no way of escape, desired feathers and wax, to make a present, as he pretended, for the King, but he made himself and his son wings, and so flew from Crete to Sardinia, and from thence to Cumæ, where having left his son by the way, he built a temple to Apollo. The ground of the story is this, Dædalus being privy to the adultery of Pasiphae, the wife of Minos, with his servant named Taurus, was put in prison with with his son Icarus; but he escaped with his son and some other discontented persons from Crete in some small ships: Minos pursued so hard, that Icarus his ship was splitted on the rock: Dædalus over-sailed the king to Sicily, being the swifter, because he had then invented his sail-clothes, when as all others knew no speedier sailing than by the help of oars; whence the proverb, Remigiis Dædaleis, to signifie a thing done with dexterity and speed. Hinc Adj. Dædalus, a, um; Curiously wrought, finely bedeckt. As Dædala tecta, Vir. Dædala tellus, Luer. Item Dædalæus, a, um; Hor. of Dædalus. Item Dædaleus, a, um, Propert.

Dæmŏgorgon, lat. Dem terræ, nam dæmon Deus, Gorgon terra, Lact. Al. sapientia terræ, quomodo vett. naturam vocab.

Dæmon. A Genius or Spirit good or bad. Partic. the eleventh house in casting of Nativities, i. the house of Fortune. Firm.

Dæta, Thyestis soror, cum qua congressus Thyestes Enorchum Dæmonem sustulit. Rhod.

Dagon, Frumentum vel Piscis, nomen idoli Philistiorum: sc. vel à דָּגָן piscis, vel à דָּגַן triticum, unde & à Philone Byblio Dagon redditur Σῖτον, i. Frumentarium; ἰσχύει, inquit, ὁ σῖτος καὶ ἄρουρα, ἐκλήθη Ζεὺς ἀρούρειος.

Dăiippus, A noble statuary. Plin.

Dalila, דְּלִילָה exhausit. Samson's wife or concubine, whose dalliance proved his ruine.

Dalmanutha, i. pauperis portio. A country of Judea.

Dalmătia, à Delminio. unde antiq; Delmatæ scrib. erat a. Δελμάτιος, quæ & Δαλματῶν eorum præcipua urbs. A part of Illyricum, now called Sclavonia, lying between Croatia, Bosnia, Servia, and the Adriatick sea, in qua situs est Archiepiscopatus Spalatensis. pop. Dalmatæ. Of this country was Diocletian the Persecutor and S. Jerom. Hinc Dalmaticus, a, um; a Title of L. Metellus from the conquest of the country. Dalmatica vestis, A kinde of priestly garment white and studded with purple. Isid. Hinc Dalmaticatus. Lampr.

Dama. Daughter of Pythagoras.

Damaris, qu. uxorcula, à δάμαρ uxor. A Christian woman converted by S. Paul, Act. 17.

Damascenus. Two of that name; John, a father of the Church and an Historian: and Nicholas, a great Philosopher and Scholar, and an acquaintance of Augustus Cæsar.

Damascus, dict. à Damasco Mercurii & Helimedæ Nymphæ filio, qui ex Arcadia in Syriam profectus urbem istam sui nominis condidit. Rectius ab Hebr. דַּמֶּשֶׂק damesek. The noblest city of all Syria, by some thought to be the place where Cain slew his brother Abel, and where after his departure out of Paradise, dwelt our first Father Adam: where resides a Viceroy of the Turks, under whose dominion now it is; it is called Sciam & Scam: There grow store of those plums we call Damsens, Damascena.

Dămăsippus, gr. i. equorum domitor. One that took part with Marius against Sylla, and was very cruel. ◊ A player, Juv. ◊ A purchaser of Medals and Statues. Hor.

Dămasus. The name of divers Bishops of Rome.

Dămĕas. A famous Image-maker. Plin.

Damiănus. A Sophister of Ephesus.

Damium, sacrificium in honorem Damiæ sive Bonæ Deæ: quòd in operto fieret, & esset minime δημόσιον, i. publicum; Fest. vel pot. quòd fieret pro δήμῳ i. populo; V. ex Cic. & Juv.

Damnii. Westmerland people.

Damnŏnii, vel Dumnonii. Cornwall and Devonshire-men.

Damnŏnium promontorium. The Lizard-point in Cornwall. Cambd. As others, S. Michael's mount.

Damŏcles. A flatterer of Dionysius. the Sicilian tyrant, who to give him a taste of that felicity he so much applauded, attyred him as a king, and set him at the table, served in Royal manner; and in the mean while as he was in his imperial Robes, and delicate fare before him, hung a naked sword with the point downward just over his head, only tyed by a horse-hair; which when Damocles perceived, he could not for his life taste of his dainties, nor take any pleasure in the royal attendance he had; whereby Dionysius let him see, how that the life of a Prince in the midst of all his gallant Pomp and Royalty, is uncomfortable, as being in continual fear. vide Cicer. Tusc.

Dămœtas. A shepherd mentioned in Virg.

Dămon and Pythias. Pythagoreans; when the Tyrant Dionysius had condemned one of them to dye, he craved a few days to set his house in order, and the other willingly offered himself the while to stay as a pledge, and to dye in his stead, if he returned not by the day appointed; he came according to appointment, to dye himself, and acquitted his friend that had so deeply engaged himself for him: when the Tyrant saw this faithfulness in their friendship, he pardoned him that was to dye, and desired to make himself the third man in their friendship: Val. Max.

Dămŏphilus. A Painter or Limner. Plin.

Dān. i. judex. One of the twelve Tribes.

DANAE, es; f. Δανάη. The daughter of Acrisius king of the Argives; who being told by an Oracle that he should be slain by his grandchild, shut his daughter up close in a strong tower; Jupiter turning himself into a golden shower, dropt into her lap through the tyles, and got her with child. Her father in a rage clapt her and her new-born child into a chest, and cast them into the sea: which being thrown upon the coast of Daunia a fisherman took up, and presented them to king Pilumnus, who married Danae; and Perseus her son, afterward, when he came to age, slew his grandfather Acrisius, and so fulfilled the Oracle. Ovid. The golden shower shews the power of money to get one access any whither, as Horace moralizes the story.

Dănăides, um; f. The fifty daughters of Danaus, whereof all save one Hypermnestra, slew their husbands upon the marriage-night, and were sentenced for it to fill a rifted Tub with water. Hence Danaïdum dolium, a proverb of a covetous insatiable wretch, that never has enough. vid. Belides.

Dănăus, Argivo regno potitus regionem aridam (ob id Ἄργος ἀγρῶδες appellatam) erutis fontibus, aquis abundare fecit filiarum ministerio: unde proverbium, Ἄργος ἀνυδρότερον τῶν Δαναΐδων ὕδωρ exinde (ni me mea fallat conjectura) Poetarum fabulæ datur occasio; Fingunt n. Poetæ Danai filias propter scelus illud nefandum in maritos, hoc supplicio plecti, ut assidue dolium pertusum aquâ cogantur implere. A king of the Argives; from whom the Grecians were called Danai; he had fifty daughters, whom he caused to slay their husbands, the fifty sons of his brother Ægyptus, the night they were married; which they all did but one.

Dăni, iidem qui Cimbri. The Danes.

Dănia. Denmark, a kingdom on the North of Germany neer the Baltick; a country abounding with all furniture for shipping.

Dănica sylva. The forest of Dean in Glocestershire, or, as others, Andresweldt betwixt Glocester and Bristol.

Daniel, i. judex meus Deus. One of the four greater Prophets.

Dantes, poeta Florentinus. Volat.

Dantiscum. Dantzick, a rich city in the borders of Polonia, being a free State, till of late that the king of Poland challenged them as subjects to his Crown.

Dănŭbius, Claud. qu. dicas Danivius, à copia nivium quâ augetur, dict. Isid. Cato à Danis ejus accolis nomen accepisse prodit. Al. à sono, qu. Tonnan, unde Bapt. Mant. sonantem voc. Al. qu. Abnobius, à monte Abnoba, priscis Germ. Ἄβνατ, unde oritur, præfixo d. articulo. Versus fontes Danubium, versus ostia Ister dic. unde binominem voc. Ovid. Ostia habet 7. unde septemplicem voc. Strab. septemplicem Ovid. septem geminum Val. Fl. Δανοῦβις. The Danow, the greatest river in Europe; as it passeth by Illyricum it changeth its name, and is called Ister; it receiveth into it sixty more rivers; ariseth in the lowest side of Germany out of the hill Abnoba, and runs into the Euxine sea.

Dănum, Doncaster in Yorkshire.

Danus, fl. Dow or Dane in Yorkshire.

Daphne, es; f. δάφνη, i. laurus, qu. δαφαίνω, i. σὺν τῷ δεῖσθαι φαίνεσθαι, Etym. in igne crepat. Penei fl. filia fingitur, eò quòd ripæ ejus abundant lauro ab Apolline amata ob medicinæ usum, & quòd sit δενδρολής. A Nymph the daughter of Peneus a river of Thessaly, beloved and courted by Apollo, and in his pursuit of her turned into a Laurel or Bay-tree. ◊ Also the pleasant suburbs of Antioch; Capit. τὰ τῆς Ἀντιοχείας προάστια, Procop. a place shaded with trees and watered with springs, and much resorted to for pleasure; whence the proverb, Daphnicis moribus vivere.

Daphnis, idis; m. δαφνίς, i. laurus. A young man of Sicily, the son of Mercury, the first compoyer of Pastorals, who having agreed with a Nymph he loved, that whether of them soever should break their promise they had plighted one to another, should lose both their eyes; and being fallen in love with another, the gods that were called to witness, punished his falshood by striking him blind. ◊ The name of

of a Shepherd in Virg.

Darabs, ſing. Val. Fl. pl. Darabes, pop. Bactrianæ, quorum urbs Darapſa.

Dardănia, opp. Troadis, Plin. à Dardano ibidem regnante. The city of Troy in Phrygia, built by king Dardanus.

Dardănus, Jovis & Electræ filius. Dardanon Electrâ quis neſcit Atlantide natum? Ovid. After the murther of his brother Jaſius, he fled into Samothracia, and afterwards into Aſia, where he took up his abode in the leſſer Phrygia, cloſe by Helleſpont Eaſtward; and built there a city called Dardania, which was afterward called Troy, from Tros the ſon of Erichthonius, and grand-child to Dardanus; and after that Ilium, from Ilus the ſon of Tros. Dardanus Iliacæ primus pater urbis & auctor, Vir. ◊ Alſo an huckſter, that bought up all things he could, to ſell them at a dearer rate; he wrote books of Magick: Plin. unde Dardaniæ artes, i. Magicæ, Col. & Dardanarii, Huckſters, foreſtallers, regraters. Turneb. Dardanides. Of Dardanus ſtock.

Dăres, ētis; m. Phrygius, hiſtoricus. One of the moſt ancient hiſtorians, who wrote the Trojan wars, wherein he was himſelf in perſon, Iſid. which hiſtory, as is commonly and falſly believed, was tranſlated out of Greek into Latin by Corn. Nipos. ◊ Alſo a champion in Virg. a boaſting coward, a daring fellow that dared to nothing.

Darini. People of Cianboy, Rowte, Glyms, Kryne, and of the ſea-coaſts, as far as Loghroyle in Ireland.

Dărius, דריוש, i. requirens aut inquirens. Δαρεῖος, ἐρέτης, Herod. i. coercitor. The name of ſeveral kings of Perſia, one whereof was choſen king by the neighing of his horſe; another ſirnamed Codomanus, was the laſt Emperour of the Perſian Monarchy, being conquered by Alexander. Hinc Daricus nummus aureus.

Darvēnum, Ptol. & Darvernum. Dover.

Dārus, fl. Pannoniæ ſup. qui & Dravus.

Dăſius. A Phyſitian in Martial.

Daſſarenſes, Liv. pop. Macedoniæ in Illyrici confin.

DAVID, idis; m. דויד i. dilectus, Δαβίδ. The ſon of Jeſſe, King of Juda and Iſrael next after Saul; a man after Gods own heart, and Author of thoſe excellent compoſures, which he ſung to his Harp, the Pſalms.

Daulĭa, Liv. vel. Daulis, urbs Phocidis, Terei regis ditio; inde Philomela Daulias dicta, quòd ibi in avem ſui nominis erat verſa; Ovid.

Daunĭa, à Dauno dict. A country in the Eaſt part of Italy, vulgò Puglia plana, or Piana; belonging to the kingdome of Naples.

Daunus, filius Pilumni & Danaes, & avus Turni, maritus Veniliæ, qui in Apulia regnavit, à quo etiam regio illa Daunia dicta eſt. ◊ Alſo a river of Apulia, Hor.

D ante E.

Dea. The river Dee in Cheſhire.

Dēbātæ, plur. Propert. People of Arabia the Happy, where there is a river with golden ſands.

Deborah, דבורה, i. apis. A prophetes, and one of the Iſraelitiſh Judges, who called Barak to her aſſiſtance.

Dĕcamnĭcus. A courtier of Archelaus, who for upbraiding Euripides with his ſtinking breath being ordered to be beaten, for revenge turn'd Rebel. Rhod.

Dĕcăpŏlis, is; f. Δεκάπολις, à δέκα decem & πόλις urbs; id eſt, decem urbium regio. A country or territory, with ten cities belonging to it. One in Paleſtine, the cities whereof are thus reckon'd up; Sephet, Tiberias, Nephtali, Azor, Cæſarea Philippi, Capharnaum, Bethſaida, Chorazin, Bethſan, & Jotapata. ◊ Another in Cœloſyria; of which Damaſcus the chief.

Dĕcĕātes, pop. Galliæ Narbon. quorū opp. Draguinien, vel ut al. Le bourg de Duyſant.

Decentĭus, Magnentii frater; Pomp.

Decianus, viri nomen proprium.

Dĕcĭus, dict. à decem, ſicut Quintius à quinque. The name of divers noble Romans, whereof three did willingly give up their lives for their countrey; 1. The father, in the Latin war. 2. The ſon in the Hetruſcan. 3. The grandchild, in the war againſt Pyrrhus. ◊ Decii ara, locus paludoſus Mæſiæ prope Abrittum, ubi Decii Impp. ſe devoverunt; Jorn.

Dĕcuma, Hiſpaniæ opp.

Dĕcŭmāni, Galliæ populi: Plin.

Dĕcŭmātes. agri in Germania ſunt Tacito; hod. The Dutchy of Wirtemberg.

DEIANIRA, i. pugna hominum, à δῆις hoſtis, & ἀνὴρ vir; ſic dict. quòd belli cauſa erat procis ſuis. The daughter of Œneus king of Ætolia; ſhe was betrothed firſt to Achelous, afterward to Hercules; who fighting for her, Hercules got the better: who being to paſs over a river, Neſſus the Centaure offered to help over his bride; but when Hercules was over, he would have raviſhed her; whereupon Hercules ſhot him with an arrow that was poyſoned with the blood of Hydra, who at his death gave to Deianira a garment dyed with his own blood, perſwading her that if her husband wore that, he could love no other woman but her ſelf. She therefore afterwards hearing that Hercules was faln in love with Iole in Eubœa, ſent him that coat; who having put it on fell mad; whereupon he ſlew Lichas that brought it, and threw himſelf into a bonefire he had made in the mount Oeta. Deianira hearing this, ſlew her ſelf with his Club, of whoſe blood ſprang the herb Nymphæa or Heracleon. Ovid. lib. 9. Metamorph.

Dēĭdămĭa. The daughter of Lycomedes, King of Scyros; on whom Achilles begat Pyrrhus, while he lived there in a womans attire. Propert.

Dēĭŏne, es; f. Mother to Miletus, who of her was called Deionides. Ovid.

Dēĭŏpēia. One of the Nymphs of Juno, which ſhe promiſed to give Æolus to wife. Virg.

Dēĭŏtărus. He was made king of Galatia by Pompey; on whoſe ſide he fought againſt Cæſar, who notwithſtanding pardoned him. Being accuſed to have conſpired Cæſars death, he was defended by Cicero.

Dēĭphŏbe, es; f. Virg. Daughter of Glaucus; ſhe was called Sibylla Cumana, who conducted Æneas to hell.

Dēĭphŏbus. The ſon of Priam and Hecuba; he married Helena after the death of Paris, and was by her delivered into the hands of the Grecians; ſhe opening the chamber-door to them while he was aſleep. Virg.

Deira. The place where Alla or Ella, the firſt king of Northumberland, kept his Court, an. Chr. 508. ſic Func.

Deldon. King of the Myſians and Baſternæ, ſlain by M. Craſſus with his own hand. Rhod.

Delgovitia. Godmundingham in Yorkſhire. Camb.

Deliacus, a, um, qui eſt ex Delo, Cic.

Delius, a, um; qui eſt ex Delo inſula, ut Delius Apollo, & Delia Diana. Delius, one of Mark Antonies Captains, a great turncoat.

Delli, Certain narrow Lakes or Ponds neat to Catana, of a wonderful depth, which the inhabitants call Crateras, i. Goblets or Chalices. Theſe pools were ſacred to the brethren Palici; and were in ſuch veneration, that in doubtful and great matters they would bring men thither to take their oaths.

DELOS, i; f. (ē) à δῆλος, i. manifeſtus, ſic dict. quòd cum antè mari operta eſſet repentè ſeſe oſtenderit Latonæ locum ad pariendum quærenti, quum ex ea natus Apollo, qui inde Delius, & Diana, quæ etiam Delia dicta eſt; unde Latonia Delos, Virg. vel quòd in diluvio Ogygis tempore prima inter alias aquis emerſerit. An Iſland in the Ægean ſea, being the chief of the Cyclades, where Latona was delivered of Apollo and Diana, to whom therefore the Iſland was ever after conſecrated, and held a place of ſo great devotion, that the Perſians when they made war againſt Greece, and had brought to Delos a navy of a thouſand ſail, yet out of reverence they forbore medling with any thing there. It was once a floating Iſland, therefore by Ovid called erratica Delos. It was not lawful to bring up a dog in the Iſland, nor to bury any dead body in it, neither was any to bring forth children there; wherefore if any one were ſick, or great with child, they were removed to ſome of the neighbouring Iſlands: It had formerly been called Ortygia, Aſteria, Cynthia, Lagia, Chlamydia, Gynethus, & Pyrpile. Hinc Delius a, um; & Deliacus, a, um.

DELPHI, orum; m. & pro urbe & pro civibus: eſt & ſing. Delphos, i. Ovid. dict. à Delpho Neptuni filio, vel à Delpho Deucalionis filio, qui ibi imperavit, an. M. 2460. Hinc Apollo Delphicus, vel, ut Macrob. vult, ab ant. δελφός, quod ſig. ſolum, quia interdiu ſolus lucet, unde & Sol dicitur, qu. ſolus. A city of Phocis in Greece (now called Delfo, Sabona and Caſtri,) ſeated on the hill Parnaſſus, where the Oracle of Apollo was, unto which all the Grecians did reſort for Counſel in matters of any great importance; which at Chriſt's birth was ſilenced. It was ſeated in the midſt of the inhabited world, as they fancied, whereupon they called it the Navel of the world: Liv. which was found out by Jupiter ſending out two Eagles to fly one from the Eaſt, the other from the Weſt, who met at this place; Claud. Delphicus, a, um. Of that place. Hinc Delphica, menſa poculorum, quæ & Abacus, quod eſſet menſæ illi ſimilis, cui Delphis inſidebat Pythia,

Pythia, dum oracula ederet.

Delphinius, dict. Apollo non quòd in delphina transformatus classi ducem se præstitisset, sed quòd Delphinem emiserit, quem consecuti Cretenses Cirrham sunt delati. Rhod.

Delphini portus, hod. Porto Fin or Fino, 15 miles off Genoa.

Delphinus, syderis nomen; Ovid.

Delta, dict. quòd literæ Græcæ Δ imaginem referat. An Isle in Egypt made by the division of the river Nilus, not far from Alexandria; vulgò Mabelech.

Delt&ton. A Constellation of a triangular shape like the Greek Δ; the same as that of Andromeda; Cic.

Demades. An Athenian Orator, a great adversary to Demosthenes, who suddenly would rise up and finish what faint Demosthenes for want of premeditation and ability could not utter.

Demagoras, δημαγόρος, i. concionator. A Parasite whom the Athenians fined ten talents for calling Alexander a god.

Demaratus. A Lacedemonian captain, who being banished his country, and living at Athens, he heard and saw all the plots and forces which the Athenians used for the overthrow of Lacedæmonia; wherefore thinking himself more ingaged to his native Countrey, then to Athens, he disclosed the whole project: vix. temp. Philip. Maced. Plut. ℌ Also a rich merchant of Corinth, who flying from the tyrant Cypselus, came and dwelt in Hetruria, where he begat Tarquinius Priscus the fifth king of the Romans. Cic.

Demarchus, δήμαρχος, i. princeps populi, lat. Tribunus plebis. The name of a Champion, who tasting of the intrals of a child offered in sacrifice, was changed into a Wolf, and ten years after restored to his own shape again.

Demas, mercator Thessalonicensis idem & Evangelista, D. Pauli adjutor.

Demea, i. popularis. An old clownish man in Terence.

Demetæ. People of West-Wales in Carmardenshire, Pembrokeshire, and Cardiganshire.

Demetrias, à Demetrio quodam ibid. regnante. A Town of Thessaly first called Pagasa. ℌ Also the Isle Paros so called, which is one of the Cyclades.

Demetrius, i. Cerealis, a δημήτηρ, i. Ceres, qu. γῆ μήτηρ, i. Terra mater dict. Divers famous men so called; the chief whereof was a king of Macedon, son to Antigonus, sirnamed Poliorcetes: of so manly a port, that no Painter could truly counterfeit him; whom Plutark has paralled with Mark Anthony. In his Visage did reside Majesty and Mercy, Gravity and Affability; in recreation most pleasant; in affairs requisite, most vigilant; lustful, and yet valiant; obedient to his parents: he waged war against four Kings at once, and vanquished all, Ptolomæus, Lysimachus, Seleucus, and Pyrrhus: at last he was taken prisoner by Seleucus. ℌ Another sirnamed Phalereus scholar of Theophrastus, by his vertue and discreet government he inriched Athens very much, being Ruler there ten years: In which time they set up 36 Images in honour of him: Afterwards in his absence, by the slandrous accusations of some malicious persons, he was condemned to dye, and they pulled down all those Images, save one in the Castle: When Demetrius heard of this, he said, Yet for all that, they have not pluckt down that vertue for which they did set up those Images. ℌ Also one a Silver-smith; Act. 19.

Demiurgus δημιοργός, i. magistratus, sic dict. præfectus civitatum quarundam in Græcia. Liv.

Dēmochāres, δημοχάρης, i. populare auram captans: An Athenian Orator, Nephew to Demosthenes, who being sent to king Philip as Embassadour, and asked by him how he might oblige the Athenians; why! said he, hang your self. The King dismissed him without doing any thing to him, only bade him ask those who had sent him, Whether were more noble, the patient bearer, or venter of such unseemly language. Sen.

Democles, i. decus populare. vid. Damocles.

Democoon, ontis; m. A natural son of King Priamus, who kept his fathers horses at Abydus, and was slain in the Trojan war by Ulysses.

Democrates, δημοκράτης, populum regens. A Physician in Pliny.

DEMOCRITUS, δημόκριτος, i. populi judex. (ῐ̄, ŏ, ĭ.) An excellent Philosopher of Abdera, who travelled over great part of the world for knowledg, and returning home confined himself to a little garden, where he might more freely meditate on the works of nature; from which his meditation that outward objects might not withdraw his mind, he blinded himself by looking upon a bright brazen bason. He laughed at peoples eager pursuit of riches and honour, when as their children, for whom they provided them, were often dead before them. The people taking him to be mad, sent Hippocrates to him, who after discourse with him told them Democritus was not mad, but they were to think him so. He would always laugh at the follies of men (as Heraclitus would weep at them) whereof he was also called Gelasinus. Hic dixit omnia ex atomis fieri, & plures esse mundos, eosq; corruptibiles: His father was so wealthy, that at one time he feasted Xerxes and his army. He died at the age of 99 years.

Demogorgon. A Magician so skilful, that he could command the spirits, and punish them, if they did not do as he would have them.

Demonax, sic dict. qd. ἐν τῷ δήμῳ victum queritabat. A Philosopher in Adrians time, who contrary to all other Philosophers hated solitarines, and went into all companies.

Demonidas. A lame Pedant, qui cum crepidas amisisset, imprecabatur furi ut pedibus convenirent. Rhod.

Demophoon, ontis; m. The son of Theseus and Phædra, the welfish king of Athens, who in his return from Troy, landed in Thrace, where Phyllis King Lycurgus his daughter fell in love with him, and entertain'd him at bed and board. He after a time going for Athens, promised to come to her again; but because he did not perform his promise, she hanged her self upon an Almond-tree. ℌ Also a Prophet who foretold the danger that was like to befal Alexander. Curt.

Demopolis, δημόπολις, populi civitas. The son of Themistocles. Rhod.

DEMOSTHENES, is; m. (ē̆, ĕ.) δημοσθένης, i. populi robur. The most famous Orator of Greece: he was the son of a Blacksmith, and Plato's scholar; he having an impediment in his speech that he could not pronounce the letter r, by putting stones in his mouth, and declaiming upon the sea-shore, attained to a perfect way of speaking. When Philip had besieged Athens, he promised to raise his siege, if they would give in hostage ten Orators. Demosthenes told them this story, that the Wolves desired a League with the Shepherds, upon this condition, that the cause of strife might be taken away, which was the shepherds Mastiffs; this being granted, the Wolves without all fear made havock of the Sheep. Even so would Philip do with you, said he, if once you deliver to him your Watchmen, your Orators. When Antipater succeeded Alexander, he fled to save his life; but Archias was sent to apprehend him, but he to prevent it drank poyson which he had prepared and kept in his pen for that purpose, and so ended his life.

Demoteles. One of those, who wrote of the Pyramids of Egypt. Plin.

Dentatus, cognomen Curii, quia cum dentibus natus est; Plin.

Deo, δέω, Ceres dict. qu. παρὰ τὸ δῆν τὸ ἐφίεσθαι, i. invenio, quòd frugum fuerit inventrix; hinc Deois dict. Proserpina. Ceres so called.

Deorum currus, θεῶν ὄχημα, Libyæ interioris mons. Plin.

Derbe, civ. Lycaoniæ, Act. 14.

Derbices. People near the Caspian sea, worse than Stoicks; they punish all crimes with death; they kill and eat their friends after seventy years of age, but old women they only strangle, and bury them presently. Strab.

Derce, & Dercenna, Mart. fons frigidissimus æstate inter Bilbilin & Segobrigam.

Derceto, vel Dercetis; f. Ovid. An Idol worshipped at Joppa and Ascalon, called also Atergatis, and Dagon; the upper part like man, downward like a fish.

Dertosa. The city of Tortosa in Spain.

Derventio. The river Derwent, that runs by Derby.

Desmonia. Desmond.

Desticos. A little Island near Thrace.

Deva, Britannicè Dyffyrdwy, i. Aqua Dwy, salmonibus admodùm ferax; è duobus in Wallia montibus enascitur, & inde dict. credunt. Διὸ p. n. duo illorum idiomate denotat: alii vim verbi sequentes Nigrum appell. al. Dei aquam; vid. Cambd. The river of Dee in Cheshire in England. ℌ Also the river and town of Dondee in Scotland.

Devana, A town called Doncaster in Yorkshire; but that is Danorum castra. Others interpret it Aberdon in Scotland nigh the river Dee (called Deua, or Diua) or the town called Dondee there. By Camb. it is called the City of Chester, called also West-chester, in Cheshire, nigh the river Deva, or Dee; and the same is called Leage-caster, qu. castra legionis, so called from the twentieth Legion, called victrix, which was sent thither in the time of Galba the Emperour.

Deucalidonii. The Picts, inhabiting the West of Scotland, Cambd.

DEUCALION, ōnis; m. Δευκαλίων, quòd ante diluvium hominibus denunciaret, nunciaret, dicens Δεῦτε, καλὴ ἐμὴ ἐστὶ ὁ Διὸς εἰς μετάνοιαν, Theoph. vel ob pietatem, qu. Διὰ ηὐλίων, Jovem invocans. Idem cum Noacho, cujus historiam Ethnici huic homini affingunt. The son of Prometheus, who married Pyrrha, daughter to Epimetheus. When he reigned in Thessaly, came the Deluge or universal flood, which drowned all the world; only he and his wife Pyrrha got into a little shalop, which was carried into the mount Parnassus, and there stayed, where the dry land first appeared: when the flood was gone, he consulted with the Oracle of Themis, how mankind might be repaired; and he was answered, if he cast his great mothers bones behind his back; whereupon they took stones, and cast them over their shoulders, and they became men and women; whence they say came λαὸς populus, of λᾶας lapis, as Ovid descants upon it, Unde homines nati durum genus. This was no other then Noah's flood; and Plutark mentions the very Dove, that was sent out of the Ark by Deucalion, says he; that is, by Noah. Hinc Deucalioneus, a, um. Of, &c. Deucalioneos imbres, i. ingentes; Lucn.

Develton. A mid-land town of Thrace; Plin.

Deverra dea ab antiquis existimabatur, quam venerabantur, ut scopis domum verrere possent.

Deunana, vulgò Doncaster in England.

Devona. A town in Silesia, now called Newmark.

Devonia. Devonshire.

Dexamene, gr. δεξαμένη, i. recipiens, à δέχομαι recipio. A Nymph of the sea.

Dexicreontis, Venus dicta est à Dexicreonte Samio Nauclero, qui Veneris jussu aqua navim suam in expeditione quadam oneravit; quam, cum socii sitirent, à se tanquam à promo publico pecuniâ redimerent, quo dives factus Veneri statuam grati animi indicem posuit, quam suo, i. Dexicreontis nomine insignivit. Rhod.

Deximontani. People of Carmania, upon the river Granius. Plin.

D ante I.

Dia. The name of a goddess amongst the Sicyonians, which is thought to be the same with Hebe the goddess of youth. ✠ Also an Island in the Ægean sea, being one of the Cyclades, seventeen miles distant from Delos; where Theseus left Ariadne asleep, Ovid. whom afterwards Bacchus married. It is otherwise called Naxus. ✠ Also the name of several cities.

Diabatina, gr. i. transitiva, sacrificia erant apud Græcos, quæ in transitu alicuo fiebant, Plut.

Diablintres, pop. Armoricæ, hod. Diableres; Cæs.

Diactor, διάκτωρ, i. interncncius. Mercury so called by the Poets, as being the messenger of the gods.

Diadūmēnus, διαδούμενος, i. redimitus. A handsom boy in Martial.

Diagoras, gr. i. concionator. A man of Rhodes, whose three sons having on the same day won the prizes in the games of Olympus, set their garlands on their fathers head, who with excess of joy ended his life in his sons arms. Cic. ✠ Another an Athenian Philosopher, surnamed θεός, i. the Atheist, who denied there was any God, or rather only set at nought the Idols and false gods of his time. For which contempt he was banished by the Athenians, who promised a talent for a reward to him that should slay him.

Dialis, le, adj. à Dijovis Var. Rect. ab eo quod Græci Jovem Δία vocant. Belonging to Jupiter, Whence Flamen Dialis had his name, who was the high priest of Jupiter, instituted by Numa Pompilius; he only was priviledged to wear the Albo-galerum, i. a White Miter made of Sheep-skins; none was capable of this office but he that was married; neither was it lawful for him to marry twice, but if his wife dyed, he resigned his office of Priesthood: None might fetch fire out of his house, unless it were to perform some sacrifice therewith; neither might any poll or barb him, but a freeman of the city.

Diamastigōsis. διαμαστίγωσις, flagellatio. Sacri genus apud Lacedæmonios, in quo ante aram nobiles adolescentes sese mutuis verberibus afficiebant astantibus propinquis.

DIANA, æ; f. (ā) à διὸς, qu. Jovviana, utpote Jovis filia; vel Diana, qu. Duana, quòd duobus temporibus, & die & nocte appareat. vel à Die, Diana; quòd per noctem lucens, penè alterum faciat diem; Firm. vel à Jana, d literâ appositâ, Macr. est enim Sol Janus, Luna Jana. vel qu. Diviana, i. diva Jana, vel ex Dea Jana, Jos. Scal. Simpl. vel à Διὸς primâ brevi, i. Jovis filia; vel à δῖος δία, primâ longâ; uti apud Virg. Exercet Diana Choros. Ἄγριμος græcè dic. ab ἀγριμὸς integer, ob virginitatis illibatæ laudem. The daughter of Jupiter by Latona, at the same birth with Apollo; who out of love to chastity, avoiding all consort and acquaintance with men, with some Nymphs in her company retired into the Woods, and there exercis'd her self in hunting of wild beasts, carrying about with her a bow and a quiver; whereupon she was called the goddess of the Woods, much honoured for her Chastity, having many Temples dedicated unto her, of which that at Ephesus was the most renowned. She is also taken for the Moon, as Apollo for the Sun. In cœlo Phœbe dic. in terris Diana, apud inferos Hecate voc. ✠ Turba Diania, Ovid. A pack of hounds. Arma Diania, Grat. Huntsmens weapons.

Dianæ fons. A spring in Sicily, the water whereof will not mingle with wine. Solin.

Diānium. A town of Tarracon in Spain, vulgo Denia.

Diaphānes, διαφανὴς, i. transparens; A river of Cilicia. Plin.

Diapolitus, Ægyptiorum rex, cui & nomen erat Ammesis. Oros.

Diasia, i. Jovialia. Feasts of Jupiter among the Athenians.

Diaula One of the four Porches or Portico's in Rome.

Diaulus. A fellow in Martial, that from Physician turned Sexton.

Dibutades. A Potter in Corinth which first taught how to make vessels with figures and pictures of men on them. Plin.

Dicæarchus, Messenius; δικαίαρχος, justus imperator. A Philosopher who thought mankind had no beginning, but that a succession of men had been from all Eternity, denying the soul to be of any substance.

Dicarchēa urbs, Sil. quòd ea civ. quondā justissimè regeretur; nunc Puteoli.

Dice, es; f. δίκη, i. justitia; Dea præses judiciorum, virgo Jovis filia, Rhod.

Dictamnum, Cretæ insulæ opp. unde dictamnus herba.

Dicte, mons Cretæ à nympha ejusdem nominis quæ in eo colebatur dict. hinc Jupiter Dictæus, quòd ibi educatus erat. Dictæa nymphe, i. Cretenses, Vir.

Dictum. A town in Wales, now called Diganwey; Cambd.

Dictynna, ἀπὸ τῆς δικτύου, i. à plagis & retibus dict. A Nymph of Crete called before Britomartis, who first found out hunting nets, whence she had the name: Some say that Minos king of Crete was in love with her, and when she could by no means avoid his violence, she threw her self headlong down a rock, and then being taken up again by fishers nets, she had from thence her name. She was one of Diana's companions; whence Diana her self is so called.

Dictys, à δίκτυον, i. rete. A fisherman that brought up Perseus; Stat. ✠ Also one of the Centaures, slain by Pirithous at the Nuptials of Hippodamia; Ovid. ✠ Also an Historian called Cretensis, he went to the wars of Troy, where he wrote the history of it. Suidas relates, that in the time of Claudius Cæsar there was a great earthquake in Crete, so that the graves were opened, in one of which this history of his was found.

Dida, Pæoniæ præfectus; Liv.

Didius Julianus, Romanorum Imperator 20. A very frugal man: he made law called Didia Lex, to restrain excess in feasting, with a penalty upon the guests, as well as the entertainer. Macrob.

DIDO, ūs; f. (ī) Phœnicum lingua, fœm. unde David, דוד i. dilecta; quæ & Eliza. The daughter of Belus king of Tyre, married to Sichæus, one of Hercules Priests, whom when her brother Pygmalion had for his treasure basely murthered, she with some others packing up all her wealth got a ship, and sailed into that part of Africk, which is called Zeugitana, and bought there as much land as she could compass with a Bulls hide: she cut the hide into small thongs, and it inclosed a great quantity of ground, on which she built Carthage, and a Castle in it, which she called therefore Byrsa, that is, the Hide. Hyarbas, king of the Getulians, would have forced her by arms to marry him; but she rather than stain her former bed, kill'd her self. Virgil feign'd that she kiled her self because that Æneas forsook her; but that by the account of Chronologers is impossible. For Æneas came into Italy 930 years before the building of Rome; and Dido, they tell us, began to build Carthage 70 years after Rome was built.

Didymæus, Apollo dictus est, quòd geminam speciem sui nominis præferat, illuminando, formandóque lunam. Macr.

Didymaon, armorum artifex eximius, Virgil.

Didyme, ūna Cycladum; Ovid. Item urbs vel insula Siciliæ; Id.

Didymus, δίδυμος, i, Geminus, vel gemellus. A Surname of S. Thomas the Apostle. ✠ Also the name of several men. One a Grammarian, in Augustus time; a great writer, Quint. he put forth

3500 Books.

Diespiter. Hor. Jupiter, qu. Diei, h. e. lucis pater: Macrob.

Digentia, Hor. A river of Italy, hod. Rivo del Sole.

Dijövis, quòd nos die juvet, ut sit id. quod Diespiter; Gell. qu. Dem Jovis, Voss.

Dimas, cursor nobilis; Stat.

Dimastus. An Island about Rhodes, the inhabitants whereof all grow bald.

Dinah, i. judicium, quò & Danaes nomen alludit. The daughter of Jacob, ravished by Sichem.

Dinarētum, Cape di S. Andrea, prom. Cypri orientale; Plin.

Dindymēne, es; f. Hor. dict. quòd in Dindymo Phrygiæ monte ejus sacra ferent. Cybel so called.

Dindymus, qu. δίδυμος, i. biceps, eò quòd duplicem habeat verticem; vel quòd Aura ex Bacche gravida ibi peperit τὰ δίδυμα, i. gemellos. In Acc. Dindymon Ovid. plur. Dindyma, Virg. A high hill of Phrygia.

Dinŏcrātes. A riotous Philosopher of Messena. Plut.

Dio Cassius. An Historian and Consul of Rome.

Diocletiānus Jovius 38. Imp. Rom. When he had reigned 22 years, and atchieved many great exploits, he gave over his government of the Empire, and retired himself into the countrey, and lived a private life.

Diochares, Cæsaris libertus; Cic.

Diŏdōrus, Διόδωρος, i. Jovis donum. The name of divers learned men. ¶ One of Sicily, an excellent Historian in Jul. Cæsars time. ¶ Another, a Stoick, who taught Cicero Logick.

DIOGENES, διογένης, i. Jovis natus, called also Cynicus, κυνικὸς, à κύων canis. A famous Cynick Philosopher, Antisthenes his Scholar: he had no food but such as was given him daily, whence he was called ἀφοδιώτης, in diem vivens, because he never provided any thing beforehand: He would live in no house but a tub; of which he turned the open side to the Sun in the winter, and contrary in summer, and could tumble his tub, and change his dwelling, whither, and when he pleased. Alexander the great came to see him, and bid him ask what ever he would, and he would give it him: Then said Diogenes, Stand from betwixt me and the Sun, lest thou take from me that which thou canst not give me. Alexander so little moved at his curish reply, profest openly, if he were not Alexander, he could be content to be Diogenes. ¶ Diogenes Laertius. He wrote the Lives of the Philosophers.

Diŏgĕnīānus. A Grammarian of Heraclea, in Adrian's time, who writ an Alphabetical Dictionary.

Dionētus, Διόγνητος, i. à Jove genitus. An Historian who writ the journies or jests of Alexander; Jul. Capit. ¶ Also a Painter in the time of Antoninus. Plin.

Diŏmedēæ, insulæ, ubi disparuisse aiunt Diomedem, & socios ejus ob dolorem in aves conversos, quæ ob id Diomedeæ vocatæ sunt: duæ dicuntur Plinio, quarum altera habitatores habet, altera deserta est. Ortel. 5. statuuntur, quarum maxima monasterio decorata est. S. Mariæ de Tremiti nomen refert. 2. S. Domino: 3. Caprara: 4. Credazza: 5. Vecchia, i. vetulæ, vel ut al. Gotiazzo: Sitæ sunt hæ insulæ omnes in mari Adriatico è regione Gargani, vulgò monte de S. Angelo.

Diŏmēdes, Διομήδης, i. Jovis consilium. A king of Thrace, who fed his horses with mans flesh; Hercules slew him, and threw him to be eaten by his own horses. ¶ Another, a king of Ætolia, the son of Tydeus and Deipyle, one of the Grecian worthies in the Trojan wars; At his return from Troy he was ashamed to go home, by reason of Ægiale his wives baseness and lewd carriage, but went into Apulia in Italy, and there got the Kingdom with Dannus, and built some towns. From his father he is called Tydides, Vlv. from his countrey Ætolius heros, Ovid. Calydonius heros, Stat.

Dion. A noble man of Syracuse that loved Plato, by whose counsel he rid the countrey of Dionysius the tyrant. Plut. ¶ Also a Philosopher of Prusa, whom the Emperour Trajan used with great respect; Suid.

Diōne. A Sea-Nymph, the mother of Venus by Jupiter; whence she is called Dionæa, Virg. & Cæsar, as descended from her, Dionæus; Id.

Diōnysia, τὰ Διονύσια, i. Bacchanalia, à Dionysius, i. e. Bacchus; Terent.

Diōnysias, à vinearum fertilitate dict. vel quòd Dionysio, i. Baccho sacra. The Isle of Naxus in the Ægean Sea.

Dionysiodōrus. A noble Geometrician, Plin. ¶ Also an excellent musician; Id.

Diōnysiŏpŏlis, ἡ τῦ Διονύσου πόλις, i. Bacchi civitas; ad locum enim istum (ut refert Plin.) Dionysii simulachrum è mari appulit. A city of Pontus called formerly Crunos; also a city of India within Ganges, now called by some Nagara, by others Nerg, and by others Nysa, Ortel. ¶ Dionysiopolitæ. The people. Cic.

DIONYSIUS, Διόνυσος, vini inventor, Jovis ex Semele Thebana filius, quem & Bacchum, & Liberum patrem dicimus; dict. quasi Διδίνυσος, παρὰ τὸ διδόναι τὸν οἶνον, quòd largiatur vinum; vel qu. Διάλυσος, quòd curas solvit: al. dict. volunt. qu. διὸς νῦς, i. Jovis mens; al. ἀπὸ τῦ συνιέναι καὶ σοφίζεσθαι· al. ἀπὸ τῦ διανύσαι, i. perficiendo. al. ἀπὸ τῦ νύσσειν τὸν Δία, τιτθίζειν τὸν νῦν, quòd excitet mentem. A voce Indicâ Δεῦνος, i. Βασιλεὺς, ut fuerit Διὸς καὶ ἀνὰξ Νύσης; Tzetz. At illud Indarum Δεῦνος ab Heb. דין judicare, unde & אדון dominus dict. A νύσσω, i. αἰνῶ laudo, linguâ Syracus. quòd Jupiter eum femori insertum gestans, claudicaret; Nonn. Rect. à Διὸς & Νῦσα, quòd à Jove in Nysa genitus. A name of Bacchus. ¶ Also the name of two Tyrants of Sicily, the last of which two ruled with such tyranny, that all his people were weary of his government, only one old woman prayed for his life; he hearing of it, asked her why she prayed for his life; quoth she, I can remember when I was a girl, we had one cruel tyrant, and I would ever be wishing his death; then came another, and he was worse; then camest thou, worse than all the former; and if thou wert gone, I fear what would become of us if we should have a worse. After being banished, he went to Corinth, where he lived poor and mean; whence the proverb Dionysius Corinthi, used to signifie such an one as is fallen from great honours to as great contempt: Last of all he turned Schoolmaster, so that when he could not over-rule men, yet he might tyrannize over children. ¶ There were also others, learned men of this name; one whereof was a Stoick Philosopher, one of Zeno's scholars, who when he was tormented with the stone, cried out, Zeno my master taught me false, when he said, That grief was no ill thing. ¶ Another called Dionysius Alexandrinus Library-keeper to Trajan. ¶ Dionys. Halicarnasseus, An Historian, who hath writ of the original and affairs of Rome. ¶ Dionysius Areopagita, præsul Atheniensis, D. Pauli discipulus. He when he was in Egypt to get knowledge, and saw an Eclipse of the Sun, contrary to nature, at the passion of our Saviour Christ, together with Apollophanes the Sophist his instructer, said, Aut Deus naturæ patitur, aut mundi machina dissolvetur, Either the God of nature suffereth, or the frame of the world will be dissolved. ¶ Dionysius Periegetes. Who lived in Augustus time, and wrote a Geography in Greek Hexameters. ¶ Also one of the seven Champions, S. Dennis for France.

Diŏphānes, διοφανὴς, à Jove lucens. A Rhetorician master to Gracchus. Cic.

Diophantus. The name of several Writers; one of whom has writ of Arithmetick.

Diŏpœnus & Scyllis. Two men of Crete, the first engravers of marble. Plin.

Diŏres, A mans name, whom Turnus slew; Virg.

Dioscŏrides, sirnamed Phacas; a famous Physician of Anazarba, in Nero's time; he wrote of the nature of Herbs twenty four books: Suid. ¶ Also an ingraver in Augustus time, Plin. ¶ Also an Astrologer; Censorin.

Diŏscoros. An Isle in the borders of Italy, over against the promontory Lacinium. Pl.

Diŏscūri, διὸς κοῦροι, διὸς κοῦραι, Jovis filii: Castor & Pollux, The sons of Jupiter, by Leda; Luckie to mariners, when they appeared double. ¶ Also the name of a Ship in the Acts.

Dioscūrĭas. gr. Διοσκουπολις, Ptol. hod. Sevastopoli dict. A City of Colchis, wherein were people of three hundred divers nations.

Diospŏlis, ἡ τῦ Διὸς πόλις, i. Jovis civitas. A city in Egypt, formerly called Hecatompylos.

Diŏtime, ἡ τῦ Διὸς τιμὴ, Jovis gloria. A woman so well skilled in Philosophy, that Socrates went to hear her Lectures.

Diotrĕphes; i. à Jove nutritus. A man who opposed the Apostles. 3 Joh.

Dioxippus, ὁ διώκων ἵππους, i. equos insequens. A notable wrestler; Plin. ¶ Also a Souldier of Alexanders. Curt.

Diphilus, i. Jovis amicus. A stem workman; unde prov. Diphilo tardior; Cic.

Dipsas, ădis; f. à δίψα sitis; Ovid. A drunken old Bawd. ¶ Also a kind of Serpent; Lucan.

Dipsas, antis; m. Luc. i. sitiens, à δίψα sitis. A river of Cilicia, rising out of the hill Taurus.

Dipson, Arabiæ locus montibus asper, & aquarum inops; unde ei nomen. Plin.

Diræ

Diræ, qu. deorum iræ, Acherontis & Noctis filiæ, animorum sibi male conſciorum exagitatrices. The furies. Virg.

Dirce, es; f. ab Arab. דרקא à cæruleo aquæ colore; unde cærula Dirce dic. ap. Stat. Wife to Lycus King of Thebes, whom he married after he had divorced Antiope; who perceiving Antiope big with child, (for after her divorce Jupiter had lain with her) and miſtruſting that her husband ſtill kept her company, put her in priſon; whence toward the time of her delivery Jupiter releas'd her, and ſhe was brought to bed of two twins, Amphion and Zethus, who afterward ſlew Lycus, and tying Dirce to the tail of a wild Bull, dragged her about, till at length the Gods out of pity turn'd her into a fountain of her own name, not far from Thebes. Hinc Dircæus, a, um; i. Thebanus. Cygnus Dircæus, Hor. The Poet Pindar.

Dircenna. A cold ſpring neer to Bilbo in Spain. Mart.

Diris, mons Mauritaniæ, cæli columna ob altitudinem dict. The hill into which Atlas was changed.

Dis, ditis, m. inferorum deus, qui & Pluto à πλούτος, à divitiis dict. quæ ab inferis, i. e. ab intimis terræ viſceribus eruuntur. Eſt a. Dis contractum à Dives.

Dithyrambus; cognomen Bacchi, vel quòd in antro διθύρου, i. bifori nutritus fuerit, vel quòd bis natus binas fores tranſierit, alvum matris ſcil. & femur Jovis, unde & Bimater dict. A ſirname of Bacchus. ◊ Alſo a kind of verſe ſung in his praiſe.

Diva. The river Dee in Scotland, which falls into the Sea at Aberdeen.

Divio, qu. divorum ſeu deorum civ. The chief city of Burgundy, called Dijon.

Diviſæ, vel caſtrum Devies. The Vies or Devizes.

Divodurum, Tacit. urbs, hodiè Metz, dict. ut al. Theonville, i. e. Theonis villa. The chief city of Lorrain.

D ante O.

Dobūni, Angliæ pop. Gloceſter and Oxfordſhire-men.

Docleа, urbs Dalmatiæ; hod. Antivari. Docleatæ, pop. Plin.

Dōdōna, civitas Chaoniæ, reg. Epiri, ſic dict. à Dodone Jovis & Europæ filia; huic propinquum erat nemus Jovi ſacrum, ubi Jovis Dodonæi templum fuiſſe dicitur, unde & Dodonides Nymphæ appel. Liberi patris nutrices. Columbas in hâc ſylvâ vaticinantes fiugunt, quòd mulieres fatidicas ſeu divinatrices Theſſali πελειάδας, i. columbas vocarent. Alii arbores ipſas in hoc nemore fuiſſe vocales volunt, & conſulentibus oracula edere ſolitas. Hinc Dodonæum æs, die noctâque crepitans, unde ad homines loquaciores proverbio transferri ſolet illud, Nec Dodonæi ceſſat tinnitus ahenæ: Auſon. ◊ Eſt etiam Dodonæ fons gelidus, qui immerſas faces extinguit: ſi extinctæ admoveantur, accendit.

Dodonis quercus, Val. Fl. quæ Dodonia quercus, Claud.

Dolabella, dim. à dolabra, familiæ Romanæ nomen, ex gente Lentulorum, uti paret quòd P. Lentulus gener Ciceronis (quod ait Macrob.) idem & Dolabella dictus ſit. Hinc Dolabelliana pyra, Plin. A ſort of pears either found out, or much prized by ſome of that family, having a long ſtalk.

Doliche, opp. Macedoniæ. Liv.

Dolichiſte, i. longiſſima; inſ. Lyciæ contra Chimæram montem. Plin.

Dolon, ōnis; m. à δόλος fraus, dolus. A Trojan ſwift of foot, who coming into the Grecian Camp as a ſpy, was taken by Ulyſſes, and after he had in hopes of having his life given him, made a diſcovery of all the Trojans purpoſes, was by him ſlain that he might tell no more tales.

Dŏlŏpes, um; m. Virg. à Dolope quodam dicti. People of Theſſaly: inde Dolopeius; Val. Fl.

Domiduca, quia veteri ritu ſponſas ad ſponſos domum ducere prima nocte conſueverant; nuptiis autem Juno præeſſe credebatur. Juno ſo called.

Dominicus. A noble Captain of the Venetian forces by Sea, called alſo Michael, vid. Blond. ◊ Alſo a Monk in Spain the Founder of that Order of Monks called Ordo Prædicatorum, circ. ann. Chr. 1200. who were after confirmed by Honorius the third, circ. annum Chriſti 1220.

Domitianus. The twelfth Emperour of Rome, after his father Veſpaſian, and brother Titus. A cruel perſon, and a perſecuter of the Chriſtians. He uſed to be much in private, where he did nothing but kill Flies, and prick them through with a needle. Whereupon one Criſpus being demanded who was with the Emperor, anſwered, Not ſo much as a fly is with him. vid. Sueton.

Domitius. The name of divers Romans, one whereof called Nero, was Emperor.

Domitius Marſus. A Poet, who wrote a large luſtian poem of Hercules his war with the Amazons. Mart.

Domitius Afer, Nemauſenſis, clarus orator, ſub Tiberio; Quint.

Domnonii, rectiùs Danmonii, à ſtanni fodinis quas Britanni Meina vocant; aut quòd convallibus habitant, quæ Danmunith app. Camb. People of Devonſhire and Cornwal.

Donatus. A Heretick of Africk about the time of Conſtantine the Great, whoſe followers were called Donatiſts. He went off from the Church upon a diſcontent that he miſt of the Biſhoprick of Carthage: He would allow no Church to be a true Church, but what was pure from all ſin. He rebaptized thoſe who had bin baptized by them he called Hereticks. ◊ Alſo a Biſhop of of Bercæa, famous for his miracles, Euſ. 9. cap. 16. ◊ Alſo a learned Grammarian, that was S. Hierom's Maſter, and made comments upon Terence.

Dōnyſa. An Iſland in the Ægean Sea, where green marble is to be found. Vir.

Dorcades, i. Capreæ, vel Damulæ. Certain Iſlands in the Atlantick Sea, oppoſite to the Heſperides; called now Iſlas de cabo verde, Merc.

Dorcas, i. caprea vel damula, mulieris nomen, quæ Tabitha Syris dic.

Dorceſtria. Dorcheſter, the chief town of Dorſetſhire. ◊ Alſo a town within 7 miles of Oxford, once a Biſhops See, tranſlated to Lincoln.

Dorceus, δορκικὸς, acute videns, vel ſic dict. quod τὰς δορκάδας, i. capras inſequitur. One of Actæons dogs called Spial, or Quick-ſight.

Dores, pl. m. Δωριεῖς; unde Dorica ſc. regio; à Doro Neptuni filio dict. Serv. A part of Achaia, from which the Dorick dialect had its original.

Dorion. A town of Magneſia where Thamyras the harper challenged the Muſes. Lucan.

Dōris. A nymph of the ſea, daughter of Oceanus and Thetis, who being married to her brother Nereus, brought forth many nymphs, called of their Father Nereides. ◊ Alſo it is ſometimes put for the ſea it ſelf; Virg. ◊ Alſo a Country in Greece, à Doro ibid. regnante. Dores, pop. Dorica caſtra, i. Græca; Virg. ◊ Alſo the wife of Dionyſius the Tyrant of Sicily. Cic.

Dŏrŏbernia ſive Durovernum. Canterbury.

Dorothea, à δῶρον τοῦ Θεοῦ, i. donum Dei. Dorothy a noble beautiful Lady of Alexandria, a Chriſtian in the time of Maximinus the Tyrant: whom being by his laws to be put to death for her religion, he privately by meſſengers attempted her chaſtity. But ſhe alleaged that it was as unlawful to pollute the temple of her body, which ſhe had conſecrated to God, with luſt, as with idolatry. With which anſwer he inraged, reſolved to force her; whereupon ſhe leaving her eſtate and family and all, only with ſome few ſervants in her company fled by night and left the Tyrant in the lurch. Euſeb.

Dorſenus Fabius. A comick Poet, quoted by Pliny.

Dorſettia. Dorcheſter.

Dorventani. The people of Derbyſhire.

Dorus. The ſon of Epaphus, from whom the Pygmæi or dwarf-people had their original. ◊ Alſo the ſon of Neptune, of whom came the Dorians.

Doryclus, à δόρυ, i. haſta, & κλυτὸς inclytus, quaſi δορύκλυτος. The brother of Phineus king of Thrace; Vir. alſo a baſtard-ſon of Priam ſlain by Ajax. Hom.

Dorilas. One of the Conſpirators againſt Perſeus, and ſlain by him. Ovid.

Dorylaus, urbs magnæ Phrygiæ. Plin.

Doſiades. An Hiſtorian, who wrote of Crete. Plin.

Doſitheus. An Aſtrologer. Plin.

Doſon cognomen populare Antigoni, Demetrii nepotis; inde tractum, quòd benignè omnibus promitteret, nec promiſſa præſtaret; ille enim quidvis petentibus reſpondere ſolebat, δώσω, i. Dabo, unde etiam natum proverbium, Doſones.

Dovus, fl. The river Dow in Derbyſhire.

D ante R.

Dracæ, Aſiæ pop. circa Caucaſum; Trog.

Drăchōnus, fluv. Lotharingiæ in Moſellam fluens, Auſon. vul. Draun.

Draco. An ancient law-giver of the Athenians before Solon; ſo ſevere, that he puniſhed every fault, ſmall or great, with death; for which cauſe Demades ſaid, That he wrote his laws not with ink, but with blood: Gell. 11. 18.

Draconigena, Poet. urbs Bœotiæ à Cadmo, cum 5. viris ex Dracone ab ipſo interfecto natis, conſtructa. Thebes in Greece.

Dracus, Achæorum dux, à L. Mummio devictus. Liv.

Drances, Virg. king Latinus his Orator, tor, Turnus his deadly enemy.

Dravus. A river of Hungary, that runs into the Danow.

Drepanum, δρέπανον, i. falx, eò quòd sit δρεπανοειδὴς, in modum falcis incurvata; vel quòd Saturnus amputatis virilibus paternis illic falcem projecerit; Ovid. A town of Sicily, called Trapani. ◊ Also three Promontories, one in Afric, now called Punta Sabia; a second in Crete, called Capo Melechia; the third in Cyprus by the city Paphos, called Capo di Baffo.

Dresa vel Dresda, vulgò Dresden, Missniæ oppidum. A fair city of the upper Saxony, the seat of the Elector.

Drogliēda. Drogheda in Ireland.

Dromeus; δρομεὺς, i. cursor, eò quòd huc & illuc cibi gratiâ cursitare soleat. The name of a Parasite or smell-feast.

Drŏmo, ōnis; m. Terent. à δρόμος cursus. A servant to run on errands.

Dromus, i. cursus, eò quòd Achilles illuc usque Iphigeniam à Diana raptam, ne immolaretur, est amanter persequutus; Rhod. Achilles Island.

Druentia, Liv. A river of Narbon in France,

DRUIDES, Cæs. vel Druidæ. Plin. & Dryades, fœm. Vopisc. qu. δρυάδες, sic dict. à δρῦς quercus, quòd roborum eligerent lucos, Plin. vel pot. à Saxon. Dry, i. magus. vel ut sit vox Germ. Druis, qu. trowis, Brit. truwir, i. e. veritatis & fidei doctor, à tru vel trou, i. fides, & wisen ostendere; Becan. Certain Magi or Priests in France that built in the city Orleans a Colledge. These were of old the one of the two estates of France, to wit, the Spiritualty, to whom was committed the care of providing of Sacrifices, of prescribing Laws for their Idolatrous Worship, of the instruction and bringing up of their Youth, of the studying of the Arts, of deciding of Controversies amongst the people, concerning the bounds of their ground, and such like. They had Oaks in great estimation, and all things that grew on them, especially Misseltow, which they worshipped as a thing sent unto them from heaven. They used to sacrifice men to Mercury; which barbarous rite was taken away by Claudius Cæsar. Suet. De his plura vid. ap. Cæs. 6. Cic. Div. 1. Tac. Plin. &c.

Drusilla. The wife of Felix, governour of Judea, a Jewess.

Drusomagus, urbs Sueviæ in Germ. Memmingen, al. Augsburg, al. Kempten.

DRUSUS. The name of divers Romans. ◊ Jul. Drusus Publicola told a Carpenter that would have caused him to build his house anew, because it lay so open that his neighbours might look in at several places; He would reward him well, if he could make it all so open: for he was a modest and thrifty man, and therefore desired that not only neighbors, but the whole city might see what was done in his house, that they might have a good example of a vertuous life. Plut. ◊ Also one that was Grandfather to Cato, who was very eloquent and learned, but withal most ambitious and proud: Cic. ◊ Also the son of Livia, Augustus wife: Ovid. ◊ Also one called Salinator, who overcame Asdrubal. Virg.

Dryades, um; f. Vir. nymphæ, sylvarum Deæ: δρυάδες, à δρῦς quercus, quòd quercubus sive arboribus earum vita insit. ◊ Item fœminæ fatidicæ; Vopisc. vid. Druides. Wood-fairies.

Dryantiades, dict. Lycurgus, Dryantis filius, rex Thraciæ; Ovid.

Dryas, antis, filius Hippolochi, pater Lycurgi; in bello Thebano à Dianâ sagittis occisus; Stat.

Dryas, ădis; Fauni filia; Plut.

Dryope, à δρῦς quercus, & ὄψ vox. A Nymph ravished by Apollo, afterwards Andræmon's wife, at last turned into a Lote-tree. Ovid.

Dryopes, pop. Phocidis juxta Parnassum, Serv. ◊ It. Thessaliæ juxta Œten montem; Virg.

D ante U.

Duarus, sinus Arabiæ felicis; Plin.

Dubis. The river Le Doux in France; called Alduabis by Cæsar.

Dubitapes. One that first made vessels of red chalk.

Dublinium, or Dublinia. Dublin in Ireland, where is an University.

Dubris. Dover.

Duellona, ant. pro Bellona; Var.

Duillius, vel rect. forte Duelius, à Duellum, i. Bellum. Ut duellum bellum, sic Duellium eum, qui Pœnos classe devicit, nominaverunt Bellium. Cic. A noble Roman, who first triumphed for a Sea-victory. When he was grown old, one told him that his breath stunk; he went home discontent, and chid his Wife that she never told him of it; Said she, Sir, I would have told you, but that I thought all mens breath smelt'd as yours did: a great evidence of her chastity.

Dulgibini; Tac. A people of Germany, about the city Gottingen.

Dulichium, insula in mari Ionio, una Echinadum, ex iis quibus Ulysses imperabat, unde ille dictus Dulichius.

Dulopolis, ἡ τῶν δούλων πόλις, i. servorum civitas. A City of lesser Asia, neer the Island Rhodes. Plin.

Duma; Heb. per aphær. pro Idumæa.

Dumbarum, qu. Castrum Baræ seu Varæ. Dunbar in Scotland, betwixt Berwick and S. Andrews.

Dumna, insula Scotiæ adjacens, Cambdeno Fair Island; al. Hoy.

Dumnissus; Auson. A place in Lorain upon the Mosel.

Dumnonii. Devonshire-men, or as others, Cornish-men.

Duncheldinum, qu. Dunum, i. castrum Caledonium. Dunkelden; a town in Scotland, 6 miles off Perth.

Dŭnelmum. Durham, or Duresm, the Bishoprick.

Dunum. Down in Ireland, the seat of Saint Patrick. ◊ Also the Creek at Dunesbay near Whitby in Yorkshire.

Durānus, Galliæ fluvius, vulgò la Dordonne; Auson.

Dur-cobrivæ. Redborne in Hertfordshire.

Duria, Dorsetshire.

Dūrius; Sil. Ariver of Spain, vulgò Duero.

Durnium. The city Dorchester in England: Cambd.

Durobrivæ. Dornford; also Caster near Windlesford or Wansford, in Huntingdonshire.

Durobrovæ & Durobrus. Rochester a city of Kent, called also Roffa.

Durocornovium, vulgò Cirencester.

Durocottorum. The City of Rheims in France. Cæs.

Durolenum. Leneham in Kent.

Durolipons. Gormoncester or Godmoncester, neer Huntington. Cambd.

Durolitum. Leiton, as Cambd. or, as others, Oldford in Essex.

Durostadium. A town in Gelderland called Duerstede.

Durotriges, pop. Dorsetshire-men.

Durovernum, Dorvernum, vel Dorobernia. Canterbury.

Dusius, dæmon; Gl. Isid. Dæmones, quos Dusios Galli nuncupant; Aug. Fortè hinc apud nos mansit exsecrandi formula, The Duse take you, quod Belgæ sic exprimunt, De Duyts haet u. i. Dæmon auferat te; ex odio Drusi, uti putat V. à quo sc. sæpius cæsi & domiti Germani.

D ante Y.

Dymas, antis; m. The name of a man in Virgil.

Dyraspes, Scythiæ fl. Ovid.

Dyrrhachium, Macedoniæ urbs distans 220. M. passuum trajectu à Brundusio oppido, sic dictum à conditore; vel qu. δυσπάλαιον, Eust. à loci asperitate. priùs Epidamnus dicebatur, hodie vulg. Durazzo. Here Tully found much favour in the time of his banishment.

Dysares, Δυσάρης, Arabum Deus, qui & Disares. Tert.

E ante A.

EAnus, i. Janus, antiqui enim (e) pro (i) sæpè usurparunt; Quint.

Earinus, ἐαρινὸς, i. vernus. A fair Boy mentioned by Martial, one of Domitian's pages.

Easo. A city of Spain, now called S. Sebastian.

E ante B.

Ebionitæ, hæretici asserentes Christum purum hominem ex communi nativitate è viro & muliere partum, legemque Mosaicam necessariò observandam. An. Dom. 81. Fort. ab אביון pauper dict.

Eblana. A City and University called Dublin or Develin in Ireland.

Ebodia. The Isle Ornay or Alderney, in the British Sea, towards Normandy.

Ebora, hod. Evora, Lusitaniæ urbs, quæ & Liberalitas Julia. Plin.

Eboracum, sive Eburacum, (ut Ptol.) & al. Legionem VI. Victricem cognominant; dict. etiam Brigantium, eò quòd Brigantum caput esset. Historia Britannica à rege Ebranco conditore nominatum prodit. Camb. ab Uro flumine dict. vult, quòd sonet Eboracum ad vel secundùm Urum. Hanc urbem voc. Ninnius Caer Ebranc. Britanni Caer-Effrec. Saxones Euer-ric. Nos hodiè contractè dicimus York.

Eboracensis comitatus. York-shire, divided into three parts, East-riding, West-riding, and North-riding.

Ebrodunum. The City Ambrun, in the Dauphin-Country in France. ◊ Also a city of the Swisses, belonging to Bern, called Yverdon. ◊ Pop. Ebroduntii, Plin.

Ebudæ; Æbudæ, Steph. Hebudes, Plin. Hebrides & Eboniæ, al. Five Islands lying neer Scotland on the West. Others reckon about 40 of them in all.

Ebūrōnes; Cæſ. populi inter Rhenum & Moſam fluvios habitantes. hodiè Leodienſes dict. People of the country Liege beyond Brabant.

Ebūrŏvices. A people in France of the city Eureux, in Normandy.

Ebūrum. The chief town of Moravia, called Olmutz.

Ebuſus, i; f. Ebuſus Phœniſſa, Sil. Eboſca, Stat. Ἐβοσσος, Dionyſ. Pityuſa, Liv. An Iſle belonging to Spain, neer Majorca on the weſt ſide: where there is great ſtore of ſalt, and excellent Figs, and no venomous creature to be found.

Ebūtĭus. An old crafty knave that Cicero ſpake againſt in his Oration for Cæcinna.

E ante C.

Ecbătăna plur. Ἐκβάτανα. The chief city of Media, built by Seleucus, Plin. by Deïoces, a king of the Medes, Chron. Euſeb. The Palace was built by Daniels contrivance, if not charge, Joſeph. It is called Dan. 6. Amatha by the 72 Interp. by the Inhabitants Esbahan or Casbin.

Eccleſiaſtes, æ; m. ἐκκλησιαστὴς, קֹהֶלֶת A book of Solomons ſo called, to wit the Preacher, writ by him towards his later end, to declare his repentance.

Eccleſiaſticus. An Apocryphal book, full of excellent morality, written by Jeſus the ſon of Sirach, and grandchild of that Jeſus or Joſhua, the high-prieſt, mention'd by the Prophet Zachary.

Echidnæus canis, Ovid. i. Cerberus, viz. Echidnæ filius; Heſiod.

Echidne. A Scythian Queen of whom Hercules begat three ſons, and appointed him to be heir that could ſhoot in his bow; which onely Scytha did, of whom Scythia was ſo named; Herod. l. 4.

Echĭnădes, um; pl. f. Luc. & Echinæ, Sen. ἐχινάδες, i. viperinæ. Five little Iſles in the Ionian ſea, on the mouth of Achelous, called now by ſome Strophades, by others more rightly, Cozzulari.

Echinus, i; vel untis; f. civ. vel inſula in mari Ægæo. Ægæo defixa in gurgite Echinus, Cic. ◊ It. Acarnaniæ opp. Plin.

Echĭon, unus illorum quorum operâ adjutus Cadmus Thebas ædificavit; unde & Thebani Echionidæ dicti ſunt, & Thebæ ipſæ Echioniæ; Ovid. ◊ Alſo an excellent runner of races, Id.

Echo, us; f. ἠχὼ, ab ἠχέω ſono, unde reſonabilis Echo, Ovid. Nympha in ſaxum mutata, nihil præter vocem retinens. A Nymph who falling in love with Narciſſus, and being ſlighted by him, pined away to a skeleton, having nothing left but her voice.

E ante D.

Eden. עֵדֶן i. τρυφὴ, ἡδονὴ. The garden of Eden or Paradiſe.

Edeſſa, Plin. Syriæ civ. alias Juſtinopolis, Calirrhoe & Kage (de qua in hiſtoria Tobiæ fit mentio) & Orſa voc.

Edgarus, à Saxon. ēdig & ar i. felix poteſtas. Edgar, King of England: his ſiſter Margaret was married to Malcolm K. of Scots.

Edinburgum, Σγεπιν ἀλεγτον. Ptol. Lat. Alatum caſtrum Edinburgh the chief City of Scotland.

S. Edmundi burgus. S. Edmunds Bury in Berry.

Edom, אדום i. rufus; vel à colore pilorum, vel à pulte ruſa. Eſau ſo called either from the colour of his hair, or from the red pottage, for which he ſold his birthright. ◊ Alſo the country where he inhabited, gr. Ἰδυμαία.

Edōnis, idis; f. Luc. penult. producit Ovid. Matres Edonidæ omnes. Bacchus his prieſteſſes, ſo called from a hill in Thrace, where they kept their mad revels.

Edōnus, a, um; i. Thracius. Edonus hyemes, Stat. Edoni Boreæ, Vir. quòd Edon eſſet mons Thraciæ.

Edros, quæ & Hedros. The Iſle Bardſey *on the coaſt of North-*Wales. Pliny calls it Andros.

Edūſam, ab edendo dixerunt veteres Deam quæ eſui præerat; quæmadmodum Potinam, quæ potui.

E ante E.

Ĕĕtĭon, pater Andromaches; inde Ĕĕtioneus, a, um, adj. Eetioncas Thebas, Ovid. i. ab Eetione regnatas in Cilicià.

E ante F.

Effĭlŭi, Tac. Germaniæ ſeptentrionalis popul. Livones hodiè, vulgò Lyflanders.

E ante G.

Egātis, Sil. inſ. maris Libyci.

Egĕrĭa, nympha, cui ſacrificabant prægnantes, quòd eam putabant facilè fœtum alvo egerere Feſt. item lucus & fons juxta Romam extra portam Capenam, ubi Numa ſimulabat ſibi eſſe nocturnos cum Egeriâ congreſſus.

Egeſta, civitas in Sicilia, quam Æneas condidit, & ab Aceſtis matre Egeſtam nominavit, quæ poſtea Segeſta dict.

Egeſta. Daughter of Hippotes, a noble Trojan, who that ſhe might not for Laomedons perjuries be given up to the Seamonſter, put her in a pinnace aſloat: ſhe landed at Sicily, and was by the river Criniſus in the ſhape of a dog, got with child of Aceſtes.

Egion. A city betwixt Ætolia and Peloponneſus. Mela.

Egnatia, Plin. A city once of Apulia, now a village in the Kingdom of Naples.

Egra, urbs à fluvio cui adjacet dicta, hodiè Bohemiæ regno ſubjecta.

E ante H.

Ehud. One of the Judges of Iſrael, who ſlew Eglon.

E ante I.

Eichſtadium. A City of Bavaria, called Echſtat, q. d. Oak-town.

Eïŏnĕus. One of the Princes of Greece which came to Troy, ſlain by Hector; alſo a Thracian, father to Rhœſus.

Eiräphiōtes, εἰραφιώτης, id eſt, aſſutitius, ſic dict. Bacchus, quòd femori Jovis fuit inſutus.

E ante L.

El, nomen Dei, Heb. אל, i. Deus fortis.

Elāis, una ex tribus filiabus Anii, Apollinis & Rheæ filii, quæ quicquid tangebat in triticum, vinum & oleum ſtatim vertebatur, Cœl.

Elămītæ, Plin. dict. ab Elam filio Sem. People of Arabia the happy.

Elăphebŏlĭa, Feſta erant apud Græcos, quæ fiebant menſe Februario, vel Decembri, in quibus cervi Dianæ ἐλαφηβόλῳ, i. cervorum jaculatrici ſacrificabantur, unde & menſis Febru. Elaphebolion ἐλαφηβολιὼν dictus eſt, vel ut Calep. placet, Decembris. Veniſon-feaſts in honour of Diana.

Elaphonenſus, quæ & Proconneſus, Plin. inſ. Propontidis, hod. Marmora.

Elăphūſa. Plin. fort. quòd cervos aleret. A little Iſle in the Ionian Sea.

Elătēĭus. Cæneus, ſo called from his father Elatus; Ovid.

Elcebus. A city of Alſatia, called Schleſtat.

Elea, Æolidis urbs, Mela, in quâ natus Zeno philoſophus, inde Eleates dict.

Electra, quòd ἄλεκτος erat, ut inquit Eurip. πολύχρυσον παρθένον, h. e. annoſa virgo per contumeliam dict. vel ſic dict. à flavo colore, electrum referente. Oreſtes ſiſter, and daughter of Agamemnon. ◊ *Alſo a Sea-*Nymph, wife to Atlas, and daughter of Oceanus and Tethys; ſhe had a daughter of the ſame name, on whom Jupiter begat Dardanus.

Electrides, quæ & Gleſſariæ, quòd Electrum in illis ex arboribus defluere putabant: Inſulæ ſunt ex adverſo Britanniæ, in mari Germanico ſparſæ, quæ nunc fortaſſe Hetland, Schetland, & Fare dicuntur.

Elegēĭa, æ; f. Muſa quæ præeſt elegis. Flebilis indignos Elegeia ſolve capillos, Ovid. ſumitur item pro ipſis elegis; Elegeia flebile carmen, Id.

Elēi. A people of Peloponneſus, where the Olympick games were kept. vid. Elis.

Elĕleus; ἐλελεῦ, eſt acclamatio bellica, qua in properatione & bellicis Pæanibus uti ſolent; Bacchi cognomen: hinc Bacchæ ipſæ dictæ ſunt Eleleides. Ovid.

Elĕphantis, Gr. i. candida inſtar eboris. A Woman that was a wanton and laſcivious Poeteſs, Martial.

Elēus, a, um; vid. Elei. Hinc Eleus ſonipes, Luc. Elea palma, Hor. Eleadum equarum, Vir.

Eleuſis, ſive Eleuſin, inis; f. opp. Atticæ, ἐλευσὶν dict. ἀπὸ τῆ ἐλεύσεως, quòd Ceres poſt longos errores in quærendâ filiâ huc tandem advenerit, & hic hoſpitio accepta conquieverit: in cujus rei memoriam inſtituta ſacra, Eleuſinia dicta, myſteria minime vulganda; unde Hor. Ceteris ſacrum arcanæ voc. Sacred rites in honour of Ceres, performed with lighted torches, not to be ſpoken of upon pain of death.

Eleuthĕrĭa, ἐλευθέρια, ἑορτὴ Διονύσου Liberalia, Gl. It. feſta, quæ Græci celebrabant in honorem Jovis Eleutherii, i. liberatoris. Feaſts dedicated to Jupiter; others to Bacchus.

Eleuthĕrĭus ἐλευθέριος. Jupiter ſo called: dict. quòd apud Aſopum amnem Græcorum copiæ Mardonium cum 300. Perſarum millibus ad internecionem auxilio Jovis deleviſſent, & patriæ libertatem recuperaſſent.

Eleuthĕrŏcĭlĭces, Aſiæ pop. in Amano, qui nè regibus quidem unquam paruerant. Cic.

Elgovæ. People of Scotland whoſe country is now called Lennox.

Elias, æ; m. אֵלִיָּהוּ Fortitudo mea,

ve-

vel Deus meus Dominus. A great Prophet, who lived in Ahabs time; he was at laſt carried up to heaven in a fiery Chariot.

Elicĭus, Jovis cognomentum, ab eliciendo, h. e. evocandis fulminibus, impoſitum, Ovid. 3. Faſt.

Elis, ĭdis; f. Ovid. Ἠλὶς dict. ab Eleo Neptuni filio qui ibid. regnavit, Etymol. A country in the Weſt part of Peloponneſus, where the Olympick games were kept: Hinc Elei pop. Eleus, & Elæus, a, um; & Elias, adis, patron.

Eliſa, an ab Heb. אלישע Lætus, an ab אלישע i. Dei mei ſalus, quod & Eliſæi prophetæ nomen. An contr. ex Eliſabeth per apoc. A name of Queen Dido.

Elizăbeth, אלישבע. Deus juramenti vel ſaturitatis. The wife of Aaron; alſo the wife of Zacharias, John the Baptiſt's mother: alſo the moſt famous and worthieſt Queen and governeſs of ever bleſſed and happy memory for her government of England, reg. an. 45.

Ellandūnum. Wilton.

ELOHIM, nomen Dei apud Hebræos, אלהים à ſing. אלוה quod propriè judicem ſign. de uno Deo dic. numero plurativo, vel honoris vel myſterii causâ; nempe ad ſign. pluralitatem virtutum ſeu potentiarum Dei, vel, ut alii, trinitatem perſonarum. Tribuitur & Angelis & hominibus. An Hebrew name of God.

Eloi, ἐλωὶ, Marc. 15. 34. Deus meus.

Elōrus. A city of Sicily near the Promontory Pachynus; ſo called from a river of that name: Vib. Sequ. Al. Helorus. Hinc Elorius, a, um; Ovid. Elorini pop. Cic.

Elotæ; ſua publica appellant mancipia Lacedæmonii, i. miniſtros publicos, ut ſunt apparitores, lictores.

Elpēnor, oris; m. Ovid. ἐλπήνωρ, i. ſpes fortis, quæ viatorum comes eſſe ſolet. Ulyſſes his companion, who with the reſt of his company was by Circe turned into a hog, and being reſtored into his former ſhape he fell off a ladder and broke his neck.

Elpis, ἔλπις, i. ſpes. The wife of Boëthius.

Elŭina, dict. ab Eluio oppido, vel ab Eluide fluvio ubi colebatur: Ceres ſo called. Juven.

Elul, אלול menſis Hebræorum ultimus in anno civili, qui noſtro Auguſto reſpondet; dicta ab אליל nihilum, quòd tum terræ nitor in nihilum abire incipiat.

Elwa. S. Aſaph in North-Wales.

Elymāis. A country of Perſia; Plin.

Elymas, æ; m. i. magus, ab Arab. עלים ſapiens, a Wizzard. The name of a Sorcerer, Act. 13. 18.

Elymus, Trojanus qui unà cum Aceſtâ, Siciliam ingreſſus, habitabat propè Criniſum fl. Sil. à quo & Elymi dicti. ♀ Virg. Siculum facit, Aceſtæ comitem.

Elyſĭum, locus ubi piorum animæ habitant, dict. Κατὰ τὴν λύσιν, i. à ſolutione, nam animæ poſt ſolutionem vinculi corporei deveniunt ad Elyſios campos: vel παρὰ τὴν λύσιν τῶν κακῶν. Procl. vel ἐλύσιος ab ἦλυσις, adventus, ut ſit id. quod Heb. עילם הבא aiùn ἐρχόμενος, ſive μέλλων, ſeculum venturum. Vel ab עליצה lætitia; unde Vir. læta arva vocr

Elyſius, a, um; Adj.

E ante M.

Emăthia, ita dict. ab Emathione rege, fratre Memnonis: Poetæ Emathiam aliquando uſurpant pro Theſſalia, ſuo quodam jure vicinorum locorum appellationes confundentes, ut apud Lucan. Bella per Emathios pluſquam civilia campos, i. per campos Pharſalicos, qui in Theſſalia ſunt. The country Macedonia, bordering upon Thrace.

Embărus. A mad-man in the Iſland of Pyræum; he (when none beſide would do it) offered his daughter in ſacrifice, to appeaſe the wrath of the gods that had ſent a famine among them; whence aroſe this Proverb, Embarus ſum, Eraſm.

Emĕrita Auguſta; Plin. The city Merida in Portugal.

Emmanuel, ēlis; m. ἐμμανουὴλ, Heb. עמנואל Immanuel, μεθ' ἡμῶν ὁ θεὸς, Nobiſcum Deus. A title of our Saviour, as he was God-man, God with us.

Emmăus, untis; f. Ἀμμαοὺς, à חמאי i. aquæ calidæ. eſt enim & locus prope Tiberiadem, in quo ſunt Thermæ. A city of Judea, where Chriſt was known by breaking of bread; it is now called Nicopolis.

Empanda, Ceres ſic dict. in ſacris paganalibus, quòd in aſylum fugientibus panis daretur; à pane dando, Var. à pandendo; unde & Panda dicta. Eadem cum Pale. Etiam Veterum Dea, quæ pagis patentibus, non clauſis urbibus præerat.

EMPEDOCLES, τὸ κλεὶς ἐμπεδὸν, id eſt, ſtabilis gloria. A Philoſopher of Agrigentum that wrote of the nature of things in Greek verſe (as Lucretius did in Latine*) he taught that nothing living ought to be eaten, and that all things were compoſed of love and diſcord, and that the ſeat of the Soul was not the heart nor the head, but the blood; he taught alſo that there were two half circles compaſſing between the heaven and the earth; the one whereof was compoſed of fire, the other of air, and that the former made the day, and the later the night. The relation of his death is by ſundry Writers thus ſet down: that after his death he might be honoured as a God, he ſtole away from his company by night, and caſt himſelf into the mouth of the burning mountain Ætna, that ſo the people finding him no where, might conceive he was taken up into heaven: but his two pattens or iron-ſlippers, which were caſt up again by the vehemency of the flame, betrayed all his policy. Such deſperate attempts will men undertake that do itch after honour, and are often curſed with the like croſs events: he would be ſoon angry, and then implacable: whence the proverb in both thoſe ſenſes,* Empedoclis ſimultas, Ἐμπεδοκλέους ἔχθος.

Empŏrium, ἐμπόριον, id eſt, forum nundinarum, urbs Celtica; item Livio caſtellum prope Placentiam, Ponte Nura vocatur.

Empūſa. Æſchines mother.

E ante N.

Encænia, orum; n. pl. ἐγκαίνια, i. renovalia; feſta anniverſaria urbium conditarum, Quint. Vulgò feriæ ob memoriam templi conſecrati. The Feaſt of Dedication, kept by our Saviour, Joh. 10. 22. Alſo the conſecration of any Church, or the Wake or Vigils of the Saint, to whom it was conſecrated.

Encĕlădus ἐγκέλαδος, id eſt, tumultuoſus. A huge giant, the greateſt of thoſe that conſpired againſt Jupiter; he was ſtricken down with thunder by Jupiter, and mount Ætna thrown upon him; whereupon the Poets feign, that he breaths out thoſe flames, and that his ſhifting ſides cauſeth Earthquakes.

Enchĕlīæ. A people of Illyricum, where Cadmus and his wife Harmonia were turned into ſerpents. Luc.

Encolpias, æ; m. Apul. ἐγκολπίας ventus, qui è mari venit per κόλπος, i. ſinus.

Encratitæ. Hereticks ſprung from Marcion, forbidding marriage and eating of fleſh, unde & nomen ab ἐγκρατὴς continens.

Endymĭon, Athlii filius. A certain ſhepherd: he found out the courſe of the Moon; wherefore Poets fain that the Moon was in love with him, and caſt him into a deep ſleep, that ſhe might kiſs him; whereupon aroſe that proverb, ſetting forth a ſleepie and ſlothful fellow, Endymionis ſomnum dormis, Ἐνδυμίωνος ὕπνον κοιμᾶσθε. He ſlept in Latmo, a hill of Caria; whence called Latmius heros, Ovid. & Latmius venator, Val. Fl.

Engaddi. A City of the Jews by the Sea called Mare mortuum.

Engonasi, ἐγγόνασι, i. in genibus, unde Ingeniculus, Jul. Firm. Genu nixus, Ovid. Nixa genu ſpecies, & Graio nomine dicta Engonaſi, Manil. The conſtellation of Hercules, ſo called becauſe it repreſents a man kneeling with his right knee, and with his left foot cruſhing the head of the Dragon. Al. ſcrib. Engonaſis, ut ſit in recto.

Engyon. A City of Sicily; Sil.

Enipeus. A river of Theſſaly, now called by ſome Pherib. Ortel. watering the Pharſalian fields, Luc. After it joyns with Apidanus, it runs ſwift. Tyro the daughter of Salmoneus fell in love with him. Ovid.

Eniſpe, es; f. urbs Arcadiæ, Stat.

Enna, civitas inſignis in ipſo Siciliæ umbilico, auguſtiſſimo Cereris templo olim nobilitata, nemoréque ſacro ex quo Proſerpinam raptam fuiſſe incolæ aſſerunt: hinc Proſerpina ipſa Ennæa cognominatur. & Ceres Ennæa, vel Enneſis: ab עינא Chald. fons, quod eſſet fontibus irrigua, & aquas haberet perennes, Cic. unde culto fertilis Ennaſolo, Ovid.

Ennĕăcrūnos, ἐννάκρουν ♀, id eſt, fons 9 habens ſiſtulas, aliàs Callirrhoe, Stat. & Dodecacrunos. A ſpring in Athens built by Piſiſtratus; ſo called from the number of its pipes.

ENNIUS. An ancient Latin Poet born at Rudiæ, now called Ruiæ, a town in Calabria, brought to Rome firſt by Cato Cenſorius, for his learning; he was ſo intirely beloved of Scipio Africanus (whom he accompanied in the Wars, and wrote a Poem in Hexameter Verſe of the ſecond Punick War) that he cauſed the Image of Ennius to be ſet on his ſepulchre. The Poem he wrote was grave, but without any ornament of Words, or flouriſhes of Rhetorick; whence that was ſaid of Virgil, Aurum ex Ennii ſtercore collegit; and Ovid gives him this Character: Ennius in-genio maximus arte rudis.

Ennosigæus, Amm. & Juv. ἐννοσίγαιος, i. terram quatiens, ab ἔνοσις concussio, & γαῖα sive γῆ terra. Neptune so called: eadem ratione dicitur etiam Ἐνοσίχθων, & Σεισίχθων, Gell.

Enoch. The seventh from Adam; he walked with God, and was translated to heaven. He wrote a prophecy, which S. Jude quotes.

Enotocœtæ, ἐνωτοκοίται. People that have their ears hanging down to their ankles, so that they lye upon them when they sleep; they are so strong, that they can pull up trees by the roots: Str.

Entella, urbs Siciliæ; Sil.

Enyalius, quasi Ἐνυάλιος, Bellonæ filius, (quanq. revera frater.) A name of Mars, the God of War. ☞ Ἐνυάλιος, Quirinus; Gl. Cyr.

Enyo, ûs; f. ἐνυὼ, ab ἐνύω, vel ἔνω, occido perimo. i. Bellona, soror Martis, quandoque & ipsum bellum.

E ante O.

Eos, ἠὼς, i. Aurora, ab αὔω splendeo, vel ἄω spiro. Aurora the Goddess of the morning so called.

Eous, a, um; ἑῷος vel ἠῷος. Eastern. subst. pro Lucifero, Vir. The morning-star. ☞ One of the horses of the Sun. Ovid.

E ante P.

EPAMINONDAS, æ; m. fort. ab ἐπαμύνων defendens, ut sit ex dialecto ἐπαμυνάντης vel τας. nim. patriæ defensor. A noble man of Thebes, son of Polymnus, and a valiant Warrior, a man of singular knowledge in the Philosophy which Pythagoras taught; for the practice of all moral vertues, he was admired of all men in his time, and out-stript by none: He was such a lover of truth, that he would never lye, no, not in jest. He overcame the Athenians, and the Lacedemonians, and made Thebes during his time the Empress and chief city of Greece, which was both before him and after in subjection to other people. So far may the power of one noble-minded Prince exceed the power of a whole Common-wealth. At last in the battle at Mantinea, between the Thebans and the Lacedemonians, he was wounded with a long spear, the head remaining still in his body, yet his life continued until he heard that his army had the victory; then he commanding the top of the spear to be pulled out, said, That he had lived long enough, now to dye unvanquished; and so in the great joy of his victory, his blood and soul issued out of the same wound together. At his death it was said of him, That he left only two daughters to continue his name to posterity, i. the victories at Leuctra and Mantinea.

Epaphroditus, Ἐπαφρόδιτος, id est, venustus, sive jucundus, ab ἐπὶ & ἀφροδίτη Venus. Erat à libellis Neroni imperatori, à Domitiano imperatore capitis damnatus, quòd Neronem in conscisenda sibi nece sua manu adjuvisset.

Epaphus, ad hujus nominis Etym. alludisse videtur Non. Dionys. 3. ubi sic inquit. εἶδ' Ἔπαφον Διὶ πικτὸν ἀκμφασίωντι κόλπῳ, Ἰταλίης δαμάλης ἐπαφήσατο θείῳ ἀκείτῃ, Χερσὶν ἑῇσιμανίσσων. Jupiters son by Io that built Memphis in Egypt. ☞ Another, an Historian, quoted by Serv. and Macr.

Epeus. The son of Endymion, which made the horse that was carried into Troy: Virg. — Et ipse doli fabricator Epeus. Also the name of one that was very fearful, whence the Proverb, Epeo timidior, Erasm.

Ephesiæ literæ, ἐφέσια γράμματα, erant notulæ quædam & voces magicæ, quibus utentes in omni negotio victores evadebant, unde natum proverbium, Ephesiæ literæ, dictum de iis qui mirâ felicitate quicquid optant assequuntur; His usus est Crœsus. Referuntur hæ ab Hesych. ἄσιον (vel ἄσιον, Clem. Alex.) i. σκότος. κατάστι, i. φῶς. λίξ, i. γῆ. τετράξ, i. σκιώδες. δαμναμενεύς, i. ἥλιος. ἄσιον, i. ἀλήθες.

Ephestria, Thebis Festa fuerunt ob Tiresiam institutæ, in quibus ipsius simulachrum virilibus vestimentis exuebatur, & mulebribus induebatur, móxque illis ademptis, iterum virilia imponebantur quò alluderent ad ipsius Tiresiæ fabulam, scil. ab ἐφεστρίς, i. vestis exterior, sive sagulum. Certain feasts of the Thebans.

Ephĕsus, i; f. ἔφεσος, ab ἔφεσις permissio, quòd eam Amazonibus Hercules permiserit. vel à הפץ voluit, quod & ἔφεσις sign. quòd esset locus amœnus & desiderabilis. A City in Ionia built by the Amazons, as Justin says, and called by Lysimachus, who removed it to where it now stands, after his Wives name Arsinoe; but now Figena or Efeso, famous for the temple of Diana, one of the seven wonders of the world, which was burned by Erostratus the same night that Alexander was born. So busie do they feign that goddess in the birth of Alexander, that she had no minde of her temple. Inde Ephesius, a, um.

Ephetæ, ἐφέται, Suid. i. Judices ad quos ab aliis, non item ab iis ad alios provocatio dabatur. Magistrates at Athens, in number fifty, whose office was to sit upon life and death: they were to be fifty years old, and of approved honesty: They tried cases of Man-slaughter and Chance-medley; as the Areopagites did those of wilful murther.

Ephialtes, Gr. ἐφιάλτης, id est, assiliens, sic dict. propter celeritatem crescendi. The son of Neptune, who was a marvellous strong and huge Giant; he grew nine inches every moneth, and at length grew so high, that relying on his strength and stature, he made war upon the Gods: but Jupiter struck him with thunder.

Ephori, dict. ab ἐφοράω, quod est intueri, quòd ad civitatis salutem intentos haberent oculos. The Lacedemonian Magistrates, like in office to the Tribunes among the Romans. The Lacedemonians used to appeal from their King to them, as the Romans from the Consuls to the Tribunes: at the first they were chosen to be Assistants to the King; but in a short time their authority grew the greater. Suid. saith, they were ordinarily five in number.

Ephphatha, Marc. 7. 34. ἐφφαθά, Syriacè אתפתח, i. e. διανοίχθητι, Aperitor. A word that Christ used, when he cured the deaf and dumb man; that is, Be opened.

Ephraim; אפרים, à פרה fructificavit. One of the 12 Patriarchs, a son of Joseph, and one of the 12 Tribes.

Ephyre, es; f. Ovid. dict. ab Ephyra nympha. A city in the Isthmus of Peloponnesus, now called Corinth: inde Ephyræus, a, um, Luc. & Ephyreïus, a, um; Vir. & Ephyreïas, adis; f. hinc Ephyreiădes puellæ, Claud. of Corinth.

Epiacum. Papcastle in Cumberland. Camd.

Epicharmus, ἐπίχαρμος. A Philosopher of Syracuse, that first invented Comedies among them, by the help of Phormus; he made fifty plays.

EPICTETUS. A Stoick Philosopher born at Hierapolis in Phrygia, servant to Epaphroditus, a favourite of Nero: he was studious, and so much esteemed amongst men, that Lucian saith, his lamp was sold for 3000 Attick groats. He comprised all Philosophy in these two words, Bear and Forbear. He wrote one book yet extant and very useful, called Enchiridion Epicteti. See his life described by Suid. vix. à tempore Neronis, ad M. Anton. tempora.

EPICURUS, i; m. ἐπίκουρος, βοηθὸς, σύμμαχος, adjutor. An Athenian Philosopher, who placed the summum bonum or chief felicity in the pleasure of the mind; he was a very temperate and eminent man, as Seneca witnesseth of him; who also doth up and down upon occasion highly commend him; and quotes excellent sayings out of him; such as these: Cheerful poverty is a fashionable thing: He most injoys riches, who least wants them: If you live according to nature, you'l never be poor; if according to opinion, you'l never be rich: They live ill, who are alway beginning to live. There is no living pleasantly without living well, &c. Howbeit that name of pleasure, wherein he placed felicity, caused all other voluptuous Philosophers and carnally minded men, that were indeed of the school of Aristippus, to be named Epicures: hinc Epicureus ἐπικούρειος, Epicuri sectator. Further 'tis reported of him, that he denyed the providence of God; and taught that the world was made by the concourse of Atomes or little bodies to our sense indivisible, and that the souls of men are corporeal, and die with the bodies. After he had lived voluptuously thirty two years, he dyed of the stone in the bladder; with which being troubled, he put himself into a brasen Vessel filled with hot water, and then calling for wine, willed his friends to live as voluptuously as he did at his death.

Epidamnus. A city in Macedony built in the time of Philip the sixth king of Macedony. qu. à damno; ad quod alludit Plautus in Menech. ne mihi damnum in Epidamno duas, tanquam nomen sit inditum Epidamno, quòd illuc nemo sine damno divertat: antiquè etiam dict. Dyrrhachium, hodiè Durazzo.

Epidaphne, urbs in Seleucide Syriæ quæ & Antiochia dicta est, à Daphne vicino suburbano. Jul. Cap.

Epidaurus, i; f. A City in Peloponnesus, famous for the shrine of Æsculapius there, to which the sick did resort, and some were told in their sleep what medicine would cure their malady. When the Romans had the pestilence raging in their city, and consulting with their oracles, were commanded to bring Æsculapius to Rome, they sent a gallie to Epidaure, with Embassadors on that errand. But the Epidaurs were unwilling to part with their god:

god: in the mean space a huge great Snake swam to the Roman Vessel, and wound it self round in the stern of the ship, which they took to be Æsculapius, and brought it with great solemnity to Rome; Ovid. by whom 'tis called tellus Epidauria; 'tis now called Esculapio & Pigiada. ◊ Also a city of Dalmatia, Luc. now called Ragusa.

Epidelius, post Delum eversam, quum barbarus quidam Apollinis simulachrum per contumeliam in mare projecisset, posteaque ad Peloponnesi littora pervenisset, à Laconibus magna veneratione susceptum est, vocatusque Apollo Epidelius, quasi ex Delo advectus.

Epidicazomenos, vel quod debuit dici, ut arguit Donatus, Epidicazomene, Apollodori fabula, quam transtulit Ter. sic dicta à puellâ, de qua judicium est; ab ἐπιδικάζομαι judicor.

Epidium. The Promontory called Cantire in Scotland, with an Island adjoyning to it, which Cambden calls Yla. The Promontory is called by the Scots, the Mul of Cantire.

Epigenes. An Astrologer and an Historian, Plin.

Epigoni, ὄπιγονοι i. posteri, sic dict. sunt eorum posteri, qui ad Thebas occubuerant; qui decimo post anno bellum instaurabant. ◊ Epigoni, soboles in castris nata, Just. Those who succeeded the veterans in Alexanders army. ◊ The name of a Tragedy in Euripides.

EPIMENIDES, Gr. id est, perseverans. A Poet of Crete, whom S. Paul in his Epistle to Titus cited for that verse, Κρῆτες ἀεὶ ψεῦσται, &c. It is related of him, that his father sending him into the field to keep his cattle, by chance he light on a Cave where he slept seventy five years: whence the proverb against a slothful man, Epimenidis somnum dormire. At his return home he found his brother an old man, by whom he knew all that was hapned, and was after that counted for a god: His soul in the shape of a crow was seen to fly out at his mouth, Plin. 7. 52.

Epimetheus, i. prudens à parte post, qui post factum consulit. ἐπιμηθεύς, à μηδὲ cura, consilium. The son of Iapetus, brother of Prometheus, and father to Pyrrha Deucalions wife. Jupiter being vexed at him, turned him into an Ape.

Epimethis. The daughter of Epimetheus, called Pyrrha; she was the wife of Deucalion.

Epiphanes, ἐπιφανὴς, i. illustris, à rerum gestarum claritate, ob tyrannidem joco Epimanes dict. Antiochus the tyrant so sirnamed: he built a city in Syria, and called it by his own name Epiphania, which by some is now called Aleppo.

Epiphania, æ; f. ἐπιφάνεια, apparitio, manifestatio; quòd Christus eo die apparuit Magis adorandus; Isid. Epiphany or Twelf-day, the manifestation of our Lord to the wise men by the conduct of a Star, on the sixt day of January. At first before S. Chrysostom's time, his Birth was celebrated on that day. Dic. & plur. Epiphania, orum; τὰ ἐπιφάνια, sive θεοφάνια.

Epiphanius. Bishop of Salamis in the Isle of Cypres, under Theodosius the Great; he wrote a learned and useful discourse of Heresies.

Epirus, i; f. ἤπειρος, i. continens. Epiros, Ovid. A Country in Greece, bounded on the East with Thessaly, on the North with Macedonia, on the West with the Ionian Sea, on the South with Achaia. It was called by the Ancients Chaonia, and Molossia; now Larta, and Chimera. It is under the Turks, and is by some called Albania inferior. ◊ Alit hæc regio equas præstantissimas; Virg. Epirota incola, & Epiroticus, a, um.

Epitragia, sic dict. Venus quòd Theseo ad mare immolanti, quum ille in Cretam ad Minotaurum interficiendum navigaturus erat, sponte mutata fuisse in capram dicatur: quam Gr. τραγὸν dicunt; quò se ei præberet itineris ducem.

Epitymbia, Veneris Epith. ad cujus statuam, quæ Delphis erat, in parentationibus & libationibus, manes elicere & evocare moris erat. Rhod.

Epona, puella formosissima ex homine & equa concepta, Plut. qu. Hippona.

Epope, ἐπωπὴ, inspectrix, sic dict. quòd Sisyphus illic Æginam à Jove rapi viderit. The city or castle of Corinth, or Acrocorinthus.

Eporedia, sic dict. ab Eporedicis, quòd eo nomine Galli præstantes equorum domitores sua lingua appellant. Plin. 3. 17. An old town in France, built by the Romans.

Epulo. A mans name in Virgil.

Epytus, Albæ rex; Ovid. Fast.

E ante Q.

Equestris, Venus dicta à filio Æneæ, qui longâ, diuturnâque navigatione fessus, tandem equum conscendit, matrémque hujusmodi effigie coluit.

Equestris. A city of France called Neuf-chasteau: It is also taken for the whole country de Chabeul, fortasse (inquit Ortel.) dict. eadem ratione à Caballo.

Equicolus, i. equum amans. A mans name mentioned in Virgil.

Equiria, um; n. pl. Ovid. ludi, quos Romulus Marti instituit; Fest. ab equorum cursu dict. Eo enim die currunt equi in campo Martio; Var. Games in honour of Mars, kept 3. Kal. Mart. with horse-races in Mars his Field, or if that were overflowed, upon Mount Cælius.

Equitius. The sirname of a family in Rome, ab equo deductum.

Equotùtium. A name of a town in Apulia, that would not come into verse, Hor.

E ante R.

Eraphiotes, Bacchus dict. ab inducenda contentione, quoniam vinum iram atque certamen inducit, ab ἔρις contentio & φαίνειν ostendere. Al. ab ἔριφος hædus. Vide Eiraphiotes.

Erasinades. An unfortunate Captain, that lost all his Army, and was slain himself: whence the proverb, Militavit cum Erasinade, All things go ill with him.

Erasinus. A river of Peloponnesus, that hides it self under ground and comes up again; Ovid.

Erasistratus. An excellent Physitian, against whom Galen is often invective; he cured Antiochus (that was Love-sick for his stepmother) descrying the disease by laying his hand upon the heart of Antiochus, which did always pant extraordinarily, as his stepmother passed by.

Erăto, ûs; f. ἐρατὼ musa, quæ nomen amoris habet. Ovid. ab ἐράω amo, ἐρατὸς amabilis. One of the Muses which had the rule of lovers.

Eratosthenes, ἐρατοσθένης, i. amore potens. A Philosopher, Scholar to Aristo Chius, called for his learning Plato minor; he was also a Poet, and an historian: an excellent Cosmographer, and the first that was called Philologer. He dyed in the eighty first year of his age, as Plato & Diogenes the Cynick also did.

Ercius, Jupiter dicebatur ab arcendo, qui intra conseptum cujusque domus colebatur, quem etiam Penetralem appel.

Ercyna sylva, Claud. Vid. Hercynia. A great wood in Germany.

Erdfordia. The head-City and University of Thuringia in Germany.

Erebinthus, Gr. i. cicer; nam Bacchus non modò vini, sed & fructuum propè omnium inventor creditur. A name of Bacchus.

Erebus, ἔρεβος, ab עֶרֶב tenebræ, vesper, unde νὺξ ἐρεβεννὴ dic. Al. ab ἐρέφω tego, vel ἔρα terra, quòd sit locus subterraneus, inferorum Deus, & pater noctis, ex Chao & Caligine progenitus; al. Noctem Erebi uxorem faciunt; Hygin. sumitur pro ipsa inferorum sede; Poet. Erebi amnis, Virg. Styx. Regina Erebi, Ovid. Proserpina. Dux Erebi, Claud. Pluto. Hinc Erebeus, a, um; Ovid. Hellish.

Erectheus, rex Athen. cujus filiæ Virgines mortem pro patria contempsisse dicuntur; Cic. Hinc Erecthidæ Colonæ, Manil. The Athenians.

Erisichthon. One of Thessaly that slighted and affronted Ceres, and was therefore so punished with famine, that he was forced to eat his own flesh; Ovid.

Eretria, Eubœæ insulæ urbs; Mela.

Erĕtum, Virg. oppid. Sabinorum, hodiè vocatur Monte Ritondo. Dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ἔρας, à Junone, in cujus honorem conditum. Eretinæ mentes, Fulg. Dull understandings, as if made of earthen ware, which this place abounded with.

Ergamenes. A king of Æthiopia; when the Priests of Jupiter in Meroë were so far transported with foolish zeal in their superstition, that sometimes they would send command by messengers to slay the king, and none durst or would resist their mandate, the king bearing of it, slew all the Priests, and took away their Priesthood: Alex. ab Alex.

Ergăvica; Liv. A town of Tarracon in Spain. Ergavicenses pop. Plin.

Ergĕtium. A town of Sicily. Plin. Al. scrib. Hergentum, Sil.

Ergĕtini, pop.

Erginus. A river of Thrace; Plin.

Ericătes. One of Lycaonia slain by Messapus companion to Æneas, Vir.

Erichtho. A Witch or Hag. Luc.

Erichthonius, quartus rex Athenarum ex semine Vulcani in terram projecto editus, unde & nomen habet, ἀπὸ τῆς ἐριδὸς Θ καὶ χθονὸς Θ, i. ex certamine & humo. He was nourished by Minerva, and first found out the use of Coaches, because his feet were deformed; Virg.

Eridănus, Ἠριδανὸς, ab Eridano Apollinis & Clymenes filio, qui & Phaëthon dict. qui Jovis fulmine ictus in eundem fluvium cecidit. The river Po in Italy,

Italy, rising out out of the hill Vesulus; Hygin. also a sign in heaven.

Erīgŏne, es; f. Ἠριγόνη, i. manè genita. The daughter of Icarius, translated into heaven, and made the sign Virgo: hinc Erigoneïus, a, um; Ovid.

Erinnys, yos; f. ἐρινῦς, παρὰ τὸ ἐν τῇ ἔρᾳ γαίεσθαι καὶ οἰκεῖν, ὃ ὅτι τῇ γῇ χρῶνται χθονίᾳ δὲ ἢ δαίμονι. Schol. Hom. unde Homero μεμῆνις dic. i. ἐκ τοῦ σκύλης ἐρεμνὴν. vel ab ἔρις lis. Furiarum infernalium una, dicta ἀπὸ τῆς ἔριδος τὸν νοῦν, i. à corrumpendo mentem. The name of the Furies of Hell.

Eriphia. A notorious Witch that whatsoever Creature she look'd upon, she brought ill luck to them; Erasm.

Eriphyle, es; f. Vir. & Eriphyla, æ; f. Cic. The wife of Amphiaraus, and sister of Adrastus; who for a bracelet of gold given her by Polynices, told where her husband was, who had hid himself because he would not go to the Theban wars, where he knew he should dye; but he commanded his son Alcmæon, that so soon as ever he should hear of his death, he should slay his mother; which he did. Hinc Eriphylæus, a, um; Stat.

Ermiŏne, opp. Peloponnesi. Hinc Ermionæus, a, um; Vir.

Ernus, The Logh or Lake, from whence issue h out the river Ban in Ireland.

Eros, ἔρως, i. amor. Antonius his servant. Also a Comedian mentioned by Cic.

Erubris, Auson. A river of Germany, which runs through Lorain into the Mosselle.

Erycina, dict. ab Eryce Siciliæ monte, in quo religiosissimè colebatur. A name of Venus.

Erymanthis. Arcadia: Ovid.

Erymanthis, idos; f. patronym. ἐρυμανθὶς, quæ ex Erymantho. hinc Erymanthis ursa. Ovid. Calisto the daughter of Lycaon, turned into a bear.

Erymanthus. A Mountain in Arcadia, where Hercules slew a huge wild Boar that wasted the countrey; also a river & a city of Arcadia. Hinc Erymanthēus, Val. Fl. & Erymanthius, a, um, adject. Sil.

Erythia, Plin. & Erythēa, Prop. insula inter Gades & Hispaniam, ἐρύθεια, in quâ tricorpor Geryones regnavit; cujus devicti boves abegit Hercules, sc. boves Erythеidas, Ovid.

Erythræ, civitas Asiæ, non longè à Chio; ex qua Sibylla fuit, unde illa dicta Erythræa, antiqua sanè mulier, & divinatrix tempore Alexandri hod. voc. Cabo bianco.

Erythræum mare, ab Erythra rege dict. propter quod ignari rubere aquas credunt; Curt. At quis ille Erythræ. Aliqui natione Persam faciunt, al. Persei filium. Fullerus vult eundem esse cum Esavo, qui & Edom dict. i. rufus, quòd sit in finibus Idumææ. ἐρυθρὰ θαλασσα. ים סוף mare algosum sive caricosum. Et forte alga ista rubra fuerit, uti eam Claud. vocat. Nam & phycos thalassion rubere ait Plin. The Red sea, which divides Asia from Africk. Others make it part of the Ocean betwixt the Persian and the Arabian Gulfs. There are Pearls and pretious stones found at the bottom of it.

Erythras, filius Persei & Andromedæ, qui in confinio rubri maris regnum habuit, unde etiam Erythræum mare nominatum affirmant.

Eryx. Venus her son slain by Hercules, with whom he fought at hurl-bats, and buried in a Mountain of Sicily, so called after him, where Venus had a Temple on the top of the hill, and from whence she had the name Erycina. Hinc Erycinus, a, um; adj. Vir.

E ante S.

Esdras, æ; m. qui & Ezra; ab עֵזְרָא auxilium. A learned scribe of the Jews, who found out those Hebrew letters they now use; for they used the Samaritans before, and made up the Canon of the Old Testament.

Esernius. A noble fencer, equal in worth to his fellow Pacidianus: whence arose the proverb. Esernius cum Pacidiano, when the comparison stands on equal terms.

Esquĭlĭæ, Esquilinus mons, Cic. hod. Monte di S. Maria maggiore.

Esquĭlĭna porta, Porta di S. Lorenzo, una ex portis Romæ. Prænestina etiam dicta, quòd ab urbe ad Prænestе ducat.

Essæi, vel Esseni, Ἐσσαῖοι sive Ἐσσηνοὶ ἁγνότατοι, Suid. ἀπὸ τῆς ὁσιότητος, Philo. à חסיא unde gr. ὅσιος sanctus, ob institutі & vitæ sanctitatem. Al. ab אסיא medicus, quòd morbos cum corporis tum animi sanarent; quare eos θεραπευτὰς idem Philo voc. Al. à עשה quod est facere; q. d. operarii; manibus enim suis operabantur, ut inde viverent, & egenis subvenirent: quarta fuerunt Judæorum secta, vitæ solitariæ amantes, & veluti monachi Judæorum; reliqu. sect. fuêre. 1. Pharisæi, sanctitatis (ut loquuntur:) 2. Saducæi, Justitiæ: 3. Hemerobaptistæ, Cerемoniarum magistri. Ortæ sunt hæ sectæ tempore Antiochi, circ. an. Mund. 3850. A sect or religious Order among the Jews, much like the Pythagoreans among the Greeks. They lived in Common, went in white, imployed themselves in labour and devotion, studied simples, used a plain diet, and lived long.

Essĕdŏnes. A kind of savage people about Mæotis, that eat the flesh of their friends when they be dead, and make drinking bowls of the sculls of their heads. Plin.

Essĭi. Celtarum populi; Cæs.

Esther, ἐσθὴρ. qu. ἀστὴρ à Persicâ voce ster, i. stella dict. Scal. The Niece of Mordecai, and wife to Ahasuerus the Assyrian Monark.

Estiones, Helvetiæ po. hod. Estnerberger.

Esubopes, rex Colchorum fuit, qui terram virginem nactus, plurimum auri & argenti eruisse dicitur. Plin. 33. 3.

E ante T.

ETEOCLES, Gr. i. laus vera; est n. ἐτὸν verum, & κλέος gloria. The elder son of Œdipus, by his own mother Jocasta; between whom and his brother Polynices this agreement was made, that after their father, they should reign yearly by course. But Eteocles after his year was expired, would not suffer his brother to succeed. Whereupon Polynices being aided by Tydeus and Adrastus, made War upon his brother; in which they meeting in the field, were each of them slain; and their bodies being burned, the flame parted it self, as a token of such deadly hatred between them, that as their mindes being alive, so their bodies being dead, could never agree. Their antipathy was propagated to their posterity, breaking out out into many outragious and bloody Wars. Unto such ends often doth the Providence of God bring an incestuous brood, that others may be instructed thereby.

Eteonos, i; f. Stat. opp. Bœotiæ.

Etesiæ, arum; m. ἐτησίαι, οἱ κατ' ἔτος πνέοντες, Suid. venti quotannis certo tempore spirantes. Winds that blow constantly every year all the time of the Dog-days, Plin. Hinc Etesiaca uva, Plin. 14. 3. quæ Etesiis variat.

Etesĭas, æ; m. in sing. Plin. Dic. & in fœm. Etesius, Hygin. sc. aura; & in neutro Etesia flabra, Lucr. qu. à sing. Etesius, a, um; adj. ἐτήσιος.

Ethălion, gr. i. mari assuetus. A mans name, who was turned into a Dolphin, Ovid.

Ethēmon. A mans name in Ovid.

Etocetum. The Wall in Staffordshire. Al. a town called Uttockceſter.

Etruria, Vir. quæ & Hetruria, Plin. & Thuscia, sive Tuscia, ap. Vett. The Dukedome of Tuscany.

Etrusci, Liv. The people of Tuscany.

Etrusĕus, a, um; Vir. of that country.

E ante V.

Eva, i. viva, seu vivens, omnium mulierum prima. Eve, Adam's Wife.

Evadne, es; f. The daughter of Iphis, whence Ovid calls her Iphias; who at her husband Capaneus his funeral, out of love cast herself into the fire, and was burned with him.

Euænĕtus, εὐαίνετος, verè laudabilis. A king of the Lacedemonians; he and Themistocles were appointed by the Grecians to keep the entrance of Thessaly against Xerxes.

Euăgoras, gr. i. bonus concionator. A king of Cyprus, to whom Isocrates wrote; Also one of Pliny's Authors.

Euagrius, gr. i. rusticus. A religious Priest, and an Egyptian Monk of great note in the time of S. Austine: He was a Pelagian, as appears by S. Hierom.

Evan, Bacchi cognomen Semeleius Evan, Ovid. corripit primam Stat. ab Evantium mulierum clamore impositum. Imò contrà Evantes ab ἰυὰν quod acclamabant Baccho; Evæ! bacchantes, Catul.

Evander. The son of Carmentis, who by chance slaying his father, by his mothers counsel forsook his country Arcadia, and came into Italy, from whence he drave out the Aborigines, and built the town Pallanteum (where Rome afterward was built) upon the hill Palatinus; inde Evandrius, a, um; Vir. ◊ Cum Evandri matre loqui, Gell. To use old language not understood. ◊ A noble ingraver, Schol. Hor.

Evandrius mons, Claud. idem cum Palatino.

Evarchus. A river of Asia, Val. Fl.

Eubius. A rivald Author, Ovid.

Eubœa, ita dict. ab Eubœa heroicæ indolis matrona: pot. à boum præstantiâ. An Isle in the Ægean sea, on the side of Europe, over against Chios; it is severed from Achaia by a little Euripus: by the Ancients it was called Macris, Chalcis, Asopis, Oche, Ellopia; and by Homer Abantis, and the inhabitants Abantes. It is now called Negroponte, and by the Turks (who won it from the Venetians ann. Chr. 1470.) Egribos and Eunya:

Eubŏĭcus, a, um, Vir. Of Eubœa.

Eubonia, Gild. The Isle of Man.

Eubule, es; f. Cic. A daughter of a son

ſon of Orpheus.

Eubūlus, Εὔβουλος, i. conſultus, ab εὖ benè, & βουλὴ conſilium. A certain Athenian, enemy to Demoſthenes; alſo an Hiſtorian that wrote the Hiſtory of Mithras at large; Hieron.

Eucarpĭa, εὐκαρπία, fructuum proventus. A city once in Prygia the great, in which cluſters of grapes grow to ſo huge a bigneſs, that one of them would load a Cart; whence Jupiter is fained to have bequeathed it to Bacchus and Ceres.

Euclides. A famous Geometrician in the time of Ptolemy the firſt.

Eucrătes, εὐκρατὴς, i. benè temperatus. A ſubtile fell. w, that would never keep his promiſe, but ſtill with ſome ſleight or other he would put off every one; whence the proverb, Vias novit quibus effugit Eucrates.

Eudæmon, εὐδαίμων, i. beata regio. Arabia the happy ſo called by Mela.

Eudēmĭa, maris Ægei inſula; Plin.

Eudocia, εὐδοκία, beneplacitum. Al. Εὐδοξία, nominis celebritas. Daughter of Leontius the ſophiſter, and wife to Theodoſius the younger: ſhe wrote the Centones Homerici, applying his verſes to the hiſtory of Chriſt, as Roſs has done Virgils.

Eudoxus, Cnidius patriâ, εὔδοξος, glorioſus. The ſon of Æſchines, a Geometrician, and Aſtrologer; the firſt among the Grecians that brought the year to the courſe of the Moon: Luc.

Euēnus, fl. Ætoliæ, juxta Calydonem in mare Ionium influens; Ovid.

Euergētes, εὐεργέτης, i. benè meritus. The ſirname of one of the Ptolemeys, king of Egypt, (which ſucceeded Ptolemæus Philadelphus) ſo called for the favours which he beſtowed on the cities of Greece.

Euexippe & Theano, Daughters of Scedaſus, who were raviſhed and ſlain by certain Spartans. The father ſeeing he could neither apprehend the malefactors, nor have juſtice againſt them, ſlew himſelf at their tombs. Cœl. Rhod.

Eugănĕi Poet. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς εὐγενείας. People dwelling near the Adriatick ſea, near the Alps. Their county now is called Marca Trevisana.

Euganeus, a, um; Juv. Of that country.

Eugĕnĭa. A certain religious woman, whoſe famed ſaying this was; He is rich enough, who is poor with Chriſt. ◊ Eugenia uva, Plin. 14. 2. A noble ſort of Grape.

Eugĕnĭus, i. nobilis. The name of four ſundry Popes of Rome; the laſt of that name was depoſed by the Council at Baſil, and Felix the fourth put in his place.

Eugubium. A city of Italy in the Dutchy of Urbin.

Euhemerus. An ancient hiſtorian of Sicily, who wrote the ſtories of their Gods; whom Ennius followed; Cic. He was a noted Atheiſt.

Euĭus. & ap. vet. Euhius, i. filius bonus, ab εὖ & υἱὸς, Bacchi cognomen à Jove illi inditum; fabulantur enim Poetæ cæteris diis perterritis Liberum patrem ſe in leonem convertiſſe unumque ex gigantibus interfeciſſe, & ob rem tam ſtrenuè geſtam Euhyon à Jove fuiſſe ſalutatum. Al. ab. εὐοῖ εὐοῖ! quæ erat acclamatio bacchantium; idque ex אבוי Prov. 23. 29.

Eumēlis. A Soothſayer; Stat.

Eumēlus. A Trojan in Virgil.

Eumĕnes, εὐμενὴς, i. mitis, ſive benevolus. A king of Pergamus, a friend of the Romans, who overcame Antiochus.

Eumĕnĭdes, um; f. per Euphemiſmum dict. quòd minimè εὐμενεῖς, id eſt, benevolæ ſint; vel ità ab Oreſte dictæ, cùm eas, in judicio abſolutus, propitias ſentiret. Ai σεμναὶ θεαὶ, Plut. The three Furies in hell, daughters (as the Poets fain) to Acheron and Nox, all brought forth at one birth. Dicæ in cœlo; Furiæ in terris; Eumenides apud inferos; Serv.

Eumenis, idis; f. Stat. A Fury.

Eumolpus, εὐμολπὸς, i. egregius cantator, Ovid. The ſon of the Poet Muſæus, ſcholar to Orpheus; he wrote Verſes before Homer: he taught the dreſſing of Vines. Plin.

Eunapius. A Sophiſter and Hiſtorian. He wrote of the Cæſars, begining where Herodian left off, down to his own time.

Eunice, es; f. The mother of Timothy.

Eunŏmĭāni, hæretici, ab Eunomio, Epiſcopo Cyziceno dicti. S. Baſil, & Greg. Nazianzen have wrote againſt them.

Eunoſtus, Tanagræorum Deus, Into whoſe temple no woman might come. And if any misfortune hapned to them, they would diligently inquire whether any woman had chanced to come there. Alex. ab Alex.

Euonium. A ſtrong Caſtle on the Weſt of Scotland, now called Dunſtaphag, in the Province of Lorne.

Euōnymos, Plin. εὐώνυμος, i. ſiniſter, ſic dict. quòd è Lipara in Siciliam navigantibus ſiniſtra ſit: hodiè à Nigr. Stromboli, Ferrar. Vulcanetto, Calep. l'Uſtega, al. Uſtica vocatur. One of the Æolian Iſlands, belonging to Sicily.

Eupator rex, unde Eupatorium, herba regiam auctoritatem habens, uti loquitur. Plin. 25. 6.

Eupatoria, Plin. A city of Paphlagonia, the royal ſeat of Mithridates, after whoſe defeat by Pompey, it was called Pompeiopolis.

Euphorbus, Gr. bonus paſtor. A noble Trojan, the ſon of Panthus; he wounded Patroclus, and was ſlain by Menelaus. Pythagoras ſaid, that his ſoul was in him at the time of the Trojan War, that he might better perſwade others to that opinion of his concerning the tranſmigration or paſſage of a mans ſoul from one body into another; Ovid. ◊ A Phyſician of king Juba, from whom he named the tree Euphorbium; Plin. 25. 7.

Euphŏrion. A Poet of Chalcis, whom Cor. Gallus did tranſlate. Tully calls him an obſcure writer.

Euphrānor; Juv. A famous ſtone-cutter and picture-drawer, one who wrote much of Proportions and Colours.

EUPHRATES, εὐφράτης ſic dict ab εὐφραίνειν, id eſt, à lætificando, Plin. propterea quòd circumjacentem agrum ſtagnationibus ſuis adeò lætum fœcundumque reddat, ut ſequente anno ſponte creſcat, & proveniat ſeges. Pot. ab Heb. פרת præpoſito הוא, Schind. vel Gr. εὖ, ut ſit qu. εὐφορος. nam à פרה dict. fructum ferre; quòd Meſopotamiam fertilem efficiat, ut ait Cic. unde & ipſe fertilis Euphrates, Luc. A river of Meſopotamia, ariſing out of Niphates a hill of Armenia; one of the rivers that cometh out of Paradiſe, and paſſed through Babylon. It is now called Aferat or Frat. ◊ Alſo a Philoſopher that drunk a cup of poiſon with Adrian the Emperor's leave, that he might be freed from thoſe miſeries he lived in.

Euphroſyne, es; f. εὐφροσύνη, i. lætitia. One of the three Graces.

Eupilis. A lake in Lombardy, now called Lago di Puſſiano.

Euplœa, ab εὖ bene & πλοῖον navigium. Vagis omen felix Euplœa carinis, Stat. inſula Tyrrheni maris juxta Neapolin, vulg. Gaiola.

Eupolis, idis; m. Perſ. ab εὖ bene & πόλις urbs, q. d. bonus civis. A Comical Poet of Athens very ſevere in reprehending of faults; he was ſlain in the battel betwixt the Athenians and Lacedemonians at Helleſpont; his death was ſo much bemoaned, that they made a law, That never afterward any Poet ſhould bear arms.

Eupompus. A Mathematician: alſo a Painter which taught Pamphilus, the maſter of Apelles. Plin.

Euporus, gr. i. abundans. A faithful ſervant to C. Gracchus, who to his power defended his maſter and fled from the hill Aventinus; and as ſoon as his maſter was ſlain, he killed himſelf: Macrob.

EURIPIDES, εὐριπίδης, ab Euripus, eo enim loco natus, Etym. A learned Tragical Poet, born at Salamis, that day as Xerxes his great army was routed by the Athenians. He was in great favour with Archelaus king of Macedony; he wrote in all ſeventy five Plays. For his chaſtity, and avoiding company of women, he was called μισογύνης, i. Woman-hater; howbeit he was twice married: concerning his death there are divers relations; ſome think he was worried by Archelaus his dogs that were ſet upon him by the malice of the Poet Aridæus, that envied him, and Cratena; others, that he was pulled in pieces by women. He died in the 75 year of his age, and was buried at Pella.

Euripidius numerus in talis quadragenarius, ab Euripide inventus; legitur & Euripides in eadem ſignif. Cœl. Rhod.

Euripus, εὔριπος, fretum recipiocum, ab εὖ & ῥιπίζω, qu. facilè ventilatus; vel ῥίπτω præcipito. ſic dict. quòd ſepties unius diei & noctis ſpatio eo impetu recurrit, ut navigia repugnantibus ventis ſecum rapiat; unde proverbium, Euripum homo, i. inconſtans. A narrow ſea between Bœotia and Eubœa, that ebbs and flows ſeaven times in 24 hours; or as Livy gives the account, that hath boiſterous tides at no certainty. It is now called Stretto di Negroponte. Here the famous Philoſopher Ariſtotle is ſaid to have drowned himſelf, becauſe he could not find out the cauſe of its often ebbing and flowing; which is falſe, for he dyed his natural death. vid. Appel.

Euroaquilo, onis; m. Ventus typhonius (i. procelloſus) qui vocatur Euroaquilo. Vet. Int. Act. 27. 14. pro quo gr. εὐροκλύδων, i. Eurus fluctuoſus. A North-Eaſt wind.

Euronotus, qui & Vulturnus, quòd inter Notum & Eurum ſit. The South-Eaſt wind.

EUROPA, εὐρώπη, ſic dicta ab Europa Agenoris filia; Stephanus ab Europo Macedoniæ rege; Becm. verò deducit nomen ab εὐρὺς, excellens, & ὄψ, hominum multitudo. Europæi hodie à Turcis Franki dicti, & Europa Giavor. Terminatur ab Auſtro mari Mediter. ab Occidente Oceano Occid. ab Aquilone glaciali Oceano, ab Euro Tanai fluvio, ductáque ab ejus fonte rectâ lineâ ad Borealem Oceanum. Strabo formam

Draconis

Draconis ei tribuit, cujus caput Hiſpania, collum Gallia, corpus Germania, alæ dextra lævaque Italia & Cimbria. Habet Europa præter Romanum Imperium regn. 28. Europe, one of the four parts of the world; and the moſt conſiderable for people, arts and armis.

Europa, qu. εὐρυώπη, latâ aſpectu, ſive latos habens oculos, Euſt. vel à Chald. חוּרָא אפא i. candida facie. The daughter of Agenor, king of Phœnicia, whom Jupiter in the ſhape of a Bull raviſhed, and carried over into Crete. The truth of this fiction ſome think to be this, That the ſhip wherein ſhe was carried, was Tauriformis, like a Bull; others, that the maſter of the ſhip was called Taurus, a Bull; others, that the ſigne of the ſhip was a Bull; others, that a legion of men ſtole her and other virgins away, carrying, in their flag a fair Bull: vel quòd אל תפא & bovem & navem ſign.

Europus. A city of Syria by Euphrates, called alſo Amphipolis & Thapſacum; Plin. Another of Media, called Rages in Tobit.

Eurōtas, æ; m. A famous river of Laconia, running by Sparta; much celebrated by the Poets. On its banks there grew Laurels, Vir. Olive-trees, Stat. and Myrtles, Catul. Alſo another of Theſſaly, which runs into Peneus another river, and mingleth not his water with it, but glides on the top of it like oyl, till it leave it again, Plin. 4. 8.

Eurus, i; m. εὖρος, ventus ab ortu verno ſpirans; dict. quòd ἀπὸ τῆς ἕω ῥεῖν ſiuat ab aurora; ſc. ab oriente; Gell. vel ἀπὸ τοῦ εὐ ῥεῖν. Fort. ab. אור lux. The Eaſt-wind. ☞ Subſolanus, ἀπηλιώτης, ab oriente æquinoctiali; Vulturnus εὖρος, ab oriente brumali; Plin.

Euryale. King Minos's daughter, of whom Neptune begat Orion: there were two others of that name, one whereof was one of the Gorgons in Africa; The other was daughter to Prætus King of the Argives.

Euryalus, gr. latus, amplus. A Prince of Peloponneſus, that went with 80 ſhips againſt Troy; alſo a Trojan famous for his friendſhip with Niſus, Virg. alſo a ſtageplayer, Juvenal: alſo a pleaſant place of Sicily, Liv. now called Belvedere, as our Belvoir Caſtle for the ſame reaſon ſo called.

Euryanaſſa. An Iſle in the ſea Ægeum, oppoſite to Ionia, and near Arginuſæ; Plin.

Eurybates, à late gradiendo. Agamemnons tipſtaff, or meſſenger, whom he ſent to fetch away Briſeis from Achilles, Ovid.

Eurycles. A Prophet who ſtill divined ſome ill to himſelf; Cœl. Rhod.

Eurydamas, i. late domans, ab δίγὼς latus, & δαμάζω domo, δῠώδαμας. A great wreſtler of Cyrene, who after his teeth were ſtruck out, ſwallowed them down, that his adverſary might not be encouraged by the ſight. Rhod.

Eurydice, δῠώδικη. The wife of Orpheus, who flying from Ariſtæus, that would have raviſhed her, was ſlain by a Serpent: Orpheus took his Harp and went to hell for her, and with his muſick perſwaded Pluto and Proſerpina to let him have his wife with him; which they granted upon condition that he ſhould not look on her till they ſaw the light; but he failed, and ſo loſt her. Virg. See the moral of the ſtory in Nat. Com.

Eurylochus, δῠρύλοχος, i. inſidias latè tendens. One of Ulyſſes companions, who alone taſted not of Circe's inchanting cup, and ſo ſcaped being turned into a ſwine; Ovid.

Eurymachus, δῠρύμαχος, i. undique pugnans. One of Penelopes ſuitors, Ovid.

Eurymedon, δῠρύμεδων, latè imperans. The ſon of Faunus; Stat. ◊ Alſo a river of Pamphylia; Plin.

Euryminus. A Clawback, who ſtudied with telling tales to ſet enmity betwixt Caſtor and Pollux, that were moſt loving friends; at length he was found out in his knavery by them both, and ſuffered his deſerved puniſhment: whence it grew a proverb: Euryminus; ſpoken of thoſe that by falſe tales would ſet friends at difference.

Eurynŏme, Gr. i. latè diſtribuens. A ſea-Nymph, of whom Jupiter begat Leucothoe; alſo the daughter of Apollo, mother to Adraſtus king of the Argives, and to Eriphyle, Amphiaraus his wife.

Euryŏne. Daughter to Amyntas King of the Macedons, whom ſhe delivered from the treaſon of her mother.

Eurypylus, δῠρύπυλος, i. latas portas habens. The ſon of Telephus, ſlain in the Trojan Wars, to which he went out of love to Caſſandra. ◊ Alſo a ſon of Hercules, that reigned in the Iſle Cos, who was a ſkilful ſoothſayer, Vir.

Euryſtheus, Gr. i. præpotens. The ſon of Sthenelus, and king of Mycenæ in Greece, who in compliance with Juno ſet Hercules upon great adventures, that he might at length miſcarry; but Hercules got more honour by it, and overcame all dangerous adventures, and became the moſt famous man in the World.

Eurytion, one of the Argonauts. Ovid. ◊ Another ſon of Lycaon, and brother to Pandarus, Vir. ◊ Another, an excellent ingraver, Id.

Eurytus, Gr. i. bene fluens; Œchaliæ rex: Who proclaimed that he which could ſhoot nearer any mark than he could, ſhould have his daughter Iole to wife; which when Hercules had done, and was denied his reward, he ſlew the father, and carried the daughter away; who from him is called Eurytis, idos; f. patron. Ovid. ◊ Another a Centaure whom Theſeus ſlew as he was ſtealing Hippodamia.

Euſĕbius, Epiſcopus Cæſarienſis, tempore Conſtantini floruit, Chriſt. 325. Pamphili cognomen habuit à martyre ejus nominis; cujus divinæ bibliothecæ inveſtigator diligentiſſimus extitit; adeo apud gentes & philoſophos clarus, ut Conſtantinus dixerit, Euſebium eſſe non unius urbis ſed orbis Epiſcopatu dignioſſimum. Hic cum diutius Ariana hæreſi laborâſſet, tandem ad Nicænam Synodum acceſſit, atque à Sp. ſancto impulſus, Patrum ſecutus eſt ſententiam; atque deinceps orthodoxâ fide vixit obiitque; ſcripſit Hiſtoriam Eccleſiaſticam, quam verbatim vertit Ruffinus, niſi quòd aliqua addidit, aliqua detraxit; quæ hiſtoria fide digna eſt, niſi quòd apocryphas quaſdam fabulas continet, & quòd Origenem nimium laudet, & quòd Arianis faveat. Vid. apud Suidam ſcripta ejus.

Euſtăthius, εὐστάθιος, i. ſtabilis, Epiſcopus Antiochenus, qui tempore Conſtantini adverſùs Arianorum dogma multa compoſuit; pulſus demum eſt Trajanopolim, Thraciæ civitatem, ubi & ſepultus eſt; Hieron. ◊ Item Martyr quidam inter auricos Trajani, qui dum cervum ſectaretur, conſpectóque inter cornua crucis ſigno, & auditâ feræ voce, Cur me perſequeris? domum rediit; atque ipſe cum liberis Chriſto nomen dedit; unde cum uxore in æneo tauro exuſtus ſub Adriano principe martyrii coronam accepit, Volater. l. 15. ◊ Alſo an Archbiſhop of Theſſalonica, who wrote comments upon Homer and Dionyſius; a man of great learning and reputation; He lived in Manuel Comnenus his time, ann. 750.

Euſtochium. A Roman Lady, daughter of Paula, well ſkill'd in Latin, Greek and Hebrew, ſo that ſhe could without ſtop read the Hebrew Pſalter and underſtand it; which learning of hers, with her devotion, procured her S. Hieroms reſpects.

Euterpe, Gr. i. jucunda, ex εὖ bene, & τέρπειν delectare, quia tibiam invenit. One of the nine Muſes, that invented the Mathematicks, and playing upon the pipe; Vir.

Euthycrates, Plin. An excellent Painter, Lyſippus his ſcholar.

Eutrăpĕlus, εὐτράπελος, i. urbanus, ſalſus, facetus. A crafty Gozener in Hor. 1. Epiſt. ◊ Another a Barber in Mart.

Eutrŏpius. An Hiſtorian; he wrote of the Roman affairs down to Flav. Valens his time. He was called the ſophiſter.

Eutyche, εὐτύχη, i. felix. A woman of Trallis, that had thirty children, and was carried to her grave by twenty of them; Plin.

Eutyches, Abbas Conſtantinopolitanus, qui ut Neſtorio Epiſcopo ibidem & hæretico contradiceret, docuit in Chriſto unam eſſe naturam; neque carnem habuiſſe noſtræ ὁμοούσιον & ὁμοιρῶν, ſed de cœlo deſcendiſſe affirmavit, ac in uterum Virginis tanquam Solis radios penetraſſe; ita ut viſus ſit ex muliere generatus, cum revera non ſit, Suid. Hæreſin hanc damnavit quartum Concilium Oecumenicum; Volat.

Eutychĭa, εὐτυχία, felicitas. An Iſle near Theſſaly.

Eutychĭdes. A famous ſtatuary. Plin.

Euxinus pontus, εὔξεινος i. hoſpitalis per antiphr. quia importuoſus: ſic Catul. trucem ponticum ſinum voc. vel quia ejus accolæ inhoſpitales; utpote hoſpites immolare ſoliti. Al. ab Euxio fl. qui in mare illud influit. Boch. ab אשכנז Aſkenaz ducit, unde olim dict. Pontus Axenus, Ovid. ἄξενος, i. inhoſpitalis. The Euxine, or the Black Sea, up from the Ægæan along the Helleſpont to the lake of Mœotis, and that which is peculiarly called Pontus. At one end of it into Mœotis, there is a Strait called Boſphorus Cimmerius: And above Stanbul another called Boſphorus Thracius. Here the Whale diſburthened her ſelf of the Prophet Jonas, as Joſephus reporteth.

E ante X.

Exagonus, legatus Ophiogenum, qui ſunt populi in Cypro; is quum Romam veniſſet, ibique de herbarum viribus multa diſſereret, volens conjectus eſt in dolium dolium plenum ſerpentibus, ubi ſerpentes ipſi non ſolùm non mordebant, ſed etiam linguis demulcebant. Plin.

Excẽtra, Hydra ſic dicta, Plaut.

Exõdus, i; ſ. ἔξοδος, exitus Iſraelitarum ex Ægypto. The ſecond Book of Moſes ſo called.

Exõmĭtæ; Val. Fl. pop. Sarmatiæ Aſiaticæ; Jaxamatæ, Melæ.

Exonia olim Iſca. Exceſter, the chief City of Devon-ſhire, a Biſhops ſea.

Exquilĭæ, mons Romæ, dict. ab excubiis regis Tulli Hoſtilii, Ovid. qui hunc collem urbi adjecit, & in eum, ut frequentiùs habitaretur, domicilium ſuum tranſtulit: ſunt qui ab excolendo deriv. quòd ea pars urbis, cùm antea neglecta jacuiſſet, Tullo rege fuerit exculta.

Extenſio, ἔκτασις. Eaſtonneſs, a promontory in Suffolk.

E ante Z.

Ezĕchias. A moſt godly king of Judah: he reigned twenty nine years.

Ezĕkiel. One of the four greater Prophets in the time of Zedechias.

F ante A.

FAbārĭa, à copiâ fabarum, Ferr. An Iſland of Friſe-land, againſt the outlet of the river Ems: it is called by Plin. Burchana, and by Cambd. Borkum.

Făbăris. A river of the Sabines in Italy. Virg. called alſo Farfarus, now Farfa.

Fabiola. A religious woman of S. Jerom's acquaintance.

FABIUS, à faba, quia fabam optimè ſerebat; ſic Cicerones, Lentuli, Piſones, à cicere, lente, & piſis bene ſerendis dicti ſunt. Plin. The ſirname of a noble houſe in Rome. They undertook once the war againſt the Veientes alone with their friends and ſervants, and in ſlight ſkirmiſhes got the better, till at laſt they were all but one ſlain at Cremera, of which one in proceſs of time came that noble Dictator whom the Romans choſe to go againſt Hannibal; he by diſcreet delay regained what other Dictators by overhaſty temerity had loſt. Unde Ennius, Unus homo nobis cunctando reſtituit rem. When Hannibal ſaw him hovering ſtill above him in the tops of the mountains, he ſaid, He feared that cloud in the end would prove a ſtorm, which was a true propheſie; for he gave Hannibal the foyl, and was thereupon called Fabius Maximus. ◊ Several others of this name.

Fabrātĕria; Sil. A certain town in Latium. Pop. Fabraterni, Plin.

Fabricius. A noble man of Rome, ſo poor, that his daughters portions were given out of the publick treaſury, yet neither the Samnites nor Pyrrhus could corrupt him with gold or ſilver to deal falſely.

Fabricius pons; Hor. One of the bridges of Rome, now called Ponte di quattro capi.

Fabŭlinus, Deus qui pueris primò fari incipientibus præeſſe putabatur. Var.

Făgŭtal, ſuit Romæ ſacellum Jovis in quo erat fagus arbor, quæ Jovi ſacra habebatur.

Fabĭa lex, lata à P. Fabio, trib. plebis, Auguſti tempore.

Falconis mons; Valckenburg in the Low countries.

Fălĕrii, opp. à ſale dict. Feſt. qu. Haleſii ab ἅλς. conditum ab Haleſo Phrygio, Æneæ comite; Pomp. Sab. pro Haleſium, r pro ſ poſito, & aſpiratione in Digamma mutatâ: φαλίσιον, Str. hod. Falare. Eoſdem Falerios & Faliſcos facit Liv. A town in the midſt of Tuſcia.

Falĕrnus, mons Campaniæ, in quo optima vina naſcuntur; Serv.

Faliſci, quos Æquos Faliſcos vocat Vir. colonia Hetruſcorum, Plin. Argis orta, Steph. Scrib. & Phaliſci. A people of Tuſcany. When Camillus beſieged them, the ſchoolmaſter of the town took his ſcholars, that were noble mens children, forth of the City to walk, and carried them to the enemy; whoſe treachery Camillus deteſting, cauſed the maſter to be ſtript naked, and his ſcholars to whip him into the town again; at which juſtice of Camillus, they ſubmitted themſelves to Camillus, and yielded up the city: This country abounded with herbage, and had a river in it, the water whereof made the cattle that drank it, white. Plin.

Faliſcus, a, um, ut venter Faliſcus. à Faliſcis dict. ut Lucanica à Lucanis. A ſtuffed pudding which thoſe people firſt made.

Falmutum. Falmouth, in Cornwal.

Fama Auguſta. A chief city of the Iſland Cypres, called Famagoſta.

Fannia lex, Appointed monies to be allowed for the ſetting forth of plays and games. Gell. & Macr.

Fannii. Two Orators, mentioned by Cic. ◊ Alſo Fannius a ſorry Poet, Hor. ◊ Alſo one who killed himſelf. Mart.

Fanum, Cæſ. Colonia Faneſtris, Melæ. A city of Umbria or of Picenum, upon the Adriatick ſhore, betwixt Piſaurus and Senogallia; ſic dict. quòd in eâ pulcherrimum fortunæ fanum, i. templum fuerit: Perot. unde Fanenſes incolæ, ſive Faneſtres.

Fanum ad Taff. fluv. Landaff.

Fanum S. Albani. Saint Albans in Hartford-ſhire.

Fanum S. Andreæ. Saint Andrews an Archbiſhops See & Univerſity in Scotland.

Fanum S. Audomari. S. Omars.

Fanum S. Maclovii. S. Malo's, a port in Bretagne in France.

Fanum S. Stephani. Kirkbyſteven in Weſtmoreland.

Fanum S. Yvonis. S. Yves.

Fanum Vacunæ Hor. pagus Sabinorum.

Farfărus, vel Pharphar, Hieron. A river of Syria riſing out of Mount Libanus; Alſo a river of the Sabines, qui & Fabaris, Serv. ſed & corruptè Faber, Vib. Sequeſt.

Faſcelis, dict. à faſce lignorum, Serv. in quo Oreſtes & Iphigenia ſimulacrum ejus abſconderunt, cum ex Taurica regione in Italiam illud adferrent. Diana ſo called. Al. à face, cum quâ pingitur, unde & Lucifera dic.

Faſcellina, opp. Siciliæ; Sil.

Fatua, quæ & Fauna, & bona Dea, Dea quæ infantes in lucem editos fandi modos, i. verba edocet, vel à fando, i. Vaticinando dict. ut à φατις Vates; Scal. The name of the Earth, becauſe children ſpeak not till they have touched the Earth. Macrob. But it is any country goddeſs, a fairy of the Woods; Queen Mab.

Fatuellus. The husband of Fatua. Id. qui Faunus.

Fatuus, id. qui Fatuellus & Faunus à fando, ut prius. Per antiphraſin ſic dictos vult deos agreſtes Perot. quòd fari neſciant; unde & infatuatos dici putat, qui Faunorum ludibriis agitentur. A rural God, king Oberon.

Faucula Clunia. A harlot that relieved the captives that Hannibal had taken. Liv.

Faventia, Liv. A city in Italy, called now Faenza; under the Archbiſhop of Ravenna. ◊ Faventini, pop. Plin.

Faviani. Youths that celebrated Faunus his feaſt, being only girt with a ſkin, and all naked beſides. Alex. ab Alex.

Favii, ante Fovii dict. eò quòd princeps ejus gentis ex ea natus ſit, cum quâ Hercules in fove concubuit.

Fauna, idem quod Fatua, ſc. terra, quod vult Macr. à favendo, quòd omni uſui animantium faveat. ſed eſt fœm. à Faunus. The name of a certain goddeſs, to whom the Roman matrons ſacrificed in the night, and cloſely; neither was it lawful for any man ſo much as to look into her Temple upon paim of death, becauſe that Fauna when ſhe lived was ſo chaſt, that ſhe never looked upon any man but her husband.

Faunalia. Feaſts in honour of Faunus, kept on the fifth day of December. Alex. ab Alex.

Fauni. Gods of fields and woods: Poet. Faunus, ſicut & Fauna, à fando ſuam originem derivat, quod in ſylveſtribus locis ſoliti eſſent fari, Var. vel à φαίνειν fari, V. à φανὸς. Iſid. nam Faunus viris, Fauna mulieribus fata canebat, Lact. vel Faunus à Πὰν, Πᾶνος, quippe idem Deus. He was ſon to Picus, father to Latinus, and the third king of the Aborigines in Latium; who becauſe he taught the people ſomewhat of religion and tillage, was accounted a country god; and that rude people might be kept in aw of him, they pictured him with feet of horn, and two horns on his head. Nat. Com. They are taken in Ennius for Prophets and Bards, who in the woods uttered their predictions; afterward all the Gods of the woods went by this name.

Favo, nobilis hiſtrio Rom. qui in funere Veſpaſiani Imperatoris, perſonam ejus tulit, vivique, ut moris erat, dicta & geſta imitatus eſt. Suet.

Favoniana pyra, Plin. quòd Favonio flante ſtatim formentur. Al. à Favonio quodam colono ſeu inſitore, M.

Favonius ventus, qui gr. ζέφυρος, Gell. à favendo dict. quòd faveat genituræ, unde genitabilis aura Favoni, Lucr. Al. qu. fovonius, quia foveat ſata. Al. Chelidoniam, ab hirundinis viſu; Al. Ornithiam ab avium adventu voc. Plin. The Weſtern wind, that blows in the ſpring, and cheriſhes the growth of things, and is favourable to Mariners.

Favorinus. A Philoſopher, ſcholar to Dion, who was wont to ſay, that he wondred at 3 things in himſelf. Firſt, that being a French man born, he ſpake Greek ſo well. 2ly, that being an Eunuch he was ſuſpected of adultery. Thirdly, that he did live, ſeeing he was ſo hated of the Emperor Adrian.

Fauſtianum vinum. Wine of Falern.

Fauſtitas, Hor. Dea, quam pro pecoris fœturâ colebant.

Fauſtulus, dim. à Fauſtus. A ſhepherd who found Romulus and Remus, expoſe on Tyber in a baſket of ſiggars, and brought them to his wife, who nouriſhed them: Liv.

Faustus. A Manichee, against whom S. Austin wrote.

F ante E.

Febris, Dea culta est à veteribus, nè noceret, Val. Max.

Februa, dict. à Februo, i. purgationibus, quòd fœminas post partum secundis exeuntibus purgaret.

Februa, sacra erant quæ diis manibus placandis fiebant mense Februario. Ovid.

Februarius, sic dict. quòd tum populus februaretur, i. lustraretur ac purgaretur; vel à Junone februata, quam & februatem & februlim voc. quòd ipsi eo mense sacra fiebant; ejusque feriæ erant lupercalia, quo die mulieres februabantur à lupercis; quam ob causam is quoque dies februatus appellabatur. Hæc Fest. à februo ergo, quæ sunt καθαίρω i. sacrificia expiatoria. Al. à deo Februo, i. Plutone, Isid. Nam Januarium, inquit diis superis, Februarium diis manibus Romani consecraverunt. Februus ditis pater est, cui eo mense sacrificatur, Serv. Al. à febre, quòd sit frigidum tempus. Ελαφηβολιών, ארר.

Februata, Juno, quæ & Februalis & Februa dict. quòd illi mense Februario sacra fiant. Alex. ab Alex.

Felix. A Governour of Judæa, husband of Drusilla.

Felsina, An Archbishops See, and University; the chief city of all Romandiola.

Fenestella, dict. à medio capitis calvo, quòd fenestræ similitudinem præ se ferat. A learned Historian who lived in Tiberius Cæsar his days: or (as Eusebius saith) in Augustus Cæsar his time. ◊ Another long since him, who hath written De sacerdotiis & Magistrat. Rom. ◊ Also the name of a Gate in Rome.

Fenni, Tac. Finni, Jorn. pop. Scandinaviæ. The inhabitants of Finland. Ortel.

Feralia, diis manibus sacrata festa, à ferendis ad tumulum epulis, vel à feriendis pecudibus; Fest. Hanc, quia justa ferunt, dixere Feralia lucem; Ovid. A day in February, when they sacrificed to the infernal Gods and Spirits.

Ferdinandus, The name of sundry kings of Spain and German Emperours.

Ferentina, Dea dict. à Ferentio opp. Liv.

Ferentinum, Fiorentino, Urbs Latii episc. inde Ferentinates. Plin.

Ferentum, Hor. opp. Apuliæ; hod. Forenza.

Feretrius, dict. à ferendis spoliis; nam Romulus victis Ceninensibus, hostium spolia, fereulo ad id facto, in Capitolium detulit, ibique ex quercu suspensa Jovi Feretrio templum condidit, autórque fuit posteris, ut ei capta ex hostibus opima spolia decernant. Jupiter so called; à feretro, scil. pompæ triumphalis, Scal. ex Val. Fl.

Feronia, Virg. dict. à ferendis arboribus. A goddess of the Woods: For it is storied, that when her grove in the Mountain Soracte was burnt down, the people carried about her her picture, and presently the Wood grew afresh. There is a spring also in that grove, according to Horace. And 2 or 3 towns of that name. Serv. says she was a Nymph of Campania; and makes her also the Goddess of freemen, in whose temple, having shaved their heads, they put on their cap, the badg of liberty.

Ferraria, hodiè Ferrara dicta, quòd ferri fodinas habeat feracissimas. A City wherein is an University, in the Province of Romandiola in Italy, seated on the bank of Po. This city belonged to the German Emperor, and the Countess Matilda took it from Henry the third Emperor, and dying without issue, bestowed it on the Church of Rome, and so it continues. It is also a Promontory in Spain, called Cabo Martin.

Fescennia. A town of Hetruria, where obscene Verses sung at Marriages were first invented, thence called Versus Fescennini. inde Fescenninus, a, um; Vir. Vid. Appell.

Festus. The name of divers noble men.

Fesulæ, Plin. Fesula, Sil. A Village which was a City of Hetruria near Florence: built by Atlas King of Mauritania. It is now called Fiesoli.

F ante I.

Fibrenus; Sil. A river of Italy, which runs into the river Liris.

Ficĕlia; Mart. statio Ficuleatum, ubi eorum Legati sc. ad Senatum missi subsisterent.

Ficulnea, vetus Latii urbs; raised by Tarquinius Priscus, ann. Mund. 3340. U. C. 143.

Fidēna, Virg. or Fidenæ, arum. A City in Latium called Castel Jubileo, inde Fidenates, pop. Plin.

Fidentia, opp. Italiæ, hodiè voc. Borgo di. S. Donnino: inde Fidentini, Plin. It belongs to the Dutchy of Parma.

Fidiculanus Falcula. A Senator of Rome, a sorry person. Cic.

Fidius, Deus à fide dictus cui præest, qu. fidei Deus Fort. pro Filius, ut sit Jovis filius. Vid. Appell. Mediusfidius. Plaut. Per Deum Fidium credis jurato mihi. Son of Jupiter.

Figulnensis Porta, Fest. rect. Ficulnensis, quæ & Numentana; hod. Porta di S. Agnese.

Fimbria. An audacious Roman, proud and seditious. Cic.

Finnonia sive Finnia. Finland, now under the King of Sweden.

Firmum. A City of Picenum in Italy. Pop. Firmani, Plin.

Fiscellus mons; Sil. A piece of the Apennine in Umbria.

F ante L.

Flaccus, cognomen, ab auribus flaccis, i. mobilibus, Plin.

Flamen, Sacerdotem significat, quorum tres apud Romanos fuere, à Numa Pompilio instituti, à Diis quibus sacrificabant cognominati, Dialis à Jove, Quirinalis à Quirino seu Romulo, Martialis à Marte: postea dicti erant Flamines majores & minores, quorum primus erat Dialis. Tandem vero sexaginta Curiones, qui inferiores erant sacerdotes, nominabantur Flamines Curiales; Rosin. Flamines, a filo quo religabant capita, qu. filamines dict. vel à gestamine pilei, qu. pilamines, Serv. Pot. à flameo vestitu, colore fulminis, quo se Jovis tonantis ministros ostenderent; M. An à flatu, i. afflatu numinis?

Flaminia, Italiæ regio, quæ nunc Romandiola, vulgo la Romagna.

Flaminia via. The high way from Rome to Ariminum, made by Flaminius the Consul.

Flaminius, vir nobilis Rom. A Consul slain in a battle against Hannibal, Liv. ◊ Another turn'd out of the Senate by Cato for a misdemeanour, when he was governor of France, Liv. ◊ Hinc Flaminius, a, um.

Flandria. Flanders, one of the 17 Provinces. It has many considerable towns, and Cities in it; as Bruges, Sluys, Dam, Deway, Dunkirk, Ostend, Graveling, Newport; and the chief of all Ghent.

Flavia. A City of Palestine built by Herod, and first called Cæsarea, but after of Flavius Vespasianus, Flavia. Plin.

Flavianum, oppid. Hetruriæ ad Tiberim. Flavinia anus voc. Vir. Flavinam, Sil.

Flavii, à flavo deduci dicuntur, ob crinium candorem; apud Rom. familia fuit antiquiss. Of this family were Vespasian, and his two sons, Titus & Domitian, all three Emperors.

Flaviobriga. A city of Biscay in Spain now called Bilbao.

Flaviopolis. A town of Thrace, built in that place where Zela stood. Plin.

Flavium Brigantium. S. Jago di Compostella.

Flavona, opp. Illyrici. Plin.

Flevum, Plinio Rheni ostium orientale; now called the Vlie. ◊ Flevi lacus, Tac. The South-Sea.

Flintensis provinciola. Flintshire.

Flora; q. d. Florum dea, vel à χλωρὸς viridis, nam & à χλόος flos. Chloris eram quæ Flora vocor; Ovid. uxor Zephyri. An Harlot, who by her whoring had got a huge mass of money, and when she died, she bequeathed her substance to the city of Rome; she left a certain sum of money to be bestowed yearly in celebrating her birth-day, which was done with all lasciviousness, and whores went up and down naked: the Romans being ashamed of this original, imitated her the Goddess of flowers.

Floralia, um; n. Feasts and sports in honour of Flora, where common strumpets danced naked. Hinc Floralis tuba, Juv.

Floralitius, a, um; ad Floralia pertinens.

Florentia, quæ & Fluentia, dict. à repentina fœlicitate, quia flavi similis videtur efferre caput suum in Hetruriæ medio. The city Florence, the chief of all Tuscany; where the Great Duke resides. The City is six miles in compass, so full of goodly buildings, streight and clean streets, that Charles the Archduke said, It was a city to be seen on holy days only. It was built by L. Sylla the Dictator, anno U. C. 645. Pop. Florentini, & Fluentini, Plin.

Florentinus. The name of divers men.

Florianus. An Emperor that succeeded Tacitus, and bled to death in discontent, that the army had made choice of Probus to succeed him.

Florius. A river of Gallicia in Spain.

Flumentana, quòd Tyberis quandoque in eam influxerit. A gate in Rome called Porta del Populo.

Hhhalim

Fluoniam Junonem mulieres colebant, quòd eam sanguinis fluorem in conceptu retinere putabant; Fest.

F ante O.

Focunates, Plin. People in the Dutchy of Savoy at the foot of the Alps; whose country is now called Le Fausſigny.

Fœliciana hæresis damnata in ſynodo Francofordiæ, anno 794.

Fœlicitas. A goddeſs of the Romans whom they invocated for proſperous ſucceſs in any enterpriſe.

Fœlix. The name of divers Romans.

Fœlia. A laſcivious woman. Hor.

Fomahant, ſtella in Aquario primæ magnitudinis, Hygin. corr. pro Fomahaut, ex Arab. פִּים אלחוּתה os piſcis. eſt enim in ore piſcis auſtralis; M.

Fons rapidus. A ſtrong place in Guyenne, called Fontarabie.

Fons Solis, dict. quòd ſolis per cardines motu, calore & algore variatur, Ovid. A well in the deſart of Libya, hot morning and evening, boyling hot at midnight, and cold in the day time. Ovid. Sil.

Fonteia. A Veſtal virgin; Cic.

Fonteius. A mans name in Hor.

Fontinalia, festum ſacra; Feſt. ſc. feriæ fontibus dicatæ, quo die in fontes coronas jaciunt, & puteos coronant; Var. Al. leg. Fontanalia.

Fontinalis porta, dict. ob propinquitatem ſcaturientium fontium. The gate Capena in Rome.

Forculus; deus, qui foribus præerat, ut Cardea cardini, & Limentinus limini; Aug.

Fordicidia, feſta erant apud Rom. dict. à fordis, i. e. bobus, cædendis, quæ celebrabantur ad 17. Cal. Mart.

Fordunum. A large town in Scotland, called Fordon, where the body of S. Palladius lies, 15 miles off Aberdeen.

Foriculus, Deus forium præſes.

Formiæ, Cic. & Formia, ſing. Mart. urbs Campaniæ, dict. primùm Hormiæ, ſive à frequentia bonitatéque τῶν ὁρμῶν, h. e. ſtationum; vel ἀπὸ τῆς ὁρμῆς, ab impetu Læſtrigonum, qui Anthropophagi fuerunt. A City once near Cajeta the ſeat of the Læſtrygones. ◊ Sinus Formianus, Golfo di Gaietta.

Formianus, a, um; Hor. hinc Formianum, A country-houſe of Cicero's there.

Fornacalia, feriæ farris torrendi gratiâ inſtitutæ, quibus ad fornacem in piſtrinis ſacrificium fieri ſolebat. Fornacalia, ſacra erant, cum far in fornaculis torrebant; Feſt.

Fornax, dea farris torrendi. Ovid.

Fortuna, τύχη. A goddeſs of the heathen. Juven.

Fortunatæ Inſulæ ſic dictæ à fructuum ubertate aëriſque temperie. The Canary Iſlands, 7 in number; about 20 or 30 leagues from Africk, they are now under the king of Spain. Divites inſulas vocat Hor.

Foruli, oppid. Sabinorum; Vir.

Forum. Tria erant apud Romanos præcipua, forum Julium ab ipſo conditum, Auguſtum, & Romanum ſive vetus, unde Martial. Atque erit in triplici par nihil æquus foro. Numerum hunc poſtea tria ſubſequentia auxerunt, Domitianum ſive transitorium, Trajanum, & Saluſtianum, poſtremò plures plura addiderunt, ut Appius, Aurelius, &c.

Forum Alieni, opp. Æmiliæ ad Padum fluv. ubi nunc Ferraria.

Forum Appii, Hor. inter tres Tabernas & Terracinam ponitur, hodiè hoſpitium tantùm li Maruti dict. al. le Caſe nuove.

Foroappii, pop. Plin.

Forum Claudii. The town Tarantaiſe in the Duchy of Savoy.

Forum Clodii. The town Tolſa nova, in Hetruria; or, as others, Oriolo.

Forum Cornelii. The town Imola, ſtanding in the high way called Æmilia, in Lombardy. Forocornelienſes, pop. Plin.

Forum Flaminii, Plin. A city of Umbria, 3 miles off Fulginium, ſtill called Forliam.

Forum Julii, Plin. A country of Italy, called now Friuli, ſubject to the Venetians; Forojulienſes, pop. Plin.

Forum Livii; Plin. The city Forli in Italy.

Forum Seguſianorum. A town in France, upon the Loir, called Feurs.

Forum Sempronii, Plin. A City of Umbria, now called Foſſombrone.

Forum Tiberii. A town of Switzeland, now called Keyſerſtul.

Foſi, Germaniæ pop. Tac. vulgò Dietmerſch.

Foſſæ Cloeliæ, Liv.

Foſſa Corbulonis. A river in Holland called Leek, which runs out of Rhene into Moſa near Wiick; made by one Corbulo. Tac.

Foſſa Druſiana. Iſſel in Gelderland.

Foſſæ; inſulæ inter Sardiniam & Corſicam. Plin.

Foſſa Mariana, Galliæ urbs ad alterum Rhodani oſtium ſita, ſic dict. à fuſſa quam Marius ex Rhodano in vicinum locum duxit; A town of Provence, called Fos.

Foſſæ Neronis, Tac. à lacu Averno uſque Hoſtiam.

Foſſæ Papyrianæ. The City Foſſel novo in Tuſcany.

F ante R.

Franci, vel Francones. People of Franconia, a Country in Germany, which was called Francia orientalis. They went and planted in Gallia, which had from them the name of France.

Francia, nunc Gallia, dicitur à Francis Germaniæ pop. ſcil. occidentalis: Nam Francia orientalis eſt regio Germaniæ.

Franciſcus. The name of divers men. ◊ One the founder of the Franciſcan order.

Francofurtum, qu. Francorum trajectus. Frankford, the name of two cities in Germany. The one ad Mœnum, in Franconia, a famous Mart. The other ad Oderam, belonging to Brandenburg, an Univerſity.

Francones, Cic. qui & Franci, Claud. Germans of Franconia or Frankenlandt, upon the Main, whoſe chief city is Wurtsburg.

Frea; Dea, eadem quæ Venus, M. à Fraw femina, q. d. Dea femina vel feminarum dea. Fort. à frey, ut ſit Venus libera mater, ſicut Bacchus liber pater dic.

Fregellæ. Sometime a famous City, now a little town called Ponte Corvo in Italy, Sil.

Frentâni & Ferentani. People of Italy.

Friga, apud ant. Saxones Dea. unde Friday, Sax. Frige-dag, dies Veneris; à Goth. frigon vel frigan amare, q. d. Amoris dea.

Friſii, & Friſiones. People of Eaſt and Weſt Friesland, converted by Wilfrid Biſhop of York.

Fronto. A Philoſopher and Orator that taught M. Antoninus; Jul. Cap.

Fruſino, opp. Campaniæ, Sil. Fruſinone in Abl, Plin.

Frutinal, templum Veneris Frutæ, Feſt. Al. leg. Erucinal, ab Erycina Venere.

Frutis; Veneri matri, quæ Frutis dicitur, Solin. à Fruor, Fruitus; V. ab ἀφροδίτη per Aphær. Scal. Au huc facit Friga, Saxonum dea.

F ante U.

Fucinus, Vir. lacus Latii, in finibus Marſorum.

Fufidius; Hor. A great Uſurer.

Fugâlia; um; dez Fugiæ feſtum; Aug. populifugia, poſtrid. Non. Jun. intelligit Vives. Al. Regifugium, menſe Februario, quòd Feaſts celebrated in February in the memory of baniſhing the Kings out of Rome.

Fugia, dea lætitiæ, à fugatis hoſtibus; Perot.

Fulco. A Duke of Anjou, the fift king of Jeruſalem. Volat.

Fulginia, Sil. urbs Umbriæ. Fulginates pop. Plin.

Fulgora, dea fulguris; Aug.

Fulſinates. People of the Iſle near the coaſt of Illyricum. Plin.

Fulvius, à fulvo colore capitis dict. A Senatour of Rome, intimate with Octavius, who having diſcovered a ſecret of the Emperors to his wife, which ſhe blab'd to other Ladies, was ſo threatned, that he and his wife both ſlew themſelves, Plut. ◊ Alſo a Cenſor of that name in Livy.

Fundi, ōrum opp. Italiæ, unde Fundanus, a, um; ut Fundanus lacus, mons, & Fundana vina, Mart. A town in Latium, between Tarracina and Formiæ, as one goes to Naples.

Furiæ, Noctis & Acherontis filiæ, à furore dict. A φορίαι, Scal. à פָּרַע ulciſci, quòd ſint vindices ſcelerum; M. ἐρινύες. Three furies, bags or fiends, Alecto, Megæra, and Tiſiphone. Τισιφόνη τε, καὶ Ἀλληκτὼ, καὶ δῖα Μέγαιρα. they live under Pluto's dominion, and are his rods to ſcourge ſinful and guilty ſouls. Cic. interprets them to be the pricking and griping, the ſtings and laſhes of guilty conſciences: Iſid. ſaith, they are three evil affections of the mind, Anger, Avarice, and Luſt. Æ In terris Furiæ ab affectu, quia furorem excitant; Diræ in cœlo vocantur, quaſi Deorum iræ; apud inferos Stygii canes, quia rodit ſceleris reos conſcientiæ morſus. Leg. & in ſing. Furis, Cic.

Furina, dea, eadem quæ Furiæ, gr. Erinnys.

Furinæ lucus. A grove in Italy, conſecrated to the Furies, where Gracchus was ſlain.

Furnālia, feſt. Purinalia, Sacra Furinæ, Feſt. cujus etiam in faſtis Furinales feriæ ſunt; Var.

Fuſidius, An Orator, Cic.

Fūsilis, à fuso dicendi genere dict. An Orator very apish in imitation. Cic.

---

G aute A.

GAbāla, Plin. A sea-town of Cœlosyria, 14 miles off Laodicea.

Gabales, Sidon. Gabali, Cæs. A people of Languedoc in France; their country now called Gevodan.

Gābălus, Romanorum Imperator, qui se solem dici voluit, quare Heliogabalus dictus est. He was supposed to be the son of Caracalla, most infamous for his incontinency, and voluptuous living; his death by Divine justice was fitted thereunto, for he was slain, and dragged through the city of Rome, and thrown into Tyber.

Gābāon, Sedul. A City of Palestine, in the tribe of Benjamin.

Gabbatha, Syrorum lingua, gr. λιθόστρωτος, i. locus lapidibus stratus.

Gābiēnus. One of Cæsars bravest souldiers slain by Pompey in the Pharsalian fight.

Gābii, urbs à Galatio & Bio, Siculis fratribus, condita; unde & nomen, Perot. A City of the Volscians, twelve miles distant from Rome, ubi Columna postea oppidum fuit, Fer. inde Gabiensis, se, & Gabinus, a, um, ut Juno Gabina, Vir. à Gabiis culta religiosissimè, urbi Gabinæ, Ovid. Gabini populi, Plin.

Gābinius. A Consul.

Gabinus cinctus inde dict. quòd cùm Gabini aliquando sacrificiis vacarent, subitò exortum est bellum. Cives igitur togis suis, uti erant, cincti in bellum profecti sunt & victoriam adepti. A habit and garb, that Magistrates in time of war, and Priests at sacrifice used: which was, to have their gown hanging upon one shoulder, and to fetch back a lappet of it under their other arm, and so tuck or gird themselves for expedition; Serv. Habitu Gabino dii penates formabantur, involuti togâ supra humerum finistrum & sub dextro; Int. Pers.

Gabrantovicōrum portus, Ptolemæo Ἀλιμήνων, sinus portuosus five salutaris, ubi vicus, qui vim verbi optimè exprimit, Suerby dictus, i. Gallicè & Britannicè, tutum & periculo vacuum. Camd. Gabrantovici ejusdem populi, sic dicti à capris quas Goffres Britanni vocant, ubi maxima earum est copia. A bay or port in Yorkshire near Flamborough head, now called Bradlington-bay, from the town standing where the Gabrātovici inhabited.

Gabriel, ēlis, m. Γαβριήλ, heb. vir seu robur Dei. An Archangel.

Gabrolenti. Gates-head in New-castle.

Gad, דָּג i. turma. One of the twelve Patriarchs and Tribes.

Gădăra, דְּרָא, i. murus, five septum. A City in Cœlosyria, by the lake Genezareth: inde Gadarenus locus dict.

Gădărēus, Sophista, postea Consul.

Gādes. Hispanicè Cadiz. & corruptè Calix. corruptius Cales; Tyriis Insula hinc exulta erat, quam Gadir appellârunt i. sepium quia mari undique circumsepta erat; Γάδειρα τὰ σκεπαστήρια φάσιν, Hesych. prius Taressus, postea Gadir appellata; Sall. An Island without the Straits of Gibraltar, at the South part of Spain, in length twelve miles, in breadth three miles, the riches whereof hath been the Magazine of Spain; it was sacked in one day by the English, under the conduct of Essex, Nottingham and Rawleigh, unde Gaditani, The people very wanton and sportive; Mart. & Gaditanus, a, um. Gaditanum fretum; The straits of Gibraltar.

Gădis, urbs opulenta in Gadibus.

Gætūlia. A country in the inner Africa, abounding with lions. The people wild and wandring, staying in no certain place, called Gætuli & Getuli. Gætulus, a, um; adj.

Găges, Plin. fl. Lyciæ, ubi Gagates lapis invenitur.

Gălactŏphăgi, γαλακτοφάγοι, i. lacte victitantes, qui &

Gălactŏpŏtæ, γαλακτοπόται, lac bibentes. People of Scythia.

Galana, Angliæ opp. nunc Kellenton near Kendal in Westmerland, Cambd. Al. Walwick in Northumberland.

Gălanthis, sic γαλῆ γαλῶ, id est, in mustelam a Junone transmutata, Ovid. 9. Met. The waiting maid of Alcmena, whom being in travel of childe, Juno for hatred would not suffer to be delivered of her burthen: This Galanthis perceiving her sorcery, came running to her, and said, Her Mistris was brought to bed; Juno rising in haste unfastned her bewitchinghands, and in the instant Alcmena was brought to bed indeed. Juno raged at her being so cozened, and in revenge, changed her into a Weasel or Ferret, adding this for a reason of her punishment, that she should bring forth her young at her mouth, wherewith she had offended in telling of a lye.

Galātæ, arum pl. m. Γαλάται, Galli dicti, à lacteo candore; nam γάλα lac. Hier. qui & per contract. κέλται. Galatians, people descended of the Gauls, who came into that part of Asia, and there joined with the Grecians; whence they were called first Gallograeci, and afterward Galatæ.

Gălātēa, Vlr. Γαλάτεια, i. lactea. A country Wench. ℌ Also daughter to a king of the Gaules, of whom Gallia and Galli came. ℌ Also a Sea-Nymph, whom Polyphemus was in love with.

Gălātia, quæ & Gallogræcia, ita dict. à Gallis qui gr. Γαλάται appell. qui duce Brenno relictâ patriâ ibi sedes fixerunt; hodiè Chiangare vocatur, Turcicè Gelat. A country in Asia the lesse, lying between Paphlagonia, Pontus and Cappadocia, whereof Deiotarus, for whom Tully did intercede, was king.

Galba, Imperator Romanus, ann. Chr. 71. regnavitque 7. menses, & 25. dies, cur dict. nonnulli, quòd præpinguis fuerit visus, quem galbam Galli vocent; (Germ. Balb, i. vinulum) vel contra, quòd tam exilis, quàm sunt animalia, quæ in esculis nascuntur, appellanturque galbæ; Suet. Galbæ etiammum Gallis sign. anteriorem thoracis sive diplojdis partem, quæ caligas retinet, gossypio refertam & abdomen præ se ferentem. A militibus suis trâsfossus est, anno ætatis suæ 74. quorum ope priùs fortissimè belligerâsset, unde proverbium, Milites mei bellare discant, Galbâ est non Getulicus. Suet. One of the Roman Emperors next after Nero.

Gălēnus. Gr. i. tranquillus. An excellent Physician born at Pergamus, son to Nicon the Geometrician; he flourished in the time of Antoninus Pius, Antoninus Philosophus, and Commodus: He lived 140 years, and wrote fifteen Volumes, besides his notes upon Hippocrates, Suid.

Gălērus, dict. à Galeote, Apollinis filio, gr. Γαλεώτ, i. μαντεύεται, גָּלָה revelavit; interpretes portentorum. Cic. Certain South-sayers in Sicily.

Gălērius. A noble Roman General; also a persecuting Emperour, who at last killed himself.

Gălēsus. A rich husbandman in Italy, who going between some of his friends that were fighting, to part them, was killed himself, Virg. 7. Æn. Also a river in Calabria, that runs into the bay of Tarentum, Vir.

Gălilæa, à גָּלִיל limes, terminus, confinium; regio Palæstinæ, five pars Judææ junctæ Syriæ. All the north part of Jewry, divided into two parts: Superior Galilæa, by Tyre and Sidon, and Cæsarea Philippi, adjoyning to the Gentiles on the North, therefore called Galilæa gentium, Isa. 9. or because the Gentiles lived there a long time, or rather that it was a populous place: this is in the tribe of Nephthali: Galilæa inferior is near Tiberias and the lake of Genezareth, in the Tribe of Zabulon.

Gallācum. Wheal-castle in Westmerland.

Gallæ, sacerdotes fœminæ; Catul.

Gallæcia. A large country of Spain, called Gallicia, lying all along to the West; the people called Gallæci & Callaïci.

Galli, sacerdotes Cybeles, dict. à Gallo Phrygiæ flumine; quia, qui ex eo biberint, in hoc furere incipiant, ut se privent virilitatis parte, Fest. Amnis it insana, nomine Gallus, aqua; Ovid. Semiviros eos vocat Sen. ℌ Also the French people the Gauls.

GALLIA, i.e. candida, ἀπὸ τοῦ γάλακτος, id est, lac; nam montes & rigor cœli ab ea parte solis ardorem excludunt, ex quo fit, ut candor corporum non coloretur; Isid. Rect. à Teut. wallen peregrinari, quòd Galli frequenter migrarent & novas sedes quærerent. Hinc Gallo-Belgæ voc. wallonns, & verò quam provinciam nos Wales dicimus, ipsi Galli per g. efferunt, Gales appellantes. The country of France, bounded with the English, Aquitane, and Mediterranean seas: the Pyrenean hills and the Alps: the river Rhene; with a straight line from Strasbrough to Callice. It is almost square. Veteribus divisa erat in Transalpinam, quæ Comata dict. & Cisalpinam sive Togatam, quæ propinquior est Italiæ, hodie Lombardia dict. ℌ Transalp. 4. erat. 1. Belgica, hodie Germania inferior cum Picardia. 2. Celtica, seu Lugdunensis, hodie Francia. 3. Aquitanica, hodie Gascônia. 4. Narbonensis, quæ & Braccata, hodie Languedoc, Daulphinie, & Provincia; hodie verò non adeò extenduntur Galliæ termini, ut has omnes Provincias sub se contineant, Mercat. ℌ Gallia subalpina. Piedmont. There are 15. Archbishopricks, and 104 Bishopricks in France. inde Gallicanus, Gallicus, a, um, adject. ℌ Gallica numus, Ovid. France.

Gallēnus. A Roman Emperour.

Gallināria, dict. à gallinis rusticis, insula vel pot. scopulus maris Ligustici.

Gallināria sylva, Cic. nemus Campaniæ apud Cumas.

Gallogræci, iidem qui & Galatæ, nempe Galli ortu regionem Græco sermone utentem occuparunt. Galli à Bithyniæ rege invocati, regnum cum eo, partâ victoriâ, rii, diviſerunt, eamque regionem Gallograeciam cognominaverunt; Juſt.

Gallōnus. A riotous fellow, de quo Lucilius, Nunquam bene cœnavit, quia nunquam eſurivit.

Galliva, quæ & Duaca. Galway a city of Ireland.

Gallovidia. Galloway a country in Scotland.

Gallus. The name of divers Romans. ◊ Alſo a young man that Mars loved, and ſet him to keep the door while he went in to lie with Venus; afterward changed him into a Cock. ◊ It is alſo a river of Bithynia, that riſeth in Phrygia, the water whereof being drunk maketh men mad, called by ſome Garippo, from whence the prieſts of Cybele took their name, Ovid.

Gambrivii, Tac. The people about Hamburg.

Gămēlia, Juno, & Gamelius, Jupiter, quòd τοῖς γάμοις, i. nuptiis præſſent. unde & menſis Γαμηλιών dictus.

Gamphaſantes. Naked and peaceable people of Æthiopia, Mela.

Gandāvum, quæ prius Ganda, & olim Clarinea. Gaunt, the chief city of Flanders, 12 miles in compaſs, with 20 Bridges in it. Here Charles the fifth, the Emperour was born.

Gangāni, pop. People inhabiting the weſt part of Ireland, either in the county of Clare or Kerry.

Gangăridæ, pop. Aſiæ juxta Gangem, inter Indos. Curt. ◊ It. à Gangara, urbe Albaniæ, in orâ maris Caſpii; Val. Fl.

Ganges dict. à Gange Æthiopum rege: indè Gangeticus, a, um. A great river in the Eaſt-Indies, dividing them into two parts; the one India intra Gangem, the other extra Gangem. ◊ Gangeticus ſinus. The gulf of Bengala.

Gannōdurum. The town Conſtantia in Switzerland, neer the hill Jura.

GANYMEDES, Γανυμήδης, à γάνυμαι gaudeo & μήδος conſilium. Ganymedes ſon of Tros King of Troy, who was ſained to be ſnatched up by an Eagle, and to be admitted Jupiters cup-bearer, in the room of Hebe; he is the ſign Aquarius: Hygin. ◊ Voc. Puer Idæus, Vir. Phryx, Iliacus, Ovid. Sangaricus, Stat.

Gărămantes, um; pl. m. Vir. dict. à Garamante Apollinis filio, qui ibi Garamam oppidum ex ſuo nomine condidit; Iſid. People of Libya inter. from the riſe of the river Cinyphus, to the leſſer Syrtis. The region is now called Guanguara, Lempta, & Tharegau: they were in old time the farthеſt people Southward. ◊ Leg. & in ſing. Garamas, Claud. Hinc Garamanticus, a, um; Sil. Garamantis, idis; f. patron. unde Garamantidas undas, Luc.

Gărămas. A King of Libya, on whoſe daughter Jupiter begat Iarbas. Vir.

Gargānus, Luc. An hill in Apulia, now called Monte di S. Angelo. ◊ Alſo a hill in Aſia (being part of mount of Caucaſus) out of which the river Phaſis riſeth. Vib. ſeq.

Gargaphie, es; f. Ovid. A valley in Bœotia, where Actæon was torn in pieces by his dogs. ◊ Alſo a fountain, Plin.

Gargăra, plur. Gargăræ, ſic dict. à Gargaro Jovis filio; plurimis irrigatur fontibus, unde & Homerus πολυπίδακα voc. The top of the high hill Ida. Alſo a town upon this hill ſo called. The country about it very fruitful, Macrob. ◊ Gargarius lacus. A lake neer Mount Ida, out of which Scamander and Simois do iſſue.

Gargilliānus. A ſorry fellow in Mart.

Gargilius. An hunter in Horat.

Gărlānnōnum, ſive Garryenum. Yarmouth.

Gariennus, Pont. al. Garryenus: The river Yare; which runs by Norwich, and falls into the Sea at Yarmouth.

Gărites, Cæſ. People of Guyenne in France; their City Aginum; and the country called now Agennois.

Garoceli, Cæſ. People in the Dauphin country.

Gărumna, Claud. A river called la Garonne in France, riſing out of the Pyrene Hills, and running into the ſea, below Bourdeaux.

Garumni, Cæſ. People living about the river Garonne.

Gavanodurum. Saltzburg in Germany.

Gaulos. An Iſle of Africk, where ſerpents cannot live. It belongs to the Knights of Malta. Sidon.

Gaurus, mons Campaniæ, optimi vini feraciſſimus; Stat. Gaurani montes, Plin.

Gaza, ſic dict. à regia gaza, i. pecunia, quam illuc quondam Cambyſes Perſarum rex vehi curarat. A City of the Sea-coaſt, dividing Palæſtina from Egypt. indè Gazeticus, a, um; & Gazæus.

G ante E.

Gĕbenna, & plur. Gebennæ, Luc. Galliæ oppidum & mons inter Arvernos & Helvios medius; unde hod. Monts di Civennes & d'Auvergne dic.

Gedanum. The city Dantzick, at the mouth of Viſtula, belonging to Poland.

Gĕdrōſia. A country of Perſia, now called Circan & Macran.

Gehenna, æ; f. γαὶα גיא הנום vallis Hinnomi, qui forte fuerat poſſeſſor. A valley near Jeruſalem, wherein there was a place called Tophet, where they ſacrificed their children to Moloch: wherefore to put a ſtop to thoſe cruel and abominable practices, Joſias gave order for all filth and carcaſſes to be carried thither, and a fire continually kept burning to conſume them. Hereupon by a metaphor it is taken to ſignify Hell, and thoſe eternal puniſhments which await the wicked after this life.

Gĕla, i. pruina (Siculi enim pruinam γέλαν vocant) quam multam gignit, fluvius Siciliæ; item civitas ejuſdem nominis, vulgò Alicata. Gelous, adject. unde Geloi campi. Vir. Gelenſes, pop. Cic. Gelani, Plin.

Gelaſinus, γελασῖνος, à γελάω rideo. Democritus had that name given him for his continual laughing.

Gelbis, m. Auſ. A river by Treves in Germany.

Gelboe. An hill in Galilee.

Geldria, inferioris Germaniæ provincia, antiquè Sicambrorum ſedes.

Gellius, viri prop. nomen, dict. ἀπὸ τῦ γελᾶν, i. à ridendo, Steph. A noted Critick that wrote twenty books, intituled Noctes Atticæ. He is called Aulus Gellius, by others Agellius.

Gello. A virgin that dyed young, whoſe Ghoſt was thought by them of Lesbos to walk and ſteal infants and kill them.

Gellus, Flor. Vergellus, Val. M. A river of Apulia, over which Hannibal made a Bridg of dead Bodies ſlain at Cannæ.

Gĕlōni. Luc. Gelones, Hor. dict. à Gelono Herculis filio, Agathyrſi fratre. People of Scythia, that paint their faces, ſo that they may ſeem more terrible to their enemies; they are otherwiſe called Getæ and Tartari.

Gĕlōnium ſtagnum, Solin. A ſtinking pool in Sicily, neer the city Gela.

Gemblacum. A town in Brabant, called Gembloux.

Gĕmōniæ ſcalæ, Val. M. Gemonii gradus, Plin. ἀναβαθμοὶ ſive ἀναβασμοὶ. à gemitu dict. Cæl. al. à Gemonio quodam. A place in Rome, whither the bodies of Malefactors, after they were executed, were drag'd and thrown down. It was in the Aventine, neer the temple of Juno Argiva. Thoſe that were executed wi hout the City, had only their heads brought thither and there expoſed. Dion.

Gĕnăbus, f. Luc. Orleans.

Geneſar, vel Geneſareth; qu. generans ſibi auram, Iſid. à γενίσεως ἀέρος, Egeſip. ſc. quòd auram non ventis debeat, ſed ex ſeſe procreet. Heb. כנור à כנרת canalis, prop. lacus, per quem multi canales tranſeunt & defluunt. Chald. גינוסר & סר unde nomen Lat. qu. ex גן q. d. hortus principis; quòd eſſet tractus amœniſſimus. A lake in Galile, compaſſed about with many Cities; it is called alſo the Sea of Tiberias: The river Jordan runs through the middle of it.

Genĕſis, is; f. quòd ſit βίβλος γενέσεως κόσμου, Gen. 2. 4. The firſt book of Moſes, which gives an account of the beginning of the world and the production of things.

Gĕnethlius, Gr. i. natalis, ſic dict. Jupiter, quòd ei incumbit cura gignendorum liberorum; ſic & Venus Genethlia dict. quòd ſit præſes generationis.

Gĕnĕva, oppidum Allobrogum. A fair and imperial free town in Savoy, next to the borders of Helvetia.

Geniales dii, θεοὶ γενέθλιοι. The 4 Elements, the 12 ſigns, and the Sun and Moon ſo called by the ancients; Feſt.

Genius, ii; m. à geno, i. gigno, quod homini mox genito adſit ab ipſo ortu, vel quòd hominibus gignendis præſit. unde natalem deum vocat Perſ. Nec ſolum perſonis, ſed & locis tribuitur. δαίμων. A Genius or Angel guardian aſſigned to every man at his birth to attend him; whence Menander calls him μυσταγωγὸν τῦ βίυ. Vid. Appel.

GENUA, dict. à genu, quia habet tanq. genu recurvum à latere maris; vel à Genuo Saturni filio qui fertur eam condidiſſe: ab aliis dicitur Janua, qu. à Jano condita. hic n. vixiſſe eum fertur. The chief city of the Ligurians in Italy, now called Genoa, one of the moſt famous Empories in the world: the City is in compaſs eight miles, built with marble curiouſly wrought, the Government of it is popular, and ſubmits it ſelf for a protection to the King of Spain. ◊ Genuenſes & Genuates. The Genoeſes.

Gĕnūnli. North-Wales; Cambd.

Gĕnūſus. Luc. A river of Macedony.

Gĕorgi, γεωργοὶ, i. agricolæ. People of Iberia in Aſia.

Georgia. The country, now called Gurgiſtan.

Geōrgica, n. pl. γεωργικὰ; ſc. βιβλία, libri agentes de re ruſticâ ſive agricultura. A piece of Virgil's works ſo called, which which treats of Husbandry.

Georgius, Cappadox, Tribunus militum sub Diocletiano. S. George, a brave Champion, who slew a dragon and rescued a young Lady, who else had been devoured by him. Some take this for a fiction; but Dr. Heylin hath prov'd it to be a true story.

Gerardi mons. A town in Flanders called Geertsberg.

Gergobia, opp. Galliæ Celticæ, Cæs. GERMANIA. Germany; Germāi incolæ, à Lat. germani, γνησιος, Str. quòd moribus & linguâ Gallos referrent, tanquam germani. à germinando, propter fœcunditatem gignendorum populorum; Tac. qu. gerens immania; Vet. Dict. Al. à Togarma, auctore gentis, quomodò domum Togarmæ, Ezek. 38. 6. Chald. Int. provinciam Germaniæ exponit. Rect. ab ipso Germ. ger i. gar prorsùs & man vir, ob fortitudinis laudem, sicut & Alemanni, qu. alle man, i. totus vir. Germani autem à Teutone quodam (qui & Tuisco dic.) oriundi erant. אשכנז. A most large country in Europe, and having on the West, the river Rhene; on the North, the Ocean Sea; on the South-West, the Danow. It is divided into 10 Circles, to wit, of Franconia, Bavaria, Austria, Suabia, the Rhine, the Electors of the Rhine, Westphalia, the upper and lower Saxony, with that of Burgundy; beside the Kingdom of Bohemia. It is governed by the Emperour and 7 Electoral Princes, whereof 3 are Churchmen, Archbishops of Mentz, Triers and Cullen; the other 4 Temporal Lords, the Dukes of Saxony and Bavaria, the Prince Palatine, and the Marquis of Brandenburg; beside several Bishops, Dukes and petty Princes.

Germania inferior. The Netherlands or Low countries, consisting of the 17 Provinces now pass by that name.

Germanicus. The son of Drusus, adopted by Tiberius, and after by his order poysoned; an excellent person.

Gerunda, Prud. A City of Catalonia, called Girone.

Gĕrus; Val. Fl. A river of Albania, running into the Caspian Sea.

Geryon, Γηρυων, ωνος, ωνος, i. vociferator, παρὰ τὸ γηρυειν βοᾶν, κεκραγεναι; Etymol. nomen bubulci, cujus boves surripuit Hercules. Id. Γηρυονης & Γηρυονευς dic. lat. Geryones, Sil. A King of three Spanish Islands, whence came the ground of the Poets fictions, in making him to have three bodies: or from the unity that was between three brethren of that name, who ruled so lovingly together as though their three bodies had been all enlivened by the same soul: Hercules slew him, and took away his cattle into Greece.

Geryonis oraculum; Suet. A place near Padua.

Gesloriacum, Suet. The town of Calais in France; or as others, Boulogne sur mer.

Gessus; Plin. A River of Ionia.

Getæ, Γεται, gens Thracica, ab utraque ripâ Istri, Str. iidem qui Daci & Gothi. People near Scythia in Europe; some take them for the Walachians or Moldavians. ◊ Inde Geticus, a, um.

Gethsemane; γεθσημανι, i. שמנים גת Olei pressio unctionis. Hier. sed גת torcular. A place at the foot of the Mount of Olives, where our Saviour pray'd and sweat blood before his passion.

Gĕtŭli, pop. Africæ circa Syrtes. Hinc Getulus, a, um; Getulæ urbes, Vir. & Getulicus, a, um; Juv.

G ante I.

Gibelini, & Guelphi. Two factions in Italy, which committed great slaughters one of another; for Frederick the second Emperor coming into Italy, excommunicated by the Pope, the people were divided: the favourers of Frederick were called Gibelini, and the favourers of the Pope Guelphi, from one Guelphus a Captain; ann. Chr. 1140. Calvis. Hence I suppose our Elphs and Goblins.

Gigantes. The Giants, sons of Titan and the Earth, with Dragons feet, who made war against the Gods; Ovid. vid. Appell.

Gindes; m. Tibul. A river of Albania in Asia, that runs into the river Cyrus.

Gippius. A Roman that would make as if he were asleep whilst his wife played the harlot; but when a man came to her that he liked not, he left his feigned sleep and cryed out; Non omnibus dormio; whence that proverb; Cic.

Gir, ditissimus amnis, Claud. quod aurum gignat: fl. Libyæ interioris, per terram Nigritarum fluens.

Girba. A little Isle of Africk, belonging to Tripolis, joyn'd with a Bridg to the main land.

G ante L.

Glabrio. The name of divers Consuls.

Glanicus, fl. Campaniæ; Plin. Vid. Clanius.

Glānis. qui & Clanis, Sil. The river Chiana of Hetruria.

Glannobanta, vel Glennoventa vel Clanoventa. Basinbrig in Yorkshire.

Glanum, opp. Galliæ Narbon. Plin.

Glaphyrus. A whoremaster in Juv.

Glascônia. Glastenbury in Somersetshire.

Glasquum vel Glascovium. Glasco in Scotland: an University and Bishops See.

Glaucus, Gr. i. cæsius. A fisher-man who being fishing, as he caught the fish, he laid them on the bank, and they no sooner tasted of an herb, but they leapt again into the Sea; which Glaucus perceiving, tasted of the herb himself, and presently leapt into the Sea after them, and thenceforward became one of the gods of the Sea: Others make him the son of Neptune and a Sea-Nymph. Others say he was a great diver. ◊ Also the name of a foolish captain in Homer, with whom Diomedes changed his armor of brass for the others of gold; whence the proverb, expressing a great odds in exchange, Glauci & Diomedis permutatio. ◊ Another of Potnia in Bœotia, whence called Potniades by Vir. who was torn in pieces by his own Mares.

Glessaria, vel Glæsaria, à Glæs, id est, succino dicta. An Isle in the German sea, now called Nortstrandt.

Glessoburgum. Glessenburg, fort. Glassenbury.

Glota. The river Cluyd in Scotland, that runs by Glasco: whence Glotiana, Clydsdale. ◊ Also an Island in Scotland now called Arran, lying in the mouth of the Cluyd.

Glycera, æ; f. Hor. γλυκερος, i. dulcis. The name of a handsome girl.

Glycerium. A harlot mentioned in Terence.

Glycon, ōnis; m. A huge lusty man. Hor. ◊ Also a Physician who was cast into prison, being suspected that he had poysoned his master Pansa; Suet.

Glyconicum carmen, à Glycone quodam inventore; constat spondeo & duobus dactylis; ut Audax omnia perpeti.

G ante N.

Gnæus & corporis insigne (putà nævus) & prænomen à generando dict. Fest.

Gnatho, ōnis; m. qui μεγιστος ἐστι γναθος quærit; Athen. à γναθος maxilla, quomodo à buccæ buccones dict. Parasiti genus Comicum. A shark or smell-feast in Terence.

Gnatia; Hor. pro Egnatia; urbs quondam Apuliæ.

Gnidos, urbs & prom. Cariæ; Luc. hinc Gnidius, a, um; Mart. Vid. Cnidus.

Gnossos, insula hodiè voc. urbs Cretæ, Minois regia: hinc Gnossius, Gnossiacus, & Gnossiaus, a, um; adj. item Gnossis, gentile, quod poetæ usurpant pro Ariadne Minois regis filia. Gnosiacus mare, Luc. Nempe & per simplex f. scribuntur hæc omnia.

G ante O.

Gobrias. A noble Persian father in law to Darius.

Gog. גוג. A people of Scythia, enemies to the Jews.

Golgi, orum; Catul. A place in Cyprus, dedicated to Venus and Cupid.

Golgotha, γολγοθα, גלגלתא Manst. גולגלתא Syr. omisso priore l. ab heb. גלגלת cranium, ut sit calvariæ locus, Hier. The place where our Saviour was crucified on Mount Calvary, i. the place of a skull; not that Adams skull was buried and found there, as Nonnus from tradition says, but from the skuls of several who had been executed there.

Golias, æ; m. Prud. The giant whom David overcame with his sling.

Gomorrha. A City of Judæa, next to Sodom, consumed with fire from heaven.

Gomphi; pl. Stat. A town of Thessaly.

Gonoessa; Sen. opp. in finibus Ætoliæ.

Gordiæus mons. A hill in Armenia, where Noahs Ark rested, and in which the river Tigris riseth.

Gordianus. The name of three Roman Emperors; Jul. Capit. the Father, Son, and Nephew; the first whereof was so in love with Books, that he procured into his Library sixty and two thousand.

Gordium. A City of Phrygia the Greater; where Alexander the Great cut the Gordian knot asunder.

Gordius, King of Phrygia, once an husbandman, but by Apollo's Oracle chosen to be king, because he first entred the Temple; in memory whereof he hung up his cordsin the Temple; one of them was tyed with such a cunning and fast knot, that it was bound for ever to continue: now this Gordianus, the Gordian knot, which whosoever should unty, (it was prophesied) he should be Ruler over those Countries. Alexander when he could not loose it, cut it asunder, that so he might either fulfil or frustrate that prophesie.

Gordani, Cæs. The people of Gaunt.

Gorgias, Leontinus, Siculus rhetor, Cic. He was scholar to Empedocles, and master to Isocrates, and would declaim or dispute any thing ex tempore. He demanded of every scholar an hundred pounds, and by that means he scraped up so much money as to set up a golden Statue in the temple of Apollo at Delphos.

Gorgon; Rutil. inf. maris Tyrrheni, Caprariæ proxima.

Gorgones, um; pl. f. Γοργόνες, à γοργὸς, i. truculentus, solo enim aspectu homines interfecerunt. The three daughters of Phorcus; Medusa, Stheno and Euryale. ◊ Sunt & Gorgones insulæ maris Atlantici, quæ & Hesperides dict. Gorgades, Plin. à Gorgonibus, quæ illic habitarunt, hodie à Mercatore voc. Isles de Cabo Verde. ◊ Gorgoneus, a, um, adj.

Gorgonia, dicta Pallas, quòd Medusam, unam ex tribus Gorgonibus, quæ concubitu suo templum dea profanaverit, Perseus scuto Palladis armatus interfecisset: at, ab aspectu truculento.

Gorgonius. A nasty fellow in Horace.

Gorgophorus, Cic. Γοργοφόρος, ὁ, i. Gorgonem ferens, so quod in ejus clypeo Medusæ Gorgonis caput esset insculptum. Pallas so called, for carrying the Gorgon's head in her shield, with the very sight whereof men were turned to Stone.

Goricum. Gorkum in Holland, from whence one has the profess of above 22 Cities.

Gortyna, Luc. alias Larissa & Cremnia voc. Ort. Once a City of Crete, where there were skilful Archers. inde Gortynius, adj. item Gortynis, patron. fœm. item Gortyniacus, a, um; Ovid.

Gothi, Γότθοι, Steph. Gothini, Tac. Guttones, Plin. à Germ. gut, bonus. People of the lower Scythia, in the Northern part of Europe; these did waste and depopulate a great part of Europe: they first came into Germany, where were slain 100000, ante Chr. 314. long after they brought into subjection and barbarism a great part of the Christian World, and inhabited a part of Spain, France, and Italy, now called Lombardy, whence they were called Longobardi.

Gothia, Gotland, betwixt Sweden and Norway and the Baltick Sea, divided into several Provinces.

Gothunni; pl. Claud. People mixt of the Goths and Huns.

G ante R.

Graechopolis, i. Gracchi urbs, quæ postea Cracovia. The City Cracow in Poland.

Gracchurris, à Graccho, qui eam splendidis restituit; Fest. A town of Castile in Spain, before called Illurcis.

Gracchus Sempronius. Father to Caius and Tiberius, who being Pro-Consul in Spain, subdued the Celtiberians, and repairing their town Iliurcis, called it Gracchuris. His sons being seditious, were slain; Tiberius by Pub. Nasica, and Caius by Opimius the Consul. Whence that of Juvenal: Quis tulerit Gracchus de seditione querentes? as we say, Vice versâ Sir.

Gradivus, Martis cognomen, à gradiendo, quòd gradum inferant qui pugnant, vel quòd impigre gradiantur; Serv. sive à vibratione hastæ, qd. gr. voc. κραδιάνειρα, βάκχος Ἄρης.

Græ, i. vetulæ. The three daughters of Phorcus; they had all but one eye, and one tooth, which they used by turns.

Græca via, quæ & Herculea, Cic. in Campaniâ apud lacum Lucrinum.

Græci propriè sunt Thessali, à Græco rege sic dicti, Serv. Γραικὸς ὁ Θεσσαλὸς ἦρως, ἀφ' ὃ Γραικοὶ οἱ Ἕλληνες Str. ווני The Greeks or Grecians.

GRÆCIA, sic dict. à Græco Cecropis filio, primo ejus Provinciæ rege, Hebr. voc. Javan, gr. Hellas Ἑλλὰς, incolæ Achivi, Argivi, Danai, Dorei, Dolopes, Pelasgi, Dryopes, Graii, Grajugenæ, Hellenes. Greece, the nurse and fountain of prowess and learning; it containeth in it these regions; Attica, Bœotia, Phocis, Ætolia, Achaia, & Sicyon, parts of Peloponnesus: beside the Grecian Islands: but at large it takes in too, Messenia, Laconia, Argos, Doris, Locri & Megaris; also Arcadia, Corinth, Elis, Macedonia, Thessaly & Epirus. Hinc Græcanicus, Græcus, Græculus, Graius, a, um, adject.

Græcia magna sive major, μεγάλη Ἑλλὰς. Part of the uttermost coast of Italy, inhabited by the Greeks.

Græcostasis, Græcorum statio, locus ante curiam Hostiliam & rostra substructus, ubi nationum subsisterent legati, qui ad Senatum essent missi; Var. Similis Rhodi locus, Graia statio; Vitr.

Græcus, nomen viri, à quo Græcia regio Europæ dicta est; Ἕλλην, & ap. Callim. Γραικὸς. An ut ab Ἀχαιὸς Ἀχαϊκὸς, ita à Γραῖος, Graius, Γραϊκὸς, Græcus? A Grecian or Greek.

Graiæ Alpes, Plin. Graius mons, Tac. That part of the Alps, by which they past out of Italy into Provence, now called Monte di S. Bernardo.

Grajugenæ, Græci dicti sunt. Vir.

Grampius mons. Tac. A huge hill of Scotland, that divides it into two parts, called Granzebain.

Granta, regni Granatensis metropolis; Granada.

Granicus. A River of lesser Phrygia, famous for the battel betwixt Alexander and the Persians, in which were 600000 Persians slain and routed by Alexanders Army, in which there was not above 30000 footmen, and 4500 horsemen: Curt.

Granta, quæ & Cantabrigia Cambridge: Brit. Caer-grant dic.

Gratiæ, χάριτες. The three Graces. Una sc. quæ det beneficium; altera, quæ accipiat; tertia, quæ reddat: Sen.

Gratiæ portus. Havre de grace in Normandy.

Gratianopolis. Grenoble in France.

Gratidia Neopolitana. The name of a woman-Apothecary; and a Witch, eadem apud Horat. quæ Canidia.

Gratius; à gratia, ut Charisius à χάρις. He wrote a book of hunting.

Gravii, pop. Hisp. Tarracon. Sil.

Gravionarium. The City Bamberg in Germany.

Graviscæ; Vir. Once a City of Tuscany, out of whose ruines grew Corneto.

Gregorius. The name of divers Bishops and learned men.

Grenovicus, & Grenwicum. Greenwich.

Grisones. The Grisons in Germany; the Country all mountainous.

Grotunni, Claud. al. leg. Gothunni. Northern people.

Grudii, Cæs. The people about Lovain, or, as others, about Bruges.

Grundules lares, à Romulo constituti in honorem scrofæ sive porcæ, quæ 30 pepererat porcos; Non. Grundiles, Diom. à grunnio vel ant. grundio, voce porcorum.

Grynium, oppidum Æolidis, in quo templum Apollinis, & locus vaticinandi pervetustus, in quo ipse Apollo colebatur, unde & Grynæus appel. Vir. γρύνειος.

G ante H.

Gueldria. Gelderland.

Guinea. Ginny, a large country of Africk, whither our Merchants trade.

Gurges, cogn. Qu. Fabii à devorato patrimonio: Macrob.

G ante Y.

Gyaros, & Gyara, insula maris Ægæi, una Cycladum, in quam Romani noxios suos deportabant: unde illud Juven. Aude aliquid brevibus Gyaris, & carcere dignum.

Gyas Vir. A Trojan, Æneas his Companion.

Gygæus; Propert. A Lake in Lydia.

GYGES. A king of Lydia, that slew Candaules, and married his wife, who moved Gyges to slay him, because he would have her shew her self naked before Gyges. He was said to have a ring, which when he turned to the palm of his hand, he could be seen of none, but he himself could see every one; whence the proverb, Gygis annulus: Cic. ◊ Also a beautiful boy in Hor. ◊ Also a great Giant, that had a hundred hands, brother to Briareus.

Gylippus; Tib. A valiant Lacedemonian in their wars against the Athenians.

Gymnesiæ, idem quòd Baleares insulæ; Plin.

Gymnetes, People of Æthiopia, so called, because they go naked; Plin.

Gymnosophistæ, Philosophi Indorum, sic dicti quòd γυμνοὶ, i. nudi incederent. They would endure heat and cold, and all hardness, Plin. 7. 2. Cic. Tusc. 5.

Gynæcocratumeni, Plin. γυναικοκρατούμενοι, i. viri quibus mulieres imperitant. People who made marriages with the Amazons, upon these terms, that the male-children should be kept by the father, the females by the mother.

Gynæcopolis, γυναικόπολις, i. mulierum civitas. A City of Egypt; either built or inhabited by women.

Gyndes. A great river of Armenia, that runs into Tigre; which stopped Cyrus when he warred against the Babylonians; and because it had drowned one of his friends, he caused it to be cut into forty six channels, so that it ran not knee-deep, Sen. de ira.

Gytheum, Cic. opp. Laconiæ, apud navale Lacedæmoniorum; unde sinus Gytheates; Plin. ◊ It. opp. Macedoniæ: pop. Gytheatæ, Liv.

H ante A.

HAdassa, eadem quæ Esther.

Hadrānum; Sil. A town of Sicily, at the foot of mount Ætna, called Aderno. ◊ Hadranitani, pop. Plin.

Hadria, colonia & urbs Picenorum, arduo in colle sita, Hadrian Imp. patria. Hadria pro mari dic. item Hadriaticum sive superum, Plin. Hadrianum mare, Luc. & Sinus Hadriaticus, Plin. The gulf of Venice. ☞ Hadria urbs, fœm. mare, masc.

Hadriani moles, sepulcrum vel mausolæum. A strong fort at Rome upon the Tiber, called Castel S. Angelo.

Hadriani murus. The Picts wall, or the Scotch bank drawn out 80 miles in length. The ruines of it are still to be seen in Sterling county.

Hadrianopolis, quæ & Oresta, Lampr. & Uscudavia seu Uscudama, Amm. A city of Bulgaria, built by Hadrian the Emperour, which the Turks took from the Christians, anno Christ. 1402. by this stratagem: Amurath sent thither Chasi-Jebeg, as a discontented Captain, with some followers, to complain of Amurath's cruelty; hereupon the City received him to them; which done, he opened a back gate, whereat Amurath with a strong band brake in: after this time it hath been the Turks Palace, till the taking of Constantinople, from which it is distant about 130 miles.

Hadrianus, Vid. Adrianus.

Hædudæ, vulgo Hebrides, quasi ab eid Britannicè, i. e. sine fœgidus; quarum incolæ fruges nescientes, pisce tantùm & lacte aluntur.

Hægālos, i; m. Stat. A woody hill neer Athens.

Hæmon. gr. i. peritus vel sanguis, ab αἷμα. A young man of Thebes, who slew himself for the death of his love Antigone. Ovid.

Hæmus, dictus ab Hæmo Borea & Orythiæ filio A mountain of Thrace, continually cold; Vir. at the foot whereof are the pleasant fields of Thessaly, called Tempe. vid. Æmus.

Hæres, nomen deæ, cui veteres post acceptam hæreditatem rem divinam faciebant. Fest.

Hafnia. The chief City of Denmark, and an University, called Copenhagen, i. The merchants haven.

Haga Comitis. The Hague, the chief town in Holland, where the States use to meet.

Halæsa. A city once of Sicily. Halæsini, pop. Cic. & Plin.

Hālæsus, Agamemnonis filius ex Briseide, vel ex Clytemnestra; ab hoc Halæsi Falisci originem accepisse autor est Ovid. al. scrib. Halesus.

Halcyon, Hearing of Ceyx her husbands death, threw her self into the sea, and was turned into a Kings-fisher, which layeth eggs in the middle of winter, in fourteen days, when the sea is calm. Unde proverb. Dies Halcyonii.

Hālēsus, Col. A river of Sicily coming out of a hill of the same name neer to Ætna.

Hāliacmon, onis; m. Claud. A river in Macedonia.

Hāliartus. Two towns, one in Arcadia, another in Bœotia; Stat. built by Haliartus Tarpanders son.

Hālicarnassus, Cic. civitas Cariæ. A city of Caria on the sea-side; famous for Herodotus born there, and Dionysius the Roman Historians; and also for the Mausoleum which Artemisia built for her husband.

Hālizōnes, i. mari circumcincti; vel dict. qu. ἁλας ζονες. quòd divitiis superbirent. People of Scythia Europæa, or (as Pliny saith) People near to Caria; the Country is now called Castello Sancto Pedro, Ortel.

Halmyris, gr. i. salsugo. A lake about the mouth of the Danow, near unto the Euxine sea, sixty three miles in compass.

Hālōne. An Isle of Propontis. Plin.

Hālōnēsos, gr. i. maris insula. An Island in the Ægean sea, near Thrace, inhabited only by women: Mela.

Haluntium, cujus pop. Haluntini, Cic. A town once of Sicily, now called S. Filadelfo.

Hālyzētus, proprium nomen viri qui mutatus erat in avem sui nominis, Ovid. 8. Met.

Hālyattes. The father of Crœsus, king of Lydia, who from him is called Halyattici, Hor.

Halycidon; Mela. The port of Marseilles.

Hālys. A river rising out of the Mountain Taurus, and running between Paphlagonia and Cappadocia into the Euxine Sea, Val. Fl. another also in Lydia, fatal to Crœsus, Luc.

Hāmadryādes; quòd ἅμα τοῖς δρυσὶ, simul cum quercubus sive arboribus nascantur & intereant: quæ & virgæ querquetulanæ appel. nymphæ præsidentes quercubus; Fest. Nymphs of Oaks and other trees. ☞ Dryades sylvarum; Hamadryades, singularum arborum.

Hamaxobii, populi Sarmatiæ in Europa, Hamaxobiæ, Mel. sic dicti, quòd in plaustris degant.

Hamburgum, quasi Hammonis burgum, à conditore sic dict. A City of the lower Saxony, or (as others) of Holstein; seated upon the river Elbe, famous for its riches, building, and trafick with the English.

Hammodara. A city between Egypt and Ethiopia: Plin.

Hammon, Jovis cognomen, quòd templum ejus in ἄμμῳ in arenis exstructum; unde Prop. arenosum Libyci Jovis antrum voc. Vel à חמה Sol, à חמם caluit, unde Chamus, Noachi filius, cui Africa obtigit, nomen accepit. huic cornua affinguntur arietis à genere pecoris inter quod inventus est; Fest.

Hammonis fons; Vib. seq. A lake in Africk near the Oracle that's hot by night and cold by day.

Hannibal, ālis; m. à בעל dominus & חן gratia; q. d. dominus gratiosus. gr. Ἀννίβας. A famous Carthaginian, Captain in the war against the Romans; with whom he warred sixteen years, and won much from them in Spain and Italy: finally, he was overcome by Scipio, and at last poysoned himself; See his life described by Plutarch and Livy.

Hanno. A Carthaginian that aspired to be king; whom they therefore took and tortured with exquisite Tortures: He lived in the time of Philip king of Macedon. ◊ Also a noble man of Carthage, that perswaded them to peace with Rome, but all in vain.

Hannonia. Henault in the Low countries.

Hanseaticæ urbes, i. sociæ & liberæ civitates in Germania; ab hanse, societas. Al. ab ganzen, ad mare, quòd urbes maritimæ à sinu Finnico usque ad Rheni ostia, adversus barbarorum excursiones & ad mercaturæ commodum fœdus inierint tuendæ libertatis. The Hanse towns in Germany, distinguished into 4 Provinces, of which Lubeck, Cullen, Brunswick and Dantzick are the Principal; which have belonging to them in all 64 cities more.

Hantōnia. Hampshire.

Harcălo, Sil. A notable Wizard.

Harma, ἅρμα, i. currus: cùm duces qui Polynicem sequuti, convivium agerent, quædam aquila descendens telum Amphiarai in sublime tulit, móxque dimisit, id autem humi fixum in laurum versum est, quò in loco cùm postridiè dimicarent, Amphiaraus unà cum curru absorptus est; & exinde nomen urbi datum est. A City in Bœotia.

Harmōdius & Aristogiton, Tyrannicida, à Læna insigni meretrice tam fideliter & amicè adamati sunt, ut illa, ne illorum conspirationem retegeret, torta linguam dentibus præcisam in tyranni os expuerit; Plin.

Harmōnia. The daughter of Mars and Venus, and wife to Cadmus.

Harpăgium, locus Mysiæ, dict. ab ἁρπαγὴ, i. rapina; ibi enim raptus Ganymedes.

Harpăgus, Cyri dux, interiorem Asiam subegit.

Harpalus, ab ἁρπάζω, ἁρπαλὸς rapidus. A great robber, Cic. ◊ The name of a dog in Ovid. Swift, Snatch.

Harpalyce, es; f. Vir. The daughter of Lycurgus, king of Thrace; who with an Army freed her old father without a ransome from the Getes, who had taken him prisoner.

Harpāsa, orum, urbs Cariæ ad Harpasum fluv. ubi cautes magna, digito mobilis, immobilis toto corpore; teste Plin.

Harpe. A crooked sword wherewith Mercury slew Argus, and Perseus cut off Medusa's head.

Harpocrātes. The god of Silence, among the Egyptians, who was therefore pictured with his finger put to his mouth; Ovid. At revera Græcus erat Philosophus, cujus eruditio ac præcepta eò maximè tendebant, ut silentium præciperet, & omnibus rebus anteponeret: unde proverbium, Harpocratem reddere, Catul. To strike one dumb, make him hold's tongue.

Harpyiæ, ἅρπυια, ab ἁρπάζω rapio, ob rapacitatem. ἁρπυιαι παῖδες διὸς, Sallust. virgines volaticæ, Gl. Isid. The three Harpies, Aëllo, Ocypete & Celæno, daughters of Pontus & Terra, dwelling in Islands, partly by sea and partly by land. They are feigned to be fowls, with their faces like Virgins, ears like Bears, bodies like Vultures, and hands hooked like their talons; They are emblems of covetous men, griping usurers and extortioners; Plut. or of paltry pilfring barlots; Apul.

Hasdrŭbal, vide Asdrubal.

Hassia. Hessen in Germany, subject to a Landgrave.

Hasta, urbs Liguriæ; Claud.

Hatto,

Hatto. An Archbishop of Mentz, who in the time of a hard famine, called the poor into a barn, and burned them; and as they cried out, he answered, They were but Rats that eat corn, and were good for nothing else; but God left not this tyranny of his unpunished; for he was beset and bitten with Rats, neither could the top of the Castle free him from them, but he was eaten to death by them, and his name they gnawed out of the very Walls.

H ante E.

Heautontimorumenus, ἑαυτὸν τιμωρούμενος, seipsum excrucians. A Comedy of Terence so called, The self-tormenter, from an old man in the play, who vexed himself for the absence of his son, whom he had by hard usage forced away.

HEBE, es; f. ἥβη, i. pubes. Lat. Juventa dic. Ovid. The daughter of Juno without a father; for when Apollo invited her to a banquet, she eat so freely of Lettices, that she conceived and bare Hebe, who for her beauty was made Cupbearer to Jupiter; but when Jupiter was at a banquet with the Ethiopians, and Hebe waited on him, by chance she slipped and fell, so that she discovered all; for which cause she was put out of her office, and Ganymedes was put in her room: She is called by the Poets, the goddess of Youth; and at last, when Hercules was made a God, she was married to him. The Moral of the fable is this, that when Juno, i. the Air is warmed with the hot rays of Apollo, i. the Sun, she that before was barren, begins to conceive and bring forth Hebe, i. the Spring, and Herbs and Flowers: she ministers duly to Jupiter, till at the end of Summer Jupiter casts her out, and takes in Ganymed, or the winter and watry sign Aquarius.

Hebræi, dicti sunt Judæi, ab Heber qui fuit pronepos Sem filii Noah. Al. Hebræus עִבְרִי transitus, quòd è Mesopotamiâ in terram Chananæam eorum majores transierint. Hinc Hebraicus, a, um.

Hebrides. The Western Islands betwixt Scotland and Ireland.

Hebromànum, i. Auson. A town of Guienne, four miles from Burdeaux, called Embrau.

Hebron. An ancient City of Palestine in the tribe of Juda, where David for seven years kept his Residence.

Hebrus. A river in Thrace, running from Rhodope into the Ægean sea; into this river Orpheus his head was cast, whereupon it is called Œagrius, after Orpheus his fathers name; Vir.

Hecaërga, æ; f. Claud. ἑκαέργη, Callim. quo sensu Apollo ἑκαέργος, i. longe operans, i. jaculans dic. The name of a Nymph, a huntress.

Hecale, es; f. anus paupercula, (unde proverbium, Nunquam Hecale fies. i. nunquam pauper eris) cum Thesèum quodam tempore comiter excepisset, promisisseque ei se suam animam Jovi immolaturam, si salvus ex prælio domum rediret; atque ante reditum Thesei obiisset, occasionem Theseo dedit ut in honorem ipsius sacrum Jovi institueret, illûdque Hecalesium & Jovem Healium vocaret. Thesèum non est aspernatus Hecales anus hospitium; Apul.

Hĕcămēda, Arsinoi filia, quæ, direptâ Tenedo, Nestori in prædam cessit.

Hĕcăte, es; f. soror Apollinis, à quo etiam mutuatur nomen: is enim ἑκατηβόλος dict. unde illa ἑκάτη, sicut à Cynthio, Cynthia; à Delio, Delia; à Phœbo, Phœbe; ab ἑκὰς longe, quòd eminùs radios suos ad nos mittat & quodam modo jaculetur; unde & Apollo ἑκατηβελέτης longe jaculans dic. Hom. Al. quòd longe i. procul absit. vel ab ἑκατὸν, ob centum, i. plurimas virtutes, vel quòd victimis centum placetur, vel quòd animas insepultorum cogat errare centum annos; Serv. A Goddess, the same as the Moon, called Luna in heaven, Diana on Earth, and Hecate in Hell. She is fancied to have three heads, whence she has the Epithet of Triceps in Ovid, and Tergemina in Virgil. Also the daughter of Perses, unde Persèis dicta, Ovid. a woman so impious, that she poysoned her own father: regnavit in Taurica Cherroneso.

Hĕcătompŏlis; f. ἑκατόμπολις, centum habens urbes: Eust. The Isle Crete, so called for its hundred Cities, which it had in the time of K. Minos.

Hĕcătompylos, Plin. ἑκατόμπυλος, i. centum habens portas. The City Thebes in Egypt. ☞ Also a royal City of Parthia now called Iex. Ortel. or Ispahan, as Castald.

Hĕcătonchiros, ἑκατόγχειρος, i. Centimanus, ab ἑκατὸν centum, & χεὶρ manus. Briareus gigas sic dictus.

Hĕcătonnēsi, i. centum insulæ. Twenty-small Isles about Lesbos, so called, because perhaps they make a shew, as if they were a hundred; or from Hecatus, i. Apollo, who is much worshipped in those places.

HECTOR, ŏris; m. ἕκτωρ, dict. (ut scribit Plato) ἀπὸ τοῦ ἔχειν τὴν πόλιν, quòd urbem contra hostium impetum tenuerit, patriámque servârit. The son of King Priamus, the most valiant of all the Trojans, who having held out the Greeks in a ten years war, at length was slain by Achilles, who after he had dragged his body round about Troy, kept it unburied twelve days, till old Priamus redeemed it with a great sum of money, and buried it honourably.

Hĕcŭba, æ; f. ἑκάβη. The wife of Priamus, daughter to Cisseus, as Virgil says, or of Dimas, according to Homer. She was Queen of Troy, after the destruction whereof, she is feigned to be turned into a dog, raving by reason of her many misfortunes. And her Tomb was called Κυνὸς σῆμα.

Hedena, Sidon. A town and castle of Artois, under the French, called Hesdin.

Hedimeles; m. Juven. Mons Atticæ; vel pot. citharœdi nomen, ab ἡδὺς dulcis & μέλος cantic. si hoc, scribe Hedymeles.

Hedua, Sidon. quæ & Augusta Heduorum, sive Augustodunum. A city in Frantce, a Bishops See, called Autun.

Hĕdŭi, Galliæ Celticæ populi, Plin. Ædui, Cæs. Bituricis vervex, Heduis dat jucula nomen; Alciat.

Hĕdypnus, Susianæ fluv. Plin.

Hĕgăleos, m. mons Atticæ nemorosus; unde dives nemorum dic. Stat.

Hĕgĕsĭas, Cyrenaicæ sectæ philosophus; He with such eloquence set out the miseries of life, that many voluntarily slew themselves; for which cause Ptolemy forbad him to speak any more of that subject. Cic.

Hĕgĕsippus. An Historian of the Church mentioned by S. Jerom. His works are lost.

Hĕgĕsĭstrătus, i. dux exercitûs. A citizen of Ephesus, founder of the city Elæa; Plut.

Hĕgetmătia. The City Lignitz in Germany.

Hegua, Plin. Ategua, Cæs. opp. Hispaniæ Bœticæ.

Heideba; Saxo Gramm. A City of Denmark, in Jutland, called Sleswick; it hath a Dukedome belonging to it.

Heidelberga, ab Heiden, gentes Germanicè, quas hic diu habitâsse ferunt; vel Edelberg, Teutonicè nobilis mons. Heidelberg, a City of the lower Palatinate, which belonged once to the Bishop of Worms, but of late hath been the chief seat of the Palsgraves: it is famous for the University built there by the Palatine Rupertus, in the year 1346. It is seated upon the river Necker.

HELENA, ἑλένη, quod ab ἕλω i. traho, eò quòd pulchritudine suâ homines ad se qu. pertrahebat; al. ab ἑλλὰς, eò quòd esset ex Græcis oriunda. Jupiters daughter by Leda, the most beautiful woman in the world, stollen away at nine years old by Theseus, but her brethren Castor and Pollux recovered her again; she was afterwards married to Menelaus. Paris upon the fame of her beauty, came into Greece to see her: Menelaus gave him entertainment, and he fell in love with her, stole her away, and carried her to Troy, which afterwards was the cause of the war betwixt the Grecians and Trojans, and the final destruction of Troy.

Hĕlĕne, quæ & Macris Steph. dict. ab Helena ibi à Paride stupratâ; Mela. An Isle a few miles distant from Sunium, now called Macronisi. ☞ Also a little city in Catalonia, once a Bishops See, now translated to Perpignan, from whence it is distant two or three leagues; Aur. Vict.

Hĕlĕnōpŏlis; Munst. A city of Germany, called now Francfort upon the Main, a famous mart, with a noble stone-bridg over the river Main.

Hĕlĕnus. A son of King Priamus, famous for predictions of future events; whom the Grecians therefore reserved from the general ruine of the Trojans: Pyrrhus after the wars of Troy married him to Andromache, and gave him part of his kingdom; where he built a city like Troy, in which he entertained Æneas in his travels: Virg.

Hĕlerni lucus; Ovid. A place near the river Tiber, about Rome.

Heleutheri; Cæs. qu. ἐλεύθεροι, i. liberi. A people of Guienne, next to the Cadurci; their town called Orillac; F. Others take them to be the same with the Albigeois; B.

Helia, Plin. A small Island belonging to Sicily. ☞ The city Ely, so called from the plenty of Eels; a Bishops See. Beda.

Hĕlĭădes, um; f. pl. Ἡλιάδες, i. Sole natæ. The sisters of Phaeton, two of which are by Ovid named Phaëtusa, and Lampetia; the daughters of Sol and Clymene: They bewailing the death of their brother Phaeton, were turned into Poplar trees, of whose tears gum issued out, which made Amber.

Hĕlice opp. Peloponnesi, in ora Achaiæ. A City of Greece swallowed up by the Sea; Ovid. ☞ Also the great Bear-star neer the North-pole; Luc.

Hĕlĭcon, ōnis; m. Poët. A famous hill

hill of Bœotia, not far from Parnassus, consecrated to Apollo and the Muses.

Heliconides, sive Heliconiades; f. pl. musæ, ab Helicone sic dict.

Helicōnius, a, um; Belonging to mount Helicon. ◊ Heliconia plectra, Stat. Poetick strains.

Hēliŏdōrus, τὸ τῦ ἡλίυ δῶρον, i. Solis donum. A Rhetorician of Horaces acquaintance. ◊ A Bishop of Tricca in Thessaly, and Author of a Greek Romance.

Hēliŏgăbălus, Anton. Caracallæ filius; A most impure man in his life, as Lampridius sets it forth.

Hēliŏpŏlis, ἡλιόπολις, Solis oppidum, Plin. heb. בֵּית שֶׁמֶשׁ. A City in Egypt, built by the children of Israel, where K. Mithras raised obelisks, and dedicated them to the Sun; Plin. ◊ Also a City of Phrygia, in lesser Asia, now called Marbech, or Balbec. ◊ Also a City of Germany, towards Lunenberg, called Soltwedel.

Hēlĭŏsus; m. Stat. fl. Peloponnesi sive Atticæ.

Helium; Cæs. The Western mouth of the Rhine and the Maes neer the Brill; now called Die Maes, by the French la Meuse, Ort. not die Wael.

Hēlius. One who through flattery was highly loved of Nero.

Hellas, ădos; f. ἑλλάς, sic dict. ab Hellene Deucalionis filio, à quo Græci Hellenes dicti, ἕλληνες. A country in Europe called Greece.

Helle, es, Athamantis regis filia, quæ unà cum Phryxo fratre novercales insidias metuens, cùm accepto à patre ariete aureo Pontum vellent trajicere, in mare decidit: unde hodiè Hellespontum vocant.

HELLESPONTUS, i; m. sic dict. ab Helle Athamantis regis Thebarum filiâ in eo submersâ; q. d. ἕλλης πόντος. Dic. Sestiacum pelagus, Auspontus Phryxæus, Luc. Phryxæa æquora, Val. Fl. Ægæum fretum, Pacuv. Athamantidis æquora, Ovid. The Hellespont, or narrow sea by Constantinople, dividing Europe and Asia, betwixt Propontis and the Ægean Sea; betwixt which two it is 45 miles in length. It is narrowest at the Dardanelles, i. betwixt Sestos and Abydos, where it is but seven or eight furlongs over. It is now called in Italian, Braccio di San Giorgio, and so in French le Bras de S. George, and in Dutch S. Joris arm. By some it is called the Strait of Gallipoli; Ort.

Hellespontiăcus, a, um; Vir. ◊ Hellespontiaca Sibylla, quæ vixit Solonis & Cyri temporibus, Lact.

Helleviones, Plin. qui Hellusii, Tac. Helli, Amm. A People of Germany neer Dantsick; F. or rather a People of Scandinavia, where now Halland a province of Swedeland is; B. so called from the hills where they live.

Helmestădium; quæ & Hemopolis dic. The City Helmstat in Germany.

Hēlŏrus, or Helorum; Sil. A City once of Sicily, with a River of that name.

Hĕlos, τὸ ἕλος, i. palus. A town of Laconia; Stat.

Helsingoburgum: A fenced town of the Swedes, called Elsinborch, over against the City Elsenore.

Helva. A City of Portugal, called Elvas, a Bishops See.

Helvētĭa. Switzerland. The country is situated between Rhenus, Rhodanus, the hill Jura, and the Alpes; divided into 13 Cantons. The people Helvetii, Switzers, a warlike people.

Helvetum. A Hans-town in Alsatia, called Schlestadt.

Helvii, Cæs. Helui, Plin. A People of France; the country now called Le Vivarais. ◊ Alba Helviorum, Their City called Alby.

Helvina; Juv. fons Latii, in agro Aquinate.

Hēlymus, and Pănŏpes. The Companions of Acestes king of Sicily; Virg.

Hemeroscopium. A Promontory of Spain, called Cabo Martin.

Hēmodes. Seven Isles belonging to the Dunes, called Seelandt, Fuynen, Langlandt, Muen, Falster, Lalandt, and Femeren.

Hĕnĕti, Paphlagoniæ populi, qui cùm Antenore duce in intimum maris Adriatici sinum venissent, permisti Trojanis, omnes uno nomine Veneti appellati sunt. Liv. 3.

Hĕniŏchi. People of Sarmatia Asiat. next the Colchi, living by pillage; Val. Fl.

Hēphæstĭas f. ἡφαιστιάς, i. Vulcania. A City in Lemnos, by which is the hill whereon Vulcan fell, when Juno for his deformity threw him out of Heaven.

Hēphæstion. One of Alexanders Captains, most dear unto him: he did often compare him with Craterus, saying, The one was Φιλαλέξανδρος, the other Φιλοβασιλεύς, i. the one loved Alexander, the other the King. Plut.

Hephæstium, & Hephæsti mons. A town of Lycia, where the ground if touch with a lighted torch, presently sets on fire; Plin.

Hephæstus, ἥφαιστος, ex ἅπτω, ἅψω, ἧφα accendo, & ἰσία focus, ignis. Dor. ἁφαιστος, scil. ὁ ἀπ' ἴσιν ἁψάμενος, Etymol. vel qu. אב אשתא pater, i. inventor ignis, Boch. Vulcan so called in Greek.

Heptagonia, ab ἑπτὰ & γωνία, q. d. septanguli, nomen loci, Liv.

Heptaphŏnos, nomen porticus, quòd in eâ septies vox reddatur, Plin.

Heptaporos, ἑπτάπορος, i. septem habens vada. A river of Troas, flowing from mount Ida; Plin.

Heptapylos. The City Thebes in Bœotia, so called from its seven gates, whereas that in Egypt had an hundred.

Heraclea, ἡράκλεια, civitas nomen habens ab Hercule. The name of several Cities. ◊ One in Bithynia, built by Hercules, so Mela; now called Penderachi. ◊ Another in Thessaly, in the country Phthiotis, where Hercules burnt himself. ◊ Another in Thrace, betwixt Stanbol and Gallipoli, once called Perinthus, which Claud. calls Herculei nominis urbem. ◊ Another once of Magna Græcia, neer the bay of Otranto. ◊ Another in Macedonia; Plin. ◊. Another in Sicily, Cic. built by Minos, Liv. ◊ Another in Lydia, whereof the stone that draweth iron is called Heracleus lapis: hinc Heracleotes & Heracleota, nom. gent.

Heracleopolis, ἡ τῦ ἡρακλέυς πόλις, Str. opp. magnæ Græciæ, quæ & Heraclea. ◊ Also the name of three cities in Egypt.

Heracleotes, Dionysius Philosophus, Zenonis discipulus. Item locus sic dict. Cic. ubi fuit Amphitheatrum, unum è 7 spectaculis.

Heracleum, promont. in ora Colchorum; Plin.

Heraclides, patron. ἡρακλείδης, ab ἡρακλῆς. A Philosopher of Pontus, scholar to Plato and Aristotle; called for his effeminacy Pompicus for Ponticus, Cic. also a Sophister of Lycia, in Severus time. also a noble Painter, Plin.

HERACLITUS, ab ἡράκλειτος. A Philosopher of Ephesus, surnamed σκοτεινὸς, i. tenebricosus, because he affected an obscure style: one who, when he went abroad, always wept at the miseries of the world and mortal men: He had no master, but by his own nature and diligence attained to great knowledge; he lived in the time of the last Darius.

Heraclius. An Emperour that succeeded Phocas, in whose time the Saracens began to rise.

Heraclius lapis, λίθος Ἡρακλείτ, sc. Ἡρακλιώτης, ab Heraclea Lydiæ civ. unde & Magnes à Magnesia dict. A stone that draws iron.

Herbanum. A Bishops See in Tuscany, called Orvieto.

Herbessus, Liv. Herbēsos, Sil. A City once of Sicily. Pop. Herbessenses. Plin.

Herbipolis. The city Wirtzburg (qu. Mustopolis) in Franconia, vel qu. Erebipolis; Deqs ἐρέβης Græco nomine dicta polis: vet. Inscr.

Herbita. Once a City of Sicily, now called Nicosia. The people, Herbitenses, Cic.

Herculaneum, Plin. Herculanum, Cic. urbs Herculea, Ovid. opp. Campaniæ.

HERCULES, is; m. (ŭ) per metath. ex gr. Ἡρακλῆς, idque qu. Ἥρας κλέος, i. Junonis gloria, quòd ejus novercali odio gloriam adeptus sit. Al. ab ἥρως & κλέος, q. d. heroum gloria. Cicer. lib. 3. de nat. Deorum 6 memorat hoc nomine fuisse appellatos: Varro 44. Veruntamen omnes qui robore præstiterunt, ab Hercule Jovis & Alcmenæ filio (qui & Alcides voc.) appellatos fuisse affirmat. Macr. Saturn. lib. 1. asserit Herculem esse Solem (ut ex nomine satis claret, ἡρακλῆς, n. est ἥρως κλέος, i. aerii gloria, quæ nil aliud est nisi Solis illuminatio) 12 verò labores quos Hercules confeciisse creditur, sunt 12. signa Zodiaci, quæ Sol singulis annis conficit. The son of Jupiter, whom he got of Alcmena in the shape of her husband Amphitryo, whilst he was at the Warrs whence he is called Amphitryoniades, as on the mothers side Alcides. He was of prodigious strength, and performed several exploits at the command of Juno his stepmother, who had a design of destroying him; the chief of which are those we call his twelve labours or adventures. First, He slew a Lyon in the wood Nemæa. 2ly, He slew the Monster Hydra, in the Fens of Lerna. 3ly, He slew the wild Boar of Erymanthus, which wasted Arcadia. 4ly, He slew the Centaures. 5ly, He took a Stag running on foot. 6ly, He slew the Birds Stymphalides, which ate up the fruits. 7ly, He cleansed Augia's stable. 8ly, He brought a Bull from Crete into Greece, drawing him along the sea. 9ly, He took Diomedes king of Thrace, giving him to be eaten of his own man-eating horses, and afterwards breaking those wild horses, brought them to Eurystheus. 10ly, He took Geryon and his cattle, in his voyage into into Spain. 11ly, He went to Hell, and brought thence with him Theſeus and Pirithous, bringing away the Dog Cerberus. 12ly, He took the golden Apples out of the garden of the Heſperides, & killed the Dragon that kept them. Truth is, there went ſeveral under this name; as HerculesCelticus, qui & Ogmius, famous for Eloquence; Ægyptius, two ſo called, one of which ſuppoſed to be Joſhua; Tyrius, who planted at Cadis in Spain, and turned Geryon with his two brothers out of the Kingdom, Juſtin. Libycus, who planted Sardinia, Sil. Romanus, qui & Sancus, Feſt. & Fidius, Var. Germanus, Tac. all whoſe glories and enterpriſes were aſcribed to this one, who was a Theban. He has given occaſion to ſundry Proverbs; as Ne Hercules quidem contra duos; Two to one is odds at foot-ball. Ex pede Herculem. Herculis cothurnos aptare infanti. Herculeus labor, &c. He went with a Club in his hand, and a Lyons skin about him. After all his great atchievments, by a miſtake of his wife, putting on a poiſoned ſhirt, he found himſelf in that torment, that he made a pile on mount Æta and burnt himſelf. After his death he was received into heaven; and being reconciled to his mother in law, married her waiting-woman Hebe.

Herculeus, a, um; Of Hercules. ◊ Herculea via, Propert. in Campaniâ, inter Avernum lacum & mare apud Puteolos. ◊ Herculeus morbus, quòd Herculis inſtar, ſit invictus, Gal. quomodò & morbum majorum voc. Celſ. vel quòd eo laborarit Hercules, Ariſt. The falling ſickneſs. ◊ Herculeum fretum. The ſtraights of Gibraltar, betwixt Spain and Africk, about five leagues over. ◊ Herculeum promontorium. Hartland Point in Devonſhire. ◊ Herculeum Tybur. The City Tivoli in Italy.

Herculis caſtra, opp. Germaniæ inf. duc. Geldriæ, vulg. Erkelens. ◊ Herculis inſula, inf. Sardiniæ; hod. Aſinara, Ort. ◊ Herculis Columnæ apud Friſios, Tacit. vulg. Duvels Cutz, Ort. It. in inſulâ Gaditanâ, Sil. ◊ Herculis fanum in Etruria, & Melita; locus item Gadium. ◊ Herculis Petra in agro Stabiano, Plin. ◊ Herc. promontorium in Mauritania Tingitana; Alſo Herey Point in Devonſhire, or Hartland Point in Cornwall. ◊ Herculis turris, Cyrenaica urbs. ◊ Herculis portus, opp. Hetruriæ cum arce & portu; hod. Porto Hercole: item al. in littore Brutio ſub urbe Tropæa; vulg. le Formicole.

Hercyna, virgo fuit Proſerpinæ comes: in templo conſecratum virginis illius ſimulacrum, anſerem manibus gerebat, Liv.

Hercynia; Cæſ. quæ Hercyna Sylva, Claud. Saltus Germanici, Liv. The hugeſt Wood or Foreſt in all Germany; it is, as Cæſar ſaith, in breadth nine days journey; in length threeſcore; Mela. It goes by ſeveral names in ſeveral places; Schwartzwaldt, i. ſylva nigra: Udenwaldt, i. Othonis Sylva; Thuringerwaldt, à Thuringis; & Behemerwaldt, à Bohemis appell. So the French call it Foreſt de Boheme.

Herdônia, Sil. Once a City of Apulia. Pop. Herdonienſes, Plin.

Herefordia. The City Hereford in England, a ſhire-town, and Biſhops See.

Herillus. A Philoſopher of Chalcedon, ſcholar to Zeno; Cic.

Hermæa, Mercurii promontorium in Africa; Liv. hod. Capo Bon.

Hermæum, prom. Sardiniæ; hod. Capo della Cacca: B.

Hermagôras. A famous Rhetorician of Ætolia; alſo another a Philoſopher and Orator; Cic.

Hermanduri. People of Miſnia in Germany, Tac. belonging to the Duke of Saxony.

Hermanni ſaxum. Hermanſtein, a ſtrong Caſtle upon the Rhine, that belongs to the Elector of Ments.

Hermannopolis. A fair City of Tranſylvania, called Hermandſtadt.

Hermaphroditus, ἑρμαφρόδιτος, comp. nomen ex ἑρμῆς Mercurius, & Ἀφροδίτη Venus. Son of Venus and Mercury, a beautiful youth, who wandring in the woods, the Nymph Salmacis fell in love with him, to whom he would not hearken; whereupon ſhe hid her ſelf in a thicket, but he coming to waſh himſelf, was embraced by her naked; whereupon, he not yielding, ſhe prayed unto the gods, that both their bodies might be turned into one; and ſo Hermaphrodites were called thoſe perſons that were both Men and Women. Vid. Ovid. Metam. 4.

Hermathena, Mercurii ἑρμῆ & Minervæ Ἀθηνᾶς ſtatua conjuncta.

Hermes; m. ἑρμῆς, i. interpres, nuncius Deorum, dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ἑρμηνείας. The Greek name of Mercury; alſo a Philoſopher in Egypt called Triſmegiſtus, i. ter maximus, quia (ut refert Suidas) de Trinitate loquutus fuerit in Deitate: or becauſe he was both a King, a Prieſt, and Philoſopher; he firſt diſtinguiſhed the time into hours: He lived near the time of Moſes.

Hermias. A Boy that a Dolphin caryed on his back into the Sea.

Herminius, al. Arminius. A noble Captain in Germany, which ſlew Varus the Lieutenant of Auguſtus, and three Regiments of ſouldiers, Suet. & Tacit. ◊ The name of a Roman, who with Cocles kept the Bridg againſt the Enemy, Liv. ◊ A noble Tuſcan, Virg. ◊ Alſo a mountain of Portugal, Hirt. called monte Armino.

Hermione, es, f. Ovid. ab Ἑρμῆς. The daughter of Menelaus and Helena, betrothed by the grandfather to Oreſtes, afterwards given by the father to Pyrrhus, whom Oreſtes therefore ſlew in the Temple of Apollo, and got his wife again; Virg. ◊ Item opp. Peloponneſi, in orâ ſinus Argolici; unde ſtatio Hermionea, Vir.

Hermiones, Plin. A People of Germany, of great power and extent; but not neer Pomerania.

Hermippus. An ancient Comical Poet of Athens; who wrote forty plays.

Hermocrates, i. Mercurii robur. A Philoſopher born at Phocis, whom the Emperor Severus forced againſt his will to marry the daughter of his Secretary, Antipater, being one of no great Beauty; whom afterward he put away; Philoſtr.

Hermodorus, i. Mercurii donum. A Philoſopher of Sicily, ſcholar to Plato; another of Epheſus, who being baniſhed thence and coming to Italy, adviſed the making of the Laws called the twelve Tables in Rome, and had therefore a ſtatue erected to his memory by the Decemviri; Plin. Another mentioned by Cic. who at Athens was baffled by Philo the Architect about building the Arſenal.

Hermogenes, i. Mercurio genitus. A Philoſopher of Tarſus, with whom M. Anton. the Emperor was much delighted to converſe; when he was eighteen years of age he was an admirable ſcholar; afterward, always worſe and worſe; whence that ſaying of him, Hermogenes inter pueros ſenex, inter ſenes puer; Suid. ◊ Another of the ſame country, whom Domitian put to death; Suet.

Hermolaus, i. populi interpres. A Grammarian of Conſtantinople in the time of Juſtinian; Suid. ◊ Another, a famous Stonecutter, Plin.

Hermon, Pelaſgorum princeps, à quo prov. Hermonium officium, de eo qui vult videri aliquid officii gratiâ facere, quod alioqui coactus facit; Eraſm. ◊ Alſo the name of two mounts in Paleſtine; the one part of Mount Libanus, neer the head of Jordan; the other leſs, neer the Mount of Gilboa, at the root whereof the City Naim ſtood.

Hermonaſſa, urbs Myſiæ infer. ad oſtium Iſtri Boreale; Plin. hod. Belgrad, i. caſtrum album dic. à Turcis.

Hermopolis, Plin. i. Mercurii civitas. A City in Egypt, where Pan and a Goat were worſhipped. Here was plenty of the beſt flax; It is 120 miles from Gran Cairo Southward.

Hermotimus, Clazomenius, cujus anima relicto corpore errare ſolebat, vagâque è longinquo multa annunciabat, quæ niſi à præſenti noſci non poſſent, corpore interim ſemianimi; Plin. 7. 52.

Hermunduri, Plin. qui Hermanduri, Tac. pop. Germaniæ.

Hermus, Vir. A river of gold-ſands in leſſer Aſia.

Hernici, pop. Latii loca ſaxoſa incolentes, unde & nomen: Hernici dicti à ſaxis, quæ Marſi herna vocant; Feſt. Vel ab Herno duce: erant a. Pelaſgis oriundi, Macrob. ◊ Hernicus ager, Plin. Hernica terra, Ovid. Hernica ſaxa, Vir.

HERO, ûs vel ônis; f. A beautiful maid of Seſtos, a town upon the Helleſpont on Europe-ſide, the Prieſteſs of Venus, whom Leander, who lived on the other ſide, falling in love with, was wont to come to at nights ſwimming over the ſtreights, who at laſt being drown'd in one of his attempts, ſhe threw her ſelf off her Turret into the Sea to him. vid. Ovid.

HERODES, is; m. ἡρώδης patron. ab ἥρως. Herod the Great, of Aſcalon, King of Judea, in whoſe time the Scepter was departed from Judah, (he being an alien) and Chriſt was born. He it was who ſlew the Innocents; of whom therefore Auguſtus jeſtingly ſaid, It was better be Herods ſwine than his ſon: for his religion (being a Jew in that) kept him from killing one, but his jealouſy (as a tyrant) would not ſpare the children, whereof his own was one. Of him the ſect called Herodians, who took Herod to be the Meſſias. ◊ Herod Antipas his ſon beheaded John; in his time Chriſt was crucified. ◊ Herod Agrippa ſlew James, and was eaten up with worms.

Herodianus, παρωνυμικῶς ab Herodes. An Hiſtorian of Alexandria, that wrote the lives of the Emperors from Commodus to Gordianus the younger, in whoſe time he lived. He wrote in Greek.

Hērōdias, ădis; f. patron. The grand- daughter of Herod the great, married first to Philip, from whom his brother Herod Antipas took her away; the reproving of which villany cost the Baptist his head.

Herodorus Megarensis, tibicen, so great an Eater, that he would eat six Baskets full of Rye-bread at one time, and twenty pound weight of flesh; and drink two gallons of wine. He would sound two Trumpets together so shrill, that the noise might be heard at very great distance.

Herodotus. A famous Historian born at Halicarnassus: He wrote a general History in nine Books, intitled to the several Muses, containing the acts done in 240. years, until the War amongst the Greeks, called Bellum Peloponnesiacum, where Thucydides began. Tully calls him the father of History.

Heroes, dicti ἀπὸ τῦ ἔρω τῆς ἀρετῆς, ab amore virtutis; alii ἀπὸ τῆς Ἥρας, à Junone, quòd aer Junoni deputetur, ubi volunt cum dæmonibus heroes habitare; quod confirmat Hesiod. Ἡίεχ ἰανάμενοι μάντων φωτῶν ἐπ' ἄεκτ. Plato in Cratylo ἀπὸ τῦ ἔρως ☉ heroas vocatos ait, ἀπὸ ab amore; quòd videlicet heroes vel ex amore Deorum erga mulieres humanas, vel amore virorum erga deas sunt geniti; vel παρὰ τὸ ἴρειν, i. dicere, quòd heroes facundi fuerunt. Noble and famous men, who for their great acts and vertues were deemed to come next unto the immortal Gods; and they got such an opinion among st men, that after their deaths they were deified and made gods, called therefore ἡμίθεοι semidei, i. Demy gods. Such were those whom they fancied to have one parent mortal, the other immortal.

Heroides, Stat. & Heroinæ, Propert. fœminæ illustriores.

Herophila. The name of Sibylla Erythræa, who in Tarquin's time came to Rome, and proffered him three of her books at a great rate; which being refused, she burnt two of them, and had as much for that one which was left, as she demanded for all three.

Heroum urbs, Plin. Heropolis, Ptol. hod. Herou, urbs Ægypti, prope oram sinus Arabici.

Herse, es; f. Daughter of Cecrops, and sister to Aglauros. She was beloved by Mercury; Ovid.

Hersilia, f. The wife of Romulus, after her death made a goddess called Orta & Horta: for in desiying they used to change their names, lest they should be thought to have been mortal.

Heruli; Amm. pop. qui è Scandinaviâ egressi ad Mœoticam habitarunt, posteà Longobardi appellati, in Pannoniâ & demum in Italia consederunt. Jorn.

Hesa; Sil. urbs Siciliæ.

Hesiodus, Ἡσίοδος, ab ἵημι & ὁδὸς Etym. pot. ab hebr. חָסִיד, i. pius, sanctus. An ancient Poet that wrote of Husbandry, and the genealogy of the Gods; he was called Ascræus, from Ascra, a city in Bœotia; where he was born. He was after Homer about 120 years; so Vell. Paterc. Others are of opinion he was before him, because his style is more antique, i. rude and simple.

Hesione, es; f. Daughter of Laomedon king of Troy, whom Hercules delivered from a Sea-monster, to which she was exposed. Laomedon denied Hercules that reward he promised him; whereupon Hercules sacked Troy, and took her, and gave her to Telamon; Ovid.

Hesperia, sc. regio. ἡ Ἑσπερία, Hispania & Italia sic dict. vel ab Hespero Rege Atlantis fratre, vel ab Hespero stella, quæ vesperi ad Occidentem apparet; quòd hæ regiones omnium extremæ sitæ sint ad Occidentem; unde & Hesperiam ultimam Hor. Hispaniam vocat. ◊ Hesperia sine adjectione ferè pro Italiâ sumitur.

Hesperides, Hesperi filiæ. The daughters of Hesperus brother to Atlas, called Ægle, Arethusa, and Hesperethusa; they had gardens and orchards in Africk, that bore golden fruit, which were kept by a vigilant Dragon, which Hercules slew, and robbed the orchard. Varro thinks these golden Apples were sheep (which might indeed be so called, either for that their fleeces were of the colour of gold, or in that the Greek word μῆλον signifieth both a sheep and an apple) and the Dragon was the shepherd. ◊ Also 10 Isles in the Atlantick Ocean, over against Cabo verde, under the King of Portugal.

Hesperii. People of the lower Æthiopia, where now is the Kingdom of Congo; Mela. ◊ Also People of Libya, neer Cabo verde; Plin.

Hesperius, a, um; ab Hespero; Poet. Western. Hesperium cornu, prom. vulg. Cabo verde.

Hesperus, ἑωσφόρ☉, i. vesper. ab ἠὼς aurora & πέρας terminus; qu. auroræ terminus. Etym. The son of Iapetus, and brother to Atlas, who being expelled his kingdom, went into Italy, and called it after his own name, Hesperia: some say he went to the top of the hill Atlas, the better to observe the course of the stars, and was seen no more: whereupon they said he was turned into a star, which in the morning goeth before the Sun, and is called Lucifer, and in the evening it followeth it, and is called Hesperus.

Hesseni. People of Palestine, who had great store of Doves; Tibull.

Hesus Gallorum Deus, Luc. idem cum Marte, Boch. à עזז fortis.

Hesychius. A learned Grammarian, who wrote a Lexicon very useful for Criticks.

Hetriculum, op. Brutiorum; Liv.

Hetruria, dict. qu. ἑτερυία, ἀπὸ τῦ ἑτέρε χ ὄρε, eò quòd extendebatur ad alteram ripam Tiberis, qui est terminus inter Latium & Hetruriam; Vel quià montosa, ab ὄθυς, Cret. pro ὄρος, mons, ut sit sicut λιγυς Ligures, sic ὄθυς Ethrures, Scal. A country in Italy, called Tuscany, lying on the Tyrrhene Sea; it reacheth from the bank of Tyber to the river Macra, and it maketh up the Dukedom of Florence. It was famous for soothsayers.

Hetrusci; Vir. pop. Hetruriæ; qui & Tusci sive Thusci, & Etrusci.

Hexi, Mela. Sexi, Plin. A City of Spain, 5 leagues from Malaga.

Hexapylum, i. sex portas habens; locus Siciliæ apud Syracusas, Liv. hod. Mongibello sive.

Heziongaber, quæ & Essia, Hier. A Haven of the red Sea, which the Kings of the Jews made use of for shipping.

H ante I.

Hiarbas, æ; m. Vir. King of the Getulians, who made war against Queen Dido.

Hibernia, ab hiberno tempore, quod ibi longum est, dict. sed est ab ant. Juvernæ, Juven. Iverna, Ptol. Ierna, Claud. & Erin ipsis incolis. Ireland, an Island under the English dominion, lying Westward from it. It is 250 miles long from North to South, and 120 miles broad at most. It is divided into four Provinces; Munster, Lemster Connaught and Ulster; and has thirty-three Counties. It had once 50 Bishopricks. The People Hiberni. Irish.

Hiera, ἱερὰ, sc. νῆσος, i. sacra insula, Two Islands of that name belonging to Sicily. The one called now Vulcano: formerly Therasia, Plin. the other Maretamo. ◊ Another neer Creet, thought by some to be Suda. Plin. ◊ Also a river of Bithynia, that parts it from Galatia: Vir.

Hierapolis, sacra civitas. A City in Phrygia, about which is a river that will die Woolt of a purple colour: there is also a Cave in the earth, into which if any creature fall, it dieth immediately; the water of the Bath there will soon harden into a crumbly stone. Another in Syria is by some Geographers called Aleppo.

Hierax, i. accipiter, adolescens quem Mercurius in avem sui nominis commutavit, quòd Argum custodem excitâsset, quum Io vaccam rapere vellet Mercurius.

Hierico, untis, f. A City of Palestine famous for Palm-trees. 20 miles from Jerusalem, and six from Jordan.

Hiero, onis; m. ἱέρων, ab ἱερὸς, i. sacer. A king of Sicily, made by the Romans: he was at the beginning very rude and intractable; afterward giving himself to learning, he became a man of great note. Pindar dedicates some of his pieces to him.

Hierocles, i. sacra gloria. One who wrote a Commentary on Pythagoras his Golden Verses.

Hieronymus, qu. ἱερὸν ὄνομα, i. sacrum nomen. S. Jerom a reverend Father of the Latin Church, much honoured for translating the Bible: he was born in a town called Strido in the confines of Hungaria and Dalmatia. He lived in the time of Pope Damasus.

Hieronesus; Plin. An Island of Sicily, the same as Hiera.

HIEROSOLYMA, æ; f. ἱερὸσόλυμα, pl. n. & ἱερουσαλὴμ, indecl. יְרוּשָׁלַיִם, i. visio vel hæreditas pacis. Jerusalem, called also Salem, before the Israelites had it, Jebus; by the Poets Solyma; the chief City of the Holy Land, indeed of the whole world once: it was destroyed by Titus the Emperour, after rebuilt by the Emperour Ælius Adrianus, and by his name called Ælia. The Turks, who have it now in possession, call it Chutz or Gotz.

Hierosolymarius. dict. ab Hierosolymis expugnatis: The firname of Pompey, for conquering of Hierusalem. Cic.

Hilaria, um; n. pl. Hilaribus, quibus omnia festa & sieri scimus & dici, Vopisc. A festival or time of merriment kept on the 8 b day of the Calends of April, that is, on the 25th day of March, our Lady day; at which time the sun first makes day longer than night; Macrob.

Hilarius, ab hilaritate dict. The Bishop of Poictiers in France, who was banished, and much persecuted for maintaining taining the doctrine of the Trinity, against the damnable opinion of the Arians.

Hildesia. A City of Saxony, called Hildesheim.

Himantŏpŏdes, i. Loripedes. People of Æthiopia, who being crumy-footed, do creep on their knees. Plin.

Himella. A river of the Sabines, that falls into Tyber: Vir.

Himĕra. The name of two rivers in Sicily, which rose from the same hill: Solin. ◊ Also a City of Sicily at the mouth of that river, razed by Hannibal. Cic.

Hippalus, ventus, vid. Hypalus.

Hipparchus. ἵππαρχος, i. magister equitum. A notable Astronomer of Nicæa, that wrote against Plato about the course of the Moon; he first found out the use of Mathematical instruments, Plin.

Hippe, i. equa, in quam tandem mutata. The daughter of Chiron, whom being got with child, and fearing her fathers displeasure, the gods did out of pity turn her into a Mare, and she was afterwards taken up into heaven.

Hippias, i. equestris. A Philosopher of Elis singular in all arts, trades and sciences: he came to the games of Olympia, and all that he did wear about him was of his own making: Cic. lib. de Orat.

Hippo urbs, quæ & Vibo, Serv. A City of the Brutians in Italy, now called Monte Leone, or, as some, Bivona. ◊ Also a City of Africk, where S. Austin was Bishop, called by Livy, Hippo regius. Vid. Hippon.

Hippŏbŏtos, i. equos alens. A large medow near the Caspian streights, where 50000 horses were fed. Str.

Hippŏcentauri, comp. ab ἵππος equus & Centauri. A monstrous kind of men in Thessaly near Mount Pelion; their upper parts were like perfect men, and their lower parts were like horses. Some think, that because they first rode upon horses, men seeing them at distance, as their horses were drinking with their heads down to the water, took them for such creatures. S. Hierom saith that S. Anthony saw a Hippocentaure, and talked with him; and Pliny saith that he saw one. Yet Tully and Galen, &c. are of opinion, that there are no such things in nature.

Hippŏcrātes, ἱπποκράτης, i. equitatu vincens. An excellent Physician of the Island Cos, scholar of Democrates, to whom Artaxerxes, for his singular skill in Physick, did promise great honours, if he would live with him at the Persian Court. He lived 104 years.

Hippocrēne, es; f. ἡ τῦ ἵππου κρήνη, i. fons Caballinus, quem poetæ fabulantur factum esse ungulâ Pegasi equi alati. A fountain of Bœotia, near Helicon, dedicated to Apollo and the nine muses.

HIPPODAMIA, ἱπποδάμεια, id est, equorum domitrix. The daughter of Œnomaus, king of Elis and Pisæ, who when he was told by an Oracle, that it would fall out that his son in law should slay him, having a beautiful Virgin to his daughter, he proclaimed an horse-race with Chariots, (for he had horses exceeding swift) on condition that he which did overrun him should marry his daughter, and he which was overcome, should die: so he overcame and put to death thirteen. At length came Pelops the son of Tantalus, who seeing the Virgin, fell mightily in love with her, and won her in marriage, by money procured Myrtilus, Coachman to Œnomaus, to make the Coach break in the race; who left one of the Wheels unpinned, so that in the race his Coach brake, and he was wounded to death; but before he dyed he requested of Pelops to revenge his death upon his man, which he performed; for when he came to Pelops for his hire, he threw him into the sea: but Pelops enjoyed the Damosel and the kingdom. ◊ Also the wife of Pirithous, for whom the war was between the Centaurs and the Lapithæ; Propert. calls her Ischomache. ◊ Item eadem quæ Briseïs.

Hippŏdōrus. A Prince of Athens, of the race of Codrus, who to curry favour with the people, used much severity to his own children and kinsfolk; insomuch that his daughter being taken in adultery, he caused her to be tied to a Chario:-wheel and pull'd to pieces.

Hippŏlyte, es; f. Queen of the Amazons, whom Hercules vanquished, and married to Theseus; of whom he begat Hippolytus. ◊ Also the wife of Acastus King of Magnesia. Hor.

Hippŏlytus, ἱππόλυτος, i. ab equis membratim solutus. The son of Theseus and Hippolyte the Amazon; a chast person, much given to hunting: When his father was forth, his step-mother Phœdra would have iced him to lie with her; and he refusing, she accused him to her husband that he would have forced her; when he saw his father believing it designed his death, he took his Chariot to make his escape; but his Chariot-horses being frighted with Sea-calves, that were by chance on the shore, ran away with him to the Mountains, dashed the Coach in pieces, and him also. Æsculapius at Diana's request raised him to life again; and then he went into Italy, and called himself Virbius, quòd bis vir fuisset.

Hippomĕdon, Stat. i. equos regens. One of the seven Captains that went against Thebes, where he was drowned in the river Ismenus.

HIPPOMENES, ab ἵππος equus & μένος robur. The son of Macareus, or Megareus and Merope. He fell in love with Atalanta, who had vowed Virginity; only this condition she proposed to her Wooers, that they should run a race with her unarmed; and that she should run after them with a weapon in her hand; and if she overtook them, then she might kill them with her dart; but he that out-ran her should have her to wife: Now when she had been the death of many Wooers, Hippomenes fell in love with her, but durst not well trust to his feet; wherefore he besought Venus to help him: She gave him three golden Apples, and taught him how he should use them: Hereupon he undertook the race, and when he saw that she was even at his heels, and ready to catch him, he threw the golden Apples three several ways at a good distance; with which she was so allured, that she could not but go and gather them up; and the whilst Hippomenes won the race and her: After he forgot to be thankful to Venus, and she in revenge bewitched him to such lust, that he lay with his wife even in the Temple of Cybele, who taking the matter haincusly, transformed him into a Lyon, and her into a Lyoness. Ovid. ◊ Est & alius, Hippomenes Archon apud Athenienses, qui adulterum filium deprehensum equis discerpsit: Filiam verò Limonen cum equo carceri inclusit, quæ ab equo, quum neutri alimentum præberetur, viva devorata fuit; Ovid in Ibiu.

Hippon; ab ἵππος equus, quòd urbem eam Græci equites condiderint, Solin. Two places in Africk of this name. ◊ The one Hippon Regius, (whence Sil. dilectus regibus Hippon) where S. Austin was Bishop, now called Bona, a strong City still, under the government of Algier. ◊ The other Diarrhytos, now called Biserta, a castle belonging to Tunis. They are both on the sea-coast.

Hippōna, equorum Dea; Juv. Rectiùs Epona, dea mulionum.

Hippōnax ἱππώναξ, ὁ τῆς ἵππων ἄναξ, i. equorum rex; Hinc Iambicum Hipponacticum seu Hipponacteum dic. A Poet of Ephesus so deformed of visage, that Bupalus drew out his picture for men to laugh at; which thing so moved Hipponax, that he wrote such bitter verses against the Painter, that for anger and shame he made him hang himself.

Hipponiates sinus, sinus Brutiorum, qui & Vibonensis: Plin. hod. Golfo di S. Eufemia.

Hippōpŏdes, ἱππόποδες, id est, equinos pedes habentes. Solin. People of Scythia, with feet like horses.

Hippŏtădes, Ovid. dict. quòd nepos esset Hippotæ. Æolus so called.

Hippŏtoxŏtæ, equestres sagittarii; Hirt.

Hippūris, i. cauda equina. An Isle in the Mediterranean Sea, one of the Cyclades.

Hirminius, fl. Siciliæ; Plin.

Hirpi, pop. qui in agro Falisco ad montem Soractem habitabant: alii ab Hirpinis; tamen similiter dicti ab hirpo, i. lupo.

Hirpiæ familiæ, Plin. 27. 2. People of the Falisci; who use in the yearly sacrifices of Apollo, to go upon the fire and never be burned.

Hirpini, Samnitum gens, qu. lupini, ab hirpus, i. lupus, uti Samnites voc. eum enim ducem secuti, agros occupavere, Fest. vel quòd luporum more, rapto viverent. Nam lupi Sabinorum linguâ hirpi voc. Serv. fc. ab ἅρπω rapio, ob rapacitatem.

Hirpinum, eorum opp. Cic.

Hirpinus, equus generosus; Juven.

Hirtius. A Consul Colleague with Pansa, who were vanquished and slain in a battle by Antony at Mutina. ◊ Also an Historian.

Hispal. pro Hispalis; Sil.

Hispălis, Bæticæ provinciæ urbs. The City Sevil in Spain.

HISPANIA, dict. à quodam rege Hispano. Σπανία, ספרד. Dict. à שפן cuniculis, quibus abundabat: unde cuniculosam Celtiberiam vocat Catul. The country of Spain, by the ancients called Iberia, from the river Iberus; Hesperia from its Western situation; Celtiberia from the Celtæ living about Iberus. The country is wholly invironed with the Mediterranean Ocean, and Cantabrian Seas, save towards France, from which it is severed by the Pyrenean hills: this country by the Romans was divided into the higher and farther Spain: by Ptolem. it was divided into three parts; 1. Called Bætica, which is ulterior, containing Granada, Sevil

Sevil, Corduba, &c. 2. Lusitania, likewise ulterior. wherein is Portugal, Gallæcia, &c. 3. Tarraconensis or Citerior, which hath in it Castile, Lions, Arragon, &c. It is like an Ox hide, almost foursquare, in breadth as well as length, neer 800 miles. It was the country of Lucan, the two Seneca's, Martial, &c.

Hispaniensis, e; Of or in Spain.

Hispanus, a, um; Spanish, a Spaniard.

Hispanus color, idem qui Bæticus.

Hispellum, urbs Umbriæ; Sil. pop. Hispellates, Plin. jun.

Histōnium. A town in Italy. Plin.

Histri, Luc. People of Istria, under the government of Venice.

Hiulca. A great lake in Hungary, which the Emperor Probus caused to be dried up; Vopisc.

H ante O.

Hollandia. Holland, one of the seventeen Provinces in the Low-countries, divided into South-Holland, and North-Holland. ◊ Also a place in Lincoln-shire, the third part of the County.

Holmia; Saxo Gram. Stockholm. The chief City in Swede-land. ◊ Also a City of Bœotia, Stat. p. l. Ὁλμειὸν Hesiodo.

Holsatia. A Dutchy in the lower Saxony, called Holstein.

Homelea; Bed. A river in the South of England, over against the Isle of Wight.

Hŏmērŏmastix, τὸ Ὁμήρου μάστιξ, i. Homeri flagellum. Zoïlus so called, being only noted for his carping at Homer.

HOMERUS, ὁ μηρος, qu. ὁ μὴ ὁρῶν, sic dict. quòd cæcus esset, non quòd usu oculorum destitueretur, sed quòd non fuerit victus cupiditate, (referente Suida) quæ per oculos incipit; Cumæi namque & Ionες captos oculis Ὁμήρους appellant: vel dic. Homerus, quòd in bello, quod inter Smyrnæos & Colophonios gestum fuit, Ὁμηρῶν, i. obses datus fuit. An excellent Poet, whose proper name was Melesigenes, from the river Meles, neer to which he was born. He wrote sundry Poems scattered here and there in the countries where he travelled; which may be a reason not improbable, why so many countries should challenge him to be theirs, they having the first copies of his works, which in succeeding times were gathered together to make up compleat Poems, and were called from thence Rapsodiæ, ῥαψῳδίαι: Two of these Poems are observed to comprehend the two parts of man: The Iliads describing the strength and vigour of the body; and the Odysses the subtilety and policy of the mind. Concerning his country, there was a great controversie among the Grecians, as may appear by these Verses; Ἑπτὰ πόλεις διερίζουσι περὶ μίζαν Ὁμήρου· Σμύρνα, Ῥόδος, Κολοφών, Σαλαμὶς, Χίος, Ἄργος, Ἀθῆναι. Septem urbes certant de stirpe insignis Homeri; Smyrna, Rhodus, Colophon, Salamin, Chius, Argos, Athenæ: To these Suidas addeth a great many more; as also his life at large. See his life described by Plutarch and Herodot. He lived about the time of Elias the Prophet. He is called also Mæonides.

Homolaïs, ĭdis; f. Stat. ab Homole monte Thessalico.

Hŏmŏle, es; f. Vir. An hill in Thessaly, near to Othrys, the seat of the Centaurs.

Hŏmŏlium. A town of Magnesia, in Thessaly; Plin.

Hŏmopatoria, græc. festa erant Athenis, ita dict. quòd patres liberorum Curiæ ascribendorum gratiâ tum convenirent.

Nonorius. A Roman Emperour together with Arcadius his brother.

Hōra, dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ὥρας, i. à venustate & pulchritudine: Ità Romani vocabant Herstilium, Romuli uxorem, postquam in cœlum recepta est; Enn. quæ & Ora dic. Ovid. A goddess of the Romans; Romulus his wife after her death so called.

Horæ; f. pl. Deæ, quæ 4. anni ὥρας, i. temporibus præsunt, ὥραι. It. pulchritudinis Deæ, solis famulæ, tres numero; Hesiod. The Hours, the Goddesses of the four seasons of the year. ◊ Also the three Goddesses of beauty, attendants on the Sun. Perhaps the same as the other, leaving out Winter.

Horapollo, ĭnis; m. Macr. ὡραπόλλων, Suid. comp. ab Apolline & Horo, qui Ægypt. Sol dic.

Hōrātĭus, qu. ὁρατὸς, i. aspectabilis, vel dignus aspectu. A valiant Roman sirnamed Cocles, who when Porsenna had taken the fort in mount Janiculum, and the enemies rushing into the City, the people being all in a fright, and flying away, he with two more of his company withstood the force of the enemy so long, until the bridg was broken or let down behind him, and when he saw that, he leaped into Tyber, and swam safe to land. ◊ Also three of that name who fought with the Curiatii; ◊ Also a famous Poet sirnamed Flaccus, born at Venusium, had in great favour with the Emperour Augustus, by the means of his Patron Mecænas: at his death he made Augustus his heir. The fruit of his sharp wit and quickness of judgment we have in those Poems which bear his name: I mean Horace's Odes, Satyrs and Epistles.

Horbatii, pop. Illyrici, The Crabats.

Horeb, Mons Arabiæ Petræ; Bibl.

Horesti, pop. Scotiæ, about Erksdale. Cambd.

Hortensia. The daughter of Hortensius, an eloquent Woman, who (when the Roman Matrons were taxed by the Triumviri to pay a great tribute, and no man daring to plead for them) pleaded the cause so eloquently, that for her sake a great part of the tribute was remitted.

Hortensius, ab horto, unde hortensis: uti sc. apud nos Gardiner. An excellent Orator of Rome; he was called the King of Causes, but most of all admired for his singular memory, by the help of which he could without putting pen to paper, deliver what he thought of in the very same words. For trial, once sitting all day long at an Outcry, he at night repeated over in order every thing that was bought and sold, together with the prices and buyers, without missing one particular.

Hōrus, Apollo, qui & Sol, Horus voc. ex eo quòd horæ 24, quibus dies noxque conficitur, & 4 tempora quibus annuus orbis impletur, horæ voc. Macr. unde & Horapollo dic. ἥρος fort. ab אוֹר Lux, vel à חרם Sol. V. The son of Isis and Osiris. ◊ Also a King of Assyria, Plin.

Hostāsius. A Prince of the Ravennates, who was banished by his people, because he was unfit for government.

Hostia. Propertius his Mistress, whom he courts under the name of Cinthia.

Hostilia. A town of Venice; Tac.

Hostilius. A valiant Roman, who for his valour in giving the first onset upon Fidena, was by Romulus honoured with a Crown of leaves; Dionys.

H ante U.

Humfredus. Duke of Glocester, a brave Warriour; murdered basely in Bury Abbey.

Hungari ab Hunnis dicti. The people of Hungary.

HUNGARIA, ferè continet Pannoniam utramque. ab Hunnis, qui & Avares, qu. Hungavaria dicta. The countrey of Hungary, divided by the river Danow (which runneth through it) into the hither and the farther: It is bounded towards the South with the river Savus: on the North it hath Poland and Russia; on the west Austria, Stiria & Moravia; on the East Transylvania. It was formerly divided into 73 counties, which now are but 54. Lower Hungary is most of it under the Turk; the Emperour is King of the rest.

Hunni, sive Huni, qui & Abares (vel Avares) dicti fuere. Ort. People which came out of Scythia into Europe, and dwelt in Hungary: this people in the time of Valentinian (an Chr. 376.) coursed almost throughout all Europe, and under the conduct of Atila did much harm in France and Italy; at length by the request of Pope Leo, they returned into Pannonia; from whom it was called Hungary.

Hunnum. Seaventhale; a town of Northumberland, Cambd.

Huntingtonia. Huntington, a Shire-town.

Huum. A town in the Low-countries, five leagues from Liege, called Huy.

Huya. The Holy Island, six miles from Berwick.

H ante Y.

Hyăcinthia, orum; n. pl. Ovid. A yearly festival among the Lacedemonians kept in the night, in honour of Hyacinthus whom Apollo slew with a Coit.

Hyăcinthus, i; m. ὑάκινθος. Malè Nann. Jacynthus scribi postulat, qui & nomen occasionem fabulæ dedisse ait, sc. ab ἰὰ viola & Cynthius Apollinis cognom. vel Cynthus mons Apollini sacer. A boy of Amyclæ beloved of Apollo and Zephyrus at one time: Apollo as he was at play unawares slew him with a Coit, and out of his blood that was spilt produced a flower of the same name, the Violet, writing upon it αι αι, i. e. Alas, alas! to testify his grief.

Hyădes, um; pl. f. stellæ 7. in capite Tauri, ὑάδες, ab ὗειν pluere, Cic. quòd & cùm oriuntur, & cùm occidunt, tempestates pluvias largosque imbres cient, Gell. unde Vir. pluvius, Hor. tristes, Claud. nimbosæ voc. Al. quòd in modum Y literæ sitæ sint, Eust. Al. quòd Atlantis 7 filiæ, cùm Hyantem fratrem unicum mortuum deflerent, in has stellas mutarentur; Ovid. Latini imperite suculas voc. Cic. qu. ab ὗς sus. The seven stars; the Poets feign them to be the daughters of Atlas and Æthra, whence they are also called Atlantides; the names of them are

Am-

Ambrosia, Eudora, Pasithoe, Coronis, Plexauris, Pytho and Tyche.

Hyăle, i. vitrea, splendida. The name of one of Diana her Nymphs, Ovid.

Hyampŏlis. A town of Phocis by Parnassus: Stat.

Hyantes, dict. ab Hyante rege, hinc Hyantim idem quod Bœotius. People of Bœotia.

Hyas, antis. Son to Atlas by Æthra, who was devoured of a Lion; from whom his sisters were called Hyades, say some. ◊ Also a governour of Bœotia, of whom the people were called Hyantes.

Hybanda. Sometime an Isle of Ionia, now joyned to the Continent: Plin.

Hybla, mons Siciliæ, thymi copiâ & apibus abundans, unà cum oppido ejusdem nominis. A City of Sicily, now called Avola, where is great store of Thyme and Bees, which is the cause why the honey there is so much commended by the Poets; hinc Hyblæus, adj.

Hydaspes, dict. ab Hydaspe antiquissimo Medorum rege. The name of two rivers of Asia. The one in Media, neer the City Susa; Vir. The other in India, neer the City Nysa, Luc.

Hydra, ὕδρα, ab ὕδωρ aqua, anguis in aqua vivens. A Monster with fifty heads, Vir. which Hercules overcame, who cutting off one head thereof, two did rise in the place.

Hydrochoüs, ὑδροχόος, i. Aquarius. One of the twelve signs in the Zodiack, commonly called Aquarius.

Hydruntum. The chief City of the Salentini, called Otranto, in the Kingdom of Naples.

Hydrus, Luc. ab ὕδωρ aqua. A river neer the City Otranto, and a hill that hangs over it; whence the City called Hydruntum, q. d. Water-town.

Hygeia; Mart. ὑγίεια, i. Salus, Æsculapii filia.

Hyginus. An acquaintance of Ovids, and keeper of the Library in the Palace; a great Writer; but most of his works are lost. ◊ Another in Trajan's time, who wrote De limitibus.

Hylactor, ŏris; m. ὑλάκτωρ, i. latrator, ab ὑλάω latro. One of Actæons dogs, Ovid.

Hylæa, regio Sarmatiæ. Val. Fl.

Hylæus, ὑλαῖος q. d. Sylvius. One of the Centaurs. ◊ A dogs name in Ovid. Ranger.

Hylas, æ; m. filius Theodamantis, quem Hercules rapuit. A Boy who waited on Hercules. Going once with a pitcher to fetch Hercules some water at the river Ascanius, he let fall his pitcher, and stooping for it fell into the water, whom Hercules (for he loved him well) went all the countreys over making sad moan for him to seek him.

Hylatæ, pop. Syriæ Cœles; Plin.

Hylax, ăcis; m. ab ὑλακλίω latro, ὕλαξ, latrator. The name of a dog from his barking. Virg.

Hyllus. The son of Hercules by Deianira, Ovid. who after his fathers death married Iole.

Hylonome. Wife to Cyllarus the Centaur; Ovid.

HYMEN, ēnis; & Hymenæus, i; m. in Acc. Hymenæon, Ovid. ὑμὴν & ὑμέναιος, Deus nuptiarum præses. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ὑμένος, i. à membrana, quæ claustrum virginitatis esse, & primo coitu rumpi putabatur. Al. volunt Liberi & Veneris filium fuisse, qui, quòd primus certas nuptias instituerit, meruit ut in virginalibus nuptiis per laudem cantaretur; Don. Al. virum fortem Atticâ fuisse, qui raptas à latronibus Virgines, parentibus intactas restituit, ideoque nuptiis ejus nomen invocari, tanquam defensoris virginitatis; Serv. Vel simpl. unde ὕμνος, ab ὕδω celebro: sign. enim & carmen nuptiale. Ab Æol. ὑμεναίειν una habitare, vel ὑμοεῖν una sentire, V. The god of marriage, son of Bacchus and Venus, or as others will have it, of Apollo and Calliope (or Urania, Catul. or Clio, so others) the first that instituted marriage, and therefore had the honour to be solemnly call'd upon at Virgins weddings.

Hymettus, mons Atticæ, apibus & optimi mellis copiâ abundans; unde Hymettia mella, Mart.

Hypæa. One of the three Islands called Stœchades; Plin.

Hypæpæ, arum; f. Ovid. A City of Lydia, dedicated to Venus, where are very beautiful women.

Hypălus, ventus sic dict. voce Arab. vel Ind. Favonio, quem Hypalum ibi vocant, Plin. A kind of West-wind, by which they sailed into the East-Indies; blowing at some certain times of the year. Al. scrib. Hippalus.

Hypănis, is; m. Ovid. A river of Poland, called Bog, which runs 200 miles from West to East, and falls into the Black Sea. ◊ Also the same as Hydaspes. Propert.

Hypătes: Sil. A river of Sicily.

Hyperborei; q. d. super i. ultra Boreæ flatum habitantes. scil. παρ' ὃν ὁ Βορέας πνεῖ. Vel ut ὑπὲρ notet superl. gradum, ὑπερβόρειος erit. Βορεώτατος Borealissimus, Str. People dwelling in the farthest parts of the North, under the Arctick Pole beyond the Riphæan Mountains. The inhabitants are honest plain-dealing people, living very long and happy. The countrey is very fertile, bringing fruit twice a year, and having a most pleasant air, in that it is beyond the blast of Boreas, whence it is named.

Hyperboreus, a, um; Vir. Northern, far North.

Hyperia, fons Peloponnesi in Messeniâ regione; Val. Fl.

Hyperides; qu. filius vel nepos Hyperi. One of the ten famous Orators of Athens, a rival of Demosthenes.

Hyperion; Solis epitheton, ὁ ὑπερέχων ἡμῶν. The Sun: inde Hyperionii currus, Val. Fl.

Hypermnestra; Ovid. One of Danaus fifty daughters, who saved her husband Lynceus alive.

Hypobarus. A river in India, on the banks whereof are amber-bearing trees; Plin.

Hypræ. A City of Flanders in the Low-coutries called Ypres.

Hypsa, & Hysipa, Sil. A river in Sicily.

Hypsæa. An infamous blind woman. Hor. also the mother of Medea.

Hypsicratea; Volater. The wife of Mithridates; she followed him in his flight, after he was beaten by Pompey, through all savage countries, in mans habit.

Hypsicrates. A famous Grammarian mentioned by Varro and Gellius.

HYPSIPYLE, es; i. altas portas habens. The daughter of Thoas, and Queen of Lemnos, she (when all the women in that Island slew all their male kindred) preserved her fathers life; for which cause she was banished from Lemnos, and afterward taken by Pirates, and sold to Lycurgus. Vid. Stat. Theb. 4. & 5. She had twins by Jason, whom she entertained in his passage to Colchos.

Hypsypylæa terra, Ovid. i. Lemnos insula, ab. Hypsipyle regina.

Hyrcania, dict. ab Hyrcana sylva, quæ Scythiæ subjacet: secundum varios Geographos varia his temporibus fortita est nomina. A very fruitful country of Asia, having on the North the Caspian sea; on the South Parthia, on the East Margiana; on the West Media. Here Panthers and Tigres breed. It was a province of Persia, now called Gurgian. B.

Hyrcanus, a, um; Hyrcani, Vir. The People of that country. Hyrcanum mare, Propert. The Caspian Sea, 600 miles from North to South, and 300 from East to West; commonly called mer de Bacu.

Hyreus. The father of Orion.

Hyrie, es; f. Ovid. A lake in Bœotia.

Hyrienses, pop. Isauriæ; Liv.

Hyrtacus. A Trojan, the father of Nisus, à quo Hyrtacides; Vir.

Hyspa, æ; Sil. A river of Sicily. Vid. Hypsa.

Hystaspes. Son to Darius King of Persia, by his wife Atossa; Herod.

Hyta. A port in Kent, not far from Dover, called Hyth.

---

I ante A.

IA, æ; f. Arnob. A younger daughter of Atlas.

Iacchus, i; m. tryfill. ἴακχος, ab ἰαχὴ clamor, id. qui & Bacchus: quòd Bacchæ, Liberi patris Orgia celebrantes, omnia inconditis clamoribus implerent. Ab יה contr. pro יהוה ducit Voss. A name of Bacchus: also Wine, of which he was the inventer. Vir.

Jacob; indecl. יעקב lat. supplantator, à עקב calx pedis; quòd fratrem Esavum ex utero exiens plantâ pedis correptum tenuerit. The son of Isaac, and Father of the twelve Tribes; who was afterward named Israel.

Jacōbus, i; m. Ἰάκωβος, hebr. יעקב James, the name of two Apostles: the one son of Zebedee, and brother of John; the other brother to Joses, and kinsman to our Saviour.

Jacobipolis. James town in Virginia, built by the English.

Jāder, n. tryfill. Luc. A river of Illyricum flowing into the Adriatick sea, called now Salona.

Jadera. A town by the river Jader, now called Zara.

Jah, indecl. יה, unum ex nominibus divinis, denotans essentiam; contr. ex יהוה.

Jalysos vel Jalysum, Plin. A town of Rhodes.

Iamblicus; ab heb. ימליך q. d. Basilius. A Pythagorean Philosopher, Scholar of Porphyry, of very considerable note; he lived in the time of Constantine the Great.

Jamna. The chief town of Minorca; now called Cittadella.

Jana,

Jana, fœm. à Janus. Janus Sol, Jana Luna; Var. unde & Diana, q. dea Jana.

Janasum, Mel. The chief City of Gallæcia in Spain, S. Jago, now called Compostella.

Janiculum, dict. à Jano conditore; vel quòd Janua esset Romanis in Hetruriam proficiscentibus. A Castle upon a hill at Rome. Ovid.

Janiculensis pons. One of the Bridges at Rome, now called Ponte Sisto.

Janiculus mons. One of the seven hills of Rome, now called Montono

Ianthe. A maiden of Crete, whom Iphis married. Ovid.

Janualii hymni, in Jani honorem facti.

Janualis, à Jano dict. ubi & positum fuit eius signum. A gate in Rome.

Januarius. i. mensis Jano sacer; var.

JANUS, i; m. (ā) ab eundo, Cic. qu. Eanus, Macr. quòd mundus semper eat, dum in orbem volvitur. Al. à janua, quòd januis præsit. θυρᾶιος θεὸς, Gl. Præsideo foribus cœli, Ovid. A χάος unde χάσκω, quòd fuerit omnium primus, cui primo supplicabant velut parenti, & à quo rerum omnium factum putabant initium. Pot. ab יין vinum, quòd fuerit vini repertor. idem scil. Noacho, unde & bifrons, quòd & ante & post diluvium vixerit. hinc & Itali Oenotrii dict. Est & Janus Sol. Macr. The most ancient king of Italy, among the Aborigines, that received Saturn when his son Jupiter had banished him from Crete, and gave him a part of his kingdom; Saturn taught him husbandry, and to coyn money of brass, which on one side had the picture of a ship, on the other the picture of Janus. It is reported of him, that he was the wisest of all kings, and knew things past and to come, therefore they pictured him with two faces: he was made a god after his death, and Numa built a temple unto him, which in the time of peace was shut, and in time of war open; whence Janus is called Patulcius and Clusius: others think that this Temple was built by Tatius and Romulus, at their joyning in league together; whence he was thought to have two faces, for the reference he had unto two kingdoms then to be united. Janus is thought by some to be the same that Noah, whence he might be said to have two faces, the one looking backward, the other forward; the one looking upon the world before the flood, the other on the World after the flood: and for this reason perhaps the ship on his coin in memory of the Ark. He is said to have come into Italy in the golden Age of the World (when there was no gold coyned) when men were just; he taught men to plant Vines, &c. and to offer sacrifices, and to live temperately. ◊ Also a place in Rome where Usurers met. Hor.

Iāpetus, i; m. ἰάπτω, ab ἰάπτω τὸ βάλλω, vel παρὰ τὸ ἰᾶσθαι, τὸ τιτᾶσθαι, Eust. quòd eo allegor. tignari sphæras cœlestes dicat. Sed est ab heb. יפת Japhet, Noachi filio, cui Europa in sortem cessit. Al. volunt eundem esse Japhet cum Jano. The son of Cœlum or Titan and Terra; and father of Prometheus.

Iāpis nobilis Ætolus, à quo ea pars Italiæ quæ Timavo fluvio irrigatur, Iapidia dicta est: unde lapidis arva Timavi, Vir. i. Illyrici.

Japonia. Japan in the East of Asia, a country consisting of three Islands, and containing 68 provinces or kingdoms.

Iāpygia, dict. à Iapyge Dædali filio; Apulia priùs sic dict. Serv. A country of Italy, called also Salentina, & Messapia, vulgò Terra d' Otranto. pop. Iapyges, Plin. & sing. Iapyx, Ovid.

Iapygium. A Promontory in that country called Capo di S. Maria.

Iapys. The name of a South-sayer and Musician in Virgil.

Iapyx, ygis; m. Hor. ventus, qui spirat ab Apuliâ, quæ priùs Iapygia dict. Serv. idem qui Caurus, Gell. Quî potest nam Caurus adversus Aquilonem spirat, Iapyx adversus Eurum; ut ipse ait. Erit ergo idem qui Zephyrus. In Acc. Iapygo. Hor. A kind of Westerly wind.

Iarbas, æ; m. Vir. The son of Jupiter, king of Getulia, and suitor to Dido; when he could not prevail with her, he waged War against the Carthaginians, who forced her to consent; which when she saw she could not avoid, she desired a time to appease the Ghost of Sychæus her former husband, in which time she killed her self.

Iasis, dict. à Jasio patre. Atalanta, daughter of Jasius.

Jasius; Ovid. Son of Abas king of the Argives, and Brother to Dardanus; Serv.

Jason, onis; m. ἰάσων, ab ἰάω ἰάσω, sive ἰάομαι sano, medeor. The son of Æson by Polymela; or (as others) by Alcimede. When his father dyed, he left his brother Pelias the kingdom till he came to age; but then Pelias set him upon an adventure to go to Colchos to fetch the golden fleece: he built the ship Argos, and went accompanied with a many noble men the flower of all Greece to Colchos; being arrived there, Medea the Kings daughter falling in love with him, taught him to tame the brasen-footed Bulls, and to cast the watching Dragon into a sleep, which he did, and carried away the golden fleece and Medea, and married her, and had two children by her; but afterward for love of Creüsa the king of Corinths daughter he turned her off.

Jasonium. A Promontory of Cappadocia, called S. Thomas.

Java. *A large Island in the East-*Indies 200 leagues in length, with nine kingdoms in it, whereof Bantam one. 'Tis very plentiful of spices. Here the Dutch have their new Batavia.

Jaurinum. A City of Hungary called Rab.

Jaxămătæ. People near Mœotis; Val. M.

Jaxtes; Claud. fl. Scythiæ sive Sogdianæ, qui & Jaxartes. Pop. Jaxartæ, vul. Turquestan, unde Turcæ profecti.

Jazyges, um; m. Ovid. Jazices, Val. Fl. pop. Sarmatiæ Europæ. Al. pop. Prussiæ, in regno Polonico. ◊ Jazyges Metanastæ, Ptol. People of upper Hungary, beyond the Danow.

I ante B.

Ibēri, Vir. hodiè Giorgiani dict. ◊ Also Spaniards.

Iberia, æ; f. sive ab Ibero rege, sive à fluvio. A country of Asia, called now Gurgistan, next to Armenia, where the Georgians live. ◊ Also Spain so called, Claud.

Iberni sive Uterini. People of Berchaven and Baltimore in Ireland.

Ibērus, Sil. Ebro, a river in Spain, that anciently divided it into two halves, the Hither and the Further Spain. ◊ A river of Iberia in Asia, which rises out of mount Caucasus; Plin.

Ibērus, a, um; Vir. Iberian, or Spanish.

Ibycus. The name of an amorous Poet of Rhegium; Cic. from whom the proverb, Ibyci grues: applied to some strange discovery of murther.

I ante C.

Icadistæ, sic dict. Epicurei, quoniam τὴν εἰκάδα, i. vicesimam diem cujusque mensis colebant, quâ Epicurus natus esse credebatur.

Icarius, prædo; Cic. lib. de Fato.

Icaria, vel Icăros, Plin. insula in Icario mari, ab Icaro Dædali filio; hod. Nicaria. ◊ Icarius, a, um, ex Icarus.

Icaris, idis; Ovid. & Icariotis, idis, Propert. patronym. f. quam poetæ accip. pro Penelope Icarii filia.

Icarium mare, dict. ab Icaro Dædali filio in eo submerso; pars maris Ægæi.

Icarius, ap. Tibul. Icarus. The son of Œbalus, who first taught the use of wine in Attica, where some Shepherds taking a cup too much, and finding themselves drowsy and crop-sick, thought he had poison'd them, and thereupon killed him, and flung him into a pit. Icarius had with him then a little bitch named Mœra, who going to his daughter Erigone, and pulling her by the coat, brought her to the dead body; which put her into such a passion, that she made away with her self, and the poor bitch pined away with grief. In the close of all, Mœra was turned into the Dog-star, Icarius into Bootes, and Erigone into the sign called Virgo; Hygin. ◊ Also the father of Penelope, whence she is called Icaris, and Icariotis.

Icarus. The son of Dædalus, who together with his father flying from Crete, through youthful wilfulness despised his fathers counsel, and flew higher than he should, and so melted the wax which held his winged feathers together, and he fell into the sea and was drowned. ◊ Also one of the Cyclade Islands; formerly called Macris & Dolyche & Icthyoessa.

Iccius portus. Vissent, Vitsan, or Whitsan port in France, three leagues off Calais. Dic. & Icius, & Itius.

Icĕlos, i; m. Ovid. i. similis. One of the sons of the God Somnus.

Iceni, Tac. Suffolk, Norfolk, Cambridge-shire, and Hunting donshire; or as some think Essex-men.

Ichnæ. A City of Macedony: hinc Themis Ichnæa, quam persequens Jupiter τοῦ ἴχνους, i. secundum vestigia, apud Ichnæos deprehendit.

Ichnusa, Sil. ab ἴχνος vestigium, quòd similitudinem refert humani vestigii. The Isle Sardinia.

Ichthyophăgi, ἰχθυοφάγοι, id est, pisces comedentes. People in the East of China; or (as Pliny has it) an Island of Arabia the happy, on the East-coast, so called from the peples living upon fish. they feed their very cattle with fish; their houses are made of whale-bones, and of shells ſhells of fiſhes. The ribs ſerve for rafters, and the jaws for portals. They knead the fleſh of them, which being dried in the Sun, is their bread.

Iciani. Ichborough or Thetford in Norfolk.

Icium promontorium. Blanchneſt in Picardy.

Icŏnium, Cic. The chief City of Lycaonia, in Aſia the leſs, now called Cogni.

Icŏſium, ab εἴκοσι viginti ; Iſid. A town of Mauritania-Cæſarienſis, built by twenty of Hercules companions.

Icumulorum aurifodinæ, Plin. vicus ſupra Vercellas, non procul, in Alpium radicibus.

Iculiſma, Auſ. Angouleſme in France.

I ante D.

Ida, vel Ide, es ; Ovid. dict. ab Ida regionis regina ; vel ut Didymus, Ἴδη, παρὰ τὸ ἰδεῖν πανταχόθεν. An high hill of Phrygia, three miles off Troy, famous for the judgment which Paris gave on Venus her ſide for the golden apple, againſt Pallas and Juno : Out of this hill iſſue fifteen rivers ; whence by Horat. it is ſo called Ida aquoſa. ◊ Eſt & Ida mons in Creta, ita dict. à Corybantibus ſive Dactylis Idæis : unde & magna Mater, Mater Idæa dic. Lucr. Hinc Idæus, a, um, adj. Vir.

Idæi Dactyli, filii Minervæ & Solis, vel (ut alii volunt) Saturni & Alciopes, & dicuntur aliàs Corybantes : ferrum ii primum adinvenerunt.

Idălium, Vir. A town of Cyprus, by the hill Idalus.

Idălus, mons Cypri, olim Veneri ſacer, unde illa dicta Idalia, ad cujus radices ſitum eſt Idalium Cypri oppidum, quod ab eventu nomen accepit ; nam cum oraculum Chalcenori datum eſſet, ut illic urbem conderet, ubi primùm orientem ſolem conſpicaretur, unus è comitibus qui fortè aſtabat, ad eum converſus, ἴδ' ἀνίσχει inquit, i. vide ſolem ; quo audito Chalcenor arripuit omen, civitatémque ibi ſtatuit, & ab eo nominavit. Idalius, a, um, adj. Vir.

Idas. The ſon of Aphareus, or Neptune, who having got ſwift horſes of his father, ſtole away the beautiful Marpeſſa the King of Ætolia's daughter ; Apollo meeting him in the way, would have taken her from him ; whereupon they had a ſcuffle ; but Jupiter decided the controverſie, by ſending Mercury to give the young Lady her choice of the two ; whereupon ſhe choſe Idas, fearing that Apollo would forſake her when ſhe grew old.

Idmon, ἰδμων, i. peritus. A ſooth-ſayer amongſt the Argonautæ, ſon to Apollo and Aſteria.

Idŏmĕneus. The ſon of Deucalion, a king of Creet, who came with the Greeks to Troy : In his return being in a ſtorm at ſea, he vowed that if he got ſafe home, he would offer in ſacrifice whatſoever he met firſt : It fell out his eldeſt ſon met him, whom he either did, or would have offered in ſacrifice ; whereupon his people expelled him the kingdom ; and then he ſayled into Italy, and built a city called Petilia, near Salentinum a Cape of Calabria.

Idubeda, Mel. A hill of Spain, that reacheth from the river Iberus quite to Portugal, and goes along by ſeveral names. ◊ Alſo a river that flows from this hill ; Plin.

Idūmæa & Idūme, es ; f. Luc. dict. ab Edom filio Eſau ; incolæ ejus fuerunt filii Edom & Philiſtæi. A country in Paleſtina, betwixt Arabia, Judæa and Egypt. Hinc Idumæus, a, um, adj. Mart.

Idūmānius, Black-water, a river in Eſſex ; Cambd.

Idya, mater Medeæ, Ciceroni, quam Ovid. ipſeam vocat.

I ante E.

Jĕbus, eadem quæ Salem & Jeruſalem, à Jebus filio Canaanis, condita, Hier.

JEHOVA, æ ; m. יְהוָה, ab יְהוָה eſſe ; nomen Dei ab eſſentiâ ſc. ὁ ὤν, ἡ ὁ ἦν, ἡ ὁ ἐρχόμενος, Apoc. 1. qui eſt יְהוָה, qui erat יָהָה, & qui futurus eſt, quod יְ Futuri nota indicat. Dic. hoc nomen τετραγράμματον, quatuor literarum ; & ἀνεκφώνητον, i. ineffabile ; vel quòd puncta vocalia propria non habeat, quibus efferatur, unde legitur, plerumque אֲדֹנָי Κύριος, int. אֱלֹהִים θεὸς, vel quòd, ex ſuperſtione Judaicâ, illud pronunciare nefas ſit ; vel quòd Græco ſermone exprimi nequeat ; quinquam ἰαὼ alicubi, ut memini, extulerint. Hinc contr. Jova, unde Lat. Jovis.

Jēna. A City and Univerſity of Thuringia. ◊ Alſo Cree fyrth in Scotland, in Galloway.

Jericho, untis ; f. vel ab יָרֵחַ Luna, ob figuram : vel à רֵיחַ odor, ob palmarum fragrantiam. A City in the tribe of Benjamin.

Iērne, es ; f. Claud. quæ & Juverna, Juv. à Saxon, ιτιη, i. occaſus, ob ſitum. Ireland.

Jĕrūsălem, Judææ Metropolis, v. Hieroſolyma.

JESUS, u ; m. (ē) ἰησοῦς, heb. יֵשׁוּעַ à יָשַׁע i. ſalvator, ſoſpitator, quòd ipſe ſalvum faceret populum ſuum à peccatis ipſorum, uti ait Angelus. Al. à gr. ἰάομαι, ἰήσομαι, medeor, perperàm, ſed bono ſenſu, quod & corporis & animæ medicus eſſet. In N. T. alii duo occurrunt hoc nomine, Joſhua ſc. & Jeſus cognom. Juſtus.

Iētas ; m. Sil. opp. Siciliæ. Pop. Jetini, Cic. Jetenſes, Plin.

Jēthras. A river of Myſia, riſing out of Mount Hæmus. Plin.

I ante G.

Igeni, Tac. People of Northumberland.

Igilgilium. A port-town in Africk, belonging to Algiers, now called Gigeri.

Igilium, inſ. maris Tyrrheni. Rutil.

Ignium regio. A large Iſland of South-America by the Straits of Magellan, called Terra del fuego.

Igurium, Cic. poſt Eugubium, urbs Umbriæ. pop. Iguvini & Iguini, Plin.

I ante L.

Ila. The river Wiſe in the North of Scotland, in Catneſs, Cambd. ◊ Alſo the Iſland Yle, one of the Æbudæ, quæ & Epidium.

Ilăpinaſtes, i. comeſſator, cognomen Jovis apud Cyprios, indè dict. quòd magnifico apparatu ſplendidiſque epulis, quas εἰλαπίνας vocant Græci, coleretur, Cœl. Rhod.

Ilerda, Luc. A City and Univerſity of Spain, in Catalonia : hod. Lerida, Hiſp. Lleida.

Ilergētes. People of Spain, about Ilerda.

Ilia. The daughter of Numitor, quæ & Rhea Sylvia voc.

Ilias. Homers Poeſie, ſo called becauſe it ſetteth down the wars of Troy, otherwiſe called Ilium, and the evils that fell out there ; whence the proverb, Ilias malorum, uſed to expreſs many and great misfortunes ◊ A woman of Troy.

Ilienſes, populus Sardiniæ ; Liv.

Iliŏne. Priams eldeſt daughter, Vir.

Iliŏnĕus, nomen Trojani, filii Phorbantis ; Serv.

Ilissus, dict. ab εἰλίσσω, propter ſinuoſos flexus ; Iliſſos, m. Stat. A river in Attica, dedicated to the Muſes.

Ilithyia, Hor. εἰλείθυια, ab יָלַד peperit ; Lat. Lucina, Dea parturientibus propitia. A name of Juno or Diana.

Ilium, & Ilion ; n. & Ilios ; f. Hor. urbs Phrygiæ minoris, ſive Troadis, à Dardano Jovis filio condita, ab Ilo vero rege ampliata, & Ilium nominata. The City Troy. Hinc Iliacus & Ilius, a, um ; i. Trojanus.

Ilĭbĕris. The City Elvire neer Granata in Spain ; alſo the City Collioure of Narbon. Pop. Iliberini. Plin.

Illurcis, urbs Hiſp. Tarrac. poſt Gracchuris à Graccho dicta ; Feſt.

Illyris ; f. Luc. Illyricum vel Illyrium. The country called Sclavonia, or Wendenland ; having on the North Pannonia ; on the Weſt, Iſtria ; on the Eaſt, Macedonia ; and on the South, the Adriatick ſea : It is divided mainly into two parts, Liburnia and Dalmatia. It hath ſeven Archbiſhops, whereof Spalato one, and 22 Biſhops.

Illyricus, a, um, Ovid. unde Illyrici incolæ, quos nomen habere ab Illyrio Polyphemi filio, Appianus ; quidam (inter quos eſt Euſtat.) ab Illyrio Cadmi filio eos denominatos aiunt.

Ilva, Vir. An Iſle of the Tyrrhen Sea over againſt Tuſcany. 'Tis 40 miles compaſs, has five pariſhes in it, beſide two ports, one the Spaniards, Porto longone ; the other the great Duke's, Porto ferraro. There is great plenty of iron there. Pop. Ilvates, Liv.

Ilus, Trojanorum rex 4. filius Trois regis Trojanorum & Callirrhoes ; pater Laomedontis ; Trojam reſtauravit, & de nomine ſuo Ilium nominavit. When Minerva's Temple was on fire, he ran in haſte and caught the Palladium, and ſaved it from burning ; but he was ſtrucken blind for his labour, becauſe it was not lawful for it to be ſeen by mortal eyes ; but after, for mercy's ſake, the gods gave him his ſight again : hinc Ilias Trojanus ; hinc etiam Iliæ Ili proneptis, & Priami filia, & Ilioneus Trojanus filius Phorbantis. ◊ Alſo the name of Aſcanius, ſon to Æneas.

I ante M.

Imăchărenſes, Cic. vel Hycarenſes. People of Hycara, or (ut Cluv.) Traina, a town in Sicily.

Imaïs. A mountain which parts India from Scythia, and cuts Scythia into two parts, whereof one is called Scythia within Imaus; the other Scythia without Imaus.

Imbārus, portio montis Tauri; Plin.

Imbrāsus, Vir. A river of Samos. Hinc Imbrasides, Vir.

Imbros, f. Plin. An Isle near Thrace, dedicated to Mercury; It abounds with hares. Hinc Imbria terra, Ovid.

Imola. A City in Italy, sometime called Forum Cornelii.

I ante N.

Inachus, primus Argivorum rex, qui Inacho fluvio (Planitza nunc) nomen dedit, à quo Argivi ipsi Inachidæ appellati sunt, tota Peloponnesus Inachia dicta est: est & Inachium oppidum Peloponnesi; hinc etiam deducitur Inachi patronymicum f. Io. ◊ It. fl. Acarnaniæ, Ovid. unde Inachius, a, um; Id.

Inārime, es; f. Virg. quæ Ἀρίμη Hom. ubi quod scriptum sit in Ἀρίμοις, i. in Arimis, conjunctis vocibus Vir. dixit Inarime. Hinc Ænaria à statione navium Æneæ, Homero Inarime dicta, Græcis Pithecusa; Plin. 3. 6. sc. quòd πίθηκος παρὰ τοῖς τυφλοῖς ἀρίμοις καλεῖσθαι dicat Str. Certe simiæ Tyrrhenos ἀρίμους vocasse non liquet: fort. ὄφιμους vocarint, i. enares, unde fort. & hæc inf. Enaria, quòd sint simæ sive pressi naribus. An Island of Campania in Italy, in the Bay of Puteoli (by Homer called Arima, ἀρίμη, now Ischia and Ænaria;) It is eighteen miles from Naples. In this country was an hill, which being shaken with an Earthquake made an Isle called now Prochyta.

Incibilis; Liv. Indibilis; Anton. opp. Hisp. Tarracon. in regno Valentiæ, hod. Trasguera, non Chelva.

Inculisma; Ausl. A City of France called Angoulesme, a Bishops See, under the Archbishop of Bourdeaux, and a Dutchy. Dic. & Engolisma.

Indi; pl. m. The Indians.

INDIA (Orientalis scil.) regio Asiæ ab Indo flumine nomen habens; hanc Ganges dividit in Citeriorem intra Gangem, & Ulteriorem extra Gangem. The East-Indies, a large country of Asia; called by the natives Indostan. It is bounded on the East with the kingdom of China, on the North with Tartary, on the West with Persia, and on the South, with the Indian-Sea. The North part of it is under the great Mogol, containing 37 kingdoms or large Provinces. In the other parts, which are well-near two Peninsulæ; The one within Ganges, where there are the kingdoms of Decan, Golconda, Malabar: The other without Ganges, where there are the kingdoms of Pegu, Siam and Cochinchin, and this is called Aurea Chersonesus. There are besides several Islands belong to the Indies; as Java, Ceylan, Sumatra, the Molucca's &c.

Indicus, a, um; adj. Indian. ◊ Indicum; Plin. 35. 6. A kind of colour brought from the Indies, Indico.

Indigētes. Dii Vir. sic dicti, vel quòd nullius rei indigeant; vel quòd nos eorum indigeamus; Serv. vel ab ant. indu pro in (quomodo dic. Indigena) & ago; qui in certo aliquo loco agunt, ut sint dii topici, i. locales sive patrii, θεοὶ πατρῷοι ἢ ἐγχώριοι. Vel si sint dii ex hominibus facti qui in alios agantes; Serv. Vel ab indigito, i. invoco, ut usus Macr. quòd ab indu & cito, i. voco; utpote qui jam in numerum deorum relati, una cum cæteris diis invocantur. Gods made of men, Demigods. ◊ Curetas vocat Arnob. indigites Samothracios. Hui Steph. Kυρῆτες, vett. gl. ◊ It. pop. Hisp. in Catalaunia; Plin.

Indus; Ovid. qui thuriferum voc. A noble river in the East, which rising out of that part of Taurus, which is called Paropamissus, and inclosing India on the West, falleth into the Indian Sea.

Industria, opp. Italiæ Cispadanæ; Plin.

Infernates, pop. Italiæ, qui mare inferum accolunt, ut Supernates, qui superum: Plin.

Inferum mare; Plin. id. quod Tyrrhenum sive Tuscum.

Ingævones, pop. Germaniæ, in Saxonia; Plin.

Inginum; Sil. urbs Umbriæ, hod. Gubbio. Vid. Eugubium.

Ingolstādium, vulg. Ingolstadt, i. Anglorum urbs. A strong City and University of Bavaria on the farther bank of the Danow, called by the Poet Rutilius, Lycæum Boium.

Inguini, pop. Umbriæ, quorum urbs Inguinum, aut Eugubium; Plin.

Innernium. A town of Murray in the North of Scotland, called Innernes.

Ino, Inūs; f. The daughter of Cadmus king of Thebes, and Wife of Athamas, who (seeing her husband mad and her son Learchus slain) threw her self into the sea; whereupon she was called afterward a goddess of the sea, by the Græcians Λευκοθέα, Leucothea; and by the Lat. Matuta. Dic. etiam Byne, à βυθὸς & δύνω, quòd in profundum maris se mergat; Etymol.

Insubres, pop. Galliæ Transpadanæ.

Insubria, Liv. The country of that people, called the State of Milan.

Insulæ. A City of Flanders, called by the French Lille, who lately made themselves masters of it.

Intemelium, urbs Liguriæ; Cic. pop. Intemeliii; Liv.

Interamna, dict. quòd inter duos amnes constituta sit. A City in Umbria, called Terani. ◊ Another, a town of the Volsci, neer Samnium; Liv. ◊ Pop. Interamnates; Cic.

Interamnia, urbs in Apruntio, hod. Teramo.

Interdūca, idem quod Domiduca; Juno sic dicta, nubentium præses, quòd veteri ritu sponsas ad sponsos ducere primâ nocte consueverat.

Inutrium. Mittenwald. opp. olim Vindelicæ, nunc pagus Bavariæ.

Inui castrum; Vir. opp. Hetruriæ.

I ante O.

IO, Ūs; f. The daughter of Inachus, whom Jupiter loved, and lest his wife Juno should know it, he turned Io into an Heifer: jealous Juno suspected it, and begged the Heifer of her husband, and set Argus, (one that had an hundred eyes) to keep her: Jupiter could not refrain, but sent Mercury to kill Argus: Juno in revenge sent a Gad-Bee that stung her, and made her mad, so that she ran to Egypt, where her old form came to her again, and she was married to Osiris; after her death, the Egyptians deified and worshiped her by the name of Isis. The occasion of the Poets fiction concerning Io, whom they fained to be turned into a Cow, was this: Io being with child by a Phœnician mariner, and fearing her fathers displeasure, went with the Phœnicians into Egypt in a ship which had a painted Bull: vid. Nat. Com.

Job; heb. אִיּוֹב, i. exosus vel patiens inimicitiam. A Holy man, whose story is set down at large in the Book called by his name.

Jocasta. The daughter of Creon King of Thebes, mother of Œdipus, and wife of Laius, who married her son after her husbands death, not knowing it; and by him had Eteocles and Polynices, which slew one another, and she slew her self: Stat.

Johannes, is; m. Ἰωάννης. ab heb. יוֹחָנָן i. Domini gratia. John; two eminent persons in the New Testament of that name, the Baptist and the Evangelist.

Iōlāus. The son of Iphiclus, which helped Hercules to kill the Serpent Hydra, by searing up the wounds with an hot Iron, lest more heads should spring out; and for this cause, when he came to old age, by Hercules his prayers he was restored to youth: Ovid. after the death of Hercules, Iolaus with his people went into Sardinia: whence the inhabitants of Sardinia are called Iolenses.

Iolcos, i; f. Luc. opp. Thessaliæ ad sinum Pagasicum; hinc Iolciacus, a, um; Ovid.

Iōle, es; f. The daughter of Eurytus king of Œchalia, whom Hercules loved so dearly, that he served her in womans apparel; afterwards he slew her father, and carried her away, giving her in marriage to his son Hyllus: Ovid.

Ion. A Greek Poet and Philosopher.

Jonas, æ; m. יוֹנָה i. columba. The Prophet Jonas.

Jonathan, anis; m. i. Dominus dedit. The son of King Saul, Davids dear friend.

Iōnes, um; m. Claud. ab יון patre Græcorum Javane dict. People of Ionia.

Iōnia; Ovid. A country of the lesser Asia, situated between Caria and Æolis, inhabited by a Colony from Greece; it is now called Sarchan. The chief City was once Ephesus, now Smyrna. Hinc Ionicus, a, um; Mart. Pro mollis & effœminatus, Plaut.

Iōnium mare; Vir. Ionium undis vocat Luc. nomen a. habet ab Ionio Dyrrhachii filio, quem quum Hercules imprudenter occidisset, in mare projecit, ut memoriam ejus propagaret; Did. Solinus ab Ionia extremâ Calabriæ regiunculâ dictum vult; Lycophron ab Inachi filia (quæ Io dicta est;) alii ab Ionum naufragio. A part of the Mediterranean sea, which reaches as far as from Sicily to the Morea, and wastes the coast of Greece.

Iōpas, rex Afrorum, unus ex procis Didonis. An excellent Musician; Vir.

Joppe, i. pulchritudo aut decor, יָפוֹ A Sea-town of Palestine, now called Jaffa.

Jordānes יַרְדֵּן. The river Jordan in the Holy Land, rising from two springs, called Jor and Dan, at the root of mount Libanus: Hier. It runs Southward into the

the lake of Genezareth, and thence at last loseth it self in the Dead Sea.

Jornandes. An Historian, who hath written the history of the Gothi.

Ios. An Isle in the sea Myrtoum, where Homer was buried; Plin.

Josaphat, i. Dominus judicat. A King of Juda; Son of Asa.

Josedum, Cæs. opp. Celtarum, vulg. Corbeil.

Joseph, i. addet. The son of Jacob by Rachel. Also one of Arimathea, who came to England, and there preached the Gospel: Beda.

Josephus. A Jew, a worthy Historian, who wrote of the Antiquities and destruction of his own country and people; and hath given fair testimony to Christ.

Jospica, vel potius Lopsica; Plin. A town in the coast of Liburnia.

Josua, æ; m. i. salvator. The son of Nun, Moses his servant, and afterward his successor, who brought the children of Israel into the land of Canaan.

Jovianus Pontanus. A Poet that wrote much in prose and verse.

Jovinâni, qui & Jovii. A Company of Souldiers so called from Jovius a surname assumed by Diocletian. Pomp. Læt.

Jovinianus. A Writer, who preferred marriage before virginity, and was answered by S. Jerom.

Jovis, Gen. à Jupiter, à Jova, contr. pro Jehova = quod est nomen veri Dei apud Hebr. vel fort. ut à βους bos bovis; ita à Ζευς q. d. Jos Jovis.

Jovis fons in Dodone, qui meridie semper deficit; Plin.

I ante P.

Iphianassa, Iphinoe, & Lysippe. The daughters of Proetus, who comparing with Juno for beauty, were by her stricken with madness: They were after cured by Melampus, to whom Iphianassa, as a reward, was given to marriage. ◊ Also the same as Iphigenia, Agamemnons daughter; Lucr.

Iphiclus, sive Iphicles, ιφικλης, i. valde honoratus. The son of Amphitryon and Alcmena, born with Hercules at one birth; as they two were lying in one cradle, two Serpents came, which frighted Iphiclus so that he fell out of the cradle, but Hercules took in each hand one of them and slew them.

Iphicrates, ιφικρατης, i. fortiter imperans. A military man of Athens, famous for conduct and warlike skill, Æmil. Prob.

Iphidamas, ιφιδαμας, i. fortiter domans. The son of Antenor, slain by Agamemnon in the Trojan war.

Iphigenia, ιφιγενια; genita fortis. The daughter of Agamemnon and Clytæmnestra; when her father had by chance slain a stag of Diana's, she in revenge stops the passage of the Greek fleet with contrary winds; and the Oracle told them that Diana would not be appeased, unless some of Agamemnon his blood were sacrificed: Ulysses got the Virgin away from her mother by craft: but when she was to be sacrificed at Aulis, Diana pitied her, and put an Hart in her stead, carrying her away into Taurica to be a priest of hers, and to sacrifice, which was done always with many blood; her brother Orestes coming thither should have been sacrificed, but that she knew him, and preserved his life. He a while after stole away his sister and Diana's Image, and went into Italy with them.

Iphimedia, i. ardua ac difficilia struens. The wife of Alocus, who being ravished by Neptune, proved the mother of two Gyants, Orus and Ephialtes, which grew every month nine fingers in length.

Ipinous ιπινους, ab ιπι & νους, qui magna sapit. One of the Centaurs; Ovid.

IPHIS, ιφις i. fortis. A maid of Creet, the daughter of Lygdus and Telethusa: her father going a great journey abroad, left his wife with child of this Iphis, and gave her charge, That if she brought him a girl, she should destroy it, & cast it away: she was brought to bed of a wench, and knew not how to do: to make the girl away, was a sin against nature; and to break her husbands command she durst not; therefore she was in a strait: at length she devised to tell him it was a son, and caused it to go in boys clothes, till she grew marriagable: he thinking his daughter had been a son, was to marry her to a Lady: she fearing now she should be discovered, prayed to Isis for help, who changed her into a man on the very wedding day, Ovid. Met. 9. ◊ Also a fair boy that hanged himself, because he could not win the love of Anaxarete; and she afterward for her hard-heartedness was turned into a stone; Ovid. Met. 14.

Iphitus, filius Praxonidis, Olympicum certamen instauravit in honorem Herculis, & ut singulis quadriennii exactis repeteretur, instituit: unde & temporis per Olympiades, i. quatuor annos supputandi ratio cœpta. ◊ Also the name of a Trojan. Virg.

I ante R.

Irenæus. An ancient Father in the year of Christ 179. Bishop of Lions in France.

Irene, es; f. ειρηνη, i. pax. The mother of Constantine the Seventh, with whom she reigned nine years. Afterwards being turned out of the government by her son, she by a plot caught him, pull'd out his eyes, and threw him into a prison, where he died in the year 798.

Iria, opp. Liguriæ; Plin.

Iria Flavia. A town of Tarracon in Spain.

Iris, Idis; f. ειρις, i. nuncia, quòd pluviem denunciet; Thaumantis filia, propter admirationem, quam parit. Juno her messenger. The Rainbow, which foretels a shortly ensuing shower. ◊ Also a river of the lesser Asia, which runs into the Euxin sea; Val. Fl.

Irpini, pop. Samnitum. dict. ab Irpo quo nomine Samnites lupum appellant; sive quòd lupum ducem sequuti sedes suas ibi delegerunt, ut Fest. tradit; sive quòd more luporum ex rapto viverent, vid. Hirpini. ◊ It. Irpinus, mons in Sabinis; Schol. Juv.

Irus, Phœnix, Tyri rex; Tert.

Irus. A beggerly fellow of Ithaca, that attended on the wooers of Penelope, called by his true name Arnæus. Ulysses at his return from Troy, killed him with his fist: v. Hom. 18. Odyss. His extream poverty went into a proverb. Irus & est subito, qui modo Crœsus erat; Ovid.

I ante S.

Isaac, sive Isacus, i; m. יצחק; risus, quòd mater risu acceperet promissum. Isaac the son of Abraham by Sarah.

Isaca, qui & Isca. The river Ex by Excester.

Isaus; Juv. An Assyrian Rhetorician.

Isaias, æ; m. A noble Prophet, who clearly foretells all the passages of Christ's life and death, and the mysteries of the Gospel-state: He was put to death in Manasses time, being sawed in two: Epiph.

Isamnium. The Promontory Portmuck in Ireland; Merc. S. Johns foreland, Cambd.

Isâpis; m. Lucan. A river of Umbria by Urbinum, that runs into Isaurus.

Isara; Lucan. A river that rises in Savoy, runs by Grenoble in France, and at last falls into the Roan.

Isauria. A country of lesser Asia, on the Southside of Galatia, joyning to Pisidia, with a City called Isaura, which was afterwards called Claudiopolis: Pop. Isauri; Claud. Hinc P. Servilius Isauricus dictus, ob Isauriam devictam.

Isaurus; Luc. fl. Umbriæ, ex Apennino in mare Adriaticum fluens.

Isca Damnoniorum. Excester, so called from the river Ex, in Latin Isca; a city of Devon-shire, and a Bishops See.

Isca Legio 2 Augusta. Caer Lheon in Monmouthshire.

Isca, sive Osca, fl. The river Usk or Wisk in Monmouthshire.

Ischalis. The town of Ilchester in Somersetshire; Camb.

Ischomache, es; f. i. pugnam dirimens. The wife of Pirithous, otherwise called Hippodamia; who was the occasion of the fight betwixt the Lapithæ and Centaurs.

Iscia, inf. è regione Velix, al. Oenotri dicta; Plin.

Isiaci. The Priests of Isis in Egyt.

Isidorus. An Author quoted by Pliny. ◊ Isidorus Peluseota, cujus Epistolæ extant. ◊ Isidorus Hispalensis, qui scripsit Originum libros.

Isigonus Nicæensis; Gell. 9. 4. An ancient writer.

Isis, Idis; f. The daughter of the river Inachus: an Egyptian Goddess; vide ◌. ab, אשה mulier. Hinc Isiacus, a, um; adj.

Ismael. The son of Abraham by the handmaid Hagar. ◊ Ismaelitæ pop.

Ismara; f. Vir. A City of Thrace.

Ismarus; m. plur. Ismara; n. A hill in Thrace, where Orpheus dwelt, near the river Hebrus. Inde Ismarius, a, um; Ovid. id est, Thracius.

Ismene, es, intelligens. The daughter of Œdipus, espoused to a young man of Cyrrha, but he was slain before the marriage by Tydeus. Stat.

Ismenias. The name of a Fidler of Thebes; when Antisthenes heard one commend Ismenias, that he was a skilful Piper, Then be it a knave, quoth he, for if he were an honest man, he would never be a Fidler. Plut.

Ismenius, dictus Apollo, ab Ismenio colle Thebano, ubi Templum habuit; vel ισ μενω, quòd multiscius.

Ismenus, fl. Bœotiæ, qui Thebas alluit uit: Ismarus, Ovid. hinc Ismenius, a, um; Id. i. Thebanus & Ismenides, mulieres Thebanæ.

Isocrates, æmgrates, i. æquè potens. An Orator of Athens, out of whose school came the chiefest Orators of Greece: he used not to pronounce his Orations, both by reason of his imperfection in the delivery, and because he knew his eloquence was envyed. He wrote sundry things which are usual amongst us: the masterpiece of his eloquence is his Panegyrick, which he was fifteen years about.

Israël, elis; m. ישראל i. princeps apud Deum. Jacob sic cognom. deinde de omnibus ejus posteris dict. Hinc Israelita, æ; m. & Israelitica, æ, um.

Issa. An Isle in the Adriatick Sea, by Liburnia; now called Lissa. § Also a name of a lap-dog in Martial.

Isicus Sinus. A gulf in the Sea neer Issus.

Issus. The utmost City of Cilicia, after called Nicopolis, from Darius first defeat here by Alexander. Curt.

Ister, tri; m. Ovid. The greatest river of Germany, called the Danow; it runs into the Black-Sea.

Isthavones, pop. Germ. vulgò Westfalen.

Isthmia. Solemn Games kept every fifth year in Greece, in honour of Neptune.

Isthmus, i; m. Luc. A neck of land between two seas, as that at Corinth, which joyns the Morea to the main land, &c.

Isthmiacus, a, um; Claud. Belonging to some such place.

Istria. A country now in Italy, bordering on Illyricum, by the Dutch called Histereich, so called from the river Ister, under the dominion of Venice: the people called Istri; who were descended, as is thought, from the Colchians.

Istropolis: Plin. A City of Thrace, not far from the mouth of the river Ister.

Isura: Plin. An Isle in the Arabick Gulf.

Isurium. Aldborough in Yorkshire, Cambd. or Borough-bridg: B.

I ante T.

ITALIA; dict. ab Italo Siculorum rege, qui agriculturam Italos docuit: vel ἀπὸ τοῦ ; quod olim Græci tauros ita vocarent, Var. & Col. à quorum multitudine & pulchritudine, & forte vitulorum Italicus dixerunt: Var. Italy, the most famous country of Europe, the seat once of the Roman Empire. It is parted from Germany and France by the Alpes. The rest of it is inviron'd with the Sea, on the upper side with the Adriatick, in the lower with the Tyrrhene. At the foot of it is Sicily, divided with a narrow Sea. It went of old by several names, Ausonia, Hesperia, Œnotria, Jamicula, Saturnia from his planting there, and from his hiding there Latium. The North part of it under the Alpes, was formerly called Gallia Cisalpina, which was again subdivided into Cispadana and Transpadana. The South part is through the whole length of it bulwarked by a continued ridg of Hills called the Apennine. It hath 300 Bishopricks in it. It is shared out into many principalities: some of which belong to the Pope, to the King of Spain, (as Naples and Milan) to the Duke of Savoy (as Piemont) and to the great Duke of Tuscany; others to the States of Venice and Genoa, besides several particular Princes, as the Dukes of Modena, Mantua, Parma, &c. Nor do the Emperour and the Christian King wholly go without their share. It lies in the shape of a Boot.

Itălus, a, um; primit. com. Vir. Italian, belonging to Italy.

Italica, urbs Hisp. Bæt. à Scipione Africano condita; patria Silii poetæ, item trium Imp. Traiani, Adriani & Theodosii senioris; hod. Sevils la vieja, al. Alcala del Rio.

Itargis, Germaniæ fluvius; Ovid.

Ithăca, æ; Vir. & Ithăce, es; f. Ovid. A rough craggy Island in the Ionian Sea, 25 miles in compass, of which Ulysses was Lord; 'tis now called Isola del Compare. No horses live here. Hence Ithacus, a, um; Vir. & Ithacensis, e, um; or Ithacesia conjux, Poet. i. Penelope.

Ithōme, es; f. Stat. The Castle of the City Messenia, seated on a hill.

Ithyphallus; cogn. Priapi; Col. unde carmen Ithyphallicum dictum.

Itonus; Luc. King of Thessaly, and son of Deucalion, who first found out the way of melting mettle and coining money.

Itona. The river Eden in Cumberland that runs by Carlile. § Itonæ ætuarium; Solwey frith.

Ituræa, quæ & Trachonitis, Palæstinæ regio. Ituræi, pop. Cic. Good Archers, whence their Bows and Arrows are commended; Vir. & Luc.

Ituricenses; pop. Hisp. Tarrac. Plin.

Iturissa, Vasconum urbs in Hispania.

Ityhus; Catul. The son of Zethus and Aëdon: his mother slew him in the night, thinking he had been Amphions son, whose fruitfulness Aëdon envied, because Amphions wife had six sons; who finding her mistake next morning, pined away with grief, and was turned into a Nightingale.

Ityræus, a, um: Vir. i. Parthicus ab Ityra, urbe Parthiæ: nisi idem sit quod Itureus.

Ityx, The son of Tereus and Progne, who was turned into a Pheasant. Ovid.

J ante U.

Juba. A King of Mauritania, who in the civil wars was on Pompeys side; he overthrew Curio, and after Pompey was overcome he joyned himself with Scipio; but they being overthrown by Cæsar, rather then he would be made the master of Cæsars scorn and triumph, Petreius and he running each at other, slew themselves. § Another, the son of the former, an excellent scholar, who wrote several things, and was preferr'd by Augustus. § Also a Latin Grammarian, quoted by Prisician.

Juda, יהודה i. confessio. One of the twelve Tribes, the largest of them, by which means it came to pass, that the whole country and people took their names from it, the one to be called Judæa, the other Judæi.

Judæa. At large it is taken for the whole country of Palestine or land of Canaan, called by the Jews the land of Promise, and by Christians the Holy Land; as that part of Syria, which was inhabited by the Jews of the twelve Tribes: as first under one King, after by revolt of the ten tribes under two. Jerusalem the Royal City of the Kings of Juda, and Samaria of the Kings of Israel. More strictly 'tis only that part of the country, which the two tribes of Juda and Benjamin inhabited; Jewry.

Judæi, qui & Hebræi & Israelitæ. Jews, People of Judæa or Palæstina.

Judæus, a, um; Ovid. A Jew.

Judăicus, a, um; Juven. Jewish, or of the Jews.

Judas. The name of divers men. One of the twelve Patriarchs. One of the twelve Apostles, who betrayed and sold his Master.

Judith. A brave woman, a Jewess, who cut off Holofernes head; of whose exploits the Book bearing her name was written.

Juellus. A river in Somersetshire, giving name to Juelcester.

Ivernis. The chief town of the county of Desmond in Ireland, called Dunkeran. Cambd. or Donekyne.

Jugarius, vicus Romæ dictus, quia ibi Junonis Jugæ ara erat, quam putabant matrimonia conjungere.

Juguntinus, vel Jugatinus; deus qui jugo præesse putabatur.

Jugurtha. A king of Numidia, a rebel against the Romans, that was taken by Sylla, and led in triumph by Marius. See his life described at large by Salust, who is therefore called Jugurthinæ conditor historiæ.

Juhonum; Tac. A town of the Low countries, betwixt Liege and Namur, called Hoye.

Julia. The daughter of Augustus, who for her wantonness was banished by her father. Item, Julia gens dict. ab Iulo Ascanii filio. § Also a country of lower Germany, under the Duke of Newburg, called in French Juliers, in Dutch Gulick. It is it self a Dukedom, the chief town Juliacum; and the Dutchy Juliacensis ducatus.

Julia Cæsarea. The City Tenez in Africk, belonging to Algier. It was built by Juba, and so called in honour of Julius Cæsar. § Several towns of Spain went by the name of Julia; as Julia Fama, Julia felicitas, Julia contributa, Julia restituta, &c. Plin.

Juliacum. Gulick in Germany.

Julianus. The name of divers men; one whereof surnamed the Apostate, Emperor of Rome, in the wars against the Persians, receiving a deadly wound, threw a handful of his blood into the air, and cried Vicisti, Galilæe; for so he termed Christ. He was a fine scholar, but was a bitter enemy to Christianity, and a severe persecutor of Christians. Gregory Nazianzen has writ an Invective Oration upon him, wherein he sets him forth in his colours.

Juliobona. The town Honfleur in France.

Juliobrica. The town Logronno in Spain.

Jussomagus. The city Angiers of the country of Lyons in France.

Julis. A city in the Isle of Cea the country of Simonides; by their laws they were to kill every one that was above threescore years old, that there might be sustenance sufficient for the younger sort.

Julium Carnicum. The City Goritia of Austria, betwixt Noricum and Italy; or as others, Zuglio.

Julius

Julium forum, & Julium castrũ. Towns of Bætica in Spain.

Julius; Juliorum nomen, ab Iulo Ascanii vel Æneæ filio tractum putatur. The name of divers worthy men; Julius Cæsar, the first Emperor of Rome. ✠ Also the month before called Quinctilis, so named in honour of Julius Cæsar, who was born this month.

Julus, sic dict. à prima barbæ lanugine, quæ Græc. Ἰοὺς dicitur. The name of Ascanius, the son of Æneas; Vir.

Junius, à Junone. The name of divers Romans.

Junius mensis, vel à junioribus, ut Maius à Majoribus, qu. juvenum mensis, vel per syncop. pro Junonium: ita Fest. qu. Junonis mensis. vel à jungendo quòd Sabini cum Romanis coaluerint; Ovid The month June.

Juno, à juvando dict. Cic. de Nat. Deor. alii, à janua deductum putant, quòd naiciturisjanuam pandit: gr. Ἥρα, i. aëris Dea: Jovis, i. ætheris conjux. A goddess, the daughter of Saturn and Ops, the sister and wife of Jupiter; she is otherwise called Lucina, quia partubus; pronuba, quia nuptiis præest; Curetis, quia curru utitur.

Junonia, Plin. One of the Fortunate Isles, called Madera, or of the Canaries (as others) called Forteventura.

Junonigena, id est, à Junone natus. A name of Vulcan.

Junonis promontorium, Plin. A point of land in Andaluzia, called Cabo Trafalgar. ✠ Ir. promont. Peloponnesi, Liv.

Junonis sacrum seu templum, Cic. prom. Melitæ inf. cum ædiculâ in montis vertice; vulg. S. Maria di Corte.

Junonius, a, um. Of Juno. ✠ Avis Junonia, Ovid. The Peacock.

S. Ivonis. S. Ives.

JUPITER, (ũ) Jovis; m. à gr. Ζεὺ πατηρ, quommodo cum invocare soliti. Al. qu. juvans pater, Cic. vel contr. ex Jovis & Pater, ut Marspiter Diespiter; Gell. Al. qu. Jut-pater, ab heb. יהוה The soveraign God of the Heathens, son of Saturn and Ops; he was born in the Island of Creet, at the same birth with Juno, and was brought up in the Mount Ida by stealth, because his father would have devoured him: he married Juno, expelled his father out of his kingdom, and divided the kingdom of the World with his brethren; to Pluto he gave the rule of Hell; to Neptune the Sea; and to himself Heaven and Earth: Var. saith, there were three hundred of that name. By Poets it is taken for the Air, and for rain, Vir. ✠ Sub Jove frigido, Hor. In the cold Air. Jovis armiger, Sil. volucer, Luc. The Eagle, the Queen of Birds, Jove's Armour-bearer, that carries his thunderbolts. ✠ Under several shapes he plaid many wanton pranks; that according to poetick fiction he fild heaven with his natural children.

Jura, Cæs. A great hill of France, called Mont. S. Claude, which divideth Burgoyn from Switzerland Northward it reacheth to the Rhine, and Southward as far as Geneva. The Dutch and Switzers give it several names.

Justinianus. A Roman Emperor, that gathered the sum of the Civil law, reducing it into one body called the Code.

Justinopolis, The chief city of Istria, called Capo d'Istria, and belongs to Venice.

Justinus, dict. à Justus. An Historian that gathered the large history which Trogus Pompeius wrote into a little Epitome: He lived in the time of Antoninus Pius; in whose time also flourished Justin Martyr, a Father of the Church.

Justus. The name of divers men.

Juturna, à juvando dict. The daughter of Daunus, and sister of Turnus, whom Jupiter for the reward of her maiden-head, made immortal, and changed her into a Nymph of the river Numicius. ✠ Also a small fountain and lake of Latium, neer the river Numicius; Val. M. so called from the Nymph, now called Treglio; Gyrald.

Juvenalis; à juvenis, q. d. juvenilis. A Satyrical Poet; in the time of Domitian the Emperor; who for touching at Paris a Comedian and favourite, was sent Captain of a Company into Egypt, whence he is called Irati histrionis exul, Sidon.

Juvencus presbyter. A Spaniard, who translated the Gospels into heroick verse.

Juventas, dea juventutis, Junonis filia; eadem quæ Hebe. est & Appell.

Juverna, æ; f. Juv. Irelands.

I ante X.

Ixion, ŏnis; m. Father of the Centaurs; he slew his father in Law; Jupiter took him into heaven, where he would have ravished Juno; but Jupiter bearing of it, put a Cloud in place of Juno, in her shape; of which he begat the Centaurs; and being cast down to the Earth again, for boasting that he had lien with Juno, Jupiter cast him into hell, where he was tied fast to a Wheel, with which he was turned about continually. Hence Ixioneus, a, um; Vir.

Ixionides, patronym. filius Ixionis. Pirithous so called, Propert.

K ante E, I, U.

KEstevena. Kesteven, a third part of Lincolnshire.

Kilchennia. A City with a Bishops See in Ireland, called Kilkenny, qu. Cella sive Fanum S. Canici.

Kildaria. Kildare in Ireland.

Kiriath-sepher, i. civitas literarum sive librorum. A City of Palestine, once called Debir.

Kunigunda. An Empress, wife to Henry, with whom she lived a constant Virgin. Once to clear her self of a slight jealousy he had entertained, she voluntarily underwent the tryal of Ordeal, walking barefoot without hurt over burning plow-shares.

L ante A.

LAban, q. d. Albius. Brother to Rebecca, and master and father in law to her son Jacob.

Labanis. An Isle in the Arabick-gulf.

Labagus, Sil. Lambrus, Plin. A river in the State of Milan.

Labda. The mother of Cypselus: The Oracles at Corinth had said that Labda's son should become Tyrant of Corinth: whereupon they sent ten men to kill him: but the childe laugh'd upon them, so that they could not find in their hearts to slay him: afterwards fearing they might come to blame, they went into the house again; but she hid the boy in an heap of corn, which the Greeks call Cypselen. Thus Herodotus.

Labdacus. A king of Thebes, father of Laius, and grandfather of Œdipus, whence the people are called Labdacidæ, and Laius his son Labdacides, Stat.

Labeatis; Liv. A lake of Dalmatia, neer the City Scodra, of 60 miles compass, called Lago di scutari. ✠ Pop. Labeates, Plin.

Lăbĕo, à labiorum magnitudine dict. An excellent Lawyer surnamed Antistius: He was excellent in all learning; particularly in the Etymologies of words, and by that means expounded many inextricable difficulties in the Law: Gel. l. 13. c. 10. & 12. He is taxed by Horace as a mad man, for his freedom in opposing Augustus.

Lăbĕtius, Horat. Poeta mimographus, eques Romanus, quem Julius Cæsar ludis suis produxit, & Equestri ordini reddidit; Macrob.

Liberus. A town in Ireland; Killaw, Cambd. Cassil, Nig. Limrick, Ferr.

Labĭci, & Labicani, Liv. People of Italy, sic dict. à Glauco, Minois filio, quem Labicum appellârunt, à scuto militari Intus ansato, quod scuti genus primus in Italia ostendit. Nam λαβὰ gr. ansam signif. vel manubrium: Hinc Labicanus ager Labicis vicinus, cujus meminit Livius, hodiè Valmontone appel. Labicum, opp. Sil. Via Labicana sive Lavicana, quæ Româ Lavicum ducebat.

Labieni castra, Cæs. A village of the Low countries in Henault, since an Abby, called Lobe, and in Latin Laubium & Laubacum.

Lăbĭenus. One of Julius Cæsar his Captains, who afterward revolted and took Pompeys part, Lucan. ✠ Also an historian in Augustus time, that was so bitter towards every one he spake of, that he was called (as though from rabies) Rabienus; Sen. His Books were shortly after burned; which when Callius Severus heard, he said, I ought my self to be burnt, because I have gotten them all by heart.

Labinius. A river of Italy between Bolonia and Modena; hod. Lavino.

Lăbōrĭæ campi & Laborini, Plin. Fruitful fields about Capua, &c. now called Terra di Lavoro, eò quòd ingens labor sit in eo excolendo, quippe solum habet arduum opere, cultu difficile.

Labrădēus, Jupiter sic dictus: quippe Arsalis rex victo Candaule Lydorum rege, securim quæ Lydorum regum erat, quæque à Lydiis Labrys dicitur, in Cariam retulit, à qua Jovi Labradeo nomen dedit: Cœl. Rhod. 6. 11.

Labrō, ōnis; Cic. A Port of Tuscany, now called Livorno.

Lăbyrinthus. A place in Crete made by Dædalus (wherein the Minotaur was shut up) with so many turnings and windings, that whosoever went into it could not get out again without the guiding of a thread, the bottom whereof should be left at the entry: Vir. There was the like in Italy built by Porsenna; and another in Egypt, by Psammetichus; Plin. Hinc Labyrinthe- us, a, um; Catul.

Lăcæna; Vir. à masc. Lacon, ut à λίων, λίαινα. A woman of Lacedæmon.

Lacecobrica. A town of Spain.

Laccoplūti, cognominati sunt Calliæ Athenienſis posteri, quòd is repentè ditatus esset thesauro in Campis Marathoniis subter terram invento: Nam Græci λακκους appellant loca subterranea. Suid.

Lăcĕdæmon, ŏnis; f. λακεδαίμων priſcis Sparta, voc. hodiè Miſitra. The chief City of Laconia, in the Peloponneſe, famous for the good laws Lycurgus made there, a place therefore very well govern'd, noted especially for the ſtrict education of youth; Cic. only Theft among ſt them was, if ingeniouſly committed, allowed of; Gel. Hinc Lacedæmonius, a, um.

Lăchĕsis; f. Juv. i. ſors; nam λαχειν, ſortiri ſign. Hanc idcirco vitæ humanæ præſide voluerunt, quòd in ea ſortem, i. caſum, plurimum valere arbitrabantur. One of the three Deſtinies.

Lăciburgium. A city of Pomeren, called Lazenitz, or Lauſnitz.

Lăcinium, dict. à Laceno quodam latrone, quem Hercules, quòd boves ſuos abegiſſet, dicitur interemiſſe, templúmq; ibi Junoni condidiſſe, quæ hinc Diva Lacinia dic. Vir. A Promontory of the Brutians in Magna Græcia, ſix miles off Croton; it is now called Capo delle Colonne, from ſome pillars, that remain yet of Juno's Temple.

Lăcippo. opp. Hiſp. Bæt. Plin.

Lăconia, Plin. quæ & Lacedæmonia. A large country of Peloponneſus, now called Tzaconia, the chief City whereof was Lacedæmon: indè Lacones incolæ, Stat. & Laconicus, a, um. ◊ Laconicum, Col. ſc. balneum. A dry bain, to ſweat out crudities, uſed firſt by thoſe of this country: vid. Appell.

Lăcōnicus ſinus. A gulf of the ſea between the promonteries Malea & Tænarus.

Lactodurum. Stony-Stratford, or Bedford, or rather Loughborough.

Lactūcini, à Lactuca dict. The ſirname of divers Romans of the Valerian family. Plin.

Lacydes, philoſophus, Arceſilæ auditor; Cic.

Lădas, æ; m. Juv. Alexandri Mag. curſor. He ran ſo lightly and faſtly upon the ſand, that the print of his feet could not be ſeen.

Ladiſlaus. The name of ſeveral Kings. One of Hungary, a ſucceſsful warrior.

Lādon, Ovid. A river in Arcadia.

Læna, quæ & Elana, urbs Arabiæ petræ.

Lælaps, ăpis; m. Ovid. λαιλαψ turbo. One of Actæon's dogs.

Lælius; Cic. A great friend of Scipio Africanus.

Lærtes, æ; m. The father of Ulyſſes, and ſon of Arceſius. indè Lærtius, a, um; ut Lærtia regna, Vir. The Iſle of Ithaca & Lærtiades dict. Ulyſſes.

Lærtius Diogenes. An Hiſtorian who wrote the lives of Philoſophers.

Læſtrigŏnes, Ovid. pop. Latii novi; circa Formias dict. Xen. τὺς λαιστὰς, i. latrocinio. A rude people, that lived on mans fleſh; Plin. Hinc Læſtrigonius, a, um; Hor. ◊ Item pop. Siciliæ; Plin. qui & Leontini.

Lævinus, qui lævâ utitur manu; ut Scævola, qui ſcævi.

Lăgăria. A town of Lucania; unde Vina Lagarina, Plin.

Lăgēcium. Caſtleford near Pontfreit; Camd.

Lagenia. A province of Ireland, called Leinſter, having the Iriſh Sea on the Eaſt, Connaught on the Weſt, Ulſter on the North, and Munſter on the South. It contains 9 Counties, Caterlagh, Dublin, Kildare, Kilkenny, Eaſt-Meath, Weſt-Meath, Kings, Queens, and Wexford.

Lagia. The Iſle Delos. Plin.

Lāgus. Father to Ptolemy that ſucceeded Alexander. Hinc Lāgēus, a, um; Luc. amnis Lageus, Sil. The river Nile.

Lāis; idis; f. Ovid. ex Sicilia ubi nata, Corinthum ſe contulit, unde à Propert. voc. Ephyræa, i. Corinthia. A notable harlot of Corinth, who demanded ſuch round ſums for the proſtitution of her body, that many great men refuſed to give her the price: Demoſthenes among the reſt ſaid, He would not buy Repentance ſo dear: She at laſt going into Theſſaly, was ſo highly courted by the young men, that the women of the country out of envy ſlew her; for which fact Venus ſent a plague among ſt them, and would not be appeaſed, till they had built her a Temple.

Lāius, gr. i. ſiniſter. The ſon of Labdacus king of Thebes, and the father of Œdipus whom Œdipus (as the Oracle had foretold) ſlew unawares in a battle at Phocis.

Lălăge, es; f. Hor. The name of a girl, one of Horaces Miſſet.

Lălaſſis. A river of Cilicia, riſing out of Iſauria; Plin.

Lălētānia, regio Hiſp. citer. Mart. ◊ Laletani, pop. hod. Catalauni voc. ◊ Fæx Laletana, Mart. A ſorry ſort of wine.

Lallus; Auſon. deus qui præſt næniis illis balbis, quas nutrices pueris occinunt.

Lambrus, Plin. A river in the Dutchy of Milan. Populi Lambrani, Suet.

Lamech. One who lived before the flood; the firſt Bigamiſt, and who is ſuppoſed to have killed Cain.

Lamia, æ; f. Bibl. Eſa. 34.4. לילות. A ſhe-devil, as the Jews fancy, that kill Children; for which reaſon in the Chamber, where the woman is brought to bed, they write inchantments upon the four ſides of the walls; חוה וחוץ לילית אדם i. Adam, Eve; get out, you Hag Habeta. לילות nomen à ליל nox, ut ſit nocturnum ſpectrum.

Lămiæ, pl. f. λαμίαι, vel à Lamia Libyſſa ſic dict. vel à λαμία, i. καρχαρίας piſcis vorax, patente rictu. vel ἀπὸ τῆ λαιμῆ, i. ab ingluvie; Int. Hor. Women, or Devils in ſhape of women, who would kill and eat children: from a Queen of Africk of that name ſo called, who was a beautiful but a deviliſh woman, and having laſt her own children, enraged with diſcontent and envy gave order to have other womens children taken and killed, ſo Diod. Sic. Theſe were ſaid to be blind at home, but when they went abroad they had eyes. ◊ Alſo the name of a noble family in Rome; Juv.

Laminitani, pop. Hiſp. Tarrac. quorum urbs Laminium. Hinc Laminitanus ager, Plin. Campo de Montiel.

Lămirus. The ſon of Hercules by Iole.

Lampēdo, gr. i. ſplendor. A noble Princeſs of Lacedæmon, which was the Daughter, Wife and Mother of a King; Plin.

Lampētia, gr. i. ſplendor. The daughter of Sol and Neæra; alſo a city of the Brutians, quæ Clampetia vel Dampetia Plinio.

Lampĕtus. A ſiſter of Phaeton; Serv.

Lampĕus, mons Arcadiæ, Plin.

Lampia, Arcadiæ fl. Stat. & opp. Laſt.

Lampon, i. fulgens; equi nomen, Sil. ◊ It. vates ſacrificus per anſerem velut avem auguralem jurare ſolitus; unde proverbium, Lampon jurat per anſerem; Eraſm.

Lampſăcus, i; f. Ovid. & Lampſacum, Plin. A town in Aſia neer the Helleſpont, where Priapus was worſhipped, now called Lampſico, & Lepſeke by the Turks; at eight miles diſtance from Gallipoli. Indè Lampſacenus, & Lampſacius, a, um, Mart.

Lămus, à Lamo rege; Vir. urbs Læſtrigonum, propè Formias.

Lāmus. The ſon of Hercules by Omphale: Ovid. ◊ Alſo the ſon of Neptune, and king of the Læſtrigones; who built the City Formiæ, Hor. and from whom the family of the Lamiæ was deſcended; Id. ◊ Alſo the name of a Horſe, Sil.

Lancaſtria. Lancaſter, and Lancaſhire.

Landava. A City of Wales in Glamorgan-ſhire, a Biſhops See, Llandaff.

Langia pen. long. Stat. A ſmall brook of Peloponneſus, in the Nemæan Foreſt.

Lānŭvium; Cic. The City Indovina in Italy; Indè Lanuvinus, Hor.

Lanuvinus, à Lanuvio opp. Terentii adverſarius.

Lāŏcōon, ontis; m. Vir. The ſon of Priam by Hecuba, Prieſt of Apollo Thymbræus, who diſſwaded the Trojans from taking in the wooden Horſe, and ran his Javelin into it with that force, that he made the Armour in it to clatter; but Minerva was angry with him for it; and cauſed a Serpent that came out of the Sea, to ſlay him and his two ſons.

Lāŏdămia. The daughter of Bellerophon, and mother of Sarpedon by Jupiter, and ſlain by Diana; Hom. ◊ Alſo the daughter of Acaſtus, who when ſhe heard her husband Proteſilaus was killed at Troy, out of love to him ſlew her ſelf, becauſe ſhe would not ſurvive him. Ovid.

Lāŏdice, ἡ τῦ λαοδίκη, id. eſt populi juſtitia. The daughter of king Priam and Hecuba, and wife to Helicaon the ſon of Antenor King of Thrace. ◊ Alſo a daughter of Agamemnon, whom he profered to Achilles in marriage. ◊ Alſo the wife of King Antiochus, and mother of Seleucus, of whom the City Laodicea ſo called.

Lāŏdicēa. Cic. A City of Cœloſyria, by mount Libanus, now Liche or Lizza. ◊ Another of Lydia, in the leſſer Aſia, called formerly Dioſpolis, Plin. now Laudichia. from this place S. Paul wrote his former Epiſtle to Timothy.

Lāŏdōcus, i, populum accipiens. The ſon of Antenor the Trojan, whoſe form Pallas took upon her, when ſhe would have perſwaded Pandarus by ſhewing a dart at Menelaus to break the League. Hom.

LAOMEDON, ontis, m. Hor. i. populi rex. The ſon of Ilus king of Troy, who agreed with Apollo and Neptune to build the Walls of Troy, but would not pay them their wages when they had done. They in revenge of his falſhood ſent Plagues and Inundations to ſpoil the City: Then Laomedon conſulted with the Oracle, and could have no remedy, but by giving a Trojan Virgin yearly to be devoured by a Sea-Monſter; his daughter Heſione fell out to be one, whom Hercules offered to deliver, and ſlay the Monſter, ſo he would give him his Horſes that were of a divine race; but he would not perform this neither, wherefore Hercules ſacked the City, ſlew him, took his ſon Priam priſoner, and gave Heſione to Telamon to wife. Indè Laomedontiades, & Laomedonteus, a, um; Vir.

Lapathus, Liv. A Caſtle in the confines of Epirus and Theſſaly.

Laphyra, dict. Minerva, qu. Laphyria, quòd victores ex bello ferant τὰ λάφυρα, i. exuvias.

Lapides atri; Liv. locus Hiſp. Tarrac.

Lăpithæ; pl. m. Vir. à Lapithe Apollinis filii dict. Iſid. A people of Theſſaly, the firſt horſe-breakers.

Lăpithe, urbs Theſſaliæ: incolæ Lapithæ; Hinc Lapithonius, a, um; Stat.

Lappia & Lapponia. Lapland, a country belonging partly to Swedeland, Norway, and Muſcovy.

Lapurdum, Sidon. opp. Aquitaniæ, hod. Lourde, ad montis Pyrenæi radices.

Lar, laris, m. κάλοκιδος θεὸς. Priſc. lar familiaris, Plaut. Ἀ λαῦρα vicus, Arn. quòd Lares fuerint vicorum atq; itinerum Dii. Verum lar Hetruſca vox eſt & πρύτανιν ſive principem ſign. Scal. A houſhold-god; alſo the gods of the high-ways, Lares compitales, to whom they were wont to ſacrifice a pig; Hor. Thoſe houſhold-gods were called Lares præſtites; Quod præſtent oculis omnia tuta ſuis, Ovid.

Lăra, or Lărunda; mater Larium; μήτηρ δαιμόνων, Onom. One of the Naiades: When Jupiter was mad for the love of Juturna, and could not come by her, becauſe ſhe leapt into a river to get away from him; he implored the help of all the Nymphs, and deſired them to ſtay her at the banks of Tiber: but Lara bewrayed his plot firſt to Juturna, and afterwards to Juno; Whereat Jupiter was ſo angry, that he took away the uſe of her tongue, and delivered her to Mercury to carry her to hell: but Mercury in the way as they were going to hell fell in love with her, and lay with her, and begat two twin-children of her, which be called Lares.

Lărina. A noble woman of Italy, one of Camilla's companions, who helped Turnus againſt Æneas; Vir.

Lărine, fons in Attica; Plin.

Lărinum, Cic. urbs Frentanorum, in Aprutio. Pop. Larinates, Plin. & in ſing. Larina, Sil.

Lăriſſa, æ; f. Luc. unde Achilles Lariſſæus, Vir. A City of Theſſaly; Achilles his country, now called Larizzo or Larſa.

Lariſſus, fl. Peloponneſi; Liv.

Lărius, Vir. dict. à fulicarum multitudine, λάρος eſt fulica: à Como vicino oppido vocatur Comacenus. A great lake in the Dutchyof Milan, of about 10 miles in compaſs, by the Italians called Lago di Como, by the Dutch Cumerſee.

Larnum, fl. Hiſp. Tarracon. Plin. pop. Larnenſes, Id.

Larta. A City of Epirus, heretofore called Ambracia.

Larunda. vid. Lara.

Lărymna. A town of the Bœotians by the River Cephiſus; Plin.

Las; Liv. vicus Laconiæ, λᾶς lapis quòd in excelſo ſaxo ſitus ſit; hod. Valhi.

Laſa, civ. quæ & Callirhoe; Hier.

Laſcaris: A learned Greek Grammarian, who taught at Paris.

Laſſia. The Iſle Andros, Plin.

Laſthĕnia. A woman that was Plato's Scholar; Plut. and went to wear him in mans clothes. Laert.

Laſus. A man in the time of Darius, that firſt wrote of muſick.

Lateranum. S. John of Lateran, a Church of Rome, upon mount Cælius, of which the Pope himſelf is Biſhop, who hath alſo a Palace neer it. Lateranas ædes voc. Prud.

Latĕrānus. A Senator of Rome, qui latere ſæpius in otio ſolebat: Nero ſlew him, and gave away his fair houſes; the Pope now hath his Palace there, called the Lateran.

Lătĕrium, Q. Ciceronis villa, in agro Arpino; Cic.

Latia Saturni, in pontificalibus indigitamentis dicta uxor Saturni; Gell. 13. 21.

Latialis & Latiaris, e; adj. à Latium. vid. Appell.

Lătinæ, ſc. feriæ, victimæ, à Latinis populis dict. Steph. Sacrifices to Jupiter Latialis on Mount Alban, offered for the preſervation of all the Latin people in league and confederacy with the Romans; theſe were begun in the time of Tarquinius Superbus.

Lătini, Latii incolæ.

Lătinus. The ſon of Faunus ſon of Picus, a king of Latium, father in law to Æneas; having given him his daughter Lavinia, which occaſioned a quarrel and fight betwixt him and Turnus Vir.

Lătium, ſic dict. quòd illic latuerit Saturnus cùm Jovem fugeret; Vir. alii à latitudine, quòd nulla Italiæ regio latiùs ſe extendat; vel à Latino rege, vel à incantatio, Boch. quòd herbis venenciis abundarit & Circe venefica ibi habitârit. A country of Italy, now called Campagna di Roma, and Saint Peters Patrimony; It lies betwixt Tuſcany Weſtward, and a Campania Eaſtward. Indè Latius, a, um. Latius Deus, Saturnus ſic dict. f. Pop. Latini.

Latmus. A mountain of Caria, famous for the Moons amours to Endymion. Hinc Latmius, a, um; Stat.

Lātōis, idis, dicta eſt Diana à matre Latona; patronym. fœm. à Græco λητώ.

Lātŏmiæ, (ic. A place of Sicily, neer Syracuſe, where there were quarries of ſtone, and a priſon.

Lātōna, ſic dict. quòd in inſula Ortygia, Junonis iram fugiens latuiſſet; ut ſit Λήτω à λήθω lateo. filia Cæi Titanis, quæ à Jove compreſſa, geminam ex eo prolem concepit, Dianam & Apollinem; indè Latonius, a, um. Delos etiam Latonia dicta; Vir.

Latopolites nomus, Plin. urbs Ægypti, intra Deltam, Latonæ ſacra.

Lātreus. One of the Centaurs.

Latris; f. Propert. i. famula, λάτρις. A maid-ſervant or waiting woman.

Lăvatris. Bowes a village upon Stanemore in Yorkſhire.

Laudonia. A province in the South of Scotland, called Lothian or Lauden.

Lăverna, Dea quam Romani coluêre, à quâ Laverniones dicti ſunt fures, quòd ſub tutela deæ Lavernæ eſſent; in cujus obſcuro luco ſoliti erant inter ſe furta dividere; hinc Lavernalis porta Romæ dict. eſt, ab æde Lavernæ propinqua: quòd ibi ara eſſet ejus deæ; Var. A lavando dict. nam fures lavatores dicuntur Acro. Certè levare, pro furari, Sidon; an ergo qu. Levarna. Vel à λάφυρον præda; qu. Lapburna; vel à λαβεῖν accipere. qu. Laberna. gr. dic. Παλλὰς Λαβρία. The Goddeſs of Theeves; Hor.

Lāvinia. The daughter of Latinus, betrothed at firſt to Turnus, afterward to Æneas, who ſlew his rival and married her.

Lāvinium, vel Lavinum, Serv. urbs in Latio ab Ænea condita, & nomine Laviniæ uxoris ita appellata; hodie voc. Citta Lavinia; hinc Lavinius adj. Lavinia arva, Vir. & Lavinus, adj. Lavina littora. Id.

Laurĕa. Tullies free-man; Plin.

Laurens; adj. One of the City Laurentum, Vir. ◊ Laurens aper, Mart. That country having good ſtore of Brawns.

Laurentia. The wife of Fauſtulus the ſhepherd, and foſter-mother to Romulus & Remus; vid. Acca.

Laurentālia. Feaſts in memory of her.

Laurentinum. A country-houſe of Pliny Secundus neer Laurentum, ſeventeen miles off Rome.

Laurentius, nomen viri, à lauro dict. S. Laurence, a Deacon of the Church, and Martyr, roaſted upon a gridiron; Prud.

Laurentum, urbs Lavinio proxima, ita dict. à ſylva laurea eo in loco quum conderetur inventa. A City of Italy, hod. S. Lorenzo. ◊ Laurentes incolæ, & in ſing. Laurens, Vir. Hinc palus Laurentia, Vir. via Laurentina, Val. M. & Laurentinæ paludes, Paterc.

Laureŏlus, dict. à lauro. A robber, who was hanged, and afterward devoured by wild beaſts: which ſtory was uſually repreſented in their ſhows, Mart.

Lauretum, urbs Piceni, vulg. Loreto, where there is a ſtately Church, and the Chappel of our Lady.

Laurona, opp. Hiſp. Tarrac. where Sextus Pompeius was defeated and ſlain by the Cæſarians. Flor.

Laus Pompeia, Plin. A City in the State of Milan, built by the Gauls, and planted by Pompey with a Colony.

Lauſonium vel Lauſanna. A City of the Swizzers on the North of the lake Lemanus.

Lausus. The ſon of Numitor, the brother of Ilia Sylvia, ſlain by his uncle Amulius; Ovid. ◊ Another, which was the ſon of Mezentius, ſlain by Æneas; Vir.

Lautŭlæ, à lavando dict. quòd aquas calidas haberent; Var. Hot Baths in Rome.

Lazărus. Our Saviours friend, whom he raiſed from the dead, brother to Martha and Mary. ◊ Alſo the name of a poor Begger-man in the Parable.

Lazi. People of Scythia; Plin.

L ante E.

Lĕa, opp. Æthiopiæ sub Ægypto; Plin.

Lĕæna, scortum Atheniense, Plin. sic dict. quoniam vulgato corpore quæstum faciebat; quâ ratione Laurentia Faustuli pastoris uxor Lupa dicitur. She being tormented by the tyrant Hippias, that she might discover the plots of some conspirators, bit out her tongue, and spit it in his face; Whereupon the Athenians willing to do her honour, and yet to conceal the name of an harlot, celebrated her memory under the Image of a beast wanting a tongue.

Lĕander, dri; m. λεανδρος. A young man of Abydos on Asia side, that was in love with Hero a beautiful Damosel that dwelt in Sestos, a town over against it, the narrow sea of Hellespont lying betwixt the two towns: Leander used divers nights to swim over to his love; and at length one night, the sea being rough, was drowned. Hinc Leandrius Hellespontus, Sil.

Leanice, pop. Arabiæ felicis, in sinu Persico; F.

Lĕarchus, id est, populi princeps. The son of Athamas and Ino, whom his father being stricken with mad fit, slew. Hinc Learchæus, a, um; Ovid.

Lĕbădĕa; Stat. A City of Bœotia, neer the river Cephisus. No Moles live there, Plin.

Lĕbĕdus, Hor. A City of Ionia in the lesser Asia, fifteen miles from Smyrna; B.

Lĕbynthus, i; f. Ovid. An Isle of the Ægean Sea.

Lĕchæum, Propert. A port-town or haven neer Corinth.

Lĕda, æ; f. The wife of Tyndarus and daughter of Thestius: Jupiter turned himself into a swan, and lay with her, whereas her husband had lately lien with her before; of them she had two eggs, of one came Pollux and Helena; of the other Castor and Clytemnestra; whereupon Castor the son of Tyndarus was mortal, but Pollux the son of Jupiter immortal. Hence Castor and Pollux are called Ledæi.

Ledus, Sidon. A river of France, that runs by Monpelier.

Legeceſtria, sive Leicestria, Leicester.

Legio Augusta. The town Leskard in Cornwal; or Carleun in Munmouthshire.

Legio Germanica. Leon, the chief city of Castile, in Spain.

Legio Victrix. A town of Champogne in France, called Vitry.

Legio xx. victrix. Chester.

Lĕlĕges, pl. m. Vir. quasi λελεγμενοι, dict. qd. diversis è locis coacti essent. People of Caria. Hinc Lelegeius, a, um; Ovid. & Nymphæ Lelegeïdes, Id.

Lelgovia. A country in Scotland called Lenox.

Lemannus. Limehill in Kent, or the river-town called Elme in Dorsetshire.

Lĕmānus. A lake by Geneva, from East to West it reacheth 18 leagues; on the North of it are the Swizzers, and Savoy on the South.

Lemnos, i; f. qq. & Hypsipylea, ab Hypsipyle dict. An Isle in the Ægean Sea, now called by the Turks who are lords of it, and in our Lake Maps, Stalimene; of old it was called Dipolis, because it had two Cities, the one dedicated to Vulcan, and called Hephæstia; the other Myrina, into whose market-place the hill Athos, at the Solstice casts a shadow: The women by the help of Thoas killed all their husbands. The Island is sacred to Vulcan. Inde Lemnius, a, um. Terra Lemnia. A kind of medicinal Earth.

Lemovices, Cæs. People of France, in the province called le Limosin; Their chief town is Lemovicum, vulgò Limoges.

Lemovii, Germaniæ populi, Tacit. Mechlenburgers; Ort.

Lemŭres; pl. m. vulgo vel Daimons; Gl. qu. Remures (r in l mutato) Porph. sc. à Remo, cujus occisi anima spectris Romulum fratrem exagitabat. Æ Larel propitli, Lemures noxii. Hobgoblins or night-spirits.

Lemŭria, sive Lemuralia, Fest. feria Lemurum quibus sacra fiebant Idibus Maii; Ovid. Feasts dedicated to them, at which time 'twas thought unlucky to marry.

Lenæus, λήναιος, ἀπὸ τῦ ληνὸς, i. à torculari, non à leniendo. One of the god Bacchus his names. Pater Lenæus, Vir.

Lentila. A City of upper Austria, called Lintz, with a bridg upon the Danow, and a gallant Castle, where the Emperor uses to retire.

Lentulus & Lentinus, cognominati à lente ferendo, Plin. The name of a family in Rome: unde denominativum Lentulitas, i. nobilitas Lentulorum; Cic.

Leo. The name of divers Emperors, Popes and others. ◊ Leo Byzantius, Platonis auditor, sophista nobilis.

Leoburgum. Lawenburg in lower Saxony, a Dukedom.

Leochares, sculptor eximius; Plin.

Leocorion. A monument at Athens set up in honour of Leo, because when Athens was almost ruin'd by famine, and their Oracle told them some one of them must offer their children in sacrifice, he sacrificed his three daughters, Pasithea, Thecope, and Eubule.

Leodium. The City of Liege in the Netherlands.

Leonidas. A noble Spartan or Lacedemonian Captain, who kept the Straits of Thermopylæ with four hundred men, against Xerxes his ten hundred thousand, and encouraged his Souldiers, saying, Courage; this day we shall sup perhaps with them that are at Hades. When he was there slain, Xerxes pulled out his beard, and found it all hairy; Plut.

Leontini. People of Sicily; Ovid. their City Leontium, once the seat of the Læstrigones.

Leontius. A famous engraver; Plin.

Leopolis. A City of Poland, built by Leo the Emperor, called in Dutch Lemburg.

Leovardia. *The chief City of West-*Friseland, called Leuwarden.

Lĕpinus mons, Col. A ridg of hills in Latium, upon which the City Signia stood, whence it is called le montagne di segni.

Lepontii. People upon the Alps, neer the rise of the Rhine, bordering upon the Helvetians, and are called Rhinwalders. ◊ Also others on the other side the Alpes between the Milanois and the Swizzers. Hinc Leponticus, a, um; Sil.

Leprium. A town in Arcadia, so called of Lepers who were cured there by washing in the river Alpheus, it is now called Chiarapa, Ortel. pop. Leprini, Cic. Lepreatæ, Polyb.

Lepteacra. A Promontory in India, Solin. called by others Drepanum.

Leptines. An Orator of Athens; Demosthenes has an oration against him.

Leptis Sarrana, Sil. A City of Africk, between the two Syrtes, belonging to Tripoli, and now called Lebeda or Lepeda. B.

Lerina; Plin. A little Isle of France, called S. Honorat.

Lerna. A lake of Peloponnese neer Argos, where Hercules slew the many-headed serpent Hydra; which, as fast as he cut off one head, had two grew up in the place. Whence Lerna malorum; A pack of mischiefs. Hinc Lernæus, a, um; Vir.

Leros. Plin. An Isle in the Icarian Sea.

Lesbos, i; f. An Isle in the Ægean sea on Asia side, now called Metellin, from Mitylene, which was its chief City. It is about 130 miles in compass. Hinc Lesbius, a, um, & Lesbous; Hor. item Lesbis, mulier ex Lesbo.

Lĕsĕra, Sidon. mons Aquitaniæ, ex quo Tarnes fl. effluit.

Lestrygon, ŏnis; Al. in plur. estrygones, um. People of Campania in Italy, neer Formiæ; who fed upon mans flesh; Plin. hinc Lestrygonius, a, um; Hor.

Lesua. A town in Sussex, called Lewes.

Lĕsūra; Auf. A river not far from Triers, which falls into the Moselle, four German leagues thence.

Lethæus. A river in Lydia running about Magnesia; vulgò Fiume di Mangresia. ◊ Another in Crete near Gortys, Solin. hod. Leter. ◊ A third in Macedon neer Tricca, where Æsculapius was born.

Lēthe, es; f. dict. λήθη τῆς λήθης, i. ab oblivione; morientes enim præterita, tum dicta, tum facta oblivioni tradunt. A river in Africk, watering the City Berenice, which because it runs some miles under ground, and then issueth forth there, the Poets feigned it to come out of Hell: to which they added, That if any drink of it, it would make them forget all things past. Hinc Lethæus, a, um, adj.

Lēthes; m. Sil. A river of Spain, vulgò Guadeletc.

Letini, pop. Siciliæ; Cic.

Levaci. People of Brabant, whose town is called Leew, a little off Lovain.

Levana, dea quæ recens natos de terra levat; Aug.

Leuca, æ; f. Luc. A Sea-town of the Salentini in Italy. ◊ Also a town of Ionia; Mela. ◊ Also an Isle belonging to Crete; Plin.

Leucarum. Logbor in South-Wales.

Leucas, ădos, f. Ovid. Leucadia, Plin. An Isle in the Ionian sea, now called S. Maura, so neer to Arcanania, that a bridg joins them. It is under the Turk.

Leucaspis; λόγχαιτις, i. alto scuto utens. One of Æneas his companions, who travelling with him toward Italy, was together with Orontes lost in a storm.

Leucāte, es; f. Vir. A promontory of the Island Leucas, called Capo di S. Maura. F. Al. Leucātes, æ; M.

Leuce, insula Ponti, Achillæa dict.

Leuci

Leuci, Cæs. & in sing. Leucus, Luc. People of Lorrain, about the City Toul: they were good darters.

Leucippides. The daughters of Leucippus, ravished by Castor and Pollux.

Leucippus, Cic. A Philosopher; the first that invented the doctrine of Atoms, from whom Democritus had it, and from him Epicurus. Lact.

Leucogæus collis, λευκόγαιος, à λευκὸς album & γῆ (poët. γαῖα) terra, & Leucogæi fontes, locus Campaniæ inter Neapolim & Puteolos. Fontes firmitatem dentibus, oculis claritatem, & vulneribus sanitatem afferunt, Plin. 31. 2.

Leucola, Plin. A Haven in Cyprus; where the Agate-stone is found.

Leucon, rex Ponti, slain by his brother Oxylochus, because he lay with his Wife. Ovid.

Leucŏnĭcus, a, um. Leuconicum tomentum, Mart. à Leuconio Æoliæ opp. Turn. Al. à λευκὸν album, quòd flocci essent è lanâ albâ. Verùm ut à Lingonibus Lingonicum, ita Leuconicum à Leuconibus, qui vel iidem vel vicini. A kind of flocks dreſt in France.

Leucŏnŏtus, i; m. Sen. in vet. edit. i. λευκὸς νότος, albus notus, Hor. idem qui ἀργέστης, Str. qui pariter ab ἀργὸς albus.

Leucopetra, à candore nomen habet. A Promontory of Rhegium in Italy, now called Capo dell' Arme.

Leucopolis, λευκόπολις, i. civitas albicans. A Sea-town of Caria.

Leucorea. The chief City of Saxony; Wittenberg.

Leucosia; Ovid. ab Æneæ consobrina ibi sepultâ, Fest. vel à Sirene ibi submersâ, Plin. An Island of the Tyrrhene Sea, on the coast of Lucania, in the bay of Pæstus, once joined to the Promontory of the Sirens.

Leucosyria. A country of Cappadocia. Plin.

Leucothea, qu. alba dea. Albunea, λευκοθέα, Gl. Dic. & Leucothoe, es; Ovid. Ino, called also Matuta, the Wife of Athamas; she seeing her husband so furious that he slew his and her son Learchus, fearing the like would befall her and her other son Melicerta, cast her self down (and her son in her arms) from a steep rock into the Sea, and by the pity of the gods they were both turned into Sea-gods: she is called by the Greeks Leucothea, by the Latines, Mater Matuta; & Melicertes, by the Greeks Palæmon, Latines Portunus. ◊ Also an Island of the Tyrrhene Sea, on the coast of Picenum; And a fountain of that name in the Island Samos. Plin.

Leucothoe, es; f. The daughter of Orchamus, who being with child by Phœbus, was of her father buried alive in the ground, whereupon the Poets feign Phœbus pitied her, and turned her into a frank-incense-tree. Ovid. Met. 4. ◊ Also a Goddess of the Sea, Ovid. the same as Leucothea.

Leuctra, orum; n. A town in Bœotia, where Epaminondas the Theban vanquished the Lacedemonians; inde Leuctricus, a, um.

Leuctrum, Laconiæ urbs; Plut.

Levi. One of the twelve Tribes, who were all Priests. Hinc Levita, æ; m. A Levite or Priest; Leviticus, a, um; adj.

Levinia; à Levino fl. dicta. qui Bodotria, Tac. Lennox in Scotland.

Leuphana. The City Hanover in the lower Saxony.

Lexovii, Plin. People of Normandy, about the City Lisieux.

Lhoegria. England so called by the Welsh, Lhoegr.

L ante I.

Libanius. A Sophister of Antioch in the time of Julian the Apostate, who hath left some Declamations, &c.

Libanus, i; m. λίβανος, à לְבָנוֹן לְבָן albus, sc. propter nives in summo vertice, vel à לְבוֹנָה thus, cujus hic magna copia. A hill in Syria, reaching about 125 miles in length from West to East: on the North-side it bounds the Holy Land.

Libarnum, opp. Liguriæ.

Libentina dea; à libendo, Libentina; Var. Venus seu Proserpina, Aug. quæ & Libitina, Vid.

Liber pater; Bacchus dict. à liberando, sive quòd Bœotiæ urbes liberas fecerit; sive quòd vinum curas solvat, & mentem ab illis liberet; seu quòd vino usi libere loquantur. A Title of Bacchus the God of Wine.

Libera. A Title of Proserpina, the daughter of Ceres; Cic. ◊ Ovid makes Bacchus call Ariadne so. ◊ S. Austin makes her to be the same with Venus, the Goddess of Women.

Liberalia, Bacchus his Feasts.

Liberalis. A Latin Rhetorician about Claudius his time; Hier.

Libethra, Magnesiæ fons, Musis sacer; Plin. unde Libethrides dictæ, Vir. quanquam Strabo à Libethro Thraciæ Monte sic dictas velit.

Libitina, sc. Venus, quæ & Proserpina; funerum præsides, ut eadem & ortui & interitui rerum præfecta sit. A libitu vel libendo, qu. Libentina: Al. qu. Labitina, ἀπὸ τῦ λαβεῖν, quòd omnes mortales capiat; Jul. Scal. Al. per antiphr. quòd nemini libeat. A Goddess at Rome, in whose temple or chappel all things belonging to Funerals were sold. Vid. Appell.

Libitinensis porta, Lampr. The gate through which they carried dead bodies out of the City.

Libnius, sive Lisnius. A river of Ireland, which runs a little below Dublin into the Sea, called Lesfer.

Libo. A Citizen of Rome; Hor.

Libœus, fl. The Bay of Slego: Camd.

Libŏnŏtus, i; m. Plin. 2. 47. sic dict. quòd sit ei Libs hinc & inde Notus; Isid. A Wind South-West and by South.

Libophœnices, Plin. unde Libophœnicia Sall. vel Libyphœnices, Liv. People of Africk about Tunis.

Libs, libis; m. λίψ, contr. ex λίβυς, quòd ex Libya spiret, sicut Lat. Africus dic. Al. à λείβω stillo, quòd sit ventus pluvius. The South-West Wind.

Liburnia, dict. à Liburno quodam Attico. The Country of Croatia, having on the East and South Dalmatia; on the North Savus; and on the West Istria and Carniola: hinc Liburni viatores dicti, quòd fere ex Liburnia orti essent; & Liburna, genus navis.

Libya, filia Epaphi ex Cassiotâ, à qua tertia orbis terrarum pars nomen accepit, quam nos Africam dicimus, Plin. ve à Libs ventus, qui exinde flare solet, Serv. vel qu. λείπουσα τὴν ὕδωρ, i. egens pluviæ; Var. At large it is taken for all Africk, strictly it is but a part of Africk. Hinc Libycus, a, um; Vir.

Libys, homo; & Libyssa, mulier; ex Libya orti. Heb לוּבִים qui & לֹהֲבִים (sc. à לֶהָב flamma, ob ardorem & æstum) 70. λίβυες. People of Africk.

Libyssa. A town of Bithynia called Polmen, where Hannibal dyed and was buried. Plin.

Libystinus, dictus est Apollo ab iis qui Pachynum Siciliæ promontorium incolebant; eò quòd immissâ Libycis, hoc est, hostibus Carthaginensibus peste, penè cuncti subitâ morte interierint.

Libystis, ĭdis; f. i. Libyssa vel Libyca. Et pelle Libystidis ursæ, Vir. African.

Licestria. The Shire and Town of Leicester. Dic. & Legecestria & Leogora; B.

Lichades, dict. à Licha Herculis puero, quem in hoc mare præcipitavit Hercules, Nessi Centauri sanguine in furorem conversus. Three Isles or rocks in the sea of Eubœa. ◊ Leg. & sing. Lichas, æ; m. Ovid.

Lichas, puer Herculis, per quem Deianira viro suo in Oeta monte sacrificaturo vestem misit Nessi Centauri sanguine infectam; quam cum ille induisset, serpente per totum corpus veneno, doloris magnitudine in furorem versus, pernicioſi muneris latorem in mare præcipitavit; qui in saxum sive scopulum sui nominis mutatus; Ovid. Met. 9.

Lichfeldia, i. e. Campus mortis sive cadaverum. Lichfeild.

Licinianus. A Poet in Martials time.

Licinius. The name of divers noble men.

Liga. The Isle Ligon in the British Sea.

Ligarius. A noble Roman, Pompeys friend, whom Tully in one of his Orations defended being accused by Tubero.

Ligĕa; Vir. λιγεία, i. canora. A Nymph the daughter of Nereus and Doris.

Liger, ĕris; m. Tibul. A river of France called Loire; he holds a course of about 200 Leagues, of which for 166 he is navigable; B. ◊ Also the name of a Rutilian slain by Æneas.

Ligur, ŭris; m. Vlr. plur. Ligures People of Liguria.

Liguria. A country in Italy reaching from the hill Apenninus, to the Tuscan Sea; of which Genoa is the chief City. It is now called la Riviera di Genoua. inde Ligures; inde & Ligusticus, adj. Juv.

Ligurnus portus, al. Liburnus; Labro, Cic. Ital. Livorne. Legorn, a great port and town of trade in Tuscany.

Lilæa, opp. Achaiæ, apud fontes Cephisi; Stat.

Lilybæum. A Promontory of Sicily, now called Capo coco. Hinc Lilybæus, a, um; Luc. & Lilybeius, a, um, Vir.

Limentinus, Deus qui liminibus (sive limenis) præest. Tert.

Limi dii, obliquitatum curatores, Arnob.

Limnades, stagnorum nymphæ; λίμνη n. stagnum sign. Nat. Com.

Limnatis Diana, Tac. apud Lacedæmonios culta, ἀπὸ τῆς λιμνάδος, Paus. à piſcatoribus ſc. ut à venatoribus ἀγροτέρα. Artemid.

Limnus, à λίμνη, i. palus, à Plin. voc. Sillimnus. An Iſle between Pembroke-ſhire and Ireland, near S. Davids; it is now called Ramſey, Camb.

Limon; m. Stat. λειμών pratum. A place of Campania, betwixt Naples and Puzzoli.

Limoniades, dict. à pratis, quæ λειμωνιάδες voc. Gr. Nymphs of the Meadows.

Limonius mons. Plymlimon hill in Cardigan-ſhire. Out of this hill riſe two rivers, Seavern and Wy.

Limonum. The City Poiters in France.

Lindavium. The City Landaw in Rhetia.

Lindisfarnia; Bed. The Holy Iſland on the coaſt of Northumberland, ſix miles in compaſs. Once a Biſhops ſeat, which was ſince tranſlated to Durham.

Lindum, quæ & Lindocolnia. The City of Lincoln. ◊ Alſo Lithquo or Linlithquo a town in Scotland, eleven miles off Edenburgh.

Lingones. People of France dwelling about Langres; inde Lingonicus, a, um. Lingonicum tomentum, Mart. Flocks of wool made there.

Linternum & Literum, urbs Campaniæ. hinc Linterna palus, Sil.

Linus; Virg. The ſon of Apollo and Terpſichore; who was an excellent Muſician, and taught Thamyras, Hercules, and Orpheus. ◊ Alſo a Biſhop of Rome, next after S. Peter. ◊ Alſo a ſpring of Arcadia, Plin.

Lipara & Lipăre, es; ſi. Virg. An Æolian Iſland and the chief; 30 miles off Sicily. ita dict. à Liparo rege, Auſonis filio, cui ſucceſſit Æolus; Plin. Al. quòd eſſet λιπαρός, i. pinguis: verum ager Liparenſis erat miſer atque jejunus; Cic.

Liparis. A river of Cilicia; ſic dict. ἀπὸ τοῦ λιπαροῦ, quoniam (ut ſcribit Vitruvius) natantes in hoc flumine non aliter ungi ab ipſa aqua, quàm ſi oleo aût adipe lavarentur. ◊ It. id quod Lipara inf. Claud.

Lipſia. A City of Germany, Lipſick.

Liquentia. Plin. A river of Venice.

Lirimiris. A town of Saxony, called Mulheym, neer Hamburg.

Lirinates, Sil. qui al. Larinates.

Liriope, i. vox ſuavis & jucunda. A Sea-Nymph, the daughter of Oceanus and Tethys, of whom Cephiſus begat the beautiful boy Narciſſus; Ovid. Ut, ot others, Narciſſus his well, in Bœotia, wherein he was drowned.

Liris, is; m. Mart. A river of Italy that divides Latium from Campania.

Liſerpalus. A town in Lancaſhire; Leerpool, B.

Liſſa. An Iſle in the Adriatick Sea, over againſt Lader; Plin.

Liſſus. A City of Macedon; Luc. alſo a river in Thrace, one of thoſe which Xerxes Army drank up; Herod.

Litha. A little Port-town in Scotland, Leith, a mile from Edenburg.

Lithobolia, à lapidum jactu; λιθοβολία, παρὰ τὸ βάλλειν τοὺς λίθους, ſic dicta quædam feſta apud Trœzenos, eò quòd in ſeditione nonnulli duas Cretenſium puellas, Limiam & Auxeſiam, lapidibus nequiter obruerunt; unde, ut earum manes placarent, feſtum quotannis ſolenniter celebrandum ſtatuerunt, quod Lithobolia vocitârunt; Plut.

Lithuania. A country belonging to the King of Poland, the chief city Wilna.

Littus altum. A little town in the North of Scotland, in the county of Roſs, called Tarbarth; Camd. Al. Roxburgh or Roxemburg.

Livia; i. columba agreſtis, à livore, ut gr. πελειὰς λιπελεὸς niger, lividus. The name of ſeveral Ladies.

Livias, Plin. Libias, Joſ. A town of Paleſtine, beyond the dead ſea, ſo named from Livia, Tiberius his mother.

Liviopolis, Plin. A City of the leſſer Aſia, in Cappadocia, about the black ſea.

Livius, Hiſtoricus Patavinus, qui res Rom. miro artificio luculentóque ſermone perſcripſit. ◊ Eſt & Livius Andronicus, Poeta, Livii Salinatoris libertus, ob ingenium libertate donatus.

Livones. Liffanders, whoſe country is called Livonia.

Livonia. A country beyond the Belt, ſubject to the Swediſh King, called Liffland, whereof the chief City Riga.

Lix, Solin. Lixos, Plin. al. Lixa. A City of Africk, in the Kingdom of Fezz, near Tangier, called Larache.

Lixus, Sil. The river that runs by that City.

L ante O.

Locanus, fluv. Calabriæ; Plin.

Locoritum. The City Forcheim of Franconia in Germany.

Locri. People of Achaia. One called Ozolæ, about the bay of Corinth, next to the Ætoli; their country Locris, Liv. the chief City Naupactum. Another on the coaſt over againſt them, called Epicnemidii. ◊ Alſo a City of the Brutii, in Italy, built by thoſe former Locri of Greece under the conduct of Evas or Ajax their King. Solin, near the promontory of Zephyrium, whence they were called Locri Epizephyrii. The City is called Naritia by Ovid, whence Virg. terms them Naritii Locri. Out of the ruines of this City grew Hieracium, now Gieraci, about a mile off. Pop. Locrenſes.

Locus fœlix. Welſh, Auſtriæ opp.

Locuſta, qu. inſtar locuſtæ noxia; Tac. A Witch that helped Nero to kill Britannicus, and Agrippina to kill Claudius the Emperor.

Loemius, Apollo ſo called, ſic dict. à Lydiis ob expulſionem τῆ λοιμῆ i. peſtilentiæ.

Logia. A river or lake in Ireland, called Loughfoyle, neer Derry.

Logus. Lug, a little river of South-Wales, that runs out of Radnor-ſhire into Wy.

LONDINUM; Londinium, Tac. Londonia, Bed. Auguſta Trinobantum, Amm. Colonia Auguſta, Tac. Lundain, Brit. qu. Llan Dian, i. Fanum Dianæ, & Caerlud, qu. urbs Ludi regis, cujus nomen & porta vetuſta præ ſe fert, Ludgate dicta; Londres, Gall. The City of London, ſeated upon the river Thames, with a ſtone-bridg of 19 Arches over it charged with many fair buildings. It was a famous Mart-town in the time of Tacitus: after the reduction of the Heptarchy, it became the Metropolis of England. It is govern'd by a Lord Mayor, a Court of Aldermen, and the Common Council; which bears ſome reſemblance to the State, King, Lords and Commons. It was wall'd about by Conſtantine the Great. Since the late dreadful fire, it hath riſen, like a Phœnix out of its Aſhes. Long may it proſper!

Londinum novum. New London or Boſton in New England.

Longimanus, ſic dict. Artarxerxes 59. Perſarum Imperat. quòd alteram manum haberet longiorem.

Longinus, à Longus. The name of a man.

Longobardi, ſic à longa barba, quam gerebant, dicti, Iſid. unde & gr. à Strab. voc. Macropogones; vel dict. quaſi Lingobardi (ſic enim à Pontico nominantur) eò quòd Lingones populi Germaniæ, & Bardi Galliarum populi, factâ unione gentem unam & nomen unum admiſcuerunt, quum tempore Juſtiniani ad utramque Padi ripam ſedem fixerunt. The Lumbards.

Longobardia. Lumbardy, antiquè dict. Gallia Ciſalpina. It contains in it ſeveral countries and States: Piedmont, Milan, Monferrat, Mantua, Modena, Parma, Ferraria, much of the territory of Venice, and Bononia. It was once a Kingdom of it ſelf, till Charles the Great put an end to it.

Longovicum. Lancheſter, in Northumberland; Camd.

Lotharingia, à Lothario Rege Galliæ dict. unde & Lotharii regnum voc. priùs Auſtraſia dict. The country of Lorain in France, a Dukedom.

Lotis, Nympha in lotum arborem mutata, quum Priapi vim fugeret; Ovid.

Lotophagi, dict. à lote, quòd ejus fructu victitant. A people of an Iſland upon the coaſt of Barbary. Ovid.

Lŏvānium. The City and Univerſity of Lovain in Brabant.

Loventinum. Poweſland in Wales, ſay ſome: or rather, a town once two miles off Brecknock, ſwallowed up, as 'tis thought, with an Earthquake, where now the lake Llin Savatan is; Camd.

Loxa. The river Loſſe near Scotland.

Loxĭas à λέξις obliquus, propter obliqua reſponſa; vel quòd Zodiacum oblique pererret. A name of Apollo; Macrob.

L ante U.

Lŭa mater, dea quædam apud veteres, à luendo i. purgando expiandóque nomen ſortita, quæ præerat luſtrationibus & luſtris. They uſed in her ſacrifices to burn the Enemies Armour, and the ſpoils taken in War, to atone the ſlaughter of men; Liv.

Lŭbĕca. Lubeck, a Hans-town of lower Saxony, ten leagues off Hamburg.

Lūca, dict. à Lucumone Hetruſcorum rege. A brave City of Tuſcany.

Lūcāni pop. Italiæ, à Samnitibus oriundi, Appulis vicini.

Lucānia, Hor. A country in Italy belonging to the kingdom of Naples.

Lucanus, a, um; Hor. Of that country.

Lucānus. A famous Poet born at Corduba, who wrote the Hiſtory of the civil wars between Cæſar and Pompey in Hexameter verſes: he was put to death by Nero.

Lūcārĭa, festa apud Rom. celebrata in luco, in quo Romani à Gallis fugati sese occultârunt: Lucus autem iste erat permagnus inter Salariam & Tiberim: Fest.

Lūcas, æ; m. à luco dict. A Physician of Antioch in Syria, and after one of the four Evangelists, who was martyred in Greece, if we may believe Nicephorus, they hanging him on a green Olive-tree bearing fruit, for want of dry timber.

Lucas bos, Sen. i. Elephantus, sic dict. quòd Romani eos primum conspexerint in Lucania, Pyrrhi bello; Var. A Lucanus ergo Lucani, ut à Picenus Picens; inde Lucas, æ; V. An Elephant.

Lūcenses, pop. Hisp. Tarrac. Plin.

Lūcentum, Plin. Lucentia, Mel. opp. Hisp. Tarracon, maritimum.

Lūcĕres, una tribuum, in quas Romulus populum distribuit; sc. Ramnenses dict. à Romulo, Tatienses à Tatio, & Luceres à Lucerio Ardeæ rege, qui auxilio fuit Romulo adversus Tatium; Fest. vel à Lucumone, Var. & Plin. sive à Lucoasyli, Plut. quod est magis verisimile, ut omnes advenæ in hæc tribu essent.

Lūcĕria Luc. Nuceria, Suet. A City of Apulia. ◊ Also Lucern in Swizzerland, the head of a Canton.

Lūcerna. A town of the Helvetians, commonly called Lucern. nomen obtinuit à magna turri in exitu lacûs, ex qua olim nocturni ignes navigantibus præluxerunt: dic. & Luceria

Lucetius, Jupiter sic dict. qu. Lucis auctor. Fest.

Lucia. A Widow and a Maid of that name, who were both Martyrs in Sicily.

Lūcĭānus. A learned Greek who wrote Dialogues: He was a great scoffer at Religion, and was worried to death by dogs.

Lucifer, ĕri; m. φωσφόρος. The morning star.

Lūcĭlĭus. An ancient Poet that first writ Satyrs in Latine; born at Aurunca; whence Juv. calls him magnus Auruncæ alumnus.

Lūcĭna, dict. quòd partum ferat in lucem; vel quòd oculis præsit & luci; vel à luco qui Romæ Junoni sacer est in Exquiliis, unde Ovid. 2. Fast. Gratia Lucinæ: dedit hæc tibi nomina lucus: Aut quia principium tu dea luci habes. Juno or Diana so called.

Lucipor, i. Lucii puer, sive servus, antiqu.

Lūcĭus, dict. quòd primâ luce natus esset, Fest. A Sirname of divers Romans.

Lucopibia, quæ postea Candida Casa & Ninianopolis dict. A City of Scotland, in Galloway, called Whittern or Whit-hern, a Bishops See.

Lucrētĭa. A chast Lady of Rome, the wife of Tarquinius Collatinus, who with a dagger slew her self after Sextus Tarquinius, who was then King, had ravished her; upon which occasion the people of Rome rising in arms, banished all that family of the Tarquines; and changed the government from a Monarchy to an Aristocracy, which was by Consuls.

Lucrētĭlis, mons in Sabinis; Hor.

Lucrētĭus. A Latine Poet, that wrote six books of the works of nature; his wife gave him a love-potion, which drove him into such a madness that he killed himself: Euseb.

Lucrii dii; qui lucrorum consecutionibus præsident; Arnob.

Lucrinum, opp. Apuliæ; Mela.

Lucrinus lacus; fort. à lucro, ob multitudinem piscium. A lake of Campania, in Italy, near the Bay of Puzzoli, full of dainty fish. Now, since a new hill lately started up there, little is left of it but a dirty quag.

Luctātĭus Catulus. A noble Roman who vanquished the Carthaginians in a Sea-fight between Sicily and Africa, and put an end to the first Punick war.

Lūcullus. A noble and wealthy Roman; in his prætorship, he governed Africk, afterward being sent against Mithridates K. of Pontus, he beat him out of his Kingdom, and rescued his Colleague Cotta that was besieged in Chalcedon; after his victories, being called home, he gave himself wholly to a sensual life; his wit at the last failing him, he was delivered to the tuition of M. Lucullus his brother.

Lŭcĭmo, i. Rex, Serv. & ita usus Sidon. vel homo insanus, Fest. per syncop. Lucuon dic. Propert.

Lŭcĭmōnes. iidem qui λυκάονες, Jos. Scal. erat a. Lycaon rex Arcadiæ; similiter Thrusci, qui ex Arcadiâ in Italiam venêre, duodecim lucumones habuere, i. reges; Serv. ◊ It. insanum sign. i. λυκάνθρωπον, quod Lycaon in lupum mutatus dic.

Lūcus, Celtarum rex, à quo Parisienses Lucii, seu Leucenses appellati sunt, forsitanque eorum urbs Lucotetia ab eo cognominata Lutetia.

Lūcus Augusti. A city of Tarracon; now called Lugo, a Bishops see. ◊ Another of Gall. Narbon, called Lucus Vocontiorum, by Tac.

Lūcus Feroniæ. A town of Tuscia.

Lūdŏvicus. The name of divers Emperors and Kings; Lewis.

Lugdūnensis Gallia. The country of Lions in France. It hath on the North the English sea: on the West, partly the Ocean, partly Guian: upon the East, the river Seyne: on the South Narbone.

Lugdūnum, q. Lucii dunum. The city Lions in France, called for difference sake, Lugdunum Celtarum. Hinc Lugdunensis, Juv. Lugdunensis sinus. The gulf of Lions, in the Mediterranean, dreadful to mariners. Lugdunensis ara, Juv. An altar there, at which orators declaimed for prizes.

Lugdunum Batavorum. The city and University of Leyden in Holland.

Lugdunum Convenarum. A city of Guienne in France, called now S. Bertrand.

Lugĭa. Sutherland, in the North of Scotland.

Lugum, Louth, the chief city of Lugensis comitatus, Louth county in Ireland.

Luguvallum & Luguballia, Bed. Carlile.

Lūna. A city of Hetruria, Luc.

Lunæburgum, quæ & Luna. Lunenburg, A city in the lower Saxony, a Dukedom.

Lunæ mons. A hill in Æthiopia, where the head of Nile is.

Lunæ promontorium. In Portugal at the mouth of Tagus, called Cabo de la rocca.

Lūpa, quæ & Acca Laurentia dicta est, uxor Faustuli pastoris armenti regii, quæ geminos infantes Vestalis filiæ Numitoris ad Ripam Tyberis expositos, sc. Romulum & Remum aluit. Liv.

Lupara. The Louvre in Paris, where the French King keeps his Court.

Luperca dea appell. quòd lupa abjectis infantibus pepercerit, Arnob. ex Var.

Lŭpercal, dict. à lupa illâ, quæ Romulum cum fratre aluit, Ovid. vel quòd ibi caprum luerent, i. sacrificarent, Servius, à luo & caper, vel quod verius est, locus erat Pani Arcadiæ Deo, ab Evandro consecratus; & ut mons Lycæus à λύκος, ita Lupercal dict. à lupus; Serv. scil, ut pecudes à lupis defenderet, unde & ipse Pan Lycæus dict. A place under mount Palatine consecrated to God Pan, where they kept his solemnities.

Lŭpercālĭa; à Lupercis. Λύκαια, festa Pani Lycæo sacra. Feasts sacred to Pan, the god of the Shepherds, wherein they sacrificed a dog, as the wolfs enemy. The Priests ran up and down the streets naked, only with goats skins about them, as Pan himself is pictured, with the lappets of which skins they struck all the women they met with, to make them fruitful; they went naked as others say, because when Romulus and Remus kept this solemnity, thieves stole away their Cattel, and they followed them stark naked, and took them again.

Lŭperci, à lupa Romuli nutrice, vel quod lupercalibus in lupercali sacra faciunt; Var. contrà potius. = Crepi; Fest. Vid. Appell. The ministers of that solemnity.

Lupfurdum, al. Lipsia & Phylira. The city Leypsick in Germany.

Lūpia; Mel. Luppia, Tac. The river Lyppe in Germany, that runs through Westphalia into the Rhine at Wesel.

Lupodūnum, Auson. A castle in Germany, three leagues from Friburg.

Luppia. The city Lipstadt, a Hanse-town of Germany, so called from the river Lippe.

LUSITANIA. Plin. 3. 3. scribit Lusum Liberi patris, ac Lysam cum eo debacchantem nomen dedisse Lusitaniæ. The third part of Spain, called now Portugal. It is parted on the North from Tarracon by the river Ducro, and on the South from Bætica, (which are other two parts of Spain) by the river Anas. It had formerly seaventeen Kings of its own successively: till Cardinal Henry the last dying without issue, Philip the second of Spain seiz'd it; but sixty years after, to wit, in the year 1640, it fell to the house of Braganza. Pop. Lusitani.

Lūtĕtĭa, quæ & Lutetia Parisiorum: à Luto, vel dicitur Lucotetia, à parietum albedine, quam Græci λευκοτείαν vocant. The city Paris in France, upon the river Seine, the chief city of the country, and indeed, for its largeness and multitude of people, of all Europe. There is also an University, which was founded by Charles the Great.

Luttervortium. Lutterworth in Leicester-shire, where that old Protestant John Wickliff was Parson.

Lutum. Louth, a town of Ulster in Ireland, chief of that country.

L ante Y.

Lyæus, dict. παρὰ τὸ λύειν τὰ μέλη, quòd solvat membra, unde etiam λυσιμελὴς dicitur; vel à λύω solvo, quòd solvat curas; Hor. One of Bacchus his names.

Lycăbētas, Stat. A high hill neer Athens, fruitful in Olives.

Lycæum. A famous School at Athens. Suid.

Lycæus, Arcadiæ mons, Pani pastorum deo sacer, qui & ipse Lycæus dictus, quòd τὺς λύκους, i. lupos, ob ovibus abercere credebatur.

Lycambes, æ; m. Hor. The father of Neobule, who having espoused his daughter to Archilochus the Poet, and afterward refusing to give her unto him, Archilochus wrote such bitter verses against him, as caused him and his daughter to hang themselves. Hinc Lycambeus, a, um; Ovid.

LYCAON, ŏnis; m. (ā) ἀ λύκος lupus, quem crudis moribus retulit, & in quem mutatus est. A king of Arcadia, son of Pelasgus, whom Jupiter, because he had slain a boy upon his altar, turned into a wolf, so Paus. But Ovid gives a larger account, which is this, that Jupiter bearing an ill report of wickedness among st men, came down to see whether it were so; and travelling the country to find out the truth, one night he came to Lycaons palace, and made known that he was a god; whereupon the people made ready to sacrifice to him, but Lycaon derided their simplicity, and told them he would quickly know whether his guest were a god or no: In the night he went to Jupiter's chamber, with design to murder him; but missing of his purpose, he tried another way; he took one of the hostages he had from the Molossians, and slew and dressed him, and set him before Jupiter to eat; who moved with indignation, overthrew the palace with thunder and lightning, and turned him as he fled into the woods, into a Wolf. ◊ Also a cunning sword-Cutler of Gnossus in Crete; Vir. ◊ Hinc Lycaonius, a, um; Lycaonio sub axe, Ovid. under the North-pole; quòd Callisto Lycaonis filia in ursam majorem mutata esset.

Lycāŏnĭa, à Lycaone dict. A country in Asia the less, on the South of Cappadocia, divided from Cilicia by mount Taurus; the chief city whereof is Iconium, whence 'tis called now Cogni. S. Jerom makes it a city of lesser Phrygia. ◊ Pop. Lycaones. Hinc Lycaonius, a, um; Catul.

Lycaste, i. Lupina, scortum nobile apud Drepanum, sic & Laurentia meretrix Lupa dicitur: Of her Butes begat Eryx. ◊ Also a Cretan Nymph in Claud.

Lycastum, opp. Cappadociæ, apud Halyn fluvium; Mela.

Lycastus, sic dict. à luporum multitudine, quæ ibi esse creditur, quos gr. λύκους vocant. al. à Lycaste nymphâ. A town of Crete, neer the Dictæan hill; whence Dictæa Lycaste, Claud.

Lyces, m. Vol. M. Lycus Ptol. fl. Scythiæ Europæ. ◊ It. Macedoniæ urbs, ad Bevum fl. Liv.

Lycēum. Aristotles School hard by Athens, where he taught Philosophy. Indè Peripatetici dicti sunt, qui disputabant inambulantes in Lyceo. Cic. ◊ It. Gymnasium Ciceronis in fundo Tusculano, dict. à nomine Aristotelicæ Schola; Cic.

Lychnĭdus, Liv. Lychnidion, Polyb. A City and Lake in the west part of Macedony; now called L'Ochrida.

Lychnos, locus Ægypti, circa Pelusium; Hier.

Lycĭa, nomen habet à Lyco rege, Pandionis filio. A country in Asia the less now called Bricquia, by others Aldinelli situated between Caria and Pamphylia ◊ Pop. Lycii, Cic. excellent Archers, Vir. Lyciæ sortes, Id. because Apollo had a Oracle in that country at Patara.

Lycĭdas. The name of a Centaur: Ovid. Also a shepherd in Virgil.

Lycimnia. The name of one of Horaces mistresses.

Lycisca, canis natus ex lupo & cane, Serv. sc. à λύκος lupus, fit dim. λυκίσκος, inde Lycisca, Vir. A dogs name.

Lycius, λύκειος, Apollo, vel simpliciter accipiendus Νόμιος, vel Ἀγυιεύς, cujus præsidio pecudes tutæ erant, cujusque numine lupi interimerentur: unde apud Soph. dicitur λυκοκτόνος vel sic à Danao dictus est; cùm enim Danao esset controversia de regno Argivorum cum Gelanore pronepote Agenoris, qui erat abnepos Phoronei, disceptantibus Argivis, fortè accidit ut lupum validissimus taurum adoriretur, & sterneret, quo viso cùm Argivi Danaum, externum hominem, lupo conferrent, adjudicârunt illi regnum; ipse hoc ad Apollinem beneficium referens λύκειον consecravit: vel ἀπὸ τῆς λύκης, i. a luce matutinâ sic dictus; vel simpl. quòd in Lycia haberet celebre oraculum.

Lycŏmēdes. A king of the Island Scyrus, to whom Thetis gave her son Achilles to be kept (she having stollen him from his master Chiron) to pass away the time, disguised in womans Apparel; that so he might avoid the going to war, from whence, if he had gone, she knew he should never return. The young Squire in this disguise got one of the Kings daughters in child, Deidamia by name, who brought him a son, named Pyrrhus.

Lycomedis; Plin. lacus Africæ, in Marmaricæ finibus, hod. Linxano.

Lycon, adeò in dicendo suavis ut pro Lycon Glycon nominaretur. Also a town of Portugal, Liv. hod. Lebon.

Lycŏphron. A famous Poet of Chalcis, and composer of Tragedies; He was one of the seven Poets, called Pleiades, from the seven stars: He wrote a very obscure poem, called Alexandra, where he mentions Cassandra's prophecies. Tenebrasq; Lycophronis atri, Stat.

Lycŏpŏlis, Plin. λυκόπολις, i. e. luporum urbs. sic dict. propterea quod Æthiopes agros Ægyptios inursantes lupi factâ acie repulerint; ideo Ægyptii hanc urbem in luporum honorem condiderunt; Diod. Sic. A city of Ægypt upon the Nile, now called Munia.

Lycŏrias. The name of a Nymph; Virg.

Lycŏris, ĭdis; f. Vir. Volumnii senatoris liberta, vero nomine Citheris dicta, miserè à Corn. Gallo poetâ adamata, quo tamen spreto Antonium in castra sequuta est.

Lycormas, æ; m. Ovid. A river of Ætolia, called also Evenus; It runs by the city Calydon, whence Ovid calls it Calydonius.

Lycos, fons Indiæ, cujus aquâ lucernæ ardent; Plin.

Lyctus, & Lyttus, Hom. à Lyctio Lycaonis filio, Idomenei patria. A city in Crete now called Paleo Castro: indè Lyctius, a, um; Vir.

Lycurgides, filius Lycurgi: Ovid.

LYCURGUS, A noble Spartan, and famous Lawgiver, son to Polydectes, and brother to Eunomus King of the Lacedemonians; he established the Commonwealth with the best laws in Greece. See his life described by Plutarch. He lived about the time of the Prophet Elias. ◊ Also a king of Nemea; the father of Archemorus; Stat. ◊ Also a king of Thrace, son of Dryas, who, because his people did use to drink wine immoderately, cut down the vines throughout all his kingdom. Poet.

LYCUS. λύκος i. lupus. A king of Bœotia, who married Antiopa the daughter of king Nycteus; afterwards finding that Jupiter had lain with her in the form of a Satyre, he put her away, and married one Dirce; she being afraid lest Antiopa should be received into favour again, kept her bound fast. Jupiter loosed her, and she fled unto the hill Cithæron, where she was deliver'd of twins, Amphion and Zethis, who being grown up revenged their mothers quarrel by killing Lycus and his wife. ◊ Also an exile of Thebes, who about that time as Hercules went into hell, having slain Creon king of Thebes, seiz'd on the kingdom, and would have ravished Megara, Hercules's wife; but Hercules came and rescued her, and slew him. Sen. ◊ Also one of Æneas his companions, Vir. ◊ Also a Boy beloved by Alcæus, Hor. ◊ Also a river of Phrygia the great, not far from Laodicea; that runs some miles under ground, and falls into Mæander, Plin. now called Licho. ◊ Also a river of Paphlagonia, that runs into the Euxin Sea; Ovid. ◊ And another of Sicily called Platina, with sundry others of the same name.

Lydda. A City of Palæstine called now S. Georgio; not far from Joppa; it was formerly called Diospolis.

Lydes, æs; f. Ovid. The wife of Antimachus the Poet, upon whom after her death he made an Elegy.

Lydi, Claud. People of Lydia, given to riot and luxury.

LYDIA; Ovid. dict. à Lydo Aryos filio ejus regionis rege: vel potius à Lud filio Sem. A country of lesser Asia, betwixt Phrygia Eastward, and Ionia Westward; formerly called Mæonia, now Carasia. Sardes was the chief city: Crœsus the last King. Hinc Lydius lapis, id. qui Heraclius & Magnes, Plin. quòd & Heraclea & Magnesia sint urbes Lydiæ, & hic est qui ferrum trahit. Est item alius quo aurum probatur, in Tmolo flumine Lydiæ inventus. A Loadstone and a Touchstone, the one to draw iron, the other to try gold; both found in Lydia. ◊ Also the name of a Girl in Horace.

Lydus. A king of Mæonia, afterwards of him called Lydia. ◊ Also Hercules's son by Iole.

Lygdămum. A city of Mysia; Plin.

Lygdămus. The name of a man; Propert.

Lygus, Tac. The name of a stout resolute woman.

Lymira. A City of Lycia, by the river Lymirus; Mela.

Lynceſtis. A country and river of Macedony: Indè Lynceſtius, a, um. Ovid. Lynceſtæ, populi.

LYNCEUS, i; m. Λυγκεύς, ἀ λύγξ λυγκὸς, lynx lyncis, quod est animal perspicacissimum, q. d. lyncois oculis prædi-

tus,

tus, ὀξυδερκὴς qui oculorum acie terram ipſam penetraret, videretque ea, quæ apud inferos fierent; Val. Fl. The ſon of Aphareus, and one of the Argonauts, admired for his quickneſs of ſight: he could ſee into hell, and tell what they did there; and ſhips one hundred and thirty miles from him; He could ſee the old and the new Moon, on the ſame day when it was in the ſign Aries. The occaſion of this ſtory was, that he firſt found out mines of braſs and ſilver and gold; which made them think or ſay at leaſt, that he could ſee under ground; Tzetz. ◊ Alſo another of that name whom Ovid calleth Linus, the ſon of Ægyptus, who alone of all his fifty brethren, through the pity of his Wife Hypermneſtra, eſcaped death: afterwards he having driven out or ſlain his father in law Danaus, reigned at Argos. ◊ Alſo the brother of Idas ſlain by Pollux after he had ſlain Caſtor. ◊ Indè Lynceus, a, um.

Lyncus, Ovid. A king of Scythia, whom (for his inhumanity toward Triptolemus, the meſſenger of Ceres) the goddeſs Ceres changed into a beaſt, called Lynx, i. e. The Ounce.

Lyra: Ovid. ſignum cœleſte ſtellarum novem; vid. Appell.

Lyrcæ, populi Scythiæ, qui venatione victitant hoc modo; conſcenſis arboribus quas habent frequentes, inſidiantur feris: ſingulis adeſt canis & equus in ventrem cubare edoctus, humilius ſubſidendi gratiâ: ubi quis feram ab arbore vidit, ſagittâ percutit; percuſſa ſi fugiat, conſcenſo equo perſequitur, comitante cane.

Lyrcæus, a, um; Ovid. Lycæus, Vir. An hill of Arcadia, out of which iſſueth the river Inachus. hinc Lyrceus, a, um; Val. Fl.

Lyrneſſus. A City of Troas waſted by Achilles; from whence he had Briſeis; unde illa dicta ab Ovid. Lyrneſſis. ◊ Hinc Lyrneſſius, adj. Id.

Lyſander, Gr. i. ſolvens homines. A notable captain, under whoſe conduct the Lacedemonians overcame the Athenians in a ſea-fight; and was at laſt worſted by Conon the Athenian General in a land-fight, and ſlain. He is ſaid to have cared for an oath no longer than it would ſerve for his purpoſe; whereupon he uſed much this Apophthegm; Where the Lyons ſkin (i. true valour) will not prevail, we muſt put on the Foxes: i. we muſt uſe craft: See him deſcribed and paralelled with Sylla by Plutarch.

Lyſanias, æ; m. An Orator of Greece. ◊ Alſo a Governor of Abilene; Luc. 3.

Lyſiades; Cic. An Athenian, ſon to Phædrus the Philoſopher.

Lyſias, æ; m. One of the ten famed Orators, the ſon of Cephalus, commended by Cicero in Bruto.

Lyſidice, i. jura diſſolvens. The daughter of Pelops and Hippodamia, wife to Electryon, and mother of Alcmena, the mother of Hercules: Plut.

Lyſimachia, i. pugnæ diſſolutio. A City built by Lyſimachus in Thrace, it was called by Ptolomy ἑξαμίλιον, and now Hexamili. ◊ It. herba, ab eodem Lyſimacho, uno ex Alexandri ſucceſſoribus, inventa; Plin. vid. Appell.

Lyſimachus, Λυσίμαχος, pugnas diſſolvens. The ſon of Agathocles, one of Alexanders captains, made Governor of Pergamus, where Alexanders treaſure lay; who for the love he bare to learning, had ſo great an eſteem and reſpect for Calliſthenes, that Alexander being highly offended at it, made Lyſimachus be thrown to a Lion. But he with undaunted courage taking a Towel, wrapt it about his arm, and thruſt his hand into the Lions mouth, and ſlew him by pulling out his tongue; for which act he was ever after had in favour with Alexander, and afterward was king of Thrace.

Lyſinoe, civ. Aſiæ minoris, circa Pamphyliam; Liv.

Lyſippe. One of the daughters of Prætus who for preferring themſelves before Juno, were ſtruck with that madneſs, that they run about the fields, fancying themſelves to be kine.

Lyſippus, i. equos diſſolvens. A Comical Poet; alſo a Carver of Sicyon, Plin. that made his ſtatues to the life, Quint. whereupon Alexander ordered that none but he ſhould make his Statue, Hor.

Lyſis; fl. Aſiæ minoris, circa Pamphyliam; Liv.

Lyſiſtratus, i. exercitum diſſolvens. The brother of Lyſippus, an excellent ingraver in clay; Plin.

Lyſius, λύσιος, ἀπὸ τῦ λύειν, i. a ſolvendo, dict. eò quòd Bacchus curas ſolvit. A name of Bacchus among the Bœotians.

Lyſo. An hoſt or entertainer of Cicero.

Lyſtra; pl. n. A City of Iſauria, neer to Derbe; once a Biſhops ſeat under the Archbiſhop of Iconium, now quite ruin'd.

Lytarmis. A promontory in the North-coaſt of Norway, now called Wardhuſs, with a Caſtle of the ſame name; or, as others place it, 900 miles Eaſtward from thence, in the North part of Muſcovy, called now Cap d'Oby, it lying at the mouth of that river.

Lythirambus: Bacchus ſo called, dict. quòd Jupiter illum aſſuerit femori, ac mox eo in lucem prodituro inclamaverit, λῦσον μέμορα, i. ſolve ſuturam.

---

M ante A.

MAcæ, pop. juxta Cinyphem fl. in Africa; unde Cinyphii Macæ, Sil.

Macareus, i. beatus. The ſon of Æolus, who lay with his ſiſter Canace, and had a child by her. For which fact the Grandfather gave order to make away the child; & ſent his daughter a ſword, bidding her make that uſe of it ſhe deſerved. But Macareus eſcaped by flight. Her Epiſtle to him we have written by Ovid.

Macaria, μακαρία i. beata. The daughter of Hercules, who willingly offered her ſelf in ſacrifice to appeaſe the infernal ghoſts, and to gain the victory on the Athenians ſide againſt Euryſtheus; which fell out accordingly: Cæl. Rhod. ◊ Suid. calleth her the daughter of Pluto: unde illud proverbium, Βάλλ' εἰς μακαρίαν, Frojice in Macariam, i. abi in malam rem.

Macarius. A Martyr under the Emperor Decius. ◊ Another, Biſhop of Jeruſalem.

Macedo, filius Oſiridis, filii Jovis, à quo Macedoniam dictam volunt; civis Macedo, pl. Macedones; pop. Macedoniæ.

Macedonia, olim Emathia, Plin. Pæonia, Mygdonia & Æmonia, Liv. Edonia & Pieria, Solin. Mœcia, Steph. & in lib. Machab. Cethim, in medio duorum marium Ionii ab Occaſu, & Ægæi ab Ortu deſcribitur. A large country of Greece, containing ſeveral provinces. It is now all under the Turk. Philip was King of this country, who having conquered moſt of his neighbours left the reſt for his ſon Alexander to do. Hinc Macedonicus, a um; Liv.

Macedonius. An Heretick, who denyed the divinity of the holy Ghoſt. Aug.

Macer. A Poet, who wrote of herbs in verſe, and made a ſupplement to Homer. Ovid.

Maceſtus; Plin. A river of Myſia, falling into Rhyndacus, now called Megiſto.

Machabæus. The ſirname of Judas eldeſt ſon of Mattathias, a great warrior, whoſe hiſtory we have in the books of the Maccabees. He was ſo called, ſay the Jews, from the four initial letters of this ſentence מִי כָמוֹךָ בָּאֵלִים יְהוָה, which make together מַכַּבִּי. Moreover by the Ancients all the poſterity of that Mattathias, and thoſe Jews who ſuffered for their religion, were termed Maccabees.

Machærus, untis. A caſtle in Judæa, where S. John Baptiſt was beheaded; Baron. fort. igitur à μάχαιρα gladius dicta.

Machāon, ŏnis; m. Ovid. The ſon of Æſculapius and Arſinoe; a famous Phyſician, that went with the Grecians to the Trojan war.

Machara; Cic. A town in the midſt of Sicily, now called Traina.

Machlinia. A city in the Netherlands, called in Dutch Meckelen, in French Malines, the chief of Brabant; it lies in the middle between Antwerp, Lovain and Bruſſels.

Machlyes, qui & Androgyni, Plin. pop. Africæ, circa Syrtim. Their right pap is like a mans, their left like a womans. Ariſt.

Macidos; Mela. A City of Thrace.

Macium. A province of India, full of Elephants. Æn. Sylv.

Maclovium. S. Malo, a famous port-town of France, on the coaſt of Bretagne.

Macolicum Malc a town in Ireland.

Macra; m. Luc. fluvius Liguriam ab Hetruria dividens, dict. hodie Magra. ◊ It. inſula maris Myrtoi, apud Eubœam, à quâ avulſa eſt, Plin.

Macris inſ. Cariæ, in mari Rhodienſi; Plin. ◊ It. Eubœa ſic dicta ob longitudinem; Id.

Macrobii, μακρόβιοι, i. longævi, à longævitate dict. pop. Africæ, in Meroe inſ. Mela: & in Æthiopia ad ſolis ortum, Plin. etiam Hyperborei ſic dicti, Euſt.

Macrobius, μακρόβιος, longævus, viri conſularis nomen, qui fuit Servii coætaneus, qui in ſomnium Scipionis commentariorum libros duos, alioſque ſeptem Saturnalium conſcripſit.

Macrocephali, μακροκέφαλοι, à capitis longitudine dicti. Plin. People of Cappadocia, about the city Ceraſus.

Macrochir; μακροχείρ, i. Longimanus. A name of Artaxerxes.

Macrones, pop. Cappadociæ; Val. Fl.

Macrontichos, μακρὸν τεῖχος, i. longum habens murum. A City of Thrace next to the Iſthmus of Cherroneſus, where

Milti-

Miltiades made a long wall from Propontis to the Melian Gulf.

Macrynius; Plin. The greateſt hill of all Ætolia, by the town Chalcis.

Madagaſcar. A large Iſland in the Æthiopick ſea, called by Pliny, Cerne; by the Portugals, S. Laurence.

Madaura. A City of Africk, betwixt Getulia and Numidia; where S. Auſtin ſome time went to ſchool. From this place Apuleius is called Madaurenſis.

Madian. A County in Arabia Petræa, ſo called from Abrahams ſon by Keturah. pop. Madianitæ.

Madus, Maidſtone in Kent: Camd.

Mæander, dri; m. Ovid. μαιάνδρος, unde & Mæandrus, Solin. dict. quòd ſinuoſis flexibus oberret, quaſi Μαίων τὸς ἄνδρας, i. quærens hominum conſortia. A large river in Phrygia, now called Madre, that parts Caria from Ionia. It runs with a great many turnings and windings, no leſs than 600, as one has reckon'd them.

Mæandria, Epiri oppidum, Plin.

Mæandropolis, opp. Cariæ, ad Mæandrum fl. Plin.

Mæatæ. People in the confines of England and Scotland, about the Wall; whoſe country is called Laudonia.

Mæcia, caſtri nomen in Italia; à quo Mæcia tribus; Sex. Pomp.

Mænades, um; f. μαινάδες, αἱ βακχαὶ, Heſ. à μανίαις injanie, quòd in celebrandis orgiis furore eſſent percitæ. Propert. habet in ſing. Mænas. Women ſacrificers to Bacchus.

Mænalus, Plin. & Mænala, orum, Vir. dict. à Mænalo Lycaonis filio. A famous hill and City in Arcadia: inde Mænalius, a, um, adj. Vir. & Mænalis ora, Ovid.

Mænaria, dict. à Mœnis piſcibus, quorum ibi capitur copia. A ſmall Iſle of the Tyrrhen ſea, now called Mallora, five miles off Legorn, Weſtward. Alſo ſome Iſles of that name near Palma a City of Majorca; Plin.

Mænius, Conſul Romanus, ann. ab U. C. 330. devictis navali prælio priſcis Latinis ac Antiatibus, eorum roſtra navium ærata in foro poſuit, appellarique forum Roſtra cœpit; Liv.

Mæon, pater Homeri: unde ipſe voc. Mæonides, & carmina ejus Mæonia, Mart.

Mæonia. A country of leſſer Aſia, called alſo Lydia, inde Arachne Mæonis dict. quia ex Mæonia. & in Acc. plur. Mæonidas i. Muſas. Hinc & Mæonius, a, um; Vir. epitheton Bacchi, quòd ibi eſſet vini genus jucundiſſimum.

Mæönides, æ; m. Mart. Homer, the ſon of Mæon.

Mæotis, idis; f. palus Scythica; Mæotis lacus, Plin. Cimmeriæ paludes, Claud. Ponti Euxini principium eſſe proditur, unde Euſtat. eam dictam vult μαίωσιν & ſynæreſi μαίαν, id eſt ponti nutricem: incolæ Mæotæ. Hinc Mæotius & Mæoticus, adj. vulgo vocatur Mar delle Zabacche, &c. Scythis Temerinda, i. mater maris. The dead lake in the country of Scythia, into which runneth the river Tanais, which divideth Europe from Aſia. It is about ſix hundred miles in compaſs.

Mæſia ſylva; Plin. A wood of Tuſcany, now called Boſco di Baccano.

Mæſius mons; Plin. Myſius, Mel. mons Myſiæ, in Aſia, qui & Olympus.

Mævius. A ſorry Poet in Virgil.

Magæ ſeu magnæ. Old Radnor in Wales. Camd.

Magdeburgum. Maidenburg a Hanſe-town of lower Saxony, an Archbiſhops ſea once, now a Dutchy belonging to the Marquis of Brandenburg. It is called by Scholars Parthenopolis and Parthenope.

Magella, opp. Siciliæ, prope Ennam; hod. Magellino. Pop. Magellini, Plin.

Magellanica, regio Americæ Auſtralis ampliſſima, à Ferd. Magellano Luſitano ſic dicta.

Măgĕtæ, pop. Africæ, gæſis utentes; Stat.

Magetrobia ſeu Magetobriga; Cæſ. opp. Sequanorum. Mombelliard in Burgundy; or as others, Magſtat in Lorain; or Bingen a little below Mentz.

Magiovinium & Magioventum. Aſhwel in Hertfordſhire, or Dunſtable.

Maglova. Maclenith in Montgomeriſhire; Camd.

Magna Græcia. A large country of Italy ſo called, now belonging to Naples.

Magnæ, & Magæ. Cheſter in the wall near Haltweſſel; Old Radnor; Camd.

Magneſia. A City of Aſia the leſs, either in Ionia, Plin. or in Caria. vulg. Mangrelia. ◊ It. Lydiæ civ. proxima Sardibus. ◊ It. provincia Theſſaliæ, in Macedoniâ; Plin. ◊ Magnetes pop. ſing. Magnes, qui & lapidem ſign. qui ferrum trahit, à patriâ dict. ſc. quòd circa Magneſiam proveniret; ἡ μαγνῆτις λίθος, Heſ. vid. Appell. Hinc Magneſius & Magneſſus, adj. Hor.

Magnopolis ſeu Megalopolis. Meckelburg, three miles from Wiſmar, in Germany.

Magnum promontorium, Mel. al. Olyſſipponenſe, Plin. A promontory at the mouth of Tagus, ſix leagues from Lisbon, called Cabo de Caſcais; or, as others, Capo de la Roca, a league off the Caſtle of Caſcais.

Magnus portus. The Port of Southampton, Ort. or Portſmouth, Camd.

Mago. The name of divers Carthaginians; whereof the firſt was father of Aſdrubal and Hannibal, who was a friend to the Romans, helping them with an hundred and twenty ſhips, in the Wars at Tarentum. Liv. ◊ Another Mago was the brother of Hannibal. Another taken by Scipio at Carthage in Spain, and ſent by Lælius to Rome. Another Mago, who wrote 28 Volumes de Re ruſtica; which were by order of Senate tranſlated into Latin. Col. & Serv. ◊ Alſo a large Port-town in Minorca Iſland, ſo called from Mago the ſon of Aſdrubal, who built it: it is called now Mahon.

Magontiacum, Tac. Magontia, Eutrop. The City Mentz, or Mayence (as the French call it) in Germany, the ſeat of the Elector, who is an Archbiſhop. It is by later writers called Moguntia.

Mahumetes, vel Mahometes, vel propiùs ad Arabum ſermonem, Muhammedes, i. laudatus. Mahomet, an Arabian, who pretending himſelf a great Prophet, with the help of one Sergius an Apoſtate Monk, and of a Renegado Jew, compoſed an Alcoran, wherein he took upon him to correct the old Law, framing it to the carnal humours of men, whereby he got many Proſelytes, and erected unto himſelf a Kingdom: See him deſcribed at large in the Hiſtory of the Turks and Saracens; and in Polyd. Virg. l. 7. He made his flight from the City Mecca in the year of Chriſt 622. from which the Saracens make their reckoning of time, calling it Hegira. ◊ Alſo the name of ſome Turkiſh Emperors: one took Conſtantinople, and put an end to the Greek Empire.

Maia, gr. i. nutrix. The daughter of Atlas ex Pleione Nympha, of whom Jupiter begat Mercury; and one of the Pleiades. ◊ Alſo another Goddeſs of that name, to whom the month of May is inſcribed, to wit, the Earth, ſo called à magnitudine; as ſhe is alſo called magna mater. Vett. ap. Macrob. ◊ Alſo the name of Virgils mother, ſo called from her father Maius, as Tullies daughter was called Tullia, &c. ◊ Alſo a little Iſle nine miles off Edenburg called the May, in Forth-bay.

Majeſta, æ; f. Vulcan's wife ſo called by the Ancients. Macrob.

Majeſtas, Dea, Honoris & Reverentiæ filia; Ovid. Faſt.

Maius menſis, à Majoribus, Var. ut Junius à Junioribus, Feſt. vel à Maia, quòd Mercurio filio ejus res divinæ Idibus fiant ſolennes; Id. verùm an Maia hæc Mercurii mater ſit, an alia pot. ejuſdem nominis Dea, dubitant vett. Proinde al. à deo Maio i. Jove ducunt, Macr. qui ita dict. à majus, i. magnus, unde majeſtas. The month of May. ◊ A name of Jupiter, Macr. ◊ Virgil's grandfather by the mothers ſide, (not as 'tis commonly read in his life, Magus) as appears by his daughters being called Maiatoe.

Malaca ſeu Malacha, Plin. A City and Port of Spain, whence the Malaga-wine. Pop. Malacitani.

Malachias, æ; m. One and the laſt of the twelve leſſer Prophets.

Malchus. The High-Prieſts ſervant, whoſe ear Peter ſmote off.

Malcolmus. A King of Scotland, A. D. 1154.

Maldunenſe cœnobium. Malmesbury in Wilt-ſhire.

Malea, dict. à Maleo Argivorum rege, qui in ea templum pulchrum conſtruxit, quod Maleaticum appellavit. A Promontory of Laconia, called Capo Malio, very dangerous to ſail by. Al. Malæa, Ovid. penult. communis eſt.

Maleos. Mul, one of the Weſtern Iſlands called Ebudæ, near Scotland. It is ſixty miles in compaſs.

Malĕventum. A town of the Hirpines, now called Beneventum; Plin. & Liv.

Maleus. A mountain in India; Solin.

Maliacus ſinus. A gulf in the ſea, over againſt Eubœa, by the Locrians; Plin.

Mallia Lympha, Cat. neer Thermopylæ and the mount Œte.

Mallos. The City Mallo in Cilicia, not far from Tarſus. Lucan.

Malodunum. Maldon in Eſſex.

Malvana, Plin. fl. Mauritaniam Tingitanam à Cæſarienſi dividens.

Mamblia, urbs Æthiopiæ ſub Ægypto. Plin.

Mambre. A plain near Hebron; Bibl.

Mamercus, à Mamers, i. Mars; unde gens Mamerca, Liv. The ſon of Pythagoras.

Mamers, lingua Oſcorum Mars, vel Mavors, à Chald. ממרם part. Hiph. contundens. Mars or Mavors ſo called.

Mamertes. A Corinthian, who being releaſed from rule, ſlew his brother Siſapo's ſon, which when Siſapo knew, he cauſed him to be torn in pieces, Ovid. in Ibin.

Mamertini, dict. à civitate Mamertia, i. Martia ſive Martiali; Mamers enim Oſcè id. qui Mars. pop. Meſſanam habitantes; unde & Meſſana urbs Mamertina dic. Cic. People of Italy, where there was a good ſort of wine. Amphora Neſtoreâ tibi Mamertina ſenectâ, Mart.

Mamertus; à Mamers, i. Mars, q. d. Martius. A Biſhop of Vienna, which firſt ordained the Rogation or Proceſſion Week, kept before the Aſcenſion-day; at which faſting for three days ſpace, prayers were made for ſeaſonable weather.

Mammæa. The mother of Severus the Emperor, who gave name to a Bridg at Rome; from whom alſo boys and girls kept at Severus his charge were called Mammæani, & anæ; Lampr.

Mammæus pons; Lampr. One of the Bridges of Rome, called ſtill Ponte Mammolo.

Mammilla. The daughter of Telegonus; ab hac Mammillorum familia eſt vocata.

Mamurius; Ovid. A famous Smith or Engraver in the time of Numa Pomp. which made ſhort ſhields or targets, in the form of one which they feigned to fall down from Heaven, Feſt.

Mamurra. A noble Roman in the time of C. Cæſar, that bragged, he had in his houſe whatſoever Gallia, called Comata, could afford him; Catul.

Mamurrhæ; pl. f. Hor. A City once, now called Itro or Itri, in the kingdom of Naples.

Mana, dea, quæ Genita Mana dic. i. genitrix bona, ut Cerus manus, in Sal. carm. i. creator bonus; quòd eſſet gignendi Dea.

Manalis lapis, vel à manibus, vel à manando. Priore ſenſu, putabatur eſſe oſtium Orci, per quod animæ inferorum ad ſuperos manant, qui dicuntur Manes, Feſt. Poſteriore ſenſu, Manalem lapidem vocabant petram quandam, quæ erat extra portam Capenam, juxta ædem Martis, quam cum propter nimiam ſiccitatem in urbem pertraherent, inſequebatur ſtatim pluvia, eúmque quòd aquas manaret, manalem lapidem dixere, Id. A ſtone, which in time of drought, to procure rain, they roll'd about and tumbled up and down; which having its effect, and being drooping wet, they called lapis manalis. The rainy ſtone, or wet ſtone. Non. ex Var. & Fulg. ex Labeone.

Manapia. The town called Waterford in Ireland; or Wexford, as Camd.

Manaſſes, is; m. מְנַשֶּׁה. One of the twelve Tribes. Alſo a King of Juda, ſon of Ezekias.

Mancinus. A Conſul of Rome, who becauſe he made a league with his enemies which was prejudicial to the Romans honour, was by the Romans given into thoſe enemies hands, that ſo they might be free from ſuch baſe conditions of peace.

Mancunium. Mancheſter in Lancaſhire; Camd.

Mandane. The daughter of Aſtyages, and mother of Cyrus by Cambyſes.

Mandanis. A famous Gymnoſophiſt of India, to whom Alexander ſent meſſengers willing him to come to the feaſt of Jupiter's ſon, meaning himſelf; declaring alſo that according to his obedience he ſhould be rewarded; and if he refuſed, he ſhould be put to death. The Philoſopher firſt denying him to be Jupiter's ſon, anſwered the meſſengers, That for his gifts he eſteemed them worth nothing, ſeeing that his own country could furniſh him with neceſſaries; and as for death he did not fear it, but wiſh it rather, in that it was a change unto a more happy eſtate: ſo far did mere Philoſophy carry men in the opinion of felicity. Str.

Mandarei, Sarmatiæ Aſiaticæ pop. Plin

Mandela, Hor. pagus eſt Sabinus, hodie Poggio Mirteto.

Mandonius. A Spaniſh Captain, who at firſt took Scipio's part, afterward made a mutiny againſt him: Liv.

Mandro. One that of a common ſhipman roſe to be a King.

Mandropus, Liv. Mandropolis, Steph. A City of Phrygia.

Mandubii, Cæſ. People of Auxois in the Dutchy of Burgundy.

Manduefſedum. Mansfield in Nottingham-ſhire; or Mancester in Warwick-ſhire, Camd.

Mandurium, Liv. opp. Salentinorum.

Manes, is; m. A Perſian, the chief of the Sect of the Manichees: Aug.

Mānes, ium; m. Dii ſuperi atq; inferi diceb. quos invocabant augures, quòd ii per omnia ætheria terrenaq; manare credebantur, & quòd exiſtimabantur favere vitæ hominum; Feſt. Verum plurimi deos cœleſtes ut vivorum, ità manes mortuorum tradiderunt. Alii manes nocturnos eſſe ejus ſpatii, quòd inter cœlum terramque eſt, & ideo humoris, qui noctu cadit, poteſtatem habere; unde mane quoque ab iiſdem manibus dictum; Serv. At enim Apul. vult animum humanum exutum corpore, ſpeciem dæmonum eſſe, lemurem dictum, & manium nomine lemures quoſvis tum bonos (Lares) tum noxios (Larvas) comprehendit. Manes dicunt deos mortuorum, quorum poteſtatem inter Lunam & terram aſſerunt; dict. per antiphr. quiâ immanes & terribiles, ut Parcæ, Eumenides; Iſid. A manibus Manio, ut à Laribus Larunda dict. The Gods or Genii of the dead; properly their ſpirits or ſouls.

Manethuſa. A City in Crete. Mel.

Mania, μανία inſania, ut fuerit inſanorum dea, ſc. Larium Mater, Var. quæ alias Larunda. Sanè Laribus inſani porcum ſacrificabant; V. Rect. fort. à lat. Manes, i. mortuorum animæ, quæ & Lares dictæ. Erat ergo Mania Larium, i. Manium mater. ſi à gr. prima erit brevis, ſin à lat. longa. ◊ Alſo a city of Parthia; Plin.

Manichæi, hæretici quidam, ſic dict. à Perſa quodam qui vocatur Manes, qui SS. Trinitatem & Vet. Teſt. negavit, & duo principia, unum bonum, alterum malum ſtatuebat, &c. Of this Sect S. Auſtin was at firſt, afterward he wrote againſt it.

Manilius Octavius, Rex Thuſciæ, à quo Manilii fluxère; is Tarquinii gener, ad quem ille poſt fugam ſe recepit, ejuſque auxilio Romanis bella intulit, Liv. ◊ Alſo an Aſtronomer, who hath wrote a Poem on that ſubject to Auguſtus Cæſar.

Manius prænomen quo Romanorum quidam appellati ſunt, quòd mane eſſent nati; ut Lucii, qui oriente luce nati.

Manlia, opp. Hiſp. Tarrac. Liv. hod. Mallon.

MANLIUS Capitolinus, nobilis Romanus, à quo Manlii fluxère, prænomine Marcus. He was called Capitolinus, becauſe when the Conſuls had the over-brow by the Gauls, he ſeeing there was ſmall truſt to be repoſed in the Walls of Rome, chooſing one thouſand valiant young men, went into the Caſtle called the Capitol, and ſaved it from the enemies manfully: but for his reward the Citizens ſuſpecting that he affected the Kingdom, threw him headlong down the hill: Whereupon alſo the Senate made a decree, That none of the family of Manlius ſhould be called Mark: Liv. ◊ Alſo one Manlius Torquatus, who becauſe his ſon ingaged the enemy, though ſucceſsfully, yet without order, had him beheaded. inde imperia Manliana. Gell. ◊ Alſo Manlius Volſo, & Manlius a Proconſul, and ſeveral others of that name.

Mannus, à quo dict. Alemanni. The ſon of the god Teuton, or Tuiſco.

Mantinea, urbs Arcadiæ, olim & Antigonia, dict. ab Antigono, hodie Mantegna, locus ubi cæſus eſt Epaminondas.

Mantini, pop. Thraciæ, Serv. Mantina de gente, Vir. al. leg. Matutina.

Manto, ûs; f. Vir. Χρὸ τῆς μαντείας. dict. erat enim fatidica. A Sorcereſs, the daughter of Tireſias the Theban, who flying the tyranny of Creon and Theſeus, firſt went into Aſia, and there built a Temple to Apollo at Claros; after coming into Italy, ſhe bore a ſon called Œnus, who built a city nigh the river Po, and called it Mantua from his mothers name.

Mantua, ab Œno filio Manto condita, & à matris nomine Mantua dict. Vir. A Dukedom, and a city in Italy ſeated on the river Menzo, that runs into Po, famous for the birth of the Poet Virgil. It is more ancient than Rome by 300 years, and is now called Mantova. ◊ Alſo a City once of Spain, ſcarce three miles from Madrid, now called Villa Manta; it is called Mantua Carpetanorum, to difference it from the other. ◊ Hinc Mantuanus; adj. Stat.

Maracanda; Curt. A Royal City once of Sogdiana, now of Tartary, called Samarchand. Here Tamerlan was born.

Mărăthon, ōnis; f. Ovid. ſic dict. à copia fœniculi, quod Gr. μάραθον dicitur, inde Marathonius, a, um. Stat. A town 35 miles from Athens, now called Maratona, and Marafon, where Theſeus ſlew a terrible Bull. Alſo where Miltiades overthrew 100000 Perſians; Gell.

Marathuſſa; Plin. A little Iſland of the Ægæan Sea, where grows ſtore of fennel.

Marburgum, ſeu Martis burgum. Marburg, a City and Univerſity of the Landgrave of Heſſen.

Marca Ancona. A country of Italy, formerly called Picenum.

Marcella. A Roman Lady, who being ask'd by her mother, whether ſhe were glad ſhe was married; I marry, ſays ſhe, ſo glad, that I would no be married again.

Marcellea. Feaſts kept at Syracuſæ, in honour of Marcellus, for his good government of Sicily. Cic.

Marcellinus. An Hiſtorian, of whoſe 31 books eighteen are yet remaining. ◊ Alſo ſome others of that name.

Marcellus, dim. à Marcus, Marculus. The name of divers Romans; one whereof was five times Conſul: he overcame the Syracuſans when Archimedes was ſlain, and had ſundry battles with Hanniba', whom at laſt by a wheedle ſlew him. Sed in uer-

in.

uet at large described by Plutarch and Livy.

Marchenium. A town of Scotland, bordering upon England, called Roxburg.

Marchia. The name of several Provinces in several countries.

Marciana castra, Amm. Marburg, a town of upper Hungary.

Marcipor. ant. i. Marci puer sive servus.

Marcius saltus, Liguriæ, ubi Q. Marcius à Liguribus circumventus est. Liv.

Marcodurum, Tac. A town of lower Germany, in the Dutchy of Juliers, now called Duren.

Marcŏmanni, Paterc. Marcomanes, Claud. People near Austria; whose country is called Marck; or as others, Bohemians.

Marcus, dict. quia natus mense Martio; vel potiùs nomen Oscum, ut Mamers &c. Al. à Marra instr. rustico. At Marcus (unde marcidus) est mollis, à μαλακὸς i. μαλακὸς. vel à μὰς masculus; inde Marcus, ut à Casmen, Carmen. quidni à mas, maris maricus, contr. Marcus. A surname of divers Romans. ◊ Also S. Mark, the Evangelist.

Mardi, People of Asia about Pontus, not far from Cholchis. Curt.

Mare Mediterraneum. The sea that casteth out of the Ocean by the straits of Gibraltar, between Barbary and Spain, parting Europe from Africa. ◊ Mare Ægæum, called Archipelago, betwixt Asia and Greece. ◊ Mare Atlanticum, Plin. That part of the main Ocean on the West side of Africk. ◊ Ausonium, Plin. Part of the Ionian sea, on the East of Sicily and Magna Græcia. ◊ Austrinum, called Mar del zur, by Peru and New Spain in America. *Also the South-sea between West-*Friseland and Holland. ◊ Balticum, The Belt, betwixt Germany and Denmark, Swedeland, &c. ◊ Britannicum, Plin. The British sea, the Channel. ◊ Caledonium. That betwixt Scotland and Island. ◊ Cantabricum. The sea of Biscay. ◊ Cronium, Plin. The frozen sea, by Greenland. ◊ Erythræum, Plin. The Red-sea. ◊ Euxinum. The black sea. ◊ Hadriaticum. The Gulf of Venice. ◊ It takes several names from the several countries, as Mare Africum, Asiaticum, Gallicum, Germanicum, Hibernicum, &c.

Mărĕŏtis, Ægypti regio in quâ vinum optimum nascitur, unde Mareotides vites, Vir. i. Ægyptiæ, Serv. dictæ sunt & Mareoticæ vites; Col. & Mareoticum vinum, Hor. est & Mareotis lacus in Ægypto Lago di Buchiara dict. Alexandriam à meridie alluens; pars etiam Libyæ, quæ est inter Cyrenaicam regionem & Ægyptum; à Ptolemæo vocat. Marmarica.

Margiāna, Plin. A large Province of Parthia, towards the Caspian Sea.

Margidūnum, near Bever-castle, Camd. or Margret-overton, as Ferr. quotes him.

Măria, מָרִים, i. amaritudo eorum, Molis sorsr sic dict. cum filii Israelis amarissima servitute premerentur. A מר gutta & ים Mare, ut sit maris stilla, Hier. pro quo corr. Pontificii maris stellam voc. vel à Syr. מרא dominus, ut sit domina, Id. quià Domini mater. Id si esset, diceretur ἀναλλάκτως מרתא Marita, non Maria. Mary, the mother of our Lord; also the name of divers holy women.

Mărĭburgum. Marienburg; a city of Prussia Regal, five German miles from Danzick. ◊ Also a strong town of Henault in the Netherlands.

Mărĭāna Colonia ita dict. à C. Mario septies Consule, qui eò Coloniam duxit. A City in Corsica.

Mărĭānæ fossæ, ita dict. à vicina fossa, à C. Mario ad mare usque ducta. A town of Narbon in France, called Fos. Plin.

Mărĭandyni, Val. Fl. dict. à Mariandyno quodam Æolico. A People in Asia bordering upon Bithynia, famous for the Hole Acherusia, through which the Poets feigned that Hercules drew the three-headed Dog Cerberus out of hell.

Mărĭānus mons, Plin. The hill Sierra Morena parting Tarracon from Bætica in Spain.

Mărica; Vir. A Nymph, the Wife of Faunus, and mother of Latinus.

Maricæ lucus, Liv. A wood so called from her, by the river Liris, in the confines of Campania.

Marici, pop. Liguriæ, à quibus Ticinum conditum; Plin.

Mărĭdūnum. Caer-Marden in Wales.

Marinessus; Lact. A town of Mysia or the Hellespont, where the Sibyll called Hellespontiaca was born in the time of Solon and Cyrus. Al. leg. Marpessum.

Marionis. A City of Germany upon the Elbe, called Lunenburg. Another in Pomerland, called Lubeck; Ort.

Mărĭssus, Str. Marus, Tac. Daciæ fluv. qui in Tibiscum labitur.

Mărium, Plin. Marii; pl. m. Catul. olim Arsinoe voc. A City of Cyprus.

MARIUS. Sir-named Caius, one that was seven times Consul of Rome; he was only beholding to his valour for his preferment (being of obscure parentage:) He overcame Jugurtha in Numidia, and the Cimbri in France, and the Teutones in Italy, and afterward pestered the Roman common-wealth by the division between him and Sylla; in which time he was fain to make sorry shifts for his life, hiding himself in the marshes of Minturnæ, there found and imprisoned; an executioner sent to behead him there, was daunted at the majesty of his looks. Thence he escaped into Africk, at last recalled by Cinna, and made the seventh time Consul, he got the better of his enemies. He was a man, who had the utmost trials of both fortunes. See his life described by Plutarch. ◊ Another who in his Proconsulship pillaged the province of Africa, and was banished upon complaint; Juv. ◊ Another of Prænestæ, a sworn friend of one Cæsprus; Sil.

Marmărĭca, hodie Barca dict. A country of Africa, between Cyrene, and Egypt: It was also called Mareotis, Plin. Marmaridæ pop. Claud. & Marmaricus, adj. Sil. The people of the country were wont to charm Serpents. Luc.

Maro, ōnis; m. Virgil's surname from his father; hinc Maronianus, adj.

Maroialicæ thermæ, Paulin. Maraiolicæ, Aus. A town of hot bathes at the foot of the Pyrenean hills.

Mărōnēa, Plin. priùs Ortagurea, hodie Maregna dict. A city of Ciconia, where is singular good wine, and strong. Inde Maronæus a, um; Tibul.

Maronitæ. People of the holy Land, on mount Libanus, Christians and subject to Rome; having some Bishops and a Patriark among them, which are approved by the Pope. An à Maronia urbe Syriæ dicti, an pot. à מרן Syr. Dominus noster; q. d. Dominicani.

Marpesia; Just. The first Queen of the Amazons.

Marpessa, dict. etiam à matre post raptum Alcyone; fatum enim Alcyoni simile sortita erat. A most beautiful Lady the daughter of Evenus, married to Idæus the handsomest man of that age; and mother of Cleopatra, Meleagers wife. Apollo seeing her, fell in love with her, and took her away from her husband by force: her husband pursued him with all his might, but could not recover her. Hom.

Marpesus, Steph. Marpesa vel Marpessa, Vib. Sequ. An hill in the Isle Paros. Candidi marmoris ferax est, hinc Marpessia cautes apud Virgil. 6. Æn. pro marmore Pario.

Marrubium. Vir. Marruvium, Sil. à Marro quodam dict. A town of Latium, now called Marno, or as others, Morea. The people Marruvii, Plin. hinc Marrubius, a, um; Vir.

Marrūcini. People of Italy in Aprutium.

Marrucinus, a, um; Sil. Of that country.

MARS, rtis; m. contr. ex Mavors quod pro Mavers, i. Mamers. Vid. Al. ab Ἄρης, præmisso m. Nunn. At ipsum Ἄρης ab heb. אריה leo Varr. dici vult à maribus, quòd iis in bello præsit. The god of war, son of Jupiter and Juno, or, as Ovid tells the story, of Juno alone; for she being displeased, that Jupiter should have a daughter Minerva without female aid, consulted with the goddess Flora, how she might of her self bring forth a son; Flora told her of a flower in the Olenian fields would do the business. At the touch of which she conceived of Mars, who being a son of discontent, was made god of war and strife. He, ruffian as he was, made Vulcan a cuckold; whereupon the jealous husband using his art, made an iron net, and cast it about them, as they were in bed together, and called all the gods to see them as they lay; which proved master of great divertisement; till at length upon Neptunes request he loosed them. Thus the Poets. The moral of it is, that their fictions are many of them very immoral. ◊ Mars had a sister called Bellona, the goddess of war: of beasts the Wolf, of birds the Witwall or Heyhold were consecrated to him; whence this is called in Latin Picus Martius, the others Horace calls Martiales lupos. He had to his Priests the Salii and Flamines, who from him were called Martiales; hinc Martius, a, um, of Mars or warlike. ◊ Also one of the seven Planets is called Mars.

Marsi. People of Latium in Italy, à Marso Circes filio orti; & edocti in veneficiis. ◊ It. pop. Germaniæ, Tac. ◊ Marsus, a, um; Hor. & Marsicus, a, um, Sil. Of that country.

Marspiter. i. Mars pater, Gell.

Marsyas, tibicen Phrygius, Apollinem ad certamen provocans, à quo victus & excoriatus, Ovid. 6. Metam. ◊ Item Phrygiæ fluvius sic dict. qui & Marsya, Ovid. à Marsyâ ibi ab Apolline excoriato.

Martha

Martha, Syr. domina. Sister of Lazarus, our Saviours friend.

Martia. A younger daughter of Cato's; her husband died when she was young: one asking her why she would not marry again, she answered, Because she could not find a man that loved her better than her goods. § Also one that was wife to Catoll Uticensis, whom he parted with to his friend Hortensius; and after his death married her again.

Martia aqua, Tibul. Water brought to Rome in pipes by Ancus Martius King, from the Fucin lake.

Martia, Martialis, Martius, Martinus, & hujusmodi hominum ac mulierum propria nomina à Marte deducta.

Martiālis. A famous Poet, the witty writer of Epigrams, born at Bilbo in Spain; tempore Domitiani Imp.

Martiana ſylva, Amm. Part of the Hercynian forrest called in Dutch Schwartzwaldt, i. Black wood.

Martiaticus, a, um; Priſc. à Martius: unde ſtipendia militum Martiatica dicuntur.

Martinopolis. The City Tours in France; from S. Martin the Patron of it.

Martiopolis. A City of Germany three Leagues from Lipſick, called Meersburg.

Martĭus, Anci regis cognom. à Marte; quartus Romanorum rex, did many excellent works for the amplifying and adorning the city.

Martĭus Campus, Romæ dictus, quòd Marti conſecratus eſſet.

Martius menſis, quia Marti ſacer; Var. à Mare, Iſid. quòd eo menſe animantes fœminæ marem appetant. ſubtiliter. An ergo qu. Maritius, à maritandis animalibus dict. March.

Mārullus, dim. à Maro. A Roman Tribune that took away the Crowns from the ſtatues of Cæſar Dictator, and impriſoned them that called Cæſar Emperour. Alſo a Poet in the time of Antoninus; Hier. § And a Grammarian that reprehended Tiberius for a barbariſm in his ſpeech, telling him he was Emperour of the city to rule men, but not their language. § Another, Seneca's maſter in Rhetorick.

Maſaci, Tac. People in the Low-countries about Maſeyck.

Māsĭnĭſſa. A King of Numidia, and an Aide of the Romans.

Māsius. An hill of Aſia, being part of mount Taurus, betwixt Armenia and Meſopotamia.

Maſovia. A country of Poland, the chief city of it Warſow.

Maſſăgĕtæ, Claud. qu. graves Getæ; maſſa enim apud Scythas grave ſign. Iſid. imò apud Latinos rem gravem & ponderoſam. populi Scythiæ intra Imaum. Et in ſing. Maſſagetes.

Maſſia, Plin. A town in Bætic Spain not far from Tarteſſus. Hinc Maſſica ipſa regio, Vitr.

Maſſĭcus, mons Campaniæ prope Sinueſſam, Mart. optimi vini ferax, hodiè Monte Maſſo.

Maſſĭlia, Mart. optimarum olim diſciplinarum ſtudiis florentiſſima; hinc Plautus in Cafina Maſſilienſes mores tanquam optimos & probatiſſimos dixit, nomen autem habet Maſſalia, ἀπὸ τῆς ἁλίας, i. à piſcatoria navi, & μάσσειν, alligare, & quærere. A City of Provence in France, called Marſeille, built 633 years before the incarnation of Chriſt: afterward repaired and inhabited by the Phocians. It was by the Romans paralleld with Athens for learning: Pop. Maſſilienſes.

Maſſyla. A midland town of Cyrene in Africk, near the deſerts of Libya, Plin. hinc Maſſyli pop. Maſſylius, as Maſſylia gens, Liv. which he placeth in Numidia: & Maſſylus, a, um; Vir. & Maſſylæus, a, um; Mart.

Maſtramela; Plin. A town of France and a Pool by it, called now Martegue.

Māsŭrius; Perſ. A famous Lawyer of Rome, in the time of Tiberius.

Māter magna, Terra dicitur; & ſus prægnans ei mactabatur: dicitur & mater alma quòd omnia alat; mater Deum, quòd omnia generet. A title of Cybele.

Māternus, Petri diſcipulus, Coloniæ primus Chriſti fidem annunciavit. Munſt.

Māth̆o, ōnis; m. Juv. A corrupt Lawyer.

Mātinus. An hill in Apulia, full of box-trees; Luc. pop. Matini.

Matiſcona vel Matiſco; Cæſ. A City of France in the Duchy of Burgundy, called Maſcon.

Mātium, Plin. The chief city of Crete, called Candia, lately taken by the Turks.

Mātrinus. A river in Picenum, called now Librata, or, as others, la Piomba.

Mātrŏna, Cæſ. The river Marne in France, which runs through Champaigne and falls into the Seyne, at Charenton-bridg, a little above Paris.

Mattiăcum, oppidum in Germania calidis fontibus nobilitatum, Tac. The chief city of Heſſen called Marpurg, others ſay Baden. unde Mattiacæ pilæ, quas Martialis pro Sapone poſuit.

Mātūta, eadem, quæ gr. Leucothea, Cic. i. alba dea, λευκοθέα. ſign. auroram Priſc. Dic. vel à manus, i. bonus; vel à mane, i. tempore matutino, qu. manuta, inde matuta; Canin. The goddeſs that brings in the morning; once Ino, Cadmus his daughter. Cic.

Māvors, quòd magna vertat; ſed eſt pro Mavers, quod à Mamers, i. Mars Oſcorum linguâ, M in V. verſo, uti nos pro eo, quod Brit. melmet dicunt, velvet dicimus; ſic heb. quod erat ארגמן purpura, factum ארגון. Hinc mavortius, a, um.

Mauri, pop. Mauritaniæ. Moors.

Mauritania. A country in Africk, called Moriſco. It is divided into Tingitana (which contains in it the Kingdoms of Fezz and Marocco) and Cæſarienſis called the Kingdome of Algier, and is now with other Countries contained under the general name of Barbary.

Maurus, i; m. à μαυρὸς niger. A moor; a black-moor, a tawny-moor.

Mauruſia, quam noſtri Mauritaniam appellant; Vitr. Et Mauruſius, a, um; Vir. Of Mauritania.

Mausōlus. A king of Caria. His wife Artemiſia, built a moſt ſtately tomb for him, called Mauſoleum, one of the ſeven wonders of the world.

Maxentĭus. A Roman Emperour, and a cruel tyrant, who being at laſt defeated by Conſtantine, was drowned in the Tyber.

Maxĭmĭnus, à Maximus, ut à Juſtus Juſtinus. A Thracian by birth, and Emperour of Rome, who ſucceeded Alexander Severus.

Maxĭmus. The name of divers men. § Maximus Tyrius. A Platonick Philoſopher, Tutor to M. Antonine.

Maxulla, Plin. A ſea-town of Africk, next to Tunis.

Mazăca, Plin. The city Cæſarea in Cappadocia, by the hill Argæus.

Mazax, ăcis; m. Luc. plur. Mazaces. People of Illyricum, where now part of Croatia is. Some place them in Africk. They were skilful in throwing of darts.

Mazĕras, fluv. Hircaniæ in mare Caſpium influens; Plin.

Mazyces; Amm. pop. Mauritaniæ Cæſarienſis, quorum rex fuit Iarbas; Sall.

M ante E.

Mĕărus; fl. Hiſp. Tarrac. Callaicos ab Aſturibus ſeparans; Mela.

Mēcænas, ātis; m. A noble Roman, Auguſtus his favourite, and Patron to Horace the Poet; whence after him any Patron was called Mecænas. vid. Mœcenas.

Mecca, vel Mecha. A city in Arabia Felix inhabited by Saracens: Here is the Sepulchre of Mahomet, which the Turks viſit with great devotion, and yet ſtrangers coming thither ſee no other thing than a golden ſhoe hanging in the Temple.

Mechlinia. Malines the chief city of Brabant.

Mēcyberna, Plin. A town of Macedonia by the ſea ſide near Pallene. Mecybernæus ſinus; Mela. A gulf of the ſea by that city.

Mēda, vicus agri Mediolanenſis cum cœnobio: item urbs Theſſaliæ, Perot.

Meddix; Enn. The name of the chief magiſtrate amongſt the Oſcans.

MEDEA, æ; f. (ēē) Poet. μήδεια, à μῆδος conſilium, i. conſilium. A notable Sorcereſs, the daughter of Æëtes, King of Colchos, whence ſhe her ſelf is called Colchis. She entertained Jaſon, together with the reſt of the Argonauts, when they came to Colchos, and falling in love with him, and being afraid leſt he ſhould not get off his adventure ſafe, (ſhe knowing the dangers that he was to undergo) upon promiſe that he would marry her, taught him how he ſhould tame the brazen footed Bulls, and caſt the Dragon that watched the golden fleece into a dead ſleep, and ſo ſlay him; which he did, and got the golden fleece. Then ſhe fled away with Jaſon, and took her young brother Abſyrtus along with her: whom, her father purſuing them, ſhe cut in many pieces, and threw his limbs in the way, that ſo her father being buſied about gathering them up, they might have the more time for their eſcape. At length they came to Theſſaly, where by her art ſhe reſtored youth to Jaſons old father Æſon. She had two children by Jaſon, who at length forſook her, and married Creuſa the daughter of Creon king of Corinth; wherewith Medea being enraged, ſent wild-fire in a cabinet as a token to Creuſa, who opening it, the fire burſt forth and burned her, and the whole Palace. Jaſon at this would have killed her, but ſhe for further revenge, took both her children that ſhe had by him, and ſlew them in his ſight, and fled thence to Athens, where ſhe married old Ægeus, and had by him a ſon called Medus. At the laſt ſhe raiſed Clouds and Winds, by which ſhe was car- ried through the air with this son of hers into that part of Asia which from him was called Media. Hinc Medeus, patron. form. Medeïdes herba, Ovid. Physical herbs.

Medena. Newport in the Isle of Wight.

Mederiacum. A village in Guelderland, called now Mierle.

MEDIA, Vir. dict. à Medo Medeæ filio, vel à Medo fluvio, vel potius ab heb. מָדַד. A large country in Asia, bounded with the Hircan-Sea, Armenia, Persia, and Parthia; called now Maday and Servan: it was once Mistris of the Eastern Empire, which fell from her to the Persians. pop. Medi. ◊ A country also in Ireland called Meath. ◊ Hinc Medicus, a, um; Luc. Of that country.

Medica arbor, à Medi; Isid. The pomcitron tree, Malum Medicum. An Orenge, Limen, or Citron. Ruel. ◊ It. Mēdica, Vir. sc. herba, quæ translata est in Græciam, quo tempore eam Xerxes invaserat, Serv. vel, ut ait Plin. à Medis advecta per bella Persarum, quæ Darius intulit. It. Medicæ gallinæ, i. Medicæ, quòd in Media id genus avium corporis amplissimi fiat; l. pro d. posito; Fest. Vid. Appell.

Mēdiōlānum, sive Medolanium, urbs, Cisalpinæ Galliæ Metropolis. dict. à sue dimidia lanata: nam cùm à Gallicanis populis initum consilium foret, pro constituenda urbe, effosso solo, invenêre suem dimidiam lanatam: Itaque à portento Mediolanum nuncupatur. The city of Milan in Italy, where Saint Ambrose was Bishop: It is remarkable for four things; for multitude of people, a stately Church, a strong Castle, and a rarely furnished Library. Mediolanensis ducatus. The Duchy of Milan. ◊ There are also other cities and towns of this name; as Metelen in Westphalia four leagues from Munster, and Llanvellin or Lan-Vetallia in Montgomery-shire, Camd. or, as others, Midlam.

Mēdiomātrices, Cæs. Mediomatrici, Plin. People in Lorrain, upon the river Moselle about the city Metz.

Mēdioximi, Dii minores, qui vota mortalium ad superos deferebant; Plaut.

Mēditrina; mos erat, ait Fest. Latinis pop. quò die quis primùm gustaret mustum, dicere ominis gratiâ, Vetus novum vinum bibo, veteri novo morbo medeor; à quibus verbis etiam Meditrinæ deæ nomen cœptum; ejusdem sacra Meditrinalia dicta sunt: ut esset, q. d. Medendi dea.

Mēdŭacus, Plin. Meduacus, Liv. The river Brenta in Venetia, running by Padua, and falling into the Gulf.

Medobriga, Hirt. Medubrica, Plin. A town once of Portugal. pop. Medubricenses, Plin.

Mēdon, ontis; m. Ovid. One of Penelope's suitors in her husbands absence.

Meduacus. The river Medway, that runs by Rochester into the Thames.

Medŭana; Luc. A river in France (with a town of the same name) called Mayne, that runs into the Loire. The town gives title to a Duke.

Medŭli; Auct. People of Guienne, whose country is called Medoc.

Medulli; Plin. People of France in the Dauphin country.

Mēdullina. A Roman maid, who being ravished by her own father, slew him. Plut.

Medus; Curt. A river of Media, which gave name to the country. It runs into Araxes.

Mēdūsa, μήδουσα, regina imperatrix, filia Phorci ex Ceto marina bellua. The daughter of Phorcus; she had hair as yellow as gold: Neptune being taken with her beauty, lay with her in Minerva's Temple; and begat on her Pegasus equus. Minerva in anger turned her hair into snakes, and all that looked on her into stone: Perseus cut off her head when the snakes were asleep, and as he carried it through Africk, the drops of blood that fell from it turned into serpents. She is called also by the Poets Gorgon; and from her father, Phorcynis, idos; Luc. & Phorcys, ydos; Prop.

Mēgăbyzi, sive Megalobyzi, sic dict. à Megabyzo Persarum rege, qui eos primus instituit. Eunuchi erant, unde & pro imbellibus & mollibus poni consueverunt, quales sunt spadones. The Priests of Diana of Ephesus; Quint. 5. 11.

Mēgæra, Poet. à μεγαίρω, odi, sive invideo. One of the Furies.

Megaleuses ludi, qui fiebant τῇ μεγάλῃ θεᾷ, Magnæ Deum matri. A μεγάλη igitur Megalenses, ut à Circo Circenses. Vid. Megalesia. Games or plays in honour of the great Beldam Goddess Cybele. Al. distinguunt inter Megalesia & Megalenses ludos, quòd illa fuerint Deûm matris propria; hi verò sacri diis magnis; qui & ludi magni ideò dicuntur, & Circenses, & Romani. Some take them to be the same, as the great or Roman Games, but with a great mistake. For those were in honour of Jupiter, Juno, and Minerva; so Cic. these in honour of the great mother so Fest. and Cic. Those were instituted by Tarquinius Priscus, who also built the Circus Maximus, where they were performed; these by M. Junius Brutus, as Livy tells us. Those were kept on the fourth day of Sept. so Cic. these on the fourth of April. so Ovid. Lastly, those were acted properly at the great Cirk, as was said, in horse-races, &c. these upon the stage, Ovid.

Mēgălēsia, orum; n. μεγαλήσια, i. festa τῆς μεγάλης θεᾶς, sc. magnæ Deûm matris; uti templum ejus μεγαλήσιον dicebant. Pessinunte. simplic. à μεγάλη magna, sc. Dea, uti (quod idem) ludi Megalenses dict. At Voss. valt esse à μεγάλη ὁδῷ, i. Stat. Dor. Nil opus. Dic. & ludi Megalisci, Juv. & Megalenses, Cic. The same as the Ludi Megalenses, and so used indifferently by Cic. Stage-plays and representations in honour of the great mother of the Gods: A yearly festival appointed by M. Junius Brutus, to be kept on the fourth day of April in devotion to the Phrygian Goddess. Hinc Mēgălēsĭăcus, a, um; Juv.

Megălia, æ; f. Stat. A little Isle of Campania, hard by Naples.

Mēgălŏpŏlis, The chief city of Arcadia, Polybius his country. ◊ Also Meckelburg in Germany, a Duchy.

Mēgălus, Siciliota, inventor unguenti Megali, Etym. Propter gloriam appellatum Megalium dicit Plin.

Mēgăra, æ; f. Daughter of Creon, king of Thebes, and wife to Hercules, in whose absence Lycus having seiz'd the kingdom, would have married her, and upon her refusal was about to force her. Hercules in the very nick returns, slays this Lycus, and restores the kingdom to his father in law; but afterward in his mad fits kills his wife and the children he had by her. Sen. ◊ A City of Achaia, betwixt Athens and Corinth, Euclid's country, formerly called Alcathoe. In plur. Megaræ, Ovid. & Megares, unde in Abl. Megaribus, Plaut. ◊ Another once of Sicily, before called Hybla, twenty miles from Syracuse. ◊ Pop. Megarenses, Gell. Hinc Megaræum, a, um; Ovid.

Megareus; Ovid. Father of Hippomenes, and grandchild of Neptune. ◊ Item filius Apollinis qui Megara à se conditis nomen dedit.

Megaris, idis. A country of Achaia, betwixt Phocis and Attica, also a small Isle near Naples, called Megalia by Stat.

Megista, Plin. An Isle and Port of Lycia; Liv.

Mēla; m. Catul. A little river running by the city Brixia in Italy. ◊ Pomp. Mela. A Geographer in Claudius time.

Melæna; pl. f. Stat. pagus Atticæ.

Melamphyllon. A little hill in Thessaly; or an Island of Asia; Plin.

Melampus, μελάμπους, i. nigros habens pedes; nam eum mater infantem exposuit toto corpore tectum præterquam pedibus, qui à sole atro colore attracto, nomini causam dederunt. The son of Amythaon and Doripe, a famous soothsayer and physician. From him Hellebor is called Melampodium, with which he purged melancholy, and cured K. Prætus his daughters of their madness. ◊ Also one of Actæon's dogs; q. d. Blackfoot.

Melampygos, μελάμπυγος, is qui nigro est podice, (à μέλας niger & πυγὴ nates) sic dict. Hercules, quòd eam partem corporis non Lydorum more vultum neque candidam, quemadmodum solent effœminati, sed nigris pilis hirsutam ac sylvosam haberet: unde proverbium, Ne incidas in Melampygum. Eras.

Melanchætes, μελαγχαίτης, is qui nigros habet pilos. One of Actæon's dogs.

Melanchlæni, pop. Sarmatiæ Asiaticæ, sic ab atra veste dicti, Mela. à μέλας niger, & χλαῖνα.

Melaneus, i. niger. One of Actæon's dogs: Ovid. also one of the Centaurs. Id.

Melanion, i. niger, obscurus, sic dict. eo quòd odio mulierum in solitudinem abierit, & per avia montium & nemorum degerit: unde prov. Melanione castior.

Melano, inf. parva Doridis; Plin.

Melanthium, fl. Cappadociæ in pontum Euxinum fluens; Ferr. ex Plin.

Melanthius, Ovid. i. ater, fuscus. The Goat-heard of Ulysses, who sided with Penelopes suiters in wasting of his masters goods, whom therefore Telemachus slew after his fathers return. Also the name of a famous Painter. Plin.

Melantho, ûs; f. Daughter to Proteus, who was wont for sport to ride in the sea upon a Dolphins back; but Neptune turning himself into the shape of a Dolphin, carried her away to shore, and lay with her; by whom he had Amycus.

Melanthus, fl. Sarmatiæ Europææ, in Borysthenem labens; Ovid.

Melas, æ; m. μέλας, i. niger. A river of Thrace, or rather of Macedonia, Ovid. ¶ Another of Pamphylia, that divides it from Cilicia; Plin. ¶ Another of Bœotia, Stat. that makes sheep black that feed by it; Plin. ¶ Another of Phthiotis, Liv. ¶. Another of Arcadia, Str. by Virg. called Mella. ¶ Also a place of Sicily, neer Himera; Ovid.

Melchisedech, מלכיצדק i. rex justitiæ. A Priest and King of Salem, to whom Abraham at his return from his victory over the five kings, paid the tenth of his spoils. He was a type of Christ. Who he was is not agreed. Some are of opinion it was Sem. His pedigree is not set down; wherefore he is said to be without father and without mother. The Melchizedekian heretick would have him to have been the Holy Ghost, Origen an Angel, another the Messias: all which are absurd and groundless imaginations.

Meldæ, Cæs. Meldi, Plin. pop. & urbs Galliæ Belgicæ, ad Matronam fl. urbs etiam in sing. Melda dic. hod. Meaulx, ten leagues off Paris Westward.

MELEAGER, Meleagrus, & Meleagros, μελεάγερος, is qui curam gerit venatûs. The son of Œneus king of Calydonia by Althæa: When he was new born his mother saw the three Destinies sitting by the fire, and holding a billet they took up out of it, in their hands, who said, The boy should live as long as that stick was unburned. When they were gone, his mother Althæa put out the fire-stick and kept it safely: When he was come to age, his father having inned all his fruits, sacrificed to all the gods, forgetting only Diana: whereat she being offended, sent a huge boar into his fields to destroy all his corn. The young Prince getting a company together, hunts this Boar, and slew him, and presented the head to Atalanta the daughter of Jasius the king of the Argives, who had first struck the Boar; at which Althæa's brothers, Plexippus and Toxeus his Uncles were wroth, and would have taken the head away from the young Princess: whereupon Meleager in a rage slew them, and took Atalanta to wife, by whom he had Parthenopæus. Althæa being inraged at her brothers death, goes and burns the fatal Billet; and Meleager presently fell into a burning in his bowels and died.

Meleagrea, à Meleagro dict. The city Calydon in Ætolia.

Meleagrides, um; f. μελεαγρίδες. patron. à Meleagro. The Sisters of Meleager, who lamenting their brothers death were turned into Ginny or Turky-hens: Ovid.

Melès, etis; m. Stat. Melas, Solin. A river of Ionia, that runs by the city Smyrna. ¶ It. Samnitum urbs à Marcello capta.

Mĕlĕse, es; f. Ovid quæ & Temese, Id opp. magnæ Græciæ, in orâ Calabriæ; hod. Melissa.

Melesigenes, dict. à Meletis fluvio Smyrnam alluente, juxta quem natus erat. Homer so called. Plin.

Melibocus. A mountain of Germany in the south part of the Duchy of Brunswick, called Blockesbarch, or Brockersberg.

Melibœa, civ. Thessaliæ, purpurâ nobilis, Virg. patria Philoctetæ Pœantis filii.

Melibœus, ga. is qui curam gerit bovum, à μέλει & βοῦς. A Shepherd in Virg.

Melicerta, sive Melicertes; Vir. The son of Athamas and Ino, one of the gods of the sea (called in Greek Palæmon, and in Latin Portunus) his mother Ino casting her self and him into the sea, when Athamas went mad, and would have slain them.

Mĕlĭse, es; f. Ovid. id. quod Melesæ.

Melissa, μέλισσα, id est, apis. The daughter of Melissus K. of Crete, and sister of Amalthea, who nursed Jupiter with Goats milk. She was the first that found out the making of honey, which gave the Poets occasion to feign her to be turned into a Bee: Col. ¶ Also the wife of Periander a Corinthian Tyrant, who killed her by kicking her when she was great with child. Laert.

Melissus, gr. i. apiarius. A king of Crete, father of Amalthea and Melissa. ¶ An Author, mentioned by Pliny. ¶ Also a Grammarian presented to Mecænas; to whom he gave his freedom. Suet.

Melita, æ, seu Melite, es, f. Cic. μελίτη, i. mellea, seu melliflua; vel quòd Phœnicum colonia esset, ab heb. מליטה refugium, quod de eâ ait Diod. Sic. Insula Siciliæ adjacens. The Isle Malta betwixt Africk and Sicily (with a City of the same name) sixty miles distant from the Promontory Pachynus. This Isle hath in our times been famous for the knights of Jerusalem, called the Knights of Malta, who were formerly the Knights of Rhodes, whence being driven by Solyman they had Malta bestowed on them by Charles the Fift. It is in compass sixty miles: This is the Isle as 'tis thought, into which Saint Paul was cast when he suffered shipwrack. ¶ Also another Isle by Dalmatia, betwixt that and Corcyra, in the Adriatick Sea, under the government of Raguſa. It is now called Meleda. In this Island there were a sort of dogs called Melitæi catelli, Lap-dogs, or shocks, that were good for nothing, foisting hounds. ¶ Also a city of Armenia the less by Euphrates; Plin. ¶ It. urbs Brutiorum, Cic. quæ postea Miletus. ¶ Hinc Melitæus, a, um, & Melitensis, se. Of Melita.

Melius, sirnamed Spurius, a Roman who for affecting King-ship, was slain by Serv. Ahæla, his goods confiscated and his house pull'd down, and the ground it stood on, called Æquimelium; Varr.

Mellaria, à mellis copiâ, gemina urbs Hispaniæ Bæticæ; Plin. patria Pomponii Melæ.

Mellona, vel Mellonia. The goddess of honey, among the Romans.

Melocabus. Coburg in Germany.

Melodunum, Cæs. ant. Melledunum, A town of France upon the river Seyne, ten leagues from Paris, now called Melun.

Meloessa, gr. ovibus vel pomis abundans; Italiæ insula, circa Locros. Plin 3. 10. Μηλόεσσα, Steph.

Melon. The name of an Astrologer, who foreseeing ill success, that he might be excused from going to the wars, feigned himself mad, and fired his own house. Plut.

Melos, i; f. Plin. insula Cretæ adjacens, & inter Cycladas numeratur, omnium insularum rotundissima, Id. unde fort. nomen, à μῆλον malum, pomum. As round as an apple. An Island hard by Crete so called; formerly Zephyria, Arist. & Mimallis, Callim. now Milo. ¶ Hinc Melinum. A sort of natural colour, which ancient painters made use of; a kind of white (or ash-coloured Diosc.) Earth digg'd up in this Isle. Plin.

Melphes; Plin. A river of Lucania, that runs into the Tyrrhene sea, now called Molpa.

Melpomene, es; f. μελπομένη, cantans, à μέλπομαι modulor. One of the Muses, which first made Tragedies.

Melpomenos, μελπόμενος, i. cantans. Bacchus so called by the Acarnanians.

Memma. The Isle Meneg in Cornwall: Cambd. betwixt Falmouth and S. Michael's mount.

Memmius. A Citizen of Rome, from whom the family of the Memmii, descended from Menesthæus the Trojan; Virg. he being corrival with Largius, used him so barshly, that he gave occasion to this proverb, Lacerat lacertum Largii mordax Memmius. ¶ Memmius Gemellus. One to whom Lucretius sent his Books; and Cicero himself wrote some of his Epistles, l. 13.

Memnium; Curt. A town of Mesopotamia by Babylon, where there was much brimstone.

MEMNON, ŏnis; m. μέμνων manens. K. of Æthiopia, who went to the wars of Troy, and was there slain by Achilles: about whose tomb there come every year strange birds, that fight till they kill one another, as it were in atonement of his ghost. And every fifth year they do the like about the Blackamore princes Court in Æthiopia, Plin. Hence they are called Memnonides, Ovid. or Memnoniæ aves, Solin. He was the son of Tithonus (the brother of Laomedon) and Aurora. ¶ Memnonis effigies, Tac. A Statue of stone, which every morning at the rising of the Sun spoke.

Memnŏnes; Plin. People of Æthiopia, beyond Ægypt.

Memnonis regia; Plin. A City of Egypt by the river Nile.

Memoria; Plin. A Well in Bœotia that helpeth memory.

Memphis, is; f. Luc. ab Osiride rege condita. A great city in the Isle Delta in Ægypt, famous for the Pyramids, and stately sepulchres of kings there set up; it is now called Alcayro or Grand Cairo. inde Memphiticus, a, um. Ovid. Memphites bos, Tibul. terra Memphitide, Juv.

Mempricus. A king of Britain, who slew his brother Malys that he might reign after his death. Volat.

Mena, dea quæ menstruis præest. scil. μὴν i. Luna.

Menæchmi, μέναιχμοι, à μένω maneo & αἶχμὴ cuspis. The name of a Comedy in Plautus.

Menalcas, æ; m. à μένος, i. animi potentia, & ἀλκὴ, i. corporis robur. A Shepherd in Virgil.

Mĕnălippe, es; f. Juv. Sister to Antiope Queen of the Amazons, whom Hercules took in battle, and her sister ransom'd with her armour and her Belt, which was one of his twelve labours.

Menalippus. A Theban Citizen; who having given Tydeus a deadly wound in the battle at Thebes; Tydeus desired of his party to fetch his head, which they did with loss of many lives, whereupon in revenge tearing it with his teeth, like a wild beast, he dyed with the more content, as being somewhat revenged. Stat.

Menander, μενάνδρου, q.d. μένων ἀνδρῶν. An Athenian, a witty comical Poet, scholar of Theophrastus; he was squint-eyed, and much given to women, but an excellent man in his way; Quintil. ◊ It is also the name of an heretick that followed Simon Magus, and outdid him.

Menanini, Plin. Menenii, Cic. pop. Menæ, opp. Siciliæ.

Menapii, Cæs. populi juxta Rhenum: Some take them for Brabanders, others for those of Cleves.

Mendes, urbs Ægypti, ubi Pana & hircum colunt: Mendes Ægypt. lingua dicitur hircus: inde Mendesium, a, um; Ovid. & Mendesium, unum ex ostiis Nili; Plin.

Menecrates, i. roboris princeps. A proud Physitian of Syracuse, who because he cured some diseases which others could not, called himself Jupiter. He sent a letter to K. Philip once with this inscription, Φιλίππῳ Μενεκράτης ὁ Ζεὺς τῷ χαίρειν. To which he returned, Φίλιππος Μενεκράτει ὑγιαίνειν. Ælian.

Menedemus, μενήμου, i robur populi. A Philosopher of Eretria; another a Fanatick, who went about in the habit of a Fury, saying he was sent from Hell as a spy to bring back word of mens sins and miscarriages. Laert.

MENELAUS, i; m. (ā) Μενέλαος, i. robur populi. The son of Atreus & Aerope, husband to Helena, brother of Agamemnon, and king of Lacedæmonia, who (when Paris had stoln away his wife Helena) called together all the Princes of Greece to take revenge on the Trojans for this fact, and to fetch her home again. Accordingly they met and made up a Fleet of a thousand ships; listing themselves under the conduct of Agamemnon as Generalissimo and Commander in chief, and vowing never to return home till they had sacked Troy; which cost them ten years pains, and that to little purpose, till at length, more by deceit than valor, they wan and ruin'd the city, as is at large described by Homer and Virgil. To such a miserable end may the love of one lewd woman bring a whole Common wealth.

Menenia, gens Romæ fuit, unde Agrippa Menenius Consul.

Menephron; Ovid: A man who would have lain with his own mother.

Menestheus, ei; m. à μένω, sic ut ἀφ' ἕξις Ἀγήνωρ, Etym. A Greek Captain, at the wars of Troy, and there slain. He was the eleventh king of the Athenians.

Menestratus, gr. μένω τὸ στρατός, i. robur exercitûs. An engraver, that made the image of Hecate in the Temple of Diana at Ephesus of marble so radiant that one could hardly look on it.

Menevia. S. Davids of Pembrokeshire in Wales. Hinc Episcop. Menevensis.

Menia columna, locus Romæ, in quo jus dici solebat. Cic. pro Sest.

Menini, Plin. Mimeni, Ptol. pop. Galliæ Narbon.

Meninx; Plin. An Isle of Africk by the lesser Syrtis.

Menippus, i. equi robur. Cicero's master, as himself acknowledges. ◊ Also a Cynick Philosopher, that was dogged in his behavior and his writings, in imitation of whom Varro made his Satyrs intitled Satyræ Menippeæ; Macrob.

Menius. A Roman who overcame the ancient Latines, in a sea-fight, and caused the Beaks of their ships to be set up in the Court, whence the pleading place was termed Rostra. ◊ Also one who first invented the projectures or juttings of building at Rome, as Bay windows, Balconies, Galleries, &c. from him called Meniana. Fest. The occasion this. When he sold his house to the Censors, for the raising a publick structure, he excepted the right of one pillar, to throw a floor upon for a standing for himself and his heirs after him to see the sword-play, which was then shewn in the Market-place. Hence Columna Menia took its name; Ascon.

Menœceus, A Theban, son of Creon, and last of the race of Cadmus, who for his countries good voluntarily parted with his life. Cic. & Stat.

Menœtes. One of Æneas companions. Vir.

Menœtiades, filius Menœtii; Patroclus. Ovid.

Menœtius. Actors son by Ægina, and Patroclus his father.

Menophilus. An Eunuch, to whom Mithridates (after he had been defeated by Pompey) intrusted his daughter to keep; who to secure his charge, first killed her, and then himself. Amm.

Mentæ; Ptol. corr. pro Mæatæ. People about Berwick.

Menosca; Plin. A town of Tarracon in Spain.

Menosgada, The City Egra in Germany; the Bohemians themselves call it Heb.

Meneteſa Plin. Mentiſſa & Mentiſa, Liv. hod. Montizon, opp. Oretanorum in Hiſp.

Mentonomum; Plin. A Bay of the German Ocean on the west coast called Frischaff. Ort.

Mentor, ōris; m. A famous graver of plate. Hinc Mentorĕus, a um; Mart.

Menuthias. An Isle near Ethiope, to the East, called now Madagascar.

Menynx, f. Sil. An isle of Africk.

Měphitis, is: f. Dea odoris graveolentis, Serv. à Syr. מפחת exhalatio, à rad. נפח. Ejus templi meminit Tac. Vid. Appell.

Mera, rectius Mæra, à μείρω, luceo. Prœtus his daughter by Antia; a Nymph attendant upon Diana: whom Jupiter by a false shape beguiled. Ovid. ◊ Also a Priestess of Venus, Stat. Also Erigones little bitch turned into the star Canicula.

Mercedonia Dea, quæ mercedibus solvendis præerat; ut Mercedonius mensis, quo merces solvebatur, Fest.

Mercii. People of England in the midland; the Kingdom of Mercia lying in the heart of the country.

Mercurii promontorium, Plin. Hermæa, Ptol. A promontory of Africk over against Sicily, called Capo Bon.

Mercurii aquæ, apud Capenam portam urbis Romæ; Ovid.

MERCURIUS, ii; m. (ŭ) à merx mercis, Fest. ut à longus longurius; sc. quòd præsit lucro, i. rebus vendendis emendisq; Qu. mercium cura, Fulg. al. qu. mercatorum κύριος, i. dominus. Qu. medicurrius, Arnob. quòd inter homines media currat & reciprocetur oratio, cui is præficitur. vel à מכר vendidit, unde ipsum Mercor. ἐρμῆς ab ἔρω dico, ἑρμεία, quòd sit eloquentiæ præses, & deorum nuncius. The son of Jupiter and Maia. He was the God of Merchandise; and therefore was sometimes painted with a wand in his left hand, and a bag of mony in his right. Also the God of Eloquence, the messenger or Tipstaff of the Gods; pictured therefore with a Herald's staff in his hand intwined with two snakes, wings on his feet, to show his speed, and a broad-brimm'd beaver on with wings. Moreover, he was the God of all gainful arts, whence the prov. κερδὸς ἑρμῆς, i. commune lucrum, especially of things found by chance; the inventer of the Harp, and of the exercise of wrastling; also the Patron of Thieves, himself having bin an ingenious wag in that practise; and the Guide of passengers in the way, for which reason he had Statues four-square set up to him in cross-roads for direction of travellers. ◊ Also one of the seven Planets, which alway keeps near the Sun. ◊ He is called Atlantiades, from his mothers father Atlas, and Cyllenius, from Cyllene a hill of Arcadia, the place of his birth.

Mercurius Trismegistus. A very ancient Philosopher of Egypt, who wrote many books of Divinity, of which we have still some fragments.

Meriones, m. Hor. A brave captain that went out of Crete to the siege of Troy.

Mermeros. One of the Centaures; Ovid.

Mero, per jocum dictus est Nero, quòd impendio vinosior esset, ut pro Tiberio Biberius. A nick-name of Nero.

Merobrica; Plin. opp. Lusitaniæ.

Meroe, es; f. Ovid. A large Island and City of Æthiopia beyond Egypt, now called Gueguere, or as some Neube; but by the Abissines themselves who live there, Saba: this being the place where the Queen of Saba or Candace once reigned, and now Prester John is Lord of all the country. Here the women have very large breasts; Juv. The City was built by Cambyses the Persian Emperor, and called so from his mothers name, which gave name to the whole Island. Pop. Meroitæ, & Meroeni, Mela.

Merope, es; f. Ovid. One and the least of the seven stars, daughter of Atlas by the Nymph Pleione, and wife to Sisyphus, whereas her sisters all were matched to gods; therefore she is still the obscurest of all seven.

Meropia, Plin. One of the Cyclad Islands, otherwise called Siphnos and Acis.

Meropis, sic dict. quòd ex variis anfractibus, undique referente Eccho, voces diversas reddat, quas græc. voc. μεροπὸς μύκας ἔχειν. A Mountain of Thessaly full of eccboes.

Meros, Mel. mons in finibus Indiæ, ubi Bacchum ferunt enutritum fuisse, qui & in ejus radice, (in Indiam proficiens) Nysam urbem condidit: inde Græci mentiendi traxêre licentiam, Jovis femore Liberum patrem fuisse celatum; Græc. enim μηρὸς femur sign. Q. Curt.

Mervinia. Meriopith-shire, in North-Wales.

Merula, Plin. fl. Ligurix.

Mese; Plin. inf. Galliæ Narb. una Stæ-

Stæchadum, eaq; media. Al. Pomponiana dic. hod. Pontcros.

Meſembria, Plin. i. Meridies, ſic. dict. eò quòd in Thraciæ mediullio ſita ſit. A City in Thrace on the Sea-coaſt, by the Euxin ſea ſtill called Meſember. Hinc Meſembriacus, a, um; Ovid.

Mĕſŏpŏtămia; μεσοποταμία, ſic. dict. quòd μέσον, media ſit inter duos (ποταμοὺς) fluvios, Euphratem ſcil. & Tigrim. A country of Aſia, and part of Aſſyria, ſeated between the rivers Tigris on the Eaſt, and Euphrates on the Weſt, having on the South Babylon; on the North Armenia the greater: by the Hebrews it was called Aram Naharaim and Padan Aram, by the old Greeks Selucia, by the Latines Mediamna, and Terræ interamnæ, Lampr. It is now called Diarbeck, and by the Arabs al Gezira, i. The Iſland. It is all under the dominion of the Turks. This is thought (by judicious Divines) to be the country where Paradiſe was ſeated, the birth place of Abraham, and whither Jacob fled from his brother Eſau: and alſo the place from whence the wiſe men came that brought preſents to Chriſt, by the guiding of a ſtar.

Meſſa, Dea à meſſe dicta, Tert. eadem quæ ſegeſta à Segete, Plin. The Goddeſs of Harveſt.

Meſſăgĕtes, æ; m. Claud. vid. Maſſagetæ. People of Scythia in Europe. They drink horſes bloud.

Meſſāla, dict. eſt Valerius Corvinus, eò quòd Meſſanam in Sicilia vicit, & urbis captæ in ſe tranſlato nomine, Meſſana primò, paulatimque vulgo permutante literas, Meſſala dictus eſt, unde & Meſſalarum familia Romæ florentiſſima, ex qua Meſſala Corvinus orator nobilis ortum habuit, qui tamen antequam moreretur, adeò memoriæ ſenſum amiſit, ut vix pauca verba conjungeret, & nominis quoque ſui immemor eſſet.

Meſſālīna, Meſſalæ filia. The wife of Claudius Cæſar, a woman of ſuch inſatiable luſt, that ſhe would go privily (having changed her attire, that ſo ſhe might not be known) into the publick ſtews, and proſtitute her ſelf to all comers; and would play prizes with the notableſt harlots in all the city: & intra diem & noctem affirmavit ſe viginti quinque paſſam concubitus, præterea ſeſe labore potiùs feſſam, quàm concubitu ſatiatam deſtitiſſe. v. Suet. in Claud. Juven. Sat. 6. Tacit. l. 11. & Plin. 10. 63. She was at laſt put to death by Claudius, for marrying with C. Silius.

Meſſalīni. A ſort of ſuperſtitious Hereticks in the time of Valens and Valentinian.

Meſſāna, Liv. urbs Siciliæ, à Meſſenio populis Peloponneſi condita, & à nomine relictæ ab illis urbis ita appellata: Macrob. ab Anaxilao Rheginorum tyranno conditam ſcribit. The chief city of Sicily near the Promontory Pelorus, or Cape del Foro, and is now called Meſſina. Hinc Meſſenius, a, um; Ovid. nam Meſſene græcè dic. quæ & Meſſana, Stat.

Meſāpĭa: Plin. à Meſſapo dicta, cujus meminit Virg. A Province of Italy in the Kingdom of Naples, now called Terra d'Otranto. Hinc Meſſapius, a, um; Ovid.

Meſāpus. A Captain of Italy that ayded Turnus againſt Æneas; he was deſcended from Neptune. Virg.

Meſſe, es; f. Stat. opp. Cytheræ inſulæ.

Meſſēis. A fountain in Theſſaly, Plin.

Meſſēne, es; f. Ovid. urbs Peloponneſi, Meſſeniæ regionis caput. Pop. Meſſenii, Juſt. hinc Meſſeniacus ſinus, Plin.

Meſſias, æ; m. μεσσίας, i. χρεστὸς, i. unctus. משיח, à משח unxit. Chriſt, the Meſſias.

Meſſŭa, peninſ. Galliæ Narbon. Mela.

Mĕtăbus, Privernatium Tyrannus, Camillæ pater; Virg.

Metæ; it. Metis & Metis, & urbs Metenſis: antiq; Divodurus; Mediomatricum caput. The City Metz in the borders of Lorrain, upon the Moſelle.

Mĕtăgōnium. A Promontory in the kingdom of Fezze, called Cabo de tres forcas.

Metallinenſis colonia, Plin. Metallinum, Anton. A town of Portugal, called Medelin.

Metanira, Celei conjux; Ovid. Μετανείρα, Nicand. Nonn. &c. Μηϊανείρα, Paul. Al. leg. Melanira.

Mĕtăpinum. One of the mouthes of Rhodanus; Plin.

Mĕtăpontum, Steph. à Metabo Heroe dictum ſcribit, quia Siſyphi filius fuerit: Metapontum autem barbari Metabum vocant. A city once of Lucania in Italy, now called Torre di mare: or as others, Pelicore, qu. Pyliorum χώρα, i. regio quòd à Pylio pop. Peloponneſi, teſte Solino, condita ſit: quæ & Vibio, Cæſ.

Metaris. The Waſhes between Lincoln-ſhire and Norfolk; Camd.

Mĕtaſtēnes, Perſa, Hiſtoricus.

Metaurum, Mel. opp. Brutiorum.

Mĕtaurus, Luc. Two rivers in Italy. One of Umbria, near which Claudius Nero ſlew Aſdrubal, called now Metro, which runs into the Adriatick Sea. Another of the Brutians, which runs into the Tyrrhen Sea, and is now called Marro. ◊ Metaurum flumen, Hor.

Mĕtēlis; Mel. A town of Egypt, called by the Italians Roſetto, ſixty miles off Alexandria.

Metelli caſtrum, ſive Metelloburgus, à Metello cive Romano dict. Middleburg, the chief City of Zealand.

Mĕtellus, Feſt. Metelli dicuntur in re militari qu. Mercenarii; indè genti Cæciliæ fuit cognomen. The name of divers Romans. One ſirnamed Lucius, a High-Prieſt, who when Veſta's Temple was on fire, ſaved the Palladium, which was brought from Troy, with the loſs of his eyes. Juv. ◊ Another intituled Macedonicus, from his conqueſt of Macedonia; Liv. ſo cloſe and reſerved in his counſels, that he ſaid, If he thought his Coat knew his mind, he would burn it; Plut. ◊ Another called Numidicus, for his triumph over Jugurtha king of that country. ◊ Another Creticus; Plut.

Mĕthōne, abundat vino, quod gr. μέθυ voc. unde nomen: A City in Peloponneſus, now called Modon or Mutune: It is the way by which men travel from Venice to Jeruſalem. another in Macedon; Val. Fl. where king Philip in battle loſt one of his eyes.

Mĕthūrides. Four ſmall Iſles in the Bay of Megaris, Plin.

Mĕthymna, Ovid. vel Mĕthymne, à Methymna Macaris filia, uxore Lepydni: illic naſcitur optimum vinum, unde Bacchus Methymnæus dic. vel ſic dict. παρὰ τὸ μήθω. A City of Lesbos (the chief, next to Mitylene*) where* Arion the Harper, that was carried by a Dolphin through the ſea, was born. ◊ Methymna campeſtris. A city of Spain called Medina del campo, &c. ◊ Hinc Methymnæus, a, um; Virg.

Metīna, inſ. Galliæ Narbon. hod. Languillade; Plin.

Metĭŏchus, id eſt, conſiliarius, The ſon of Miltiades; on whom Darius (though his father had been his deadly foe) when he had taken him in the wars, did beſtow riches and great honour, marrying him to a Perſian Lady. Herod.

Mētis; urbs Galliæ Belgicæ, ſcil. Mediomatricum, ſic dict. à Metio Romano qui hanc urbem à Julio Cæſare expugnatam ampliavit, muriſque cinxit. The City Metz.

Mĕtiſcus; ſunt qui ſcribendum putant Methyſcus, à μεθύσκω, i. inebrio. Turnus his Coachman. Vir.

Mĕtius. A name of divers men, one whereof ſirnamed Suſetius or Fufetius, Captain of the Albani, being called by Tullus Hoſtilius to Battle againſt the Fidenates, came and overlooked only whether was likely to get the Victory, that he might turn to that ſide; Hoſtilius overcoming the other, took Metius, and tying him to two Chariots, pulled his body in pieces, Virg.

Metra, μήτρα, id eſt. vulva. A harlot, the daughter of Eriſichthon: Neptune deflowred her, and gave her for her dowry, that ſhe ſhould turn her ſelf into any ſhape; and ſo when her father (as hunger compell'd him) would have money to buy him victuals, he would ſell her for an Horſe, an Ox, or the like; and ſhe would come home again in another ſhape, Ovid. This Metra was indeed an harlot, with whom none could procure a nights lodging, unleſs for a Cow, Horſe, or ſome ſuch thing, money not being yet in uſe; which gave occaſion to the Poets to feign her changed into the ſhapes of all thoſe things ſhe received of her lovers; and from thence aroſe that Proverb, Mutabilior Metrâ.

Mĕtrŏdōrus, id eſt, matris donum. A Philoſopher of Lampſacus, ſcholar to Epicurus; Diog. Laert. ◊ Another of Athens, ſcholar to Carneades; Cic. ◊ Another Melicus, who ſo compleated the art of memory, that he could repeat any thing he heard, word for word. Plin.

Mĕtrŏpŏlis, Phrygiæ civ. ad Meandrum fluviam, à Deâm matre condita, μητρόπολις, i. Magnæ matris urbs, pop. Metropolita, Plin.

Mĕvānia, Luc. urbs Umbriæ; patria Propertii; hod. Bevagna. Pop. Mevaniates, Plin.

Mĕvius, rectiùs Mævius, poëta ineptiſſimus; Vir. & Hor.

Mexicum. Vidi, quià משיח deduceret, Chald. משיחא Meſchio, q. d. urbs Meſſiæ. The City Mexico, the chief and largeſt of all America, having an 100000 houſes in it, ſeated on a lake: Here the Spaniſh Viceroy keeps his reſidence. It is called by the Natives Tenuchtitla or Temiſtitan.

Mezentius, Tyrrhenorum rex, ſummus deorum contemptor, One who aſſiſted Turnus, and was at laſt together with his ſon son Lausus slain by Æneas. He used to lay people alive to dead bodies, that so they might rot together. Virg.

M. ante I.

Mĭbæ; pl. m. Sil. People of Africk next to the Blacks.

Mica, æ; f. The name of a little banketting house. One at Baiæ. Another in Cœlimontium, called Mica aurea.

Micca, virgo Elienſis præclariſſima, Philodemi filia, à Lucio quodam tyranni ſatellite adamata, ſollicitata ad ſtuprum, graviter cæſa, quòd recuſaret, & demum in paterno ſinu jugulata; Plut.

Michael, ēlis; m. Bibl. מִיכָאֵל i. Quis ſicut Deus? An Archangel: alſo the name of ſeveral Greek Emperours.

Micipſa. King of Numidia; ſon to Maſiniſſa. Sall.

Mictis. An Iſland ſix days ſayl from England, where there is plenty of Tinn. Plin.

MIDAS, æ; m. Fulgent. dict. qu. μὴ δὼν ἰδὼν, id eſt, nihil videns, aut ſciens. A rich king of Phrygia. He asked of Bacchus his gueſt, that all he touched might be gold, and he turned his houſes and whole mountains into gold: at laſt being hungry, and touching meat, it turned into gold too; then ſeeing his folly, he deſired to have this wiſh taken from him, and he was bidden to waſh himſelf in the river Pactolus; whereupon he came to be as he was, but the river was ever after ſaid to have golden ſands: whence it was called Chryſorrhoas: afterward Pan and Apollo ſtriving for maſtery, who ſang the beſt, Midas alone judged on Pan's ſide, for which abſurdity of his, Apollo in great anger clapt a pair of Aſſes ears on his head. By this fiction of the Poets was meant that Midas being a tyrant had many hearkeners and talebearers, by whom he knew all that was done or ſpoken of him in every corner of his Kingdom, as if he had long ears to hear what every one ſaid; and his turning all things into gold, ſuits well with his tyranny, which uſed to harraſs and undo his ſubjects, whereby his private coffers might be the better ſtored with abundance of gold; which is often as fooliſhly waſhed and waſted away, as by cruel and unlawful means it is come by. Vid. Ovid. Met. 11.

Midĕa; Stat. opp. Argiæ, in Peloponneſo.

Mieza, Plin. opp. Macedoniæ, apud oſtia Strymonis; unde & Strymonium Steph. dic vulg. Sirumona.

Milānion, ōnis; m. Ovid. Μελανίων, Muſ. A young man who was in love with Atalanta, and at laſt obtained her.

Milēſius, a, um; Vir. Of Miletus. ◊ Milēſii, People of Caria or Ionia, a wanton riotous people, Apul. once warlike and builders of many cities, Str. ◊ Milēſius, cognom. Apollinis; Lact.

Milētŏpŏlis; Plin. A city of Myſia, by the river Rhindacus neer Bithynia.

Milētus, filius Apollinis & Deiones, in Aſia profugus, oppidum condidit, quod de ſuo nomine Miletum appel. Ovid. ejuſque incolas Mileſios: hinc & Apollo dictus eſt Mileſius, Lact. quòd olim hæc urbs eſſet Apollinis oraculo clara.

Milētus vel Miletos, i; f. Ovid. à Mileto conditore dicta. Urbem hanc præſtantiſſimæ lanæ proventus nobilitavit, ex qua ſiebant Mileſia ſtragula, & veſtes Mileſiæ, ob inſignem mollitiem in matronarum deliciis habitæ, Vir. Urbs hæc quondam vocata fuit Pithyuſa, πιτυοῦσα, Anactoria, Lelegis, Plin. hodie Melazo, & Melaſſo dic. A city of Ionia, toward the borders of Caria, on the coaſt of the Ægean ſea, ſix miles to the South from the mouth of the river Mæander. ◊ Another, a ſmall City in the kingdom of Naples, called Melita by Cicero, now Melito, a Biſhops See.

Milevum, Anton. Milevis, Aug. hod. Mela, urbs Africæ epiſcop. ubi Concilium Milevitanum habitum eſt.

Milichĭus dict. Bacchus, eò quòd ficuum & fructuũ penè omnium inventor fuit; nam Milicha olim ficus ſignificabant; Athen.

Milo Crotonienſis. An huge ſtrong man, who at the Olympick Games would carry a Bull or an Ox the ſpace of a furlong, without fetching breath, and kill him with his bare fiſt at one blow; and afterwards ate him up all in one day. No body could pull a thing out of his hand, or ſtir him from the place he ſtood in. At laſt upon too great confidence of his ſtrength, trying with his hands to pull a rifted tree to pieces, and failing, he was caught faſt, and became a prey to the wolves: Val. M. ◊ T. Annius Milo. A Roman, who killed P. Clodius, for which fact he was defended by Tully in that excellent oration, which wears his name, but with that ill ſucceſs, that he was baniſhed to Marſeilles. ◊ Alſo a hill in the Eaſt Indies, where peoples feet grow backward, with eight toes on a foot: Solin.

Milonius. A drunken fellow in Horace.

Miltĭădes. A noble Athenian, that with ten thouſand Grecians diſcomfited an army of the Perſians conſiſting of 600000 in the fields of Marathon: Juſtin.

Milvius pons; Claud, A Bridg two miles from Rome, whence the Flaminian way begins. Here alſo lies Milvius ager, Stat. It is now called Ponte Molle. ◊ Alſo Milvius the name of a Paraſite or Shark; Hor.

Milyas. A midland City of Pamphylia. pop. Milyæ, Plin.

Mimallŏnes, quæ & Mimallonides, Ov. & Menades, Thyades item & Bacchæ, dict. à Mimante Ioniæ monte Baccho ſacro; vel à gr. μιμεῖσθαι, imitari, eò quòd thyrſos & cornua ferentes Indicam Bacchi expeditionem viderentur imitari. Women ſacrificers to Bacchus; indè Mimallonem, adj. Perſ.

Mimas, antis; m. Cic. A mountain of Ionia, neer the City Colophon, over againſt the Iſland Chios. ◊ Alſo a hill of Thrace; Ovid. ◊ Alſo a Gyant ſlain by Jupiter; Hor.

Mimnermnus, Hor. A Poet of Smyrna.

Mĭnæi, Plin. People of Arabia the happy, by the red Sea.

Minarii. Mendip hills in Somerſetſhire.

Mincĭus; Claud. A river of Venice, now called Mencio and Menzo, that waſheth the City Mantua: it riſeth out of the lake Benacus, and runs into the river Po.

Minda. The City Minden in Weſtphalia, belonging to the Elector of Brandenburg ſince the peace of Munſter.

MINERVA, ſapientiæ Dea, ingeniorum præſes: ab ant. Menerno, quod à meneo, i. moneo, unde promenervo, Sal. Carm. quòd benè moneat, Feſt. A minuendo (ſc. genere humano per bella) vel minando, Cic. quòd ſingatur pingaturq; minitans armis, Carnific. ap. Feſt. unde & Pallas dicta à πάλλω, quòd vibret haſtam. Qu. meminerva, ob memoriam, Arnob. quam itaq; matrem ejus facit Afran. ap. Gell. vel quòd ſit dea & mater artium variarum, ſuo more, Iſid. qu. munerva. The goddeſs of Wiſdom, and of all the Arts, born of Jupiter's brain without a mother. She invented Spinning and Weaving, ſhe found out the uſe of Oil, the Art of making and colouring Cloth, of Building, and ſuch like: From her Wiſdom was occaſioned this proverb, Sus Minervam, ſpoken when an Ideot goeth about to teach a wiſe man. She refuſed to marry to any of the gods, but led a Virgin life. Invitâ Minervâ, Hor. Againſt the grain or hair. Hinc Minerval, Hier. διδακτήριον, Onom. i. mercedula vel ſalarium docentis; vel συσταπικὸν, Gl. i. munuſculum gratuitum, quo ſe diſcipulus commendabat novo magiſtro; V. A ſchool-quarridg, or rather Entrance-money.

Minervæ caſtrum, Varr. poſtea Cryptericis, hod. Grottaria, opp. magnæ Græciæ, apud Locros.

Minervæ Promontorium. A place in Campania; now called Capo Campanella.

Minervium; Paterc. A city in the kingdom of Naples, now called Minerbino.

Mineus. A Theban, whoſe daughters were turned into Bats.

Miningroda, quæ & Minimigardum. By ſome taken for Munſter, the chief city of Weſtphalia.

Minĭo, ōnis; m. Vir. A little river of Tuſcany, that runs into the Tyrrhen Sea.

Minnĭus; Mel. The river Minho in Spain, that cuts Gallæcia into two parts.

Minōa; Liv. A City once of Sicily, on the South-coaſt, called alſo Heraclea.

MINOS, ōis, m. A king of Crete, the ſon of Jupiter by Europa: He firſt gave laws to the Cretians, and for his juſtice was after his death made chief Judge in Hell; he married Paſiphae the daughter of Sol, and had many children by her. He made fierce War on the Athenians for his ſon Androgeos death, whom they baſely murthered out of envy, and compelled them to give ſeven of the ſons of their Nobility yearly to be devoured by the Monſter Minotaurus; from which cruel Tribute at length Theſeus delivered them: He had an intricate Labyrinth, made by Dædalus. He was killed at laſt by ſcalding water powred on his head, by treachery of Cocalus K. of Sicily, whither he purſued Dædalus; Ovid. Hinc Minoius, a, um. Minoïa regna, Vir. The kingdom of Crete.

Minōtaurus; Vir. monſtrum biforme, partim habens formam hominis, partim tauri, natum ex Paſiphae uxore Minois, quæ operâ Dædali cum tauro concubuerit. A monſter in Crete, of which Queen Paſiphae, after ſhe had lain with a Bull, was delivered, by Minos order clapt up into the Labyrinth, and there fed with mans fleſh;

ſteſs; The Athenians were obliged to ſend ſeven of their children every year to be devoured by him. But Theſeus, when it fell to his ſhare, ſlew him, and by the help of Ariadne, eſcaped.

Minthe, Ovid. Cocyti filia, in herbam à Perſephone mutata, quam Græci μίνθην voc. Pluto's Harlot.

Minturnæ; pl. f. Cic. A City once of New Latium, between Formiæ and Sinueſſa; a fenny foggy place.

Minūtia. A Veſtal Virgin, who for ſuſpition of Adultery was buried alive. Liv.

Minūtius Augurinus. A Tribune of the Commonalty, for bringing down the price of corn had a Statue erected for him by the people. Plin.

Minutius Felix. A Roman Lawyer, an excellent ſcholar, and a good Chriſtian, He lived about Tertullians time, and wrote a book called Octavius concerning Religion.

Minycus, qui & Orchomenus. Plin. Ariver of Theſſaly.

Minyæ pl.m. Val.Fl. People of Theſſaly, who went with Jaſon to Colchis.

Minyas, Chryſæ filius, Orchomeni rex, à quo Minyæ dicti. He was the firſt that for the abundance of Wealth was forced to make a treaſury to lay up his money in. Cœl. Rhod. § Alſo one of Thebes, whoſe daughters (from him called Minyeades) were turned into Bats.

Miracc, es; f. Val. Fl. A town of Scythia in Europe.

Mirandula. A little City of Lombardy with a Prince or Count of its own, betwixt Mantua and Modena.

Mirobrīga. A City of Spain; Plin. now called Villa de Capilla.

Miſcellus, μίσκελλος, Steph. μόσκελλος, Suid. μόσχελλος, Str. Myſcelus, Solin. A man who received anſwer from the Oracle, that he ſhould build a City there, where he ſhould ſee rain in ſunſhine; and coming into Italy, an Harlot ſate by him weeping, then he thought the Propheſie fulfilled, and there he built the City Croton. Cœl. 12. 4.

Miſēnum; Miſenus mons, Liv. à Miſeno Æneæ comite ibi ſepulto, Vir. A hill and once a City of Italy, neer Baiæ, Puteoli and Cumæ. Pop. Miſenates. Plin.

Miſēnus, Æoli filius, Hectoris Tubicen. When his maſter Hector was dead, he followed Æneas into Italy: He was an excellent Trumpeter, that at laſt having challenged Triton, he was drowned by him; but his maſter afterward finding his body, buried it on a hill called by his name.

Miſna. A City of upper Saxony, called Meiſſen, upon the river Elbe, chief of the province of Miſnia, three German miles from Dreſden.

Miſtyllus, à μιςύλλω, i. minutatim ſeco. A cooks name in Martial.

Mīthras, à Perſis dicitur Sol, Claud. indè Mithriaca ſacr. in honorem ſolis; Lampr. Hinc Mithrax, Plin. quam alibi ſolis gemmam voc.

MITHRIDATES, מתרדת, i. explorans, vel contemplans legem, indè Mithridaticus, a, um. A king of Pontus, that was overthrown by Sylla and Lucullus, and at laſt utterly routed by Pompey and quite defeated. He had ſo fortified himſelf by antidotes againſt poyſon, that being in priſon when he would have poyſoned himſelf, no poyſon would work on him. He was a man of admirable parts, and had a ſingular good memory, ſo that he could ſpeak twenty two ſeveral languages: and for valour he was feared of all: at the very time of his impriſonment, he had ſuch a majeſty in his countenance, as frighted the Executioner from doing his office, that himſelf was fain to help him. Of him that confection took its name which we call Mithridate. § There was another of this name who collected the Epiſtles of Brutus. § An à Mithridate, gemma Mithridax, ap. Solin. qu. Mithridatica? ſed ea eſt, quæ dic. Mithrax ſive Mitrax, Plin. i. ſolis gemma. Vid. Appell.

Mittavia. A city in Liefland, called Mittau, the ſeat of the Duke of Curland.

Mitylēne, es; f. Cic. dict à Mitylene Macaris filia; Steph. The chief City of the Iſland Lesbos, called, as alſo the whole Iſland is from it, Metelin. Vitruv. ſaith, This city was well built, but not well placed; for when the Southern wind blows, the people are ſick; when the Weſtern, they are ſore troubled with a Cough; and with the Northern they will recover. Cicero commends it for its ſcituation, fair buildings, and fruitfull ſoil. Hinc Mitylenæus, a, um; Luc.

Mitys; Liv. A river of Macedony.

M ante N.

Mnaſitheus; Plin. A Painter of Sicyon.

Mnaſon, Elatenſium tyrannus, Plin. He gave an Artiſt for the twelve gods painted, 300 pounds apiece.

Mnemŏſyne, es; f. μνημοσύνη, i. memoria, quòd omnium ſcientiarum theſaurus memoriæ beneficio & acquiratur & conſervetur. Mother of the Muſes.

Mnēſarchus. One of the chief Philoſophers, as Cicero accounts him.

Mnēsimăchus, græc. i. pugnæ memor. A Comical Poet.

Mneſter, Agrippinæ libertus qui dominâ interemptâ, ferro ſe transfixit. Tac.

Mneſtheus, Vir. A Captain of a ſhip, a Trojan, deſcended from Aſſaracus. Scrib. & Meneſtheus.

M ante O.

Mŏab; Bibl. The ſon of Lot by his elder daughter; from whom the country was ſo called. § Alſo a City of Arabia Petræa beyond Jordan, the ſame as Areopolis, Hier. now called Aroer.

Modin; Bible. A city once of Judæa, ten miles from Jeruſalem, the country of the Maccabees.

Modoetia; P. Diac. A town of Italy, ten miles diſtant from Milan Northward, now called Monza.

Mŏdonus. The river Slane in Ireland; Cambd. or the Liffy, that runs by Dublin, Ort.

Mœnus, Tac. Mœnis, Mel. Menus, Amm. The river Meyn in Germany, that runs through Franconia into the Rhine.

Mœris; Vir. A Shepherd: alſo a Lake of Egypt, twenty miles in compaſs; Mela.

Mœsia, Tac. Myſia, Str. A large country between Macedony and Thrace on the South, and Tranſylvania on the North, from which it is parted by the Danow. The upper part is called Servia, the lower Bulgaria. It is all under the Turk, and is ſeparated from Thrace by the mount Hæmus. § Alſo a country of Aſia the leſs; Vir. called alſo Myſia.

Moguntia, ſic. ab amne Mogi dict. The City Mentz in Germany, which is the Seat of of one the Spiritual Electors of the Empire; here alſo was Printing firſt invented, ann. Chr. 1450. by Joh. Gutenberg.

Molæ, dez quædam antiquitùs dictæ ſunt, filiæ Martis, Gell. de nomine Molarum appellatæ, quòd Mars ut molis fruges, ſic bellis homines frangat, & comminuat. Molæ Formianæ, Cic. pagus novi Latii, non longe à Formiis.

Molo. A famous Orator at Rhodes in Tullies time.

Moloch, i. Rex. An Idol of the Ammonites, to which they ſacrificed their children.

Mŏlorchos; Vib. ſeq. Lucus Nemeæ regionis, in Peloponneſo, ubi Hercules leonem interfecit. Hinc Molorchenus, a, um; gent. Tibul.

Molorchus; Virg. An old Shepherd about Cleonæ, that entertained Hercules, who for recompence ſlew the Nemæan Lion, that waſted the country. Hinc Molorchæus, adj. Tibul.

Moloſſia, dict. à Moloſſo Pyrrhi & Andromaches fil. A part of Epire, now called Pandoſia; a country that bred ſtout dogs, like our maſtives. Hinc Moloſſus, Vir. ſc. canis, Μολοσσὸς κύων, A maſtiff. It. M. loſſus pes tribus longis, & Moloſſicum carmen 4. conſtans moloſſis, ſic dict. quòd hoc carmine Moloſſi armati Pyrrhicam ſaltarent; Iſid. Quale hoc, Romani Gallis devictis ſunt victores, Diom.

Moluccæ. The Molucca Iſlands in the Indian Sea, famous for ſpices, eſpecially Cloves; and for the Bird of Paradiſe.

Momonia. One of the four Provinces of Ireland, called Munſter, by the Natives Moun. It is divided into ſix Counties; Kerry, Limrick, Cork, Tipperary, Waterford and Deſmond: The chief City is Caſhel, an Arch-Biſhops See.

Mōmus; i. m. à μώμος reprehenſio, q. d. reprehenſionis Deus; Somni & Noctis filius, Heſiod. The carping god, who would do nothing himſelf, but finde fault with every body; whence all carpers are called Momi; whence alſo were theſe Proverbs, Momo ſatisfacere; To content one that no man can pleaſe. Momo judice certare. To contend before a rigorous Judge.

Mona. Cæſ. The Iſle of Angleſey in North-Wales, betwixt England and Ireland. It hath 74 pariſhes in it. It is threeſcore miles compaſs. The chief towns are Beaumaris and Newburg.

Monachodamum. A town of North-Holland, called Munickdam, two leagues from Amſterdam Northward.

Monacum & Monachium. The chief City of Bavaria, called Munchen, where the Duke hath his reſidence.

Monœcēda, & Monapia, Plin. Menavia, Bed. Eubonia, Gild. The Iſle of Man, in the Iriſh ſea, 34 miles in length from North to South, and twelve miles broad. There are ſeventeen pariſhes in it, and four towns, Ruſſin, Duglas, Peel, and and Balacuri, where the Biſhop makes his Reſidence. It belongs to the Earl of Derby.

Monzæs; m. Hor. A Parthian King.

Monaſterium. Munſter the chief City of Weſtphalia. ◊ The name of other cities alſo in Germany, France, Alſatia, &c.

Moneta, à monendo dict. Nam cum urbs maximo terræ motu concuteretur, nec quiſquam nôſſet qua victima id mali poſſet expiari, vox ex Junonis templo audita eſt, quæ ſacerdotes monuit, ſue gravidâ terræ motum eſſe procurandum. A name of Juno. Cic. 1. de Div.

Monetium. A town near Iſtria, called Monſpurg, in Carniola.

Monica. S. Auſtin's mother.

Monodus, μονόδους, unidens; loco enim dentium os unum continuum habuit. The ſon of Pruſias. Plin.

Monœcus, Vir. Gr. ὁ μόνος Ἡρακλῆς οἰκῶν, is enim in ea ſolus colebatur. A haven town in Liguria, called Monaco, which has a Prince of its own, who is abſolute. Dic. & portus Herculis, quia pulſis aliis ſolus Hercules illic habitavit; Serv.

Monomeri, μονόμηροι, i. unicum habentes femur. Certain people in the Eaſt, that have but one Leg, on which they can hop faſter than any Beaſt can run; Gell. 9. 4.

Monoſceli, qui & Sciapodes, Plin. μονόσκελοι, i. unicum habentes crus. People in India, that have but one Leg, the foot whereof is ſo broad, that in the heat of ſummer they cover their whole body with it from the Sun.

Monothelitæ, qui unicam tantùm voluntatem in Chriſto eſſe ſtatuunt, inde & unam naturam. Certain Hereticks that denyed two wills in Chriſt, to wit the divine and humane, in the year 640. which were within five years after condemned by a Council.

Mons Acutus. A town of France, in the country of Bourbon, called Montaigu.

Mons Albanus. A City of Guienne in France, called Montauban.

Mons Alcinous; Volat. A City of Tuſcany, called Montalcino, ſeventeen miles from Siena.

Mons Altus, Montalto, urbs Piceni.

Mons Briſiacus. A town in Alſatia, upon the Rhine, called Briſac.

Mons doloroſus. A town of Scotland formerly ſo called, now Sterling, where their Kings were wont to be crowned.

Monsferratus. A country in Italy, with a Duke to it, called Monferrat, betwixt Milan and Piedmont. The chief place of it is Caſal.

Mons Gomericus. Mongomery, in Wales.

Mons Peſſulus ſive Peſſulanus. The city Mompelier of Narbon in France, famed for its Air and the ſtudy of Phyſick.

Mons Regius. Koningsberg, the chief City of Pruſſia Ducal, under the Elector of Brandenberg.

Mons Roſarum. Montroſs, a town in the North of Scotland: It had lately a Marqueſs deſervedly renowned for his Loyalty, Valour, & Greatneſs of mind, ſhewn as well in his ſufferings as in his Actions.

Mons Serratus. A high hill of Spain, in Catalonia, called Montſerrat.

Mons ſolis ſive mons Badonicus, nunc Bathonia. The City Bathe in Somerſetſhire.

Monſtrolium; al. Monaſteriolum. A City of France in Picardy, called Montreuil, upon the borders of Artois, nine leagues from Abbeville.

Montanus. A Poet in Ovid. ◊ Alſo a Privy Counſeller to Domitian, a fatguts; Juv. ◊ Alſo an Arch-heretick, from whom the Montaniſts.

Montenſis Ducatus. A country upon the Rhine, in the Circle of Weſtphalia, under the Duke of Newburg, called Duche de Mons or de Berg; of which Duſſeldorp is the chief City.

Montes. The chief City of Henault, called Mons, in the Low-countries.

Monumetha. Monmouth, the chief City of the ſhire, upon the river Wy.

Monychus, i. ſolungulus; Centauris enim poetarum fabulæ equinos tribuerunt pedes, unde hoc equorum epitheton proprium interdum de iis uſurpatur. One of the Centaurs; Juv.

Mopſium, Mopſius tumulus, Liv. A hill and town of Theſſaly.

Mopſopia, dict. à Mopſo rege. A country of Attica. Hinc Mopſopius, a, um; Ovid.

Mopſus, vates Theſſalus, unus ex Argonautis; Ampyci filius, unde & Ampycides, Ovid. cujus oraculum in Cilicia, Tert. & in Africâ, Apul. ◊ It. urbs Ciliciæ, Plin. hod. Malmiſtra. eſt & nomen paſtoris; Vir.

Moravia, à Mora fluvio dict. hod. voc. Mahren: veteres Marcomanniam dixere, & incolæ vocabantur Marcomanni. A Country in Germany now joyned to the Kingdom of Bohemia; on three ſides it is incloſed with hills, Woods, and Forreſts, by which it is parted Eaſtward from Hungary, Weſtward from Bohemia, and Northward from Sileſia; toward the South it is a plain, bordered with Auſtria, and ſeverea from it by the river Thayſa. ◊ Alſo Murray, a large province in the North of Scotland.

Moravus. The river Marh, that divides Moravia into two parts, and falls into the Danow.

Morbium. Morsby in Cumberland; Camd.

Morda. The river Merſe, which comes out of Wales, and falls into Severn at Shrewsbury.

Mōrētum, i. intritum, μυττωτὸς. The name of a Poem, which treats of that mingle-mangle, made up of eight ingredients, Garlick, Parſly, Rue, Coriander, Scallion, Cheeſe, Oil and Vineger. Vid. Appell.

Morgentia; Sil. A town once of Sicily. Pop. Murgentini, Cic.

Morgus. A river riſing out of the Alps, and falleth into the Po; Plin. ubi rect. fort. Orgus, hod. L'Orco.

Moria. A hill of Judea, now called Sion, at Jeruſalem, where Abraham was bid to ſacrifice his ſon: Bier.

Moricambe æſtuarium. The bay of Caerdronick in Cumberland.

Moridūnum. Somerton, or Seaton in Devonſhire. Camd.

Morini, pop. inter Belgas; Vir. neer the ſea-ſide by Calais.

Morlæum, ſeu Mons relaxus. Morlaix a port-town of France in Bretagne.

Morpheus, Somni miniſter, ſic dict. quòd τὰς μορφὰς, i. vultus hominum fingat, verba ipſa, mores item & geſtus imitans; vel quòd varias formas dormientibus exhibeat. The god of ſleep.

Morta, Liv. ap. Gell. eadem quæ Parca; i. fatum, ſors. à gr. μόρος. i. pars, Voſ. al. à morte. The goddeſs of deſtiny.

Mortuum Mare. The dead ſea, a Lake of Pentapolis in Syria, that came of the burning of Sodom and Gomorrha, and the Country adjoyning: nothing will live in it, trees that grow by it bear fruit, but within they are all aſhes; Aſphaltites.

Morychus. A name of Bacchus, dict. viz. à μορύσσω, i. contamino; Bacchi enim faciem Siculi vindemiæ tempore muſto & recentibus ficubus oblinere conſueverunt. ◊ Alſo a ſilly Tragedian; whence the proverb, Morycho ſtultior, Eraſm.

Mōsa, æ; m. Cæſ. & Sidon. A river of Gallia Belgica called the Maes, in French La Meuſe, that after a long courſe falls below Dort into the German Ocean.

Moſcha. A river of Moſcovia; alſo the chief City Moskow the ſeat of the Czar or great Duke.

Moſchi; Luc. People of Aſia, among the Scythians in the Eaſt part of that country, which is now called Mingrelia. In ſing. Moſchus, Sidon.

Moſcovia, ſive Ruſſia alba ſeu magna, à Moſco amne ſic dict. cujus metropolis Moſcha. The Empire of the great Duke, or Czar of Muſcovy, bounded with the frozen Sea on the North, Tartary on the Eaſt & South, & Poland on the Weſt. It is 380 German miles in length, and 300 in breadth. It hath about forty provinces, which are named moſt from the chief cities. The people uſe the Sclavonian tongue, and the rites of the Greek Church.

Moſcus vel Moſcha. A river of Muſcovy, that gives name to the country, and after 160 Ruſſian miles courſe runs through the chief City Moskow, and diſcharges it ſelf into the river Occa.

Moſella, Auſon. Moſula, Flor. The river Moſelle, that runs through Lorrain, and paſſing by Triers, at Confians falls into the Rhine.

MOSES, is; m. Μωσῆς, משה i. extrahens, per Enallagen vocis act. pro paſſ. quòd eſſet aquis extractus, unde & ὑδροχόος Orpheo dic. The great lawgiver of the Jews, who preſently after he was born, was hid in an ark of bulruſhes, found by Pharaoh's daughter, bred up, and adopted for her ſon. Afterward by ſpecial commiſſion, confirmed by ſundry miracles, he brought out the children of Iſrael from Egypt, and led them forty years together in the wilderneſs; and having ordered the Commonwealth for government both of Church and State, died on mount Nebo, leaving the charge to Joſhua. He was the moſt ancient Writer.

Mōsini, pop. Sarmatiæ, Tibul. Al. leg. Mygnos.

Moſomum. A City of Champaigne in France, called Mouſon, by the river Maes.

Moſſini, pop. Aſiæ min. In Myſiâ circa Pergamum urbem; Plin.

Mōſyni; Mela. People on the coaſt of the Euxin Sea. ◊ It. pop. Sarmatiæ, Getis

Getis finitimi; Tibul.

Mosynœci; i. turricolæ, à turribus quibus domorum vice utuntur; scil. à μόσυνος turris, Dion. Mossynœchi, Val. Fl. People of Cappadocia by the Euxin Sea.

M ante U.

Mucræ; pl. f. Sil. A town of Samnium in Italy.

Mugionia, à Mugio dict. vel à mugitu, quòd per eam venale pecus intraret: hæc & Trigonia τριγωνία, appellata est, h. e. trium angulorum. Agate in Rome.

Mugius, dict. à frequenti murmuratione. A certain Roman, from whom the gate Mugionia, had its name.

Mulciber, ĕri; m. Ovid. à mulcendo, sc. ferro, i. molliendo, Fest. vel à mulcando, Don. quod sit verberibus, quibus fabri mulcant, i. tundunt ferrum. Al. à mulcendo & imbri, Prisc. ridiculè. Alio sensu à mulcendo, Scal. eâ ratione, quâ Jupiter Μειλίχιος dic. Puto tandem non esse Latinæ originis, sed Hetruscæ, unde Romanis religionis ritus, idq; ab heb. pro more, ut sit Mulciber מלך אבר. Rex Iberiæ quæ ferro abundabat. Vulcan, the god of Smiths and Iron-work. Leg. & Mulcibri, in Gen. Cic.

Mulda. A river of Bohemia, called Multaw, that runs into the Elb.

Mulhusia. Mulhausen, an Imperial city of Germany.

Mulucha. A river and town of Mauritania Tingitana; Flor.

Mummius. A noble Roman (by sirname Lucius) that overcame Corinth, and all Achaia, and was thereupon sirnamed Achaicus.

Munda. A town in Hispania Bætica, where the last and most bloody battel was fought between Cæsar and Pompey's party, where these lost 30000 foot, and 5000 horse. Lucan.

Munychia, festa Palladis; item Munychium portum extra Athenas, dictus, Hellanico teste, a Munycho rege, Pentaclei filio. ◊ Munychios agros, Ovid. i. Atticos.

Muræna, à piscе deduct. qui muræna dicitur. A Citizen of Rome for whom Cicero made an Oration.

Murcia, Dea marcoris, Tert. i. socordiæ. Male leg. marmoris vel amoris, Turn. segnium Deam voc. Arn. (quippe murcidi, ignavi, Fest.) quæ præter modum non moveret, ac faceret hominem murcidum, i. nimis desidiosum & inactuosum, Aug. ☞ Dea Strenua, quæ faceret strenuum; Id. The Goddess of sloath, that made men idle and lazy. She had a chappel at the Goal of the Circus or Horse-race, whence that place, the further end of the Cirk was called Metæ Murciæ. Others would have her to be the same Goddess with Dea myrtæa, by change of letters. So Pliny, Veneri Myrteæ, quam nunc Murciam vocant; and Plutark saith the same, and Varro calls the chappel sacellum Murciæ Veneris. ◊ Also the valley it self, where those exercises of the Circus were performed was called Murcia from the neighbour hill, which some say was named Murcus: so Serv. Al. ab urceis, quòd is locus esset inter sigulos, Var.

Murcus, mons Aventinus prius dictus; Fest. unde & metæ Murciæ dici potuerant.

Murgantia, urbs Samnitum, Liv. hodiè S. Georgio dict. Barrius.

Murgis; Plin. A town of Bætic Spain; now called Muxacra.

Murocincta, Amm. A town of Germany, now called Meurs, nine miles from Cullen Northward.

Murrhanus. A man that bragged of his gentry, Virg. also an ancient King of the Latines, after whom all the Kings were so called.

Murthlacum. A town of Scotland, once a Bishops sea, which was thence translated to Aberdeen. It is now called Murtlay.

Murtia, dict. Venus, Plin. corr. pro Myrtea, à Myrto illi sacrâ; sed Festo Murcia dic.

Musæ, Jovis & Mnemosynes filiæ in Pieria natæ, unde Pierides dict. sedem habentes in Helicone monte Bœotiæ; unde & Heliconiades μοῦσαι à μνεῖν, i. διδάσκειν, παιδεύειν, Euseb. à μωσθαι, i. ζητεῖν, Plato, unde Dor. μῶσαι. à μάω vel μώω, cum impetu feror; quòd furore vatum animos incitent, Scal. Al. ab heb. מצא, invenire; vel מוסר musar eruditio. The nine Muses, the goddesses of Musick and Poetry, whose names are these: Calliope, Clio, Erato, Thalia, Melpomene, Terpsichore, Euterpe, Polyphymnia, Urania. Hinc Musicus, Musaicus, & Musivus, a, um, &c. vid. Appell.

Musæus. An ancient Poet that went with Jason to fetch the golden fleece; another, later, who wrote of Hero and Leander.

Musagores, Plin. Musagori, Mel. Three little Isles or rocks on the South of Creet.

Musonius philosophus, Gell. 16. 1.

Mussipontum. A town of Lorrain called Pont a Mousson, upon the Moselle, five leagues from Nancy, now an University.

Muticenses, pop. Siciliæ; Cic.

Mutilum; Liv. A town of Romandiola, under the great Duke of Tuscany, called Modigliana.

Mūtina, æ; f. Ovid. A City of Lombardy in Italy, now called Modena, where Antony besieged D. Brutus, who was rescued by Hirtius and Pansa the two Consuls: It is now the chief City of a Duchy, governed by a Prince of its own of the family d'Este, and hath several Signories under it. The whole Duchy reacheth sixty miles from North to South, and about forty five from East to West. B. Hinc Mutinensis color ei loco nativus: al. idem cum Bætico. A brown colour of wool.

Mutius. The name of divers Romans: vide Scævola.

Mutunus; Priapus: Aug. à mutone membro virili.

Mutuscæ, Vlr. quæ & Trebia. A town of the Sabines, where Annibal gave the Romans a great overthrow. ◊ Pop. Mutuscæi, Plin.

Mutustratini, pop. Siciliæ; Plin.

Muziris. A large City of Malabar in the East-Indies, now called (as some think) Calicut.

M ante Y.

Mya, ins. parva Doridis, in sinu Ceramico; Plin.

Myagros, Plin. μύαγρος, à μῦς musca & ἄγρα captura. The God killfly among the Eleans.

Mycale, es; f. A town and hill of Caria or Ionia. Hinc Mycalæus, a, um; Claud. ◊ Also a Sorceress; Ovid.

Mycalessus, Stat. sic dict. quòd vacca, quæ Cadmum cum exercitu Thebas duxit, illic mugitum ediderit: tanquam à μυκάομαι mugio. A town with a hill in the coast of Bœotia; Plin.

Mycenæ, pl. f. μυκήνη, à μυκάω mugio; quod Io bos illic mugiverit; unde & Inachiæ voc. Stat. ab Inacho, quem pro patre habuit Io; vel quòd juxta Inachum fl. sitæ sint, uti Vir. Agamemnoniæ, Ovid. Pelopeiadæ, Luc. Thyesteæ voc. quòd ab Agamemnone, Pelope, Thyesta regnatæ fuerint. Hinc Mycenæus, adj. Vir. A City of Peloponnesus, between Corinth and Argos, now called Adrianos, Charia, & Gerbigni.

Mycithus. A slave, who being intrusted by his dying master Anaxilaus with the government of his Kingdom and care of his children, performed the trust with great honesty: Macrob. By Justin he is called Micalus.

Mycone, es; f. Vir. insula maris Ægæi. One of the Cyclades near to Delos, twenty miles in compass, now called Micole; with a Castle in it, and two harbours: it is under the Venetians; the inhabitants are naturally bald, whence bald men are proverbially called Myconii; Plin. whence Myconius crispus, Ter. of a thing that is rare, as we say A black Swan.

Mygdonia, dict. à Mygdone rege; regio Macedoniæ in Thraciam vergens; ibi Niobe in saxum est conversa, ibi etiam natus Aristoteles in urbe Stagyra; Mygdones, pop. Mygdonius, a, um; Ovid. ◊ It. regio Mesopotamiæ, Plin. ubi Mygdonius fl. Nisibin urbem interluens. ◊ It. regio Phrygiæ, Hor. unde Cybele mater Mygdonia, V. Fl.

Mygdonides; Vir. Chorœbus, Son to Mygdon, who was Queen Hecuba's brother, and King in Thrace.

Myla vel Mylas; Liv. A small river in the East part of Sicily.

Myle, es; f. Ovid. A sea-town of Sicily, now called Milazzo. Here the sea casts out upon the shore some things that stink like dung; whence the story, that the Sun set up his horses there a nights. Plin.

Mylitta, Venus dict. apud Assyrios; à מולדת nativitas, progenies, Chald. מולדתא μύλιττα, q. d. genituræ Dea. At whose temple once in their lives, the Women were compelled to lie with strangers, and every stranger putting money into the womans bosom, was to say these words, Tanti ego tibi Deam Mylittam imploro. Herod.

Myndus, Cic. The chief city at this time of Caria by the sea-side, now called Mentese.

Myonesus; Liv. A promontory between Teios, and the Island Samos.

Myra; pl. n. Plin. A great City in Lycia, a metropolis with thirty six Bishops see under it.

Myriandrus. A City of Syria, in the gulf Issicus. Myriandricus sinus. The gulf Issicus. pop. Myriandri, Mel.

Myrina. A City of Æolis, called now Marhani, and formerly Sebastopolis, Plin. ◊ Another in the Isle Lemnos, Plin. called now Lemno by the name of the Island.

Myrinus, A Fencers name in Martial.

Myrlea; Plin. A City of Bithynia, on the sea-side, afterward called Apamia.

Myrmecides, à μύρμηξ formica. A carver of curious small works, Cic.

Myrmidŏnes, um; pl. m. Vir. μυρμιδόνες, à μύρμηξ formica; quòd hominibus peſtilentiâ ſublatis ad Æaci preces formicæ in homines converſæ eſſent; vel quòd, cùm eſſent agriculturæ ſtudioſi, formicarum more in fodienda terra verſarentur. People of Theſſaly who at Æacus his requeſt, his country having bin depopulated by a peſtilence, were by miracle made men from piſmires. Of theſe were they that accompanied Achilles going to Troy: Strabo ſaith, they were called Myrmidons or Piſmirians, becauſe they were painful Husbandmen, always imployed about digging, and tilling the ground as Emmets or Piſmires do, which are therefore made the Emblem of labour, by Horace, &c.

Myron, ōnis; m. Poet. μύρον. An excellent and famous Statuary. One piece of his, which was a brazen Cow, was made ſo to the life, that it gave a great deal of ſport to the Greek wits to play upon it, which Auſonius hath tranſlated into Latin.

Myrrha, μύρρα, in arbuſculam ſui nominis mutata. The daughter of Cynaras, King of Cyprus, who wickedly falling in love with her father, and by her nurſes contrivance lying with him, had a ſon by him called Adonis: which wicked fact when her father came to underſtand, he would have ſlain her; whereupon ſhe fled into Arabia, and was by the pity the gods had of her, turned into a tree of her name. Ovid. Met. 10.

Myrtera, Hor. lacus ſudatorius Campaniæ apud Baias.

Myrtea, dicta Venus, μυρτία Ἀφροδίτη, Plut. à myrto Veneri dicata, quòd myrtus odorifera ſit, & Venus odoribus unguentiſque delectetur: vel quòd ſacello ejus myrtetum proximum eſſet, V. ex Serv. Venus ſo called from the Myrtle-tree, which was ſacred to her, or rather that there was a Myrtle-grove about her Chappel at the further end of the Circus; whence ſhe was there at firſt called Venus Myrtea, and afterward Murcia, Plin. & Plut. and thence the Goal was called Metæ Murciæ, and the whole vally Murcia, Serv. and perhaps the hill it ſelf, that ſtood neer, called Murcus.

Myrtilis, Plin. A town of Portugal, now called Mertola.

Myrtilus. The Chariot-man of Œnomaus, who having bin bribed by Pelops in a race, ſo ordered it that his maſters Chariot-wheels broke in the way; whereupon he himſelf alſo tumbling out of the coach-box, broke his neck, and was thrown into the ſea from him called Myrtoum; Ovid.

Myrtos, inſ. maris Ægæi, unde mare Myrtoum dict. Plin.

Myrtoum mare, Hor. Myrtoa aqua, Ovid. pars maris Ægæi, nomen habens à Myrtilo ibi ſubmerſo, Ovid. in Ibin. vel à Myrto inſ. Plin. Hodiè Mar di Mandria voc. quod Ptolomeo eſt circa Cariam, Aſiæ minoris regionem; Plinio verò inter Peloponneſum & Atticam.

Mys, myos; m. Mart. An excellent ingraver in ſilver.

Myſia. A country in Aſia the leſs, by Helleſpont, bordering upon Troas; that is by Ptol. divided into two parts; the Greater called Olympica by Strabo; the Leſſer called Helleſpontica by Galen. The people of that country are baſe, ſervile and contemptible; whence that proverb, Myſorum poſtremus, Cic. He is of no account, he is caſt at the cars arſe. ◊ Myſia, or (as ſome read it) Mœſia, is alſo a country in Europe, divided into two parts, the one called Myſia ſuperior, and now Servia, the other called Myſia inferior, now called Bulgaria: incolæ Myſi, inde Ceres dicitur Myſia.

Myſomacedones, ſunt pop. Aſiæ in tractu Myſiæ à Macedonibus oriundi, unde & nomen habent. Plin.

Myus, untis; Plin. urbs Ioniæ, cujus pop. à culicibus infeſtati Miletum proximam urbem migrarunt. Ergo à μῦς, i. à muſcarum copiâ dict.

N ante A.

NAæra, una ex pediſſequis Cleopatræ, quæ unà cum Charmione ſponte-am Cleopatræ mortem eſt imitata: Plut.

Naarmalcha, i. flumen regium ſive amnis regum. Amm. נהר מלכא. ποταμὸς βασιλεὺς. A part of Euphrates ſo caued a little above Babylon.

Nabalia. The river Neers in the Dutchy of Juliers, that runs through Guelderland and falls into the Maes.

Nabantium. A large town of Portugal, where the Kings were wont to be crowned, called now Tomar, ſeated upon the river Naban, now called Rio de Tomar.

Năbăthæa; Plin. A country of Arabia Petræa, Eaſtward. Pop. Nabathæi, à Nabaioth Iſmaelis primogenito dicti; Iſid. ◊ Nabathæa regna, Ovid. The Eaſtern parts of the world.

Nabus. The river Nab in the Palatinate of Bavaria, which gives name to the town Nabburg, and runs into the Danow a little above Ratisbon.

Năcŏlia, Amm. dict. à Nacole Nympha, vel à Nacolo Daſcyli filio. A City in Phrygia, now called by the Turks Einagiol, Leuncl.

Naddăver; Ven. Fort. A City of Æthiopia, where S. Matthew ſuffered martyrdom.

Nænĭa; æ; f. A goddeſs of the Heathen that had a Chappel dedicated to her without the Porta Viminalis; Feſt. ſo named, becauſe ſhe was called upon in the funeral-ſongs of old men. Aug. ex Var. v. Appell.

Nævia porta. A gate of the city Rome, now called Porta maggiore, beyond which, a mile, was Nævia ſylva, Feſt. ſo called from one Nævius the owner of it.

Nævius poeta celebris, qui primum Punicum bellum verſibus deſcripſit: à nævo dict.

Nagnatæ. People of Slego in Ireland.

Naïades, um; f. Naiades, à νάω fluo; quòd ſint ναμάτων, i. aquarum fluentium Deæ, Porphyr. Fairies of the fountains; indè Naicus, a, um. Prop.

Năim. A City of Galilee five miles from mount Tabor.

Nalcŭa, quæ & Calleva. A City of England, now called Oxford, alias Wallingford, dict.

Namurcum. The City Namur in the Low countries, upon the Maes, eight Dutch miles from Lovain.

Nanæus. A river of Scotland, called Glas. Boeth.

Nanceium. The chief City of Lorrain, called Nancy.

Nannētes; Cæſ. The people and City of Nantes in leſſer Britanny, built as 'tis thought, by the fifth King of France of that name, three hundred years after the Deluge.

Nantuates; Cæſ. People in the North part of Savoy, whoſe country is now called le Chablais.

Năpæa, Vir. à νάπη ◊. ſaltus, nemoroſa vallis. Fairies of the woods. ℭ Napeæ. vallium Deæ; Oreades, montium; Dryades ſylvarum; Naiades fontium; Nereides, maris; Serv.

Napata; Plin. A City of Ethiope, the Royal ſeat once of Queen Candace.

Naphtutæ, à נפתוחים. People in the Weſt part of Numidia.

Nar. A river of Ombria, a little below Narnia falling into Tyber. Luc.

Năracoſtŏma; Plin. One of the mouths of the river Ister.

Narbo, Cæſ. Narbon. Cic. Narbo Martius, m. g. Plin. Martia Narbo, f. g. Auſon, ſcil. urbs. The City Narbon, in France, an Archbiſhops ſee. Hinc Gallia dict. Narbonenſis, quæ & Braccata dicitur; amne Varo ab Italia & Alpibus diſcernitur, & à reliqua Gallia Gebennâ monte, Garumnâ & Rhodano fluviis. It containeth the countries of Savoy, Dolphine, Provence, and Languedoc.

Narciſſus, i; m. Νάρκισσος ◊, à νάρκη torpor, quem flos ad fert, nervis inimicus; Plut. Son of the river Cephiſſus and the Nymph Liriope. Tireſias being ask'd concerning the child's fortune at his birth, anſwered, He ſhould live ſo long as he did not ſee himſelf. He proved ſo beautiful a youth, that all the Nymphs fell in love with him, but he ſlighted them all: afterward, ſeeing his own face in a ſpring he ſo fell in love with himſelf, that he pined away, and dying, was changed into a flower of his name, the Daffodilly. ◊ The name of the eleventh Biſhop of Jeruſalem, deſcribed at large by Euſeb. lib. 6. cap. 7. ◊ Alſo a Favorite of Claudius the Emperor.

Nariſci. People of Germany, in the country now called Nortgoew, the chief city whereof is Amberg, eight leagues Northward from Ratisbon.

Nāritia; Ovid. urbs magnæ Græciæ, ſive Locrorum.

Narnia, Claud. ſic dict. quòd per ipſam Nar amnis labitur, hodiè Narni dict. A City of Umbria in Italy, the country of Nerva the Emperour, formerly called Nequinum; Plin. Pop. quondam Nartes dicti, Narnienſes, Plin. Where rain makes the ground full of duſt, and drought makes it dirty, Cic.

Naro; Mel. A river and City of Dalmatia, now called Narenza.

Nărōna, Plin. Narenta, Volat. A famous city once of Dalmatia. v. Naro.

Narſes. An Eunuch of the Emperour Juſtinian, formerly a Bookſeller, for his vertues was made one of the Patritii, and was ten years in Italy, being put in the room of Beliſarius.

Nartes. People of Umbria; Plin. qui & Interamnates.

Narthĕcūſa; Plin. An Iſle neer Rhodes.

Nārycia.

Nārycia. The same as Naritia: whence Narycia pix; Vir.

Nāsāmōnes; & in sing. Nasamon, Sil. à Nasamone quodam dict. People of Africk near the great Syrtis; Curt. that live by piracy and robbing, especially of the wrack of ships that miscarry or founder in the Syrtes: This people have an Order, that upon the marriage-day, the bride lyeth with every one of the guests, and is ever after to keep her chastity, Polydor.

Nascus, Plin. Nascum, Amm. An inland City of Arabia the happy.

Nāsīca, à Naso dict. qui disposas gestitat nares; Arnob. Scipio so called.

Nāsium. A village in the Duchy of Barr, called Naz, ten miles off the Maes.

Nāso, ōnis; m. à magnitudine nasi, ut à Labiis Labeo, cognomen Ovidii.

Nassovia. A town in Franconia, called Nassau, twelve Dutch miles from Cullen, whence the famous Princes of Nassau had their rise.

Nātio vel Nascio. dea nascentium, ut quæ partus tueretur; Cic. de Nat. deorum.

Natisō; Plin. A river of Italy in Friuli.

Natolia, per Apoc. ab ἀνατολὴ quòd Europæis sit ad orientem. Asia the less now so called. It is all under the Turkish dominion.

Nāva; Auson. The river Nabe, that rises in the country of Triers, runs through the lower Palatinate, and at Bingen four leagues below Mentz discharges it self into the Rhine.

Nāvæthus; à ναῦς navis, & αἴθω uro: Italiæ fluvius, sic dict. à navium exustione, quòd Laomedontis filiæ, ac Priami sorores, cum captivis aliis illuc appulsæ, naves incenderunt; ex quo & ipsæ Nauprestides nuncupatæ, à ναῦς & πρήθω uro. Cæl. Rhod. 24. 5.

Nāvālia. The City Swol in Over-Yssel, one league from Campen.

Nāvārra. The country of Navarr in Spain, divided by the Pirenean hills into two parts; the one side belonging to the King of France, the other to the King of Spain.

Naubŏlus, Laii regis Thebanorum auriga; Stat. à quo & Hippasides voc.

Naucrātes. Taught the Ægyptians to write by the pictures of beasts and trees: he is taken to be Mercury, or the God Thoth.

Naucraticum, ostium Nili; Plin. & Naucraticus nomus; Id. dict. ab urbe vicinâ, quæ Naucratis dic.

Naucrātis; i. Navalis, à ναῦς & κρατέω, opp. Ægypti, à Milesiis maris imperium tunc obtinentibus appellatione inditâ: Naucratitæ, incolæ.

Navilubio, fl. Hisp. Tarrac. Plin. vulgò Mullon.

Nāvius Actius. A Soothsayer, who before Tarquinius Priscus with a Razor cut a Wheetstone in two.

Naulīum vel Naulum. A City in Liguria, belonging to the State of Genoa, now called Noli.

Naulŏchus; Suet. Naulŏga; Sil. A Sea-town once of Sicily, where now a little castle called Diveto, on the North-coast of the Isle. ◊ Also a town of Thrace by mount Hæmus; Plin. ◊ Also a small Isle belonging to Crete; Id.

Naupactus, Liv. Naupactum, Plin. Neopactus, Cic. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς ἡρακλείδων ναυπηγίας, i. ab Heraclidarum navalibus. The chief City of Ætolia, called Lepanto, in Achaia, won by Bajazeth the second from the Venetians, an. Chr. 1499. Here was that famous battle in the year 1571. betwixt the Christians and the Infidels, where the Turks received a great overthrow. ◊ Hinc Naupactæus, a, um; Ovid.

Nauplia, dict. quòd naves solent eò applicare. A Port-town in Argos, now called Napoli.

Nauplius. King of Eubœa and father of Palamedes, who having heard his son was by Ulysses means wrongfully put to death in the Grecian camp, out of revenge went about to debauch the Ladies of those Princes, that were at Troy, into the love of young Gallants at home, that so he might beget feuds and quarrels in their families; and further, as they themselves were returning home, after the sacking of Troy, he set false lights on the top of the hill Caphareus to misguide their Navy, whereby many ships were split upon rocks; but when he perceived his main enemies Ulysses and Diomedes had escaped, for sorrow he threw himself headlong into the sea: Propert. hinc Nauplides, patron.

Nauportus, urbs Iapodum; Tac. A little City of upper Carniola, belonging to Germany, with a river of the same name; called now Laubach. ◊ Also a river of Istria, Plin.

Nausĭcăa, Alcinoi Phæacum regis filia & Aretes, quæ cùm fortè cum pediseq uis suis extra civitatem se contulisset, vestes in flumine ablutura, incidit in Ulyssem, naufragum in littore sedentem nudum arborum ramis circumtectum, cui supplici & vestes dedit, & in regiam patris sui eum perduxit.

Nausĭmĕnes. An Athenian, whose wife taking her children committing incest, was so surprized at it, that she lost her voice.

Nausĭthous, i. Navibus velox. The father of Alcinous, the son of Neptune and Peribœa.

Naustathmus, i. navium statio. A port of Sicily; Plin. Another of Cyrene in Africk; Mel.

Nautes, ναύτης, i. nauta A Soothsayer, a Trojan of Æneas company: Vir.

Naxos, i; f. Vir. Nicesia nunc, dict. à duce Naxo: al. à ναύω, i. sacrificare: certè נכסא Syr. sacrificium, à נכס immolare; ut à Θυω Θυσία. An Isle, one of the Cyclades, noted for wine (whence 'tis also called Dionysia) and for the serpentine stone; Plin. Here Theseus gave Ariadne the slip, and Bacchus met with her. It is called also Strongyle, Callipolis, and Sicily the less; formerly Dia. Hinc Naxius, adj. Naxius ardor, Col. i. Bacchi coronæ sidus.

Nazăreth, & Nāzăra, Juvenc. A little village in Galilee, seven miles from mount Tabor; where our Saviour was brought up. Pop. Nazareni.

Nazianzēnus. S. Gregory so called from the place of his birth, Nazianzum, a City of Cappadocia.

N ante E.

Nĕa, Plin. sic dict. à νέω quòd Hercules ad eam adnataverit. An Isle of the Ægean Sea near Lemnos, now called Nio.

Nēcera, i, c. extrema pars ventris, fumen, abdomen. A beautiful Nymph who had two daughters by Sol, Phaethusa and Lampetia. ◊ Also the name of a Country mistress, Vir.

Neæthus; Ovid. fl. magnæ Græciæ.

Nĕalces. A famous Painter.

Nēanthus; νέον ἄνθος, flos tenellus One devoured of dogs for attempting with an unskilful and unweildy hand to play upon Apollo's Lute. Polit.

Neăpolis, f. Cic. νεάπολις, νέα πόλις, i. nova civitas. The City Naples in Campania, scituate on the Mediterranean Sea, before Augustus time called Parthenope. From the name of this City these twelve rich Provinces are called the Kingdom or Realm of Naples. 1. Campania fœlix, terra de Lavora: 2. Lucania, Basilicata: 3. Calabria superior: 4. Calabria inferior: 5. Salentinum, Terra di Otranto: 6. & 7. Aprutium, Abruzzo: 8. Apulia Peucetia, Terra di Barri: 9. Apulia Daunia, Puglia Piana: 10. A part of Latium, Campania di Roma. 11. Comitatus Molisinus, contado di Molise. 12. Capitaniata: all which are situated in the South part of Italy, between the Adriatick and the Tyrrhene Seas. The Spaniard is Master of it, who governs there by a Viceroy. It is 330 miles in length, & 90 in breadth. pop. Neapolitani; Plin. ◊ Also a City of Africk, called formerly Lepte, now Lebeda, with a large harbour, 100 miles from Tripoli Eastward. ◊ Another in Macedony now called Christopoli. ◊ Also a City of Samaria, called Sichem: Plin.

Nĕarchus, i. Nauclerus, vel novus imperator. A fair boy, Hor.

Nēbis; Mel. fl. Hisp. Tarracon.

Nebrissa, Sil. Bæticæ civ. quòd ibi Bacchæ, nebride, i. damarum pellibus indutæ, Orgia celebrarent. hod. Lebrixa dic.

Nebrōdes; Sil. à copiâ damarum, Solin. A high hill in Sicily.

Nĕbrŏphŏnus; Ovid. One of Actæon's dogs, Kill-buck.

Nebrus, νεβρὸς, i. hinnulus. A man of the Island Cos, from whom the family of the Nebridæ, of which Hippocrates the great Physician was descended. By a mistake Arnob. placeth it at Athens, & would have it so called ἀπὸ τῆς νεβρίδος, because they went in deer-skins.

Necepsus. The second king of Egypt, of the lineage of the Saitæ, who was a skilful Mathematician, Auson.

Necrŏpŏlis, νεκρόπολις, i. mortuorum civitas, dict. quòd ibi Cleopatra sibi mortem consciverit, nè ab Augusto in triumphum duceretur. A place thirty furlongs off Alexandria in Egypt.

Nēleus, i. νῆλεύς, i. Æolus. The son of Neptune by the Nymph Tyro; and father of Nestor, who alone of all his twelve sons escaped alive; for he killed all the rest: Ovid. indè Neleius, a, um.

Nelo, fl. Gallicæ; Plin.

Nemausus, Mel. Nemausum, Plin. à Nemauso Heraclide. The City Nimes in France, and a spring not far from it of that name; Auson.

Nĕmĕa, æ; gr. i. nemora. A town of Argia in Peloponnesus, also a wood of the same name hard by that place, Stat. or a rock, Vir. where Hercules slew a mighty great Lion, which therefore Claud. calls Nemæum Leonem, and the solemn games instituted in honour of him, were called Nemæa; others make these games to be celebrated in honour of Archemorus the son of Lycurgus king of Nemea, slain by a Serpent. ◊ Also a fountain in Spain; Mart.

Němēsa, Auſon. A river that runs through the country of Triers into the Moſelle.

Němēsis, dict. à νέμω ne i. diſtribuo: ic, quæ ſit unicuique ſecundùm juſtitiam. A Goddeſs, the daughter of Juſtice, that rewards the good, and puniſhes the bad. She is otherwiſe called Adraſtia, from Adraſtus King of the Argives, who firſt built her a Temple; Str. and alſo Rhamnuſia of Rhamnus, the village where her Temple was. ◊ Also a miſtreſs of Tibullus.

Nemeſtinus, Deus nemorum, Arnob.

Němētes, um; m. Cæſ. People of Germany, about the City Spire, upon the river Rhine.

Nemetocerna; Cæſ. quæ & Nemetacum. The chief City of Artois, called Arras. B.

Nemeus mons, Vib. ſeq. Nemea rupes, Vir. A hill in Peloponneſus, by the town Nemea.

Neminia, fons agri Rheatini, Plin.

Nemorenſis, lacus, qui & Lacus Trivia, Prop. A lake in Latium, called Lago di Nemi, ſeven miles in compaſs, eighteen miles from Rome; ſo called from a little town hard by, now called Nemi (from Nemus) ſtanding on a hill, with a ſtately palace of the Frangipani's on it.

Nemoſinum. A town of France with the title of a Dukedome, called Nemours.

Němoſſus; Luc. ubi al. Nemetis pro Nemeſis leg. A City of France, Clermont as ſome take it; or as others Molins.

Nenia, Dea, quæ in funeribus ſenum cantatur; Aug. ex Var. v. Nænia.

Nēŏbūle, id eſt, novum conſilium, vel conſilium juvenum. The daughter of Lycambes. ◊ Also a Miſtreſs of Horaces.

Nēŏburgum. Naumburg in upper Saxony. ◊ Also a town in Briſgow called Newenburg. ◊ Another in Denmark, called Nybourg.

Nēŏcæsărēa. A City of Cappadocia, by which the river Lycus runneth, called now Nixar, Leuncl. or as others Tocato, the ſeat of a Baſhaw.

Neocomum. A town of the Switzers, called Newenburg, under the Duke of Longville.

Nēŏdūnum. A City in France, called now Dol.

Neoforum. New-market, a town of Germany in the Duchy of Breſlaw.

Nēŏmăgus, ſive Noviomagus. Woodcot near Croyden in Surrey, nine miles from London. Camd. ◊ Other Cities and towns in Germany and France of the ſame name.

Nēŏportus. Newport in the Iſle of Wight.

Neopyrgum. A City of upper Saxony, called Naumberg. ◊ Another in Bavaria, the ſeat of a Duke, Neuburg.

Nēoptŏlĕmus, νεοπτόλεμος, id eſt, miles novitius, eò quòd admodum adoleſcentulus primum tyrocinium in bello Trojano poſuit. A name of Pyrrhus the ſon of Achilles.

Nēŏris; Plin. A Town of Iberia in Aſia.

Nēŏrus. The river Noir in Ireland.

Neoſelium. A garriſon of Hungary, now under the Turks, called Newhauſel in Dutch, & Ouvar in Hungarian, two leagues from Comorr.

S. Neoti. S. Neots or Needs, in Huntingdonſhire.

Nēpa, æ; f. Cic. The Scorpion, one of the twelve ſigns.

Nēpĕte; Liv. Colonia Nepenſis, Front. A City of Hetruria, called Nepi. Hinc Nepeſinus, a, um; Sil.

Nēphĕle, νεφέλη, i. nubes. The wife of Athamas, the mother of Phryxus and Helle. Hinc Nephelēis, patron. Ovid. & Nephelæus, adj. V. Fl.

Nephelis; Liv. A City of Cilicia, on the ſea-ſide.

Nephthăli; Bibl. Vida Nepthalis urbem voc. One of the twelve tribes, and a City of Galilee of the ſame name, ſix miles from Bethſaida.

Nepos, ſirnamed Cornelius, a great Hiſtorian in Cæſar's time.

NEPTUNUS, dict. à nubo nuptum, i. operio; quòd mare terras obnubit. Var. ſcil. ut à Portu Portunus, Cic. ità à nupu nuptunus, pro quo Neptunus. A viro lavo, Scal. Al. ab heb. נפתוחים An ab יפת Japhet, quod dilatationem ſign. cùm pro Futuri Syri ponant. Cum & mare ideò ירים רהב dicatur, the broad or wide Sea; & Japhet fuerit dominus Inſularum. The ſon of Saturn and Ops. The god of the Sea; his mace was a Trident, he found out the riding of horſes; he was ſaid together with Apollo, to build the walls of Troy; indè Neptunius, adj. & Neptunine patr. Catul.

Neptunium; Paterc. opp. Italiæ, alias navale Antiatum, vulgò Nettuno. Neptunius fons, Vib. ſeq. Neptuniæ aquæ, Liv. in Latio, apud Tarracinam urbem.

Nequinum, idem quod Narnia, Plin. One of the twelve Cities, which denied the Romans aid againſt Hannibal: ſo called, becauſe they choſe rather to kill themſelves and their children in a ſiege, than to ſurrender.

Nērēïdes, Nerei & Doridis filiæ. Nymphs or Fairies of the Sea.

Nēreus, ei; m. Νηρεύς, à νηρὸς humidus, quòd à νάω fluo. A god of the Sea, the ſon of Oceanus and Tethys, and father of the Nereides; Orpheus calleth him the antienteſt of the gods, whence by Virg. he is called Grandævus: it is alſo taken for the Sea, Perſ. hinc patron. Nerine, Vir.

Nerigon; Plin. Norway.

Nerii; Mel. pop. Hiſp. Tarrac. ad Nerium promont.

Nērio, Neria. vel Neriene; Plaut. The wife of Mars. Gell. 13. 21. docet Sabinum eſſe vocabulum, quo ſignificatur virtus & fortitudo, unde & pro vi & poteſtate Martis accipitur: vel à ne neg. & ira. qu. Neirio, i. ſine irâ, ut eo nomine mitem tranquillumq; fieri Martem precemur.

Nēris, idis; f. Stat. A City of Meſſenia in Peloponneſus.

Nēritos, i; f. Plin. A mountain in the Iſle Ithaca: hinc Ulyſſes Neritius dict. ◊ It. urbs Leucadis, Mel. & ipſa Leucas, Vir.

Nērium. A Promontory in Spain, now called Finis terræ.

NERO, ōnis; m. qu. νέρων, i. nervoſus & compactis viribus, à fortitudine dict. Nero apud Gl. vel eſt verbum Sabinum, ſign. virtutem & fortitudinem. Itaq; ex Claudiis, qui erant à Sabinis oriundi, qui erat egregiâ atq; præſtanti fortitudine, Nero appellatus eſt; Suet. Verùm Sabini id nomen à Græcis acceptum videntur, qui vincula & firmamenta membrorum νῆρα ex dicunt, Lat. nervos Gell. 13. 21. The name of divers Emperours, one whereof called alſo Domitius, adopted by Claudius Cæſar: He was ſo cruel and inhumane, that every Tyrant after him was called Nero: He murthered his mother Agrippina (by whoſe means he got the Empire,) his brethren, and kindred, and his Wife Octavia, his maſter Seneca, and the Poet Lucan, and every one beſides whom he had the leaſt ſpleen againſt. Nay, his cruelty went ſo far, that he ſet the City of Rome on fire, either becauſe he did not like the ſtructure of it, or becauſe he would have the burning of Troy repreſented unto him (for in the mean time he was playing on a Harp the deſtruction of Troy,) or that he might exceed his uncle Caligula in all deviliſh attempts; or becauſe he was delighted in the ſight of the flame. When this bainous crime was aſcribed unto him, he put it upon the Chriſtians, whereupon began the firſt bloody perſecution, an. Chriſt. 63. So barbarous was his cruelty, that he tortured and killed the Chriſtians upon ſtages for pleaſure in the day-time, and in the night he burned their bodies, inſtead of torches, being wrapt up in pitched cloathes. At laſt hearing that his enemies were ready to ſurpriſe him he would gladly have ſomebody kill him; but neither would his own friends, nor any other do him that kindneſs; whereupon he cried out, Nec amicum habeo, nec inimicum; after which he fled into a cave, where he was found dead; afterward his body being buried under the gate Flaminia, the devils did much haunt that place, till the time of Paſchalis the firſt, when they were fain to take up his bones and throw them into Tyber; which done, the Devils troubled them no more. He reigned thirteen years and eight months, and died on the ſame day, whereon before he had killed his wife. ◊ Nero the Bald, Domitian ſo called; Juv. One little better than the former. ◊ Alſo an excellent lapidary or jeweller, Epiphan. from whom the beſt ſort of Emerald was called lapis Neronianus.

Nerva, Imperator 13. dict. & Coceius, Elavii Domitiani ſucceſſor. A worthy Prince, and worthily ſucceeded by Trajan.

Nervii. People of lower Germany, dwelling about Tournay in Flanders; or in Henault, about the City Bavay. B. Et in ſing. Nervius, Luc.

Nerulum. A town of the Sabines, twenty miles from Rome, with the title of a Duke. pop. Nerulani, Plin. & Nerulonenſes, Suet.

Nerum or Neron; Plin. An Iſle of the Red Sea by Arabia the happy, where Cryſtal grows.

Neſactium; Plin. Neſattium, Liv. The utmoſt town of Iſtria, now called Caſtel novo.

Nēſis, Cic. Neſſis, Stat. νῆσος, i. inſula. An Iſle of Campany ſo called, now Niſita, betwixt Naples and Puzzoli.

Neſſus. One of the Centaurs, who having profer'd Hercules his ſervice to carry his wife over the river Evenus, when he had her on the other ſide, would have forced her: whereupon Hercules ſhot him with arrows. He seeing he must dy, in revenge, presents Deianira with a vest stained with his own bloud, telling her it was a charm for love, and that if at any time her husband should fall in love with another woman, his putting on this garment would regain his affections to her. She believing this story, when Hercules was sacrificing on mount Œta, sends him this coat to put on; which be no sooner did, but straight the poison work'd so strongly, that he grew mad and threw himself into the fire. Hinc Nessæus, adj. Ovid.

NESTOR, ŏris; m. Νέστωρ, παρὰ τὸ νέα ἱστορεῖν, ἢ παρὰ τὸ στρατὸν ἔχειν τὸν νέον, Etym. One that lived almost three hundred years: he was the son of Neleus and Chloris, King of Pylos, bred up in arms from his childhood. In his youth he was one of those who fought the Centaurs at Pirithous wedding; and in his old age went with fifty ships to the Trojan war. Agamemnon said of him, that if he had but ten such counsellours as Nestor was, he doubted not but he should in a short time vanquish Troy; for besides his wisdom gotten by his many years experience, he was so eloquent, that for his fluent speech Homer saith, his talk was sweeter than hony. He is said to have lived three ages of man, whence he is called Trisecliſenex by Næv. ap. Gell. and Horace gives him this Epithet; Ter ævo functus.

Nestorius. An Heretick, in Theodosius the youngers time, condemned in the Ephesine Council, where S. Cyril was President.

Nestus, Plin. A river in Thrace, now called Nesto; and Charason by the Turks.

Nētum; Sil. A City of Sicily. pop. Netini, Plin. Netinenſes, Cic.

Neuri. People of Sarmatia about Boryſthenes; Solin. Some would have the City Narva in Liefland to have been theirs. In sing. Neurus, Val. Fl.

Neuris, idis, insula Propontidis; Plin.

Neuſtria. That part of France, which from Paris and Orleans lies betwixt the rivers Loire and Seyne down to the Ocean; part whereof Normandy is. Hotom.

N ante I.

Nicæa, prius Antigonia, Str. Olbia, Plin. & Ancore, Steph. hod. Iſnich, à lacu Aſcanio ad quem ſita eſt, & Nicbor dict. A City of Bithynia, an Archbishops See, called Nice, the place where the Council was held against the hereſy of Arius, ann. Chriſti 324. where the Nicene Creed was made. ◊ Alſo a City of Liguria, called Nizza, in French Nice de Provence, under the Duke of Savoy. ◊ Alſo a town of Achaia, by the Malean Bay, the country of Hipparchus, a famous Aſtronomer; Plin.

Nicæarchus, i. victoriæ princeps. A famous Painter in his time, that painted Venus and Hercules: Plin.

Nicander, i. victor hominum. A Grammarian, Physician, and Poet, who wrote several physical Treatises, of poysons, antidotes, &c. He lived in the time of Attalus, who overcame the Gallogræci.

Nicanor, i. victor. One of the seven Deacons, Act. 6.

Nicephŏrus, νικηφόρος, i. victoriosus, παρὰ τὸ νίκην φέρειν. An Ecclesiastical Historian, indeed several of that name; and some Emperours.

Nicer vel Nicrus. The river Necker, that rises seven miles from the head of the Danow, and runs through the Duchy of Wirtemberg, and thence by Heydelberg, and neer Manheim falls into the Rhine.

Nicetas Choniates. He wrote an history of eighty-five years, beginning where Zonaras left off.

Nicia; Plin. A river of Italy now called Lenza, that parts Modena from Parma, and runs into the Po.

Nicias, id est, victoriosus. Pyrrhus his Physician: also a Grammarian of Rome in Tullies time: also a Painter of Athens, most accurate in drawing of women; Plin. ◊ Alſo an Athenian General, whom Plutarch compares with M. Crassus.

Nico. One of the thirteen Princes of Tarentum, that conspired against Annibal. Liv.

Nicodēmus; νικόδημος, à νίκη victoria & δῆμος populus. idem ac Nicolaus, & contra Demonicus.

Nicolaïtæ, Apoc. 2. A sort of impure sectaries, who held community of wives, &c. so called from Nicolas the Deacon, whose indifferent saying in the case of his own wife (a beautiful woman) they filthily mistook in a wrong sence.

Nicolaus; à νίκη victoria & λαὸς populus. A Phil. sopher, and many other of that name.

Nicolaïs Damascenus. A friend of Augustus Cæsar; who was used to send him an excellent sort of Dates from Syria, with which the Emperor was so much taken, that he called them by his friends name Nicolai. So Plut. and Athen. But Suid. says they were Cakes. Vid. Appell. He was also a great Philosopher and Historian.

Nicomachus, νικόμαχος, is qui victoriæ spe pugnat. The father and a son of Aristotles: also a Painter, Plin. also a Pythagorean, that wrote the life of Apollonius; Sidon. also one, whose Arithmetick Apulejus turned into Latin: also one, who was Tullies host or entertainer, called Tyrius: also a Musician; Plin.

Nicomedes, i. victoriam curans. A King of Bithynia, an Ally to the Romans.

Nicomedia; Plin. A City in Bithynia, by the Propontis, called now Comidia, and by the Turks Nicor, & Isnigimid, and for brevities sake Ismid.

Nicon, i. vincens. The father of Galen; who was very skilful in Geometry and Architecture.

Nicophanes, i. victor illustris. A Painter, Plin.

Nicopolis, νικόπολις, id est, victoriæ civitas, vel victoriosa civitas; dict. à victoria Aug. The City Preveſa in Epire, over against Actium, built by Augustus after the defeat of Mark Antony. ◊ Another of Mæsia or Bulgaria, upon the Danow, called Nigeboli, and by the Turks Sciltaro; built by Trajan the Emperor, after his conquest of K. Decebalus; Amm. ◊ Another in Armenia the less, Hirt. built by Pompey; Dio. ◊ Another of Palestine, eight miles Westward from Jerusalem, which in Scripture is called Emmaus; Hier. ◊ Alſo a town of Bithynia, Plin.

Nicostrata. A Propheteſs, the mother of Evander, called also Carmentis.

Niddia vel Nithia. Niddesdale in the South of Scotland.

Nidrosia. The chief City of Norway, so called from the river Niderus, at whose mouth it lies with a large harbour, and is now called Drontheim.

Nidum. Neath in Glamorgan-shire.

Niger, vel Nigris. A great river of Africk, that rises in Æthiopia out of the black lake, and thence runs Westward through the middle of the Negroes country into the Atlantick Ocean.

Nigidius Figulus. A worthy Roman in Tullies time, well versed in all sorts of learning, particularly in Astrology, who at the birth of Augustus foretold that he should be Lord of the world: Suet.

Nigritæ; Plin. People of Africk in the further Libya upon the river Niger or Nigiris, called the Negro's, whose chief City is Guber or Cano, called Nigira by Ptol. Their country is divided into fourteen kingdoms. Stat. Negretes voc.

Niligena, æ; c. g. Born in Egypt, Egyptian. Niligena juvenca, Ovid. i. Iris.

NILUS, i; m. (i) Νεῖλος, quod nomen numeris conficit 365, quot sunt dies in anno. Dict. à Nilea quodam rege Ægyptio, Diod. Sic. vel à Nilo Atlantis filio, ibi submerso, Eust. Al. à νέα ἴλυς novus limus, quo quotannis invecto fœcundat Ægypti solum: νέαν ἰλὺν δι' ἔτους ἐπάγοντα, ᾧ Νεῖλον ἐγχωρίως ὀνομάζομεν, Heliodor. Rect. à נחל fluvius. Full. unde & נחל מצרים dic. Bib. The river Nile, the largest and noblest of all Africk, that rises out of a great lake beyond the Line, or (as others) out of two springs in the Abassines country, and runs Northward through Æthiopia and Egypt, where dividing it self into several streams, it discharges it self into the Mediterranean at nine mouths as Ptol. or seven, as Virg. whence Ovid calls it septemfluus flumina Nili. It went anciently by several names, & so does now. The rise or head of Nile was a thing formerly unknown, whence Nili caput is used proverbially for a secret. Some therefore placed it in the Indies, others in mount Atlas, ancient Divines in the Earthly Paradise, but by later discoveries it appears to be in the Mountains of the Moon in Æthiopia. Its course in length, is thirty five degrees, which (allowing for its turnings and windings) make neer upon a thousand German miles. It flows from the Summer Solstice, till the autumnal Æquinox. The water is sweet and wholsome, and breeds no fog or mist. Here grow Reeds, of which they made paper; whence Ovid calls it papyriferum Nilum. ◊ Hinc Niliacus, a, um; Mart. & Niloticus.

Ninive, heb. נינוה. A City of the Assyrians: it is in compass three days journey; hither was Jonas the Prophet sent to preach. It was built by Ninus, and from him so called. pop. Ninivitæ.

Ninos, f. Luc. à Nino conditore dict. The royal City once of the Assyrians, upon the river Tigris, now called Mosul, and under the Turks: the same as Ninive.

Ninus, pulchram sign. prolem, respondens voci נין. The son of Belus the King of Assyria; he conquered all unto India, and overthrew Zoroastres Magician and King of Bactria.

Niobe, es; f. The daughter of Tantalus, sister of Pelops, and wife to Amphion King of Thebes. She had six sons and six daughters, all which Latona caused to be slain for the pride of Niobe, that presumed to compare with her; wherefore Niobe with grief lost her speech, and remained stupid without moving; which gave the Poets occasion to feign that she was turned into a stone. Sipylus a City of Asia was her own country, whence she is called genitrix Sipyleia, Stat. Ovid and Seneca say she had seven children of each sex; Apollo shot the Males, Diana the Females. Hinc Niobæus; adj. Hor. ◊ Also the daughter of Phoroneus, on whom Jupiter begat Apis, afterward called Serapis and Osiris.

Niomagus seu Neomagus; Ant. Buckingam.

Niphæus. A mans name in Virg.

Niphates, i. nivosus. Part of mount Taurus, between Armenia the greater, and Mesopotamia; Plin. ◊ Also a river that comes out of that hill, and runs into Tigris; Vir. Luc. Hor. & Sidon.

Niphe, φος, i. nix, dict. à niveo candore. One of Diana's companions; Ovid.

Nireus, ei; m. in Acc. Nirea, Hor. King of Naxos, & son to Charopus; the most beautiful of all the Greeks. hinc Nireus, a, um; Propert.

Nisa. A country-wenches name in Virgil.

Nisa vel Nysa. A place of Arabia, where Bacchus was brought up by the Nymphs; whence he is called Nisæus pater, Stat.

Nisæe, es; f. Vir. sed est νουτλη ap. Hom. unde accepit Vir. i. insularis. The name of a Sea-Nymph.

Nisæus. A Tyrant of Syracuse, a notable glutton; who being told by the Sooth-sayers that he should shortly dye, spent the remainder of his life in eating and drinking. Volat.

Nisibis, Plin. A City of Mesopotamia, in the country of Diarbeck, under the Turk.

Nisicates & Nisitæ; Plin. People of Æthiopia, who because they are good marks-men, are said to have three or four eyes apiece.

Nisus, in nisum occipitrem mutatus. A king of the Megarenses, that had a purple-coloured or golden lock amongst the rest of his hair, upon which the fortune of his kingdom depended. His daughter Scylla falling in love with Minos, who was then at war with her father, cuts off this fatal lock, and gives it to the enemy, and with it the kingdom. Hereupon Nisus with grief died, and was turned into an Hawk, and she into a Lark: Ovid. whence the Poets do ground the Antipathy betwixt the Hawk and the Lark. ◊ There was another Nisus who was in a great league of friendship with Euryalus; Vir.

Nisyros; inf. Maris Carpathii, Coo propinqua, quæ & Porphyris olim dicta, Plin.

Nitarus. An effeminate fellow. Cæl.

Nitiobriges; Cæs. People of Guienne in France, about Montauban or Montpellier as some, or as B. where now the country called L'Agenois is.

Nitria. A country in Egypt.

Nivaria; Plin. One of the fortunate Islands, called Teneriffe; Sanf.

Nivernum. A City of France, called Nevers, with the title of a Duke, the chief of that country called Le Nivernois.

Nives or Nivium insula. The Isle Mewis in the West Indies, an English plantation, divided by a little straight from S. Christophers, six leagues in compass.

Nivomagum, vel ut al. leg. Noiomagum; Auson. A village of the Low countries, upon the Mosselle, called Numagen.

Nixi dii, dict. quòd nitantur gemibus & quòd præsideant parientium nixibus. Fest. Three Statues in the Capitol, kneeling before Minerva's Cell or Chappel, which were brought to Rome after the victory obtained against Antiochus K. of Syria, or after the taking of Corinth.

Nixus, sydus cœleste; Firm. Ingeniculum vocat. Hyg. Herculem esse ait, qui dextro genu nixus, sinistro pede capitis draconis dexteram partem opprimere conatur. Nixus genu, Ovid. Græcè Engonasi.

N ante O.

Noas. A river of Scythia Europæa, running into Ister; Val. Fl. al. leg. Nomas.

Nobiliacum. A famous Abby in the City Arras in the Low country, now called S. Waast; that is, S. Vedasti.

Noctifer, i. Hesperus; Catul.

Noctiluca, i. Luna; Hor.

Nocturnus, i; m. Deus noctis, i. Hesperus. Plaut. Stat. Hier. Al. legi volunt Nocturninus. Frustra. The evening-star.

Nodinus, dict. à geniculis nodisque culmorum, quibus præsuit; ut Volumina involutis folliculis, & cum patescunt, Patelena, spicis; Flora, Lactucina, & Matura, quæ florentibus, lactantibus, ac matures centibus præsunt frumentis. Arnob.

Nodotus, Deus præfectus geniculis nodisq; culmorum, Aug. al. Noduus, quià ad nodos perducit res fatas, Arnob.

Noduterensis; dea, quæ præest frugibus terendis; Arnob.

Noe; נוח cessatio, requies; filius Lamech, In whose time the universal flood came, from which he and his family were saved in the Ark.

Noega, opp. Hisp. Tarrac. Mela.

Nola. A City of Campania, where Paulinus was Bishop, who first, if not found out Bells, at least applied them to that use in Churches, which bells therefore were called, the bigger of them Campanæ, from the Country, and the lesser of them Nolæ from the City, where the Bishop resided. It is fourteen miles from Naples. Here Augustus Cæsar died.

Nomades, um; m. Vir. dict. ἀπὸ τῦ νόμεν, id est, a pascendo, quòd pastionibus præcipuè vacarent; dict. & Numidæ. People both in Europe, Asia and Africa, that dwell in no certain place, but remove from place to place, driving their cattle along with them for forage; such as the wild Tartars, Arabs and Moors are.

Nomæi; Vir. People of Nomæ, a town of Sicily.

Nonacris, idis; m. Al. Noas; Val. Fl. A river of Scythia.

Nomentum, Ovid. à Nomento conditore; hinc Nomentana via P. Vict. Romæ, qua itur Nomentum, & Nomentani, Plin. qui habitabant Nomentum. A town of the Sabines in Italy.

Nominalia, um, n. Tert. ὀνομαστικὰ, Gl. Phil. The day of naming the child, which among the Greeks was the seventh. Arist. among the Athenians the tenth; Demosth. and among the Romans for males the ninth, for females the eighth day after they were born, Plut.

Nomius, νόμιος, i. pastoralis, ἀπὸ τῦ νομῆς, i. pascuæ; eò quòd olim juxta Amphrysum Thessaliæ fluvium, divinitate ob interfectos Cyclopas privatus, Admeto regi armenta pavit. Apollo so called, who for having slain the Cyclopes, being deprived of his Godship, went and fed Admetus his cattle. Others would have him so called, because the sun feeds and maintains all things upon earth.

Nona, dict. quòd tempestivum tempus partûs nono mense. One of the fatal destinies, the other two being called Decima & Morta: Gell.

Nonacris. A mountain in Arcadia; inde Nonacrius, a, um; & numen Nonacrinum. Ovid.

Nonius. A Roman name. ◊ Nonius Marcellus. A Grammarian, who hath writ two books of Etymology.

Nonnus. A Poet of Panopolis in Egypt, in Theodosius time, who translated S. John's Gospel into Greek verse, and wrote the Dionysiaca.

Norba; Liv. opp. Latii. Pop. Norbani, Plin.

Nordovicum. The City Norwich.

Norfolcia. Norfolk.

Norica, Cæs. al. Noricorum mons, & Noreberga, i. Neronis Mons. Nuremberg. A large and wealthy City of Frankenland in Germany, famous for Artists.

Norici, qui & Taurisci; Plin. People of Germany, betwixt Carinthia and Saltzburg. Hinc Noricus, a, um.

Noricum, vel Noricus ager; Cæs. A large tract of ground, containing several counties, as great part of Austria, Stiria, Carinthia, and some part of Tirol, &c.

Normania, dict. à Normannis; populis septentrionalibus. Normandy, a large country of France, possest by Normans, i. Northern men. It is seventy leagues long from East to West, and about thirty broad, from North to South. It contains good part of that which was formerly called Neustria. Some of the chief Cities are Caen, Diep, Havre de grace, &c. William the Conquerour was a Norman, who hath left us a badg of his conquest our Laws in that language.

Northantonia. Northampton-shire.

Northumbria. Northumberland.

Norvegia, à Nort, i. septentrio, & weg, i. via. The country of Norway, having on the West the Ocean, on the South Denmark, on the East Swedeland. It reacheth from North to South three hundred German miles. It was once a kingdom of it self, but hath for almost three hundred years belonged to Denmark. It is divided into five Provinces. The chief City of it is Drontheim: next to that are Bergen, Frederickstad, Wardhus, &c.

Norvicum. The City Norwich.

Noscopion. A City of Lycia; Plin.

Notium. The promontory Cabo de Cler. or Cape Clear in the South of Ireland.

Nottinghania. Nottingham county & city.

Notus,

Notus, qui & Auster. The South-wind.

Novamænia, gr. νέα πέτρα. hod. Album Castrum. The City Weissenburg of Sarmatia in Europe.

Novantæ, vel Novantes, Camd. The people of Galloway in Scotland.

Novantum promontorium. The Mul of Galloway.

Novanus. A river of Umbria, of small stream in Summer, and dry in Winter; Plin.

Novaria; Plin. A City of Lumbardy, twenty-five miles off Milan. the country of Peter Lombard the Master of Sentences.

Novellus. One of Milan, in Tiberius time, who rose to be Consul of Rome, a great drinker, who would at one bout, take off three gallons, thence called Tricongius. Plin.

Novempagi, Plin. A City of Tuscany six miles from Monte Fiascone, afterward called Balneo regium

Novempopulonia. A country of Guienne in France called Gascoigne, sic dict. à novem populis, quos complexa est.

November, bris; m. vel ber, bris, bre; adj. quià nonus à mente Martio. The month November.

Novendium, sive Novendiale; sacrificium funebre, quod fiebat nono die post mortem alicujus. Hinc Novendialia cœna, Tac. Novendiale convivium, Plin. The funeral-banquet.

Novensiles dii, novem Dii in Sabinis apud Trebiam constituti, Arn. quos Ælius Musas esse voluit. A Sabinis esse vocabulum ait Var. A novem & salio Calcagn. certè salio in Comp. fit silio. A considendo, d in l mutato, qu. eâdem sede præditi; Mar. Victor. Al. à novitate, qu. Novitatum præsides, quòd curantibus his, omnia novitate integrentur & constent; Arn. Al. novos, i. peregrinos Deos omnium urbium superatarum, nè aliquid eorum multitudine aut ignorantiâ præteriretur, compendii causâ uno pariter nomine cunctos Novensiles dictos autumant: Id. σωνία. Al. Herculem, Vestam, Salutem, Fortunam, &c. sic dici putant, quòd noviſſime in Deorum numerum recepti sint, qu. noviſſime salientes, i. in cœlum ascendentes, Liv.

Novērus, pagus Aquitaniæ; Auson. vulgo les Nouliers.

Novesium; Tac. A garrison-town upon the Rhine, over against Dusseldorp, called Nuys.

Novidunum; Amm. A City in Bulgaria, called Nivorz.

Novientum. Ebersheym in Alsatia.

Novigentum. Several towns of that name in France, called Nogent.

Noviodunum. A City of Picardy in France, called Noyon, Cæs. ◊ Also a town of Berry in France; Id. ◊ Noviodunum Heduorum, Id. The City Nevers on the Loire, called also Nivernum.

Noviomagum seu Noviomagus. Odenheim in the Palatinate, say some, or rather the City Spire. ◊ Also Newenburg in Alsatia; Ort. ◊ Also Nimmegen, the chief City of Gelderland.

Novius. The river Conwey in Wales, and Nyd in Scotland; Camd.

Novoburgum. Two Cities of Germany: One in Bavaria, upon the Danow, with a Duke to it called Neuboure The other Nyenburg, in Westphalia, upon the Weser.

Novocomum; Plin. A City of Lumbardy by the lake Larius. Pop. Novocomenses, quos Comum Cæsar inquilinos ad habitandum deduxit.

Novogardia. Two large Cities of Muscovy; called Novogorod.

Novomarchia. A town of Transylvania, called in Saxon Newmarck, in Hungarian Waserhely.

Novostadium. Two Cities of Germany, called by that name, Neustadt.

Novum Castrum. Newcastle upon Tine in Northumberland.

Novus portus. Newhaven, as Ort. or, as others, Ry in Kent. ◊ Also Newport in the Isle of Wight.

N ante U.

Nubæ, Str. Nubei, Plin. quorum regio Nubia. In sing. Nuba Claud. A People of Africk by Nilus.

Nūceria. A City of Umbria; another of Picenum; Sil. Pop. Nucerini, Plin.

Nudipedalia. Plays at Lacedæmon sic dict. quòd nudis pedibus à sacerdotibus celebrarentur.

Nuditanum; Plin. A City of Spain.

Nuithones, Germaniæ populi; Tac.

NUMA Pompilius. The second king of Rome, a Sabine, born in a town called Cures, a peaceable and devout Prince, who setled the policy and religion of the State. He first appointed the Priests called Flamines and Salii, the Vestal Nuns, the Pontifex maximus, and the Dies fasti and nefasti, and divided the year into twelve months; all which he feigned to have from the Nymph Egeria, with whom he used to meet anights; Juv. as he pretended, on purpose to make his laws the more awful with the people.

Nūmāna, Sil. A City of Picenum in Italy. hodie Humana vel.

Nūmantia; Hor. A City in Spain now called Garray. This town with four thousand men resisted the Roman forces, who were forty thousand strong, fourteen years; at last, being straitly besieged by Scipio, and being like to dye by famine, they gathered all the things together in the town and burned them, & themselves too, so that they left nothing to Scipio for the glory of a conquest but the bare walls. Inde Numantinus, a, um; Ovid.

Numanus Remulus, Rutulus quidam confidentiloquus, ap. Virg.

Numentana via; Liv A road that went from Rome to Nomentum.

Numeria, Var. ὁ ἀριθμός. A Goddess they called upon in childbirth, for a speedy delivery.

Numerianus, Romanus Imperator.

Numerius, prænomen eorum, qui celeriter nati; Var. à numero, i. citò.

Nūmicius, Ovid. A river of Latium, in which Æneas was supposed to have been drowned, called Rivo di Nemi. Hinc Via Numicia, Brundusium ducens; Hor. qui corripit mediam i.

Numidæ, arum; m. Vir. quos Gr. Νομάδας voc. sive quòd pecoribus negotientur, sive quòd herbis, ut pecora, alantur, vel pot. quià sæpe loca alia atq; alia peteates permutant pabulum; Fest. à νομὴ pascuum.

Numidia, Sall. A part of Africk, now called Biledulgerid, or Biledel Gerid; Ort. famous among the Romans by reason of Massinissa, sometime enemy to the Roman State, and King there. One country so called in the midland of Africk, another on the shore side in the kingdom of Algiers.

Numistro; Liv. An inland town of Lucania in Italy. Pop. Numistrani; Plin.

Numitor. The father of Rhea, and grandfather of Romulus and Remus, by whom when they were grown up (having been before by his younger brother Amulius banished) he was restored to his kingdom.

Nundina, à nono die nascentium dict. qui & dies lustricus dic. A goddess of the Romans.

Nupsia. A town of Æthiopia, Plin.

Nursia; Vir. A town of the Sabines, Ptol. in Picenum, Serv. Nursini pop. Plin. Hinc Nursinus, a, um; Nursinæ pilæ, Mart. i. rapa. Turneps round and sound.

N ante Y.

Nyctēlius, dictus Bacchus, Ovid. eò quòd nocturno tempore ejus sacra celebrantur, quæ Nyctelia dicta sunt. Hinc Nyctelius latex, Sen. i. Bacchicus, vinum puta.

Nycteus, Gen. Nycteos, Propert. à νὺξ nox. The son of Neptune by Celene, Atlas his daughter; and father of Nyctimene and Antiopa, which later is therefore called Nycteis by Propert.

Nyctimene, es; f. Ovid. Νυκτιμένη, i. noctem manens, puellæ nomen in noctuam mutatæ. The daughter of Nycteus, who would have slain her, because she out of an incontinent love had stole to his bed; whereupon Minerva turned her into an Owl, which bird (as conscious of this wicked fact) cannot endure the light, Ovid. Met.

Nymphæ, aquarum præsides, à Νύμφη aqua, lympha, nec id solum, sed & montium & sylvarum deæ, à νύμφη sponsa, dict. to καὶ νέας φαίνεσθαι, Eust. Nymphs or Fairies, some belonging to Rivers and Springs, others to Woods and Hills, &c.

Nymphæa, inf. Ioniæ circa Samum; Plin.

Nymphæum, Plin. i. Nympharum sacrum. Two Promontories in Macedonia, one near mount Athos; the other upon the coast of the Ionian Sea, Luc. This last casteth up fire without damage to the neighbourhood; Plin. Hinc Nymphæa: publick places, to which water was conveyed not for use, as in Bathes, but for delight, as in Fountains and Grots of gardens.

Nymphæus, fl. Latii; Plin. It. Mesopotamiæ; Id. it. portus Macedoniæ, apud Lyssum urbem; Cæs.

Nympharum insula; Var. An Isle of Lydia, that at the sound of Musick is reported to move; called therefore Saltuaris by Pliny.

Nysa, urbs Arabiæ, apud quam Bacchus (ut Diodoro placet) à nymphis est educatus, unde & Dionysius dictus est, ex Διὸς & Nysa conflato vocabulo; A City in Arabia, another in Egypt of this name. Also one in the East Indies built by Bacchus. ◊ Also a hill neer this City; Vir. ◊ Also one of the tops of mount Parnassus, sacred to Bacchus, as Cirrha the other is to Apollo. ◊ Also the name of a man, Cic. and the nurſe that brought up Bacchus, Plin. Hinc Nyſeius, a, um; Luc.

O ante A.

OAxes, is; m. Vir. ab Oaxe Apollinis filio ſic dict. A river in Crete.

Oaxis tellus, Var. & Oaxia, Vib. ſeq. Crete ſo called from the river. Some would have it to be only a town of Crete.

O ante B.

Oblogenes. A people of Cyprus, from whom there came once an Ambaſſadour to Rome, who having diſcourſed about the virtue of herbs againſt venemous creatures, was by the Conſuls for tryal with his own conſent put into a tub full of ſerpents, who were ſo far from doing him hurt, that they licked him with their tongues and plaid with him; Plin. Al. leg. & fortè rect. Ophiogenes.

Oboca. A river in Ireland; Liffy, ſay ſome, that runs by Dublin into the ſea. But Camden places it neer Arcklo, thirty-five miles below Dublin.

Obrima; Plin. A river of Phrygia, that by the City Apamia joins Mæander.

Obrĭmo, gr. i. potens, minax. Proſerpina ſo called; Cæl. Rhod.

Obris, Plin. A river of Narbon in France.

Obtricum; Amm. A town upon the Maes called Maeſtricht. Ferr. makes it to be Optryck.

Obulco, Plin. A City of Andaluzia in Spain, now called Porcuna.

O ante C.

Occāsio, à Poetis Dea fingitur, quæ rerum gerendarum opportunitati præſidet. The goddeſs of opportunity, which by the Poets is feigned to ſtand on a Wheel, with wings on her feet, turning her ſelf round very ſwiftly, having much hair on her head before, but all bald behind. Vide Auſon.

Occitania. That part of France, now called Languedoc.

Occĕānus, ὠκεανὸς, à celeritate dict. Solin. πωρὰ τὸ ἀκίνητον ῥεῖν, h. e. quòd ocyùs fluat. The great god of the Sea, ſon of Cœlum and Veſta, husband to Tethys, and father of all Rivers and Springs. Alſo the main Sea which compaſſe th the World: it adds unto its name for diſtinction ſake the countries through which it paſſeth; as Oceanus Germanicus, Britannicus, Indicus, Atlanticus, &c. ◊ Oceanus Aquitanicus. The ſea of Gaſcoin. Britannicus, The Britiſh ſea, the Channel. Caledonius, The Deucalidon ſea, betwixt Scotland and Iſland. Cantabricus, The ſea of Biſcay. Cronius, The frozen ſea. Gaditanus, The Gulf of the kicking Mares. Virginius, The Iriſh Sea.

Ocelli. Cape Holderneſs by Humber, the utmoſt end whereof is Spurnhead, and Kelnſey a village hard by: Camd.

Ocelum; Cæſ. A town of France in the Dauphine, called Exilles. ◊ It. opp. Hiſp. Tarrac.

Ocetis. One of the Orkney Iſles called Hoy; or as ſome, Hethy, or, as others, South Ranals.

Ochamum. Okham in Rutland-ſhire.

Ochus; Juſt. A king of the Perſians, the ſon of Artaxerxes Mnemon; he was poiſoned by Bagoas the Eunuch. ◊ Alſo a river that riſes neer the Moguls country, called Obengir, and running through ſome parts of Perſia, at laſt diſcharges it ſelf into the river Oxus.

Ocite. A little Iſle on the Weſt of Ireland, called Baz.

Ocnus. The ſon of Manto, Tireſias his daughter, and the river Tiber, who aided Æneas againſt Turnus, and built the City Mantua; Vir. ◊ Alſo the name of a man, who in Hell was feigned to make cords continually, with an Aſs ſtanding by him, which bit off the cord as faſt as he made it, Propert. whence the proverb, Ocni funiculum torquet, ſpoken of one that takes pains to no purpoſe: particularly of one that would gladly grow rich, but he hath a laviſh wife at home, that ſpends as faſt as he getteth. Ita dict. ab ὄκνος pigritia, ſc. quòd ſinat funem ab aſino depaſci, nec illum abigat. Plut.

Ocra, opp. Carnorum; Plin.

Ocrea; Ant. A town once of Umbria.

Ocriculum, civ. Italiæ, quòd ſita in montis cacumine vel clivo; ab ant. ocris, i. mons aſper & confragoſus, vel à gr. ὀκρία ſive ὄκρις, montis cacumen. Ocriculi, Tac. Otriculum, Liv. Pop. Otriculani, Plin. A town of Umbria, neer Tiber, twenty eight miles from Rome, called Otricoli

Ocrinum. The Lizard Point in Cornwal: Camd.

Ocriſia; Ovid. The mother of Tullus the Roman King.

Octăpitărum. A Promontory in Wales, called S. Davids head; Camd.

Octāvia. The ſiſter of Octavius Cæſar, and wife of Antony, whom he afterward forſook. ◊ Alſo Claudius his daughter, wife of Nero, who cauſed her to be murthered; Suet. upon which ſubject Seneca hath a Tragedy called Octavia.

Octāvia gens, fortè ex numero octonario. The name of a noble family in Rome.

Octavum; Aug. A City of Africk.

October, bris; m. ſc. Menſis, vel October, m. bris, c. bre, n. adj. non ab octo & imber, ut Priſc. qu. octavus imber, ſed planè ab octo, ut à Salus ſaluber. The month of October.

Octodurum vel Octodurus, Cæſ. A Switzer town, called Martinach.

Ocypĕte; gr. i. celeriter volans. One of the three Harpies.

Ocyrŏe, es; f. Ovid. ὠκυρόη, i. celeriter fluens. A Nymph, daughter of Chiron the Centaur, turned into a Mare.

O ante D.

Odera. A river of Germany, that riſes in Sleſeland, runs by Breſlaw, Franckfort, &c. and empties it ſelf into the Baltick ſea.

Odeſſus, vel Odeſſos, Ovid. A City of Myſia, neer the Euxin Sea.

Odites, gr. i. viator, ab ὁδὸς via. One of the Centaurs, ſlain by Mopſus, at Pirithous his wedding, Ovid.

Odryſæ. People of Thrace about the river Hebrus; Solin. indè Odryſius, a, um, adj. id. q. Thracium: Claud.

Odyſſēa. A work of Homers, containing the travels of Ulyſſes; the Odyſſes.

O ante E.

Oea. A City of Africk. Solin. one of the three that gave the name to Tripolis.

Œagrus. The father of Orpheus; Hinc Hebrus fluvius Oeagrius dicitur. Vir. i. Thracius ab Orpheo nimirum Œagri filio.

Œanthe, Plin. Œanthia, Mel. A town in Locris neer the bay of Corinth.

Œbălia, ita dict. ab Oebalo conditore, Arguli filio, Lacedæmoniorum rege; Hinc Caſtor & Pollux Oebalidæ dicuntur Ovid. Hinc Oebalius, adj. Vir. & purpura Oebalis, Stat. The ſame as Laconia or the country of the Lacedemonians. ◊ Alſo the city Tarentum in Italy, now called Taranto. Hinc Œbaliæ matres, Ovid. quæ alias Latinæ nurus. The Italian Ladies or Dames.

Œbălus; Vir. King of Laconia, of whom that country was called Œbalia: alſo the ſon of king Telon, who ſubdued the greater part of Campania.

Œchălia, Ovid. dict. ab Oechalio fluvio præterfluente. A city of Eubœa; Plin. and of Theſſaly, Str. and of Meſſenia, Pauſ. and of Laconia, Steph.

OEDIPUS, ŏdis vel pi; ὀιδίπους, i. pedibus tumens, ab οἰδάω tumeo, & πούς pes; quippe qui Forata ferro geſſerat veſtigia, Tumore nati nomen ac vitio pedum; Sen. Nam cùm paſtori occidendus traderetur, ille perforatis gladio plantis, vimineque trajecto, ex arbore ſuſpendit, futurum putans, ut ita inediâ moreretur. A king of Thebes, ſon of Laius and Jocaſta; his father underſtanding by the Oracle of Apollo, that he ſhould be killed by him, gave him to a ſhepherd to be ſlain; but he being moved with pity, did not kill the child, but left him where he thought he would dye with hunger. By chance one Phorbas the K. of Corinths herdſman, as he went that way, finding him, took him up, brought him home, and preſented him to the Queen; who having no children of her own, brought him up as if he had been her own ſon. Afterward the youth being grown up, and perceiving that he was not indeed the ſon of Polybus, he went to ſeek his father to Phocis, and there being a mutiny amongſt them, he ſlew his father unwittingly in the ſcuffle, as the Oracle had foretold; and thence going for Thebes he in the ſame ignorance married his own mother Jocaſta, and had iſſue by her. At laſt coming to the knowledge of theſe direful miſhaps, which had befaln him, for grief and madneſs he pulled out his own eyes, & was led about by his daughter Antigona. Hinc Oedipodionides. Of the ſtock of Oedipus; & Oedipodionius, a, um, adj. Ovid.

Oemphyle; Vib. ſeq. A mountain of Macedony, hanging over Dyrrachium.

Oenei; Plin. People that live about the river Oeneus in Croatia.

Oeneus, gr. i. vinarius, indè Oeneius & Oeneus, adj. Ovid. & Oenides Oeneis, patronym. A king of Ætolia, Son of Parthaon, father of Meleager and Deianira

anira the wife of Hercules. He in his ſacrifices to the reſt of the gods taking no notice of Diana; ſhe was ſo highly offended at him, that ſhe ſent a huge Boar to waſt and depopulate his countrey; this Boar was hunted and kill'd by Meleager, and the flower of the Grecian youth.

Œnipons. Inſpruck in Germany, the chief City of Tirol.

Œno, una fuit ex filiabus Anii & Doríppes, cui id impetriverat Bacchus, ut quicquid attigiſſet in vinum ſtatim verteretur; unde & nomen habet ab ὄινος vinum: Cæl. Rhod. 7. 15.

Œnæus; Ovid. A River of Ætolia.

Œnŏmăus, gr. i. vini amator. The father of Hippodamia, and king of Elis and Piſa; he was told by the Oracle, that his ſon in law ſhould ſlay him, therefore he would not marry his daughter (though many were ſuiters to her) but upon hard terms, to wit, that they ſhould run with him for her in chariots; that he who won ſhould have her, but he who loſt the goal, ſhould looſe his life too. Thirteen thus ran themſelves out of their lives. At laſt Pelops came, and bribing Myrtilus the Coachman to leave one of his maſters Chariot-wheels not pinned, he was both the daughter and the kingdom with her, called ever after Peloponneſus from his name. For Œnomaus was killed with the fall of his Coach; only he had time to deſire of Pelops to revenge him on his Coachman, which he did: for the fellow coming in a ſaucy way to demand the reward of his falſhood, Pelops without any more ado tumbled him headlong into the ſea, and there he was drowned.

Œnone, es; f. Ovid. παρεκ τοῦ οἶνος, ab ὄινος. A Nymph of mount Ida, whom Paris loved, but afterward for fair Helens ſake forſook her: ſhe foretold that Paris in his travel into Greece ſhould be the occaſion of the ruine and downfal of Troy.

Œnopĭa, Ovid. inſula ſic ab Oenope dict. quæ poſtea ab Æaci matre Ægina dicta.

Œnōtrĭa, æ; f. Ovid. ſc. tellus, Vir. dict. ab Oenotro Sabinorum rege; Cato. vel ἀπὸ τοῦ οἴνου, quòd optima in Italia vina naſcantur, Serv. A part of Italy, and the whole country ſo called. Hinc Œnotrus, a, um; Œnotri viri, Vir. Antient Inhabitants of Italy.

Œnōtrĭdes. Str. Œnotriæ, Plin. Two Iſles of the Tyrrhene ſea, called Iſcia and Pontia, lying before Velia.

Œnotrus, i; m. οἰνωτρὸς, id. qui Janus, hoc ab יין vinum, illud ab ὄινος, ut fuerit idem cum Noacho, vini repertor. Ab illo Itali Oenotrii dicti.

Œnus, i; m. Tac. A river of Germany, that runs through Bavaria, and falls into the Danow.

Œnuſſa, Plin. The name of two Iſlands in the ſea Ægeum, one between Tenedos and Samos, the other by Chios.

Œnuſſæ, Plin. Theſe Iſles before Meſſene in Peloponneſus.

Œta, æ; f. Ovid. An hill of Theſſaly, now called Banina, where Hercules burned himſelf. Hinc adj. Œtæus, a, um; Sen.

Oetus, i; m. Vir. οἴτος, Hom. The ſon of Aloeus, and brother of Ephialtes, a great Giant that made war in Crete.

O ante G.

Ogdŏus, ὄγδοος, i. Octavus. A king of Egypt who built the city Memphis.

Oglăſa, Itin. A little Iſle of the Tyrrhene ſea, now called Monte Chriſti.

Ogmius, Hercules à Gallis ſic dictus.

Ogyges, is; m. & Ogygus, i; Aug. ὠγύγης & ὤγυγος. An ancient King of Thebes, in whoſe days happened a great deluge, but long after Noahs flood; He is ſuppoſed by ſome to have been about Moſes time: indè Ogygius, a, um; Stat.

Ogygĭa. A little Iſle of the Auſonian ſea, where Ulyſſes was entertained by Calypſo. ◊ Alſo the Theban country ſo caued from the name of its king Ogyges.

Ogyris, ſ. Curt. An Iſle of the Red-ſea, where King Erythræus was buried; Plin.

O ante I.

Oileus, ei, m. Vir. King of Locris, and father to Ajax.

O ante L.

Olachas, æ; m. Plin. A river of Bithynia, the water whereof ſprinkled upon a perjured perſon ſcalds him.

Olbĭa, gr. i. beata. A town of Provence in France, Cic. now called Hyeres: alſo a city once of Sardinia, Liv.

Olbĭŏpŏlis. Plin. A City neer the mouth of the Nepper, called now Stapenor.

Olcades, Liv. Several people of Spain, ſo called.

Olcinium, Liv. Olchinium, Plin. ante Colchinium, Id. A City of Dalmatia, now called Dulcigno, upon the Adriatick ſea.

Olda; Auſon. A river of Guienne in France, called le Lot.

Olĕaſtrum; Mela. The city Oleatro in Spain.

Olĕnăcum. Ellenborow in Cumberland: Camd.

Olĕnus, i; f. Olĕnos, Stat. Olenum, Plin. dict. ab Oleno Jovis & Anaxitheæ ſive Vulcani filio. Hic Jovem Amaltheæ capræ lacte, quæ indè Olenia dicta eſt, educatum ferunt. A City of Achaia, by ſome now called Chaminiza, and Canigriſa. Hinc Olenius, a, um. Olenia capella, Ovid. The Goat that fed Jove with milk, tranſlated into a conſtellation.

Oliărus, i; f. Plin. Oliăros, Ovid. Olearus, Mela. An Iſle of the Ægæan ſea, one of the Cyclades.

Olĭba. Liv. The town Olit in Spain.

Olibanus; Plin. An hill of Campania, betwixt Putzoli and Naples, now called Monte di Pezuoli.

Olĭcāna. The town Kirkbey in England as ſome: or as others, Halifax; or as Camd. Ilkly in Yorkſhire.

Olizon, urbs Theſſaliæ ad radices Pelii montis, dict. à parvitate: parvum n. Theſſ. ὀλίζον dicunt:

Olmius, fl. Bætiæ; Stat.

Olybrius, Claud. One who was Conſul with Probinus.

Olympia, Elidis civ. quæ & Piſa, Steph. A City in Peloponneſus, where the Olympick games were kept, and where Jupiter had a Temple: it is now called Langanico, or Stauri: hinc Olympiacus, a um.

Olympia, ōrum, Lucan. Ludi ab Hercule inſtituti in honorem Jovis, circa Olympiam Elææ urbem, à quo & nomen. Games of Greece celebrated with great ſolemnity every fourth year for five days together in five kinds of exerciſes. Hinc Olympiacus, a, um; Vir. & Olympicus, a, um; Hor.

Olympias, ădis; f. ὀλυμπιὰς quæ & πενταετηρὶς. An account of time among the Greeks, conſiſting of four complete years (not five, as Ovid by miſtake ſeems to underſtand it) ſo called from the Olympick Games, which were kept every fifth year in honour of Jupiter Olympius, neer the City Olympia, when they ſet down the names of the conquerors on publick record. The firſt Olympiad, fell on the year of the world 3174. Theſe Games were firſt inſtituted by Pelops, then renewed by Atreus and Hercules. But this way of reckoning was brought in by Iphitus, and was indeed the 28 o Olympiad, according to Polybius, or, as others, the 14*th, when* Coræbus won the prize. Vid. Scal. animadv. Euſeb. ◊ Alſo the mother of Alexander the great. Alſo the name of a wand, Plin. 2. 47.

Olympĭŏdōrus, gr. i. donum cœleſte. A Muſician that taught Epaminondas muſick. ◊ Alſo a Phyſician, Plin.

Olympius, gr. i. cœleſtis. The name of divers men.

OLYMPUS, i; m. Ὄλυμπος, qu. ὁλολαμπὴς, i. ὅλος λάμπων, i. totus lucidus; Ariſt. vel qu. ὁ λύων τὰς πόδας, Scal. quòd ea ſit ejus altitudo, ut pedes adſcendentium ſolvat & delaſſet. The name of ſeveral hills: The firſt which gives name to all the reſt, is between Theſſaly and Macedony, now called Lacha, of ſo great a height, that its top reacheth above the clouds. Another in Aſia, neer to mount Ida, called by the Turks Keſchiſdag. Another in Lycia, in Cyprus, in the Iſle Lesbos, &c. ◊ by reaſon of its height it is taken by the Poets for Heaven. ◊ Alſo the name of three Cities in Aſia.

Olynthus, i; f. Cic. dict. ab Olyntho Herculis filio conditore. ſignif. ficum parvam, & non matureſcentem. A City of Thrace, which was in the time of Philip of Macedon, under the government of Athens. indè Olynthiacus, a um.

Olyſſipo, & Oliſſipo, ōnis; Ulyſſipo, Mela. qu. Ulyſſis πόνος, i. labor. Lisbon, the chief City of Portugal, neer the mouth of the river Tagus. Boch. deducit ab עלי עבא alis ubbo, i. amœnus ſinus.

O ante M.

Ombos, i; f. quæ & Combos, Juv. A City of Egypt, unde Ombites nomus, Plin. & Ombitæ pop.

Ombrici, gr. i. Pluviales, propter abundantiam ejus loci imbrium; ab ὄμβρος pluvia. People of Illyricum now called Crabats; alſo people of Italy, called alſo Ombri or Umbri.

Ombrĭos, f. ὄμβριος, i. Pluvialis. One of the Fortunate Iſles now called Iſola di Ferro, or Porto Santo: Plin.

Omŏle, es; f. Vir. mons Theſſaliæ.

Omŏphăgĭa, Feſta erant Græcis in quibus crudis veſcebantur; ab ὠμὸς crudus, & φάγω edo. erant a. Bacchanalibus haud abſimilia: Arnob.

Omphăle, es; f. & Omphala, æ; Ter. ab ὀμφαλὸς q. d. umbilico ſimilis. A Queen of Lydia: Hercules for love of her, ſerved her, and changed his arrows, his club, and his Lyons ſkin, for a diſtaff and ſpindle, and in a womans habit ſpun with her and her maids.

O ante N.

Oncheſtus. A City of Bœotia; alſo a river of Theſſaly: Stat. neer Mycaleſſus.

Onĕsĭcrĭtus, ὀνησίκριτος, i. utilitatis judex. A Philoſopher and hiſtorian, one of Alexanders retinue.

Onĕsĭmus, ὀνήσιμος, id eſt utilis. A Rhetorician of Cyprus, in the time of Conſtantine the great; alſo Philemons ſervant, about whom S. Paul wrote in that Epiſtle.

Onŏba, Plin. The City Gibraleon in Spain.

Onŏchōnus, Plin. A river of Theſſaly.

Onŏmācrĭtus. gr. nominum judex. A fortune-teller of Athens.

Onomatheopolis. *A town in the Weſt-*Indies called Nombre de Dios.

Ononychitis; ab ὄνος aſinus, & ὄνυξ ὄνυχος, unguis, ungula. Deus Chriſtianorum, uti eum pingebant Ethnici. Is erat auribus aſininis, altero pede ungulatus, librum geſtans, & togatus: Tertull. Rect. Ononychites, m. nam & ab ὄνυξ ita ὀνυχίτης λίθος.

Onōphrius. A man that lived a ſolitary life ſixty years, in which ſpace he ſaw no man.

Onūphis. A famous City in Egypt, where S. Onuphrius was Abbot.

Onytes. A Theban, one of Æneas companions, whom Turnus ſlew, Vir.

O ante O.

Oonæ, Plin. Northern Iſles in the Baltick ſea, before Finland, called now Alandt, under the Swede.

O ante P.

Opālĭa. Feaſts in honour of the goddeſs Ops, Wife of Saturn.

Opes; quòd ibi opes, i. nummos in arcis reponerent. A place in Trajan's court or forum, where the Senators laid up their mony in cheſts for ſafety till Cerealis the Governors time. For whereas formerly they had wont to do it in Mars his temple, and there thieves had robb'd it by night, afterward they brought it to Caſtor's temple. Juv. interpr.

Opharitæ, pop. Sarmatiæ Aſiat. Plin.

Opharius. Plin. A river in Scythia.

Opheltes. The ſon of Lycurgus, ſlain by a Serpent, whence he had that name after given him, whereas before he was called Archemorus.

Ophiŏgĕnæ, gr. i. ex ſerpentibus nati, ſerpentum ictus tactu levant. Certain people by Helleſpont, on Aſia ſide, which cure the ſtinging of Serpents by laying their hands on the place; Plin.

Ophĭon, ab ὄφις, i. ſerpens, ex illis enim erat qui è dentibus ſerpentinis nati fuerunt. One of Cadmus his companions; Ovid. Alſo the name of a Giant; Claud.

Ophir; אוֹפִיר. Indiæ locus, in quo aurum optimum naſcitur: Hier. it. genus auri, vel à loco Indiæ, vel à colore nomine indito; Id. A place in the Eaſt-Indies, whence in king Solomons time they uſed to fetch gold. Some make it an Iſland of the Red ſea. Others take it to be the ſame as the golden Cherſoneſus, that is Samotra. But Ortel. places it in Africk, where now the City Safala is.

Ophitæ, ὀφῖται, i. ſerpentini. Hereticks, who owned Chriſt, but worſhipped a Serpent alſo, which they kept alive.

Ophiuchus ὀφιοῦχος, i. anguitenens, ſidus cœleſte: Sunt qui Herculem eſſe putant, qui adhuc in cunis vagiens angues à Junone immiſſos præfocavit: alii Æſculapium eſſe volunt.

Ophiuſa, Val. Fl. Lat. Colubraria dict. The name of divers Iſlands, one in the ſea Balearicum; another in the Propontis, and a third of Crete. A City alſo of Myſia, Val. Fl. Hinc Ophiuſius, a, um; Ovid.

Opici, Italiæ populi; ſic dicti, qu. Ophici ab ὄφις ſerpens; Steph. Capuenſes antea Opici appell. quòd illic plurimi abundavere ſerpentes; Serv. vel à fœdâ voce, nam ὄπικα vocem ſign. Schol. Juv. Rect. quòd eſſent homines opici, i. rudes & agreſtes; vid. Appell. vel ab ope, i. terrâ, Scal. quòd eſſent indigenæ, nec aliunde in Italiam advenîſſent; unde & Aborigines dict. uti conſtat ex Dion. Halicarn.

Opigena, ab Ope. Juno ſo called becauſe ſhe helped women in travel.

Opilius Macrinus. Emperor after Caracalla, with his ſon Diadumenus, whoſe reign laſted not much above a year.

Opimius. A Conſul of Rome, at what time C. Gracchus was put to death.

Opis, ὄπις, i. cura, conſideratio. A nymph of Diana's; Vir. Opis dicta eſt conjux Saturni, per quam terram ſign. quia omnes opes humano generi terra tribuit; Feſt. vid. Ops.

Opitergium; Tac. The town of Oderzo in Italy belonging to Venice. Hinc Opiterginus, a, um; Lucan.

Opitulus, qu. opis lator rebus dubiis & malis. Jupiter ſo called; Feſt.

Oppia. A Veſtal Virgin buried alive for adultery.

Oppianus, Poeta, natus Zerbi Ciliciæ civitate. He wrote two Poems of fiſhing and hunting, which he preſented to Antoninus Caracalla, and had a piece of gold given him for each verſe.

Ops, i. terra; quia hic omne opus, & hâc opus ad vivendum; Var. vel quòd ejus ope vitæ humanæ alimenta quæruntur, vel ab opere per quod fructus frugeſq; naſcuntur, Macrob. vel ab adj. ant. ops, i. dives opulentus; unde in comp. inops, i. pauper, egenus: ſaltem quòd ſit opum largitrix terra. The daughter of Cœlum and Veſta, and wife of Saturn; called alſo Rhea and Cybele: a Goddeſs, which ſignifies the Earth; whence ſhe is called the Mother of the Gods, in that thoſe they reckoned for Gods, were born upon Earth, and for their merits canonized and placed in heaven.

Opſidius. One that found out the ſtone in Æthiopia, called Opſidianus. Plin. vid. Appell.

Optatus Milevitanus. An African Biſhop, who wrote againſt the Donatiſts.

Optiletis, dict. ab oculis, quos ὀπτίλλας Dores appell. nam cum Lycurgus privatorum luxum ſuſtuliſſet, divitibuſque ob hoc factus eſſet inviſus; quidam inſolens homo alterum oculum Lycurgo eruiſſe fertur, poſteáque Lycurgus in ejus calamitatis memoriam, Minervæ templum ſtatuit, quod Optiletim voc. Plut.

Opus, untis; f. in Acc. Opunta, Ovid. A City of Bœotia. Hinc Opuntius, a, um.

O ante R.

Orata, dictus eſt Sergius, quòd duobus annulis aureis uteretur, vulgus enim aurum enunciabat orum. Cic.

Orates; Ovid. A river of Scythia, that runs into the Euxin ſea.

Oraxus, fons Campaniæ; Plin.

Orbana, dea Romæ culta ad ædem Larium; Plin. lege Orbona.

Orbēlus, Plin. A hill of Macedonia.

Orbilius. Suet. plagoſus Horatio dictus, Beneventi Grammaticus. A ſevere Schoolmaſter in Tullies time; he lived neer a 100 years.

Orcades, um; pl. f. Juv. The Iſles of Orkney, on the North of Scotland, eleven of them pretty big ones, the reſt but ſmall.

Orchămus, Ovid. A king of Aſſyria, father to Leucothoe, whom he buried alive, for lying with Don Phœbus.

Orchomenos, i; f. Ovid. A town of Bœotia; alſo a river of Theſſaly, Plin.

Orcus, i; m. ſic dict. quòd recipiat mortuos, ut Orca recipit aquas; Iſid. vel ab ὅρκος juramentum, quòd per ſtygiam paludem jurent Dii, ſiquidem loci ſit nomen; vel quòd ſit juramenti deus, ſi perſonæ. Antiq. Uragus dict. hic Deus, per ſync. Orcus, quòd homines urgeat ad mortem; Verr. ap. Feſt. ſane ὄρκος (unde ὀρκόω urgeo) eſt extremi agminis ductor ſive impulſor. He that brings up the rear, in Tacticis; quod nomen Plutoni mortis Deo ſatis convenit, quem eundem eſſe ac Orcum probat Serv. ex Cic. & Vir. quanquam Gl. Phil. Orcus, χάος. Al. ab אַרְקָא chald. Terra, quomodo Ἅιδης & terram & inferos ſign. Hell, alſo the god of hell; Pluto, Cic. but Sil. calls Cerberus by that name.

Ordoluci. Hills now called Chevier, which part England and Scotland.

Ordovices. *The people of North-*Wales.

Oreades, um; pl. f. Vir. & in ſing. Oreas, adis; in Acc. Oreada, Ovid. ὀρειάδες, i. monticolæ, ab ὄρος mons. Fairies of the mountains.

Oreſtrophus, ὀρεστρεφὴς, i. montibus nutritus. One of Actæon's dogs. Ovid.

Oreſta, æ; f. Itiner. A City built by Oreſtes now called Adrianople.

Oreſtæ, pop. Epiri, Moloſſis finitimi, it. Macedoniæ, Plin. it. Aſiæ, ultra Carmaniam, Lucan. ubi al. leg. Oloſtras.

ORESTES, æ, & is; m. in Voc. Oreſta, Ovid. ὀρέστης, i. montanus. The ſon of Agamemnon. He ſlew his mother Clytemneſtra, and her gallant Ægiſthus for murthering his father; he ſlew alſo Pyrrhus in the temple of Apollo, for marrying Hermione the daughter of Menelaus, Menelaus, who had been betrothed to him; for which murther he was haunted with furies, till he had expiated those crimes upon the Altar of Diana in Taurica by sacrifice. He had Pylades so faithful a friend, that when one of them should have been put to death, the other would have dyed for him; for when Thoas doubted, (they being alike as well in visage as affection) whether should be Orestes, Pylades said he was the man, and Orestes (as the truth was) avouched himself to be the man, that his friend might not for his sake lose his life; whence their names are recorded for a pair of true friends. Hinc Orestēus, a, um; Ovid.

Orestis, regio & opp. Macedoniæ; Liv.

Orethus, fl. Siciliæ; Vib. Seq.

Orge, fons & fl. Gall. Narbon. vulgò la Sorgue.

Orgia, sacra Bacchi; vel ab ὀργὴ ira, quòd furerent bacchantes in celebrandis Orgiis, unde & Mænades dictæ; vel ab ὄρος mons, quòd in montibus celebrari solita: Serv. Al. ab εἴργω arceo, quòd ab iis arcerentur non initiati. Rect. quòd apti in iis operarentur Baccho, ab ἔργα præt. med. à ῥέζω, q. d. θεία ἔργα. Sacred rites of Bacchus, performed in the night, Vir. with great secrecy, Catul. and a great deal of licentiousness and debauchery, Liv. ◊ Also any sacred rites in general, Serv.

Oribasius, gr. i. montes ascendens, ab ὄρος mons, & βαίνω ascendo, unde βάσις gressus. One of Actæons hounds; Ovid. Ranger.

Oricum, Liv. & Oricos, i; f. Propert. A sea-town of Epire. Hinc Oricius, a, um; Vir.

Origenes; is, m. Ὠριγένης. Origen, a learned Churchman of Alexandria, scholar to S. Clement there; a vast writer, called for his unwearied pains in study Adamantius: yet fell into many errors, of which S. Austin hath given some account.

Origeni, Plin. Origeviones, Mel. People of Spain.

Origo, inis; f. Hor. The name of an Actress and Harlot.

ORION, ōnis; m. Ōărion, Catul. primam corripit Vir. producunt alii. Ὠρίων. Neptuni & Mercurii filius; ἐκ τῶν ὤρων, i. ex urina procreatus; al. ita dict. quòd esset educatus in Oræo, opp. Eubœæ, Str. Concerning his Original the Poets thus fable: Jupiter, Mercury and Neptune came to lodge one night at poor Hyreus his house, who had but one Ox, and that he killed for them; they to requite his affection, bade him ask what he would, and he should have it: He said, he would fain have a Child, but he would not marry: whereupon those three gods pissed together in the Oxes hide, and bid him cover it in the Earth for nine Months; so he did, and afterwards had Orion, taking his name from that Urine, which is in the Greek ὤρων. This Orion being a great Hunter, and a constant attendant upon Diana, offering to force her, was stung to death by a Scorpion, which she provided on purpose; Lucan. or shot to death by her self, Hor. After his death he was translated into heaven and made a Constellation, which according to his own prodigious bulk, when living, Plin. takes up a great room among the stars, Manil. He was so tall, as big, that he could walk through the sea, with his head and shoulders above water, Vir. Truth is, he was a great Astronomer, and scholar to Atlas. His star never rises or sets without great storms, Aristot. whence he is called nimbosus Orion, Vir. tristis Orion, Hor.

Oritæ, pop. Carmaniæ; Plin. it. pop. Achaiæ. Polyb. quos Oritanos vocat Liv.

Orithos, i; f. Lucan. opp. Epiri.

Orithya, æ; f. Ovid. Ὠρείθυια. The daughter of Erictheus King of Athens; whence she is called Actias Orithyia, Vir. as by Musæus, Ἀτθὶς νύμφη. Boreas fell in love with her, and when he could not obtain her consent for marriage, he carried her away by force into Thrace, where he had by her Zethes and Calais, two of the Argonauts. ◊ Also a Queen of the Amazons, Justin.

Orneus. One of the Centaurs, Ovid.

Ornithiæ, pl. m. venti septentrionales, Col. quotannis sub initium veris 30. ferè continuis diebus spirantes; ὀρνιθίαι dicti ab adventu τῶν ὀρνίθων, i. avium, quòd circa id tempus hirundines & ciconiæ ad nos transvolant; Bud. Al. quòd apti sint ad avium prolem; Olympiod. Northern winds, which begin to blow toward the latter end of February, and so hold on for a month together.

Oroandes; Plin. A part of mount Taurus.

Oroates; Plin. A river of Susiana, that parts it from Persia.

Orobii; pop. Galliæ transpadanæ; Plin.

Orodes. A King of Parthia that slew Crassus: Flor. also one of Æneas Captains whom Mezentius slew; Vir.

Ὀρόμēdon, ontis; m. Propert. ὀρομέδων. One of the Giants: also a high hill in the Island Cos, Theocr. where possibly this Giant was slain and buried; Casaub.

Orontes, is; m. Ovid. ita dict. de nomine ejus qui primus ponte eum constravit, quum antea Typhon diceretur; Str. The largest river of Syria; it rises out of mount Libanus, and washing many Cities runs through Antioch into the sea. It is now called Oronz, Tarfar, & Soldino: ◊ Also a Captain in the Trojan war, that suffered shipwrack as he came with Æneas towards Italy; Vir. Hinc Orontæus, a, um; Propert.

Oropitum; Anton. A City of Tuscany called Orvieto.

Oropus, urbs Macedoniæ, dict. ab Oropo filio Lycaonis: it. opp. Bœotiæ; Gell.

Orosius. An Historian, a Spaniard by nation, who lived in S. Austins time.

ORPHEUS, ei, vel eos; m. Poet. Ὀρφεύς. Oeagri (sive, ut alii, Apollinis) & Calliopes filius; hinc Oeagrius Orpheus, Stat. A Musician of Thrace, (hence called Bistonius vates, Sil.) he was so skilful in playing upon the Harp, that he would make Woods and Mountains to follow him, and stay the current of rivers, and tame wild Beasts. He was one of the Argonauts, the story of which voyage he himself wrote, with many other things. He first brought in the rites of religion into Greece. See the Story of him in Virgil, Geor. 4. His wife Eurydice being slain by a Serpent he took his harp and went down to hell, where he so pleased Pluto and Proserpina, that they gave him his wife again; but upon a condition, which he not observing, lost her for good and all. At last he was torn in pieces by Women, in the time of their sacrificing to Bacchus, because out of sorrow for the loss of his wife, he did abandon all womens company, and perswaded others to do the like. But of his death, both as to the cause and the manner of it, various accounts are given by Authors; and some after all, question whether there ever were such a man. Hinc Orpheus, a, um; Claud.

Orphnæus, i. niger. One of Pluto's four Coach-horses, Claud.

Orrhea. New-castle, in the North of England, or as Camd. Forfair in Scotland.

Ortilochus, gr. i. agmen exuscitans. The son of Idomeneus, slain by Ulysses after the Trojan war; also the name of a Trojan; Vir.

Orsona, quæ Ursо colonia, Plin. A City and Duchy of Spain, now called Ossuna.

Orthosia, priùs Antaradus dict. Plin. A City of Phœnicia called Tortosa.

Ortălus; Catul. Q. Hortensii nepos Suet.

Ortona, urbs Pelignorum; Plin.

Ortopula; Plin. opp. Liburniæ.

Ortygia, Delos sic dict. à coturnicum copiâ. Al. ab Asteria Latonæ sorore, primùm in Coturnicem, quam gr. ὄρτυγα vocant, & deinde in hanc insulam commutata. The Isle Delos: also a grove near Ephesus, so Tac. Whence Diana, here worshiped, is called also Ortygia; Also an Isle belonging to Sicily, Vir.

Orus; i. ὦρος. A King of Egypt: also Apollo so called by them.

O ante S.

Osca. The City Huesca in Spain. pop. Oscenses, Plin.

Osci, dict. ab oris fœditate; Fest. unde Oscè loqui, de iis qui Latinè nesciunt loqui. People of Campania in Italy. inde Oscus, a, um.

Oscophoria, Athenienſium sacra, in quibus pueri ingenui eligebantur qui ferrent ὄσχας, i. ramos ac palmites cum suis racemis in templum Minervæ.

Osi; Tac. A people of Germany, about Osnaburg, as some think.

OSIRIS, is; m. Hor. (i) Ὄσιρις, ab ὅσιος & ἱερὸς, Plut. i. Sacrosanctus: vel ex Ægypt. o, i. magnus & iri, i. oculus; Id. unde πολυόφθαλμον voc. Euseb. al. ab heb. אשר beatus. Hujus nomine Solem, item Bacchum & Jovem intelligebant Ægyptii; item Nilum; Suid. The son of Jupiter by Niobe the daughter of Phoroneus. He first taught the Egyptians husbandry, to till the ground and to dress Vineyards, which was the reason of his being made a God by them. He married Io (who afterward was called Isis) the daughter of Inachus; He was privily murthered by his brother; and after much seeking, at length his wife Isis found his body, and buried it in the Island Abatos: but when as there appeared unto them an Ox of an excellent shape, they thought it was Osiris, and worshipped him in the shape of an Ox, by the name of Apis and Serapis. They had a custome of going out every year to look him, and return'd with great shouts of joy, when they found him, Juv. A learned historian takes him to be Mizraim th eldeſt ſon of Cham.

Oſiſmi, Cæſ. Oſiſmii, Plin. People of Bretagne in France, about Triguier and Breſt.

Oſphagus; fl. Macedoniæ, Liv.

Oſquidates; pop. Aquitaniæ; Plin.

Oſſa, Ovid. A huge mountain in Theſſaly; inde Oſſæus, a, um; Lucan.

Oſſigitania; urbs Hiſp. Bæticæ, Plin.

Oſſilago; dea, quæ durat & ſolidat infantibus parvis oſſa; Arnob. quæ & Oſſipaginæ alibi, ſive (ut al. leg.) Oſſipaga vel Oſſipanga, quòd oſſa pangat. The Goddeſs which knits the joints and hardens the bones of children.

Oſſonaba. A city of Portugal once, now called Eſtombar.

Oſtia; Plin. A City of Italy, in the mouth of Tyber, whence it hath its name; a place for its unhealthineſs deſerted, yet ſtill a Biſhops See. Hinc Oſtienſes dicti, & Oſtienſis ager, & Oſtienſis porta Romæ, eò quòd Oſtiam verſus ducat.

Oſtrogothi; Claud. *The Eaſt-*Goths.

Oſtrovicum. Oſterwick, a town of lower Saxony,

O ante T.

Otadini. The people of Northumberland.

Otho, ōnis; m. One of the Cæſars; he came after Galba, and Vitellius after him; all three laſted but a very ſhort time. He was a very effeminate Prince; Juv. only accounted valiant at his death; for he killed himſelf to ſave the expence of blood; Mart. ◊ Alſo a Tribune of the people, who ordered the Eſtates of Roman Knights; Juv. ◊ Alſo ſeveral Roman Emperors ſince of that name.

Otholinia. The country of Fife in Scotland.

Othona. Ithanceſter near Mauldon; or as others, Haſtings in Eſſex.

Othonia Sylva. Ottenwaldt in Germany.

Othryades. A Spartan: there was a controverſie betwixt the Spartans and Argives about ſome lands; they agreed that 300 on both ſides ſhould try the matter by combat, and the land ſhould go to that part that had the victory; all the Spartans were ſlain, but Othryades; and of the Argives but two left, and thoſe two ran away; he for ſhame that his fellows were ſlain, would not return home, but writing on his Target, VICI, ſlew himſelf; Val. M.

Othrys; Ovid. A hill in Theſſaly.

Otrilius, a, um; Claud. i. Thracicus.

Ottonium. A City of Denmark, called Odenſee.

O ante V.

Ovetum. A City of Spain called Oviedo.

Ovidius, Poeta, Naſo cognominatus, à gr. ᾠδίον ovicula, ut ab ovis. A famous Poet born at Sulmo, which is nineteen miles diſtant from Rome: He was once in great favour with Auguſtus; but either for ſome freedom uſed with his daughter Julia, or for his laſcivious verſes, he baniſhed him to Pontus at fifty years of age; where after eight years and ſome months he died.

Ovinius. The name of ſome Senators and others.

Ovius, prænomen; ab ove; ut ab aſino, Aſinius: hinc Ovinius & Ovidius nomina gentilitia.

Ouſa. The Ouſe, a famous river in Yorkſhire.

O ante X.

Oxonium, vel Oxonia. The moſt famous Univerſity and City now called Oxenford, or Oxford, (i. Boum vadum, uti gr. βόεσφορος) and by the ancient Britans Rhyd-ychen; ſeated upon the river Ouſe, or Iſis; from whoſe name Leland would have it called Ouſeford. For the pleaſant ſituation, it was called Belloſitum, and Calleva by Anton. It hath many brave Colledges in it and other ſtately publick buildings; to wit, the Schools, & there the Library founded by Sir Thomas Bodley, and adjoyning the Theatre, built and indowed by his now Grace of Canterbury. For the further ſatisfaction, peruſe a Book lately come forth by the name of the Antiquities of Oxford.

Oxus, maximus Sogdianæ fluv. per Margianam in Hyrcanum mare decurrens; Arabicè Gichon dic. pop. Oxii & Oxiani, Plin.

Oxycanus; Curt. *A King in the Eaſt-*Indies.

Oxydates; Curt. A noble Perſian.

O ante Z.

Ozolæ; Ptol. Ozoli; Plin. pop. Achaiæ, Ætolis finitimi: locus ipſe Ozolis dicitur, ab ὄζω dict. illic enim Neſſus, Herculis ſagittis confoſſus, ſuo fœtore totam fœdavit & infeſtavit regionem.

---

P ante A.

Pachynus, Plin. Pachynum Mel. & Pachynos, i; f. g. Ovid. A Promontory of Sicily, called now Capo Paſſaro.

Păcŏrus: Mart. Son to Orodes the Parthian King, who defeated Craſſus; which was revenged upon this his ſon by Ventidius Baſſus.

Pactolus, i; m. Poet. πακτωλὸς. A river in Lydia having golden ſands; (whence called Chryſorrhoas Solin.) after that Midas had waſhed off his golden wiſh in it.

Pactye, Plin. A City of Thrace, by Propontis: Alſo ſmall Iſles of Lycia; Id.

Pacuvius. An ancient Tragick Poet of Brunduſium in Calabria, Nephew to Ennius, commended by Quintilian for his weighty ſtile, &c. yet reflected upon by Perſ. and Mart. for his uncouth old-faſhioned language. ◊ Alſo a flatterer of Auguſtus of that name, Macrob. and another a great debaſhe, Sen.

Pacyris. A river of Scythia in Europe that riſeth in Muſcovy, and runs through Tartary, Plin.

Padæus; Tibul. A River of India.

Padua, à Padi vicinitate dict. A City belonging to Venice, in the country called Marca Trevigniana; by the ancients called Antenorea, from Antenor the firſt founder, and Patavium. It is a famous Univerſity for the ſtudy of Phyſick.

Padus; i; m. Vir. The river Po in Italy, iſſuing out of the Alps, and running into the gulf of Venice with many mouths. here Phaeton was drowned: by the Poets it is called Eridanus. Populifer, Ovid. olorifer, Claud. dicitur.

Padula, æ; f. Vir. An arm of the river Po, ſtretching to Ravenna.

Pæan, ānis; m. Vir. Apollo ſic dict. ἀπὸ τῦ παίειν, i. à feriendo, Macr. vel à ſanando. Euſt. It. hymnus in Apollinis laudem. Juv.

Pæantiades & Pæantius, Philoctetes Pæantis filius.

Pæmani; pop. Gall. Belg. Cæſ.

Pæon, παίων, i. ſanans. A Phyſician, from whence the herb Piony hath its name. Hinc Pæonius, a, um; Vir.

Pæŏnes; pl. m. Ovid. People of Macedonia.

Pæſtum, urbs Lucaniæ roſarum abundantiſſima; gr. ποσειδωνία, Plin. Neptunia, Paterc. Hinc Pæſtanus, a, um; Ovid.

Pætus, i; Mart. The husband of Arria in Claudius time; Tac. Alſo a Merchant who was drown'd going to Egypt; Propert.

Paganalia, um; n. feriæ alicujus pagi; Var. qu. paganorum, i. ruſticorum feſtum. A country-Wake.

Pāgāſa, æ; f. Propert. dict. à fontium propinquitate, quos Dores πηγὰς vocant; juxta hanc urbem Argo navis ædificata fuit, quam inde Poetæ Pagaſæam vocant: al. à πήγνυμι figo. A town in Theſſaly, where the ſhip Argo was firſt launched. Hinc Pagaſicus, a, um; Plin. & Pagaſæus, a, um; Lucan.

Pagaſus. A mans name in Virg.

Palæmon, ŏnis; m. Ovid. Παλαίμων, i. e. ὑμνῳδὸς τῆς πάλης. The ſon of Athamas and Ino, otherwiſe called Melicertes; his mother ſeeing Athamas in his madneſs ready to kill them both, threw her ſelf and him into the ſea: whereupon they were made gods of the Sea, & ſhe was called Leucothea; he, in Greek Palæmon, by the Latin Portunus, becauſe they thought he was the god of Sea-ports or Havens: and in memory of him were the Iſthmian games inſtituted. Hinc Palæmonius, a, um; Claud. Alſo a Grammarian in the time of Tiberius, Suet. and a name of a ſhepherd in Virgil.

Palæbyblos; urbs Phœniciæ; Plin.

Pălæmyndus; urbs Cariæ; Plin.

Palæpăphos; urbs Cypri; Plin.

Pălæphătus. An ancient writer of incredible ſtories. Hinc Palæphatius, a, um; Vir.

Palæpolis; urbs Campaniæ; Liv.

Palæſcămandrus; fl. Phrygiæ; Plin.

Palæſte; vicus Epiri: unde Palæſtinus, a, um; Lucan.

Pălæſtina, פלשת, i. conſperſa, ſcil. cinere, vel pulvere. A country of Aſia, called by the ancients Canaan, and the Land of Promiſe; by Ptolemy Palæſtine, or the country of the Philiſtims; and now by Chriſtians the Holy Land; It containeth the countries of Idumæa, Samaria, Judæa, and Galilee. The chief City was Jeruſalem. Hinc Palæſtinus, a, um; ut Palæſtina aqua, Ovid. The river Tigris.

PALAMEDES, gr. i. aſtutum quid agens. The ſon of Nauplius, King of Eubœa. When the Grecian Princes were to go to the wars of Troy, Ulyſſes to ſave himſelf at home, feigned himſelf mad; Palame-

Palamedes found out his counterfeiting, by laying his ſon in the furrow as he was plowing with an Ox and an Aſs, and ſowing ſalt: he ſtayed the plough, and ſaved the Boy. Whereupon his counterfeiting was diſcovered, and he taken againſt his will to the Wars; and being ſent into Thrace to forage for Corn, he returned and ſaid, he could find none; Palamedes went and fetched good ſtore from thence: Ulyſſes to revenge theſe things counterfeited a letter in Priamus his name, wherein he thanked Palamedes for his treaſon intended, and mentioned that he had ſent him gold for a reward: Now Ulyſſes had ſecretly conveyed gold into his tent. Theſe letters were found and read in the Camp; Palamedes was called, Ulyſſes ſeemed to defend him, and ſaid there was no truſt to be given to the Letters of enemies; but (ſaid he) let ſome be ſent into Palamedes his Tent, and then if there be found any ſuch ſum of gold, then he was ſurely guilty: They ſent and found the gold, and Palamedes was condemned, and ſtoned; his death was afterwards revenged by Nauplius: He in the time of the Trojan war, invented four Greek letters, Θ, Ξ, Χ, Φ, adding them to the ſixteen which had been before invented by Cadmus: He was skilful in Aſtrology, and the firſt that found out the reaſon of the Eclipſe, and brought the year to the courſe of the Sun, and the month to the courſe of the Moon: he found out the skill of ordering an Army, and the giving of the Watchword, which together with thoſe letters they ſaid he learned by the conduct and flying of Cranes; Whence by the Poets they are called Palamedis aves; Mart.

Pālanteum, quod dicitur Balanteum, à balatu ovium, aut rect. à Pallante Evandri proavo; Vir. A Palace or large building on mount Palatine at Rome.

Pālantium, mons Romæ appell. quòd ibi paſcens pecus balare conſueverit, Feſt. unde Balantium voc. Næv. vel quòd palare, i. errare ibi pecudes ſolerent; Ovid. Al. quòd ibi Hyperborei filia Palanto habitaverit, quæ ex Hercule Latinum peperit. Al. à Pallante ibi ſepulto, Feſt. qui à Turno occiſus eſt, Vir. vid. Pallanteum. Verùm à φαλάντων, i. ſummum montis jugum ducit Joſ. Scal. unde & ipſum cœlum ob altitudinem ab Hetruſcis falantum dic. Feſt.

Palanto, ûs; f. The daughter of Hyperboreus, by whom Hercules begot Latinus.

Pālātium, ſive mons Palatinus; quòd palantes, i. errantes Arcades eò cum Evandro venerint; vel quòd Palatini, qui & Aborigines, ex agro Reatino, qui appell. Palatium, ibi conſederint. Var. Al. à Palatia uxore Latini, vel a balatu pecoris dictum putant; Id. At id ſi eſſet, prima eſſet longa, Serv. Al. à Pale paſtorali deâ; Solin. vid. Palantium. Hinc Palatinus, adj. ut Palatinus mons, & Palatinus Apollo. cui ſc. Auguſtus ædem ibi conſtruxerat, porticibus & bibliothecâ celebrem; Hor. The Palace or mount Palatine, one of the ſeven hills of Rome, where down from Auguſtus his time the Emperors kept their reſidence, and before that, Evander and Romulus dwelt; whence it is taken for any Kings Court or Princes Manſion; a Palace or a Place.

Pālātia, Palatii Dea tutelaris.

Pālātual. A ſacrifice in the Palatium, made to the goddeſs Palatua.

Palentia; urbs Hiſp. Liv. pop. Palentini, Id.

Pāles, paſtorum vel pabuli Dea, à πάω edo, paſco. it. frugum inventrix, ut fuerit eadem cum Cerere; vel à palando, eò quòd pecora non ſinat palare, vel quòd palantes pecudes curet; Lactc illi ſacra faciebant; Ovid.

Palſurius Sura. Juv. An Orator and pleader in Domitians time.

Pālici, Vir. vel Paliſci. Two brethren, the ſons of Jupiter, and of the Nymph Thalia, or Ætna, who for fear of Juno deſired the earth to open and hide her; ſo it did, and there ſhe was ten months, and then it let her out again; and ſhe brought forth her children; whence they were called Palici, ἀπὸ τῦ πάλιν ἰκάδαι. Boch. à פלא venerari, colere; quare & Æſch. eos σεμνὰς Παλίκους voc. Palici dii habiti ſunt, per quos jurare religio erat; Macrob.

Pālicus, ſc. lacus, Ovid. A lake or ſtanding pool in Sicily. pop. Palici; Id.

Pālilia, vel Parilia, Palis Deæ feſta; hæc à paſtoribus in agris fiebant, ad lupos arcendos, morboſque à pecoribus pellendos, ſeu pro partu pecoris: in hoc feſto palearum accenſos acervos paſtores ſaltando tranſiliebant, Ovid. Faſt. 4. A feſtival among Shepherds; as alſo the birthday of the City Rome.

Palilicium ſidus; quoniam 11. Cal. Maii urbis Romæ natalis, quo ferè ſerenitas redditur, claritatem obſervationi dedit: nimborum argumento ὑάδας appellantibus Græcis has ſtellas; Plin.

Pālinurus; à πάλιν rurſus, & ὀρεῖν meiere, Mart. Æneas his ſhipmaſter, he fell aſleep on ſhip-board, and thence into the ſea, and the Waves carried him to Velia, there the inhabitants ſlew him, and caſt him into the ſea, for which a plague fell on them, which would not ceaſe till they had appeaſed his ghoſt, and conſecrated a grove to him. From him Palinurum, a Promontory of Lucania took its name; Vir. now called Capo Palemudo.

Palládium, παλλάδιον, quodvis Palladis ſimulacrum. The image of Pallas in Troy made of Wood, and had eyes which ſeemed to move, and a ſpear in her hand; the Trojans in the reign of Ilus K. Priam's grandfather, imagined it to have fallen from heaven into a Temple before it was covered, as it was building; and the Oracle ſaid, That the city of Troy ſhould never be taken ſo long as that was there; whereupon Diomedes and Ulyſſes hearing this ſlew the keepers of it, and ſtole it away; which done, they ſhortly after won Troy; Vir. At laſt it was brought to Rome, and there placed in Minerva's chappel, which being on fire, Metellus reſcued the image.

Palládius. One that wrote twelve books of husbandry.

Pallantēum; n. id. quod mons Palatinus, à Pallante Arcade, avo Evandri ſic dict. Vir. Al. à filiâ Evandri Pallantia ab Hercule vitiatâ, & poſtea illic ſepultâ. Al. à Pallante, qui de filiâ Evandri natus, & ibi ſepultus eſt immaturæ ætatis. Al. à filio Evandri, qui poſt mortem patris ſeditione occiſus eſt: Serv.

Pallantia. The daughter of Evander, got with child by Hercules; Serv. ex Var.

Pallas, ădis; f. Poet. Παλλάς, à πάλλω vibro, i. Dea haſtæ vibratrix, vel quòd ſit ſcientiæ præſes, à פלא occultus, admirabilis. lat. Minerva, filia Jovis, ex cerebro ejus prognata, ſapientiæ diſciplinarumque omnium dea.

Pallas, antis; m. The grandfather of Evander from whom mount Palatine had its name; Vir. or Evanders daughters ſon, who died young and was buried there; or his own ſon, ſlain in a mutiny after his fathers death, Serv. Alſo the ſon of Pandion. Ovid. ϕ Alſo a rich favourite of Claudius Cæſar.

Pallēne, es; f. Vir. à Pallena Sithonis filia uxore Cleti dict. A Peninſula, and alſo a town in Macedony, called of old Phlegra, now Caniſtro or Tarcho; inhabited by the Gyants whom Hercules overcame, when there was a great Thunder and Lightning: Whence was occaſioned the Poets fiction, that the gods from Heaven did fight againſt thoſe Gyants: Hinc Pallenæus, a, um; Stat.

Palma; Plin. The chief city of Majorca Iſland.

Palmyra, Syriæ urbs, Plin. regio Palmyrena dicitur.

Pamiæ. Pamiers, a City of Guyenne in France.

Pamiſus, fl. Theſſaliæ, in Peneum influens, Plin.

Pamphăgi, παμφάγοι, i. omnivori. People of Æthiopia.

Pamphilus, græc. πάμφιλος, quòd dicitur omnibus amicus. A ſcholar of Plato's. He having lain ten days among thoſe that fell in battle, and being then found and three days after laid upon the funeral pile, he revived, and told ſtrange ſtories of things which he had ſeen: It is alſo the name of a Painter, that put down Apelles: alſo one who erected the ſtate at Athens, whence that proverb, Pamphili furtum.

Pamphylia, Stat. παμφυλία, à πᾶς & φυλή. A country in Aſia the leſs, on the weſt of Caramania, ſubject to the Turk. Pamphylium mare. Plin. The ſea by Pamphylia. Pamphylia tellus, Lucan. The country it ſelf.

Pān, pānis; m. Poet. Πάν, eò quòd univerſi, quod πᾶν nominant Græci, exiſtimabatur deus. Πᾶνα καλῶ κραταιὸν τε Θεὸν, κάσμιον τὸ σύμπαν. Orph. al. quòd Deos omnes delectârit canendo; Πᾶνα δέ μιν καλέσσκον, ὅτι φρένα πᾶσιν ἔτερψε, Hom. The god of ſhepherds: he invented the pipes; he was worſhipped eſpecially in Arcadia; The Luperci were his Prieſts. The Pine-tree was ſacred to him. They fancied him to have horns on his head, and his lower parts like a Goat. He is the ſame with Faunus, and is called alſo Inuus and Incubus. Leg. & in plur. capripedes Panes, Propert. Hinc Panicus, a, um.

Pānætius. The name of a Stoick Philoſopher, whom Tully imitated in his Offices.

Pānăgæa, Diana dict. quòd vagetur, & per nemora, & montes oberret.

Pānăthēnæa, παναθήναια, Athenarum & Minervæ imprimis feſta, à Theſeo inſtituta, quorum duo ſunt genera; Majora quinto quoq; anno habita; Vir. undelat. Quinquatria dicuntur; Minora quotannis.

Panchāia, æ; f. Vir. παγχαία. A country of Arabia the Happy; where there is great ſtore of frankincenſe: Hinc Panchæus, a, um; Vir.

Panda, dea eadem quæ Ceres, à pandendo, i. pane dando; Var. quòd iis qui ope indigerent, & ad aſylum Cereris confugiſſent, panis daretur; Non. vel quòd pacis tempore portæ urbium panderentur. Panda, εἰρήνη θεὸς, i. pacis Dea; Gl.

Phil.

Phil. vel quòd viam panderet, i. aperiret Tito Tatio; ut Capitolinum collem ſive rupem Tarpeiam caperet. Arnob.

Pandāna porta, Feſt. olim, Saturnia, & Libera, dict. à pando, quod ſemper pateat. The name of a gate in Rome.

Pandăria & Pandataria, Plin. & Pandateria, Tac. An Iſle of the Tyrrhene ſea, now caſed S. Maria.

Pandărus, i; m. Vir. A Trojan, who upon Minerva's inſtigation, when Menelaus and Paris were upon covenant to decide the controverſy by ſingle combat, threw a dart among the Greeks, & by that means broke the agreement. ◊ Alſo the brother of Bitias, both ſlain by Turnus; Vir.

Pandion, ŏnis; m. Ovid. The ſon of Erichthonius, King of Athens, and father to Progne and Philomela, whoſe ſad misfortunes broke his heart. Inde Pandionius, a, um; Ovid.

Pandōra, æ; f. ſic dict. quòd πᾶν δῶρον, omnis generis dona à Diis omnibus accepiſſet; Heſiod. Was the woman made by Vulcan at Jupiters command, whom every god adorned with ſeveral gifts: Pallas gave her Wiſdom, Venus Beauty, Apollo Muſick, Mercury Eloquence. She was by Jupiter ſent with a box to Epimetheus, which he receiving and opening, all kind of evils and miſchiefs flew out, and filled the earth with diſeaſes and all other calamities; Hor.

Pandōsia, Italiæ urbs Brutiorum, Liv. hodiè Caſtro Franco dictum; altera in Epiro ad fluv. Acheruntem; Plin. indè Pandoſenus, & Pandoſianus.

Pandrōſos, i; f. Ovid. Daughter of Cecrops, King of Athens, and ſiſter to Aglauros and Herſe.

Paneas; Plin. A fountain of Paleſtine, whence the river Jordan flows.

Pangæus, Plin. in plur. Pangæa, Vir. πανσαίων, i. tota terreſtris. A hill of Thrace neer the City Philippi; having mines of gold and ſilver; it is now called Malaca or Caſtagna. Hinc Pangæus, a, um; Val. Fl.

Pānīſci, quaſi parvi Panes, dim. à Pan, ut à Satyro Satyriſcus. Gods of the Woods.

Pannŏnes; Pannonii, Ovid. People of Hungary. Hinc Pannonicus a, um; Mart. & Pannōnis, f. Luc.

Pannōnia. A large country of Europe, now called Hungary, divided into the Upper & the Lower; having many great towns as Presburg, Rab, Comara, Tokay, &c. belonging to the Emperour: Buda, Newhauſel, Belgrad, &c. under the Turk.

Pānomphæus, à πᾶν omne, & ὀμφὴ vox. quòd omni linguâ colatur, ſive quòd omnium voces intelligit. Jupiter ſo called; Ovid.

Pānŏpe, es; f. vel Panopea, gr. à perſpicuitate viſûs dict. A Sea-Nymph the daughter of Nereus & Doris; Vir. ◊ Alſo a midland town of Phocis; Ovid. and a fountain at Athens.

Pānŏpes; Vir. A great huntſman, and attendant of Aceſtes, King of Sicily.

Pānŏpŏlis, gr. i. Panis civitas, illic enim ejus ſimulachrum habetur. A City of Egypt, where Nonnus was born, who tranſlated S. Johns Goſpel into Greek verſe.

Pānormus, i; f. Sil. Panhormum, Plin. gr. i. ſtatio: civitas Siciliæ maritima & portus, dict. à navium applicatione, quod Græc. ὁρμίζειν dicitur. The chief City and Port of Sicily, now called Palermo. pop. Panormitani, Cic. ◊ Alſo ſeveral towns in other countries of that name; as one in Crete, Plin. another in Achaia, Id. another in Thrace, Id. and another in the Iſland Samos, Liv.

Pantænus. A great Divine and Schoolman at Antioch; Euſeb.

Pantăgĭas, æ; m. Vir. Ἀπὸ τῆ πάντα ἄγειν, quòd rapiditate ſuâ obvia quæque proſternat, & ſecum rapiat. A ſwift river in Sicily.

Pantānus; Plin. A pool in Apulia.

Panthēon. i. omnium Deorum templum. A ſtately temple in Rome of all the gods, built by Agrippa, Auguſtus his ſon in law; and dedicated by Boniface the fourth, to the honour of the bleſſed Virgin and All-ſaints; now called S. Maria rotunda.

Pantheus, ei vel eos; m. in Voc. Pantheu, Vir. A noble Trojan.

Panthŏĭdes, Ovid. i. Euphorbus. The ſon of Panthus, ſlain by Menelaus in the Trojan war: him Pythagoras ſaid himſelf to be.

Pantica, dea quæ & Panda; Arnob.

Pantĭcăpes, Plin. A river of Scythia, that runs into the Euxin ſea, and gives name to that City.

Pantĭcăpæum; Plin. A great City in the Precops country, now called Pantico.

Pantŏmātrium, Plin. A City of Crete.

Paphlăgŏnĭa, dict. à Paphlagone Phinei filio, Steph. A country in Aſia the leſs, lying between Galatia, and the Euxine ſea; and is now called Bolli; the people Paphlagones.

Paphnutius. An Egyptian Biſhop, a holy man, one of the Fathers at the Council of Nice, where he ſtood up for the marriage of Prieſts, when the reſt were voting againſt it.

Păphos, i; f. Vir. dict. à Papho Pygmalionis & Eburneæ filio qui eam condidit. hinc Venus Paphia dict. quòd illic templum habeat extructiſſimum. A City of Cyprus now called Baffo.

Păpia. The City Pavia in Lumbardy.

Păpĭas, Grammaticus, qui ſcripſit Dictionarium Latinum alphabeticè.

Păpīniānus. A famous Lawyer in the time of Severus the Emperor.

Păpīnius Statius, Neopolitanus. A famous Poet.

Păpīrĭa, ſive Papiſia, gens patricia Romæ fuit.

Păpĭrius. The name of divers Romans; one whereof was called Papirius Prætextatus: he was a noble young man, ſo called, quòd in prætexta & adoleſcentia magnopere viſus eſt ſapere: He went with his father into the Senate, where were debated many weighty matters; his mother asked him, when he came home, what they ſaid; he anſwered, They have concluded that every man ſhall have two wives: She called the other Ladies together, and told them; who went preſently to the Senate, and deſired that this alſo might be decreed, That every woman might have two husbands: The Senate marvelled at the ſudden coming of the women, and their words; till at length they underſtood how it was, and commended the boy for his diſcretion, Mac. Pappus. A great Mathematician of Alexandria, in Theodoſius the Great's time.

Părădiſus, opp. Syriæ; Plin.

Părætŏnium; Ovid. A town of Marmarica in Africk with a great haven belonging to it, now called Alberton. Hinc Paræonius, a, um; Lucan.

Părălus, Plin. He that firſt invented Galliet.

Părărenchus, Ἀπὸ τῆ παραχεῖν, quòd roſtro ſeu naſo ſterteret, Alciat. One, who when his Wife (which was a common Harlot, uſing for money to proſtitute her ſelf) had her copeſmates with her, would feign himſelf aſleep, for fear of diſturbing them; but if he liked not their company, he would ſay, Non omnibus dormio, whence it became a Proverb.

Parcæ, pl. f. Poet. μοῖραι, Deæ fatales humanæ vitæ ſtamina diſpenſantes: ſunt a. tres Clotho quæ colum tenet, Lacheſis quæ filum ducit, Atropos quæ filum incidit vel rumpit, dict. per antiphr. quòd minimè parcant; Apul. &c. crudeles parcæ, quæ nemini parcant, vet. inſcr. vel quòd parcant; quià una tantum filum incidit, reliquæ duæ vitam vel dant vel continuant, Scal. Al. qu. Partæ, à partu. unde & à nono ſive decimo partûs menſe Nona & Decima dict. vel à partiendo, ut μοῖρα ἀπὸ μείρω divido, quòd unicuiq; ſuam fatalem portionem aſſignent. The goddeſſes of Deſtiny; the daughters of Erebus and Nox, who alſo foretold things to come, whence called Veridicæ ſorores, Ovid. Fabulam hanc Poeticam 3. ſororum, à triplici tempore ductam exiſtimat Apuleius, ut quod in fuſo perfectum eſt, præteriti temporis rationem habeat; qd. torquetur in digitis, momenti præſentis ſpacium indicet; & quod nondum coactum eſt ex colo, futuri & conſequentis ſeculi poſteriora oſtendat. Leg. & in ſing. Parca, Stat.

Părentĭum; Plin. A City of Iſtria, belonging to the Republick of Venice.

Părĭedrus; Plin. An high hill of Armenia the greater, out of which the rivers Euphrates and Araxes ariſe.

Parienna. The City Frideck in Sleſeland.

Parilia, um; n. quæ & Palilia à Pale dea; quòd eo tempore omnia Sata, arboreſq; & herbæ parturiant pariantq; Mar. Victor. The ſame as Palilia. Feaſts dedicated to Pales a goddeſs of the ſhepherds: or as Feſtus hath it, Goſſiping feaſts or Upſittings kept by women after their childbirth.

PARIS, ĭdis; m. Poet. alias Alexander. The ſon of Priamus and Hecuba; when his mother was with child of him, ſhe dreamed that ſhe ſhould bring forth a burning Torch; it was expounded, That he ſhould cauſe Troy to be burnt; therefore he ſhould have been killed; but his mother ſent him away to a ſhepherd in Ida, where he lived a ſhepherds life, (hence called paſtor Dardanus, Stat.) and fell in love with Œnone the Nymph, and had children by her. Once upon a time there fell out a controverſie betwixt Juno, Pallas, and Venus, about a golden apple that the goddeſs Diſcord had given them at Peleus wedding, on which was written, Let it be given to the Faireſt: they could not agree, but every one thought well of her ſelf: at laſt they made him judg; and when he had ſeen them naked, (but they offered him bribes beſides; Venus, nus, that if he would adjudg it to her, he ſhould have the moſt beautiful woman in the world; Juno promiſed him a Kingdom; Pallas the excellency of Wiſdom) he adjudged it to Venus: After this he came to be owned at Court, and within ſome time pretending buſineſs took ſhip for Greece, where he fell in league with Helena the famed Beauty of that country, and (in her husbands abſence) carried her away home with him; which proved the occaſion of making good the dream, and ſetting all Troy in flames. ◊ Alſo a Player or Actor in Domitian's time; Tac. and Juv. whom Martial has honoured with an Epitaph. ◊ Alſo a King of France, who 660 years before the building of Rome, built the City of Paris.

Pariſii, Camd. People of Holderneſs in Yorkſhire.

Pariſili, Cæſ. People of that part of France, where now the City Paris ſtands, called from them Lutetia Pariſiorum.

Parium, Val. Fl. Parion, Mel. Pariana colonia, Plin. The chief City of Myſia, neer the Helleſpont.

Parma, Mart. A City of Italy with the title of a Dutchy to it, called ſo from the river of the ſame name that runs by it. Hinc Parmenſis, e.

Parmenides. A Philoſopher of Elis, Xenophon's ſcholar.

Parmenio, ōnis; m. Curt. A great Favorite of Alexander the Great.

Parmeno, apud Comicos nomen viri, dict. à παρεμένω, i. adſum, permaneo.

Parnaſſus, i; m. Poet. priùs dict. Larnaſſus, Steph. quòd Larnax, i. arca Deucalionis illic appuliſſet; alii à Parnaſſo vate dictum volunt, qui primus in Pythiis vaticinatus eſt. A mountain of Phocis in Greece having two tops, (viz. Cyrrha and Niſa) whence called διχόρυφος, Nonn. biceps, Perſ. bivertex, Stat. ſacred to Apollo and the Muſes; or (as Lucan) one top to Bacchus, the other to Apollo.

Parnes, m. Stat. A hill in Attica, fruitful of Vines.

Parnopius ſic dictus Apollo qd. infeſtas agro Athenienſi locuſtas, h. e. πάρνοπας, de regione propulſaverat; Pauſ.

Parnus. A poor man that having loſt his Boat, quarrelled every man he met: Hence the proverb, Diſceptare ob Parni ſcaphulam, Eraſm.

Paropamiſus, vel Paropamiſſus, Plin. Part of the hill Taurus in Aſia, out of which two huge rivers Bactrus and Indus riſe. Pop. Paropamiſſadæ.

Paros, i; f. Ovid. ita dict. à Paro Jaſonis filio; vel ab Arcade quodam Paro, Paraſii filio. An Iſland of the Ægæan ſea, one of the Cyclades; famous for a bright ſort of marble. Hinc Parius, a, um; Vir.

Parrhaſia, dict. à Parrhaſo uno filiorum Lycaonis, Steph. That part of Peloponneſus called Arcadia: inde Parrhaſius, a, um; Vir. & Parrhaſis, idis; f. patron. Ovid.

Parrhaſius; Hor. A very ſkilful Painter of Epheſus, that contended with Zeuxis for maſtery in that Art; and got the better of him; Plin.

Parthenius, Plin. mons Arcadiæ, ſic dict. quòd παρθένοι, i. virgines in ea Veneri frequenter ſacra facere ſolerent. Hinc Parthenios ſaltus, Vir. i. Arcadicos. ◊ Alſo the name of divers rivers; one in Bithynia, now called Parteni or Dolap; another in Arcadia, Liv. Another in the Iſle Samos, it ſelf called thence Parthenia; and a fourth in Scythia Europæa; Ovid.

Parthenope, gr. i. vocem habens virgineam, one of the Mermaids, who drowned her ſelf for anger that ſhe could not allure Ulyſſes nor his companions; alſo the City Naples, Vir. ſo called from this Mermaids being buried there; Plin. Hinc Parthenopæus, a, um; Vir.

Parthenopæus. The ſon of Meleager and Atalanta; he died in the Theban wars; Stat. whom Virgil alſo mentions.

Parthenopolis, Plin. gr. ἡ τῶν παρθένων πόλις, i. virginum civitas; A City of Macedony, built by Geraſtus, the ſon of Mygdon, and named ſo from his daughters; alſo a gallant City of Saxony, upon the river Elbe, called Magdeburg. i. e. A town of Maids.

Parthi; pl. m. Vir. Parthians.

Parthia, æ; f. Claud. à Parthis dict. qui & ipſi à פַּרְשׁ eques, Chald. פַּרְתָּ. ut Perſæ & Parthi primitùs iidem fuerint. A country in Aſia, lying between Media, Carmania, and the Hircane ſea; by Merc. it is called Arach, by others Coraſan. inde Parthicus, a, um, Claud.

Parthini; Plin. People of Macedonia.

Parthus, i; m. plur. Parthi; Poet. A Parthian: they fought with bow and Arrows, and that flying: whence refugi Parthi, Luc. They had great veneration for their King; Virg.

Partula, Dea quæ partum gubernat, & puerperiis præeſt: Tert.

Paſagarda, Plin. Paſſagarda, Solin. A royal City once of Perſia, where Cyrus was buried. Al. ſcrib. Paſargadæ, plur. Curt. Παστεργάδαι, i. Περσῶν σεμνότατον, Steph.

Paſiphae, es; f. Poet. gr. omnibus apparens filia Solis, & uxor Minois regis Cretæ. The Poets feign that ſhe fell in love with a Bull, and Dædalus made a Cow of wood, and put her into it; whereupon ſhe obtaining her deſire, brought forth by him the Monſter Minotaurus, having one part like a man, and the other like a Bull. The occaſion of this fable was, as ſome ſay, that ſhe was in love with a ſervant of her husbands, named Taurus, whoſe company by the help of Dædalus, ſhe enjoyed at her pleaſure. Serv.

Paſiteles, Plin. i. ὁ πᾶσι τέλης, i. in omnibus perfectus. A famous Carver born in Greece, and made a freeman in Rome.

Paſithea, gr. quòd dicitur omnibus dea πᾶσι θεά. One of the Graces, the ſame that Aglaia.

Paſitigris, Plin. The river Tigris, where all his ſtreams meet in one.

Paſſer. The name of a place in Mart.

Paſſienus. The name of ſeveral Romans; one in Tac. another in Plin. jun.

Paſtophori, ſic dict. quòd ferant pallium Veneris, cui nomen eſt Paſtos. Ius her Prieſts in Egypt.

Paſtovia. Padſtow in Cornwall.

Pătăra, dict. à Pataro Apollinis filio, Steph. vel ab aljo Pataro Lapeonis filio. A City of Lycia; where Apollo had a Temple and Oracle. Hinc Pataræus, a, um; Ovid.

Patavium, Liv. A City belonging to the Venetians, the country of Titus Livy; built at firſt by Antenor, Vir. Hinc Patavinus, a, um; Mart.

Patellana & Patella, deæ, ex quibus una eſt patefactis, patefaciendis rebus altera præſtituta; Arnob.

Patellarii dii; Lares ita dicti, quòd patent, quæ vaſa erant in ſacificiis uſurpari ſolita, placarentur; Plaut. vel quod è cibis aliquid in patella in focum deferrent; Schol. Perſ.

Pathiſcus, Plin. qui Tibiſcus, Ptol. A river of Hungary called Teiſſa, that runs into the Danow.

Pathmos, vel Patmos; i. f. An Iſland of the Ægean ſea, one of the Cyclades, where S. John in his baniſhment wrote his Apocalyps.

Patræ, Cic. A City in Achaia.

Patricius. S. Patrick ſent by Celeſtine into Ireland to convert the people there, in the year of Chriſt 433.

Patricius vicus, ſic dict. quòd ibi Patricii habitaverint, jubente Servio Tullo, ut ſi quid adverſus ipſum molirentur, ex locis ſuperioribus opprimi poſſent.

Patrŏbas. A neighbour of Martials.

Patroclus, gr. i. patris, vel patriæ gloria. A noble Græcian, the ſon of Menætius (whence called Menætiades, as alſo Actorides, Ovid.) brought up with Achilles by Chiron: whereupon he being an intimate friend to Achilles, borrowed his armour, (for Achilles would not go to battel, becauſe of ſome diſtaſte Agamemnon had given him concerning Briſeis) that he might be the more terrible to the Trojans: howbeit he was in the conflict ſlain by Hector; whereupon Achilles to revenge his death, contrary to his former purpoſe, returned to the war, and never ceaſt till he had ſeverely revenged his friends death upon Hector. ◊ Alſo one, who in Nero's time being Conſul, made a walk neer the Capitol with ſome Privies, which therefore Mart. calls Sellas Patroclianas.

Patroviſſa. A City of Tranſylvania, called now Braſſaw, by the Hungarians; and Cronſtat by the inhabitants.

Patuleius, Ovid. ſic dict. Janus, à patendo, eò qd. tempore belli portæ ejus templi pateant, ut è contra Cluſius à Claudendo, quum pace clauderentur.

Paventia, dea dict. quia averteret pavores ab infantibus; Aug.

Pauliacus; Auſon. A village of Guyenne, in France; now called Pouillac.

Paulinus. Biſhop of Nola, who firſt invented Bells, or at leaſt firſt applied them to ſacred uſe.

Paulus; à paulus, i. parvus, ob ſtaturæ parvitatem: Apoſtolus hoc nomen elegit, ut ſe oſtenderet minimum Apoſtolorum; Aug. S. Paul the Apoſtle, the great Doctor of the Gentiles.

Pavor, & Pallor, dii; Liv.

Pauſanias. A Macedon youth, who killed King Philip; Trog. alſo a great Geographer.

Pauſias. A Painter of Sycion; Plin. hinc Pauſiăcus, a, um; Hor.

Pauſilypum, Plin. dict. ab amœnitate, ἀπὸ τῆς παύσεως τῆς λύπης, i. à curæ mœroriſque ceſſatione. A Promontory in Campania, three miles off Naples ſtward Puzzoli.

Pauſi-

Phil. vel quòd viam panderet, i. aperiret Tito Tatio; ut Capitolinum collem ſive rupem Tarpeiam caperet. Arnob.

Pandāna porta, Feſt. olim, Saturnia, & Libera, dict. à pando, quod ſemper pateat. The name of a gate in Rome.

Pandāria & Pandataria, Plin. & Pandateria, Tac. An Iſle of the Tyrrhene ſea, now called S. Maria.

Pandārus, i; m. Vir. A Trojan, who upon Minerva's inſtigation, when Menelaus and Paris were upon covenant to decide the controverſy by ſingle combat, threw a dart among the Greeks, & by that means broke the agreement. ◊ Alſo the brother of Bitias, both ſlain by Turnus; Vir.

Pandion, ōnis; m. Ovid. The ſon of Erichthonius, King of Athens, and father to Progne and Philomela, whoſe ſad misfortunes broke his heart. Inde Pandionius, a, um; Ovid.

Pandōra, æ; f. ſic dict. quòd πᾶν δῶρον, omnis generis dona à Diis omnibus accepiſſet; Heſiod. Was the woman made by Vulcan at Jupiters command, whom every god adorned with ſeveral gifts: Pallas gave her Wiſdom, Venus Beauty, Apollo Muſick, Mercury Eloquence. She was by Jupiter ſent with a box to Epimetheus, which he receiving and opening, all kind of evils and miſchiefs flew out, and filled the earth with diſeaſes and all other calamities; Hor.

Pandōsia, Italiæ urbs Brutiorum, Liv. hodiè Caſtro Franco dictum; altera in Epiro ad fluv. Acheruntem; Plin. indè Pandoſenus, & Pandoſianus.

Pandrōſos, i; f. Ovid. Daughter of Cecrops, King of Athens, and ſiſter to Aglauros and Herſe.

Paneas; Plin. A fountain of Paleſtine, whence the river Jordan flows.

Pangæus, Plin. in plur. Pangæa, Vir. πανσὴς &c, i. tota terreſtris. A hill of Thrace neer the City Philippi; having mines of gold and ſilver; it is now called Malaca or Caſtagna. Hinc Pangæus, a, um; Val. Fl.

Pānīſci, quaſi parvi Panes, dim. à Pan, ut à Satyro Satyriſcus. Gods of the Woods.

Pannōnes; Pannonii, Ovid. People of Hungary. Hinc Pannonicus a, um; Mart. & Pannōnis, f. Luc.

Pannōnia. A large country of Europe, now called Hungary, divided into the Upper & the Lower; having many great towns in Presburg, Rab, Comara, Tokay, &c. belonging to the Emperour: Buda, Newhauſel, Belgrad, &c. under the Turk.

Pānomphæus, à πᾶν omne, & ὀμφὴ vox. quòd omni linguâ colatur, ſive quòd omnium voces intelligit. Jupiter ſo called; Ovid.

Pānōpe, es; f. vel Panopea, gr. à perſpicuitate viſûs dict. A Sea-Nymph the daughter of Nereus & Doris; Vir. ◊ Alſo a midland town of Phocis; Ovid. and a fountain at Athens.

Pānōpes; Vir. A great huntſman, and attendant of Aceſtes, King of Sicily.

Pānōpōlis, gr. i. Fanis civitas, illic enim ejus ſimulachrum habetur. A City of Egypt, where Nonnus was born, who tranſlated S. Johns Goſpel into Greek verſe.

Pānormus, i; f. Sil. Panhormum, Plin. gr. i. ſtatio: civitas Siciliæ maritima & portus, dict. à navium applicatione, quod Græc. ὁρμίζειν dicitur. The chief City and Port of Sicily, now called Palermo. pop. Panormitani, Cic. ◊ Alſo ſeveral towns in other countries of that name; as one in Crete, Plin. another in Achaia, Id. another in Thrace, Id. and another in the Iſland Samos, Liv.

Pantænus. A great Divine and Schoolman at Antioch; Euſeb.

Pantăgĭas, æ; m. Vir. Ἀπὸ τῆ παντὸς ἄγειν, quòd rapiditate ſuâ obvia quæque proſternat, & ſecum rapiat. A ſwift river in Sicily.

Pantānus; Plin. A pool in Apulia.

Panthēon. i. omnium Deorum templum. A ſtately temple in Rome of all the gods, built by Agrippa, Auguſtus his ſon in law; and dedicated by Boniface the fourth, to the honour of the bleſſed Virgin and All-ſaints; now called S. Maria rotunda.

Pantheus, ei vel eos; m. in Voc. Pantheu, Vir. A noble Trojan.

Panthŏĭdes, Ovid. i. Euphorbus. The ſon of Panthus, ſlain by Menelaus in the Trojan war: him Pythagoras ſaid himſelf to be.

Pantica, dea quæ & Panda; Arnob.

Pantĭcăpes, Plin. A river of Scythia, that runs into the Euxin ſea, and gives name to that City.

Pantĭcăpæum; Plin. A great City in the Precops country, now called Pantico.

Pantŏmātrium, Plin. A City of Crete.

Paphlăgŏnĭa, dict. à Paphlagone Phinei filio, Steph. A country in Aſia the leſs, lying between Galatia, and the Euxine ſea; and is now called Bolli; the people Paphlagones.

Paphnutius. An Egyptian Biſhop, a holy man, one of the Fathers at the Council of Nice, where he ſtood up for the marriage of Prieſts, when the reſt were voting againſt it.

Păphos, i; f. Vir. dict. à Papho Pygmalionis & Eburneæ filio qui eam condidit. hinc Venus Paphia dict. quòd illic templum habeat extructiſſimum. A City of Cyprus now called Baffo.

Păpia. The City Pavia in Lumbardy.

Păpĭas, Grammaticus, qui ſcripſit Dictionarium Latinum alphabeticè.

Păpiniānus. A famous Lawyer in the time of Severus the Emperor.

Păpinius Statius, Neopolitanus. A famous Poet.

Păpiria, ſive Papiſia, gens patricia Romæ fuit.

Păpirius. The name of divers Romans; one whereof was called Papirius Prætextatus: he was a noble young man, ſo called, quòd in prætexta & adoleſcentia magnopere viſus eſt ſapere: He went with his father in to the Senate, where were debated many weighty matters; his mother asked him, when he came home, what they ſaid; he anſwered, They have concluded that every man ſhall have two wives: She called the other Ladies together, and told them; who went preſently to the Senate, and deſired that this alſo might be decreed, That every woman might have two husbands: The Senate marvelled at the ſudden coming of the women, and their words; till at length they underſtood how it was, and commended the boy for his diſcretion, Mac. Pappus. A great Mathematician of Alexandria, in Theodoſius the Great's time.

Părădīſus, opp. Syriæ; Plin.

Părætŏnium; Ovid. A town of Marmarica in Africk with a great haven belonging to it, now called Alberton. Hinc Paræ tonius, a, um; Lucan.

Părălus, Plin. He that firſt invented Gallies.

Părărenchus, Ἀπὸ τῆ παραρέγειν, quòd roſtro ſeu naſo ſterteret, Alciat. One, who when his Wife (which was a common Harlot, uſing for money to proſtitute her ſelf) had her copeſmates with her, would feign himſelf aſleep, for fear of diſturbing them; but if he liked not their company, he would ſay, Non omnibus dormio, whence it became a Proverb.

Parcæ, pl. f. Poet. μοῖραι, Deæ fatales humanæ vitæ ſtamina diſpenſantes: ſunt a. tres Cloiho quæ colum tenet, Lachеſis quæ filum ducit, Atropos quæ filum incidit vel rumpit, dict. per antiphr. quòd minimè parcant; Apul. &c. crudeles parcæ, quæ nemini parcant, vet. inſcr. vel quòd parcant; quia una tantum filum incidit, reliquæ duæ vitam vel dant vel continuant, Scal. Al. qu. Partæ, à partu. unde & à nono ſive decimo partûs menſe Nona & Decima dict. vel à partiendo, ut μοῖραι à μείρω divide, quòd unicuiq; ſuam fatalem portionem aſſignent. The goddeſſes of Deſtiny; the daughters of Erebus and Nox, who alſo foretold things to come, whence called Veridicæ ſorores, Ovid. Fabulam hanc Poeticam 3. ſororum, à triplici tempore ductam exiſtimat Apuleius, ut quod in fuſo perfectum eſt, præteriti temporis rationem habeat; qd. torquetur in digitis, momenti præſentis ſpacium indicet; & quod nondum coactum eſt ex colo, futuri & conſequentis ſeculi poſteriora oſtendat. Leg. & in ſing. Parca, Stat.

Părentium; Plin. A City of Iſtria, belonging to the Republick of Venice.

Părĭēdrus; Plin. An high hill of Armenia the greater, out of which the rivers Euphrates and Araxes ariſe.

Parienna. The City Frideck in Sleſeland.

Parilia, um; n. quæ & Palilia à Pale dea; quòd eo tempore omnia Sata, arboreſq; & herbæ parturiant pariantq; Mar. Victor. The fame as Palilia. Feaſts dedicated to Pales a goddeſs of the ſhepherds: or as Feſtus hath it, Goſſiping feaſts or Upſitting kept by women after their childbirth.

PARIS, idis; m. Poet. alias Alexander. The ſon of Priamus and Hecuba; when his mother was with child of him, ſhe dreamed that ſhe ſhould bring forth a burning Torch; it was expounded, That he ſhould cauſe Troy to be burnt; therefore he ſhould have been been killed; but his mother ſent him away to a ſhepherd in Ida, where he lived a ſhepherds life, (hence called paſtor Dardanus, Stat.) and fell in love with Œnone the Nymph, and had children by her. Once upon a time there fell out a controverſie between Juno, Pallas, and Venus, about a golden apple that the goddeſs Diſcord had given them at Peleus wedding, on which was written, Let it be given to the Faireſt: they could not agree, but every one thought well of her ſelf: at laſt they made him judg; and when he had ſeen them naked, (but they offered him bribes beſides; Venus, nus, that if he would adjudg it to her, he ſhould have the moſt beautiful woman in the world; Juno promiſed him a Kingdom; Pallas the excellency of Wiſdom) he adjudged it to Venus: After this he came to be owned at Court, and within ſome time pretending buſineſs took ſhip for Greece, where he fell in league with Helena the famed Beauty of that country, and (in her husbands abſence) carried her away home with him; which proved the occaſion of making good the dream, and ſetting all Troy in flames. ℌ Alſo a Player or Actor in Domitian's time; Tac. and Juv. whom Martial has honoured with an Epitaph. ℌ Alſo a King of France, who 660 years before the building of Rome, built the City of Paris.

Pariſii, Cæſ. People of that part of France, where now the City Paris ſtands, called from them Lutetia Pariſiorum.

Parium, Val. Fl. Pario, Mel. Pariana colonia, Plin. The chief City of Myſia, neer the Helleſpont.

Parma, Mart. A City of Italy with the title of a Dutchy to it, called ſo from the river of the ſame name that runs by it. Hinc Parmenſis, e.

Parmenides. A Philoſopher of Elis, Xenophon's ſcholar.

Parmenio, ōnis; m. Curt. A great Favorite of Alexander the Great.

Parmeno, apud Comicos nomen viri, dict. à παρμένω, i. adſum, permaneo.

Parnaſſus, i; m. Poet. priùs dict. Larnaſſus, Steph. quòd Larnax, i. arca Deucalionis illic appuliſſet; alii à Parnaſſo vate dictum volunt, qui primus in Pythiis vaticinatus eſt. A mountain of Phocis in Greece having two tops, (viz. Cyrrha and Niſa) whence called διχάρηνος, Nonn. biceps, Perſ. bivertex, Stat. ſacred to Apollo and the Muſes; or (as Lucan) one top to Bacchus, the other to Apollo.

Parnes, m. Stat. A hill in Attica, fruitful of Vines.

Parnopius ſic dictus Apollo qd. infeſtas agro Athenienſi locuſtas, h. e. πάρνοπας, de regione propulſaverat; Pauſ.

Parnus. A poor man that having loſt his Boat, quarrelled every man he met: Hence the proverb, Diſceptare ob Parni ſcaphulam, Eraſm.

Paropamiſus, vel Paropamiſſus, Plin. Part of the hill Taurus in Aſia, out of which two huge rivers Bactrus and Indus riſe. Pop. Paropamiſadæ.

Paros, i; f. Ovid. ita dict. à Paro Jaſonis filio; vel ab Arcade quodam Paro, Paraſii filio. An Iſland of the Ægæan ſea, one of the Cyclades; famous for a bright ſort of marble. Hinc Parius, a, um; Vir.

Parrhaſia, dict. à Parrhaſo uno filiorum Lycaonis, Steph. That part of Peloponneſus called Arcadia: inde Parrhaſius, a, um; Vir. & Parrhaſis, idis; f. patron. Ovid.

Parrhaſius; Hor. A very skilful Painter of Epheſus, that contended with Zeuxis for maſtery in that Art; and got the better of him; Plin.

Parthenius, Plin. mons Arcadiæ, ſic dict. quòd παρθένοι, i. virgines in ea Veneri frequenter ſacra facere ſolerent. Hinc Parthenios ſaltus, Vir. i. Arcadicos. ℌ Alſo the name of divers rivers; one in Bithynia, now called Parteni or Dolap; another in Arcadia, Liv. Another in the Iſle Samos, it ſelf called thence Parthenia; and a fourth in Scythia Europæa; Ovid.

Parthenope, gr. i. vocem habens virgineam. One of the Mermaids, who drowned her ſelf for anger that ſhe could not allure Ulyſſes nor his companions; alſo the City Naples, Vir. ſo called from this Mermaids being buried there; Plin. Hinc Parthenopæus, a, um; Vir.

Parthenopæus. The ſon of Meleager and Atalanta; he died in the Theban wars; Stat. whom Virgil alſo mentions.

Parthenopolis, Plin. gr. ἡ τῶν παρθένων πόλις, i. virginum civitas; A City of Macedony, built by Geraſtus, the ſon of Mygdon, and named ſo from his daughters; alſo a gallant City of Saxony, upon the river Elbe, called Magdeburg. i. e. A town of Maids.

Parthi; pl. m. Vir. Parthians.

Parthia, æ; f. Claud. à Parthis dict. qui & ipſi à פרש eques, Chald. ut Perſæ & Parthi primitùs iidem fuerint. A country in Aſia, lying between Media, Carmania, and the Hircane ſea; by Merc. it is called Arach, by others Coraſan. inde Parthicus, a, um, Claud.

Parthini; Plin. People of Macedonia.

Parthus, i; m. plur. Parthi; Poet. A Parthian: they fought with bow and Arrows, and that flying: whence refugi Parthi, Luc. They had great veneration for their King; Virg.

Partula, Dea quæ partum gubernat, & puerperiis præeſt: Tert.

Paſagarda, Plin. Paſſagarda, Solin. A royal City once of Perſia, where Cyrus was buried. Al. ſcrib. Paſargadæ, plur. Curt. Πασαργάδαι, i. Περσῶν στρατόπεδον, Steph.

Paſiphae, es; f. Poet. gr. omnibus apparens filia Solis, & uxor Minois regis Cretæ. The Poets feign that ſhe fell in love with a Bull, and Dædalus made a Cow of wood, and put her into it; whereupon ſhe obtaining her deſire, brought forth by him the Monſter Minotaurus, having one part like a man, and the other like a Bull. The occaſion of this fable was, as ſome ſay, that ſhe was in love with a ſervant of her husbands, named Taurus, whoſe company by the help of Dædalus, ſhe enjoyed at her pleaſure; Serv.

Paſiteles, Plin. i. ὁ πᾶσι τέλης, i. in omnibus perfectus. A famous Carver born in Greece, and made a freeman in Rome.

Paſithea, gr. quòd dicitur omnibus dea πᾶσι θεὰ. One of the Graces, the ſame that Aglaia.

Paſitigris, Plin. The river Tigris, where all his ſtreams meet in one.

Paſſer. The name of a place in Mart.

Paſſienus. The name of ſeveral Romans; one in Tac. another in Plin. jun.

Paſtophori, ſic dict. quòd ferant pallium Veneris, cui nomen eſt Paſtos. Iſis her Prieſts in Egypt.

Paſtovia. Padſtow in Cornwall.

Pătăra, dict. à Pataro Apollinis filio, Steph. vel ab alio Pataro Lapeonis filio. A City of Lycia; where Apollo had a Temple and Oracle. Hinc Pataræus, a, um; Ovid.

Patavium, Liv. A City belonging to the Venetians, the country of Titus Livy; built at firſt by Antenor, Vir. Hinc Patavinus, a, um; Mart.

Patellana & Patella, dæ, ex quibus una eſt patefactis, patefaciendis rebus altera præſtituta; Arnob.

Patellarii dii; Lares ita dicti, quòd patent, quæ vaſa erant in ſacificiis uſurpari ſolita, placarentur; Plaut. vel quòd è cibis aliquid in patella in focum deferrent; Schol. Perſ.

Pathiſcus, Plin. qui Tibiſcus, Ptol. A river of Hungary called Teiſſa, that runs into the Danow.

Pathmos, vel Patmos; i. f. An Iſland of the Ægæan ſea, one of the Cyclades, where S. John in his baniſhment wrote his Apocalyps.

Patræ, Cic. A City in Achaia.

Patricius. S. Patrick ſent by Celeſtine into Ireland to convert the people there, in the year of Chriſt 433.

Patricius vicus, ſic dict. quòd ibi Patricii habitaverint, jubente Servio Tullo, ut ſi quid adverſus ipſum molirentur, ex locis ſuperioribus opprimi poſſent.

Patrŏbas. A neighbour of Martials.

Patroclus, gr. i. patris, vel patriæ gloria. A noble Græcian, the ſon of Menætius (whence called Menætiades, as alſo Actorides, Ovid.) brought up with Achilles by Chiron: whereupon he being an intimate friend to Achilles, borrowed his armour, (for Achilles would not go to battel, becauſe of ſome diſtaſte Agamemnon had given him concerning Briſeis) that he might be the more terrible to the Trojans: howbeit he was in the conflict ſlain by Hector; whereupon Achilles to revenge his death, contrary to his former purpoſe, returned to the war, and never ceaſt till he had ſeverely revenged his friends death upon Hector. ℌ Alſo one, who in Nero's time being Conſul, made a walk neer the Capitol with ſome Privies, which therefore Mart. calls Sellas Patroclianas.

Patroviſſa. A City of Tranſylvania, called now Braſſaw, by the Hungarians; and Cronſtat by the inhabitants.

Patuleius, Ovid. ſic dict. Janus, à patendo, eò qd. tempore belli portæ ejus templi pateant, ut è contra Cluſius à Claudendo, quum pace clauderentur.

Paventia, dea dict. quia averteret pavores ab infantibus; Aug.

Pauliacus; Auſon. A village of Guyenne, in France; now called Pouillac.

Paulinus. Biſhop of Nola, who firſt invented Bells, or at leaſt firſt applied them to ſacred uſe.

Paulus; à paulus, i. parvus, ob ſtaturæ parvitatem: Apoſtolus hoc nomen elegit, ut ſe oſtenderet minimum Apoſtolorum; Aug. S. Paul the Apoſtle, the great Doctor of the Gentiles.

Pavor, & Pallor, dii; Liv.

Pauſanias. A Macedon youth, who killed King Philip; Trog. alſo a great Geographer.

Pauſias. A Painter of Sycion; Plin. hinc Pauſiăcus, a, um; Hor.

Pauſilypum, Plin. dict. ab amœnitate, ἀπὸ τῆς παύσεως τῆς λύπης, i. à curæ mœroriſque ceſſatione. A Promontory in Campania, three miles off Naples toward Puzzoli.

Pauſa-

Pausulani; pop. Piceni, Plin.

Pax Augusta, quæ & Colonia Pacensis, Plin. The chief City of Estremadure in Spain, now called Badajox.

Pax Julia; Amm. A City of Portugal, called Beja.

Paxæ; Plin. Two Isles of the Icarian sea, belonging to the Venetians, called still Paxu.

P ante E.

Pechinum. The royal City of China, called Peking.

Pedasus, filius Bucolionis: Item unus ex equis Achillis. It. opp. Cariæ, Plin.

Pedemontana, regio olim Taurinorum; nunc Pedemontium vocatur, tanquam pedem montium dicas. Piemont, A country belonging to the Duke of Savoy.

Pededrus, fl. Pedred or Paret in Somersetshire.

Pedo, onis; m. cui lati pedes. πλατύπους, Gl. id. qui Plancus. The name of a Poet. Mart.

Pēdum; Liv. opp. Latii, non longè à Româ. pop. Pedani, Plin. hinc regio Pedana, Hor.

Pegasides, dict. à fonte, quem Pegasus ictu ungulæ fingitur aperuisse. The Muses.

Pegasium stagnum, Plin. à Pegasi ungulâ in Ioniâ procreatum, unde & Oenone Pegasis dic. patron. Ovid.

Pegăsus, equus alatus, ex Medusæ sanguine procreatus, sic dict. quòd juxta πηγὰς, i. fontes Oceani natus sit, ubi Gorgones habitabant; hic cum in Helicona evolasset, saxum ungulâ feriens fontem aperuit, qui ex eo Hippocrene, i. fons caballinus, Pers. est appellatus. Bellerophon meeting with him got upon his back, and being mounted on high fell down for fear; but the Horse flew up to heaven, and was there made a Constellation; Manil. Hence he is called Bellerophonteus equus, Propert. Hinc Pegăsēus, a, um; Propert. & Pegasēius, a, um; Pers. ◊ Also a Lawyer in Vespasian's time, Governor of the City; Juv. afterward Consul; from whom a decree of the Senate was called Pegasianum.

Pelagius. So called in Greek, whose true name was Morgan, the Author of the Pelagian heresy.

Pelagonia, Liv. quæ & Tripolitis, à tribus urbibus; Str. A country & City of Macedony, pop. Pelagones, Plin.

Pelasgi; pl. m. πελαστροι, à πέλας & ἄγω, quòd propiùs agerent, vel à πέλαργος, vel ab heb. פלג divisit, quòd gens esset dispersa & ab aliis avulsa. Al. qu. πλανήται, quòd more ciconiarum sint vagati. People of Greece, who at first possest a great part of the country, but were afterward reduced to a small pittance. Est & Pelasgus, a, um; Ovid. Regio ipsa Pelasgia.

Pelethronii Lapithæ, Vir. dicti à loco Pelio monte subjecto, quem Θρόνα vocant.

Pelethronium. A hill and town of the Lapithæ in Thessaly.

Peleus, ei & eos; m. à πηλὸς lutum. Son of Æacus and Ægina; and Father of Achilles by the sea-goddess Thetis; who in thence called Pelides, Hor. and his Spear, Pelias hasta, Ovid.

Pĕlias, liæ; filius Neptuni & Tyrûs; He was King of Thessaly, and Uncle to Jason; cut to pieces by his own daughters, upon Medea's promise to restore him to youth; Ovid.

Pĕligni. A people of Italy, about the City Su[illegible], Ovids co[illegible] Et Pelignus, a, um; Mart.

Pēlion, ii; n. Vir. A mountain of Thessaly, neer to Ossa and Olym[illegible] Hinc Peliacus, a, um; Ovid. & [illegible] a, um; ut Pelium nemus, Quint.

Pella. A City of Macedony. hinc Pellæus juvenis, Juv. i. Alexander ibi natus; & Pellæa gula, apud Mart. pro deliciis Macedonicis. The name also of a City in Palestine whither the Christians were warned by a voice to fly before the sacking of Jerusalem.

Pellenæus; Plin. A hill of the Island Chius famous for wine.

Pellene. Plin. A City of Achaia.

Pellina; Liv. A town of Thessaly.

Pellio, onis; m. Plaut. pro quo postea Pollio, nomen familiæ, à pelle, non à pollendo; uti nobis Skinner.

Pellonia; Dea, à pellendis hostibus; Arnob.

Pelopidas. A valiant Captain, and fast friend to Epaminondas.

Pelopœa, Thyestæ filia, Ægysti mater ◊ Also a Tragedy wearing her name. Juv.

Peloponnesus, dict. à Pelope Tantali filio, qu. Pelopis insula. A large peninsula of Greece now called Morea, divided from the rest by a small neck of land. It is 150 miles broad and 175 miles long, and contained in it heretofore no less than eight fair countries, of which Arcadia was inland, the others lay upon the coast.

Pelops, ŏpis; m. Poet. The son of Tantalus; whom his father killed and served up to the Gods at an entertainment: which they discovering, restored the child to life, and supplied his left shoulder, which was missing, with ivory. He married afterward Hippodamia, the daughter of Œnomaus. Hinc Pelopēus, a, um; Propert.

Pĕlōrus, Poet. dict. à Peloro Annibalis gubernatore. A Promontory of Sicily, over against Italy; it is now called Capo di Faro. Dic. & patronymicè, Pelorias, ădis; f. Ovid.

Pelusium, hanc urbem condidit Pelus monitu Deorum post fraternæ cædis lustrationem. A fair City once of Egypt, now but a village called Belbais. Pelusiotæ, pop. Hinc Pelusiacus, a, um, Vir. & Pelusius, a, um; Lucan. Est & Pelusiacum, ostium Nili cæteris orientalius.

Pembrochia. Pembroke, in Wales.

Pendenium, Pendennis in Cornwall.

PENELOPE, es; f. Ovid. sic dict. ab avibus (quæ Penelopes dicuntur) cum antea Arne diceretur, quòd a parentibus exposita ab hoc avium genere fuerit educata. Al. à πήνη tela & λόπη vestis; quòd esset optima textrix. The daughter of Icarius, the wife of Ulysses, a woman of rare chastity: her husband when they were newly married, went to Troy, where he stayed ten years, and ten years more he was wandring out of his way home, in all which time she would by no means violate her faith given in marriage; no not when it was reported that her husband was dead, her Parents could not perswade her to marry: many Nobles came to woo her, and were ready to take her by force, but she craved patience till a web of cloth she had in hand to weave, was finished; and to beguile them she in the night undid that which she did the day; (whence the proverb, Penelo-[illegible] telam texere, To do and undo;) at last her husband Ulysses came home, and slew all those Russians who had troubled his wife and his house.

Pēnēus, i; m. Poet. A famous river in Thessaly, now called Pezin, or Salampria. It rises from mount Pindus, and runs through pleasant fields, which are therefore called Peneïa Tempe; Vir. and because its banks were shaded with Laurels, the Poets feigned that Daphne was here turned into a Bay-tree.

Pennocrucium. Penkridg in Staffordshire, Camd.

Pentapolis, dict. à quinque civitatibus; πέντε n. quinque & πόλις Lat. civitas: A country of Africk, lying open to the sea, so called from its five Cities, which were these; Berenice, Arsinoe, Ptolemais, Cyrene & Apollonia. ◊ Also another in Palestine, by the lake Asphaltites, where the five Cities were destroyed; Oros.

Pentecoste, es; f. πεντηκοστὴ, sc. ἡμέρα, dies quinquagesima à festo Paschali. Pentecost, the fiftieth day after the Passover or Easter-day: the feast called Whitsuntide.

Penthesilea, fœm. Poet. A Queen of the Amazons, who assisted the Trojans and was slain by Achilles. She first brought in the use of the Polax.

Pentheus, ei, vel eos; Ovid. Πενθεὺς i. luctuosus, à πένθος luctus. The son of Echion and Agave, who was torn in pieces by his mother and sisters, because he contemned the Rites and Revelling feasts of Bacchus.

Pĕpărēthus, i; f. Ovid. A small Isle of Macedony in the Ægean sea.

Peræa. A little country of Caria on the Sea-coast: also a town of Æolis. Liv.

Percote, es; f. Val. Fl. A City of Troas. Hinc Percōsius, a, um; Id.

Perdiccas. A Noble man of Macedonia, one of Alexanders companions.

Perdix, icis; m. Ovid. Dædalus his Nephew who invented the saw, He was thrown down headlong by his Uncle from a Turret, and was turned into a Partridg.

Perfica, dea dict. quia præstat plenæ Veneris gaudia, Arnob.

Perga, ue Diana Pergæa dict. A City of Pamphylia, where was a famous and ancient temple of Diana; Cic.

Pergămus, i; f. & plur. Pergama, n. The castle of Troy-town. Also an inland City of Mysia, Galen's country. Hinc Pergameus, a, um; Mart.

Pergus Claud. Pergūsa, Ovid. A lake of Sicily by the City Enna, where Pluto carried away Proserpina by force.

Periander. The son of Cypselus, one of the seven wise men of Greece, and the last King of Corinth.

Pericles, gr. i. inclytus, orator eloquens, Thucydidis adversarius. A gallant worthy Governor of Athens for forty years together; Plut.

Periclymenus; son of Neleus, and brother to Nestor; descended of Neptune, who granted unto him that he should transf-transform himself into what shapes he would; therefore when Hercules made war against his father, he turned himself into an Eagle, and was shot by his adversary with an arrow; Ovid. Met. 12. Others say, he turned himself into a fly, and having stung Hercules, he by Pallas direction, knockt him o'th' head with his club.

Perillus. An excellent Artist, who made a Brazen Bull, with a little wicket on the side of it, and gave it to the Tyrant Phalaris for a present, whereinto (it being glowing hot) men should be put, so that in tormenting of them, by their crying, a noise would issue out like the lowing or bellowing of a Bull. Phalaris, though a Tyrant, was so just, as to order the Inventor for his reward to take the first tryal of his mischievous device. Ovid. Hinc Perilleus, a, um; Id.

Perimēde, es; f. A Witch in Theocr. Hinc Perimedēus, a, um; Propert.

Perimēle, es; f. Ovid. An Island of the Ionian sea, into which the daughter of Hippodamas, a Nymph of that name, was changed.

Perinthus, i; f. Plin. quæ & Heraclea. Once a chief City of Thrace by the Propontis, sixty miles off Stambul. Hinc adj. Perinthius, a, um.

Peripatetici, περιπατητικοὶ, à περιπατέω ambulo, sic dict. quòd Aristoteles deambulans in Lyceo doceret. Cic. Philosophers of Athens that were of Aristotles sect.

Periphas. One of Pyrrhus his companions in the sacking of Troy: Vir.

Peripölis; f. Plin. opp. Brutiorum in Italiâ, patria Praxitelis.

Peristerides, um; f. Plin. Some small Isles of the Ægean sea, anent Smyrna.

Permessus, i; m. Virg. A river of Bœotia, rising out of mount Helicon, and dedicated to the Muses. Hinc Permessis, idis; f. idem; Mart.

Perpenna, A Roman, defeated by Pompey in Spain.

Perrhæbi, pop. Macedoniæ, quorum opp. Perrhæbia, Liv. it. pop. Ætoliæ, Plin. propè montem Pindum, qui hinc Perrhæbus dic. Propert.

Persea, arbor Ægyptia, περσία vel περσέα, vel à Perside, unde advecta; vel à Perseo, qui eò transtulit.

Persephone, es; f. Ovid. lat. Proserpina. The daughter of Jupiter and Ceres.

Persepolis, is; f. Curt. A royal City once of Persia, lying in a pleasant place about a league from the river Araxis. It was razed by Alexander the Great, upon the perswasion of the harlot Thaïs. It is now called Chilminare, i. e. The forty pillars, which remain still in its ruines, goodly pieces of antiquity.

Perses, gr. à fut. περσῶ, à πέρθω, i. perdo, everto. A king of Macedon, overcome by Æmilius, and with his son led captive to Rome, where he dyed in prison. He pretended, he was descended from Achilles; Propert. Also the son of Sol and Persa, and brother of Æta, and father to Hecatus, who was a Tyrant of Taurica.

Perses, Claud. & persa, æ; m. A Persian. ◊ Plur. Persæ, ita dict. quòd essent פרשים, i. equites, Al. à Perseo rege. The Persians, a people of Asia, whose country is called Persia.

PERSEUS, ei; Propert. ĕos; Val. Fl. m. deductum putatur à fut. πέρσω, i. perdo, everto, secundum illud poetæ, τὸν μὲν ἡ πρόσθε μεταλλήσειν Ἀχαιοὶ, ὕστερον αὖτε πέρσειν ἀντιθέοιο ἄνακτος. The son of Jupiter and Danae, the daughter of Acrisius King of the Argives, when he came to age, Mercury gave him a fauchion and wings to wear on his feet; (whence he is called Pennipes, Catul.) and Minerva gave him a brazen shield that was covered with the Goats skin called Ægis; then first mounted upon Pegasus he made a voyage against the Gorgones, which were three sisters, Medusa, Stheno, and Euryale, that had snakes in stead of hair, and one eye among them all; whomsoever they looked upon they turned into stones. He set upon Medusa, when she and her snakes were all asleep, and cut off her head, and placed it in his shield, with which he turned Atlas King of Mauritania into a rock of stone, for denying him entertainment; and many other more he served so; he delivered Andromeda the King of Ethiopia's daughter, from the sea-Monster that was ready to devour her, and married her. At his return into his own country he unawares killed his grandfather Acrisius with a Quoit. Hinc Perseus, a, um; Propert.

Persia, vel Persis; Plin. dict. à Perse, seu Perseo rege. A large country of Asia, once the seat of the Eastern Monarchy, lying betwixt the Caspian sea and the Moguls country. It is ruled by a Sophy: and is called by the inhabitants Farsi and Farsistan. It contains in it many considerable Provinces. The people worshiped the Sun, by the name of Mithras.

Persica malus: quòd ex Perside in Græciam translata esset. Plin.

Persicus sinus. The Persian gulf, into which the river Tigris dischargeth himself.

Persius Flaccus. A Poet born in Hetruria. that wrote six Satyrs, the subject of which are comprised in this verse: Vates, vota, iguavus, princeps, liber, avarus. He lived in Nero's time, and got more credit by that little Book, than others did by larger volumes: Mart.

Pertunda; Dea, quæ præest pertundendo eugio virginali; Arnob.

Pĕrūsia, æ; f. Plin. Perusium, Eutrop. A City of Tuscany, in the midway betwixt Rome and Florence. Hinc Pĕrūsinus, a, um; Lucan.

Peruvia. The South part of America, called Peru. The chief City was formerly Cusco, now Lima, where the Spanish Viceroy keeps his residence.

Pessinus, untis; f. Plin. A City of Galatia, on the borders of Phrygia magna, where Cybele was worshipped, called thence Pessinuntica, Apul.

Pĕtălus, unus ex iis, qui in aulâ Cephei regis Perseo vim inferre conati, ceciderunt; Ovid.

Pĕtĭlĭa, Vir. magnæ Græciæ urbs dicta ἀπὸ τῦ πετάδαι, à volando, quòd ex volatu avium sumpto augurio ibi futuræ urbi locus sit delectus; hod. Policastro dic. pop. Petilini, Liv.

Petŏvio. Colonia & oppidum in Carnis, Tacit.

Pĕtŏsīris. A famous Mathematician of Egypt; Juv.

Petra, (sive Petra deserti) The chief City of Arabia petræa; Plin. Also a City of Macedonia, neer Dyrrachium; Cæs. Another of Sicily. pop. Petrini, Cic. Petrenses, Solin. Hinc Petræa, Sil. idem.

Petreius. A Captain of Pompey's side, whom Cæsar defeated first in Spain, afterward in Africk; Sall.

Petrĭāna. A place neer unto Peteril in Cumberland.

Petrinum. A town of Campania, neer Sinuessa; Hor.

Petroburgum, & Petropolis. Peterborough, a Bishops see.

Petrocorii, Cæs. Petrogori, Plin. People of Guienne in France, whose country is called Le Perigord; the chief City whereof, Petrocorium, in French Perigueux, is a Bishops see, under the Archbishop of Burdeaux.

Petrōnia, fl. Latii in Tiberim defluens. Also the wife of Vitellius; Suet.

Petrōnius, called Arbiter; Tac. Master of Revels to Nero; a writer of impure stuff in pure Latin. ◊ Several others of that name.

Petrus, πέτρος ἀπὸ τῆς πέτρας, à petra nomen accepit, i. à Christo, super quem fundata est Ecclesia.

Pettĭāria. Beverly in Yorkshire.

Pĕtuscum. A part of Rome; Fest.

Peuce, es; f. Claud. An Isle in one of the mouths of Ister. Pop. Peucini, Tac.

Peucĕtĭa dicta Apuliæ pars, ad differentiam alterius, quæ Daunia dicitur; hod. Terra di Bari.

P ante H.

Phăblrānum. The City Bremen in Germany.

Phæāces, um; m. pl. Ovid. & in sing. Phæax, Hor. pro homine guloso. Hinc Phæacius, adj. People once of the Island Corcyra or Corfu, then a great Apple-country.

Phœcasiani dii, Juven. quòd in Græcâ deorum simulacra cum phœcasiis, i. candidis calceis fingerentur.

Phædimus, Gr. φαίδιμος, i. clarus. An excellent runner; Stat.

Phædon. A noble Athenian: also a Philosopher to whom Plato dedicated his Book de immortal. animæ; Gell.

Phædra, Gr. φαίδρα, i. pulchra, clara. The daughter of Minos king of Crete, and Wife of Theseus; she fell in love with her son in law Hippolytus; whose refusal prov'd his ruine, but after his death she hanged her self.

Phædrus, Gr. φαῖδρος, i. clarus. One of Plato's scholars, under whose name Plato published a book of his, intituled Pædrus.

Phæmŏnoe, es; f. Luc. virgo, prima Delphici Apollinis vates.

Phæstum, opp. Cretæ, Plin. Hinc Phæstius, a, um; Ovid. it. opp. Macedoniæ, Liv.

PHAETHON, ontis; m. Ovid. φαέθων, lucidus, dict. ἀπὸ τῦ φάος, à luce, & αἴθω uro. The son of Sol and Clymene: he requested of his father Phœbus the guiding of the Chariot of the Sun for one day; Phœbus granted him his demand, but withal told him the danger that would ensue such an attempt. He careless of any future event, made use of his fathers grant, where first being unable to perform that office, he let the reins go, and had like to have set the world on fire; to prevent which mischief, Jupiter struck him with a thunderbolt, so that he fell into the river Eridanus or Padus, now called Po. His ſiſters were turned into Poplar trees, & wept for him with tears of Amber. He is ſuppoſed by ſome to be Phut, the third ſon of Cham, who gather out of Euſebius that he was an Aſtronomer, who foretold all thoſe great burnings in Italy & Æthiopia, which came to paſs ann. Mund. 2426. and the ſame combuſtion is mentioned by Ariſtotle in his book De mundo; and ſo by Lucian: he is called the ſon of Sol, becauſe by his Aſtronomy he firſt obſerved the courſe of the Sun, whereby to gather ſuch predictions from it. Howſoever it be, the fable doth preſent unto us the picture of an inconſiderate and ambitious Prince, who being touched with an eager deſire of Majeſty, before his time aſcends the Throne, but ſhortly after, letting looſe the reins by his undiſcreet Government, he ſets his ſubjects all in a combuſtion, and indangers his own downfal. Hinc Phaëthontēus, a, um; Claud. & paton. Phaethontis, idis; f. Mart. & Phaethontias, adis; f. Plur. Phaethontiades, Vir. i. ſorores Phaethontis.

Phăēthūſa, æ Gr. φαέθω. i. luceo, ardeo. The daughter of Sol and Neæra: ſhe kept her fathers cattle, whereof when Ulyſſes his companions had ſlain ſome part contrary to the command of Circe, they all periſhed by ſhipwrack. The poets feign that ſhe with her ſiſters, Lampetia and Lampetuſa, for overmuch bewailing the death of their brother Phaeton, were turned into poplar-trees.

Phăgo, ōnis; m. Vopiſc. à φάγω, i. edo. A great eater, who at Aurelianus his table did eat a whole Boar, an hundred Loaves, a Weather, and a Porket, and drank an hogshead of wine, all in one day.

Phalacrina; Suet. vicus Sabinorum, patria Veſpaſiani.

Phălanthus; Hor. A Lacedemonian. When there was War between the Lacedemonians and the Athenians, and they were waſted on both ſides, and the Spartans eſpecially; the Spartans gave way that the Maids ſhould chuſe what men they would to lie with. Now when the Wars were ended, the young men that were born of theſe Maids not knowing their parents, ſeeing they were a ſhame both to their country and themſelves (for they were called Partheniatæ) they choſe Phalanthus their Captain, & went into a town of Calabria, which augmenting they called Tarentum, after the name of its firſt founder, Tharos the ſon of Neptune. Hinc Phalanthēus, a, um; Sil. & Phalanthinus, a, um; Mart.

Phălăra, opp. Theſſaliæ; Liv.

Phălăris, is; m. Juv. A cruel Tyrant of Agrigentum, who was himſelf at laſt by his Citizens put into the brazen Bull, wherewith he had tormented others, and ſo died.

Phălĕrēus. One that had an incurable impoſthume, and deſiring death went into the Camp, and received a wound in the breaſt, whereby he was cured; Plin.

Phălĕrēus, vel Phalereus Demetrius. A Philoſopher, dict. à Phalero portu. Theophraſtus his ſcholar, whom Caſſander king of Macedon made Governor of Athens: after the death of Caſſander; he fled into Egypt, where he ſpent his days in the ſtudy of Philoſophy.

Phallica, Bacchi ſacra, apud Athenienſes, in quibus phallos thyrſis alligatos ſolenniter geſtabant.

Phălĭſci; pop. Hetruriæ, Junonicolæ Ovidio dicti, ob Junonis cultum.

Phăneus mons, Vib. A promontory of the Iſland Chios.

Phăon, ōnis; m. à φάω, i. luceo. A fair youth of Lesbos, to whom Sappho wrote an Epiſtle, Ovid.

Phărāo, ōnis; m. quod idiomate Ægypt. regem ſign. Joſeph. The common name of the Kings of Egypt.

Phărĭsēus, i. ſeparatus, φαρισαῖος, i. ἀφωρισμένος, Suid. ab Heb. פרש pharas, dividere; vel exponere; quia legis divinæ interpretes erant.

Pharmăcūſa, Suet. An Iſle of the Ægean ſea, where Cæſar was taken by Pirates.

Pharnacia. Plin. A City of Cappadocia.

Pharnăces, or Pharnax. Son of Mithridates King of Pontus, whom J. Cæſar defeated ſo quickly, that of him thoſe words were ſpoken; Veni, vidi, vici.

Pharnaces; pl. Plin. People of Egypt, who have two Apples or Sighs in each Eye.

Phăros, dict. à Pharo, id eſt turri, quæ in hac inſula ſita navigantibus nocturno tempore lucem præbet; unde & à φάω vel φαίνω, id eſt, luceo, deductum putant. A little Iſle in the mouth of Nilus, now called Farion or Magrah, Ort. In this Iſle is a watch-tower with a light to guide Ships in the night. Pop. Pharitæ, Hirt. hinc Pharius, a, um; Lucan. i. Ægyptius. ◊ It. inſula Illyrici, hod. Leſina: Plin.

Pharsālĭa, æ; f. Ovid. regio Theſſaliæ, in quâ Pharſalus urbs, quæ Emathis Pharsālos, Lucan. Hinc Pharsālius, a, um; Catul. The field where Cæſar and Pompey, and after that Auguſtus, Brutus and Caſſius fought their battles.

Phāsēlis, is; f. Lucan. A City of Pamphylia, famous for Pirates. Pop. Phaſelitæ, Cic.

Phāſis, is; Vir. & idis; m. Catul. φάσις. A large river in Colchis, now called Faſſo, that runs into the Euxin ſea; with a City of the ſame name. Hinc Phaſiacus, a, um; Ovid. it. Phaſis, idis; f. patron. Id. i. Medea.

Phĕgēus. The father of Alphesiboea: inde Phegeius, a, um; Ovid.

Phēmŏnŏe, Sibylla. The firſt that gave out Oracles, and found out heroick verſe.

Phĕnĕus; Ovid. A town and lake of Arcadia, the water whereof being drunk in the night, hurteth; but in the day time it is wholſome. Pop. Pheneatæ; Cic.

Phĕræ, f. pl. Cic. A City of Theſſaly. inde Pheræus, a, um; Ovid. A Tyrant of that country, by name Alexander, Plut. who was killed by his wife.

Phĕrecrătes, Athenienſis Poeta Comicus; item alter à Deucalione ortus; Cic.

Phĕrĕcydes, Syrus, ὁ φέρων κόδον, i. gloriam portans. A Philoſopher, who was Maſter to Pythagoras, tempore Servii Tulli: his death was by a Phthiriaſis, being eaten up with lice; Ariſt.

Pheugarum; Ptol. A City of lower Saxony, called Halberſtadt.

Phidĭas, æ; m. Cic. A famous Carver in ivory; much commended for the Statue of Minerva which he made at Athens: inde Phidiacus, a, um; Ovid.

Phidile, es; f. Hor. A womans name.

Phila. An Iſle in the French ſea, Plin. alſo a town of Macedonia; Liv.

Philădelphĭa, φιλαδελφία, à Ptolemæo Philadelpho dict. A City of Egypt, another of Lydia; a third of Cœleſyria, called Rabbah. Hier.

Philădelphus, φιλάδελφος, à fraterno amore dict. alio nomine voc. Ptolemæus. A king of Egypt, who founded a Library at Alexandria, of 50000 Books, and procured the old Teſtament to be tranſlated out of Hebrew into Greek, by the 72 Interpreters.

Philæ, opp. Ægypti in Thebaide juxta Nili cataractem: Eſt etiam Ægypti inſula; Lucan.

Philæni. Two brothers of Carthage. When there was a contention between the Carthaginians and their neighbours the Cyrenians about their bounds, it was agreed that two ſhould be ſent out of either city, & they ſhould ſet forth to run all at one time, and where they met ſhould be the limits: theſe brethren ran a great way into the Cyrenians land; the Cyrenians came out and threatned them, that if they would not return a good ſpace back, that the limits might be ſet farther, they would bury them alive in the place: they choſe rather to be buried alive than that their country ſhould be wronged, and ſo they were; and the Citizens of Carthage in honour of them, built two Altars over their Tombs; whence that place was called Aræ Philænorum, now Licudia, or Porto Sabia, in the kingdom of Tunis; Solin. & Saluſt.

Philænis. The name of an Harlot in Mart.

Philæum. Groeningen in the Low-countries.

Philēmon; poeta Comicus; item ruſticus qui Jovem hoſpitio excepit, Ovid.

Philēne, es; f. Stat. opp. Atticæ.

Philētas, gr. i. amator. A love-Poet of the Iſle Cos, in the time of Alexander the Great: he is ſaid to have carried lead with him always when he went abroad; for being light of body, the wind would have blown him away elſe. Hinc Philetæus, a, um; Propert.

Philippi m. pl. Ovid. ſic dict. à Philippo rege Macedonum. A City in Macedony on the borders of Thrace. Pop. Philippenſes. Hic campi Philippici, ubi inter Cæſarem & Pompeium pugnatum.

Philippoburgum. Philipsbourg, a ſtrong town upon the Rhine in the lower Palatinate, formerly called Udenheim.

Philippŏpŏlis ἡ φιλίππου πόλις, dict. à Philippo Amyntæ filio conditore. A City of Thrace, by the river Hebrus, called alſo Trimontium, & Poneropolis; Plin. ◊ Alſo a ſtrong town in the low-countries called Philippeville. ◊ Alſo a City of Swedeland, called Philipſtadt.

Philippus, i. bellicoſus, vel amator equorum. A king of Macedony ſon of Amyntas, and father of Alexander the Great. Hinc Philippicus, a, um; it. Philippēus, ſt. nummus, Plaut. qui & Philippus, Hor. A piece of gold-coin. ◊ Alſo many others of that name.

Philiſtēi, & Philiſtīni; inde regio Palæſtina.

Philiſtīnæ foſſæ. Plin. The chief branch of

of the river Po, now called Po grande.

Philiſtion, medicus, Gell. item poeta Comicus, Mart.

Philo Judæus. A Philoſopher of the ſect of the Academicks, born at Alexandria of Jewiſh parents, ſo eloquent in the Greek tongue, that the Grecians uſed Proverbially to ſay of him, Aut Plato Philonizat, aut Philo Platonizat: He lived in the time of Caligula. Alſo the name of many worthy men: one the father of Mercurius Triſmegiſtus. ◊ Another called Byblius.

Philoctētes, Gr. i. amator poſſeſſionis. The ſon of Pæas, (whence called by Ovid Pæantius) and companion to Hercules: who at his death adjured him, that he ſhould tell no man where he was buried; in recompence whereof, he gave him his quiver and arrows poyſoned with the blood of Hydra. The Grecians were told they ſhould never win Troy without Hercules his arrows; whereupon they came to Philoctetes, and took him with them to Troy, urging him to tell them firſt of his death, afterwards of his ſepulchre; wherefore that he might not break his oath made to Hercules, he would not in expreſs words name the place of his burial, but went to the place & ſtamped upon it with his foot, and ſo ſhewed it; which foot was afterward ſore wounded by the fall of one of thoſe poiſoned arrows upon it, that by reaſon of the ſtink thereof, they left him in the Iſle Lemnos. Some ſay he was ſtung by a Serpent: Ovid. At laſt Machaon cured him; Propert. He was the founder of Petilia in Italy. Vir.

Philodēmus. An Epicurean Philoſopher and Poet, mentioned by Cic. and Hor.

PHILOMELA; Poet. The daughter of Pandion King of Athens, whom Tereus King of Thrace (that had married her ſiſter Progne) raviſhed, and cut out her tongue that ſhe might not diſcloſe it,and caſt her into priſon;but ſhe wrought the whole ſtory in embroidery, and ſent it to her ſiſter: now at the feaſt of Bacchus they were all to meet together; Progne therefore took her ſiſter out of priſon, and made her kill her ſon Itys, and dreſs him, & ſerve him up at table before Tereus, who in rage would ſtrait-way have killed them; but running after his wife, ſhe was changed into a Swallow, he into a Lapwing, Itys into a Pheaſant, and Philomel her ſelf into a Nightingale, who with warbling notes ſtill bewails the diſaſters of her family.

Philomelium, urbs Phrygiæ magnæ. pop. Philomelienſes, Cic.

Philomelus. A Phocian Captain, Juſtin. Alſo a rich Fidler, Mart.

Philon; A famous Phyſician who called his medicines Deorum manus.

Philonides, Melitenſis. A blockhead to a proverb, Indoctior Philonide.

Philoſtratus, Gr. amator exercitus. Three famous writers, father, ſon and grandchild. The ſon was Secretary to Severus the Emperours Lady.

Philōtis. A Roman maid, who gave the occaſion of an utter deſeat to the Fidenates, and had the honour of ſetting up a Holy day called Nonæ Caprotinæ.

Philoxenus, φιλόξενος, id eſt, hoſpitum amator. A belly-god Philoſopher, that wiſhed his neck as long as a Cranes, for the pleaſure he took in eating; Ariſt. Alſo one an excellent Painter, Plin.

Philyra. The daughter of Oceanus, of whom Saturn in the ſhape of an horſe, begat Chiron the Centaur, who is thence called Philyreius, and with a double l, Phillyrides by the Poets.

Philyre, es; f. A City of Germany, called Lindaw.

Phineus. A king of Arcadia, for putting out his Childrens eyes was himſelf ſtruck blind, and attended by the Harpies, who eating up all his victuals had almoſt famiſhed him, till his wives brothers Calais and Zethes came and drove them away; Val. Fl. Hinc Phineïus, a, um; Vir.

Phiſcon mons. Monte Fiaſcone, a City of Tuſcany.

Phiſon. One of the four rivers of Paradiſe; Some take it for Nilus; others for Ganges; Hier. others for Phaſis; B.

Phlegethon, φλεγέθων, id eſt, ardens. A burning river of Hell; Vir. Hinc Phlegethontæus, a, um; Claud. & Phlegethontis, idis; f. Ovid.

Phlegon, Græc. id eſt, ardens. One of the four Chariot-horſes of the Sun; Ovid.

Phlegra, à φλέγω, id eſt uro; tota enim iſta regio ſulphure ſcatet. A City of Macedony in which the Giants fought with the gods. inde Phlegræi campi; Poet.

Phlegyæ. People of Theſſaly drowned by Neptune in a deluge, for their wickedneſs; Virg.

Phlegyas, Martis filius, rex Lapitharum. Father of Ixion and Coronis, whom finding to be in child by Apollo, he fired his Temple at Delphos: whereupon Apollo in anger ſlew him, and ſent him to hell, there to ſit with a great ſtone over his head ever ready to fall: Stat.

Phlius, untis; f. A City of Peloponneſus in Sicyonia.

Phobetor, ōris; m. Ovid. φοβήτωρ Somni filius, Icelos ſuperis dict.

Phocæ. Little Iſles by Crete; Plin.

Phocæa, dict. à Phocarum multitudine, quæ urbem condentibus circa hoc littus apparuerunt; incolæ Phocæi & Phocenſes; hinc Phocaicus, a, um; adj. à Sophiano vocatur Foglia vechia. A city of Ionia, and another in Caria.

Phocion. A famous Athenian in King Philips time; yet very poor; Plut.

Phōcis, idis; f. Lucan. regio Achaiæ inter Bœotiam & Ætoliam, in quâ Delphi urbs & Parnaſſi mons cum Helicone. Hinc Phocæm & Phocanus, a, um; Ovid.

Phocus, Æaci filius; hinc Æacides dictus, Ovid

Phocylides. A Greek Poet about Theognis time.

Phœbas. Phœbus his Prieſteſs who delivered anſwers at the Oracles; Sidon.

Phœbe, es: f. Diana vel Luna, à Phœbo fratre ita dict. The Moon.

Phæbigena, epith. Æſculapii; Vir.

Phœbus, ἀπὸ τῦ φοιτᾶν βία, quòd vi feratur, Macrob. al. à φοιβᾶν purgare; al. φοῖβος qu. φαῦος, vel φαόεις, ος. lux vitæ. Verùm ſimpl. φοῖβος eſt λαμπρὸς, καθαρὸς, Heſych. The Sun or Apollo ſo called: inde Phœbæus, a, um.

Phœmos, lacus Arcadiæ; Ovid. ubi al. lēg. Pheneus.

Phœnices, dict. à Phœnice Neptuni & Libyes filio. People of Syria, famous for the invention of Letters, Lucan. and of Navigation, Plin.

Phœnicia, vel Phœnice; Aſia regio, ſic dict, ab ejus gentis conditore Phœnice. One of the three Provinces of Syria: In it are theſe four famous Cities, Ptolemais, Sarepta, Sidon, and Tyrus.

Phœnicuſa; Plin. An Iſle of Sicily, one of thoſe now called Vulcaniæ.

Phœniſſa. A woman of Phœnicia.

Phœnix, icis; m. The ſon of Agenor; brother to Cadmus, of whom the country Phœnicia took its name. ◊ Alſo the ſon of Amyntor, and tutor to Achilles, Ovid. Alſo a river of Theſſaly: Plin. ◊ It. nomen gentis, Lucan. A Phœnician. Phœniſſa, fœm.

Pholegandros. An Iſle of the Ægean Sea, one of the Sporades; Plin.

Pholoe, es; f. Ovid. A hill in Arcadia; alſo a hill of Theſſaly. Hinc Pholoeticus, a, um; Sidon. ◊ Alſo the name of a maid, a Spinſter, in Virg.

Phōlus, i; m. Poet. One of the Centaurs.

Phorbas, antis; m. Vir. The eldeſt ſon of King Priam; or (as Serv.) the father of Ilioneus the Trojan. ◊ Alſo one of the Phlegyæ, named by Ovid.

Phorcus, ci, vel Phoreys, & Phorcyn, ynos. Elder to Neptune, King of Corſica and Sardinia, and father to the Gorgons: hinc Phorcis & Phorcynis Meduſa dicitur.

Phormio, dict. à φορμὸς, ſiſcella, corbis, phormus, quo ſervi ſolîti cibos domum ferre. A ſervant in Terence. ◊ Alſo a Philoſopher who diſputed of military diſcipline and the duty of a General before Hannibal, who being asked by the other auditors, who were very well pleaſed, what he thought of him; quoth he, I have heard many doting old men, but a verier dotard than he, heard I never; for he ſpake of what he had no experience.

Phoroneus. Son of Inachus, and King of the Argives: inde Phoronis; f. Iſis ſo called.

Phoſphorus, φωσφόρος, ὅτι τὰς ἕῳας ἐφέρει. Lucifer. The morning-ſtar.

Phraātes. King of the Parthians, baniſhed by his people, and reſtored by Auguſtus. Hor.

Phricion, mons & opp. Locridis, incolæ Phriciani & Phricienſes; Liv.

Phrygia, i. ſicca vel ardens; dict. à Phrygibus populis à Thracia oriundis; vel à Phrygio amne, qui eam à Caria dividit; vel à Phrygia Cecropis filia. A Country in Aſia the leſs; it is divided into the greater, called Pacatiana, and now Germian; and the leſſer, called Troas, being of old the kingdom of the Trojans; and Helleſpontiaca, now Sacrum. Pop. Phryges. Of whom the proverb, Serò ſapiunt Phryges.

Phryne, es; f. A beautiful harlot of Athens: Quint.

Phryx, gis; m. Ovid. nomen gentis. A Phrygian, a Trojan. Hinc Phrygius, a, um; Vir.

Phryxus. The ſon of Athamas and Nephele, (νεφέλη nubes, unde & Nubigena dic. Col.) who with his ſiſter Helle, flying from their ſtepmother, and riding upon the Ram that had the golden fleece, ſought to goover the Straits. Helle was drowned, but he came ſafe to Colchos, and ſacrificed the Ram to Mars, and the fleece he hung up in the Temple, where it continued till Jaſon fetched it back again into Greece. Poet. Al. ſcrib. Phrixus.

Phthia, urbs Theſſaliæ, patria Achillis, Enn. à qua Phthius & Phthiota.

Phthirophagi, Mel. Gr. i. pediculivori, Certain people by the Euxine Sea.

Phycus, untis; Luc. A Promontory of Cyrenaica againſt Tænarus.

Phylace, es; f. Luc. φυλακὴ, i. cuſtodia. à Phylaco Deionis filio condita. A town of Theſſaly ſo called. Here Proteſilaus reigned, called thence Phylacides.

PHYLLIS, idis; f. Ovid. φυλλὶς à φύλλον folium. Daughter of Lycurgus, King of Thrace, who entertained Demophoon as he came from Troy, and was contracted unto him: he was to go home to ſet things in order, and ſtaying long, ſhe thinking her ſelf ſlighted, and being impatient of delay, hanged her ſelf; and was turned into an Almond-tree, but bare no leaves: after Demophoon returned, and ſeeing the miſhap, embraced the body of the tree, then preſently there ſprung forth leaves thereof, called from her name, φύλλα, whereas before they were called πτελέαι. Alſo a country-girl in Virg.

Phyllos, i; f. Stat. A country of Arcadia, that abounded with cattle.

P ante I.

Pialia; Liv. A town of Theſſaly.

Picardia. Picardy in France, the chief town whereof is Amiens.

Picentes, um; m. pl. Liv. The people of Picenum. Leg. & in ſing. Picens, Prud. Dicuntur & Picentini, & Piceni, Plin. Eſt & Picenus, a, um; Sil.

Picentia, æ; f. Sil. The chief City of the Picentes.

Picenum. A country in Italy, now called la Marca d' Ancona, inde pop. Piceni & Picentes, à Pici Martii nomine. ◊ Picenum à pica dict. quæ vexillo Sabinorum, cùm Aſculum proficiſcerentur, inſedit: Feſt.

Pictavi, Amm. Pictones, Cæſ. People of France, whoſe chief City is Pictavium, now called Poictiers. Eſt & Pictavus, a, um; Fortun.

Picti, in ſing. Pictus, Claud. People in the South of Scotland; they came from Scythia, and were uſed to paint their bodies; Bed. hinc Picticus murus. The Picts Wall, built by Severus the Emperour, which parted England from Scotland.

Picus, in avem ſui nominis mutari fingitur, quòd primus hâc ave uſus eſt in auſpiciis; Feſt. King of the Latines, ſon of Saturn, and Father of Faunus. Circe for being ſlighted by him ſtruck him with her wand, and changed him into a bird of that name; Ovid.

Pieria, dict. à nemore cui nomen eſt Pieris; hinc Muſæ Pierides dictæ; quòd in Pieria ex Jove & Mnemoſyne ſint natæ; alii à Pieri filiabus quas cantu vicerunt, dictas malunt. A Region and City of Macedony, now called by Niger, Veria; alſo à hill in Thrace where Orpheus lived.

Pierides. The Muſes, vid. Pieria.

Pierus; Feſt. A mountain in Theſſaly, ſacred to the Muſes. ◊ Alſo the father of the nine daughters, that contended in ſinging with the Muſes and being worſted were turned into Pies; hence the Muſes called Pierides, ſay ſome.

Pigmalion: vid. Pygmalion.

Pilumnus. The ſon of Jupiter, and King of that part of Apulia, which was afterward called Daunia. He entertained Danae being caſt upon that ſhore with her ſon Perſeus, and married her; by whom he had Danaus, the father of Tarnus. ◊ The God of Bakers for inventing the Peſtle (i. pilum) which they pounded their corn with. Alſo the God of children, quorum mala pellit; Serv.

Pimpla. A hill in Macedonia, ſacred to the Muſes; qui & Pimplæus, Catul. unde & Muſæ Pimpleides.

Pinaria. An Iſle of the Ionian Sea.

Pinarius, dict. ἀπὸ τῆς πείνης, id eſt, à fame. Pinarius, & Potitius, two old men that were Hercules his Prieſts; he appointed them ſix hours of morning and evening ſacrifice: but upon a time Pinarius came too late, when the intrails were eaten: whereupon Hercules ordained that the Potitians ſhould ſacrifice and eat the feaſt alone, and the Pinarians ſhould only wait, and faſt. Serv. Et domus Herculei cuſtos Pinaria ſacri, Vir.

Pinarus. A river of Cilicia.

Pindarus. A Theban Poet, chief of thoſe called Lyricks; he was ſo highly eſteemed by Alexander, that at the overthrow of Thebes, he cauſed his houſe and family only to be preſerved. For the height and weight of his ſtyle he wrote inimitably. Hor.

Pindeniſſus. A town of Cilicia that Cicero beſieged and took.

Pindus, mons Epiri, Apollini Muſiſque ſacer: Ovid.

Pinetum. A place near Ravenna, ſo called of the Pine-trees there growing.

Pinna & Pinnæ, Sil. A City of the Veſtini in Italy. Pop. Pinnenſes, Val. Max.

Pintia Vaccæorum. A City of Spain, called Valladolid, a Biſhops ſea and an Univerſity.

Pion; Plin. A mountain in Ionia, where Biſhop Timothy was buried.

Pioniæ. A town of Æolis; The people Pionitæ; Plin.

Piræus, Cic. ſc. portus Piræus, unde in Acc. Piræea, Stat. à gr. πειραιεύς. The port or harbour of Athens, joyned to the City with a long wall; it is now called Porto di Setine. Dic. & Pyræus, a, um; Ovid.

Pirene, es; f. Stat. fons ad radicem Acrocorinthi Muſis ſacer.

PIRITHOUS, i; m. Poet. Ixions ſon, ſworn brother to Theſeus, who helped him to beat the Centaurs that would have ſtolen Hippodamia from him. After her death they both vowed that they would marry no Wives but Jupiters daughters: Theſeus having got Helena away, there was none left for the other but Proſerpina, and ſhe was with Pluto in Hell, whither they went for her: but at firſt encounter Cerberus flew Pirithous, and took Theſeus priſoner, and kept him in chains till Hercules came and freed him. The friendſhip of theſe two became a proverb.

Piſa, æ; f. Vir. dict. à Piſo Apharei filio; vel à Piſa filia Endymionis; vel quòd ſit locus μουσῶδες, i. humectoſus. A City of Peloponneſus. inde Piſæus, a, um; Ovid.

Piſæ, arum; f. Lucan. A City and Univerſity of Tuſcany.

Piſander. One of Penelope's wooers, in Ulyſſes abſence. Ovid.

Piſaurus. A river in Italy, by which is the City Piſaurum; Catul. Servius dictum ſcribit, quòd illic aurum penſatum ſit; nam cum Camillus Gallos interemiſſet, aurumque quod Galli à Romanis acceperant pro Capitolio non everſo, recepiſſet, & ſigna civitati appendiſſet, civitati nomen dedit; hod. Peſaro dic.

Piſeus. A king of the Thuſcans, who firſt invented the brazen trumpet; Plin.

Piſidia, Gr. i, à pice denigrata. A country of Aſia the leſs in Pamphylia. Pop. Piſidæ, Claud.

Piſiſtratus. A Noble Athenian, ſo eloquent, that the people charmed with his language, of their own accord quitted their liberty and ſubmitted to his government. He founded the firſt Library in Athens.

Piſo, à pinſendo dict. Plin. al. a Piſis, ut Fabius à fabis. The name of a noble family in Rome. ◊ Piſonianum vitium, Hier. when a man loves to hear himſelf prate.

Piſtor, Jupiter ſic dict. Ovid. eò quòd Romanos (quo tempore à Gallis obſeſſi propter famem de deditione cogitabant) in ſomnis admoniſſet, ut ex omni frumento quod habebant, panes facerent, eoſque in hoſtium caſtra jacerent; ita enim futurum, ut deſperatâ victoriâ, Galli animis conciderent, atque ipſi ſuperatis hoſtibus obſidione liberarentur.

Piſtōrium, Plin. al. Piſtoria, hod. Piſtoia. A City of Tuſcany.

Piſtris. al. leg. Priſtis. ἀπὸ τῦ πρίζειν τὰ κύματα, i. à ſecandis fluctibus. A ſhip ſo named by Virg.

Piſtāne, es; f. Ovid. A City of Myſia in Aſia the leſs, upon the ſea ſide, ſixty miles off Æolis. Alſo a town of Laconia.

Piſthēcūſa, Plin. vel Pithecuſæ, Ovid, ſic dict. à copia ſimiarum, quas gr. πίθηκοι vocant; vel nomen habet ἀπὸ τῶν πίθων i. e. doliis, quæ illic fiunt: Vide Inarime. An Iſle of the Tyrrhene ſea in Campania.

Pitho, ūs; f. πείθω, lat. Suada, Enn. Snadela, Hor. The Goddeſs of Eloquence.

Pithŏlĕon, Rhodius Poeta, Horat.

Pittăcus. A Philoſopher of Mitylene, one of the ſeven Sages of Greece.

Pitthea, opp. Peloponneſi, apud Trœzena. Hinc Pittheis, idos; f. Ovid. i. Æthra, Theſei mater; quippe filia erat Pittheï, qui Trœzene regnavit.

Pityuſæ; à pinorum ubertate ſic dict. Two Iſlands in the Iberian ſea belonging to Majorca, called Ebuſus and Ophiuſa, being in compaſs forty two miles.

P ante L.

Plăcentĭa; Sil. A City of Italy, in the Dutchy of Parma. pop. Placentini, Liv.

Plăcilla, Theodoſii M. Imp. uxor. A moſt humble pious charitable Lady.

Plānārĭa, dict. à ſpecie, quòd æqualis freto exiſtat, ideóque navigiis fallax. An Iſle thirty miles diſtant from Corſu, under the great Duke of Tuſcany; hodiè Planara.

Platææ,

Platæa, f. pl. Stat. dict. ἀπὸ τῆς πλατύτητος, id est, à latitudine remorum. A City of Bœotia, where Paufanias routed Xerxes his vaſt Army.

Plătămiſtus; Plin. A Promontory of Laconica, with an Iſle and town of the name.

Plătĕa, inſula in mari Ægæo, una Sporadum; Plin.

PLATO, ōnis; m. πλάτων, à πλατὺς latus, ita dict. ab humerorum latitudine; cùm antè Ariſtocles diceretur. An excellent Philoſopher, called Divine Plato, born at Athens, ſon to Ariſton and Parectonia, and Scholar to Socrates, the chief of the ſect of the Academicks. He was one who travelled as well as ſtudied for knowledge. When he was a little child and lay aſleep in his Cradle, a Swarm of Bees came and hung upon his lips, as an omen of his future eloquence. Hinc Plătonicus, a, um.

PLAUTUS, qui priùs Plotus, à pedum planitie, quos Umbri Plotos vocant. A Comical Poet born in Umbria, who having ſpent all on players apparel, was fain for his living to ſerve a Baker in turning a hand-mill: At leaſure hours he made his plays. Varro is ſo taken with him, that he ſays if the Muſes were to ſpeak Latin, they would make uſe of his language: and Tully as much commends his way of jeſt and drollery; though Horace will not allow it. inde Plautinus, a, um.

Plĕcŭſa, Mart. πλέκουσα, id eſt comam nectens. A waiting-maid.

Plēiădes, um; f. vel 3. vel 4. ſyllabis, it. Pliades, Stat. eſt & in ſing. Pleias, Luc. Lat. Vergiliæ, dict. ἀπὸ τῦ πλεῖν, id eſt, à navigando, quòd primum navigationis tempus ortu ſuo oſtenderent: al. qu. πλειόνας, id eſt, plures, ſunt enim ſeptem numero; al. à Pleione matre. The ſeven ſtars in the head of Taurus; once ſeven ſiſters, the daughters of Atlas, whence called Atlantides; Vir. they nurſed up Bacchus, and he afterward tranſlated them into heaven: one of them is ſeldom ſeen, becauſe (as the Poets feign) all her ſiſters married gods, and ſhe only a mortal and obſcure man Siſyphus. Their names are compriſed in theſe two Verſes: Alcione, Meropéque, Electráque, diva Celæno, Taygete, Sterope, præclaro lumine Maia.

Pleiŏne. Daughter to Oceanus and Tethys, and wife to Atlas: Ovid.

Plemmyrium; Vir. A Promontory of Sicily not far from Syracuſe.

Pleuron, f. Ovid. A City of Ætolia.

Plĭnius Secundus, Veronenſis. An Officer under Veſpaſian, yet a very hard ſtudent, witneſs his Books of Natural Hiſtory. His curioſity loſt him his life by coming too neer to mount Veſuvius, being deſirous to find out the cauſe of its burning. See his life as it is ſet down by his ſiſters ſon Plinius Novocomenſis, whom we call the younger Pliny, in his Epiſtles. He alſo was a Great man in Trajans time, and a fine Orator, as his very Panegyrick upon that Emperor will ſhew.

Plōtæ, Plin. Gr. i. navigabiles. Two Iſles of the Ionian ſea, called Strophades by Virg.

Plōtĭna. A vertuous Lady, Trajans wife.

Plōtĭnus, Philoſophus Platonicus.

Plōtius, Gallus, patriâ Lugdunenſis. Tullies Maſter for Latin, when he was a child. ◊ Plotius Tucca, mentioned by Horace, a Poet.

Plūtarchus, Chæronenſis. A moſt learned and prudent man, who lived in the time of Trajan, and was ſent by him as Conſul into Illyricum with ſuch abſolute power, that without him nothing was to be done. He hath left a teſtimony of his learning in thoſe admirable books of his which he wrote of morality, and of the lives of the moſt famous men Greeks and Romans.

Plūto, ōnis; m. πλούτων, id eſt, dives, unde & Dis dic. quòd recidant omnia in terras, & oriantur è terris; Cic. vel quòd ab inferis, i. e. terræ viſceribus effodiantur opes. Son to Saturn and Ops, brother to Jupiter and Neptune; Hell fell to his ſhare; as being the youngeſt brother.

Plūtus, i; m. πλοῦτος, i. divitiæ. The god of riches: when he cometh toward one he is feigned to be lame, but as he goeth from one he is winged, becauſe riches come ſlowly, but go away apace: he is alſo pictured blind, becauſe commonly he cometh to thoſe that are moſt unworthy.

P ante O.

Podălia; Plin. A City of Lycia.

Pŏdălirius. A skilful Chirurgion, ſon of Æſculapius, who with his brother Machaon went from Crete, to the Trojan War. ◊ Another in Virg.

Podolia. A large Province of Poland, part of Lithuania.

Pœan. The father of Philoctetes, qui ab eo Pœantius & Pœantides appell.

Pœcile, dict. à varietate picturæ, nam ποικίλον varium ſignific. A porch in Athens, the ſchool of the Stoicks; all finely painted, Plin.

Pœmĕnis, dict. quòd in ſervandis gregibus paſtoris quodammodo officio fungeretur; à ποιμὴν paſtor. One of Actæons hounds; Ovid.

Pœna & Beneficium pro diis habiti, apud Æthiopes, illa malorum, hic bonorum largitor; Alex. ab Alex.

Pœni. People of Africa, eſpecially thoſe about Carthage; Vir. hinc Punicus, a, um; it. Puniceus, a, um, Ovid. ◊ Malum Punicum, A Pomgranate. Eſt & Pœnus, a, um; it. Pœnicanus, a, um; Cic. i. Carthaginenſis.

Pœninæ Alpes Tacito: Livius Pœninum montem appellat.

Pœnus, qu. Phœnus, à gr. φοίνιξ, eò quòd à Phœnicibus originem traxerint Pœni.

Pœŏnes, um; m. Stat. pop. Macedoniæ; à quibus ipſa regio Pœonia, à Pæone Endymionis filio dict.

Pola, quæ & Julia pietas, Plin. A city of Iſtria, under the Venetians.

Pōlĕmon, philoſophus Athen. Who uſing to be riotous and oft drunk, when he heard Xenocrates (whom he after ſucceeded in his ſchool) diſcourſe of temperance, he was changed to be a ſober man. Hor.

Pōlentĭa, urbs Liguriæ; Claud. hinc Polentinus, a, um Stat. Alſo a town of Majorca; Mela. alſo a village twenty-four miles off Ravenna, toward the bottom of the Apennine, Suet.

Pōlites. Priam's ſon by Hecuba; Vir.

Polla. Lucan's wife; Stat.

Pollentia, dea potentiæ, à Romanis culta. ◊ Alſo a town neer the Alps, famous for black wool, Mart.

Pollĭo, familiæ nomen; ant. Pellio, Plaut. non à pollendo, ſed à pelle: ut fit id. quòd nobis Skinner.

Pollux ūcis; m. πολυδεύκης. The ſon of Jupiter and Leda; and brother to Caſtor, who make betwixt them the conſtellation of the Twins.

Polōnĭa, à planitie terræ dicta, quam vernaculè pole vocant. The kingdom of Poland, which contains in it the grea. Dukedom of Lithuania. The chief City is Cracow, though Warſaw be a Royal city alſo. It has thirty-four Palatinates in it.

Pōlygĕgos, à Caprarum multitudine dict. Plin. One of the Iſles called Sporades.

Pōlybius, πολύβιος, i. longævus. A hiſtorian of Arcadia, who wrote the Roman hiſtory in forty books; he was Tutor to Scipio Africanus.

Polybus. One of Penelope's Suitors.

Polycarpus. An ancient Martyr, and Biſhop of Smyrna.

Pōlyclētus, πολύκλητος, i. multis vocatus. An excellent worker in braſs, Quint. Inde Polycletæus, a, um; Stat.

POLYCRATES, πολυκράτης, i. multis imperans. A tyrant of Samos; he lived ſo proſperouſly, that he never had any misfortune; wherefore (that it might be ſaid he had once a miſchance) he caſt a diamond ring into the ſea; which on the morrow his Cook having bought the ſame fiſh that had ſwallowed it, found, and gave it him again. Wherefore Amaſis king of Egypt ſuſpecting ſome notable miſchance always to attend upon ſuch great Fortunes, would no longer be at league with him; and not long after his miſerable death betrayed Fortunes inconſtancy; for he was taken by Oròntes a Peer of Perſia, and hanged; to ſhew, that none can be truly ſtyled happy till their dying day.

Polydamas, antis; m. Perſ. Gr. multos domans. A noble Trojan, Antenor his ſon.

Pōlydectes, πολυδέκτης, id eſt, hoſpitalis. King of the Iſle Seriphos, who kept Perſeus the ſon of Jupiter and Danae, whom he ſent to overcome the Gorgons; which done, Perſeus at his return with Meduſaes head turn'd him into a flint-ſtone. Ovid.

Pōlydōrus, dict. à πολὺς, & δῶρον. Priamus his ſon, whom for fear of the Trojan War he ſent in truſt to Polymneſtor King of Thrace, with a great ſum of money; but after Troy was deſtroyed, Polymneſtor for the love of his money kiled him, and Hecuba, in revenge, with her nails ſcratched out Polymneſtors eyes.

Pōlygnōtus, Gr. valdè notus. An ancient Painter, Quint.

Polyhymnia, æ; f. Hor. ex πολὺς & ὕμνος. One of the nine Muſes.

Pōlyīdus, Gr. i. multiſcius. An Engineer mentioned by Vitr.

Pōlymēdĭa, vicus Troadis; Plin.

Pōlymneſtor, Gr. i. valdè memor. A tyrant of Thrace: v. Polydorus.

Pōlynīces, i. longè ſuperans. Son to Œdipus, and brother of Eteocles: their father baniſhing himſelf, leſt his kingdom of Thebes to them, that they ſhould reign, the one one year, and the other another, by turns; Stat. V. Eteocles.

Pōly-

Pŏlyphēmus, Cyclops, Neptuni filius, in Acc. Polybemon, Mart. A huge Giant that had but one eye, and that was in his forehead: he kept sheep in the Island Sicily, and when Ulysses arrived there, he got him and his company into his den, and eat four of them; but Ulysses having a bottle of strong Wine, so ſuddled him with it, that being faln aſleep, he with a fire-ſtick put out his eye, and ſo eſcaped.

Pŏlyphontes. A certain king that ſlew his brother becauſe he found that he practiſed treaſon againſt him; Gell.

Polytimetos, fl. Sogdianæ; Curt.

Pŏlyxĕna, Græc. i. multorum hoſpita. King Priams fair daughter, whom Achilles fell in love with, and would have married; and went into Apollo's Temple for the ſame end by Priams aſſent; but Paris treacherouſly ſlew him there. After the taking of Troy, Achilles ghoſt appeared and demanded Polyxena, who was accordingly ſlain at his grave; Ovid. Hinc Polyxenius, a, um; Catul.

Pŏlyxo, ûs. A Woman of Lemnos which was ring-leader in that cruel murther, where (becauſe the men of the country upon ſome diſtaſte took them wives from Thrace) ſhe counſelled the reſt of the women to kill all the men, and ſo they did, all but Hypſipyle, who ſpared her father Thoas: Stat.

Pomerania, provincia Germaniæ, ad mare Balticum ſita. Pomerland; part of it under the Swede, the reſt belongs to the Elector of Brandenburg. The chief city is Stetin.

Pōmētia, urbs olim Volſcorum in Latio; Liv. Pometii, pop. Vir. hinc Pometinus ager, Liv.

Pōmōna. The goddeſs of Orchards, whom Vertumnus loved intirely, but could by no means obtain her, till at laſt he uſed force; Ovid. § Alſo the chief Iſle of the Orkneys, called Mainland, twenty two miles in length from Eaſt to Weſt; it hath a little city in it called Kirkwall.

Pomonal; Feſt. A place ſo called from the Goddeſs Pomona, in the midway betwixt Rome and Oſtia.

Pōmōnālis. Flamen Pomonæ; Alex. ab Al.

Pompeianum. A country-houſe of Cicero's neer to Nola, twelve miles off Naples.

Pompeii; Cic. Pompeium; Sal. A town of Campania on the coaſt by the mouth of the river Sarnus, which therefore is called Pompeianus by Stat.

Pompeiŏpŏlis, Ciliciæ urbs, Plin. It. Paphlagoniæ ſic appell. à Pompeio M. poſt devictum Mithridatem; quæ priùs Eupatoria. § It. urbs Hiſpaniæ, regni Navarræ caput, hod. Pampelune dict.

POMPEIUS. The name of divers Romans, one whereof Julius Cæſars father in law, called Cn. Pompeius, and for his valour ſirnamed the Great; he was of ſuch an heroick ſpirit, that he could not admit of an equal; and Cæſar ſo ſtout, that he could endure no ſuperior; whence aroſe the Civil War in Rome, where Pompeys Army being quite overthrown in the Pharſalian fields, he fled to Egypt, and there was ſlain by Ptolemy's treachery. He had two ſons that were both heirs of his valour and his misfortunes; the one overcome in a ſea-fight by Sicily, the other overthrown at Munda in Spain.

Pompēlon. The Metropolis of Navar.

Pompōnius. The name of divers men, one whereof ſirnamed Atticus, was a great friend to Cicero, ſo that when Tully was baniſhed, he relieved him: and in the ſame manner Brutus. It was obſerved in him, that he never told lye himſelf, nor could indure it in others; Corn. Nep.

Pomptina palus, quæ & Pontina, Juv. & Pomptini campi, Sil.

Poneropolis, q. d. Lat. Nequinum, quæ & al. Philippopolis, urbs Thraciæ, à Philippo Macedonum rege condita. Plin.

Pons fractus. Pontfreict or Pomfret.

Pons Ælii. Ponteland in Northumberland. Camd.

Pontes. Colbrook, as Camd. or as others Reading, or Paunton.

Pontia. A Roman Matron famous for her chaſtity; Tac. Alſo the name of an Iſland belonging to the kingdom of Naples.

Ponticus. An Heroick Poet in Propertius his time.

Pontina palus Latii juxta Forum Appii; in quam Uſens fl. influit; Plin. hodiè Aufente Palude: Hinc Pontinus, a, um; Mart.

Pontinus. A valiant man, Tullies great friend, as himſelf ſays.

Pontius. A name of divers men.

Pontus, gr. i. mare. The Black-ſea called Pontus Euxinus, it. Amazonius, Claud. Scythicus, Val. Fl. Tauricus, Feſt. & mare Sarmaticum, Ovid. § Alſo a country of Aſia the leſs, lying betwixt Bithynia and Paphlagonia, upon the Euxine Sea. Hinc Ponticus, a, um, adj. Ponticæ nuces, ſic dict. quòd in Aſiam Græciamq; è Ponto venère; Plin. κάρυα ποντικά. Filberds.

Popilius. The name of him who ſlew Cicero, that had ſaved him from the gallows; the name alſo of other Romans.

Poppæa, dict. à Poppæo Sabino avo ſuo. Nero's wife: vide Suet.

Populifugia, ſic dict. quòd eo die (Junii ſc.) repentino tumultu fugeret pop. Rom. in bello Gallorum cum Romanis. vid. Ovid. Faſt. 2.

Populonia, æ; f. Vir. Populonium, Plin. A city of Hetruria, now called Porto Baratto.

Populonia, dict. Juno, quòd ex maris & fœminæ conjunctione, cui præeſſe credebatur, novi ſubinde populi creentur.

Porcia. Daughter to Cato of Utica, and wife of Brutus, who hearing of her husbands overthrow and death; when ſhe could get nothing elſe, being kept by her ſervants from all things that might ſeem to ſerve as inſtruments for her death, ſwallowed live coals, and ſo killed her ſelf. Mart.

Porcius, gentis Rom. nomen tractum à porco. The ſirname of Cato's family.

Poroſelene, Plin. Pordoſelene, Str. An Iſle of the Ægean ſea neer Leſbos.

Porphyrion. One of the Giants that made war againſt the gods; Hor. § Alſo an old Commenter upon Horace.

Porphyrione; Plin. An Iſle in the Propontis; hod. Iſola di Chizico.

Porphyris, inſ. eadem quæ Cythera & Niſyros, & Carpathus: Plin. Hinc Porphyriacus, a, um; Ovid. pro Purpureus.

Porphyrius, πορφύρεος, i. purpureus, ob veſtem purpuream, quâ propter nobilitatem utebatur. A Philoſopher, and a great enemy to Chriſtian religion.

Porrima; Ovid. Evanders mothers ſiſter or companion.

Porſena, Hor. Porſenna, Vir. A King of Tuſcany, who ſided with Tarquin againſt the Romans.

Portumnus ſive Portunus, idem qui Palæmon, dict. à portubus quibus præeſt; Cic. A god of the ſea: Hinc Portunalia ſacra, Var.

Portus magnus. Portſmouth, o're againſt the Iſle of Wight; Camd. Al. dic. Portûs oſtium.

Porus. A King of India, ſubdued by Alexander; Claud.

Poſidium; Mel. A Cape of Bithynia; another of Caria, Plin. now called Capo di Melaxo.

Poſidonia, Plin. i. Neptunia. A town in Lucania, otherwiſe called Pæſtum.

Poſonium. The chief City of Upper Hungary, called in Dutch Presbourg, eight leagues off Vienna.

Poſthumia. A Roman Lady, Cic. alſo a veſtal virgin; Plut.

Poſthumius. The name of divers noble Romans.

Poſtverta, dea apud Romanos, una ex Carmentibus, quæ partui fœminarum præſidebat, Gell. 16. 16.

Potentia. The name of two Cities, one in Lucania, the other once in Picenum, by a River of the ſame name.

Pothinus; Luc. One who baſely killed Pompey in the King of Egypts court.

Potina, Dea, ſic dict. quòd potui infantum præerat.

Potnia. A town of Bæotia, next to Thebes, where Glaucus was torn in pieces by horſes, thence called Potniades; Vir.

Potitius. One of Hercules his Prieſts: Vide Pinarius.

Poviſia. Powis or Poweſland in Wales, where Severn riſes out of Plynlimon hill.

P ante R.

Præcutini & Præguttiani, Liv. Prætutiani, Plin. People of Abruzzo in Italy.

Præmonſtratum. A town of Picardy, where the General of that Order of Monks, called Præmonſtratenſes, reſides.

Præneſte, is; n. dict. à Præneſto conditore, Ulyſſis & Circes filio; Steph. al. ἀπὸ τῶν πρώτων, i. ilicibus quæ illic abundant; ante n. Priniſtum vocari ſcribit Plut. alii πρὸ τοῦ πρίνος, quòd edito loco ſit ſitum; unde & alium Præneſte, Vir. qui & in f. g. Præneſte ſub ipſa dixit. A City of Latium, now called Paleſtrina, twenty one miles from Rome. Here Lot and Fortune were worſhipped as Godleſſes. Hinc Præneſtinus, a, um; Vir.

Præpeſinthus. An Iſle, one of the Sporades; Plin. now called Argentiera.

Præſidium. Warwick. Camd.

Præſtana; Dea, à præſtando dict. quòd Quirinus in jaculi miſſione cunctorum præſtiterit viribus; Arnob.

Præſtes, Minerva, quòd præiret, &

ſe

ſe velut ducemhomini exhiberet; etiam Aſtes, quia aſtat virò bono laterique ejus hæret fidus comes; Feſt.

Præſtites dii; Lares publici, Urbis cuſtodes: quòd omnia tuta præſtent.

Prætoria Auguſta. A City of Tranſylvania, now called Braſſow and Cronſtat.

Prætorium. Patrington in Yorkſhire; al. Camd. or al. otherſ, Coventry or Weſtcheſter.

Prætūtius, a, um; Sil. i. Picenus. vid. Præcutini.

Praga. The chief City of the kingdom of Bohemia; Prague.

Praſia; pl. Liv. A town of Attica, neer the Cape Sunium.

Praſii. A people of India; Plin.

Praſinus. A horſe of Commodus, who being dead, Commodus built a Sepulchre for him in the Vaticane; Alex. ab Alex.

Praxeas. An Heretick who denied plurality of perſons in the Trinity; Tertullian wrote againſt him.

Praxiteles, gr. i. factorum conſummator. A famous graver in marble; Propert. hinc Praxitelius, a, um; Cic.

Preciani, pop. Aquitaniæ, Cæſ.

Precius, Etruriæ lacus, Cic. pro Mil.

Presbyter Joānes. Preſter John, the Emperor of the Abaſſines, a moſt believe; but al others think of the Neſtorians in Tartary about Cathaya, who went by the name of Juhanna commonly, and was at laſt deſtroyed by Zingis the Tartar.

Priamus, dict. à πρίαμαι, emo, eò quòd ab Hercule in Græciam abductus eſt captivus, quem poſtea Heſione auro redemit. The laſt King of Troy, when it was beleaguered by the Grecians; he was the ſon of Laomedon, husband of Hecuba, father of Paris, ſlain by Pyrrhus at the deſtruction of Troy, after he had reigned fifty two years. Hinc Priamides, patronym.

Priāpus, i; m. Poet. Πρίαπος. The ſon of Venus by Bacchus at his return from the Eaſt-Indies. He was born at Lampſacus, neer the Helleſpont: hence called Helleſpontiacus; Vir. They made him the keeper of their gardens, ſetting him up with a ſithe to frighten thieves and birds away; Hor. they ſacrificed to him an Aſs; Ovid.

Priene. A city of Ionia neer Miletus, the country of Bias; Auſon. Hinc Prienenſis & Prienæus, a, um.

Priſca, and Maximilla. Two harlots of the heretick Montanus; Euſeb.

Priſcianus. A learned Grammarian of Cæſarea, in Juſtinian's time.

Priſcus Helvidius, ſub Nerone quæſtor Achaiæ, Thraſeæ gener; Juv.

Privernum, urbs Volſcorum in Latio, Vir. pop. Privernates, Sil. hod. Piperno dic.

Probatopolis. Schafhuſen in Switzerland.

Probus. A name of divers men.

Pröcas, Vir. Proca, Ovid. A King of the Albanes, grandfather to Romulus.

Prochyta, Vir. Χοὴ τὴ πρόχυσιν, quòd eſt profundere. An Iſle of the kingdom of Naples, now called Procida.

Proclus. A Platonick Philoſopher and Mathematician.

Procolitia. Colceaſter in Northumberland, or Prudhow, near it, Camd.

Procopius. A Greek Hiſtorian in Juſtinian's time.

Procris. Daughter to Erectheus, and the wife of Cephalus, Ovid.

Procruſtes. A notable robber of Attica, mentioned by Ovid; he was wont to make thoſe he entertained ly along on a bed: and if they were too ſhort for it, he ſtretched them to it; if too long, he chopt them off by the legs.

Proculeius. A Gentleman of Rome, and Favourite of Auguſtus: when Scipio and Muræna, his brethren, had loſt their eſtates in the Civil Wars, he divided the patrimony again amongſt them; Hor.

Proculus; cognom. qui natus eſt patre peregrinante à patriâ procul, vel qui patre ſene, qu. procul ætate progreſſo, natus; Feſt. id. quod gr. πολύγαιος.

Procyon, προκύων, i. antecanis, uti vertet Cic. ſive minuſculus canis, Vitr. ſidus æſtivum Idibus Julii oriens. The leſſer Dog-ſtar.

Præconneſus; Plin. A little Iſle in the Propontis, called Marmora.

Prœtus. A king of the Argives; turn'd into ſtone at laſt by Perſeus. His daughters, called from him Prætides, for preferring themſelves for beauty to Juno, were ſtruck mad, and fancied themſelves to be Kine; Vir. but were at laſt cured by Melampus; Ovid.

Progne, es; f. Vir. The daughter of Pandion, and ſiſter of Philomela; turned at laſt into a ſwallow.

PROMETHEUS, ei & eos; m. Poet. προμηθεύς, i. præconſultor, ex πρὸ ante & μῆδος conſilium. The ſon of Iapetus, the father of Deucalion; he firſt made man of clay or Earth, whoſe wit Minerva admiring, promiſed him any thing in Heaven that he wanted to perfect his work; he coming thither and ſeeing all things were animated by Heavenly fire, having a little ferula in his hand, put it to the Chariot-wheel of the Sun, and that being kindled, he brought fire to the Earth, and put therewith life and ſoul into his man that he had made of Clay: but Jupiter being angry, firſt ſent Pandora, the wife of his brother Epimetheus, with a box to her husband, which after he had opened there flew out thence ſundry ſorts of diſeaſes. Afterward he ordered Prometheus to be faſt tyed in chains to mount Caucaſus, and an Eagle to be clapt to his liver, which grew up again as faſt as it was eaten, to keep him in continual pain. Hinc Prometheus, a, um; Poet.

Propertius. An Elegiack Poet, born at Mevania, a town of Umbria. His miſtreſs, whom he makes the ſubject of his wit, was one Hoſtia, whom he calls Cynthia.

Propœtides. Virgins of Amathus, who for ſlighting Venus, were by her inforced to proſtitute themſelves, and afterwards being grown ſhameleſs, were turned into ſtone; Ovid.

Propontis, idis; f. Claud. All the Sea from the ſtraits of Helleſpont to Boſphorus Thracius, betwixt Europe and Aſia; now called Mar di Marmora. Hinc Propontiācus, a, um; Ovid.

Proſa dea, cui ara deprecandi periculi gratiâ ab ægro partu conſtituta eſt; huic altera adverſaria erat, Poſtverſa nominata, à perverſo partu; Gell.

PROSERPINA: à ſerpendo dict. quòd ſata in lucem proſerpant, Arnob. ſc. cùm hæc Cereris filia ſit, quæ frugum Dea: al. Var. Omn. à gr. Περσεφόνη. The daughter of Jupiter and Ceres, whom Pluto ſtole and carried away with him out of Sicily: Ceres ſought for her a long time, and hearing at laſt ſhe was in hell, went thither, and got her releaſed on this condition, if ſhe had taſted nothing there; but ſhe had eaten, it ſeems, two or three kernels of a Pomgranate, which Aſcalaphus diſcovered, like an owl as he was for his labour: yet Ceres at length obtained of Jupiter, that ſhe might have her daughters company one ſix months, and the other ſix ſhe ſhould be with Pluto below. She was the Queen of Hell, called therefore by Stat. infera Juno. They ſacrificed to her a barren heifer; Vir.

Proſper Aquitanicus. A great writer againſt the Pelagians.

Proſymne, es; f. Stat. A town of Peloponneſus; whence Juno is ſtiled Proſymnia, being there worſhipped; Plut.

Protagoras. A ſcholar of Democritus. Vid. Gell. 3. 5.

Proteas. A great Cup-Companion of Alexanders the Great.

Protei columnæ; Vir. locus Ægypti extremus; Serv.

Proteſilaus, πρῶτος & τῦ λαός. A Grecian Captain, the ſon of Iphiclus, the firſt that was ſlain by Hector at the ſiege of Troy: Laodamia his wife, for her comfort deſired of the gods, only that ſhe might have a ſight of his ghoſt; which being granted, ſhe died embracing it. Dic. & Phylacides, à Phylace, Theſſaliæ opp. Hinc Proteſilaeus, a, um; Catul.

PROTEUS, ei vel eos; m. Poet. πρωτεύς, quòd πρῶτος, i. primus & antiquiſſimus fuerat Deorum. The ſon of Oceanus and Thetis; he tended the Sea-calves, whence Stat. calls him Neptuni paſtorem; he was moſt ſkilfull in foretelling things to come; he would turn himſelf into any ſhape; ſometimes to a Bull, ſometimes to a Serpent, and ſometimes to a flame of Fire, &c. Proteus regnavit in Ægypto; & quia mos erat Regibus Ægyptiacis diademata geſtare variis formis inſculpta, ut leonis, draconis, arboris, ignis; fabula inde exorta eſt, Proteum in varias formas abire, atque ob id proverbium, Proteo mutabilior; Nat. Com.

Provincia Romana, & ſimpl. Provincia, Auſon. Provence in France.

Pruſa, Plin. Pruſias, Solin. urbs Bithyniæ ad radices Olympi, quam Pruſias condidit. Hinc Pruſiācus, a, um; Sil.

Pruſias. A King of Bithynia, to whom Annibal being baniſhed fled: Liv.

Pruſſia, latinè Boruſſia. A country now divided into two parts: Regal, under the King of Poland; and Ducal, under the Elector of Brandenburg. The chief city is Dantzick.

Prytaneum, πρυτανεῖον, in quo οἱ πρυτάνεις judicia exercebant. al. qu. παρὰ τὸ διαιτᾶσθαι ἐνταῦθα πανδήμους. Etymol. i. tritici ſive frumenti publici promptuarium, quod inde civibus diſtributum; Schol. Thucyd. The Council-houſe in Athens.

P ante S.

Psămathe, es; f. Val. Fl. à ψάμμος, i. arena. A fountain of Bœotia by Thebes.

Psăpho. A certain Libyan, who desiring to be accounted a god, effected it by this invention: He took young birds and taught them this leſſon, μέγας θεὸς Ψάφων, Psăpho is a great god; which when they could ſing perfectly, he let them fly; and other Birds hearing them, learned the ſame ditty, and filled the Woods with it: Whereupon the Lybians offered ſacrifice unto him, and took him for a god.

Psōphis, idis; f. Ovid. A City of Arcadia, now called Soſi.

Psylli; Marmaridæ Psylli, Luc. Certain people of Africk, who have a natural vertue againſt the poyſon of Serpents, which they live amongſt.

Psyra, Plin. Psyria, Cic. The name of two Iſles in the Ægean ſea.

P ante T.

Ptĕlĕon, Liv. πτελέων, à πτελέα ulmus; à copia ulmorum. A town of Ionia; alſo one of Theſſaly.

Ptĕrŏphŏros; Plin. gr. πτεροφόρος, i. pennigera dict. ab aſſidua nive, quæ ibi pennarum ſimilitudine continuò decidit. A country of Scythia, by the mountains Hyperborei; from the people of this country the Europeans got the faſhion of wearing Feathers in their Hats.

Ptŏlĕmæum; Athenis gymnaſium, Cic.

Ptŏlĕmæus, πτολεμαῖος, i. bellicoſus, à πόλεμος bellum, inſerto τ. The names of divers kings of Egypt, the firſt whereof, ſirnamed Lagus, was a Souldier of Alexanders, who at the death of that great Monarch got the kingdom of Egypt to himſelf. From him his ſucceſſors took their name, as the Romans did from Cæſar. ◊ Alſo a great Aſtrologer and Geographer of Alexandria in Egypt.

Ptŏlĕmăis, idos; f. Auſon. qu. à Ptolemæo condita. Four Cities of this name; three in Ægypt, and one in Paleſtine, called now S. John d' Acre.

P ante U.

Publĭcŏla, alias Poplicola, quòd populum coleret. The nickname of Pub. Valerius the firſt Conſul of Rome with Brutus, after the Kings were baniſhed.

Publĭus, dict. quòd gratus populo, qu. populius, à populo. A Roman name. ◊ One of that name, a writer of plays, a favorite of Jul. Cæſars.

Pūcĭnum; opp. Carnorum; Plin.

Pūnĭcānus, Cic. & Punicus, a, um; Vir. Of Africa or Carthage.

Pupinia, A barren country of Latium, where neither Vines nor Hay grew; Var. hinc Pupinienſis ager, Liv.

Puppĭus. A Tragical Poet; Hor.

Pūtĕŏli, ab aquæ calidæ putore dict. vel (ut alii) à puteorum multitudine. A City of Campania, of old called Delus minor, Feſt. Dicæarchia, Plin. Dicarchis, Petron. & Flavia Auguſta, now Puzzolo. Hinc Puteolanus, a, um; Suet. Of Puteoli.

Pūtĭcŭli, appellati ſunt à puteis, quòd ibi cadavera in puteis obruerentur; vel quòd in his corpora putreſcerent; Romæ extra Exquilias fuit locus publicus, ubi erat commune ſepulchrum miſeræ plebi. Var.

P ante Y.

Pygmæi, πυγμαῖοι, i. cubitales. ἀπὸ τῆς πυγμῆς, quod eſt ſpatium à cubito ad digitos clauſos. Little people in the furtheſt part of India: or as ſome ſay, in Æthiopia; they are but three Cubits high; their women have children at five years of age, and grow old at eight: They are famous for their wars with the Cranes; Juv. Hinc Pygmæus, a, um; Ovid.

Pygmălion, ōnis; m. Vir. The ſon of Belus, King of Tyre, and brother to Dido, who out of covetouſneſs ſlew Sichæus his ſiſters husband for his wealth; whereupon ſhe fled to Carthage. Hinc Pygmalioneus, a, um; Sil. ◊ Alſo another who falling in love with an ivory Statue, and Venus turning it into a young woman, got of her Paphus, Ovid.

Pylades, Poet. The ſon of Strophius, and faithful friend of Oreſtes.

Pylēne, es; f. Stat. opp. Ætoliæ.

Pylos, i; f. Ovid. Several Cities in Peloponneſus, of this name: one in Meſſenia, Neſtor's country. Hinc Pylius, a, um; Ovid.

Pyracmon, Vir. gr. à πῦρ, i. ignis, & ἄκμων, i. incus. One of the Cyclopes, ſervants to Vulcan the Smith.

Pyracmos, i; m. Ovid. The name of a man ſlain by Cæneus.

Pyrămides, um; pl. f. High piles of brick built Spire-wiſe, deſigned for burial-places of the Kings of Egypt. Of theſe Mr. Greaves of Oxford hath given an exact account.

PYRAMUS, Ovid. gr. i. rufus. A young man of Babylon, who was in love with Thisbe, and ſhe with him: they were ſo ſtraitly kept the one from the other by their Parents, that one muſt not be ſuffered to ſpeak to the other; at laſt they found an opportunity to ſpeak the one to the other thorough a chink that was in the wall betwixt them, and ſo they appointed to meet together in a place out of the City: Thisbe came to the place firſt, and being frighted by a Lioneſs that paſſed by, ſhe fled into a den near by: Pyramus came to the place alſo a while after, and there ſeeing her veil which ſhe let fall for fear of the Lioneſs, all bloody; he thinking ſhe had been torn in pieces by ſome wild beaſt, ſlew himſelf with his ſword. Thisbe when ſhe thought the Lioneſs was gone, coming out of the cave, and ſeeing her Lover ſlain, ran her ſelf upon the ſame ſword, and died with him: This was done under a Mulberry tree, and that made Mulberries red, which before were white; Ovid.

Pyrēne, es; f. Sil. unde Pyrenæus, a, um; Claud. A fountain in Corinth.

Pyrēnæi montes, dict. ἀπὸ τοῦ πυρός, i. ab igne; ſive quòd crebris fulminum ictibus feriantur; ſive quòd olim ſylvæ, injecto à paſtoribus igne, univerſæ conflagraverunt. Al. à Pyrene, Bebricis Regis filia, quæ (poſtquam ab Hercule compreſſa fuiſſet) à feris laniata, ibidemque ſepulta fuit, Cæl. Rhod. The mountains that part Spain from France, running from Eaſt to Weſt eighty-five leagues in length croſs the land.

Pyrgi, pl. Vir. opp. Hetruriæ. Pop. Pyrgenſes, Cic.

Pyrgo. Nurſe to Priams childre n Vir.

Pyrgŏtĕles. gr. i. turrium fabricator. An excellent graver of precious ſtones in Alexanders time; Plin.

Pyro, ſic dict. à colore rutilo. A Sea-Nymph.

Pyrŏdes, πυρώδης, id eſt, ignitus. The ſon of Cilix, the firſt that ſtruck fire out of flint; Plin.

Pyrois, ntis. One of Phœbus his horſes: Ovid. The Planet Mars. Col.

Pyrrha, πύρρα, i. rufa. Deucalion's wife: Alſo a town of Bubœa, &c. Plin.

Pyrrhica; pl. n. pugnæ equeſtris ſimulacrum, quæ & Trojæ dic. decurſus, Gell. gr. διαλαξία, it. πυρλὶς & ἐμπαισία, Dio πύρλιος ὄρχησις ἢ κρουσὶς, Euſt. A kind of Juſts and Tournaments, or dancing in Armour, ſo called from one Pyrrhicus a Cretan, who taught his countrymen ſo to dance; or from Pyrrhus, Achilles his ſon, who danced thus about his fathers tomb.

Pyrrho, ōnis; m. A Philoſopher of Greece, the firſt founder of the Sceptick, who from him are called Pyrrhonii.

Pyrrhus, πύρρος, ita dict. à fulvo colore capillorum, Serv. The ſon of Achilles: Alſo a king of Epire; who deceived by the conſtruction of the ambiguous Oracle of Apollo, (Aio te, Æacida, Romanos vincere poſſe) made war againſt the Romans, in which he was ſlain.

Pythăgŏras, à πυθαγορεύω, i. audio, interrogo, & ἀγορά, i. concio. A learned Philoſopher of Samos, who for modeſty called himſelf φιλος σοφίας, amator ſapientiæ, when before him learned men were called σοφοὶ, ſapientes. He travelled for knowledge as far as Egypt and Babylon; and at laſt ſet up in Italy. He held the tranſmigration of ſouls, and forbad the eating of fleſh. His ſcholars for the firſt five years were only to hear and be ſilent; Gell. Hinc Pythagoræus, a, um; Juv.

Pythia, æ; f. Apollinis Pythii ſacerdos in Delphis, quæ tripodi inſidens dabat reſponſa.

Pythia, orum; n. ludi Apollinares, in honorem Apollinis Pythii inſtituti, ob interfectum Pythonem ſerpentem; Ovid.

Pythias & Damon. A pair of friends, Cic.

Pythius, Apollo dict. à Pythone ſerpente, quem jaculis interemit; vel ἀπὸ τοῦ πυθέσθαι, i. e. à conſulendi uſu in oraculis, unde & Pythiarum Phœbi ſacerdotum nomen, Strab.

Pytho, ūs; f. Tibul. πυθώ. The City Delphi ſo called, where Apollo's Oracle was.

Pythŏdorus. An accurate Carver. Pl.

Python, ōnis; m. Ovid. dict. à πύθω putreo, quòd ex putredine terræ poſt diluvium natus: al. ab heb. פתון aſpis. A ſerpent, which Apollo ſhot to death, and in memory inſtituted the Pythian games.

Pythonissa. A woman with a prophecying ſpirit.

Pyxites, fl. Cappadociæ; Plin.

Q ante U.

QUādi, Tac. A people of Germany in Moravia.

Quadrata. An old name of Rome. Enn. ap. Solin. & Plut. ◊ Alſo Neukirchen in Auſtria; alſo Gurckfeldt or Weſelburg in Hungary.

Quariates; Plin. A people of Provence in France.

Quercetum. A town of the low countries called Queſnoy, five leagues off Cambray.

Querquĕtŭlāna, dict. à querceto, quod intra muros juxta ſe habebat. A gate in Rome. ◊ Querquetulanæ viræ, Feſt. The Nymphs called in Greek Hamadryades. ◊ Querquetulanus Mons ant. qui poſt Cælius; Tac.

Quiētālis, Orcus ſic dict. quòd mortui quieſcant; Feſt.

Quinctilis, ſc. menſis, quòd eſſet quintus à Martio; qui poſteà in honorem Jul. Cæſaris Julius dict. Suet.

Quinctilius, à Quinctius, ut Statilius à Statius.

Quinctĭus, à Quinctus; poeta, qui & Attia dictus, Hor.

Quinctus, prænomen, ejus qui quinto loco naſceretur.

Quinquātria, orum; n. & Quinquatrus, uum; f. Feſta Romæ Minervæ ſacra, quæ gr. πανάθηναια voc. dict. à numero quinque dierum, quibus celebrantur, Ovid. vel quòd eſſent poſt quintum diem Iduum Martiarum, Var. Feaſts kept in honour of Minerva, five days together, ſays Ovid. which Feſtus denies, ſaying they were kept but one day, to wit, the twelfth of March; and that becauſe her chappel on mount Aventine was dedicated that day.

Quintiliānus, Hiſpanus, ex civitate Calaguritana. dict. à Quintilius, quod à Quinctius. A famous man both in Rhetorick and Oratory (as his books of Inſtitutions and Declamations declare:) he firſt opened School at Rome, and taught in both Galba and Domitian his days, having his pay out of the Emperours treaſure.

Quintinopolis. A City of France in Picardy, caued S. Quintin.

Quirīnālia. Feaſts at Rome in honour of Quirinus, 12. Cal. Maii.

Quirīnālis collis, ſic dict. quòd in eo Quirini templum eſſet; & Quirinalis porta, quòd ea in collem Quirinalem itur; vel quòd proximè eam eſſet Quirini templum. One of the ſeaven hills of Rome, now called Monte Cavallo.

Quĭrīnus, Romulus dict. à quiris Sabine haſta, vel à Quiritibus, Var. vel pot. à Curibus, quos Romanis junxerat, Ovid. al. à κύριος dominus, ſive κυίρακος rex, princeps.

Quirites: à Curibus opp. Sabinorum dict. Properly the Sabines, who dwelt in Cures the town where King Tatius reſided; but after the union of the two people made by him and Romulus, they were all called by that name; and himſelf called Quirinus.

R ante A.

RAbirĭus. Two Gentlemen of Rome, Aulus and Poſthumus, whom Tully defended in two elegant Orations: alſo an eminent Poet in Ovid's time.

Racilius. A Tribune in Rome, who complained of Clodius; Cic.

Ramnes, ĭum; pl. Ovid. i. Ramnenſes, tertia pars fuère Pop. Rom. temporibus Romuli, quos in tres ordines diviſit. Primo, Sabinos, quos Tatienſes vocavit, ab eorum rege Tatio. Secundo, Albanos, quos Ramnenſes, à Romulo, Var. Tertio, Luceres, à luco, i. aſylo, ſive à Lucerio vel Lucumone, rege. One of the three Roman Tribes in Romulus his time, ſo called from his own name. Perſ. uſeth the word to ſignify the Roman Gentry.

Ratæ. Leiceſter; Camd. as others, Ratby or Ratiford.

Rātiſpōna, al. Ratisbona; Vulgò Regenſpurg. A City of Bavaria: al. Rhætopolis & Reginopolis.

Rāvenna. A City of Italy, ſited on the coaſt of the Adriatick Sea. pop. Ravennates.

Raurāci, Cæſ. Raurici, Plin. Rauriaci, Amm. People neer Baſle in Swizzerland. Their chief City Auguſta Rauracorum, now called Augſt.

R ante E.

Rēāte, is; n. Sil. A City of Umbria in Italy. inde Reatinus.

Rēdĭcŭlus. A god that had a Chappel without the gate Capena; The water there hardens cattles hoofs; Plin.

Rēgilliānus, Feſt. One made Emperor for his names ſake, by the ſouldiers deriving it thus; Rex, Regulus, Regillus, Regillianus.

Rēgillus lacus; Liv. A lake in Italy by the wood Algidus.

Regiomons. A City of Pruſſia, belonging to the Elector of Brandenberg, called Koningsberg.

Regni. People of Surrey, Suſſex, and the Sea-coaſts of Hampſhire, Camd.

Regnum. Ringwood in Hantſhire.

Rēgulbĭum. Reculver in Kent.

Rēgŭlus, vide Attilius.

Rēmōrĭa, locus in ſummo Aventino, ubi Remus de urbe condenda fuerat auſpicatus.

Remuria, um; pl. n. qu. Lemuria; ſacra ad placandos Lemures, vel pot. Remi occiſi manes, à Romulo inſtituta; Porphyr.

Rēmus, idem quod Romus, (unde dim. Romulus) ut bonus olim benus, Apollo ait. Apello. Brother to Romulus, who in mockage leaping over the walls which Romulus had made about Rome, was ſlain by his brother.

Rēpandūnum. Repton in Darbyſhire.

R ant H.

Rha. A river now called Volga.

Rhadamanthus, Poët. Hic quia Cretenſium erat legiſlator peritiſſimus, æquiſſimúſq; ob id fingitur eſſe apud inferos animarum judex; Nat. Com. unde Virg. Gnoſſius hæc Rhadamanthus habet ditiſſima regna. One of the three Judges of Hell.

Rhadata. A City of the Syenites, where they worſhip a golden Cat: Plin.

Rhætia; Rhæti, pop. The country of the Griſons on the Alps.

Rhamnes, ētis; Vir. A king and ſoothſayer, who taking part with Turnus againſt Æneas was ſlain by Niſus.

Rhamnus, ſic dict. quòd erat locus ῥαμνώδης, i. ſpinoſus. A village in Attica. hinc Rhamnuſia, Ovid. dea, quæ & Nemeſis. The Goddeſs of revenge, here worſhipped.

Rhea, à ῥέω fluo, eò quòd nullo non bonorum genere affluat; i. terra; eadem quæ & Ops & Cybele, & Magna mater. The wife of Saturn, and mother of Jupiter. ◊ Alſo the mother of Romulus, and daughter of Numitor, called Rhea Sylvia, and Ilia.

Rhebus, Val. Fl. Rhæſus, Plin. fl. Bithyniæ in pontum Euxinum labens.

Rhedones, Cæſ. People of Bretagne in France, and their chief city called Rennes.

Rhegium, Plin. Rhegion, Ovid. dict. à ῥήγνυμι, i. rumpo, quòd ibi Sicilia ab Italia avulſa ſit & fracta. A City in the coaſt of Italy, ſeated in that Cape or promontory which is over againſt Sicily; now called Reggio, not Rezzo. Rhegini; pop.

Rhemi, Cæſ. & in ſing. Rhemus, Luc. People of Reims in France.

Rhemnius Palæmon, Grammaticus, qui gloriabatur ſecum natas eſſe literas, ac ſecum demum morituras.

Rhenus, ὁπὸ τῦ ῥεῖν. quòd eſt fluere. The river Rhine, which parts France and Germany; and after it hath run 300 miles, it falls into the river Moſa and the German Sea: by two mouths, whence called Rhenus bicornis by Vir. ◊ Alſo a river in Italy by Bononia: Sil.

Rheſus. A king of Thrace, who coming to the aſſiſtance of Troy with white horſes was ſlain by Ulyſſes in his tents, the firſt night.

Rhigodunum. Rippon, or as others, Warrington, or rather Ribbleceſter in Lancaſhire; B.

Rhiphæi montes. Mountains in the North part of Muſcovy, called now Stolp, or Oby.

Rhiphe, es; f. Stat. A midland town of Peloponneſus.

Rhipheus. One of the Centaurs; Ovid. alſo a true Trojan in Virgil.

Rhitymna. The City Retimo in Crete.

Rhĭum fretum, Liv. Now called Stretto de Lepanto, neer the Dardanelles, where the Turks in the year 1571 received a great deſeat in a ſea-fight from the Chriſtians.

Rhŏdănus, Hor. The river Rhone in France: It riſeth almoſt two German miles from the head of the Rhine, paſſes by Geneva, parts France from Savoy, and at laſt falls into the Mediterranean-ſea.

Rhŏdŏpe, es; f. Poet. dict. à Rhodope Thracum regina, in hunc montem (ut Ovidius fabulatur) converſa; vel (ut aliis placet) ibi ſepulta. A famous mountain of Thrace, now called Valiza, and by the Greeks, Baſiliſſa. hinc Rhodopeius, a, um; Vir. ◊ Alſo a Nymph the daughter of the river Strymon, on whom Neptune begat the Gyant Athos. Alſo a famous harlot of Thrace, courted by Sappho's brother: Ovid.

Rhodopolis. Roſtock a city of the lower Saxony.

Rhodus, Cic. Rhodos, Hor. I; f. antiq. dict. Ophiusa, Telchinis, Trinacria, &c. Plin. The Island Rhodes in compass about an hundred miles, where the Sun shines once at least every day in the year. Here was a Coloss or Statue of the Sun, seventy Cubits high, one of the wonders of the world. Hinc Rhodius, a, um; Ovid.

Rhœbus. Mezentius his horse; Vir.

Rhœteum, Ovid. A Promontory by Troy; hinc Rhœteus, a, um; Vir.

Rhœtus. A King of the Marrubii, in Italy, father to Anchemolus; Vir. ℌ Also one of the Gyants slain by Bacchus in the shape of a Lyon; Hor. al. leg. Rhœcus.

Rhoxane, amasia Alexandri, Oxyartis, Satrapæ Barbari filia, quam Alexander totius penè Orientis victor & Imperator, ob solam ejus pulchritudinem, matrimonio sibi junxit; Curt.

Rhyndăcus; Val. Fl. A river of Mysia in Asia, rising out of the Lake Artyniz, and falling into Propontis.

R ante I.

Ricina. An Isle near Ireland, Racline, Cambd. al. Skye.

Ricolocus. Richelieu in France, with the Title of a Duke.

Rigodunum. Ribcester in Lancashire, B. as others Rippon or Richmond.

Ripa. Rye in Suffex; also Ripen a City of Denmark.

Ripa alta. Roxbrough, upon the borders of Scotland.

Riphæi montes, à ῥιπὴ impetus, qu. ῥιπαῖοι, ob impetum ventorum; vel à Riphat Gomeri filio, à quo & Paphlagones Riphatæi dicti; Joseph. Mountains of Scythia. vid. Rhiphæi. Hinc Riphæus, a, um; Claud.

Risinum, hodie Rhiziniurs. A City and river of Dalmatia.

R ante O.

Robigalia, um; n. festum Robigi Dei, VII. Kal. Maias, quòd tunc ferè segetes occuparet rubigo; Plin. 18. 29.

Robigus Deus Romanus, qui ideò colebatur, ut vitium segetum, quod robiginem sive rubiginem appellamus, averteret. Var.

Roboretum, & Campus roborum; Beda. London-Derry in Ireland.

Rœti, pl. m. Hor. vid. Rhæti.

Roffa. Rochester, a Bishops see.

ROMA, à ῥώμη, i. robur, potentia (unde ab antiquis simili ratione Valentia dict. à vi armorum) vel à Romulo; Roma autem non Romula app. ne nominis diminutio urbis Majestati quippiâ detraheret; al. à Roma filia Ascanii. al. à רוּם altum esse, quod extructa sit in montibus. Roma aut fortitudinis nomen est apud Græcos, aut sublimitatis apud Hebræos; Hier. Quondam dicta fuit hæc urbs Valentia, Saturnia, Flora, Cephalon, ἰσόμαλον sive Septicollis urbs, urbs Augusta, Sacra, Æterna; Tuscis Urum, & Christianis plerisq; hodiè Babylon. The chief City in Italy; and once seat of the Roman Empire, washt by the river Tiber. S. John Lateran is the chief Church there; but S. Peters in the Vatican, where the Popes palace is, far exceeds it in beauty and wealth. Hinc Romanus, a, um.

Romechium; Ovid. locus magnæ Græciæ. Al. leg. Zephyrium, al. Plemmyrium. Rect. Remigio.

ROMULUS. dim. à Romus, quod à gr. ῥώμος valens, Salm. al. à ruma, i. mamillâ, Fest. The son of Mars by Ilia, the Nephew of Numitor, the brother of Remus, born with him at one birth: Numitor had a brother called Amulius; he was not content to have his elder brother Numitor's Kingdom from him, but slew his Son Lausus; and to take away all hope from his posterity to enjoy the Kingdome, he made Ilia his brothers daughter a Vestal Virgin: whom afterwards Mars got with child, and she brought forth two twins; Amulius buried Ilia quick, and caused the Boys to be cast into Tyber; the messenger laid them on the muddy rusty Bank, in which place they were found by the shepherd Faustulus, who delivered them to his wife Acca Laurentia to bring up, who because she was a common harlot, was called vulgarly Lupa, yet the Poets generally say that they were suckled by a she-wolf. When they came to age, and were told whose sons they were, they slew Amulius, and restored Numitor to his kingdom; and not long after (with the help of shepherds) they built a new City called Rome, on Mount Palatin; from which building the Romans take their Epoche or beginning of computation, intituled ann. Urb. cond. which began anno Mund. 3198. inde Romuleus, a, um, Ovid. & Romulus, a, um; Vir. item Romulides, Pers. i. Romanus.

Rosarum urbs. Rostock in Germany: vid. Rhodopolis.

Roscius. A Stage-player, so famous, that if any excel in any Art, we call him a Roscius in his art. ℌ Also a Tribune, who ordered distinct seats at shews for Gentry and commons: hence Roscia lex, Hor.

Rōsea rura, Vir. ager Sabinorum.

Rostra, orum; n. The pleading place in Rome, adorned with the beaks of ships taken at Antium.

Roterodamum. Roterdam, a City of Holland, Erasmus his native place.

Rothomagus. The City Rhoan in Normandy by the River Seyne.

R ante U.

Reuben: רְאוּבֵן, i. videte filium. One of the twelve Patriarchs, Jacobs eldest son.

Rubi, Hor. dict. à ruborum frequentia, sive à rubore. A town of Apulia.

Rubicon, onis; m. Lucan. A river which formerly parted Italy from Gallia Cisalpina, now called Runcone, Rugon, & Pisatello.

Rubigalia, festum dei Robigi; vid. Robigalia.

Rubræ, Mart. Rubra saxa, Cic. locus Hetruriæ, in viâ Flaminiâ.

Rubricatus. A river in Catalonia, now called Lobregat. al. Rubricatum, Mel.

Rudiæ, f. pl. Sil. A City of Calabria, Ennius his country, hence called Rudius, Cic.

Rufæ. Vir. A town of Campania; Rufræ, Sil. Ruffium, Liv.

Rufius. One of the three Guardians to the two young princes Arcadius and Honorius.

Rufus. A Poet of Bononia; Mart. also the name of some others.

Rugia. The Isle of Rugen in Pomerland. Rugii pop. Tac.

Rullus. He was the first that ever in Rome had a whole Boar brought to his table at a feast: he stickled for the Agrarian law, but by Tullies opposition could not carry it.

Rumia, dea quæ rumis, i. mammis, i. pueris lactentibus præsidebat; Var.

Ruminalis ficus. A fig-tree, under which a She-wolf gave suck to Romulus and Rhemus. Quæq; vocatur Romula nunc ficus, Rumina ficus erat; Ovid.

Ruminus; Jupiter, sic dict. quòd rumam, id est, mammam animalibus cunctis præberet.

Runcina, dea quæ runcationi præfuit.

Rupella. Rochel, a City of France.

Rupes Fergusii. Knockfergus in Ireland.

Rupes regia. Rocroy in France.

Ruscino, onis. The town Rousillon near Perpignan, in Catalonia.

Rusicurum sive Rusucurrum. Algier in Barbary.

Ruspina. A sea-town in Africk; Sil.

Russia, Poloniæ regio.

Rutheni. People of Russia.

Rutilius. A worthy Roman banished by Sylla, and upon recal would not return. Ovid. He wrote his own Life, Tac.

Rūtŭba; Lucan. fl. Liguriæ.

Rutuli; Vir. People of Italy, who assisted Turnus against Æneas. Their chief City was Ardea.

Rutunium. Routon in Shropshire.

Rutupæ. Richborow near Sandwich; Camd. Hinc Rutupinus, a, um; Rutupina littora, Lucan. The Foreland in Kent.

---

S ante A.

SAba, dict. à Saba filio Chus: שְׁבָא al. à σέβομαι, colo, veneror, quia thus mittit, quo in sacrificiis uti solent. The chief City of Arabia Fœlix, called now Zibit, where is great store of Cinnamon, Cassia, Frankincense and Myrrhe: Pop. Sabæi, Vir. regio Sabæa.

Sabatia; Fest. A country of Tuscany, where is Sabatinus lacus, Col. Sabatus, Fest. & stagna Sabatia, Sil. now called Lago di Bracciano.

Sabaudia. The country of Savoy, governed by a Duke of its own: the chief City is Chambery.

Sabbaticus. A swift river in Phœnicia, which on the Sabbath ran not, but was dry; Joseph.

Sabelli, populi à Sabinis orti. People of Italy which dwell in the mountains between the Sabines and the Marsi: hinc Sabellus, a, um; Lucan. & Sabellicus, a, um; Vir.

Sabidius. A fellow mentioned by Mart.

Sabini, pl. m. Vir. quorum regio Sabinus ager, Cic. à religione & cultu Deorum dicti, qu. Sebini, ἀπὸ τῦ σέβεσθαι· alii à Sabo autore gentis; Sil. People of Italy, not far from Rome; with whom Romulus at first had many bickerings, till at last Tatius and he agreed to make them one People.

Sabinus. Brother to Vespasian, slain by Vitellius.

Vitellius. Alſo a Poet mentioned by Ovid.

Sabis, Cæſ. Saba, Fortun. The river Sambre in the Low countries. ◊ Alſo a river of Carmania, that runs into the Perſian gulf, Plin.

Sabrina; Tac. A river called Severn, that parts England and Wales: It riſes out of Plinlymon hill in Mountgomery-ſhire, and runs by Shrewsbury, Worceſter, Gloceſter, and Briſtow, and there into the Severn-ſea.

Sacer mons, Cic. A hill three miles from Rome, dedicated to Jupiter.

Sacra via, Var. ſic dict. quòd in ea fœdus ictum ſit inter Romulum & Tatium. A ſtreet in Rome, that led up to the Capitol. The people that lived there were called Sacravienſes; Sext. Pomp.

Sacrani, à Corybante quodam ſic dict. quòd ipſi eſſent ſacrati Matri Deum; Serv. People of Italy, neer the Rutuli and Ardeates. Hinc Sacranæ acies, Vir.

Sacrum nemus, Tac. A wood in Holland, called Scakerbuſh. ◊ Alſo an Abbey and town of Scotland in Galloway, built by the father of Johannes de Sacro boſco, called Halywood.

Sacrum promontorium, Plin. Sacer mons, Col. The rock called Cape S. Vincent in Portugal, thirty leagues from Liſbon.

Sacrum Cereris. The town Sancerre in France.

Sadducæi, dict. à צדק juſtitia. The Sadduces, who deny'ed the Reſurrection, and ſaid there were no Angels nor Spirits.

Sagana. A Witch mentioned by Horat.

Săgăris; Ovid. A river of Scythia Europæa.

Sagona. A City once of Corſica.

Saguntos, Sil. Saguntum, Liv. Pop. Saguntini. A City in Spain, now called Morvedre: The people when they were beſieged by Hannibal, ſtood it out ſo bravely, that they were almoſt famiſhed, whence Saguntina fames became proverbial; and at laſt, rather than yield, they agreed to ſet fire to the town, and burnt themſelves and all.

Saïs, urbs Ægypti intra Deltam, à qua oſtium Nili quod Saiticum dicitur.

Sala. The river Iſſel in the Low-countries.

Salacia, à ſalo ciendo, i. marì movendo, dict. Feſt. The Goddeſs of water, and wife of Neptune; Aug. ◊ Alſo a village in Portugal, Plin.

Saladinus, Turcarum Rex Hieroſolymam, Ægyptum, Syriamque ſuo ſubjecit imperio; ann. Chr. 1180.

Salamin, inis; f. Vir. & Salamina; Plin. Inſula prope Athenas, ubi Telamon Ajacis & Teucri pater regnavit: antiquis dict. Cychria, Scira, Pityuſſa; hodiè Coluri. An Iſle near Athens, where Xerxes his fleet was defeated by the Greeks. Hinc Salaminiacus, a, um; Lucan. ◊ Alſo a City of the Iſland Cyprus. Pop. Salaminii, Cic.

Salanga. An high hill between Britain and Ireland called S. Dominick's hill; by ſome, our Ladies hill.

Salapia, urbs Apuliæ; Liv. hod. Salpe. Hinc Salapina palus, Lucan.

Salaria via, dict. quoniam illâ ſal in Sabinos portari conſuerat; Plin. 31. 7. Incipit a. à portâ Collinâ; Feſt. adhuc Salara dic.

Salaſi; Plin. People in Piedmont; whoſe country in Dutch is called Auguſthalls, from Auguſta Prætoria their chief town.

Saldæ, Plin. A City of Barbary on the ſea-coaſt, belonging to the kingdom of Algiers, now called Bugia.

Sălēnæ, & Salinæ. Salndy in Bedfordſhire; Camd.

Sălēni, pop. & opp. Hiſp. Tarracon. Mel. hod. Salinas.

Sălentini. Vir. dict. à ſalo Feſt. fort. ob id quòd pene circumquaque mari ambiantur, tenui tantùm Iſthmo Continenti annexi. People inhabiting that corner of Italy called Terra d' Otranto, formerly Meſſapia. Salentinum promontorium id. cum Japygio.

Salernum; Lucan. A City belonging to the kingdom of Naples. It once had a Prince of its own, and a famous Univerſity.

Sălia. A river and town of Arragon in Spain, where Prudentius the Chriſtian Poet was born.

Sălii, Martis ſacerdotes ſic dicti; à ſaltando, Var. quòd ſalientes ſive ſaltantes ancilia per urbem geſtarent. ◊ It. Germaniæ pop. (quos Francos dicimus,) ejus regionis incolæ, quæ vulgò Francovia dicitur, dict. à Sala flumine; inde Salica lex, id eſt, Francica: Amm. & Sidon. ◊ Alſo a town of Over-Iſſel, called Oldenzel.

Sălinæ, ārum; dict. à ſalſis fontibus. The Wiches in England: alſo Hall, a City of Saxony; and Salins in Burgundy; and Saluces in Piedmont.

Salisburgum. A City of Germany called Saltzburg, under an Archbiſhop.

Sallandia. Over-Yſſel, or a part of it called Sallant.

Salluſtius. A famous Roman Hiſtorian, a great enemy of Tullies.

Salmăcis; f. Ovid. A clear fountain in Caria, that turns Men into Women, that bath in it.

Salmantĭca. The City and univerſity of Salamanca in Hiſp. Tarracon.

Salmona; Auſon. fl. Gall. Belg. it. opp. Lotharingiæ; hod. Salm.

Salmōnĕus, Æoli filius, non ventorum regis, ſed cujuſdam apud Elidem. He out of an extreme pride, reſolved to ſet himſelf out to his ſubjects for a god, wherefore he made a bridge of braſs over a great part of the City, and hurried his Chariot over it, to imitate the thunder: but Jupiter being angry with him for his inſolent attempt, with a true thunderbolt ſlew him and ſent him to hell. Poet.

Salmōnis, opp. & fons Peloponneſi, Ovid. unde Enipeus oritur.

Salmurium. Saumur in France.

Salo, onis; m. Mart. A river of Celtiberia in Spain.

Sălomon, vel Solomon, à שלם, q. d. pacificus. The ſon of David, King of Iſrael; the wiſeſt, and the wealthieſt Prince we read of in all Hiſtory, yet toward his later end fooled by Women.

Sălōna, Plin. Salonæ, Cæſ. A City once of Dalmatia, out of whoſe ruines Spalato grew.

Salonius. The ſon of Aſinius Pollio, to whom Virgil dedicated his fourth Eclog; he was born laughing; but lived a very little while; Serv.

Salopia. Shropſhire, and Shrewsbury.

Salſulæ, arx Gall. Narb. B.

Saltŭāres, Inſulæ in Nymphæo fl. Latii ſitæ, ita dict. quòd ad ictus ſaltantium (Plin.) vel quòd tibiarum cantu moventur: (Var.)

Sălus, dea; unde porta dicta Salutaris ejus ædi proxima.

Sălyes. pop. Gall. Narb. Plin.

Sămărĭa, שמרון cuſtodia; ab Aſſyriis ſc. ad cuſtodiam regionis condita. A City and country of Paleſtine, inhabited by the ten Tribes, lying betwixt Judæa and Galilee, now called Naplous.

Sămărobrīna; Cæſ. The City Amiens in France.

Sāme, es; f. Ovid. One of Ulyſſes his Iſles, the ſame as Cephalenia.

Sămnites, um; m. pl. Hor. & in ſing. Samnis, Lucan. quorum regio Samnium. ab haſtis dicti, quæ gr. σαυνία, Feſt. People of Italy, inhabitants of Aprutium, now called Abruzzo; Ort. with whom the Romans had ſo many battels: Liv. lib. 7. ◊ Alſo a ſort of fencers dreſt after their manner ſo called, Liv.

Sāmos, i; f. & Samus, Cic. An Iſle of the Icarian ſea, lying over againſt Epheſus; where Juno was much worſhiped, Vir. the compaſs of it is eighty ſeven miles; it was formerly called Parthenia and Cyparriſſia, and Dryuſa, &c. It was the birth-place of Pythagoras: Hinc Samius, a, um. ◊ Alſo the ſame as Same; Liv.

Sămŏthrăce, Mel. Samothracia, Liv. inſula maris Ægei Thraciæ adjacens, olim Dardaniâ dict. hod. Samandrachi. Vir. Threiciam Samon voc. Pop. Samothraces, Stat.

Samothraces, dii penates Romanorum; Macrob. quippe quos Dardanus ex Samothraeia in Phrygiam, inde Æneas in Italiam detulit; Var. vel qu. Sathraces, & inſerto m, Samithraces, à סתר occultavit; quòd eorum & numerus & nomina ignota eſſent; Arnob.

Samſon. One of the Judges of Iſrael, a man of prodigious and giantlike ſtrength.

Samuel. A Prophet and Prieſt, and at firſt Judg of Iſrael, till Saul was made King.

Sancus; Deus Sabinorum; qui & Ἡλιος, i. Fidius & Semo; Ovid.

Sandălĭōtis, Plin. Sardinia ſic dict. à ſimilit. ſandalii. h. e. ſoleæ, unde & Ichnuſa gr. dic.

Sandvicus. Sandwich.

Sangārius. A river of Phrygia, that riſes out of Mount Dindymus, and runs into the Euxin ſea.

Santŏnes, um; pl. m. Cæſ. & in ſing. Santonus, Lucan. People of Guienne in France, whoſe chief City Saintes, in latin Mediolanum Santonum.

Santonum portus, the City of Rochel in France.

Săpæi; Ovid. People of Thrace.

Săpis. fl. Italiæ; Sil.

Săpŏres, Claud. Sapor, Sidon. A king of Perſia, who took priſoner Valerianus Emperor of Rome, and made him his footſtool, when he took horſe or Coach.

Sappho, us; f. Hor. A famous Poeteſs, inventreſs of the Sapphick verſe. Being rejected by her lover Phaon, ſhe drowned her ſelf. Hinc Sapphicus, a, um;

Saraceni ; qu. à Sara matre, cùm reverà eſſent Agareni, utpote Iſmaelitæ. Al. à Saraca, quam eorum regionem facit Steph. The Saracens or Iſmaelites deſcended of Abraham by the bandmaid Hagar ; People of Arabia the Happy.

Saravus ; Auſon. al. Sarra. The river Sar in Lorrain.

Sardănăpălus, שר, Hebr. principem, דין judicium, & פלא, arduum, vel excelſum ſign. The laſt king of the Aſſyrian Empire, who for his extream effeminateneſs was ſo diſdained of his own Captains, that they conſpired againſt him. When he ſaw himſelf ſo ſtrained, that there was no eſcaping, he turned valiant, and making a funeral-pile of all his precious things, he burnt himſelf in his palace, and went out in a blaze.

Sardinĭa, gr. σαρδώ, σαρδών, & σαρδόνη. ita dict. à Sardo Herculis filio. An Iſland of Italy, under the Spaniard ; it is 170 miles in length, 80 in bredth, and 450 in compaſs : The chief City is Cagliari. It was a very unhealthy place, Mart. Pop. Sardi, Cic. Hinc Sardous, a, um ; Ovid.

Sardis, is ; f. Plin. & Sardes, ium ; Ovid. The chief City once of Lydia, neer mount Tmolus, where king Crœſus kept his Court.

Sărepta ; Plin. A City of Phœnicia, in the midway betwixt Tyre and Sidon, ten miles from either, on the Sea-coaſt.

Sarisberia, olim Sorviodunum. Salisbury or Sarum, a Biſhops ſea.

Sarmătĭa ; Plin. A large country Northward, part in Europe, part in Aſia, containing all Polonia, Ruſſia, Muſcovia, and moſt of Tartaria. Pop. Sarmatæ, vel Sauromatæ. Juv. Hinc Sarmaticus, a, um ; Ovid. & Sarmatis ora, Id. patronymicè.

Sarmentus. A raſcally buffoon in Horace.

Sarnĭa. The Iſle of Garnſey ; Camd.

Sarnus, Vir. A river of Campania, that runs into the Bay of Naples ; alſo a City and hill of the ſame name.

Săronicus ſinus, inter Atticam & Peloponneſum, hod. Golfo di Engia.

Sarpēdon, ŏnis ; m. Vir. A king of Lycia, ſlain by Patroclus in the ſiege of Troy : alſo a Promontory of Cilicia ; Plin.

Sarra, dict. ab heb. צור, i. Tyrus. The Cities of Tyre and Carthage, ſo called. Hinc Sarranus, a, um ; i. Tyrius ; Vir.

Sarraſtes ; pop. Campaniæ circa Sarnum ; Vir.

Sarsĭna, æ ; f. Sil. An old City of Æmilia in Italy, where Plautus was born, inde Sarſinates, pop. Plin.

Săſo, ōnis ; Luc. Saſſo, Sil. An Iſle of the Ionian ſea.

Saſſĭna, id. quod Sarſina ; unde Saſſinas, atis ; adj. Mart.

Satan, ind. vel Satānas, æ ; m. Bibl σατανᾶς. ab heb. שטן, i. ἀντίδικος adverſarius. The Devil ſo called, for his enmity and malice to God and mankind.

Satharchæ ; Val. Fl. pop. Sarmatiæ juxta Mæotin.

Săticŭla, opp. Samnii. hinc Saticulus, Vir. i. incola iſtius loci.

Satrianum, urbs olim Lucaniæ : hinc Satrianēnſis, e, um ; Hor. Al. leg. Saturejanus.

Sătŭra ; Vir. A lake in Italy.

Sāturnālĭa, um ; n. Saturni feſta. gr. Κρόνια. Feaſts of five days continuance, dedicated to Saturn ; in which the ſervants ſate at table, and the maſters waited, in remembrance of the freedom all men had in Saturns days ; It was a time of great revelling and liberty kept in December.

Sāturnĭa, Vir. Italy ſo called from Saturn an ancient King of the country ; alſo the City Rome ſo formerly called from him ; alſo a City once of Tuſcany ; Liv. Pop. Saturnini, Plin.

Sāturnĭāni hæretici, à Saturnino quodam nominati.

Saturninus. A Tribune of the People, who being Ringleader in a mutiny, was by order of the Senate killed : Cic.

Sāturnĭnus mons, id. qui & Tarpeius & Capitolinus.

SATURNUS, ſic dict. à Satu, quòd præeſſet agriculturæ, Var. ut priùs fuerit Saturnus, ut à porro Portumnus ; Lipſ. al. à סתור abſconditus, latens ; unde & ipſa regio Latium dict. gr. Κρόνος, qu. χρόνος, i. temporis Deus. The ſon of Cœlum and Terra ; he married his ſiſter Ops, and cut off his fathers privities, and caſt them into the Sea, of the froth whereof Venus came : he had to his brother Titan, who reſigned to him the Kingdom, upon condition, that he ſhould have no heir male, but expoſe him to death, and ſo the kingdom ſhould return to his poſterity : wherefore Saturn to keep his Oath, devoured all the male children ſo ſoon as they were born. When Juno and Jupiter were born, his wife Ops ſent away Jupiter, and gave Saturn a ſtone wrapt in cloaths in ſtead of him ; and ſome ſuch trick ſhe played in ſending away Neptune and Pluto too. Titan bearing this, made War upon Saturn, and put him and his wife in priſon ; at length Jupiter overcame Titan, and ſet them free : but Saturn bearing his ſon Jupiter ſhould deprive him of his kingdom, would have made him away ; whereof when Jupiter had intelligence, he expelled his father, who fled and hid himſelf from him in Italy, which thereupon was called Latium, (quòd ibi latuerit Saturnus, Vir.) In his reign was the golden age. They attribute to him the invention of the Sithe, he having firſt taught husbandry. ¶ Alſo the uppermoſt Planet of the ſeven ſo called from him, a dull leaden ſtar, that finiſheth its circuit in thirty years.

Sătyri, qu. σαθυροί, libidinoſi, à σάθη penis : al. παρὰ τὸ σκιρτᾶν, quòd penè ſemper rideant aut ringantur : vel à Dor. σάτυς, i. πώεσιν, quòd eſſent ludibundi ; vel qu. סתירים abſconditi, quòd in ſpeluncis & montibus ferè laterent ; Caſaub. A kind of paltry Demigods converſant in woods and deſerts. They are likemen upward ; onely horned heads and hairy bodies, with whiſking tails and goats feet ; Poet.

Saucona, Amm. dict. etiam Arar. The River la Saone in France.

Săvia Pannonia, quæ & Riparienſis. Windiſchlandt between Carniola and Croatia ; F.

Săvo, ōnis ; urbs Liguriæ, Liv. & fl. Campaniæ ; Stat.

Saurŏmatæ, Ovid. iidem qui & Sarmatæ. Scythians and Tartars, wild ſavage people, they drink horſes blood. Mart. The fartheſt people Northward, as the Garamantes Southward.

Saurŏmătum arva, Auſon. Hundſruck, qu. Hunnorum campus, tractus Gall. Belg. circa Moſellam.

Săvus, Claud. Saus, Plin. Sabus, Trog. A river which falleth into the Danow about Belgrade. called in Dutch Saw.

Saxo, ŏnis ; m. Claud. & in plur. Saxones. The Saxons once maſters of a great part of Germany ; ſome of them came over into England, whence the Welch call us ſtill Saiſſons.

Saxonia. Saxony, the country of the Saxons, the Upper and the Lower : and contains many provinces ; but taken ſtrictly it is not very large. The Duke of it is one of the Electors of the Empire.

Saxŏnĭcum littus. The ſea-coſt of Kent, where formerly ſtood Richborow, and ſtill Dover, and other towns : The coaſt of Normandy over againſt it, in which ſtand Roan, Conſtance, &c. is comprehended under the ſame name.

S ante C.

Scæa porta, Vir. A gate of Troy, where Laomedon's ſepulchre was.

Scæva ; qui ſcæva, i. ſiniſtrâ manu utitur. A Roman name.

Scævŏla, æ ; m. dim. A brave Roman, who having deſigned to kill Porſena King of Hetruria in his tent, and miſtook one of his Lords for him, burnt his right hand, that had committed the miſtake, in the kings preſence ; who being amazed at his undaunted courage, diſmiſſed him without harm, and made peace ſtraight with the Romans.

Scalabis, alio nomine Præſidium Julium. A large town of Portugal, thirteen leagues from Lisbon, now called Santaren from S. Irene a Virgin, who was there martyred.

Scaldia. An Iſle in the mouth of the river Scheld, called Schowen.

Scaldis, Plin. Scaldium, Cæſ. The river Scheld in the Low countries : it riſes in Picardy, and runs through Flanders to Gaunt, and ſo to Antwerp, where it makes a noble port.

Scamander, Catul. A river of Myſia, riſing out of mount Ida.

Scandia. An Iſle called Schetland, beyond the Orkneys, belonging to Norway.

Scandia, quæ & Scandinavia ; al. Beltia, & Baſilla, Plin. vagina gentium dicta Jornand. peninſula maxima Septentrionalis. All that country betwixt the Belt and the Northern ſea, containing Norway, Swedeland, &c.

Scantia ſylva, in Campaniâ, Cic. hinc mala Scantiana, Macrob.

Scaptenſula, Lucr. Scapteſula, Feſt. opp. Thraciæ, al. Macedoniæ, ubi argentum effodiebatur ; à σκάπτω fodio.

Scaptia. An old City of Latium ; Plin. & Scaptius, a, um ; Scaptia pubes, Sil.

Scarphe, es ; f. Sen. Scarphia, Plin. opp. Locridis in Achaiâ.

Scatinia lex, à Scatinio latore nomen habet, qua præpoſteræ Veneris uſus coercebatur ; Juv. al. leg. Scantinia.

Scaurus, vid. Appel. ſc. ſign. eum qui talos diſtortos habet, Hor. Int. The name of a noble family in Rome.

Sceleratus campus, in quo Veſtales propter inceſtum vivæ humari ſolebant :

ad

ad portam Collinam. Erat & porta ſic dict. quòd 306. Fabii per eam egreſſi ſint adverſus Hetruſcos pugnaturi, qui omnes ad Cremeram amnem ſunt interfecti.

Scenitæ, dict. ἀπὸ τῶν σκηνῶν, i. a Tabernaculis. People of Arabia Fœlix, that dwell in tents as having no houſes. They eat no ſwines fleſh; and if a ſwine be brought into the country it dyeth immediately, Solin. theſe people are otherwiſe called Agarens or Saracens.

Scenopegia, æ; f. σκηνοπηγία, à σκηνὴ tabernaculum, & πήγνυμι figo. The feaſt of Tabernacles among the Jews, kept in memory of their wandring in the Wilderneſs, when for forty years together they lived in tents.

Schinuſſa; Plin. An Iſle one of the Sporades.

Schœneus. The father of Atalanta, Schœneis hinc dicta.

Schœnos, i; f. Stat. regio Arcadiæ, à Sclæneo patre Atalantes dict.

Sciapodes. σκιάποδες q.d. umbripedes. Certain people of Æthiopia, or (as Pliny think) of India, which have but one foot, wherewith in the heat of Summer they overſhade their whole body: They are otherwiſe called Monoſceli, and Monòmeri: vide Monoſceli.

Sciathos, i; f. Val. Fl. inſ. maris Ægæi.

Scinthii, Germaniæ pop. Claud.

Scinis, m. Poet. A notable robber, of Corinth, who was uſed to ty peoples arms and legs to the boughs of trees bent down on purpoſe, that upon the return they might tear their limbs to pieces; and was himſelf ſo ſerved at laſt by Theſeus.

Scipio, cognomen fuit Corneliorum, cui P. Cornelius initium dedit; quòd patrem luminibus orbum vice ſcipionis, i. baculi, regeret. A noble family in Rome: The moſt famous of the name, were Scipio Naſica, for the love the people bare him, called Corculum. And two others called Scipio Africanus, each for their victories obtained over the Carthaginians in Africk. inde Scipiadæ, Vir.

Sciron, ōnis; m. Ovid. A robber whom Theſeus ſlew, and caſt his bones into the Sea; whereupon the Poets feign his bones became a Rock of the ſame name in Attica. hinc Scironia ſaxa, & Scironides petræ, Plin. ◊ It. promontorium apud Thermopylas, quod Scironis rupes, Claud.

Sclavonia; Sclavorum regio.

Scodra. The City Scutari in Dalmatia.

Scolos, i; Stat. mons & opp. in orâ Bœotiæ.

Scopas. A noble engraver; Hor.

Scorpius, ſive Scorpio, ſignum cœleſte, quod à ſole ſubitur pridiè Idus Octobris: In Acc. Scorpion, Ovid.

Scoti, & in ſing. Scotus, Claud. ſecundum quoſdam nomen à tenebris ſunt adepti; gr. σκότος. alii à Scythis jaculandi peritis, qui una cum Scotis communi nomine Scuten, i. ſagittarii appellantur à Germanis inferioribus: regio quam incolunt vocatur Scotia, ab antiquis Albania, & à Tacito Caledonia; vide Camb. The Scots or people of Scotland, which Country is the North part of Great Britain, ſevered from England by the rivers Tweed and Solway, & on all other parts compaſſed with the Sea. It is in length 110 Scotch miles, of ours 165. in breadth 157 Scotch, 230 Engliſh. Edenborough is the chief City. It was a kingdom of it ſelf, till King James united the two Crowns. It hath thirty five ſhires or provinces. Hinc Scoticus, a, um; Claud.

Scotuſſa; Plin. A town of Macedonia by the river Neſſus.

Scropha, ſic dict. quòd ſe hoſtes ſuos, ut ſcropha porcos, diſjecturum dixit. Var.

Scyllæcæum; Vir. id quod Scyllaceum.

Scylla, æ; f. σκύλλα, à σκύλλω vexo. The daughter of King Niſus, who having for Minos ſake ſtole her fathers purple lock, and afterwards being ſlighted by Minos, languiſhed, and was changed into a Lark: Another the daughter of Phorcus, beloved by Glaucus, whom therefore the witch Circe by her inchantments transformed into a Rock, with dogs about her lower parts: This rock lies in the Sea between Sicily and Italy, into which when the waves come they make a noiſe like the howling or barking of dogs; though the Poets apply this to the other Scylla alſo. To this is oppoſite the Gulf Charybdis, from which aroſe that proverb; Incidit in Scyllam cupiens vitare Charybdim; When one ſtriving to avoid one evil runs into another. Hinc Scyllæus, a, um; Vir.

Scyllaceum, Solin. Scylaceum, Plin. urbs in orâ Calabriæ, ab Æneâ condita.

Scyllæum, prom. Plin. Calabriæ Rhegium verſus; vulgò Capo di Volpe. ◊ It. prom. Peloponneſi.

Scyros, i; f. Catul. An Iſle in the Ægean ſea where Achilles was hid in womans apparel, that ſo he might not go to war: here alſo he deflowred Deidamia, and had by her a ſon called Pyrrhus. This Iſland is one of the Cyclades, over againſt Magneſia. Hinc Scyrias, adis: patronym. Ovid.

Scythæ, pop. Scythiæ. Scythians or Tartarians in the North parts of Aſia and in ſome part of Europe alſo Eaſtward. ◊ It. Adj. pro Scythicus; ut Scythas Smaragdos, Mart.

Scythas vel Scythes, filius Herculis; Who firſt invented Bows and Arrows, and from whom Scythia took its name; Pliny makes him the ſon of Jupiter: alſo the name of divers men.

Scythia, dict. à Scytho quodam Herculis ex muliere ſemivipera filio, fratre Geloni & Agathyrſi; vel ἀπὸ τοῦ σκύζεσθαι, quod Iraſci ſignif. ſunt enim Scythæ iracundiores. A large country, called now Tartary, divided into the Aſiatick and Europæan. That in Aſia lies either on this ſide mount Imaus, or on the other ſide, and comprifes a vaſt quantity of land and people. That in Europe lies about the Euxine Sea and the Mœotick lake. Hinc Scythicus, a, um; Ovid.

Scythopolis, à Scythis condita. A City of Paleſtine upon the lake of Geneſareth, now called Bethſan.

S ante E.

Sebaſte, σεβαστὴ, i. Auguſta; Samariæ opp. ab Herode inſtauratum, & in honorem Auguſti Cæſaris ita appell.

Sebaſtia, Plin. urbs Cappadociæ, hod. Sauſtia.

Sebaſtianus, à Sebaſtus, gr. σεβαστὸς, Auguſtus.

Sebaſtopolis, urbs Cappadociæ mediterr. hod. Suvaſ, altera Colchidis, Dioſcurias etiam Ptol. hod. Savatopoli.

Sebennyticum, oſtium Nili ad urbem Sebennytum; Plin.

Sēbētos, i; m. Stat. A little river that runs through the ſtreets of Naples. Hinc Sebetis, idis; f. Vir.

Sedentani, pop. Hiſp. Tarrac. hinc Sedentana cohors, Sil.

Seduſii, pop. Germaniæ; Cæſ.

Segedunum; Seton in Northumberland; or Stighill; Camd.

Segelocum, Littleborough in Nottingham ſhire.

Segeſta, oppidum Siciliæ. A City in the Weſt of Sicily. Pop. Segeſtani, Plin. Segeſtenſes, Cic. alſo a goddeſs of the Corn, called alſo

Segetia, à ſegetibus, Plin. Dea quam Priſci colebant, ut lætas faceret ſegetes.

Segnia, urbs Latii; Sil.

Segobriga, urbs Celtiberorum; Plin.

Segontiaci, Cæſ. Silceſter in Hantſhire, Camd. ſtill called in Welſh Caer Segont.

Segontium, Ant. A town in Wales not far from Bangor, with a river running by ſtill called Sejont.

Seia, à ſerendo, Plin. al. leg. Seria, quæ & Saia, Macrob. Seſſia, Tert. Dea quæ ſatione præfuit.

Sejanus. Tiberius his great favourite. Concerning his original, wit, behaviour, deviliſh policy (whereby he aſpired to the greateſt honours in Rome) and his end anſwerable thereunto, read Tac. Annal. lib. 4. Suet. in Tiber. & Juv. Sat. 10.

Seir, heb. piloſus. A mountain in Edom where Eſau did dwell.

Seleſtadium, Schleſtat in upper Alſatia.

Seleucia, à Seleuco dic. ſeveral Cities of this name. One in Meſopotamia upon the river Tiger, now called Bagdad; another of Syria; another of Cilicia; another of Piſidia.

Seleucus, Gr. i. ſplendidus, qu. σέλας λευκὸν, lux candida. A king of Syria, that ſucceeded Alexander in the government of that quarter of the Empire.

Selinis, Vir. Selinus, untis; f. Sil. dict. à ſelino, i. apio, quod ibi plurimùm naſcitur. A City and river of Sicily, now called Terra di Pulici. Hinc Selinuntius. ◊ Eſt & urbs in ora Ciliciæ: Lucan.

Sellæ, pop. Epiri in Chaoniâ; Luc.

Selymbria; Plin. A City of Thrace.

Semele, es; f. The daughter of Cadmus King of Thebes, and mother of Bacchus by Jupiter. See Ovid. Met. 3. hinc Semeleius, a, um; Id.

Semiramis, idis; f. Juſtin. The wife of Ninus king of Aſſyria, who after his deceaſe, fearing leſt ſo great a people would not be ruled by a woman, or a child (as her ſon was then) ſhe took no notice of his death, but pretended her ſelf to be him, till her ſon ſhould come of age. She reigned forty two years; during which time, ſhe ſubdued moſt part of Aſia; built many Cities, whereof Babylon was the chief; and curbed the ſwelling of Euphrates: At laſt falling from noble to ſenſual luſt, ſhe was killed by her own ſon.

Semones, i. Semihomines; Lipſ. Dii qui ob exiguitatem meritorum non omnino conſerentur cœlo digni, qui quicquid ab aëre uſque ad terram intervalli

eſt

eſt incolebant. Gods of a lower rank.

Sempronius Gracchus. Father to Caius and Tiberius Gracchus.

Semurium, campus vicinus Romæ, in quo erat templum Apollinis; Macr, & Cic.

Sena, vel Senæ; Colonia Senenſis, Tac. The City Siena in Tuſcany, one hundred miles from Rome. ◊ It. urbs ducatûs Urbini, à Senonibus Galliæ pop. condita; Sil. quæ Senogallia, Plin.

SENECA, cognom. familiæ Annææ; ab ant. Senica, i. ſenex, Non. Caſſiodor. dici putat quod cui primum inditum hoc nomen, canus fuit natus; cognominatus erat Annæus pariter ab annis. A Stoick Philoſopher, born at Corduba in Spain, uncle to Lucan the Poet, Tutor to Nero the Tyrant (an. Chr. 60.) who afterward cauſed him to drink poiſon; and when that would not work, he made him to be put in a hot bath, and his veins to be cut, and ſo he died. He wrote ſundry excellent Tracts of Philoſophy, with ſo divine a quill, that ſome Fathers eſteem him as a good Chriſtian, and S. Hierom inſerts him in his Catalogue of ſacred Authors: alſo a Tragical Poet who was born at the ſame Corduba, Martial.

Senna; Luc. fl. Umbriæ, in orâ Senonum, ad urbem Senam.

Senŏnes, um; pl. m. Cæſ. A people of France, who under the conduct of Brennus ſacked and fired Rome, and beſieged the Capitol, whom on a ſudden Camillus vanquiſhed. ◊ It. pop. Germ. Paterc.

Senta, quæ & Fauna, & Fauna, filia Pici regis, conjux Fauni fratris ſui. She was ſo chaſt, that after ſhe was married, ſhe never ſaw any man but her husband, nor any man did ever ſo much as bear her ſpeak. Var. (propter quod in operto illi Sacrificabant.) After her death, ſhe was worſhipped as a goddeſs, and (as they ſay now) made a Saint, and ſtiled Bona Dea.

Sentinus. An Augur of Rome, who was alſo an Epigrammatiſt.

Sepinum. A town in the kingdom of Naples. inde Sepinates, pop. Plin.

Seplaſia, forum Capuæ, in quo unguentarii negotiabantur: Cic.

Septimius. A Roman name.

Septimontium: feſtum ſic dict. quod tum inſtitueretur cum ſeptimus collis urbi eſſet additus; Var.

Sequăna, Cæſ. The river Seine in France, that runs through Paris.

Sequăni, Cæſ. People of the Franche Comte. hinc Sequanus, a, um; Luc. & Sequanicus, a, um; Mart.

Ser, Sĕris; m. Sen. unde in plur. Sĕres, Vir. *People of the Eaſt-*Indies, betwixt the two rivers Hydaſpes and Indus, where firſt was invented the making of ſilk, which either grew like cotton upon their trees, and was by them gathered and prepared; or elſe was wrought (as ours is) by ſilk-worms naturally, which fed upon the leaves of thoſe trees. Some think Catay to be their country, beyond China. Hinc Sericum, Silk.

Sĕrānus, dict. à ſerendo, quòd agrum cum ſereret, ab opere agreſti ad Dictaturam accerſitur, Liv.

Seraphim; Bibl. à שרף uſſit, שרפים i. flammantes, lucidi. One of the Orders of the Angels.

Sĕrapion. The name of divers men.

Sĕrāpis vel Sarapis, as ſome read it, à שרף uti Seraphim; vel à ש principe, adjecto nomine Apis. A god of the Egyptians.

Sĕrĕna, uxor Stiliconis.

Sergeſtus. Æneas his ſhip-man. Vir.

Sergia. One of the Lady conſpirators in poyſoning the City; Liv. ◊ Item Romana tribus ſic dict. Alex. ab Alex.

Sergius. A Roman Name.

Sĕria. The City Fama Julia in Spain; Plin.

Sĕriphos. i; f. Ovid. An Iſle in the ſea Ægæum; one of the Cyclades. Here the frogs do not croak. Plin.

Sertōrius; Luc. A noble Roman, who was a helper of Marius againſt Sylla: at Sylla's approach to Rome, he fled to Spain, where by his courteous carriage, he ſo endeared to him the hearts of them all, that they made him their Captain: he with ſome few of them took divers Cities, and put the Romans to flight four ſundry times; but warring againſt Pompey, he was perfidiouſly ſlain at ſupper by Perpenna, his own Companion.

Servilia. A noble woman, Concubine to J. Cæſar, and mother to M. Brutus.

Servilii, in patres à Tullo Hoſtilio lecti.

Servius, dict. à Servo, quòd qui primus id prænomen tulit in ſervitute natus eſſet, vel (ut Valerius) quia mortuâ matre in utero ſervatus eſt. A Roman name.

Sĕſoſtris, Ægyptiorum rex, Val. Fl.

Seſſia; Tert. dea ſerendi, quæ Seia, Plin.

Seſtĭæ, ſive Sextiæ aquæ, dict. à Seſtio quodam Romanorum duce. The City Aix in Provence.

Seſtus, & Seſtos, i; f. Luc. A Caſtle of Thrace by the Helleſpont on Europe ſide; as Abydos is on Aſia ſide; where 'tis narroweſt: famous for the amours of Hero hence called Seſtias, and Leander, Ovid. it is called by the Turks, Bogazaſſar, that is, the ſtreights. Hinc Seſtus, a, um; Ovid.

Sĕtăbis, f. Sil. urbs Hiſp. Tarrac. hinc Setabus, a, um; ut Setabum linum, Plin. Setaba ſudaria, Catul.

Setantiōrum palus. Winander Meer in Lancaſhire; Camd.

Sĕteia; Deemouth, Camd. al. Merſey by Leverpool.

Sĕtia, urbs Latii, Liv. patria Valerii Flacci. hinc Setinus, a, um; Juv.

Severia. The City of Salisbury.

Sĕvērĭāni. Hæretici, à Severo quodam dicti, matrimonium damnabant.

Sĕvērus. An Emperor of Rome, (in whoſe time the ſixth Perſecution raged, wherein Irenæus ſuffered) yet a great enlarger of the Roman Empire: he built the Picts Wall in England from Sea to Sea, about two and thirty miles in length; he died at York, after he had reigned eighteen years. ◊ Alſo a hill of the Sabines, Vir. Severum mons in Piceno; Vir. à ſeveris accolarum, putâ Sabinorum moribus; unde & Tetrica dic.

Sextus, dict. ab ordine naſcendi.

S ante I.

SIBYLLA, æ; f. σίβυλλα, mulier quævis fatidica, unde & σιβυλλάειν, i. ἐνθουσιᾶν. dict. qu. σιὸς (i. θεᾶ, Æol.) βυλὴ, Dei conſilium. Hæ numero 10. fuere; Perſica (Sambethe dict.) Libyca; Delphica, (quæ & Arthemis audit, & Erophile:) Erythræa; Samia; Helleſpontiaca; Tyburtina (dicta & Albunea) Cumæa; Cumana; & Phrygia. Alii alias & aliter recenſent. Harum præcipuæ, Perſica ſive Caldæa, quæ 600. oracula de adventu Chriſti ſcripſit; & Cumana, quæ novem libros ad Tarquinium retulit, ſed cum ille pretium quod petebat illa pro omnibus, ſolvere noluerit, ſex combuſſit, tantumque pro reliquis petiit, obtinuitq; Gell. l. 1. c. 19. & Suid. Aug. & Lactant.

Sicambri, Suet. People of Gelderland in the Lowcountries; or rather of Zutphen. hinc Sicambria, regio ipſa; Claud.

Sicāni, pop. Hiſpaniæ, quî ſedibus ſuis relictis, Italiam petiere; ſed devicti ab incolis Aboriginibus ad Siciliam ibant, quam Sicaniam dixerunt. Penult. producit Vir. corripit Sil. hinc Sicanis, Ovid. Sicily. & Sicanius, a, um; Vir. & Sicanus, a, um; Sil. & Sicānis Ætna, Ovid.

Sicānus, filius Mallotæ, Getis Janigenis imperavit.

Sicca. A midland City of Africk; Cic. pop. Siccenſes, Treb. Poll.

Sĭcendus. A lake in Theſſaly, whither the Seriphian frogs being brought recover their voices; Plin.

Sichæus. Hercules his Prieſt, and husband of Dido, ſlain for his wealth by Pygmalion. hinc Sichæus, a, um; Vir.

SICILIA, à ſeſiliendo, i. ſecando, dict. qu. Sicilia & avulſa ab Italiâ, cui ante aliquot ſecu'a fuerat contigua: Al. à Siculo rege, Neptuni filio & Itali fratre. The Iſland of Sicily, lying at the toe of Italy, and parted with a narrow and dangerous ſtream; It is 600. miles in compaſs. It is of a triangular form, having three Promontories; Pelorum over againſt Italy, Pachynum toward Greece, and Lilybæum anent Africk. From its figure it was formerly called Triquetra and Trinacria; alſo it goes by the name of Sicania. Hinc Siculus, a, um; Vir. & patron. Sicelis, Ovid. Sicelides Muſæ, Vir. & Sicilienſis, Cic.

Sĭcĭnius Dentatus. ob fortitudinem Actiones Romanas dict. Gell. 2. 11. Plin. 7. 38.

Sĭcŏris, Lucan. A river of Spain.

Sĭcyon. A City of Peloponneſus, famous for Olives, Ovid. unde Sicyonius, a, um; Vir.

Sidĭcĭnum, urbs Campaniæ; Plin. hinc Sidicinus, a, um; Vir.

Sidon, ōnis; f. Vir. ōnis. Sil. A City of Phœnicia, neer to Tyre; whence Sidonia Dido, Vir.

Sigălion, m. Auſon. Χπὸ τῦ σιγᾶν, id eſt, ſilere. An Image in Egypt, that by preſſing its lips ſeemed to command ſilence: the ſame with Harpocrates.

Sigēum. A Promontory neer to Troy, called now Janizari: hinc Sigeus a, um; Vir. & Sigeius; Ovid.

Sigillāria. vicus Romæ, ubi ſigillaria vendebantur, Gell.

Signia. A City of Latium in Italy, where Organs were firſt invented. Hinc Signinus, a, um; Mart.

Sīlānus, Claudii principis gener. He ſlew

ſhew himſelf becauſe Nero took Octavia from him; Tac.

Silărus, Vir. qui & Siler, Luc. A River that parts Lucania from Picenum.

Sileni, Bacchi comites, à Sileno dict. Bacchi nutritio: al. quòd eſſent Silones, i. ſimis naribus; unde & puellas ſimas amatores Silenas voc. Lucr. The Attendants of Bacchus; or, as others, the elder ſort of Satyrs ſo called; Serv.

Silēnus, σιλνὸς, dict. ἀπὸ τῦ σείεσθαι ἐν τῷ λικμῷ, ab agitando in prelo. The foſter-father of Bacchus.

Silesia. A Dukedom in Germany, bounded with Bohemia, Brandenburgh, Poland, and Hungary; The chief City is Breſlaw.

Silva Ducis. A City of Brabant, called in Dutch Hertoghen-boſch, in French Boſleduc or Bolduc.

Silva Herculis, Tac. A wood in Germany, called Hardztwaldt betwixt the Elb and the Weſer.

Silvani lucus, in Thuſciâ; Vir.

Silvium; Auſon. A town of Apulia.

pop. Silvini; Plin.

Silūres, um; pl. Tac. The People of Southwales.

Silūrum inſulæ; Solin. The Sorlings or Iſles of Silly, about a dozen of them in the Weſt of England.

Simæthus, fl. Siciliæ: hinc Simæthius, a, um; Vir. & Simethæus, a, um; & Simæthis, idis; f. Ovid.

Simeni, iidem qui Iceni; Camd.

Simeon, ōnis; Bibl. One of the twelve Patriarchs; alſo one of the N. T. whoſe ſong we uſe after the ſecond Leſſon at Evening Prayer.

Simŏis, entis; m. Vir. ſic dict. qd. ripas habeat σιμὰς, i. declives. A river of the leſſer Phrygia, riſing out of mount Ida.

Simon, id eſt, audiens, vel obediens; An Apoſtle called alſo Peter; one of Cyrene, who carried our Saviours Croſs; one ſirnamed Magus, who proffered mony for the Spirit, from whom Simony had its name; alſo the name of ſundry chief Prieſts of the Jews, about the time of the Maccabees.

Simōnides. A Poet of Cea, who being asked of Hiero the tyrant, What God was, craved a day to deliberate for an anſwer: but finding it more difficult to expreſs, the more he ſought into the Nature of God; the next day after he asked two; the third time he craved four, and ſo from that time forth he ſtill doubled the number: and being asked why he did ſo, he anſwered, That the more he ſtudied, the leſs he was able to define what God was, ſo incomprehenſible is his Nature; This Cic. relates. He was excellent at moving of pity; Quint. whence Hor. calls his poetry Ceam næniam: hinc Simonideus, a, um; Catul.

Sina, Bibl. סִינַי, id eſt, rubus. A mountain in Arabia petræa, from whence God gave the law to Moſes, called now by Chriſtians S. Katharines hill, who was buried there, and by the Turks Gibel Mouſa, that is, Moſes mount.

Sinæ; The Chineſes, a people of Aſia beyond India. Their country is divided into fifteen large provinces. They are divided from the Tartars by high hills and a wall 500 leagues in length, which yet could not ſecure them from their neighbours inrodes.

Sinălus; Sil. A Phyſician.

Sinda, urbs Piſidiæ; Plin.

Sindi, pop. Scythiæ Europ. Val. Fl.

Sineius; Camd. The river Shannon in Ireland, that runs by Limrick.

Sīnon, à σίνω, i. noceo. A crafty Grecian, who was the opener of the Trojan horſe, wherewith they overcame Troy, that had ſtoutly held out ten years ſiege: Virg.

Sīnōnia, inſula maris Tyrrheni; Plin.

Sinŏpe, es; f. Val. Fl. A City of Paphlagonia, where Diogenes the Cynick was born (thence called Sinopeus by Ovid) and where King Mithridates once kept his Court. ◊ Alſo a Nymph the daughter of Aſopus.

Sinŭeſſa; f. Ovid. priùs Sinope, Liv. A City once of Campania, where now the town Rocca di Mondragone, on the edg of the Maſſick hill. Hinc Sinueſſanus, a, um; Cic. Plin. Mart.

Sipus, untis; f. Lucan. Sipuntum, Mel. A City of Apulia at the foot of the hill Garganus, built by Diomedes.

Sipylus, & Sipylos, Stat. vel Sipylum; Propert. A town and hill of Lydia, formerly called Tantalis; Solin. ◊ Alſo the name of a man, the ſon of Niobe; Ovid.

SIRENES, um; pl. f. Poet. & in ſing. Siren, Claud. ab Heb. שִׁיר Canticum, ob canendi peritiam. Meermaids, in their upper parts like women, fiſh below, as we paint them: or according to Serv. part virgins, part birds; whence called volucres puellæ by Claud. They were three of them, daughters of Achelous and the Muſe Calliopa (whence Siren Achēloïas, Sil.) They were excellent ſongſters that plyed upon the coaſt of Sicily & tempted paſſengers on ſhore, where they ſung them aſleep, & then killed and robbed them. Ulyſſes to avoid the danger of them, as Circe adviſed him, ſtopt his Companions ears with wax, that they might not hear their charms; and had himſelf tied to the main-maſt, that though he heard he might not ſtir. Or the Moral at leaſt is, to ſhew the peril of bodily pleaſures, which are likewiſe three; Meats, Drinks and Venery. Their diſappointment in the loſs of ſuch a prize broke their hearts, that in diſcontent they threw themſelves into the Sea, and were turned into rocks. Truth is, they were tempting harlots; ſo Serv.

Sirēnuſſæ vel Sirenuſæ; Plin. Sirenum petræ, Mel. ſaxa, Solin. dictæ, tres in ſinu Pæſtano inſulæ; Leucoſia, Parthenope, & Ligea.

Siris. A river of great Greece; Plin.

Sirius; Poet. σείριος lat. Canicula, à σείρω ſicco. The Dog-ſtar.

Sirmio; pagus ad Benacum lacum in peninſulâ; Catul.

Sirmium; Plin. Sirmis, Jornand. The City Sirmiſch in lower Hungary.

Sīsăpho. The brother of Mamertes, Ovid

Sisăpōne; Plin. A town of Bætick Spain, famous for Vermilion, Cic.

Siscia; Prud. A City once of upper Hungary, the country of Quirinus the Martyr.

Siſenna. An ancient Roman Hiſtorian, mentioned by Ovid. and the old Grammarians. His works are loſt.

Siſigambis. A moſt beautiful Lady, Wife to Darius; Curt.

Siſyphus, Poet. & Siſyphos, Ovid. qua ſi σύνοφος, ἀπὸ τῦ σοφὸς ſapiens. The ſon of Æolus (thence called Æolides, Hor.) a great robber of the Atrick country, and ſlain by Theſeus, and for his farther puniſhment in hell he was ſet to roll a great ſtone to the top of a hill, which when it was at the top, would ſuddenly ſlide down again; and ſo he renewed his labour. He was grandfather to Ulyſſes.

Sithon; inſ. maris Ægæi; Ovid.

Sithōnia. That part of Thrace that bordereth on the Euxine Sea; Solin. hinc Sithonius, a, um; Vir. & Sithonis; f. patron. Ovid.

Sitomagus. Thetford in Norfolk; Camd.

Sitones; Tac. People of Norway and Lapland.

S ante M.

Smilax, f. Ovid. A beautiful Damoſel that loved Crocus, but he ſlighted her; wherefore ſhe dying was turned into a ſhrub of her name, with lily flowers.

Smintheus, in Acc Sminthea, Ovid. σμινθεύς, à σμίνθος mus, Euſt. q. d. μυοκτόνος, i muricida, quomodò Tyriis Beelzebub, i. ἀπόμυιος, quòd muſcas abigeret. A title of Apollo.

Smyrna, σμύρνα, id eſt, Myrrha; à Smyrna Amazone dict. Steph. A City of Ionia, built by the Amazons, forty miles from Epheſus; the country of Homer, who is therefore called Smyrnæus vates by Lucan.

S ante O.

Sochis. A king of Egypt, who dedicated four very high Obeliſks to the Sun; Plin.

SOCRATES, σωκράτης, i. ſanum robur. The ſon of Sophroniſcus a ſtonecutter, and Panarete a midwife; a moſt excellent Philoſopher, that in the judgment of Apollo, was the wiſeſt man on earth: he was moſt noted for the ſtudy and practice of moral Philoſophy, for which being envied, his enemies accuſed him of contempt toward their gods; for which he was condemned to die by drinking a potion of hemlock; but ſoon after the Athenians ſhewed their ſorrow for the loſs of him, by ſlaying his accuſers, and erecting Statues in honour of him. hinc Socraticus, a, um, adj. ◊ Alſo a Painter, Plin. alſo a Greek Church-Hiſtorian.

Sŏdŏma, æ; f. vel orum; n. A City once of Paleſtine, where now a Brimſtone lake is, deſtroyed by fire from heaven for that ſin, which from them is called Sodomy. There are apples with a fair outſide, but within full of ſoot and ſmoak, like what we call the Devils puffs: Tert.

Sodorenſis Epiſcopus. The Biſhop of the Iſle of Man.

Sogdiāna. A large country of Aſia. The chief City Samarcand, where Tamerlan was born. pop. Sogdiani; Plin.

Sŏli. A City of Cilicia, ſo called from Solon, afterward Pompeiopolis, Aratus his country. There was a ſpring, that ran Oil; Plin.

Solinus; à Sole, Priſc. An Hiſtorian cal-

called Pliny's Ape.

SOLON, ōnis; m. Auſon. One of the ſeven wiſe men of Greece, and a Law-giver to the Athenians at that time, when Tarquinius Priſcus was King at Rome. To ſhun the tyranny of Piſiſtratus, he travelled into Egypt; afterward he went to Lydia. There Crœſus on a time aſked him, Who in the whole world was more happy than he? He anſwered Tellus, who though he were a poor man, yet was a good man, and content with what he had, and never travelled, but died in a good old age; for till one be dead, he cannot be ſaid to be happy, as Crœſus afterward found true by experience.

Solyma; Plin. A City of Lycia; alſo Jeruſalem ſo called by Chriſtian Poets. Pop. Solymi. Hinc Solymus, a, um; Juv.

Sophenæ; Luc. People of Armenia. Al. leg. Sophene, ut ſit ipſa regio.

Sophitis; Curt. A country of the Eaſt Indies.

Sophocles, i. σοφὸν κλέος, ſapiens gloria; ob orationis ſuavitem μελιτία, i. Apis appell. Suid. primus ex illis 7. Tragicis poetis qui à Græcis Pleiades dict. A Tragic Poet of Athens, of a lofty ſtyle: he died of a ſudden joy; Val. M. But Lucian ſays he was choaked with a grape-ſtone.

Sophronia, Gr. id. eſt, modeſtia, vel modeſta. A Roman Lady, another Lucretia, who being a Chriſtian, and ſeeing that Decius the Emperor meant to force her, with her husbands conſent took a ſword and ſlew her ſelf.

Sora, Sil. A City of Latium, belonging to the Kingdom of Naples. Pop. Sorani; Liv.

Soracte, is; n. Vir. An high hill of Tuſcany, ſacred to Apollo; called now Monte di S. Oreſto, by Cato formerly Mons Faliſcorum.

Sorbiodunum & Sorviodunum. Old Salisbury.

Soſia, ſive Soſias; σωσίας ſervile nomen, quòd ſervatus in bello, à σώζω ſervo. A ſervant in Plautus, whom Mercury counterfeited.

Soſigenes; Plin. An Aſtrologer, who help Jul. Cæſar in ordering the account of the year.

Soſii, Hor. Booksellers or Stationers at that time in Rome.

Soſipater, i. ſervans patrem, vel ſalus patris. A Grammarian ſo called.

Soſtrăta. A womans name in Terence.

Soſtratus. A workman, whom Ptolomy Philadelphus imployed to build him a Tower in the Pharos, to give light to the Mariners by night; and when he had done, he gave him leave to inſcribe his own name; Plin. Thus, Σώστρατος Κνίδιος Δεξιφάνης θεοῖς σωτῆρσιν ὑπὲρ σῴων πλοϊζομένων. Str.

Sotades. A laſcivious Poet.

Sōtira, Juno ſic dict. ab ant. σώτειρα, qui ſalutaris, ſoſpitatrix.

Sozomenus. A Greek Church-Hiſtorian.

S ante P.

Spaco. Cyrus his Nurſe; the word in the language of the Medes ſignifieth a Bitch.

Sparſus, vir quidam, quem Seneca ſcribit Inter Scholaſticos inſanum, inter inſanos fuiſſe Scholaſticum. Cœl.

Sparta, & Sparte, f. Ovid. à Sparto Phoronei filio Inachi nepote condita. A City of Peloponneſus, the ſame that Lacedæmon; It is now called Muſithra. Spartiatæ, pop. Spartanus, a, um; adj. Ovid.

Spartăcus. A common fencer, who breaking out of Capua, with his own gang and a company of ſlaves, rais'd a war againſt the ſtate of Rome, and ravaged the country, till at laſt being ſtraitned by M. Craſſus, he with his whole party died bravely in fight. Hor. Luc. & Claud.

Sperchius; Vir. A River in Theſſaly that riſeth out of mount Pindus: Hinc Sperchias, ădis; f. patron. Ovid.

Speuſippus. A Philoſopher of Athens, and Plato his nephew, who taught in Plato's School eight years; vid. Gell. 3. 17.

SPHINX, f. Gen. Sphingos, Stat. monſtrum, ex Typhone & Echidna natum, à σφίγγω, quòd homines ſtringeret ſuis quæſtionibus, ut ſe expedire non poſſent; Int. Stat. She had a head and face like a Girl, wings like a Bird, in the reſt of her body like a Dog, or claws like a Lyon, Auſon. She kept neer Thebes, and deſtroyed many paſſengers that came that way: Apollo told them there would be no end of this miſchef, till ſomebody expounded her riddle; which was this; What Creature is that, that in the morning goeth with four feet, and at noon with two, and at night with three? They that could not expound it, ſhe killed. Creon king of Thebes made a Proclamation over all Greece, that if any man could expound her riddle, he ſhould have his ſiſter Jocaſta to wife. Œdipus undertook it, and ſaid it was a man, who in his infancy went on all four, to wit his hands and feet: in his middle age on two legs; and when he is old on three, that is, he uſed a ſtaff: at which expoſition Sphinx was ſo grieved, that ſhe threw her ſelf down the rock and brake her neck; upon this Œdipus was unwittingly advanced to his mothers bed, and to the kingdom of Thebes.

Spinæ. Newbury in Berkſhire; or rather Spene, a village hard by it; Camd.

Spineticum, Cic. unum ex Padi oſtiis, à Spina, urbe olim ibi ſitâ dict. unde & locus adhuc Val di Spina dic.

Spōlētum; Liv. A City of Umbria in Italy, now called Spoleto, and gives title to a Duke. Hinc Spoletinus, a, um; Mart.

Spŏrădes, um; pl. f. Plin. σποράδες, à σπείρω, ſic dict. quòd in mari ſparſæ ſint; uti aliæ Cyclades dict. quòd in circulum glomeratæ. About forty Iſles that lye ſcattered in the Ægean ſea; whereof twelve are of more note.

Sporus. A youth, whom Nero indeavoured to make a woman, by guelding him; Suet.

Spurina. The Mathematician that gave Cæſar warning to beware of the Ides of March, Suet. Another, one of Otho's Captains; Tac.

Spurius, notatur duabus literis SP. qu. ſine patre, Plut. The forename of divers Romans.

S ante T.

Stabiæ; Sil. A ſea-town of Campania deſtroyed by Sylla; Plin. hinc Littus Stabianum, Sen.

Stagira; pl. n. A town of Macedon, where Ariſtotle was born.

Staphylus, σταφυλός, uva. Plin. One that firſt mingled water with wine.

Statanus & Statulinus; Dii infantum, ubi primùm ſtare atq; incedere inciperent; Var.

Statellates, Liv. Statiellenſes, Cic. Statyelli, Plin. pop. Liguriæ.

Statilia; Sen. An old Lady that lived ninety nine years in Claudius time; Plin.

Stătĭnæ; pl. Stat. Iſles of Campania that roſe up with a ſudden earthquake, Plin.

Statio. A Hanſe-town in the Duchy of Bremen, called Staden.

Statius, dict. etiam Cæcilius. A Comical Poet, contemporary with Ennius; Another called alſo Papinius, a Poet of Naples in the time of Domitian, he wrote ſundry Poems which are extant with us. Another, a Rhetorician of Tolouſe in France in Nero's time; Hier.

Statones; Plin. Stationenſes, Sen. A People of Hetruria, who have excellent wine.

Stator, à ſiſto, ſtatum; dict. quòd cum Romani in fugam à Samnitibus verſi eſſent, repentè eo invocato ad pugnam redierint. Jupiter ſo called.

Stella Aruntius, Poeta Patavinus. One whom Martial flatter'd, and Statius wrote an Epithalamium of his marriage.

Stellates campi, Sil. & Liv. Fruitful fields in Campania. ◊ Alſo people of Tuſcany, Cato.

Stentor, ŏris; Juv. A Grecian that had as loud a voice as fifty mens together; whence the proverb, Stentore clamoſior.

Stephanodunum. A City of Lorn in Scotland, called Dunſtafag.

Stephanopolis, quæ & Corona. The City Braſſaw in Tranſylvania, called by the Germans Kronſtat. ◊ Alſo Landskroon a City of Denmark.

Stephanus. The name of divers men.

Stercutius, dict. Saturnus, quòd primus ſtercorandi agri rationem invenerit. Al. ſcrib. Stercutius, Sterculius, & Sterquilinius; vid. Plin. & Macr.

Stereontium. The chief City of Haſſen, called Caſſel.

Sterope. One of the Pleiades.

Steropes. One of Vulcans men.

Steſichorus; Hor. ſic dict. quòd primus cum citharæ cantu chorum conjunxerit. A Lyric Poet, unto whom (when he was an infant, and in his cradle) there came a Nightingale, and ſitting on his mouth, ſung, to portend that he ſhould prove an excellent Poet.

Sthĕnĕlus; Hor. The ſon of Capaneus and Evadne. One of the Greek Captains that were at Troy, who was alſo one of thoſe that was ſhut up in the wooden horſe; Vir. Alſo the ſon of Perſeus by Andromeda. Hinc Stheneleius, a, um; Ovid.

Sthenobœa. Wife to king Prœtus.

Sthenyo. One of the Gorgons.

Stilbon, ontis; Mercurii ſtella; στίλβων, i. radians, quòd ejus orbis ſplendeat.

Stili-

Stilico. Father in law to Honorius, and Governor of the Weſt.

Stilpo. A Philoſopher of Megara, of whom Cic. gives a good Character.

Stimula; Dea, quæ ſtimulat ad libidinem: Int. Juv.

Stiphelus. One of the Centaurs; Ovid.

Stiria, Steyrmark, a province of Germany, having Hungary on the Eaſt of it; the chief City is Gratz.

Stobæus. A writer of Greek ſentences.

Stœchades, m; f. pl. & ſing. Stœchas, ădos; f. Luc. στοιχάδες dict. propter ordinem quo ſitæ ſunt. Three Iſles in the French ſea on the coaſt of Provence, the firſt called Prote, the ſecond Meſe or Pomponiana, the third Hypæa. There are two more of leſs note; the French call them Les iſles d'Hyeres.

Stoïci, dict. à στοὰ, i. porticus, in quâ primum docuit Zeno. A ſevere Sect of Philoſophers, of which Zeno Citiæus was the firſt author. They maintained Fate, allowed no paſſion, were very grave and ſtaid. Epictetus in Greek and Seneca in Latin, who were themſelves Stoicks, will inform you of their principles. Hinc Stoïcus, a, um; & Stoïcidæ, patron.

Strabo, ſic dict. quòd erat oculis diſtortis. A famous Geographer of Gnoſſos in Crete, in Tiberius time.

Strato. A King of Sidon, whom his wife ſlew, becauſe he ſhould not fall into the hands of his enemies; Hier.

Stratonica, urbs Macedoniæ, à Stratonice Antiochi uxore dict. poſtea condita ab Adriano, & dict. Adrianopolis, hodie Franco caſtro vocatur. ◊ It. urbs Cariæ, Plin.

Stratonicus, Plaut. King Philip and his ſon Alexanders Treaſurer, a very rich man.

Strenua, Dea, quæ & Strenia dici videtur Var. dict. à ſtrenuè faciendo. Aug.

Staïdòn. The City Sdrin, in the confines of Hungary and Dalmatia, where S. Jerom was born.

Strigonium. A City of lower Hungary, called Gran, ten miles off Buda.

Strigulia. Chepſtow, Leland.

Strongyle, es; f. & Strongylos, i; f. Sil. στρογγύλη, rotunda. An Iſle by Sicily, one of the Æoliæ, now called Stromboli; alſo an Iſle of Crete; Solin. and another of Lycia; Plin.

Strophades, um; pl. f. Vir. quæ & Plotæ, στροφάδες, ἀπὸ τῆς στροφῆς, à converſione Calais & Zethæ, qui ad has Inſulas Harpyias proſequuti ſunt. Two ſmall iſles in the Ionian Sea, now called Strivali, where the Harpyes kept.

Strophius. King of Phocis, father to Pylades.

Strymon, ŏnis; m. Vir. A river parting Macedon from Thrace. Hinc Strymonius, a, um; Vir.

Stucia; fl. Iſtuyth in Cardigan*ſhire.*

Sturæ. A river riſing out of the Alps, and falling into Padus. Plin.

Sturii. *People of Weſt-*Friezland, now Staveren.

Stymphalus, & Stymphālos; Stat. A high hill and City of Arcadia. Hinc Stymphalis, idis; f. patron. ut Stymphalide ſylva, Ovid. Stymphalidas volucres, Vir. quas Stymphalicas aves voc. Plaut. ab Hercule extinctas.

Styx, Stygis; f. Poet. à στυγέω, odiſſe, horrere. A ſpring and river in Arcadia, which riſeth out of the lake Pheneus, the water whereof is ſo cold and venemous, that it kills any thing that drinks of it. It eateth and waſteth iron and braſs: it cannot be contained in any thing, but in the hoof of a mule: ſome ſay Alexander was poyſoned with it. The Poets feign it to be a river of Hell; and ſo ſacred to the gods, that if any of them ſwear by it, and break his oath, he ſhall be deprived of his godhead, and drink no Nectar for an hundred years; hinc Stygius, a, um; Vir.

S ante U.

Suadela, Hor. & Suada, Enn. gr. πειθὼ perſuaſionis dea; comes Veneris.

Suburra, dict. quod ſita ſit ſub loco quem Terreum murum appellant; qu. ſuburba. al. dict. à pago Succuſano, Succuſa, inde mutatis literis Suburra; Feſt. à ſuccurrendo, quod in ea ſtationem ſoleat habere præſidium ſtativum, ut Exquiliis ſuccurreret. A ſtreet in that part of Rome, which is called la Regione de Monti. It was a place infamous for whore-houſes; Perſ. & Mart. Hinc Suburranus, a, um; Mart.

Suecia, vel Suedia. The country called Sweden or Swethland, bounding on the Baltick Sea, Norway and Denmark. The chief Cities are Stockholm and Upſal. Pop. Sueci, olim Suiones; Tac.

Sueſſa; Liv. A City of Campania.

Sueſſones; Cæſ. People of France, whoſe City is now called Soiſſons.

Suetonius. An excellent Hiſtorian, who wrote the lives of the twelve Cæſars with the ſame freedome as they led them.

Suevi, ita dict. à Suevone monte qui Germaniam à Sarmatiâ ſeparat; Solin. vel à Suevo fl. People of Germany, that removed from the more Northern parts, and ſetled about the Danow; from them Schwinford had its name, i. Suevorum trajectus. Leg. & in ſing. Suevus; Claud.

Suevia. A large country of Germany called by the Dutch, Schwaben; parted from Alſatia, by the river Rhine. ◊ Suevicum mare, Tac. The Belt or Sound.

Suffenus, A ſilly Poet that admired himſelf without deſert, or rival.

Suidas. A Greek Lexicographer about Alexius Comnenus his time.

Sulchi, urbs Sardiniæ; Claud.

Sulloniacæ. Brockly Hill, or Edgworth in Hartford-ſhire.

Sulmo, onis; m. Cic. à Solymo, Æneæ comite dict. Ovid. A City of the Peligni in Italy, the birth-place of Ovid, ninety miles from Rome, as himſelf ſays; a place well watered. Hinc Sulmonenſis, Juv.

Sulpitia, Paterculi filia, & Fulvii Flacci uxor; Plin. Another a Poetiſs; Mart.

Sulpitius Gallus, aſtrologus, qui in exercitu Pub. Æmilii contra Perſeum deprehenſam noctu eclipſim lunæ mirantibus militibus enarravit, Plin. Cic.

Summānus, dict. Pluto quaſi ſummus deorum manium. Capell. Summanus, Arnob. Onom.

Sundis. A City of Pomerland upon the Baltick ſhore, a little diſtant from the Iſland Rugen; it is called Stralſund.

Sunium, Cic. Sūnion, Stat. A Promontory and town of Attica now called Capo delle Colonne.

Sŭpĕrum mare. The Adriatick Sea.

Surrentum; Tac. urbs Picentinorum maritima: hinc Surrentinus, a, um Ovid.

Sūſa, ōrum, n. Lucan. dict. à liliorum copia, nam σῦσον Perſis lilium, Etymol. imò. Heb. שושן. al. ab equis heb סוס equus; Id. The chief City of the country Suſiana, in the Perſian Empire, and the ſeat of the Perſian Princes in Summer-time.

Sūsăna, æ; f. Sil. opp. Hiſp. Tarrac.

Suſanna; à שושן lilium. A chaſt Jewiſh Lady.

Sutrium. A City of Hetruria, which revolting from the Romans, Camillus, who was ſent to reduce them, order'd his ſouldiers to carry three days proviſion with them, whence the Proverb, Quaſi Sutrium eant, Plaut. when one goes about a buſineſs with ſpeed and due preparation. Hinc Sutrinus & Sutrius a, um; Sil.

S ante Y.

Sybăris, Ovid. A river (now called Cochile) and once a potent City of Magna Græcia; rebuilt ſince, and called Thurium. The people Sybaritæ, ſo given to their eaſe, that they would not ſuffer a Smith, or any ſuch Artificer, nor a Cock (becauſe they would not be troubled with any noiſe) to abide in the City: they taught their horſes to dance to the Pipes; which thing the Crotoniatæ (as Ariſtotle obſerveth) their deadly enemies perceiving, brought a great many Minſtrels or Pipers into the field to fight againſt them: as ſoon as the Sybarites horſes heard the Pipes, they began to dance, and ſo did diſorder their army; by which means the Sybarites were quite overthrown, to the number of 300000 men. Hinc Sybaritanus, & Sybariticus, a, um; & patron. Sybaritis, idis; f. Ovid.

Syce. An Iſle near Epheſus. Plin.

Sycŏris; Lucan. A river of Spain.

Sycuſſa. An Iſle before Epheſus; Plin.

Syderis. Plin. A river of Parthia or Media, which runs into the Caſpian ſea.

Syēne, es; f. Luc. A City in Egypt near Æthiope, placed directly under the Tropick of Cancer; ſo that at noon there is no ſhadow. It was once the bound of the Roman power, and is now of the Turkiſh.

Sygāros. An Iſle in the Arabian gulf, where no dog will live; Plin.

Sylla, æ. Pub. Cornelius dict. quòd decem vir ex libris Sibyllinis ludos Apollinis inſtituit, ſiquidem Sylla qu. Sibylla dict. Macrob. al. à rubore facici albori mixto; Plut. at in nomine nec rubor nec albor. Pot. ab ὗλος dim. ab ὗς Porcellus, factum ὗλλα, hinc Sylla, ut ab ὕλη Sylva; ut ſit id. quod Porcim: V. A noble Roman of the antient family of the Scipio's; he firſt ſerved under Marius, afterwards aſſiſting to the power of a Dictator, he was a great enemy to Marius, and at laſt his utter ruine; then had he power to over-rule all Rome, which he did by cutting off daily his foes, and enriching his friends: at last he died privately at Puteoli of the lowsie disease, after he had slain 100000 men, 90 Senators, 15 of Consular dignity, 2000 Gentlemen: see more of his life in Plutarch. Hinc Syllanus, a, um.

Sylvānus, Poet. Sylvarum Deus, θεὸς ὑλαῖος. qui Cyparissum puerum in arborem sui nominis transformavit. ♁ Dic. & Mars Silvanus, Cato. & Hercules Silvanus, Aur. Vict. quòd in silvis delubra haberent.

Sylvia. The same as Ilia, the mother of Romulus; Vir.

Sylvius. The brother of Ascanius, born in the woods; Ovid. of whom the Kings of Alba were after called Sylvii.

Symæthus, fl. Siciliæ. v. Simæthus.

Symbrivium; Sil. Simbrivium; Tac. ſtagnum Latii.

Symmāchia, Venus, i. commilito, eo qd. Romanis in bello Actiaco opem tulisset.

Symmăchus, συμμαχ☉, commilito. A Bishop of Rome, an. Ch. 459. he made an order that none should seek for a Bishops seat before the present were dead: also one who translated the Bible, an. Ch. 201. also a Roman Orator, against whom S. Ambrose and Prudentius wrote: also the father in law of Boëthius, whom Theodoricus king of the Goths slew; and when the head of a great fish was set upon the table, he supposing it to be Symmachus his head that haunted him, fell into a fever, and died of it.

Symplēgădes, um; f. Ovid. quæ & Cyaneæ: & in ſing. Symplēgas, ădos; f. Lucan. à συμπλήσσω, ξω, ξα, quòd concurrere & collidi videantur. Two rocks, (some say Islands) a mile and a half distant from the straits of Bosphorus, so near together, that they seem afar off to be one; and as one passeth by, he would think they run one against another.

Synnāda, æ; f. Claud. A City of the greater Phrygia, famous for marble.

Syphax, ācis, Ovid. ăcis, Claud. Numidiæ rex. Lælius reconciled him to Scipio, ſo that he entred into a league with him; afterwards, breaking his faith, he joyned with Hannibal: Masinissa took him priſoner, and for his treachery delivered him to Scipio, who put him into priſon, where he pined to death.

Syrācūsæ; Cic. A City of Sicily, called Saragoſa, ſtanding upon a little Iſlet with two ports to the Sea, and one gate to land. Hinc Syracusanus & Syracusius, a, um; Claud.

Syria. A large country of Asia, divided into Cœloſyria, Comagene and Palmyrene; (not to take in Paleſtine and Phœnicia) It is 175 miles broad, and 430 in length. The chief City is Antioch upon the river Orontes. Pop. Syri. hinc Syrius, a, um; Vir. & Syriacus, a, um.

Syrinx, gis, f. Ovid. σύριγξ, i. calamus paluſtris. An Arcadian Nymph, who flying from Pan, was turned into a Reed, Pan took and made a pipe of it.

Syrnos, inſ. maris Ægæi; Plin.

Syrophœnicia. The ſame with Phœnicia, or it is reckoned part of Syria.

Syrophœnix, m. Juv. A man of that Country; Syrophœniſſa, N. T. The woman.

Syros, inſ. maris Ægæi; Plin.

Syrtes, f. plur. & ſing. Syrtis, f. Vir. dict. à σύρειν, i. trahere, Sal. quod fluctus vi ventorum trahunt limum & arenam, & ſaxa ingentia, quò cum arrepta navis incidit, aquarum vorticibus abſorpta eſt. Two quick-ſands on the African ſhore, the greater beyond Tripoli about 400 miles in compaſs: the leſſer on this ſide 190 miles about. Hinc Syrticus, a, um; Sen.

---

T ante A.

TAberna. Three Cities called Zabern: two of them in Alſatia, the other in the Palatinate.

Tābis; promont. Scythiæ; Plin.

Tabor. A mount of Paleſtine, in the tribes of Zabulon and Nephtali, where our Saviour was transfigured,

Tabrăca; Claud. A City once, now a ſmall town of Africk, upon the Sea-coaſt, belonging to Algiers.

Tăburnus, mons Campaniæ, Virg. Georg. 2. olivarum ferax.

Tăcitus, ſirnamed Pub. Cornelius. A famous Orator and Hiſtorian: in Veſpaſian's time he was Governor of Gallia Belgica; under Titus, he was Quæſtor and Ædilis; and Conſul in Nerva's time: in his old age he writ his Hiſtories de rebus geſtis ab exitu Neronis ad Nervam; and his Annalls ab exitu Auguſti ad finem Neronis, whereof many are loſt.

Tænārus, i; m. plur. Tænăra, æ. Stat. It. in ſing. Tænarum, Solin. & Tænaros, i; f. Luc. A Promontory and Port and Town of Peloponneſus, full of thick woods, where the Poets feign was a deſcent to hell called Tænaria porta, Ovid. Tænariæ fauces, Vir.

Tāges, filius Genii, Joviſque nepos, qui adhuc puer 12. annorum, Hetruſcos aruſpicinam docuiſſe fertur: indè Ovid. 15. Met. Indigenæ dixere Tagem, qui primus Hetruſcam edoſuit gentem caſus aperire futuros.

Tagrus. A hill in Portugal, ſix leagues off Lisbon, neer Caſcais at the mouth of Tagus; where Mares conceive with the wind; Var. & Col.

Tāgus. A famous river in Spain, having run 400 miles, it falls into the ſea two leagues below Lisbon. hodiè dict. Taio. It is ſaid to carry gold ſand in the bottom of it, whence Mart. calls it Auriferum Tagum.

Talthybius; Ovid. One of Agamemnons Purſevants or Meſſengers, who fetch'd away Briſeis from Achilles; cr yer in the Grecian camp.

Tālus, Dædalus his ſiſters ſon, who ſeeing the jaw of a ſerpent, found out the uſe of the iron Saw: he ſo ſurpaſſed in his art, that Dædalus, fearing he ſhould excel him, put him to death.

Tămare. Tamerton; Camd. or Taveſtock in the weſt of England.

Tămăris; Mel. The river Tamar or Tambre in Spain.

Tămărus, Britanniæ fluvius. The river Tamer or Tamar near St. Michaels mount in the Weſt, that runs by Tamerton, and falls into the Sea at Plymouth, Camd.

Tămăſus, urbs inſ. Cypri, Str. hinc Tamaſenus ager, Ovid.

Tamberlānus, vel Tamerlanus, A Scythyan, that with 900000 ſouldiers overcame Bajazet the great Turk, and after the victory, put him in an Iron grate, which was carried about to be his footſtool when he got on his horſe.

Tamesis, Cæſ. τάμεσις, Dio. à τέμνω, i. ſeco, divido, fines enim interioris regionis à maritimis civitatibus dividit. The river Thames by London.

Tănager, vel grus; Vir. A river of Lucania in Italy.

Tanagra, æ; f. Stat. A City of Bœotia. ♁ Tanagrici galli, Var. A ſort of game-cocks.

Tănăis. A river in Scythia, dividing Aſia from Europe, called by the inhabitants Don; It riſes in Muſcovy and runs into the Mœotick lake.

Tănăquil. Wife to Tarquinius Priſcus; and is taken for any imperious wife; Juv.

Tănărus. A river of Liguria, that riſes out of the Apennine, and runs into Po.

Tănatos. The Iſle Thenet in Kent.

Tănis, Taphnis, Ezech. Urbs Ægypti. heb. Zoan, unde nomen; non à Titanibus, quod vult Iſid.

TANTALUS, qu. πολύτλητ☉, i. miſerrimus. The ſon of Jupiter and Plota the Nymph, grandfather to Agamemnon and Menelaus: (who are therefore called Tantalidæ) on a time he entertaining the gods to make trial of their divinity, killed and dreſſed, and ſerved up his ſon Pelops at the feaſt; which fact the gods after they had deſcried, they ſo abhorred, that for the loathſome banquet he made them, they made him one as diſtaſteful; for he was ſet in water to the chin, and apples bobbed him on the lips, yet had he no power to ſtoop to the one to quench his thirſt, nor to reach up to the other to ſatisfie his hungry appetite: But for Pelops Jupiter revived him; and for his ſhoulder that Ceres had eaten up, he made him one of Ivory. Others ſay, he was thus puniſhed for his blabbing of ſecrets; Ovid. But Cic. ſays he had a great ſtone hung over his head in hell. Hinc Tantaleus, a, um; Propert. & Tantalicus, Claud. & Tantălis, f. patron. i. Niobe.

Tăphĭæ; Plin. quæ & Teleboides, à Tapho Neptuni filio, qui illic imperavit. Three Iſles of the Ionian Sea; Taphias, Arnoxia, and Prioneſſa.

Tăphĭaſſus. A hill in Ætolia; Plin.

Taphræ; Plin. A city in the ſtraits of Taurica Cherroneſus, now called Precop.

Tapröbāne, es; f. Ovid. An Iſle in the Indian ſea, now called in Arab. Ceylan, by the Natives Tenariſin, i. A land of delights. It is rich in ſpices; is about 650 miles in compaſs, and hath ſeven kingdoms in it.

Tărănis; Lucan. Jupiter à Gallis ſic dict. à Taran, Brit. i. tonitru, q. d. βορυτάων. Huic humano ſanguine litabant.

Taras, al. Tarax Scythiæ fl. Val. Fl.

Tarbelli; Cæſ. People of Guyenne near the Pyrenean hills. Hinc Tarbellius, Auſon. & Tarbellicus, a, um; Luc.

Tarchon, Vir. A Captain of Hetruria, and a famous Soothſayer, who aided Æneas againſt Turnus.

Tarcondimotus, Flor. Tarcondarius, Cæſ. A prince of Cilicia and ally of the Ro-

Romans; Cic.

Tărentum, n. & Tarentus, f. Sidon. dict. à Tarante Neptuni filio; alii à Sabina voce Tarentum deducunt, quæ illis Mole ſig. propterea quod in agro Tarentino & nuces & lanæ molliſſimæ proveniunt. A noble City in the ſartheſt part of Magna Græcia, now Taranto; it was inhabited by Spartans, under Phalantus their Captain; whence Ovid calls it Lacedæmonium Tarentum. inde Tarentinus, a, um; Hor.

Tarne. A town and fountain in Lydia neer mount Tmolus; alſo a river in Aquitan, called Le Tarn. and by Sidon. Tarnis.

Tarodunum. Fribourg, the chief City of Briſgaw in Germany.

Tarpeia. A veſtal Virgin, who covenanted with the Sabines to betray the Capitol unto them for what they wore on their left arms: but when they were entred, inſtead of bracelets, which ſhe intended, they threw their targets upon her, whereby ſhe was ſmothered and preſſed to death. inde Tarpeius mons, dict. qd. eo in monte ſepulta erat Tarpeia. Liv. idem Capitolino. Tarpeia rupes, Luc. arx, Vir. Tarpeium nemus, Propert.

Tarquinia, urbs Hetruriæ; Tarquinii, Cic. à Tarconte, qui Ænea opem contra Turnum tulit, condita, & Tarcona appell. poſtea Tarquinia à Tarquinio Rege dict. Pop. Tarquinienſes, Plin.

Tarquinius, dict. à Tarquinia, urbe Tuſcorum, ubi natus erat Priſcus Tarquin. antea Lucumo dict. Demarathi Corinthii filius, quintus rex Romanorum factus. Alii fuere inſignes Tarquinii; Superbus, ſeptimus & ultimus Rom. rex: qui propter ſtuprum à Sexto filio vi Lucretiæ illatum, cum familia ſua urbe & regno pellitur. Collatinus, Bruti collega in conſulatu.

Tarrăcina; Cic. A City of the Volſcians called Anxur formerly.

Tarrăco, ōnis f. Mart. Aragon, the chief City of Hiſpania Tarraconenſis, which is one of the three parts of Spain, and larger than both the other two. It doth now contain the kingdom of Caſtile, Gallicia, Navarre, and Arragon.

Tarſus, & Tarſos, i; f. Solin. à ταρσὸς pars pedis, quòd ibi pede offenſo ceciderit Pegaſus; Juv. A City of Cilicia, now called Teraſſa, the native place of S. Paul; built by Perſeus; whence called Perſea Tarſos, Luc.

Tartări. The Tartars ſo called from Darting, as the Scythians (who were the ſame people) from ſhooting.

Tartăria. The country of the Tartars, in the North-Eaſt part of Europe and Aſia, divided into many kingdoms and Provinces.

Tartarus, ri; m. plur. Tartara, n. A place feigned by the Poets to be hell. Hinc Tartareus, a, um; Vir.

Tarteſſos, i; f. Sil. A town of Spain, now called Tariſſa: alſo the City Cales. Hinc Tarteſſius, a, um; Ovid. & Tarteſſiacus; Mart.

Tarvedum. Horburn in the North of Scotland; Camd.

Tatienſes. The third part of the people of Rome, ſo called from Tatius.

Tatius. A king of the Sabines, who was made partner with Romulus after that peace was made between them, at the intreaty of the Sabine virgins, whom the Romans by force had taken to be their wives.

Tarta. A great lake or pool of natural ſalt in Phrygia; Plin.

Tava. Tinmouth in Devonſhire.

Taulantii, pop. Macedoniæ, eorum urbs Arniſſa. Hinc Taulantius, a, um; Luc.

Taurantum, urbs Brutiorum, ex cujus ruinis Seminăriæ opp. excitatum; Plin. dic. & Tauriănum; Mel.

Tauri, Sarmatiæ Europæ pop. Tac. qui Tauroſcythæ, Plin.

Taurica Cherſoneſus, ſic dict. à jugo taurorum, quibus ferunt Oſirin illic junctis terram arâſſe. Steph. Rect. à Taurin ſc. Scythis. The leſſer Tartary called by the inhabitants Crimsky, by us the country of the Precop Tartars, and lies upon the Black-ſea. The Crim is tributary to the Turk.

Taurinum, ſive Auguſta Taurinorum. The chief City of Piedmont, and the ſeat of the Duke of Savoy, called ſtill Turin. Taurini, pop. Sil.

Tauriſci. People of Steyrmark in upper Hungary. it. pop. Alpini, Plin.

Taurominium; Plin. Tauromenon, Ovid. The City Taormina in Sicily. hinc Tauromĭnitanus, a. um, Lucan.

Tauroſcythæ. The Tartars.

Taurunum. The city Belgrad in lower Hungary.

Taurus. A great mountain in Aſia, beginning at the Indian Sea, reaches Weſtward, to the Ægean ſea: as it paſſeth by ſeveral countries, ſo it hath ſeveral names; Imaus, Caucaſus, Caſpius, &c. by the Greeks Ceraunius. In Scripture it is called Ararat: Taurus eſpecially in Cilicia, whence Ovid calls it Taurus Cilix. ◊ Alſo the ſecond ſign in the Zodiack, being the Bull that carried Europa out of Aſia into Crete.

Taurus Berytius; Gell. A learned Platoniſt in the time of Antoninus.

Taus. The river South-Esk in Scotland; Hect. Boeth. or, as Camd. the river Tay in Perth county. Al. ſcrib. Tavus.

Taxilus; Curt. A King in the Indies of a large City called Taxila.

Taygete. One of the Pleiades; Vir.

Taygetus; plur. Taygeta; Vir. mons Laconiæ in Peloponneſo, olim Amyclæus dict. Plut. cujus cum cacumen cecidit Spartam urbem ſibi infra jacentem oppreſſit; Cic.

T ante E.

Teanum. The name of two cities in Italy, one in Apulia, the other in Campania: hodiè Thiano dict.

Tearus, fluvius Thraciæ; Plin.

Teate; n. Sil. The chief city of the Marucini in Italy, now called Chieti. Teatini pop.

Tecmeſſa; Hor. A Captive Trojan maid.

Tectoſages, Liv. Tectoſagi, Auſon. & Toliſtobogi, Flor. People of France, whoſe chief City was Tolouſe. Alſo people of Galatia in Aſia.

Tegea, Plin. A City of Arcadia; hinc Tegeus, a, um; Vir. & Tegeæus; Ovid. Pop. Tegeatæ. hinc Tegeaticus, a, um; Stat.

Teium. A City in Paphlagonia; where Anacreon was born, hence his Poetry called Muſa Teïa, Ovid. Others would have him born in a City of Ionia called Teos or Teios.

Telamon, ōnis; Ovid. The ſon of Æacus, and brother of Peleus; King of Salamis, one of the Argonauts, and a companion of Hercules in the taking of Troy, who was the firſt that got upon the walls, for which ſervice he had Heſione the daughter of King Laomedon beſtowed on him, by whom he had a ſon named Teucer, having had Ajax by another woman. inde Telamonius, a, um. ◊ Alſo a haven of Hetruria; Plin.

Telchines, um; m. pl. Stat. τελχῖνες, βάσκανοι, γόητες, Heſych. People that went from Crete to Rhodes and dwelt in the City Jalyſus; whence Ovid calls them Jalyſios Telchinas.

Telchius & Amphitus. The Coachmen of Caſtor and Pollux; from whom the people of the Heniochi deſcended; Plin.

Teleboas, à τηλεβοᾶν, id eſt, è longinquo clamo. One of the Centaures; Ovid.

Teleboes, um; m. Vir. Notable robbers of Ætolia, who purpoſing to go into Italy, ſate down in the Iſle Capreæ, adjoyning thereunto.

Tēlegŏnus, ὁ γεγονὼς τῶλε ὄντος τῦ πατρὸς, id eſt, is qui natus eſt patre peregrinante. The ſon of Ulyſſes and Circe; who deſiring to ſee his father, went to Ithaca; and when Ulyſſes his men would not give him paſſage, he ſlew them: in this Combate he alſo killed his father, not knowing him: whereupon he came to Italy, and built Tuſculum; Ovid.

Telemachus, Ovid. τηλέμαχος, i. ex longinquo pugnans. The ſon of Ulyſſes and Penelope, whom he left at home with his wife, when he went to Troy.

Telemus. A ſoothſayer among the Cyclopes, ſon to Eurymus, who foretold Polyphemus whatſoever Ulyſſes afterwards did unto him, Ovid.

Telephus, Poet. qu. Τήλεφος, διὰ τὸ τηλόθεν αὐτὸν ἑλκεῖν. A King of Myſia, Hercules his ſon by Auge, who denying paſſage to the Grecians in their voyage againſt Troy, was wounded by Achilles, and was cured again by the ruſt of the ſame ſpear, which had given him his wound; the firſt inſtance of weapon-ſalve. ◊ Alſo the name of a young man in Horace.

Tellini, Plin. Telleni, Liv. A people of Latium.

Tellus, uris; f. The goddeſs of the Earth.

Telmeſſus. A City and hill of Lycia, by the ſea-ſide. Hinc Telmeſſis, idis; f. patron. Luc.

Telo vel Telo Martius. A City of Provence in France with a port to the midland ſea, called Toulon. ◊ Alſo a skilful mariner of Marſeilles in Lucan. ◊ Alſo the father of Œbalus: Vir.

Tĕlos, i; f. Ovid. à Telo conditore dicta. One of the Sporades in the Carpathian Sea, called Agathuſa, and Epiſcopia, over againſt Gnidos. Ab hacinſula unguentum Telinum dictum; Plin.

Temdus. The River Teme by Ludlow.

Temeſe, es; f. A town of the Brutians in Italy, Ovid. hinc Temeſæus, a, um; Ovid.

Tempe, n. ind. Poet. τέμπη. A pleaſant vale in Theſſaly, lying between the hills Oſſa, Olympus, and Pelion: the river Peneus running through the midſt of it.

Tencter, Tac. People of Germany,

towards the Rhine

Tenedos, i; f. Vir. qu. τένω ἴδος, à Tene quodam sic dict. A small Isle of lesser Asia, five miles distant from the Cape Sigæum. Here the Grecians bid themselves while they made the Trojan horse, Vir. It was formerly called Leucophrys, and Calydna, now Tenedo.

Tenes, qui Tenedon urbem condidit, Cic. The son of Cycnus, worshipped in the Isle Tenedos, as a god: He was so strict in judgment, that he caused an ax to be held over the witness heads, to execute them out of hand, if they were taken with a falshood; whence the Proverb, Securis Tenedia, for a quick dispatch of justice.

Tēnos, i; f. Ovid. An Isle in the Ægean sea, one of the Cyclades; called by Aristotle Hydrussa, because it abounds with water; Plin. Also the Isle of Tenet in Kent.

Tentyra, orum. A city and Isle of Egypt: Juv. Also a place on the sea-coast in Thrace, Ovid.

Teos. An Isle and a city of Ionia, the country of Anacreon the Poet, as some. hinc Telus, a, um; Ovid.

Terentia. Cicero his Wife, who being divorced from him, married his utter enemy Salust, and after that Messala Torvinus: she lived 117 years, Plin.

Terentius. Terence, a comical Poet, born at Carthage; who at Rome serving Terentius Lucanus, by his means got acquaintance with Lælius and Scipio; by whom it was supposed he was assisted in writing his Plays, also a Senator of Rome, and a Grammarian in Adrians time; Gell.

Terentus, i; m. Stat. & Mart. locus erat in Campo Martio, ubi templum Plutonis & Conſi, araq; ſub terrâ Diis inferis dicata; à terendo dict. quòd ibi Tiberis ripas rumpens terram teretet.

Tereus, ei; Ovid. eos, Mart. A king of Thrace, who ravished his wives sister Philomela, and cut out her tongue that she might not tell; he was at last turned into a Lapwing.

Tergeſte, Plin. Tergeſtum, Mel. The town Trieste in Istria. Tergeſtini, pop.

Terias. A river of Sicily; Plin.

Terina. A town of the Brutians, by the sea-side. Hinc Terinæus ſinus, Plin.

Termera. A town of Caria; Plin.

Termeſus; Liv. A City of Pisidia.

Terminalia, feſta Deo Termino ſacra.

Terminus, Dei loco habitus eſt, quòd poſt Saturnum exactum, cædes ac lites Ruſticorum de dividendis agris ſuſtuliſſet. The Roman god of bounds; Ovid.

Terpander, πάνυ τῆς ἀνδρὸς, i. viros delectans. A Lyrick Poet, and Harper of Lesbos.

Terpnus, Suet. τερπνὸς, jucundus. A fidler, with whom Nero was delighted.

Terpſichore, es; f. Poet. τερψιχόρη, quòd choreis ſit delectata; huic quidam citharæ inventionem tribuunt. One of the nine Muses.

Tertia, & Tertulla; Cic. Bruti ſoror, uxor Caſſii.

Tertullianus. A most ancient and learned Latin Father; a Carthaginian by country, S. Cyprian's Master.

Tethys, yos; Luc. à τίθη, i. nutrix, aqua enim omnia nutrit. Cœli & Terræ filia, uxor Oceani; Heſiod. The Goddess of the Sea; also the sea it self.

Tetrapolis, regio Syriæ, ſic dict. qd quatuor urbes habeat à Seleuco conditas. Antiochiam à patre dict. Seleuciam à ſe; Apamiam, ab uxore; & Laodiceam, à matre.

Tetricus mons eſt in Sabinis aſperrimus, Serv. Tetrica rupes, Var.

Tetrinius. Suet. A robber.

Teuca, vel Teutha. A Queen of Illyria, famous for courage and chastity. Plin.

Teucer. The son of Scamander Cretenſis, a King of Troy, who reigned with his father in law Dardanus, whence the Trojans called Teucri, Ovid. and Troy it self Teucria, Vir. ℌ Also another the son of Telamon, an excellent archer: at his return from Troy banished by his father he went to Cyprus, and built there a City which he called Salamis, by the name of his own country; Hor.

Teucri; Poet. The Trojans.

Teumeſſus. An hill of Bœotia, where Hercules being a child slew the Lion, whose skin ever after he did wear. hinc Teumeſius, a, um; Stat.

Teutates, lingua Gallica dictus eſt Mercurius, qui ab illis humano ſanguine placabatur, Lucan. ſc. quem Ægyptii Thoth voc. & Phœnices πάνυτον.

Teuthras, antis; m. Ciliciæ & Myſiæ Rex, filius Pandionis; Augem Alæi filiam duxit uxorem, ab Hercule compreſſam, ab hoc Teuthrante regio ad Caicum amnem Teuthranis dicta, quam Teuthrantia regna voc. Ovid. 2 Metam. He had fifty daughters, all which Hercules got with child in one night. Hinc Teuthrantius, a, um; Ovid. & Teuthrantæus; Id.

Teutoburgium. Doesberg in Gelderland.

Teutones, um; m. & Teutoni, Cæſ. in fing. Teutonus, Claud. dict. à Teutone ipſorum Deo (quem Tacitus Tuiſconem appell.) quem indigenam & terrâ ortum exiſtimabant. People of Germany called Teutſch, or (as Ortel.) Osterlings. Hinc Teutonicus, a, um; Vir.

T ante H.

Thāis, idos; f. Poet. patriâ Alexandrina. A famous harlot at Athens.

Thălaſſius, Catul. Thalaſſus, Mart. & Thalaſſio, onis; Id. The goa of marriage.

Thāles, ētis; m. à θάλλω, i. floreo. One of the seven wise men of Greece, a great Astrologer and natural Philosopher.

Thălestria, vel Thalestris. Queen of the Amazons, who with 300 women in her company went thirty-five days journey to meet Alexander, that she might have a child by him.

Thălia, Poet. ἀπὸ τῦ θάλλειν, i. florere. One of the nine Muses.

Thămĕſis, Cæſ. primò Iſis; deinde cum flumine Thami conjunctis aquis, cum eo quoque nomen conjungit. The river Thames that rises in Glocester-shire, comes up to Oxford, thence to London, having watered many towns and fair seats by the way. Above the City it parts Surry and Middlesex; below it, it divides Essex and Kent. It flows upward sixty miles an end.

Thămyras. A Poet of Thrace: who contending with the Muses and being overcome, they put out his eyes and took away his harp.

Thănătos, Θάνατος, id eſt, mors, in ea enim nullus anguis vivere poteſt, Solin. The Isle of Thanet in Kent: It is six miles long and four broad, and has ten parishes in it.

Thapſus, Cæſ. dict. ἀπὸ τῦ θάπτειν, quòd undis merſa quodammodo ſepulta videatur. A sea-town of Africk: also an Isle not far from Sicily, called now Manghiſi, Vir.

Thăſos, i; f. Stat. Thaſſus, Plin. An Isle near Thrace, commended for its wine, hinc Thaſius, a, um; Vir.

Thaumăcia, Plin. dict. à Thaumaco Pæantis patre. A town of Magneſia, between Macedony and Theſſaly.

Thaumas, antis; m. pater Iridis, quæ ab illo Thaumantias, Vir. & Thaumantis, Stat. & Thaumantæa virgo dic. Ovid.

Thĕăgĕnes, Græc. ex Dea natus. The name of divers Grecians.

Thĕāno. A learned woman Pythagoras his wife; also others of that name.

Thēbæ; pl. f. A City of Bœotia, now called Stibes, or Stives; built by Cadmus in his search after his sister Europa; it was called also Heptapylos from its seven gates. ℌ Also a City of Egypt (whence the country called Thebais ) called still Theves, and formerly from its hundred gates, Hecatompylos. hinc Thebanus, a, um; Vir. ℌ Dic. & Thebe, es; f. Juv. ℌ Sunt & aliæ Thebæ, Ciliciæ urbs, Ætionis regia; Ovid.

Thēbāis, ăĭdis. A Country of Egypt ſo called from the City Thebes. Also a Poem of Statius concerning the war of Thebes, which he was twelve years about. Also a woman of Thebes, Ovid.

Theleſinus. A Poet in Juv. also a wicked rich fellow in Mart.

Thĕmis, ĭdis; f. θέμις, fas, Dea, quæ præciperet hominibus id petere, quod fas eſſet; Feſt. Cœli & Terræ filia. The goddess of Justice; she had an Oracle in Bœotia, near the River Cephiſus; Ovid. ℌ Also the river Temde, that runs into Severn, a little above Worcester.

Thĕmiſcyra. A City of Cappadocia.

Thĕmiſon; Celſ. An eminent Physician; taken by Juv. for any ordinary Quack.

Thĕmiſtius. A Philosopher whom Julian made Prætor of Constantinople. He commented Aristotles Physicks.

Thĕmiſtŏcles, θεμιστοκλῆς, id eſt, juſtitiæ decus. A famous captain that defended Athens from the mighty power of Xerxes; notwithstanding shortly after they banished him, so that he fled to Xerxes, who sent him with an army against them; but he esteeming it base either to deceive Xerxes, or to destroy his own Country, poysoned himself with bulls blood. Plut. He was a licentious youth, but prov'd an excellent man.

Theoci curia. Tewkesbury in Glocester-shire.

Thĕocritus, θεόκριτος, id eſt, divino judicio electus; Praxagoræ & Philinæ filius; ſcripſit Idyllia in genere Bucolico, quæ Varus ſibi imitanda propoſuit. A Poet of Syracuſe, who wrote in the the Dorick dialect.

Thĕŏdămas. The father of Hylas, who denying any repaſt to Hercules his wife Deianira, Hercules took an Ox from him; whereof ſuch an hot battle aroſe between them, that Hercules was at his laſt ſhift, for he was forced to arm his wife (who received a wound in her pap) yet in the end he ſlew Theodamas, and took his ſon along with him.

Thĕŏdectes. An Orator of Cilicia, ſcholar to Plato, Iſocrates and Ariſtotle.

Theodonis villa. Thionville, a town in the Dutchy of Luxemburg.

Thĕŏdōrus. A Sophiſter of Byzantium, whom Plato called Logodædalus; an Orator of Rhodes, Quint. an Atheiſt, and divers others.

Thĕŏdōsĭus, i. à Deo datus. An Emperor of Rome, in S. Ambroſes time, to whoſe cenſure he alſo meekly ſubmitted himſelf.

Thĕŏdōtus. A Rhetorician that inſtructed Ptolemie the laſt in Rhetorick, and adviſed the killing of Pompey, for which he was afterward himſelf ſlain by Brutus; Plut.

Thĕognis. Poeta Megarenſis propè Atticam: ſcripſit γνώμας.

Thĕon. A railing and carping Poet. unde Dens Theoninus, Hor. alſo a Painter of Samos; Quint.

Thĕŏphănes, gr. i. Deo lucens. An hiſtorian of Mitylene, that wrote the exploits of Pompey the Great, and dedicated them to him: whereupon Pompey gave him for a reward, the freedome of the City; Cic.

Thĕŏphĭla, i. amica Deo. The wife of Euſtathius a Courtier of Trajans, who with her husband turned Chriſtians, and burned both for it; Volat.

Thĕŏphĭlus, Θεόφιλος, i. Deo amicus. One to whom S. Luke dedicates his Goſpel and the Acts; alſo the name of two Biſhops; Hier.

Thĕophraſtus, Θεόφραστος, diviniloquus, ſic dict. ab Ariſtotele, cùm antea Tyrtamus vocaretur. Str. A Peripatetick Philoſopher, and ſucceſſor to Ariſtotle (who had been his Maſter) in his School.

Theophylactus. A Biſhop of Bulgaria. who hath written ſome commentaries upon the New Teſtament.

Thĕŏpŏlĕmus, Θεοπόλεμος, i. Dei hoſtis. One that robbed Apollo's temple; Cic.

Thĕŏpŏlis, Θεοπόλις, i. urbs Dei. Antioch in Syria ſo called by Juſtinian the Emperor, after a great Earthquake.

Thĕŏpompus, Gr. i. ex Deo miſſus. An Hiſtorian mentioned by Quintil. alſo the name of ſeveral others.

Thĕŏrŏdūnum vel Theodorodunum, antiq. Welles in Somerſet-ſhire.

Thĕoxĕna, à militibus Philippi Macedonici cincta, cùm eorum manus effugere non poſſet, ſeſe præcipitem dedit in mare; Liv.

Thēra. An Iſland of the Ægæan ſea.

Thĕrămĕnes. A Philoſopher of Athens. When he was caſt into priſon, and was to drink a cup of poiſon, I drink this (ſaid he) to Critias, who was his enemy; Cic.

Thĕrapnæ, Solin. & in ſing. Therapne, es; f. Sil. dict. ἀπὸ τῦ θεραπεύειν, quòd ibi Dioſcuri religioſiſſimè colerentur. A town of Laconia, where Leda was delivered of Caſtor and Pollux: here Apollo was alſo worſhipped; Stat. inde Therapnæus, a, um; Ovid.

Thērasĭa. An Iſle in the Sea Ægæum, called now Santerini, i. e. Saint Erin or S. Helens Iſle.

Thĕrĭcles Corinthius. A cunning maker of earthen Veſſels: indè Vaſa Thericlea, Plin.

Thermæ, Sil. Two Cities of Sicily; one on the South-coaſt, the other on the Weſt, called for diſtinction ſake Thermæ Himeræ. Pop. Thermitani, Cic. § Alſo the City Bathe in England. § Alſo two Cities of Germany, called Baden.

Thermāĭcus ſinus; Plin. The Gulf of Theſſalonica, in the Ægean ſea.

Thermŏdōn, Vir. Thermodon, Ovid. A river of Cappadocia, that runs into the Euxin ſea in the Amazons country. Another Thrace; Stat. hinc Thermodontiacus, a, um; Claud. & Thermodontæus; Propert.

Thermŏpylæ, dict. ab anguſtis fauci-bus aquis calidis ſcatentibus; montium enim anguſtias (ut Latini portas, ita) Græci πύλας appell. Thermas autem eſſe aquas calidas quis ignorat? The Straits of the mount Œta, in Theſſaly; now called Bocca de Lupo: where Leonidas king of Sparta, with a handfull of men, oppoſed a vaſt Army of the Perſians.

Thĕro vel Theron, nomen viri, Virg.

Thĕrŏdămas, Gr. i. feras domans. A ſavage King of the Scythians, that fed Lyons with man's fleſh, Ovid. Hinc Therodamantæus, a, um; Id.

Thĕron θηρων, i. Venator. One of Actæons Dogs; Ovid.

Therſander, Polynicis filius ex Argia; Stat. A Grecian captain, who was hid in the Trojan horſe, Virg.

Therſĭlŏchus. One of the ſons of Antenor, ſlain in the Trojan War; Vir.

Therſites, æ; m. Ovid. à θέρσος, i. audacia. A Grecian, a very ugly fellow, as Homer has ſet him forth, and of as fowl a tongue, whom Ulyſſes for his ſaucy language bang'd well-favouredly, and at laſt Achilles for railing at him killed with a blow of his fiſt.

THESEUS, ei & eos; Poet. The ſon of Ægeus King of Athens by Æthra daughter of Pittheus: He killed the Minotaur in Creet, and took away King Minos daughters Ariadne and Phædra. He conquered the Amazons, and carried away Hippolyte their Queen, of whom he begot Hippolytus. He vanquiſhed Thebes, worſted the Centaurs, and did ſeveral other exploits. He and Pirithous were two ſworn friends. Hinc Theſeïus, a, um; Propert. & patron. Theſides, Vir. i. Athenienſis. & Theſcis, Juv. i. hiſtoria Theſei.

Theſmŏphŏrĭa, à Cerere, quæ θεσμοφόρος, i. legifera dicitur, qd ante frumentum inventum à Cerere, vagarentur homines ſine lege. Sacrifices to Ceres, Ov.

Theſpĭæ, Plin. A City once of Bœotia, neer to mount Helicon, and upon the banks of the river Theſpius. hinc muſæ Theſpiades dict. Sil. it. Theſpius, a, um; Cat. & Theſpiacus, Val. Fl.

Theſpis, Poeta Athen. He firſt invented Tragedies. Hor.

Theſprōtia; Cic. A region of Epirus, upon the ſea-coaſt. hinc Theſprotius ſinus, Liv. Theſproti, pop. Lucan.

Theſſălĭa. A countrey in Greece, being a great part formerly of Macedonia; now called Janna: there are twenty-four hills in it: it abounds with poiſonous drugs, whence Theſſalus in Plaut. is put for veneficus. pop. Theſſali: hinc Theſſalus, a, um; & Theſſalicus, a, um; Luc.

Theſſălŏnica, Cic. ſic dict. quòd Philippus Amyntæ filius Theſſalos illic devicerit. The chief City of Macedony, now called Salonichi: To this City S. Paul writ two Epiſtles: Theſſalonicenſes, pop.

Theſſălus. A Phyſician that uſed to preſcribe three days faſting for every diſeaſe, and offered to teach phyſick to any one in a months time, againſt whom Galen diſputes much.

Theſtĭădæ. Toxeus and Plexippus, ſons to Theſtius; as Althæa their ſiſter the mother of Meleager is alſo called Theſtias.

Theſtŏrĭdes, Ovid. i. filius Theſtoris. Calchas, a ſooth-ſayer of Greece.

Theſtylis. A country-woman, Vir.

Theſtĭus. The ſon of Parthaon, and father of Althæa, Meleagers mother.

Thĕtis, idis; f. Poet. The daughter of Nereus, whom when Jupiter would have married, Prometheus told him that whoever was born of her, would be a better man than his father; which Jupiter fearing, brake off his ſuit to her: afterwards Peleus ſon of Æacus married her, by whom he begat Achilles.

Theumeſius, fl. Theſſaliæ; Stat.

Theutōni. Pop. Germ. al. Teutones.

Thia. An Iſle of the Ægæan Sea, Plin.

Thinus. The river Tyne or Tine, that comes to Tinmouth.

Thisbe. The Miſtreſs of Pyramus.

Thiſſe, Sil. A town of Sicily.

Thŏas, antis; m. Ovid. A king of Taurica, whom Oreſtes ſlew, and took from him his ſiſter Iphigenia, who was there Prieſteſs to Diana: alſo a king of Lemnos, ſon to Bacchus, and father to Hypſipyle, who ſaved him from that general maſſacre in Lemnos.

Thŏmyris. A Queen of Scythia, who, Cyrus having ſlain her ſon in battel, gathered another Army, and purſued him, and ſlew the moſt part of his Army, and Cyrus himſelf, and cut off his head, and filled a tub with mans blood, and put his head into it, with theſe words; Thou haſt taken my ſons blood and thirſteſt after mine, I will therefore give thee thy fill of Blood.

Thŏon. A Trojan ſlain by Ulyſſes, Ov.

Thrăces, à ſing. Thrax, Ovid. Thraciani, the people of Thrace.

Thracia, vel Thrace; Hor. dict. à Thrace Martis filio, ſeu ab aſperitate regionis, quam τραχύτητα Græci voc. vel à ferocitate incolarum. A large country in Europe, commonly called Romania, bounded with the Euxine and Ægæan Seas, and the mountain Hæmus, dict. olim Perca, Odryſe, Sithon: hinc Thracius, & Threicius adj.

Thraſeas, al. Thraſius; Ov. A Sooth-ſayer, who coming to Buſiris King of Egypt in a great want of water, told him, that he might have rain enough, if he would ſa- ſacrifice ſtrangers to Jupiter. Buſiris aſked him whence he was? and he ſaid, He was a ſtranger: then, quoth he, I will make experiment of thy Art by thy ſelf, and ſo ſacrificed him.

Thraſeas Pætus; Tac. A Stoick, under Nero, whom Nero putting to death, he died with great reſolution and courage.

Thraſo, onis; m. The name of a Braggadocio-Captain in Terence.

Thraſumenus; Sil. dict. à Thraſumeno puero, quem ad hunc lacum Ægyla nympha dicitur rapuiſſe. A Lake in Hetruria or Tuſcia, called alſo Traſumenus, hodie Lago di Perugia.

Thraſybulus, Θρασύβουλος, audax conſilii. He was baniſhed from Athens by the thirty tyrants; but with the aid of Lyſander, he expelled them out of Athens, and called home thoſe whom they had baniſhed; and made a Law, which they call Ἀμνηστία, that no man ſhould remember any former injuries done unto them.

Threïcius, a, um; Vir. Of Thrace.

Threïſſa, fœm. à gr. Θρᾷξ, ᾳκός. Thrax; Vir. A woman of Thrace.

Threſſa, fœm. à Thrax; Hor.

Thrion; Stat. A town of Peloponneſus.

Thronium, opp. Achaïæ; Plin.

Thucydides. An Athenian Hiſtorian, who (when the Athenians warred with the Lacedemonians) gave large money to friends or foes for true relations of the Wars; which Hiſtory he then compiled ſo handſomly, that Demoſthenes wrote his book over eight times, and got moſt of it by heart.

Thule, es; f. Vir. The farthest Iſland in the world, accounted by the Poets; by moſt thought to be Iſland, i. e. the land of ice, as it was formerly called Snæland: it lies, beyond the Orkneys, and belongs to Norway. Others as Camd. will have it to be Schetland, ſtill called by ſea-men Thylenſel. Others, as Ortel. to be Tilemark in Norway, Thurium, & Thurii, Cic. A City of Greece the great, which before was called Sybaris. Hinc ſinus Thurinus, Ovid.

Thuſci, dict. ἀπὸ τοῦ θύειν, i. à ſacrificando, quòd ritus ſacrificiorum apud veteres ibi primum caperit.

Thuſcia, idem quod Hetruria, hodie Toſcana. Tuſcany, a large country of Italy, the chief City whereof is Florence, the ſeat of the great Duke.

Thyamis, fl. Theſprotiæ, in Epiro; Cic.

Thyas, ădis; f. Vir. A mad Prieſteſs of Bacchus.

Thyatira, urbs Lydiæ ad Lycum fluv. One of the ſeven Churches of Aſia.

Thyeſtes. The ſon of Pelops and Hippodamia; he was brother of Atreus, whoſe wife having debauched, Atreus, to requite him, ſlew his ſon, and bid Thyeſtes to dinner, for which crimes the Sun, leſt he ſhould be polluted, turned back his courſe. hinc Thyeſtæus, a, um; Ovid.

Thymbra. A town of Troas, whence Apollo called Thymbræus; Vir.

Thymbris, fl. Bithyniæ; Plin.

Thymele, Juv. An Actreſs that uſed to dance on the ſtage in Domitian his time.

Thymœtes; Vir. A Trojan, the husband of Arisbe, whoſe wife bare him a ſon the ſame day that Paris was born: but the Sooth-ſayers foretelling that on that day was born one that ſhould be the Trojans ruine, Priamus commanded both the children ſhould be ſlain; but Hecuba hid Paris: whereupon Thymœtes for anger, firſt perſwaded the people to take in the Trojan Horſe, though he knew the fraud.

Thyni; Claud. People of Thrace: hinc Thyniæ, promont. & inſulæ.

Thyodamas, antis, Stat. The ſon of Melampus, a great Sooth-ſayer.

Thyoneus, Hor. à matre Semele, quæ dict. Σώνη. Bacchus ſo called.

Thyre; es; f. Stat. opp. Meſſeniorum, Lacedæmoniis ab Auguſto adſcriptum.

Thyrſagetæ; & in ſing. Thyrſagetes, Val. Fl. A people of Scythia that live by hunting.

Thyrſis. A Shepherd in Virgil.

Thyſſus, opp. Macedoniæ; Plin.

T ante I.

Tibareni, pop. Cappadociæ; Plin.

Tiberias, ădis; f. Bibl. A City of Galilee, built by Herod in honour of Tiberius Cæſar; hence the ſea of Galilee, upon which it is ſcituate, is called the lake of Tiberias.

Tiberinus Sylvius, Tiberis fluvii præſes. The ſon of Capetus, who being to paſs over that river, then called Albula, was drowned in it, after he had reigned King over the Albans eight years: whereupon his ſuperſtitious poſterity eſteemed him the god of Tiber.

Tiberis, vel Tybris, idis; dictus à Tiberino Albanorum rege illic ſubmerſo. The Tiber, the moſt famous river of Italy, dividing Tuſcany from Latium; where after it hath waſhed the walls of Rome, it runs into the Tyrrhene Sea: it was formerly called Albula, Thymbris, &c. hodie Tevere.

Tiberius, 3. Rom. Imperat. ſic dict. quia ad Tiberim natus; hujus ann. 20. Chriſtus erat cruci affixus.

Tibiſcus. A river of Hungary, called now Tyſſa or Teiſſa.

Tibullus. An elegant Poet, contemporary with Ovid and Horace.

Tibur, ŭris; n. & Tybur; Ovid. dict. à Tiburto conditore, Catilli fratre. A City of Latium, about ſixteen miles diſtant from Rome, now called Tivoli, ſeated on the river Anio. Tiburtes, pop. hinc Tiburtinus, a, um; & Tiburtius; Hor.

Ticinum. The City Pavia in Inſubria.

Ticinus; Claud. A river that runs by Ticinum, which falleth into the Po.

Tifata, mons Campaniæ; Stat.

Tifernum, urbs Italiæ gemina; alterum Metaurum dict. hod. S. Angelo in Vado; alterum Tiberinum, hod. Citta di Caſtello. Tifernates, pop. Plin.

Tifernus, fl. Frentanorum, hod. Biferno.

Tigillinus Sophonius, vir Romanus vitæ corruptiſſimæ. He was companion to Nero in all his lewdneſs, and by flattery and calumny was cauſe of the death of many a nobleman: but when Otho came to the Empire and ſent to put him to death, he cut his own throat, Tac.

Tigranes. A King of Armenia, who helping Mithridates King of Pontus againſt the Romans, was firſt put to flight by Lucullus; and at laſt was forced to yield himſelf priſoner to Pompey the great, who cauſed him to pay an yearly tribute, and ſet him in his Kingdom again.

Tigranocerta; Tac. A City of Armenia the greater.

Tigris, ſic dict. à curſûs celeritate, propterea quòd ſagittæ (quam Tigrim ſua linguâ Medi appellant) velocitatem adæquare videtur; ſic חִדֶּקֶל dicitur, i. acumen velocitatis. A famous river of Aſia. It riſeth in mount Ararat in Armenia, parts Meſopotamia and Aſſyria, runs through Babylon, and ſo continues its courſe (after it is joyned with Euphrates) into the Perſian Gulf.

Tigullia, opp. Liguriæ; Plin.

Tigurum. A City of the Switzers, called Zurich; inde Tigurinus pagus. The Canton of Zurich.

Tileburgum. Tilbury upon the Thames.

Tilos. An Iſland in the Red-ſea.

Timæus, Τιμαῖος, i. pretioſus. A Philoſopher of Locris of the ſect of Pythagoras; whoſe name Plato uſed for the title of one of his Dialogues.

Timagenes. A Rhetorician of Alexandria, who taught in Pompey's houſe.

Timanthes. An excellent Painter.

Timarchides. A noble Ingraver; Plin.

Timavus; Vir. A river of Friuli, which riſing out of nine ſprings in the neighbour hill, runs into the Gulf of Venice.

Timochares. A boſome-friend of Pyrrhus, who notwithſtanding promiſed his enemy Fabritius to poyſon him, if he would but give him a good reward: Fabritius told the Senate, who preſently diſpatched an Embaſſador to Pyrrhus (though their enemy) to bid him beware of thoſe that were about him; Gell.

Timoclea. A woman of Thebes, that was raviſhed by a Thracian, who afterwards feigning great kindneſs, old him of a place full of treaſure: which when he was deſirous to ſee, ſhe brought him to a deep well, and as he leaned over it, ſhe turned up his heels, and ſo ſent him to ſeek it at the bottom; Sabell. ex Plut.

Timolus; Ovid. Mons Lydiæ; id. qui Tmolus.

Timon. An Athenian called μισάνθρωπος, that was ſo melancholy and moroſe, that he would abide the company of no man, but only of Alcibiades; and being demanded why he did ſo, Becauſe, ſaid he, I know that one day he will bring miſchief upon the City.

Timotheus, Τιμόθεος, ἀπὸ τιμὴ & θεὸς, i. honor Dei. A nobleman of Athens, ſon to Conon, ſo fortunate in his enterpriſes, eſpecially in his conqueſts of the Lacedemonians, that they made his pillure to be ſet up, with Fortune bringing him cities taken in a net, as he lay ſleeping. Alſo the firſt Biſhop of Epheſus.

Tina. The river Tine in Northumberland; Camd.

Tinda; Plin. A City of Thrace, where Diomedes fed his horſes with mans fleſh.

Tingis, Sil. A City of Mauritania now called Tangier. hinc Tingitanus, a, um.

Tinia, fl. Umbriæ; Sil.

Tios, opp. Paphlagoniæ; Mel.

Tiphys; Poet. The pilot of the ſhip Argo, in the voyage of the Argonauts.

Tireſias, dict. à τείρω, i. aſtra, eo quòd ex aſtrorum conſpectu futura prædixit; vel à τείρεσθαι, eo quod præcitate infeſtaretur. A Sooth-ſayer of Thebes; one who by ſome chance had been of both Sexes.

Sexes, Jupiter and Juno arguing whether the male or the female had the greater pleaſure made him judge, becauſe he had experience of both; he ſaid, that the woman had greater pleaſure; and for this cauſe Juno made him blind: Jupiter to recompence his blindneſs, gave him the gift of propheſie, Ovid.

Tiridates; Hor. A King of Armenia.

Tiriſcum. The chief City of Walachia; now called Tergoviſte or Tarvis.

Tiro, Ciceronis libertus, he found out charakters to write that another might not read, Pol. Virg.

Tiryns, ynthis; m. fluvius Argivus; it. patria Herculis in Peloponneſo, quæ proxima Argis, unde Hercules Tirynthius voc.

Tiſiphone, es; f. Poet. τιφόνη, i. cædis ultrix. One of the Furies.

Tiſobis. The river Teſe in Wales; F. or Conwey, Camd. or Menay, B.

Tiſſe; opp. Siciliæ; Sil. pop. Tiſſenſes; Cic.

Titan, à quo Titanes dict. Cœli & Veſtæ filius, frater Saturni natu major, pater Hyperionis, qui pater Solis dicitur. He ſeeing his mother and ſiſter inclined to his younger Brother, gave from himſelf the right of inheritance over to Saturn, upon condition, that he ſhould have no male children kept alive, but that the government ſhould return to him and his children. But underſtanding afterwards that by the ſubtility of Ops, firſt Jupiter, and then Neptune, and after that Pluto were ſecretly brought up, and by that means he and his were like to loſe their inheritance; he with his ſons, the Titanes, made war againſt his brother, and took him, and kept him, his wife and ſiſter cloſe priſoners, until Jupiter came to age, who made war upon the Titanes, and releaſed his father. Alſo the Sun; Ovid. hinc Titanius, a, um; Vir. & Titaniacus, a, um; Ovid.

Titana; Claud. A City of Egypt, called otherwiſe Heliopolis.

Titānes. Gianis that warred againſt Jupiter.

Titānus. ſi. & opp. Æolidis.

Titărēſius; Luc. A river of Theſſaly, riſing out of mount Titarus; which falling into Peneus, mingles not with it, but glides on the top of it.

Tithōnus. Poet. The ſon of Laomedon, who deſiring long life, was ſo waſted with old age, that Poets feigned him to be turned into a graſhopper: he was ſaid to be beloved of Aurora, (of whom he begat Prince Memnon) for that he uſed early riſing, whereby he preſerved his life long, Ovid.

Titīānus. A Greek Orator, who for his good faculty of imitation was called ſui temporis Simia; Jul. Cap.

Titii, dict. à Titiis avibus quas in auguriis certis obſervare ſolebant, Var. Apolloe's prieſts ſo called.

Titus. One of the twelve Cæſars, ſon of Veſpaſian, the Darling of mankind; he it was that vanquiſhed Jeruſalem; he reigned ſomewhat above two years. ☞ Alſo the firſt Biſhop of Crete.

Tityrus, τιτυρος, aries vel calamus; dictus igitur eſt Tityrus, vel ab animalis hujus cuſtodia, vel à fiſtula paſtoribus familiari. A ſhepherd in Virg.

Tityus, Poet. A giant. When Jupiter had lain with his mother Elara, for fear of Juno he put her in a cave of the earth, till ſhe was delivered of her ſon Tityus; but when he was at age, Juno (to revenge her ſelf) perſwaded him to raviſh Latona; which he attempting, Jupiter ſtruck him dead with his thunderbolt, and ſo ſent him to Hell, where he was adjudged to have a Vulture to feed upon his liver, that grew with the Moon: he is ſaid to reach over nine acres of ground.

T ante L.

Tlēpŏlĕmus, Gr. i. e. belli patiens. The ſon of Hercules by Aſtyoche; who came from Rhodes to help the Grecians, but was ſlain by Sarpedon in the Trojan wars, Ovid.

T ante M.

Tmarus. A mans name in Virg.

Tmărus & Tŏmărus, Plin. Threſpotiæ in Epiro mons. Here were an hundred ſprings on this hill.

Tmōlus, Vir. & Timōlus, Ovid. A mountain in Phrygia the greater, out of which riſeth the river Pactolus: inde Tmolius, a, um; Ovid.

T ante O.

Tobius. The river Tovy in Wales.

Tŏlentinum. A town of Piceatum. Tolentinates, pop. Plin.

Tŏlĕtum, hodiè Toledo in Spain, ſeated on the river Tagus, or Taio about the middle of Spain.

Toliapis. The Iſle of Thenet in Kent: or as ſome, Sheppey Iſland.

Toliſtobii, Liv. Toliſtobogi, Str. pop. Galatiæ in Aſiâ, qui ex Galliâ eò commigrarunt.

Tŏlōſa. The chief City of Languedoc in France, called Tolouſe, Pop. Toloſates, Cæſ. Toloſani, Plin.

Tŏlumnius, Veientum rex, Romanorum legatos interfici juſſit. Eſt & Auguris nomen apud Virg. Æn. 12.

Tomarus, mons Epiri; Plin.

Tŏmos, i; f. Ovid. τόμος, i. ſectio; ſic dict. quòd illic Medea Abſyrti fratris membra truſtulatim conſiderit, ut patrem inſequentem remoraretur. A City of Pontus, whereunto Ovid was baniſhed. Pop. Tomitæ, Ovid. hinc Tomitanus, a, um; Id.

Tŏpazos, inſula in mari rubro, ubi naſcitur Topazius lapis; Plin.

Toranius, mango quidam, Plin. 7.12.

Toringus, id. qui Thuringus; Sidon.

Tŏrĭni; Val. Fl. People of Scythia.

Tornācum. A City in the Netherlands called Tournay, in Dutch Dornick. pop. Tornacenſes, Plin. Nervii, Cæſ.

Torōne; opp. Macedoniæ; Plin.

Torquātus, dict. à Torque; quem occiſo ad Anienem Gallo detraxit. The name of Titus Manlius, Liv. he ſlew his ſon for tranſgreſſing his command in encountring with the enemy, although he had vanquiſhed the enemy, and brought his father the ſpoil. V. Liv.

T ante R.

Trăbĕa. A Comical Poet. Cic.

Trăchalus. An excellent Orator, Quint. 10. 1.

Trachas, urbs Latii; Ovid.

Trāchin; f. Ovid. ſic dict, διὰ τὸ τραχύτατον. A City in Phthiotis, called alſo Heraclea. Hinc Trachinius, a, um; Id.

Trăchōnitis, i. ſaxoſa vel aſpera. A region of Paleſtina near the lake Tiberias or Geneſareth, called alſo Iturea & Petræa.

Trăgŭrium. An Iſle and City of Dalmatia, under the Venetian, called now Trau.

Trajāna Colonia. A City of the Low-countries called now Keiſerſwert; or as others Kellen.

Trajānus. An Emperour of Rome born in Spain, in whom many civil vertues were defaced with the extreme cruelty which he ſhewed towards the profeſſours of Chriſtianity.

Trajectum ad Moſam. Maeſtricht in Brabant.

Trajectum ad Rhenum. Utrecht. dict. quòd hic eſſet trajectus veteris Rheni.

Trajectum ad Moenum. Francfurdt upon the Main.

Trajectum ad Oderam. Francfurdt upon the Oder.

Trajectum Suevorum. Schwinfurdt.

Trajectus. Auſtelive, a village upon the Severn neer Briſtow.

Tralles, f. pl. Juv. & ſing. Trallis, Plin. Lydiæ urbs inter Mæandrum & Cayſtrum fluvios; called alſo Seleucia, Antiochia, Evanthis. Pop. Trallenſes, Plin.

Tranſalpina Gallia. The part of Gallia which is beyond the Alps from Rome, and is now called the Realm of France. It was called alſo Gallia Comata.

Tranſpadani, pop. Galliæ trans Padum; Cic.

Tranſtyberinus, a, um; Mart. Beyond or on the other ſide Tiber.

Tranſylvānia, i. ultra ſylvania. A part of the ancient kingdom of Hungary; it now hath a Prince of its own; vulgò Sibenburgen.

Trăpezus, untis; f. Mel. Χαλδαίων πεζίζης, à menſæ, quam repræſentabat, figura. A City of Cappadocia, called Trabiſonda: hinc Trapezuntius, a, um; adj.

Traſumenus, lacus Hetruriæ; Liv.

Trĕbātius. A famous Lawyer; Hor.

Trĕbia, Sil. A river neer Placentia running into the Po.

Trebiates, pop. Umbriæ; Plin.

Trĕbōnius. The third fellow with Brutus and Caſſius that ſlew Jul. Cæſar, who himſelf was ſlain by Dolabella in Aſia.

Trĕbŭla; Mart. A town of the Sabines, famous for cheeſe. Trebulani caſei, Plin. ☞ Alſo a town of Campania; Liv. whence Trebulanum, a countryhouſe mentioned by Cic.

Trecaſſes, Plin. Tricaſſini, Amm. Troyes, pop. & urbs Galliæ Celt.

Trecorium. The City Treguier in little Bretagne.

Tremetus; Tac. An Iſle of the Adriatick

driatick sea, on the coast of Apulia, still called de Tremiti, with a gallant Abbey of the Regular Canons in it.

Tremonia. Dortmund in Weſtphalia.

Trenta. The river Trent.

Trēvĕri, Tres Tabernæ; Cic. A City once of Latium, in the Appian road, twenty one miles off Rome.

Trēvĕri, Plin. Treviri, Cæſ. Auguſta Trevirorum, Mel. The City Treves or Trier in Germany, the ſeat of an Archbiſhop, and one of the Electoral Princes. Trevir, in ſing. gent. Luc. hinc Trevericus, a, um; Auſon.

Triārius, magnus orator; Cic.

Triballi. A people of Myſia; the country now called Bulgaria.

Triboces, Cæſ. Tribochi, Plin. People of Alſace.

Trica & Apina Apuliæ opp.

Tricaſtini, pop. Galliæ in Delphinatu: inde Tricaſtinus, a, um; Sil.

Tridentum. The City Trent, in the North part of Italy, where a Council was held, which begun ann. 1545. and laſted eighteen years.

Tridinum. A garriſon-town called Trin, in Montferrat, under the Duke of Savoy.

Trĭĕtērĭca, dict. quòd tertio quovis anno hæc feſta Baccho celebrarentur; Vir.

Trifŏlinus; Plin. à trifolii copiâ dict. An hill in Campania.

Trigārium, locus juxta campum Martium, ubi trigarum certamen fiebat.

Trigĕmĭna porta, Liv. A gate in Rome through which the three Horatii went to their victories over the three Curiatii, Liv.

Trinācrĭa, dict. quod tria habeat ἄκρα ſeu promontoria, quibus excurrit in mare. The Iſle Sicily: hinc patron. Trinacris & Trinacrius, adj.

Trinŏbantes. Cæſ. Trinovantes, Tac. The people of Middleſex and Eſſex: whence London is called Auguſta Trinobantum.

Triŏcăla, æ; ſ. Sil. A City once of Sicily, Pop. Triocalini; Plin.

Triŏpas. The father of Eriſichthon, thence called Triopeïus; Ovid. hinc Triopeïs, i. Eriſichthonis filia; Id.

Tripŏlis, ſic dict. quòd tribus urbibus conſtaret. Several Cities of this name, Tripoli. One in Syria, on the Sea-ſide; Plin. Another in Barbary, inhabited by Pirates; Solin. Another in Theſſaly; Liv. and another in Cappadocia; Plin.

Tripontium, Towceſter, in Northampton ſhire.

Triptŏlĕmus; Ovid. The ſon of Celeus King of Attica, who firſt eſpying corn to grow of its own accord, reaped it, and after that plowing and ſowing more, he grew ſo skilful that he wrote Commentaries of Tillage, and ſent them abroad into the world; whereupon Poets feigned that he travelled over the world to teach men to plant corn: they ſay alſo, that he was carried by a winged Dragon, which was nothing elſe but a long ſhip, wherein he ſailed to the neighbouring Iſles.

Trīquĕtra; Hor. Sicily: hinc Triquetrus, a, um; adj. Lucr.

Triſanton. The river Hanton: hinc Triſantonis portus, Southampton; Camd.

Triſmĕgiſtus, i. ter maximus, qui & Mercurius dicitur: ſo called, becauſe he was the greateſt Philoſopher, the chiefeſt Prieſt, and moſt prudent Prince.

Tritānus. A ſword-player of prodigious ſtrength; Plin.

Triton, ōnis; m. Poet. Neptuni & Salaciæ nymphæ filius. Neptunes Trumpeter: he was a man to the middle, a Dolphin below, his forefeet like horſes, & had two circled tails: this Monſter, ſaith Lycophron, was a Whale, wherewith many having been over-turned and drowned, at laſt they ſuperſtitiouſly worſhipped him as a God of the Sea. ◊ Alſo a river in Africa. Claud. called now Rio di Caps.

Tritōnĭa; ſic dict. quòd temporibus Ogygii regis, ad lacum Tritonis virginali primùm habitu apparuerit; vel quòd tria mortalibus, ſωλάνον καλὸν, πρέπον ὀρθὸν, καὶ πρέπλεον δυσμὸν, largita eſt. Pallas ſo called.

Tritoniaca palus; Ovid. A lake in Thrace or Macedon, which turns people after nine times bathing, into birds.

Tritonis, ĭdis; ſc. palus; Plin. The lake out of which the river Triton runs.

Trivĭa, dict. quòd triviis præeſſet: vel quòd coleretur in triviis. Diana ſo called.

Triviæ lacus, i. Dianæ, Vir. A lake of Latium, now called Lago di Nemi, eighteen miles from Rome. It is ſix miles in compaſs.

Triviæ lucus, Vir. nemus, Sil. A place in Campania, or, as others, in Latium by that lake.

Trīvĭcus; Hor. A little City in the kingdom of Naples.

Trōas, ădis; f. Vir. A country in Aſia the leſs, the chief city whereof was Troy.

Troes, the men, Troades, women of Troy.

Trocmi, Liv. Trogeni, Plin. rect. Trogmi. People of Galatia.

Troezen, ēnis; f. Ovid. & Trœzēne, es; Id. A City of Peloponneſus, now called Pleda.

Troglŏdytæ, Plin. Gr. cavernas ſubeuntes. People beyond Egypt, on the weſtſide of the Gulf of Arabia, who dwelt in holes and caves.

Troja; à Troe rege, ſic dict. A City of Phrygia in Aſia the leſs, near mount Ida, three miles from the Sea. It was in a ten years war vanquiſhed and razed by the Greeks, 432 years before Rome was built. Inde adj. Trojus, a, um; Vir. Trojanus & Troïcus, Ovid. & ſubſt. Trojugena.

Trōĭlus. The ſon of Priamus and Hecuba, ſlain by Achilles, Virg.

Trophōnius. A Sooth-ſayer, who dwelt in a cave, into which whoever came never laught after; whence the Proverb, In antro Trophonii vaticinatus es, of one that is extraordinary melancholy.

Tros, Troïs. The ſon of Eriſichonius father of Ilus; he was the third king of Phrygia the leſs, called from him Troja.

Troſŭlum. An inland town of Tuſcany; the place called Troſſo ſtill. hinc Equites, Troſſuli dict. Plin. quod opp. hoc ſine ullo peditum adjumento cepiſſent: Celeres primum dicti, & poſtea Flexumines, Plin. 33. 2.

Truentus. The river Tronto in Picenum. hinc Truentinus, a, um; Sil.

Trutulenſis portus; Tac. rect. Rutupenſis.

Tryphon, i. delicioſus, vel delicatus. A Grammarian of Alexandria in the time of Auguſtus. ◊ Alſo a Jew, whom Juſtin Martyr wrote againſt.

T ante U.

Tuæſis. The river Tweed; or as others, Tees.

Tuama. Toam, an Archbiſhops ſeat in Ireland.

Tubantes; Tac. People of Weſtphalia.

Tubero. One of Pompey's faction, who (when Cæſar had pardoned him) was the chief accuſer of Ligarius, for whom Tully made an eloquent Oration.

Tuberum. The town Rotenburg in Germany, upon the river Tauber; which is called both Tuberis and Tuberus.

Tubiluſtria, feſta Romanorum: quibus tubæ ſacrorum expiabantur, die 23. Martii; Var.

Tuburbis; Plin. An inland City of Africa. belonging to Carthage.

Tucca, L. Varus & Plocius, viri doctiſſimi, amici Virgilii, hæredeſque ex parte teſtamenti relicti, juſſu Auguſti carmina Æneidos emendavere.

Tucia, Sil. al. leg. Turia. A little rill that runs by Rome.

Tudertum, & Tuder; Plin. A city of Umbria, called Todi, where medow is cut four times a year. hinc Tuders & Tudertes pop. Sil.

Tuditanus, quòd caput malleo ſimile haberet. The name of a Roman.

Tuerobis. The river Tivy in Wales.

Tueſis. Barwick upon Tweed, Camd.

Tulcis; Mel. A little river in Spain.

Tulingi, Cæſ. A People of Germany.

Tuliſurgium. The City Brunſwick.

Tullia. The daughter of Servius Tullus, the ſixth king of the Romans, wife of Tarquinius Superbus: ſhe becauſe her husband ſhould be king alone, and ſhe Queen, cauſed her father to be killed, and went in a Coach to ſee whether it were truly acted or no; and when her father lay dead in the ſtreet, and the Coachman and Coach-horſes ſtood ſtill amazed at the ſight, ſhe cauſed the Coach-man to drive the Coach-wheels over the face of her father, after he had raigned forty four years.

Tullianum. A dungeon in the priſon at Rome, ſo called from Servius Tullus that built it; Sigon.

Tullius. The name of Cicero the Orator.

Tullum. A City of Lorrain, called Toul.

Tullus. The name of two kings of Rome; the one called Servius, who was the ſixth king; the other called Hoſtilius, the third king, nephew to Hoſtilius that was ſlain by the Sabines; he was more fierce than Romulus, who (leſt the people ſhould reſt with peace) ſought occaſions of War by picking quarrels with his neighbouring kings, Liv. he was ſtruck dead with a thunderbolt, when he had reigned two and thirty years.

Tunetum. A City of Africk, called Tunis, twelve miles diſtant from Carthage.

Tungri; Cæſ. people of Tongres, in

Liege

Tunocelum. Tinmouth.

Turbo; Hor. A Swordplayer.

Turcæ. The Turks, a people of Aſia, deſcended of thoſe Scythians, as is generally believed, who dwelt betwixt the Euxine and the Caſpian ſeas. The Turkiſh Empire is divided into twenty five Governments, whereof all but two have Baſhaws over them. Hinc Turcicus, a, um; adj.

Turdetani & Turduli, Portugalliæ pop. Liv. ubi hodie Algarbiæ regnum eſt.

Turia, m. Claud. fl. Hiſp. Tarracon. hodie dict. Guadalaviar.

Turiaſſo; urbs Hiſp. Tarrac. Plin.

Turingia, ſive Thuringia; vulgo Duringen. A country of Germany, in upper Saxony; whoſe chief City is Erford.

Turnus. A King of the Rutilians, who was ſlain by Æneas, Virg.

Turo, ōnis; Sidon. The City Tours in France; upon the river Loire Turones, pop.

Turonia, provincia; hod. la Touraine.

Turpio Ambivius. A player of Comedies in the time of Terence.

Tuſca, fluv. Africæ, Plin.

Tuſcanienſes; Plin. pop. Hetruriæ, in quâ urbs Tuſcania, ab Aſcanio Æneæ filio condita.

Tuſcia, ſive Thuſcia, quæ & Hetruria. A large country of Italy, called Tuſcany; divided into two parts; the one under the great Duke, and the other under the Pope, called the Churches Patrimony. pop. Tuſci & Hetruſci. hinc Tuſcus, a, um; Vir.

Tuſculanum. A country-houſe of Tullies, at Tuſculum; where he wrote his Tuſculan queſtions: but now a monaſtery called St. Maria di grotta ferrata.

Tuſculum. A City of Latium, twelve miles from Rome, where there are a many ſtately Palaces, and country-houſes: hinc Tuſculus, a, um; Mart.

Tuſcus, vicus Romæ in quo habitaverunt Tuſci, qui Porſennâ ab obſidione redeunte remanſerant.

Tutanus, quem periclitantes invocabant, ut ipſos tutaretur; Var.

Tutela, urbs Hiſp. Tarrac. Mart.

Tutia, virgo Veſtalis. When ſhe was accuſed of inceſt, ſhe pleaded her purity with a miracle; For taking a ſieve, ſhe went to the river Tiber, and there prayed, That if ſhe were pure, ſhe might be able to carry water to Veſta's temple in that ſieve, which ſhe did; Liv.

Tutulina; Var. dea; quæ frumentis præeſt collectis atq; reconditis, ut tutò ſerventur.

Tutunus, qui & Mutunus, Priapus.

T ante Y.

Tyana, urbs Cappadociæ, patria Apollonii, ſive Magi, ſive Philoſophi, cujus vitam prolixè exequitur Philoſtratus. hinc Tyanæus, a, um; & Tyaneius, pentaſyllabon.

Tyberis, Tybris, Vir. & Ovid. Tyberinus, Enn. vide Tiberis.

Tybur, ūris; n. vid. Tibur. A City of Latium, now called Tivoli. hinc Tyburtes, pop. & Tyburtinus, a, um; & Tyburtius; Vir. & Hor.

Tychius; Ovid. A cunning Artificer, who made Ajax his ſhield, Hom.

Tyde, es; f. A City of Spain, in Gallicia, built by Diomedes; thence called Ætola Tyde, Sil.

Tydeus, Œnei Calydoniæ regis, & Althææ filius, Diomedis pater: After he had unawares ſlain his brother Menalippus, he fled to king Adraſtus, whoſe daughter Deiphile he took to Wife; he was ſo ſtout, that being ſent on an embaſſage, to Eteocles king of Thebes, That he ſhould, according to promiſe, give up the kingdom to his brother, he could not brook a denial, but forthwith challenged the ſtouteſt Thebane to the field, and (though but one) putting all to flight that were at the banquet, he returned homeward, where meeting fifty Thebans that lay in ambuſh for him, he overcame them all, ſparing but one to carry back the news: afterwards he making war with his brother in law Polynices againſt the Thebans, was ſlain by one Menalippus a Theban: hinc Tydides, ꝯ patronym. i. Diomedes; Stat.

Tylos. Two Iſles in the red-ſea; Plin.

Tymphe, mons Epiri; hinc Gypſum Tymphaicum; Plin.

Tyndaris, Plin. Tyndarium, Ptol. A City once of Sicily; built by Tyndarus the father of Leda. Pop. Tyndaritani; Cic. Hinc Tyndarius, a, um; Sil. ꝯ It. patron. à Tyndaro; Helena ſic dict. Vir.

Tyndarus; Tyndarëus, Ovid. King of Œbalia in Peloponeſus. His wife Leda brought forth two eggs at one time; of one of them, which ſhe had conceived by Jupiter, came Pollux and Helena; of the other, that came by her husband, Caſtor and Clytemneſtra; the two firſt immortal, the two laſt mortal: but when Caſtor was dead, Pollux craved that his brother might be partaker of half his immortality: So they were changed into two Stars, and always when the one ariſeth, the other ſetteth. Hinc Tyndarëus, a, um; Val. Fl. it. Tyndaridæ, Caſtor and Pollux; Tyndaris, Helena.

Typhœus, in Gen. Typhœos, Ovid. in Acc. Typhœa, Id. Typhæa, Vir. à τύφω, id eſt, fumigo; flammâ enim ac fulmine à Jove ictus interit. A proud Gyant, ſon to Terra and Titan, who attempting to pull Jupiter out of heaven, was by him ſtricken with lightning, and caſt under the Iſle Inarime; or as others, under the mount Ætna in Sicily.

Typhon, ōnis; Sen. A Giant begot of the Earth by Juno's ſtriking her hand upon it.

Tyrannion Amiſenus. A learned Grammarian, whom Lucullus took priſoner in the Mithridatick War.

Tyras, Ovid. A river of Sarmatia Europæa, which falls into the Euxine Sea betweene Iſter and Boryſthenes; hodie Neſter dict. Pop. Tyragetæ; Plin.

Tyrinthia, urbs Argis vicina, ubi nutritus Hercules, Tyrinthius inde dictus.

Tyro, ūs; f. Ovid. A Theſſalian maiden, daughter of Salmoneus, on whom Neptune in the ſhape of the river Eripeus, begot Neleus and Pelias.

Tyros, i; f. Luc. vel Tyrus, צוֹר, id eſt rupes. al. dict. à Tyro Phœnicis filio: A City in Syrophœnicia, one of the three Provinces of Syria, built by the Phœnicians, in former times the Empory of the world, a place famous for merchandiſe and Navigation: it was anciently called Sarra, unde veſtes Sarranæ, Scarlet; hinc Tyrius, um; Of Tyre.

Tyrrheni, qui & Tuſci & Hetruſci. People of Tuſcany, dict. à Tyrrheno Atys filio, qui è Lydia colonos in hanc regionem deduxit. They invented the Trumpet, Vir. hinc & regio ipſa Tyrrhenia; Ovid.

Tyrrhus. King Latinus his Herdſman, who told Latinus that the Companions of Æneas had wounded one of his ſtaggs, which was the cauſe of the war between the Latines and the Trojans, Virg. inde Tyrrhides, Patronym. Id.

Tyrtæus. A Poet of Athens; Hor.

Tyſias. He that firſt invented the art of Rhetorick; Cic.

V ante A.

VAcca. A City of Africk. pop. Vaccenſes; Sal. Alſo a river in Portugal, now called Vouga.

Vaccæi, Sil. People of the kingdom of Leon in Spain.

Vaccus. A Roman Captain, whom for rebellion L. Papyrius put to death; Cic.

Vacomagi. People of Murray in Scotland.

Vacorium. A City of Noricum called now Vagram.

Vacuna, à Vacando dicta eſt Dea, quæ præeſſe vacantibus & otioſis putabatur. The goddeſs of Reſt, whereunto the husbandmen did ſacrifice after Harveſt, Ovid. Hinc Vacunalis, e; Id.

Vada, Tac. A town of Guelderland, called Wagening.

Vadavero, onis; Mart. fl. & mons Celtiberiæ.

Vadimonis lacus in Hetruriâ; Liv. hod. Lago di Baſſanello.

Vaga. The river Wye in South-Wales that runs into Severn at Chepſtow. ꝯ Alſo a City of Africk, belonging to Carthage; Sil.

Vagedruſa, fons Siciliæ apud Syracuſas; Sil.

Vageni, Sil. Vagienni, Plin. pop. Liguriæ, prope fontes Padi fl.

Vagniacum. Maidſton in Kent.

Vahalis, Tac. Vacalos, Cæſ. A river of the Low-countries, a part of the Rhine, that runs by Nimmegen and falls into the Meuſe.

Valaſca. A Queen of Bohemia, who with other women conſpired to kill all the men of that Realm, and to rule like the Amazones, Volat.

Valdemontium. Vaudemont in Lorrain.

Valens, Imper. Conſtant. An utter enemy to Chriſtianity.

Valentia. An old name of Rome; Alſo a city of Spain, giving name to the whole Province called Valence.

Valentianæ, & Valentinianæ, & Valencenæ. The chief city of Henault in the Low-countries; Valenciennes.

Valentinianus. The name of three Emperors of Rome.

Valeria, proprium nomen ſororis Meſſalorum, who when her husband Servius was dead, would never marry; for, ſaid ſhe, My husband liveth ſtill, meaning, in her love, and in her heart: alſo a city of Spain,

and a Country in lower Pannonia ſo called.

Valerii villa, Cic. Valeriana villa, Voplſc. locus Brutiorum, apud Rhegium urbem.

Valerius. The name of ſundry famous Romans; of a Conſul, called Publicola, for his courting the people: of a Colonel called Corvinus from a Crow which aſſiſted him in fight: of a Conſul with M. Cato, called Flaccus: of a Poet called Soranus, whom Tully called Togatorum Doctiſſimus, ſlain by Pompey the Great: of an Hiſtorian called Maximus, who dedicated his Hiſtories to Tiberius Cæſar: of a Poet of Patavium called Flaccus, that wrote the Hiſtory of the Argonauts: of one called Torquatus, qui pro reip. ſalute obiit mortem.

Valgius. A learned Poet, that did write of herbs.

Valliſoletum. A City of Spain, called Valladolid.

Vallis Tellina. The Valteline in Italy, betwixt Millain and Venice.

Vallonia, Dea quæ vallibus præerat.

Vallum. The Picts Wall.

Vandali. People of Germany about Meklenburg on the coaſt of the Baltick-ſea: from whom alſo that part of Spain called Vandalitia, or as now Andaluzia, had its name. hinc Vandalicus, a, um.

Vangiōnes, um; m. pl. Luc. People of Germany, about the City Worms.

Varduli; Plin. A people of Spain.

Varius. A Tragick Poet. Hor.

Varro, quibuſdam idem quod Baro. A learned man, as ever any Rome had, for hiſtory, antiquity, and all humanity: and beſides, an excellent writer of Satyres.

Vārus. A Tragical Poet, who was one of the peruſers of Virgils Æneid. after his death: vixit tempore Auguſti Cæſaris: Alſo a friend of Virgils, ſirnamed Quintilius, whom Auguſtus made Deputy of Gallia Ciſalpina, and after that Captain of his German Army. He made truce with the Germans, who breaking their oath, came upon him ſuddenly, and after three days fight, for grief he ſlew himſelf. Horace much laments his death, and Virgil extols his life, Eclog. 6. for that by his means Virgil retained all his own poſſeſſions, when all his neighbours were exiled. ℌ Alſo a river ſo called, dividing France from Italy; Cæſ.

Vāsātæ, & Vaſates, Auſ. pop. Galliæ Aquitan. quorum tractus le Bazadois.

Vaſcōnes, um, pl. m. Juv. People of the North part of Spain called Navarre, who ſtepping over the Pyrenean hills, ſetled themſelves in the next corner of France, and are now called Gaſcons; the country from them is called Vaſconia; Auſ.

Vāticānus, dict. quòd populus Romanus in eo potitus ſit vatum reſponſo, expulſis Hetruſcis à vaticiniis. One of the ſeven hills, whereon Rome is built, whereon alſo ſtands the Popes Palace, S. Peters Church, and the Vatican Library, which was begun by Julius the ſecond, ſirnamed the Warrior, and finiſhed, and dedicated by Sixtus the fifth.

Vātinius. One that hated Cicero, yet at length they grew ſuch friends, that Cicero defended him. Seneca ſaith of him, that aſſiduo convitio depudere didicerat, Val. Max. hence Odium Vatinianum, Catul. ℌ Alſo a Cobler, who brought up a ſort of ſorry drinking Cups with four nozzles; Juv. & Mart.

Vatrēnus, & Vaternus; Mart. A river in Italy, falling into the Po.

U ante B.

Ubĭi, Germaniæ pop. qui Agrippinenſes Tacito dict. ubi adhuc pagus eſt dict. Ubich. People about Cullen.

Ubiſci, Plin. People of Aquitain about Bourdeaux.

U ante C.

Ucălĕgon, Vir. ἀπὸ τοῦ ἀλέγειν, i. non curans. A noble man of Troy. ℌ It is put for any next neighbour; Juv.

Ucetia, urbs Gall. Narb. vulgò Uzez; G. Tur.

Ucubis, Hirt. Attubi, Plin. hod. Lucubi opp. Hiſp. Bæt.

U ante D.

Udini. People of Aſia, neer the Caſpian Sea; Plin.

V ante E.

Vectis, Plin. Vecta, Eutrop. The Iſle of Wight, about ſixty miles in compaſs, twenty in length, and twelve in breadth: Newport the chief town.

Vectius Marcellus, Neronis Imper. procurator, cujus prædia ab utraque parte viæ publicæ, ſcilicet prata & olea, in ſedes contrarias tranſgreſſa fuêre, quod maxime mirandum eſt, Plin.

Vectōnes, Luc. al. Vettones, pop. Luſitaniæ.

Vedra, fl. Were in the B. of Dureſme.

Vĕgĕtius. An Author who wrote of martial Diſcipline, and of Horſe-leech ſkill, or Farriery.

Veia. A witch in Horace.

Veientanum, villa Liviæ Auguſtæ apud Veios; Suet.

Vēii; Liv. A City of Hetruria in Italy, which was ſo beautiful, that after the Gauls had defaced Rome, the Romans were fully minded to make it their Metropolis: hinc Veientes, pop. Liv. & Veientanus, a, um; Mart.

Vejŭpiter, qui & Vejovis dict. quaſi parvus Jupiter, ſic Vegrande frumentum, i. parvum; vel Vejupiter, qu. malè juvans pater, ut Veſanus, i. malè ſanus.

Vēlabrum, locus in urbe juxta Aventinum montem, velis obtenſus, ſub quibus oleum & ſimilia vendebantur. Inde Velabrenſis, e; adj. Mart.

Velauni, Plin. Vellaunii, Cæſ. pop. Galliæ in Aquitaniâ, quorum tractus Le Velay dic.

Vēlia; Hor. A City of Lucania, by the gulf Pæſtanus: hinc Velienſes, pop. & Velinus, a, um; adj. ut Velini portus, Vir.

Vēlina. A quarter of Rome joined to mount Palatine; whence Velina tribus Pub. Vict. ſic dict. quòd ibi paſtores Palatini vellere lanam ſint ſoliti.

Vēlitræ, urbs Volſcorum, Octaviæ gentis origine nobilitata; hinc Veliterni, pop. Liv.

Velleius Paterculus. A fine Hiſtorian who lived in the time of the three firſt Roman Emperours; he wrote a breviary of the Roman hiſtory, which is dedicated to the Conſul Vinitius, the greater part whereof is yet extant, being a Learned Work, but that he flatters this Conſul, and the Emperour Tiberius a little too much.

Velocaſſes, Plin. People of France, about the river Seyne, in Normandy, where now the Dioceſs of Rouen is.

Vĕnāfrum, Cic. A City of Campania, famous for Oyl. hinc Venafranus, a, um; & Venafrus, a, um; Var.

Vĕnantŏdūnum, qu. mons Venatorum. Huntingdon; Leland.

Vĕnĕdi. People of Finland, as ſome; or, as others, of Lithuania.

Venedicus ſinus. The Gulf of Dantzick, a part of the Baltick ſea.

Venedotia. *North-*Wales.

Vĕnĕris portus. A port at the foot of the Pyrene mountains. ℌ Alſo a town upon the ſea-coaſts of Liguria.

Vĕnĕti, Cæſ. People of little Bretagne in France, whoſe chief City is Vannes. ℌ Alſo the Venetians, called in Greek ἐνετοι, pop. Paphlagoniæ, unde hi orti.

Vĕnĕtia. The country about Venice.

Vĕnĕtiæ. The City Venice in Italy, ſtanding at the top of the Adriatick ſea: the ſituation of it is wonderful; for it is made up of ſixty little Iſlands, the whole circuit being nine miles. It has five hundred Bridges in it, moſt of ſtone. It hath a famous Arcenal, and an excellent harbour for ſhips. The Republick is governed by a Duke and a Colledge of Senators.

Venicnium. Rames-head in Ireland.

Vĕnĭlĭa. A Nymph who was wife to Faunus, and mother to Turnus; Vir. Veniliam item antiqui Neptuni conjugem appellârunt, à veniendo, inquit Var. l. 4. de Ling. Lat. quam eandem & Salaciam appellaverunt, ad naturam maris reſpicientes, cujus fluctus modò ad terram veniunt, modò in ſalum abeunt.

Vennōnæ. High-croſs in Leiceſter-ſhire neer Bensford-bridg; Camd.

Vĕnōnius, hiſtoricus Romanus; Cic.

Venta Belgarum. Winchester.

Venta Icenorum. Caſter near Norwich or Norwich it ſelf.

Venta Silurum, Caerwent in Monmouth ſhire; or as ſome, Briſtow.

Vĕnŭlus. The Embaſſador that Turnus ſent to Diomedes.

VENUS, ĕris; f. dict. à veniendo, Cic. quòd ad omnes res veniat; al. à viendo dict. eſt, i. ligando, quòd animas liget & vinciat. The goddeſs of Love and Beauty; ſhe was wife to Vulcan the ſmith, but Mars was her Gallant. Her parentage is well deſcribed in that Verſe of Auſon. Orta ſalo, ſuſcepta ſolo, patre edita cœlo. Orta Salo, i. è maris ſpuma, unde & Ἀφροδίτη gr. dic. multa habuit cognomina, à locis, in quibus culta erat, Cytherea, Idalia, Paphia, Erycina, Gnidia, Salaminia, Cyllenia, Pontica, &c. ℌ It is alſo taken for any ſweetheart or Miſs.

Vĕnūſia, vel Venuſium, urbs Italiæ in Apulia Peucetia, Horatii patria, unde Poeta Venuſinus dicitur.

Veragri, pop. Gall. Lugd. Cæſ.

Verbānus lacus. A lake now called

Lagō

Lago Maggior in the ſtate of Milan.

Vercellæ. A City of Piedmont, under the Duke of Savoy.

Vergiliæ, ſtellæ dict. quòd circa æquinoctium vernum matutinum oriantur. The ſeven ſtars: v. Pleiades.

Verginium mare. The Iriſh ſea.

Vēritas, Saturni & Temporis filia, & Virtutis mater, ac propterea Dea exiſtimata à Gentibus.

Verlūcio. Werminſter, a town between Bath and Marlborow.

Vernicones. People of Fife in Scotland.

Verodunum, Virodunum, & Veredunum. A City of Lorrain called Verdun.

Vērŏlāmium. Verulam near S. Albans.

Vērŏmandŭi, Cæſ. Viromandui, Liv. People of France in Picardy, whoſe country is ſtill called le Vermandois, of which the chief City was once Vermand, Auguſta Veromanduorum; but now S. Quintin.

Vērŏmētum. Burrow-hill in Leiceſterſhire.

Vērōna, qu. Brenona, dict. à duce Brenno; vel qu. verè una. A City of Lumbardy, where Catullus was born.

Vērōnes. People by the river Vero in Spain: Sil.

Verovīcum. Warwick.

Verra, ara fuit Romæ ad quam orabant ne Agrippæ, i. diſtorti partus naſcerentur.

Verres. Prætor in Sicilia, ob libidinoſam avaritiam ab incolis repetundarum poſtulatus erat, & accuſante Cicerone Romæ condemnatus.

Verrugo, opp. Latii; Liv.

Verſāliæ. Verſailles in France.

Verteris. Burgh, under Stainmore.

Vertumnālia. Feaſts in honour of Vertumnus, celebrated in October.

Vertumnus, dict. quòd in omnes formas ſeſe vertat; al. quòd lacum Curtium in Viberim averterit; Ovid. A god among the Romans, who loving a Nymph, changed himſelf into all ſhapes to get her; but prevailing nothing, at length he turned himſelf into the ſhape of a beautiful young man, and then offering her violence, ſhe eaſily condeſcended to him. Some take Vertumnus to be the Governor of mens thoughts and deſires, which are very unconſtant and variable; whence Vertumno natus iniquo, Hor. qui cogitationes ſuas regere non poteſt. It is taken alſo for a Vaulter; Propert.

Vērŭlāni; Liv. A people of Latium, whoſe City was Verulum.

Vesbius; Val. Fl. al. Veſvius, pro Veſuvius; mons Campaniæ.

Veſci. The City Faventia in Spain now called Hueſca or Gueſca.

Vēsēvus, Vir. qui & Veſuvius dict. A hill in Campania, which burned like Ætna, in the ſmoak whereof Pliny the great Naturaliſt was choaked.

Veſontio; Cæſ. The chief City of Burgundy, called Beſanzon.

Veſpaſiæ, pagus Umbriæ; unde Veſpaſiano nomen; Suet.

VESPASIANUS. The tenth Emperor of Rome, father of Titus: he was very valorous, and forgetful of injuries, (for he never puniſhed any without tears) but withal covetous, ſo that he told his ſon Titus, when he raiſed an impoſt upon urine, Dulcis odor lucri ex re qualibet, Suet. and that he kept rich men to gather treaſure together, that when he had need, he might ſqueeze them like ſponges. He ſo ſtraitned the Jews, in a long ſiege, that there died of them with famine and ſword 1100000, beſides 100000 he took captives: neither is this incredible; for all the Jews were now gathered to Jeruſalem to celebrate their Paſſeover, and were then pinned up, that as they had put Chriſt to death at that time with one conſent; ſo they might at that time be gathered together to their own deſtruction. This City was taken ann. Chr. 70. Septem. 7. by Titus, whom Veſpaſian left in his place when he went from the Camp to be proclaimed Emperor at Rome. This Veſpaſian died of the flux, an. ætat. 69. poſtquam regnaſſet an. 9.

Veſta, terra dict. quòd rebus omnibus veſtiatur; ſeu quia vi ſuâ ſtat; ſic Ovid. Stat vi terra ſua; vi ſtando Veſta vocatur; vel pot. à gr. ἑστία focus, vel ab heb. אשתא ignis. Veteres duas eſſe Veſtas voluerunt; alteram Saturni matrem, quæ Verra dicitur; alteram ejus filiam, quæ virgo Veſta dicitur.

Veſtāles, Virgines quæ Veſtæ ſacris, perpetuique ignis cuſtodiæ erant dicatæ, à Numa Pomp. primùm inſtitutæ. Nuns of Veſta, who, if they tranſgreſt their vow of virginity, were buried alive.

Veſtia Oppia, mulier Attellana, meretrix. Liv.

Veſtini. People of Italy, betwixt the Piceni and the Sabini. hinc Veſtinus, a, um; adj. Mart.

Veſŭlus, Vir. mons Liguriæ, ubi fontes Padi fl. hod. Monviſo.

Vēsŭvius; Liv. A burning hill in Italy, eight miles off Naples, now called Monte di Somma. hinc Veſuvinus, a, um; Stat. & Veſuvianus; Tac.

Vĕtĕra Caſtra, Tac. Santen, a town in the Duchy of Cleves.

Vētōnes, pop. Luſitaniæ, à quibus herba Betonica nomen accepit.

Vetulonia opp. Hetruriæ; Sil.

U ante F.

Ufens; Vir. fl. Latii: it. fl. Piceni; Liv.

Uffugum; Liv. urbs Brutiorum; hod. Monte alto.

V ante I.

Via; fl. Hiſp. Tarrac. Mel.

Viana, opp. Rhætiæ in Suevia; Pl.

Vibiſci. People about Burdeaux in France.

Vibius Virius. A Senator that perſwaded the people of Capua to revolt to Hannibal; and when he had ſo done, he perſwaded twentyfour Senators to drink poiſon with him; and then with mutual embracings, and tears for their Countries ſtate, they all dyed, before Hannibal entered the City.

Vibo Valentia, opp. Brutiorum; Cic.

Vicentia, Tac. Vicetia, Plin. al. Vincentia. A City of Lumbardy. Pop. Vicetini, Cic.

Victoria. Wigton in Scotland; F. Abernethy; B.

Victōria. The goddeſs of victory; ſhe is drawn with wings and feathers, Auſon.

Victoriacum. Vitray, a town of little Bretagne.

Vidūa. The river Crodogh in Ireland.

Vienna, olim Flaviana & Vindobona. The chief City of Auſtria, upon the Danow, the ſeat of the Emperor. ◊ Alſo a City of the Dauphiné in France, where Pontius Pilate was baniſhed.

Vigornia. Worceſter.

Villa Fauſtini. S. Edmunds Burie.

Viminālis collis, dict. à viminum ſylva in eo enata. One of the ſeven hills whereon Rome ſtands.

Vindēlīcia, à Vinda & Lico fluviis dict. A country in Germany where now Bavaria is: hinc Vindelicus, a, um; Claud.

Vindelis. Portland; Camd.

Vindēmiātor, Plin. Vindemitor, Ovid. The name of a ſtar that appears before vintage time.

Vinderius. The Bay of Knockfergus in Ireland; Camd.

Vindius, mons Hiſp. Varrac.

Vindocinum. Vendoſme in France.

Vindoglādia. Winburn in Dorſetſhire.

Vindōlāna. Wincheſter in the wall.

Vindomora. Walls-end in Northumberland.

Vindoniſſa, Tac. Windiſch in Swizzerland.

Vindonum. Silceaſter in Hampſhire.

Vintium, urbs Liguriæ; hod. Venza.

Vinovium. Binchester in the Biſh. of Durham; Camd.

Virbius, dict. quaſi bis vir; hunc dilaceratum ad vitam Diana revocavit, Ovid. 15. Met. A name of Hippolytus. ◊ It. fl. Laconicæ, ad quem Æſculapius Hippolytum curavit. ◊ It. vir quidam Aricinus; Vir.

Virgi; Mel. opp. à quo proximus finus Virgitanus dicitur. A town in Spain: Vera hodiè dict.

Virgilius, Maiæ & Maronis figuli filius. A famous Poet of Mantua, who was in high eſteem with Auguſtus Cæſar.

Virginia, Juv. A Captains daughter, whoſe chaſtity Appius one of the Decemvirs having attempted, proved the occaſion of their overthrow.

Vīrīātus. A Spaniard, who after he had been a ſhepherd, a hunter, and a robber, was at laſt Captain General of an army, and gave the foil to the Prætor Ventidius; and after him Q. Plancius had no better ſucceſs, ſo that he made himſelf Lord of all Portugal, but was at laſt treacherouſly ſlain by a ſouldier of his own, with the great lamentation of his Army, Liv.

Viritium. The City Gripſwald. F. or Piritz, B. in Pomerland.

Virocŏnium. Wroxceſter in Shropſhire.

Virōfidum. Werwic upon Eden near Carlile.

Virōveſca. The City Brivieſca in Spain.

Virtus, dea apud Romanos habita, cui templum extruxerunt antè Honoris ædem.

Viſtŭla, Plin. Viſula, Mel. The famous River of Poland, called Wixel, which riſing out of the hill Carpathus, parteth Germany from Sarmatia Europæa; and running by Cracow, falls at laſt into the Belt neer Dantzik.

Viſurgis, Plin. A river of Germany, called the Weſer.

Vitæ; Bed. People of Saxony, whoſe chief City is Wittenberg; i. Vitarum mons.

Vitellius. An Emperor of Rome, who was ſo covetous, that he pilled the Churches: ſubſtituting brazen ornaments in the place of the golden: further, his gluttony was ſo great, that he had at one ſupper two thouſand fiſhes, and ſeven thouſand birds. When he could not flie death, he made himſelf drunk, that he might not be ſenſible of the pangs thereof.

Viterbium, urbs Hetruriæ.

Vitruvius. A great Engineer and Deſigner of building, in Auguſtus time.

Vituli inſula; Bed. Selſey, an Iſle belonging to England.

Vitunus, antiquus Deus erat, qui credebatur vitam largiri, ut Sentinus ſenſū.

Vivarium. Viviers, a City of France; the country is called Vivaretz.

U ante L.

Uladiſlāus. The name of ſundry Kings of Hungary and Bohemia.

Uliarus, Plin. The Iſle of Oleron, belonging to France.

Ulma, Sueviæ urbs; hod. Ulm.

Ulmetum. Elmeſly in England; Camd.

Ulpĭānus. A famous Lawyer in the time of Adrian the Emperor.

Ultōnia. Ulſter in Ireland.

Ultrajectum. Utrecht in Holland.

Ulubræ; Hor. A town in Italy, where Auguſtus Cæſar was brought up.

ULYSSES; Ὀδυσσεὺς, ſic dict. quòd eum mater peperit in triviis, ὅτια κατὰ τὴν ὁδὸν ἔτεκεν ὀζεύς, Etym. The ſon of Laertes and Anticlea, and husband to Penelope; an eloquent and ſubtile Prince of Greece, Lord of the Iſles Ithaca, Dulichium, &c. who after the ſiege of Troy was ended, was driven into many dangers and put upon ſeveral adventures for the ſpace of ten years, before he could arive at his own country.

Ulyſſippo, Mel. & Olyſippo, Plin. ab Ulyſſe condita; Solin. hodie Lisbona ſive Lubona, Portugalliæ Metropolis, ad Tagi fere oſtium ſita: Portis 38. diſtincta, turribus 77. munita.

U ante M.

Umbilicum maris nominat Paulus Diaconus quandam Oceani voraginem circa Scandiam; vulgò Maelſtroom.

Umbria, olim Ombria, P.in. ita dict. ἀπὸ τῦ ὄμβρυ, i. e. ab imbre, quòd Umbri (omnium Italiæ populorum antiquiſſimi) inundationi terrarum imbribúſque ſuperfuiſſe creduntur: vel dicta eſt ab umbra, qd. propter vicinitatem montium umbroſa ſit. A large country of Italy, on both ſides the Apennine; Spoleto is its chief City. Umbri pop.

Umbro, fl. Hetruriæ; Plin.

V ante O.

Voberca; opp. Hiſp. Tarr. Mart.

Vocontiorum, vel Voconii forum; Tac. A City of France in the Dauphin country. hinc Vocontius, a, um; Sil.

Vogeſus Luc. An hill called Vauge, that parts Lorrain from Burgundy and Alſace.

Volaterræ, Cic. A City of Hetruria, where Perſius the Poet was born.

Volcæ; Sil. People of Languedock in France.

Volcatius. The name of ſome Romans.

Voliba. Falmouth in Cornwal.

Vologeſus. A King of the Parthians.

Volōnes. Servants that in great extremity, in the ſecond Punick wars, went voluntarily to help their Maſters, and were thereupon made freemen; Feſt.

Volſci, Liv. pop. Latii, quorum urbs princ. erat Anxur. Volſcus, a, um, adj. Vir.

Volſinii, Liv. or Volſinium. A City once of Tuſcany, called now Bolſena.

Volubile, Plin. The City Fez in Africk.

Voluntium. Arglas, a City of Ireland, pop. Voluntii.

Voluſius An unlearned Poet of Padua: another a rich man; Tac. called Volux by Sil.

Vŏmānus, Sil. fl. Piceni.

Vonones. The ſon of Phraates, a Parthian, whom his father gave to the Romans for a pledge of his fidelity: Juſt.

Vopiſcus Flavius, hiſtoricus.

Voreda. Old Penrith, or Old Carlile.

U ante R.

Uragus, dict. ab urgendo, quòd omnium deorum maxime nos urgeat; rect. à Gr. ἀγείρω dict. quòd poſtremum humanæ fabulæ actum excipit. Pluto ſo called.

Urania, & Uranie; Ovid. Jovis & Mnemoſynes filia, cui Aſtrologiæ inventio tribuitur. One of the nine Muſes.

Uranopolis, opp. Macedoniæ, ſub monte Athō; Plin.

Vratiſlavia. Breſlaw, the chief City of Sileſia.

Urba Salvia, Salvia urbs, Plin. opp. Piceni; hod. Urbiſaglia.

Urbinum, Tac. A City of Umbria in Italy; which gives title to a Duke. Urbinates pop. Plin.

Urbs, fl. Liguriæ; Claud.

Urbs vetus. Orvieto, a City of Tuſcany.

Urci, Plin. urbs olim Hiſp.

Urgo; Plin. An Iſle in the Tyrrhene ſea, called la Gorgona.

Uriconium. Wroxeſter or Worceſter.

Urium. A river and town of Andaluzia.

Urpanus. fl. Pannoniæ; Plin.

Urſentini, pop. Lucaniæ; Plin.

Urſidungum. S. Giſlain, in Henault.

Urſo, Plin. Urſao, Hirt. The town Oſſuna in Spain, a Dukedom.

Urus. The river Ouſe, that runs through York.

U ante S.

Uſcudāma; Amm. The City Adrianople in Thrace.

Uſipetes, Cæſ. Uſipii, Mart. People of Germany, or (as others) of Zutphen in the low Countries.

Uſocona vel Uxocona. Okenyate in Shropſhire; Camd.

Uſtica, mons in Sabinis, Horat. & inſula Siciliæ, una Æoliarum; Plin.

U ante T.

Utica, Cic. A City of Africk in the Kingdom of Tunis, now called Biſerta. Pop. Uticenſes, Cæſ. Here Cato killed himſelf, called hence Uticenſis.

Utricenſium; Amm. Utrecht.

Utriculum, id. quod Ocriculum; unde Utriculani, pop. Plin.

V ante U.

Vulcanalia. Feaſts dedicated to Vulcan.

Vulcani inſula, Liv. Vulcania tellus, Vir. inſula Siciliæ, una Æoliarum, quæ & Hiera & Theraſia, Plin. hod. Vulcano; ſic dict. quòd ibi templum eſſet Vulcani.

Vulcaniæ, dict. quod ignem evomant, cujus Deus habetur Vulcanus; dicuntur & Æoliæ, ab Æolo ibi regnante. Seven Iſles between Italy and Sicily, Lipara, Hiera, quæ & Theraſia, Strongyle, Didyme, Ericuſa, Phœnicuſa, and Euonymus; aliter etiam nominatæ.

Vulcanus, qu. Volicanus, i. candens, & per aërem volans, Serv. vel à majore vi ignis, & fulgore; qu. Fulganus, Varro: alio nomine dict. mulciber, quòd ferrum mulceat; vel ex Tubal Cain factum nomen per aphær. The god of fire, the ſon of Jupiter and Juno.

Vultur. A hill and river in Apulia, from whence the City Vultura, in Hor.

Vulturnum, Liv. dict. à Vulturis volatu. A City once of Campania ſtanding on a river of that name.

Vulturnus; Ovid. fl. Campaniæ. ◊ It. id. qui Eurus, Plin.

U ante X.

Uxacona. Okenyate in Shrop-ſhire.

Uxama; urbs Hiſp. Tarrac. Plin.

Uxella. Crokerwel in Devonſhire, or Leſtithiel in Cornwal.

Uxellodunum; Cæſ. A town of Guyenne in France: now called Yſoulduns; Jun.

U ante Z.

Uzalis, Aug. Uzalitanum oppidum, Plin. An inland City of Africk, neer Utica.

Uzella; Leſtithiel in Cornwal.

Uzellæ æſtuarium. Ivel-mouth.

Uzetia, Mart. A City of Languedoc, called Uzez.

Uzita, Hirt. An inland City of Africk, deſtroyed by Cæſar.

W ante A, E, I, O.

WArſavia. Warſaw in Poland.

Warwicus. Warwick.

Wellæ. The City Welles.

Weſtmoria. Weſtmorland.

Weſtmonaſterium. Weſtminſter.

Weſtphalia. A country of Germany, the chief City whereof is Munſter.

Wigornia. Worceſter.

Windeſora. Windſor.

Wintonia. Wincheſter.

Wormacia. The City Worms in Germany.

X ante A.

XAnthe vel Xantho, Vir. ſic dict. à ruſo ſive flavo colore: A Sea-nymph, daughter of Tethys and Oceanus.

Xanthus, Vir. ξανθὸς, i. ruſus, quod ovium vellus ruſo inficiat colore. A river in Troas, which riſing in the hill Ida, runs into the Helleſpont, the ſame with Scamander: another in Lycia, Plin. called now Sirbi: another of Epirus; Vir. ◊ Alſo a City in Lycia, ſo called from the river; Plin. ◊ Alſo one of the horſes of the Sun; Mart.

Xantippe. Socrates his wife, who was ſo fiery, that when ſhe had ſcolded him out of doors, ſhe caſt piſs upon him; and when his neighbours laughed at him, he ſaid, I knew thunder would end in a ſhower.

X ante E.

Xeniades. A Corinthian that bought Diogenes; and demanding what he could do, do, Diogenes answered, I can govern freemen; whereupon he made him freeman, and Tutor to his Children. Gell.

Xenius, Lat. hoſpitalis. A name of Jupiter.

Xenocrates. A Philoſopher, who was one of Plato's ſcholars: he was of ſo dull a capacity, that Plato ſaid, Ariſtotle had need of a bridle, but Xenocrates of a ſpur. Alſo a Painter and Graver; Plin.

Xenophilus, Gr. i. hoſpitum amicus. A Muſician who lived an hundred and ſeven years without ſickneſs; Plin.

Xenophon, Gr. A Greek Hiſtorian, called the Attick Bee; he was a ſcholar of Socrates, a noble alſo & wiſe Captain: He wrote many Books, whereof many are yet extant, in ſo ſweet a ſtile, that he is called Muſa Attica; his Cyropædia is beyond compare, which he dedicated to Cyrus.

Xera, urbs Hiſp. Bæt. Xerez.

Xerolibya, Catul. i. Libya ſicca, quam Virg. vocat regionem ſiti deſertam. A part of Libya between Pentapolis and Tripolis.

XERXES. A King of Perſia, ſon of Darius, and nephew to Cyrus, who after five years preparation came againſt the Grecians (to revenge his fathers diſgraceful repulſe by Miltiades*) with ſo invincible an Army, that his men and cattle dried up whole rivers; he made a bridge over the* Helleſpont, where looking back on ſuch a multitude, conſidering mans moriality, he wept, knowing that not one of them all could be living after 100 years. He was ſo ſhamefully defeated in a ſea-fight, that he hardly eſcaped himſelf in a little Cockboat.

X ante Y.

Xyniæ; Liv. opp. & palus Theſſaliæ, prope Epirum.

Xyſtici, apud Rom. gladiatores erant pugnantes in Xyſto, i. ambulacro vel porticu, hyberno tempore; Suet.

Xyſtus. Two Roman Biſhops ſo called.

Y ante V.

YVodium. A town in the Duchy of Luxemburg, called Yvoix.

Z ante A.

ZAbulon. One of the twelve Tribes.

Zacharias. The father of S. John Baptiſt.

Zacynthus, Liv. Zacynthos, i; f. Vir. dict. à Zacyntho Dardanio. An Iſle and City in the Ionian Sea, called Zante; being in circuit ſixty miles; twenty-five in length, and twelve in breadth.

Zagrus, mons Aſiæ, qui Mediam ab Aſſyria ſeparat; Plin.

Zälätes; Juv. An Armenian youth, that turned Bardaſh.

Zaleucus, Legiſlator Locrenſis: He made a Law, that adulterers ſhould have their eyes put out; therefore when his ſon was taken in adultery, that he might both keep the Law, and be compaſſionate to his ſon, he put forth one of his own eyes, to redeem the one of his ſons: Val. M.

Zama, Sil. A City of Africa, once the royal ſeat of King Juba.

Zameis Ninias, quartus Perſarum rex, filius Nini & Semiramidis.

Zamolxis. A ſervant to Pythagoras, who travelled with him, and was reputed after his return and death a God among his countrymen the Getæ, becauſe he firſt taught them Civility.

Zancle, ξάγκλη, falx; vel quòd falcis in modum ſit curvata; vel à Saturni falce, quam ibi primùm decidiſſe fabulantur poetæ, Ovid. The City Meſſana (ſo ſome) in Sicily. Zancl*æus*, a, um; adj. Sil. & Zancl*ëius*; Ovid.

Zancles. An old man of Samothrace, who after he had lived 104 years, bred young teeth. Plin.

Zaraſpæ, pop. Aſiæ; Plin.

Zariaſpa, Plin. urbs Bactrianæ regia, quæ & Baſtra. hod. Belch, ſic dict. à Zariaſpi fl.

Zarmiſgethuſa, quæ & Ulpia Trajana. The chief City once of Dacia, called Gradiſh

Z ante E.

Zelaſium, promont. Theſſaliæ; Liv.

Zelandia, qu. Sea-Land dict. One of the chief Iſlands of Denmark, in the Baltick ſea, wherein is the chief City called Copenhagen: It is in length about ſeventy miles, and as much in breadth: Alſo a ſea-country of the Netherlands, conſiſting of ſeven Iſlands.

Zeno. A Philoſopher of Cittium, a town of Cyprus, the father of the Stoicks, who compared Logick to a cloſe fiſt, Oratory to the hand opened: He taught, That men having two ears, ſhould hear much, and one mouth, ſhould ſpeak little.

Zenobia, Palmyrenorum Regina, Odenati regis uxor. A Virago ſo valorous, that when Aurelianus had led her in triumph, ſhe ſtood undaunted; whereupon he ſuffered her to live ſafely in the City Tibur in Italy. She was ſo well lettered, that ſhe could ſpeak readily the Latin, the Greek, and the Ægyptian tongues.

Zenodotus. A Grammarian, who was the keeper of Ptolemies great Library: Alſo a Sophiſter in the reign of Hadrian.

Zephyre; ſ. Plin. An Iſle near Crete.

Zephyrium, Locrorum promontorium in Italia, à quo Locri Epizephyrii. ◊ Ic. prom. & urbs Ciliciæ.

Zephyrus; Poet. ζέφυρος, qu. ζωοφόρος, i. vitam ferens; Lat. Favonius. The gentle weſt-wind.

Zerbis; Plin. A river of Meſopotamia, that runs into Tiger.

Zerynthus, urbs, & antrum Hecates in Samothracia: hinc Zerynthius, a, um; Ovid.

Zethes, Ovid. The ſon of Boreas by Orithyia, and brother of Calais; who were two of the Argonauts, and being winged, were ſent to drive away the Harpyes.

Zetta; Cæſ. opp. Africæ maritimum.

Zetus; Hor. The brother of Amphion.

Zeugitāna; Plin. A Country of Africk, upon the ſea-coaſt bordering on Numidia.

Zeugma, Stat. A City of Syria Comagena, by the river Euphrates.

Zeuxis. An excellent Painter, who by his ſingular skill grew very rich; he contended with Parrhaſius.

Z ante I.

Zigæ; Plin. pop. Sarmatiæ Aſianæ, in ora maris Euxini, ad paludem Mœotidem, hodie Circaſſi dicti.

Zimara; Sol. A City of Armenia the Greater, at the head of Euphrates.

Zioberis; Curt. A river of Aſia, that runs under ground 300 furlongs, and then riſes again and runs into Rhyndacus.

Ziph; Bibl. A town in the tribe of Juda.

Z ante O.

Zŏĕlæ. People of Aſturia in Spain. Plin.

Zōïlus. A Sophiſter that knew not how to be famous, but by carping at Homer; whereupon he was called ὁμηρομάστιξ; and after him all Criticks that carp at and cenſure approved mens labours, are branded with the infamous name of Zoili: Ovid. He lived in the time of Ptolemy-Philadelphus.

Zona, opp. & mons Thraciæ, ad oſtia Hebri; Plin.

Zonaras. A Greek Hiſtorian.

ZOPYRUS. A noble man of Perſia, who when his Lord Darius had long beſieged Babylon, and could not prevail, he cut off his own noſe and ears, and fled to the Babylonians, and made as if Darius had done this cruelty to him: the Babylonians moved with commiſeration of the mangled man, and deteſtation of his Lord, believed him, and made him their General; but he at a convenient time, betrayed the City to Darius: Which done, Darius loved him ſo entirely, that he ſaid, He had rather have Zopyrus whole again, then take twenty Babylons, Juſtin. Alſo a Phyſiognomiſt, who ſpeaking many undecent things of the nature of Socrates, was therefore mocked of the people: but Socrates anſwered, It is true that my Nature is inclined to all theſe, but I have ſubdued my Nature with Philoſophy.

Zōroanda. A place in mountain Taurus, where the river Tiger hides under ground.

Zōroaſtres. A King of the Bactrians, whom Ninus ſlew: He firſt found out Magick, writ of the nature of precious ſtones, of Aſtronomy, and the ſeven liberal Arts; at his birth he laughed; and his head did ſo beat, that it ſtruck back the Midwives hand; a good ſign of abundance of ſpirits, which are the beſt inſtruments of a happy wit.

Zoſter, opp. & promont. Atticæ, Cic. apud Iſthmum, ubi Latonam aiunt Zonam ſolviſſe; Str.

Z ante Y.

Zygĭa, latinè Pronuba. A name of Juno, the goddeſs of marriage.

Zygŏpolis. A city of Cappadocia, beyond Trebiſonda.

Zyras; Plin. A river of lower Mœſia, that runs into the Euxin ſea.

DEI GRATIA,
DEO GLORIA.

PRÆFATIO AD LECTOREM.

Mi ère forsan, Amice Lector, quid in animo habeam, quur in ipso Exitu operis præfari denu velim. Ut Comicè loquar; Ita res erat, faciundum fuit. Non poteram te honestè ad hæc tragemata, ad hanc mensam secundam invitare absque præfatione, honoris saltem. Dixit aliquando Poetarum princeps se inter stercora Enniana reperisse aurum. Non inde certè factum, ut foricarii nostri Auri repertores vernaculo scommate dicantur. Mihi profectò nec lubet nec vacat hæc stercora deaurare. Faciant, quibus otium, quibus animus est. Quàm esset necessarium, & scholasticæ juventutis usibus accommodum, ut hæc sive planè barbara, sive mixobarbara, à reliquis idoneis & classicæ auctoritatis vocabulis secernerentur; dudum in ipsâ operis fronte præfando disserui. Nunc aliud aliquid agendum. Ut rite atque ex ordine agam, methodum primùm rei tractandæ propono. Pollicebar imprudens, me rationem redditurum, quo pacto barbaries in Latinum sermonem invaserit. Reddam; sed admodum paucis. Nam omninò brevitati studendum. Urget publica expectatio, adurgent prælа; & opus ipsum in nimiam jamdiu molem excrescit.

Primùm itaque hîc figemus pedem, quænam voces pro barbaris habendæ; deinde causas istius corruptelæ, quæ totam adeò Latinitatem fœdavit, indagabimus; tum demum consilium nostrum in hâc operâ qualiquali Glossematicâ aperiemus.

Barbarismus quid sit, optimè nos docuit Grammaticus antiquus &, ni fallor, Christianus; quem ego puer, alumnus Vilimonasterienſis, perlegi: Βαρβαρισμὸς, inquit, ὅτι λέξις παρὰ τὸ ἔθος τῶν εὐδοκιμούντων Ἑλλήνων, addo Ῥωμαίων· i. e. vox usurpata præter consuetudinem probatorum scriptorum; sive ii Græci fuerint, sive Romani. Laertius, unde hæc definitio desumpta est, posuit εὐδοκιμούντων, felicium Græcorum. Emendat Diogenem Vossius ex Suidâ. Ego cum pace Magni Viri nihil mutandum censeo. Quippe florentibus populi rebus florebat & lingua: quod & nobis Anglis contigit auspiciis utriusque CAROLI, ut nunquam aliàs tersiore uteremur sermone; quod & Romani experti AUGUSTO imperante, Græci vigentibus Athenis, & Judæi sub initiis Regni. Ad rem nostram quod attinet; si isti definitioni standum erit, quascunque voces usus antiquus & probatum loquendi tum scribendi consuetudo felici illo & probato ingeniorum ævo non adprobavit, quæ idcò in Classe reponi non merentur, ea omninò censenda sunt barbaræ.

Porrò Latino-barbara vel ortu vel usu sunt talia. Originem habent barbaram exotica omnia & peregrina, quæ aliunde adveniunt, nisi, uti loquitur philosophus Madaurensis, Latinâ moneta percussa fuerint; nam hoc pacto jus civitatis acquirunt: qualia multa sunt à Gallis, Germanis, Hispanis, aliisque gentibus exteris jam olim accepta; ut taceam de Oscis, Sabinis, Volscis, &c. quorum linguæ utut à Latiali loqu. là distinctæ, tamen multa in eam sensim ob vicinitatis commercium transfuderunt vocabula, quæ & hodiè durant. Quid quòd Hetrusci Latinis hominibus religionem & auguralem disciplinam cum appellationibus deorum, &c. quæ propiùs ad Aramæam linguam accedunt, tradiderint? Alia erat extrariorum ratio, ut quæ res Romanis incognitæ essent, earum rerum vocabula ab iis sumerent, quibus erant in usu, in Latinum duntaxat flexum detorta. Sed & posteris licuit, & licebit deinceps, necessitate jubente, istiusmodi vocabula civitate donare; quod & quotidie facimus, ubi rei ignotæ nomenclatio Latina non suppetit. Barbara sunt hæc quidem, fateor, quoad ortum; verùm postquàm eruditorum usus & consuetudinis honestamentum accesserit, fiunt & hæc Romana.

Alia sunt ortu Latina, non item usu; utpote vel scribendo, flectendo aut aliàs deformata, vel in alienam prorsus immutata significationem; quorum exempla passim occurrunt. Est & tertium genus eorum, quæ nec ortu nec usu Latina sunt, quæ nè quidem in hac τῆς Γλωσσῶν subsellia recipi merebantur, nisi aliquâ saltem auctoritate munita accederent.

Venio ad causas hujus rei explicandas, unde factum, ut barbaries tam latè Romanum latifundium infestaret. Non jam loquor de barbarorum irruptionibus in Italiam; neque id queror, linguam victricem cum labente Imperio collapsam. Magnificum istud argumentum, & lucentulâ, si id agerem, oratione dignum. Prospexit tamen nobis supremi Numinis providentia, ut inter illas splendidas ruinas & luctuosas clades supereſſent consignata literis nunquam interituris ÆTERNÆ URBIS & LINGUÆ monumenta. Habemus, inquam, Oratores, Poetas, Historicos, omne genus scriptores verè Romanos, quorum ope & sapere & fari possimus; quos etiam, si sapimus, imitabimur. Aliud est, quod volo. Labes hæc insita nobili linguæ, quà studio, quà ignorantiâ; partim à suis, partim ab alienis. Invecta est aliunde barbaries è Græciâ & aliis extraneis nationibus; succrevit & domi ex inscitiâ & immodicâ diligentiâ.

Primam pono causam corruptæ Latinitatis, nimiam Græcitatis affectationem. Neque enim assentiri possum Johanni Gerardo Vossio τῷ πάνυ, qui Græca omnia videtur eximere ex hâc notâ; propterea quòd, tametsi illi cæteras gentes omnes barbaras appellarent, Romani tamen rerum potiti non ità de Græcis sentirent, utpote disciplinarum omnium & cultioris literaturæ magistris. Liceat mihi ab Incomparabili Viro in hâc re discedere, sicuti ipse ab aliorum, utut magni nominis & majorum gentium, Grammaticorum & Criticorum sententiâ passim discedit. Quid enim, cedò, interest ad puritatem sermonis; Romanáne Græcis, an Græca Romanis admisceantur? An qui Latina Græcis admiscet, barbarus est; qui Græca Latinis, non item? Lubens concedo à Græcis hominibus disciplinas hausisse Romanos: addo & ipsam linguam ex Æolismo maximam partem fluxisse. Atqui veteres Romani post domitam tandem Græciam, (nam & ante eam ætatem celebres habebant scriptores, qui Græcè nescirent) timidè & verecundè in scriptis suis adhibebant Græca, eáque suis, i. Græcis characteribus repræsentata; quod imprimis ex Ciceronis & Plinii junioris Epistolis constat, qui tamen publicè non ita locuti. Itaque ἀβλεψία scripsit Tranquillus non Ablepsia; quam itidem rationem constanter à purioris ævi scriptoribus servatam in sexcentis aliis hujusmodi vocibus, non erat difficile probatu, si vacaret. Ne quidem ipsa τεχνολογήματα artis Rhetoricæ, cùm Fabius scriberet, aliter expressa quàm Græcè; ὑπερβολὴ, ἀὐξησις, μείωσις, &c. quæ nunc Latino habitu induta visuntur. Illud expostulo, non tam juvari Latinum sermonem ab auxiliaribus Græcorum copiis quàm opprimi, & eloquium Romanum hisce ascititiis spleniis contaminari magis quàm exornari; dum quarumvis scientiarum studiosi ac præcipuè Medicorum filii Græca certatim pertrahunt in partes suas, etiam neglectis Latinis. Hanc τεχνολιλίαν meritò perstrinxit Juvenalis, qui Romam ideò Græcam urbem dixit, & stomachabundus exclamavit, Quota portio fæcis Achææ?

Festino ad reliqua. Si hæc levis Græcantium culpa, illa certè non ferenda, quâ populares suos idiotismos proletarii scriptores Latinitati illinunt, ut nunc nihil minùs ferè quàm Latinè sapiat stylus Latinus. Hinc enata immensa seges barbararum vocum & dictionum, dum singulæ gentes sua immiscent vocabula, suos adhibent loquendi modos. Nam & barbariem in conjunctis vocibus reperiri rectè statuit Vossius. Insigne hujus rei specimen, si vera accepi, lusùs jocique gratiâ,

Erasmus,

Eraſmus edidit in Epiſtolis obſcurorum virorum. Sic Græcè, ſic ab aliis exteris illuſum eſt Romano nomini. Habuit & domi unde vitiaretur Latinæ linguæ nitor. Quantas, Deus bone, & quam fœdas maculas librariorum partim incuria partim inſcitia illevit optimæ notæ codicibus? Quid quòd nec ipſi Lexicographi, quorum erat Latinitatem ſuo nitori reſtituere, in hâc parte culpâ vacent? qui, quò ſibi laudem obſcuræ diligentiæ conciliarent, neſcio quæ monſtra & portenta verborum diſcentibus objecerunt. Nempe hoc glorioſum putabant, ſi multitudine ſaltem antecellerent, & voces undecunque temerè conquiſitas infercirent. Et quidem in hoc genere Calepinus unus is eſt, cui maximè fidi poſſit; qui & auctores ſuos ubique fermè laudat, eorumque verba citat ἀυτολεξεί. Hæ me rationes permoverunt, ut voces corruptas, quantum licuit, à ſanis ſecernerem. Id quod ſpero me quadantenus in hoc Gloſſario præſtitiſſe, in quo quam rationem ſecutus ſim, jam poſtremùm dico.

Dixi ea tantùm in Claſſe reponi debere, quæ vel apud idoneos auctores reperta fuerint, vel eruditorum uſu ſaltem firmata. Quid ergo? inquies. An reliqua omnia hîc locum habent? Non id dico. Multa, quæ omiſi, digniora erant, quàm ut hunc tranſirent; putà participia, verbalia, alia ἀναλόγως formata: quæ tamen, quòd idoneâ auctoritate deſtituta eſſent, non viſum eſt inſerere Claſſi. Plura erant prorſus indigna; utpote quæ nec ortu nec uſu Latina eſſent; qualia Paracelſi pleraque Tatarica, & alia compluſcula ἀπαξ λεγόμενα temerè congeſta. Nam quis patienter ferat, habeat modò aures Latinas, Ablenidam pro paleâ dici, Adibedinem pro puſtulæ veſtigio? &c. Quædam tamen etiam ex his manere juſſi, ſi non in commodum, ſaltem pro oblectamento. Verbo; ſi omnia poſuiſſem, quæ alii noſtrates collegerant; ſi his ea adjeciſſem, quæ Amalthæa Laurentiana ſuppeditat, quæ & Voſſiana Gloſſemata ſuggerunt; jam ingens hoc Volumen fieret & illi alteri ſuppar. Plurima itidem Græca nulli quod ſciam Latino auctori uſurpata, exauctoravi; appoſito aſteriſco inſignioribus, quæ tamen ita in uſum venire velim, ut Græcè ſcribantur. Vale & Fruere, ſic ut ne Utaris.

Thomas Spencer

1737

Dorothy Eyre Chapman

Spencer Neve Crew Spencer

GLOSSARIUM

SIVE

Dictionarium Latino-barbarum.

A B A; vox, quâ seniorem fratrem junior compellabat; gr. ἀββᾶς, it. abba, Callim. ἄππα, à Syr. ܐܒܐ abba, pater; uti soror sororem ἀπφὰ vocab. Vid. Abo, as; in Class.

* Abăphus, a, um; ἄβαφος, ab α priv. & βάπτω, tingo. Undied.

Abar; n. ἄβαρ. A kind of marck-pane.

Abaraces; ἀβάρακες, placentæ, & mazæ quædam. Sweet cakes.

Abarca, rect. Abazea. Vid. Prop.

Abarnama; n. pl. Banketing dishes.

Abartia, æ; f. ἀπληστία. Unsatiablenesse. Hinc Angl. Abartlick, inexplebilis.

Abas; qu. ἀβοῦς, bardus; item sacer morbus Tarentinis.

Abastra, folia vitis; MS.

Abbatis, is; m. An horse. fort. ab ἱππάτης, eques. An horse-man.

Abdicarius, a, um; Negative.

Abdios. Houseleek the greater.

Abdŏmen; n. Fat bacon. V. Cl.

Abellius & Abeldras. Staves-acre.

Abellus; M. A foster-father to an exposed infant.

Abēna; f. id. quod Habena. V. Cl.

Abia. A Lord. Abiaticus nepos.

Abietinus; id. quod Abiegnus.

Abigeator; id. quod Abigeus.

Abiger, ĕri; & Abiges, etis & is; idem.

* Abiŏtos; ἀβίωτος, Dioſc. Hemlock, which mingled with wine was given to those who were condemned to dye.

Ablæbia, æ; f. ἀβλαβία. Harmlessnesse, innocency.

Ablactorium, ii; n. pro Ablactatorium puto. Southernwood.

Ablegamina; n. vid. Ablegmina.

Ablenida, æ; f. Chaff.

Ablepſia, æ; f. ἀβλεψία, Suet. Unadvisednesse, want of foresight.

Ablibabon; n. A Lily. Ablibabon ſylveſtre, White Dafodill.

Abluteus, a, um; pro Ablutus.

Ablutium, ii; n. & Ablutes, is; f. ex ab & lutum. A myrie clayie place.

Abnues, tis; f. A refusal or denyal.

Abnuitio, onis; f. Cal. A denying.

Abollia, æ; f. A Mandrake.

* Abŏlus, i; m. ἄβολος, ex α pr. & βόλος, ſc. ἵππος ὀδόντων. An horse that hath not cast his teeth, by which his age is known.

Aborigeneus, a, um; ad Aborigines pertinens.

Aboriginis, ne; adj. Rustical, savage.

Abozobia, æ; f. Sage of Rome, beyond-sea Sage, Clary.

Abramis, idis; f. Geſn. A Bream. ſcrib. & Habramis, & Brama.

Abriton; n. The bloom or blossom of a Pomgranate.

Abrodixton, i; n. ἀβροδίαιτον. A dainty or voluptuous life.

Abrytus; m. Geſn. A kind of fish.

Abſcella, æ; f. Agrimony, an herb.

Abſcida, æ; f. Gl. A place where light is let in. corr. pro Abſida.

Abſectos, i; Iſid. & Abſyctos: Vid. Apſyctos.

Abſidia, æ; f. Iſid. Vid. Abſida.

Abſirtanum; ἐκ τοῦ χρυσὸς, Gl. vett. qu. ἀφλοίου pervetum, vel ab Aſiritanus Hiſpaniæ pop. vel ab ἀβύσσι recens, novum, Gl. ut ſit aurum recens, nec uſu tritum, Voſ. A kind of gold.

Abſo, onis; m. A Spittle for sick folks: also a Physician.

Abſorptum, i; n. A supping up.

Abſterium, ii; n. A Nunnery.

Abſynthiacus, a, um; ut Abſynthiacum poculum. Mingled with wormwood.

Abſynthiomenon; n. Dioſc. Southernwood, Wormwood gentle.

Abtruſus, a, um; Amm. Vid. Abſtruſus.

Abucium & Abucus; Vid. Albucum.

Abuſito, as; freq. To abuse often.

Abutero, & Abutuor; Gl. To abuse.

Abutonon; ἀβούτινον, Dioſc. Vid. Abrotonum.

Abydēna, ōrum; n. futiles res & nullius pretii, quòd Abydeni molles & laſcivi haberentur. Idle toyes, gewgaws.

* Abydocōmæ; m. pl. ἀβυδοκόμαι, dict. quòd Abydeni inſignes eſſent calumniarum artifices. Sycophants, back-biters, informers, slanderous livers.

* Abyrtăce, es; f. Calaub. ἀβυρτάκη. A kind of food among the Medes, made of leeks, garlick, pomgranate kernels, &c.

Abyrtacopœi; m. pl. ἀβυρταχοποιοὶ, Cæl. Rhod. Those who made that kind of meat.

Abytilon; n. Dod. ex Avic. A kind of Mallow.

Acabo, onis; m. C. A beast in the deserts of Arabia of great use in Physick.

Acacalis; f. Dioſc. A seed of an herb, much like that of Tamarisk; the fruit of a shrub that grows in Egypt: also the flower of the Daffodil.

Acacia, æ; f. ἀκακία. Innocence, harmlesnesse, simplicity.

Acaſtus;

Acaſtum; n. Gl. The thorn on a Briar.
Acăcus, a, um; ἄκακος. Harmleſs, innocent.
Acalta, æ; f. The Wall-flower; al. otherwiſe, the Stock-gilly-flower.
Acantha, æ; f. id. quod Acanthus. prop. ἄκανθα, ſpina. A thorn.
Acanthaleuce; C. ἀκανθα λευκή. White-thorn.
Acanthavŏla; f. C. ex ἄκανθα & βολή. An inſtrument with which Surgeons pull out fiſh-bones that ſtick in ones throat.
* Acanthiæ cicadæ; Suid. Dumb Graſhoppers, or ſuch as uſe among thorns.
* Acanthias, æ; m. Ariſt. ἀκανθίας, ſpinax. A fiſh with prickles on his back.
Acanthion, ōnis; m. Gal. ἀκανθίον. An Hedge-hog.
Acapnos, i; f. Dioſc. ἄκαπνος. The herb Marjoram.
Acar; id. quod Acarus.
Acaria; corr. pro Acacia.
* Acarus, i; m ἄκαρος, Ariſt. quòd ſit ἀκαρὲς, i. indiviſibilis. A hand-worm; a mite: alſo a toadſtool or muſhroom.
Acaſtum, i; n. Gl. A Thorn or Briar.
Acataleptia, æ; f. ἀκαταληψία, Cic. incomprehenſibilitas.
Acataleptus, a, um; ἀκατάληπτος, i. incomprehenſibilis.
Acatalis, is; f. M. Small Juniper.
Acatera, æ; f. Great Juniper.
Acatia; corr. pro Acacia.
Acatius; m. & Acatum; n. Vid. Acatium.
Acauſtus, a, um; ἄκαυστος. Unburnt.
Accalvaſter, a, um; Somewhat bald.
Accedia, æ; f. corr. pro Acedia.
Accela, æ; f. Gl. A nettle.
Accento, as; To accent, to tune.
Accentuo, as; To pronounce according to the accent.
Accenturaria; f. Gl. ab accendendo thure. A cenſer, a perfuming diſh.
Accenturialis; fibula vel zona centurionis.
Acceptabulum; corr. pro Acetabulum.
Acceptarius; id. quod Acceptor.
Acceptuaria; λιβανοτρὶς, Gl. A cenſer, ab accipiendo thure; acerraturaria, M.
Acceia, vel Accia; ἀκκελάρα. A kind of bird; a Rail, M.
Accia, æ; f. Gloſſ. A nettle.
Accidia, æ; f. corr. pro Acedia.
Accidiola, & Acciditas; idem.
Accidior, aris; corr. pro Acedior.
Accidioſè; adv. Sluggiſhly.
Accidioſus, a, um; Slothful.
Accidius, a, um; Somewhat ſlothful.
Accipenſer; m. corr. pro Acipenſer.
Acco; Gl. A ſackbut. fort. ab ἄχθος.
Accrepitus, a, um; id. quod Decrepitus.
Accurro, as; To bear rule.
Acearium; n. Gloſſ. Hard iron. Vid. Aciarium.
Acedarium; n. ab α pr. & κήδημαι curo. An ordinary ſallet without coſt or care. Vid. Acetarium.
Acĕdon, i; n. ab α priv. & κήδημαι, quòd citra operam hominum fluat ſponte, Taub. leg. Acedes, ἀκηδὲς, vel Acedeſton. Live-honey. V. Acaton.
Acedulus, a, um; corr. pro Acidulus.
Aceldama; ἀκελδαμὰ, Syr. חקל דמא i. ager ſanguinis. The field of blood.
Acella, æ; f. in ala, dict. quòd ex iis brachia cellentur, i. moventur. An armpit. Corr. pro Axilla.
Acera; f. Gl. A ſop of brown bread: alſo a kind of precious garment, Heſych.
Acerabolus; f. Gl. A kind of tree.
Acernus, i; m. ἄκερμος. A bitter kind of pulſe called Lupines.
Aceron; n. Butchers broom, Knee-holm.
Aceſtides, um; f. fornaces ferreæ prægrandes, in quibus fit Cadmia.
Acĕta, æ; f. id eſt, offula.
Acetabĕrum; n. id. quod Acetabulum.
Acetoſella, æ; f. Jun. Petty ſorrel, or ſallet-ſorrel.
* Acetoſitas; f. ὀξυμότης. Sowrneſs, tartneſs.
Achaeton; n. id. quod Acatium.
Achalanthis, & Achalantis, idis; f. ἀηδὼν, Gl. A Nightingale. V. Acalanthis.
Acharnus, i; m. Geſn. Vid. Acharnas.
Achateon; n. ἀχάτιον. Vid. Acatium.
Achatus. An herb always green: alſo a kind of ſhip, Gloſſ.
Achedota. Moon-herb. V. Acidoton.
Acheluda, æ; f. Geſn. A Flounder.
Achimilla, æ; f. Dod. An herb called Ladies mantle, great Sanicle, Padelion.
Achiolus; Gloſſ. A mad man.
Achlys; Stup. ἄχλυς, caligo. A thin miſt round the black of the eye.
Achritum; Gloſſ. A kind of herb.
Achronicus; ἀχρονικὸς, ſine tempore; corr. in fallor, pro Acronychus.
Acida, æ; f. ὄξιμος. Sorrell or ſowr-dock: alſo a Gall-nut to make ink with.
Acinaticius, a, um; Vid. Acinaceus.
Acinaticus, a, um; Gl. Sharp or tart.
Acinor, aris; Gl. To dally or trifle in ſmall matters. cor. pro Aginor.
Aciſcoſus; m. Gl. A Maſons hammer.
Aciſcularius; Gl. One that worketh in ſtone, a Maſon.
Acitabulus; Iſid. A quarter of a pint, of twelve drams. Vid. Acetabulum.
Acitula; Gl. A kind of Henbane.
Aclaſſi; Gl. Skirts or fringes of garments.
Aclĕros; Bud. ἄκληρος. Diſinherited.
Acmon; m. ἄκμων. An anvil, a ſtithy.
Acmotheta, Jun. & Acmotheton; ἀκμόθετον. The ſtock of the anvil.
Acrapula, æ; f. C. ex α pr. & κρατάλη. A remedy againſt drunkenneſs, as bitter Almonds.
* Acræpalum; n. Jun. idem. ἀκρώπαλον.
Acratiſma; n. ἀκρατίσμα. A breakfaſt: quòd manè ἄκρατον, i. vinum meracum biberent.
Acremata. Verſes of Interludes. Vid. Acroama.
* Acrĕmon, ōnis; m. ἀκρέμων. A great bough of a tree, Dioſc. a branch of fennel, Theoph.
Acribodicæum; n. C. ex Bud. ἀκριβοδίκαιον. Strict judgement according to the letter of the Law.
Acrimonium; Gl. corr. pro Acrimonia.
Acris; f. Caſaub. ἀκρὶς. A locuſt.
Acriſia; f. Bud. ἀκρισία. Want of judgement, indiſcretion.
Acrizymus, a, um; Iſid. A little leavened.
Acrochiriæ; m. Cerd. Champions that try maſteries at the arms end.
Acrociteria; Gl. A joint-gout.
Acromata; Comical verſes. V. Acroama.
* Acromium; n. Fern. ἀκρώμιον, humeri ſummitas. The ſhoulder-pitch.
* Acrophyſium; n. Jun. ἀκροφύσιον, i. τὸ ἄκρον τ῀ φύσης. The ſnout or noſe of the bellows.
* Acropŏlis, is; f. ἀκρόπολις. A citadell.
* Acroſtolia; æ; n. pl. Bayf. ἀκροστόλια. The Galleries or other adornments of ſhips: alſo the beaks or fore-decks.
* Acroteleutium; n. Jun. ἀκροτελεύτιον, extremus finis. The end of a verſe.
Acrothinia; n. pl. ἀκροθίνια, ex ἄκρος ſummus, & θὶς acervus frumenti. Firſt-fruits taken from the top of the corn-heap.
Acrus, a, um; Gl. pro Acer, ἄκρος.
Actarius; corr. pro Actuarius.
Actula; f. Gl. A little ſhoar-ſhip.
Acula, æ; f. Iſid. Σκάνδιξ. Shepherds-needle, wild Chervill.
Aculeoſa; Dod. Star-thiſtle, Caltrop.
Aculeum; Gl. A crane or other engin to lift up any weight with.
Aculex. A little ſtr. V. Culex.
Acupedium, ὠκυποδία; Gl. Swiftneſs of foot.
* Acuſticus, a, um; ἀκουστικὸς. Acuſtici; Pythagoras his Scholars, who were obliged to hear and be ſilent.
Acutela, æ; f. Gl. Sharpneſs.
Acutella, æ; f. Jun. A little needle: alſo Cammock or Reſt-harrow.
Acutiator, ἀκονητὴς, Gl. A whetter or ſharpner.
Acydonium; n. Dioſc. The flower called Roſe-campion.
Adagia, æ; f. Gl. A proverb.
Adagnoſco; Gl. To know or own upon further debate.
Adagoniſta; m. imitator certaminis, MS. alſo a Lawyer.
Adamantius, a, um; Of or like an Adamant; unwearied, untamed.
Adamatorius; Gl. A wencher.
Adar; heb. אדר. The month of March.
Adaſus, ſpecies tunicæ quæ humeris non erat conſuta, Perot. Vid. Aclaſſis.
Adauctago; Gl. To grow.
Adcopioſus, ἀπορώτατος, Gl. Plentiful.
Addiò; adv. Gl. Very long.
Adea; n. pl. Gl. Counters to play with.
Adelphus, i; m. ἀδελφὸς. A brother.
* Adenes, um; m. ἀδένες, glandulæ. Kernels of fleſh, as in the throat, &c.
Adepticus vel Adempticus; Gl. That eaſily gets, or is eaſily gotten.
Adeſito, as; Gl. To cleave to: qu. ab Hæſito: alſo to eat or glut; ab Eſito.
Adeſtrata; Cerd. Implements or ſtuff carried before the camp in wars.
Adferial; Gl. Water, wherewith dead men are waſhed.
Adides; Coop. Hurlbats, l. Aclides.
Adimitio; Gl. corr. pro Ademptio.
Adis; Gloſſ. Meat.
Adjuva, æ; m. Salmaſ. An helper.
Adleſtatio; f. Gl. The reading of the Scholar with the Maſter.
Adlevio, as; Gl. To eaſe.
Adligurio, is; Gl. To taſte a little.
Adludicrum; Gl. A ſport or jeſt.
Admodio, as; Cerd. To eaſe or help.
Admoditæ; Iſid. A kind of Serpents.
Admolitrum; Gl. A heap of flowr or ſand.
Adolco; m. Gl. A glutton.
Adoptarius; m. Iſid. The ſon of an adopted ſon.
Adoptativus, a, um; Iſid. V. Adoptivus.
Adorioſus, a, um; Gl. Glorious.
Adoxia; f. ἀδοξία, Quint. Diſhonour, infamy, diſgrace.
Adoxus, a, um; ἄδοξος, i. infamis, Cic. Infamous: alſo abſurd, unlikely, improbable.
Adpectŏro, as; Gl. Iſid. περιπλέκω, it.

it. Συφάσσω. To apply to the breast: also to arm that part.

Adplano, as; Gl. To make even.

Adpulserit pro Appulerit; Briss.

Adpunctor, aris; Salm. To be pricked down or appointed for an office or for pay.

Adrēcceatior, us; Gl. More diligent.

Adrumium, ii; n. A kind of medicine for the falling of the palate.

Adseptorius; m. Gl. One of the same company.

Adversipedes; Gl. ἀντίποδες. They that go cross-feet to us.

Adundatorium; n. Gl. A place where rain-water poureth out.

Ædibilis, le; Gl. ab Æs & Do. Saleable, that may be sold.

Ædilitis; Gl. The Church-warden.

Ædītor; m. Gl. A porter.

* Ægithalos; Arist. parus, Gaz. A kind of little bird.

* Ægolethros & Ægolethron; gr. Goatsbane, a kind of herb.

* Ægopyros, αἰγόπυρος, i. capræ triticum. The herb Cammock, petty-whin.

Ægrimonium; n. Gl. Grief.

Ægrotaticus, a, um; Gl. Sickly.

Ælii & Ælii, gr. quibus duæ nupserint sorores; Cæl. 28. 24.

Ælinus; αἰλινος, lugubre carmen in Linum; vel, ut Eust. cantilena texentium, ἀπὸ λίνου.

Ælypelæ; corr. pro Æolipylæ.

Æōra, æ; f. ἀώρα. lat. Oscitatio, Jun. Swinging.

Æpōlium; n. αἰπόλιον. A herd of Goats: si αἰπόλιον, a Goat-market.

Æquitalitas; f. id. quod Æquipondium, Gl. ex Æquus & Talis.

Ærānarches, Æraniſtes, ἐρανιστὴς & Ærānus, ab ἔρανος. A collector of tributes and taxes. Vid. Eranus.

Ærātor vel Æreator; Gl. A worker in brass, a trumpet-maker.

Aëromantia, æ; f. Isid. ἀερομαντεία. Divination by the air.

Aërōsis; Gal. ἀέρωσις. The mingling of the blood with the air we take in, to make and repair the spirits.

Æscaria; Gl. corr. pro Escaria, sc. vasa. Certain kind of vessels.

Æscarus; Gl. Asyb, which chews the cud. Vid. Escarus.

Æschylus, i; f. Jun. The Medlar-tree.

Æsculator; Gl. id. quod Æruscator.

Æsdellus; Gesn. A kind of fish.

Æstabilis; Gl. Belonging to Summer.

Æstimnium; Gl. pro Æstimium.

Æstivolum; Gl. Summer-time.

Æstuca; f. Gl. Heat: ab Æstus.

Æternalis, le; Eternal.

Ævōna; f. Gl. ab αἰών, in Acc. αἰῶνα. Eternity.

Æx, ægis; αἴξ, capra. A water-fowl, that cryes like a kid.

Affector; m. Gl. A murderer.

Affectuositas; f. Affectionateness.

Affīdo, as. To give faith and security to a thing. Affidūcio, as; idem.

Affinia, confinia, Calv. Bounds.

Afforesto, as. To turn ground to forest.

Afforus; id. quod Aforus. A fish.

Affricanus; Gl. A Merchant.

Affriconium; n. R. Wine boil'd and season'd.

Affricus, a, um; corr. pro Africus.

Affrutabulum; Gl. A little vessel.

Affurcillatus, a, um; Gl. Gibbeted, staked, crucified.

Affurcillo; Gl. To turn up and down.

Aforus; m. Isid. A fish so little, that a man cannot take it with a hook.

Afrisinus & Afrusanus; Gl. corr. pro Africanus. The south-wind.

Afrōtum; n. Isid. ἀφρὸν ab ἀφρὸς spuma. A kind of meat like froth; such as whipt cream is.

Agābus; ab heb. גב. A kind of Locust, that destroyeth corn.

Agagūla, æ; A Lyon rampant: also a bawd, a sycophant.

Agagūlo; vanus fornicator, Cal.

Agalacta; C. ἀγάλακτα. Pastures in which cattel give little or bad milk.

* Agallōchum; n. ἀγάλλοχον, Dioſc. The sweet wood called Lignum aloes.

Agaranomus; pro Agoranomus.

Agario, as; i. deludo. V. Angario.

Agathites; Coop. The herb Marjoram.

Agēa, orum; n. ἀγῆα, piacula; victimæ quæ pro rebus agendis offerebantur. Sacrifices offered for good success in business.

Agelarius. A clown, a husbandman. pot. ab ἀγέλη grex. An herdsman.

Agenda, æ; & Agenda, orum; Alsted. The Office of the Service-book.

Agerdula, æ; f. V. Agredula, Gl.

Aggarius; Gl. A binder.

Aggregarius, ii; m. A shepherds curr.

Agiavia; Gl. rect. Agea, via.

Agilthes; Ruell. pro Aglithes: V. Aglis.

Aginasticus; m. Gl. The master over the Players.

Agino, as; Gl. πραγματεύω. negotior tractando aginam. To peddle or deal in things of small value.

Aginor, aris; Cal. idem.

Agiographa; corr. pro Hagiographa.

Agipedes; Coop. iidem qui Pedarii.

Aglei panes; ἀγλαΐσιοι. Houshold loaves.

Aglis; f. in plur. Aglithes: ἄγλις. A clove or head of garlick.

Agniglossa; agnina lingua. ἀρνόγλωσσον. Lambs-tongue, an herb. V. Arnoglossa.

Agnophagita; m. pro Agriophagita. He who eats the flesh of wild beasts.

Agonare; Gl. To express.

Agonea, orum; id. quod Agea, Gl.

Agōra, æ; f. ἀγορὰ, forum. A market; a hall to meet in, a Folkmoot.

Agredula, æ; f. Isid. A kind of frog.

Agressor; corr. pro Aggressor.

Agresta, æ; f. Schol. Verjuice.

Agrestas; f. Gl. Clownishness.

Agria, æ; f. Gaz. ἀγρία. The Holly-tree.

Agricolanus; id. quod Agricola.

* Agriocastānum; gr. Wild chesnut, or the Earth Chesnut, or Fignut.

Agriocinara; f. Ladies-thistle.

Agrionia; Coop. Feasts of Bacchus.

Agripomium; n. Gl. Harvest.

Agrippum, i; n. Col. gr. A wild Olive.

* Agrophylax; m. ἀγροφύλαξ. A field-keeper, an hayward, a pounder of cattel.

Agrostes; Cal. ex Nic. A kind of Spider.

* Agrypnia; f. Stup. ἀγρυπνία, vigilia. Waking, lying awake, want of sleep.

Agula; Gloss. A bushe body.

Ahala; f. pro Ala, ab Axilla.

Aherta, æ; f. C. corr. pro Aorta.

Ahori; Cerd. ἄωροι. Such as dye an untimely death.

Ahorta; f. Vid. Aorta, Cl.

Aibſacos; Virga pastoris, P. M.

Airas; P. M. ex ἀχράς. A wild pear-tree.

Alaba. The setting down of tribute for the feeding or justing of cattel.

Alabandina, æ; f. Isid. ab Alabandâ Asiæ regione. A red stone mixt with blew, that provoketh bleeding.

Alabia, æ; f. Coop. pro Ablabia. v. Gl.

Alacrimonia; f. Joy after sorrow.

Alala; f. Gl. Laxity, spaciousness.

Alalacinus; Gl. ab ἀλαλαγμός. The shooting of an army.

Alānus, i; m. ab Alo. A nourisher.

Alapātor; m. ὁ κατὰ χήτης, Gl. He who slaps or strikes with open hand.

Alapiscosus; Gl. Bald. pro Alopecioſus.

Alapus; qui propter mercedem alapas patitur.

Alarica; f. A spear made like a wing.

Alastor; m. C. ἀλάστωρ. An evil spirit, that troubles a man: also one so troubled.

Alata, æ; f. Gl. Room, width; reverence.

Alaudis; Gesn. A kind of fish.

Albardeŏla; i. ardeola alba, λευκὸν. A cruel hern, a dwarf hern.

Albaverā; Cerd. White jewels set in round circles or bosses.

Albergariæ; f. pl. Gl. Taxes for eating of meat.

Albeus, & Albeolus; m. pro Alveus. A pair of playing tables.

Albica; Gesn. A kind of fish.

Albicies, ei; f. Whiteness.

Albiosus, a, um; Gl. Whitish.

Albura; Gl. Albula, Gesn. A kind of fish: also a table overcast with white.

Alburnus, a, um; Gl. White.

Albutium; Gl. pro Albucum. V. Cl.

Alcacangi, vel Alcaquengi, vel Alkakengi; ἀλκακάβη. Night-shade or Winter-cherry.

Alcarmes; Arab. The worm, whereof crimson is made: also a cordial made of it.

Alchimilla; f. A kind of herb. V. Achimilla.

Alcionium; Coop. The hard foam of the sea; of which the Kings-fisher perhaps makes his nest.

Alciosus; l. Alsiosus. Apt to take cold.

Alcipo, as; Gl. To forbid.

Aldus, i; m. Alc. A bond-man or servant.

Alebra; Gl. Isid. bona quibus alimur.

Alebre; Gl. Nourishment.

Alemon; Coop. ab ἄλειμμα. An ointment that wrestlers used.

Alephanginæ species; Coop. Powders of sweet spices.

Aleria, æ; f. Gl. A nourishing.

Alerius, i; m. Gl. A nourisher.

Alestrigium; n. R. A last or measure of Herrings.

* Algebra, æ; f. ex אל artic. & גבר vir. Specious Arithmetick, or the art of Æquation.

* Algorithmus; m. ex אל artic. & ἀριθμὸς numerus. Algorism, skill in Arithmetick.

Aliber; Gl. ab Alo. A nourisher.

Alibre; alimentum, Isid.

Alibrum; Isid. corr. pro Alabrum.

Alices facere; M. To stretch as one does newly awaked.

Alicio; Gl. pro Alitio, ab Alo.

Alietus; corr. pro Haliætus.

Alifanus, & Alifans. A sucking-bottle for children.

Aliga; Gl. corr. pro Alica.

Alilaria; corr. pro Aularia. A where that follows the Court.

Alimitus, ti; f. Gl. Nourishment. Ita R. & G. puto corruptum, ex Alumnatus, ûs.

Alimonarium, ii; n. A Nursery.

Alimones; m. pl. Gl. Nourishers.

Alimus.

Alimus, a, um; ex a priv. & λιμὸς fames. That acts away or prevents hunger.

* Alipasma, ătis; n. Jun. A powder, which men wont with evil slaves sweating.

Aliphanus; m. Vid. Alifanus, Gl.

Alipheta; f. ex ἀλεύατα. Barley meal.

Alipilarius; Gl. ἀγοραστικός. One who pulls off the hair from the arm-pits.

Aliplectus, a, um; Gl. Struck with palsy.

Aliquosciàs; Gl. A little shadow.

Alites; Gl. high flie. pro Alites.

* Allantoides, is, tunica, ἀλλαντοειδὴς. The medial tunic, that wraps the infant in the womb.

* Allantopōlis; f. A Tripe woman.

* Allantopolium; n. The place where tripes are sold; as here Field-lane.

Allelius; ex ἀλλόφυλος. A stranger.

Alliger; Ifid. gallus: fort. Aliger.

Allo, ōnis; m. Gl. lapis qui in molâ alluitur unâd. A grane-stone.

Allutes & Allutium. A scour of the river Tuel at Stowe and Nuel.

Alma, æ; f. bel. עַלְמָה. A Virgin.

Almagestum, i; n. ex אַל artic. Arab. & μεγιστος. Ptolomies Almagest.

Almitus; ἀναπτερόω, ἀναπτερῶ. Gl. fort. Alinitas. Nourishment, education.

Altaria. A vestment used at the Mass.

Alodium & Alodum; V. Allodium.

Alocēdarium; Coop. A purgation made of Aloes.

Alopecides, æ; m. Coop. ἀλωπεκίδης. A dog bred of a Fox and a Bitch.

Alopecus; C. qui alopeciâ laborat.

Alopius; id. quod Alopecus.

Alopus; id. quod Alapus.

Alpheftes; Gesn. A kind of fish.

Alpus, a, um; Coop. Pale, careful.

Altaragium; n. Feud. Dues and offerings belonging to the Altar.

A'tario, æ; f. Ifid. A precious stone, like an Agate, with which Lapidaries engrave.

Alterculum; Gl. A kind of Poppy.

Alteria; Ifid. Vid. Altaria.

Alteritas; f. idem quod

Alternitas; f. i. vicissitudo.

Altimeror, oris; vel Altimeter, tri; C. An instrument to measure the height of things.

Altimetrum, tri; n. idem.

Altriplex; Gl. ἀτράφαξυς, Crafte.

Alūco, onis; m. A night-hawk, Wotton. an owl with ears, Gesn.

Alvea, æ; f. Gloss. Ear-wax.

Alupia; Gl. ἀλώπηξ. A kind of fish.

Amabundus, a, um. Full of love.

Amalala, æ; f. A beast with a head like a Camel, and legs like an Ox.

Amalupes, i; m. Ifid. An iron crow; a Drag for a weil.

Amāmen, inis; n. Gloss. Love.

Amana, æ; f. Ifid. A Night-raven.

Amāneo, es; Amansit, ἀπαλαιοῦσθαι, Gl. To tarry out, to truant.

Amaricosus, a, um. Full of bitterness.

Amārito, as; Gloss. To make bitter.

Amātim; adv. Lovingly.

Ambasitores; Calv. Ambassadors.

Ambaxarius; m. pro Amaxarius. A cart-man, a charreter, a waggoner.

Ambigarius; m. Gl. qui de ambiguitate rei judicat. An Umpire.

Ambilōgium; n. Doubtful speech.

Ambiloquium, ii; n. idem.

Ambilōquus, a, um. Double-tongued, one that speaketh two languages.

Ambitile, ēli; f. Ambition.

Ambitiōsitas; f. Ambitiousness.

Ambix, icis; ἄμβιξ. A cup.

Amblothridion; n. C. gr. Pharmacum abortum faciens.

Ambriēbera, vel Ambrisibula. A Serpent with two heads, one at each end.

Ambrona; f. Gloss. Sweet-meat.

Ambronius, a, um; Gl. Sweet-tooth'd.

Ambrosianus, a, um. Ambrosian.

Ambrutti; Arist. A kind of Sea-Urchines.

Ambubia; f. corr. pro Ambugia.

Ambucilla, æ; f. Gl. A wain.

Ambulla, æ; f. corr. pro Ampulla.

Ambus; m. Gl. A servant.

Ambusilla, æ; f. Gl. A bevy.

Ambustandus; Gl. A kind of bird.

Amēmelides, um; f. Coop. A kind of Healers which have five stones.

Amenareto, as; Gl. To make pleasant.

Amendula, æ; f. Cerd. A button.

Amelis; Gl. A club.

Amfariùm; adv. Ifid. Both ways.

Ami. The rear arrow: also an herb called Ami, Coop. V. Ammi.

Amicābundus, a, um. Loving.

Amignus, i; m. A Carp, a fish.

Amiliarius lapis; Gl. A stone laid at every miles end.

Amireus, i; m. Cerd. A Chancellour.

Amma; f. Cerd. A ghostly mother.

Amma; n. C. ἄμμα. A snake-band.

Ammiraldus; m. Crell. An Admiral.

Ammorgis, inis; Coop. ab ἀμμογῆν. Lees of wine: also an herb that makes purple colour: also the bark or rind of a cane or reed.

Ammōrius; id. quod Ammodytes.

Amnites; m. A kind of stone like glass, but harder; crystal.

Amolum; n. Ifid. id. quod Amylon.

Amorōse, ius, issimè. Amorously.

Amorōsus, a, um. Amorous.

Amotides; corr. pro Ammodites.

Ampelia; f. A shrub growing at the roots of Vines.

* Ampelinus, a, um; ἀμπέλινος, ampelinus color, C. A Vine colour.

* Ampeloleuce; f. C. ἀμπελόλευκη. The white Vine or Bryony.

* Ampelomelæna; f. ἀμπελόμελαινα. The black Vine or black Briony.

Ampli. ἀμφὶ. circum. unde Am præp.

Amphibiallus; corr. pro Amphimallus.

Amphiblestron; n. ἀμφίβλαστρον. A trammel-net.

* Amphiblestroides; ἀμφιβλαστροειδὴς, i. retiformis. The fourth coat of the eye so called.

* Amphibolia; f. ἀμφιβολία. Ambiguity, doubtfulness, a double meaning.

Amphibolicè; adv. Doubtfully.

Amphibolicus, a, um. Doubtful.

Amphibologius, a, um. Ambiguously or doubtfully spoken.

Amphibulis; R. A garment buttoned on both sides.

Amphismēta; Stup. An instrument for the dissecting of bodies.

Amphorisma; n. A hole or pore out of which the sweat comes.

Ampiles, Hetruscè Mensis Major, Gl.

Ampireo, vel Ampiruo. V. Amptruo.

Amplēnus; Gl. urinque plenus.

Amputōrius, a, um; pro Amputatorius.

Amulum; id. quod Amylon.

Amurcositas; f. Dregginess.

Amurcosus, a, um. Full of dregs or lees.

Amusso, as; Gl. To mutter or murmur.

Amutta; f. A precious stone like nitre.

Anydum; n. Oss. corr. pro Amylum.

Amyrberis; corr. pro Berberis.

Anytia; f. A kind of frankincense.

Anabadrum; n. ἀναβάθρον, pulpitum, subsellium. A pulpit, desk or pew.

Anabatrum; Gl. A curtain.

* Anabolagium; n. Ifid. ἀναβολάγιον. A woman's rail to wear over the shoulders.

Anacabra; f. Cerd. A tabret or timbrel.

* Anacalypteria; n. pl. C. ab ἀνακαλύπτω detego. Presents that the husband gave his bride at her first unveiling her face.

* Anachorēsis; f. Cassian. ἀναχώρησις, secessus. An Hermitage or solitary place.

Anachoretalis, le. Belonging to an Anchoret or Hermit.

* Anacollemata; n. pl. gr. Medicines put to the forehead and temples, to stop the rheum of the eyes.

* Anadendrades, um; f. pl. ἀναδενδάδες. Vines that grow among shrubs.

* Anadesmus; m. Jun. ἀναδησμός. A snake-band or roller.

Analectice, es; f. A diet for recovery of strength. rect. Analeptice.

Analelia, æ; f. C. A disease that taketh away sense from all parts of the head. corr. puto ex ἀνοσμησία.

Analogista; m. C. gr. A Tutor or Guardian not bound to give an account of his Ward.

* Analogium; ἀναλογεῖον. A pulpit or reading pew.

Anance, vel Anange, es; f. ἀνάγκη, necessitas, it. Clepsydra vel urna judicialis.

Anancitide; Ifid. V. Ananchitis.

Ananiæ, & Anantiæ; f. pl. Hairs hanging over the forehead, women's towers.

Anaphalis; corr. pro Gnaphalium.

Anarantium; corr. pro Aurantium.

* Anarchia, æ; f. ἀναρχία. Anarchy, confusion, lack of government.

* Anastomoticus, a, um; gr. Anastomoticum medicamentum, Jun. A sharp medicine, to open the veins or pores.

Anastrus; m. Gl. The highest orb of heaven with out Stars.

Anata, æ; f. Gl. Carefulness.

Anathemo, as; Vid. Anathematizo.

Anatio, as; Gl. To help or relieve.

Anatila; f. Gl. σκεῦος ὑφάσμ. A part of the house so called.

Anatrum, tri; n. Paracels. Glass melted into several colours.

Anatus, a, um; Gl. ab anus, i. annulus. That weareth rings or fetters.

Anaxo, as; Gl. ἀναμάζω. To name.

Anaxyris; f. gr. The herb sorrel.

Anblatum, i; n. A birds nest.

Ancetum; n. Coop. The wild cucumber. ἀνανξέτιν, Dioscor. Chaffweed.

Anchilops; Dioscor. fort. pro Ægilops.

Anchinum mel; lege Anthinum.

Anchites; corr. pro Anachites.

Anchonisius, corr. pro Anconiscus.

Anchurisma; n. Coop. gr. The taking away of windy matter dissolv'd.

Anchyle; Coop. A cutting of the sinews, whereupon the use of limbs is lost.

Anchylops; Coop. corr. ex Ægilops.

Ancia; Gl. The handle of a target.

Anciz; Ifid. corr. pro Antiæ.

Anciator; Gl. A cunning-man.

Ancili; Gl. The bams or ankles.

Ancipio; Gl. To doubt which side to take.

Ancipūla, æ; f. Gl. A trap or net to catch either way.

Anciromacus;

Anchromacus; Isid. A vessil to carry anchors and other furniture in.
Ancitus; Gl. ἀνάλατος. Unermost.
Anclabeo; Gl. Isid. à Teut. Anclebem. To fasten or stick up.
Anclator; Gl. ὑπηρέτης. A waiter.
Ancleda; Gl. A bearded man.
Ancodata; Gl. Slighted, despised. Scal. leg. Ancunulata.
Anconiscus; m. ἀγκωνίσκος. An instrument of torture: also a prop.
Anctito, as; frequ. ab Ango, Bud. To torment or vex often.
Ancto, as; Isid. To bind together; also to vex or torment.
Anculus; m. Gl. ab ἀγκύλος. A servant.
* Ancylogloſſus, a, um; gr. Tongue-tyed.
Ancyromachus, vel Ancyromagus. A vessel or ship to carry anchors in.
Andapila; Gl. A net or trap for Bears.
Andrago, inis; f. id. quod Virago. A chopping manly girl.
* Androlepſia, æ; f. M. ἀνδρολημψία. corporis oppignoratio.
Androna, æ; f. Gl. id. quod Andron.
Anedioſus, a, um; Gl. Tedious.
Anedus, a, um; Gl. Merry.
* Anemolates; m. ἀνεμολάτης. Caſaub. A wind-mill.
Anes, is; f. Gl. A valley.
Anet; Gl. γηρᾷ. She grows old.
Anetinus, a, um; Iſid. corr. pro Anethinus.
* Anexetaſtus, a, um; Hottom. ἀνεξέλαστος. Unexamined.
Anger, gri; m. Gl. A ſerpent; a tormenter, a ſwaſh-buckler.
Anglæ; Gl. Three-corner'd tables.
Anglobes; Gl. A kind of ſpice-bread.
Angra; Gl. A ſpace between trees.
Anguedo; f. Gl. Grief.
Angueo; M. ab Ango. To ſtraiten.
Anhelia; f. Gl. Shortneſs of breath.
Anheloſus, a, um; That fetcheth his breath ſhort, tiſſical.
Animæquitas; Gl. Gentleneſs.
Animatoria olla. A pot with a hole at top to let the air out.
Animellæ. Hogs ſweet-breads.
Aniſio; Gl. Old age. l. Anitio.
Anitas; Gl. idem; ab Anus.
Anneta, æ; f. Gloſſ. An hour.
Annos, otis; f. Scal. An old woman.
Anocatum; Gl. Phyſick to provoke vomit, and to break wind.
Anœxia. The firſt opening of a temple. pro Anœxis, ἄνοιξις.
Anoma. Dignity. l. Axioma.
Anomaticus; lege Axiomaticus.
Anoptis; Gl. ex a priv. & ὄπτομαι video. Dark colour.
* Anorexia; Gl. gr. Want of appetite.
Anquiromagus. A kind of ſhip.
* Antacæi; Æl. ἀνταικαῖοι. Fiſhes as big as Dolphins found in the ice of the Nieper.
Antarium; ἀνταρμὸς, i. antepagmentum, Scal. An ornament upon the jambs of doors.
Antebello, as; Gloſſ. To war before or in the fore-ward.
Antecenſores. Surveyors to go before the camp. l. Antecurſores; Scouts.
Antegerio; f. Gl. προβλημα, νίκη, ἀντίφρασις. Vid. Antigerio.
Antegradatio; Iſid. A going before.
Antella; f. Iſid. qu. Anteſella. The fore-part of a ſaddle.
Anteluco, as; Gl. To awake before day.
Antemeſſius; Gl. The month October.
Antēmon; Perot. corr. pro Artemon.
Antepecco, as; Gl. To ſin before.
Antepſa; Cerd. corr. pro Autheplā.
Antevindemiator; Vid. Provindemiator.
Anthēma; n. ab ἀνθέω. An holy-oak: alſo an anthem.
* Anthiſterion; n. gr. The month April.
* Anthos; n. ἄνθος, flos. The bloſſom of Roſemary: alſo a drink now uſed.
* Anthracia; f. ἀνθρακιά. A cole-fire.
Anthracius, ii; m. A Collier.
Anthracotheioſalenitrum; Scal. Cole, brimſtone, ſalt, nitre; all the ingredients of Gunpowder.
* Anthropomorphon; gr. A mandrake.
Antla; Iſid. ferrum in ſcuto.
Antiadæ; Stup. The glandules on each ſide of the mouth.
Antibiblium; Gl. Iſid. βίβλος ἀντὶ βίβλου. Book for book.
* Anticardion; n. Stup. The pit of the ſtomach.
Anticellium; corr. pro Anthyllion.
* Antichthŏnes, um; m. pl. ἀντίχθονες. People that live directly againſt us on the other ſide of the earth.
* Anticnemion; n. Stup. The ſhin.
Anticompago; f. Gl. The fore-part of the work.
Anticyricon, ab inſ. Anticyrā. An herb like Groundſel.
Antidixis; f. Stup. A thwarting of ſymptoms.
Antifĕra; f. A hand-skreen.
Antiferna; corr. pro Antipherna.
Antifortuna; Gl. Misfortune.
Antigena; c. g. Gl. Born before.
Antillo, as; corr. pro Ancillo. Antillare, σπλαύσθαι, παλακεύσθαι, Gl. To wench.
Antiloquus. That ſpeaketh contrary.
Antimaron vel Antimathon; C. ex ἀντὶ & ΜΑΘ. Againſt death.
Antimenſia; Cerd. Square altars inſtead of Communion-tables.
* Antimonium; n. Offic. στίμμι. ex ἀντὶ pro & Minium, quòd eo pro minio uterentur fœminæ. Antimony.
Antioper; Gl. Before this time.
Antioſa; Gl. ὀρχήστρια. A ſhe-dancer.
Antipera, æ; f. Hul. V. Antifera.
Antipedes; Iſid. Friends attending.
Antiphaſis; id. quod Antiphraſis.
Antiphrates; corr. pro Antipates.
Antipocha; f. Coop. A bill or bond.
Antipophŏra; f. Vid. Anthypophora.
Antiquadrus; Gl. Four-cornered.
Antiſigma; n. Iſid. A kind of note or mark in writing.
Antiſimicus, a, um; Gl. Pleaſant.
Antiſimites; Gl. A Rhetorick figure.
Antiſmos; Coop. corr. pro Aſteiſmos.
Antiſtibulum, i; n. A chafing-diſh or pan to burn perfumes in.
Antithalamus, i; m. θρησκιτὸν. A lobby or ante-chamber.
* Antœci; m. pl. ἀντοικοι. People that dwell under the ſame Meridian or Parallel at a like diſtance from the Line on each ſide.
Antrax; corr. pro Anthrax. A cole.
Antriplenium; Iſid. V. Atriplex.
Antruo, as. To be in a den.
Antruſtio, onis; m. Cerd. A ſworn friend, a liege-man, a ſubject.
Antyllis; corr. pro Anthyllis.
Anvicallia vel Anvifera; Coop. Herbs whoſe ſtalks dye in winter and ſpring again in ſummer.
Anudiustertius; Gl. Three dayes ago.
Anulare; Gl. hortus muliebris.
Anxies, ei; f. Gl. Anxiety.
Anxilis; Gl. ὄρνις, οἰωνὸς. A bird.
Anxiti; Gloſſ. Made ſad.
Anxitia; Gloſſ. An harlot.
Apagina; Stup. The breaking of the end of a bone, where 'tis joyned to another.
* Aparine, es; f. ἀπαγίνη. Goſe-graſs, Cliveri, Gooſe-berry: alſo burr.
Apate, es; f. Theoph. fraus, Gaz. ἀπάτη. A kind of bitter Endive.
Apĕda; f. Gloſſ. A Martinet.
Apello; Gloſſ. pro Aſpello.
Apertularius; m. Gl. θυρωρὸς. He that openeth the door.
Aphedron; n. Dod. Wild ſaffron.
* Apheteria; C. gr. The barriers in a Horſe-race or Tilt-yard.
* Aphrodiſius, a, um; ἀφροδίσιος. Venereal.
* Aphrogăla; n. M. ἀφρόγαλα, ſpuma lactis. Cream, whipt cream.
Aphrōtum; n. Med. gr. A poſſet.
Apia; f. C. A pear-tree, ἄπιος. alſo a Drone among Bees.
Apiago; f. An herb that Bees feed on.
Apiatum; n. Gl. A Parſley-bed.
Apicus, a, um; Gl. ὀπτικὸς. He that raiſeth the hair of the head.
Apimata; Gl. A cracknell.
Apinus. A kind of pitch-tree.
Apiollīgo; Gl. l. Apio, ligo.
Apionium malum. The apple Pomeroyal.
Apiſtos; corr. pro Apſyctos.
Aplectum & Aplictum, i; n. Cerd. A trench about an army.
Apnades; Gl. A kind of ſilvering.
Apocimatus, ûs. A boyling of herbs.
* Apocriſiarius; m. qui pro Epiſcopo reſpondet. A Biſhops Commiſſaryor Chancellour.
* Apodectæ; m. C. ἀποδέκται. Treaſurers or Receivers of tribute.
Apolinum. The herb Widow-wail.
Apollinaris; f. Jun. Henbane.
Apolyterium; Gl. V. Apodyterium.
* Apopempticus hymnus, Scal. A farewell ſong at parting.
* Aponeurōſis; f. Stup. gr. The ſinewy end of the muſcle.
* Apophlegmatiſmus; Jun. gr. A medicine to draw rheum out of the head.
Apophyādes; f. pl. C. ἀποφυάδες. Jags which hang at any thing.
* Apoſpaſmātion, ii; n. ἀποσπασμάτιον. A little piece pulled off.
* Apoſtăſion; n. C. ἀποστάσιον. A Bill of divorcement.
Apoſtolo-Evangelia; Alſted. The Leſſons for Holidayes in the Greek Church.
* Apotröpæum carmen, Scal. ad avertendam minimis iram comparatum.
Appendicus, a, um; ad appendicem ſpectans.
Appia; Gl. rect. Appla; vaſis genus.
Appodio, as. To lean upon.
Aproxis; al. Aproris; Coop. ex Plin. An herb, the root whereof kindleth fire at diſtance.
Apſum; Gloſſ. A fleece of wool.
Apſythia; f. Stup. l. Apſychia, ἀψυχία, animæ deliquium.
Apyreni; m. pl. Jun. Currants.
Aquamolina; Gl. A water-mill.

Aquariola, æ ; f. Coop. A ſink or gutter.

Aquaſitas, pro Aquoſitas. Wa rineſs.

Aquatium ; Gl. The upper part of the head.

Aquemolus ; Gloſſ. A water-ſnake.

Aqueo, as ; Gl. To fetch water.

Aquiductium ; Gl. V. Aquæductus.

Aquiducus, a, um ; Jun. ὑδραγωγός. Drawing or draining of water.

Aquilicus ; Gl. id. quod Aquilex.

Aquilini ; m. pl. A kind of Devils.

Aquilio ; m. Gloſſ. A goad.

Aquipenſer ; id. quod Acipenſer.

Arachnium ; n. Scal. ἀραχνίον. A cobweb ; fine ſmall thread : alſo a diſeaſe of olive-trees.

Arachnoïdes ; ἀραχνοειδὴς, araneoſus. One of the coats of the eye.

Aracus, i ; m. A kind of flat peaſe.

Arætoſyncritus ; m. Jun. gr. A thin-bodied or ſmall-timber'd man ; a ſhrimp.

Arala. A fire-pan. l. Arula.

Arantium ; corr. pro Aurantium.

Arapagare ; id eſt, Effodere.

Arater, tri ; m. Hygin. A plough.

Arbellum ; Gl. A place of torment.

Arbera ; n. pl. Gloſſ. Trees.

Arbiterium ; pro Arbitrium.

Arboraca ; f. Iſid. ὀπὸς ξύλων. The ſap or pith of trees.

Arcerius ; m. Gl. ab Arca. A Steward that layes out money.

Arcerus ; m. Gl. An horſe-keeper.

Archarius ; C. ab ἄρχων. A governour, officer, or overſeer.

Archibelion. The herb Orkanet.

Archicoquus ; m. An head-cook.

Archieunuchus ; m. The High Chamberlain, or Chief of the Privy Chamber.

Archigraphus. A Principal Secretary.

Archiloquium. A preamble.

Archiloquus. The chief talker.

Archipolites. The chief Citizen.

Archipoſia ; Gl. The firſt quaffing.

Archippocomus ; m. The Maſter of the Horſe, the chief of the Squirries.

Archippŏta ; m. The chief horſe-man.

Archiſterium ; n. A Monaſtery.

Archithalaſſus ; m. The Lord High Admiral. ἀρχιθάλασσος.

Archonnocbus ; m. ab. ἄρχω & οἶνος. The chief Butler.

Archotira ; Vid. Artotyra.

Arcilla ; Gl. corr. pro Argilla.

Arcina ; corr. pro Arcuma.

Arciſta ; m. Gloſſ. An Archer.

Arctium ; rect. Arcium. The great Bur.

Arctopithecus ; Geſn. An Ape like a Bear.

Arctorium ; n. A place where houſhold-ſtuff is ſold.

Arcumen ; n. Gl. An herb like the Rain-bow.

Arcutes ; Gloſſ. She-archers.

Ardurium ; Gl. A kind of meat.

Areca ; f. Ger. The drunken Date-tree.

Arepta, æ ; f. Gl. A kind of ſhip.

Areſtis ; Gl. A cuſhion ſet before dead folks.

Argea ; Gl. corr. pro Agea.

Arrhema ; n. A Haw in a horſes eye.

Arges ; m. A kind of lightning : alſo a ſerpent : alſo a kind of ſilver.

Argiarra ; Gl. ἀνδριάντα. Statues, images, pictures.

Argillus, a, um ; Gl. Of clay.

Argirites ; Vid. Argyrites.

Argiſteria ; G. Markets, fairs, booths.

Argitia ; f. Gl. A middle-aged maid.

Argitis ; f. Iſid. A vine with white grapes.

Argŭla ; f. Gl. A touch or taſte.

Argyrocŏpus ; m. ἀργυροκόπος. A Silver-ſmith.

Ariæ ; mortuorum pulvinaria, Gl. Iſid. fort. ab ἀείρω ſepulchrum.

Aridurius ; Gloſſ. A ſharp liquour.

Arieculus ; m. dim. A little Ram.

Arilla ; Gl. A piece of ſcarlet cloth.

Arillo, as ; Gl. To play the cook.

Arimania ; f. Cerd. A kindred.

Arimanus ; m. Cerd. A kinſman.

Ario, is, ire ; Gl. To fight like Rams.

Ariopagatus ; ab areâ effoſſus.

Aripus ; m. Gloſſ. A ſword.

Ariſta ; Gl. The Crow ſo called in breeding time.

Ariſtela ; Gl. A little ear of corn.

Arius ; Gl. corr. pro Aridus.

Armandix ; al. Armanniæ ; Calv. Arſenals or armouries : alſo publick ſtores : alſo tributes for cattel.

Armaria ; f. Gloſſ. A tower.

Armelaus ; ſcapulare monachorum, Gl. Iſid. al. Armelauſa, qu. Armiclauſa. A kind of Monks hood, that covers only the ſhoulders.

Armelinus ; m. Geſn. An Ermin.

Armeria ; f. Gl. A kind of ſaxon.

Armeria ; f. Sweet-William.

Armerius ; m. Gloſſ. A carbuncle.

Armetes, um ; m. pl. Souldiers that brought up the Rear or laſt rank.

Armigatus ; Gl. Buckled in armour.

Armites, um ; Gl. ὁπλῖται. Souldiers in arms. V. Armetes.

Armitia ; Gl. ὅπλα, ſc. armus pecoris oblatus.

Arna ; f. Gl. An Ew, an Ew-lamb.

Arquatura ; f. Gl. Arch-work.

Arreſta bovis ; Jun. Reſt-harrow, Cammock, Whin, Ground-furz.

Arſenotheta ; Coop. pro Arſenocœta, puto, gr. ἀρσενοκοίτης.

Arſius ; ab ἄλσος. A grove.

Artaba ; f. Herod. A corn meaſure among the Perſians of three buſhels.

Artabatæ ; Gl. They that walk ſtooping.

Artanita ; f. Offic. Sour-bread.

Artarius ; m. Gloſſ. A pen-knife.

Arthemiſia ; corr. pro Artemiſia.

Arthetica ; Coop. pro Arthritica.

Articulator ; Gl. A carving-maſter.

Articulum ; Gl. pro Articulus.

Artificina ; f. Gl. A work-houſe.

Artomel ; Stup. A honey ſop.

Artotheca ; f. gr. A bread-cupboard.

Artredo ; f. C. A Waſp or ſmall Hornet.

Artro, as ; pro Aratro, as.

Artum, ti ; n. Gloſſ. Craft.

Arvica ; C. A kind of corn.

Arvicula ; Gl. Little fat.

Arularius ; m. Gloſſ. A corn-maſter.

Arulius, a, um ; Gloſſ. That which eateth all about.

Arulla ; f. M. The core of an apple.

Aruo ; Gl. To threaten, to be angry ; item pro Eruo.

Aruſtina ; corr. ex ἀρρησία.

Arxicula ; f. dim. A little tower.

Aryſanæ & Aryſteres, & Aryſticheſ ; Cæl. ab ἀρύω haurio. Certain ſorts of cups.

Aſaphya ; Stup. Hoarſneſs or harſhneſs of voice. ἀσάφεια.

Aſcaripeda ; c. g. Scal. That hath crooked ankles.

Aſcellia ; f. Gloſſ. Angrineſs.

Aſcellulæ ; Gl. Little birds wings.

Aſciculum ; Gl. A Maſons hammer.

Aſcogeſtus, i ; m. ab ἀσκὸς uter & γέφυρα pons. A bridge made of raw hides ſowed up like bags, and blown up with bellows ; with boards, burdles or hair-cloth laid upon them to paſs over rivers with.

Aſcuba, æ ; f. Gloſſ. A cage.

Aſigna ; n. pl. Gl. Minced meat.

Aſiortum, i ; n. A kind of Spider with white ſtreaks. V. Aſterion.

Aſmatographus ; m. gr. A compoſer or writer of ſongs.

Aſpergula, æ ; f. Offic. ἀσπαράγιον. Clivers or Goos-graſs.

Aſpina ; f. Gloſſ. A ruine.

Aſpratura ; f. Gl. χάλυβος. That which is given for change of money.

Aſprum, i ; n. An aſper, the Turkiſh penny. ἄσπρον, i. λευκόν.

Aſſares ; Gloſſ. Money-changers.

Aſſartum, i ; n. A place where trees have been grub'd up by the roots.

Aſſentiſco ; Gl. To agree or aſſent.

Aſſoria ; f. Gloſſ. A rain-veſſel.

Aſſeſco ; Gloſſ. To ſit often.

Aſſetula ; f. Cerd. A triſle or toy.

Aſſida ; ſtella quadriges, Gl.

Aſſiſteria, æ ; f. A Nun.

Aſſiſterium ; n. A Nunnery.

Aſſolatus ; Gl. i. Deſolatus.

Aſta ; olim pro Haſta, Scal.

Aſtallium ; Calv. Cheating, cozening : alſo felony.

Aſterites ; m. Iſid. A precious ſtone ſhining within like a Star.

Aſtes, itis ; m. El. A Side-man.

Aſtilia ; f. Gloſſ. Craftineſs.

Aſtilire ; Feud. pro Aſſilire.

Aſtorgion, & Aſtorigon ; Coop. corr. pro Aſterion.

Aſtrama ; f. corr. pro Aſtraba.

Aſtrapoplectus ; Gl. Blaſted or ſtricken with lightning.

Aſtrarium ; Gl. A place where baniſhed mens goods were ſold. Corr. pro Haſtarium.

A ſtratura ; Gl. ità ut A poculis dict. ἀνὰ βολεῖς. A Quirry or Groom that is to ſaddle and make ready horſes.

Aſtrobliſmus, i ; m. C. gr. A blaſting ; a withering of trees by lightning.

Aſtroſus, a, um ; Iſid. Born under an ill Planet.

Aſtynomus ; m. gr. qui τὸ ἄστυ νέμει urbem regit. A Mayor or Baily of a Town.

Aſtyſmus ; Iſid. Vid. Aſteïſmus.

Aſuſpicium ; Gl. A fault or error in a caſe, or action.

Aſylus ; m. Coop. An Altar or the like for refuge, a Sanctuary.

Atelabus ; m. Gl. ἀτέλαβος. A kind of Locuſt.

Atena ; Gl. A kind of cup made of a fiſhes ſkull. Al. leg. Artena.

Atergus ; m. Gl. A kind of Glaſs.

Atergùs ; adv. pro A tergo, Gloſſ.

Atrabiliarius, a, um. Subject to melancholy.

Atrifer ; C. A Ruſh with black ſeeds.

Atticinor, āris ; Gl. To put brands to the fire.

Atto, as ; Gl. To begin to go.

Attramus, Gl. corr. pro Atratus.

Atturatio ; f. Gl. A burning of incenſe.

Aubobulcus ; Gl. A herdſman.

Auca ; Gl. αὐξὼν. A Gooſe.

Aucella ; Gl. Iſid. qu. Avicella. A Quail.

Aucellus ;

Aucellus; Gl. στρουθίον. A Sparrow.
Auchordæ; Gl. Certain pipes in Organs.
Aucipula; Gl. A pit-fall or gin to catch birds.
Auco, as; Gl. To hale, pull or draw.
Aucubaculatus, ûs; m. Bat-fowling.
Aucubaculator; m. A Bat-fowler.
Audibilis, le; Audible.
Audibiliter; adv. Audibly.
Avenco, as; vel Avencio; Gloss. To pull up oats.
Averagium; n. Carriage for the Lord: also a contribution towards shipwrack.
Auferro, as; ferrum aufero.
Augelium; n. Increase.
Avigerulus; Gl. That carrieth birds or fowl.
Avitellum; Gl. The yolk of an egg.
Avitium; n. Gl. Antiquity.
Aulliones; Gl. αὐλητοί. Pipers.
Aulones; Gl. Tall and short ships.
Aurealitas. A kind of bird.
Aureta; f. Gloss. A Nymph.
Auricoctor; Gl. A melter of gold.
Auricolum; Gl. An ear-picker.
Auricus, a, um; Gl. That cuts gold.
Aurifrigium; n. M. A counterpane or hanging embroidered with gold.
Auriſuſorium ſpecillum, Gorrh. An instrument, that Surgeons use to convey things into the ear with.
Aurigraphia; f. A writing or graving in gold.
Aurigraphus. One who writes in gold.
Aurilegulus; Gl. One who gathers gold or ore.
Aurimitris; χρυσόμυξος. A Goldfinch.
Aurio, is; Gloss. To find or deliver.
Auriſcidus, a, um; Gl. That cutteth gold.
Auriſclarium; Gl. V. Auriſcalpium.
Auriſia, æ; f. Gl. Blindneſs.
Auronitis; f. Gloss. Anger.
Aurōro, as; MS. To ſhine like the morning, or like gold.
Auſca; f. Gloss. A Fillet.
Auſpicus, a, um; Gl. That hath power to diſpoſe things.
Auſtra, æ; f. Iſid. qu. Hauſtra. A wheel or bucket to draw water with.
Auſtrinatus; auſtro corruptus.
Auſtrino, as; Gl. To look South.
Auſumo; Gl. pro Abſumo.
* Autochthŏnes, um; m. αὐτόχθονες, indigenæ. Natives of the countrey.
* Autolecythus, i; m. Suid. gr. A begger that carries his own diſh; a paraſite or ſhirk.
* Autopſia, æ; f. αὐτοψία. A ſeeing of a thing ones ſelf.
* Autoſchediaſma; n. gr. A thing done ex tempore.
Autuma, æ; f. Gloss. A ſuppoſal.
Auxis; Gloss. The apple-tree.
Auxitis; Gl. The increaſing of the body.
Auxuma; Coop. The young fry of fiſh coming of the ſpawn of Tunny.
Axedo; f. Gl. The axle-tree.
* Axon, ŏnis; m. ἄξων. The ſecond ſpondyl of the neck which moveth not, but is ſtill, as an Axle-tree.
Axona, æ; f. Coop. idem.
* Azygos vena, Stup. ἄζυγος. Unpaired, ſingle.

B.

Babi'zer, ſtultus; Gl. Vid. Babas.
Babit; Gl. γαυριᾷ, i. ſuperbit.
Babo, as; M. ex Gaz. βαβάζω. To cry or prattle like a child or baby.
Baburrus, ſtultus, ineptus; Iſid. ἄφρων, ἀνόητος, μάταιος, Gl. Phil. A fool, a ſimpleton.
Baccal; Iſid. al. Bacaulum. A bier.
Baccanes; m. pl. Gl. Clowns.
Baccea, æ; f. Iſid. A water-veſſel.
Bacchæum, i; n. Gloss. A girdle.
Bacchana; f. Gl. A curious work.
Bacchania; f. Gl. Rage, madneſs.
Bacchen; Gl. Baben, Cath. A chain for the neck; fort. τραχήλιον.
Bacchinal; m. Gl. A preſs for wine.
Baccile & Baccinum; Gl. A baſin.
Baccrana; f. Gl. A river let out.
Bacco, as; Gloss. To gird or tye.
Baclæ; f. pl. Gl. Players ſhoes for women: also an iron-colour'd marble.
Baen; Gl. Iſid. A gold chain.
Bafer, a, um; Gl. Groſs, thick.
Bafer; m. Gl. The foam of the ſea. ἀφρός.
Bafeus; m. Gl. βαφεύς. A Dyer.
Bagium; n. Gloss. A Leek.
Bagula, æ; f. Gl. A bridle.
Baia, æ; f. Cath. A haven, a bay.
Baianæ; Gl. Places where Merchants wares were received.
Baius, a, um; à βάϊον. Bay colour.
Balaniæ; f. pl. Gloss. Grapes.
Balaſtrum; n. Gloss. A bath.
Balathuſtinum; n. Gl. idem.
Balducta; f. Gloss. Strained milk.
Baliſtro, as; Gloss. To ſling.
Baliſtrum, i; n. Gloss. A ſling.
Ballematicum; Cerd. A ſong or dance to the Cymbal.
Ballerus; m. Geſn. A Bleke or Whiting.
Ballia, æ; f. Gloss. A ſling.
Balliſtro, as; Gl. To hurl or caſt.
Ballo, onis; m. Gl. A ſea-monſter.
Balluſtrum; Gl. A place where baths are.
Balnitor; Gl. pro Balneator.
Balta, æ; m. Gloss. Bold.
Balterio, is, ire; Gl. To gird.
Balteus, i; m. Gl. A purple colour.
Balum; n. Gl. An heap caſt up.
Balux; m. Gl. He that ſleeps with another.
Bama, æ; f. Gloss. orbitas.
Bambis, is; f. Gloss. Sand.
Bamum; Gl. Vinegar and oyl. βάμμα.
Bandus, a, um; Gloss. Flexible.
Bannita, æ; f. Gl. Complexion.
Barangi; Cerd. The Key-bearers to the Emperour.
Barbamentum; n. Gloss. A beard.
Barbanus; m. Gloss. An Unkle.
Barbatoria; f. Gl. A Barbers ſhop: also the trimming of the beard.
Barbitiſta; m. Gl. A Lutaniſt.
Barbotina; f. Offic. Wormſeed.
Barcellarius; m. Gl. A Barge-man.
Barchus; m. Gloss. A fool.
Barculus; m. Gloss. A thread.
Bardes, is; m. Gloss. A ſlave.
Bardonta; m. qui palmas dat, Gl.
Bargina; Gl. pergamena.
Barginis, es; Gl. Foreign, ſtrange.
Barigenus, a, um; Gloss. idem.
Barinus, a, um; Gl. Heavy, weighty.
Bariſa, æ; f. Gl. A kind of pot.
Bariſus, a, um; Gloss. Proud.
Barnacida; Coop. Vid. Parnacis.
Baroſus, a, um; Gloss. Doltiſh.
Barridus, a, um; Cath. Proud.
Barriptus; Gl. Vid. Baroptis.
Barrus, a, um; Gl. Strong, proud.
Barus, a, um; Gl. πυῤῥός. Ruddy.
Baſcum; Gl. pro Barathrum.
Baſſandes; Gloss. baccæ uberes.
Baſſatum; Iſid. pro Foſſatum.
Batalaria; Gl. A kind of purple.
Bataris; Gl. A kind of ſerpent.
Bathus, a, um; Gl. βαθύς. Deep.
Baticla; f. Gl. pro Batiola.
Baticula, æ; f. Offic. Sampire.
Batii; Gl. A legion of ſouldiers.
Batino; Gl. corr. pro Batuo.
Batium; Iſid. Prieſts linnen breeches.
Batritæ; Gloss. Oxen or kine.
Bavar; n. Gloss. pro Baccar.
Bavio, is, ire; Gloss. To boaſt.
Baxes; Gloss. A young heifer.
Bedella; f. Gl. βδέλλα. A horſe-leech.
Bellico, as; Gloss. To wage war.
Belluilis, le; Gloss. Beaſtly.
Benarius; Gloss. pro Bennarius.
Bergia; f. Cerd. A mace or rod.
Beſalum; Gl. βησάλιον, later coctus.
Bethotrophium; Can. A hoſpital.
Betoræ; f. pl. Gloss. Thorns.
Bianor; Gl. βιάνωρ. Strong.
Biballum; Gloss. pro Bipalium.
Bibelles, is; f. Gl. A double coat. qu.
Bipellis, διφθέρα.
Biberes; Gl. Small cups, in which the Monks had their drink meaſur'd out to them.
Bibinaria; menſtrua, Gl.
Bibino, as; Gloss. Vid. Bubino.
Bibliator; Cath. A Book-ſeller.
Biblum; Gloss. The card of a ſhip.
Bibræ; f. pl. Gl. Darts or ſtones ſhot.
Bicarium; n. Alex. A beaker.
Bicernæ; Gl. Double coats.
Bicerres; Gl. Vid. Bicirres.
Biclus; m. Gloss. A ſea-calf.
Bicoxus, a, um; Gl. Two-hipped.
Biculum; n. Gl. A kind of torment.
Bidellium; n. Cerd. Water that drops out of the Elm. corr. pro Bdellium.
Bigera; f. Gl. Iſid. A ſhort cloak.
Bilagium; C. à bile agenda. A medicine againſt choler.
Bilex; Gloss. corr. pro Bilix.
Bilietes; Gl. Bilutes. Beaſtly men.
Bimalchus; Gl. The god Bacchus.
Bimarcus; Gl. Twice married.
Bimator; Gloss. A doubler.
Bimo, as; Gl. To double. pro Bino.
Bimus; m. Gl. Phyſick diet.
Binio, onis; m. Gl. A two-pence.
Biplagia, æ; f. Cerd. A garment with oilet-holes on both ſides.
Biridus, a, um; Gl. White or gray.
Birro, ōnis; m. Gloss. A rich man: alſo a little ſhip.
Biſaria; f. Gl. A wallet. Biſaccia.
Biſenus, χοῖρ ἑξαμηνιαῖος, Gl. A pig of ſix months old.
Biſmalva; f. Offic. Water-mallows.
Bitullum; Gl. id. quod Bifurcum.
Bitus; m. Gl. A pair of ſtocks with a whipping-poſt.
Boalca, æ; f. Gl. A kind of ſerpent.
Boapti; m. pl. Gloss. Waters.
Bobo, ōnis; m. Gloss. A Rat.
Bobus, a, um; Gl. Fearful,
Bochar, aris; n. Gloss. Ill oyl.
Bolanæ; m. pl. Gl. Huckſters that foreſtall the market.
Bolitus, a, um; Gl. Fearful, ſhame-faced.
Bolundi; m. pl. Gl. ex βλυδοί. The firſt figs that are ripe.
Bombites; m. pl. Gloss. Ants.
Bor, oris; Gl. Sure-footed.

Aquariola, æ ; f. Coop. A ſink or gutter.
Aquaſitas, pro Aquoſitas. Waterineſs.
Aquatium ; Gl. The upper part of the head.
Aquemolus ; Gloſſ. A water-ſnake.
Aqueo, as ; Gl. To fetch water.
Aquiductium ; Gl. V. Aquæductus.
Aquiductus, a, um ; Jun. ὁ ἐφελκυσός. Drawing or draining of water.
Aquilicus ; Gl. id. quod Aquilex.
Aquilini ; m. pl. A kind of Devils.
Aquilio ; m. Gloſſ. A goad.
Aquipenſer ; id. quod Acipenſer.
* Arachnium ; n. Scal. ἀραχνίον. A cobweb ; fine ſmall thread : alſo a diſeaſe of olive-trees.
Arachnoides ; ἀραχνοειδὴς, araneoſus. One of the coats of the eye.
Aracus, i ; m. A kind of flat peaſe.
* Aræoſyncritus ; m. Jun. gr. A thin-bodied or ſmall-timber'd man ; a ſhrimp.
Arala. A fire-pan. l. Arula.
Arantium ; corr. pro Aurantium.
Arapagare ; id eſt, Effodere.
Arater, tri ; m. Hygin. A plough.
Arbellum ; Gl. A place of torment.
Arbera ; n. pl. Gloſſ. Trees.
Arbiterium ; pro Arbitrium.
Arboraca ; f. Iſid. ἀρυσμὸν. The ſap or pith of trees.
Arcerius ; m. Gl. ab Arca. A Steward that loyes out money.
Arcerus ; m. Gl. An horſe-keeper.
Archarius ; C. ab ἄρχων. A governour, officer, or overſeer.
Archibelion. The herb Orkanet.
Archicoquus ; m. An head-cook.
Archieunuchus ; m. The High Chamberlain, or Chief of the Privy Chamber.
Archigraphus. A Principal Secretary.
Archiloquium. A preamble.
Archiloquus. The chief talker.
Archipolites. The chief Citizen.
Archipoſia ; Gl. The firſt quaffing.
Archippocõmus ; m. The Maſter of the Horſe, the chief of the Quirries.
Archippõta ; m. The chief horſe-man.
Archiſterium ; n. A Monaſtery.
Archithalaſſus ; m. The Lord High Admiral. ἀρχιθάλασσον.
Archonnochus ; m. ab. ἀρχὴ & οἶνος. The chief Butler.
Archotira ; Vid. Artotyra.
Arcilla ; Gl. corr. pro Argilla.
Arcina ; corr. pro Arcuma.
Arciſta ; m. Gloſſ. An Archer.
Arctium ; rect. Arcium. The great Bur.
Arctopithecus ; Geſn. An Ape like a Bear.
Arctorium ; n. A place where houſhold-ſtuff is ſold.
Arcumen ; n. Gl. An herb like the Rain-bow.
Arcutes ; Gloſſ. She-archers.
Ardurium ; Gl. A kind of meat.
Areca ; f. Ger. The drunken Date-tree.
Arepta, æ ; f. Gl. A kind of ſhip.
Areſtis ; Gl. A cuſhion ſet before dead folks.
Argea ; Gl. corr. pro Agea.
* Arrema ; n. A Haw in a horſes eye.
Arges ; m. A kind of lightning : alſo a ſerpent : alſo a kind of ſilver.
Argiarra ; Gl. ἀνδριάντα. Statues, images, pictures.
Argillus, a, um ; Gl. Of clay.
Argirites ; Vid. Argyrites.
Argiſteria ; G. Markets, fairs, booths.
Argitia ; f. Gl. A middle-aged maid.
Argitis ; f. Iſid. A vine with white grapes.
Argũla ; f. Gl. A touch or taſte.
* Argyrocõpus ; m. ἀργυροκόπος. A Silver-ſmith.
Ariæ ; mortuorum pulvinaria, Gl. Iſid. fort. ab ἠέριον ſepulchrum.
Aridurius ; Gloſſ. A ſharp liquour.
Arieculus ; m. dim. A little Ram.
Arilla ; Gl. A piece of ſcarlet cloth.
Arillo, as ; Gl. To play the cook.
Arimania ; f. Cerd. A kindred.
Arimanus ; m. Cerd. A kinſman.
Ario, is, ire ; Gl. To fight like Rams.
Ariopagatus ; ab area effoſſus.
Aripus ; m. Gloſſ. A ſword.
Ariſta ; Gl. The Crow ſo called in breeding time.
Ariſtela ; Gl. A little ear of corn.
Arius ; Gl. corr. pro Aridus.
Armandiæ ; al. Armanniæ ; Calv. Arſenals or armouries : alſo publick ſhores : alſo tributes for cattel.
Armaria ; f. Gloſſ. A tower.
Armelaus ; ſcapulare monachorum, Gl. Iſid. al. Armelauſa, qu. Armiclauſa. A kind of Monks hood, that covers only the ſhoulders.
Armelinus ; m. Geſn. An Ermin.
Armeria ; f. Gl. A kind of ſauce.
Armeria ; f. Sweet-William.
Armerius ; m. Gloſſ. A carbuncle.
Armetes, um ; m. pl. Souldiers that brought up the Rear or laſt rank.
Armigatus ; Gl. Buckled in armour.
Armites, um ; Gl. ἐνόπλιται. Souldiers in arms. V. Armetes.
Armita ; Gl. Συοία, ſc. armus pecoris oblatus.
Arna ; f. Gl. An Ew, an Ew-lamb.
Arquatura ; f. Gl. Arch-work.
* Arreſta bovis ; Jun. Reſt-harrow, Cammock, Whin, Ground-ſurz.
Arſenotheta ; Coop. pro Arſenocœta, puto, gr. ἀρσενοκοίτης.
Arſius ; ab ἄλσος. A grove.
Artaba ; f. Herod. A corn meaſure among the Perſians of three buſhels.
Artabatæ ; Gl. They that walk ſtooping.
Artanita ; f. Offic. Sour-bread.
Artarius ; m. Gloſſ. A pen-knife.
Arthemiſia ; corr. pro Artemiſia.
Arthetica ; Coop. pro Arthritica.
Articulator ; Gl. A carving-maſter.
Articulum ; Gl. pro Articulus.
Artificina ; f. Gl. A work-houſe.
Artomel ; Stup. A honey ſop.
* Artotheca ; f. gr. A bread-cupboard.
Artredo ; f. C. A Weſp or ſmall Hornet.
Artro, as ; pro Aratro, as.
Artum, ti ; n. Gloſſ. Craſt.
Arvica ; C. A kind of corn.
Arvicula ; Gl. Little fat.
Arularius ; m. Gloſſ. A corn-maſter.
Arulius, a, um ; Gloſſ. That which eateth all about.
Arulla ; f. M. The core of an apple.
Aruo ; Gl. To threaten, to be angry ; item pro Eruo.
Aruſtina ; corr. ex ἀρίστεια.
Arxicula ; f. dim. A little tower.
Aryſanæ & Aryſteres, & Aryſtiches ; Cæl. ab ἀρύω haurio. Certain ſorts of cups.
Aſaphya ; Stup. Hoarſneſs or harſhneſs of voice. ἀσαφεία.
Aſcaripeda ; c. g. Scal. That hath crooked ankles.
Aſcellia ; f. Gloſſ. Angrineſs.
Aſcellulæ ; Gl. Little birds wings.
Aſciculum ; Gl. A Maſons hammer.
Aſcogeſtus, i ; m. ab ἀσκὸς uter & γέφυρα pons. A bridge made of raw hides ſowed up like bags, and blown up with bellows ; with boards, hurdles or hair-cloth laid upon them to paſs over rivers with.
Aſcuba, æ ; f. Gloſſ. A cage.
Aſigna ; n. pl. Gl. Minced meat.
Aſiortum, i ; n. A kind of Spider with white ſtreaks. V. Aſterion.
Aſmatographus ; m. gr. A compoſer or writer of ſongs.
* Aſpergula, æ ; f. Offic. ἀσπάραγος. Clivers or Goos-graſs.
Aſpina ; f. Gloſſ. A ruine.
Aſpratura ; f. Gl. κάπηλεῖον. That which is given for change of money.
Aſprum, i ; n. An aſper, the Turkiſh penny. ἄσπρον, i. λευκὸν.
Aſſares ; Gloſſ. Money-changers.
Aſſartum, i ; n. A place where trees have been grub'd up by the roots.
Aſſentiſco ; Gl. To agree or aſſent.
Aſſeria ; f. Gloſſ. A rain-veſſel.
Aſſeſco ; Gloſſ. To ſit often.
Aſſetula ; f. Cerd. A trifle or toy.
Aſſida ; ſtella quadriges, Gl.
Aſſiſteria, æ ; f. A Nun.
Aſſiſterium ; n. A Nunnery.
* Aſſolatus ; Gl. i. Deſolatus.
Aſta ; olim pro Haſta, Scal.
Aſtalium ; Calv. Cheating, conzening : alſo felony.
* Aſterites ; m. Iſid. A precious ſtone ſhining within like a Star.
Aſtes, itis ; m. Æl. A Side-man.
Aſtilia ; f. Gloſſ. Craftineſs.
Aſtilire ; Feud. pro Aſſilire.
Aſtorgion, & Aſtorigon ; Coop. corr. pro Aſterion.
Aſtrama ; f. corr. pro Aſtraba.
* Aſtrapoplectus ; Gl. Blaſted or ſtricken with lightning.
Aſtrarium ; Gl. A place where baniſhed mens goods were ſold. Corr. pro Haſtarium.
A ſtratura ; Gl. ità ut A poculis dict. ἀπὸ βολαίου. A Quirry or Groom that is to ſadale and make ready horſes.
* Aſtroboliſmus, i ; m. C. gr. A blaſting ; a withering of trees by lightning.
Aſtroſus, a, um ; Iſid. Born under an ill Planet.
* Aſtynomus ; m. gr. qui τὸ ἄστυ νέμει urbem regit. A Mayor or Baily of a Town.
Aſtyſmus ; Iſid. Vid. Aſteïſmus.
Aſuſpicium ; Gl. A fault or error in a caſe or action.
Aſylus ; m. Coop. An Altar or the like for refuge, a Sanctuary.
Atelabus ; m. Gl. ἀτέλεβος. A kind of Locuſt.
Atena ; Gl. A kind of cup made of a fiſhes ſhell. Al. leg. Artena.
Atergus ; m. Gl. A kind of Glaſs.
Atergûs ; adv. pro A tergo, Gloſſ.
Atrabiliarius, a, um. Subject to melancholy.
Atrifer ; C. A Ruſh with black ſeeds.
Atticinor, ãris ; Gl. To put brands to the fire.
Attro, as ; Gl. To begin to go.
Attramus ; Gl. corr. pro Attratus.
Atturatio ; f. Gl. A burning of incenſe.
Aubobulcus ; Gl. A herdſman.
Auca ; Gl. ἄνσήρ. A Gooſe.
Aucella ; Gl. Iſid. qu. Avicella. A Quail.
Aucellus ;

Aucellus; Gl. στρουθίον. A Sparrow.
Auchordæ; Gl. Certain pipes in Organs.
Aucipula; Gl. A pit-fall or gin to catch birds.
Auco, as; Gl. To hale, pull or draw.
Aucubaculatus, ûs; m. Bat-fowling.
Aucubaculator; m. A Bat-fowler.
Audibilis, le; Audible.
Audibiliter; adv. Audibly.
Avenco, as; vel Avencio; Gloſſ. To pull up oats.
Averagium; n. Carriage for the Lord: alſo a contribution towards ſhipwrack.
Auferpo, as; ferrum aufero.
Augelium; n. Increaſe.
Avigerulus; Gl. That carrieth birds or fowl.
Avitellum; Gl. The yolk of an egg.
Avitium; n. Gl. Antiquity.
Auliones; Gl. αὐλητοί. Pipers.
Aŭlones; Gl. Tall and ſhort ſhips.
Aurealitas. A kind of bird.
Aureta; f. Gloſſ. A Nymph.
Auricoctor; Gl. A melter of gold.
Auricolum; Gl. An ear-picker.
Auricus, a, um; Gl. That cuts gold.
Auriſrigium; n. M. A counterpane or hanging embroidered with gold.
Auriſuſorium ſpecillum, Gorrh. An inſtrument, that Surgeons uſe to convey things into the ear with.
Aurigraphia; f. A writing or graving in gold.
Aurigraphus. One who writes in gold.
Aurilegulus; Gl. One who gathers gold or ore.
Aurimitris; χρυσόμιτρις. A Goldfinch.
Aurio, is; Gloſſ. To find or deliver.
Auriſcidus, a, um; Gl. That cutteth gold.
Auriſclarium; Gl. V. Auriſcalpium.
Auriſia, æ; f. Gl. Blindneſs.
Auronitis; f. Gloſſ. Anger.
Aurŏro, as; MS. To ſhine like the morning, or like gold.
Auſca; f. Gloſſ. A Fillet.
Auſpicus, a, um; Gl. That hath power to diſpoſe things.
Auſtra, æ; f. Iſid. qu. Hauſtra. A wheel or bucket to draw water with.
Auſtrinatus; auſtro corruptus.
Auſtrino, as; Gl. To look South.
Auſumo; Gl. pro Abſumo.
* Autochthŏnes, um; m. αὐτόχθονες, indigenæ. Natives of the countrey.
* Autolecythus, i; m. Suid. gr. A begger that carries his own diſh; a paraſite or ſhirk.
* Autopſia, æ; f. αὐτοψία. A ſeeing of a thing ones ſelf.
* Autoſchediaſma; n. gr. A thing done ex tempore.
Autuma, æ; f. Gloſſ. A ſuppoſal.
Auxis; Gloſſ. The apple-tree.
Auxitis; Gl. The increaſing of the body.
Auxuma; Coop. The young fry of fiſh coming of the ſpawn of Tunny.
Axedo; f. Gl. The axle-tree.
* Axon, ŏnis; m. ἄξων. The ſecond ſpondyl of the neck which moveth not, but is ſtill, as an Axle-tree.
Axona, æ; f. Coop. idem.
* Azygos vena, Stup. ἄζυγος. Unpaired, ſingle.

B.

Babiger, ſtultus; Gl. Vid. Babas.
Babit; Gl. γαυριᾷ, i. ſuperbit.
Babo, as; M. ex Gaz. βαβάζω. To cry or prattle like a child or baby.
Baburrus, ſtultus, ineptus; Iſid. ἄφρων, ἀνόητος, μάταιος, Gl. Phil. A fool, a ſimpleton.
Baccal; Iſid. al. Bacaulum. A bier.
Baccanes; m. pl. Gl. Clowns.
Baccea, æ; f. Iſid. A water-veſſel.
Bacchæum, i; n. Gloſſ. A girdle.
Bacchana; f. Gl. A curious work.
Bacchania; f. Gl. Rage, madneſs.
Bacchen; Gl. Baben, Cath. A chain for the neck; fort. ἰτρανχένιον.
Bacchinal; m. Gl. A preſs for wine.
Baccile & Baccinum; Gl. A baſin.
Baccrana; f. Gl. A river let out.
Baceo, as; Gloſſ. To gird or tye.
Baclæ; f. pl. Gl. Players ſhoos for women: alſo an iron-colour'd marble.
Baen; Gl. Iſid. A gold chain.
Bafer, a, um; Gl. Groſs, thick.
Bafer; m. Gl. The foam of the ſea. ἀφρός.
Bafeus; m. Gl. βαφεύς. A Dyer.
Bagium; n. Gloſſ. A Leek.
Bagula, æ; f. Gl. A bridle.
Baia, æ; f. Cath. A haven, a bay.
Baianæ; Gl. Places where Merchants wares were received.
Baius, a, um; à βάϊον. Bay colour.
Balaniæ; f. pl. Gloſſ. Grapes.
Balaſtrum; n. Gloſſ. A bath.
Balathuſtinum; n. Gl. idem.
Balducta; f. Gloſſ. Strained milk.
Baliſtro, as; Gloſſ. To ſling.
Baliſtrum, i; n. Gloſſ. A ſling.
Ballematicum; Cerd. A ſong or dance to the Cymbal.
Ballerus; m. Geſn. A Bleke or Whiting.
Ballia, æ; f. Gloſſ. A ſling.
Balliſtro, as; Gl. To hurl or caſt.
Ballo, onis; m. Gl. A ſea-monſter.
Balluſtrum; Gl. A place where baths are.
Balnitor; Gl. pro Balneator.
Balta, æ; m. Gloſſ. Bold.
Balterio, is, ire; Gl. To gird.
Balteus, i; m. Gl. A purple colour.
Balum; n. Gl. An heap caſt up.
Balux; m. Gl. He that ſleeps with another.
Bama, æ; f. Gloſſ. orbitas.
Bambis, is; f. Gloſſ. Sand.
Bamum; Gl. Vinegar and oyl. βάμμα.
Bandus, a, um; Gloſſ. Flexible.
Bannita, æ; f. Gl. Complexion.
Barangi; Cerd. The Key-bearers to the Emperour.
Barbamentum; n. Gloſſ. A beard.
Barbanus; m. Gloſſ. An Unkle.
Barbatoria; f. Gl. A Barbers ſhop: alſo the trimming of the beard.
Barbitiſta; m. Gl. A Lutaniſt.
Barbotina; f. Offic. Wormſeed.
Barcellarius; m. Gl. A Barge-man.
Barchus; m. Gloſſ. A fool.
Barculus; m. Gloſſ. A thread.
Bardes, is; m. Gloſſ. A ſlave.
Bardonta; m. qui palmas dat, Gl.
Bargina; Gl. pergamena.
Barginis, e; Gl. Foreign, ſtrange.
Barigenus, a, um; Gloſſ. idem.
Barinus, a, um; Gl. Heavy, weighty.
Bariſa, æ; f. Gl. A kind of pot.
Bariſus, a, um; Gloſſ. Proud.
Barnacida; Coop. Vid. Parnacis.
Baroſus, a, um; Gloſſ. Doltiſh.
Barridus, a, um; Cath. Proud.
Barriptus; Gl. Vid. Baroptis.
Barrus, a, um; Gl. Strong, proud.
Barus, a, um; Gl. πυῤῥός. Ruddy.
Baſacum; Gl. pro Barathrum.
Baſſandes; Gloſſ. baccæ uberes.
Baſſatum; Iſid. pro Foſſatum.
Batalaria; Gl. A kind of purple.
Bataris; Gl. A kind of ſerpent.
Bathus, a, um; Gl. βαθύς. Deep.
Baticla; f. Gl. pro Batiola.
Baticula, æ; f. Offic. Sampire.
Batii; Gl. A legion of ſouldiers.
Batino; Gl. corr. pro Batuo.
Batium; Iſid. Prieſts linnen breeches.
Batritæ; Gloſſ. Oxen or kine.
Bavar; n. Gloſſ. pro Baccar.
Bavio, is, ire; Gloſſ. To boaſt.
Baxes; Gloſſ. A young heifer.
Bedella; f. Gl. βδέλλα. A horſe-leech.
Bellico, as; Gloſſ. To wage war.
Belluilis, le; Gloſſ. Beaſtly.
Benarius; Gloſſ. pro Bennarius.
Bergia; f. Cerd. A mace or rod.
Beſalum; Gl. βῆσσαλον, later coctus.
Bethotrophium; Can. A hoſpital.
Betoræ; f. pl. Gloſſ. Thorns.
Bianor; Gl. βιάνωρ. Strong.
Biballum; Gloſſ. pro Bipalium.
Bibelles, is; f. Gl. A double coat. qu. Bipellis, διφθέρα.
Biberes; Gl. Small cups, in which the Monks had their drink meaſur'd out to them.
Bibinaria; menſtrua, Gl.
Bibino, as; Gloſſ. Vid. Bubino.
Bibliator; Cath. A Book-ſeller.
Biblum; Gloſſ. The card of a ſhip.
Bibræ; f. pl. Gl. Darts or ſtones ſhot.
Bicarium; n. Alex. A beaker.
Bicernæ; Gl. Double coats.
Bicerres; Gl. vid. Bicirres.
Biclus; m. Gloſſ. A ſea-calf.
Bicoxus, a, um; Gl. Two-hipped.
Biculum; n. Gl. A kind of torment.
Bidellium; n. Cerd. Water that drops out of the Elm. corr. pro Bdellium.
Bigera; f. Gl. Iſid. A ſhort cloak.
Bilagium; C. à bile agenda. A medicine againſt choler.
Bilex; Gloſſ. corr. pro Bilix.
Bilietes; Gl. Bilutes. Beaſtly men.
Bimalchus; Gl. The god Bacchus.
Bimarcus; Gl. Twice married.
Bimator; Gloſſ. A doubler.
Bimo, as; Gl. To double. pro Bino.
Bimus; m. Gl. Phyſick diet.
Binio, onis; m. Gl. A two-pence.
Biplagia, æ; f. Cerd. A garment with oilet-holes on both ſides.
Biridus, a, um; Gl. White or gray.
Birro, ōnis; m. Gloſſ. A rich man: alſo a little ſhip.
Biſaria; f. Gl. A wallet. Biſaccia.
Biſenus, χοῖρ ἑξαμηνιαῖ, Gl. A pig of ſix months old.
Biſmalva; f. Offic. Water-mallows.
Bitullum; Gl. id. quod Bifurcum.
Bitus; m. Gl. A pair of ſtocks with a whipping-poſt.
Boalca, æ; f. Gl. A kind of ſerpent.
Boapti; m. pl. Gloſſ. Waters.
Bobo, ōnis; m. Gloſſ. A Rat.
Bobus, a, um; Gl. Fearful,
Bochar, aris; n. Gloſſ. Ill oyl.
Bolanæ; m. pl. Gl. Huckſters that foreſtall the market.
Bolitus, a, um; Gl. Fearful, ſhamefaced.
Bolundi; m. pl. Gl. ex ὀλυνθοι. The firſt figs that are ripe.
Bombites; m. pl. Gloſſ. Ants.
Bor, oris; Gl. Sore-footed.

Borex; Gl. The opening of a vein above the thigh.

Borith; heb. בוריתּ. Fullers ſoap, a kind of herb they uſe to take ſpots out of clothes.

Borrito; Gloſſ. Black or red.

Boſonia, æ; f. Gl. A place full of herbs or graſs.

Boſor, oris; ex heb. בשר Fleſh.

Boſtar; n. Iſid. βοστάριον. A place for Oxen to ſtand in: alſo a place where malefactors were burnt.

Boſteo, onis; m. Gl. A yoaker.

Botaurus; m. A bittour, a bird.

Botio, onis; m. Gl. An ox-ſtall.

Botrax; Gl. A lizard like a frog.

Boyea; f. Gloſſ. A Salamander.

Bovellium; n. Gloſſ. An ox-ſtall.

Bovilla, æ; f. Gloſſ. idem.

Bovinaſta; corr. pro Bumaſtus.

Bracile, is; n. Gl. Vid. Brachiale.

Bracum; n. Gl. A wine made of Ale.

Branchus; Iſid. βράγχος. A hoarſneſs.

Brandeum; n. Cerd. A ſhrowd or herſe-cloth.

Braſica, æ; f. Gloſſ. A cup.

Bratea, æ; f. Gl. A gold rod.

Bravis; ſtupidus, Gl. βραδύς.

Braxo, as; M. To brew Ale or Beer.

Bredina; f. Geſn. A Barnacle or Brand gooſe.

Briga, rixa; Brigare, rixare, M.

Briolum; n. Cerd. A park to hunt in.

Bromoſus, a, um; Iſid. βρομώδης. Stinking.

Bromum; n. Gl. βρόμος. Stench.

Brundus, i; m. Gl. A Fool.

Bruſta; f. Gl. Vid. Boſtar.

Brutes; Gl. The bridle-bit, that is put into the horſe mouth.

Brutti; Gl. New tamed Colts.

Bubus, i; m. Gl. ſenum angor.

Bucale; n. Cerd. A baſin to waſh in.

Bucida, æ; m. Gl. A Butcher, that kills beaſts.

Buculare; n. Gl. A water-veſſel.

Bucularius; Gl. An herdſ-man.

Buda, æ; f. Gloſſ. A mat.

Buggeus; Gl. An Eunuch. V. Bagoas.

Bulli, χρυσοκόνδυλοι, Gl. A kind of inſect.

Bullones; Gloſſ. Fiſh-mongers.

Bullonium; Gl. A kind of ſalt-fiſh.

Burbo, onis; m. Gl. A ſtone-horſe.

Burboriſmus; Gl. The wind-cholick.

Burca; f. Gl. The common ſink or town ſewer.

Burdio, is, ire; Gl. To be inſolent.

Burgones; Gloſſ. Sheep-folds.

Buriga, æ; f. Gl. A Goat-skin.

Barrhitus, a, um; Gl. Cruel.

Buſalia, æ; f. Gl. A Mallet.

Buſta, æ; f. Gloſſ. A tree pruned high, or that hath grafts in its boughs.

Buteum; n. Gl. An herb growing in fenns.

Butiæ; Gloſſ. Herds of oxen.

Butta & Butticum; cupa, מדה. A Butt or veſſel of liquour.

Buttria; Gl. A butteres, a vine-prop.

Buza, vel Buzana; Gl. Arab. à βύω implео, unde βύσια, loculus, Poll. A pouch.

* Byrſeus, ei; m. βυρσεύς. A Tanner, a Currier or dreſſer of hides.

C.

Cabidarius; gr. imò lat. Lapidarius.

Cabilles; ἀδιαφορολία, Gl. Cabbala.

Cabo; caballus, Gloſſ. An horſe.

Cabuta, Cambuta. A Croſier-ſtaff.

Cacia; Gl. The great beam of a ſhip.

* Cacophonia; f. gr. An ill ſound.

* Cacoſtomächus; κακοστόμαχος; Cic. That hath an ill ſtomach.

* Cacoſyntheton; n. Iſid. κακοσύνθετον, vitioſa compoſitio.

Cacuba; Gl. The name of certain Stars: fort. ab heb. כוכב Stella.

Cacula; n. pl. Gloſſ. Dry wood.

Cacuma; Iſid. corr. pro Cucuma.

Cacumbeo, as; Gl. id. quod Cambio.

Cacuminax; Cerd. Overtopping.

Çacuo; Gl. i. Coacuo. To exhort.

Çadala; f. Gl. The neck or bending of a thing.

Cadamitas; Iſid. l. Calamitas.

Cadax; adj. Gl. Apt to fall.

Cadix; Gl. corr. pro Caudex.

Cado, onis; m. Gl. à Cadus. A brazen bucket or cheſt.

Cadula, æ; f. Gl. Dripping of meat.

Cadum; n. Gl. arvina. Fat, greaſe.

Cadus, a, um; Gl. Lunatick or troubled with the Falling-ſickneſs.

Cæbus; m. Coop. ab heb. קוף ſimia. A Monkey, an Ape with a tail.

Cæcua; f. Iſid. An Owl.

Cæculæ; f. Iſid. A blind-worm.

Çæda; f. Gl. A dimneſs of ſight.

Cæleria; n. pl. Gl. The necks of birds adorn'd with divers colours.

Cærea; f. Gl. A kind of colour to paint with.

Cætum crudum; Gloſſ. Green ſalt fiſh undryed.

Cagenter, tri; m. Gloſſ. Ice.

Calagiæ; f. pl. Gl. A diſeaſe in the eye-brows.

Calamancus; m. Gl. A kind of Cap.

Calamantius; m. An Organ-player.

Calamiſcus; m. Gl. A little candleſtick.

Calamitiſſum; n. Gl. The herb Nep.

Calamito, as; Cath. To make wretched.

Calamizo, as; Cath. To pipe or ſing.

Calămo, as; To glean or leaze corn.

Calandra, æ; f. Geſn. A Lark.

Calaſtica; n. pl. Gl. Purging medicines: alſo ointments; καλαστικά.

Calătha, æ; f. Gl. id. quod Calathus.

Calatiæ; m. pl. ἀναδέσεις, Gl. μαιχοὶ, Heſ.

Calaticum hordeum, Gl. Barley that hath two rows in each ear.

Calatum; Gl. Iſid. corr. pro Calathus.

Calaunæ; f. pl. Gl. Solitary and ſecret places.

Calbitio, onis; f. Gl. Grief or ſorrow.

Calbo, onis; m. Gl. A dog. כלב.

Calcĕdo, inis; f. Gl. A ſtone ſhining like fire.

Calcens; Gloſſ. Witty.

Calcenterius; m. Gl. An Accountant.

Calcinatus, a, um. Calcined, done into powder.

Calcinella; f. Geſn. A kind of fiſh.

Calcitis; Gl. corr. pro Chalcitis.

Calcoſănus, Iſid. ex χαλκὸς et ſonus. A black ſtone which ſounds like braſs.

Calcula, corr. pro Cacula.

Caldutera, Gl. pro Caudatura, M.

Calebra, æ, f. Gl. A troop of horſe.

Calecantum; n. Gl. A kind of earth like ſalt, of a binding nature. Puto pro Chalcanthum; Vitriol.

Caleptra; f. Gl. pro Calyptra.

Cales; m. Gloſſ. A Stove.

Caletarius; m. A carrier of wood.

Caletra; f. Gloſſ. A Waſps neſt.

Calicula; f. Iſid. pro Caligula.

Calidi equi; Gl. Horſes with white foreheads.

Calidris; Geſn. A kind of Hern.

Calilæ; f. pl. Gl. Cups uſed in ſacrifice. pro Calillæ, à Calix.

Calira, æ; f. Gloſſ. A ſheep.

Calius; καὶ ὁ Θεὸς, τέρμα, Gl. Aſbet.

Callicreon; n. Stup. The ſweet-bread.

Callielæa, Ruell. olea ſativa.

Callis, is; f. Gl. A fig dryed in the Sun.

Calliſta, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Province.

Callorus; malitioſus, Iſid.

Calmitro, as, Gl. To glean after the reapers.

Calmus, a, um; Gloſſ. Dear.

Calpæ; f. pl. Gl. Souldiers bracelets.

Calpes, is; f. Gl. κάλπη. An helmet.

Calpitur; Gloſſ. pro Calvitur.

Caltulum; n. Gl. A Bier for the dead.

Caltus, a, um; ἄγνος, Gloſſ. i. ἁγνὸς. Unknown. M. leg. Caſtus, ἁγνός.

Calvāni; Cerd. Bald Kites.

Camăra; f. Gl. A vault under ground.

Camaria; f. Gl. An Arch of a building.

Camarica, æ; f. Gloſſ. A ſhip.

Camaris; m. Gl. A Bull unyoked.

Camaſus; Iſid. amphimallus.

Camax; Gl. An oar or rudder.

Cambitas; f. Gl. An exchanging.

Cambus, a, um; Gl. καμπὸς. Crooked.

Cambuta; Cerd. pedum Epiſcopale.

Came; Gloſſ. A kind of ſerpent.

Camedrios; Gl. pro Chamædrys.

Camelaucum & Camelaugum; Cerd. παρὰ τὸ ἑλαύνειν τὸ κῶμα, quòd prohibeat calorem. καυσία. A kind of Cap, which the Popes ſometimes wear in Proceſſion.

Camelia, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Ship.

Camer; Gloſſ. A Lion.

Cameſton; n. Gl. A thiſtle.

Camina, æ; f. Gl. A ſhort bed.

Camis; Gloſſ. Wood.

Camium; n. Cerd. pro Cambium.

Campometator; m. Gl. A Quarter-maſter.

Campſa, æ; f. Gloſſ. pro Capſa.

Campſarius; m. Gl. A Cheſt-maker.

Camus, a, um; Gloſſ. Crooked.

Canaplura; Gl. vel Canaptura, λυχναφία. Candle-lighting. M. leg. Cœnæ hora. Alſo getting of fire by matches, &c. Scal.

Canava; camca (fort. camera) poſt cœnaculum, Gl. Iſid.

Cancello, ōnis; m. Gloſſ. A water-conduit.

Cancĕro, as; Cerd. To ſpread a thing abroad like a canker.

Cancrina, æ; f. Gl. A precious ſtone of the colour of a Crab-fiſh.

Candes, is; f. Gl. κάνδυς. A Royal robe.

Candes; pl. Gl. Earthen veſſels.

Candidatrix; f. Cerd. A Laundreſs.

Canella, æ; f. Offic. Caſſia or Cinnamon rind.

Canictes; Gl. id. quod Canicæ.

Caniculata. The herb Henbane.

Canier levo; Gl. Iſid. Canis leno, M.

Caniger; Gl. He that attends on the ſtage with a crooked ſtaff in his hand.

Canonia, æ. A Canonſhip or Prebend.

Canonia; n. pl. The tranſoms in a ſhip, whereon the hatches are made.

Cantabries; Gl. vet. Dandriff.

Canterinum; Gl. pro Cantherium.

Canterium; Gl. A Smiths inſtrument.

Canthelius; Cerd. A water-veſſel.

Cantulla, æ; Cerd. An ornament of gold or ſilver.

Canutus, a, um; Gl. id. quod Canus.

Capa

Capa, æ; f. Cath. pro Cappa.
Capana, vel Capanna; f. Iſid. quiâ capit unum. A little cottage.
Caparcus; Iſid. ἀρτοκόπος. A Baker.
Capapellis; f. Cath. An hood.
Capes, is; f. Gloſſ. An houſe deſcending from anceſtors.
Capetolius; m. Gloſſ. December.
Capetum; Cerd. ex Heſ. Provender.
Capi; n. ind. Cath. A kind of meaſure.
Capialis; adj. Gl. Crafty at catch.
Capidinarius, a, um; Gl. Voluntary, that offers himſelf.
Capieni milites; Gl. They which were next to the Standard.
Capitilavium; n. Iſid. Palm-Sunday, on which childrens heads were waſhed againſt Eaſter, when they were baptized.
Capitulare; n. Iſid. A cap.
Caplum; à capiendo, Iſid. fort. à כבל. A cord or rope.
Capreas; m. Gl. The month April.
Caprella; f. Gl. id. quod Capella.
Capreus; m. Vet. Voc. A wild goat.
Caprizo, as. To leap like a goat, to caper.
Capſellum; Gl. pro Capſella.
Capſum; n. Cerd. The breadth of a Church betwixt the windows.
Capteutula; captio, Gl. Iſid.
Captigenæ; c. g. Gl. Born of captives.
Caputium, ii; n. Vid. Capitium.
Caquilus, i; m. Gloſſ. An Eagle.
Carabolus, m. Gloſſ. A kind of wood to make maſts for ſhips.
Caracutium; Gl. An high waggon.
Caraxatura; f. Cerd. A daſhing out with a pen. à χαράσσω, ξω.
Caraxere; Gloſſ. proſcribere.
Carbonium; n. Gloſſ. The ſmoaking or ſtinking of a cole-fire.
Carchequius; m. Coop. A kind of frogs with yellow ſpots on their bellies.
Carcula, æ; f. Gloſſ. pro Caruncula.
Cardelus; Gl. id. quod Aſtragaliſmus.
Cardinatus; m. Gloſſ. The chief man in a rank.
Cardonettum; Off. A kind of thiſtle.
Carena; f. Gl. A Quarantain.
Carenſis; Gl. A baker of fleſh.
Carinarius, ii; m. A kennel-raker.
Cariſa, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Bean.
Cariſcus, ci; m. Gl. A little Fly.
Cariſtium; n. Gl. A green marble.
Carix; Iſid. pro Carex. Sedge.
Carna; n. pl. Gloſſ. Holes.
Carnalium; Gl. id. quod Carnarium.
Carnicula; Gl. dim. à Caro, carnis.
Carobe, es; f. Off. lat. Siliqua. The carob-tree or fruit.
Carpagus; m. Gl. A baker of fleſh.
Carpeſium; Offic. Cubebs.
Carpies; Gloſſ. Filthy wooll.
Carpus, a, um; Gloſſ. Wary, wiſe.
Carra; n. pl. Gloſſ. Holes.
Carrio; divido, Iſid.
Cars, carnis; Gl. id. quod Caro.
Carticula; f. Gl. A little ſupper.
Carvi agreſte, Offic. Wild Caraways or wild Chervil.
Caſale; n. Gl. Ground with a land-mark: alſo a ſhed.
Caſana; f. Gl. The covering of a ſhip.
Caſcabus; m. Gloſſ. pro Cacabus.
Caſcunia, æ; f. Gloſſ. A beating.
Caſer; m. Gloſſ. An old man. pro Caſnar Oſcorum.
Caſiola, æ; f. Iſid. A Prieſts upper Veſt, a Surplice. pro Camiſiola.
Caſona; f. Gl. Iſid. A womans bodkin. Vid. Cnaſon.
Caſſilago; f. Matth. Henbane.
Caſtaldia; f. Zas. A government.
Caſtaldus; m. Zas. A Steward or Bailiff.
Caſtifer; qui flagellum portat, Gl. Iſid.
Caſtitium; Cerd. A little ſhed.
Caſtrangula; f. Offic. Broom-wort.
Caſtrifer; flagellifer, Gloſſ.
Caſula; f. Cerd. quòd caſæ inſtar totum hominem tegat. A kind of Prieſts garment; a riding-cloak, Gl.
* Catabăſis; f. καταβασις. A deſcent.
* Catachyſmăta, um; n. pl. Coop. Figs, Nuts or Dates poured upon new ſervants or Brides heads among the Athenians, in token of good luck.
* Catacriſis; f. κατάκρισις, condemnatio.
* Catagmaticum emplaſtrum; à κάταγμα oſſis fractura. A plaiſter to cloſe broken bones.
* Catalepſis, is; f. Jun. κατάληψις. A diſeaſe or ſeizure of the brain with dryneſs and cold, making the body ſtiff and the eyes to ſtare.
* Catapaſma, ătis; n. A powder or dry medicine applied to a wound or ſore.
* Cataphŏra; f. Stup. καταφορά. A deep or dead ſleep.
* Cataptōſis; f. Stup. κατάπληξις. A diſeaſe like the falling-ſickneſs.
* Cathæreticum medicamentum. A medicine to eat off proud fleſh on ſores.
Catillus; m. Gl. A table to write on.
* Catŏche, es; f. A kind of drowſie diſtemper, when one ſleeps waking.
Caucalium; n. Jun. A drinking-glaſs. Vid. Baucalium.
Caucalus; m. Gl. A pain in the veins of the back proceeding of heat: alſo a ſervant, Cerd.
Caucula; Gloſſ. Little leaves.
Caucus; Cerd. Caucatus, Iſid. A kind of veſſel.
Caudicæ; f. pl. Gl. Canoes.
Cavernum, i; n. Gloſſ. A den.
Caulacus, i; m. Iſid. A weight of ten drams.
Cauledon; Gl. The breaking of a bone length-wiſe.
Cavoneæ; f. pl. Gl. Sweet junkets or Apothecaries ſtuff.
Caupilus; navicula brevis, Gl.
Caupolus; Gloſſ. idem.
Cauſama, æ; f. Gloſſ. The ſwelling of the ſea.
Cauſativus, a, um; Gl. Quarrellous.
Cauſima; gr. Coop. Stuff apt to burn.
Cauſus, a, um; Gloſſ. burning or belonging to fire.
Cauta, æ; f. Off. Dogs Camomile.
Cautos; ſacerdos, Gloſſ. Iſid.
Cautum; n. Gloſſ. A bar or ſtop.
Cautumnæ; citanæ, Gl. Iſid. ubi B. Vulc. leg. Lautumiæ, ciſternæ. Meurſ. Citenæ, catunæ. Eſt a. catuna, tentorium, ſarcina. Cautumiæ; cidinæ vel cædinæ, Cerd. i. ergaſtula, ubi cautes ſive cotes excindebant damnati.
Cecterea; f. Auct. lim. A round pit made for a land-mark.
Cecuma; f. Gloſſ. id. quod Cicuma.
Celænia; f. Gl. A yoke of oxen.
Cellaromarium, ταμιεῖον, Gl. ubi B. Vulc. legit Cenar, omarium, i. aumarium, corr. pro armarium. A Safe or Cupboard.
Celphi; R. ex Solin. Wild beaſts in Ethiopia, with legs and feet like mens.
Cemas; Ælian. καμμάς. A Goat.
Cembri; Dod. A kind of Pine-tree.
Cemeliarcha; Cerd. pro Cimeliarchus.
Cemelion; Cerd. pro Cimelium.
Cenchrus; Gl. κέγχρος. Millet.
Centrix, icis; f. A whore.
Centummorbia; f. Off. Herb Two-penny, Money-wort.
Ceparius panis; Gl. pro Cibarius.
* Cephalocruſtes; m. gr. Cal. A worm breeding in the leaves of a Peach-tree.
Ceracula; f. Gl. id. quod Cera.
Ceragium, ii; n. A Bake-houſe.
Ceragius; m. Cath. A paſteler.
Ceraniæ uvæ; Iſid. Grapes as red as fire.
Cereagius; m. Cath. qui ceræ inſtar agit ſive ducit paſtam. A Baker.
Cerealium, ii; n. A Pantry.
Cerebra, æ; f. voluntas, Gloſſ.
Cerefolium; n. Off. Chervil.
Cererouſus, Δημητρόλωπος, Gl.
Cerficula, æ; m. Gloſſ. A fool, a dotterel.
Cerialum; n. Gl. A binn for bread.
Cernida, æ; f. Cath. A ſieve.
Ceromata; n. pl. Cerd. Candleſticks.
Certamino, as; Gloſſ. To ſtrive.
Certhia, æ; Geſn. A Wood-pecker.
Cervica, æ; f. Cath. A buffet or blow on the neck.
Cervicatus, a, um; Gl. Stiff-necked.
Ceſpix; Gloſſ. A ſhrub or carot.
Ceſſioſus; qui ſæpè cedit, Gl. Iſid.
Ceſſius, a, um; Gloſſ. Unconſtant to mind any thing.
Ceſtra, æ; f. Gl. κέστρα. A battle-ax, a Pole-ax: alſo a kind of fiſh.
Ceſyphum; Coop. A kind of Gumm.
Ceurio; linio, Gloſſ.
Ceutorizo; Gl. To colour or draw.
* Chalcaſpis; Cerd. χάλκασπις, ſcutum habens æneum.
* Chalceutice, es; f. Cal. χαλκευτική, æraria officina.
Chalcophthongus, Scal. A precious ſtone.
Chalcum; n. Gl. A kind of Emerald.
Chamæoniæ, Cerd. cubationes humi; à gr. χαμαιεῶναι.
* Chamæpyxos, Ger. Dwarf Box-tree.
* Chamulci; Mi. χαμυλκοί. Engines to draw ſhips to the ſhore.
Chanona; Gl. A tart, march-pane, &c.
Charadra, æ; f. Coop. A chink or cleft.
Charantia; f. Off. The Balm-apple.
Charomardarius; m. A Gunner.
Chartuarius, a, um; Gl. Of paper.
Charzania, Cerd. Thongs, whips.
Chaſdias, Cerd. A horſe-cloth.
* Chelidon, Jun. χελιδών. A Swallow: alſo the hollowneſs of the hoof.
Chelidoniacus gladius, Iſid. A ſword with two points, forked like a Swallows tail.
Chelvia, Geſn. A kind of fiſh.
Chenicida, Stup. An inſtrument, wherewith Surgeons cut broken ſkuls.
Cheria, æ; f. Ruell. Wild Radiſh.
Cherinum oleum. Oyl of Violets.
Chermes, Scal. A ſickle. חרמש.
* Cherotrophium; n. χειροτρόφειον. A Hoſpital of Widows, as at Greenwich.
Cherva; Offic. The herb Palma Chriſti.
Cheruchii; Gl. Ropes of Ships.
Cheruchus; m. Med. Gr. A vane, or a Flag on the top of a Maſt. Vid. Ceruchus.
Chetina, æ; f. Gorra. An Oak.

Chinades; Gesn. A kind of fish.
Chinnus, i; m. Gloss. A writhing of the mouth in mockery, a Grimace.
* Chiremböllum; n. Alc. manûs injectio. A signal, that the Master gives the Mariners to do any thing.
Chiromanica; f. Cerd. An iron manacle, a hand-gyve.
Chirrhæa; f. Gl. Inspiring or breathing.
Chlorocarides; Gesn. A kind of fish.
* Chlorôsis; f. Stup. The Green-sickness.
Chocortis; Off. Hocks or Mallows.
* Choenicion; n. χοινικιον, Celsi. lat. Modiolus. A Surgeons instrument to cut out little bones.
Cholâgo, inis; f. Gaz. A medicine to purge choler.
Chondros, i. χόνδρος. A groat: also a gristle.
* Chorion; n. χωριον. A thin membrane of the brain: also the fourth coat of the eye: also the outmost skin, which incloses the child in the womb.
Chorizo, as; Cerd. To dance in company.
Chrismo, as; Cerd. To anoint.
Christopsaltus; Gesn. A kind of fish.
* Chrysaspides. Knights with gilded shields. χρυσασπιδες.
Chrysoclavus, Cerd. Studded with gold.
Chrysopleutus, Gesn. A kind of fish.
Cia, æ; f. Gesn. A kind of bird.
Cibôtis, idis; Gesn. A kind of fish.
Cibûtum, Isid. κιβωτιον. A chest.
Cicatrizo, as. To cicatrize.
Cicendula, Isid. V. Cicindela.
Cicerbita; f. Jun. A Sow-thistle.
Cichla, æ; f. gr. Gesn. A kind of fish.
Cicinia; f. Isid. A kind of serpent.
Cicis; Gl. A gall or oak-apple.
Ciclus; m. Cerd. The ring of a chain.
Ciconeum; n. Gloss. A Crane to draw up water.
Cicuus, a, um; Gloss. Courteous.
Cignitus, ûs; m. Cath. vox cygni.
Cilio; Gl. A kind of iron tool.
Cimacium; n. Gloss. A crown.
Cimædia; Isid. pro Cinædia.
Cimicia, æ; f. Isid. A kind of herb.
Cimile, is; n. Cath. A basin or ewer.
Cimiterium, Cerd. V. Cœmeterium.
Cinctufix; Gl. A kind of images.
Cindator; Gl. A cogger or inchanter.
Cinetus; m. Gl. The thickest of clouds.
Cingillus, i; m. Gl. A stomacher.
Cinnifio, ônis; ornamentum mortuorum, Gloss.
Cino, is, ĕre; Gl. κινω. To move.
Cionnes; Gl. Isid. σαυλοφώνια.
Ciras; Gl. A Launce-man.
Circellum; n. Gl. pro Circellus.
Circiæ; f. Gl. The Sun-beams.
Circinator; m. A basket-bearer.
Circio; pars inter Aquilonem & Occidentem, Gl. Isid.
Circion, ii; n. Langue de beuf.
Circito, as; Gl. κυκλεω. To compass.
Circitura; f. Gl. A compass.
Circopaticus; m. pro Cercopithecus.
Circopus, i; m. unguentarius.
Circumactalis, le; Gl. Easily turned about.
Circumlâtor; m. περιφορεύς, Gl. The Zodiack that carries about the twelve Signs.
Ciron; Gloss. A botch or boil.
Cirrhis, Gesn. A kind of fish.
Cirræa, æ; f. Dod. A Mandrake.
Cirsum; n. Gloss. A chariot.
Cisер; n. Rice, a kind of pulse.
Citaxus; similis taxo, Isid.
Citicula; instr. medicum, in quo circumducto collyria resolvuntur, Isid.
Citocatia vel Citocatium; Isid. A purging herb.
Citro, onis; m. Ost. A Pome-citron.
Citta, æ; f. κίττα. A womans longing.
Civico, as; Gl. To play the Citizen.
Civitaculum, i; n. A little City.
Civito, as; Gl. To make a Citizen.
Clabula, æ; f. pro Clavola.
Clanculè; adv. Gl. Closely, privily.
Clanculo, as; Gl. To keep close.
Clanea; f. Gl. A kind of Scythian gemm of a skie colour, with spots like gold.
Clanga; f. Gesn. A bald Buzzard.
Claredo; Gloss. pro Claritudo.
Clavecimbălum, i; n. The Virginals or Claricords.
Clavosûm; inæquale, Isid. qu. clavis plenum. M. leg. Clivosum.
Clausôn, Cerd. pro Causon.
* Clematites; gr. Saracens herb.
Clenodium, Cerd. A jewel or ear-ring.
Clepstre, is; n. A clyster.
Clericitas & Clerimonia. Clerkship, the office of a Clergy-man.
Clibanicus vel Clibaniceus, a, um; Isid. Of an oven or fornace.
Clientia, æ; f. Gloss. The betaking ones self into anothers protection.
Clinodarius, ii; m. A Jeweller.
Clinopĕgus; Jun. A Bed-stead-maker.
Clisura; clausura, Gloss.
Cliventia; Gl. Rashness, giddiness.
Clivior, us; nobilior, Isid.
Cloax; Gl. A vault under ground.
Clocca; campana, Cerd. A clock.
Cloppus; Gl. χωλοπους. Lame.
Clues; m. Gloss. A thumb.
Cluis; nobilis, Gloss. à Clue.
Clunar; n. Gl. The husk of barley.
Clunaticus; Gloss. A fault-finder.
Clunium; n. A little cough.
Clusa; f. Cerd. A valley.
Clusiii; Coop. Spirits of the air.
Clypeola; f. Gl. A cowl or ring.
Cnios; tortiones indecentes, Isid.
Cnips; κνιψ. A worm and fly breeding in the blisters of Elm-leaves.
Coaspides; Gl. A precious stone of a green colour mixt with gold.
Coccalus, Coop. A Pine-apple.
Cociniglia, æ; f. Cochinel.
Codra, æ; f. Gloss. pro Quadra.
Cœnovectorium, ii; n. A wheel-barrow to carry out dung.
Colatum; n. Isid. A wine-vessel.
Colchicum; n. Jun. κολχικον. Dogsbane, dogs-stones or meadow Saffron.
Colcis; Gl. A false counterfeit colour.
Colema; n. Gl. Vid. Ceroma.
Colena; f. Gl. An herb like Organy.
Colimbus; m. Gl. A conduit-pipe.
Colimphæ; f. pl. Gl. Ships.
Coliria; f. Gloss. A swelling or kernel in the thigh.
Colirida; f. Gl. pro Collyrida.
Colitor; dominus fundi, Gl. Isid.
Colleurina, æ; f. A Culverin, a piece of ordnance.
Colliani; publicani vel impii, Isid. fort. Collybarii.
Collicinus; m. A dogs collar.
Collifana, πεῖσματα ἱερεῖα, Gl.
Collimbris; f. Coop. A Didapper.
Collito, as; Gl. To place on an hill.
Collones; Gloss. Great Ships or vessels for Colonies.
Colobôma, atis; n. Stup. κολόβωμα. A maim in the body, or lack of any member.
Colostis; Gloss. A kind of herb.
Columellus, i; m. A Bears tusk.
Colurnum; Gloss. The Cornel-tree.
Colybdena; f. Gesn. A kind of fish.
Colybum; Gl. A kind of painting.
Colymbæna; Gesn. A kind of fish.
Comissa; f. Gl. A shot or reckoning.
Commisculus, a, um; Gloss. Mixt.
Commissator; m. Gloss. A brawler.
Commulcium; n. The wale or blew mark of a stripe.
Compassum, i; n. διαβήτης. A Compass, a dyal.
Compescatio, onis; f. Gloss. A good carriage of a mans life.
Componista, æ; m. μουσικός. A Musician that composes or sets songs and lessons.
Computista, æ; m. An Accountant.
Conchilĕgus; Gloss. That gathers cockles or shells.
Conchlearius; Gloss. A kind of stone, spongy but hard.
Conclasso, as; Gl. To joyn Ships together in a Navy: also to cast together.
Conclavia, æ; f. Gloss. The joyning of chambers together.
Concleatius, Isid. V. Conchlearius.
Concula, Isid. A measure of a dram and half.
Concus, ûtis; f. Salm. à Concutio. The Slay of a Loom, that strikes the cloth thick.
Condatores; Συνταλεῶται, Gl. They which are of the same mysteries.
Condiloma; n. An Acorn as big as a little Nut.
Condo, ônis; m. Cath. A Sword-player, a Master of Fence.
Conducius, ii; f. A Warden-tree.
Condum, i; n. Gloss. A cup or pot.
Confica, æ; f. Gl. The low Pine.
Confirma, æ; f. Jun. Comfrey.
Confixum, i; n. Gloss. A Stage.
Congio, is, ire; Isid. To gather together, to augment.
Coniosis; Coop. pro Commosis.
Conplurinum; n. Gl. A tabernacle. rect. Conpluvium, A pent-house.
Conscotinus; m. Cerd. A fellow in the dark.
Continellum, i; n. A sweeting.
Contiquia, æ; f. imbrium collectio; qu. continens aquam, Cath.
Contopæctes; Cerd. A kind of sport.
Contumia, æ; f. Isid. V. Contumelia.
Copoli; m. pl. Lipsi. Coble-boats.
Coprophôrus; m. Jun. A Jakei-farmer, or ridder of privies.
Copsus, a, um; Gloss. Plentiful.
Coquimella, æ; f. Isid. A Codling-tree.
Coragium; Gloss. V. Choragium.
Coranus; m. Gesn. A kind of fish.
Corbimus vel Corbinus, MS. One with a double beard.
Corcholipis; corr. pro Cercolips.
Corclavia, æ; f. A privy cellar.
Cordapsus; Coop. Vid. Chordapsus.
Coredulus, Isid. Vid. Corydalus.
Corianus; Alex. ab Alex. A Ring, which women wore on their fore-finger.
Corigia; f. Coop. Vid. Corrigia.
Corinthias; m. Gloss. A marble of divers colours, of Corinth.
Corinthus; corr. pro Corytus.

Corna,

Corna, æ; f. Gloſſ. Harveſt.
Cornificus; Gl. A Lanthorn-maker.
Cotniſtites; Cerd. qui ad cornua hoſtium circumdanda conſtituuntur.
Cornugraphium; μελανδοχεῖον. An ink-horn.
Corriceum; Turneb. The place, where girls were wont to exerciſe themſelves.
Corſalvium; n. Offic. Sage.
Corulus; m. Gl. A womans fillet.
Coryllion; Pall. A kind of bird.
Coſcinomantia; f. κοσκινομαντεία, Poll. divinatio per cribrum.
Coſmarcha, æ; m. κοσμάρχης, Chryſ. mundi princeps. The Devil.
Coſmiaticum; Cerd. Hire for poſt-horſes.
Coſmus, i; m. κόσμος. The world: alſo a poſt-horſe, Cerd.
Coſtri; m. pl. Gl. The King-bees.
Coſtrus vel Caſtrus, i; m. The General of a Camp.
Coſtuma, æ; f. Cerd. Cuſtom.
Cotiarius; m. Gl. ἀκονητής. A grinder or whetter of knives.
Cotina, æ; f. Gl. corr. pro Cothona, à κώθων, in Acc. κώθωνα. A cup.
Cotonaria; f. Chaff-wort, Cud-wort.
Cotonia, æ; f. Alph. A quarry of flint.
Cotus, Gloſſ. κότος. Anger.
Covălus; m. κόβαλος, qu. κακόβαλος. An hobgoblin or evil ſpirit.
Coxigo, as; Gloſſ. To be lame.
Coxoſus, a, um; Gl. Frantick, mad.
Coxus, a, um; Becm. Lame, bipſhot.
Crango, inis; Gaz. κράγις. A kind of Shrimp or Prawn.
Caſſimentum; Vid. Craſſamentum.
Crea, æ; f. Gaza. The ſhin.
Crebrifarius, & Crebrifurus; m. Cath. A place haunted with thieves.
Creditarius; m. Cath. A Councellor, a Chamberlain.
* Cremathra, æ; f. κρεμαθρα. A Cheeſe-rack, a hanging-ſhelf.
Creminium; n. Gloſſ. A ſacrifice.
Cremutium; n. Iſid. ὁλόκαυστον. A whole burnt-offering.
Crepulus; m. Gl. A paſhing ſhower.
Crex; f. κρέξ, Ariſt. A Baker-hen.
Cricellia; n. pl. Cerd. circelli.
Crimnoides urina; κριμνώδης οὖρον, cujus ſedimenta ſpeciem furfuris referunt.
Crinoſitas; f. R. ex Suet. Hairineſs.
Criſpinus; m. Off. The Holy-thorn-tree.
* Crithiaſis; f. Veterin. κριθίασις, hordeatio. Foundering or ſurfeiting in an horſe.
Croſſia; fimbria, Cerd.
Crumelius, Cerd. A kind of boil'd meat.
Cruppa; κρίλλος πυγὴ, Gl. funis denſus.
Cruſticulus; m. Gl. crurum tumor.
Cryſendites, Iſid. V. Chryſendetus.
* Cteniatrus, tri; m. κτηνίατρος, mulomedicus, veterinarius. A horſe-doctor, a Leech.
Cuba; f. Cerd. ex Hier. A ciſtern: alſo the utmoſt part of the Ship, that lyes upon the water.
Cubio, ōnis; m. Cath. maſculus.
Cucuba, æ; f. An Owl, a Scritch-owl.
Cucula; f. Off. A cap for the head, to ſtop rheum.
Cucurba, æ; f. Iſid. A cable-rope.
Cucurma; Off. A large ruſh or cane.
Cucurnum; n. Gloſſ. A hunting ſhoe: alſo a kind of breeches.
Cucurum; n. Cerd. A quiver.
Cudes, is; f. Gloſſ. A ſtithy.
Culbitio; f. Gl. The Strangury.
Culbo, is, ĕre; Gloſſ. To be troubled with the Strangury.
Culicii panes, Coop. Great loaves of brown bread.
Culicilega, æ; f. Gaz. κωνωπολόγος. A Water-wag-tail.
Culla, æ; f. corr. pro Cuculla.
Culmino, as; Gloſſ. To arrive at the top; to come to the Meridian.
Culmites, Cath. divites, qui ſibi divitias accumulant.
Culpullula; Cath. parva culpula.
Culto, as; freq. Gl. To till often.
Cumaſus; m. Gl. A thick garment.
Cuniculina, Cerd. A little Coney.
Cunifer; Gloſſ. Vid. Conifer.
Cupillum; n. Gl. κυπελλίδιον. à gr. κύπελλον. A little cup, a taſter.
Cupiæ; f. pl. Iſid. Braces in building.
Cuppes; Gloſſ. corr. pro Cupes.
Curcilla; oppilago, Gl. Iſid. A ſtoppage.
Curcio, ōnis; m. Gl. A Viper.
Curcuba, æ; f. Iſid. A Ship-rope.
Currodrepănus, Anon. currus falcatus, à δρέπανον falx.
Currŭco, as. To lye with another mans wife, to make him a cuckold.
Currulis equus, τετράλατος ἵππος, δεσμὸς, Gl. A Poſt-horſe.
Curruſta, æ; f. Gloſſ. A covering or monument.
Curſa; præda, incurſio, Cerd.
Curtolini, Cerd. pro Cohortalini.
Cuſo, is, ĕre; Gl. βάπτω, qu. Conſuo.
Cuſpus, i; m. Gl. ξύλινος. A wooden ſhoo, a patten, a ſlabo.
Cuſus, i; m. Gl. corr. pro Coſſus.
Cutella; f. A wheal, pimple, bliſter.
Cuturnium; corr. pro Gutturnium.
Cymbalium; n. Mountain-Penywort.
Cynaſonas; Coop. Vid. Cnaſon.
* Cynobotane, es; f. Dod. A kind of Camomil, Dogs herb.
Cyragricus, Cerd. Vid. Chiragricus.
Cyribia; n. pl. Coop. Chaff of wheat or barley.
Cyrites panis, Coop. Fine bread.
Cyrſerum, i; n. Coop. A great Ship or Carrack.
Cyſtiohithi, Coop. Stones growing in ſponges, good for the bladder.
Cytonium, Offic. Vid. Cydonium.
Cytrago, Coop. Vid. Citrago.
Cyttărus, i; m. Coop. κύτταρος. The top of the Welkin; an hole in an honey-comb: alſo an huſk of corn.

D.

Dædăla, æ; f. Coop. A bow or ſtick to play upon a Viol with.
Dalum; n. M. qu. δῆλον, manifeſtum. The Miſen-maſt ſail.
Danace; gr. A piece of money put into the mouth of the dead to pay Charon's fare withal.
Danae, es; f. Jun. δάφνη Ἀλεξανδρεία. Tongue-laurel.
* Daniſma; n. Coop. Uſury.
Dapeo, es; Gl. To make brave cheer.
Dapus, i; Gloſſ. A great banket.
Daunus; δάφνη, Gloſſ. A fool.
Deamena, Gl. dea menſtruorum.
Decentrix; navis compta, Cath.
Decibilis, le; Iſid. Decent, comely.
Decret, Gloſſ. pro Decernit.
Decretiſta, æ; m. A Student in the Decretals.
Decubis; adj. Gloſſ. One who lyes from his bedfellow.
Decudes; Gloſſ. pro Decures.
Deficiſcor; Gloſſ. pro Defetiſcor.
Defluxum; Gloſſ. pro Defruſtum.
Deguit; Cerd. à Dego. Hath lived.
Deïvidum, genus fidelium; Cerd.
Delātus; adv. cum Acc. Innoc. By or On the ſide of.
Deliăcus, i; m. A guelder of Cocks.
Delicatudo, inis; f. Daintineſs.
Delicioſus, a, um. Delicious.
Delicuum; n. πλεῖσμα, Gloſſ. An offenſe. Vid. Deliquum.
Demetria; f. Baſe or ſlat Vervain.
Demulcia, æ; f. Gloſſ. collectio è multis. A choice.
* Dendromalache, es; f. δενδρομαλάχη. Great Mirſh-mallow.
* Dendrophori; m. pl. Jun. Carriers or ſellers of wood.
Dentaria, æ; f. Tooth-wort.
Denundino, as; Iſid. To blaze abroad a thing, to cry it at Market-croſs.
Deorcalis; Gloſſ. A kind of beaſt.
Depago; Gl. Iſid. defecto vel tranſigo.
Depalo, as; Gl. To make manifeſt.
Depanno, as. To tear or unclothe.
Depario, as; Cerd. idem.
Depluvium; Gl. A fall or ſpout of rain.
Delinator, ἀβούλητος, Gl. One who is fain to leave off for want of help.
* Definophylax; m. A Keeper of a Gaol.
Deſocio, as; Cerd. pro Diſſocio.
Deſpereo, Calv. pro D ſpereo.
Deſpota; m. Cerd. δεσπότης, dominus, præfectus.
Deſpotati, Cerd.. Chirurgeons.
Deſtrico, as; Iſid. conſumo, conſummo.
Deſtrigo, as; Cerd. To make an end of piſſing, as a horſe doth.
Deus caballinus, Matth. Sylv. The herb Henbane.
Dextræ; f. pl. Iſid. Bracelets.
Diabat'cum, i; n. διαβατικόν. Toll paid by Merchants for paſſage.
Diaconiſſa; f. Cerd. A Deaconneſs.
* Diadoſis; f. διάδοσις. Diſtribution; digeſtion.
Diamas, antis; m. A Diamond.
* Diaphonia; f. Iſid. Diſcord of ſound.
* Diaphorēſis; f. Stup. διαφόρησις. Tranſpiration.
Diaſcordium; n. A medicine made of Scordium. Δια præp. quamplurimis aliis herbis, &c. adjungitur, in eundem modum.
Dictarium; Gl. A leſſon or ſpeech.
Dida, æ; f. יְדִידָה. A dud or teat.
Didymus; δίδυμος. A twin.
Dieticus, a, um; Cath. Daily, regular.
Dietim, Diatim; adv. Cath. Daily.
Difficulto, as; Gloſſ. To make hard and difficult.
Diffido, as; M. To bid defiance.
Diffiſciſcit, diſſolvitur, Cerd.
Diffugela, æ; f. Gloſſ. A refuge, ſhelter or place to fly to.
Digitabulum; n. Jun. A thimble.
Digito, as; Gl. To finger; to point with the finger, δακτυλοδεικτέω.
Dignitoſus, a, um; Cerd. dignitate plenus.
* Dimyxos; δίμυξος. A candle with two wieks; a lamp with two lights; a candleſtick with two ſockets.
Dinodium, ſign. donaria omnia, & res ſacras, Cerd.
Dionyſia, æ; f. Coop. Ivy.

Diplthĕra,

Diphthĕra, æ ; f. M. διφθέρα. A Sheep-skin pell.

* Diptĕrus, a, um ; δίπτερος. That hath two wings, or two rows of pillars.

Dircæon ; n. Sleepy Night-shade.

Dirimo, as ; Gloss. To seek narrowly.

Disceptim ; adv. Gloss. Plainly.

Discoliasmus, Hug. Fox to thy hole.

Discretorium. A Council-chamber.

Discubitorium ; Gl. A Bed-chamber.

Disgruo, is, ere ; Cath. To disagree.

Dismembro, as ; Cerd. To dismember.

Dispescatis, decoratis, Cerd.

Dissĕdo, as ; Gloss. To appease.

Dissum, ἀκίρωτον. Gl. A bit, a morsel.

Divellio, ōnis ; f. Gl. πόλεμος. War. rect. pro Duellio, πολέμιος. An enemy.

Diversiclinis, e. Diversly declined.

Diversiclinium. A place with several wayes and turnings.

Diversifico, as. To diversifie.

Diversitium ; n. A strange intent.

Diversoriarius ; Gl. An Inn-keeper.

Divinaculum ; n. Gl. An Oracle.

Divinallo, is ; Gloss. To divine.

Divitissimus, ditissimus, Cerd.

Divolares, i. Diobolares, δισβόλοι, Gl. Common paltry whores.

Diurnata ; f. Cerd. A dayes journey.

Diūto, as ; βραδύνω, Gloss. To while, prolong or defer.

Doctilus, i ; m. A deceitful servant.

Doga, æ ; m. Gl. βάκτης. A Neat-herd.

Domesticor ; Gl. To keep at home.

Domicus, a, um ; Gloss. Of or belonging to the house.

Dominicădius, Cerd. οἰκοδεσπότης.

Dominicale, is ; n. Cerd. A linnen glove, which women used, when they received the Sacrament.

Dominicum ; n. Gl. The demain of the Lord ; a Church, an Assembly.

Domitatio ; f. Gloss. A going home.

Domnula ; f. Gloss. A little Lady.

Donacitis ; f. Our Ladies thistle.

Doriphăgus, i ; m. A manch-present.

Dorsūgo, ĭnis ; f. The pith or marrow of the back-bone.

Dosinus, a, um ; Isid. Of Ass-colour.

Dracona ; f. Gloss. A disease in the eye-lids.

* Dragma, ătis ; n. δράγμα, manipulus. A gripe or handful.

Dragomenus vel Dragumanus, M. תרגמן Chald. interpres. A truchman, an Interpreter.

Drappi ; m. pl. Cerd. Woollen cloaths. Hinc Angl. A Drapper.

* Dropacista, æ ; m. Gl. He that takes away hair, and makes the body smooth.

* Drosolithus, Isid. A stone that sweats at the fire.

Drudus, i ; m. Cerd. A servant.

Dryimus, Coop. rect. Dryismus, δρυισμός. A venomous worm in the root of an Oak.

Ducilla, æ ; f. Cath. A little Duchess : also a tap or spiggot.

Ducillus, i ; m. dim. Cath. A little Duke : also an hour-glass.

Dulcisida, Dod. The herb Piony.

Dulensis ; m. Cath. A servant.

Duodēna, æ ; f. A Quest or Jury.

Dupia, æ ; f. Gl. A kind of vessel.

Duribuccus vel Duribucius, Cerd. That will not open his jaws.

Dursa, æ ; f. A bound, meer or mark.

* Dyscrasia, æ ; f. Stup. δυσκρασία. Ill temper of body.

Dysgargălis equus, Cæl. A skittish horse.

* Dyspepsia ; δυσπεψία. Ill digestion.

E.

Ebeo, æs. To unbleste. ἀπομεθύω.

Ebiculum, li ; n. The back of a knife.

Ecardia, æ ; f. A kind of Amber, with the figure of an Heart in it.

Ecbŏla & Ecvola ; n. pl. Cerd. Things rejected, as of no use.

Eccola, æ ; f. Gesn. A pearl muscle.

Echi ; m. pl. Coop. Little valleys or dales between two hills.

Ecius, ii ; m. Gloss. A kind of herb.

Ecors ; adj. Gl. Faint-hearted, cowardly.

Ecpetăla, Coop. Wide large cups.

Ecphractĭcum medicamentum, Jun. gr. A medicine to open the pores.

* Ecphraxis ; Stup. The opening of the pores.

* Ectomias, æ ; m. Jun. ἐκτομίας. That hath his stones cut out.

* Ectylōticum medic. Jun. An ointment to take away the hardness of the skin.

Eda, basterna ; al. exedra, Cerd.

Edaculum ; n. A short commons.

Edentabulum, li ; n. Gloss. An instrument to pull out teeth.

Edesius lapis, Isid. A stone, which Painters use to grind colours on.

Ediculum, li ; n. Scholars commons.

Edone, Gesn. piscis. V. Adonis.

Educarius, Gl. τροφεύς. A bringer up.

Edulus ; m. Gloss. A great eater.

Effamino, as. To blaze out as fire.

Effatio ; f. verb. Gorth. Belching or breaking of wind.

Effulgescentia, Cerd. The falling-sickness.

Effundus, a, um. Turned up out of the bottom.

Egeator, hortator navis, Gl. Isid. à mari Ægeo : rect. Ageator, ab Agea.

Egesco, is ; inc. Gl. To grow in want.

Eglenterium, Jun. Eglantine.

Egones, Gl. Isid. Country Parsons. rect. Ægones, ab αἴξ capra.

Ejunat, νηστεύει, Gloss. l. Jejunat.

Elbolæuvæ, Isid. Vid. Helvolus.

Elbus & Elbidus, Isid. V. Helvus.

Eledona, Gesn. A Pourcontrel fish.

* Eleemosynarchus, i ; m. A Lord Almoner.

* Eleoselinum ; apium palustre.

Elephantiæ, Isid. Serpents, which make people they sting fall into leprosies.

Elicator ; m. Gl. A searcher of springs.

Elicones, Coop. They that turn things upside down.

Elimes, Iris ; c. g. Gl. A banished man.

Eliochrysos ; n. Dod. Gold-flower.

* Ellōbium ; n. ἐλλόβιον. A Pendant or jewel hanging at the ear.

Emembris, bre ; Gl. Out of joint.

Ementum, Gl. Isid. V. Commentum.

Emertio ; f. Gloss. The discharging of a souldier from service.

Emicadium, Isid. An oil-vessel. ἀμιγδάλιον. A half-tub.

Emina, Isid. Vid. Hemina.

Emistis, Isid. corr. pro Amystis.

Emites, Isid. A stone like ivory.

* Emphraxis ; f. A stopping of the pores.

* Emphysēma ; n. A swelling of the guts.

* Emphysma ; n. A swelling of the eye-lids.

Empus ; n. Gloss. An imposthume.

* Empyēsis ; f. Isid. A kind of imposthume.

Emunitas, Cerd. Vid. Immunitas.

* Enarthrōsis ; f. The jointing of one bone within another.

Encænisso ; Gl. Isid. lætor, triumpho.

* Encentris, Jun. ἐγκεντρίς. An iron stirrup ; a bobnail'd shoe ; an ice-spur.

* Enchyta ; n. pl. ἐγχυτα. Medicines or waters dropt into the eye.

Encrasichŏli ; m. pl. M. Anchoves.

Endivia ; f. Jun. σέρις. Endive.

Endopicus, a, um ; Gloss. Laid up within.

Enebra, Gl. id. quod Inebra.

* Energuměnus ; m. ἐνεργούμενος. One possest with an evil spirit.

Engaria, Cerd. pro Angaria.

Englanterium, Offic. Eglantine.

Enidios, Cerd. A kind of stone.

Enigma, Isid. pro Ænigma.

Ennomio, ōnis ; m. Gloss. A Register of Wills.

Enoron ; n. Raging Night-shade.

Entolina, æ ; f. ab ἐντολὴ mandatum. An Ambassador's commission.

Entoridia ; ἐν τῇ μασχάλῃ, Gl. qu. Interidea, ab Interea, ut Postidea à Posted.

Enuo, is ; Gl. χρονίω. To deny.

* Epancōnismus ; m. Scal. A leaning upon ones elbow.

* Ependytes, m. Cerd. An upper garment.

Eperingium, ii ; n. Dodder. scrib. & Epibatum, & Epilinum.

Ephestites ; m. Gl. A stone, which shews ones face, like a glass.

* Ephetinda, æ ; f. ἐφετίνδα. A play with tossing of a ball.

* Epialis ; f. gr. curruca. A pinnock, titling or hedge-sparrow.

* Epibathra. The ladder that goes up to the top-castle of the ship.

Epicaustorium ; n. A loover or tunnel in the roof to let out smoak.

Epistellium, Cerd. A cover of a stool.

Epistatorium ; n. Gl. A place for the bearing of business.

Epithetes ; m. Isid. ἐπιθέτης, impostor. A cheat, a deceiver.

Epotorium ; n. A Tavern or Ale-house.

Epuloticum medic. ἐπουλωτικὸν. A skinning medicine.

Equipastor, Gl. A horse-keeper.

Equistatium ; n. Gl. A stable.

Erineus ; ἐρινεὸς. A wild fig-tree.

Ermiscion, Isid. A kind of Crystal.

Erythranon, Barth. A kind of Ivy.

Escarus ; m. Isid. piscis, qui solus escam ruminat.

Esophorium. A shirt or waste-coat.

Ethrōnus, i ; m. officiperda. A Jack out of office.

Evalvo, as. To turn out of doors.

Euce, Gl. The lowing of kine.

* Euchyla & Euchyma ; n. plur. Meats of good juice.

* Eucrasia ; f. A good temper.

Euforbia, Gloss. Vid. Euphorbia.

Eugepæ ; εὖγε παῖ. Ho brave boy.

Evidentalis, le ; Cerd. Evident.

Evīscus ; corr. pro Hibiscus.

Eulalia, æ ; f. Eras. An honest woman of her tongue.

Exacro, as ; Gl. id. quod Expio.

Exagella, trutina, Cerd.

Exarchiatrus ; m. Calv. One who hath been Physician in Ordinary.

Exartuo, as. To carve or quarter.

Excalculari. To loose a check-mate.

Excarno, as ; Cerd. To excarnate ; to take away the flesh.

Excellare ; cum uxore esse ; Gl. Isid.

Excerebrosus, Gloss. Brain-sick.

Excipium, ii ; n. A hunting-pole.

Excivito, as. To disfranchise.

Excubitum,

Excubitum, παννύχις, Gloſſ. A night-guard.
Excudides, dis. A ſwingle-tree.
Exculpo, as. To clear of fault.
* Exegēſis; f. An Expoſition.
* Exegeticus, a, um; explanatorius.
Exemplifico, as. To exemplifie.
Exenium; ſervitium, donum, Cerd.
Exercipes; adj. Gl. Light of foot.
Exercitalis, Calv. A ſouldier, a vaſſal, a tenant.
Exfavillo, as; Gl. To rake in aſhes.
Exhomologēſis; f. Iſid. ἐξομολόγησις. A confeſſion.
Exhonōro, as; Cerd. To diſhonour.
Exhypniſtes; m. Meurſ. ἐξυπνιστὴς. An Officer, that wakened people, that ſlept at Church.
Exillare; i. eſſe cum uxore, Iſid.
Exilta, Cerd. A crew of vagrants.
Exormiſton, Caſſiod. A Lamprey.
Exoſſio, as; Gl. Vid. Exoſſo.
Expartus, a, um; Gl. Iſid. Without a part: expers.
Expolia, Iſid. id. quod Spolia.
Expopinor, aris; Gloſſ. To ſpend all at Taverns and Ale-houſes.
Expudoratus, Iſid. Paſt ſhame.
Expurgia; f. Offic. *Wood-*ſpurge.
Extēlo, as; Gl. To free one from danger, to keep him out of gun-ſhot.
Extergimentarium, Gloſſ. ἐκμαγεῖον. A towel.
Exterris, Iſid. id. quod Extorris.
Exteſtinus, a, um; Gl. A ſtranger.
Extraculus; foris verſus, Cerd.
Extroneus; extremus, Cerd.
Extuberarius, a, um. Envious.
Exubus; pinguedo, Gl. Iſid.
Exupera, æ; f. Upright Vervain.
Exuſitatè; adv. Gl. Out of uſe.
Exuſticus, a, um; Calv. Branded.
Exuvis; f. A mandilion or jacket.

F.

Fabaria, æ; f. Orpine or Live-long.
Fabarſi; m. pl. Gl. They that eat parched beans.
Fabatrum, κόκκος, Gloſſ.
Fabea, æ; f. Gloſſ. A little girl, that begins to ſpeak.
Fabeus, i; m. Gloſſ. A young boy beginning to ſpeak.
Fabiolum; Dioſc. White Poppy.
Fabricia, æ; f. A Bean-cake.
Fabularius; m. Gloſſ. A tale-bearer.
Fabulonia, æ; f. Henbane.
Facella; dim. Cerd. A little torch.
Facialis; f. Cerd. A handkercher.
Facillatio; f. Hig. A ſtrangling.
Facillator; m. Gl. A ſtrangler.
Facillo, as; Gl. qu. Faucillo, à Faux. To ſtrangle or choak.
Facitergium; n. Iſid. A napkin to wipe the face.
Facŭla; f. pl. Ptol. Charles wain.
Faginetum; n. A grove of Beeches.
Fagoria; f. Gloſſ. A woman-cook.
Faida, vindicta mortis, Cerd.
Falanga; f. Gl. A club with an iron head.
Falangarius; m. A porter of burdens.
Falangeoſis; f. Gloſſ. A diſeaſe about the eyes.
Falcaſter & Falcaſtrum, Iſid. A ſickle to cut briers.
Faleræ, φάλαρα. Horſe-trappings.
Fallus, Cerd. φαλλὸς, penis.
Fāmen; n. φάμη, Onom. Speech.
Famicida, æ; c. g. A ſlanderer.
Fanon, Cerd. A clout at the end of a pole, an Enſign or colours.
Farinaria, æ; f. Cerd. A mill.
Fariolus, Gloſſ. pro Hariolus.
Farſa, æ; f. Gl. A pudding, a farſe.
Farus, Iſid. id. quod Pharus.
Faſcennina, Gl. A trench about a camp.
Faſcina, Cerd.
Fatio; corr. pro Titio.
Favillus, i; m. A candle-ſnuffer.
Faunicus, a, um; Gl. Wild, rude.
Feida, Calv. War, a feud.
Felax, cis; f. Gloſſ. A Cat.
Fellebris & Fellibris, bre; Gl. Iſid. That lives upon milk, or by ſucking.
Fellibilis, le; Gl. Subtle, deceitful.
Fellium; n. Gloſſ. A kind of Muſical inſtrument.
Feltrum; n. φίλτρον. A felt.
Femellarius; Gl. Iſ. A lover of women.
Fenſus, iratus; Gl. Iſid. à Fendo.
Feodum; n. idem quod Feudum.
Ferifĕrus, a, um. Mad as a wild beaſt.
Feriocaulum. A Bier for the dead.
Ferlingum; n. A furlong; the eighth part of an Acre.
Fero, ōnis; m. A meſſenger.
Ferrigor, aris; Gloſſ. To be hewed with an ax.
Ferumen; n. Gl. An offence, a reproach.
Fervonum; n. A caldron or chaffern.
Fervorium; n. idem.
Feſcennina, Gl. Iſ. A trench about a camp.
Feſcenninæ; f. pl. Lullabies; ſongs that women uſe, when they rock the cradle.
Feſſo, as; Gloſſ. To be out of tune.
Feſtalis, le; Gloſſ. Feſtival.
Feſtinitas; f. Gloſſ. Speed, haſte.
Feudum taliatum. An Intail.
Fibria, æ; f. Gloſſ. A gate or door.
Ficetula, æ; f. Gloſſ. A little fig.
Ficōnes; m. pl. Pier. ἀνδρες σύκινοι. Fellows good for nought.
Fictricula, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Witch.
Fidiculizo, as. To play on the Gittern.
Fidunculus, a, um; Gloſſ. Truſty.
Fiendus, Cerd. pro Faciendus.
Filatiſta, æ; m. A ſpinner.
Filatrix; f. A Seamſtreſs.
Filumina & Filumnia, Gl. φιλυμνία. A ſweet-heart.
Fimbriatrix; f. A Seamſtreſs.
Finctus, Iſid. part. à Fingo.
Fingæ & Fingix, Geſn. A kind of Apes.
Fingites, Iſid. Vid. Phengites.
Fiſcalium, Gl. The Kings Checker.
Flabarius, Gl. Iſid. A fly-flapper.
Flabella, æ; f. A fly-flap.
Flaber; m. Cerd. ex Iſid. A puff; an empty fellow, that nothing but talks.
Flagra, æ; f. Gloſſ. μάστιξ. A whip or ſcourge.
Flagurrio, is. Flagurrit, ρίγει, Gl. fort. Flagrat, φλέγει, B. Vulc.
Flaſca, æ; f. & Flaſco, ōnis; m. φλάσκη & φλάσκων. A flask or flagon of wine.
Flaſcaria, æ; f. Agric. Faintneſs.
Floccinus, ni; m. A flake of ſnow.
Flogites, Iſid. Vid. Phlagites.
Flomos, Iſid. φλόμος. Torch-herb.
Flores, is; adj. Gl. Green, freſh, luſty.
Florio, is; Gl. id. quod Floreo.
Floſcellum, Gl. A little flower.
Flueſco, is; inc. Gl. To begin to flow.
Fluſculus, Gloſſ. pro Floſculus.
Fluvia, æ; f. Gl. id. quod Fluvius.
Focaris, Gl. A ſtone ſtriking fire.
Focatius panis, Gl. i. foco coctus, Iſid. ἐγκρύφιος ἄρτος. Brown bread.
Focile majus, Radius; minus, Ulna.
Foculare; n. ἐγκαύιον. A chimney, a grate to make a fire in.
Foderatus, ſuffultus; Cerd.
Fodrum; n. Calv. fodder; pabulum.
Fœmellarius; m. Gl. An Apple-ſquire, a Pimp or Pander.
Fœneus, a, um; Gl. Poor, out of credit.
Fœtuitus, a, um; Gl. Engendred.
Folleſco, is; incep. Gl. To ſwell or bag: alſo to turn ſoul.
Follex, Gloſſ. id. quod Follis.
Follitia, æ; f. Pride, folly.
Follus, i; m. A Smiths budget for nails.
Folonitia, vanitas; Gl. Iſid.
Foraculum; n. Gl. τόρετρον. A wimble, augur or piercer.
Foralis, Gl. id. quod Forenſis.
Foraria & Foratica. A market-woman.
Foraſticus, a, um; Cerd. qui foris eſt.
Forbannum; n. Calv. A baniſhing.
Forco, ōnis; m. Gloſſ. An hogs gut or pudding, an haggaſs.
Foreſtarius; m. Cerd. A foreſter.
Foreſtum & Foreſte. A foreſt.
Formaſtra, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Bakers kneading-trough.
Formata, æ; f. Gloſſ. A letter of commendation.
Formella, æ; f. A little cheeſe.
Formia, æ; f. Cerd. A farm.
Formicoleon; m. Iſid. A little beaſt, that preys upon Pismires.
Formipedia; f. A Shoo-makers laſt.
Fornex, icis; f. à πόρνη, vel à fornix, quæ ſtat in fornice. A whore.
Fortex, Nebriſ. The white beneath the leaf of a Roſe.
Fortia, æ; f. Cerd. Force.
Fōrula, æ; f. dim. Sugēn. A wicket.
Fraccillum; n. A mortar to pound ſpice.
Fractillum; n. Gl. Iſid. A peſtle.
Fragana; m. Gloſſ. A Spirit, that ſteals children.
Fragitides; f. pl. Vid. Sphagitides.
Fragraſco, is; Cerd. inc. à Fragro.
Fragus, curvatio genuum; Gl. Iſid.
Framen; n. Gl. The Strawberry-root.
Franciſſo, Francizo. To ſpeak French.
Frangibulum, Pap. A Bakers brake.
Frangula, æ; f. Matth. An Alder-tree, or Butchers-prick-tree.
Fratillum, C. Muſtineſs of a dunghill.
Fratriſſa, Iſid. id. quod Fratria.
Fratruelis; ἀδελφιδῆς. A brothers child, a couſin german.
Fraxillus. A pepper or muſtard-mill.
Frea; f. Gl. A free woman, a frow.
Fremium; n. A kind of herb: alſo a flat or ſhallow, Scal.
Fremmus; Gl. φυαγή. A ſigh.
Frenuſculus, Iſid. A ſore in the mouth, like that which a bridle makes in an horſes mouth.
Fretor, ōris; m. Gl. The ſmell of wine.
Fribolum, i; n. A ſeparation of man and wife by conſent.
Fribolus, a, um; Iſid. V. Frivolus.
Friccillum, i; n. A dunghill.
Frictilla, æ; f. A fritter.
Fictorium; n. A frying-pan.
Frigana; Gl. Stubble. φρύγανα.
Frigulo, as. To chatter, as a Jay doth.
Friſchinga; f. Cerd. A great porkit.
Fritillum, i; n. Iſid. A pepper-mill: alſo the dropping of dung: alſo id. quod Fritillus.

Frontaria; n. pl. frontures.
Frocellum; n. Gl. A pug or basket.
Frugionia, Scal. pro Phrygiana.
Fronso, is; Gloss. To nail.
Frunga, frequens; Gloss.
Fu, Isid. A kind of herb. Vid. Phu.
Fuco, ōnis; m. Gl. A flatterer.
Fugillator; m. A bug-bear.
Fugillo, as. To strike fire.
Fugillus; m. M. A steel to strike fire.
Fugitas; f. Gl. A running away.
Fulcralia, ōrum ornamenta, Isid.
Fulgitores; m. Gloss. See flayers.
Fuma, æ; f. A woman-cook.
Fumaridus, ii; m. A scullion.
Fundanus & Fundarius; m. A husbandman, a yeoman.
Fundulum. A kind of pudding or gut.
Fungia; f. A kind of fish, of bread, of stone.
Funxiæ; f. pl. Gloss. The Furies.
Furabula; n. pl. Gl. Isid. Thieves corners, or lurking holes.
Furcillo, ōnis; m. Gl. A greedy gut, a glutton.
Furcillo, as. To hang on a gibbet.
Furco, ōnis; m. A knife used in sacrifice.
Furfuraculum; n. Gl. A darkness.
Furfurio; m. A bird that feeds on bran.
Furnicus, a, um; C. Arched, vaulted.
Fusanum; n. & Fusaria; f. Spindle-tree, privet-timber.
Fuscans, μαγκας, Gl. A mad man.
Fusionaticum vel Fusionalitium; ἀλιστικὸν, Gl. A caldron to melt metals in.
Fustanum vel Fustagnum; lana in fusse, i. ligno nascens. ἐρίξυλον. fustian, cotton.

G.

Gabares, mortuorum, condita corpora; Gl. Hisd. scrib. & Galbares, qu. Calvares; vel à קבר sepulcrum, Cerd. vel à גויה Vir. Dead bodies imbalmed. Vid. Gabbara.
Gabea; f. Gl. corr. pro Gavia.
Gaberna, arca; Gl. Il. pro Caverna.
Gabia, æ; f. Gloss. pro Cavea.
Gadium, Cerd. pro Vadium. A pledge or earnest.
Galanga; f. Galingale: Cyperus.
Galantes, serantes, Gloss.
Galbæ, Lutat. Gram. V. Calbeæ.
Galbarus, a, um; Gl. Foetish, sottish, barbarous: Scrib. & Gabarus.
Galbus, χλωρὸς, Gl. sort. pro Gilvus.
Galega, æ; f. Italian vetch, Goats rue.
Galeria, æ; f. Cerd. A gallery.
Galerium; n. Isid. A hat made of the skin of a beast sacrificed.
Gales; Gl. id. quod Glos, γλὼς.
Galesco, is, ere; Gloss. To rejoyce.
Galeus, Jun. γαλεὸς, mustela piscis.
Gallaria, æ; f. Coop. A Lamprey.
Galleria, Pap. A Factor.
Gallicula; n. Gl. The green shells of Wall-nuts.
Gallinaceus; m. Gl. A chicken.
Gallinum; n. Gloss. Hens milk.
Gallochus; m. Hug. A galloche, a patten or wooden shoe.
Galum, li; Gl. The green sperme.
Galvus, a, um; Gloss. Green.
Gambara, æ; f. A Bishops crosier.
Gamenon, Isid. gr. The month July: corr. puto pro Gamelion.
Gammadrus; à גמד, cubitus. A Pygmy.

Ganeps; m. Gl. id. quod Ganeo.
Gannatura, æ; f. Gl. Mimical gesticulation; filthy gain, Cerd.
Ganno, as; Gloss. To jeer or fleer.
Garba; f. pl. Gl. Sheaves of corn.
Garsio, ōnis; m. Cerd. A key; in French Un garson.
Garyophyllata; The herb Avens.
Gasachius vel Gasachio; Cerd. An adversary.
Gasindus; m. Cerd. A servant.
Gastra & Gastrum, Gl. Anab. A brass vessel with a big belly.
Gattus, i; m. Cerd. A cat.
Gaveisco, is; Gl. To be glad or rejoyce.
Gavido, is; Gloss. idem.
Gaurito, as; Gl. idem, à γαυρόω.
Gaustatus, endromis; Gloss.
Gazetum; Isid. A kind of drink.
Gelatria, æ; f. Gl. A gem like hail.
Gelatina; f. Coop. A kind of sauce.
Geldonia; f. Cerd. A Guild or Company.
Geldus; m. Gl. Saxonice ȝeld. Cerd. lat. Lucar. A kind of coyn.
Gello, baucalis; Isid. A jill, a drinking-glass.
Gelonitis; f. Gl. A purple gem.
Gemellio, urceolus, ampulla; Cerd.
Genesidium, Gloss. γονοσιδιον.
Gengibia; f. Gl. corr. pro Gingiva.
Geniare, decorare; Cerd.
Geniosus, a, um; Gloss. ὀργίλος.
Genisicula, æ; f. Gl. A Weasil.
Genobardum, i; n. A Cats beard.
Gentia; c. g. Gl. A kinsman or woman.
Genuale; n. Gloss. A garter.
Gerranea; n. pl. Gl. Toyes, trifles.
Gersa, æ; f. A blacking greast.
Gesali, Cerd. A sort of Lanaticks, that used to whip themselves publickly.
Gestatius; m. A mess of meat.
Gignis; f. Gl. A woman: à γυνὴ.
Gilerus; m. Gl. A cocks-comb.
Gingla, Gl. A rising under the ears.
Gingrum; n. Gl. The canking of a Goose.
Gingula; f. Gloss. The Gum.
Gipsum; n. Isid. A stone like lime.
Glabis, be; Gloss. id. quod Glober.
Gladium; n. Gl. id. quod Gladius.
Glogulus; m. Gl. An olive kernel.
Glama; f. Gl. The running or wapping of the eyes: à gr. γλαμὸς Glandia, æ; f. Gloss. An inflammation in the nose.
Glandion, Gl. A writhing of the sinews or arteries.
Glando, inis; f. Gl. An Acorn.
Glanga, æ; f. Gloss. A flame.
Glaris; m. Gloss. A squinting fellow.
Glauciolus; m. A horse with a wall-eye.
Gleatus; m. Gloss. Glew.
Glebo, ōnis; m. Gl. A plow-jobber.
Glecon; γλήκων. Penny-royal.
Glesida; f. Gl. The herb Piony.
Glirius, a, um; Gloss. Drowsie.
Glix; m. Gloss. A kind of fish.
Glo, sine pilo; Gloss.
Globas; f. Gl. A joyning together.
Glocido, as; Gl. pro Glocito.
Glodiatus, ūs, c, Gl. V. Glocidatus.
Glomera, æ; f. Gl. id. quod Glomus.
Glomerum; n. A Shepherds cloak.
Glomicellum, n. Glomicellus, m. Cath. A little claw or bottom.
Glora terra, Gl. A stony ground.
Glumea; f. Gloss. The Nightingale.
Glumo, as; Gl. To flea or thresh out.

Glumulum, Cerd. A rust of corn-stalks.
Glus, tis; singultus, Gl. Sobbing.
Glutto, as; Gl. id. quod Gloeio.
*Gnaphalon; n. γναφαλον. Hackle or shearings of cloth.
Gnaritur, Gloss. It is known.
Gnaruro, as; Gl. γνωρίζω. To know.
Gnato, as; Gl. To beget children.
Gnidium granum. Pepper of the mount.
Gnosimachus; m. Cerd. A fighter against learning.
Gnot, Gl. pro Gnovit. He knows.
Gnotus, ūs; m. Gloss. Knowledge.
Goa, æ; f. An Indian fig-tree.
Gongylium; n. γογγύλιον. A Turnip root: also a Pill in Medicine.
Gongus, a, um; Gl. Resolute: an à γογγὸς.
Gorriones, cum errore sonantes, Cerd.
Gotticus, a, um. Simple; of Gottam.
Gracillo, as. To cackle as a Hen.
Gracula, æ; f. Gl. A she-Daw.
Gradipes, Isid. tarda. A Bastard.
Gradir; n. Gloss. The palm of the hand.
*Grammatocyphon; m. C. γραμματοκύφων. A sorry Scribe, that writes on his knees.
Grandimacula; f. A wide net with great meshes.
Granea; f. Gl. γράνον. Parched corn: also a kind of Olive.
Granificium; n. A maul-making.
Granomastix; Isid. The tree, whereof Mastick comes.
Granomellum; Med. Gr. Grout.
Grasla, æ; f. Gloss. A step.
Graviçors; adj. βαρυκέφαλος. Heavy-hearted.
Gravio vel Graphio; m. Calv. A Judge of the Exchequer.
Gravius; m. An Earl or Governer.
Gredibundus; Gl. Walking to and fro.
Grellus; m. Gloss. A kind of bird.
Gremiale, is; n. An apron or bib.
Gressum, i; n. Gloss. A pace.
Grallio, as; Gl. To search or seek.
Grifus; superbus, cervicosus, Gl.
Grincio, is; Gl. To chatter as a Jay.
Griseæ; vestes pretiosæ ex animalculo Gris factæ, Cerd.
Grisus, a, um. Grizly, hairy.
Griura; f. Gl. The hammer of a clock.
Grizesco, is. To wax gray as hairs.
Grossum vel Grossus. A Quiver.
Grossus, a, um; à Gradus. Gloss.
Gruga; f. Gl. A kind of beast.
Grulida, æ; f. Gloss. A Porcel: puto ab αὐλὸς, τλω αὐλίδα.
Grulli; m. plur. Gloss. Ships.
Grumula, æ; f. Gloss. An heap.
Grusis, ficus; Cerd. pro Grossus.
Grusus, ūs; m. Gloss. A wallet.
Grutaria; bellaria; Cerd.
Guadia, æ; f. A good custom: also a gage or pledge, Vet. Dict.
Guarento, as; vel Guarentizo, Calv. To warrant, or take upon him the garranty.
Guastaldus; m. Calv. A House-keeper to a Court or Manour of the Kings.
Gubellum; Isid. qu. Globellum.
Guber; m. Gloss. pro Gubernator.
Gubernēta, æ; m. Gloss. gr. κυβερνήτης. A Governer.
Gubernio, ōnis; m. Isid. idem.
Gubila, æ; f. gula, Gloss.
Guerra, æ; f. War.
Guidagium; n. Calv. Safe passage, guidage.

Gumphus,

Gumphus, i; m. The hinge of a door.
Guna vel Gumna, Cerd. A cupping-glaſs.
Gundula; f. C. A Gundolo.
Gunna, veſtis pellicea. A gown.
Gurgus, a, um; Gl. γοργὸς. Swift.
Gurpio, is; dimitto, Cerd.
Guttia, æ; f. cucurbita, Gl.
Gutturia, dolor articulorum; Cerd. *The joynt-*gout.
Gutturilla, æ; f. A victualing-houſe, an ale-houſe.
Gutum; n. Gl. qu. χυτὸν. Pottage of peaſe.
Guturnum, i; n. Gloſſ. A veſſel made of a fiſh-ſhell.
Guva; f. Cerd. A big-bellied veſſel.
* Gynæcocratumenus; m. γυναικοκρατούμενος. An obedient husband, that lets his wife wear the breeches.
* Gynæcomanes; m. Gl. γυναικομανὴς. Mad after women.
Gynæcona; f. Cerd. A place in the Church, where women ſate.
Gyrapha; camelopardus, Geſn.
Gyrovagus, in gyrum vagans, Cerd. Wandring round about.

H.

Habenarius, m. Gl. A coach-man.
* Hæmoptoïcus, a, um; Jun. That ſpiteth blood.
Hæmoptyſis; f. Iſid. A ſpitting of blood.
* Hæmorrhagia, æ; f. A burſting forth, or flux of blood.
Halares, Gl. pro Alares. ἱππικὸν τάγμα. Officers of horſe.
Halcito; m. Gloſſ. A kind of Snake.
Halcon; f. Gloſſ. A table of Box.
* Halias, ădos; f. Bayf. ἁλιάς. A Smack, a ſmall Ship or Boat.
Halmiridia; n. Off. Wild Coleworts.
Halon, ōnis; m. Gl. V. Helucus.
Halonicor, aris; Gloſſ. To jeſt or make merry.
Hamedo, Gloſſ. A fiſh that cannot be caught without a hook.
Hara; f. A bird uſed in ſoothſaying.
Harmala; Harmel, Off. Wild Rue.
Harpăga; f. A Coopers Addice.
Harſa; f. Gloſſ. A kind of Ship.
Haſpeum. A lock of wool. V. Hapſus.
Haſpis, idis; f. Coop. Vid. Apſis.
Haſtici ludi. Tilts and tournaments.
Haſtina, æ; f. Gloſſ. A ſpear.
Haſtuſpices, aruſpices; Gloſſ.
Haureax; m. Gl. A wheel or truckle.
Hauſtra; f. A wheel to draw water.
Hebĕtus, a, um; Gl. Dull, blockiſh.
Hebulus; Gloſſ. pro Ebulus.
* Hegumenus, Cerd. An Abbot or Prior.
Hejulo, as; Gloſſ. pro Ejulo.
Helleta; f. Gl. The name of a Star.
Helmus, Jun. Sedge or ſhear-graſs.
Hemero; m. Gloſſ. A ſnatching greedy fellow.
* Hemerocallis; f. A day-Lilly.
Hemionium; n. The herb Hart's-tongue.
Hemoſus, a, um; Gl. Hateful, odious. fort. Hemojus, Cerd.
Herbitium; Iſid. A place where graſs grows.
Herbitum, Iſid. A kind of tree.
Herbuletum. A garden of pot-herbs.
Heremia, Cerd. ἐρημία. A wildeneſs.
Heremitorium, cella aut eccleſia in eremo, Cerd.
Heritudo; f. Gloſſ. Maſterſhip.
Hermolaus. Hedge-ſumitory.
Hertha; f. Earth; alſo a hearth.
Heſychaſta; m. Cerd. An Anchoret.
Hexapeda, æ; f. A fathom.
Hiatula; f. Geſn. A gaping ſhell-fiſh.
Hicta; f. Gl. A Pomgranat ſkin.
Hida; f. A plow-land, a hide of land, one hundred acres.
Hiera picra, Iſid. ἱερὰ πικρά. A bitter compoſition to purge choler.
Higra; f. Coop. A root of pepper.
Hilo; m. Gloſſ. The North-wind.
Himerinus circulus, pro Æquinoctiali, Iſid. ἡμερινός.
Hippagium; n. ἱππαγωγία. A carriage on horſe-back.
Hippagōga; f. Iſid. ἱππαγωγός. A ferry-boat.
Hippia, æ; f. Chickweed.
Hippito, as; Gl. To yawn, gape or gaſp.
Hippoclaſta; n. pl. Cerd. Trenches with ſtakes to overthrow the horſe-men.
Hippothela; f. Coop. ἱππόθηλυ. The foal of an Aſs.
Hira; f. Gl. A dark place, a ſty.
Hircui; m. pl. Gloſſ. Mockers.
Hiſcio, is; Gl. To leave off, to give over.
Hiſcitur, dividitur; Gloſſ.
Hiſpex; m. Gl. A prickle or briſtle.
Hiſtipex. Wood burning in the fire.
Hœdulo, as; Gloſſ. To ſport or play.
Hœlix; m. Gl. The opening of a pipe.
* Holcæ, es; f. Rhemn. Fan. A dram.
* Holochryſus, Cerd. All of gold.
* Holoporphyrus, Iſid. All of purple.
Horciolus; Gl. pro Urceolus.
Hoſa, æ; f. Cerd. A buſkin, a hoſe.
Hoſpitalium & Hoſpitale, Gl. ξενοδοχεῖον. An Hoſpital.
Hoſſimi, ἄρρινες, Onom. qu. οἱ σιμοί. Flat-noſed.
Hoſticolus; m. Gl. He that dwells in the enemies country.
Hubiola; vox Belgica. Hops.
Humerillus; m. A pin that keeps on the wheel to the axle-tree.
Humirubus. The dew-berry bramble.
Huſus, ſi; f. A Hollin-tree.
* Hyaloïdes; ὑαλοειδὴς. One of the coats of the eye, like glaſs.
Hydraſtina; f. Coop. Wild hemp.
Hyperpyron, nummi genus; Cerd.
* Hypnalis, is; Iſid. A kind of Adder, which ſtinging a man cauſeth him to dye ſleeping.
* Hypobolimæus, a, um; ὑποβολιμαῖος, ſubditicius. Counterfeit.
* Hypocharis; f. Swines ſuccory.
* Hypogloſſidia, Coop. Little pills to hold under the tongue.
* Hypothema, baſis, fultura; Gl.

I.

Jactivus, ſine vadimonio; Cerd.
Jallopa. A new kind of medicine.
Jamenum alumen, Offic. Itching powder.
Jantilia; n. plur. Gloſſ. Hard and rough-hewn ſtones.
Iber, ἡμίονος, Gl. vett. A Mule.
Ibrida; Scal. A baſtard. V. Hybris.
* Ichor; m. Stup. ἰχὼρ. The thin gleet of a running ſore.
Ichneſinus. Herb Marjoram.
* Ichthyobŏlus, ἰχθυβόλος. A fiſher.
Idiomĕlum, ἴδιον μέλος. A ſong or hymn for a certain day, as a Carol at Chriſtmaſs.
* Idiopathia, Coop. The proper paſſion of a diſeaſe.
Jeſeminum, Offic. Jeſmin.
Ignaria, æ; f. Jun. A kind of Pigeon.
Ignarius, Iſid. A kind of fire-ſtone.
Igneum ſplendens. White pepper.
Igniculum; n. Hul. A Cenſer.
Ignominis, ne; Gl. ἀνώνυμος. Of no eſteem or repute.
* Ilarcha, æ; m. ἰλάρχης, ab ἴλη turma. A Captain of a troop of horſe.
Illa, æ; f. Gl. ἕλμις. A worm.
Illuminatorium, ii; n. A Font: quòd baptiſmus φωτισμὸς diceretur.
Imbricitur, ὀμβρεῖται, βρέχεται, Gl. fort. Imbre icitur, M.
Imbrumatus; qui faſtidit τὸν βοτάνην, i. cibum. Queaſie ſtomached.
Imbulus, Iſid. qu. Inambulus. A walk.
Imiſinum, Cerd. A kind of garment.
Imitas, atis; f. Cerd. ima pars.
Impanatio; f. A turning into bread.
Impaſſibilis, le; Iſid. ἀπαθὴς. That cannot ſuffer.
Impedatura, æ; f. A footſtep.
Impedia, æ; f. The upper leather of a ſhoo.
Impenno, as. To ſtick with feathers.
Impeteius, βίαιος, M. ex Gloſſ.
Impetigoſus, Gl. pro Impetiginoſus.
Impetratus, a, um; qu. in petrâ fixus. Mortiſied, riveted.
Impigrabilis, le; Gl. Vid. Impiger.
Implagium; n. Iſid. A little net.
Impremia; f. ζωαγρεία, Gl. ab Imprimo. The firſt draught.
Impridiè, Cerd. pro Pridie.
Impuderatus, Cerd. Shameleſs.
Impudoratus, a, um; idem.
Imputribilis, le; Cerd. That will not rot: hinc Imputribilitas & Imputribiliter, Id.
Inbreviatus, Cerd. in breve relatus.
Incapito; Gl. incepto, ἐπιχειρέω.
Incarneus, i. ſine carne, Cerd.
Incaſtratura; f. Cath. A mortiſe.
Incauſterium; n. An ink-horn.
Incippo, as; Cerd. To incloſe.
Incluſarium. A pound or pinfold.
Incomo, is. To tumble and diſorder.
Incontinenti, Cerd. Incontinently.
Incoprio, as; Iſid. To ſcoff and jeſt.
Incūdo, ōnis; m. A Smith that works on an Anvil.
Indenteminus, Cerd. corruptè pro Integerrimus.
Indetribilis, le; Cerd. That cannot be worn out.
Indiculus, i; m. Cerd. A letter without a ſeal.
Indocibilis, le; Gl. Vid. Indocilis.
Indorſo, as. To put upon his back; to indorſe.
Indubiæ; Gl. Iſid. pro Induviæ.
Indubies; Gl. Iſid. id. quod Inducias.
Indubio; adv. Without doubt.
Induforus; Senatus in foro verſans.
Indupero, impero; Gloſſ.
Inexformabilis, le; Cerd. That cannot be formed or pictured.
Infandificus, a, um; Gloſſ. That doth things not to be named.
Infaria, Gl. Iſid. Infatua, Cerd. non fatua, vel fandi impotens.
Infenditor, defenſor; Gloſſ.
Inferilis, le; Gloſſ. Under ground.
Infertor; m. ab Infero. παρεισάκτης. One that brings in meat, and ſets it on the table.
Infertum vinum, Iſid. Wine offered at the ſhrine.
Infeſtuco, as; Cerd. To drive away.

Infirmarius; m. Cerd. One that looks to sick people.
Infranare; f. pl. Gl. The moustaches.
Ingeniositas; f. Gl. Wittiness.
Inger; pro Ingere, Gloss.
Inglubies, κτοδαρμὸς, Gloss.
Ingramino, as; Isid. To grow grassie.
Ingrano, as. To carry in corn.
Ingrustia, æ; f. M. ab In & Grustus, i. grossus. A poison'd fig.
Ingustatus, a, um; Gl. πτερυμβ. Bursten-bellied.
Inhibæ aves; Isid. Vid. Inebræ.
Iniclaris, ἀπίθηρος, Gloss.
Inini, incubi; Isid. ab Ineo. Vid. Inuus in Prop.
Inirascentia, Cerd. ἀοργησία.
Initia, æ; f. Cerd. A point or ribband to lace a coat to the breast.
Initor, oris; m. A Stallion.
Innox, innocuus; Cerd.
Inoppidatus, fine oppido; Gloss.
Inproperatus, Gl. Slow, not swift.
Inquiritus, Gloss. Not sought for.
Inrecogitatio, Calv. Unadvisedness.
Inrisibilis, Gl. That cannot laugh.
Inrisus, a, um; Gl. Without laughter.
Inrosus, a, um; Gl. Ungnawed.
Inrumpibilis, le; Gloss. ἄρρηκ. Not to be broken.
Insalus, a, um; Gl. Vid. Insulsus.
Insanctus, a, um; Gloss. Unholy.
Insapiens; Gloss. Vid. Insipiens.
Insectabilis, le; Gloss. Not to be followed.
Insectis, εἰς ἰγγὸς, Gl. Hard by.
Insessum, i; n. A kind of bum or bait.
Insæto, as. To bristle a Shoe-makers thread.
Insollicitus, ἀμέμπτ., Gl. Careless.
Insudus, a, um; Gl. id. quod Sudus.
Insummo, as; τελῶ, Onom. ut Consummo.
Intamino, as; Gloss. To defile.
Intæga, æ; f. A carpet for a table.
Intercapulum, Gl. pro Interscapulum.
Interdiè; adv. Gloss. The middle of the day.
Interfines, μεθόρια, Gloss.
Intermetium; n. Gloss. inter metas. The space between the goules.
Internecida, æ; c. g. Isid. One who forges a false will, and therefore is supposed to have killed the person.
Internecies, ei; f. Isid. Slaughter.
Internicida, Isid. V. Internecida.
Interpondium; n. Gloss. The difference of weight between the buyer and seller.
Interscalare, is; n. A ladder-staff.
Interscapilium & Interscapulum; n. μεταξόνιον, μεσόφρον. The space between the two shoulders.
Intersignum; n. A watch-word.
Intertio, as. To put a thing into a thirds hand, to refer it to him.
Intertius; m. M. An Umpire betwixt both parties.
Intertrigo, as. To gall.
Inthronizo, as; ἐνθρονίζω. To instal or inthrone.
Intimas, ātis; m. A bosome friend.
Intoxico, as. To poison, to intoxicate.
Intripola; f. Isid. An old garment new dress. V. Interpolus.
Introducta, æ; f. She that leads the Bride to the Bridegroom.
Intuburina; f. Gl. id. quod Intubus.
Intudis, is; f. Isid. id. quod Incus.
Inturis, is; f. Jun. Capers for sauce.
Inuber; adj. Dry, small, slender.
Invectivaliter, Cerd. Invectively.
Invilito, as; Gloss. ἀτιμάζω. To make cheap.
Invitro, as. To glaze with glass.
Jobilo, as; id. quod Jubilo.
Joculax; adj. Gloss. Sportful.
Ion; ἶον. A stone of a violet colour.
* Ionthus; m. ἰονθ. A wart or pimple on the face: also the first hairy down on the face.
Iphingia; f. Gl. A kind of precious ston.
* Ipnocausta; m. Gl. ἱπνοκαύστης. A Baker or heater of an oven or stove.
* Isagoge, es; f. εἰσαγωγὴ. An Introduction.
* Ischades; f. pl. ἰσχάδες. Dry figs.
* Ischium; n. ἰσχίον. The huckle-bone.
Isoces; f. Gloss. A kind of fish.
Istega, æ; f. corr. pro Stega.
Istita, æ; f. Gloss. The place about the girdle, the waste.
Ithmoïdes; corr. pro Ethmoïdes.
Itrion; ni Coop. Sweet cake-bread.
Judicarius; m. Gl. He that judgeth.
Judicatorium; n. Gl. δικαστήριον. A judicatory, a place of judgement.
Jugaris, re; Gl. Vid. Jugalis.
Jugeratio; f. Gl. A yoking together.
Jugitus, ûs; m, M. The cry of a Kite.
Jugus, eris; n. A furlong of land.
Julepus, i; m. A julep.
Junculi; m. pl. Junkets; also fresh cheese made on rushes.
Jungla; n. pl. Gl. ἱππικὰ ζευκτικὰ. The roper or traces that couple horses together.
Junis, nòs, Onom. contr. ex Juvenis. Young.
Juscellarius; m. Gl. A maker of broth.
Jusquiamus, Jun. pro Hyoscyamus.
Justidium; Gl. A day of hearing.
Jusum pro Jursum, Cerd. ut susum pro sursum, Var. & id pro Jorsum, i. Deorsum. Downwards.
Juxtangina, æ; f. The Squinancy.
Juxto, as. To be near, to approach.
Ixitis, idis; f. A kind of fish.

K.

Kaii; m. pl. cancelli, Gl. Isid. ab ant. Cavo, as; cohibeo, coerceo, Scal. hinc Angl. a Key.
Kali vel Alkali. Salt-wort.
Keiri, Jun. The Wall-flower, or the Stock-Gilliflower.
Kerva, Jun. The herb Palma Christi.
Kremastra, carnalium; Gl. κρεμάστρα. A Safe or hanging-shelf to put meat on.

L.

Labandago, inis; f. Cerd. An engine or instrument for execution.
Labdacismus; m. Isid. A fault in pronouncing the letter L.
Labdoïdes, Jun. λαβδοειδὲς. One of the sutures or seams of the head, like the Greek letter λ.
Laberna; f. Gl. Isid. à Laverna. A thief or high-way-man.
Labina, æ; f. Isid. Slipperiness.
Labio; m. Isid. qu. Lapio. A dunderhead, a dullard.
* Labrax; m. λάβραξ. A greedy devouring fish.
Labronium; n. A kind of large cup.
Laccea; f. Coop. A Chevin, a fish.
Laccus; m. Gl. λάκκος. A ditch.
Lacebra; f. Cerd. An enticement.
Lacedæmonium; Gl. Green marble.
* Lachanopôla; m. An herb-seller.
Lachanopolium. The herb-market.
Lachar, Gloss. A kind of salve.
* Lacides, um; f. pl. Hul. λακίδες. Cloathes cut, torn or rent.
Lacteris, Pand. Med. Spurge.
Lacteron, Off. Sow-thistle, Hares-lettice, Milk-thistle.
Lactineus, a, um; Cerd. pro Lacteus.
Lactucimen; n. The frost in sucking childrens mouths.
Lacturius, ii; m. A sucking-pig.
Lacunarius; m. Gloss. A ditcher or raker of kennels.
Læmargus; Gl. λαίμαργος. A glutton.
Læviga; f. Gloss. A plainer.
Lagarus, a, um; λαγαρὸς, laxus. Lagari versus, Scal. Such as halt or want somewhat in the middle.
* Lagochilus, Stup. Hare-lipped.
* Lagones, Cerd. λαγόνες, Ilia.
* Lagophthalmus; m. λαγοφθαλμὸς. One who sleeps with his eyes open as Hares do.
Lagunculus; m. Hul. A march-pane.
Lampuca; f. Dod. Hawk-weed.
Landgravius; m. A Landgrave.
Landica, ἰγάδιον, Gl. A landiron.
Laniatorium; n. Gl. κρεωπωλεῖον. A Butchers shop.
Lanicena; idem.
Lanifcus, i; m. A tod of wooll.
Lanistra, Isid. Vid. Lanista.
Lantana; f. The wayfaring tree.
Lanterna; f. Gl. pro Laterna.
Lapadanum, Offic. V. Ladanum.
Lapidicæsor; Gl. A Stone-cutter.
Lapista, æ; f. A trough of stone.
Lapistrus, Isid. id. quod Lapathos.
Lappennæ. Blazing-stars.
Lapsina, æ; f. Gl. A slippery place.
Lapsorium, ii; n. A sliding place.
Larcus; m. Hul. An earth pan for fire.
Larigenus, a, um; Cerd. Born lame.
Larini boves. λαρινοὶ βόες, Scal. Large fat oxen.
Larsus, a, um; Gloss. Skie-coloured or gray.
Lassi; m. pl. Cerd. A kind of vessels.
Lassulata, æ; f. Offic. The herb Coast-Mary or great Balsamine.
batentivôra; c. g. Scal. One that eats in corners; a micher.
Lateritium, ii; m. A brick-floor.
Latipes, Jun. πλατύπους. Broad-footed.
Lavatorium; n. Gloss. λουτρὸν. A bath; a font; a conduit.
Laucus; m. A torch-bearer, Scal. also one that steals children, a Kidnapper.
Lauda vel Laudimia, Calv. A fine given by the new tenant, or at the renewing of a lease.
Laudanæ; f. pl. Cerd. in laudem martyris. Ornaments of gold or silver hung up before the altar.
Laudea; f. Isid. A Laurel.
Laurentum, Gloss. pro Lauretum.
Laureolum; n. A Surgeons instruments to pull bullets, arrows, &c. out of the flesh.
Lauso, as; Vet. Dict. pro Laudo.
Lautrices, Coop. The wives of two brethren.
Laxamina; n. pl. Isid. A horses reins.
Lazulus, i; m. The Azure or Lazul-stone.*
Leccacitas; f. Isid. Riotousness, greediness.
Leccator & Leccatrix, Isid. ab Ital. leccare,

leccare, lingere. A riotous or lickerish person, a lick-sauce.
Lecchi; ind. heb. לֵחִי. The jaw-bone.
* Lecithus; m. λήκυθος, vitellus. The yolk of an egg.
Lectarius; m. κλινοποιὸς, Onom. A bedstead-maker.
Lecticarius; m. A Bearer, that carries forth the dead.
Lectionarium; n. Cerd. A Service-book or Missal.
Lectistitium, statio lecti, Isid.
Lectrum; n. Isid. A Pulpit or reading-Desk, ἀναλογεῖον.
Lectualia; n. pl. Poſſid. Bedding, furniture for a bed.
Lectularius, κλινικὸς. Bedridden.
Ledo, ōnis; s. maris æſtuatio, Isid.
Legia; s. A Pinnace, a swift ship.
Lenunnculus, Isid. pro Lenunculus.
Lemoſus, a, um; Hul. Milck-hearted.
Lemurca, æ; f. Gloſſ. A Viper.
* Lenobātes; m. λινοβάτης. A treader of the wine-preſs.
Lentifolia, æ; f. A wild Roſe.
Lentio, onis; m. qui in luctu convivatur, lentus, mollis; Gloſſ.
Leporina; f. Off. The herb Haresfoot.
* Leptocaryon; n. A filbird.
Leptus, i; m. Coop. λεπτὸν. The weight of a Carat and an half.
Lethea, æ; f. Foppy.
Leuciſcus, i; m. Jun. λευκίσκος. A Muggle or Lump, a river-fiſh.
* Leucōma, ātis; n. Hermol. λεύκωμα. The white of an egg; a web in the eye.
Leucopiper, Offic. White pepper.
Leudes, Cerd. Barons.
Levigabilitas; f. Cerd. A relapſe into a diſeaſe.
Leviſticum; n. Alliſander, Lovage.
Leviton, Cerd. A Surplice.
Levitonarium; n. Hug. idem.
Liæ; f. pl. Iſid. The holes in the tops of the maſts, to receive the ropes.
Libanium; n. Dioſc. Burrage.
Libidinarius; m. A leacherous luſtful perſon.
Libitonarium; Iſid. V. Levitonarium.
Libitudo; f. Cerd. Pleaſure, will.
Librea; f. Alc. A ſuit of apparel.
Librias, Gl. A cake of a pound weight.
Libriſſa, æ; f. A dog-whip.
Librium, Cerd. The boſs or ornament of a helmet.
* Lichanos, Jun. λιχανὸς. The fore-finger.
Licinius, Iſid. qu. Lucinius; imò pro Licbnus, à λύχνος. A candle.
Licius, negotiator; Iſid. à liceor, i. negotior.
Liduna; f. The Neap-tide. & Malina, Scal. The Spring-tide.
Ligantia, æ; f. Cerd. Allegiance.
Ligius; m. Cerd. A liege ſubject.
* Ligma, ātis; n. gr. A Loboch.
Ligneum; n. A hedge of wood; alſo a nut-ſhell.
Lignicidinus, Cerd. A wood-cleaver.
Lignis, Iſid. λυχνὶς. A kind of burning ſtone.
Ligniſeca, æ; m. A wood-cutter.
Ligurinus; m. Jun. A Siskin a bird.
Ligurium; n. Iſid. A kind of pot-herb.
Limāca, æ; f. Pap. An houſe-ſnail.
Limenſis, πυρίτης, Iſid. A ſtone of aſh-colour, good againſt Serpents.
Limentis. A kind of marble to make threſholds.
Linangina; f. Dodder, Withiwind.
Linaria; f. Offic. Toad-flax.
Linifrangibula, æ; f. A brake for flax or hemp.
Linipha, æ; f. Aët. A flax-finch.
Linipidium; n. & Linipes; m. A linnen ſock.
Linipōla; m. Jun. λινοπώλης. A flax-man, or ſeller of flax.
Linodium; n. An heap of flax.
* Linoſtēma; n. Iſid. Linſie woolſie.
Lippidus, a, um; Gl. Bleer-ey'd.
Lipsăna; n. pl. λείψανα. Scraps, orts, leavings.
Liquaminarius; m. Gl. A Chandler: alſo one that ſells pickles.
Liquiritia; f. Offic. Licoriſe.
Liſta, æ; f. Scal. A liſt or line.
Literædus; m. Deſpaut. A ſmatterer in Grammar.
* Lithologēma; n. gr. Coop. A heap of ſtones.
Livies; f. Hul. The meaſels of hogs.
Livoroſus, a, um; Cerd. Envious, ſplenetick.
Lixio, ōnis; m. Gl. Iſid. A water-bearer.
Lixivarium; n. A lucking-ſtock.
Lixivatorium. A lucking-tub.
Lixo, onis; m. A water-bearer.
Lixor, ōris; m. Vet. Voc. idem.
Lochagus; m. Cerd. λοχαγὸς. The Preſident of the company.
Lœbium; n. Jun. A holy oyl veſſel.
* Logēum; n. λογεῖον, Vitr. A pulpit or place on the Stage, where the Muſick and the Chorus ſtood.
Logicon; n. Iſid. λογικὸν, i. Rationale. The High-Prieſts breaſt-plate.
Logion; n. Cæl. The place, where Judges gave ſentence; alſo a book of accounts. λογεῖον.
* Logiſta, æ; m. Jun. λογιστὴς. An accountant.
* Logiſterium; n. λογιστήριον. The Rendezvous, where the army was muſtered and received their pay.
* Logiſtice, es; f. λογιστικὴ. The art of Accounts.
* Logomachia, æ; f. λογομαχία. A quarrel about words.
* Logothēta, æ; m. Cerd. λογοθέτης. A Chancellour or Controller.
Longāle, is; n. An axeltree or chief tree of a chariot.
Loricon, Coop. A mantle.
Lucifera, æ; f. Gloſſ. The Moon.
Ludix, icis; f. A light garment that wreſtlers uſed.
Luſcio, onis; f. Hul. Dimneſs of ſight.
Luſtrus, Gl. Arab. A husbands brother.
* Lychnocaïa, æ; f. Jun. λυχνοκαΐα. Candlemas-day.
* Lychnopœus; m. Jun. λυχνοποιὸς. A Tallow or Wax-Chandler.
* Lycoctŏnon; n. Dioſc. Wolf-bane.
* Lycopodium; n. Offic. A kind of moſs called Wolf-claw.

M.

Macarellus; m. Geſn. A Mackarell.
Macareus; m. Geſn. idem.
* Macariſmi; m. pl. Alſted. μακαρισμοὶ. Hymns to the honour of the Saints.
Macellōta, æ; f. μάκελλα, φεγγίματα, Heſ. A garden-door.
Macera, æ; f. A Butchers ſtall.
Macerio, ōnis; m. A Maſon.
Machil, tunica ſacerdotalis talaris, Iſid. τὸ ἶβυς, ἐπενδύτης. ab heb. מְעִיל palli-um. The High-Prieſts robe.
Machiones; m. pl. Iſid. dict. à machinis, quibus inſiſtunt. Maſons that work upon ſcaffolds.
Macrena; f. Cerd. qu. μακρὰ. An arched Gallery or long Solar.
* Macropterus, a, um; μακρόπτερος. Long-winged.
* Madarōſis; f. μαδάρωσις, glabrities. The falling of the hair.
* Mætrum; n. Jun. μαιωτὴν, à μαῖα obſtetrix. The Midwifes fee.
Magadium; n. μαγάδιον, dim. à μαγὰς. The bridge of a Lute or other inſtrument, that holdeth up the ſtrings.
Magdaleo, onis; m. Jun. μαγδαλία. A long plaſter like a roller.
Magdellium; n. μαγδάλιον. A chamber-pot or piſs-pot.
Magigoſſorus; m. A threſher.
Magnatus, ti; m. Hul. id. quod Magnas.
Magnetis; Jun. The ſtone Ca ſilver.
Malabuſtum, Alc. id. quod Malabathrum.
* Malacticus, a, um; Stup. μαλακτικὸς. Mollifying.
Malatus, Gloſſ. pro Malacus.
Malchio vel Malcio, R. ex Gell. homo inſipidus ut malva, à μαλάχη.
Maldrum, Cerd. A kind of meaſure.
Maleberbis, σκανοπήγιον, Gl. Cyr.
Malleenſis, Cerd. A pleader or lawyer.
Mallis, is. A wild ſwine.
Mallo, as; in jus voco. To implead.
Mallus, i; m. Hotom. A judgement place.
Malogranatum, Iſid. A pomegranat.
Malomellum; n. Iſid. qu. malum melleum. A Sweeting.
Malomellus, i; f. A Sweeting-tree.
Maltana, μαλάκωγον, Gloſſ.
Malvaviſcus. An holli-hock mallow.
Mamburgus, i; m. An Advocate.
Mancoſſus vel Mancoſus, Cerd. qu. manu cuſus. A kind of coin.
Mandalus, κάγκελος. A door-bar.
Mandiburgus; id. quod Mamburgus.
Mandula, pro Mandibula.
Maneries, ei; f. A manner.
Mangānum. A warlike inſtrument.
Maniclavium, Meurſ. A club.
Mannio, is; Cerd. To ſummon; alſo to ſlay, Gl. pro Maneo.
Mannina; f. Cerd. A compoſition made with the adverſary.
Mannitio, onis; f. Cerd. A citation.
Manopera; manūs opera. Handy-work.
Manſer, Freh. ממזר. A baſtard.
Manſula, æ; f. A little cottage.
Mantia, Iſid. μαντεῖα. Divination.
Mantuarius, Gl. pro Manuarius.
Mantum; n. Iſid. μάνδυς. A ſhort cloak coming down no lower than to cover the hands.
Manua, manipulus, Gl. Iſid. δράγμα. An handful.
Manubio, as; Gl. Iſid. To watch, to ſit up all night.
Manubia, iteratio doctrinæ; Gl. Iſid.
Manulus, a, um. Club-fiſted.
Manupiarium; n. A napkin.
Manupletium; Gl. An handful.
Manutentum; n. A walking-ſtaff.
Manutergium; Iſid. χειρόμακτρον. A towel or napkin.
Manutius, a, um; Gl. Iſid. That hath great hands.
Marca & Marcha; f. A mark in money; alſo the marches of a country.
Marchia, æ; f. A county or country.
Mareſchallus; m. A Marſhall.

Mariæ calceolus. Our Ladies ſlipper, an herb.
Marinarius; vauτίκ. A mariner.
Marinella, Jun. Great Set-wall, an herb.
Maritagium. Marriage, wedlock.
Marium; n. Touch-wood.
Marmorella; æ; f. Jun. Agrimony, Liverwort.
Māro, Cerd. A kind of game or play.
Marro, Gorrh. A kind of Cheſnut.
Marſupicida, æ; c. g. A cut-purſe.
Marteobarbulum, Cerd. An Executioners ax or hatchet, a poll-ax.
Marviſia, æ; f. Malmſey.
Maſchāla, æ; f. Coop. An engine to hoiſt packs in and out of ſhips.
Maſchalion, Coop. A kind of basket.
Maſchaliſteres, Cerd. Gorgets.
Maſgidium; μασγίδιον, à ⁊⁊⁊ adorare. A Mosk, a Turkiſh Temple.
Maſpiter, tris; m. A ſasher-in-law.
Maſſarius, ii; m. A Steward.
Maſtimaticus; m. A Soothſayer.
Materſilon. Knap-weed, Mug-wort.
Matricarius, Meurſ. V. Materiarius.
Matrina; f. A God-mother; alſo a mother-in-law, Vet. Voc.
Matriſſo, as. To imitate the mother.
Matriſylva, æ; f. Jun. Woodbine.
Meacula; via per quam meatur.
Melamirus, C. corr. pro Melanurus.
Meleſtris; f. Iſid. A precious ſtone, ſhining as it were thorough pure gold.
Melfrugum, Cerd. The herb white Melilot.
Melica; f. Ger. Turkey millet or birſe.
Melichlōros, Iſid. μελίχλωρος. A ſtone green on one ſide, and yellow like honey on the other.
Melia, æ; f. Iſid. The Lotz-tree.
Mellium, Coop. A dogs collar.
Meloſos, Iſid. A tree in Africk.
Melotius, Iſid. A kind of precious ſtone.
Menalum, Cerd. A kind of dart.
Meneſtra, Jun. Pottage made of cheeſe.
* Menytrum; n. Jun. μυνήτριον. The hire of a guide or ſpy.
Meraria, μυρεῖς, Gl. A wine-taſter.
Mercada; f. M. ex ll. A market.
Mercarius, ii; m. A Mercer.
Mercedarius, Iſid. A giver or taker of wages.
Mercenius, P. M. Marjoram.
Mercularius; m. A Haberdaſher of ſmall wares.
Merepa; f. Geſn. fort. à Merops.
Mergora, æ; f. Gl. Iſid. A bucket.
Mergus, ōris; n. Vet. Voc. idem.
Meroca. A potion to purge the brain.
Merotheca; f. A wine-cellar.
Merothecarius; m. A Vintner.
Meruga; f. A thin skin in the ear.
Merularius; m. A Spar-hawk.
Meſiticum; μεσιτικὸν, à μέσος vulg. forum. Money given for ſtandings in markets.
* Meſonyction; n. Iſid. Midnight.
Meſotropa, æ; f. Cerd. A kind of garment cut in the midſt.
Meſquita, æ; f. A Turkiſh Mosk.
Metabulum, Gl. Iſid. proſpera navigatio, à μεταίρω.
Metallus; m. Iſid. Vid. Metellus.
* Metaphrēnum; n. μετάφρενον. That part of the back againſt the heart.
* Metaptōſis; f. Stup. A change or falling from one diſeaſe to another.
* Metragyrta, æ; m. μητραγύρτης, qui nomine Matris deorum ſtipem colligit.
Metretchyta, Gl. ex μέτρον uterus & ἐγχέω infundo. An inſtrument to convey medicines into the matrice.
Micanculus flos, Ruell. Cockle or field Nigel weed.
Micro; m. Hug. A daſtard or craven.
* Micropterus, a, um. Short-winged.
Milago, Iſid. A fiſh that ſometimes flies above waters, and is a ſign that ſtorms will ceaſe.
Militiſſa, æ; f. A ſouldiers wife.
Milum, Cerd. A coin with the ſtamp of a ſheep; alſo the pummel of a ſword.
Miniculor, aris; Gloſſ. To help.
Miniculum, Gloſſ. pro Adminiculum.
Minicus vel Mincius, Gl. Iſ. A hedge-hog.
Miniſteriarchies; m. Cath. An Arch-Biſhop.
Minnarius, Gl. Iſid. al. Mimarius. A Fool: morio.
Minſabilis, le; Gl. Eaſily piſſed out.
Minſatorium, Gl. A veſſel to piſs in.
Minſito, as; Gl. To piſs often.
Minthorium; n. A groop in ſtables.
Minula, æ; f. Gl. A little part.
Minuo, ōnis; Minuonem citare. To ſavour the voice in ſinging, to break time.
Mioparo, Iſid. pro Myoparo.
Miraculoſus, a, um; Gl. Miraculous.
Miradicus, a, um; Gl. pro Miridicus.
Mircus, i; f. A ſweet-ſmelling tree.
Mirites, Gloſſ. A ſtone of golden colour.
Mirmica; f. Gl. à μύρμηξ. A Piſmire.
Mirmicites, Gloſſ. V. Myrmecites.
Mirra; f. Gloſſ. A kind of colour.
* Miſanthrōpus; m. A man-hater; μισάνθρωπος.
Miſcella, æ; f. Gloſſ. A basket.
Miſcellanum, Gl. A veſſel or diſh.
Miſcipulo, as; Gloſſ. To make a great noiſe or baſe ſound.
Miſipſa; f. An Oſſele or Black-bird.
* Miſogamus, a, um; Hul. μισόγαμος. That hateth marriage.
* Miſogynus, i; m. μισόγυνος. A woman-hater.
Miſſaticus; m. Pap. A meſſenger; alſo a Maſs-Prieſt.
Miſſifico, as. To ſay Maſs.
Miſſorium, Gl. The ſhell of a fiſh, ſerving inſtead of a diſh; μνσίριον, Meurſ. a gift or preſent.
Mititia, æ; f. Meekneſs: it. Miſticia.
Mixa, æ; f. Cerd. The fruit of a tree ſomewhat leſs than a Prune.
* Mixobarbārus, a, um; μιξοβάρβαρος. Mingled of pure language and barbarous.
Mochlia; f. Stup. A bone-ſetting.
Modicitas; f. Gloſſ. Meanneſs.
Moduloſcropus; m. A Pſalm ſung before Sermon.
Mollarius, Gloſſ. μυλωνὸς.
Molina, æ; f. Gloſſ. A water-mill.
Mollīceps; Coop. A Shrink or Nynmurder, a bird.
Molva; f. Bruyer. A ſea-fiſh.
Monembaſites; m. Hul. Malmſey.
Monobandum, Cerd. A banner or enſign held up in time of battel.
Monocoſmum; à κόσμος jumentum, Meurſ. A waggon drawn with one horſe.
* Monodia, æ; f. Jun. μονῳδία. Singing all in one tune; or ones ſinging alone, Iſid.
Monopatium, Cerd. A narrow path for one alone to walk in.
* Monophyllon; n. Ger. An herb of a ſingle leaf.
* Monops; m. Geſn. μόνωψ, bonaſſus.
Montifringilla; f. Coop. A Brambling.
Mopſicus, a, um; Gl. à μύωψ. Mopeeyed, that cannot ſee well.
Mordella, æ; f. Jun. κανθαρὶς. A whelk or blister-fly.
Mordritus, Mordritum. Murder.
Moricetum. A place of Mulberries.
Mormo; μορμώ. A bug-bear.
Morphea; à μορφή. The morphew.
Morſellum, Morſellus. A morſell.
Mortinōla, æ; f. A paſſing-bell.
Moſagia, æ; f. An iſſue of blood.
Moſchetta, æ; f. Jun. A muſk-roſe.
Moſthocaryon, ii; n. A Nutmeg.
Moſtōlus. The Whales guide, a fiſh.
Motenſes, Cerd. Mountebanks or Cheats.
Motum, ti; n. μοτὸν. A tent to put into a wound.
Mozicus, a, um; Iſid. pro Modicus.
Muſa, æ; f. M. Mouldineſs, muſtineſs.
Mugillatio; f. Gloſſ. Slowneſs.
Mugido, as. To bray like an Aſs.
Mulgarium vas, Iſid. A milk-pail.
Mulicurius; m. Gl. A Muletier.
Muliebrum; n. Gloſſ. γυναικεῖον.
Mulocifiarius; m. Gl. A Waggoner.
Mulomedicus; m. Jun. A Farrier.
Multannus, a, um; Gloſſ. Old.
Multarius, ii; m. Cerd. A Sectary.
Multifico, as; Gl. To multiply.
Multiplica; f. Gl. A garment with many plaits.
Multiradix, Off. The leſs Centaury.
Multo, ōnis; m. A fulling or tucking-mill.
Mundium, dominium; Vet. Voc.
Munibles & Munilibes, Cerd. Pillars built on monuments.
Murcinarius, mutilus; Gl. Iſid.
Murifragium, ii; n. A Gunſtone.
Murifragus, i; m. A Gunner.
Murinum, Gl. Piſil. A kind of ſoap made of fig-leaves.
Murio, Cerd. Vid. Morio.
Muriſcilus; m. An idle lubber.
Murmulonicus, Coop. V. Mirmillo.
Murrio, is; Gl. Iſid. To cry like a mouſe.
Murro, as; Gl. Iſid. To murmure.
Muſcellarium. A mouſe-trap or neſt.
Muſcenton, Coop. pro Moſcheuton.
Muſceraneus, Gl. pro Mus araneus.
Muſcetus; m. Jun. A muskat; the male to the Sparhawk.
Muſcidus, a, um; corr. pro Mucidus.
Muſcio, onis; m. Coop. μυιάρπαξ. A mouſe-catcher, a Cat.
Muſcipulor, aris; Iſid. To deceive.
Muſco, onis; m. Vet. Voc. A great fly.
Muſia, æ; f. Gl. Iſid. A mouſe-neſt.
Muſiarius; m. Gloſſ. A rat-catcher.
Muſilæum, Cerd. V. Mauſolæum.
Muſio, ōnis; m. Iſid. A Cat.
Muſitanter; adv. Cerd. Gently.
Muſo, as; Vet. Voc. To know.
Muſſula, Cerd. A kind of herb.
Muſtio, ōnis; m. Iſid. A fly or the like bred in wine.
Muta; f. Meurſ. A Birds cage, a Hawks mew, a Bee-hive.
* Mydriaſis; f. μυδρίασις, dilatatio pupillæ.
* Myrepſus, Gl. μυρεψὸς, unguentarius.
Myrmecetum, ti; n. An Ant-hill.

N.

Nabilum; corr. pro Naulum.
Nacus, Cerd. A loose red cloth to cover the Poper ſaddle.
Nadir. The point under foot, oppoſite to Zenith.

Nago; vacillo, fluctuo, Gl. Isid. qu. à νήχω, fut. 2. νηχῶ.
Nanclex; f. pl. Cerd. pro Naviculæ.
Napium; n. Off. A wild pot-herb.
Napocaulis, Isid. An herb in taste like a Navew.
* Narce, es; f. νάρκη. Gentian, Fell-wort.
Nardificeo, as; fragro, Gloss.
Nario, is; Gloss. To rub ones nose.
Nasatum; n. Pap. Snot, Snivel.
Nastale, is; n. Inn. A clasp or tack.
Nastipades, Coop. Spice-cakes: al. scrib. Nastipanes.
Naticosus, a, um. Great buttocked.
Naucupes, Gl. Isid. Swift-footed: al. leg. Acupes.
Nebda, æ; f. The neb or bill.
Necessuosus, Cerd. Poor, that wants necessaries for life.
Necolatus; stultus, elanguens, Isid.
Necolaus, Cerd. Necoleus, B. Vulc. i. ἄνοος, idem.
Necrologium, Cerd. A register of burials.
Necula, æ; f. dim. An easie death.
Nefrenditium, Isid. A rent paid to the Landlord in swines flesh.
Negocista; m. A huckster or hireling.
Nennus; m. θεῖος. A mothers brother.
Nenuphar, Off. A water-Lilly.
Neogămus, a, um. Newly married.
Neopellum; n. A wharl for a spindle.
Nepita; f. Off. The herb Nep or Catmint.
Netrorsum; fusum, fusile, Gl. Isid. al. leg. Netorium.
Netum, i; n. νῆττα. A nett.
Nibata; qu. Nivata. Snow-water.
Nicteiamen, inis; n. An endeavour.
Nihilitas, atis; f. MS. Nothingness.
Nimiticus; nimius, immanis, Gl. Isid.
Nimmulus; m. Yellow Rattle-grass.
Ninnarius; Gl. Isid. A wittal, a Kinny hornbye.
Niptrum; n. νίπτηρ. A bason, a laver.
Nivitor, χιονίζομαι, Gl. Cyc. To be snowed upon.
Nixè; adv. nunitè, Gloss. Isid.
Noctanter; adv. By night.
Noctianus, Gl. νυκτοφύλαξ. A night-watch.
Noctuabundus. A night-walker.
Nominosus, a, um; Gl. Isid. Famous.
Nomocanon, onis; m. Cerd. A table of Laws and Canons.
Nomodidascălus. A Doctor of Laws.
Nomophylactum; n. νομοφυλακεῖον. The Chancery or Rolls.
Nonnula, Gl. Isid. A bird-net.
Notoria, στάφορα, Gl. al. Notaria, νωτίζεια, dorsualia. Cushions or the like laid on ones shoulders to carry burdens on.
Noxatio, ἀζημία, Gl. Punishment.
Nucha, æ; f. Arab. The nape of the neck.
Nuga, æ; q. g. Gl. A paltry fellow.
Nugipĕra, æ; f. A trusse full of toyes.
Nullo, as; Gl. nullum facio. To null.
Nunsio vel Nansio; titubo, Gl. Ar.
Nupto, as; Gl. Isid. To be married.
Nuptorium; n. A wedding-house.
Nusca, æ; f. A tach, hook or clasp.
Nutriciarium; n. Coop. A nursery.
Nyctalmus; m. A vision or passion coming to one in the night.
* Nyctophylax; νυκτοφύλαξ. A watchman.
* Nymphagōgus, i; m. A Brideman.
Nysia, æ; f. Coop. A kind of Ivy.
Nysla, æ; f. νῆσλα. A bar or rail, whence horse-racers begin their race.

O.

Oaction; P. M. Dropwort.
Obelcara; cucurbita, P. M.
Obĕlo, as; ὀβελίζω. To shoot at, to hit; to mark with a Dagger, †.
Obesinaris; m. Lod. A blockhead.
Obites; m. Isid. A kind of Serpent.
Oblamenia; vitis nigra, Dioscor.
Oblĕgo, as; Vet. Voc. To thwart the Laws.
Oblicus; Gloss. pro Obliquus.
Oblitius; Gloss. idem.
Obliterius; m. A garden of pot-herbs.
Oblivitas; idem quod Oblivio.
Obmallo, as; M. in mallum, i. in judicium deduco.
Obpopa; i. upupa. A Lapwing.
Obsequiens; Gloss. pro Obsequens.
Obsilli; Gl. Isid. pro Psylli. People that sucked poison out of wounds.
Obsius lapis; Isid. V. Obsidianus.
Obsopŏla, æ; m. ὀψοπώλης. A Victualler.
Obstinatia; pro Obstinatio.
Obstitulus; mœstus, Gloss.
Obsus; à βόσκω Θ. Turn. A touch-stone.
Obtinentia, æ; f. Gloss. Violence.
Obtrigo, as. To bind by an oath.
Obunco, as; Gloss. To chide.
Ocha; al. Auca. ὀχή. A Goose.
Ocistrio, onis; m. A tavern-haunter.
Ocitabulum; corr. pro Acetabulum.
Octaplus, a, um; ὀκταπλοῦς. Eightfold.
Octočchus; Cerd. A kind of game or sport and play.
Ocyma, æ; f. Hug. A swift chariot.
* Odaxismus; Stup. ὀδαξισμός. The itching of childrens gums, before their teeth come out.
* Odontophyïa; f. Stup. Breeding of teeth.
* Odontotrimma; n. ὀδοντότριμμα, dentifricium.
Oeates; m. ὀιατής. A comet.
Oenocrotalus; Æl. pro Onocrotalus.
Offerenda, æ; f. Vet. Voc. An Anthem sung at the Offering.
Offex; Isid. qui officit. A hinderer.
Offimachus; Pap. pro Ophiomachus.
Offimentum; Gl. πηλός. Dung, dirt.
Oleagius, ii; n. An Olive.
Oleago, ὠλαία, Gl. Phil. An oily clammy substance.
* Olecranon; ὠλεκράνιον. The elbow.
Oleomel; Coop. ὠλεόμελι.
Oleomella; f. Isid. A tree in Syria, that drops a kind of oil like honey.
Oleoselinon; Isid. corr. ex ἱπποσέλινον. Smallage.
Olfo, as; corr. pro Olfacio.
Olia; Cerd. A piece of rich ground or Church-land.
Oliturgesia; m. corr. ex ἀλιτουργησία, i. immunitas à publicis muneribus.
Oloverus, a, um; Cerd. V. Holoverus.
Olynthus; ὄλυνθος. An unripe fig.
Omaletides; Vid. Ameletides.
Omarium, Scal. pro Aumarium, i.e. Armarium.
Omestra, æ; f. A napkin.
Omomelida; Coop. A pleasant pear.
* Omophorium; ὠμοφόριον. A hood.
Omousios; Isid. V. Homousius.
* Omphacomeli; Isid. A syrup made of the juice of green grapes.
Onchos; C. ὄνθ Θ. Ox-dung.
Oncho, vel Oncho, as; Scal. ὀγκάω. To bray like an Ass.
* Onirogmus; corr. Onirogonos, Jun. ὀνειρογμός, fluxus seminis in somno.
Onistis. The herb Dogs-bane.
Onitis; Coop. A kind of Organum.
Onoblitum; Coop. ὀνόβλιτον, bliti species.
* Onobrychis. An herb growing by wells.
* Onocardion. A kind of Teazle.
* Onocēcis, idis; f. M. ὀνοκνὶς, asinina galla.
* Onychitis; Coop. A kind of brass oar.
* Ooscyphium. A cup like an Egg.
Opicerda; qu. Ovicerda. Sheeps dung.
Opilo & Opito, as. To pick a bone.
Opimax; adj. Very rich or wealthy.
Opinax; Pap. Opinionative.
Opinianum vitrum. Enamell.
Oplomachus; pro Hoplomachus.
* Opōrinus, a, um; ὀπωρινὸς, Mart. i. Autumnalis.
* Opsigamia, æ; f. gr. Late marriage.
* Opsopœus; m. ὀψοποιός. A Cook, or Victualler.
* Opsopolium; ὀψοπώλιον. A victualling-house, an Ordinary.
* Opteria; n. pl. ὀπτήρια. Presents given by the Suitor, when he came to see his Mistress.
Optĕron; n. Coop. Fearn, bracken.
Opustorium, φλασκωτάριον, Gl. fort. Opus pistorium.
Opustorius; Gl. φλασκωτάριος Θ. A Confectioner.
Oramen; Cerd. ὄραμα. A vision.
Orbia, æ; f. A kind of meat.
Ordeolus; Gl. A stirke on the eye-lid.
Oricola, æ; f. An herb in the Canaries, wherewith they dy cloth.
Oricus; Gl. That speaketh much.
Orinda. A kind of bread in Egypt.
Oripudius; ὀρίζομαι Θ, Gl. fort. Oriputidus, cui putet os.
Orna; Gloss. pro Urna.
Oruibŏres; Cerd. ὀρυσσῶρες. Souldiers set in the front to break the enemies force.
Ornix; f. ὄρνις, Æol. ὄρνιξ. A Moor-hen or Fen-duck.
Orontium; Ger. Calvs-snout, an herb.
Oroselinum; ὀρεοσέλινον. Mountain-parsley.
* Orthostadios; Coop. ὀρθοστάδιος Θ, erectus stans. A garment used to be worn loose.
Osz; Coop. Laws concerning devotion.
* Oscheum; ὄσχεον, Cels. scrotum.
Oscis, is; f. ab Oscis, Italiæ pop. Abominable leachery.
Osfregor; m. Gl. A breaker of bones.
Osmunda; f. Ruell. Oak-fern, Dimund.
* Osteocollon; n. Morel. Knot-grass.
Osteritium, Ostrition, & Ostrutium; Offic. Master-wort.
Ostior, aris; Gloss. pro Otior.
* Ostracitis; M. A kind of brass oar.
Ostracum; Isid. pavimentum testaceum; ab ὄστρακον testa.
* Otalgia; ἠ ὠταλγία. A pain in the ears.
* Otenchytes, æ; m. ὠτηγχύτης. A Syringe for the ears.
Otiosiloquium; Cerd. Idle talk.
Ovaceum, ei; n. A cawdle.
Oviluteum; λέκιθος Θ. The yolk of an egg.
Ovispex; ovium inspector, Gl. Isid.
Oxelæum; Stup. A composition of oyl and vinegar.
Oximentum; n. Hul. Wine-vinegar.
Oxisalus; Isid. A measure of fifteen drams.

Oxygion. The dregs of vinegar.
* Oxygōnius, a, um; gr. Sharp-cornerd.
Oxyngium; Gloss. V. Axungia.
* Oxyphœnix. The Tamarind-tree.
* Oxyrrhodinum; gr. A medicine of vinegar and rose-water, to be laid to the head in a frenzy.
* Oxysaccharum. A syrup of vinegar and sugar.
* Oxytŏca; Coop. ὀξυτόκα. Medicines to hasten the birth.
* Oxytriphyllon; trifolium acutum.

P.

Pabo, ōnis; m. vehiculum unius rotæ; Gl. Isid. A wheel-barrow.
Pabulamentum; φοινικὶς, Gl. Cyr. ubi B. Vulc. leg. Fabulamentum.
Pacagorizo, as. To appease.
Paciana; patella, Pand. Med.
Paciolus; ποδάριον, Gl. l. Petiolus.
Pænuria; corr. pro Penuria.
Paganizo, as. To play the Boor.
Pagillus; dim. Of. A little village.
Pagulum; Gloss. A bridle.
Palæsta, æ; f. παλαιστὴ, palmus.
Palăta, æ; f. Gl. pro Palatha.
Palefridus, i; m. A palfrey.
Paleta, æ; f. Gl. id. quod Pala.
Palidosus; i. fumosus, à festo Palis, in quo fœnum comburi solitum.
Palimpega; veteramenta, Gloss.
Palliacus. A brier; furz or gorse.
Pallicies; Cerd. Children or servants.
Palmatianæ; Cerd. Dates.
Palmiterium & Palmitorium. A ferula, a palmer.
Palteum; n. A wall or pinnacle.
Pampinula; f. Off. Pimpernell.
Panagrum; n. πανάγρα. A sweep-net.
Panăritium; n. Coop. A whit-flaw.
Panceps; m. Gloss. A botch or bile.
Pancra; rapina, Isid. qu. πανάγρα.
Pandonum; n. A burden of ale.
Pangitare; laudare, Isid.
Panictum; n. Gloss. A kind of whistle.
Panistria, & Panitorium. A pantry.
Panitorius, ii; m. A Panter.
Pannicium; n. A patch'd cloak.
Pannuletum, vel Pannicellum. A handkercher.
Pannutium, ii; n. idem.
* Panolethria, æ; f. Coop. παναλήθεια. Utter destruction.
* Panopta; Gl. πανόπτης. One who overlooks all.
* Panselēnon; n. The full Moon.
* Pansophia; f. πανσοφία. Knowledge of all things.
* Pansŏphus, i; m. πάνσοφος. A general Scholar.
Panthectæ; m. pl. Cerd. Servants that wait at table.
* Pantolābus, i; m. παντολάβος. A slave that submits to every thing.
Papalethra, æ; f. Cerd. The Priests mire or his shaven crown.
Papas, atis. A kind of white flax.
Paponius; ebriosus: Papotentia; ebriositas, Gloss. à Papare, bibere; M.
Paracellarius, ii; m. Cerd. An almner, or distributer of alms.
* Paracharacta, æ; m. παραχαρακτὴς. A false coiner of money.
Paracharagium; Cerd. False coin.
* Paracŏpe, es; f. παραφορὰ, delirium.
Paradēlos; παραδηλος. The great Dyssie.
Parafredus; ex παρὰ & Veredus. A palfrey, a sorry jade, a car-horse.
Paralia; Coop. A kind of pitch.
* Parapechium; Coop. A little cloak.
* Parapetasma; n. παραπέτασμα. A hanging or curtain.
* Paraplexia; f. Stup. The dead palsie.
Parapertium; Cerd. A wicket or little door beside the gate.
Paraptōma; n. Gl. παράπτωμα, delictum.
Parcarius; m. A Park-keeper.
Parceo; κωλύω, Gl. To forbid, hinder or keep off.
Pariola, æ; f. Cerd. An instrument or writing of discharge, after a man has clear'd himself.
Pariolus; Gloss. pro Hariolus.
Pariscus; m. Pap. A common cryer.
Parnopes; locustæ, Coop.
Particus, i; m. Gl. Isid. A Pedler.
Partisculus; m. Gloss. A mallet.
Paschala. Gammons of bacon: fort. Paschalia, quòd feriis paschalibus apponi soleant.
Passa; Gloss. pro Passer.
Passacriarium; Gl. A water-tankard.
Passionarium; M. A book of Martyrs.
Passuraſſe; ἀνέξασθαι, Gloss. To have suffered.
* Pastas, ădis; f. παστὰς, thalamus.
Pastibulum; n. A lump of any thing like a little loaf.
Pastienda; βωλοτομητικὴ γῆ, Gl. Cyr. l. Pastinanda, sc. terra, M.
Patæci; πάταικοι, dii tutelares navium, in proris vel puppibus depicti: vox Phœnicia, Selden.
Pataginarius, ii; m. A Porter, that opens the door.
Patex; m. Gloss. A boil or botch upon the neck of oxen.
Patiginarius; id. quod Pataginarius.
Patillum; pro Batillum.
Patreus; vitricus, Gl. Isid. πατρυὶς.
Patribulum; πέτρουρον, Gl. al. Patibulatum, πτωχοφύλαξ, M.
Pavīclo, as; Gl. à Pavicula. To make a floor for an house.
Pavitensis vel Pavidensis; sc. vestis, paviendo densata, graviter pressa atque calcata; M. Ex Levidensis, Isid.
Pauperia, æ; f. Gloss. Poverty.
Paurensis; pro Pavitensis.
Pausanæ; indutiæ, M. Truces.
Paxiolus; Gloss. pro Petiolus.
Pecia vel Petia; ℔. A piece.
Pectorigium, ii; n. A Buck.
Pectorium; Cal. pro Petorritum.
Pecudiarius, a, um; πεζαλὶς. Rash, like a beast.
Pecudiarius; m. Gl. A keeper of cattel.
Pedana, æ; f. A fetter or gyve; also a sock sewed to the stocking, Gl.
Pedestella; f. Gloss. A stirrop.
Pedibovita. A boot of neats leather.
Pedicio; πηδητὴς, Gl. A leaper.
Peditius vel Pederosus, a, um. That hath stinking feet.
Pedix, icis; f. id. quod Pedica.
Pedorata; f. Gl. A kind of gem.
Pedorus; Isid. pro Pæderos.
Pēgănum; πήγανον. Rue.
Pegasida; m. A post-horse.
Pegaso, ōnis; m. A jesting man.
Pellator; m. Gl. A compeller.
Pellearium; corr. pro Palear.
Pelliris, is; f. C. A leather-helmet.
Pencina; lacinia vel stola, Isid.
Pendiculus; κρεμάδιον, Gl. A cord, &c. at which any thing hangeth.
Penisscilla; f. A soft kind of sponge.
Pennicŭlum. A weather-cock or vane at the top of a house.
Pennus, a, um; Isid. Sharp-pointed like a pen.
Pensius; m. Gloss. A spender.
* Pentadryon. Raging Night-shade.
* Pentaglottus, a, um; πενταγλωττος. Of five languages.
Percataprat; valdè tædet, Gl. Percatapirat; valdè tentat, M. à πειρατεύω.
Percatapsere; valdè dividere, Gl. Isid. Perdepsere, M.
Pereclymium; P. M. l. Periclymenon.
Perfilis, le; Gl. That hath long legs.
* Peribāris; f. A kind of womens shoo.
Peribolatorium. A round gallery.
Periclysis; Cerd. The hem or border of a garment.
* Periosteum; n. περίοστεον. The skin that inwraps the bones.
Periplŏca; f. Ger. Dogs-bane or Dogscole, an herb.
Perivŏlum; Cerd. A park or chase.
Perlavium; Gloss. A bason.
Pernostico, as; pro Prognostico, as.
Perŏna, æ; f. πρώνη. The shin-bone.
Perpendiolum; n. Gloss. A hook to hang things on.
Perpennius; αὐθήτης, Gl. l. Perperus; αὐθάδης, M.
Persolla, æ; f. dim. à Persona.
Personatus, ūs; m. A Parsonage.
Pessellum, i; n. dim. A little bar.
Pestincius; violentius, Isid. Pestilentius, M.
Pestinuncius; qui pestem nunciat, Isid.
Petălurgus; Gl. πεταλοῦργος. A maker of leaf-gold.
Peteredium; n. Gl. A demanding of an inheritance.
Petivolum; n. Gloss. A mark to shoot at.
Petrafindula; f. Offic. Saxifrage.
Petuosus; μυωπὸς, Gl. Ph. Blink-ey'd.
Petus; m. Gl. The crying of Wolves.
* Peuce, es; f. πεύκη. The Pitch-tree.
Pēzasca; f. Cerd. A wine-vessel made of leather.
Phaculla; marsupium, uber, Isid. it. A gammon of bacon, Cerd. φάκελλος.
* Pharmacotriba, æ; m. A Druggist.
Phattaga; Æl. A beast in India, like a land-Crocodile.
* Phellopŏdes; φελλόποδες, subripedes. People that can go upon the water and not sink, as if shod with cork.
Phiasus, i; m. A Guild, a brotherhood, a company incorporate.
* Philadelphia; f. Isid. Brotherly love.
* Philalēthes; c. g. A lover of truth.
* Philoxĕnus, a, um. Kind to strangers.
Phlum; Coop. An herb that women use to make ly with.
Phrygos; corr. pro Phrynos.
Phylaxa, æ; f. A cabinet or coffer.
Picridia, æ; f. Cal. πικρίδιον. Wild lettice.
* Picrocholus; πικροχόλος. Cholerick.
Pictatius; m. A botcher or cobler.
Pictaturius, ii; m. idem.
Piga, æ; f. The top of the nose.
Pigamum; Off. πήγανον. Bastard Rubarb.
Pigella; Gl. Isid. A kind of vessel.
Pignus, a, um; Vet. Voc. pro Piger.
Pilasca vel Pilasia. A wine-vessel, made of a hairy skin; a Borachio.
Pilata, æ; Pap. A thief. l. Picata.
Pilax; murilegus catus, quòd multis pilis abundet, Isid.
Pilliones vel Pilones; Gl. Bearers of the dead: Vespillones.

Pilogonus;

Pilogonus; Isid. pro Polygonon.
Pilumen; n. Gl. Isid. Coat which is beaten in a mortar.
Pipĕris; f. Isid. The Pepper-tree.
Pipinna, æ; f. parvulus penis, M.
Pipita, æ; f. Gloss. Hoarseness.
Pipito, as; Gl. To speak hoarse.
Pipula, æ; f. Gl. Gall that is put into ink. Rect. fort. Pilula.
Piratium. Perry. pro Pyraceum.
Pis; aurum, Isid. pro Pas; ?
Pisaculum; n. Gl. An upper-lest.
Pison; veneni genus, quod clam inest nardo, sic Indi vocant. Poison.
Pitago; pix Liquida. Tar. à πίσσα.
Pistrio, onis; m. A Baker.
Pistrio, is; ἀρτοποιέω. To make bread.
Pitana; ἀλείμμα, Gl. Pituita; ἀλείμμα, M.
Pitheta; à πίθος. A Cover like a Tun.
Pithogastrus; gr. Tun-bellied.
Pittacia; Cerd. A pittance or morsel.
* Pityrias; Cal. πιτυρίας & πιτυρίτης ἄρτος, panis furfuraceus. Bread made of bran, horse-bread.
* Pityriasis; f. Scurfiness of the head.
Pixago, inis; f. Melted pitch.
Placa, æ; f. à πλακὸς, in Acc. πλακᾶ πλάκα. A plate of gold or silver.
Placiratorium. A Butterer, a clam-back.
Placitatorium. A Sena-house.
Placium; Isid. Vid. Placium in Gl.
Plaganium; C. Vid. Plangonium, Gl.
Planga, æ; f. A bald buzzard.
Plangonium; πλαγγόνιον μύρον, Hefych. A kind of ointment.
Placenta; corr. pro Placenta.
* Platysma, ătis; n. Stup. The broad muscle that moves the jaw-bones; also a broad linnen cloth wrapt about sores.
Plaudamenta; Gl. pro Paludamenta.
Plebanatus, ûs; m. The Commonalty.
Plecta; n. pl. M. πλεκτὰ. Twigs or rushes to make baskets of.
* Plegma; n. πλέγμα. A thing twisted or woven.
Plemina; Gl. corr. pro Flemina.
Plemmyrium; Gl. πλημμύριον. A tide.
Plix; f. Gloss. A fold. pro Plica.
Plocium; Isid. Tow or course silk.
Ploteum; Gloss. pro Pluteum.
Ploum; Gl. A ploia with two wheels.
Pluicino, as; Cerd. To rain often.
Plumentum; Gloss. pro Fluentum.
Plusĭvetum; Gloss. plus justo.
Plutōsus, a, um; à πλοῦτος. Very rich.
Poastria; ποάστρια. A weeder-woman.
Podea, æ; f. Cerd. The cord, wherewith a sail is spred.
Podio, as. To lean upon.
Podismo, as. To measure out by feet.
Pœphagus; ποεφάγος, Ælian. An Indian beast, of the hair of whose tail women made themselves perriwigs.
Poledrus; m. M. A young horse: al. Pulletrus & Pultrinus.
Poledus; m. Gloss. A kind of pepper.
Poleium; Isid. Garden-ginger.
* Polemarchus, i; m. πολέμαρχος. A Lord Marshal of the field.
Polimedo; Gl. A kind of short tree.
Polingon; Gl. Isid. polyandria n.
Poliones. The herb Nose-bleed.
Polipus. The stink of the channels.
Pollax; Gl. Deceitful. l. Pellax.
Pollingo; Gloss. Vid. Pollincio.
Pollulæ; f. pl. Pier. The soft downy tufts of reeds.
Polosis, a, um; Gl. High, lofty.
Polulæ. Bags stuft with soft leather, which they used to toss in the market-place.
Polycandelus, i; m. A Branch-candlestick.
Polyclycha; Cerd. Registers, books of publick accounts. l. Polyptycha.
Polyos; Voc. Vet. The herb All-heal.
Polystaurium; Meurs. A Patriarchs or Popes garment with many crosses on it.
Ponstratus, i; m. A draw-bridge.
Pontonium; Isid. A Lighter or Hoy.
Popon; Gl. A kind of apple. à πέπων.
Popula, æ; f. C. corr. pro Papula.
Porcistetum, i; n. A swine-sty.
Porillus; m. Gl. A kind of bread.
Pornæ. Stage-players. à πόρνη.
* Pŏrocēle; f. πωρώκηλη. A kind of burstenness.
Porosa, æ; f. Parac. S. Johns-wort.
Porrigium; Gl. id. quod Porrigo.
Portacea; Gl. Phil. pro Portulaca.
Portatieum. Provision for the way.
Portemia; Isid. A kind of small ship. al. leg. Porverna: M. leg. Porthmium.
Postella; Isid. qu. Postsella. A horses crupper. V. Postilena.
Posthia, Stup. A stithe on the eye-lid.
Poteriotheca, æ; f. Gl. ποτηριοθήκη. A place to put cups or glasses in.
Præa, æ; f. Hul. A fisher-boat. V. Oria.
Præductal; παράγγελος, Gloss. fort. Præducta, scil. linea; M.
Prægnus, a, um; corr. pro Prægnans.
Prænosticum; corr. pro Prognosticum.
Præsalum; παρηγορὸν, Gl. l. Præsalsum.
Præsepiola, æ; f. Stup. The bosom of the Gum, where the teeth are.
Præsinum; στρομάκιον, Gl. A stomacher.
Præstaria, æ; f. Cerd. A lease or deed to be performed.
Præstrigiæ; pro Præstigiæ.
Prandeum; n. Gl. Isid. A kind of girdle. Brandeum, Cerd.
Prasemus, i; m. A Bream.
Pratosis. The standing out of the eyes.
Prides, is; f. A Pram-fish.
Primetium; corr. pro Præmetium.
Primivirgius; m. The Kings Usher.
* Pristes, æ; m. Jun. πρίστης. A Sawyer.
Procastrum. The Gate-house of a castle.
Prochyta; f. προχύτης, à προχύω profundo. A vessel used in sacrifice.
Proclastæ; Cerd. Runners or Coursers.
Proconion. Broth made of new barley.
Procrastinus; ἐκθύτης, Gl. matutinus.
Procudium; πρίσις, Gl. Prodicium, M.
Procula, æ; f. A costly garment.
* Proeleusis; M. The feast of Procession.
Progestia; προάστια, Gl. suburbana: Vulc. leg. Procestra.
Prohedri; πρόεδροι. Chief Magistrate.
Promurale; n. Isid. A counter-wall.
Propedio, is; Gl. Isid. To hinder.
Propes; m. Isid. The cord, wherewith the foot of the sail is tyed.
Propina, æ; f. Isid. A place by the Bath, where after washing they took their refection.
Propinatorium. A tipling-house.
Propos; valdè potens, Gl. Isid.
Propula; Gl. corr. pro Propola.
Prosaico, as. To write in Prose.
Procle; Gl. corr. pro Proficiæ.
Prositium; Gl. corr. pro Proficium.
Prosnesium; Isid. pro Prymnesium.
Protectum. A jacket. l. Projectum.
Protela, æ; f. A caution.
Protexeos paralanges: fort. περίστασις παραλλαγή. A Figure, when one Preposition is put for another.
Proto-a-secretis. A principal Secretary.
Protoieracarius. A chief Falkner.
Protopapa; Meurs. The Chief of the Spiritual Court, next the Patriarch.
Protovestiarius; Cerd. The Master of the Wardrobe.
Pruneilus, i; f. A Bullace-tree.
Pruneolus; f. A Sloe-tree. § m. A small mushrom.
* Psephisma; n. ψήφισμα. A decree.
Psephopæda; m. ψηφοπαίδης. A Juggler; also an Auditor or Accountant.
Pseudofŏrum; Cerd. A false door.
Psiathium; Cerd. gr. A mattress.
* Psydracium; n. ψύδραξ. A blister.
* Psyllion; n. ψύλλιον. Flea-wort.
Ptilōsis; f. pro Psilosis, à ψιλὸς nudus. The falling of the hair from the eye-lids or eye-brows.
Pubeda & Pubeta; a loiescens.
Pudendagra; f. A Wincheſter Goose.
Pugillo, onis; m. A fencer.
Pugnariola, æ; f. A little fight.
Pulpido, inis; f. Gl. Isid. panis instar pulpæ. A rot of bread.
Pulvincriæ; areæ mortuorum, Gl. Isid.
Pulvinaria, M.
Pulum; Isun. id. quod Simpulum.
Pungium & Pungia; Cerd. A pouch.
Pupior; σκυδρώπιαζε, Gl. à Pupus.
Purpurilla; locus extra portam, ubi purpureæ vestæ utebantur, Gl. Isid.
Purpurites; Isid. pro Porphyrites.
Pusæus; id. quod Pusio. A little boy.
Pusta, æ; f. Wine and water mingled together, good against blisters.
Putaticilla; καταπόσιμα, Gl. Phil. Sputatilia, Vulc. ergò καταπίστια.
Putilia; μύτα, Gl. à Pu.ut, l. merus.
* Pycnotica medicamenta, πυκνωτικὰ, quæ vim habent condensandi.
* Pygista; m. πυγιστὴς, pædico.
* Pygmachia, æ; f. πυγμαχία. A fighting with hurl-bats or fists.
Pyreuma; n. Alc. à πύρευμα. A place to sweat or exercise in.
Pyrferreum. A cabiron or andiron.
Pyrgitæ; m. Sparrows building in towers.
Pyrgitis; f. Coop. The herb Hartstongue.
Pyriana; f. Stup. A fomentation.
* Pyriaterium; n. A sweating-house.
Pyrola; f. Isid. The herb Winter-green.
Pyrula, æ; f. Isid. The tip of the nose.
Pytilido, as; Coop. To go on tiptoes.
* Pyulcus; πυελὸς, instrumentum Chirurgicum pus educens.

Q.

Quactum; Isid. qu. coactum, i. coagulatum. Runner.
Quadrapolæ; Cerd. Garments made of four kinds of stuff or four-square.
Quadravium; corr. pro Quadrivium.
Quadrigamus. Four times married.
Quadriseco, as. To cut in four parts.
Quærarius, ii; f. A Cottar-wife.
Qualia, æ; f. A kind of bird, quail.
Quartallum. A basket; a bier, a coffin.
Quatriremis; Isid. pro Quadriremis.
Quaxillum; corr. pro Quasillum.
Quaxum. The croaking of Frogs.
Quietorium; n. A resting place.
Quinquinus, Quinquinulus, & Quinquinatus. The space of five years.
Quintilia, æ; f. A blossom or bloom.
Quintina, æ; f. Isid. idem.
Quirinor, aris. To make a souldier.
Quoaxo, as; Vide Coaxo.
Quponones, vel Qyponones; V. Passerat.

R.

Rabbo, ōnis; m. A kind of measure.
* Rabdūchus, i; m. ῥαβδοῦχος. A Steward, a Beadle; a Verger.
Racana, æ; f. Cerd. A course garment.
Rachanella, æ; f. A little Jacket.
Radiola, æ; f. A kind of long Olive.
Ramix; mentula vel virga virilis.
Ramularius; ἀντιπαίδαγωγος, Gl. Phil. vice-tutor, tanquam ramulus ab eo; M. al. leg. Ravularius; al. Rabularius.
Ran; ira, Cath. per Apoc. à Rancor.
Rancordia, æ; f. Vet. Voc. Anger.
Rancors, dis; Vet. Voc. Angry.
Rapſellum; corr. pro Raſtellum.
Raſamen; n. à Rado. A ſhaving.
Raſta, tæ; f. A Dutch mile.
Raſtrus; Ξυήριον, Gl. Raſis, M.
Rator; judex, Gl. Iſid. à Reor.
Raupa, æ; f. Cerd. Houſhold-ſtuff or cloathing.
Rebilis, le; Gloſſ. opinabilis.
Rebrachiatarium; Cerd. A liſt or binding, which Monks wore about their arms.
Reburrus, vel Reburſus, a, um; hiſpidus, recalvus, Gloſſ.
Reci; adv. pro Re; unde Reciprocus.
Recidivium. A kind of garment.
Recitabulum; Gl. If. A place of rehearſal.
Reclivia, æ; f. Coop. Vid. Redivia.
Recocta, æ; f. Courſe cheeſe, cheeſe Hc.
Reconſus, a, um; pro Reconditus.
Rectis, idis; f. virga recta.
Reda, æ; f. Iſid. corr. pro Rheda.
Redulus; Iſid. A heap of fire-wood.
Redundivum; id. quod Reduvia.
Reſſo, as; evello, LL. Salica.
Regniculum; n. dim. à Regnum.
Reiva, & Reilata; Gl. id. quod Raia.
Relevium; n. Relief; a fine paid by the Tenant at his admiſſion.
Remaſculo, as; Gl. To give freſh courage.
Rementus, a, um; Gl. Remembred.
Remulcopæ; f. pl. Engines to draw ſhips on land.
Renale, is; n. A girdle about the loins.
Reoria; Gl. corr. pro Repotia.
Reperidia, vel Repididia; idem.
Repeta; Pap. al. Repeſta. A high ſtone.
Repia, æ; f. ῥιπίδιον, Gl. A hood.
Replica, æ; f. Iſid. idem.
Repoſicillum, & Repoſocilium; Pap. A cover laid over the fire by night.
Reproca; i. repetita; ἐπίθεσις, Gl.
Requeſta, æ; f. A requeſt.
Reſōna, æ; f. Gl. ſc. vox. An Echo.
Reſta bovis. Cammock, an herb.
Reſtricæ; f. pl. Cords or nets, wherewith Fowlers intangle birds.
Retanicus, a, um; Jun. Stiff.
Retica, æ; f. corr. pro Ridica.
Reticula, æ; f. id. quod Reticulum.
Reticulus, i; m. Gl. A wag-basket.
Retrogradatio; Iſid. A going back.
Reu; Iſid. pro Rha. Rubarb.
Revadio, as; Cerd. To own ones ſelf a debtor.
Revimentum; παρεγγραφή, Gl. à Revir, i. redeo. A return.
Revio, as; Cerd. To return back.
Rexaciculum, i; n. A bar or bolt to make faſt doors or gates with.
Rhacodes; Cerd. corr. pro Rhagades.
Rhages; Stup. The ſingers ends.
* Rhapſodēma; n. gr. A trifling ſtory.
Rhibis. A raſpberry-tree. Vid. Ribes.
Rhictaria; jacula, Cerd. Darts.
Rhōda, æ; f. C. à ῥόδον. A roſe.
Rhodia, æ; f. Cal. Roſe-wort.
* Rhodomēli; n. ῥοδόμελι. mel roſeum.
Rhodonia, æ; f. A garden of roſes.
Rhœas, ădis; f. Ger. ῥοιάς. Wild poppy.
Rhoïtes; m. Dioſc. Pomgranate-wine.
Rhomphalus, i; m. A Water-roſe.
Rictura; f. Gl. The gaping of a beaſt.
Rigula, æ; f. Iſid. corr. pro Ricula.
Rimor, ōris; m. A ſcrutiny.
Ripatum. A fee for maintaining banks.
Riſius; M. A ſtiff clumſie fewow.
Rivaria; rivalis, pellex, Gloſſ.
Rob; Off. ab Arab. רוב ſuccus denſatus. The juice of herbs.
Robertiana; f. Off. Herb Robert.
Roccus; tunica, M. vox German.
Rocus, & Rochetum; Cerd. A rochet.
Rodata, æ; f. A rood of land.
Rodomelum; Gl. Honey of roſes.
Rogarii; ἀκροβολισταί, Gl. V. Rorarii.
Rogatorium; n. An Alms-houſe.
Romanizo, as. To torment.
Ropulum; à ῥόπαλον. A clapper.
Roraſtrum; n. Woite Briony.
Roſaria, æ; f. A chaplet of roſes.
Roſata; ſc. veſtis; pro Ruſſata.
Roſtratula, æ; f. A Woodcock or Snite.
Rotabulum; Iſid. pro Rutabulum.
Rubea, æ; f. Gloſſ. Arod. ῥαβδοῦχος.
Rubellio, ōnis; f. Gl. The ruſt of iron.
Ruberta, æ; f. The herb Robert.
Rubidas; m. Gl. A kind of bread.
Rubricus, a, um; Gl. πύῤῥος. Red.
Rubrus; Gl. A kind of fiſh, a rochet.
Ruceus, a, um. Filthy, clowniſh.
Ructeus; Gloſſ. corr. pro Ructus.
Ructuor, aris; Gl. To be moved.
Ruder, ĕris. The dung of a beaſt.
Rudeſco, is, ĕre; Gl. To wax ripe.
Rudio, is, ire; Vet. Voc. The cry or noiſe that all living creatures make.
Rudiſta, vel Ruderiſta. A dung-farmer.
Rugilis, le; adj. Apt to roar.
Rumagula, æ; f. Gl. pro Rumacula. A little teat or aug.
Rumbula; f. Cerd. An old whore.
Rumica; κάκκυξ, Gl. A Cuckow.
Ruminum; n. Gloſſ. A coat with a gard of ſcarlet at bottom.
Runcinus; Ital. Roncino. A Nag.
Runco, ōnis; m. Iſid. A ſythe to cut buſhes, a bill-hook.
Rupia; c. g. Gloſſ. A ſcourger.
Rupio, as; Gl. To beat with a rod.
Ruplus; σφρὺς γαλαίγεως, Gl. The ſnare or fall of a trap.
Ruppo, ōnis; m. Gl. rupex. A clown.
Ruptorium; à rumpendo. A ſcourge.
Ruſco, onis; m. Gloſſ. A clown.
Ruſpino, as; χειροτριβῶ, Gloſſ. To rub with ones hands.
Ruſpinor, aris; Gl. idem; à Ruſpor.
Ruſtro, as; Gloſſ. To rake or ſcrape.
Rutellus; m. Gloſſ. A whoremaſter.
Rutilicia; ἀκροθίνια, Gloſſ.
Rutilis, le; adj. pro Rutilus.
Rutus, ûs; m. Hul. pro Ructus.
Ryzum; m. Gaz. id. quod Oryza.

S.

Sabaſa, æ; f. P. M. A kind of cockle.
Saber, bra, brum. Rough, knotty.
Saber; ſubſt. P. M. A kind of fiſh; alſo a kind of thorn: Aloes.
Sabrarinus, a, um; navalis, MS.
Sabratena, æ; f. navis piratica.
Sabrutia, æ; f. The banks brink.
Saccar, ris; n. id. quod Saccharum.
Saccitum; Iſid. pro Saccatum.
Sacconia, æ; f. Coop. A napkin; alſo a territory.
Sacernus, i; m. i. ſacer animus.
Sacio, is, ire; M. To take into poſſeſſion.
Sacmina, æ; f. Σαμάδες, Gl. A bough or branch of a tree. Vid. Sagmina.
Sacra, æ; f. ſc. Epiſtola. The Emperours letter.
Sacrificia, æ; f. A place where ſacrifices were offered.
Sacrilego, is; ἱερουλῶ, Gl. To commit ſacrilege.
Sacrimonium; ἱερωσύνη, Gl. Holineſs.
Sacriſcrinius, ii; m. The keeper of a Princes letters or records.
Sacriſtia, æ; f. A Sextry.
Sacrivus, a, um; M. votivus, ſacer.
Sacrocōla; Cerd. Vid. Sacricola.
Saſſio, ōnis; f. Bud. A ſeiſure.
Saſon, ōnis; m. funis in prorâ navis.
Saſorium; n. atrium templi.
Sagalinum; culcitra, MS.
Sagāna, æ; f. σανία. A mortar: alſo a kind of garment; Σάγανον.
Sagatio; πάλμος, Gl. Toſſing in a blanket: à Sagum.
Sagenula, æ; f. dim. Pap. A ſhip.
Sagibaro; jagus baro, i. ſapiens vir.
Sagimen, inis; n. Fat or greaſe.
Saginatius; caballus, MS.
Sagiſma; Cerd. id. quod Saga.
Saio, ōnis; m. Cerd. A torturer.
Sala, æ; f. M. A hall; Gall. la ſale.
Salæ; f. pl. Cerd. Mad women.
Salamia; f. corr. pro Salacia.
Salaria; f. idem. A tide; a billow.
Salatarius; m. Cerd. An armour-bearer: al. Slattarius.
Salatum, ti; n. Hul. A ſallet.
Sa'gamum; n. Pap. A leather-quilt.
Salis, le; adj. id. quod Salubris.
Salivare, is; n. M. ab equi ſalivâ dict. That part of the bridle, which the horſe champs; a ſnaffle.
Salivarium; n. M. A ſpitting-pot.
Salmentum; M. Vid. Salſamentum.
Salpetrum; n. Gorrh. Saltpetre.
Salſicia, æ; f. A ſauſage.
Salſitia, æ; f. MS. Saltneſs.
Saltica, æ; f. MS. A kind of pepper.
Salticus, a, um; σκιρτικός. Dancing.
Salviatum; corr. pro Salivatum.
Salvigardia; f. A Convoy, a Paſs.
Saluſandria; f. Off. Garden-Gitt.
Salxica; ſalivum, Iſid. Spittle.
Samardacus; M. A jeſter or buffoon.
Sambyca, vel Sambyx; V. Sambuca.
Sandaſticus; Iſid. V. Sandaſirus.
Sandonicum; Gl. An herb that kills beaſts.
Sandonicus color. A ſwarthy colour.
Sangus; Cerd. corr. pro Sagus.
Saphon, ōnis; m. Iſid. V. Safon, Gl.
Sappa, æ; f. Gl. Σκαπάνη. A ſpade.
Saprum; n. A poiſon of ſalt and ſervis-berries, good for the Colick.
Saracum; Cerd. A cloak or vail.
Sarcitector; Iſid. qui ſarcit tectum.
Sarcōma; n. Iſid. Σάρκωμα. Fleſhineſs.
Sardalia, æ; f. A wild Lettice.
Sardomon; corr. pro Cardamum.
Sarturium opus; Cerd. l. Sartorium.
Sartutillus; Coop. The body of a pig ſtuffed with meal.
Savinus; Iſid. A kind of ſtone.
Saura, æ; f. Iſid. Σαῦρος. A Lizard.
Saxus. A ſhort ſword uſed by the Saxons.
Scabia, æ; f. id. quod Scabies.

Scachu-

Scachus, vel Scacus. A Chess-man.
Scaleo, es; Vid. Squaleo.
Scama; corr. pro Squama & Sacoma.
Scamma, ătis; n. Gl. Σκάμμα. The place where wrestlers exercised.
Scana; arborum denſitas, Cerd. Σκανή.
Scandella, æ; f. Pap. A mosey ſhared among ſt many.
Scandiana mala. Winter-goldings.
Scanon; i. ſtupor, MS.
Scantus; m. A tetter or dry ſcab.
Scapha, æ; f. M. A fillet for the head.
Scaphiſmus; tormentum à Scaphio vaſe ſtercorario dict. cui incluſi à vermibus conſumebantur; Cerd.
Scapilium; Vid. Interſcapilium.
Scapulum; n. M. A long club.
Scaramangium, & Scaramangum; Cerd. Scaramangis; M. A kind of garment.
Scariola, æ; f. Garden-Endive.
Scatumcalus, & Scatumcellus; Dod. Great pennywort, wall pennywort.
Scates; m. id. quod Squatina.
* Scenites; m. Σκηνίτης. Living in ten ſ.
Scenophylax; Cerd. l. Σκηνοφύλαξ. A keeper of veſſels or plate.
Sceptoria, æ; f. Cerd. A ciſtern.
Scetra, æ; f. Iſid. A target made of leathern thongs without wood.
Scevola, æ; f. Dod. Shave-graſs.
Schirrhus; corr. pro Scirrhus.
Schiza; Cerd. σχίζα. Cut or cleft wood.
Schœnitæ; Cal. Vid. Scenites, Gl.
Schœnifacio; χοινοτοπία. To make cords or ropes.
Scholaſter, tri; m. A Student.
Scholaſterium; n. A School.
Sciatica, æ; f. Vide Iſchias.
Scinodenta. One born with two teeth.
Scirrha; f. A ſcallion; a skirret.
Sciſſima, æ; f. A kind of Beech.
Scitalis; Iſid. Vid. Scytala.
Sclanium; Cerd. A trumpet or pipe.
Sclaviniſcium; Cerd. A light kind of dart.
Sclodia; κάμηλος, Gl. l. χαμαιλὶς. A ſled.
Scoba, æ; f. corr. pro Scopa.
Scobo, is, ĕre. To ſweep a houſe.
Scolax; funale, Iſid. quòd ſit Σκολιὸν, i. intortum.
* Scolopomacharium; n. An Inciſion-knife or Gammot.
Sconna; ſponſus, M. ex Gl.
Scopæus; Coop. A dwarf.
Scordalis, le; adj. Savage, wild.
Scordiſcarius; m. A Sadler.
Scordiſcus; m. ἱππάριον, Gl. A ſaddle; alſo the raw hide of a beaſt.
Scorodinia; f. Dod. Wood-ſage.
Scortia, æ; f. Iſid. à Scorteus. An oil-veſſel made of leather.
Scrama, æ; f. M. A wood-knife.
Scramaſaxus. A ponyard, a dagger.
Scranteum; n. Cal. A quiver.
Scrophina, vel Scrofina. A kind of Carpenters tool.
Scrutetum; MS. A leathern quiver.
Scudicia; f. Iſid. A thing to dig with.
Scuma, æ; corr. pro Squama.
Scupha; cucurbicula, Cerd.
Scuria; f. Cerd. A barn-floor.
Scus; ind. unde Scuta, æ. A round figure.
* Scybalum; Gl. Σκύβαλον. Dog-meat.
Seclamen; n. Gloſſ. Seculum.
Secors, Secordia; Vid. Socors.
Sectatula, æ; f. Vide Sectacula.
Sedecum; ἱκανὸν, Gl. l. Sed eccum.
Sedetum; n. A ditch or dike.
Sedimen; n. Gloſſ. A ſinking down.
Sedus, & Seduus; Gl. Vide Sedum.
Seſŏra, æ; f. Gloſſ. An hen.
Segala, æ; f. Off. pro Secale.
Sejŭga, æ; f. A coach with ſix horſes.
Selis; Coop. à gr. Σελὶς. A ſtool wont to ſtand in the fore-part of a ſhip.
Selium, ii; n. Gloſſ. A ſmall veſſel.
Sellio, ōnis; m. A ſummer-houſe; an horſe; MS.
Sellopungium, al. Selopungium; Cerd. A ſaddle-purſe.
Semanculus, li; m. A dwarf.
Sematus, a, um; Gl. Half emptied.
Semè; adv. à Semus. Imperfectly.
Semetra, æ; f. Half-meaſure.
Semicicium; Gl. Half a ſword.
Semicinctia, æ; f. Gl. A kercher.
Semitas, atis; f. Imperfection.
Semnĕum; σεμνεῖον. A Monaſtery.
Semo, as. To make imperfect.
Semplagium; n. The arming or croſs-maſhing of a net.
Semus, a, um; ab ἥμισυ. Imperfect.
Senis, ne. Old. Seniſſimus. Oldeſt.
Senitudo, inis; f. Oldneſs, agedneſs.
Senſitorium, & Senſorium; αἰσθητήριον. An organ of ſenſe.
Sentarium; n. Gloſſ. A dunghill.
Senticus, a, um. Sharp and pricking.
Sentito, as; Gl. Iſid. Leiſurely to conſider and judge.
Sentix, icis; f. Iſid. A thorny ground.
Separarium, ii; n. A curtain.
Sepedium; n. Gloſſ. A refuge.
Seperus; m. Gloſſ. A bay-berry.
Sepies; f. MS. idem.
Septizonium; n. Scal. A week.
Sequeſtra, æ; f. Gl. A conſequent.
Serpĕdo, inis; f. Iſid. à Serpendo. A redneſs of the ſkin with wheals.
Serpigo; f. Stup. A tetter, the meazels.
Serriculum; Gloſſ. A Smiths ſtithy.
Serticulum; Gloſſ. A ſwath of graſs.
Serto, as; Gl. To crown with a garland.
Seſſellus, a, um. Little of ſtature, that be cannot ſtand but ſit.
Setorium; n. A bolter: rect. Setarium.
Sevĕro, as. To ſever or ſet apart.
Sexcupedioſus, a, um. Lowſie.
Sexcupes, ĕdis; m. A lowſe.
Sexit; adſimilat, ὁμοιοῖ.
Sextertium, vel Sextricium; Plut. A place where condemned perſons were put to death.
Sfingæ; f. pl. Iſid. A kind of apes: à gr. Σφίγξ.
Sfungia, æ; f. Iſid. à gr. σπόγγος. A kind of ſpongy ſtone; alſo a light bread.
Sialoquus; σιαλόγυος. One who ſputters as he ſpeaks.
Sibæa; f. Gl. σιβαῖα. al. Sibea, & Sibba. A bag made of Swines skin.
Sicha, æ; f. Off. A wild Carot.
Sicilagria, æ; f. A wild cucumber.
Sigena; Gloſſ. corr. pro Zygæna.
Siginus, & Signus. Ruſt or droſs.
Sila, æ; f. Gloſſ. An helmet.
Silago, inis; f. Crowfoot, an herb.
Silaturus; m. Gloſſ. A Jugler.
Siliquus. A weight of four grains.
Sillaſtris. Barley-bread.
Silvia; f. A Robin-red-breaſt.
Simicipium; ἡμικύκλιον, Gl.
Simiſtra, æ; m. A Chamberlain.
Simnia, æ; f. A chamber.
Simocitas; corr. pro Simoſitas.
Simultum, vel Simultæ; Pap. A worm that breeds at the root of a beaſts horn, and cauſes him to ſtrike.
Sio, as; M. à σίειν colare. To piſs.
Siparum; Iſid. corr. pro Supparum.
Siphius, & Siphinius; Coop. A ſtone by nature ſoft, but heated in oyl turns hard.
Siphori; Gl. corr. ex Σηρικοπράγοι. They that wear ſilk.
Sipillus, ξυήρ, Gl. Scalpellus, M.
Sipla tapetia; Iſid. qu. ſimpla: ἁπλώματα.
Siromacis, is. A ſword.
Siromaſtes. A ſpear or javelin.
Siron; m. Heurn. A hand-worm.
Siropheum; pallium virginale.
Siſactea; Coop. A ranging-ſieve.
Siſamum; corr. pro Seſamum.
Siſarra, æ; f. Gl. σισύρα. A ſheep.
Siſſio, as; Gl. To ſit or cower down.
Siſtarcia, æ; f. M. A cupboard or cheſt.
Siterologia; pro Hyſterologia.
Sitŏnes, æ; m. σιτῶνης. A purveyor or officer to provide corn.
Sitta, æ; f. A Nut-jobber, a bird.
Socellus; Iſid. dim. à Soccus.
Soda, æ; f. The Head-ache.
Solacior, aris; Cerd. To ſolace.
Solbaſtrella; f. Off. Burnet, pimpernell.
Solennarium; Cerd. A quiver for arrows.
Solia; Gloſſ. corr. pro Solea.
Solſatis; Cerd. i. qui ante occaſum ſolis in iudicio non ſtetit.
Somata; obſonium epiſcopis debitum, Cerd. it. ſervi, Σώματα.
Sonchites, æ; m. The greater Hawk-weed.
Sopes. Night-birds: corr. pro Scopes.
* Sophroniſtæ; Σωφρονισταί. Athenian Magiſtrates, who kept their youth in order.
Soracum. A wagon. V. Sarracum.
Sordiſcum; n. Iſid. A green hide: à ſordibus; rect. Scordiſcum, à Scortum.
Soriantes; m. pl. Cor. Sworn brethren.
Sorica, vel Sordica; f. An heap.
Soricula, æ; f. A veſſel of water.
Sorilla, æ; f. A ſhip calked.
Soropes; ceſpites, MS. Turfs.
Sorophagus; corr. pro Sarcophagus.
Sory; n. M. Σόρυ. A kind of metal.
Soſania; lorica, Cerd. A coat of mail.
Sot; antiq. pro Ut, Gloſſ.
Sotulare; M. Vid. Subtalare.
Souchetum; Gorrh. Galengal, herb.
Spalagius; m. Gl. Spalangus, MS. A kind of poiſonous Fly.
Spanachea; corr. pro Spinacia.
Spanga, æ; f. A croſs beam in building.
Spaniſcus; m. Cerd. A Spaniard.
Spannum, Spanna; ſpithama. A ſpan.
* Spanopōgon; σπανοπώγων. Thin-bearded.
Spanum; Iſid. That which is ſtrained out of the white olive.
Spargăna; Gl. σπάργανα. Swadling-clouts.
Sparganizo, as; Pap. To ſwathe.
Spargeſis; f. Gloſſ. A ſwelling of womens breaſts after child-birth.
Sparicellus; m. Gl. A kind of fiſh.
Sparradrappum Vigonis. A cere-cloth ſpred on both ſides alike.
Spartarius; m. Gloſſ. A rope-ſeller.
Sparteoli; M. Soulders that watched the City for fear of fire.
Sparteum; n. C. A money-bag.

Sparticus; m. Pap. Mastick, sweet gum.
Sparvarius; m. A Sparrow-hawk.
Sparaticus, a, um. Wise with an evil spirit.
Spatulæ; deliciæ, Gl. gr. σπαθάλαι.
Specifico, as. To specifie.
Spernulus; qui spernit, Gloss.
Sperum; n. Gloss. A vessel.
Sphacus; Silvia, M. Σφάκος. Sage.
Sphæca, æ; f. Σφὴξ. A wasp.
Sphæninda; Coop. A ball to play with.
* Sphenopōgon; Σφηνοπώγων, cui cuneata barba est. That hath a forked beard.
Sphygmus; m. Σφυγμὸς, pulsus.
Spicus; m. & Spicum; n. vid. Spica.
Spilabra, æ; f. Gl. Wheel-thorn.
Spilunĉne, es; f. σπιλὰς. A stone.
Spineolum, li; n. A stone.
Spinivenetum; n. The Holy-horn-tree, the Goose-berry or Box berry-tree.
Spirarchus; m. C. The Captain or Leader of a band: a soldier.
Splenia, æ; f. A kind of core-cloth.
Spona; ant. pro Pomum, Gloss.
Spondylis; σφονδύλη. A kind of serpent.
Spurcalla; spurcitia, Cerd.
Spyratode; excrementa in spiras voluta. Sheeps or Goats treddles.
Squarlatum; vel Scarlatum; Gorrh. The grain of Scarlet.
Squatraia, vel Squatoraia, piscis squatus & raiæ similis.
Squinanthum; Off. σχοινάνθιον. The sweet rush, Iquinant, camels meat.
Squinantia, æ; f. Parac. The Squinancy or Squinsie. vid. Synanche.
Stabarum; Cerd. A hedge or mound.
Stagneus, a, um; corr. pro Stanneus.
Statula; f. dim. A little Statue.
Statunculus; m. Cerd. A Pimp.
Stauracina vestis, Cerd. A branched garment.
Stauropegium; M. σταυροπήγιον. A place where a Cross is set up; also a Bishops Diocese.
Steganomium; mansionis pretium, M. House-rent, or hire for lodging.
Stegestris; à στέγαστρον tegumentum. An iron hoop or band, such as chests are bound withal.
Stellis; Mistletoe. vid. Stelis.
Stelographia; f. Gl. στηλογραφία. An inscription upon a Pillar.
* Stenothorax; στενόθωραξ. Narrow-chested, strait-breasted.
Stercidum; Gl. rect. Stercidium. A way draught for a privy.
Steria; series, Gl. An order or rank.
Stericula; corr. vid. Striculus.
Stica, æ; f. A Deacons vest or coat, Cerd. also a clove of garlick.
Stichas, ădis; Off. corr. pro Stœchas.
Striga, æ; f. Gl. à στίχος. A goad or prunk.
Stigarius; m. A carter or wain-man.
Stigia; tunica, Gl. Isid. vid. Stica.
Stilia; furtum domesticum, Gloss.
Stilpo; στιλπωνάριος, Onom. A dwarf.
Stinga; f. Gl. A kind of Spanish vest.
Stipadium; corr. pro Stibadium.
Stirpices; ῥιζοτόμοι. Weeders.
Storica; Gl. corr. pro Storea.
Stotarius; m. A Stallion.
Strabilismus, & Strabilismus; Gl. στραβισμὸς. The squaintness of the eyes.
Stragulo, as. To make with divers colours.
Strambus, Strambulus; Gl. v. Strabus.
Strapia, æ; f. Juv. A stirrup, a strap.
Strata, æ; f. sc. via; στρατηγὸς, Gloss. A street or paved way.
Stratiles, is; m. A robber on the high-way.
Stratumino, as; Coop. To pave.
Straulum; n. Gloss. A quiver.
Strenax; cupidus, Gl. Isid. à Strena.
Strepa, æ; f. A stirrup.
Streptum; στρεπτὸν. A wreath; a tent for a wound.
Strichnos; Coop. vid. Strychnus.
Striclatus, a, um; Gl. pro Striatus.
Strictinella; corr. pro Strictivella.
Strictorium. A basket to gather fruit in; also a close-bodied coat, Gl.
Strigilo, as; Gloss. To curry a horse.
Striglarius; Gl. pro Strigarius. A chamberer of wood or stone.
Strundius, vel Struntius; M. στρουθὸς. Dung, ordure.
Strupes; Isid. id. quod Scalmus.
Strupum; Gloss. id. quod Struppus.
Strutjus; Isid. corr. pro Struthium.
Stuba, æ; f. M. A stove.
Stultizo, as. To play the fool.
Suadēna; Caspar. Gl. A kind of fish.
Suates, is; m. qui facit sudes.
Subacio, as. To hide under ones arm.
Subalvalia; intestina, Cerd. Guts.
Subaxillare; clanculare, Gloss.
Subhirci; m. pl. Isid. The arm-pits.
Subitillus, vel Subutulus; Gl. A cake baked suddenly; a hasty-pudding; also an under coat: pro Subucula.
Subjux, & Subjunx, Cath. vid. Subjugis.
Sublingulum; Isid. The weasand.
Submeics, submetulus, Gloss. Isid. & Cerd. A Petticoat.
Subpulmentarius: Cerd. An under-almner.
Subructio; Gl. pro Subrutio, à subruo.
Subrugo; Gl. pro Subruo. To root up.
Subsies; qui subrus sedet, Gl. Isid.
Subucula; f. A kind of garment which Priests wore: fort. à Subucula.
Succedo, inis; f. A Barbers razor.
Succidarium vinum. Muscadel.
Succo, ōnis; m. Gl. A sucker; a farmer of customs, a gatherer of duties.
Sudaria, æ; f. A horse-cloth.
Suffo, onis; m. Par. Semi-bread, an herb.
Suffragus, a, um; Gl. Broken-thighed.
Suffusor vel Suffusus. A winching horse.
Suillinosus, a, um; Cerd. Swinish.
Sulpur; Gl. corr. pro Sulphur.
Sulzica; salivum, Isid.
Summentum; Gl. sub mento. The throat.
Sumnis; impeditio in legibus, Pap.
Sumptorium; Cerd. A spoon or little ladle, which they used about the Chalice.
Sunnia; n. pl. Cerd. Excuses, delayes.
Supalta; Gloss. pro Suppacta, M.
Superalia; f. Gl. An upper garment.
Superba; f. Off. A pink, a single gilly-flower.
Superula; Cerd. An upper garment.
Suppa, æ; f. Cerd. A kind of garment.
Supparia, æ; f. Gl. Isid. idem.
Suppedia, æ; f. Help, aid, assistance.
Suppes, & Suppis, Gl. Isid. supinis pedibus; vid. Suppus.
Supra, æ; f. Gl. corr. pro Sura.
Surcarium; n. super carnem. A shirt or sark.
Surcus; m. vallum. A trench. v. Sulcus.
Surgunides; Cerd. Turkish colonies.
Surregulus, i; m. A Vicegerent.
Susis; adv. sursum, Gloss. Upward.
Susurrium; Cerd. Private confession.
Sutermum; σαγεῖον. A Semsters shop.
Sutulares; Cerd. Shoes open above and close below.
Sutum, ti; n. A quilt.
Syacion; Gesn. qu. Cuirass. & Syæna; σύαινα, Opp. porcellus pricis.
Sympsalma; Isid. quod simul psallitur.
Synagris; Gesn. A kind of fish.
Synoris; paritas, concordia, Cerd.
Synzügo, as; Hug. To yoke together.
Syphar; n. Coop. σύφαρ. A snakes cast skin.
Sypharium; Coop. pro Siparium.
Syris; Coop. Corn kept in the ground and covered with chaff.
Syrium; Coop. & Syræum, & Siræum; σιραῖον, lat. sapa. Boiled wine.
Systatica literæ; Cerd. A Passport.
Sytropedes; corr. pro Chytropodes.

T.

Tabentum; Gl. A kind of spongy stone.
Tabernio; m. Gl. A Taverner.
Tabetura, æ; f. A Consumption.
Tabo, is; Gloss. id. quod Taboo.
Tabulus, li; m. Gl. id. quod Tabula.
Tædiosus, a, um; Gl. Tedious.
Tæditudo, inis; f. Gl. Weariyomness.
Tafidus, a, um; credulus.
Talarus; m. Gloss. A basket; also the joint of the hand or foot.
Talatrum; Gl. Roughness of the skin.
Talax; scaurus, Gl. Il. Bunch-ankled.
Talia, æ; f. Const. Fr. A levy or tax.
Talitius; Gl. A blow on the ankle: al. lez. Talitrus.
Talla, æ; f. Gloss. id. quod Talia.
Talpicidus, di; m. A Mole-catcher.
Tames; cruor, sanguis, Gl. v. Tama.
Tano, as. To tan, leather.
Tantalus, i; m. ardea. An Heron.
Taratantarium; n. Cath. A Min-clack; also a boulting-sieve.
Taratha, vel Taracha; v. Tarnca, Gl.
Taratrum, tri; n. The Beam.
Tarichus, chi; m. ταρίχος. Salt fish; also powdered flesh.
Tarnca, æ; f. Gloss. A Royal robe.
Taxidium; Cerd. ταξείδιον. A garrison about a City.
Tectamentum; Gl. A cottage or roof.
Tecto, as; freq. Gloss. To cover.
Tectoriatus, a, um; Gl. Plastered.
Tegellaria; venetica, Gl. Isid. l. Tegularia.
Tegenarius; quitegetes facit, Gl. σκηνοποιὸς. l. Tegetarius.
Tegestas; f. Gl. A cover or cottage.
Telabria; f. dim. à Tela, Isid.
Telepes; Gloss. τελεσπὲς.
Tellenz; tricæ, Cerd. Trifles.
Tello, ōnis; m. Coop. vid. Tolleno.
Telonarius; m. Coop. A toll-gatherer, a Custom-house man.
Teloxa, æ; f. Gl. The herb Centaury.
Temetura, æ; f. Gl. Drunkenness.
Tenabula. A poor mans table.
Tenacium; n. The flesh of an apple.
Tenda, æ; f. Cerd. A tent.
Tendates; qu. Dentates. Great-tooth'd.
Tenia; f. Coop. corr. pro Tænia.
Tenites; qui potest tenere, Isid. rect. teneri, M.
Tenius; Gl. rariplus; Tenuis, M.
Tentores; m. pl. Gloss. Those who at races took care, that the chariots should set out together.
Teratrum; Gl. A trifle or matter.
Terbichetum, i; n. A cocking-stool.
Tergè; à tergo, Gl. Behind one: also Tergilla;

Tergilla, vel Tergillum; χοῖρος δέρμα, Gl. A hogs skin.

Tergimentum; ὁπλωμα, Gl. That which is put into the scales to make even weight.

Tergium; Gl. Flight or running away.

Terimentum; nutrimentum, Gl. Isid.

Termentum, detrimentum, M.

Terion; Gloss. θηρίον, bestia.

Terminalium; Jun. Elicampane.

Termis, itis; Isid. corr. pro Termes.

Terræmolum; Gloss. terræ mãlum.

Terratoria; f. A cottage; also a mat.

Terricidium. A turf or clod of earth.

Terriclæ; Gloss. χαμαιδὰκ. Dishes made with flakes.

Terro, is; Gloss. id. quod Terreo.

Tersito, as; Gloss. To cry like a Duck.

Testuo, as; Pap. To gueld.

Testuca, æ; f. ancilla libera facta.

Teto; m. & Tetus; m. Isid. v. Teta.

Tetraïdos; Isid. rect. Tetraïdes, τετραειδὴς. A perfume, &c. made of four sorts.

* Tetras, adis; f. τετρὰς, quaternarius.

Tetrimo, as. To swim like a Duck.

* Teuthis; Gaz. τευθὶς. A kind of Cuttle-fish, without a bear.

* Teuthomalache, es; f. Ruell. gr. Spinage, an herb.

Texera, æ; f. vid. Tessera.

Thamnus; Gl. Θαμνὸς. A bush.

Tharia, æ; f. Coop. Pickle for fish.

Themilla; f. θῆλυς, Gl. Thecula, M.

Theodorium, ii; n. White marl.

* Thermanticus, a, um; Isid. Θερμαντικὸς, calfactivus.

Thermastris; Jun. A vessel to heat water, used by Goldsmiths.

Thermefacio, Θερμὸν, i. calidum facio.

Thingo, as; Gl. mãnumitto, dono.

Thinx; donatio, Gloss.

Thiubda; furtum, M. Thievery.

Thladias, æ; m. Θλαδίας, n. Thlibias.

Thlasias, æ; m. idem; à Θλάω.

Thrinso, as. To cry like a Swallow.

* Thrion; n. Θρίον. A fig-leaf.

* Thrombosis; f. The curdling of the milk in the breast.

Thryalis; vide Thryallis.

* Thryon; n. Θρύον. Raging Nightshade.

* Thylacitis nardus. White poppy.

Tibicilum; n. A rotten thread.

Tichodifrus; m. à τεῖχος murus & δίφρος currus. An engine to hale wheels to scale walls with.

Tiara; ilicetæ, Scal.

Timallus; Isid. vid. Thymallus.

* Timiopõla, æ; m. Coop. τιμιοπώλης. An ingrosser or regrater, who buys up things to make them dear.

Timulus; m. Gl. A Water-snake with six teeth, which swims on his back.

Timus; annulus parvus.

Tinaria, æ; f. The Moon.

Tingatio, mutua donatio, Pap.

Tinia, æ; f. Gloss. vid. Tinea.

Tiniatus, a, um; Gloss. Moth-eaten.

Tinino, as. To cry like a Tumouse.

Tinniso; m. Gloss. A beast with a rough sharp skin.

Tinnulum; plectrum, Gloss.

Tipica; febris periodica, Gloss.

Tirinus; vino plenus.

Titia; nutricum vox, Gl.

Titillosus, a, um; Gl. Ticklish.

Tittex, vel Titrex, μύστης, Gl. Phil.

Titula; Gloss. corr. pro Tutela.

Tocuis; calculus, quo limites signantur, Isid. v. Tocha.

Togipurium; toga pura, Gl. Isid.

Tolletum; focarium. A fire-hearth.

Toluberna; m. Gl. qu. tolis, i. gulæ verna. A Shark.

Tolus; τρυπὴν, Gl. Phil. Tudes, M. A pestle, &c.

Tonelius; m. Cerd. A tunnel.

Tongillatim; sigillatim, Gl. Isid.

Toperillus; m. MS. A top.

Torcula, æ; f. Gloss. vid. Torcular.

Tormento, as. To torment.

Tornamen; Ludus Trojanus.

Torquella; f. vid. Torquilla.

Torta, & Tortula; f. M. A roll of bread.

Toryna; f. Coop. A kitchin instrument, wherewith the pot is removed.

Tostatus, a, um; Gloss. Toasted.

Trabeo. To play the Carpenter.

Trabucchus; M. An engine to throw down great stones upon an enemy.

Trachida, Trachina & Trachurus; Coop. A Bansickle a fish.

Trachyno, as; C. τραχύνω, asperum facio.

Tragœa; f. A physical powder.

Tragonatum; Dod. Wild campion.

Tramellum; n. A thimble.

Tramitica. A kind of little tree.

Tranix; m. A branch of a tree.

Tranquilla, æ; f. A Kings-fisher.

Transcentia; corr. pro Transenna.

Translatius, a, um. Ordinary, common.

Trasion, Traston, Coop. qu. θραυστὸν friabile. The best sort of gum Ammoniack.

Traver; ξυρὸν χειρὸς, Gl. Cyr. qu. travorans pilos. A Barbers razor.

Trefallus; Gloss. vid. Triphallus.

Trementura; Gl. v. Temetura, Gl.

Trepedica; Cerd. A drench or poison.

Treuga, æ; f. A truce.

Triarchus; Coop. pro Trierarchus.

Tribax; adj. Common, usual.

Tricapitrinus; Gl. Three-headed.

Trichaptum; Hes. A womans cawl.

Tricodatus; τρίτομος, Gl. Phil. Cut into three parts. M. leg. Tricodicatus, i. in tres codices seu tomos divisus.

Trifilum; Gl. A necklace with three rows of pearl.

Trimorinus, a, um; Gl. That hath three faces.

Trinna, æ; f. Gl. τριτία. The space of three years.

Triplum; n. A vessel like a basket.

Tripodium; Gl. τρίπους. A stool; a tressel.

Tripondes; homines recèns baptizati, quasi triplici pondere, fidei, spei & charitatis graves.

Trisagium; τρισάγιον, hymnus in Græc's Ecclesiis.

Trissilis; Isid. sc. ollæ, τρισσαὶ λεῖς. Trevets, or three-legged pots.

Trisyrticus, a, um; Cerd. Tripartite.

Tritalogus; M. qui res tritas λέγει, i. loquitur.

Tritilis, le; Isid. τριπὴς, qui teri potest.

Tritorium; n. Gl. A mortar or pestle.

Tritus; Stup. τρίβος. The part that we sit, stand or lean upon; as the buttocks, feet and elbows.

Trogula; f. Gl. M. vid. Trochlea.

Trogulus; m. A Friers cowl or hood.

Tronossa; f. Parac. A honey-dew.

Troparium; Meurs. A section of the Psalter.

Tropia; τρυγίας. Pulled dead wine.

Tropice, es; Coop. A Bulrush, the seed whereof will make one sleep.

Trox; Jun. τρὼξ, à τρώγω. A worm breeding in pulse.

Troxallis; Gloss. vid. Tryxalis.

Trucito, as. To cry like a Mavis.

Trufator; m. A debauch'd fellow, a cheat.

Trugeo; nosco. Trugitio; notio.

Trussulus; Gl. A thick dwarf.

Trustis; Cerd. Trust or fealty.

Trutannia, æ; f. Trewancy.

Trutannizo, as. To play the truant.

Trutannus; i; m. A Truant.

Trutillo, as; Scal. The note or tune of certain small birds.

Truvus, a, um; Olla truva, Scal. A boiling pot.

Tucularis; f. Dod. Cotton-weed.

Tucus; Isid. A Cuckow.

Tudatus, i; m. A jobbernoll, a beetle-head.

Tuditanus, i; m. idem.

Tudito, onis; m. Gloss. A club.

Tudus; ἰρίδιωνος, Gl. Phil. A Robin-red-breast. Vid. Todus.

Tufa; Cerd. A banner or ensign.

Tuldum; quod quis tollit ad iter, Cuj.

Tules; m. τραχείδημα, tonsillæ.

Tulutanus; Gl. corr. pro Tulutarius.

Tumex; Cumex. A pump, a wale; also a cork, θύμη, ξ.

Tumix; Gloss. A drum.

Turbasis; Coop. Starch made of wheat-bran or cuckow-pat roots.

Turbelix; Gl. al. Turdelix. A kind of bird.

Turbinus; m. Gl. pro Turbo. A top.

Turbistrum. A thing which makes the dye sink into the wool.

Turbith; Off. A root much used in Physick to purge flegm.

Turbus; pro Turbo. A childs top.

Turges, is; f. Συγμὸς. The pulse of the artery; also an ear-squake.

Turmarcha, æ; m. Cerd. A Captain of a troop.

Tusconicus lapis; Isid. A stone which leaps and bounces in the fire.

Tutio; f. Gl. A caution or defence.

Tyrsius, i; m. Isid. vide Thyrsus.

Tzacones. Souldiers that guarded the Emperours person.

Tzanga. A Royal shoo or pantofle.

Tzycanisterium; M. A Bak-court.

V.

Vacantivus, a, um; M. id. quod Vacans.

Vadiatus, a, um; Pap. Entred into friendship.

Vadium; n. id. quod Vadimonium.

Vagiones; Gl. Certain kind of ships.

Vagna, seu Cuppa; βάτις μικρὰ, Gl.

Vagurio, is; Gl. To cry like a child.

Valetro; m. Cath. A glutton, a smell-feast.

Valgustus; fustis uncus, Isid.

Vanaum; Cerd. id. quod Bandum.

Vanga; f. An iron tool to work with.

Varguus; m. Gloss. A lisper.

Varica, æ; f. Avic. A master vein.

Vartivus, a, um; Gloss. Crooked.

Vascarago; Gl. The herb Chamelæm.

Vascosus, a, um; Gl. That hath ringing ears.

Vaſcus, a, um; Scal. idem: it. inanis, levis.

Vaſellus; m. dim. à Vas, Gloſſ.

Vaſtrapes; feminalia; Gloſſ. Phil. al. leg. Veſtipes.

Vaſſus, i; m. A client; a ſurety, Gloſſ.

Vaſus, i; m. Gloſſ. A veſſel.

Vatilum; πυρόμμιν. M. leg. Batillum.

Vatiola; f. Gl. A cup: vid. Batiola.

Ubalbalia; ὑπερα, Gl. Cyr. qu. alba ilia, M. The entrails or bowels.

Udor; m. ὑγρασία, Gloſſ. Moiſture.

Vectes. The deep channels of the ſea.

Vectuale, lis; n. Fraight-money.

Vectula, æ; f. A dung-barrow.

Veſäba, æ; f. A little ſmall bean.

Vegentana; f. Gl. pro Veientana.

Vegrus, a, um; Gloſſ. Mad.

Vehilla, æ; f. A beaſt for burden.

Velia; f. Gaz. ἰλία. A kind of little Bird.

Vellea, æ; f. Polit. A beg.

Vellenſis; f. A dry pelt with the wooll on.

Velothyrum, ri; n. A Canopy.

Vendipirus, ra. A Pear-monger.

Venēla, æ; f. Med. Gr. Bane, poyſon.

Veneripeta; m. A whore-monger.

Venetui oculi. Blood-ſhot eyes.

Venox; venæ indagator; M. ex Scal.

Ventaneus, a, um. Seeming dangerous where no danger is.

Ventilogium; n. Med. Gr. A weather-cock.

Ventimŏla, æ; f. A wind-mill.

Ventricola, æ; c. g. A belly-god.

Veractum; n. corr. pro Vervactum.

Veraulum; corr. pro Verculum.

Verbōſor, aris; i. verbosè loquor.

Verbuſtus, a, um; Barb. pro Verboſus.

Vercŏla; c. g. M. qui colit Venerem.

Verenes; Iſid. Some kind of implements of husbandry.

Verifico, as. To verifie a thing.

Vernacellus; m. A Clark that called to Church, where there were no bells.

Veronica, æ; f. The Vernacle, or picture of Chriſts face upon a Handkercher.

Verticularius, ii; m. A Burglar or breaker of houſes.

Vertigus, ûs; m. A whirling round.

Vertinella, æ; f. A gem or ring.

Verton, ōnis; Decr. Pont. The fourth part which belongs to the Biſhop.

Vevina, æ; f. Coop. A long dart.

Viaculus; m. Gl. A Surveyor of High-wayes.

Victricus; Coop. corr. pro Vitticus.

Victulus, li; m. Scholars commons.

Vidubium, vel Viduvium; τριέτιον χρέος, Gl. mulcta ſive pœna viduitatis.

Viecula, æ; f. A ſhort ſpace of time.

Vietus, ti; m. Coop. The hoop or ſtreak of a cart.

Viltrum; n. Par. corr. pro Filtrum.

Vincinulus; m. corr. pro Uncinulus.

Vingum; n. An herb, wherewith the Egyptians crown'd their altars.

Vinnus; m. Iſid. A curled buſh of hair.

Vinulata vox; Iſid. A quavering voice.

Virgobretus; Gl. A kind of Magiſtrate.

Viriculum; corr. pro Veruculum.

Viridico, as. To be or make green.

Virilizo; armillæ, prop. virorum, Iſid.

Virops; quæ jam opus habet viro, Iſid.

Virtuoſus, a, um. Virtuous.

Viſcarago; f. Iſid. The herb Chameleon.

Viſco, is; vid. Villio, Gloſſ.

Viſpilo; m. qu. vi ſpolians.

Viſſio, is, ire; βύω, Gloſſ. To foiſt.

Viſſium; n. βύσμα, Gl. Cyr. A foiſt.

Vitalitium; n. A livelyhood.

Viticella, æ; f. Iſid. White Bryony.

Viticionia, æ; f. Iſid. A kind of vine with great grapes but few.

Vitiflora, æ; f. Gaz. vid. Oenanthe.

Vitulia, æ; f. M. A fiddle.

Ulpha, æ; f. Paſture-ground. v. Ulva.

Umanus, a, um; Feud. pro Humanus.

Umbiliſeca; f. A Midwife that cuts the childs navel.

Umerale; n. Feud. pro Humerale.

Umor; m. Feud. pro Humor.

Unalis, le; ἰνιχός. Of one.

Undator; m. A water-bearer.

Ungularius; m. A great ragged nail.

Unicuba; f. μονολεχής, Gl. A woman that lies but with one man.

Unigāmus; m. μονόγαμος. That hath married but once.

Uniteſtis; Gl. μονόχορος.

Unx, cis; corr. pro Uncia.

Vociferarius; φωνασκητής, Gl. qui vociferationem moderatur.

Vociſſimus; ἠχώ, Gl. Vocis ſimius, Vulc.

Volōna, æ; m. Pap. vid. Bolona.

Volubrum; id. quod Volutabrum.

Volucritium; n. A bird-cage.

Voluculum; n. Cerd. A ſmall ſcroll.

Volvus; m. Cerd. The rolling or caſting up of the eyes.

Vomax; Cerd. Impure, debauched.

Upibilia, æ; f. Cerd. The Goddeſs of conduct, to keep men in the right way.

Uränus; οὐρανός, cœlum, Pap.

Urbicarius; Cerd. A compoſer or actor of civil plays or Comedies.

Urinaculum; Stup. οὐρανός. Childrens water-paſſage in the womb.

Uro, as. To ſet in a heat.

Uſia, æ; f. Iſid. A Hog-houſe.

Uſnea, æ; f. Serap. Moſs upon trees.

Uſtrucco, as. To bury or intomb.

Uſūro, as. To lend upon uſury.

Utrince; adv. corr. pro Utrinque.

Uvaga, æ; f. A weight of cheeſe or wooll of two hundred fifty ſix pounds.

Vulgoſus, a, um. Populous.

W.

Wadium; pignus, Calv. v. Vadium, Gl.

Wardia; bannitus, it. relevium.

Warranda, æ; f. A Warrant.

Warrando, as. To warrand.

X.

Xanthicus; ξανθικός, menſis Aprilis ap. Macedones.

Xantria; f. Gl. ξάντρεια. A carder of wool.

Xerium; n. ξήριον. A dry plaiſter.

Xeropellina, æ; f. An over-worn pelt.

Xiſinum; n. Pavac. Vinegar.

Xylophylax; m. ξυλοφύλαξ. A foreſter.

Xylopōla, æ; m. ξυλοπώλης. A Wood-monger.

Xyſtra, æ; f. A wiſp or rubbing-cloth.

Y.

Yrcus, i; m. Parac. A male-coney.

Yſopum, i; n. Offic. Ὕσσωπος.

Z.

Zaba, æ; f. Gloſſ. A coat of mail.

Zaberna, æ; f. A preſs for cloaths.

Zalatum. A precious ſtone like haſil.

Zangarius. The Kings Shoe-maker.

Zaphirus; m. Geſn. A gilt-head fiſh.

* Zeopyron, i; n. Spell. Wheat.

Zereth; ר. An Hebrew meaſure of nine inches.

Zeuxus; m. A quadrate or ſquare.

Zigarus; m. C. A ſtrolling Thief, a Gypſie.

Zinſāla, æ; f. A gnat with long legs.

Zirbus; Gorrh. id. quod Omentum.

Zophodorpides; M. ex ζόφος tenebræ & δόρπος cœna. One who uſeth to ſup late.

Zotheca; f. A skreen, curtain or partition of a chamber.

Zucārum, i; n. P. M. Sugar.

Zulapium, ii; n. A Julep.

Zythepſarium, ii; n. A Brew-houſe.

Syllabus Vocabulorum quorundam Forenſium, quæ in Jure Anglico Municipali occurrunt.

ANN ATT BOR

A Batamentum. The Abatement of a Writ, when upon ſome default the Plaintiffs ſuit ceaſes for a time.

Abbrocamentum. A kind of foreſtalling the market.

Abutto, as. To Abbut, bound or border upon.

Acquietantia, æ; f. An Acquittance or diſcharge.

Acquieto, as. To Acquit or diſcharge.

Adjournamentum. An Adjournment of a Court.

Admiralis, Admiralius & Admirallus. An Admiral.

Ægyptianus, i; m. A Gypſie.

Æiſnecia, æ; f. Elderſhip, birthright.

Afferatores; m. pl. Afferers, who are appointed in Court Leets to ſet fines upon offenders.

Affidare mulierem, Brac. To be betrothed to her.

Affidatio, onis; f. verb. The betrothing of a woman; alſo the doing fealty to a Lord.

Affidatus, a, um. Betrothed; ingaged by fealty.

Affidatus, i; m. A Tenant by fealty.

Afforeſto, as. To Afforeſt, to turn ground into foreſt.

Affrus, i; m. & Affra, æ; f. A Bullock; a Heyfer.

Agreamentum. An Agreement.

Aiſiamentum. An Eaſement or convenience, which one neighbour has of another.

Alba firma, Spel. Rent paid to the Lord of the Hundred in ſilver coin.

Aldermannus, i; m. An Alderman; formerly an Earl.

Alepimannus, i; m. Spel. A kind of Vaſſal.

Allocatio, onis; f. An Allowance upon account.

Alodarius, ii; m. Coke. A Lord of a Mannor.

Alodium. A free Mannor. V. Allodium.

Altaragium; obventio altaris. Offerings and all ſmall Tythes due to the Prieſt.

Amendatio, onis; f. The Amendment of an Error in a Proceſs.

Amerciamentum. An Amerciament or pecuniary puniſhment at the mercy of the Lord.

Amortizatio, onis; f. Amortiſement or the putting of an eſtate into Mortmain.

Ancoragium. Ancorage, a duty that ſhips pay in the Haven, when they caſt Anchor.

Andena, æ; f. A ſwath in mowing.

Annates, um; f. pl. Annats or Firſt fruits.

Apportionamentum. Apportionment, or dividing of a Rent into parts, according as the land is ſhared betwixt two, or more.

Apprenticius, ii; m. à Gall. apprendre, i. diſcere. An Apprentice to a trade.

Apprenticius legis. A Barreſter, a Counſeller.

Approbator, oris; m. Brac. An Approver, one who confeſſes Felony, and appeals or accuſes others alſo of the ſame, which he was bound to prove by combat or by the countrey. Approbatores Regis, Stat. The Kings Approvers, who had the letting of his Demeans to the beſt advantage.

Argentum Dei. Gods penny; money given in earneſt.

Arpennus, i; m. An Arpent or aker of ground.

Arraiatores; m. pl. Commiſſioners of Array.

Arrectatus, a, um. Arrected; charged and called to account; q.d. ſet to rights.

Arreſto, as. To Arreſt, to ſeiſe on perſon or goods.

Arrura, æ; f. pro Aratura. Plowing and harrowing.

Aſſaia, æ; f. à Gall. Eſſay. The examination of weights and meaſures by the Clark of the market.

Aſſaiſiator, oris; m. The Aſſay-maſter of the Mint.

Aſſartum, i; n. Cromp. A piece of Foreſt or Wood-land, grub'd up and cleared of Trees and Buſhes, and fitted for tillage.

Aſſecuratio; f. Policy of aſſurance.

Aſſeſſor, ōris; m. An Aſſeſſer of publick taxes.

Aſſiſa, æ; f. An Aſſiſe or Seſſions of Judges and Juſtices; alſo a Jury; alſo a Statute or Ordinance, Littl. alſo ſeveral Writs (in caſe of Diſſeiſin) ſo called; as* Aſſiſa mortis anteceſſoris, Aſſiſa ultimæ præſentationis, &c. alſo the ſize, quantity or ſcantling of a thing.

Aſſiſores; m. pl. Spel. Keepers of Aſſize; alſo Aſſeſſors or Taxers; alſo Jury-men.

Atia, æ; f. Hatred, ill-will.

Attachiamentum. An Attachment.

Attachio, as; à Gall. attacher, i. alligare. To Attach or take a perſon upon a Writ.

Attermino, as. To gain longer time for payment of a debt.

Attincta, æ; f. An Attaint, a Writ againſt a Jury, for giving a falſe Verdict.

Attinctura, æ; f. An Attainder.

Attinctus, a, um. Attainted or found guilty.

Attornamentum. An Attournment, or a Tenants acknowledgement to a new Lord.

Atturnatus, i; m. An Atturney, one appointed by another man to do any thing in his ſtead.

Avera, æ; f. à Gall. ouvre, opera. A dayes work of a Plow-man.

Averagium. Average, a ſervice due from the Tenant with horſe or cart; alſo a ſmall duty Merchants pay to the Maſter of the Ship for his care of their goods.

Averia, orum; n. Cattle, horſes or oxen.

Auſturcus, i; m. A Goſhawk; whence the Faulkner called an Auſtriger.

B.

Baliva, æ; f. A Bailywick.

Bancus, i; m. A Bench or ſeat of judgement: alſo a Bank of money.

Banerettus, ti; m. eques vexillarius. A Knight Banneret.

Bannum, i; n. à Br. Ban, i. clamor. A proclamation or publick notice given of a thing; the Banns of Matrimony.

Barbicanum. A Barbican; a watch-tower, or bulwark or breaſt-work.

Barkaria, æ; f. A Tan-houſe or Houſe to keep Bark in.

Barra, æ; f. A Bar, where Lawyers plead; alſo a ſtep to an action.

Barraſterius, ii; m. A Barraſter.

Baſtardus, i; m. à Brit. A Baſtard.

Batellus, i; m. & Batella, æ; f. dim. A little boat.

Batus, i; m. à Sax. bat, cymba. A Boat.

Bedellus, i; m. à Sax. bydel. A Cryer of a Court; a Keeper of a Priſon, an under Bailiff of a Mannor.

Bercaria, æ; f. à Gall. bergerie. A ſheep-coat; alſo a ſheep-walk.

Berquarium, ii; n. idem.

Bertona, æ; f. A Barton or court-yard to keep poultry in.

Berwica, æ; f. Sax. villa frumentaria. A Village belonging to ſome Town or Mannor.

Beſca, æ; f. A Spade or ſhovel.

Beſcata, æ; f. A plat of ground digged.

Bigamia, æ; f. Bigamy.

Bilancium, ii; n. A pair of Weights to weigh Wooll.

Billa, æ; f. A Bill, obligatory or declaratory.

Bladonicum molendinum. A corn-mill.

Bladum, i; n. Corn on the ground, in the Blade.

Boëra, æ; f. pro Wera. A Weir in a river.

Bordagium. The tenure of Bord lands.

Bordarii; m. pl. Boors, Cottagers, that held Bord-lands.

Borduanni; m. pl. idem.

Boſcagium n. Boſcage; Mast and brouze for cattel in the woods.

Boſcarium, a Wood-houſe or Ox-houſe.

Boſſinus, i; m. A kind of rustick Wind-instrument, made of barks peeled.

Botha, æ; f. A Booth, stall or standing in a fair or market.

Bovata terræ. An Ox-gang of land, as much as one Ox can plow.

Bovcria, æ; f. An Ox-house, an Ox-stall.

Braſiator; m. A Brewer; also a Maltster.

Briga, æ; f. A quarrel or contention.

Brocarius, ii; m. *An Exchange-*Broker, *or a pawn-*broker.

Broccarius, ii; m. idem.

Brochia, æ; f. Brach. A kind of bottle or vessel to carry drink in.

Bruarium; n. A Heath-ground.

Bunda, æ; f. A Bound.

Burcheta, æ; f. A urna of Gun.

Burgagium. A dwelling-house in a Burrough-town; also a Tenure by which the inhabitants of a burrough hold.

Buſcarli; m. pl. Mariners or sea-men, that look to the ports of heaven.

Buſones; m. pl. The chief leading men in a County.

Buthſecarli; Vid. Buſcarli.

C.

Cablicia; n. pl. Cablish; Brush-wood or Bramble-wood; or rather wind-falne wood. Al. ſcrib. olim Cadibula.

Cacepollus, i; m. A Catchpol.

Calangium; n. A challenge, a claim, a dispute.

Calceata, æ; f. A Cause-way.

Calcetum, i; n. idem. A Causey.

Cambio, ās. To exchange.

Campio, ōnis; m. A Champion, that fights combats in his own or anothers quarrel.

Cantaria, æ; f. A Chauntrey.

Cantredus, i; m. A Hundred of a Shire in Wales, a Cantred.

Capellaria, æ; f. A Chappelry or Hamlet with a Chappel in it.

Careta, æ; f. A Cart.

Carectata, æ; f. A Cart-load.

Carectarius, ii; m. A Carter.

Carreta, æ; f. A cart or wain-load.

Carrucha, æ; f. A Carrick or Carrack, a ship of great burthen.

Carrucata, æ; f. A Plough-land; also a Wain-load.

Carvagium. Vid. Carucagium.

Carucagium. A Tax by Plough-land.

Caſamentum; id. quod Caſatum.

Caſatum, i; n. A House and Land sufficient to maintain one family.

Caſtelgardum. Castelward; a duty payed by those who dwelt near any Castle for the maintenance of such as watched and warded it.

Catalla, orum; n. pl. Chattles, all goods moveable or unmoveable.

Caursini; m. pl. Italian Bankers here in England, about the year 1235. that called themselves the Popes Merchants.

Caya, æ; f. A Kay or Water-lock.

Cellerarius, ii; m. A kind of Steward in a Monastery.

Ceragium. Wax-shot or Wax-co, paid towards the charge of wax-lights in Church.

Chachepollus, i; m. A Catchpol, a Serjeant, a Baily.

Chaſea, æ; f. A Chase.

Chevagium. Chevage or Chiefage; Head-money or Poll-money.

Cheviſe; f. pl. The heads of plow-lands.

Chiminagium. A Toll for going through a forest with Carts or Horses loaded.

Chimlnus, i; m. Gall. Chemin. A way.

Chota, æ; f. A Cot or Cottage.

Chules; pl. Keyles or Reels, long boats used by the Saxons.

Clameum, i; n. A Claim.

Clauſum Paſchæ. The day after the Octaves of Easter.

Coggo, ōnis; m. A Cog, a kind of Boat or Ship.

Coifa, æ; f. A Serjeants Coif.

Cokertum; n. A Cocket at the Custom-house.

Commune, is; n. A Common. Commune paſturæ, A common of pasture; piſcariæ, of fishing; turbariæ, of digging turf.

Conortha, æ; f. A Contribution.

Concelatores; m. pl. Concealers, that find out concealed lands, which belong to the King.

Conſtabularius, ii; m. A Constable.

Contenementum; n. The Countenance or credit and reputation of a man.

Contrafactio, ōnis; f. A Counterfeiting.

Contrarotulator m. A Controller.

Coraagium; Brac. A payment of corn to the King by way of Purveyance.

Cornagium. A Tenure in the North by the Horn, which they were to blow upon any inrode of the Scots.

Corrodium; n. A Corody, an allowance for the maintenance of a servant of the Kings in an Abby, with meat, drink and cloaths.

Corporatio, onis; f. A Corporation or body of men incorporate.

Cotagium; n. A Cotage, a house with land belonging to it.

Cothlanda & Cothſethlanda, æ; f. Spel. A Cotage or farm with some land belonging to it.

Cottarius, ii; m. A Cottager.

Covina, æ; f. Covine or deceit.

Cranagium. Cranage; liberty to make use of a Crane for the drawing up of water: also money paid for the use of it.

Creca, æ; f. A Creek or landing-place.

Croftus, i; m. & Crofta, æ; f. A Croft or little close near a house.

Culagium. The laying of a ship in the Dock to be repaired.

Culvertagium. Turning of tail, cowardise.

Cunagium. Coynage of money: also the weighing and stamping of Tinn, after it is wrought.

Cuneus, i; m. A Mint or place to coin money in.

Curtana, æ; f. Edward the Confessors Sword, carried before the Kings of England at their Coronation.

Curtilagium; n. A Garden or Back-side, a Fold.

Cyuli; m. pl. id. quod Giules.

D.

Deafforeſtare, as. To discharge from being Forest; or to free and exempt from Forest-laws.

De bene eſſe. To pass at present till further examination.

Decemchus; Vid. Decenarius.

Decenarius, ii; m. A Decener or Decenner or Dozener, the chief man of a Dozein, who was to maintain the Kings peace in such a circuit, and to take surety of peoples behaviour; also one who had sworn to the Kings peace.

Decenna, æ; f. A Dozein, the precinct of a Leet.

Decennaria, æ; f. The compass of ten Friburgs.

Defaltum, i; n. A Default.

Deforciamentum; n. A Detorcement, or taking away an estate by force from the right owner.

Deforciator, oris; m. A Deforcer, that keeps out the right heir.

Deforcio, as. To Deforce or keep one out of his own by force.

Deliberatio; f. Delivery. Deliberatio ſeiſinæ; Livery of Seisin.

Delibero, as. To deliver.

Denariata terræ. An Aker of land; or, as others, a Perch.

Deodandum, i; n. A Deodand, or thing to be given to God for having been instrumental to the death of a person.

Deraiſina, æ; f. Derein, a Norman Law.

Dieta, æ; f. Brac. A days journey.

Diratione, as. To Deraign or Dereyn, to prove and make good.

Diſabilitas, atis; f. Disability.

Diſboſcatio; f. A turning of Woodlands into Arable or Pasture.

Diſcarcatio, onis; f. An unloading.

Diſcenſus, ūs; m. A Dissent of lands, &c.

Diſcontinuatio; f. Discontinuance.

Diſparagatio; f. A Disparagement, especially the matching of an heir below his degree.

Diſratiocinatio; f. A Detreinment or proof.

Diſrationo, as; v. Diratione. To traverse.

Diſſeiſina, æ; f. A Disseisin.

Dola, æ; f. A Dole, a part or share in a meadow.

Domicella, æ; f. A Damsel.

Domicellus, i; m. A man or young Gentleman.

Drengagium. The Tenure of the Drenges.

Drengi; m. pl. Some who at the Conquerors coming in lost their estates, and had them restored again, holding from the King in capite.

E.

Effractor; m. A Burglar, that breaks open a house to steal.

Einecia, æ; f. Eldership.

Emenda, æ; f. Emendals; so much in Bank for repairing of losses: also Amends.

Engleceria, æ; f. Englicerie or Englescheyre; one's being an English-man.

Eſcaetor; m. An Escheator, or Officer in each County, that looks to the Kings Escheats.

Eſcaetria, æ; f. Escheatorship, the office it self.

Eſcambium; n. Exchange.

Eſcapium. An Escape of a thief, an Utlepe.

Eſchaeta, æ; f. An Escheat: an estate, &c. that falls casually to the King or Lord of the Manor.

Eſnetria, æ; f. Eldership or birth-right.

Eſparvarius, ii; m. A Sparhawk.

Eſſonium,

Essoinum, n. Essoin, an excuse for non-appearance.

Estoverium. Estover, maintenance, allowance.

Estrepamentum. Waste made upon Lands or Woods by a Tenant for life.

Excambiator, m. An exchanger of land.

Excultabilis terra. Land that may be tilled or plowed.

Exigenda, æ; f. An Exigent, a Writ requiring a persons appearance to answer the Law.

Exigendarius, ii; m. An Exigenter or Officer of the Common Pleas, that makes those Writs.

Expedito, as; vel Expallo, as. To law a Dog, that is, to cut out the ball, or to cut off the three claws of the fore-foot.

Expletia, orum; n. Triplets, the full profits of land.

Extenta, æ; f. Extent, a Writ to a Sheriff for the valuing of lands.

Extrahura, æ; f. An Estray, a stray-beast.

Eynicia, æ; f. V. Esnecia.

F.

Faida, æ; f. A Feud. V. Feuda.

Falda, æ; f. A sheep-fold.

Faldagium, n. vel Fald-soca, æ; f. The liberty of setting up sheep-folds in any fields; Frankfold.

Faletia, æ; f. A bank or down by the Sea-side.

Faonatio, onis; f. A Fawning or bringing forth young as Does do.

Fardella, æ, f. A Fardel, a fourth, or, as some, an eighth part of a Yard-land.

Felo de se. One who murders himself.

Feofamentum; donatio feudi. A Feoffment, or giving of Lands in fee.

Feofator, m. The Feoffer or giver.

Feofatus, m. The Feoffee or receiver.

Feofirma, æ; f. Feudi firma. A Fee-farm.

Ferdella, æ; f. V. Fardella.

Ferlingata terræ. The fourth part of a Yard-land, viz. ten Acers.

Ferlingus, i; masc. A Ferling or farthing, the fourth part of a penny. Fetlingus vel Ferdlingus terræ. V. Ferlingata.

Fermisona, æ; f. Venison-season in winter.

Feuda, æ; f. A Feud or deadly quarrel.

Fightwita, æ; f. A forfeiture for fighting or breaking the peace.

Filacium, n. A thred or wire to file Writs on; whence Filazers have their name.

Firma, æ; f. A Farm. Firma unius noctis. Provision for or entertainment of the King for one night.

Focagium. Hearth-silver.

Fogagium. Fog, rank grass not eaten in Summer.

Forbator, m. A Forbisher or scourer of armor.

Forera, æ; f. A Head-land or Had-land.

Foresta, æ; f. A Forest.

Forestagium. A Duty to be paid to the King's Forester.

Forestallamentum. A stopping or blocking up of the way.

Forestarius, ii; m. A Forester.

Forinsecarum Oppositor. Foxin Opposer, an officer in the Exchequer.

Forisfactura, æ; f. Forfeiture.

Forjudico, as. To Forejudge.

Forjudicatio, f. Forejudging.

Forjudicatus, a, um. Banished, transported.

Forlandum, i; n. A Foreland.

Forlongum, i; n. A Furlong, eight of which make a mile.

Fornagium. V. Furnagium.

Forprisus, a, um. Foreprised, excepted or reserved.

Forstallum. A Forestall or stoppage of the way; also a forestalling of the Market.

Fortuletum. A Fortlet, a fortified place.

Franchordum. Freehold, the space of two feet, more or less, beyond ones fence.

Francus, a, um. Frank or free.

Friscus, a, um. Fresh. Frisca fortia; Fresh force done within forty days.

Fruscus, a, um; idem. Terra frusca. Fresh land that hath not been long plowed.

Frussura, æ; f. A breach.

Frustrum terræ; pro Frustum. A small piece of land.

Fugacia, æ; f. Chace.

Fumagium. Dung, or manuring with dung.

Furnagium. A fee paid by the Tenants to the Lord for baking in his Oven, or for using one of their own; also Chimney-money.

G.

Gabella, æ; f. A Gabell or custom upon goods.

Gablum, i; n. idem.

Garba, æ; f. A sheaf of corn, of arrows.

Garderoba, æ; f. The Kings Wardrobe.

Garlosillum, i; n. pro Caryophyllum. A Clove.

Garterium, ii; n. A Garter. Equites Garterii. Knights of the Garter.

Geldabilis, le. Gildable, liable to pay tax or tribute.

Geldum, i; n. Geld, a fine or amercement.

Gersoma vel Gersuma, æ; f. A Fine.

Gilda, æ; f. A Guild, a fraternity or company. Gilda aula; Guild-hall.

Giliforata terra. Land held by paying a Gilliflower.

Grangia, æ; f. A Grange or farm.

Gruarius, m. A principal Officer of the Forest.

Guardagium vel Guidagium. Money given to a Guide for safe conduct in a strange place.

Guardia, æ; f. A protection.

Guildhalda Teutonicorum. The Steelyard in London.

Gula Augusti. V. Durand. The first day of August.

Gloallowum, n. Gloallow, a place where a Gallows stands, any place of execution.

H.

Hachettum. A Forest bill.

Hada, æ; f. A Haye or head of land.

Haga, æ; f. A House or dwelling.

Haia, æ; f. A Hedge.

Halla, æ; f. A Hall or Mansion house.

Hamleta, æ; f. A Hamlet.

Hamsoca, æ; f. The freedom of a mans own house.

Hanaperium, n. The Hamper in the Chancery.

Hansa, æ; f. A society of Merchants.

Haratium, n. A breed or stock of swine.

Hatia, æ; f. Hatred, hate, ill will.

Haubergetta, f. pl. Haubergets or Habergects, white cloaths, as I take it, for they are in Magna Charta opposed to russet and dyed cloaths.

Heda, æ; f. A haven or port, a Hithe.

Hesa, æ; f. Servitium.

Heraldus, i; m. An Herald.

Herbagium. Herbage or freedom of grazing.

Hercio, is, ire. To harrow.

Heremitagium. A Hermitage, any solitary place.

Heriotum, i; n. A Hariot or Heriot, the best beast a Tenant has at the time of his death due to the Lord.

Hermitorium. A Chappel belonging to a Hermitage.

Hesta, æ; Spel. A Cockrel or Capount.

Hida, æ; f. A Hide or Plough-land.

Hidagium. A rate or tax paid upon every Hide of land.

Hitha, æ; f. A Hyth or little haven.

Hobelarii, m. pl. Light horsemen.

Holmus, i; m. A river-island.

Horngelda, æ; f. A Tax within a Forest to be paid for horned Beasts.

Hospitalarii. Knights once of S. John of Jerusalem, now Knights of Maltha.

Hundredarius, ii; m. One belonging to a Hundred, the Bailiff of a Hundred.

Hundredum, i; n. A Hundred in a County.

Hustingua, i; n. Hustings, the chief Court in the City of London.

Hutesium & Clamor. A Hue and Cry.

I.

Jactivus, a, um. That looseth his Cause by default.

Jampnum, i; n. Furze or Gorse.

Ignitegium, n. Curfew or Covefire.

Impediens, m. A Defendant in Law.

In alto & in basso. From top to bottom, to all intents and purposes, all over.

Impeditio vasti. Impeachment or hindrance of waste.

Impersonatus, a, um. Inducted or put in possession of a Benefice.

Indecimabilis, le. Not tythable.

Indentura, æ; f. An Indenture or Covenant.

Indictamentum. An Inditement or charge in Law.

Indorsatus, a, um. Indorsed or written on the back side.

Informator, m. delator. An Informer.

Ingrossator, m. An Ingrosser of Corn or victuals; also a writer of publick Instruments. Ingrossator magni Rotuli; The Clerk of the Pipe.

Inlagatio, f. The restoring of an Outlawed person to the benefit of the Law.

Inlagatus, a, um. One that is in Frank-pledge, and lives under the protection of the Law.

Inlandum, i; n. The Inland or Demeans of a Lord, as the Outland were the Tenancies.

Invadiatio, f. Mortgaging or pawning.

Ire ad largum. To go at Large, to be set at liberty, or to make an escape.

Jurata, æ; f. A Jury.

K.

Kaia, æ; f. A Key or Wharf.

Kaiagium. A duty paid for loading or unloading of goods at a Wharf.

Karrata fœni. A Cart-load of hay.

Kernellatus, a, um. Fortified, imbattelled, as a Castle is.

Kidellus, i; m. A Kettle or Weer with a cut in it for laying of weels to catch fish in.

L.

Laga, æ; f. A Law.

Lagamannus, i; m. A sufficient man, or a good man of the Jury.

Landa, æ; f. The open field without wood.

Laftagium. A custom in Fairs and Markets, paid for carrying of things, or for wares sold by the Last: also the ballast of a ship.

Leccator, ōris; m. A Ruffian or Whore-master, a Debosht.

Leda, æ; f. A Lathe or part of a County containing three or more Hundreds.

Legergildum, i; n. Lairwite or Laherwite. A kind of fine.

Leta, æ; f. A Leet-Court.

Liberatura, æ; f. Livery.

Librata terræ. A piece of ground containing four Oxgangs. V. Bovata.

Ligantia, æ; f. Allegiance.

Ligeus, i; m. A Liege Subject.

Littera, æ; f. Litter or straw.

M.

Machecarii, m. pl. Macegrieks, those that wittingly buy and sell stolen flesh.

Maeremium, ii; n. Timber.

Mahemium, ii; n. Maim or loss of a limb.

Malgnagium, ii; n. A Butchers shop.

Manca, æ; f. A square piece of gold, valued at 30 pence.

Mancusa, æ; f. l. Manu cusa. A mark of silver.

Manopera, æ; f. A Manning or mans days-work.

Mansium, i; n. A Farm, a Mansion-house, a Hall.

Mansura, æ; f. A Country mans house.

Manucaptio, onis; f. Mainprise.

Manupastus, i; m. One of the family.

Manutenentia, æ; f. Maintenance, or seconding anothers Cause.

Marca, æ; f. A mark of money in silver 13 s. 4 d. in gold eight ounces.

Marchetum, i; n. A fine to the Lord for the marriage of a Tenants Daughter.

Marchia, æ; f. The Marches or borders of Countries.

Marescaltia, æ; f. The Marshalsie.

Maritagium, ii; n. Marriage.

Marla, æ; f. à Marga, margula. Marle.

Marlerium & Marletum. A Marle-pit.

Masura terræ. About four Virgates of land.

Menagium, ii. A Meiny or household.

Menestrallus. V. Ministrellus.

Merchandizo, as. To play the Merchant, to sell.

Merchetum. V. Marchetum.

Mercimoniatus, ûs; m. Custom or Impost.

Merka, æ; f. V. Marca. Dimidia Merka. A Noble.

Messarius, ii; m. A Mower or harvester.

Messuagium, n. A Messuage or dwelling-house.

Mestilo, ōnis; m. Mastlin-corn, Man-corn.

Minstrellus, i. m. A Minstrel, a Fidler or Piper.

Mita, æ; f. A present of 5000 l. given by the people of Wales to their Prince at his first entrance; also a tax or tallage; also cost or expence; also the issue of a writ of Right.

Missum, i; n. idem.

Mitta, æ; f. A measure of ten bushels.

Monetagium. Coinage, the right or art of coining money.

Mortgagium, mortuum vadium. A Mortgage.

Mota, æ; f. A Moot, a Court or Convention, a Plea; also a Castle; also a Moat or ditch of water.

Mulieratus filius. A Son lawfully begotten.

Multura, æ; f. The Millers toll.

Mundeburdium, ii; n. Defensionis vel patrocinii fidejussio & stipulatio.

Munimen, n. A Muniment house for the keeping of Records, &c.

Muragium. A toll for the repairing of walls.

Murdrum, i; n. Cullrid Murder.

N.

Namatio, onis; f. A distreining.

Namium, n. A seizure or distress of goods.

Nativus, i; m. & Nativa, æ; f. A Bondman or Woman by birth.

Naturalizatio, f. Naturalization.

Noka terræ. A Nook of land.

Nummata terræ. V. Denariata.

O.

Obolata terræ. Half an Acre, or, as some, half a Perch of land.

Ora, æ; f. A Saxon Coin, in value 16 d.

Ordalium, n. judicium ignis & aquæ. The trial by Dyvel.

Ortellus, i; m. A claw of a Dogs foot.

Overhernella, æ; f. A kind of forfeiture.

Overlamellum, i; n. A fine for not pursuing a Thief.

P.

Pagium. A toll for passage through another mans ground.

Palafredus, Palefredus, & Palofridus. A Palfrey.

Palmata, æ; f. A handful.

Pandoxatrix, icis; f. An Ale-wife.

Pannagium, vel Panagium, vel Paunagium. The fruit of Woods and Hedge-rows that Cattel feed on; also the money given for it in a Forest.

Paragium. Partnery or Joint-tenancy.

Parcella, æ; f. A Parcel.

Parcus, i; m. A Park; also a Pound.

Pascuagium, n. Grazing or pasturing of Cattel.

Passagium, n. A Passage, a hire or fare for passing over water.

Pavagium. Money for the paving of streets or high-ways.

Pavilo, onis; m. Justiciarii Pavilonis. Judges of a Pie-powder Court, as a Fair held on S. Giles hill near Winchester, authorised anciently by the Bishop of Winton from a Grant of Edw. 4.

Pedagium & Pedaticum. Money given for passing by foot or horse through any Country.

Peisa, æ; f. Poise or weight.

Pelfra, æ; f. Pelfe, Goods and Chattels.

Pellota, æ; f. The ball of a Dogs foot.

Penticia, æ; f. A Pentice or shed covered with boards.

Pera, æ; f. A Peer, as at Dover.

Perdonatio, onis; f. A pardoning.

Persona, æ; f. A Parson.

Personabilis; qui habet personam standi in judicio. Pertonable, one who may maintain a Plea in a Court.

Pervisus, i; m. A place where Lawyers met in Asternoons to moot or to talk with their Clients; or, as some, a Court or Yard before a Palace.

Pesagium. Custom paid for weighing wares.

Pessona, æ; f. Mast or acorns.

Piccagium. Money paid in Fairs to the Lord of the Soil for breaking ground to set up Booths.

Picellum, n. A Pickle or Pightel of ground, a little close, a pingle.

Pipa, æ; f. A Roll in the Exchequer; also a Pipe, a measure of 126 gallons.

Pitancia, æ; f. A Pittance, a small repast.

Placetum, n. A little place, a piece or parcel.

Plegiatio, f. Giving of surety-ship.

Plegius, ii; m. A pledge or surety.

Plevina, æ; f. A warrant or assurance; also a replevy.

Pondagium. Poundage, a payment of twelve in the pound.

Pontagium. Money given for the maintaining of Bridges.

Porcoparcus, pro Portionarius. A partner in a Parsonage.

Posse comitatûs. The Power of the County.

Pourprestura, æ; f. An Encroachment.

Principotium, n. An Heir-loom.

Prisa, æ; f. Prisage.

Prisona, æ; f. A Prison.
Profrum, i; n. u. The Profit or time twice a year for the accounts of Sheriffs in the Exchequer.
Propartia, æ; f. The Dividing of Land among Parceners, which before they held jointly; Pour-party.
Puellagium, n. Puellage, maidenhead. Scrib. & Puellagium.
Purchasia, æ; f. A Purchase.
Purpresium, n. A Close or inclosure; also the extent or compass of a place.
Putagium, m. Playing the whore.
Putura, æ; f. qu. Porture. A custom of Foresters, &c. to take horse meat, mans meat, &c. gratis of Tenants and Inhabitants that lived thereabouts.
Pynfolda, æ; f. A Pinfold.

Q.

Quadrantata terræ. A Farding-deal of land.
Quadrugata terra. A Team-land.
Quarentena, æ; f. The Space of 40 days; also a quantity of land containing 40 perches.
Quareria, æ; f. A Quarry of stone.
Quietancia, æ; f. An acquittance or discharge.
Quietus redditus. Quit-Rent. Quieta clamantia; A quit claim or release.
Quintana, æ; f. Quintane, an exercise on horse-back used at Weddings.

R.

Rachetum, i; n. Theft-bote, the ransome of a Thief.
Raseria, æ; f. A Rase, an old measure of corn.
Reattachiamentum, n. Reattachment.
Redisseisina, æ; f. Redisseisin.
Regardator, m. A Regarder, an Officer of the Forest, who is to view it, and inquire into offences.
Regardum, i; n. Regard; the compass of a Regarders ground in a Forest. Scrib. & Rewardum.
Regratarius, ii; m. A Regrater, one who buys and sells in the same Market or Fair.
Rejunctio, onis; f. A Rejoinder.
Relevium, n. Relief, a kind of fine paid by the Heir at a Tenants death.
Rememorator, m. A Remembrancer.
Replegiatus, To Replevin.
Rescussor, m. A Rescuer.
Rescussus, ûs; m. A Rescue.
Resesio, is, ire. To Reseise.
Residentia, æ; f. Residence or abode.
Ressortum, n. Resort, the authority of a Court.
Retenementum, n. A retaining or keeping back.
Returna vel Retorna, æ; f. The Return, as of a Carrit, &c.
Returnum, i; n. A Carrit for the return of Cattel to the Owner.
Riga, æ; f. A Ridge of Land.
Rima, æ; f. Rime or rhythm.
Riparius, ii; m. A Ripier, that carries fish about.
Robaria, æ; f. Robbery.
Robator, ôris; m. A Robber.
Roda terræ. A Rod or pearch of land.
Rodata terræ. A Rood of Land, a quarter of an acre.
Rogus, i; m. A Rogue.
Rotaticum. Cartelage, a custom paid for the passage of Wains and Carts.
Rotulus, i; m. A Roll of Paper, &c. Rotulus Wintoniæ; Dooms-day Book.
Runcinus, i; m. A load-horse, a sumpter-horse, a cart-horse; a Rouncy.
Rusca, æ; f. Ruscæ butyri. A firkin of Butter. Apum; A hive of Bees.

S.

Saca vel Sachs, æ; f. Cause or sake; a Plea in a Court; a forfeiture or amercement.
Sarplera lanæ. A Sarplar or Pocket of Wool is half a sack, or 40 Tods.
Scaccarium. The Exchequer or Exchequer.
Scambium, pro Excambium. Exchange.
Scotallum, n. A kind of Club of Forest-Tenants at the Officer of the Forests house.
Scotalla, æ; f. idem.
Scotum vel Scottum, i; n. A scot, custom or tallage.
Scutagium. Escuage, Knights Service, or service of the Shield.
Seaxenlaga, æ; f. Lex Saxonum.
Seisina, æ; f. Seisin, possession.
Selda, æ; f. A shop, shed, standing or stall.
Selio terræ. A ridge of land.
Seneucia, æ; f. Widowhood.
Separalis, le. Several.
Serjantia, æ; f. Serjeanty, a kind of tenure by doing some service to the King.
Severa vel Sewera, æ; f. A Sewer, drain or gutter to convey water in fen-lands.
Shira, æ; f. A Shire or County.
Shopa, æ; f. A shop.
Sikettus, i; m. A little current of water, dry in the Summer.
Siminellus, i; m. vel Symnellus. Simnel-bread.
Sitheundus, i; m. custos paganus. The chief man of a Town or Parish.
Soca, æ; f. A Lordship or Privi-ledged-place, with power to keep Courts.
Socagium vel Soccagium. Soccage, a tenure of lands for some small Services of husbandry perform'd to the Lord.
Socmannus, i; m. A Sockeman, a Tenant in Soccage.
Socna, æ; f. A Liberty or Franchise.
Solda, æ; f. A shop or shed.
Solidata, æ; f. A Souldiers pay.
Solidata terræ; Twelve acres of land.
Solinus terræ. Somewhat more than two plow lands.
Sparverius, ii; m. A Sparow-hawk.
Stagnarium, corr. pro Stannarium. A Tin-Mine.
Stalla, æ; f. A stall in a Fair or Market.
Stallagium. A duty paid for stalls.
Stapulum, i; n. A Staple-town.
Sulinga, & Solinga, æ; f. As much land as one Plough can till in a year.
Summa, æ; f. A Seme of corn, i. eight bushels, a horse-load.
Summagium. A Toll for carriage on horse-back.
Superfija, æ; f. A penalty at Dover laid upon those who pay not their duties for Castleward at their days.
Surplusagium. A Surplusage.
Swainmotus, m. vel Swainmotum; n. A Swainmote, a Court kept thrice a year for matters of the Forest.
Swolinga, æ; f. A hide of land. V. Sulinga.

T.

Taliatura, æ; f. Talshide or Talwood, fire-wood cleft and cut into billets of a certain size.
Tallagium. Tallage, any kind of Toll or Tax.
Tallia, æ; f. A Tail or Tally, a cleft piece of wood to nick up an account on.
Talliatum feudum. A Fee-tail, an estate entailed, i. curtailed and limited to conditions.
Tallium, n. An Entail.
Tappa, æ; f. The stopple of a trumpet or wind-instrument. V. Bosinnus.
Tassa, æ; f. vel Tassum, i. n. A mow or heap of corn.
Taxa, æ; f. A Tax.
Teinlanda, æ; f. Tainland, land held by Knights Service.
Tenencia, æ; f. A Tenancy.
Tenura, æ; f. A Tenure.
Terbichetum. A Tumbrel or Cuckstool.
Terragium. A Land-tax; service of plowing, reaping, &c. which some Tenants perform to the Lord.
Thanagium. A part of the Kings lands, whereof the Governor was called Thane.
Thanus, i; m. A Thane, a Noble man, the Son of an Earl; also an Officer or Minister of the King.
Thelonium, pro Telonium. Toll.
Thenecium. A Hedge-row about a field.
Thingus; id. quod Thanus.
Thrimsa, æ; f. A Coin of 3 s. or, as some, the third part of a shilling.
Thrithingum. A Court consisting of three Hundreds.
Tithingum. A Tithing of ten Families.
Toftmannus, i; m. The owner of a Toft.
Toftum, i; n A Toft or Messuage.
Tolnetum. Toll or Custom; also liberty from paying Toll.
Tolta, æ; f. A carit to remove a Cause from one Court to another.
Tonnagium. V. Tunnagium.
Torneamentum. Tournament, a martial exercise on horse-back.
Towagium. A duty paid by Bargemen to the Owner of the ground, where they towed their Barge.
Trava, æ; f. A Thrave of Corn 12 sheaves, in some places 24
Trentale, is; n. An Office for the dead, that lasteth 30 days, or consisteth of 30 Masses.
Triatio, onis; f. The Trial of the Cause.
Trista, æ; f. A kind of Hunting, by taking stands at several places with Dogs.
Trithinga, æ; f. A Court-Leet, the third part of a Shire.

Trithingum. V. Thrithingum.

Tronagium. Toll for weighing wooll; also a Beam to weigh with.

Tronator, oris; m. An Officer to weigh wooll.

Tumbrellum, i; n. & Tumbrella, æ; f. A Cucking-stool, a Tumbrell.

Tunnagium. Tunnage or custom so much a Tun.

Turbaria, æ; f. Turbary, liberty of digging turfes.

Turbichetum. A Trebuchet. V. Terbichetum.

Turnum, i; n. The Sheriffs Court kept twice a year.

V.

Vaccharia, & Varcheria, æ; f. A Cow-house, a Dairy house.

Vara, æ; f. A weigh of Cheese, wooll, &c. of 256 pounds.

Valettus, i; m. vel Valecta. A Valet, a Gentleman of the Privy Chamber, also a Benchers Clerk.

Vantarius, ii; m. A Footman that runs afore.

Vassettus, i; m. A ward, or rather a Valet; q. Vassaletus.

Vavasor, öris; m. & Valvasory One in dignity next a Baron.

Vavasoria, æ; f. The Estate or Lordship of such an One.

Vestura, æ; f. Vesture, possession, seisin. Vestura terræ; The corn that grows on it.

Victualarius, al. Vitellarius. A Victualler or Victueller, that sells Victuals.

Villenagium. Villenage, servile tenure.

Virgata, æ; f. The Verge or compass of the Kings Court, 12 miles about. Virgata terræ; A Yard-land, 40 acres.

Visnetum; al. Vicinetum. A Venue or Vicnew, a neighbour-place.

Uplanda, æ; f. Upland, high ground.

Utlagus, i; m. An Outlaw.

Utlagaria, æ; f. An Outlary.

Utlagatio, onis; f. An outlawing.

Utlagatus, a, um. Outlawed.

W.

Wafores, m. pl. Wasters, Officers that guarded our Fishermen chiefly on the Coast of Norfolk and Suffolk.

Waga, æ; f. id. quod Vaga.

Wainagium. Wainage, the furniture and appurtenances of the Wain; also Land tilled, and the profit arising from it.

Waiviaria, æ; f. The waiving of a woman, as outlawing is of a man.

Waivum, n. A Waif, or the goods which a Thief steals and leaves behind him.

Walda, æ; f. A Wald, a Plain, a Down.

Walla, & Wallia, æ; f. A Sea-wall.

Wallesheria, & Waletheria, æ; f. The hiered of a man that is slain.

Wambasium. A Jack, a Jesse-mans coat of defence in War.

Wannagium. A Wain-house.

Wapentakium. A Wapentake or Hundred.

Wara, æ; f. A Weir or Dam.

Wardagium. Money paid for the warding of a Castle, Wardpenny.

Wardi & Liberatura. Court of Wards and Liveries.

Wardemotus, i; m. Wardmote, the Court of every Ward in London.

Warectum, & Warecta terra. Fallow ground, land unitilled.

Warenna, æ; f. A Warren.

Warrantia, æ; f. A Warranty.

Warrantizo, as. To warrant.

Warrantum, i; n. A Warrant.

Warrantus, i; m. He who makes a Warranty.

Watergagium. Watergage, a Seamall; also an Instrument to gage Water.

Waterganga, æ; f. & Watergangia, æ; f. & Watergangium. A Water-gang or Water-course.

Wendus, i; m. A large tract of ground.

Wera, æ; f. id. quod Wara; also the price of a mans life.

Wergildus, i; m. Weregild, the price of a mans life, so much as one paid in ancient for killing a man.

Wharfa, æ; f. A Wharf.

Wharfagium. Wharfage, money paid for lading or unlading goods at a Wharf.

Wita, æ; f. A Forfeiture, amercement or fine.

Withernamium, i; Vetitum namium. The driving of a Distress out of the County, so that the Sheriff upon a Replevin cannot make delivery of it to the Owner.

Woodgeldum. Woodgeld, money paid for gathering or cutting of wood in Forests.

Woodwardus, i; m. A Woodward, an under-Officer in a Forest.

Wreccum, i; n. A Wreck or Wrack at Sea.

Wyka, æ; f. A Wyke or little Village.

Wyta, æ; f. id. quod Wita.

Y.

Yvernagium. The Winter season for sowing of Corn.

Z.

Zuchus & Zucheus, i; m. A dry withered stump of a tree, otherwise called Stovers.

---

Kalendarium Romanum; in quo, præter seriem Mensium & Dierum, Festa, Ludi, Ortus & Occasus Siderum, aliáque nonnulla Scitu digna adnotantur.

THe Roman Moneth is divided into Kalends, Nones and Ides; all which are reckoned backward. The Kalends are the first day of the Moneth; as Calendis Januariis is the first day of January. Pridie Calendarum vel Calendas, is the 31th of December; III. Kal. the 30th, IV. Kal. the 29th, &c. The Nones being four, follow the Kalends; as IV. Nonas Jan. is Jan. 2. III. Non. Jan. 3. Pride Non. Jan. 4. and Nonis Jan. is Jan. 5. But in March, May, July and October there are six Nones. After these the Ides in each Moneth eight, as VIII. Id. Jan. id est, Octavo Iduum vel Idus is Jan. the 6th, and so till you come to the Ides themselves; Idibus Januariis, that is, Jan. 13. Where note, that when the Accusative Case is used, the Præposition Ante is understood: as 3. Kalendas, Nonas, Idus, tertio ante Calendas, Nonas, Idus, Remember that after the Ides, (which are on the 13th day of eight of the Moneths, and on the 15th of the other four, which have six Nones a piece) the Calends following are to be reckon'd to the next Moneth.

Kalendarium Romanum.

JANUARIUS. Γαμηλιών

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. Jan. | Jani & Junonis. Jovi & Æsculapio in insula Tyb. |
| 2 | IV. Non. | |
| 3 | III. Non. | Cancer occidit. Ciceronis natalis. |
| 4 | Prid. Non. | Votum pro salute Principis, Tac. |
| 5 | Nonæ. | Lyra oritur. |
| 6 | VIII. Id. | |
| 7 | VII. Id. | |
| 8 | VI. Id. | Sacrificium Jani. |
| 9 | V. Id. | Agonalia. Delphinus oritur. |
| 10 | IV. Id. | Media hyems. |
| 11 | III. Id. | Carmentalia. Junonæ ædes dic. |
| 12 | Prid. Id. | Compitalia, Gell. |
| 13 | Idus. | Jovi Staton. Octavius Augustus dictus. |
| 14 | XVIX. Kal. | |
| 15 | XVIII. Kal. | Porrimæ & Postverteæ. |
| 16 | XVII. Kal. | Concordiæ templum à Camillo positum. |
| 17 | XVI. Kal. | Sol in Aquario. |
| 18 | XV. Kal. | |
| 19 | XIV. Kal. | |
| 20 | XIII. Kal. | |
| 21 | XII. Kal. | |
| 22 | XI. Kal. | |
| 23 | X. Kal. | Lyra occidit. |
| 24 | IX. Kal. | Semeninæ feriæ. |
| 25 | VIII. Kal. | |
| 26 | VII. Kal. | |
| 27 | VI. Kal. | Castori & Polluci templum dic. |
| 28 | V. Kal. | |
| 29 | III. Kal. | Equiria in campo Martio. |
| 30 | III. | Pacl. |
| 31 | Prid. Kal. | Diis Penatibus. |

FEBUARIUS. Ἐλαφηβολιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Lucaria, ab Asyli luco. Junoni sospitæ templum dic. Jovi sacrif. bidente. |
| 2 | IV. | Lyra & medius Leo occidunt. |
| 3 | III. | Delphinus occidit. |
| 4 | Prid. | |
| 5 | Non. | Aug. dictus Pater Patriæ. Aquarius oritur. |
| 6 | VIII. | |
| 7 | VII. | |
| 8 | VI. | |
| 9 | V. | Veris initium. |
| 10 | IV. | |
| 11 | III. | Arctophylax oritur. |
| 12 | Prid. | |
| 13 | Idus. | Fauni festum & Jovis. Fabiorum cædes. |
| 14 | XVI. K. M. | Corvus, Crater, Anguis oriuntur. |
| 15 | XV. | Lupercalia. |
| 16 | XIV. | Sol in piscibus. |
| 17 | XIII. | |
| 18 | XII. | Quirinalia. Fornacalia. Dis Manibus sacra feralia. |
| 19 | XI. | Deæ Muæ. |
| 20 | X. | Charistia. |
| 21 | IX. | Terminalia. |
| 22 | VIII. | |
| 23 | VII. | Regifugium. |
| 24 | VI. | |
| 25 | V. | |
| 26 | IV. | |
| 27 | III. | Equiria in campo Martio. |
| 28 | Prid. | Tarquinii superati, Plut. |

MARTIUS. Μυσυχιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Matronalia. Junonis Lucinæ. Martis. Ancylia. |
| 2 | VI. | Juvenalis natus. |
| 3 | V. | Altere piscibus occidit. |
| 4 | IV. | |
| 5 | III. | Arctophylax occidit. Vindemiator oritur. |
| 6 | Prid. | Vestæ. |
| 7 | Non. | Pegasus oritur. Vejovis templum. |
| 8 | VIII. | Corona oritur. |
| 9 | VII. | |
| 10 | VI. | |
| 11 | V. | |
| 12 | IV. | |
| 13 | III. | |
| 14 | Prid. | Equiria altera. |
| 15 | Idus. | Annæ Perennæ. Parricidium |
| 16 | XVII. | Scorpius medius occidit. |
| 17 | XVI. | Liberalia. Agonia. Milvius oritur. |
| 18 | XV. | Sol in Arieti. |
| 19 | XIV. | Quinquatria Minervæ per quinque dies. |
| 20 | XIII. | |
| 21 | XII. | |
| 22 | XI. | |
| 23 | X. | Tubilustrium, Var. |
| 24 | IX. | |
| 25 | VIII. | Æquinoctium vernum. Hilaria. Matris Deûm festa. |
| 26 | VII. | |
| 27 | VI. | |
| 28 | V. | Megalesia, Var. |
| 29 | IV. | |
| 30 | III. | Juni, Concordiæ, Salutis, Pacis. |
| 31 | Prid. | Dianæ in Aventino. |

APRILIS. Θαργηλιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Veneri. Fortuna virili. Scorpius occidit. |
| 2 | IV. | Pleiades occidunt. |
| 3 | III. | |
| 4 | Prid. | |
| 5 | Non. | Megalesia. |
| 6 | VIII. | Fortunæ publicæ. Dianæ natalis. |
| 7 | VII. | Natalis Apollinis, Socratis, Platonis. |
| 8 | VI. | Ludi ob vict. Cæs. Libra & Orion occidunt. |
| 9 | V. | Cerealia. Ludi Circenses. |
| 10 | IV. | |
| 11 | III. | |
| 12 | Prid. | Magna Mater Romam adducta, Liv. |
| 13 | Idus. | Jovi Victori & Libertati. |
| 14 | XVIII. | |
| 15 | XVII. | Fordicidia. |
| 16 | XVI. | Augustus Imp. Salutatus. Hyades occidunt. |
| 17 | XV. | |
| 18 | XIV. | Equiria in circo max. & vulpium combustio. |
| 19 | XIII. | Sol in Tauro. |
| 20 | XII. | |
| 21 | XI. | Palilia. Agonalia. Romæ natalis. |
| 22 | X. | |
| 23 | IX. | Vinalia. Jovi & Veneri. |
| 24 | VIII. | Ilii destructio. |
| 25 | VII. | Robigalia. Medium ver. Aries occidit. Canis oritur. |
| 26 | | |
| 27 | VI. | Latinæ feriæ in sacro monte, Liv. |
| 28 | V. | |
| 29 | IV. | Floralia. |
| 30 | III. | |
| 31 | Prid. | Vestæ Palatinæ, Ovid. Laremalia, Plut. |

Kalendarium Romanum.

MAIUS. Σκιροφοριών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Bonæ Deæ. Laribus Præstitibus ara posita. Capella oritur. |
| 2 | VI. | Hyades oriuntur. |
| 3 | V. | Centaurus oritur. |
| 4 | IV. | |
| 5 | III. | Lyra oritur. |
| 6 | Prid. | Scorpius medius occidit. |
| 7 | Nonæ. | |
| 8 | VIII. | |
| 9 | VII. | Lemuria. |
| 10 | VI. | |
| 11 | V. | Orion occidit. |
| 12 | IV. | Martis Bisultoris. |
| 13 | III. | Pleiades oriuntur. Æstatis initium. |
| 14 | Prid. | Taurus oritur. |
| 15 | Idus. | Mercurii natalis. Mercatorum dies festus. |
| 16 | XVII. | |
| 17 | XVI. | |
| 18 | XV. | |
| 19 | XIV. | Sol in Geminis. |
| 20 | XIII. | |
| 21 | XII. | Agonalia Vejovi. Canis oritur. |
| 22 | XI. | |
| 23 | X. | Vulcano. Maiæ. Tubilustrium. |
| 24 | IX. | Regifugium ulterum. |
| 25 | VIII. | Fortunæ templum. Aquila oritur. |
| 26 | VII. | Arctophylax occidit. |
| 27 | VI. | Hyades oriuntur. |
| 28 | V. | |
| 29 | IV. | |
| 30 | III. | |
| 31 | Prid. | |

JUNIUS. Ἐκατομβαιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Fabariæ Kal. Macr. Matri. Carnæ dea. Junonis Monetæ ædes dic. Aquila oritur. |
| 2 | IV. | Hyades oriuntur. |
| 3 | III. | Bellonæ sacr. |
| 4 | Prid. | Herculis ædes in Circo. |
| 5 | Nonæ. | Sponsoris Jovis. Fidei templum. |
| 6 | VIII. | Vestæ templum. |
| 7 | VII. | Ludi piscatorii in Campo Mar. Mentis templum. Arctophylax occidit. |
| 8 | VI. | |
| 9 | V. | Vestæ. Afini coronantur. Ara Jovis Pistoris. |
| 10 | IV. | Matralia. Delphin oritur. |
| 11 | III. | Fortis Fortunæ. Concordiæ ædes. |
| 12 | Prid. | Matris Matutæ. |
| 13 | Idus. | Jovis invicti. Quinquatrus minusculæ. |
| 14 | XVIII. | |
| 15 | XVII. | Hyades oriuntur. |
| 16 | XVI. | Orion oritur. |
| 17 | XV. | Æqui & Volsci à Postumo fugati. |
| 18 | XIV. | |
| 19 | XIII. | Minervæ in Avent. Sol. in Cancro. |
| 20 | XII. | Summanalia. Ophiuchus oritur. |
| 21 | XI. | |
| 22 | X. | |
| 23 | IX. | Flaminius victus à Pœnis. |
| 24 | VIII. | Fortis Fortunæ. (cebant. |
| 25 | VII. | Naves coronatæ convivia per Tiberim du- |
| 26 | VI. | Solstitium. |
| 27 | V. | Jovis Statoris & Laris. |
| 28 | IV. | Quirini templum. |
| 29 | III. | |
| 30 | Prid. | Herculi & Musarum. |

JULIUS. Μεταγειτνιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Migrationes in alienas ædes. |
| 2 | VI. | |
| 3 | V. | |
| 4 | IV. | |
| 5 | III. | Populifugium. |
| 6 | Prid. | Capitolium incensum tempore Syllæ. |
| 7 | Nonæ. | Caprotinæ. Ancillarum festum. Romulus |
| 8 | VIII. | non apparuit. |
| 9 | VII. | |
| 10 | VI. | |
| 11 | V. | Ludi Apollinares. |
| 12 | IV. | Jul. Cæsari natalis. Fortunæ muliebri. |
| 13 | III. | |
| 14 | Prid. | |
| 15 | Idus. | Castoris & Pollucis. |
| 16 | XVII. | |
| 17 | XVI. | Alliensis dies atra. |
| 18 | XV. | |
| 19 | XIV. | |
| 20 | XIII. | |
| 21 | XII. | Mundi natalis, ex Ægypt. Sacerd. sententiâ, Solin. |
| 22 | XI. | |
| 23 | X. | |
| 24 | IX. | |
| 25 | VIII. | Furinalia. |
| 26 | VII. | Hoc mense rutilæ canes Caniculæ sacrificabantur, Fest. |
| 27 | VI. | Neptunalia etiam hoc mense, Varr. |
| 28 | V. | |
| 29 | IV. | |
| 30 | III. | |
| 31 | Prid. | |

AUGUSTUS. Βουδρομιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Spei ad forum olitorium Martis templum consecr. |
| 2 | IV. | |
| 3 | III. | |
| 4 | Prid. | |
| 5 | Nonæ. | Saluti in coll. Quirinali. |
| 6 | VIII. | |
| 7 | VII. | |
| 8 | VI. | Soli Indigeti. |
| 9 | V. | |
| 10 | IV. | Opis & Cereris aræ in vico Jugario. |
| 11 | III. | Herculi magno custodi in Circo. |
| 12 | Prid. | |
| 13 | Idus. | Dianæ, Vertumno, Augusti natalis, Porph. |
| 14 | XIX. | |
| 15 | XVIII. | |
| 16 | XVII. | |
| 17 | XVI. | Portumnalia ad pontem Æmil. Jano. |
| 18 | XV. | Consualia. Sabinarum raptus. |
| 19 | XIV. | Augusti mors. |
| 20 | XIII. | Vinalia secunda, Plin. |
| 21 | XII. | Vinalia rustica, Var. |
| 22 | XI. | |
| 23 | X. | Volcanalia in circo Flamin. |
| 24 | IX. | |
| 25 | VIII. | Opi Consivæ in Capitolio. |
| 26 | VII. | |
| 27 | VI. | Volturnalia. |
| 28 | V. | Ara Victoriæ in curiâ dedic. |
| 29 | IV. | Volcanalia, Fest. |
| 30 | III. | Mundus Cereris patet. |
| 31 | Prid. | Germanici natalis. |

Kalendarium Romanum.

SEPTEMBER. Μαιμακτηριών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Volcani tutela Septemb. |
| 2 | IV. | Augusti victoria navalis ex M. Ant. & Cleop. |
| 3 | III. | Dionysia seu Vindemia. |
| 4 | Prid. | |
| 5 | Non. | |
| 6 | VIII. | Erebo. |
| 7 | VII. | |
| 8 | VI. | Hierosolyma à Tito Vespas. capta. |
| 9 | V. | |
| 10 | IV. | |
| 11 | III. | |
| 12 | Prid. | |
| 13 | Idus. | Jovi Capitolii dedic. Prætor clavum pangit. |
| 14 | XVIII. | |
| 15 | XVII. | Ludi Romani sive Magni, per 4 dies. |
| 16 | XVI. | |
| 17 | XV. | |
| 18 | XIV. | |
| 19 | XIII. | |
| 20 | XII. | Romuli natalis, Plut. |
| 21 | XI. | |
| 22 | X. | Virgilii mors. |
| 23 | IX. | Natalis Augusti, Suet. |
| 24 | VIII. | |
| 25 | VII. | Veneri. Saturno. Maniæ. |
| 26 | VI. | |
| 27 | V. | Fortunæ Reduci. |
| 28 | IV. | |
| 29 | III. | |
| 30 | Prid. | Meditrinalia. Epulum Minervæ, Vet. Kal. Pompeii M. natalis. |

OCTOBER. Πυανεψιών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Martis tutela October. |
| 2 | VI. | |
| 3 | V. | |
| 4 | IV. | Mundus Cereri patet, Fest. |
| 5 | III. | |
| 6 | Prid. | |
| 7 | Non. | |
| 8 | VIII. | Pyanepsia Apollini. |
| 9 | VII. | |
| 10 | VI. | Oschophoria, i. Ramalia, Plut. |
| 11 | V. | |
| 12 | IV. | Augustalia. |
| 13 | III. | Fontinalia. |
| 14 | Prid. | |
| 15 | Idus. | Mercurio Mercatores sacr. Marti October Equus immolatur, Fest. Virgilii natalis. |
| 16 | XVII. | |
| 17 | XVI. | |
| 18 | XV. | Jovi Liberatori. |
| 19 | XIV. | Armilustrium. |
| 20 | XIII. | |
| 21 | XII. | |
| 22 | XI. | |
| 23 | X. | Hoc mense Libero sacrum fiebat, Vet. Kal. |
| 24 | IX. | |
| 25 | VIII. | Vertumni feriæ etiam hoc mense, Var. |
| 26 | VII. | |
| 27 | VI. | Ludi Victoriæ. |
| 28 | V. | |
| 29 | IV. | |
| 30 | III. | |
| 31 | Prid. | |

NOVEMBER. Ἀνθεστηριών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Dianæ tutela hic mensis. |
| 2 | IV. | |
| 3 | III. | |
| 4 | Prid. | Jovis epulum hoc mense. |
| 5 | Non. | Neptunalia. |
| 6 | VIII. | |
| 7 | VII. | Cereri mundus patet, Fest. |
| 8 | VI. | |
| 9 | V. | |
| 10 | IV. | |
| 11 | III. | Maria claudantur usque ad VI. Id. Mart. |
| 12 | Prid. | |
| 13 | Idus. | Pithegia. Lectisternia. |
| 14 | XVIII. | |
| 15 | XVII. | Ludi plebeii in Circo per hos dies, Suet. |
| 16 | XVI. | |
| 17 | XV. | |
| 18 | XIV. | |
| 19 | XIII. | Cœna pontificum in honorem Magnæ Matris. |
| 20 | XII. | |
| 21 | XI. | |
| 22 | X. | Plutoni & Proserpinæ. |
| 23 | IX. | |
| 24 | VIII. | Brumalia. |
| 25 | VII. | |
| 26 | VI. | |
| 27 | V. | Hoc mense inferiæ fiebant Gallis defossis & Græcis in foro Boario, Plut. |
| 28 | IV. | |
| 29 | III. | |
| 30 | Prid. | |

DECEMBER. Ποσειδεών.

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1 | Kal. | Fortunæ muliebris festum. |
| 2 | IV. | |
| 3 | III. | Neptuno & Minervæ. |
| 4 | Prid. | |
| 5 | Nonæ. | Faunalia, Porph. |
| 6 | VIII. | |
| 7 | VII. | |
| 8 | VI. | Junoni Jugali sive Zygiæ. |
| 9 | V. | |
| 10 | IV. | Agonalia. |
| 11 | III. | Alcyonii dies. |
| 12 | Prid. | Equiria. |
| 13 | Idus. | |
| 14 | XIX. | Brumalia. |
| 15 | XVIII. | |
| 16 | XVII. | |
| 17 | XVI. | Saturnalia, per septem dies. |
| 18 | XV. | |
| 19 | XIV. | Opalia, Var. |
| 20 | XIII. | Sigillaria, Macrob. |
| 21 | XII. | Angeronalia, Herculi & Cereri de mulso. |
| 22 | XI. | Feriæ. Laribus dic. Compitalia. |
| 23 | X. | Feriæ Jovis. Laureminalia, Plut. |
| 24 | IX. | Juvenalia dies, Suet. Juvenalis ludi. |
| 25 | VIII. | |
| 26 | VII. | |
| 27 | VI. | |
| 28 | V. | Hic mensis Saturno sacer, Macr. |
| 29 | IV. | Vestæ vetò tutela, Vet. Kal. |
| 30 | III. | |
| 31 | Prid. | |

VENERABILI VIRO,

πᾶσι πᾶσιν, & multis Nominibus Colendo,

D^NO. BALDVINO HAMEY,

Medico Phil-Evangelico, Collegii Londinensis

Socio Primario, Ecclesiæ Chelseianæ Divo LUCÆ Sacræ Εὐαγγέλιστῃ Meritissimo, Εὐζωΐαν καὶ Εὐθανασίαν.

Quo Venerande Senex, dignas Tibi pignore Grates
Persolvam? Tactura Chelyn mea Musa fatiscit.
Si mihi Suppeterent tales in Carmina Vires;
Ut liceat Verbis Herbas æquare potentes,
Quas Epidaurus alit, quas Cōa & Thessala tellus;
Deficerem. Quòd si, Tu quantus in Arte medendi es,
Si, quantus Pietate cluis, Factisque benignis,
Tantus Ego docto, Si fas, evadere possem
Eloquio; Meriti foret hæc pars infima Vestri.
Nam mihi, cùm primùm accessi, coramque tueri
Affarique datum est, Capitis Reverentia cani
Mox tetigit, tanquam conspecto Numine, mentem.
Qualis in Ore refulget Honos? Quàm Læta Senectus,
Facundo Sermone potens? Quàm Mens sibi constans,
Annorum immortale decus? Sic Vester Apollo,
Si detur sumpsisse Habitum, Vultumque senilem,
Spectandus foret. Haud alium agnovisse velitis
Vos, Musæ Charitesque, Patrem. Medicina Senatum
In Te uno ostendisse suum contenta, fatetur
Se Studiis debere Tuis & Moribus omnem,
Quam promittit, opem. Quæcunque Humanior Ars est,
Præsidiis firmata Tuis viget. Æger Eundem
Sentit Patronum, Patronum sentit Egenus;
Sive Ope, sive Opibus, fessos relevare peritum,
Gaudentem alternare vices Pietatis & Artis.
Te Tua Evangelico sociaverit æmula Virtus
Cum Medico LUCA, cujus sectaris & Artes,
Tutarisque Aras Idem: cui Fana vetustas
Exedit collapsa situ, renovata refurgunt,
Te Medicas præbente manus. Tu factus es alter
Lucæ ipsi Lucas. Ecclesia nostra Valere
Te sine non potuit, Vestris reparata Metallis,
Argento, Plumbo, Ære. Adeò hæc Tibi Chymica Sacra
Accedit Titulis, Laudúmque exauget acervum.
Mœnia Te Templi, Te plumbea Tecta loquuntur;
Te, Lucámque Tuum resonabunt Æra canora.
Jam duplex, Chelseia, Tibi est Tutela Penatum,
Et Divus LUCAS, Divisque Simillimus HAMEY.
Quid Tibi Nos tanto pro Munere ritè precemur?
Vivas; & Cōæ metas emensus senectæ,
Mollia tranquillæ deducas tempora vitæ,
Quémque Arte exequas, superes Ætate Galenum:

Scribebam Gratitudinis ergô. A. L.

---

Non jam urgeo Fugam Vacui. Provoco ad Candorem tuum, mi Lector. Major aliquanto est Gratitudinis ratio. Maretur hoc Nomen Fastis inseri atq; æternitati sacrari. Eo Illum ego Titulo insignio, quo se insigniri voluit. Ita ferè Campanæ donatitiæ inscriptio. D. LUCÆ Medico Evangelico Baldvinus HAMEY Phil-Evangelicus Medicus D.D.